STORY OF A YEAR'S PROGRESS.

A REVIEW of Cincinnati affairs during the year ending May 31, 1906, cannot be other than pleasant reading to everyone interested in the city's welfare and progress. For along every line of business and social life there has been a strong and healthy growth—a growth of which every Cincinnati may well be proud.

In commerce and industry there has been expansion and prosperity; there has been more building than in any previous year; along educational lines there has been marked progress; the city's financial standing and credit are unrivalled. And the promise of the present year is that Cincinnati will continue moving forward, and at even a more rapid rate than during the past year. It is, therefore, with special pleasure that Williams' Directory presents this annual review to local and foreign patrons.

Cincinnati's pre-eminent credit and its independence of other financial centers was again demonstrated during the year. Notwithstanding the strained condition of the money market in the East the past spring, and at a time when other cities could not successfully place bonds except by offering higher rates, Cincinnati sold $4,595,000 of 3½ per cent. Cincinnati Southern Railroad refunding bonds, and $425,000 of 3½ per cent. Viaduct bonds to the Cincinnati banks. The last issue of new Waterworks bonds, at 3½ per cent., as had been previous issues, were also sold to local investors at a good premium.

Owing to mergers which wiped out as separate institutions three of the large clearing house banks, an entirely fair comparison cannot be shown with the previous year. But regardless of this decrease in the number of such banks, the clearings show a healthy increase. The figures for the past three years, ending April 1, the largest in the history of the city, are: 1904, $1,149,631,500; 1905, $1,229,986,550; 1906, $1,241,662,150.

Reports of the savings banks show material increases in deposits, and two new savings banks have been opened under favorable circumstances. Reports from the Building and Loan Associations for the year are also favorable both in the matter of deposits and of the hundreds who annually avail themselves of these institutions to procure homes.

Unprecedented increases in the business done by the public utility corporations show conclusively the rapid strides forward which Cincinnati has been making during the past twelve months.

The Cincinnati & Suburban Bell Telephone Company reports the phenomenal increase of 75 per cent. in its local business and that the growth is still continuing at the same ratio. The company also laid more miles of conduit than in any previous year, and by the end of the present year all telephone wires, except in the suburban and far-outlying districts, will be underground. The city exchanges now receive and answer about 250,000 calls per day, and the increase in business, it is anticipated, will be still further augmented by the recently announced reduction, effective June 1, in rates.

The Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company made more improvements than in any one year in its history, 68 miles of new gas mains being laid in addition to the miles of new electric conduits and pole lines. The increase in business was close to 20 per cent. in each department, the increase in gas consumption being largely for fuel and in electricity for power, as well as for lighting. During the past year the company has been granted a natural gas franchise, the gas to be sold at not to exceed 30 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. Cincinnati already has cheaper artificial gas, for fuel and power, than any city in the country.

In trolley transportation facilities the most important improvement of the past year was the completion of two new interurban lines and the connecting up of other lines, thereby bringing a much larger territory tributary to Cincinnati by "traction." The business, both passenger and freight, done by the interurban lines is steadily increasing, and there is every indication that it will continue growing for a number of years. The purely local business, as reported to the City by the Cincinnati Traction Company; showed an increase for the year of close to 6 per cent.

An event of far reaching importance to Cincinnati was the organization, in May, 1905, of the Cincinnati Associated Organizations. It now has a membership of 33 commercial, industrial, and other semi-public organizations having a membership of about 7,000 firms and individuals. The object of the Associated Organizations is "to promote, protect, and advance the best interests of the City of Cincinnati by combined action." Matters of general interest directly or indirectly affecting the whole city, referred to it by one of the constituent organizations, are considered and acted upon with vigor. The first year's work has fully justified the existence of the Associated Organizations and again demonstrated that in unity there is strength.

Cincinnati added during the year to its prestige as the largest manufacturing and exporting city in the United States of woodworking machinery and of machine tools, and as the largest exporting city of its size in the country. The Manufacturers' Club has been active, and is planning a still more active campaign to further the export interests of Cincinnati, as shown by the work of the Committees on Reciprocity and Foreign Trade Relations.

Superintendent Charles B. Murray, in the annual report of the Chamber of Commerce, shows a gain of 12 per cent. last year in the local grain trade and an increase of 35 per cent. over the annual average of the five preceding years. In pork and beef products there was a gain of about 7 per cent.; in groceries, $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., with total sales 15 per cent. in excess of the average for five years. Sales of pig iron by local concerns were 13 per cent. greater in value than the preceding year, including deliveries direct to destination points. Malt liquors gained 11 per cent. for the year and 20 per cent. over the average for the preceding five years. The value of vehicles made was 10 per cent. over that of the preceding year. The manufacture of soap, one of Cincinnati's leading industries, was more than 10 per cent. greater than during the preceding year and 25 per cent. over the average for five years. The receipts of coal showed a marked increase, being 60 per cent. greater than the average for the preceding five years, and the receipts of lumber were 12 per cent. greater than the preceding year. Important gains were also made in other lines, including leaf tobacco, dry goods, boots and shoes, clothing, furniture and office fixtures, machine tools and machinery.

Though more than a score of new manufacturing establishments located in Cincinnati during the past year, the bulk of the large increase in manufactured products was due to the extensive enlargement of previously existing plants. It was, by a handsome percentage, the most prosperous year ever experienced by the local factories, increases being reported in every line. The great advantages offered by Cincinnati are yearly becoming better known and appreciated by manufacturers elsewhere, the Industrial Bureau since its establishment, five years ago, having been persistent and effective in industrial missionary work.

Cincinnati's railroad terminal facilities are being increased more rapidly at present than at any period during the city's history, in response to the urgent demand of new and old industrial and commercial concerns, whose business has outgrown existing accommodations. The work now under way includes the clearing of all buildings from more than a score of business and residence blocks, extending for a mile along and near the river front; the building of elevated tracks and freight depots, and the expenditure of millions of dollars.

The most important single railroad project to Cincinnati proposed for a number of years, that of a local and independent belt line to intersect every railroad entering the city, is still in the formative period. As now planned, it would cross the Ohio River into Kentucky twice, at the east and west ends of the city, and would circle Cincinnati on the north ten or more miles from the river front business district. The line will be entirely independent of all railroads, and the manufacturers and jobbers promoting it expect, by greatly increasing trackage facilities and lessening existing switching and terminal charges, to increase almost immeasurably Cincinnati's industrial and commercial advantages.

Cincinnati's excellent reputation for hospitality and as a convention city has been fully maintained during the past year. With the recent addition of new theaters, hotels and outdoor amusement resorts, it will in future be even more attractive than in the past to visitors.

Cincinnati is to be congratulated on having experienced another banner building year. The record for the year ending May 1, 1905, which in its turn was a banner year, was exceeded by 19 per cent. by the year just closed, the totals for the two years being: 1905, $7,706,380; 1906, $9,134,425.

As is well known, the records in the office of the City Building Inspector do not show the actual amount invested in new buildings, for, owing to both unintentional and intentional underestimating—the latter due to a desire to have as low as possible valuations placed on the tax list—the actual cost is from 30 to 50 per cent. more than is stated in applications for permits. The record by months of permits issued is:

|-----------|-------------|
| May | $1,361,550 |
| June | 635,760 |
| July | 777,225 |
| August | 749,790 |
| September | 378,740 |
| October | 1,460,850 |
| November | 615,035 |
| December | 629,805 |

Cincinnati has, within the past year, taken a leading position among American cities in concrete construction for all classes of buildings. Among the notable buildings now nearing completion are two theaters and two large hotels, all of fireproof construction and strictly up to date in finish and equipment. From the permits issued during the past four months it can be authoritatively stated that Cincinnati has entered upon a home building era, the evidence of which is apparent on almost every street in all the outlying and suburban districts.

The work done by the Federal Government the past year on the dam in the Ohio River at Fernbank, officially known as Dam No. 37, will when completed give a nine-foot stage of water the year round for 13 miles above and 12 miles below Cincinnati. While it will under the most favorable circumstances be several years before the canalization of the Ohio River from Pittsburg to Cairo can be completed, the work already done and that now in progress, is considered a guarantee of the completion of the entire project. Cincinnati will unquestionably reap a benefit, industrially and commercially, of many millions of dollars annually from this improvement.

Actual work, after several years of agitation, has been commenced on the abolition of grade crossings in Cincinnati. Now that a start has been made it is expected that the work will be pushed vigorously on all lines. Though the city, partly on account of exceptional topographical conditions, has lagged behind some other cities in this matter, it will within a reasonable time be free from all such menaces to life and obstacles to the quickest and best railroad service within city limits.

Cincinnati is somewhat slowly, but surely, becoming a clean city. The first thoroughly organized and effective crusade for the abolishment of the smoke nuisance was inaugurated several months ago. That the consumption of millions of tons of bituminous coal every year in thousands of factories can always be accompanied by a perfectly smokeless atmosphere is not claimed, but that a very large proportion of the dense smoke over the business section of the city, for which Cincinnati has become somewhat noted, can be eliminated, and at a material saving in fuel, has already been demonstrated. The crusade is still being vigorously prosecuted, and a decided change in the appearance of the city will result from its successful ending.

In public improvements under direct charge of the city much is being done, and still more is planned for the immediate future. During the past year, aside from the grade crossing elimination work, one large viaduct has been completed; contracts will be let for another one within a month, and the preliminary steps for the construction of two more have been taken. Several small parks have been acquired by purchase and gift, and plans for a comprehensive park and boulevard system are being worked out.

Work is being pushed on a new city hospital, which in size and equipment will compare favorably with any municipal hospital in the world. The last important contracts for the new waterworks, which, when completed, will be larger and better than originally planned, have been let, and a portion of the plant will be in operation this year. Work on several new public schools has been commenced, and arrangements are being made to build several more next year. All of them will be large and of the latest and most approved construction, including gymnasium, manual training, domestic science, and kindergarten equipment.

Conditions in all the residence districts of the city show that Cincinnati is keeping pace in growth of population with the increases noted above in its manufacturing and commercial life. Notwithstanding the many flat buildings and individual dwellings erected during the year, the demand has more than kept up with the supply, many flat buildings and dwellings being rented before they are under roof. The big demand for more schools shows conclusively that Cincinnati continues to be a city of wholesome homes in which race suicide is unknown. In every way—in population, in business and in prosperity—the year has been one in which every Cincinnati can take just pride.

WHAT TO SEE IN CINCINNATI.

Of all American cities, save New York and Boston, there are probably none with the number of points of interest for strangers that Cincinnati has—none where strangers can more profitably spend a few hours or days sightseeing.

A BEFORE-BREAKFAST WALK.

If stopping in the central portion of Cincinnati, without the aid of any street car, see the Post Office, in Government Square, built at a cost of six millions; the Fountain, in Fifth street, between Vine and Walnut streets, presented to Cincinnati by Tyler Davidson; the Arcade, running between Fourth and Fifth streets, from Vine to Race streets; the Chamber of Commerce building, corner of Vine and Fourth streets; the Romanesque Public Library building, with its more than a quarter of a million volumes, in Vine street, between Sixth and Seventh streets; the City Hall, occupying the square bounded by Eighth, Ninth and Plum streets and Central avenue; St. Peter's Cathedral, corner of Eighth and Plum streets, and in the Cathedral see "St. Peter Delivered," by Murillo, a painting that constitutes one of the glories of America. See the Hebrew Synagogue, in Plum street, opposite the Cathedral. Note at this corner the radically different styles of architecture. If interested in the history of famous poems, see the dwelling, No. 21 East Eighth street, where T Buchanan Read, in the afternoon of November 21, 1864, wrote "Sheridan's Ride." See the bronze tablet on the dwelling's facade.

THE ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS.

To "do" Cincinnati and not visit the Zoo would be to see the play of "Hamlet" and not catch a glimpse of the melancholy Dane, or to "do" Europe and ignore Paris. The Zoological Gardens, occupying forty-five acres at the head of Vine street, have a collection of animals second to none in the world. In point of facility for caring for the various animals and making their environments more nearly approach their native lairs or jungles, the Cincinnati Zoological Gardens are superior to all. People cross the Atlantic to Europe to visit spots not half so interesting as the Cincinnati Zoo.

Take the Zoo-Eden Park, Millcreek Valley or Mt. Auburn-Zoo Traction line.

THE CINCINNATI HOSPITAL.

See the Cincinnati Hospital, consisting of eight buildings, arranged en echelon round a central court, in Twelfth street, between Central avenue and Plum street.

Take the Clark street cars.

THE COURT HOUSE.

See the Hamilton County Court House, about which the mob raged and fought in 1884 while that building was burning. Main street, between North and South Court streets.

Take the College Hill and Main, the McMicken and Main, the Mulberry, Belt Line or the Mt. Auburn-Zoo cars.

MUSIC HALL.

See the Music Hall and its pipe organ, one of the largest in the world, and note the exquisite carving in the organ's front. Elm street, north of Twelfth street.

Take the Colerain, or Clifton and Elm, or McMicken avenue and Elm street cars.

ROOKWOOD.

See the Rookwood Pottery on Mt. Adams, and then continue the ride to the Art Museum and the Cincinnati Art School, both located in Eden Park. As you ride through the park see the reservoirs in which Cincinnati's daily water supply is stored; also the water tower, from which a water supply gravitates to the inhabitants of the high elevations.

Take the Zoo-Eden Park car and notice the incline plane on which your car rides as you ascend to Mt. Adams. View the city from the top of the plane.

WALNUT HILLS.

Take a ride through Walnut Hills. Notice Elsinore Tower, one of the entrances to Eden Park, on your right as you ascend Gilbert avenue; on your left, in McMillan street, see the Old People's Home. If interested in church architecture, notice, as you pass the corner of Woodburn avenue and Madison Road, St. Francis de Sales Church, the finest specimen of the Gothic style in the West.

Take the Gilbert avenue line, and when you reach what is called the "Loop," return to the city via the Vine-Norwood line and notice on the left of Gilbert avenue Lane Theological Seminary, presided over for twenty years by Dr. Lyman Beecher, father of Harriet Beecher Stowe, the place where Mrs. Stowe is credited with having written "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

AVONDALE.

Take the Avondale line for a ride through Avondale, another beautiful suburb, and return to the city by the Highland avenue line. On this return notice on the right of Burnet avenue the Altenheim, and nearly opposite, on the same avenue, the Jewish Hospital. As you turn the corner of Burnet avenue and Shillito street, notice the German Orphan Asylum.

LONGVIEW ASYLUM.

To visit Longview Asylum, one of the largest retreats for the insane in Ohio, take the Millcreek Valley line to Carthage.

WORK HOUSE.

To visit the Work House and the House of Refuge, both located on Colerain avenue, take the Colerain avenue line or the Chester Park line, via Cumminsville.

SPRING GROVE CEMETERY.

If interested in landscape gardening, and you are not satisfied with the beautiful specimen you have witnessed at the Zoo, take a Chester Park car, either via Cumminsville or Avondale, to the entrance of Spring Grove Cemetery, where a conveyance is always ready to carry you through the 600 and more acres for the small sum of fifteen cents. Of this spot Appleton's Cyclopaedia, Volume XIII., Page 108, says:

Cincinnati possesses in Spring Grove Cemetery the best example in the world, probably, of landscape gardening applied to a burial place.

While in this cemetery see the Dexter Chapel and the Fleischmann Mausoleum, the latter costing more than $60,000.

HARRISONS.

An equestrian statue of William Henry Harrison, ninth President of the United States, stands in Garfield Place, named from the martyred Garfield, a statue, heroic size, of whom stands at the junction of Garfield Place and Race street. If there be a desire to visit the old home of the Harrisons, take the Sedamsville car to Riverside, whence another car will convey the traveler down the river to North Bend, where was once located the home of the hero of Tippecanoe and the famous hard cider campaign. Here on a conspicuous mound lie the remains of William Henry Harrison. Four miles further down the river, on the farm once owned by Scott Harrison, son of William Henry and father of Benjamin Harrison, the twenty-third

President of the United States, is located on a high hill overlooking the Great Miami Bottoms, a prehistoric fort, now known as Fort Hill. The bastions of this ancient fortification are as well defined as if built yesterday. A couple of Indian mounds, located inside this fortification, give zest to the interest attached to it. This spot can be reached by a ride on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern.

COLLEGE HILL.

See College Hill, where is located the Ohio Military Institute, and while in this suburb take a traction car out to "Clovernook," once the home of Alice and Phoebe Cary, now the Home for the Blind.

Take the College Hill-Main car.

THE CINCINNATI UNIVERSITY.

See the Cincinnati University in Burnet Woods. Take the College Hill-Main or Clifton and Elm car.

THE CINCINNATI CREMATORY.

See the Cincinnati Crematory in Dixmyth avenue. Take the McMicken avenue car or the College Hill-Main or the Clifton and Elm cars.

CLIFTON.

By a Vine and Clifton car ride through the center of the "Over-the-Rhine" district, go to the end of the line, and then take a walk through a suburb that is practically a vast park, with here and there a palace set down in it, a suburb which Charles Dickens once pronounced the handsomest he had ever seen.

THE CINCINNATI OBSERVATORY.

Visit the Cincinnati Observatory, located at Mt. Lookout. For an opportunity to look through the big telescope get a permit from the clerk of the University Board at his office in the City Hall.

Take either the East End or the Madison Road cars.

VIEWS OF CINCINNATI.

Take the Warsaw car to Price Hill, notice a specimen of ingenious engineering in the ride up the hill—engineering that was made necessary because of the extraordinarily steep grade. From one of the many elevations on Price Hill see Cincinnati in the magnificent amphitheater below. Return to the city via the Elberon avenue car and enjoy another inspiring view of the city, the river and the Kentucky hills.

CHESTER PARK.

If in Cincinnati in any one of the summer months visit Chester Park resort, where there are landscape and waterscape galore, and where every variety of innocent amusement, from opera to a ride on a roller coaster, can be had almost for the asking.

Take any car labeled Chester Park.

CONEY ISLAND.

Visit Coney Island, an up-the-river resort. Take an East End car east and transfer and take a Coney Island car, or take a boat at the foot of Broadway.

TRANS-RIVER DISTRICT.

Take Ft. Thomas car and see the Government military station, note the picturesque route, and before returning to the city visit the Lagoon in Ludlow, Ky.

STREET CARS.

As all roads once led to Rome, so all Cincinnati Traction lines now lead to Fountain and Government Squares, which constitute a sort of clearing-house for street cars. At this central point a car can be taken for any part of the city, for any suburb and for any of the interesting spots named in this sketch.

STREET DIRECTORY.

THE Street Directory is an alphabetical arrangement of the names of the Streets and Avenues of the city. By the decimal system of numbering houses, one hundred numbers are allotted to each square. On streets running north and south the numbering begins at the Ohio River. The streets running east and west are numbered East and West from Vine street. All other streets not commencing at either of the above points are numbered in accordance with this system. To such of the streets as are of any considerable importance the names and numbers of intersecting streets and avenues are given in the order in which they occur, which enables one to tell between what streets a certain number is. For instance, you have 420 W. 6th street: by reference to the Street Directory, you find 400 at Central Av. and 500 at John street; consequently the place you wish to find is between Central Av. and John.
