Fleeing driver rams two Skokie squad cars

Skokie police gave chase to a car that rammed two of its squad cars and drove briefly the wrong way on Edens Expressway before the driver was apprehended. Bobby Stamps, 45, was charged with reckless conduct, aggravated fleeing and eluding police, driving on a suspended license and resisting arrest. A passenger, Latisha Carrdine, 27, was charged on possession of drug paraphernalia. The episode began midday Tuesday, Mar. 6 when Stamps' 1992 Escort sped from a traffic stop and drove down the Touhy Avenue off-ramp, going northbound in the southbound lane. Police waited at the top of the exit ramps for the driver to turn around and exit at the westbound ramp. At that point, the

Notre Dame program aided by village of Niles

The village of Niles opted to aid Notre Dame High School, a private school for boys, by waiving $11,700 of construction permit fees for the school's science addition. Community Director Charles Ostman explained to trustees that permit fees have been waived in the past for not-for-profits. Following that action, the board issued revenue bonds to help Notre Dame fund the building project. George van Geem, Niles treasurer and finance director, in presenting the revenue bond ordinance, said (Notre Dame) will perform the essential public purpose of educating high school students ... relieving the burden on state and local government and on the taxpayers ... in the village." The ordinance passed unanimously.

Recent inquiry about the status of the closed Golf Mill Theater revealed nothing new. Former manager Jim Menoni says that nothing can be done until the lease expires, but did not say when that will be. The lease is held by Loews-

Niles to sell vacant Trident Center

After standing empty for over two years, the Niles village board OK'd the sale of the Trident Center, a property that housed three village services during its 24 years of service. The Center, at 8060 W. Oakton St., was bought by the village from Jewel Foods more than 25 years ago. It measures 14,000 square feet plus a mezzanine. Including its on-site parking, its land area totals approximately 50,570 square feet. Legal notices announcing the sale will appear within the week following the board's decision. Niles Purchasing Agent Lois Leyh estimates current value of the facility at $1 million.

"It will be good to see it on the tax rolls," remarked Abe Selman, Niles village manager, who added that the village took plenty time before selling to be sure the village didn't need it for another purpose.

Work resumes on Harlem Ave. reconstruction

Work has resumed on the reconstruction of Harlem Avenue in the 7th Senate District, according to Assistant Senate Majority Leader Walter Dudycz (R-7th, Chicago). The Illinois Department of Transportation started its second year of the two-year project on March 1. During 2000, work fo-restarted on water main and other utility relocation. "Improving our roads, especially major routes like Harlem Avenue, is important to providing a transportation system that meets the needs of all citizens," Dudycz said. "Motorists do need to realize, however, that the work

Village receives $69,000 check

Commercial Industrial Program Manager Doris Abernathy from Community Energy Cooperative presented Mayor Nicholas B. Blase with a check in the amount of $69,000 at the February Board Meeting for energy savings in the "power down" effort achieved by the Village of Niles. The Village of Niles participated in a cooperative 13 northwest suburban companies and municipalities which together earned over $324,000 through electricity reduction efforts during the year 2000 to help improve energy reliability. Shown (left to right) are Mayor Nicholas B. Blase, Doris Abernathy and Trustee Bob Callero.

Energy Assistance Program to serve more Maine Township households

More low-income households will receive home heating assistance thanks to newly enacted state legislation. The legislation provides more liberal eligibility guidelines for individuals and households for the Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) so more people can qualify for help in paying heating (electric gas) utilities bills.

The program administered through Maine Township and some other agencies offers assistance in paying heating costs to income-qualified individuals. A person may apply for assistance if they either pay their own heating bills or have it included in their rent. Assistance is also available for telephone bills to qualified persons.

The new income eligibility guidelines are as follows:

- 1 person in household; Gross monthly income of $1044 (was $870).
- 2 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $1406 (was $1172).
- 3 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $1768 (was $1474).

- 4 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $2130 (was $1776).
- 5 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $2492 (was $2078).
- 6 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $2854 (was $2380).
- 7 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $3216.
- 8 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $3578.
- 9 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $3940.
- 10 persons in household; Gross monthly income of $4302.

Those interested in this program should call to schedule an appointment at Maine Township. The following documents will be needed at the appointment:

1. State of Illinois photo ID or drivers license for all adult members in the house (18 years or older).
 2. Hard copy of Social Security number for all members of the household (e.g. Social Security card, Social Security benefits award letter or Social Security printout).
 3. Proof of income for all members of the household (income documentation must cover 30-day period prior to the date of application. Acceptable proof may be Social Security benefits award letter, Social Security printout, public aid medical card or pay stubs).
 4. Most recent itemized utility bills (electric, gas and oil bills). No final notices or shut-off notices are accepted. Note: applicant must be the consumer listed on the utility bills.
 5. Rent receipt or lease.
- Close to 350,000 households will be served statewide by LIHEAP this winter. Additional households will now be served because of new Federal funding of $175 million to LIHEAP compared to last year's amount of $112 million.
- For further information or to schedule an appointment in Maine Township, call the General Assistance Office at 847-297-2510, ext. 236.

Niles PD: "training prevents racial profiling"

In an earlier interview with the Niles Journal, Niles PD Public Information Officer Sgt. James Zimmerman said that fighting racial profiling calls for a program built around training, education and awareness conditioning, and is not solved by keeping statistics around traffic arrests.

Since then, Niles police officers have attended two such sessions in-house, with a third scheduled for March.

The sessions grew out of a three-day seminar on police liability that Zimmerman along with Chief Gerald Sheehan attended last October. The two were so impressed with both the program and its presenter that they arranged to present it to the Niles force.

The presenter, Laura Scarry, is a lawyer who specializes in police liability cases. She was formerly a Lake County police officer.

Scarry developed a program that contained both case law and policies tailored specifically to the Niles PD.

"Scarry," said Sheehan, "is very knowledgeable on the subject." She is one of a handful of attorneys nationwide defending police departments against charges of racial profiling.

In regard to the seminar, Zimmerman said, "She did a fantastic job."

Scarry summarizes that within the last year she's educated approximately 1,000 police officers, front patrol officers to police chiefs and even village administrators.

Scarry agrees that keeping statistical records is not the answer.

Glenview political parties face off over raffle

A raffle that was held to benefit Glenview's "Glenview Good Government" party (shortened as G3) was illegal, claims opponent party, "Unite Glenview."

The opponent's complaint is one of timing. Illinois law requires that a political party be established for one year before holding a raffle, whereas, says a spokesman for "Unite Glenview," it has only been in existence for two months. The party should have applied for a raffle license, but did not.

The party's chairman, Mark Ganchiff, apologized for the omission, saying, "Our attorney is taking care of the paperwork, and we are returning the money raised--less than $500. We are sorry for the mistake."

The duration is the issue. Glenview parties historically change their names for each village election. By name changing, they avoid state requirements to hold local party primaries, said former village president Jim Smirles.

Spokesman Dan White with the State Board of Elections said

a hearing officer would be appointed and a hearing would take place. A recommendation will be made to the general counsel for the state board and a recommendation presented to the full board.

While a violator can face civil penalties that include fines, White said that most of the time they try to reach an accommodation. He doesn't remember another incident involving a complaint lodged against holding a raffle, he said.

Dist. 219 teachers participate in scientific project

Niles North High School teachers Bonnie Ayala and Philip Lacey and Niles West High School teacher Margaret Donnelly have begun participation in a unique professional development opportunity organized through Scientific Literacy funding from the Illinois State Board of Education.

The Near and Far Sciences in Illinois project focuses on meteorology, geology and astronomy, emphasizing the full integration of the new Illinois Learning Standards, along with state-of-the-art technology capabilities.

Expert assistance from the National Weather Service, American Astronomical Society, Illinois State Geological Survey, American Meteorological Society, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, as well as from many Illinois earth and space science professionals, and amateurs will be shared.

More than 150 teachers throughout the state will work together within these new networks of local scientists and professionals to become more effective teacher/leaders in these fields of science.

Notre Dame varsity boys' basketball team

Notre Dame High School currently boasts a 15-9 overall record, 7-5 in the East Suburban Catholic Conference. The Dons have been awarded the sixth seed in the 17-team Franklin Park sectional. Earlier this season, Notre Dame took fifth place in the Billy Schurr Tournament at Niles West High School and fourth place at the 16-team Wheeling High School Wildcat Classic. The Dons have won 8 of their last 10 games. One of the two losses was a one-point decision in overtime.

Park Ridge opts for tower at South Park

By recent vote Park Ridge aldermen asked the city's park board to reconsider their earlier decision and to allow a communications tower proposed by Sprint to be installed at South Park.

The council will suggest in a letter issued over the mayor's signature that the South Park location is a better option than the alternative, the fire station at Devon and Cumberland.

Federal law permits telecommunication towers to be built if its company establishes a need. This means the city's only choice in the matter is where the tower is placed. Park Ridge zoning ordinances limit the placement of cell towers to public property.

Park Ridge Public Works Director Joe Saccomanno says the city feels placing the 85-foot tower along with the park's existing light towers would make it less conspicuous. Additional lighting could be installed on the telephone tower to further illuminate the ball field.

Operational equipment serving the tower would be placed in a closed-off area next to the water pumping facility also at the park, minimizing the recreational space given up.

The Park Board's previous denial was based on concerns of recreational space lost and on health issues.

Park Ridge City Manager Tim Schuenke said there is no proof that health is adversely affected by presence of cell towers.

Maine Township's Emergency Food Pantry gets a helping hand from members of the eighth grade confirmation class of Park Ridge Community Church. The church participated in a national "Souper Bowl Of Caring" campaign and collected $435 in cash and lots of food on Super Bowl Sunday for needy area families. Marsha Warnick (right), Township Director of General Assistance, receives a check and accepts the food (from right to left) Christie Zimmerman, Liz Holland, Derek Walsh, Nicole Calabrese, and Emma Tumminello. The church has contributed hundreds of pounds of food for area needy families over the years. Warnick says there is an ongoing need for contributions to the Emergency Food Pantry. East Maine School Caucus endorses one more candidate Jane Wojkiewicz of Glenview, an incumbent member of the East Maine Dist. 63 school board, was endorsed for re-election Feb. 22 by the East Maine Township General Caucus. The caucus is a group of representatives of school groups and other community organizations that interviews school board candidates and make recommendations.

Three other candidates considered at the meeting -- non-incumbent Bartley Bergard and Ariye Ginzburg of Morton Grove and incumbent Steve Levy of Glenview -- were endorsed, but all received some votes.

Bergard and Ginzburg appeared with Wojkiewicz to answer questions from caucus members and the public. Levy could not attend the meeting but had a statement read to the group.

The East Maine caucus has now endorsed four candidates for five seats being filled on the Dist. 63 board in the April 3 election. At its originally scheduled nominating meeting on Jan. 17, the caucus endorsed incumbents Karen Dimond of Niles and Sonja Witschonke-Mess of Glenview, and non-incumbent Elizabeth Houlihan of Des Plaines.

Houlihan is the only candidate to file for a 2-year unexpired term being filled on April 3. The other six candidates named above, plus Leslie Buttitta of Glenview, have filed for four 4-year terms being filled. Buttitta did not apply to the caucus. The caucus has, therefore, made no endorsement for one of the 4-year terms.

The East Maine caucus has also endorsed Jeffrey Bergen of Des Plaines, an incumbent member of the Maine Township High School Dist. 207 board, for re-election to a four-year term on that board.

East Maine School District 63 - School Board Candidate Bartley C. Berngard

Attendance Area: Melzer School.
 Children: Currently have children at

- Melzer School
- Gemini Jr. High
- Maine East High School
- Purdue University
- University of Iowa

Occupation: Consultant -- Provide Marketing and Financial Services to companies.
 Education: B.B.A. (Bachelor of Business Administration), University of Miami.
 Activities: Parent Advisory

Board -- Schaumburg Township School District 54; Board of Directors -- Twinbrook YMCA; 4th of July Commissioner -- Village of Hoffman Estates; Tournament Director for Travel Soccer Club; USSF Certified Soccer Referee; Travel Soccer Coach; Melzer School PTA Board.

Other: I have had 2 children go through a much larger school district where I served on a Parent Advisory Board and was involved in the PTAs at their school. I saw what things the other district offered and would like to implement some of those things in District 63.

The Board now needs people that have a better understanding of Accounting and Finance to better oversee the Financial Management of the District.

Goals: Gemini Jr. High -- Get

expansion done with budgeted dollars. Curriculum: Choose new curriculum director that is up to date on new curriculum teaching and publications. See if Language Arts and Math can be improved to better prepare students for high school. Lunch Program: Review quality and cost of food. Activity Bus -- Gemini Jr. High: Many students cannot take advantage of sports and other activities offered at school as the activity bus (that parents DO pay for included in regular bus fee) now runs at 4 p.m. and most sports and some other activities do not end until later.

Accomplish: To provide children with the best educational, academically, socially, and culturally, within the financial resources of the District.

Trustee Bob Dudycz honored with Visions Award

Bob Dudycz could be described as the Ultimate Volunteer when it comes to giving freely of his time and talents to help others. He has received numerous awards with the latest announced this week. Dudycz received news that he was chosen by the Des Plaines-based Visions Network to receive its prestigious Francine M. Bernstein Make It Happen Award.

According to Patricia Ann Coy, Chief Executive Director of Visions, the award is given in recognition of Bob's outstanding contributions to the field of mental health and his "tireless efforts to enhance the lives of persons with disabilities." He will be honored at a banquet in Skokie on April 29, 2001.

A few months ago he was also honored by The Illinois Township Association of Senior Citizens Services Committee, which named him as elected Official of the Year for 2000. The award is given in recognition of outstanding commitment to meeting the needs of seniors within the community. The award is considered quite an honor because there are thousands of elected officials in Illinois. There are 1433 townships and most have nine elected officials.

When it comes to working with others, Bob sets the standard for volunteerism by his example. His dedication to helping seniors, the disabled, and others is nearly a daily occurrence. No matter if it's teaching a computer class to seniors or calling Bingo for the disabled, he is on the job week in and week out.

"I volunteer my time and talents because it makes me feel good," dudycz says. "I absolutely love helping people and just helping out wherever and whenever I can. Awards are flattering but they are not why I do what I do."

Since his election in 1997, Bob has been deeply involved in all aspects of many township programs and services, but has been particularly attentive to seniors, the disabled and children. He has also been very instrumental in obtaining resources for the Township such as the space for the Youth Drop-In Center, office equipment, and $120,000 in Illinois First funding for Town Hall building improvements that were secured by personal lobbying efforts with state legislators.

Notre Dame student performs at DePaul

Notre Dame High School for Boys' sophomore Brian Bober performed with the All-Catholic High School Band in conjunction with the DePaul University wind ensemble at a concert on January 20.

Bober was named to the band in December after auditioning for placement in the ensemble. Students from Catholic high schools around Illinois were eligible to try out for the concert band. Approximately 70 students rehearsed together and performed at the DePaul University Concert Hall on the school's campus. The band, which was conducted by Patrick Henning, played three pieces.

Bober plays clarinet for Notre Dame High School's marching, pep, jazz and concert bands. He has also performed with the St. Edward Parish All-Star Orchestra and the Notre Dame Catholic Community Youth Band in the past.

Tully joins Youth Drop-in Center management team

Therese A. Tully

Therese A. Tully of Mt. Prospect is the new Assistant Manager at Maine Township's Youth Drop-in Center. Her appointment was approved at the recent Maine Township Board meeting.

She replaces George F. Chicvara who was promoted to Manager of the Drop-in Center following the departure of Amy Joob. Previously, Ms. Tully was the Program Coordinator at The Youth Campus in Park Ridge. Prior to that, she was an Assistant Family Teacher/Family Educator at Maryville Academy, Des Plaines.

Ms. Tully has a Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Illinois University where she majored in Psychology. Her minor was in Sociology.

"We are very pleased to have Therese Tully join our team at the Drop-in Center," says Mark Thompson, Township Supervisor. "The Center is a vital part of our services to the youth of Maine Township and the new management team there will be a true asset."

The Drop-in Center provides a safe, drug-free meeting place for 5th-12th grade youth who live in the Township. The program began in June, 1992 in response to increased gang activity in the unincorporated neighborhoods, and was developed through the efforts of the Alternative Programs for Kids Committee of the Maine Township Task Force Against Gangs.

In addition to paid staff, volunteers help the Center. The Center is currently looking for volunteers to help provide alternative activities and programs to area youth. Volunteers are needed to coach floor hockey, supervise arts and crafts activities, and manage a concession stand. There are also many general ac-

Choosing a tax preparer

(NAPS)--Enlisting an Enrolled Agent can keep April 15 from becoming too taxing a time for you. Enrolled Agents (EAs) are tax practitioners empowered and licensed by the federal government to represent you before all administrative levels of the Internal Revenue Service. Unlike attorneys or CPAs -- who may or may not choose to specialize in taxes -- all EAs specialize in taxation.

Remember, not all tax practitioners are created alike. CPAs and tax attorneys earn their credentials through recognized professional channels. Their license to practice, however, comes from the individual states where they work.

EAs, a select group of highly trained and extraordinarily experienced tax professionals, must demonstrate critical technical competence in the fields of Taxation to the Internal Revenue Service before they can represent taxpayers. The EA designation is earned in one of two ways:

(1) An individual must pass a difficult, two-day examination administered by the IRS which covers taxation of individuals, corporations, partnerships, estates and trusts, procedures and ethics. Then, a successful candidate is subjected to a rigorous background check conducted by the Internal Revenue Service.

(2) An individual may become an EA based on his or her employment at the Internal Revenue Service for a minimum of five years in a job where he or she regularly applied -- and interpreted -- provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and regulations.

In addition to their stringent testing and application process, Enrolled Agents are required to complete 72 hours of continuing professional education -- reported every three years -- to maintain their status.

What Enrolled Agents Do

Enrolled Agents advise, represent and prepare tax returns for individuals, partnerships, corporations, estates, trusts and any entities with taxreporting requirements. EAs prepare literally millions of tax returns each year. Because of their expertise in the continually changing field of tax law, EAs are the tax professionals most effectively equipped to represent taxpayers audited by the IRS.

How to Find an Enrolled Agent

To locate an EA, call the National Association of Enrolled Agents' 24-hour referral service at 800-424-4339. The toll-free referral service operates seven days a week. You will be sent a list of nearby NAEA members. Listing of member EAs can also be found on NAEA's Web site: www.naea.org.

In addition to finding a list of EAs on this site, taxpayers can sign up for a free newsletter, tax-bEAt. Tax bEAt offers many useful tips to taxpayers throughout the year.

activities that need assistance. As part of the MaineStay programs and activities, the Youth Drop-in Center is supported by Maine Township. The Center is located at 9511 W. Harrison Street in unincorporated Maine Township.

For further information on Center program, events and activities as well as volunteer opportunities, please call 847/823-0650. For information on all Maine Township activities, agencies and programs visit the Maine Township website at www.mainetownship.com.

In recognition of their generous donation to the Maine-Niles association of Special Recreation (M-NASR), the Park Ridge Community Women were recently honored by the Illinois Parks and Recreation Association (IPRA) with a Community Service Award. Safe cyber surfing for kids

Surfing the Internet can be fun and educational for kids. However, it's important that parents teach them to be careful about protecting their privacy - and yours. Here are some basic tips to keep in mind:

1. Teach your child to change his/her screen name often.
2. Set limits for online use and follow your own rules. Decide, for example, to only visit kid-friendly Web sites.
3. Tell your kids to inform you when they plan to conduct an Internet search.
4. Ignore buttons and links unless you know exactly where they lead.
5. Remind them to only visit known, monitored chat rooms.
6. Advise your kids to leave uncomfortable situations immediately.
7. Never allow your children to give out personal information such as their real name, address, city, or phone number.

8. Make sure your kids' real name(s) are not in their e-mail address.

9. Don't answer personal questions online.

10. Read a book about Internet safety. Talk to friends who know how to protect themselves online.

11. Ask your parents to install filtering software to protect your family members from predators as well as undesirable content such as pornography.

12. For more tips and other safety advice visit the Safe America web site: www.safeamerica.excite.com.

The Safe America Foundation and Excite@Home remind you that injury prevention depends on the practice of good safety habits. For year round safety information call: (770) 218-0071.

Travel Safety

Business travel can be stressful. Why make it more so by setting yourself up as a target for crooks? Here are tips to improve the chances you will return home safely.

At the Airport
• Stay especially alert and watch your bags and computer carefully at all times.
• Carry your purse close to your body, or wallet in an inside pocket.

On the Road
• Keep anything of value in a carry-on that stays with you.

At the Hotel
• Become familiar with your travel route. Get a map and study it.

• Make sure your rental car is in good working condition. Learn how to operate windows, door locks before you leave the lot.

• Conceal your maps and rental agreements.

• Keep car doors locked while you are driving and store luggage in the trunk.

• If you are bumped by another car, think before you get out. If you are in doubt or uncomfortable, signal the other driver to follow you to a nearby police station or a busy, well-lighted area where it is safe to get out.

• Keep all hotel doors and windows locked. Use all door locks.

• Learn the location of fire exits and elevators in case of emergency.

• Keep valuables in the hotel safe. Better still leave them home.

• Verify who is at your door. If an unexpected visitor claims to be a hotel employee, call the front desk to make sure.

Earn college credit while touring European historical and geographical landmarks through a field study course offered this summer by Oakton Community College.

From May 18 - June 3, Oakton faculty members Frank Fonsino, professor of history, and Rudy Maglio, professor of geography, will escort students to the magnificent landscapes and cultural high points of Greece and Italy.

Museum of Contemporary Art

Robert Fitzpatrick, Museum of Contemporary Art (MCA), Chicago, Pritzker Director announced acquisitions for year 2000 featuring Jeff Koons' iconic Rabbit (1986). The more than 30 new additions reflect the MCA's exhibition history, introduce new artists into the Collection, and include numerous recent works of the late 1990s.

Jeff Koons' Rabbit is perhaps the artist's best-known work. Rabbit is a stainless steel cast of an inflatable toy rabbit that has been transformed into an expensive, highly finished objet d'art suggestively proposing a link between kitsch and decorative arts. Rabbit is a gift from Chicago collectors and MCA trustee Stefan T. Edlis and H. Gael Neeson, and joins four major works by Koons in the MCA Collection from the mid-1980s: New Hoover Deluxe Shampoo-

Polisher, New Shelton Wet/Dry 10-gallon Displaced Triple-Decker (1981-87), Three Ball Total Equilibrium Tank (1985), Lifeboat (1985), and Pink Panther (1988). Jeff Koons' work has special relevance for Chicago. His first solo museum show took place at the MCA in 1988, and several of the best examples of his work are in Chicago collection, both institutional and private.

In addition to Jeff Koons, artists represented in the 2000 acquisitions include: Doug Aitkens, Tony Fitzpatrick, Günther Förg, Tom Friedman, David Hammons, Robert Heinecken, Arturo Herrera, Gabriel Kuri, Glenn Ligon, Shirin Neshat, Catherine Opie, Laura Owens, Paul Pfeiffer, Richard Prince, Thomas Scheibitz, Buzz Spector, Beat Streuli, Thomas Struth, H.C. Westermann, and Anne Wilson.

Acquired works range in media from large scale video installations, to painting, sculpture, photography, sculptural installations, and works on paper. "Jeff Koons' Rabbit is an extraordinary addition to the MCA," said Fitzpatrick. "This important work joins a remarkable selection of acquisitions that enrich and expand our Collection. We are grateful to all of our supporters for their extraordinary generosity and continued commitment to the MCA."

In keeping with the MCA's commitment to forge links between the Collection and the exhibition program, many of the acquisitions reflect the history of recent MCA exhibitions. These include the following works and exhibitions: David Hammons' Praying to Safety (1997), Gabriel Kuri's Carretilla I (1999) and Carretilla II (1999), and Thomas Scheibitz' Chang (No. 129) from Age of Influence: Reflections in the Mirror of American Culture; Shirin Neshat's video project Turbulent History; Tom Friedman's sculpture Untitled (1999) from a solo exhibition; Robert Heinecken's photographic works Woman with Cats (1998) and Man Dealing the Four Elements (1998) from a recent retrospective; Beat Streuli's Chicago, July 99 (1999), an installation commissioned for the MCA; and Anne Wilson's Feast, (2000) from a recent solo exhibition.

Year 2000 acquisitions also include the introduction of new artists as well as recent works created in the late 1990s. These include: Doug Aitken's video projection Diamon Sea (1997), Arturo Herrera's felt wall piece Behind the House III (1999), a painting and three suites of work on paper by Glenn Ligon, Laura Owens' painting Untitled (1998), and Paul Pfeiffer's digital video loop Fragrant of a Crucifixion (After Francis Bacon) (1999).

Two photographs by Thomas Struth -- Todai-Ji, Daibutsu-den, Nara (1996) and Ma'ander Dom (Innen), Ma'and [Milan Cathedral (Interior) Milan] (1998) -- were also acquired adding to the MCA's significant holdings in conceptual photography, especially German photography of the "neo-objective" school.

The mission of the MCA is to be an innovative and compelling center of contemporary art where the public can directly experience the work and ideas of living artists, and understand the historical, social and cultural context of the art of our time.

The Museum boldly interweaves exhibitions, performances, collections and educational programs to excite, challenge and illuminate our visitors and to provide insight into the creative process.

The MCA aspires to engage a broad and diverse audience, create a sense of community and be a place for contemplation, stimulation and discussion about contemporary art and culture.

Northbrook Symphony Orchestra

The Northbrook Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of newly appointed music director, Lawrence Rapchak, welcomes spring to Chicago on April 1, at 4 p.m. with a concert devoted entirely to the sunny warmth and joie de vivre of French repertoire.

The program will join two well-known favorites - Debussy's Afternoon of a Faun and Ravel's Piano Concerto in G Minor - with two rarely heard but delightful musical works - Vincent D'Indy's "ISTAR" Variations and Darius Milhaud's Suite Provençal. Joining Maestro Rapchak in the Ravel's Piano Concerto in G Minor, a jazzy showpiece for piano and orchestra, will be the young Argentine pianist, Sergio Tiemp. This concert marks the first collaboration of the Orchestra and Mr. Rapchak since his appointment as music director and will highlight the lush orchestrations of these composers as well as their sense of wonder and festivity on this April Fool's Day.

The concert and pre-concert lecture will be held at the Sheely Center for the Performing Arts at Glenbrook North High School, 2300 Shermer Road, Northbrook. The concert begins at 4 p.m. Single tickets are still available and prices range from $15 to $27, with students being admitted for $5. Parking at the theater is free and the theater is handicapped accessible. Tickets can be obtained by calling the Northbrook Symphony office at (847) 272-0755.

Lucky Irish Folklore

The Blarney Stone. Pucker up and get lucky...if you kiss the famous stone set in the wall of the Blarney Castle! Legend has it that an old woman cast a lucky spell on the stone to reward the king who saved her life. Kissing the stone will bring the kisser persuasive eloquence and good luck. Visitors to the castle should do their yoga before attempting to kiss the stone. Kissers must lie on their backs while bending backwards to reach the lucky stone. Ouch!

shamrocks are seen as lucky - but the finders of a four-leaf clover will have the biggest windfall!

Leprechauns What's ugly, 2 feet tall, wears a leather apron and is terribly mean-spirited? No it's not your mother-in-law...it's none other than the legendary leprechaun! According to folklore, leprechauns are aloof little men that spend most of their time making shoes. Treasure seekers will listen for the sound of a shoemaker's hammer to catch a leprechaun. Why hunt leprechauns? Because each leprechaun possesses a hidden pot of gold! If a leprechaun is caught, he can be forced to tell where he hides his treasure - but keep your eyes on him at all times. Don't be tricked to look away or the sneaky, tiny man will disappear and the treasure will be safe once again!

Shamrocks Once a sacred plant of the Druids of Ireland, the shamrock is still an important Irish symbol. The shamrock is said to represent the cross and holy trinity. St. Patrick once illustrated the trinity by picking a shamrock from the ground around his feet and showing his followers. Today, all

No one who is enjoying life is a failure.

Niles West swimmer Louis Torres, Jr. claimed the state title in the 100 yard breaststroke at the Illinois State High School Association state championship held recently. Torres is the first swimmer from Niles West to ever win a state title. His winning time of 56.70 set a new school record. Torres also took fifth place in the 200 individual medley.

Dan Rybalko placed fifth in diving, the third year in a row that he had qualified for the state championships. John Schutt took seventh place in the 500 yard freestyle, but posted the fourth fastest time in that event. The swim team finished eleventh, the best placement in the school's history.

Lyn Mackie. Harpist Phyllis Adams, organist Jerry Jelesma and the Northwest Choral Society Chamber Players will join the singers. Enjoy coffee, tea and homemade sweets during the pre-concert lecture presented by Clavier consulting editor Jeffrey Wagner beginning at 7 p.m. Summer Concert Program The NWCS's third concert, "A World of Song II," will be held on Saturday, June 2, 2001, at 7:30 p.m. at Edison Park Lutheran Church and on Sunday, June 3, 2001, at 3:30 p.m. at Trinity Lutheran Church, Algonquin and Wolf Roads, Des Plaines. Concertgoers will be entertained with a wonderful assortment of folksongs, spirituals and choral medleys from such Broadway musicals as South Pacific, My Fair Lady, Into the Woods and Les Miserables.

Tickets You won't want to miss the second concert of the Northwest Choral Society's 35th anniversary season. Tickets are $11 for adults and $9 for students and seniors. To reserve tickets, obtain additional information or add your name to the NWCS mailing list, call (630) 837-1666. Tickets for the spring concert are also available at the Colonial Coffee Shop, 800 Devon Avenue, Park Ridge, IL, and at the door on the day of the performance. To make a contribution to the continued growth and success of the NWCS, call (630) 837-1666. The NWCS is an Illinois non-profit organization, and contributions are tax-deductible.

Auditions The NWCS invites experienced singers who enjoy performing four-part choral literature to become new members for its 2001-2002 concert season. The NWCS annually performs a holiday concert, spring classical concert and summer "pops" concert. The chorus also sponsors educational workshops for members and the public that focus on vocal technique and principles of musicianship.

The NWCS rehearses Tuesday nights from September to June from 8 to 10:10 p.m. at Immanuel Lutheran Church, 855 Lee Street, Des Plaines, IL. Prospective new members are invited to call (847) 438-6740 to attend a NWCS rehearsal and arrange an audition with Music Director John Melcher.

Children with Snail

Beginning March 27, you can wander through the tunnels created by an earthworm and stumble upon a snail shell nearby. This incredible experience is part of The Field Museum's new permanent exhibit Underground Adventure. The exhibit will shrink you down to 1/100 your normal size and set you off on a journey to explore the roof networks and worm tunnels throughout the world beneath your feet.

In this total immersion environment, you will be able to participate in a variety of scientific tasks -- experiment with water drainage or watch nutrients cycle through soil. Interactive computer stations and hands-on learning reveals the vital yet fragile connections between the vast world underground and life above the surface of the soil. For more information call The Field Museum at (312) 922-9410.

Butterfly on Forehead

We have all been enchanted by the Monarch butterfly, Danaus plexippus, as they dot the summer fields in Illinois. Imagine strolling through a very special outdoor environment where you are surrounded by hundreds of real, live butterflies! Back by popular demand, The Field Museum features Living Colors: A Butterfly Garden. In an expansive, screened garden, these charming creatures spread their wings, fly about and sip nectar from flowers...even land on your forehead! Living Colors is open Friday, May 25 through September 3. It's more than an exhibition -- it's an experience with nature. For more information please call The Field Museum at (312) 922-9410.

Funding approved for Morton Grove Historical Museum

The Morton Grove Historical Museum has been approved to receive state funding from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, according to Assistant Senate Majority Leader Walter Dudyecz (R-7th, Chicago).

The Morton Grove Historical Museum will receive $9,640 to develop programs involving a new exhibit conveying the local pioneer experience, as well as hiring a landscape architect to advise on the planting of a turn-of-the-century garden. "The Department of Natural Resources administers the Illinois Public Museum Operating Grants Program, which helps museums expand established programs and better promote educational activities and opportunities for communities," Dudyecz said.

Last chance to see Indian exhibit

The Morton Grove Historical Museum announces the closing of its annual exhibit entitled "True Beginnings: Morton Grove's Native American Past" on April 9, 2001. Visitors interested in this aspect of local history should visit the museum before this date. The exhibit brings together the collections and stories of local residents with artifacts and information gathered from other museums.

The museum, located at 6240 W. Dempster in Harrer Park in Morton Grove is open to the public Wednesday, 1 - 3 p.m. and Sunday, 2 - 4 p.m. Admission is free. For further information, call 847-965-0203.

The Illinois Public Museum Operating Grants Program provides financial assistance determined by a formula based on the applicant's operating expenditures. Awards are disbursed upon finalization of a grant agreement between the Department of Natural Resources and the sponsoring agency.

Congregation nurse is a pioneer

Amy Lewitz, MS, RN, CS assumed the role of Advocate Health Care Congregational Nurse at Congregation B'nai Jehoshua Beth Elohim (Glenview) this fall. Hired to help the congregation integrate faith with health care, Lewitz, as the only member of the Jewish faith in Advocate's program, and is pioneering the role of Congregational Nurse within the Chicago Jewish Community.

Lewitz who has more than 20 years of nursing experience in psychiatry, geriatrics, and nursing education, works through a cooperative agreement with Advocate Health Care.

Activities include monthly bulletin articles which deal with disease prevention, early identification, and palliative care. It is Lewitz's hopes that she can get congregants to be pro-active and take responsibility for their own health even if it means life-style changes.

As a congregation, BJB is participating in a monthly community based care-givers' group along with Glenview Community Church, St. David's and Glenview, United Methodist. The meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month, from 1-2 p.m. at one of the churches.

Special service offered for pre-schoolers

Congregation B'nai Jehoshua Beth Elohim, Glenview, is offering a special Shabbat service, Friday night, April 6, from 7-8 p.m., for pre-schoolers.

The service, called Shabbat Y'ladim, is for young children up to six years of age. The children sit on carpets while listening to stories, working on crafts and partaking in a snack.

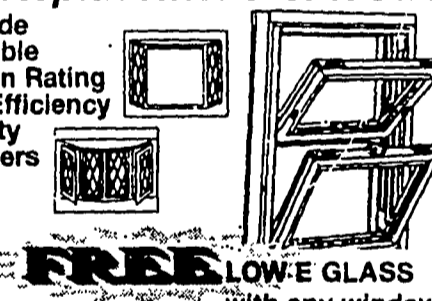

For information contact Shari Bauer (847) 729-7575 or online at: <http://www.bjbe.org>

Lewitz, who has been interfacing with the Rabbis in connection with congregants' health-care needs, serves as a resource to get people "hooked up" with professionals who will address a congregant's particular need; is working on establishing a grief-support group; is working with the Caring Committee, acting as a resource; and has been participating in the monthly Renewal of Spirit Services.

For information contact Shari Bauer (847) 729-7575 or on-line at <http://www.bjbe.org>.

Capital gains tax planning: The long and short of it

Most of us can't escape the fact that we have to pay taxes, but one tax we can control is the capital gains tax. That's because the amount of capital gains tax incurred is triggered by whether and when you sell capital assets. Read what the Illinois CPA Society has to say about how effective tax planning can reduce or, perhaps, even eliminate your capital gains tax bill.

The Basics

A capital gain is the profit that can result from buying and selling capital assets. To compute your capital gain, you subtract your basis (the cost of the asset, plus the expenses associated with buying and holding it) from the net proceeds you realize from the sale. Under current law, if you've held the property for more than one year, your gain or loss is a long-term capital gain or loss. If, on the other hand, you've held the property for one year or less, your capital gain or loss is short-term.

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997 lowered the long-term capital gains tax rates. The maximum capital gains tax rate on most long-term capital gains is 20% (10% for those in the 15% tax bracket). Under prior law, the maximum rate was 28% and 15% respectively. (The long-term capital gain tax on collectibles such as artwork, rugs, trading cards, stamp and coin collections, and memorabilia remains at 28%). Short-term capital gains are taxed at the taxpayer's ordinary income-tax rate, which could be as high as 39.6%.

New Rules to Take Effect January 1, 2001

Beginning January 1, 2001, the capital gains tax rate is lowered to 18% (8% for those in the 15% bracket) for assets held more than 5 years. For those in the 15% bracket, assets held prior to January 1, 2001 are eligible for lower rates, provided they are held for more than 5 years. To qualify for lower capital gains rates, those in tax brackets above 15% must acquire the asset after December 31, 2000 and hold it more than five years.

Higher-bracket taxpayers who want to apply these lower rates to assets held on December 31, 2000 may do so by electing to treat the asset as sold on January 1, 2001 (or the next business day) for its fair market value and paying the tax due on the gain. Under this election, the five-year holding period would begin on January 2, 2001. You cannot recognize a loss under these rules.

Letters to the Editor

Maine East helps students pave the road to success

Dear Editor:
Recently, "YES! Youth Exchanging with Seniors" hosted a cultural exchange with our group of Senior Citizens and a group of immigrant students at Maine East.

It was a revelation to learn of the dangers and hardships they had faced in their Old Country, and of leaving behind homeland, friends, and in some cases even family. We began to understand the courage needed to meet the challenges of mastering a new language and culture.

We also experienced first hand the dedication, creativity, and effectiveness of the outstanding Maine East faculty who immerse these students in a rigorous American academic environment that shows respect for their heritage.

We left the conference with confidence that the motivation and determination of these new students will assure them a bright future, and that their lives will be a valuable contribution to our country.

We wish these fine young people every success and happiness!

Yours truly,
Elfriede M. Rieger, Lee Fachnrich for the Park Ridge Seniors Center, Director of Public Relations; Helen Feisch President of The Park Ridge Senior Center Senate.

"Why doesn't Niles make demands on AT&T?"

Dear Editor:
I am writing to express my disappointment in Niles' dealings with AT&T Cable. How can the Village allow AT&T to give such bad service and treat their customers so poorly.

Why doesn't Niles make any demands on AT&T? Shouldn't AT&T have a toll-free number so we don't have to pay for being on 'hold' for so long everytime we call? Shouldn't AT&T be told to fix customers' problems within a specific time? Can't AT&T be ordered to deliver on the promises they make to 'hook' customers such as "better picture with digital cable" and supplying adaptors so one channel can be viewed while another channel is being recorded?

AT&T acts like they answer to no one. They aren't concerned if customers complain to the Village. Wouldn't it be great if Niles turned this around and got the cable company to be respectful of the village wanting to provide the best for their residents in regards to cable service as we've come to expect from all other service providers.

At this point I'd be happy if AT&T stopped calling everyday trying to get me to take their phone service. I guess they won't be happy until they can ruin our phone service too.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Conell

"What is District 71 doing with the lease money?"

Dear Editor:
I recently read that District 71, Culver School, is in financial trouble.

Could District 71 Board of Education tell me and other taxpayers what they are doing with the "Lease Money" they are receiving from the former Niles Elementary South School?

I have been told it is $10,000 per month that the District is receiving.

Strategies for Reducing Capital Gains Taxes

There are a number of strategies that taxpayers can employ to reduce capital gain taxes. The first requires absolutely no effort on the taxpayer's part. Just hold on to your capital assets. It's that simple. Your stock may soar from an initial price of $2 per share to $200 a share, but you don't owe a dime on its appreciated value unless you sell it.

A second strategy involves planning. If you have a taxable capital gain in any one year and some losing investments in your portfolio, selling them can help offset your taxable gain and reduce your overall tax bill. You begin by matching short-term losses against short-term gains and long-term losses against long-term gains. Then, if you have an overall net loss, you may deduct it from ordinary income (i.e., your salary) up to a maximum of $3,000 in one year ($1,500 if you're married filing separately). If your loss is greater than what you're allowed to deduct, you may deduct the excess in later years. Be sure to avoid the "wash sale" rule, which states that you cannot claim a loss from the sale of security if you buy the same security as a replacement within 30 days before or after the sale.

With the third strategy, rather than selling assets, you give them a way. When you donate appreciated property that you've held for more than a year to charity, you may be able to deduct the fair market value and avoid capital gains tax on the appreciation. In general, there is a limitation on the deduction for this type of gift of 30% of your AGI. Any excess may be carried over for five years. A similar strategy calls for gifting your child, age 14 or over, the appreciated assets. Presuming that your child is in a lower tax bracket than you are, he or she would owe less in taxes when the property is sold. Web site helps physicians locate free meds for low-income patients

Volunteers in Health Care™ has created a one-of-a-kind, free resource for physicians trying to obtain prescription medications for their low-income patients. The service is a searchable web database, called RxAssist, which helps physicians and health care providers locate, choose, and learn how to apply for free or discounted medications made available through pharmaceutical manufacturer patient assistance programs.

Available at www.rxassist.org, RxAssist contains up-to-date information on how to access nearly 100 pharmaceutical company patient assistance programs, and the 700 plus prescription medications they make available to needy patients. Many company application forms can also be obtained via the site.

RxAssist was inspired by the resourcefulness of volunteer programs looking for ways to resolve the challenge of pharmaceutical access. It is part of a multi-pronged initiative by Volunteers in Health Care to look for solutions to aid volunteer caregivers treating uninsured Americans.

RxAssist provides:

- The ability to search for a program by either company name, generic drug name, brand name or drug class.

- A listing of all drugs or programs that meet the doctor's search criteria.

- The latest information on application procedures for each program, summarized in easy-to-follow steps.

- A list of documentation required to apply.

- Tips and comments sent in by fellow health care providers.

- Nearly 30 program application forms, in "pdf" file format, which users can download and complete.

RxAssist is a service of Volunteers in Health Care, a national resource center for volunteer-supported health care programs, which is funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

"Our goal is to get the word out about RxAssist to providers across the country," notes H. Denman Scott, MD, VIH's program director and Chief of Medicine at the Memorial Hospital of RI. Continues Dr. Scott, "RxAssist was developed to take, as much as possible, the guessing out of applying for these programs, which may undergo changes in format and procedures without notification of potential applicants. Providers tell us that applying for these programs is very time-consuming. They are more likely to invest the time if they can access the latest information on how to apply, particularly as these programs are one of the few options available for access to medication for uninsured and low-income individuals."

Volunteers in Health Care is a national resource center for and about volunteer-supported health care programs in the U.S. For more information about VIH and its services, call toll free at 1-877-844-8442, or log onto VIH's award-winning web site at www.volunteersinhealthcare.org.

The hour program begins at 2 p.m. and is part of the Sunday at the Library Series. Asbury Court to open new units

There is excitement and anticipation at Asbury Court Retirement Community located at 1750 South Elmhurst Road, in Des Plaines. 180 new units are due to open May 1. Members of the surrounding communities await their move-in dates. The first resident is scheduled to move in on May 1.

It has been fun for staff and residents to see the plot of land evolve into the 5 story building. The building will have small and large studios like the existing construction, as well as, much needed one bedroom apartments. Recognizing the need for affordable but more spacious living, the small studios in the new building are more spacious than the existing large studios. The one bedroom units include 2 full baths. To make sure there is enough storage, the closets are a full 9 feet. Individually controlled heat/air conditioning units are ready to provide comfort by choice.

The large selection of delicious meals, which are freshly prepared by Asbury's own four-star chef are served restaurant-style in the spacious elegant dining room.

Variety and experienced activity staff provide exciting activities and outings to round-out the resident's day.

Six years ago, after extensive renovations of the Camelot Hotel, the Asbury community was formed. Named Ashley Court and was renamed Asbury to identify with sister facilities in Aurora. A virtual tour, as well as, complete information on the existing building can be seen at Asbury's web site:

www.seniorhousing.net/ad/asburycourt

Looking to keep with a quality environment and striving to keep improving has made readiness for the added units. The opinions of the residents at Asbury, count. Spacious, affordable, and home-like are the key words when describing this facility.

Bethany Terrace Nursing Centre

Home

That is how 102-year-old Madeline refers to Bethany Terrace Nursing Centre. When Madeline and her late husband Walter celebrated their 78th wedding anniversary at Bethany Terrace last year, they were surrounded by loving family and friends, as well as other residents and staff members...helping them share their special moment.

Since Madeline's not as spry as she once was, her room is very important to her. Madeline can usually be found there in a comfortable setting...chatting with other residents, staff and visitors as they pass by her open door. She also takes great joy in watching the variety of birds in the breeding aviary.

Providing the optimum in care and warmth while daily meeting the medical, physical, emotional and spiritual needs of each of our residents is what Bethany Terrace does best...every hour of every day.

The Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations awarded Bethany Terrace and its Alzheimer's Care Center Accreditation with Commendation, the highest award a healthcare facility can earn.

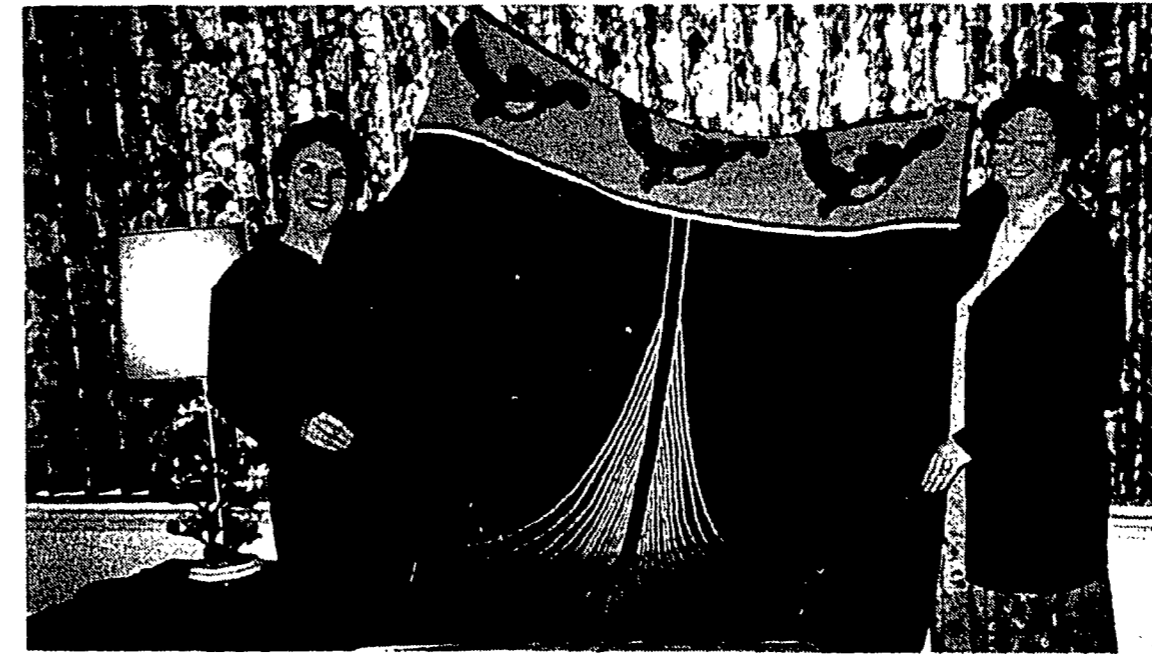

Pet therapy adds another dimension to life at Bethany Terrace. Like Madeline, residents love to interact with the many animals: dogs; Blackie, our rabbit; and a breeding aviary full of active and colorful birds.

Jump-start your love life

The hoopla over Viagra -- including 1996 presidential candidate Bob Dole's televised endorsement -- was embarrassing for some. But all that publicity made it easier for people to speak frankly about male sexuality, and for men with impotence, to ask for treatment. Impotence, also called erectile dysfunction, is a condition in which men have difficulty getting or keeping an erection. An occasional incident of impotence is perfectly normal. Stress, too much alcohol, medications, and medical conditions can dampen a sexual encounter. But if impotence is a recurring problem, talk to your doctor about treatment.

Most cases of impotence -- up to 90 percent -- are caused by a physical or medical condition. Hypertension, heart disease, diabetes, stroke, neurological problems, medication side effects, alcohol abuse, and smoking can all contribute to impotence. Since these conditions are more common in older men, impotence rates increase with age. Between 15 and 25 percent of men over 65 have a form of impotence.

The outlook for men with impotence is excellent: up to 95 percent of men who seek treatment regain normal sexual function. For many years, yohimbe, derived from the bark of an African tree, has been promoted as an aphrodisiac and studied in the treatment of impotence. However, recent studies concluded that yohimbe does not work. Yohimbe can cause anxiety, high blood pressure, stomach upset, and trouble sleeping. For this reason, yohimbe is not recommended for men who have high blood pressure or sensitive stomachs.

Last chance to see Indian exhibit

The Morton Grove Historical Museum announces the closing of its annual exhibit entitled "True Beginnings: Morton Grove's Native American Past" on April 9, 2001. Visitors interested in this aspect of local history should visit the museum before this date. The exhibit brings together the collections and stories of local residents with artifacts and information gathered from other museums.

The museum, located at 6240 W. Dempster in Herrer Park in Morton Grove is open to the public Wednesday, 1 - 3 p.m. and Sunday, 2 - 4 p.m. Admission is free. For further information, call 847-965-0203.

Medicines are effective for many men, and in other cases, surgery can help.

Natural Love Potions
Aphrodisiacs -- foods, aromas, or even ideas that can stimulate sexual desire -- have been around for centuries. Some people turn to herbal products, such as ginseng, oat extract, and yohimbe, to enhance sexual desire or function or both. But studies have not proven that these herbal products work, and they may cause side effect. Consult a doctor before treating yourself with herbs -- especially if you have another medical condition.

Ginseng has been used as an aphrodisiac for hundreds of years. But there's no reliable evidence that it works. Ginseng's possible side effects include diarrhea, skin eruptions, sleeplessness, nervousness, and high blood pressure.

Oat extract is found in several products that purport to improve sexual function. Some herbal manufacturers report that it has been clinically proven to stimulate and enhance sexual function and response. But independent scientific studies have not confirmed this. Oat extract is generally well tolerated with few reported side effects.

Other reports suggest that ginkgo can increase blood circulation throughout the body and, thus, enhance erections. Medical studies have yet to verify such claims. Adverse effects of ginkgo include headaches and stomachache irritation.

Prescription For Love
Several prescription medications have been proven to help treat impotence. Viagra (generic name sildenafil), Caverject, and Muse are effective treatments for impotence. Alprostadil is the active ingredient in both Caverject and Muse. But these two alternatives are not taken orally, so many men find Viagra, which is administered as a tablet, to be the easiest to use.

Reports show that Viagra increases sexual ability in 65 to 88 percent of men who use it. In most cases, you take a 50-mg pill one hour before sexual activity. Viagra works by helping the penis fill with enough blood to cause an erection. Sexual stimulation is also needed for an erection -- Viagra won't cause an erection on its own.

Your doctor may adjust the Viagra dosage to improve effectiveness or avoid side effects. People with heart conditions, bleeding disorders, or stomach ulcers should not take Viagra.

Caverject is a liquid medication that you self-inject into the penis using a syringe and needle. Must is a small suppository that you insert into the opening in the tip of the penis. Use Muse or Caverject approximately ten minutes before sexual activity to help achieve an erection.

Reports claim that Muse works in approximately 65 percent of men, and Caverject works in up to 87 percent of men. The effects of these medications generally last 30 to 60 minutes. The actual time will vary from person to person, though. Potential side effects of these drugs can include localized pain and hypotension.

Only one of these products should be taken at a time, and only one dose in any 24-hour period.

Future Remedies
As the baby boomers age and become more prone to sexual dysfunction, pharmaceutical companies are investigating prescription treatments. Medicines under development, but not yet available, include tablets and skin gels.

The Vasomax tablet contains phentolamine. This medicine is believed to open blood vessels in the penis, thus improving an erection. Studies are underway to determine the effectiveness of Vasomax.

Uprima (apomorphine) tablets are dissolved under the tongue 15 to 25 minutes before sexual intercourse. In search test, Uprima improved erections in more than half of the men who used it.

Topiglan is a gel that contains alprostadil, the active ingredient in Muse and Caverject. In a report in the Journal of Urology, the skin gel was reported to help about 50 percent of men who used it.

A Salute to Local Volunteers

Tickets are available for The Volunteer Center's Annual Volunteer Recognition Dinner being held during National Volunteer Week on April 25, 2001 at the Bristol Court Banquet Hall in Mount Prospect. The dinner will celebrate the spirit and tradition of voluntary community service. It is a salute to all volunteers everywhere who work selflessly and effectively for the well-being of our communities. "Volunteers and their cheering squads are our constituency," said Richard Reed, the center's executive director. "We hope to enlarge the cheering squad for these often heroic people whose unpaid community service has enhanced everyone's quality of life in our suburban area communities. This event will celebrate over 100 volunteers in attendance.

Additional recognition will be given to 14 outstanding community volunteers singled out from among scores of nominees chosen by a panel of judges to receive the Outstanding Community Volunteer Awards. The top four winners will each receive a distinguished award and certificate, along with a $500 cash donation for the non-profit organization they serve (except in the Youth Volunteer category, where $250 will be awarded to the organization and a $250 scholarship will be awarded to the youth). Ten finalists will be presented with plaques and a cash award of $250 for their organizations. In the past eleven years, over $100,000 has been contributed to the winners' community based organizations.

The Volunteer Center, in partnership with corporate sponsors Baxter Healthcare Corp, Career Education Corp., CCH, Inc., Don Tech, Harris Bank-Rolling Meadows, Mt. Prospect National Bank and United Airlines, is hosting this event. The evening begins with a 6 p.m. social hour followed by a 6:30 p.m. dinner and the awards program. Tickets are available at $35 per person by calling (847) 228-1320. Reservation deadline is April 9, 2001.

Meet the Beetles: Nutrition Mysteries Explained

Despite all that is known about foods, certain questions keep coming up again and again. Here's the truth behind some of those "mysteries."

Why do I get a headache when I don't eat?

"Hunger headaches" can be caused by muscle tension and low blood sugar, which results in the swelling of blood vessels in your scalp and around your brain. Prevention: Avoid strenuous dieting... don't skip meals... try healthy between-meal snacks. Avoid bingeing on sugary snacks, since coming down from a "sugar high" can bring on headache.

What makes my stomach growl?

That's simply your stomach or upper intestinal muscles contracting to move food and digestive juices down the digestive tract. It happens whether or not food is present -- but more often when you're hungry.

What causes "ice cream headaches"?

That short, sharp pain results when the roof of the mouth is rapidly cooled, affecting nerve endings that trigger headaches -- the same nerves that trigger toothaches. To avoid: eat frozen foods slowly, warming them in the front of your mouth first to allow your palate time to adjust.

Are watermelon seeds edible?

Absolutely. In China, for example, watermelon seeds are often roasted, salted and eaten like popcorn. Like most seeds, however, they're high in fat and calories -- 536 calories in 3.5 ounces, 67% from fat.

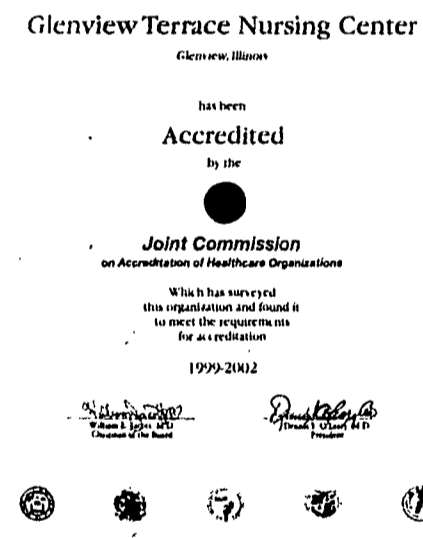

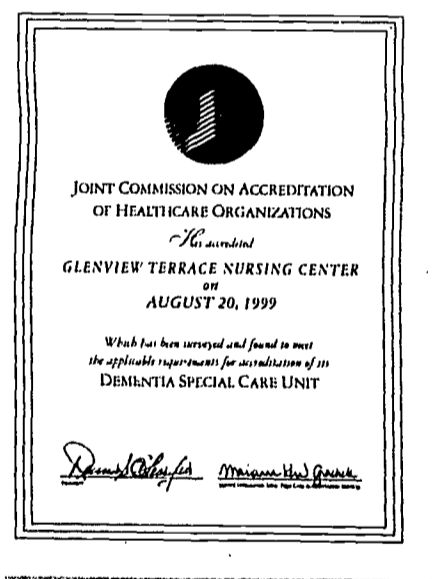

Is it true that some artificial colorings are actually made from bugs?

Yes. Rosy-colored "cochineal extract" and "carmine" are made from the dried shells of female beetles. They're common in beverages (such as ruby red grapefruit juice), yogurt, pasta, ice cream, candy, soup and bakery toppings. But don't worry: both are considered safe by the Food and Drug Administration.

Avoiding germs in public

(NAPS) -- Just about anyone who works or travels outside the home uses a public restroom several times a day. In fact, the average office building tenant spends more than three workdays a year in the restroom.

Since you can't stop other people from spreading germs after using the bathroom, here are some suggestions for germ avoidance in public restrooms:

- Look for enclosed toilet paper systems that let you touch only the product that you need, reducing the potential for cross-contamination. Toilet paper in an enclosed system is also protected from dirt and moisture.

- If you have a choice, pick a restroom with no-touch faucets and toilet flushing devices. That way you can use the restroom without touching a lot of handles or levers that may harbor germs.

- No-touch paper towel and no-touch soap systems offer the same benefits, when washing hands.

- Turn off the faucet with a paper towel after washing your hands, then use the towel to open the door before throwing it away.

- Try not to touch bathroom surfaces after you have washed your hands -- since germs can be spread to others via restroom fixtures, surfaces, faucets and product dispensers.

Lastly, remember to wash your hands correctly. Use soap and warm, running water. Wash your skin well, including your wrists, palms, back of the hands, fingers and under your fingernails. Rub your hands together for at least 10 to 15 seconds. If you wash your hands correctly, you will greatly reduce the chances of spreading germs, including those that have developed resistance to antibiotics.

For more information on germ protection, visit the Kimberly-Clark Skin Wellness Institute Web site at: www.kcskinhealth.com

What to do when back pain strikes

When it comes to causing pain to mss work, lower back pain is second only to the common cold. The good news is, most cases can be treated with self-care. Here's how to get relief:

- Go hot and cold. Apply a heating pad or ice pack, whichever feels better, for 10 minutes every 2-3 hours the first day or two. Alternating ice and heat may also be helpful.

- Visit your medicine chest. If needed, try a pain reliever containing ibuprofen, naproxen, ketoprofen, aspirin or acetaminophen.

- Keep moving. Research shows that resuming normal activities as pain allows promotes faster recovery. In a recent study in the British Medical Journal, back pain sufferers who did stretching, low-impact aerobics and strengthening exercises reported significantly less pain and disability a year after their injuries than those who didn't exercise.

- Limit bed rest. Use it only if you need it. While some bed rest can provide immediate relief, more than 48 hours may weaken muscles that support the spine and do more harm than good. Important: use a firm mattress, and lie on your side with your knees bent.

- Rock on. President John F. Kennedy popularized the rocking chair for temporary relief of back pain. Rocking shifts pressure from the lower back to the legs, and helps keep posture straight.

- Ask about acupuncture. A consensus panel of the National Institutes of Health concluded that acupuncture might be useful as part of a comprehensive pain management program that includes prevention. Check with your doctor.

- Don't ignore it. Call your physician if back pain persists for more than 2-3 days, is severe or radiating, or accompanied by numbness, tingling or weakness in the limbs, bowel or bladder problems, nausea, fever and/or vomiting.

Grab a Rope and Jump, Jump, Jump

It's easy to learn, you can do it almost anywhere, and all you need is a rope. And just look at what jumping rope does for you:

- Builds cardiovascular endurance. Fact is, jump-roping, an aerobic activity, can be as strenuous as jogging.

- Burns lots of calories. A 150-pound person jumping at 120 turns a minute burns about 12 calories every 60 seconds.

- Works many muscles. Your legs, shoulders, chest and forearms get a workout, all at the same time.

The Good, the Bad and the Triglycerides

You're probably familiar with "good" and "bad" cholesterol. Low density lipoprotein (LDL) cholesterol, the bad kind, clogs arteries and deprives your heart of oxygen. High density lipoprotein (HDL) cholesterol, the good kind, sweeps harmful fatty deposits out of your arteries.

But for your heart's sake, there's another word you should know: triglycerides.

What Are They?
Triglycerides are fats in the blood that provide energy. They come from the foods you eat and from your liver.

The problem is, high triglyceride levels are almost always accompanied by low HDL cholesterol levels. That's bad, since low HDL levels are a risk factor for heart attack.

In fact, many researchers now believe that high triglyceride levels -- defined as over 400 mg/dl with 200-400 mg/dl termed "borderline high" -- is a marker for a heart attack. Levels normally range from 50-200 mg/dl.

What Should I Do?
If you learn that your triglyceride level is high, losing weight, cutting down on saturated fat, quitting smoking and exercising all help, as does eating more fish high in omega-3 fatty acids. Interestingly, some research shows that exercise before a fatty meal may lower triglyceride levels after.

The bottom line: The lower your triglycerides and the higher your HDL levels, the better for your heart.

First-Aid Kits

A well-stocked first aid kit is a handy thing to have. To be prepared for emergencies, keep a first aid kit in your home and in your automobile. Carry a first aid kit with you, or know where you can find one when you are hiking, biking, camping, or boating. Find out the location of first aid kits where you work. Here are the items to cover most emergency needs:

1. Medications for common ailments, such as antacids, antibiotic cream, antidiarrheal medication, calamine lotion, cough/cold/flu medication, acetaminophen or aspirin, hydrocortisone cream, hydrogen peroxide, laxative, sunscreen.
2. Adhesive bandages, assorted sizes, and tape.
3. Antiseptic wipes
4. Disposable cold packs
5. Cotton, both roll and balls, and cotton swab
6. Elastic bandage
7. Latex gloves
8. Insect repellent
9. Safety pins
10. Scissors
11. Soap
12. Thermometer, oral, rectal or ear
13. Tissues
14. Tongue depressors
15. Tweezers

The Safe America Foundation and The Red Cross remind you that injury prevention depends on the practice of good safety habits. For year round safety information call (77) 218-0071.

Powerful help for powerful coughs

Fortunately, serious coughs are being taken seriously. Using innovative technology, one new cough formula lozenge is reported to deliver the maximum cough medication available without a prescription for long-lasting relief.

SJB Kindergarten news

The Kindergarten students from St. John Brebeuf School have paired up with a seventh grade partner. The kindergarten teachers, Mrs. Joanna Oliva and Mrs. Eileen Ries, and the seventh grade teachers, Miss Kathy Krelling and Mrs. Carol Lake, thought it would be a great idea to pair up the students to do many activities together.

One of the most rewarding experiences for both partners and their teachers is the experience of attending school liturgies together. The seventh graders are responsible for their partner at this time. They need to care for them during the entire liturgy.

Other activities that the partners have done thus far in the school year include: making a Thanksgiving cornucopia, a Christmas wreath, reading stories together, writing Santa letters, and watching a Christmas play.

The kindergarten children love having a seventh grade partner to teach them, to help them, and to care for them. This new partnership has been truly rewarding to all.

District 219 to participate in Tech 2000/AT&T demonstration

Niles North and Niles West will be among nearly 140 public schools statewide that will participate in the 10th annual TECH 2000/AT&T Students for the Information Age program on Tuesday, March 20 at the Illinois State Capitol Building in Springfield.

From about 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., students will show visitors, including elected members of the Illinois State Senate and the House of Representatives, how technology is being used in the classroom to improve achievement. Computer workstations are set up in the Capitol building Rotunda so students can show how technology has helped them with their schoolwork.

The program is presented by TECH 2000, a group of educators dedicated to increasing awareness about classroom technology and the ways that it can prepare students for an information-based society and sponsored by AT&T.

The March 20 demonstrations are also sponsored by Governor George Ryan, Lieutenant Governor Corinne Wood, leaders of both the Illinois House and Senate, and numerous educational institutions.

M-NASR receives donation from DECA students

Sue Bear, Executive Director of M-NASR accepts a donation check from Niles West High School DECA students, Matt Ochawa, Marat Fleytlikh and Michelle Filip.

Students involved in the DECA Club at Niles West High School recently sponsored a fundraiser in conjunction with the Morton Grove Park District. All of the proceeds raised from the "Big Fun for Everyone Camp Day" were donated to the Maine-Niles Association of Special Recreation (M-NASR). DECA students spent a recent Saturday at the Prairie View Community Center providing a camp-like setting which offered young individuals the opportunity to have some fun and play games during the cold winter months. At the same time, parents of the participating youth were given an added opportunity to do some last-minute holiday shopping without the watchful eyes of their children. Over 20 youngsters participated in this fun-filled day, and parents and children, alike, thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

M-NASR is dedicated to improving the quality of life for individuals with disabilities by providing quality recreational programs. They are an extension of the Park Districts in Des Plaines, Golf-Maine, Lincolnwood, Morton Grove, Niles, Park Ridge and Skokie. If you would like more information regarding M-NASR or any of their programs, please call (847) 966-5522.

Fourth Grade Detectives

The fourth graders at St. John Brebeuf School are using their detective skills to solve mysteries in Reading class. Students are solving cases from the 4th Grade Super Sleuth Detective Agency. They made mystery boxes and dioramas on various mysterious cases. Clues are important to solve these mysteries.

In our nutrition activities, we have been writing persuasive paragraphs that make you want to go out and buy these nutritious and delicious foods now!!! Eating fruits and veggies help keep us healthy.

With elections over, the 4th graders at St. John Brebeuf are studying the workings of our government. We start with the branches of the U.S. Government to how a bill becomes a law, to the Bill of Rights. The students are comparing and contrasting the three levels of government: federal, state, and local. Each step shows how our responsibility in government is important through voting and staying informed.

Edward Jones: Boost College Savings With a 529 Plan

College costs are high -- and they're going up. So if you're a parent with young children, when should you start saving?

How about today?

It's never too soon to start saving for college. Consider the numbers: For the 2000-2001 school year, the average cost for tuition, fees, room and board at a four-year private college is $22,541 per year, according to the College Board. For a four-year public school, the corresponding cost is $8,470 per year. If college costs rise just 4 percent a year for the next 18 years, today's newborns will face a four-year bill of about $194,000 for an average private college and $73,000 for an average public school.

Those are big numbers. But you can make them more manageable if you start saving early. And one of the better savings vehicles you have available is a Section 529 plan, named after the portion of the IRS code authorizing these accounts.

You can establish a 529 plan for your children or grandchildren. And you can choose from two types of this plan:

Prepaid tuition programs -- In a prepaid tuition plan, you buy future tuition credit -- at today's prices -- at an in-state, public school.

Tax-deferred savings plans -- Under these plans, your earnings grow tax-deferred until you withdraw the money to pay for qualified higher education costs. Withdrawals are then taxed at the student's tax rate, which will typically be lower than yours.

Of the two arrangements, the tax-deferred savings plan is far more popular because it doesn't restrict students to certain colleges in specific states, as does the prepaid tuition plan. In other words, you can invest in any state's plan. Also, you'll receive several other significant benefits, including the following:

- You can contribute large amounts. Generally, you can contribute more than $100,000 per year to a 529 plan, although contribution limits vary by state. You may want to consider the applicable gift tax rules.

- You control withdrawals. If you're the account owner of the 529 plan, you'll manage all withdrawals for the life of the account. The student doesn't automatically take control of the assets at the age of majority. You can even change beneficiaries, if you choose.

- You'll minimize the impact on financial aid awards. Because the money in a 529 plan is held in your name, it won't significantly jeopardize any financial aid packages your child or grandchild may receive. Colleges generally require students to contribute 35 percent of their assets to pay for school, compared to less than 6 percent for parents.

The 529 plan offers some important benefits. But make sure you use your plan strictly for college. If you make a withdrawal for anything other than higher education expenses, you may have to pay taxes and a 10 percent penalty on the earnings at your tax rate. Also, keep in mind that different state plans choose different money managers -- so you might want to research the organization that's investing your money.

But if you're satisfied that you've found a good 529 plan, give it some careful consideration -- it can help you cope with the high costs of higher education.

National MS Society honors volunteers and staff

The Greater Illinois Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society recognized the contributions of outstanding volunteers and staff at its 48th Annual Meeting held recently in Chicago. Highlights from the Annual Meeting were presented at two volunteer receptions in Peoria and Decatur, IL.

Nanciann Huening of Park Ridge was elected to her first term as chairman of the chapter's board of trustees. She has been a member of the board of trustees since 1994 and is a long-time friend and supporter of the chapter, having previously served as chairman for the chapter programs committee and an integral part of the advocacy/government relations committee.

An occasion to note the fundraising successes of the chapter's fiscal year 2000 and the expansion of programs and services offered to people with MS and their families, the annual meeting and volunteer receptions are also opportunities to recognize the efforts and exceptional achievements of volunteers and staff.

Ronald D. Turner, head football coach of the University of Illinois Fighting Illini, received the Norman Cohn Hope Award. Considered the highest award made at the chapter level, the award is voted annually by the nominating/board development committee of the chapter's board of trustees and is voted upon and approved by the Society's national board of directors.

Multiple sclerosis is a chronic, often disabling disease of the central nervous system that generally strikes people between the ages of 20 and 40. Symptoms can range from numbness in the limbs to paralysis or loss of vision.

The progress, severity, and specific symptoms of MS in any one person cannot yet be predicted, but advances in research and treatments are giving hope to those affected by the disease.

Parent-teen communications - when to seek help

As noted in previous columns, communications between teens and their parents are often a difficult issue for a variety of reasons. Teens want to look mature and responsible in their parents' eyes. They may believe talking about problems or anxieties will stop that from happening. At the same time, parents want to protect their teens and not give too much freedom too quickly -- a source of conflict that often leads to communication difficulties. Yet parental fears and hesitancy are often justified, especially in a society that offers so many opportunities and so many dangers.

It is not surprising that such a relationship often leads to strained or almost non-existent communication. Yet it is clear that a great deal of this conflict between teen and parent is often unavoidable, simply a normal part of human development. Within that "normal" level of disagreement, frustration and stress, as parents, most of us recognize how important it is to keep the lines of communication open. You need to keep talking with your kids.

But sometimes we may find that "normal human development" may not cover changes in behavior and communications that we see with our teens. An important question is how to tell the difference between what is normal and what is a sign that outside help may be needed. When serious communication difficulties arise between the teens and parents, it is time to look at the behaviors and stresses leading to those difficulties. There may be indicators as to whether things are within the "normal" range, or if more serious problems exist.

Take notice when your teen either physically or emotionally withdraws from the family, begins consistently breaking previously agreed upon rules, doesn't follow through with family chores, or shows other negative and growing changes in behavior.

You may notice that there has been a change in the groups of friends, a drop in grades at school, or sudden changes in dress or appearance. Your teen may become increasingly argumentative over small issues. Such behaviors, coupled with communication difficulties, can be an indicator that something serious may be wrong. If you notice any of these things, ask yourself the following questions:

• Was the onset of this communication or behavioral problem sudden or over a period of time? A sudden onset may be situational, something due to an outside force or recent event, and is more likely to resolve itself with a little patience on the part of the parent. However, if things have gotten progressively more difficult, that could be an indication that help is needed.

• Are the difficulties in your relationship escalating or occurring more often? If the intensity and frequency of the flare-ups are increasing, it may mean that help is needed.

• Are the stressful episodes lasting longer than usual? You may need outside help if the duration is increasing and out of proportion for the actual event that caused the difficulty.

Parents also need to ask if they are contributing more to the problem than to the solution. There may be events or circumstances in their own lives that are contributing to their overall stress level and thus magnifying the difficulty with the teenager.

But if it appears that your teen would benefit from outside help, where do you turn? A good place to start is with the school counselor. These professionals understand what is "normal" and what is an indication that help is needed for teenagers.

A second source of help is in the Community Mental Health Center. You will find a variety of well-trained mental health professionals who will be able to be of assistance in working through some of these communication problems.

A third source of help can be found in private practitioners.

You will find Licensed Professional Counselors and other mental health professionals in the Yellow Pages. While each of these professions offer a slightly different emphasis on working through difficulties, all can help.

The Counseling Corner is provided as a public service by the American Counseling Association, the nation's largest organization of counseling professionals. You can learn more about the counseling profession at the ACA web site, www.counseling.org.

Last chance to see Indian exhibit

The Morton Grove Historical Museum announces the closing of its annual exhibit entitled "True Beginnings: Morton Grove's Native American Past" on April 9, 2001. Visitors interested in this aspect of local history should visit the museum before this date. The exhibit brings together the collections and stories of local residents with artifacts and information gathered from other museums.

The exhibit also includes a hands-on section that gives the visitor an opportunity to play traditional Potawatomi games, to grind corn and nuts as the Native Americans would have and to learn about the French fur trade with the Indians. This exhibit was made possible with the assistance of a grant from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources/Illinois State Museum.

The museum, located at 6240 W. Dempster in Herrer Park in Morton Grove is open to the public Wednesday, 1 - 3 p.m. and Sunday, 2 - 4 p.m. Admission is free. For further information, call 847-965-0203.

The $11.9 million project, funded by the Illinois FIRST program, will completely reconstruct Harlem Avenue with two lanes in each direction and will add a center turn lane from Higgins Road to Cullom Avenue. While such action allows the school to better its rate, this does not constitute a financial liability on the village. Before passing the ordinance, the trustees addressed the liability issue. As a result, "The ordinance reads, 'The bonds shall not constitute an indebtedness of the village or a loan of credit thereof within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory provision.'"

In another provision, the ordinance states that the village will not discriminate among education institutions that seek bond issuance on the basis of whether the requesting school is faith-based or whether it affiliates with a particular faith.

Sheriff introduces "3-D" program for high school students

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan (left, standing) and a deputy sheriff from his office observe two students who are participating in a driving simulation exercise designed to give them a first hand understanding of how using drugs or alcohol can impair their driving skills. The Sheriff's "3D Program" (Drinking + Drugs = Destruction) is available to schools throughout Cook County.

Cook County Sheriff Michael F. Sheahan announced recently that his office is offering an interactive educational exhibit for high school students which illustrates the dangers of drinking and driving.

The "3-D Program" (Drinking + Drugs = Destruction) is a first-of-its-kind, hands-on simulation designed to give teens a whole new perspective on how using drugs or alcohol can affect a person's ability to drive and perform simple physical tasks.

According to both national and state studies, alcohol-related crashes are the number one cause of death among young people between the ages of 16 and 24. During a typical weekend in the United States, an average of one teen dies every hour in a crash, with almost 50 percent of the accidents involving the use of alcohol.

The "3-D Program" contains six separate hands-on exhibits that students go through in a 50-minute time frame. The first is called "The Convincer," which is a mechanism that simulates an actual auto collision at 7 miles per hour. Two crash test dummies are placed in the Convincer, one wearing a seatbelt and one without. The display shows that even at a slow rate of speed, injuries in a collision can be severe.

In addition, students will be exposed to the latest in advanced technology utilized by law enforcement in DUI enforcement. This includes a demonstration of an instrument called "Eye Check," a non-invasive test that can be performed to provide an immediate read on a person's alcohol, drug or fatigue level. In addition, students will view a "Dead sentatives from village-appointed commissions within the member communities.

North burbs go proactive to combat bigotry

The commission's membership comes from communities of Niles and Morton Grove, Evanston, Skokie, Wilmette, Lincolnwood, Highland Park, Glencoe, Northbrook, and Deerfield.

The newly-formed commission expects to present its findings on hate lyrics this spring.

We are constantly expanding our service base with a new Public Services building which will house all of our Public Works road and maintenance equipment and a new Police facility to accommodate our growing Police force. These building facilities will not cost our residents extra tax dollars because they are being paid for from additional revenue provided by our expanding commercial base such as WalMart, Costco and Cub Foods to name just a few.

State legislators celebrate swearing-in ceremonies

Members of the Illinois state legislature are currently hearing testimony on hundreds of bills in committees and debating their merits on the House floor, but in early January it was a day of celebration for all 118 of them following swearing-in ceremonies in Springfield. Two Chicago legislators broke away from their families and friends at separate parties to congratulate each other and pose for this photo.

Newly re-elected House Speaker Michael Madigan (left) and Deputy Majority Leader State Rep. Ralph C. Capparelli along with his wife, Cordelia, gathered at the Sangamo Club for special luncheons. Capparelli, who represents the 13th Legislative District on Chicago's far northwest side and nearby suburbs, dined with nearly 40 family members and friends who arrived by bus for the special event in the House of Representatives. He holds the honorary title of Dean of the House, having served longer than any of his legislative colleagues. He will continue to work for the upgrading of his district by bringing more state dollars to improve local communities, neighborhoods and roadways.

Maine Township Thanks Its Many Volunteers and Organizations!

Each year hundreds of people and organizations step forward to help the residents of Maine Township. These selfless volunteers contribute time to organize activities for local residents of all ages, donate cash and goods to the emergency food pantry, do mailings, and many, many other tasks. The Township leadership and staff could not do nearly as much without the hundreds of hours of assistance and contributions from our volunteers and organizations.

Dear Friends,
One of the best parts of my role as Maine Township Supervisor is the opportunity to work with so many dedicated volunteers from around the area. The past year has been an excellent example of how numerous organizations and volunteers, both young and old, come together to share their time and talents for those greatest in need.

On behalf of the entire Township staff, the Board of Trustees and other elected officials, I would like to express sincere gratitude and a heartfelt thank you to all those who helped bring food, comfort, and good cheer to thousands. We are sharing the names of those who helped as public recognition of our appreciation.

Thank you for all you did for our residents from everyone at Maine Township.

Supervisor
