Good Advice Found in List of 13 Ways To Help Ruin Your Town

1. Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because the streets are not kept up.
2. Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the town. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then cuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.
3. Get all the village will give you and don't give anything in return. Write unsigned letters to the editor demanding more for your tax money.
4. Talk co-operation, but don't do any work for your town unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse to serve unless they make you chairman.
5. Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker. (Or a crook).
6. Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a town better, howl because that town is run by a clique.
7. Don't back your fire department or your police department. If the firemen work to bring the insurance rates down, tell everybody that is what they are supposed to do. Don't thank them or the policemen for endangering their lives that you might have a safer town in which to live. Demand special treatment; raise Cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.
8. Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one who gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.
9. Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.
10. If you have good town leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk down everything they do.
11. Don't work on any committee. Tell them: "I'm too busy."
12. Don't say anything good about your town. Be the first to point up its shortcomings! Pretend that if trouble comes your way it will be residents of some other town who will visit you while you are ill; bring in their department if your home is burning; comfort you if you lose a dear one; stand back of you in disaster.
13. And don't support your local retail stores and industries. Claim the prices and service in other towns are better. Claim industry and its payroll hurts the town. But if you need a donation, ask your local stores and industries for it. Expect them to back you, but don't back them.

If these 13 steps don't ruin your town, it isn't your fault.

THE VALIANT ONES

MICHIGAN MIRROR

By Elmer E. White, Secretary, Michigan Press Association

Civil Defense is a field of concern in which every individual must make a judgment. Much of civil defense preparation depends on one big "if"—if a nuclear attack occurred near you. For example, State Health Department officials say if a medium range nuclear weapon were exploded in the center of a city the size of Lansing, an estimated 40,000 people would be killed outright, 33,000 would be wounded seriously enough to require medical attention, and 52,000 would survive the explosion without serious injury.

The individual's choice is whether he is located where a fallout shelter would be of value or whether he wants to take his chances on existing facilities in the home or in a public building.

Communities, however, have little choice, according to health authorities. The problems which would confront a community at or near a nuclear blast are of a magnitude rarely realized by individuals. Statistics are available, however, to show what facilities, equipment, supplies and personnel would be required for the care of mass casualties.

In the event of a blast at a city like Lansing, State Health Commissioner Albert E. Heustis said two thirds of the victims who survived the initial explosion would be suffering from burns alone, or in combination with lacerations and broken bones.

This would not include cases of radiation sickness, which would not be detectable until later symptoms developed.

Of the burn victims, half would be able to "go to work" after treatment; and 40 percent would be critical with survival dependent upon treatment. The other 10 percent would suffer fatal burns, with chances for survival remote under even ideal conditions.

Community planning to care for casualties would require at least 300 physicians surviving, and around 2,000 hospital beds, including emergency facilities.

This would allow only one bed for every 10 injured but might be sufficient if proper pre-planning were carried out, Heustis said.

Effective use of every survivor of such an attack would depend greatly on widespread knowledge of first aid and medical self-help techniques, Heustis said.

Michigan's Conservation Department could get a boost under a legislative proposal which is gaining strength. The House of Representatives recommended Senate approval this year of a measure which has been under consideration for six years by legislators interested in lessening the problem of delinquency among youth.

Representatives Harry De Maseo, Battle Creek Republican, and E. D. O'Brien, Detroit Democrat, headed the move to gain acceptance of a part of a program proposed by a legislative interim committee they led.

Of five proposals, the House accepted two almost without opposition. The main proposal which was approved by the House would allow the creation of a camp facility, similar to the CCC camps operation during the depression.

Youths referred to the State Social Welfare Department by courts, police, or other agencies, could be put to work in the camp unit. It initially would include 60 persons.

The Conservation Department and Department of Public Instruction would co-operate in the project.

Minnesota and several other states have similar programs in operation, De Maseo said. Success of these programs led to the camp recommendation by the Michigan legislative committee.

Strong bi-partisan support of the recommendation to provide a facility of the CCC-type gave impetus to the committee proposal. Gov. John Swainson made a recommendation of this type in a message to the legislature on youth.

Six years ago, a study of the probate code started the committee on the road to this year's proposal.

By putting delinquent youth to work helping improve the state's conservation and recreation lands, De Maseo said the legislature would be "taking a realistic step toward building the delinquency program an effective and adequate defense to the ever-occurring juvenile problems."

Grocery Coupon Cheating Costs $1 Million Yearly

Ann Arbor—A word of caution to housewives: if you like coupons, don't misuse them.

Dishonest use of coupons is costing many manufacturers a fortune, reported Ross J. Wilhelm, University of Michigan instructor in business economics. It could lead manufacturers to discontinue couponing as a sales promotion device.

As a rule, a coupon entitles a housewife to so many cents off the regular price if she buys a particular item. The trouble begins when stores give and housewives get cash for coupons.

Grocery stores alone pay more than $25 million a year to customers who turn in coupons for cash, according to one estimate. Some 12 billion coupons with a cash value of about $1 billion are sent out each year by grocery product manufacturers.

Said Wilhelm, "If this trend of cheating continues, it is fairly certain that manufacturers will find it too costly to use coupons as a promotional method."

Recently, for example, one of the nation's major users of coupons stopped its coupon distribution in the northwestern part of the country because of high misredemption rates there, Wilhelm said.

For manufacturers, couponing has been an effective promotional device. For example, one study reports that coupons work better than special price reductions in attracting new customers.

However, if fraudulent practices continue, more and more manufacturers will abandon couponing, concluded Wilhelm in his weekly radio commentary, "Business Review," over the U-M Broadcasting Service (WUOM).

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where the Civil War is about to break out again between our Yankee and Confederate Senators in Washington. One Yankee Senator allowed as how the South, except for her sheepest sentiment, probably had the Miss America contest, didn't have much future. A Confederate Senator replied that if the North didn't quit trying to run the South's business, the Confederates was going to have to take another pot shot at Fort Sumter.

Such goings on by the capital of the nation! It's great pity we ain't got more United States Senators and less Yankee and Confederate Senators in Washington. I recollect reading about a sign a feller in Florida had out in front of his tourist cafe. It said: "Confederate Cooking Yankee Style." Now there was a real diplomat, a feller that belongs in the U. S. Senate.

Sometimes I think all our Senators talks too much. I recollect one, when somebody ask Cal Coolidge why he was known as "Silent Cal," said he had found out early in life that a feller never had to explain somethin he never said. I reckon that's good advice for all of us, especial the wimmen folks.

Clem Webster was telling the fellers at the country store Saturday night about the time he took his old lady to the doctor and the doctor put a thermometer in her mouth and told her to keep it shut for five minutes. Clem said them was the most enjoyable five minutes he ever spent, said he ask the doctor what he'd take for that dad-burned thing.

After the fellers got all the world problems settled, Saturday night, they got around to discussing Liz Taylor. On account of the language they was using, I'm mighty glad Zeke Grubb's preacher didn't drop by for a spell. About the last we heard from the good Parson, he was getting ulcers, and he'd been there Saturday night and he would have got ulcers deluxe. According to some of the fellers, Liz has announced she ain't planning another marriage right soon. Ed Doolittle allowed as how they wasn't much planning to her other four and he couldn't see how number five would need none. And that, Mister Editor, is about all they said about Liz that you could out in a family newspaper.

Well, politics for the November elections has got started pretty good. If we got to have a drought this would be a good year for it. With about half the crop work eliminated by a drought, farmers and ranchers would have more time to spend on politics and the Government would have to worry less about the surplus. We got plenty of candidates around the country but not many issues. It's like the cafe owner that told a customer, "We ain't got nothing today but ham and eggs, but we can offer you a fine choice of waitresses."

Yours truly,
 Uncle Lew.

Commencement Address . . .

By studiousness, Haynes said he was referring not just to books (however, he urged the students not to ignore them) but to a way of life. He described that as a curiosity about people, about work, about music, agriculture, the arts, and the world.

Haynes also mentioned two other values, citizenship, and one that he called productivity.

"Certainly we have no finer birth right than our American citizenship," he said. "I don't think we underrate this as much as we tend to take it for granted. It, too, requires cultivation — work, and above all, interest and participation. I know you can't vote now, but it's not too early to lay the foundation for practical, full citizenship."

He urged the graduates to keep themselves informed on issues and candidates, and later on, to register and vote. "Encourage others to vote, too," he said. "Work for candidates that represent your thinking; select a party early, and support it with your money and efforts," he said. "If qualified, I hope you run for office. Politics is one of the noblest of professions," he commented.

"Your interest in and work at being a full citizen and the interest of others, may mean the difference between peace in a free world and something dreadful to anticipate," Haynes said.

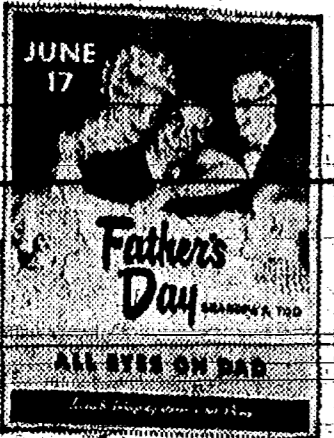

The last value Haynes called productivity. He referred to it as "personal integrity in your life's work."

"If you work for someone else, it means a day's work for a day's pay," the telephone company executive said. "If you work for yourself, it means giving the customer or the colleague a fair break."

"It's true, Haynes said, "that you and I have heard of some who seem to get by with less than an honest effort. But, believe me, it's temporary. They are always found out, and too late to discover that they have only managed to fool one person — themselves. I'm part of a large company, and I know this to be true," he said.

In conclusion, Haynes said, "Set good objectives; establish and maintain for yourself a solid set of priorities; decide on important goals; and place effort on these. And, I think you will agree with me, if not now, then someday, that a full, really happy human being operates, perhaps, subconsciously with this built-in priority scale of values."

"Whether you enjoy the fruits of the future, and in what degree you enjoy these fruits, is in a large measure up to you," Haynes told the graduates.

a positive attitude toward a recognition of the need for continued life-long intellectual growth.

"You have made a fine start here, but I think your teachers will agree that they will feel successful if they have shown you but some of the avenues of learning — given you a few tools. But, most of all, they hope they have kindled a spark, that they have impressed upon you the need for full and complete use of your intellectual capacities. This future growth is important whether or not you are going to college."

Lansing — Michigan has assumed leadership in retraining programs under the Area Redevelopment Administration program, and it is a source of satisfaction to know that because every effort is being made to take full advantage of the program, Michigan has the greatest number of now retraining projects in operation in the nation.

These retraining programs provide opportunities for our people to equip themselves for work available in their communities. With recent approval of 11 new projects, Michigan now has in operation, or ready to start, 48 retraining programs covering some 800 persons.

The initiative in preparing retraining projects, and the fact that Michigan leads the nation in this undertaking important to the overall economy of our state and the well-being of our people, is additional proof that Michigan is not satisfied just to "sit out" economic readjustments.

In addition, the Michigan Economic Development Department has recently approved and forwarded to ARA at Washington four more project applications for industrial development to produce long-range employment improvement.

Largest of the most recent projects is for the proposed recreational development at Copper Harbor at the tip of the Upper Peninsula. This calls for a total expenditure of $1.5 million and an ARA loan of $975,000.

The project will include construction of a ski lift capable of accommodating 1,000 persons an hour, a lodge, cabins and dormitory, tennis courts, stores and shops — a complete resort.

The second recreation project has been filed by Shanty Creek Lodge, Inc., of Bellair in Antrim county, calling for a total outlay of $1,370,000 with an ARA loan of $890,500.

Huron Valley Steel Corp., of Belleville, seeks an ARA loan of $487,500 to assist in financing a $750,000 project to enlarge its present facilities and employment. Crystal Falls township in Iron county seeks a loan of $85,000 and a grant of $40,000 for installation of water table and mains to provide fire protection and adequate water supply for one of its industries and adjacent areas.

Other recent applications now awaiting approval from ARA call for industrial expansion in Detroit; improvement of the Manistee water system and technical assistance for a survey of tourist potential in Iron county.

Missaukee county has already received approval for its preliminary over-all economic development program and Kalamazoo county's OEDP has been forwarded to ARA.

These are just a few examples of the activity throughout Michigan on the part of citizens and communities to accelerate economic growth, and it indicates healthy promise for Michigan's bright future.

PROMOTION of Ronald L. Cadogan to technical sales manager was announced today by Gelman Instrument Co. A graduate of Michigan College of Mining and Technology at Houghton and holder of a master's degree from Chrysler Institute of Engineering, Cadogan lives at Plymouth.

New Booklet Available on 'What Drivers Should Know'

A bright, new edition of "What Every Driver Must Know" is being distributed to driver license examining stations and driver education classes throughout Michigan this week.

According to Secretary of State James M. Hare the 47-page booklet, which has been a "best seller" for the past 20 years, has been completely revised and information based on new motor vehicle legislation has been added.

Copies of "What Every Driver Must Know" will shortly be available to the public in police stations and sheriff's offices throughout the state.

"This illustrated digest of Michigan motor laws was first designed and distributed two decades ago to acquaint beginning drivers with the requirements for obtaining an operator's license and to point out the principles of safe driving," Hare said. "Since then it has proven to be equally valuable to experienced drivers who wish to have a handy compilation of many motor vehicle laws."

The new edition has been eagerly awaited by safety officials who point out that the use of the same yellow, red, and green colors as are found in Michigan's signs and traffic control devices makes it a more accurate educational tool.

"What Every Driver Must Know" spells out the requirements for obtaining a driver's license, contains graphic illustrations of highway signs, and traffic patterns, discusses "right of way" problems, offers suggestions for freeway motoring, delineates the laws on drunk driving, gives a synopsis of the Michigan financial responsibility law, illustrates the point system and the grounded driver's rights to appeal, and describes the traffic conviction point schedule.

"We hope that widespread understanding of the laws and lessons laid down in this free publication will help to make Michigan an even safer state in which to work, play, and vacation," Hare said.

Fourteen residents of the Methodist Home whose birthdays occur in June, were honored at a joint celebration held Tuesday during the noon dinner hour at the Home.

Included in the group were Mrs. Charlotte Tamlyn who was 100 years old on June 9; Mrs. Catherine Plunkett who will be 96 on June 30; and Mrs. Ella Decker, who was 91 yesterday.

Another 90-year-old in the group is Miss Bernice Hughes, formerly of Ferndale, who is still active in church work and at the Home.

Mrs. Tamlyn had a twin brother at Howell who died during the past year. They were believed to be the oldest twins in the state.

Last October, when groundbreaking ceremonies were held for the new wing now under construction at the Home, Mrs. Tamlyn, as the oldest resident, was given the distinction of turning the first spadeful of earth.

She has been in the hospital section of the Home for some time but was fairly active until the past few months when she has been in bed much of the time.

Mrs. Plunkett, formerly of Ypsilanti, entered the Home with her late husband, Oct. 7, 1942. She is among the oldest residents in point of years she has lived there — almost 20 years.

Mrs. Decker came to the Home from Howell, Aug. 9, 1951.

Table decorations at the birthday party Tuesday were blue, red, and white and each of the birthday celebrants received an attractive gift box of toilet items provided by the Chelsea Home Friends of the Methodist Church.

The remaining Home members honored at Tuesday's party are Miss Ethel Jardine, Mrs. Alma Yall, Mrs. Alice Vahue, Mrs. Frances Fraser, Mrs. Bertha Stotts, Mrs. Lydia Curtis, Miss Ethel Banks, Miss Margaret Doyrie, Mrs. Lucy Robbinson and Mrs. Mary Husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gage and their son, Lynn of Tucson, Ariz., arrived this week for a visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Luick and Mr. and Mrs. Elbi Gage. They plan to spend about two weeks here visiting relatives and friends.

Grads Attend Alumni Banquet...

was made an honorary member of the Chelsea Alumni Association at Saturday's banquet.

Albert C. Johnson, former superintendent of schools at Harbor, was the guest of honor. He spoke in a reminiscent way about his former students and about his years as a resident of Chelsea.

Approximately 200 people attended the banquet which opened with an invocation by the Rev. R. Snayker of St. Barnabas Episcopal church.

Robert Daniels, past president and Lee M. Hoppe, past treasurer, were the guest of honor and Lee M. Hoppe, past treasurer, were the guest of honor.

Donald Atkinson, responded to the 1902 class president.

Chairman of the Alumni Association, President Diete presided at the banquet during which a committee appointed last year to look into the details of setting up a fund to be known as the Florence Howlett-Mabel Fox Fund, reported to the Alumni Association in 1963.

A vote of the Alumni Association approved the committee's recommendations.

Other persons included election of officers for the coming year as follows: Charles Stapish, president; Mrs. Norma Jean Dull Popovich, vice-president; Mrs. Eleanor Schmidt Hill, secretary; and Mrs. Katherine Staffan Wignor, treasurer.

Mrs. Wagner is a member of the class of '33 and the others are of the class of '53.

Table decorations for the banquet came in for particular mention in reports of the affair.

Carried out in the school colors, the speakers' table centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow and white chrysanthemums and blue daisies.

Blue streamers on the other tables, together with lighted yellow Capri candles and artificial flowers which the committee members had made out of yellow tissue added to the attractive arrangements.

Committee members responsible for the decorations are Mrs. Edward Visol, Mrs. Lawrence Diete and Mrs. Richard Kern.

The report, in its entirety, reads as follows:

Report to the Alumni Association June 10th, 1962, and Recommendations:

1. That the committee be authorized to act for an additional year with the same authority.
2. That a more searching investigation be conducted to determine the extent of need for this loan fund and if the degree of need is shown to warrant action that the committee be empowered to:

A. Change the name from the Florence Howlett-Mabel Fox to Chelsea Alumni Memorial Educational Fund. This to permit memorial gifts for other alumni, teachers and friends in their honor.

B. Transfer $100 from the Alumni Association of Chelsea High School treasury to this fund.

C. That all people of our school community, in addition to Chelsea High School Alumni, be given the opportunity to contribute to this fund.

D. That the committee again report to the Alumni Association in 1963.

The Detroit Institute of Arts is the only such institute in any of the world's large cities owned by the people. It has one of America's richest collections of sculpture.

CON-CON REPORT

EDITOR'S NOTE: Numbers in a series of reports covering highlights of changes in the proposed new Constitution. Summaries of each Article will appear in subsequent weeks.

Article II—Elections—which is Article III in the present Constitution, eliminates much legislative detail and a mass of outdated provisions.

A minor provision does away with the Spring Election and provides that all except special elections shall be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November of the even years. An exception would be if Congressmen have to be elected at a different time, due to the action of Congress. An attempt to move the Spring Election in November in the odd years was balked.

The Convention rejected the 18 or 19-year-old vote on the grounds there was no great demand for a lower voting age.

A new section would set aside the law which gives legislators an incumbency designation on the ballot—a practice delegates felt was unfair to opponents. Other than judicial incumbency designation would be limited to cases where there are candidates for the same office with the same or similar surnames.

Another section recognized that issues and candidates for president are the same throughout the country. In addition, to waiving the six-month residence requirement for otherwise qualified voters moving into Michigan, the Legislature could let former Michigan residents vote absentee for president if they are not eligible to vote in their new state of residence.

As in the old Constitution, when it comes to voting on the issuance of bonds, only persons having property assessed for taxation, or their spouses, may vote, but there is added a provision that the same qualifications shall apply to those who vote for increased millage for more than a five-year term. When the question is on an increase in millage for less than five years, any qualified elector may vote, as at present.

Existing initiative and referendum guarantees are retained but delegates deleted language considered statutory in nature. The provision was greatly shortened and moved to this Article from the Legislative Branch Article.

A new section permits, but does not require, the Legislature to exclude from voting two groups felt to be unsuitable: The mentally incompetent and jail or prison inmates.

Local canvassing boards are prohibited from having a majority of its membership from the same political party. A provision which now applies only to the state board of canvassers. Also extended to local boards is language prohibiting candidates for an office to be canvassed from serving on canvassing boards.

The provision for recall remains as in the old Constitution. It retains the machinery for recalling nonjudicial elected officials through petitions signed by 25 percent of the electors voting for governor in the official's district. Stating that reasons for a recall are political prevents the courts from setting aside a recall.

The many provisions of the old Constitution about gaining or losing residence for voting purposes by being in the military service, attending college, and so forth, are deleted from the new document and left for the Legislature to regulate. The provision that an elector, except for treason, felony, or breach of the peace, shall be privileged from arrest in going to and from an election, is omitted. It applies only to civil arrest anyway and the thinking is that it was not of sufficient importance to put in the Constitution.

Week-end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Slane were the latter's sister and two nieces, Mrs. John Milliron of Cope-mish; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lesert and family, of Grand Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hardin and family, of Moorhead, Ky.; Mae Slane returned home Sunday after spending the past three weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. Leon R. Marsh and family, in Holland, and her brother, Ted Slane and family, in Grand Rapids.

FIRE DEPARTMENT VISIT — This was one section of the 139 kindergarten pupils who visited the Chelsea Fire Department as part of their "last day of school" activities last Wednesday morning. Many were wearing "firemen's hats" they had made especially for the occasion. Kindergarten teachers who chaperoned the various groups as they visited the fire station are Mrs. Lucile Kelly, Mrs. Bernice Packard and Mrs. Helen Hunter. After the visit to the fire station the kindergartners visited Schneider's Grocery and each had a dime to spend for a treat. They also stopped at the Post Office and enroute to and from the fire station the various stores and the library were pointed out to them. They had talked about the visit for several days and were an informed group when they arrived at their destination for a visit with Fire Chief Ted Balmer (at left rear in photo). Chief Balmer said later it is good experience for the youngsters to visit the fire station and learn about fire prevention and fire fighting.

Fenn's Drugs Store Closing After 64 Years of Doing Business in Chelsea
has taken her back and forth to work every day. Mrs. Floy's daughter, June, now Mrs. Horace Robinson, also made her home there before her marriage and has often assisted Miss Guthrie at the drug store.
Miss Guthrie made many friends throughout the years as she watched young people grow up, marry and become parents and grandparents. Many of the younger generation know her familiarly as "Auntie" although they are not related to her.
Before beginning her work at Fenn's Drug Store, Miss Guthrie had attended Chelsea High school after completing her grade education at the old Sylvan rural school.
More graduates of the University of Michigan have been to "Who's Who in America" since 1930 than those from any university in the county.

ST. MARY'S GRADUATES—Twenty eighth graders of St. Mary's parochial school received their diplomas Sunday, June 3 from the Rev. Fr. Stanislaw Maliszewski at commencement services at the 8 o'clock mass. The class marched in the sanctuary to the processional, "St. Francis' Hymn to the Sun." They assisted at the Mass and received Holy Communion in a body. The Rev. Fr. Maliszewski delivered an appropriate sermon based on the quotation, "what doth it profit man if he gains the whole world and suffers loss of his own soul?" He brought out the fact that the foundation of their character is formed during their school days and admonished them to strive to live by the principles laid down for them in their religious training. Graduates in the photo, front row, from right, are Benjamin Staphis, Shirley Grammatico, Bonita Clark, Sharon Stahl and Douglas Young with Father Maliszewski at far left. In the second row are Larry Wangren, Mary Nyles, Nancy Alshar and James Kramer. Those in the third row are John Harmon, Patricia Guest, Mary Kay Alber, Doris Zeeb and James Grissom while those in the fourth row, from right, are Gary Houie, Michael Dillon, David Wood, James Orbring, David McGibney and James Guinan.

Barbecue Will Offer Carry-Outs

Wahatenaw county Farm Council chicken barbecue carry-out service was very popular in 1961. 725 people chose to pick up their barbecued chicken dinners and eat them at home. The dinner is put into easy-to-carry cardboard boxes. Because this was so popular in 1961, the serving committee is planning similar service for the 1962 barbecue to be held June 17 at the Farm Council Activities Center on Saline-Ann Arbor Rd.

Mrs. Walter Wolfgang of Chelsea, co-chairman of the event, states that housewives should plan to spend as little time as possible preparing dinner on Father's Day. "Spend more time with the family by purchasing a complete chicken barbecue dinner at the Farm Council barbecue," Mrs. Wolfgang added.

All proceeds from the barbecue are turned over to the Council's board of directors. Currently a 60'x150' show building is being constructed by the Council.

They contained more than 3,000 signatures of rural residents in five counties of the three Congressional Districts in West Central Michigan. The petitions will be forwarded to Washington for presentation to Gerald R. Ford, Jr., James Harvey and Clare E. Hoffman, Congressmen in the three involved districts. Area Holstein Herds Classified for Type

By National Association

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced the completion of an outstanding official production record by a registered Holstein cow in this area—Whippoorwill Fobes Kate, 4450847, a five-year-old owned by George Macomber, Ann Arbor, which produced 16,339 lbs. milk and 614 lbs. butterfat in 296 days.

Michigan State University supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the official herd-testing programs of the national Holstein organization.

In contrast, the annual production of the average U. S. dairy cow is generally estimated at approximately 7,000 lbs. of milk containing 265 lbs. of butterfat.

In a list of herds for Holsteins recently officially classified for type by John H. Stewart, Sioux Falls, S. D., an official inspector on the staff of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Macomber's 28 animals were classified as follows: one "excellent," five "very good," 16 "good plus," and six "good."

Another herd in this area included in the listing is that of Wesley Amsdill of Dexter. Of the 13 animals classified, six were listed "very good," five "good plus" and two "good."

Classification, in continuous operation since 1929, is the official type program of the Holstein breed. It measures the conformation of living animals against the theoretical perfection of the True Type Holstein cow or bull.

The information made available by the program provides detailed reference material for Holstein breeders in all sections of the country.

WINDSHIELD VIEWS COLORED HIGHWAYS

A leading authority says that we'll be driving on colored highways in the near future. New thermoplastics mixed with road materials can produce many colors which have definite advantages for drivers. Colors will eliminate many signs, like red could be used to designate roads or main arteries; even aviators could follow colored roads better. A whole range of color ideas could mean something to the driver to make it easier to see the wheel. We can just imagine the tourist driving into POOR SERVICE and asking for directions. "Just follow the green a mile, and then a left on yellow." "Yah," he answers, "But color-blind."

Granddaughter of H. Werners Weds At Mackinac Island

Margaret Marie Lyons of Kalamazoo, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Werner, and John Hall Spear, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Spear of McLean, Va., were married Thursday, June 7, at a Nuptial High Mass at St. Anne's church on Mackinac Island. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Lyons of Kalamazoo.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. J. Murray, state chaplain of the Knights of Columbus, assisted by the Rev. Fr. Bordeveit, pastor of St. Anne's church.

The bride chose for her wedding a bouffant gown of rosepointe-lace over nylon with which she wore a four-tiered veil of French illusion piece of tulle, pearls and crystal. She carried a white orchid on her white satin prayer book.

Her sister, Mrs. Andrew Lenderink (Barbara) of Kalamazoo, served as maid of honor and her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. W. Lyons, also of Kalamazoo, was bridesmaid.

The bridegroom asked his father to serve as best man. Ushers were Andrew Lenderink, the bride's brother-in-law and A. W. Lyons, her brother.

A reception was held from 8 until 11 p.m. in the presidential suite at the Grand Hotel on the island.

Enroute to McLean, Va., where the couple will reside, they stopped here for a brief visit with Mr. and Mrs. Werner.

The bride, a frequent visitor here, is now employed at the National Savings & Trust Co. at Washington, D. C.

The bridegroom, a former student at Pennsylvania Military College, will complete his college work at the University of Virginia.

95 Attend Annual Boyce Family Reunion Sunday at Mason

The 42nd annual Boyce reunion was held Sunday at the Vevay Town Hall at Mason.

95 Boyce descendants gathered when rain kept them from meeting at Rayner Park in Mason, as planned.

Present for a 1:30 p.m. pot-luck dinner were members of the family from Millington, Caro, Detroit, Lansing, Dundee, Ann Arbor, Sable, Jackson, Ypsilanti, Plainfield, Stockbridge, Batteaux Lake and the Dexter-Chelsea area.

Oldest member of the family present was Mrs. Alta Alexander, 89, of Ypsilanti; while the youngest was Dawn Marie Townsend, four months old, of Plainfield.

Officers elected are Mrs. Jack McVicar of Lansing; president; Devo Wilcox of Millville, vice-president; and Mrs. Howard Townsend of near Dansville, secretary-treasurer.

State Highway Death Rate Down Nearly 70% Since 1935

Lansing — New and improved highways, modern traffic control devices and greater concern for traffic safety have slashed the highway death rate on Michigan highways more than 70 percent during the last quarter century.

From a high of 10.8 deaths for every 100 million miles of travel in 1935, the rate was cut to a near record low of 4.9 deaths per 100 million miles in 1961.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said "the decreasing death rate is spectacular in view of equally spectacular increases in traffic."

In the years since 1935, the number of cars and trucks in Michigan has climbed 176 percent. During the same period, there has been a 222 percent increase in the number of miles driven on Michigan highways.

With today's traffic, but at the 1935 death rate, nearly 5,500 pernot only a pleasure and convenience, but a deadly serious business," Mackie said.

Giant Puffball Breaks Blacktopped Driveway

Jon Houle of 112 McKinley St., passing the home of neighbor Leon Fox, corner of McKinley and East Middle St., Monday evening, was amazed to see a puff ball mushrooming out of the very center of the blacktopped driveway at the Fox home. The puffball, soft as a sponge to the touch, was approximately three inches across and about four inches high.

This is the second time such an incident has occurred since the Fox driveway was blacktopped three years ago. Shortly after completion one of the puff balls pushed through the pavement near the edge of the driveway; this time, however, the growth occurred in the center of the driveway.

The wedding took place at the First Methodist church at Tucson, Sunday afternoon, June 3.

The bride chose for her wedding a white, street-length gown fashioned of lace and sheer nylon over taffeta. The lace bodice was finished with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. Matching lace formed a separate back panel that extended from the waist to the hemline of the full sheer nylon of the skirt. Her brief face veil was fastened to a white satin bow headpiece.

The bridegroom was assisted by Henry Fleischman as best man and the bride's brother, Lynn, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gage wore a dress of sheer nylon over yellow while the bridegroom's mother chose a green and white costume. Each had a corsage of white carnations.

A reception in the church social hall followed immediately for approximately 80 guests.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Tucson High school and both are students at the University of Arizona at Tucson.

Following a trip to Phoenix, Ariz., the couple will be at home at 1021 East 7th St., at Tucson.

Area Holstein Herds Classified for Type
By National Association

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced the completion of an outstanding official production record by a registered Holstein cow in this area—Whippoorwill Fobes Kate, 4450847, a five-year-old owned by George Macomber, Ann Arbor, which produced 16,339 lbs. milk and 614 lbs. butterfat in 296 days. Michigan State University supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the official herd-testing programs of the national Holstein organization. In contrast, the annual production of the average U. S. dairy cow is generally estimated at approximately 7,000 lbs. of milk containing 200 lbs. of butterfat. In a list of herds of Holsteins recently officially classified for type by John H. Stewart, Sioux Falls, S. D., an official inspector on the staff of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Macomber's 28 animals were classified as follows: one "excellent," five "very good," 16 "good plus," and six "good." Another herd in this area included in the listing is that of Wesley Amsdill of Dexter. Of the 13 animals classified, six were listed "very good," five "good plus," and two "good." Classification, in continuous operation since 1929, is the official type program of the Holstein breed. It measures the conformation of living animals against the theoretical perfection of the True Type Holstein cow or bull. The information made available by the program provides detailed reference material for Holstein breeders in all sections of the country.

State Highway Death Rate Down Nearly 70% Since 1935

Lansing — New and improved highways, modern traffic control devices and greater concern for traffic safety have slashed the highway death rate on Michigan highways more than 70 percent during the last quarter century. From a high of 168 deaths for every 100 million miles of travel in 1915, the rate was cut to a near record low of 4.9 deaths per 100 million miles in 1935.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said "the decreasing death rate is spectacular in view of equally spectacular increases in traffic."

In the years since 1935, the number of cars and trucks in Michigan has climbed 175 percent. During the same period, there has been a 222 percent increase in the number of miles driven on Michigan highways.

With today's traffic, but at the 1935 death rate, nearly 5,500 persons would have died on Michigan highways last year. As it was, about 1,550 people lost their lives in highway mishaps.

The death rate has decreased steadily since 1935 and hit a low of 4.7 in 1938.

Mackie said there is some indication the rate may be reduced even further this year. At the end of two months, the rate was 3.3 per 100 million miles, about 25 percent below what it was at the end of the same period last year.

Mackie said modernization of highways will continue to make travel safer.

And he said the death rate will be reduced even further when more people avail themselves of new safety equipment, "like seat belts which have proven life saving factors."

"Above all, motorists must continue to realize that driving is not only a pleasure and convenience, but a deadly serious business," Mackie said.

Giant Puffball Breaks Blacktopped Driveway

Don Houle of 112 McKinley St., passing the home of neighbor, Leon Fox, corner of McKinley and East Middle Sts., Monday evening, was amazed to see a puffball mushrooming out of the very center of the blacktopped driveway at the Fox home. The puffball, soft as a sponge to the touch, was approximately three inches across and about four inches high.

This is the second time such an incident has occurred since the Fox driveway was blacktopped three years ago. Shortly after completion one of the puffballs pushed through the pavement near the edge of the driveway; this time, however, the growth occurred in the center of driveway.

Charter Day and the annual meeting of Portage Trails Boy Scout Council is to be held Tuesday, June 19, at the Chevrolet Assembly plant at Willow Run.

Dinner is scheduled for 6:30 p.m., at $1.75 per plate, and reservations should be made by June 14.

Men who would be interested in a four hour of the Chevrolet plant at 5:30 p.m. prior to the dinner may make arrangements to do so by contacting their institutional representative or calling the Boy Scout office at Ann Arbor.

Institutional representatives, heads of institutions, executive board members, district committee men, commissioners, unit committeemen, dads, guests and unit leaders are all urged to attend the annual meeting.

It is especially important that the heads of the new sponsoring institutions, organized under the "Together Plan," be present along with their institutional representatives, unit chairmen, unit leaders, and other men interested.

New officers will be elected at the annual meeting. It will spotlight U. S. Congress action in granting a federal charter to Boy Scouting on June 16, 1916. That federal charter gave a legal foundation for scouting and protects its name, program, uniforms, badges and insignia.

SAVINGS BONDS FOR FREEDOM—Freedom in America involves a profound respect for individual liberty, a strong determination to maintain that liberty, and to bring ourselves and others to a better life within its framework. Many Americans today are sincerely wondering what they can do to defend and preserve our freedom. They wish to contribute to our defense efforts, to our adventures in space, and to strengthening our free institutions and our traditions of liberty. The success of our efforts is based upon a strong and expanding economy. By investing part of his savings in United States Savings Bonds, an individual citizen can contribute to all of these objectives. I would like to take this opportunity to invite every American to purchase an extra share in freedom by purchasing an extra Savings Bond during the Freedom Bond Drive.—John F. Kennedy, The White House, May 1.

Huron River Parks Ready For Summer

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, today announced that facilities at its parks serving Washtenaw county are now in readiness for park use. These include Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, Delhi Metropolitan Park and Dexter-Huron Metropolitan Park, three scenic recreational sites along the Huron River within a few miles of Dexter. Each has park tables, stoves, shelters and playground equipment.

Delhi Park is well-known because of the rapids and Hudson Mills is also popular with fishermen and canoeists as well as groups enjoying family outings. Camera fans enjoy taking pictures at Hudson Mills because of the heavily wooded areas, scenic lagoon and rustic bridges. The Acorn Nature Trail is also popular with individual and family groups that walk the labeled nature trail.

The entrance to Hudson Mills is along North Territorial Rd., near the intersection of Dexter-Pinekey Rd., or all three parks may be reached by taking Huron River Dr., northwest of Ann Arbor. Facilities at all three parks are ready for use this week-end, Memorial Day, and daily through the summer season.

For additional information persons may contact Brenten Schultz, park manager, at Hamilton 6-8211. Many persons in Washtenaw county also use the facilities at Kensington Metropolitan Park southwest of Brighton and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville, both units of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

STRANGE WEDDING SITE
Lake Charles, La.—The maternity room at St. Patrick's Hospital was the scene of the wedding of Richard J. Peterman and Virginia Dunn.

While enroute to the rehearsal for the wedding ceremony, the car in which they were riding was involved in an accident and all occupants were injured and hospitalized. The wedding ceremony was held in a maternity room since that was the only space available at the hospital.

AGRICULTURE In Action

The Medicare Issue

Quite a play is being made in the news these days regarding medical care for the aged or "Medicare." The issue is now before Congress in the form of the King-Anderson Bill (HR 4222). It has been the subject of much public debate and discussion.

Farmers have been interested in the proper care of aged people and their organization, Farm Bureau, has devoted much study to the matter. Farmers are opposed to the King-Anderson Bill for two main reasons:

(1) Because of the approach it takes to the problems and its many weaknesses and disadvantages, and

(2) Because there is already a law on the books and in operation which will do the job in the form of the Kerr-Mills Bill.

Let's take a brief look at what we already have in the Kerr-Mills Bill. It was passed by Congress in 1960 and the same year the Michigan legislature became the first in the nation to enact necessary state legislation to put the program into effect in Michigan.

It provided for increased federal matching funds for medical care under the federal-state old-age assistance program and authorized a new matching grant program to cover costs of "medically needy" aged persons not receiving old-age assistance.

This program provides for greater local control. It is administered at the state level and is based on need. It preserves the historical organizational structure of federal, state, county, and local community control.

The Kerr-Mills plan also takes into consideration that, by 1961, 53 percent of our "senior citizens" were covered by voluntary health insurance and prepaid plans, such as Blue Cross.

Kerr-Mills further provides for assistance to all needy persons over 65, whether or not covered by Social Security. The King-Anderson plan would not help anyone not eligible for Social Security.

More about fallout. One of the world's leading authorities on fallout said radioactive debris from last fall's Russian test series is expected to be about twice as plentiful this spring and summer as the fallout was following the Soviet tests in the autumn of 1958.

Dr. Willard F. Libby, member of AEC's advisory committee, said even though Russia's 1961 series would still be twice as much. He also stated that radiation to humans from all nuclear test will remain within acceptable health limits.

Gelman Instrument Show At Health Physics Meeting

Radiation detection and air sampling instruments are featured by the Gelman Instrument Co. in its third convention exhibit of the 1962 season. Approximately 2,000 atomic scientists and medical users of radioscopes from all over the U.S. will inspect the Chelsea company's products during the annual Health Physics Society exhibition, June 11-14, at the Palmer House in Chicago.

More than 20 different instruments, including the world's most complete line of air sampling and analysis equipment, are being shown.

Radiation detectors and alarms made by Gelman range from precise devices about the size of a cigarette package to major equipment items designed to permanently record radiation exposure in large areas.

Medical and chemical laboratory instruments offered by this rapidly expanding firm also are becoming major products in their field. They include a variety of large equipment for full-scale laboratories, plus smaller devices for one-technician facilities. Of great interest to medical diagnosticians attending the exhibit is a unique innovation called Gelman-Berthoud Cytometer in use, expiring cancer examinations all over the nation.

Full product line of the company includes meteorologic devices, liquid filtration apparatus, plus filters for air purification and medical and chemical laboratory equipment.

Barley exhibits were American Industrial Hygiene Association in Washington, D.C. Chicago-convention of the Pollution Control Association.

Later this year the company will again go on before the Inter Society Conference in St. Louis and the Annual Analytical Symposium in New York City.

The State Library of Michigan has more than 800,000 books, recordings and films.

Heavy Winter Loss Suffered By Deer Herd

Lansing—Michigan's deer herd lost an estimated 60,920 animals between mid-November and late spring, slightly more than the number taken by archers and firearm hunters last fall, results of the Conservation Department's recent dead-deer survey indicate.

Over-winter losses totaled 34,930 in the upper peninsula and 25,990 in the northern lower peninsula, the Department reports.

Starvation accounted for the biggest share of last winter's known causes of mortality, claiming an estimated 23,500 whitetails. Survey findings point to a starvation toll of 10,070 in the upper peninsula and 13,320 animals in the northern lower peninsula.

Lansing—You can't go to Hell in a state highway, but soon you'll be able to drive to Paradise.

Neither of Michigan's communities named after two widely separated places in the next world—Hell and Paradise—is on the state's 9,400 state highway system. Hell, near Dexter in Livingston county, and Paradise, west of Sault Ste. Marie in Chippewa county, are both on county roads.

Michigan Strawberry Crop Expected To Be Larger Than Last Year

Soon—home-grown strawberries, a favorite with nearly everyone, will be arriving on consumer markets throughout the state, says Agricultural Director G. S. McIntyre.

If the weather man co-operates, production should be slightly larger than last year when Michigan produced about 33 1/2 million pounds to be the nation's fourth largest strawberry producer. Acreage this year is 9,500—22 acres more than in 1961.

Extreme southwestern counties are the largest producers but there is also significant acreage in Kent, Manistee, Mason, Presque Isle, and Keweenaw counties.

Mrs. Patricia Hardy Is Seeking Re-Election to Register of Deeds Post

Mrs. Patricia Newkirk Hardy, Washtenaw county Register of Deeds, announced today that she would seek re-election to her office on the Republican ticket in the Aug. 7 primary election.

Mrs. Hardy has served in the Register of Deeds office since September, 1946, as a clerk-typist, Deputy Register, and as Register of Deeds since January, 1955.

In announcing her candidacy, Mrs. Hardy said: "I have endeavored to conduct the business of this office as prescribed by Michigan law without special favor and with determination that we shall give courteous and efficient service. The operational budget of this office has been kept at the very minimum, and the net profit returned to the county general fund over and above expenses has totaled over one hundred twenty-one thousand dollars which I have been in office."

"To be a part of county government is a great honor, and it is my sincere wish to continue to serve the people of Washtenaw county as Register of Deeds," Mrs. Hardy stated.

She is a life-long resident of Washtenaw county, attended school in Dexter township, Dexter, Ann Arbor, and St. Petersburg, Fla., and now lives in Ann Arbor.

She is the daughter of Birkett F. Newkirk, and the granddaughter of the late H. Wirt Newkirk, who was a well-known county Republican. He served as county probate judge, in the state legislature, and was mayor of Ann Arbor in the early 1930's.

She is a member of the VFW Auxiliary, Republican Women's Club of Ann Arbor, the Washtenaw County Republican Committee, the Michigan Register of Deeds Association, and the National Association of County Recorders and Clerks.

The survey director is Dr. Raymond Young, associate professor of higher education in the School of Education at the University of Michigan and director of the Community and Junior College Administrative Institute.

Representing the Chelsea-Dexter area on the Citizens' Advisory Committee are John C. Ayers of Dexter and the Rev. Philip Rusten of Chelsea, who serve on the history, growth and development study sub-committee; Everett Van Riper of Chelsea, site and housing; David Soule of Chelsea, financial and legal basis sub-committee; and Mrs. Mary Trudorf of Dexter and Mrs. Florence Mayer of Chelsea on the program needs sub-committee.

Young, the survey director, reported that since the activation of the committee in January of this year, the committee (and sub-committees) have progressed through three developmental stages. The first was organization of the committee as a whole into working committees and the planning of the objectives of the survey. The second was the development of methods, processes, and data collection devices. The third is the data collection stage, which is the point in progress to which the committee has now arrived.

The fourth stage will be the interpretation of the data and the data analysis and interlocking of the data developed by the sub-committees.

Young reported that the committee on schedule but with a very tight time schedule as that an unforeseen development could delay the final report. It is expected to have the entire report in tentative form by the middle of July and that following correction and revision it should be ready for printing in August.

He paid tribute to the very high calibre of personnel who were selected to work on the committee and lauded the excellent work they have done. However, he pointed out that because they were excellent people, they were very busy people and the scheduling of meetings so that everyone could attend has been a vexing problem. In a few instances it has been necessary to call for replacement of members to keep the project moving.

Individual sub-committee work was reviewed by Young, but he cautioned that any observations that he might make were tentative only and could be entirely voided as more data becomes available.

HOUSE HIT BY TRAIN
Corpus Christi, Tex. — A Missouri Pacific Railroad passenger train crashed into a house on the track as it rounded a curve near here.

The house, loaded on a truck, was being moved to a new location when the train struck it. Damage to the house totaled $1,500 and to the engine $800.

Ancient Romans Also Did Well in Building Roads

With some luck and $41 billion, this nation hopes to have its 41,000-mile interstate expressway system completed by 1970. That vast network of superhighways might impress motorists of that day, but as a little research by Rep. Robert E. Jones of Alabama shows it would not be overly impressive on road-builders of Caesar's day.

Jones, a high-ranking member of the House Public Works Committee which is involved in federal highway programs, has been doing some excavating into highway history, and he has unearthed some enlightening facts. Not the least of them is that by Caesar's time, the Romans had constructed or planned 53,638 miles of highways and built them so well that thousands of miles of these ancient roads are still used by modern traffic in Europe.

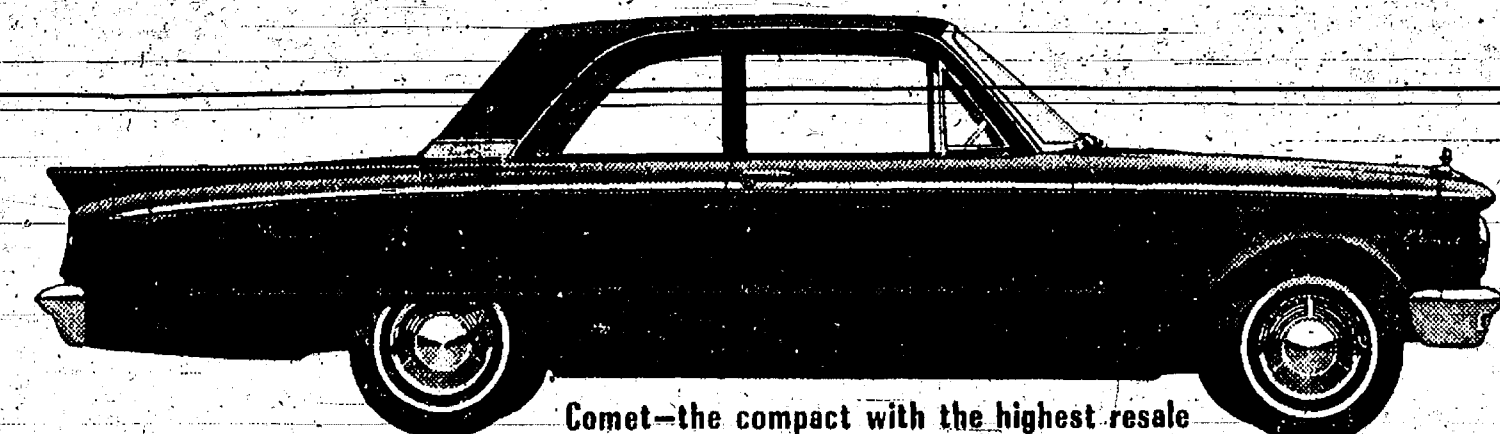

Any bets on how many of our 1970-vintage turnpikes, expressways and superhighways will be around by the year 3970?
