Niles sues to close Ruesch Garage

by Sheila Hackett

The Village of Niles continues its move to oust the Ruesch garage from 8650 Shermer Road. Within days, Niles will file suit on the closure in Chicago's Circuit Court, according to Village Attorney Richard Troy.

Troy said he would do Ruesch's attorney the courtesy of discussing the issue with him but so far, they have been unable to talk. Troy said "Our position is he's required by code to cease operations there...we're enforcing the code."

When it was suggested that a man's livelihood is at stake, Troy noted that Ruesch has known for several years that a closure was GoodNick... BadNick... that best describes our feelings these days about Niles village president, Nick Blase.

GoodNick is scrounging around the village seeking his next village manager. GoodNick thinks there's plenty of talented people within Niles borders who could fill the manager post.

GoodNick has made two great appointments in recent years in selecting the chiefs of the police and fire departments. Both times he went inside the departments to fill the posts. Both appointments have been A-1.

When Blase went outside the village, conducting a nationwide search for the last manager, he came up with a very talented financial director who lacked the personnel management requisites to direct Niles' large bureaucracy. The out-of-town guy followed the very popular Ken Scheel in the post and his stark, impersonal management skills caused a minor revolution within the village. Longtime employees left the administration offices after the new manager laid down a very strict discipline policy for personnel. Social contacts between desk mates were forbidden. Plants separated former clerks, and secretaries were shipped off to quarters which were, at best, demoralizing.

Niles Library approves $2.7 million budget

by Eileen Hirschfeld

In a 6-1 vote, a tentative budget of $2,764,991 was approved by board members of the Niles Library at a Wednesday, July 5 meeting. A public hearing and final approval are scheduled for Aug. 9.

Board President Margaret Rajski voted against the proposed budget to protest a suggested $5,000 salary hike for Administrator Duncan McKenzie. "I voted against the budget on principle," Rajski said.

McKenzie's present salary is $50,000. He was named administrator about four years ago with a salary close to $25,000, according to Rajski.

She also objected to disproportionate amounts to be spent on employee salaries compared to books. Under the proposed budget, employees will receive a total salary of $1.6 million dollars, with benefits. A sum of only $375,000, including binding is to be set aside for books.

This year's budget also will include $331,000 in outstanding expenditures from last year and about $243,000 for other capital

by Nancy Keraminas

Summer is one of the busiest times of year for animal control personnel who are part of virtually every municipality. Some animal control departments, such as in Niles, Morton Grove, Des Plaines and Park Ridge, are, so to speak, under the wing of the police department, while others, such as in Skokie, are part of the Passarelli has relocated a goat, a woodchuck and most recently, an alligator. Skokie's officers had a night with an iguana and once responded to a call about a snake in health department. Some animal control officers are community service officers in the police department, and others, like Niles' Ernie Passarelli, entered public service via a different career path. Passarelli was a barber for 25 years before Niles invited him to be the animal ombudsman. Passarelli also finds himself in the role of a gopher, running police and village interdepartmental errands in addition to his animal control duties.

When humans build homes in areas once dominated by forest and prairie critters, there are bound to be ruffed feathers. While most people's encounters with wildlife tend to be the human variety, there are many occasions when the animal control department of a municipality should be contacted. The response of the agency is contingent upon departmental policy, type of incident and/or equipment available to deal with the trespassing fauna. The animal officers surveyed a restaurant. The latter reptile was rubber. The animal control unit's arsenal may consist of nets, snare poles, traps and cages as well as firearms. Mostly, the animal control officers use common sense when dealing with animals and urge citizens to do the same.

Sample advice: Skokie's Lowell Huckleberry, a health department official who supervises that village's four animal control officers, offers this suggestion to the householder who wants to get rid of the deer nibbling the nasturtiums in his garden—"get the camera out and start taking pictures." Huckleberry, who grew up in a ammonia or vinegar-soaked rags will also send the side-tracked possum or coon back to its proper habitat, according to the Des Plaines officer.

Passarelli recommends prevention—capping chimneys to discourage birds and raccoons and sealing up openings, which tempt four-footed stowaways. Donna Polka, herself a Park Ridge CSO and animal control officer, said she and the other animal control staff attend many training seminars. Some information that later helped the city's officers, was that a skunk won't spray what it can't see. Armed with that bit of trivia, the Park Ridge CSOs successfully "rescued" a skunk that had gotten its head stuck in a yogurt carton. Polka said her agency received dozens of calls about that particular distressed skunk from sympathetic citizens.

Fireworks spark brush fires

Wayward fireworks sparked brush fires in two separate Morton Grove areas over the recent holiday weekend. The night of July 1, a 20' x 20' section of brush ignited when fireworks landed in an open field in an industrial area behind the 6100 block of Elm St. Morton Grove Fire Lt. John Brendel, directing three firefighters, said current drought conditions contributed to the fire hazard.

Sewer surveyors inspect Morton Grove residences

Surveyors will continue visiting west-side Morton Grove residences and businesses through September to inspect buildings' storm and sanitary sewer connections. The inspections, only performed in the separate sewer areas west of the forest preserves, south of Main Street and east of Austin Avenue, are mandated by the Metropolitan Water Reclamation District as part of the village's attempt to reduce sewer back-ups and basement flooding. According to John Bruszewski, Morton Grove community development engineer, the study will also lead to improve the quality of the village's drinking water.

To confirm the surveyors' authorization, residents can call the Morton Grove Police at 965-2131.

Niles Historical Society wins float award

An authentic Conestoga Covered Wagon, mounted on a flatbed and surrounded by members dressed in costumes of the 1800s won the Niles Historical Society float first place honors in Niles Fourth of July Parade.

Although the Historical Museum at 8970 Milwaukee Avenue, Niles is closed during the summer months, individual special tours may be arranged.

Girl beaten at Morton Grove carnival

A fifteen-year-old Lincolnwood girl was twice attacked by a trio of girls while she attended a Morton Grove carnival the night of July 3. The three girls, about 18 years old, were recognized by the victim as 1989 graduates of Niles Township West High School.

Morton Grove garbage dump in the forest preserves near the 8500 block of Beckwith Road was ignited by fireworks. The area is frequented by dirt bike riders. Morton Grove District Chief Howard Meyer directed nine men at the scene and noted although the fire was under control within 10 minutes, the marshy nature of the land leads fires to continue burning beneath the surface. The fire was struck in about an hour.

Niles police find stolen car after high speed chase

An alert off-duty Niles police officer thwarted a car theft and his actions may have prevented the theft of a second Cadillac from a Niles location last Friday. Reserve Officer Daniel Gontarak spotted two men acting in a suspicious manner near a Cadillac parked near Oriole Avenue and Oakton street on July 7. Calling the police station shortly after midnight, he relayed a description of the men who were by then enroute in a second, silver Cadillac and proceeding northwest on Milwaukee Avenue. Investigator Robert Stankowicz began following the suspects just past Dempster Street and he and fellow officers Marty Stankowicz and Don Matuszak were behind the Cadillac when it reached Golf Road.

Police officers from all the surrounding suburbs were monitoring the chase and a Wheeling canine unit was on the scene "almost immediately" to assist police in tracking the escaped car thieves, who had previously stolen the car from a Chicago man.

Hearing set for Dominicks price labels

At the second such public hearing in five years, Morton Grove residents will discuss the legislation that requires individual price labels on each item for sale in a grocery store. The hearing is scheduled for Aug. 14 at 8 p.m. in the Morton Grove Village Hall.

Plans call for doubling stores to 80 retailers

Old Orchard mall in Skokie, one of the nation's premier shopping centers, is slated for a $100 million revamp. The outdoor mall, which was built in 1956, will have a second story added to many of its buildings and be completely enclosed by autumn of 1991.

Old Orchard to be enclosed and expanded

Plans for the updated mall will be unveiled later this month at a meeting of the Skokie Plan Commission. Skokie Mayor Jacqueline Gorelli has indicated she favors redevelopments of this nature because the village has run out of vacant land available for new projects.

First-time blood donor

"I never thought I would be able to give back what my husband has needed from others all these years."

Marcy Ustaski's husband Donald, (both of Franklin Park) has a rare blood disease which requires a 4-unit blood transfusion every five weeks. For him, receiving blood is a matter of life and death, as it is for all patients who need blood.

"I can't tell you how often we go to the hospital to find there's no blood available for him," Marcy said. Donald is AB negative, a rare blood type. He often has to wait a day or two for a donor to come forward.

"We are very lucky for many years to be part of the Franklin Park community blood program," Marcy said. "I could just call Dick Herrmann (the blood drive coordinator) and he often found several AB negative donors to replace what my husband used. It's not every day you find people like Dick and his dedicated blood donors to come each time they are asked."

Marcy is now a blood donor. After battling high blood pressure for many years, she finally qualifies as a healthy blood donor and is eager to give back some of what Donald needed over the years. Her co-worker, Louis Michalowski (Franklin Park) also gave blood at the FAA employee blood drive in Des Plaines June 6 to help make sure patients like Donald are never waiting for their life's blood.

Students qualify for college courses

Three St. Scholastica High School students, Farnoush Abarghouni, Anita Daniel, and Kerry Skemp qualified for Loyola University's program offering courses to high school seniors. Farnoush will be enrolling in War and Morality, Anita will be enrolling in War and Morality and Philosophy of Human Nature and Kerry will be enrolling in Philosophy of Human Nature.

First-time blood donors Louis Michalowski (left) and Marcy Ustaski of Franklin Park (right) flank FAA, Des Plaines Blood Drive Chairperson, Betty Cobb, R.N., Park Ridge. Marcy's husband Donald is her inspiration to donate blood; he has a rare blood disease which requires a 4-unit blood transfusion every five weeks.

Jewish Children's Bureau performance

The Jewish Children's Bureau will present Moliere's The Doctor In Spite of Himself in July. This 17th Century French farce will be performed as an ensemble work by a cast of fifteen and combines a contemporary music score with the finest elements of commedia dell'arte. It is a wildly chaotic yet controlled production which integrates the audience with the ensemble almost as if they were on stage alongside the actors in a 17th Century cabaret. The work will be played in the round in a comfortable, intimate space and promises an exciting, hilarious entertainment for a summer's night.

The Doctor In Spite of Himself, directed by Tony Muscarello, will be performed July 21 and 22 at the Jewish Children's Bureau School, 6014 N. California, 761-8366. All performances begin promptly at 8 p.m. Ticket prices are $5.

Members of the Cast of "A Doctory In Spite Of Himself", (l-r): M. Goern, J. Hayes, M. Hettinger, C. Urbanski, W. Esbrook.

Swindoll film at St. John Lutheran

In a day of fading hopes, weak resolve and yawning indifference, Charles Swindoll is giving Christians across the country a new enthusiasm for Christian commitment. He challenges your pre-conceptions and clarifies your choices through his lively, biblical instruction. Caleb, King Saul, Adam, Paul...you'll gain a new insight into the dilemmas they faced...and what the Bible can teach us through their example.

The powerful film series, Strengthening Your Grip, featuring Chuck Swindoll is being shown at St. John Lutheran Church, 7429 Milwaukee ave., on Sunday mornings at 9:15 through July 16. We invite the community to join us in these films which will challenge us in our daily walk with the Lord.

Film 6 on July 16 is entitled "Authority: Hope for a Talk-Back Fight-Back World." The tragedy of King Saul is a warning for today's "I dare you to step on my rights" society. This film shows how to submit without losing your dignity.

You are invited to join us for these films and for our worship services at 8 and 10:30 each Sunday morning as we praise the name of our Lord Jesus Christ together.

Sister Mary Aloysius' kindness not forgotten

Former orphans and friends feted Sister Mary Aloysius, a Felician sister, for 75 years of service. Fifty of these years were devoted to the children at St. Hedwig's Orphanage (now the Archdiocesan Seminary) and twenty-five years at St. Andrew Home for the Aged in Niles.

Through the years Sister Aloysius welcomed and served over 5,000 youngsters in need at the orphanage as director of the home. Most are now married and still consider Sister Mary Aloysius as their mother figure. They meet annually at the dinner dance and this year they celebrated her 92nd birthday.

Now their steps are directed to the Marian Care Center at 3802 Peterson where Sister Aloysius is ill and retired. Cards, gifts, flowers and frequent visitors keep reminding Sister Aloysius that she is loved and appreciated.

All the sick sisters of Marian Care Center were remembered by Sister M. Aloysius with surprise packages for every major holiday. In gratitude they honored her with a special garden party with clowns, balloons and musical performance.

Ladies Auxiliary convention

Delegates from the Ladies Auxiliary to the Park Ridge Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3579 recently attended the 65th annual state convention held at the Ramada O'Hare in Rosemont. State President Evelyn O'Rourke presided during the business sessions.

Park Ridge Auxiliary 3579 received numerous awards for their outstanding work during the past year. A first place plaque was awarded for the record book detailing the community activities of the post and auxiliary for the past year. A second place award was presented to Elaine von Schwedler for the publicity book. Recognition pins were awarded members for their work making afghans, scuffies and other items for hospitalized veterans. Hospital service pins were awarded to Sue Buzinski, Shirley Coady, Zella Prajzner and Josephine Straz for a total of 2,500 hours of dedicated service to vets in Hines Hospital.

Delegates representing the 43,000 Illinois Auxiliary members voted unanimously to send a resolution to the Supreme Court requesting reconsideration of its recent ruling making burning of the American flag a legal act. This ruling is in direct conflict with the ideals of promoting patriotism of the Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The convention concluded with the election and installation of state officers for the 1989-90 term of office.

New members are being recruited for the Park Ridge Auxiliary which meets the first Monday of each month at Canfield and Higgins Rd. Mothers, daughters, wives and granddaughters of veterans having served overseas during a war are invited to join. Interested ladies should call 825-4588 for further information and a chance to help others in need.

St. Francis maternity care

The largest Single Room Maternity Care Center on the North Shore recently opened its doors at St. Francis Hospital of Evanston. The center is the first to gain state certification-of-need (CON) approval, and has established the CON criteria for all other centers. CON approval is necessary when available hospital beds are converted for new or improved use.

Mothers can now experience labor, delivery, recovery and postpartum (LDRP) in one of 14 big, beautifully-decorated rooms. Rooms are private, with the mothers' only roommate being her baby.

Maternity services available also include an after-hospital developmental program for premature babies, home visits from a registered nurse and pre-natal educational programs such as Lamaze and Sibling classes.

To receive a brochure or for more information on the North Shore's Best Birthing Option, call 492-6170.

Kustra accepts Meritorious Award

State Sen. Bob Kustra, left, accepts an Illinois Community College Trustees Association Meritorious Award from the organization's executive director, Dr. Gary W. Davis of Springfield. Kustra was one of only four state legislators to receive the award this year for his support of the state's community college system.

State Senator Bob Kustra is one of only four state legislators who received Meritorious Service Awards from the Illinois Community College Trustees Association (ICCTA) at the group's recent annual convention.

Dr. Gary W. Davis, ICCTA executive director, said the awards are presented annually to public officials and others in appreciation for their support of the state's community college system and of the Trustees Association, which is made up of the trustees from all of the 39 public community districts in Illinois.

Kustra, who is minority spokesman of the Senate Elementary and Secondary Education Committee, sponsored last year's Chicago school reforms and is a strong advocate for increased education funding for both public schools and state-supported colleges and universities. In addition to his Senate duties, he serves on the faculty of Northwestern University and lectures at the University of Illinois-Chicago and at Oakton Community College.

Tax exemption for disabled vets

Legislation that will help lower property taxes for disabled veterans has been approved by the Senate Revenue Committee, according to State Sen. Walter Dudydz (R-7th, Chicago).

House Bill 1831 will raise the disabled veteran's homestead exemption from $47,500 to $50,000.

"High property taxes in Chicago have strained many people's budgets, but may prove to be a real hardship for disabled veterans who may be unable to work. Increasing the amount that they can deduct from the assessed value of their residences will help ease the burden of high property taxes," the 7th District Senator said.

The law currently allows disabled veterans to deduct $47,500 from the assessed value of their residences.

Sponsored in the Senate by State Sen. Ted Lechowicz (D-8th, Chicago), House Bill 1831 now moves to the full Senate for further consideration. The legislation was passed by the House of Representatives on May 24.

Sutker vows fight for insurance legislation

State Representative Calvin R. Sutker, reacting to the failure of the Illinois House to pass sweeping antitrust reform of the insurance industry, vowed to carry on his fight to eventually pass his legislation.

"Why should insurance companies be virtually the only major industry in Illinois exempt from antitrust laws?" Sutker asked. "By setting rates within the industry, these companies are in a position to create an insurance crisis at times of their own choosing. Rates are on a constant roller coaster which prohibit too many people from obtaining affordable insurance. At the same time, these companies are making record profits."

Sutker's bill lifts the antitrust exemptions that insurance companies currently hide behind. By doing so, companies would be subject to civil and criminal penalties. Violations by corporations, Class 4 felonies, would then be punishable by fines of up to $1 million.

"I will fight to see that this important measure is not forgotten," Sutker stated. "Over the next several years, I will carefully review legislation which we may amend to include these provisions. The other option is to bring this legislation up again next spring. Either way, this bill will be high on my legislative agenda."

Drug possession

A Glenview man, 25, stopped for a traffic violation in the 6700 block of Dempster st. July 5 was found to have open alcohol in a cooler in the rear seat and a packet of cannabis wedged in the front seat. Morton Grove Police charged him with possession of cannabis and transportation of open liquor.

Firecrackers

On the July 4 holiday, Morton Grove Police dealt with several fireworks-related incidents. In the early morning hours, a resident of the 8900 block of Austin ave. was awakened by a loud firecracker in front of his home. He discovered that the glass and metal frame housing his exterior lamp post had been damaged and estimated the loss at $100. That night, police cited a Niles man for possessing and igniting fireworks at National Park, 9325 Marion st., Morton Grove.

Thefts

The night of July 3 two ladders tied to a post in the rear of the building in the 6100 block of Dempster st., Morton Grove were stolen. The owner, a Niles resident, valued the 18' aluminum ladder at $70 and the 50' magnesium one at $500.

July 2 an 18-year-old Chicago woman told police someone took t-tops from inside her locked and alarm-protected '78 Pontiac Firebird parked in the 6700 block of Dempster st., Morton Grove. Damage to the car's t-top trim indicated the roof opening may have been the access point for the t-tops valued at $600.

Burglaries

A resident of the 9100 block of Mason ave., Morton Grove returned home the evening of July 5 to find his front door open and the bedrooms of the house ransacked. He reported a $2,000 loss of valuables, including jewelry, VHS video recorder, cassette deck and record player. Thieves entered through a crank operated bedroom window.

A woman checking on her vacationing parents' home in the 8900 block of Oak Park ave. July 5 discovered the front door ajar and numerous valuables removed from the house. Thieves had used a cutting tool to break a kitchen window. They then reached inside and disconnected the audible alarm system on the house doors. The woman told Morton Grove Police the parents would catalogue the missing jewelry, china, art work and television that were missing. Newspapers and mail were piled outside the front door.

Criminal damage to vehicles

In the last week, several patrons have emerged from Morton Grove restaurants to find their cars' finish scratched with a sharp instrument. The morning of July 6 in two separate incidents, a Morton Grove man and woman discovered their cars marred when they left the restaurant in the 6400 block of Lincoln ave. One car, an '85 Mercedes, sustained $300 damage due to a scratched hood; the other, a red '88 Chevrolet, had the words "nice car" scratched on a panel. Damage to the Chevrolet was estimated to be $500.

July 9 a Highland Park man left a restaurant in the 9200 block of Waukegan rd. to find the entire passenger's side of his '88 BMW scratched. He valued the loss at $500.

Bank deposit stolen

Receipts from a Niles business were stolen from the Golf Mill State Bank night depository slot on July 7. The manager of Rand Pool and Patio made a $6,660.59 deposit in the evening and became concerned when the depository door wouldn't close properly. When the bank was contacted the following morning, the deposit was not part of the overnight receipts, leading them to suspect a theft. Included in the missing deposit was $1,381 in currency.

Mark Twain vandalized

Chunks of mud also factor into the window breakage inflicted on Mark Twain Elementary School July 3. A 30 by 36-inch first-floor plexiglass window was broken as well as a 15 by 36-inch 2nd floor window. The vandals threw things around a classroom but apparently stole nothing.

Handgun stolen

A resident of the Breakers Apartments reported the theft of his 22 caliber handgun and 100 rounds of rifle ammunition sometime between June 30 and July 5. The retiree suspects a member of the cleaning staff.

Fireworks cause brush fire in Niles

Improper fireworks use was responsible for at least one small brush fire in Niles as well as damage to a Niles home over the Fourth of July holiday. Niles Fire fighters extinguished a brush fire in the 8300 block of Ozanam Ave., July 4, which damaged a fence on the property as well. The owners of the property denied using fireworks. A Niles couple was awakened shortly after one a.m. by loud explosions in the front of their home in the 7800 block of Oleander Ave. When they went to their front door they discovered exploded firecracker debris on the rug. Persons unknown had placed a two-pack of one and a half inch firecrackers inside their interior mail slot.

Van stolen

The owner of a 1979 Pontiac Safari reported his vehicle missing after it was taken from a repair shop in the 9000 block of Milwaukee Ave. around July 5. The man was given the keys to his van after he paid the repair bill, only to discover it was gone.

Construction site damaged

Several construction companies working on a project at 8524 W. Golf Road reported overnight damage July 4. A $35 window was broken on a construction trailer by persons unknown using large chunks of mud as projectiles. Five windows valued at $500 were broken on a grader and a $400 backhoe window was also broken.

Mischief at power plant

Emergency personnel were summoned to the Commonwealth Edison substation at Golf rd. and Milwaukee ave. July 8 after receiving a report of an explosion and fire at the property. No damage other than a brush fire occurred. Police noted broken glass and plastic, indicating the explosion was probably caused by a bottle bomb homemade type of prank device.

Auto burglarized

The owner of a 1984 Honda Accord reported an over-the-weekend burglary on July 9. The car was reportedly locked when the unknown thief entered and took a $200 AM/FM stereo cassette unit, $60 stun gun, $110 sunglasses, $70 telephone and $50 in tapes.

Teen spits-mom hits

A 16-year-old resident of the 8000 block of Oriole ave. spat in his mother's face July 8, whereupon his mother hit him in the head with a stereo speaker. The boy was treated for injuries at Lutheran General Hospital after being transported there by Niles Paramedics. His lip was reportedly split with three lacerations from the speaker.

Home burglarized

Unknown burglars made off with an undetermined amount of jewelry and a videocassette recorder from a residence in the 8400 block of Ottawa Ave. July 6. The burglars entered through an unlocked basement window and ransacked the drawers in all three bedrooms. The owner indicated there was a large amount of cash in the home which was not stolen.

Motel gets goods on employee

A Royal 8 employee is suspected of stealing more than $1,000 worth of linens from the motel, located at 6450 W. Touhy ave. The manager of the hotel checked the employee's room after receiving a report from another guest that the employee had been selling the motel's sheets, blankets, and towels to another motel as well as steering motel business to other motels. The employee reportedly took money from prospective patrons without recording the receipts. The employee will be interviewed about his role in the linen disappearance as well as the possible theft of other hotel property including a number of televisions.

Fry Foundation awards Rosary College

The Lloyd A. Fry Foundation, Chicago, recently awarded a two-year grant of $200,000 to the Rosary College Graduate School of Education, River Forest, to begin an innovative program to train administrators for parochial schools.

In addition, the Foundation's board authorized a third annual grant of $100,000 contingent upon Rosary's securing matching funds on a one-for-one basis from other external sources.

The Principals' Program, which will begin this fall, addresses specific problems in the training of leaders for archdiocesan schools. The pilot program, which will offer the Master of Art in Educational Leadership degree, is the first of its kind in the Chicago area, according to Sister Marie Grant, project director and dean of the Graduate School of Education at Rosary.

The Fry Grant allocates the $200,000 over a two-year period and covers the costs of establishing and evaluating the program. In addition, funds during this period will provide fellowships for qualified, non-public school educators to enroll in this program.

Enrollment will be limited to 35 educators each year who have demonstrated knowledge and attitudes to successfully become educational leaders. The College invites principals within the non-public system to nominate qualified candidates. While teachers currently working in non-public schools are the most likely candidates, the program is open to those educators wishing to move into the non-public system, Grant says.

For more information on the Lloyd A. Fry Foundation's Principals' Program, contact the Graduate School of Education at Rosary College, 7900 W. Division St., River Forest, at 366-2490, Ext. 346.

Edgar's Traffic Safety hints

Between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights, an estimated one of every 10 drivers is legally drunk. Whether you drive during those hours or during other days and hours of the week, the ability to detect a drunk driver could save your life. These clues indicate that a driver may be under the influence of alcohol or other drugs:

- Drifting between lanes or turning too widely;
- Following other vehicles too closely;
- Driving at night with the car's headlights off;
- Responding slowly to traffic lights or giving inappropriate signals; and
- Accelerating rapidly or stopping suddenly.

If you encounter a suspected drunk driver, keep plenty of distance between you and that vehicle. Do not pass the vehicle unless necessary, and keep your eyes on it if you do.

If the suspect vehicle is approaching rapidly from behind you, let it pass. And stay alert to the vehicle's position.

Do not try to stop a suspected drunk driver. When you reach a gas station or rest area, call the police and report the vehicle's description and license plate number. Reporting an impaired driver to police protects everyone on the highway.

But most importantly, do not drink and drive yourself.

Dudycz bill supports Art Institute cuts

The Illinois Senate has passed legislation co-sponsored by State Sen. Walter Dudycz that cuts state funding for the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Senate Bill 401, which is the appropriations bill for the Illinois Arts Council, fully funds other arts organizations at levels recommended by the Governor, but includes just $1 for the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

"This legislation will now affect state funding for any other arts organizations," Dudycz said. "However we are sending the administrators of the School of the Art Institute a strong message that the freedom of expression also demands a sense of responsibility, which they have not demonstrated."

"The Illinois Senate passed a resolution early in April asking School officials to issue a public apology for allowing the controversial 'What is the Proper Way to Display the American Flag' exhibit to remain open despite public protest," the 7th District Senator said. "Senate Resolution 184 also asked the School to clarify its future policy on sensitive matters such as the display of the American Flag and the degrading portrait of the late Mayor Harold Washington, in order to ensure that its decisions are consistent and equitable. School officials have not responded to either request."

The legislation now moves to the House of Representatives for further consideration.

Niles Township awards Arlyn School

to develop a Learning Resource Center which is currently being utilized as a work experience training site for students enrolled in Arlyn School's prevocational option track. The Resource Center provides students with the diversified technical training in word processing, data entry, circulation, materials cataloguing, and audio visual assistance.

Waste Management makes grant to college

Waste Management, Inc. of Oak Brook, has awarded a $75,000 challenge grant to North Central College to support a new program in leadership, ethics and values.

The new Leadership, Ethics and Values Program will be introduced at the College in September 1989, and North Central President Gael D. Swing has stated that every student attending the College will be touched by the new emphases.

J. Steven Bergerson, vice president and general counsel for Waste Management, Inc., announces the first challenge grant ever made to an educational institution by the corporation by saying, "We applaud North Central College's recognition that the focus on ethics must be more than a one-time course and that ethics is entwined with leadership and values, all of which must be an integral part of the educational environment."

Laser offers alternative for artery treatment

Coronary laser-enhanced angioplasty offers physicians a new alternative to current artery disease treatment methods: drug therapy, balloon angioplasty and bypass surgery.

Drug therapy is used for patients with mild artery disease. The therapy reduces angina (chest pain) and helps break blood clots that could lead to a heart attack.

Balloon angioplasty is performed on patients with more severe artery blockages for whom drug therapy is no longer effective. Balloon angioplasty can also be used on an emergency basis to open a blocked artery which has caused a heart attack, stopping the heart attack while it happens.

The procedure involves a small balloon on the tip of a thin, flexible catheter. The catheter is inserted into a groin area blood vessel and guided, using x-ray equipment, to the narrowed section artery. The balloon is then inflated to break the obstruction and force plaque against the artery walls.

Laser-enhanced angioplasty combines balloon angioplasty with a low-wattage argon laser. The laser-enhanced allows cardiologists to use angioplasty in severely blocked arteries.

"Before the laser, we could not guide the balloon past a complete or nearly-complete obstruction," explained Alberto E. Foschi, M.D., Director of St. Francis Hospital's Galvin Heart Center. "Now we use the laser to burn a small hole in the blockage, so that we can move the balloon into place."

"The laser is held in place by the angioplasty balloon, and can only shoot straight ahead a very short distance. This insures that the artery walls are not damaged," said Dr. Foschi.

Severely blocked arteries have traditionally been treated with open-heart bypass surgery, taking grafts from a healthy artery to bypass the blocked artery. "Angioplasty is much less traumatic procedure," explained Dr. Foschi. "The patient requires only a mild sedative and a local anesthetic. The hospital stay and recovery time are much shorter."

If proven successful, coronary laser-enhanced angioplasty could soon be used to treat patients who would otherwise require open-heart surgery.

Services from Social Security

Should you pay $18 to get your social security application processed?

People in the Northwest suburbs of the Chicago area have been receiving mail from an organization called the Federal Benefits Assistance Corporation offering to assist them in filing for Social Security retirement benefits for an $18 fee, Thomas A. Curin, Social Security manager in Des Plaines, said. The Federal Benefits Assistance Corporation is not connected with the Social Security Administration or Federal government.

First, Curin said, there is no need to pay any firm money to help you file a Social Security application.

Second, you may actually lose money and delay the processing of your claim by sending your application to a private company. Social Security applications are not officially filed until they're actually received in a Social Security office.

The representatives in any Social Security office will provide free all of the services you need to file your claim for benefits, including: giving you the proper application form; helping you complete your form; and telling you what documents you need and how to obtain them.

The Social Security representative can answer questions and provide you with brochures explaining how Social Security affects you.

Don't pay $18 for services Social Security will provide free, Curin said. Phone 1-800-2345-SSA if you have questions about filing a claim for Social Security benefits. It's available 24 hours, 7 days a week.

Elder Abuse: Now a full-scale national health-care problem

It happens to 78-year-old Anne G. almost every day. Her teenage grandchildren steal money from her purse depleting her funds for prescription medication used to control a chronic heart condition.

Mary T., an 84-year-old widow, under the care of several physicians, takes nine different pills throughout the day for a variety of ailments including arthritis and ulcers. Her children visit her once a month at most. She lives alone as do many elderly Americans and sometimes has difficulty remembering which pill to take at what time of day.

As a result, she swallows several at one time or completely forgets to take her medication, thus abusing her body metabolism involuntarily.

Both elderly women are examples of an increasing contingent of victims of "elder abuse" or "elder neglect," a population whose family interactions plus physical and emotional needs must be examined more closely, according to Dr. Do-meena Renshaw, professor of psychiatry, Loyola University Medical Center, Maywood.

"Elder abuse," defines various destructive or punitive experiences older people may encounter - from neglect to battering, verbal abuse, exploitation, denial of rights, forced confinement, neglected medical needs or other types of physical harm - usually at the hands of someone responsible for assisting them in their daily living. Studies have documented a range of forms of this type of violence. Burns, oversaturation, malnutrition, dehydration, being tied to furniture, inappropriate medication doses, fractures, freezing and sexual abuse all have been reported as forms of "elder abuse."

Estimates of the number of older Americans who are being physically or psychologically abused or neglected have reached as high as one million or three percent of the population 65 years and older. The prospects for elder abuse situations are increasing because the frailest group of elderly is also the fastest-growing segment of the population.

As the elderly population increases, other significant changes are occurring. The number of potential family caretakers available to serve as traditional, women have played a key role in caring for family members. Often they have been more personally involved and distressed about elders than their male siblings. Yet today, many women have returned to the workplace by design or necessity and are not always available to assume responsibility as caretaker.

Women over 75 lead the list of abused victims. Many have outlived their husbands by ten years and have indulged their children financially. This last factor may explain when the sons of these widows lead the probable abuse list; they feel entitled to their deceased fathers' fortunes, whatever the size, and resort to various means of financial exploitation.

Who are the abusers? "Besides sons, sometimes they are caregivers of elders, mostly midlife daughters or daughters-in-law caught between adjacent demands of job, home, husband and children," says Dr. Renshaw. "Many have finished raising their children and now have elderly parents to look after. They had looked forward to 'retiring' after the child-rearing years and perhaps joining a volunteer group or taking a night class. They resent their caregiver situation explaining that they've had no 'breathing time' for themselves between these nurturing roles," she adds.

Dr. Renshaw feels the emotional and physical demands felt by female caregivers are as real and normal as their responses and should not be overlooked in assessing the overall problem of elder abuse. "These nurturers need nurturing themselves," says the Loyola psychiatrist. To help alleviate the stress and burden they feel in their own caregiver situation, she offers some advice. They must learn to do the following: occasionally ask for help from other family members in a cheerful, firm way; research respite or hospice services as backup care; check pension plans, social security, veteran and other benefits for financial assistance or visiting nurse care; seek counseling if family strife becomes unmanageable; start a support group; take mini-breaks on a regular basis with a hot bath, towel massage, extra sleep-in time or movie entertainment.

"These positive steps will help reduce the caregiver's resentment and refuel the individual's energy level to reach out to elderly relatives with kindness and a smile instead of guilt and resentment."

Hopefully, these suggestions will help Americans re-think ways to gain new respect philosophically for the older person and to improve elder care at all socioeconomic levels of our aging society.

Hobbies demonstrated at Retirement Fair

Physician earns certification in geriatric medicine

Herschel M. Weller, M.D., of Chicago recently became certified by the board of geriatric medicine. Dr. Weller, who is already board certified in internal medicine, has been on staff at Mount Sinai Hospital North on the city's far north side since January, 1988.

In conjunction with his new certification, Dr. Weller has announced that he will extend his office hours at the Touhy Health Center located at 2901 W. Touhy, Chicago, to accommodate the needs of his patients. Weller is also Acting Medical Director at the Lieberman Geriatric Center, Skokie.

According to Weller, the board certification test in geriatric medicine was offered for the first time this year because the general population is living longer and the public is becoming more aware of older adult's special medical needs.

"The geriatrician's role is to help maintain the older adult's health," said Weller, "so they can be active participants in the community for as long as possible."

Herschel M. Weller

Weller holds professional membership in the American College of Physicians, the American Medical Association and the American Geriatrics Society.

For more information about geriatric medicine or Dr. Weller, call 973-7350.

Hartigan declares Seniors victory

Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan says Illinois' senior citizens have won a major victory with the passage of a bill designed to give elderly and disabled persons greater protection from fraud and neglect.

Senate Bill 505, drafted by Hartigan and sponsored by Senator William Marovitz (D-Chicago), Rep. Bob DeJaegher (D-East Moline) and Rep. Tom Homer (D-Canton), were enacted by both houses of the General Assembly and sent to the governor for the final approval.

SB 505 provides for the creation of two new criminal statutes to deal with prevalent types of crime against senior citizens. First, it creates the crime of "Financial Exploitation of an Elderly Person," which prohibits the financial exploitation or conversion of a senior citizen's assets by a caregiver without the elderly person's informed consent. Second, it creates the felony of "Criminal Neglect of an Elderly Person," which forbids a caregiver from withholding food, water, medical or hygienic care from an elderly person.

The provisions of SB 505 also protected disabled persons victimized by such crimes, as well as senior citizens.

Another bill, Senate Bill 508, instructs judges to consider the physical and mental well-being of an elderly victim before granting continuances in criminal trials. Hartigan put the package together after a series of statewide hearings last fall held by a subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, chaired by Marovitz. Those hearings, which featured testimony from law enforcement and social service agencies from around Illinois, revealed that crimes against the elderly are more widespread than had been previously thought. Those hearings also showed that such crimes often go unreported.

Dancers perform at Retirement Hotel

Perceptual Motion Dance Company, a modern dance company that not only performs but includes their audience "as choreographer," will perform for residents and guests at the North Shore Retirement Hotel, 1611 Chicago Ave., Evanston, Wednesday, July 18 at 2 p.m. The public is invited at no charge.

According to Lin Shook, artistic director, "Perceptual Motion is not the ordinary dance company. We perform a variety of dances, ranging from contemporary to Renaissance—but we gear our performances to include our audience—particularly seniors. Movement games, Tai Chi demonstrations and rhythm games are added to our repertory, thus we get immediate feedback and opportunity to talk with the audience. It increases communication between performers and the audience, creating a warm and friendly atmosphere and the end result is everyone has fun!"

The dancers bring a meaningful dance experience to their audience and encourage the inactive to be active and the already active to really show their stuff. At the end of the program everybody ends up dancing—either in chairs or standing, the audience is encouraged to dance with the PMI dancers or each other.

Please join the residents for this unique afternoon dance concert. Call 864-6400 for reservations.

Social Security trust funds grow

Because of continued strength in the Nation's economy, the Board of Trustees of the Social Security trust funds concluded that Social Security remains financially sound well into the next century.

The 1989 trustees report provided projections of the status of the trust funds based on differing economic and demographic assumptions. Under the intermediate, or most likely, actuarial assumptions, income to the Social Security requirement, survivors and disability trust funds in calendar year 1989 will total $294 billion, and outgo will total about $236 billion.

During 1989, about 130 million workers will be covered by the Social Security program, and 39 million persons will receive benefit payments each month.

Current projections indicate that Social Security trust fund reserves will increase significantly over the next several decades. Those reserves will be necessary to meet the financial commitments of the program in the next century when today's young workers become eligible for Social Security.

The increase in the Social Security trust funds reflects both the bipartisan agreement reached in the 1983 Amendments to the Social Security Act and the 75 consecutive months of economic expansion America has experienced.

Altering recipes for good health

As consumers learn more about the relationship between diet and health, they may decide to cut back on their intake of salt, sugar, and fat and increase their consumption of fiber.

Katherine Jarrell Reuter, Home Economics Adviser, for the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Adviser, states that, although these dietary changes may sound drastic, they needn't be. Many of your family's favorite foods can be modified to include less fat, sugar and salt without sacrificing taste or appeal.

Basic recipe proportions are given in the list below. These can be used in several ways to select or alter recipes.

1. Notice that the amount of fat or sugar varies for many foods. In selecting recipes, compare and choose the recipe which has the lower amount of fat or sugar in proportion to the amount of flour. The product won't be as 'rich' but should still have a very good texture and taste.

2. In some cases, an acceptable product can be obtained by using even less than the standard amount. However, the texture may be different. In general, fat and sugar provide tenderness and moistness in baked goods and promote a fine texture or crumb. This is more important in some products than others. A banana bread made with little or no fat will be acceptable because it is a coarser and lower fat product to begin with and the bananas provide moistness. A cake made with little or no fat will probably not be acceptable.

3. Salt can be omitted from almost all foods without affecting texture or safety because its major purpose is to add flavor. Yeast bread is one exception; a small amount of salt slows rising and helps provide for a finer texture. Salt is needed for safety in fermented products such as brined pickles and sauerkraut.

4. Given below are some suggestions for reducing fat and/or sugar in other foods:
-the amount of fat used for sauteing meat or vegetables can often be reduced or omitted. This may require some trial and error. Begin by using 1-2 tablespoons or fat over moderate heat and stir frequently. If the food gets dry, add a small amount of water and watch carefully.

-fat is used to provide moistness and flavor in foods such as stuffings and grain dishes. Reduce the amount of fat and use broth to add moistness; season with herbs and spices.

-substitute skim milk for whole milk or cream in sauces and custards.
-in making salads, use less mayonnaise and regular salad dressings. Substitute low-fat commercial dressings or substitute yogurt for part of the mayonnaise.

-reduce or omit the sugar added to fruit salads. Use unflavored gelatin and fruit juice instead of sweetened gelatin.
-experiment with reducing the amount of sugar in desserts like pies and gelatin-based desserts. The smaller amount will not affect texture and may be acceptable in taste.

-substitute whole wheat flour for 1/3 to 1/2 of the white flour in standard recipes. For cake and pastries, whole wheat pastry flour is more suitable than regular whole wheat flour. Yeast breads are best made with part whole wheat flour and part bread flour.

Teninga receives award

On Saturday, June 24, Walter H. Teninga, Chairman, CEO and founder of Warehouse Club, was awarded the 1989 Spirit of Life Award by the Illinois Food and Marketing Council of the City of Hope.

For 1989, the City of Hope's Food and Marketing Council has brought to light Walter H. Teninga, who has given his time and energies to community affairs. Walter has been a member of the Board of Trustees of Beaumont Hospital in the Detroit area as well as having been President and past Director of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit and past Director of the Boys and Girls Clubs of Chicago.

Walter has spent most of his career with Kmart Corporation, first entering that firm in the real estate department, and subsequently transferring to the West Coast in the initial expansion to California. He became involved in operations there and was made the Manager of the Western Region. He returned to Detroit headquarters as the Director of Corporate Growth reporting to their Chief Financial Officer and subsequently became Executive Vice President, then a member of the Board of Directors and Vice Chairman and Chief Financial and Development Officer of Kmart.

After retiring from that multi-billion dollar corporation, Walter consulted with a number of major corporations and in 1982 joined the Price Company as President of its Northern Division in California. The Price Club was the first entrant in the now burgeoning wholesale cash and carry warehouse industry.

Glenview's Valley Lo Towers 90% leased; residents flock to sun

Valley Lo Towers, the 230-unit luxury rental complex on Chestnut Avenue in north suburban Glenview, Ill., is now 90 percent leased, reports Karen Twardzik, resident manager and spokesperson for Baxter Corp., a wholly owned subsidiary of Baxter Group Inc., Chicago, the developer.

The few remaining apartments are all three-bedroom, two-bath corner residences. One plan, containing 1,541 square feet, rents for $1,550 per month; the second, with 1,425 square feet, is $1,430 per month (prices and availability subject to change without notice.) There are furnished models representing each plan.

Valley Lo Towers' most popular feature appears to be the outdoor swimming pool, now in its second summer of operation, Mrs. Twardzik observes. The 30-by-50-foot pool, adjoining clubhouse and a lighted tennis court constitute the Valley Lo Towers Swim & Tennis Club, which is open to all residents at no extra charge.

The apartments have an individually monitored security alarm system with a "panic" device in each master bedroom and bathroom, smoke detectors, individually controlled energy-efficient air conditioning systems and economical gas-fired heating units. Gas ranges add further economy.

For further information, call or visit the leasing center at 1910 Chestnut Ave., Glenview. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Telephone 998-1800.

Cragin supports Stars and Stripes

Adam A. Jahns (right), chairman and president of Cragin Federal Bank for Savings, gives away the first of 15,000 American flags the Chicago-based thrift distributed to rally support for President Bush's efforts to outlaw desecration of American flags. The first recipient of a 12-by-18-inch replica of "Old Glory" is Cragin customer Donald Raasch of Park Ridge. The bank distributed the flags at its 23 Chicago and suburban branches June 30 through July 3.

Centel employee honored for heroism

Joseph Mangano, a cable splicer for Central Telephone Company of Illinois and an 18-year employee of the company, today received one of Centel Corporation's honors of distinction - the Robert Pershing Reuss Humanitarian Citation.

The citation was presented by George b. Kemple, executive vice president-operations for Central Telephone Company, during a luncheon held in Mangano's honor at the Ramada Hotel O'Hare in Rosemont.

On Feb. 6, 1987, while working at the Rosemont Horizon as an auxiliary public safety officer for the village of Rosemont, Mangano saw a crowd gathering. He worked his way through and found a man collapsed on the floor suffering from cardiac arrest.

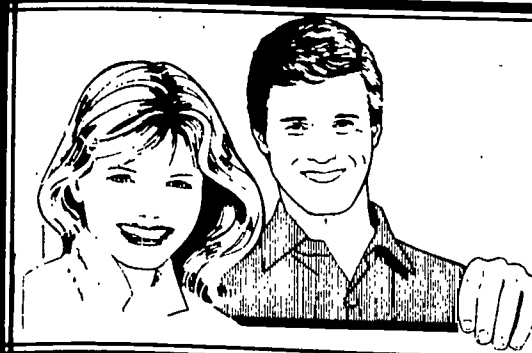

Mangano immediately checked the man's vital signs and discovered the victim had no pulse and was not breathing. After calling for someone to alert the paramedics, mangano, cleared the victim's airway and began administering CPR with the help of another officer until the paramedics arrived. Both men continued to assist the paramedics until a pulse was regained and the victim was taken away by ambulance to a local hospital.

"Joe Mangano didn't help the victim for reward or recognition. He did it because he is good person, and one who cares about others," Kemple said. "Joe is only 24th employee to receive the Humanitarian Citation employees who perform acts or services 'above and beyond' the call of duty. The program was established in 1974 and was renamed for Robert Pershing Reuss, Centel's former chairman and chief executive officer, at his retirement in 1988. The award honors employees not for the work they do, but for their outstanding deeds.
