Home-Coming Game To Climax Week's Festivities

A remarkable burst of student enthusiasm ushered in the thrilling calendar of events for Home-Coming Week at Assembly in Harrison Gymnasium Tuesday morning.

Bob Marley, Head Cheerleader, presented an enthusiastic crew to the students and faculty. We are fortunate to have again this year Bill Marley, Bob McKenzie, Kat Hunter, and Billie Stroud. Two newcomers, but well up on the cheers, are Jean Kerr and Betty Mellard. John Hinton and Bonnie Jean Crawford are alternates.

Shep Fields and his orchestra supplied the music for the dance Friday evening. The Home-Coming Queen was crowned during intermission.

Approximately twenty floats plus our excellent band, cheerleaders, majorettes, and Home-Coming Queen will parade this afternoon at 2:30. The parade will begin at the campus and proceed up Montlieu Avenue and down Main Street. Classes will be suspended at 10:10 Saturday morning to allow time for the final preparations of this traditional event.

Following the parade, there will be a Barbeque for the Alumni at 5:45 at Boylin Terrace. We hope a large number of the Alumni will come home for the Barbeque and game.

Students Cast Vote For Home-Coming Queen

Candidates for the cherished title of Home-Coming Queen were presented to the student body and faculty at Assembly Tuesday morning. The lovely candidates were given a number and the students cast their votes by writing their choice on the back of their attendance tickets.

High Point College was well represented by the following beauties:

Ruby Workman, High Point, sponsored by DBA; the Ray twins, Jean and Jane, Mebane, sponsored by Penny Hall; Jo Anne Grimes, Asheboro, sponsored by the Block "H" Club; La Marie "Mickey" McArthur, High Point, sponsored by ITK and EPO; Jean Kerr, Mount Airy, sponsored by DAE; Mildred Parrish, Oxford, sponsored by Junior Class; Doris Nance, High Point, also sponsored by Junior Class; Rynne Allen, Middlesex, sponsored by EPO; Bertha Lowe, High Point, sponsored by ATP Sorority; and Patty Sides, Concord, sponsored by the Ministerial Association.

The results of the voting was announced during intermission at the Shep Fields' dance in Harrison Gymnasium Friday evening and the Queen crowned.

A float will bear the Queen and her attendants in the parade this afternoon.

Welcome Home Alumni!

For the twenty-second consecutive year, the welcomed Alumni of High Point College shall once again don the vestige of their student days on the campus, and join the gallant march of their Alma Mater toward the noble fight for victory over the bold Catawba Indians.

The Alumni Association will hold its annual banquet in the form of a barbeque supper at 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon on Boylin Terrace here on the campus (in case of rain, it will be moved to the Harrison Gymnasium.) A large number of the alumni are expected to attend and an even larger number will probably attend the football game which follows the supper and business meeting.

Mr. J. B. Snotherly, President of the Association, a graduate of the class of 1931 and personnel director of the Adams Millis Hosiery, will preside at the brief business session which will follow the supper. The exact nature of the business has not been disclosed, but all the members are urged to attend and voice their opinions on the vital issues appertaining to future plans for the progress of the Association.

The faculty, students, and members of the HI-PO staff have exhausted all effort to roll out the welcome mat for the returning alumni. There will be a registration table located in the foyer of Roberts Hall at 10:00 on Saturday morning where all the alumni and former students are urged to register and secure the program which lists the agenda of events that have been scheduled for the homecoming weekend. Open house for returning alumni, former students, and other guests will be held at the President's home, 821 West College Drive.

It is hoped that the alumni will make themselves at home again and cheerfully join in all the gay activities, as well as visit the exhibit of creative work in Wrenn Memorial Library and the other buildings on the campus, making their stay here one that will incite memories which help to relive many joyous occasions experienced at H. P. C. in years past.

The Alumni Association began its first activities in 1927 when it had its first graduating class. Although those early graduating classes were comparatively small, they carried with them a spark of the characteristic vigor of High Point College students which more than made up for the size. Since those rugged early years the Association has grown majestically to over 6,000 alumni who now reside all over the United States and some in foreign countries. Thus the name of High Point College has grown in prestige, until now, twenty-five years after its founding, it has become one of the leading colleges in the South. Down through the years High Point College has sent its students away adequately equipped with the necessary education to conquer the obstacles that were to be met on life's arduous pathway. Those students are now the celebrated alumni, who have maintained the fighting spirit and have supported H. P. C. through the thick and thin days of its existence. Their accomplishments deserve a highly respected place at High Point College—not only as a white marble statue with a shining, golden crown—but more, a deep, loving memory that will linger with them and us through the ages of time.

The student body (future alumni) has a keen interest in the Association and are looking forward to the joy of becoming an active member in this venerable group. We are very anxious to have a closer cooperation between the Alumni Association and the students on the campus.

The future program of the Alumni Association of High Point College is a large one and involves a great deal of work. The Alumni plans, in the near future, to establish a permanent office with a full time executive secretary. Perhaps later on, as the need is felt, there will be an alumni building erected of which we will all be proud.

WE WILL WIN--IT'S DUE

"The Indians are coming!" warned Mr. Henry Furches, graduate of the class of 1931, in his address to the students and faculty in Assembly on Tuesday morning.

Mr. Furches played every minute of every game of the schedule in 1929. He attributes his enthusiasm to the fact that the former Miss Emma Lee Poole, the present Mrs. Furches, was head cheerleader at High Point College at that time.

plauded as the head cheerleader of 1965.

Dr. Dennis Cooke assured the team and Coach Ralph James of the support and faith of the students and faculty in the coming game with Catawba. "When on defense," urged Dr. Cooke, "say to yourself 'I'll get him! I'll get him! When you are on the offense, say 'I can! I can!'"

Coach Ralph James promised the Assembly that he would do his best not to lose Saturday's game, since games are won by the team and lost by the coach.

Welcome Doctor Cooke

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, new president-elect of High Point College, has already set the pace for the highly animated spirit which surrounds the gala homecoming festivities here this year. The whole student body and faculty has graciously extended to him a cordial welcome by captivating this vigorous spirit which has permeated the entire institution.

Dr. Cooke, who has been chief administrator for the past four months, was previously head of the Department of Education and Director of the summer school session at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. In addition, he served for thirteen months as President of Eastern Carolina Teachers College at Greenville, N. C.

Dr. Cooke received his formal education at Duke University and Peabody College, receiving the B. S. and M. A. degrees at Duke and the Ph. D. degree at Peabody. Upon discarding the students' cap and gown, he accepted a position in the Department of Education at Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn., where he taught for ten years.

Our aggressive President, who has written several books on education, has had many speaking appointments with the civic clubs, public schools, and other organizations who have praised him highly, and who have pledged their full support to him and his work at High Point College.

We of the student-body and the HI-PO staff hardly extend to Dr. Cooke our ardent support and express our desire to work together for a greater High Point College.

Freshmen Initiated This Week

Rat Week began Wednesday for all Freshmen. The Campus has been created with strangely dressed creatures being led around by upperclassmen.

Friday's schedule advised that the girls were to make up one-half of their faces, carry a doll or stuffed animal, wear a short dress with an artificial flower, carry their books in a box, wear two high heel shoes, one of a kind, with no hose or socks, come to class with their hair uncombed from the night before, and eat dinner with a Freshman boy.

Freshmen boys were to bring their books tied with a belt, wear their shoes untied without socks, wear a suit with a tee shirt and a loud colored handkerchief around their neck Western style. They were also warned to wear a flower in the lapel of their coats and sit with a Freshman girl at dinner and be prepared to sing the school song.

Rat Week officially ends with a pep rally at Franklin Field or Boylin Terrace at 7:15 tonight. The entire Freshmen class is required to attend and proceed from the rally to the game where they will occupy reserved seats in the stands.

The Hi-Po Staff Finds Home

Many thanks to the persons responsible for the new home of the Hi-Po. An office in which to gather and edit the news of interest to the students and Alumni has been needed for some time. On the side of the Library basement has been given the staff for a workshop. A partition will separate the office from the classroom.

Our new editor, Grady Thomas, is an able and experienced man for the job. His enthusiasm for a really good Hi-Po is shared by the excellent staff that answered the appeal for journalists and students interested in the business end of publishing our school newspaper.

Students are invited to contact our office to report any news or social events which our staff may overlook. This promises to be a year of unparalleled progress and activity for your college newspaper. Good reading to all of you from your Hi-Po staff.

Jean and Jane Ray Crowned Queens Of Home-Coming

Amid a happy throng gathered for the Shep Fields' dance Jean and Jane Ray were crowned Queens of Home-Coming. This is the first time in the history of High Point College that there has been two Queens for Home-Coming. The results of the voting was kept secret until intermission.

Jean and Jane are transfer students having completed two years at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Greensboro. Both girls registered with a Home Economics major. They hail from Mebane North Carolina. Both girls have always been interested in Home Economics and Jane confessed that they spent many happy hours as children making doll clothes. They have only one younger brother at home.

They attended their first two years of high school at Mebane High and their last two years at Alexander Wilson High. Jean was Queen of her senior class, but Jane has not been entered in a beauty contest previously. Jean's favorite sport is tennis; Jane's is softball and football. Both girls were active in the Home Economics, Club, Art Club, and Glee Club in high school. At Woman's College they were members of the Dikean Society.

Jane is five feet, eight inches tall; Jean, five feet, nine and one-half inches. Jane is younger than Jean by twenty minutes. Jane weighs 129 pounds; Jean weighs 134 pounds. Both have light brown hair and grey eyes.

The Queens wore multi-colored gowns with black evening slippers. Jane was escorted by Forrest Brown of High Point College. Jean's escort was Fred Chandler from Roxboro, North Carolina.

When asked by a reporter from the Hi-Po how she liked High Point College, Jane replied, "It's a fine place, and we both like it a lot. The students and faculty are very friendly. That's what I like about a small school."

Today's parade will feature the Ray twins on a float surrounded by the four runners-up for the honor. They are Rynne Allen from Middlesex, North Carolina, sponsored by EPO; LaMarie McArthur of High Point, sponsored by ITK and EPO; Jean Kerr from Mount Airy, sponsored by DAE; and Ruby Workman of High Point, sponsored by DBA.

Miss Allen is a Freshman and is enrolled in the two-year Secretarial Course. She is five feet, six inches tall and weighs 123 pounds. She has dark brown hair and brown eyes.

Miss McArthur is also a Freshman. She was not available for interview at the time the Hi-Po went to press.

Miss Kerr is a Sophomore and is majoring in Journalism. She weighs 114 pounds, stands five feet, four inches. She has black hair and brown eyes.

Miss Workman is a Junior with her major in Business Administration. She is five feet, five inches tall, weighs 116 pounds, and has brown hair and grey-green eyes.

The official newspaper of the students of High Point College, High Point, N. C., the HI-PO is published bi-weekly except during the holiday periods. Entered as a second class matter Jan. 28, 1927, at the Post Office of High Point under the act of March 23, 1879. Subscription rate upon request.

The Value Of A Slogan

At the bottom of the front page and in several other places in this issue of the HI-PO appears the rallying call, "Let's always be for H. P. C." The sentiment is an altogether proper one, suggesting as it does that the vital interests of our college should always be recognized as more important than those of any individual or group, and suggesting further that loyalty carries over and beyond the years of graduation.

The point in offering this slogan in our first issue is not to insist that the very words be adopted or even the sentiment, but to point out how important it is to have a motto, a watchword, a slogan, an expression of loyalty that represents us all at our best. What will it be? In the meantime, "Let's always be for H. P. C."

As you can see, this issue of the paper is dedicated to two things; first, to our Alumni, and second, to a spirit of teamwork between us all. Today our football team meets on the field of battle. It will take team work to win the game. The team will play and pull together. It is up to the students and Alumni to render wholehearted support for a well-deserved victory.

We start the year with a new President. Dr. Cooke is going to work for a bigger and greater High Point College. He is only one cog in the machine and cannot perform the task by himself. He needs the support of all of us. By our actions, we will determine whether the school remains stationary or whether it will move forward to greater achievements. There are many obstacles to overcome. We, the students, are one big family of brothers and sisters. You, the Alumni, are our guiding light. The light must be strengthened, the beam must shine brighter. With a strong guiding light, the students will be strongly united into one solid core, and when we leave school, very green in the ways of life, we will find peace and knowledge in your ranks.

We have a strong pilot at the wheel. You, the Alumni, are the officers as you are experienced in business and seasoned in life. We, the students, are the sailors. We look to our officers for guidance.

Strengthen the corps so that we may find strength in your shadow. In your footsteps we will follow. "Where shall you lead us?"

We won! Yes, starting from scratch and with nothing but determined effort, the staff has turned out a paper. We intend to give you a paper every two weeks this year. It is our earnest desire to put out the best small college newspaper, and we can with everyone's support. To the staff of the HI-PO for your hard work in putting this first issue out, for your valuable time and for your enthusiasm, I say, "Thank you, thank you very much."

Looking Back

By now you students have probably seen many dignified and distinguished looking men and women about the campus. All of the upper classmen know who they are, but just in case some of you freshmen are still wondering who they can be, it is only fair to introduce you to our alumni. It wasn't too many years ago that they too were attending High Point College. They too were excited over the High Point-Catawba game. Some of them were out there in the field giving Catawba a hard time, other were bedecked in old garb sitting in the freshman section, while still others were out there leading those yells with school spirit to spare. Some of them were playing in the band, furnishing the kind of music that has made football what it is today.

We realize that the "Shag" has replaced the "Charleston," and that "Be-POP" has replaced the "Big Apple," but nothing has replaced the friendliness of the H. P. C. campus, so let's everybody give the alumni a great big "howdy," and make them realize that they are right at home when they visit the cafeteria, the bookstore, their old rooms, or the stadium—Welcome back to High Point College Alumni—We're glad to see you!

"Wha' Happened"

By JEAN KERR

Here it is four a. m. again. Wonder if roommate is sleep yet? I hope not, for I have just scads to tell her. Oh, well, if she is, she won't mind if I wake her to tell her all of the news. Course I could be getting kinda sleepy myself, but this won't take long—I hope!

Bledsoe's back, and Grimes has got him. Joanne Grimes and Lonnie Bledsoe have been seen around the campus just about as much as Betty Blecher and Budd. Ach la! Stick around for the latest developments.

Dan Cupid decided to transfer to H. P. C. this fall, and seems to be doing pretty well for himself. New twosomes are seen everywhere from the book store to the football games. For instance, Lib Gilbert starts every sentence off with something about the "mighty Bob." And to top it all they only meant to "linger awhile." Hmmm!

Speaking of the heart, have you been having trouble with yours lately? Tate Foust has. It was tough at Flora Macdonald, but H. P. C. is still harder on the heart. Water—might help some. Water that is. Come on now boy—take a hint!

Anytime you guys and gals feel lonesome just stroll over toward the girl's dorm bout time the soda shop closes. Tender scenes running wild—and if you don't take my word for it, just ask Harold Sims, Betty Edwards, Edna Clark, or Don McNeill. They'll put you in the know.

What has W. C. and G. C. got that H. P. C. hasn't got? I know but I'll never tell—but maybe Bob McKenzie, Fred Darcus or Deaqu Dull will. If anybody knows, they should!

What would a gossip column be with out bring in the eternal triangle into the picture! "F. W. Evans" the center of said triangle, so stand by people to see which of these twosomes he will choose.

Are men blind—or do they just wish to pretend they can't tell when a certain female gets a "crush" on them? Come on, Ed Sueta, and give her a chance. It might work out fine. By the way, Ed, who was that gal that seemed to have all the boys in the dorm trying to find out her identity on the phone the other night? Gene O'Daniel, Johnny Czarnecki, and some of the others must have lost their fatal charm.

The stories that come back from these football games are the thing! Have you heard the one about Jimmy Fisher down at the Newberry game? Let's see, what was that they told us in psychology class the other day that would cure sleep walking?

Latest Flash from the wires of G. A. B. located in the girl's dorm. Powell Jones must like it over this way, or is it just Doris Antry that he is interested in?

A'mid all of these flourishing romances there's one that seems to be lullin'. That's the fine romance of Willie Davis, the gal with the voice, and "Red," the boy who spilt suit all over the nifformation office the other afternoon. Hope things work out all right for y'all.

Know what? Being a Cassanova has its disadvantages as well as advantages. For instance, Bob Hughes would like to move H. P. C. up to Elkin so that he could be nearer the "multitudes."

Isn't it awful to think that two men are just out of this world? Jo thinks that both George and Wayne are perfect, so who can tell what will happen?

Simply wild about Carolina—aren't we, Bonnie Crawford? There's a Bob there, there's a Jimmy there—that's why there's love there.

He's big, he's blond, he's Taylor Greene. Have you girls noticed? Of course, there is one little catch to it—he seems awfully happy when that letter written in green ink makes its way from Asheville to H. P. C. Who could compete with "green ink"?

Let me tell you what, girls. There's something you oughta know. Leonard Hunt is interested in carrying on a correspondence with some beautiful girl that knows how to write a good letter. This is your chance girls. Write Leonard a letter—and wait for the results. Chicken if you don't!

Lloyd (finally managed to squeeze the word in) Pardue just can't seem to get the hang of Spanish. I know how it is, but he's been mighty lucky in securing aid from a certain sophomore, so he's not really worrying—much!

Almost time to go to breakfast now—but just want to give Greg Merhige a pat on the back for his fine performance in the bookstore the other night—Wasn't it everybody?

Roommate just decided to shoot me so I'd let her get some sleep, but before she does, wanna tell all you people to be out there rootin' for that football team tonight. Our team deserves your support, so let's everybody be out there yelling for them. Besides somebody told me to tell y'll that you might meet the love of your life out there. See you at the game—so till then—"Rye, Shug!

The Hidden Hand

By DICK CROSS

The murky blackness of the night together with the drifting fog that settled in around the weatherbeaten house produced a mysterious, almost sinister effect. Many who traveled on the highway some five hundred yards distant no doubt wondered why anyone would have built this rambling, two-story frame house in such a remote and desolate spot in the first place.

With winter coming on, the grounds surrounding the dwelling did little to brighten the scene. The brown, brittle rose bushes and the fading grass seemed barren, lifeless.

The only sign of life was the yellow ray of light that came filtering out a window on the left floor, trying vainly to penetrate the ever increasing grey clouds of fog.

Inside the lighted room four figures sat silently around a small table, glancing at one another suspiciously. Eash was tense, motionless, expectant. The very air grew oppressive as the old clock on the sideboard, indifferent to the scene before it, continued ticking its seconds away in an earsplitting, never-racking fashion. The seconds seemed like hours, yet not one of the four broke the silence.

Is this the moment for it to happen? thought each one to himself. Can't hold out much longer. The suspense is maddening.

Slowly one of the figures began to smile as he let out a sigh of relief.

Sing a New Song

Join the new song we are singing;
 Keep the old one fondly ringing;
 Old and New ringing true.
 Purest notes are in the blending,
 Each one to the other lending
 Something strong for the song.
 Let us sing it loud and long.

In no single virtue leading,
 For no cause or program pleading,
 Yet we claim noble aim.
 Greatest strength is in combining,
 Every good a good refining;
 Goodness grows as it flows.
 Life is sweeter that bestows.

What is that we would be seeking?
 What the virtues we are speaking?
 Truth is good; Faith is food.
 For each one his own fulfilling,
 Ever led but ever willing;
 Only sure no vain lure
 Is mistaken for a cure.

See aloft the Lamp of Learning
 On our highest turret burning.
 Ever shine, Light Divine.
 Truest faith has deep foundation;
 Nil sine numine.
 God and Truth are one creation.
 Faith and Wisdom, light our way.

The Little Green Co-Ed . . . And the Big Bad Wolf

By Jean Kerr

Once upon a "term" there was a green little co-ed. Now this little co-ed hadn't been warned about all the big bad wolves at H. P. C., so she wasn't afraid of them like she shoulda' been. Well, one night this little co-ed went down into the cafeteria to eat, when all of a sudden a big, bad, H. P. C. wolf came lurking up to her with that "you oughta be thrilled to death" look in his eyes. "Where ya' been all my life, Baby," he jeered at the wide-eyed little coed. She looked up with her huge brown eyes and sweetly replied, "Why, I've been down at Myrtle Beach on a few house parties, and before that I was taking in a few frat parties, and before that I was dating all these big ole strong football players," she said with an innocent look upon her face. "Well, Baby, how's about giving yourself a break and dating me tonight?" said the big H. P. C. wolf. "Can't tonight," replied the green little co-ed. "I'm going over to the D. A. E. house for a few laughs." The big, bad, H. P. C. wolf looked surprised, but he just couldn't accept defeat. "Well, kid, I'll be over tomorrow night and you can feel my big ole muscles," the wolf drooled. The green little co-ed looked up at him with her very sweetest smile and replied, "Sho would like to, but tomorrow night I'm going to the Plantation Club for a few cokes, smokes, and jokes. You know how it is—gotta party awhile."

What's this? The big, bad H. P. C. wolf took on new vigor, and with a deep breath, he trudged on. "Listen, Baby, the girls at W. C. are simply wild about me. Why, I'm the best looking thing that ever hit this campus. It isn't often I break down and give some lucky girl a break."

"Well," drooled the green little co-ed, "What could we do?" The wolf, thinking he had won his victory took on a new air, as he suggested a movie with a tall, cool, coke at Jeff's afterwards.

"Would you try to hold my hand on the first date?" asked the green little co-ed. The big, bad wolf promised that he wouldn't hold her hand, wouldn't try to kiss her on the first date, and would have her in by 10 p.m. "Wellll—" sighed the green little co-ed, "You must be a heckova drip. My date book is all filled up." So the green little wolf sat back down at his table and drank his milk, and the big bad co-ed stormed out of the cafeteria for a cigarette.

Panthers Set To Scalp Indians

Sporting Around

By PAUL PRYOR

First of all, congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Gondoli on their recent marriage. Also bouquets to Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Crews who were wed Saturday, October 1, 1949. Both of these boys are on the football squad, while Crew is a member of the basketball team also, Whitey Allen was on the all-star team in the Deep River baseball league. "Ace" Cartwright who won 14 games for Trinity was a member of the Piedmont All-Star team. Max Morgan, stellar guard on the Panther Football squad caught and hit well for the Beauford nine. Tom "Fidler" McGhee hit 370 for Ashboro semi-pro team. Hugh Gordon and Kurt McDonald both played softball in the High Point Industrial league. Jimmy Foxworth, former High Point College basketball and football star, won 17 games for the Mooresville Moors of the North Carolina State league. Joe Inman umpired in the Border Belt league near his home town, Whiteville. Curt Bovender and Bud Kimball attended Sumer School and played soft ball in Winston-Salem. Big Ed Suetta, basketball star, played in a name band which toured the northern part of this country. Co-captain elect, Bruce Bailey, showed he still had something left in his pitching arm by winning three games for the strong Fritz baseball team in the Winston-Salem semi-pro league. Tommy Kellam and Taylor Greene were life guards in High Point and Asheville respectively. E. Ray Burleson and Don Hooper both worked as grocery boys during the summer, while Fred Darke is expecting a great year in intramural basketball as he has been practicing all summer. Leonard Hunt must be lost without his great pal, "Hairs." Bud Kimball, who was injured in our opening game against Western Carolina, will be ready to play this week against the Catawba Indians. "Bud" is the H. P. C. regular right tackle. More encouraging news-Dave Cheadle is back in school, but we hear Dave will be wed soon. Dave played here in 1946. and his presence in the lineup against Catawba will help the colors of H. P. C. Pete Hotis, half-back from Long Island, can be found wherever good coffee is served. At the top of the leading football scorers in the state we find "Face" Evans, Elmer Powers, and Don Meekins finished up the baseball season with High Point Weaving in the High Point Industrial League. Henry Maddux and Jake Steele are keeping the tennis courts busy with their play. They are getting in shape for the coming season.

Remember, if you can't play a sport; be a sport and "come one, come all," to the game tonight against the Catawba Indians.

Our Motto for tonight's game is "IT'S DUE."

Jay Vees Downed

Coach Dickerson took the Jay Vees to play Augusta Military Academy in Fort Deliance, Virginia Saturday, October 1, 1949. The hosts were not good ones, for they defeated our "Kittens" by a 20-8 score. Pete Hotis and Joe Harrell played good ball in the backfield, as did Gene Palko, Dave Cheadle, Bob Robinson, and Jim Fisher in the line. Bad breaks led to our defeat as we fumbled numerous times in our territory. The game, however, gave needed experience to several freshmen and sophomores whom Coach James and Coach McCurry are banking on to help High Point College in future games. The junior varsity played Catawba junior varsity at Catawba Thursday p.m. and I'll give you an account of this game in the next issue.

Above is a picture of the 1949 Panthers and Coaches. The mighty Panthers will be seen in action tonight at eight

Kimball and McGhee Will Play Tonight

Old Man Average will be on hand tonight when the Indians invade the lair of the Panthers. This is the thirteenth annual clash and the Indians have scalped the Panthers in all previous engagements.

Coach James has been holding light work-outs all this week stressing a defensive game. Monday and Tuesday were devoted to light drills in order that the Panthers could effect their timing on play from the tricky "T" formation. The team will be up to par both mentally and physically, and will receive the big boost when "Bud" Kimball and Tom McGhee, right tackle and fullback respectively, again don the purple and white in tonight's game.

Catawba suffered its first loss last Saturday by a 14-0 beating by Wofford. This was the first time in 89 games that Catawba has failed to come out of the game without crossing her opponent's goal.

In order to come out of the game victorious, the Panthers will have to stop Brewer and Coble, backfield aces, and Gardner, linesman, as these boys have led the Indians in games played thus far this season.

Catawba's Indians are holders of more North State Conference titles than any other school in the Conference. Therefore, there is no doubt that the Indians will be coming here to keep this record, but, of course our boys have a different story in mind for them, as will be seen in tonight's game.

Last year the Panthers, as you may remember, thought they had the game well in hand. They took an early lead of 7-0 in the first half by playing an exciting and impressive game, but in the last half, it was a different story. The Indians came back and won the game by a 27-7 victory.

As far as our injuries go, everyone is and will be, in tip-top shape. Bill Lloyd's injured ankle is fit as a fiddle, and he will be in there for tonight's game.

The football players worked with intense efforts in order to be ready for this important North State Conference contest. Last night the players left the dance at 10:30 in order to get a good night's rest. If they can sacrifice, the student body can, too, by getting out to the stadium tonight and showing the team with their cheers and wholehearted enthusiastic support that their efforts are not in vain.

Remember the slogan for tonight's game: "We can, We Must, We Will!"

Intramurals To Begin Play Next Tuesday

Intramural football is slated to start next Tuesday for the nine teams that have signed to play.

A meeting was held in Mr. Paschel's office this week with the captains of each team. At this meeting they set up the rules and regulations for the games. The first of these are to start next Tuesday with EHO playing the Rebels. On Wednesday Penny Hall is playing host to the Bloody Buzzards.

These games will be played each week until each team has played the others. It will be eight man touch football. In all there are thirty-six (36) games to be played.

The following is a list of the teams:

1. EHO
2. Parsons
3. ITK
4. Rebels
5. Penney Hall
6. Bloody Buzzards
7. DBA
8. NDM
9. Shmoos

Panthers Lose Two-Win One With The Coaches And The Team

By Jimmy Huffstetler

Football season started this year with High Point College's Purple Panthers on the road meeting Western Carolina Teacher's College in Asheville, N. C.

The squad arrived in Asheville, former home of Coach Ralph James, in good shape, having put in three full weeks of hard work on the practice field. At the outset, the game was moving rapidly with the Panthers as the aggressors. However, late in the first quarter the tables were turned when Kimball, a hard charging tackle, sustained an injury which benched him for the remainder of the game. This big loss in the Panther line slowed them down to a mere crawl. Bad breaks, fumbles, and injuries crippled the attack necessitating a defensive game for the Panthers. The only score for the college eleven was made by Tom McGhee with Face Evans making the extra point. Max Morgan, Curt Bovender, and Co-Captain Baily played outstanding ball for the greater part of the game. With a fighting spirit, the game was lost to W. C. T. C. by a score of 20-7.

Second on the schedule was the game at Newberry, South Carolina. The game began with the Panthers taking the ball on their own 9 yard line and carrying it back to the Newberry Indians' 20 yard line, where the ball was lost on a fumble. The Panthers played a good game elsewhere by racking up 15 first downs to their opponents 12.

Ollie Gondoli, Tom McGhee, and Curt McDonald, highstepping backfield men, played outstanding ball for the Panthers. Hank Witt, a triple threat tailback for the Newberry Indians, did most of the tossing. His best receiver was Billy Seigler. Witt counted for two of Newberry's touchdowns, while Seigler scooped the others.

Newberry played a shifting defense which confused the Panthers early in the contest; however, later in the game the Panthers began to move the ball with more ease. Newberry Indians won the game 25-0.

On September 29 the Panthers set a new scoring record in the North State Conference by defeating Pope Field Air Base 107-0. The soldiers had a very light line averaging only 160 pounds to the man. At the end of the first half when the score was 53-0, Coach James had the first string go to the showers. At the end of the third quarter, Coach James had the second string go to the showers. During the whole game Coach James played the first and second strings for a total of only 12 minutes. Coach James realized during the first minutes of the game that the Pope Field eleven was very inexperienced, and therefore gave orders to his boys not to run over two plays and use passes the greater part of the game.

The team responded with passes but alas, Pope Field had no passing defense and hence the reason for the huge score. There has been some criticism attached to the team playing a push-over like Pope Field, but the true facts are that a better contender, through adverse criticism, was lost from the schedule last year and, therefore, an open date was left.

With this we bring you up to date as we have seen it with the Panthers. We hope that we will see you at the game tonight. Remember that kick off time is set for 8 o'clock. Don't forget IT'S DUE!

Head Coach Ralph James is starting his fifth year at the helm of High Point Panthers' grid machine. Before accepting his present position, he was Athletic Director and Coach at Asheville High School. His post-war record is an imposing won-lost mark of 22-11. A former football star with Wake Forest in the late '20's, James still calls Asheville his home.

Assistant Coach Don McCurry has been a student under James at Asheville High and High Point where he was graduated early in 1949. McCurry will coach the linemen and is well qualified for the post. He played guard for the Panthers for three seasons.

Assistant Coach Curley Dickerson, like McCurry, was signed only this year and is handling the Panther Jayvee team. Dickerson is a former State College grid star in the years of Doc Newton's stay there. More recently, he was football coach at Liberty High School.

When the season opened, Coach James came out with the "T". The Panthers are lighter but faster this year. Experience was needed since the new "T" was installed and now that the team has been under fire it has acquired experience. Opponents will not find the Panthers an easy touch from here on out.

Of the 18 lettermen, only six are Seniors. A dozen players moved up from the Junior Varsity and a good crop just started out as Freshmen. The Panthers can be tagged as a team on the way up and still a year away.

One look at the schedule for this year is enough to convince anyone that the schedule is tougher this year than last. Two rugged South Carolina non-conference foes show up on the schedule for the first time. The two teams, Wofford and Newberry, were added while two lesser foes were dropped. The teams dropped, Norfolk Navy and Atlantic Christian, were soundly walloped by the Panthers last year. The schedule is tough and the only breather was the game with Pope Field. If you want to see good rugged games, don't miss the schedule from here on out.

News Of The Greeks

Sigma Alpha Phi

In 1928 Mrs. Ben H. Hill became the first honorary member and advisor for Sigma Alpha Phi Sorority. Mrs. Herman E. Coble was one of the charter members. The first year there were eight members with Bessie Redwine the first president. After a very successful year the sorority starts this year with many and varied plans. In the beginning the sorority was limited to two social events a year, the banquet being held in the dormitory and the spring picnic held off campus with many, many chapters. This year plans are being made for "rush week" and other social events that are now annual affairs.

The first pin of the sorority was made of three gold Greek letters. The center letter was set in small white pearls with the middle stone blue to carry out the blue and gold, colors of the sorority. The pins now are small gold shields surrounded by pearls with a chain connecting the three gold Greek letters.

Other than plans for "rush week," Sigma Alpha Phi is giving to the library a set of Rudyard Kipling's books. True to tradition the girls will ride in the Homecoming parade.

The officers for the year are Bennie Jo Davis of Charlotte, N. C., president; and representative to the Pan-Hellenic Council which recognizes the sorority; Kathryn Hunter of Wilmington, N. C., vice-president; Joyce Mills of Ararat, N. C. secretary; and Betty Jane Gibbs of Burlington, N. C., treasurer. Miss Vera Idol and Dr. Helen Bartlett are the faculty advisors.

D. A. E.

Beginning the twentieth consecutive year on the campus of High Point College, the D. A. E. Fraternity held their first meeting of the year on September 26. The officers for the coming year are Harold Summa, President; Ray Shore, Vice-President; and Charles Casey, Secretary and Treasurer.

Plans are now in progress for "rush week," after which the total membership will be thirty-five members. The social events scheduled are being planned with one supreme purpose: To make this, the twentieth anniversary year, the most successful in the history of the D. A. E. Fraternity

Theta Phi

After losing five girls at graduation last year, the present members of the sorority are Gloria Foust, Ruby Workman and Doris Nance all of High Point. The honorary members are "Lovel" Adams and Ruth Steelman. A dinner meeting will be held this week at the Quaker House in Guilford College to make final plans for "rush week" which starts October 10th.

This past summer the sorority had a houseparty at Windy Hill Beach in honor of their graduates. Girls present with their dates were Jean Sexton, Doris Pickler, Jane Matthews, Ovida Lineberger, Doris Nance, Ruby Workman, and Gloria Foust. Miss Adams, Miss Steelman, and Miss Lohr accompanied the party. A wonderful time was had by all!

Alpha Theta Psi

Beginning in 1929, the Alpha Theta Psi Sorority is a Day Student Sorority, but several years ago the constitution was amended to include dormitory girls. Plans are being made for "rush week" and other social events. The present members are: Betty Auman, president; Bertha Lowe, vice-president; Romona Rhodes, treasurer; and Anne Stuart, secretary; all of High Point. The honorary members are Mrs. White, Mrs. Hinshaw, Miss Fields, Miss Gorman and Miss Lillie Mae Moore.

E. H. O.

The Epsilon Eta Phi Fraternity was, chartered in 1927. Professor H. E. Coble, now of the Education Department, and one of the first graduates of the college, was a charter member of the fraternity.

Primarily a social organization, the E. H. O. strives to build school spirit and the bond of brotherhood among its members in addition to its social events. At the present time, feeling the pinch of financial strain, E. H. O. is sponsoring the sale of peanuts at the college and high school football games.

I. T. K.

Iota Tau Kappa Fraternity has been on High Point College Campus for many years. Each year members of the fraternity look forward to the activities which they will take part in during the year. Some of the activities for this year include entering a float in the Homecoming Parade, "rush week" festivities, participating in Intra-mural sports and the annual banquet and dance.

Plans are now in progress for a party with the Sigma Alpha Phi Sorority who are "sisters" to the I. T. K. Fraternity. By selling popcorn at the football games, the fraternity is attempting to make financial gains.

The officers of the fraternity are Bill Elmore, President; Loyd Pardue, vice-president; Thomas McCoy, secretary and treasurer. Other members are Charles Bragg, Uray Brower, Herman Deaton, Oliver Hauser, Harold Hutchinson, Lawrence Langley, Paul Maydian, Jack Powell, Loyd Pardue and Lester Deal.

E. P. O.

E. P. O. is a new organization of High Point College Campus. The officers are: president, Paul Pryor, from Woonsocket R. I.; Eugene Polko, vice president, from Dunmore, Penn.; Ed. Sueta, secretary, from Erie, Penn.; and Joe Inman, treasurer, from Whiteville, N. C.

The old members are: John Czarnecki, Poland; Jack Klein, Wilkes-Barre, Penn.; Fred Darke, Durham, N. C.; Don Hooper, High Point, N. C.; Max Morgan, Ashboro, N. C.; C. L. Kimball, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Leonard Hunt, Fountain City, Indiana; Pete Hotis, Baldwin, L. I.

The new members include Albert Casey, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Ed Austin, Gastonia, N. C.; Mac Underwood, Gastonia, N. C.; Art Nicholas, Wyoming, Penn.; Charley Jones, High Point, N. C.; Don Supoe, St. Paul, Va.

Their plans for the year include an intra-mural program, and an

Humanity, Medicine And Healing Society

The H M H Pre-Medical and Pre-Dental organization of High Point College was formed in September, 1948, after much planning and time devoted to the drawing up of its Constitution and By Laws. The letters H M H are significant of humanity, medicine, and healing. The organization is dedicated to the future doctors and dentists who are today at work in the classrooms and laboratories on our college campus. The ultimate aim of this organization is to help better qualify its members for their future in the medical field.

The organization plans to carry on a very extensive educational program in the future. The program will include speakers who are well known in the medical field and films on various medical problems in the United States. We, the members of H M H, dedicate our lives to humanity and the advancement of civilization.

Officers: President, Paul B. Proctor; Vice President, William Queen; Secretary, J. E. Sink; Treasurer, Fred H. Walker.

Faculty Advisers: Dr. Ben H. Hill, Prof. J. H. Mourane.

Board of Directors: Edwin Auman, Luther Shatterly, Morris Gunn.

Committees: Guidance, Sports, Program, Publicity, and Special Projects; Present Members: Ed. Auman, Lee Bridges Fletcher Causey, George Clark, Taran Jones, Lee W. Dean, Jack McGowan, Paul Proctor, William Queen, J. E. Sink, John Thompson, Fred H. Walker, Fred Wanpler and Arnold Medlin.

H M H expects 15 new members this school year.

interesting social life for their members.

They are planning to have a float in the Homecoming Parade. Their candidate for Home-Coming Queen is Rynne Allen.

Future Teachers Of America

The Future Teachers of America is a branch of the National Education Association and a member of the North Carolina Education Association. It is the purpose of the F. T. A. to acquaint people who are interested in the teaching profession with what is going on within the profession.

One of the big jobs of the F. T. A. is to keep before the public the growing need for federal aid to education. Last May the Senate of the United States passed the Federal Aid to Education Act of 1949. When this bill went to the House of Representatives, it was turned over to the Committee on Education and Labor where it still remains.

One of the members of the opposition to the bill is Mr. Graham Borden of New Bern, North Carolina. Mr. Borden has presented to the committee a bill of his own writing which has met with a most unfavorable reaction, and has caused the whole issue to become a religious debate.

The most important thing for the public to remember is that this bill is not a religious bill but a bill for education that will have a great effect on the children of our country.

In the event that the Senate Bill for Federal Aid for Education is passed, North Carolina will receive $21,000,000, which would go a long way toward improvement in education in this state.

I urge everyone that is interested in the teaching profession to join the Future Teachers of America, and join the fight for better educational and professional standards in our State and Country.

Religious Ed. Club

The Religious Education Club, composed of girls who are interested in Religious Education, has had two meetings this year. At the first meeting the club welcomed new members with a worship program and recreation.

The new committees were appointed and confirmed at the second meeting and work for the semester was planned. The committee chairmen are as follows: favors, Annette Broome; program, Lois Kreienbaum; social, Betty Spearman; vespers, Olivia Raper; rose, Tate Foust and seminar typing, Betty Mellard. The officers directing the work for the club are the following: president Charmione Rose; vice-president, Lois Kreienbaum; secretary, Iris Williams; treasurer, Lucille Craver and Christian Student Council representative, Mildred Parrish.

Again this year the club plans to make favors for the sanatorium and plan vesper programs for Woman's Hall on Thursday nights. The club meets every Wednesday night and all girls interested in what the club plans to do are invited to attend.

Home-Coming Game

Students, your team is depending upon you for your wholehearted support. Put on an extra sweater and keep that voice pitched loud for the most important game of the season. Your job is in the grandstand cheering your team on to victory. We will be seeing you at the game.

Boys Outnumber Girls Five To One

New Marshalls Installed Tuesday

Thirteen new marshalls, selected by the faculty, were installed at Assembly Tuesday, October 18. Dr. Hinshaw, who conducted the installation, stressed the importance of the marshalls' job and the duties thereof.

Old marshalls were Percy Payne, Thomas Kellam, Henry Maddux, Robert Marley, Arnold Medlin, William Marley, Betty Auman, Charmione Rose, Elizabeth Spearman, Ann Stewart, and Clairene Gunn. New marshalls are Ed Auman, Bill Black, Curt Bovender, Owen Fitzgerald, Joe Flythe, Bob McKenzie, Frank Von Drehle, Betty Jane Gibbs, Joyce Mills, Doris Nance, Ruby Workman, and Charles Payne.

Percy Payne made a farewell speech thanking the student body for their cooperation and presented his sash of office to Ed Auman. Auman expressed his appreciation for the honor and pledged to do a good job.

Rev. Arthur Kale Speaks In Assembly

Rev. Arthur Kale, newly appointed pastor of Wesley Memorial Church, High Point, spoke in Assembly Tuesday, October 11, on "Confessions of an American."

As an introduction, Rev. Kale asked the question, "What is made in America?"

To explain, he said, "Mischievous is made in America. From Hollywood has come the idea that it matters little what we do as long as we do not get caught. We must plead guilty to a nation of people who have degenerated in their obedience of the law."

"Men are made in America," continued Rev. Kale. "In the home, the community, and the college are made men who know; men who can pass tests. They are men of vision who are alert and imaginative and can see beyond our present goal into the future. Today, we are facing a new era that will try every citizen as no period has ever tried us before in our history. We are able to meet problems."

In conclusion, Rev. Kale said, "May each of us be able to confess in a personal way: I have been made in America."

International Relations Club Reveals Plans

The International Relations Club has held two meetings this semester. Officers have been elected to serve this year. Dr. Deskins was elected to be sponsor again with Dr. Bartlett and Mr. Ridenhour acting as co-sponsors.

Herman Coble, program chairman, has great plans for the club this year. He has speakers coming from various places to tell the members of the club what is going on in the countries throughout the world. Programs of a varied nature will be given during the year.

Margaret Southerland, social chairman, has already started plans for social activities. Not only does the club plan an interesting program in the line of international affairs, but also a well rounded social program.

Membership in the club is open to all students on the Campus. Everyone is welcome.

Mr. and Miss Future Teachers of America To Be Selected Soon

Plans for a statewide program to select a Mr. and Miss Future Teacher of America were formulated at a Future Teachers of America meeting held in Winston-Salem October 13.

A committee consisting of Mrs. Edwards, Executive Secretary of North Carolina Education Association; Dr. Hillman of the Certification Commission; Dr. Clark, Professor of Education at the University of North Carolina; Dr. Bailey, Head of the Department of Education at Guilford College; Dr. Elizabeth Welch, State Advisor of F. T. A., Salem College; Miss Beverley Johnson, State President of F. T. A., Salem College, and Donald R. Lakin, State Secretary of F. T. A., High Point College, was appointed to conduct this program.

On November 1, this committee will meet with members of the Department of Education and student representatives from twenty-two colleges in North Carolina at Raleigh to set up the criteria for the selection of the most outstanding practicing teachers. The persons selected will be presented before the State Convention of the N. C. Education Association to be held March 9-11 at Raleigh.

It is hoped that all students will have some part in the selection of students for the honor. Candidates will be selected on the basis of scholastic qualifications, character, personal appearance, appraisal of their practice teaching, and general adaptability to college and social life.

M. S. F. Opens Drive To Support War Child

An extensive project to adopt the expenses of an underprivileged war child in one of the devastated countries of Europe has been undertaken by the campus Methodist Fellowship. A campaign for funds was launched early this week.

This program, which is called the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, has spread throughout the country. A great number of eminent people, among whom are President Truman, several senators, and popular movie stars, have accepted the responsibility of one or more of these deprived children.

The child who has never known a normal environment will be provided quantities of food, clothing, education, books, some medical care, and training in the religion in which he was born. For these services each sponsor sends a minimum of $180 which will adequately supply these needs for one year.

Owen Fitzgerald, President of the group, who presided at the meeting Thursday night, October 20, urged all Methodists and any other persons who are interested to make their pledges as liberal and as quickly as possible in order that the money may be sent promptly.

For the purpose of good relations and better fellowship, several members of M. S. F. presented a program to the Wesley Foundation on the campus at Woman's College in Greensboro. In turn, a group from Woman's College will come to our campus on November 3 to give a program. These programs are open to all who wish to participate.

Halloween Carnival Wednesday Night

Witches and goblins will be imported to High Point College campus with the usual fanfare accorded these mystic characters Wednesday night, October 26. Harrison Gymnasium will be the scene of a Halloween Carnival being sponsored by the college fraternities and sororities, and directed by Mrs. Paschel.

Tentative plans are under way for the setting up of the following booths: Chances on Watch and Roulette, E. P. O.; Portrait Sketching and Home Made Candy, Sigma Alpha Phi; Fortune Telling, D. B. A.; Apple Bobbing and Darts, N. D. M.; Taxi Dancing and Ball Throwing, Tennis Club; Fishing and Auction Sale, Religious Education Club; Pictures, Zenith; Bingo, Theta Phi; Crazy House, W. A. A.; and Food and Drinks, Block "H" Club. I. T. K. E. H. O., and the Ministerial Association will also have booths.

Students and faculty are cordially invited to attend this traditional celebration. There will be no admission charge. Your attendance will aid the fraternities and sororities financially as well as furnishing you with an evening of hilarious entertainment.

Dr. Cooke Co-Author Of New Child's Book

"A Child's Use of Number" is the title of a new book by Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, President of High Point College, written in collaboration with Mr. Virgil S. Mallory, Head of Department of Mathematics and Instructor in the Demonstration School, State Teachers College, Montclair, New Jersey, and Miss Esther F. Taylor, Primary Teacher, Denver Public Schools.

A bright yellow cover featuring the figures of a small boy and girl and the numbers one through nine in red and blue makes this book attractive to young children. This book begins with the chapter, "We Learn to Count," and ends with, "Using Numbers is Fun." Each page has interesting color illustrations helpful to the child in learning his numbers.

CHAPEL SCHEDULE

October 25—A play will be presented by the Dramatics Class under the direction of Miss Frances Baber.

November 1—Dr. A. I. Newlin, Professor of History of Guilford College, who has just returned from Geneva, Switzerland, will speak on the subject "How the World Looks from Geneva."

November 8—Rev. Kenneth Goodson, pastor of the First Methodist Church of High Point will bring a patriotic message on "What I Like About America" in connection with Armistice Day.

November 15—A musical program by the Madrigal Singers will be given under the direction of Mr. Wood.

November 22—A worship program given on the theme "Thanksgiving."

November 29—Mr. Alvin Wingfield, Jr., of Raleigh, will speak on the subject "Russia In The Present World Situation."

December 6—Student Government will present a program concerning student life.

December 13—A program of Christmas music by the college choir.

January 10, 1950—Mr. George Matthews, a famous negro baritone, will present a program of music.

In case any scheduled program fails to materialize the chapel committee will present a substitute.

Baby Panthers Lose

Coach Dickerson took the "Baby Panthers" to play the Catawba Jay-Vees on October 6 on a rain-soaked field in a steady falling rain. Score 12-6.

The "Baby Panthers" are coming along fine and should give additional strength to the regular squad next season. Outstanding linemen for the Baby Panthers are Gene Palko, Tom Mixon, Wiley Clary, and Jim Fisher. Backfield players to watch are Keith Mobley, Dayton Crews, Joe Inman, and Joe Hamell.

The Jay-Vees have two more games on their schedule, one with Elon College, and the other with Guilford College.

"La Tertulia" Club Holds Initial Meeting

Professor J. H. Allred's home was the scene of the first meeting of the High Point College Spanish Club on October 4th, at 7:30 in the evening. At the beginning of the business meeting, Professor Allred read and explained to the group the constitution and by-laws of the Club. This was done in order that the potential members of the Club might understand the organization and purposes of the club. Following the reading, Don Jones was elected President for the coming year. It was decided that the vice-president and secretary-treasurer would be left vacant until action could be taken at the next meeting. Following the business session an informal conversation was conducted in Spanish during which Mrs. J. H. Allred served refreshments. Old members present were: Professor Allred, Dr. Driver, Dr. Hill, Professor Yarborough, and Glen Morton. Candidates for membership who were invited to attend were: Jessie Hill, John Czarnecki, Dorothy Montgomery, Earl Howell, Richard Cross, and Ray Argas who is a new student on the campus, from Cuba. Future meetings will be held the second and fourth Monday nights in each month, with the next meeting being held in the Club Room of Woman's Hall.

Zenith Staff To Make Yearbook Pictures

Students are advised that pictures for the Zenith Yearbook will be made from October 24 to October 28 in the basement of Woman's Hall.

Underclassmen girls are requested to wear short sleeve sweaters in pastel colors with pearls. The boys of all classes will wear coats and ties. Seniors will be furnished drapes for these pictures.

All organizations are reminded to be on time for group pictures. The charges for outside pictures will be $1.00; for inside group pictures, $1.50.

Students are requested to bring $1.00 for the photograph. The schedule will be posted on the bulletin board.

Enrollment Shows Slight Decrease

Registration for the first semester this year, although a slight decrease from last year's enrollment, has now reached 748. The total picture is a varied and interesting one.

Although all over the country there has been a definite decrease in enrollment in the institutions of higher learning, High Point College has only 48 fewer students than for the same period last year. General predictions are that this year will see the peak enrollment of veterans with a steady decline in future years. However, High Point College has only 27 fewer veterans this semester than for the Fall Semester of 1948.

Male students outnumber female students this year five to one. The students by classes are as follows: Freshmen, 243; Sophomores, 168; Juniors, 182; Seniors, 138. There are 17 special students and 10 post-graduates.

North Carolina shows the majority number of students having 707 on campus. Virginia contributes 8; New York, 6; Pennsylvania, 5; South Carolina, 4; Florida, 3; Indiana, 3; Georgia, 2; New Jersey, 2; Maryland, 2; Alabama, 1; Washington, D. C., 1; Rhode Island, 1; and Tennessee, 1. Cuba and Poland furnished one student each.

Sixteen denominations are represented on campus. Methodists rank first with a total of 353, the Baptists second with 168.

New members added to the faculty are Mr. David W. Braithwaite, Mr. Donald McCurry, and Mr. Richard Dale. Mr. Pettit succeeds Mr. Harville in the cafeteria.

Mr. Barthwaite is a native of Lakeside, Ohio. He received his B. S. Degree from Ohio State University. Mr. Braithwaite is a member of the Business Administration staff. He is supervisor at Penny Hall where he is residing.

Mr. Dale, native of Denver, Colorado, received his B. S. Degree from Cornell University and his M. A. from Buffalo University. Mr. Dale is also connected with the Business Administration department.

Mr. Pettit is a former Navy man with twenty-five years service as Chief Cook and Chief Commissary man. He served aboard the President's yacht, the Mayflower, when Mr. Calvin Coolidge was in office. Mr. Pettit assumed his duties on September 1 of this year.

Since becoming Editor, I have been approached time and again with requests to gripe, plug, or pan something or somebody. At this time I would like to make it plain to all concerned that I have no idea of taking up their personal problems and airing them. Improvements are needed and certainly everyone is desirous of building the school and as progress is made certain basic improvements will be in order. As Editor I am interested in promoting a strong spirit among the students and also assist in promoting a greater High Point College. Our Motto this year must not be all for one, but one for all. In order to do this we must all pull together and work for a common goal. The HI-PO is a student publication, dedicated to the thoughts and problems of the students; therefore, if you have a problem or if you believe that a change is in order a letter from you will bring these facts to the attention of the student body. Letters of your opinions are welcome. The letter must be of reasonable length and if criticism is offered, it must be constructive. In order to be printed the letter must be signed; and the writers signature will be shown. Personal letters as to the improvement of the paper will be welcomed because the students have the right to receive a paper that will be interesting to them.

At the Catawba game the student body demonstrated that school spirit is not lacking this year. The students are more than willing to give moral support to the team. This spirit must not be allowed to die, the flame needs to be constantly stirred. In the daily routines of school life this flaming spirit will be kept alive by the leaders of each organization. At the games the weight will fall on the shoulders of the Cheerleaders. At the games they are the leaders and the mantle of leadership is draped around their shoulders.

By their constant yells and display of energy it will incite the student body to a rousing crescendo. The Cheerleaders have gone to a lot of trouble to write out some new yells and these yells will be passed out to the student body so they may learn and follow the Cheerleaders through four grilling quarters. Lets all go to the game and assist the Cheerleaders in making a loud noise. Many compliments have been bestowed upon the student body for their support in the last home game. A compliment that we can all be very proud of was bestowed by Coach James and the whole football team. Coach James stated that it was the greatest display of Student Spirit that he had witness, in his five years of coaching at High Point College. Several of the players have stated that the yells gave them a little more courage and lifted their spirits just a little higher as they trotted onto the field. Now that the Students have demonstrated what can be done, lets all carry it just a few more steps and do better. On Saturday morning the players will be battered and sore from the game; the students throat should be battered and sore at the same time. If each individual will do his part others will follow. Watch the Cheerleaders and follow them because they are willing and ready to go

“Wha’ Happened”

By Jean Kerr

Well, the chant has about died down, and topics for conversation are becoming fewer and fewer, so it must be about that time—time for another Hi-Po and time for another “Wha’ Hoppended,” so stick around, and read all about what you’ve been doing.

The love bug must have transferred to some other school, or maybe the new romances just aren’t as noticeable as they were the first of the year. Anyway someone told someone that Jack Klein just didn’t like these Southern Women, but there are some Southern Women who wish he would change his mind. Nope, can’t mention names—it’s just too dangerous.

Wanna’ know a secret? Last time this column was written “Ace” Cartwright told me who was who, but he didn’t mention a thing about “Ace” Cartwright. Since that time “Ace” has been a frequent visitor to the girl’s dorm. Who is she? Why none other than Bonnie “Goldilocks” Crawford.

Joe Inman has “Georgia on his mind.” She’s a little “Southern Belle” from W. C. by name of Ellen, and from what we hear she’s stole his heart away.

Bill Smith just couldn’t decide who it was that he had a crush on, so last week-end he started on an expedition to find out, and from what we hear it’s Ruth Cook. Right Bill?

Maybe it’s because—that Johnny Hinton is all for going over toward Salisbury, N. C. Can’t think of a better reason right off hand, but bet Johnny could.

Some of the boys thought this column just wouldn’t be complete without mentioning something about “Hoggy” not caring to go in Jeff’s so much anymore, since the “Asheville Bombshell,” Della, doesn’t work there anymore but “Hoggy” says that he really didn’t care a thing about Della, so it wouldn’t be fair to mention it, would it?

Bill Loyd managed to stay out of this column about as well as he managed to stay out of the chapel program Tuesday—He just wasn’t there, but that’s because no one can tell you a thing about Bill except that he’s a “good ole boy.” With this I close.

Joanne Grimes must have quite a few admirers. Sometimes it’s

L. P., sometimes it’s someone else, and someone said it was that tall Duncan Redditt from Sanford. Just have to wait and see, I guess.

Flash: At least this is a flash from what everyone is saying. It seems Truman Farrell and Mildred Parrish went steady last year, and after all these weeks, they are dating again!

Have you all heard? Gregg Meh-rige has been called everything from “goodlooking” right on up by his female admirers, but for some reason Gregg hasn’t been over this way too often. Have to look into that won’t we, Sarah?

Something new has been added. “Chick” has been datin, Emily Badgett, and Bill Marley has been dating Pat Sides. First date: Lenior Rhyne game. Much fun!

One of the steadiest steadies on the campus is that of Pat McDougle, and “Ossie” Osteen. They’re both from Black Mountain, and were going steady even before they came to H. P. C.

Let’s see. It was last Wednesday night that Jimmy Huffstetler and Ronald Smith went over to W. C. to date some girls. Well, these carnosvas almost ended up washing dishes. Any of you boys who are interested in knowing how to get out of a predicament like this one, just ask either Ronald or Jimmy. Experience, you know!

Many interesting things have happened since the last Hi-Po came out. The homecoming dance was fine and there were many imported dates. The music was fine and Shep Fields said that it was one of the nicest dances he had ever played for, which is a great compliment to all of the students attending the dance. Of course, there were the Catawba and the Lenior-Rhyne games, in which High Point really played well. All you students come on out tonight and give the team and the cheerleaders your best support; High Point oughta beat Appalachain. As the old saying goes now, “It’s Overdue.”

Seen around the campus—Imogene Lewis with Dennis Ricks, Charmione Rose with Chester Brown, Ray Shore with Joyce Latin, Dot Davis with Zack Anderson, and Betty Anne Barbour with Bobby Woods, so you see some people are still dating.

Mountain Love

By Jean Kerr

You would have never guessed that he was the best looking boy in the hills of the Blue Ridge, but nevertheless, he was, and this was to be one of the most important days of his life. He shinned his Sunday brogans until the top two layers of mud was off of them, put on the clean shirt that his ma had washed for him just two monthths before, put on his clean “overhauls,” and drug his best bowtie out from under his bed and tied it just so. His ma gave him a big cake of homemade soap because this was to be such a special occasion. The lad scrubbed off some of that good ole mountain dirt and then gave his buck teeth a good going over with the corner of his big red handkerchief. He was all ready. His ma walked to the door of their one room cabin to watch her son climb upon their tired old mule and jog down the rocky trail. A tear rooled down her cheek and she chewed harder on her corn-cob-pipe. What if “Mountain Mabel” should turn him down.

By now the boy had reached the home of “Mountain Mabel,” the most sought after gal in the hills. She walked demurely out to meet him in her gingham dress. Her red hair was stringing down her back and her watery blue eyes looked appealing to him. As he climbed from his faithful mule she scrubbed her bare feet around in the mud, watching him adoringly.

They walked hand in hand out to their favorite spot, taking the trail down between the hog pens.

Hunsucker, who is going down this week-end to date Ferb Baldwin for the Wake Forest homecoming game. A glamorous, amorous, week-end.

There seems to be twice as much news this week as space so here are a few incidentals around campus: Paul Pryor, that siv footer from Rhode Island and a certain girl have been seen frequently at the bookstore, Pat McNeill has been flooded with letters from Wilbur, Louise Bailey is simply wild about that “Senator” Frank Graham, Fred Rogers and Jean Colson are still steadies, Eob McKinsey, (The one who sees all my

The mountain moon was shining brightly. The two looked at each other a while. She twiddled with her bright sash, and it was then that he asked that all important question, of course, it came as a surprise to her. She had known all along that he liked her but she never guessed he was so serious. What could she say? She didn’t know what to say, so she said she would run back to the house and ask her pa. The lanky mountain boy waited nervously for her reply, and then he saw her galloping back down the trail like a young cow. Pa had said “yes.” How could two people be so happy? She gave him her reply breathlessly. “Pa said yes, Jude, so I say yes too.” This was it! The mountain boy just said “Gawrsh, honey, do you mean I can really kiss you good-night?”

Now just remember if you saw your name in this column you don’t have a thing to worry about: If you didn’t you might wonder a little how you escaped, just like I’ll be doing after this comes out. The Students Center

By ANITA WITHERS

My class at the student center meets on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from two-thirty until four o’clock, and on Tuesdays and Thursdays from one-thirty until the same hour. While these hours are disagreeable in themselves as class hours, they are very pleasant to me. Since the classroom is usually well-filled, others must also think it worth the effort.

Several subjects can be learned here—bridge, ping pong, dancing, reading (magazines with pictures), and that great skill, conversation. I very nearly stated that we are taught these arts; the first rule of the house is, however, that no formal teaching is to take place. Fundamental duties of our teacher, or hostess, are to protect the furniture and hand out new ping pong balls.

Perhaps I should next describe our classroom. For our purpose we have found it advisable to group the chairs into fours, carefully leaving space for ping pong tables and dancing. While it has been demonstrated that cards can be played while the participants are sitting in ordinary school rooms, the practice was immediately voted down as being too suggestive of formal education. The black-board area has been cut up into windows for the convenience of those who wish to view the tennis courts or other landscape. The teacher’s desk is situated near the door at the back, while the ping pong tables take up the front space. The floor is well waxed for the dancing, and some of the chairs are comfortably padded for the convenience of the readers.

Chewing gum is encouraged, and the student is given entire freedom as to the amount of talking he will do. Music, from a “juke box,” of a relaxing nature is continuously played to complete the atmosphere.

Attendance is usually satisfying. There would be some difficulty in calling a roll, however, since both doors are left unguarded. These people are of various types: some are skillful in many of these activities and must gravitate from one group to the other; others confine their talents to one subject only.

There is only one disagreeable feature about this class—it carries with it no credit. Considering the time put in and the quality of the results, I feel that this is extremely unfair. Much hard work is done in this room—this is the very hardest work that many of its students perform. Certainly the faculty has simply overlooked the matter of credit. Some problem of policy has no doubt prevented the just settlement of the question. Possibly this is the fact that every department would claim that the class should be under its jurisdiction. Physical education, music, English, education, and speech would have direct cause for claim. Psychology, both abnormal and educational, would have a good case. After hearing the cries of “finesse” and “big slam” from the bridge table and the slang which comes from all corners, the foreign language department might feel well within its rights in organizing a new branch in modern language.

Sporting Around

By PAUL PRYOR

Today I'm going to take you far away from High Point to Texas where the All-American Doak Walker resides. Doak, S. M. U.'s All-American Halfback, was injured in last Saturday's game against Rice. Southern Methodist was leading 14-6 with Walker playing, but he was injured before the first half was over and without his capable services, Rice came back to bowl S. M. U. by a 41-27 score. This is my heartbreaker of last week's games.

President Cooke, our No. 1 rooster was in the stands last Saturday when Lenoir-Rhyne beat High Point 21-6. Dr. Cooke was hoarse after the game. Wonder why?

Joe Harrell, backfield, lineman, center, and manager was again on the injured list as just before the Lenoir-Rhyne game. Joe broke his nose. He will be out of action for several weeks.

Tom Mixon, another on our disabled list saw the Wake Forest-Carolina game and can give you all the highlights.

Any of you pipe smokers who think you have a collection better check K-7 before you brag too much. Gene Palko's collection tops any we've seen.

We hear from Al Kozischek, basketball and football player of last season. "Al" is working in Pittston, Pa., and planning to attend Mansfield State Teachers next semester.

Jerry Iscovitch, who decided to enter business rather than come back to school is getting in shape around home for the coming basketball season. Good luck from all your friends here at High Point College, Jerry. We'll miss you this season.

Ted Moran is in the insurance business, but we hope Ted hasn't hung up his gym shoes and that he'll be in action around H. P.

Hebron Coble, member of the soccer and basketball squads last season, was married recently and is now a teacher-coach in Pleasant Gardens High School.

Hope to see Tom McGee's knee better tonight so that he can play against the Mountaineers. Richard Ingram, basketball star at Allen Jay last season, has enrolled and is going out for basketball here at H. P. C. Glad to have you with us, "Dick."

George Erath, a minor league baseball player whose contract belongs to the Chicago Cubs is also here in school. We hear that George is good in basketball, too. He won 9 games for a second division club last season, so luck to you next season, George.

The officiating of last week's game in Hickory left much to be desired as on most of the plays the officials let Lenoir-Rhyne players call the penalties. Lets wake up ambitions and help the progress of the game.

Roger Carnie is a scout for some major league club as several saw him around Denton recently.

Remember our motto: "It's Over Due." Come on out tonight and support the team in its coming tilt with Appalachian.

Intramural Activities

The Parsons and Penny Hall started off the Intramural touch football league by playing to a 6-6 tie. For Penny Hall, Vic Strader, George Erath. Parsons-Wayne Shelton was outstanding.

158 participants are in the Intramural League. Mr. Paschal is the director. At the time of publication seven games have been played.

The Rebels defeated ITK 13-0. Don Jones and George Clark were standouts, for the Rebels while Bill Elmore, Deaton, and Footsee Owens played well for ITK.

Shmoos were defeated by NDM as Henry Maddux, Bob Draper, Merhige were standouts. For the Shmoos, John Czarnecki, Bill Collette and Gene Drill.

EHO 22-DBA 0. Whitey Allen stood above all others in this game as he led the EHO to a decisive win over the DBA's strong club.

The Parsons kept in the undefeated column by beating the "Rebels" 6-0, led by Capt. Wayne Shelton.

The Shmoos upset the favored Penny Hallers by 18-7. Ed Sueta, Gene Drill, and "Bull" Durham led the Shmoos to a victory over the heavy and more experienced Penny Hall aggregation.

ITK defeated DBA 8-0 in a game marked by a strong passing attack on the part of the ITK's. Bill Elmore and Herman Deaton starred.

Games are played each day at 4:00. There are 29 more games so plan on attending them. They are part of your college life.

Sporting Girls

"Inky"

So Henry Maddux thinks he can play tennis, does he? Well, he ought to be at the tennis court some afternoon about 2:30 and see that girl play. By that girl, I mean "Dot" Stone. Dot, who comes to us from Sanford, had never played tennis before entering Miss Arnette's tennis class; but from the looks of the situation we'd say she's a born "star." Tennis is not her only accomplishment. In high school Dot played basketball four the last year. Softball and volley ball are her other sports. And get a load of this! She drove a school bus two years. Now can any of you girls beat that?

By the way, Coach James, if you're looking for some good basketball players, you can stop. We've got 'em. The best guard (girl, that is) I've seen in these parts is Anita Cornelison. Anita played basketball with the Allen Jay team in high school. In 1947 she won a trophy as the outstanding girl player in Guilford County. She's an excellent player and yours truly should know since she's the gal Anita guarded in the tournament that year.

From a forwards point of view, red-haired Rosalie Kellis can't be beat. Rosie hails from Candor High School where she was captain of her team.

Have you been out to Franklin Field lately? We really have some sluggin' girls out there for softball practice. For instance, when Louise Bailey goes to bat, the fielders spread out. Louise comes from Old Ford School near Marian where she was a member of its softball team. Another girl who needs mentioning here is Valma Griggs. Although rather small, Valma, who attended Deep Creek School not far from Wadesboro, manages the bat well; and if there's any fielding to be done, she's the little girl who does the running. Marjorie Ingram does a good job of pitching. She's another one of those Allen Jay athletes. We hear that Kathleen Wade was an outstanding player of basketball and softball at Trinity

High School. From seeing her play softball, we'd say she's "tops."

What's this about Betty Edwards changing her major to physical ed? Could it be (1) because she won't have to take so much history (2) because Mr. Paschal gave her a "c" on a course last summer? Seriously though, we welcome you to our field.

Well, folks, that's all of the sporting girls for this time, but before going I'd like to leave this poem of W. A. A. with you: The football team:

"Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on through life,
I ask but a field that is fair,
A chance that is equal with all in the strife,

A courage to strive and to dare;
And if I should win, let it be by the code

With my faith and my honor held / high;

And if I should lose, let me stand by the road,

And cheer as the winners go by.

"And, Lord, may my shouts be ungrudging and clear,

A tribute that comes from the heart,

And let me not cherish a snarl or a sneer

Or play any sniveling part;
Let me say, "There they ride, on whom laurels bestow,

Since they played the game better than I."

Let me stand with a smile by the side of the road,

And cheer as the winners go by.

"So grant me to conquer, if conquer I can,

By proving my worth in the fray,
But teach me to lose like a regular man,

And not like a craven, I pray;
Let me take off my hat to the warriors who strode,

To victory splendid and high,
Yet teach me to stand by the side of the road

And cheer as the winners go by."

Basketball Practice

Coach Ralph James announced that basketball practice is under way and any student is welcome to try out for the varsity.

Three returning lettermen are on hand to lead the squad to a Conference Championship. They are Bill Waiz, "Ace" Cartwright, and Don Emblar. Moving up from the Junior Varsity are Bob Draper, Jesse Joyce, and Ed Sueta. Tom Kellan, Bob McCarron, and Duncan Redditt will don the tennis shoes as soon as they have hung up the cleats for the season. Newcomers to the team are Keith Mobley, Mick Candler, Richard Ingram, and Gregg Merhige.

With this strong aggregation the Panthers will be a team to reckon with when basketball season gets under way on November 26.

Two new opponents appear on the schedule this year. They are Hanes Knitters from Winston-Salem, and Erskine College from South Carolina. Both are strong clubs and will be worthy opponents to beat. Erskine College was the South Carolina champions last year and will be out to add laurels to their glorious record.

6. Charles Collins at Gastonia Red Shield Organization
7. Paul Brewer at High Point Red Shield Organization

All students are cordially invited to attend an outdoor meeting tonight at 8 P. M. and see demonstrated for themselves why the Panthers are still running wild in the Mountains.

The Panthers have yet to taste blood in the conference, but now that the team is experienced in the "T", they are ready to roll. In three quarters last weekend, the Panthers proved that they could not be denied any longer. Although the Panthers do not have a mathematical chance at the Conference title, they will see to it that no team will win the title at their expense from here on out.

Coach James and the boys were all very pleased over the student support in the home-coming game and they are expecting the same tonight. That extra yell gives the line a little more strength to push back a little farther. It gives the backfield a little more speed for a few extra yards.

The Mountaineers from Appalachian State Teachers College got off to a bad start by dropping two to Conference foes, but since then they have been moving along at a rapid pace and are now considered one of the toughest foes in the Conference. They will enter the game tonight as the favorites, but one look at the predictions this season will show that the favorites have a habit of getting beat, especially when the underdogs have just found themselves.

The Panther line has been outstanding in their last two games. Time and again the line has broken through and thrown the opposing bail carried for a loss. The outstanding linemen are Atwood, Kellam, Bailey, Kimball, Burleson, Bovender, and Hooper.

The quarterbacks, Frank Von Drehle and Curt McDonald are experienced and Von Drehle's passing is getting more accurate.

The rest of the backfield aces are Ilderton, Klein, and Lloyd.

Everyone is aware of the fact that the Panthers have sustained losses; everyone is also aware of the fact that our Chief Executive was whipped, but he was not down—NEITHER ARE THE PANTHERS. The mighty Panthers have been pushed into the corner and are now fighting mad. They will be fighting tonight, and with a little added support they can win. Where will that support come from? Where should it come from?

Students, you are that supporting arm. Show the Panthers that you want the victory. Yell until you are hoarse and then yell some more. Everybody plays—everybody wins. It's not eleven men out there on the field; it's 800 representatives of High Point College. The team needs you! Don't fail them! Be there at eight!

Dining Room Chatter

By JANTHIA GERRINGER

"Look out! Take cover! They're coming!"

This was Mr. Pettitt's warning as he opened the dining room door and jumped to the side. The waitresses hurried behind the counter and gazed astonishedly until what seemed like horses at the Kentucky Derby had passed.

"Ouch!" emitted a shrill voice. "For goodness sakes! Don't tell Bill."

In the rush Jo Baker had collided with a chair which had sent her sprawling to the floor. No one stopped to help her because everyone was trying to get to the front of the line. As it was 5:30, the waitresses began to serve the food; and the long line of people (It extended around the dining room and out the door.) started moving.

"Can I have some more potatoes?"

"Throw on the beans."

"How about another piece of meat?"

"Sorry," answered the waitress.

"I can only serve one piece tonight. Come back when the line ends."

"The h— with what you can do. I'm hungry."

About this time Mr. Pettitt, who, by the way, is a former navy officer, came behind the counter. The demanding customer needed only one look from him to know that he was to continue moving.

A small girl with black hair and blue eyes approached the coffee urn.

"Do you call that stuff coffee?" she asked.

"Sure it is," replied Edna.

"Well, it's so strong it'll probably take the filling out of my tooth," she unexpectedly retorted.

"Hey, where's your meal ticket?" asked Mr. Pettitt.

"I had it yesterday," answered Jean, "but I left it in my blouse pocket; and when I washed the blouse in the bendix, the ticket was torn to pieces."

"That's the best one I've heard yet," laughed Mr. Pettitt. "Go to the bursar's office and get another one tomorrow."

Abruptly Mr. Pettitt handed me the ticket puncher and walked to the back of the line. I saw him tap Mr. Wood on the back and say, "Get off the table. You don't sit on it at home and you aren't going to sit on it here."

Mr. Wood blushing and apologizing stood up.

"Hey, Bob. How about pushing a tray through for me?" This was Harry Cardwell calling to Bob McKenzie. Harry had an appointment and didn't want to be late.

"No, sir," answered Bob. "I'm not going by that man (referring to Mr. Pettitt) with an extra tray. He's bigger than I am."

Then Harry went to Mr. Pettitt and asked if Bob could bring his tray.

"I'm afraid not," responded Mr. Pettitt. "It slows the line when a person gets two trays."

Harry with a disappointed look took his place in the long procession.

Behind the counter the waitresses were engaged in a conversation among themselves.

"What's he trying to do, giving us dessert every meal? Ruin these girls' figures?" I asked.

"Well, you don't have to watch your figure," responded Iris.

"She certainly doesn't," added one of the waiters. "Especially since everyone else does."

Suddenly I heard an unusual amount of noise in the kitchen, so I ran to see what was wrong.

The sight that I saw was really something! Potatoes were flying everywhere. George the chief cook was trying to turn off the switch of the potato masher. I heard him say to Inez, "If you had done

Delpha Alpha Epsilon

The DAE fraternity held a meeting October 18, in Roberts hall. This was the first meeting for sixteen new members who will be formally initiated into the brotherhood on Monday night, October 24, 1949. The new members are as follows:

EHO

The Epsilon Eta Phi Fraternity held their semi-annual rush supper Thursday night, October 13, at the Princess Cafe.

The initiation was held Wednesday night, October 19. The new pledges are as follows: Sydney Taylor, Henri Stout, Edgar Turner, Charles Foster, Powell Jones, Terry Braswell, William King, David Cheadle, and C. L. Clapp.

The old members are W. G. Blenkins, President; Joe Andersen, Secretary and Treasurer; Charles Mann, Charles Payne, Percy Payne, Bill Cheves, Bob Stone, Leroy Collins, John Narton, Gray Cartwright, David Allen, Alan Embler, Jack Esfridge, and Zack Andersen.

The honorary members are Mr. H. E. Coble, Alr. G. H. Habart, Professor N. P. Yarborough and Mr. R. S. Short.

Mr. Coble, a charter member, is the faculty advisor of Epsilon Eta Phi on the Pan-Hellenic.

Sigma Alpha Phi

"Come as a girl all tattered and torn, in blue jeans and shirt and all forlorn," invited the "rushes" to the first Sigma Alpha Phi rush party, October 11th at City Lake. Following this through the week was a bingo party, a tea given by Miss Idol, a formal dinner at the K & W Restaurant, and Breakfast at the Sheraton Hotel on Sunday morning. True to tradition the morning worship service at Wesley Memorial Church in a group.

Installation service was held Tuesday night, October 18th in Woman's Hall. The president, Bennie Jo Davis, presided, assisted by the old members, Betty Jane Gibbs, Katherine Hunter, and Joyce Mills. The purpose of the Sorority was given and the constitution was read. The new members then pledged the Sorority, and received their membership certificates along with yellow roses, the Sorority's flower.

Initiation for the Sorority was carried out during the remainder of the week. New members are as follows:

Carlotta Autrey, Asheville, N. C.; Sue Allred, Dorothy Jackson, and Jean Sherlock, Elizabeth City, N. C.; Dorothy Montgomery, Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mildred Parrish, Stem, N. C., and Mary Lynn Smith, Asheboro, N. C.

Delta Beta Alpha

The D. B. A., the youngest of all fraternities on the campus, dates back to a cold Sunday morning in February, 1948. There was a great deal of struggle involved to get the constitution approved but after showing their colors, they were granted a charter. There are several charter members still in school, they include: Bill Black, Neil Maddex, Kyle Stepheson, Bob and Bill Marley. Since that time, it has grown to a full-fledged organization totaling thirteen members, including Red Ennis, Herbert and Jimmy Herring, "Chic" Glaesner, Gray Henry, L. P. Ward, Bob Heath, and Faye Gilbert.

The officers for the year 49-50 are Bill Black, president; Herbert Herring, vice-president; L. P. Ward secretary; Faye Gilbert, treasurer; Mr. Arthur Paschal is an honorary member.

New members who were initiated into the club this past week were Forest Brown and Reginald Heisner. They were honored at a stag dinner given in their honor.

For homecoming, the fraternity held a cabin party honoring the alumne members; Bob Ashmore, Glenn Burris, Bob White and Darrell Parrish.

The D. B. A. is planning for the new year a full program of social activities and sporting events.

Block "H" Sponsors Golf Team For College

Curt Bovender, president of Block "H", stated that since the college had severed connections with the golf team, the Block "H" Club will sponsor this year's golf team.

At the Halloween Carnival in the Gymnasium on October 26, the Club will operate a concession stand selling drinks and foods to obtain funds for this program.

High Point golfers have won the North State Conference titles for the last three years, and with two lettermen still on hand the golf team should have another successful year. The two lettermen are Dogies and Rice.

The squad will receive additional support from other experienced golfers on campus. All golfers are invited to join the club and help retain the championship here at High Point College.

High-School Day To Be Observed At H. P. C.

Approximately one hundred and fifty seniors from eighteen high schools have been invited to spend Tuesday, November 8, on the campus of High Point College, and to participate in college activities.

Donald Lakin, President of the Future Teachers of America, received the wholehearted endorsement of Dr. Dennis Cooke, President, and Henry Maddux, President of the Student Government, in the arrangements for this important occasion. This program is being conducted as a part of the observance of American Education Week beginning November 6 and ending November 11.

The schedule for High School Day is as follows:

- 9:30 - 10:00 Registration Roberts Hall
- 10:00 - 11:05 Chapel Program Harrison Gym
- 11:20 - 12:00 Group 1 Library Basement
- 12:00 - 1245 Group 1 Roberts Hall
- 12:00 - 12:45 Group 11 Library Basement
- 1:00 - 2:00 Lunch Roberts Hall
- 2:00 - 3:00 Tour of Grounds and Buildings
- 3:00 - 4:00 Meeting with Faculty and President of Student Organization
- 4:00 - 5:00 Football game Stadium
- 5:00 Departure

Madrigal Singers Give Debut Performance

The Madrigal Singers of High Point College gave their initial performance before the Woman's Club in Thomasville on Tuesday, November 1. This new group, directed by Mr. A. J. Wood, is sponsored by the Music Department.

Using the sixteenth century Elizabethan period for a setting, the singers presented a program in two parts. The first consisted of two chorales, "Dixit Maria" by J. Leo Hasler, and "Sanctus" by Palistrina. The second part was characterized by a lighter group of chorales from this same period. (Continued On Page Four)

The Student Center

The biggest tragedy on any College campus is the lost person who finishes four years of college and leaves without having made a friend. If you fall into this group there is one place that you can go and make friends. Any barrier can be penetrated when two people are engaged in a friendly game. The Student Center is open every afternoon except Sunday. Any and all students would find it to their mutual advantage to spend a couple hours at this location during the (Continued On Page Four)

New Books Of Interest

M. J. Wrenn Memorial Library has added one hundred and twenty-three new books to its collection during November. Of this number there are two outstanding biographies, four Biblical novels, and three books of fiction.

Lead, Kindly Light by Vincent Sheean demonstrates that Gandhi's life, work and teaching were for the whole world as well as for India. It is suggested that the terrifying weapon of non-violence, having freed India, might be about to free the world. Jesse Stuart's The Thread That Runs So True, is the story of a mountain school teacher.

A Woman of Samaria by James Wesley Ingles deals with a care-free girl, Photina. There is a universal human quality about this book. Every woman will find it touching her life at some point, will find a something of herself in Photina. Written with Biblical beauty of phrase and with Biblical realism about human nature, it confronts life in its basic elements. It dramatizes the acute tensions within man between the lusts of the flesh and the aspirations of the spirit, and it suggests in the experience of a representative woman the resolution of that conflict. Sholem Asch has completed, with Mary, one of the great works of modern literature. Begun in The Nazarene and The Apostle, this story of the birth of Christianity and the development of the Christian faith reaches its climax in Mary. This is the simple story of a mother's love for her son and the great story of the Mother of our Saviour. Prince of Egypt, by Dorothy Clarke Wilson, is a tale of mighty adventure in history's most marvelous age. The Egypt of this book is the empire of the (Continued On Page Two)

Dr. A. I. Newlin Speaks in Assembly Tuesday

Dr. A. I. Newlin, Head of the Department of History and Political Science at Guilford College, gave the students of High Point College the benefit of his two and one-half years spent in Geneva, Switzerland, in an address to the student body in the regular assembly program Tuesday morning, October 31.

"How Does the World Look from Geneva?" was announced as the topic by Dr. P. E. Lindley, Dean of Students, who presided at the assembly.

Dr. Newlin told of the city of Geneva and of its particular value as an indicator of European thought because of its geographical location and the many international organizations which draw a large foreign population to the city. One question which the people ask, Dr. Newlin stated, is, "Where is the exit?" While the people can see some rays of hope, they can see no real exit in case trouble does arise. Dr. Newlin told of the Dutch university student who feared not invasion but occupation, and of the Norwegian student who is afraid that his nation has become too much of a satellite to the United States by the signing of the Atlantic Pact.

Drama Class Presents Minstrel At Assembly

"Way Down Upon the Swanee River" was the familiar refrain that greeted the students of High Point College at the weekly assembly Tuesday, October 25, as the curtain went up on the Minstrel Show given by the drama class under the direction of Miss Frances Baber.

Beginning in true Southern style from the moment of the opening curtain, some twenty-one members gave a wide selection of jokes, skits, recitations, and Negro melodies. Acting as the Master of Ceremonies was our dear old friend, Constantinople, played by W. C. Roberts. He introduced the audience to such characters as the dignified Franklin Delano Roosevelt Jones, the witty Josh and Lukas, the casanova Rastus, Daisy Belle, (Continued On Page Four)

Religion Doing All Right

Observations throughout our world indicate that religion is doing all right for itself. There are many signs of moral and spiritual revival in various parts of our war-shocked world. There is evidence that a religious revival may be boiling up in England.

The feeling is widespread in Britain that the country will not overcome its economic troubles or regain its former status as a world power without a spiritual awakening. There also has been a post-war resurgence of religion in Holland and other continental Countries.

In writing of an interview with Madame Chiang Kai-shek, Dewitt MacKenzie, A. P. News Analyst, quotes Madame Chiang's views of China's rehabilitation. She said, "Rehabilitation can be achieved only through moral and spiritual growth." "Do you believe the moral and spiritual change will come to China?" MacKenzie asked. She replied, "Yes, it is coming."

But we need not go to Europe or Asia to find this upheaval of religious interest. We are becoming more aware of the trend in our western hemisphere. The American Bible Society reports more Bibles published in 1948 than in any previous year, but still the demand is great. Most religious denominations report an increase in sales of religious literature through their publishing houses and book stores.

John L. Springer, A. P. writer, sought an explanation of why half a dozen religious books had climbed to the top of the non-fiction best-selling lists in the United States. William R. Barlow, president of the Fleming H. Revel Company, book publishers since 1870, asked experts in the field to answer the query. The consensus was that this call for religious books indicated a large scale "return to religion" in the United States. "World War 11 made the majority of our people sense the need of religion," is the way Andrew W. Blackwood, Professor of Homiletics at Princeton Theological Seminary, put it.

Springer reports that since the dropping of the first atomic bomb and the beginning of the first post-war period, there hasn't been (Continued On Page Four)

Dean Lindley Speaks To Woman's Hall

As the last of the applause died away, each girl sat thoughtfully pondering the words of our own Dean Lindley, Yes Dean spoke to the girls of Woman's Hall, Tuesday night, October 25. We thought the content of his speech so very good we wanted everybody to know about it.

His main theme was on getting your "LLD" degree while here at H. P. C. He explained that this degree in its true sense is an honorary one. He then explained that he wished to take the letters LLD and apply them to life here at the college. The first and most important L stands for living. Living each day according to the highest standards one can establish was recommended. This living should be the best; and to be the best, one should be physically fit. He mentioned that although we are inclined to "follow the crowd," we, as intelligent people, should have enough strength of character to hold our ideals above secularism and artificiality.

Learning, as a main purpose of a college education, was the second L Dean Lindley discussed. He indicated that, although extra-curricular activities are important in forming a well-rounded person, one should take advantage of the opportunity to learn how to study. Think of the vast store of knowledge our library contains! Education continues as long as man lives, but he should learn to study during his formal education in order to benefit fully in later years.

Halloween Carnival October 26 a Success

Laughter and music filled the college gym during the Halloween Carnival Wednesday night, October 26. All studies for a few hours were forgotten. Professors laid aside their classroom demand for respect and joined the students in relaxing gaiety.

An occasional ding of a cow bell, a blare of a Bingo number, jazz music, the deep voice of an auctioneer, the screams from the Crazy House all mingled with the gay laughter and talk of the Hallo- (Continued On Page Four)

Performance Is Well Received!

Mr. A. J. Wood, head of the music department and choir director, at High Point College, announced today that it has robed one of the largest and best musically qualified Acapella choirs in its history.

Filling its sections with approximately 50 members, the choir is preparing to provide strong competition for the choruses of the other colleges in this section of the state.

Working with a schedule that is rapidly filling, the choir will travel to Greensboro College on November 29th to sing for the college assembly and on December 5th they will go to Guilford College to present a program of Christmas music. In addition the group is rehearsing for its annual concert which is composed of a variety of Christmas Carols. This performance will be presented shortly before the Christmas holidays begin.

A good start is healthy for any group of singers," stated Mr. Wood when asked about the quality of his singers. "This was indicated," he said, "when the group was so well received at their initial appearance on the program at the first all-college assembly." Commenting further, he said, "even balance and good tone control has been accomplished in a relative short time because of the good musical background of the Choirists. The organization is also fortunate in having several first rate soloists in its ranks."

Short Story Contest

The fourth annual College Writers' Short-Story Contest has just been announced by TOMORROW Magazine. First prize is $500; second, $300, and third, $200. Manuscripts will be judged by the editors of TOMORROW and the editors of Creative Age Press.

The prize-winning stories will be published in the spring and summer of 1950. All other manuscripts will be considered for publication as regular contributions and paid for at TOMORROW's regular rates.

Editorial

Reprinted from "The Pioneer" . . . Catawba College . . .

Last year, a group of presidents and vice-presidents of the North State Student Council here at Catawba. The purpose of the organization was to promote better inter-school relations. This would not only improve the everyday relations of the colleges, but would also work on a parallel with the Athletic Association of Coaches to develop a more amicable association between schools.

This year we have heard nothing about it. Does it still exist? It was a fine plan and should be continued. There ought to be some action on it soon. When something good like that has passed the initial test of being founded, it is a shame to forget about it and file it away for history. The North State Student Council deserves some time and effort.

Has anyone here ever answered the phone and been asked where some student could be located? or has anyone stopped and asked you where a certain person could be located? At times you have probably wondered how you could contact one of the many day students on the campus. When this problem was presented what was your reaction? Where did you go to locate the student that you were interested in? During office hours you probably dropped into the Registrars office where you found the Secretary very busy and you hated to stop her to have her go to the files and find out the students address, but this was the only recourse. There is a remedy to this situation and something that is needed very much. That is, a Campus Directory which would list all the students and their address. A book of this type would be worth its weight in gold to the members of the Student Body and Faculty. The directory could also include the home address of the student so that friends could be contacted during the summer months and vacation periods. There are two possible ways of financing this venture. One is by selling advertising space; the second method would be to sell it by way of the College bookstore for a small fee; of course it could be financed by a combination of both methods. Some organization could enrich their treasury by undertaking this venture as it is something that is sorely needed and the students would be glad to obtain one at a small cost.

pharaohs over 3,000 years ago—a civilization ancient even then glittering with unbelievable luxury, with strange and timeless rites; filled with unendurable poverty for the millions who created its wealth out of the mud of the holy River Nile. Ruth by Irving Fineman, is a Biblical novel. It is the story of Ruth, the woman of the alien land of Moab, who said to Naomi, "Whither thou goest I will go . . ." and went with her to the land of Israel. This is also a stirring re-creation of a high moment in history "In the days when the Judges judged . . ."—a thousand years before the birth of Christ.

Live With Lightning by Mitchell Wilson is the story of a young man in love; in love with the secrets of the universe, and with a gray-eyed girl named Savina. It is Savina who sees in him the fires of greatness, who knows that in him there is something of the lightning which he creates. It is she who gives back to him the reflection of his best desires and aspirations, from their early years on university faculties until Erik Gorin, the young man, attains worldly success in industry. This is the story of hope and affirmation, which rises out of the doubt and foreboding engendered by our times to become one of the heartening symbols of the undaunted, living spirit of man. Dorothy Evelyn Smith's My Lamp Is Bright weighs the question of a woman's happiness. Wisely and well it probes the depths of a woman's being, from her childhood on through the short, shining years that follow, and into the time of her full maturity. The story is filled with life's drama and a rounded picture of a notable group of characters is presented. Rest and Be Thankful by Helen MacInnes is also the name of a green island, sheltering between the forks of Crazy Creek, high in the Wyoming hills. Here, in pioneer days, wagon trains coming over the stoneyway Trail halted before they continued westward. Here, in the early summer of 1948, came two friends, having wandered off the State Highway they had intended to follow to California.

A list of these books and others recently published are posted in the Library. Everyone is invited to check out any of these books.

"Wha' Happened"

Come rain or shine the paper must go on, and there's no business like "snow" business, so read on and hear who has who "snowed." Gene O'Daniels and Mary Lee Richardson have quite a case. Theirs is the usual as cases go—dining room platters, campus chatter, lots of dates—hey, what's the matter, thought Emorywood and Pfeiffer fitted into this picture somewhere:

Bob McCarsen says he's six feet six, and even though he managed to bring his six feet six to HPC, some people say that he left his heart way down in Charleston, South Carolina, but Bob admitted that it can get kinda lonesome here. At this point I would like to slip him a small clue. A certain someone thinks he is "perfectly darlin." Can't tell her name but her initials are Betty Edwards. How's about it you two?

Bob Heath told some of the girls that they had made some new rules in the boys dorm. They are that the boys can't go out unchaperoned, they must sign in and out everytime they leave the campus, and they are only allowed to date in cars when there's another couple with them. What brought about this drastic change in the way the boys feel? Bob says some of the girls take unfair advantage of the boys, so they decided to stick together in the matter. This doesn't make sense to me either, so ask Bob all about it.

Word has been slipping around Penny Hall that a mystery woman comes out there every afternoon in a blue chevrolet convertible. All the boys wondered if they were the lucky victim, but it turned out to be Vern Kimbro that she was interested in.

Girls let me tell you what. "Palko" has been at High Point for two years and from what I hear he hasn't dated a girl from HPC during that time even once Reckon he's in love—or just bashful????

J. A. Pegram has been seen talking to a certain sophomore in the hall after his 8:20 class on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. This could prove interesting - - - Oh Nancy.

Ronald Smith deserted W. C. Sunday night to date Margaret "Keep-off" Pearman. They dated up in the third floor clubroom. Margaret Southerland naturally was dating Bill Peeler. There were a few other people there too, mentioning no names. If you ever try to play records on the third floor clubroom just be careful—it can be "schocking!"

Kiss me sweet, kiss me simple, kiss me on my little dimple; Aren't we glad Henry Maddux didn't get scalped by Guilford? Joanne certainly is.

Clayton "Hosenose" Snyder has been dating Dot Hunsucker lately. Maybe High Point can give Wake Forest a little hunsucker all.

Paul Pryor has been trying to find out a certain girl's name all year. He has thought she was practically everyone, except who she was. At last he knows that she's Betty Lou Moxley from Booneville, N. C., and that he has an awful crush on her. Carry on, Pryor.

Doyle Freeman says he needs a secretary to answer all his love letters. He's in the boat with a few other people, but Doyle there is one solution. Why not get Nancy Greene to answer them for you?

G-C. Masters has joined the clan. At least he has been seen over at Max three times recently by some of the boys. Okay, Max, maybe she is a cousin of a cousin or something like that.

Dot Montgomery was wearing one of the most gorgeous orchids Sunday. All the girls in the Dot were busy admiring it. It was a birthday present to Dot from "Face."

It seems like many moons ago that the NDM had their chicken stew out at Hugh Gordon's. Everyone had a fine time, Rhyne Allen was dating Tommy McGhee, Lib Early was dating Joe Harrell, Sarah was naturally dating Hugh, Tommy Kellam was dating Claire and there were even a few stags. Can you imagine?

In defense of Jack, Klien disliking Southern Women—it's not that. It's just that he has a goodlooking girl up at Temple University that he is being true too. From her picture, who could blame him???

Art Nicholas, Gene Dull, and Bob Greene seem to be causing much confusion in the mind of Maxi Hall. Who is it gonna be—Wait and see? He's got dark skin and a G. I. Haircut, a Northerner, and real good-looking, but what is his name. This is the description that a certain girl was overheard giving of Pete Hotis the other day. Where are you?

Gary Hardin sure would like to go home with Jimmy Huffstetler some weekend. Jimmy lives in Raleigh and there are three of those fine girl's schools there. Gary knows someone pretty special at one of them.

Johnny Hinton and Al Ebele and a couple more boys who names couldn't be discovered are planning to cruise up toward Salisbury Saturday, Pam Mullis for to see. Johnny is gonna date Pam, don't know who Al will date yet, but you can bet she'll be from Salisbury or Catawba College. You Just can't beat that place—so they say.

Harold Waters and Ruth James have become a frequent combination, specially from about 6:30 til 7:15 every night. College romances—hmmm!

This column is about like High Point winning a football game. It's over due, so till next time don't forget to remember to do something exciting so there will more news next time. So I close with just "Bye Shug," and J. L. J.

Don't Explain...

By Jean Kerr

Stop a minute and think. Has everything been going your way lately? Have you worn your Ipanama and been the regular Ipanama kid? If you haven't maybe you have had a gripe. If you have been griping lately don't worry too much, Just listen to some of the gripes of other students on the campus.

Betty Edwards was sitting on the side of her bed clad in bright blue and white pajamas. She had some music, if you want to call the "Lovesick Blues" music playing softly on her portable, when she was confronted with the question, "What is your pet gripe?" "Betty took a big drag off of her Phillip Morris, and then revealed the bitter truth. Betty hates people who talk too much, and make too much to do over small things. Her gripe about men is the lines they shoot poor unsuspecting females. Betty was mumbling something about her other gripes when Carlotta Autry, who had been awakened by the confusion, began telling her gripes.

Charlotta loves to get her beauty sleep and hates for people to wake her up when she is sleeping. Boys who are late for dates, or who just plain out break dates are on her black list. Raving on about cold food, shady remarks, and etc, Carlotta turned over and went back to sleep, as she had been dreaming about Juda before she was so rudely interrupted.

At this point, Edna Clark, who usually never gripes, decided to add her two bits to the discussion. Edna can not tolerate people who are always scraping their fingernails over something, making that nerve racking noise in so doing. Waiting for the telephone to ring is another of Edna's gripes.

Nancy Lawson said she hated people who were always griping, as she continued with her pet gripes. Nancy can't stand boys who are conciated, or who are unman-nerly. Nancy was revealing that she hated boys who shoot lines, when some of the girls began to wonder if boys didn't gripe once in a while too.

Yes, you guessed it. Boys have about as many gripes as girls do. Jack McGowan was sitting in the student center busily devouring Nabs and looking at the cartoons in Post magazine when he was confronted with the question of his pet gripe. Jack pondered on the subject for a moment and then revealed that nothing made him madder than to get up in the morning and not have any hot water available. How can a boy shave with cold water. Jack said his gripe about women was women in general—he just said they all gripe him. Feeling unwanted, as I was a girl and Jack had just said he hated women, I walked over to Art Nichlas, who told me his pet gripe was women who were stubborn and wouldn't listen to reason. Another woman hater. I can't win.

Bob McCarsen came into the student center and sat down over near the ping pong table. Bob said his pet gripe was women smoking. Can't these men find anything right with women? Bob also hates having no hot water in the mornings when he wants to shave.

Boone Jackson overheard the conversation and said he would like to add his gripe to the topic. "Boone" Jackson hates girls who feel that they are superior to the boys on the High Point College campus. He feels this not the right attitude to take. "Boone" also revealed that he dislikes drinking for boys, and for girls it is just out of the question.

After hearin people gripe for approximately two hours ye' olde reporter was beginning to feel kinda grouchy too. You know what? There's a mile between the s's in smiles. Why don't you try to make them seem a little closer. You could, you know?

To Be Played In Burlington

The Purple Panthers of High Point will attempt to redeem themselves in the Conference when they collide head on with the Christians from Elon College at Burlington Stadium tonight at 8.

This game will match the two highest scoring Conference teams against each other. Both played service teams at the beginning of the campaign and defeated the service opponents by a wide margin. Elon started out by defeating the Edenton Marines by 80-0. Two weeks later the Panthers defeated Pope by 107-0. This is the largest score ever run up in the North State Conference.

The Elon squad will go into the game with the finest record compiled by a Maroon and Gold eleven since their powerhouses before the war.

Six foes have been disposed of out of seven. Such opponents as E. C. T. C., Newberry, and Catawba have been disposed of while their only loss was to a strong Appalachian eleven.

Last week the Panthers proved that they were an up and coming team when they held a strong Guilford eleven to a 19-19 tie.

When the Panthers and Christians meet, the odds go out the window as the outcome between these two old rivals is never certain till the final whistle has blown.

The game last year resulted in a 12-12 tie with both teams battling down to the line for the victory. This game will be Elon's homecoming and their last appearance on home soil; therefore, they will be fighting and pulling for the victory.

Injuries from the Guilford game will probably keep "Bud" Kimball, Curt Bovender, Jack Klein, and Taylor Greene from seeing action against Elon. First string center, Bob "Hogy" Morrison, and Joe Inman will be out of action for the rest of the season due to torn cartilages in their knees.

Coach James re-vamped the squad this week. He moved E. Ray Burleson from guard to tackle and Tom Morris from end to guard in order to bolster his forward wall. Illard Yarborough and Jim Fisher have been shifted to the offensive ends.

A victory against Elon will do much to bolster the prestige of the Panthers in the Conference and will give the Panthers the needed push for the two remaining games against E. C. T. C. and Woffard.

the touchdown. With six minutes to go Johns hit Topping again on the 20 for the third score. This tied the game 19-19, and also knocked Guilford out of the opportunity to be North State Conference Champs.

Sporting Around

By PAUL PRYOR

Some of the students of H. P. C. have been wondering what the football players do in their leisure time. Well, Bob McCarson, Tom McGhee, Dave Cheadle, and Keith Mobley like to play Pinochle in the Student Center after a hard day of practice. Tom Morris is a table tennis player. While on the table I'll bring you up to date on candidates for the College Table Tennis Club. Josh Hinton, Ace Cartwright, Herman Deaton, Henry Maddux, Laverne Lowder, Jake Steele, Don Embler, Bill Eberle, Bernard Frink, Charles Casey, and Oliver Hauser are leading game winners so far.

Basketball is just around the corner and E. P. O's. Captain "Moon" Palko is awaiting the opening whistle. Bill Loyd, Bruce Bailey, and Curt Bovender are sharpening their eyes and getting ready to help last year's runner-up N. D. M. Speaking about Bill Loyd, he's also getting the boys in shape by pushing his auto around town. Hope you can get it started.

See Don Helms D-Y for your photos of Guilford "Baldies."

Bill Elmore, I. T. K's touch football star is also a whiz at ping-pong. Just go to the Student Center and watch. The Touch Football League is one of the most talked of things on the campus as N. D. M. and I. T. K. will tangle today. This year, more than any other previous one, Intramural activities are blossoming in full bloom. Credit should be given at this time to Mr. Paschal, Bill Cameron, and all the captains of various squads. Keep up the good work for Intramural athletics does a great deal for the students.

"Chief" Painter was an interested spectator at the Guilford game. "Chief's" club won its home-coming game.

Clarence Ilderton is going to be back in action Friday against Elon, and by the way, I guess you all know "Stinky" is getting married soon. Best of everything from the column. Congratulations to "Goose" Waiz and Mrs. on their baby girl. Also to Papa Jim Foxworth, proud father of a baby daughter. Where's the cigars, Jim and "Goose"?

Over to girl's sports for a minute. Kathy Wade, Trinity star, and Rosalee Kellis are practicing every afternoon. These sharpshooters should provide the nucleus for a potent girls' basketball team. Pauline Calloway, Marjorie Ingram, Dot Stone, Anita Cornelison, Laure Mae DeHaven, Mary Lee Rich, and Rheba Wright are all softballers who could make the boys hang their heads in shame.

The faculty has challenged a group of all-stars made up of students to play a softball game soon. Accept the invitation, All-stars, Mr. Paschal is waiting.

By the way, boys, Bob "Cuz" Draper is a hair cutting fool. See him in B section for your weekly trims.

Sporting Girls

The W. A. A. is at work. All the girls set out to work on a booth for the Halloween Carvalnal. It ended up as no other than "The Crazy House." As usual there was the creaking stairs, the hanging body, and the dead body of ole Doc Jones.

We also sponsored the cake walk. Two delicious cakes were given away—just ask Hugh Gordon and all the fellows who helped devour it to the last crumb.

Tuesday night after a very enjoyable party at Marjorie Ingram's home the W. A. A. held its regular meeting.

We have been playing soccer. Next week we will take up basketball. We are looking forward to having a good team. So come on out all of you girls and help make a good girls' team for H. P. C. O. K.?

"To see how far human genius can go toward solving these problems and to pray God's help is youth's greatest task," Dr. Newlin concluded.

Intramurals

E. H. O. and N. D. M. will meet today, Friday November 4, to determine the winner in the Inter-mural touch football league. Both have perfect win records to take into the game. The game between these two rivals will be hard fought as it will be "Winner Take All." The ten cent admission charge will be applied toward buying medals for the winning team.

During the season great interest was displayed in these games. Each team produced its own individual rooting section and if you were not there you missed some great games and a great display of sportsmanship.

Some of the outstanding stars were David Allen for E. H. O., Bill Elmore for I. T. K., Drapper and Maddux for N. D. M., Southard and Ereith for Penny Hall, and the Marley brothers for D. B. A.

Following is the team standings as of to date.

High Point Ties Guilford

Guilford's chance to become Conference Champs hit rock-bottom after the Panthers battled them to a stand-still last Thursday night, October 27. Guilford entered the game as the favorite, but by the time the first half rolled around it was evident to the 4,200 fans present that the predictions were wrong again.

From the opening kick-off it was High Point's game till the final nine minutes of play. At this point Guilford took over and High Point went out of the ball game.

Bill Lloyd did the running and Frank Von Drehle did the passing that put High Point ahead 19-6 by early in the fourth quarter. Jack Klein brought the spectators to their feet in the second quarter when he returned Maultsby's kick for 62 yards to the 10 yard line. From here Lloyd carried to the one yard line in four tries for a first and goal. From here Lloyd went across on the second try for six points.

During the third quarter the Quakers reached the conclusion that the forward wall of the Panthers was about as movable as a ten ton boulder; therefore they took to the air. This point marked the beginning of the end for the Panthers lead. But before capitulating the Panthers managed to make their own break for their third touchdown. Tackle Taylor Green set up High Point's third touchdown by intercepting a pass from Jones on the Guilford 25 and returning it to the six. In three downs Lloyd and Gordon carried to the one. On the fourth Von Drehle passed to Yarborough in the end zone.

In the last nine minutes of play Guilford came to life and proved why they were a tough conference foe. Bill Teague passed from the High Point 42 to Topping on the 20, and he carried on across for

Are You A Modern Robin Hood

Here in our busy life at High Point College we sometimes forget to show our refinement by acts of courtesy. Should we forget and be discourteous, rude and impolite just because we live in a hurried, bustling world? Even though the days of Robin Hood and King Arthur have passed, we need not forget these days and try to live up to the belief that our modern world is barbaric, minus politeness and expressions of respect. To be polite is not to be snooty, but rather gentlemanly.

It was told, during, but courteous Robin Hood who said, "I never hurt a woman in all my life." Have you boys ever thought how much disrespect you show a girl when you talk in a base and vulgar way in her presence? True, the girl may not walk away, but may appear to enjoy the talk. Have you, however, thought what she may think of you after you leave her company? Probably not as highly as before. She, too, should never place herself in such a position, for surely boys do not think as highly of a girl who would listen to talk suitable only for a stag session.

It requires no more time to show small acts of courtesy that it does to go along with an "every man for himself" attitude. Holding open a door, holding a girl's chair, rising in the presence of elders, saying "excuse me" and "thank you" these little ways will help you be known as a person who is courteous. A gentleman should show respect by standing in the presence of ladies; this means giving up your seat on the bus, too. During the war many courtesies were forgotten, but now in our post-war world where we are returning to normal, we should again show more courtesy.

The next time you dash madly in a door before a girl or "grab" the sugar from the dinner table without first asking, stop first and think. Girls, you too can show respect by accepting these courteous acts with polite graciousness.

Cardwell Presents Play On Tuesday

They're coming from the city. They're coming from the farm. Everybody is coming to see the "Hour of Alarm." These words are the theme words of Harry Cardwell, local campus comedian, for his new show, the Hour of Alarm which is to be presented on the nights of Nov. 9 and 10, at 8 P. M. in the College auditorium.

Halloween Carnival October 28 Success

The gym was adorned with colorful booths. On the left were the following booths: cards, International Relations Club; Snapper throwing, Methodist Student Fellowship; chances on a wheel, E. P. O.; penny pinching, Ministerial Association. On the right the Women's Athletic Association had a Crazy House. The next booth was "look," I. T. E.; drinks, E. H. O.; cards, N. D. M.; auction sale and fishing, Girls' Religious Education Club. Next, a little old lady duck brown hair and multiple color beads predicted the future. In the back of the gym where a large section was curtained off taxi dancing was under way.

As well as furnishing entertainment and food, all the booths profited financially. However, the amount of profit ranged from two dollars to forty dollars, with the Girl's Religious Education Club profiting the most.

Climax of the successful evening was the cake walk, the final game of Bingo with the Award of the big prize, and the announcing of the watch winner. A flicker of lights and a blast of the trumpet broke the magic spell and sent the students back to their studies.

Some highlights of the show were the magnificent rendition of "Lindy Lou" given by Ramona Rhodes as Liza Jane; An'bell's recitation of "When Angelina Johnson Comes Swinging Down the Line" by Bety Baker; and the beautiful melodies of "Bum-a-by Ma Baby" and "Ripity Like a Rose," sung by Willie Davis. John Manti as Ink Ball brought tears to the eyes of the audience with the reading, "Old Macra John."

Miss Carolyn Lily, an alumna of Sigma Alpha Phi, gave a party for the Society at her home. Fourteen members and their dates were invited. The house was appropriately decorated in traditional black and orange. The beautiful harvest moon was full, and the night was perfect. There was food a plenty, and everyone had a wonderful time.

E. N. E.

The ENE pre-medical and pre-dental organization, which was formed last year at High Point College, looks forward this year to an interesting and well-rounded program. The program will include numerous speakers of the medical profession, doctors and dentists from our own locality, and movies of medical subjects which are of interest to the pre-medical and pre-dental students. Notice of these activities will be posted in advance, and the members of ENE extend a cordial invitation to all the students who may be interested.

At the meeting of October 20, the members of ENE elected the following officers for the forthcoming year: Bill Queen, President; Ed Artman, Vice President; J. E. Sink, Secretary; Fred Walker, Treasurer and the Board members are Dean Lee, Perry Peterson and George Clark. The faculty advisors are Dr. Ben Hill and Prof. J. E. Murrain.

B. A. E.

The B. A. E. Fraternity will start rolling this year with its first party November 21. Approximately seventy people are expected to be in attendance. The fraternity is once more sponsoring the Chaotic Hour, which was a great hit last year. Everybody is looking forward to this performance, and with new and better ideas it should be even a greater success.

These singers, who are anticipating a full schedule for the remainder of the year, sing a capella style. The members are Romona Rhodes, Mary Ella Coffey, Robert Ellis, Ed Pepper, Milton Crocker, Sharr Gibson, Cliff Shoad, Charmaine Rose, and Willie Davis. This group will make its first public appearance on campus at assembly on November 29.

No application blanks are necessary. Manuscripts should not exceed 5000 words. Any number of manuscripts may be submitted by a single student. Each entry must be marked College Contest and bear the writer's name, his home address, and the name and address of the college he is attending. All entries must be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dean Lindley Speaks To Woman's Hall

(Continued From Page One) letter D, which stood for dignity. Mr. Webster said, "Quality of being esteemed and noble." We need more of this in a world of hectic turning. He emphasized that although dignity is hard to acquire, it is easy to lose. This is an important quality that many young people forget while making an attempt to "follow the crowd." Do you have dignity?

In his closing words, Dean Lindley urged that each student here strive to earn his LLD before leaving the college this year. Dean Lindley is extremely interested in the student body as a whole and each person individually and endeavors to create a wholesome attitude on the campus.

Methodist College Foundation Selects Director

Dr. B. Joseph Martin, who has been elected as director of the recently organized Methodist College Foundation of North Carolina, Inc., has set up a permanent office in the Christian Advocate Building in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Dr. Martin, son of a Methodist minister, comes to his new post from Oklahoma City University, Oklahoma City, Okla., where he served as vice-president. He has earned the A.B. and Th. B. degrees from Pasadena College, California, and Th. M. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Southern California. He has served as business manager and vice-president of Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky.; professor of sociology at Pasadena College; superintendent of Laird Hall School, Hollywood, Calif.; and director of Boys' Work, Wesley-McDonald School, Houma, La. Dr. Martin has been active for a number of years in educational circles; he is also an ordained minister and has served pastorates for eight years in Ohio and California.

The Methodist College Foundation, formally organized last year, was created to give active support to the five North Carolina Methodist education institutions, which are Louisburg Junior College, Brevard Junior College, Duke University, Greensboro College, and High Point College. This Foundation grew out of the Methodist College Advance, which sought to raise more than $2,000,000 to aid the five colleges. The membership of the Foundation is composed of representatives from all sections of the State, including the trustees and presidents of the five Methodist institutions, the presiding bishops, the district superintendents of both conferences, the chairmen of the two conference Boards of Lay Activities and Education, and fifteen members from each district in the two conferences. This makes a total membership of about 500 which meets annually. A council of about thirty members and an executive committee of nine members direct the activities of the Foundation. Funds of the Foundation are held by a board of trustees.

Dr. Martin spent Monday, November 14, at High Point College, where he conferred at length with the President of High Point College, Dr. Dennis Cooke, and inspected all of the college buildings and facilities. He was also a guest of the college for lunch.

At a Faculty Meeting Monday afternoon, Dr. Martin was presented to the faculty by Dr. Cooke. In his talk Dr. Martin assured the faculty that the Foundation would do everything possible to promote the interests of High Point College.

The Methodist College Foundation will hold its annual meeting at the Wesley Memorial Church on Saturday, December 10, at which time Dr. Cooke has been invited to give the major address. The subject of his address will be "The Role of Independent Colleges and Universities."

Eleven Students to Appear in Who's Who

Day Students Hold Meeting

Tom Kellam, President of Day Students, presided at a meeting held Thursday, November 17, 1949, in Room 13 of the Administration Building, to formulate plans for a Christmas party and regulate parking on the campus.

Members were allowed to make suggestions concerning the place where the party might be held. A decision was reached to investigate these possible clubs and present the report to the day students at a later date.

A program committee of nine persons was appointed to complete plans for the Christmas party. They were: Chester Brown, Elna Rose, Ruth Driver, Charles Kimsey, Opal Kearns, Charles Johnson, Charles Carmichael, Betty Jean Shields and Albert Casey.

Investigation is being conducted concerning the parking problem existing on campus for the benefit of the faculty and day students. Some members of the faculty have been walking to school because students have been taking the parking places reserved for the faculty. Mr. Kellam advised students to be more careful in their parking and everyone would have space.

Class Witnesses Demonstration

Members of the Office Management Class witnessed a demonstration by Mr. C. J. Elig, representative of the Monroe Calculating Machine Company, Inc., Greensboro, Thursday, November 17, 1949. This demonstration was given in connection with this course in Business which is the study and practice of machines.

The Monroe Adding Machine features ease of operation, speed, and a light touch which tends to eliminate operator fatigue and makes for greater efficiency in figure production.

Also demonstrated was the new Monroe Semi-automatic and Full-automatic Calculators in all types of figure work, payroll, invoice checking, and other operations used in everyday business. Mr. Elig demonstrated these machines as a part of the Monroe Education Program in acquainting students with the latest types of machines which they will find in use today in many businesses. The importance of office machines and what the student may expect to find when entering business were stressed.

Zenith Work Progresses

The Zenith staff is progressing with the work on the yearbook ahead of schedule. Individual pictures have been returned and group pictures are being completed this week.

According to the Zenith editor, Lois Kreienbaum, the Zenith Yearbook will be published and circulated in early spring.

Outstanding Seniors of High Point College Presented Their Certificates of Award

Eleven students have been chosen from High Point College by the faculty for the annual "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Dr. C. R. Hinshaw, Head of Department of Instruction, presented these students with their certificates of award in assembly Tuesday, November 15, 1949. The student body was informed by Dr. Hinshaw that this was a high honor, and that these students were chosen on the basis of their scholastic achievement and leadership. The following students received certificates:

Curtis R. Bovender, Winston-Salem, N. C., major in Physical Education and outstanding in football, President of Senior Class.

Kenneth L. DeHaven, Waynesboro, Pa., major in English and Religious Education.

Ianthia Gerringer, Gibsonville, N. C., major in History, outstanding in girls' sports, assistant to Dr. Helen Bartlett of the History Department.

Thomas M. Kellam, High Point, N. C., major in Physical Education, played varsity football for four years, and President of N. D. M. Fraternity and the Day Students.

Lois K. Kreienbaum, Richmond, Va., major in Religious Education, Editor of Zenith Yearbook.

Henry T. Maddux, Raleigh, N. C., major in English, President of Student Government, former Editor of Hi-Po.

William S. Marley, Ramseur, N. C., major in Business, cheerleader.

Charmione Rose, Winston-Salem, major in Music and Religious Education, President of Woman's Hall, outstanding in dramatic and vocal ability.

Anne Elizabeth Stewart, High Point, N. C., major in English. C. Fletcher Womble, Kannapolis, N. C., major in History.

Plans Announced By Student Government

A meeting of the Student Government was held Wednesday, November 16, 1949, to complete plans for the May Queen election and parking regulations.

Henry Maddux, President of the Student Government, urges that all senior girls enter the contest for May Queen to be held before the student body December 6. The contestants will wear white evening gowns and appear in assembly for the election.

Parking regulations will be enforced by the Day Students headed by Tom Kellam. New parking signs will be put up within the next few days. All students are requested to observe the new rules concerning parking and to cooperate in eliminating this problem.

Vocation Guidance Counselor Advisors

"It's your life—you can do with it what you like," stated Mrs. Alice Gorman, vocational director, when asked about vocational guidance.

"But you should like what you do," she continued, "for after college you will spend about one-third of your waking hours at work. Your life work is yours for the choosing. But think back! How much time have you actually put in the effort to find out about yourself and the right spot for you in the working field?"

A word of warning was issued to those who have not given due consideration to this urgent matter. Emphasizing the paramount importance of this situation, she said, "As graduation looms ahead, you may find yourself in a panic if you have assumed that you will easily fall in some job—certainly a dandy job—through good luck, friends or family. Take a good look at yourself. Find out all there is to know about that person that is you. Then learn about jobs within your special fields of interest. You will find valuable help in the vocational counselor's office, but it is you who will work out your problem. Your reward will be your job—the right job in which you can make your best contribution—the right job in which you will find that full satisfaction that should be yours."

Dr. Hinshaw Speaks at Pilot Hi

Dr. C. R. Hinshaw, Dean of Instruction at High Point College, spoke before the students and faculty of Pilot High School, Thomasville, North Carolina, Friday, November 11, on the Five Bases of Civilization.

The five bases of civilization are reading, writing, speech, counting, and manipulation. "Everything we have above the animal depends on all of these things," said Dr. Hinshaw. "If these five things were erased from the blackboard of time, man would be where he was when he began. If, for one generation, these things were erased," continued Dr. Hinshaw, "man would have to begin over."

Hi-Po Enters Contest

Grady Thomas, editor of the Hi-Po, announced today that the paper has entered the 1949 College Newspaper Contest on safe driving and will compete with some 200 other publications and individuals for the $2,000 in prizes which are being offered the contestants. The contest is being conducted by the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company. The purpose is to impress upon the students throughout the country the necessity for safe driving, especially during the holiday period when the death toll is so great. The winners in the contest will be announced around the first of the year.

Dean Lindley Plans To Increase Band

Dean P. E. Lindley, manager of High Point College Band, has initiated a plan to secure a larger membership for the band next year. A form is being mailed to the band conductors of high schools in this State and several other states requesting the name and address of band players ready for college. From this list, Dean Lindley is contacting prospective band members.

"It is our hope to build up a big, strong organization next year," said Dean Lindley. "I want to see at least forty-five people in the band, and fifty would be better," he added.

Before the war, the band here at High Point College numbered between forty-five and fifty. The famous twin drum majorettes, Dorothy and Grace Alexander, attended High Point College prior to World War II.

The band has not appeared as prominently at the football games this year as the student body would have liked, due to the fact that only a small number have given their time and co-operation to this organization. It is hoped that next year will see a larger band organized.

Senior Class Elects Superlatives

Superlatives from the Senior Class of 1950 were elected at a called meeting of the class on Tuesday, November 8, 1949. Percy Payne, President, presided at the sparsely attended meeting.

One boy and one girl were chosen for each position. They are:

- Best Looking — Cora Connor and Felix Long.
 - Most Likely to Succeed — Charmione Rose and Percy Payne.
 - Most Friendly — Bennie Jo Davis and Chic Glaesner.
 - Most Athletic — Inky Gerringer and Tom Kellam.
 - Wittiest — Bill Elmore and Juanita Ingram.
 - Best All Around — Doris Tant and Henry Maddux.
 - Most Popular — Anne Stewart and Bill and Bob Marley.
 - Most Intellectual — Lois Kreienbaum and Kenneth DeHaven.
- The candidates for Miss High Point College were also elected. They are Bertha Lowe and Cora Connor.

Christmas Dance December Tenth

The plans for the annual Christmas Dance are now under way, being sponsored by the Junior Class, December 10, in Harrison Gymnasium. The dance will be semi-formal, and there will be no flowers.

The music will be furnished by Carl B. Sloan and His Desert Knights of Greensboro. Mr. Sloan has played with several top-name orchestras including Les Brown, Blue Barron, Art Kassel and Bobby Burns. The Desert Knights have been enthusiastically received at performances in Charlotte, Greensboro, Fayetteville, Hickory, and other cities. Tickets will go on sale December 1.

PARKING

The parking situation around the campus is getting to be quite a problem. Some of the students are parking their automobiles without any regard whatsoever to the other students around the campus. At this time I would like to bring it to the student body's attention that the signs in front of the Administration Building which states: "This place reserved for Faculty Members only" means exactly that and nothing else. It is a crime that some of our Faculty members have to park off the campus and walk because some unthoughtful student has occupied the space reserved for them. Any action that the Student Council would take in regards to these irresponsible students would receive the wholehearted endorsement of the student body.

In the student parking area automobiles are being parked at any and every angle. In some places there is not enough room for other cars to pass through. Other cars are parking in behind cars and blocking them in. Also when automobiles are entering and leaving the campus there is a one way line of traffic which is causing quite a congestion when the traffic is heavy.

Following are a few suggestions that have come to my attention to petition the Student Council to take action on:

- (1). Take disciplinary action against students whose cars are found parked in the Faculty area.
- (2). Put up No-Parking signs from the main entrance to the Student parking area.
- (3). Mark off the student area in order to stop the triple parking.
- (4). Because of the large number of automobiles try to work out a way to have the area behind the library cleared for a student parking area.

HI-PO OFFICE

To Dr. Cooke and Mr. Harviel we of the Hi-Po staff sincerely extend our thanks to you for giving us a home. When the year started, we were orphans, but now we are home on the third floor of the Library. Thank you, Dr. Cooke, for your efforts in obtaining us a home. Thank you, Mr. Harviel, for enclosing our office and giving us lights and a radiator. The staff of the Zenith also extends their gratitude for an office at the same location.

LATE PAPER

We of the Hi-Po regret very much that we were unable to bring you a paper last Friday as scheduled. Due to conditions beyond our control we were unable to get the paper printed on time. The staff is working hard in order to bring out a paper as scheduled every two weeks. We hope that there will be no more delays.

Analysis Of Government

(Introduction by Charles Childs)

Starting in the next issue there will begin a series of articles dealing with the main forms of present day governments.

The purpose of these articles is to familiarize you with the differences between such governments as democracy, socialism, and communism, and to show you how democracy is superior in recognizing the individual and promoting the general welfare.

Each article will discuss the founders and present leaders of each government. Also, the present state of the countries' economic, social and international relations will be discussed.

NEW PAPER

This issue introduces a new-size paper to you. In order to continue to publish an issue every two weeks we find it necessary to reduce expenditures. The Hi-Po is set up on a budget, and should that budget be used up too soon, there would be no more papers for this year. Our policy is to cut the size for the remainder of the year in order to bring out a larger issue beginning the first of next year.

Examination For Physical Science

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for Physical Science Aid to fill positions paying from $2,200 to $3,100 in various Federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. The optional branches covered by this examination are chemistry, physics, metallurgy, geology, mathematics and other branches of physical science except meteorology.

To qualify for these positions, all applicants will be required to take a written test. In addition, for positions paying $2,450 and above, they must have had from one to four years of appropriate experience in the physical sciences. For the higher grades, part of this experience must have been in a specific branch of physical science, depending upon the position for which application is made. Pertinent education may be substituted for the required experience.

The age limits, 18 to 62 years, will be waived for veterans.

Further information and application forms may be obtained from most first- and second-class post offices, from Civil Service regional offices, or from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Applications must be received in the Commission's Washington office not later than December 13, 1949.

Release From Vet Administration

Almost one-fourth of North Carolina's World War II veterans who entered the vocational rehabilitation program supervised by the Veterans Administration to overcome physical handicaps, have completed their training and are considered rehabilitated.

On November 1, education and training courses had been undertaken, at one time or another, by 10,620 disabled veterans in the State. On that same date, 3,387 had completed their training and were gainfully employed at jobs ranging from automobile mechanic to school teacher.

At present 4,535 are actively participating in supervised training of one type or another to overcome employment handicaps resulting from service incurred or aggravated physical disabilities.

Of those North Carolina veterans already rehabilitated, 529 received their special training in institutions of higher learning, 326 in other type schools below the junior college level, 1,511 in various on-the-job training establishments and 21 in the institutional on-the-farm training program.

The recently completed VA study of the employment objectives of disabled veterans rehabilitated through Public Law 16 training, disclosed that more than one-third—or 36.5 per cent—had the employment objective of mechanic or repairman.

"Wha' Hoppened"

BY JEAN KERR

Sitting here in room 203 of Woman's Hall listening to some of that fine hillbilly music. Can't understand it, but "My Darlin' I Have Loved You Oh So Many Years" doesn't give me an inspiration to reach great heights, so I will just content myself by writing the "Wha' Hoppened" column.

People probably won't believe this, but corny radio announcer just dedicated a song to our own Dennis "Preacher" Ricks of High Point College. Dennis wanted "Slipping Around" played for some unidentified female. Dennis, are you really going to give her a great big diamond for Christmas?

Who could write a gossip column with "Mind Your Own Business" playing? With a great pang of conscience, I continue with the latest hearsay. Bill Lloyd dated Mary Dix Sunday night. Nope, Mary Dix isn't any kin to the famous Dorothy Dix, who gives all kinds of advice to those in love!

Two minutes past two and time to tell you all that some girl should take an interest in Lynwood Grissom. It could be kinda lonesome sitting in Jeff's on Sunday night—alone. P. S. Not just any girl will do. Lynwood is particular, since he went with a Duke co-ed last winter.

By means beyond control Ed Austin has been left out of the gossip column for the past three issues, which is a great injustice to Ed. Ed is being true to Carolyn, who is way up at Lenoir Rhyne and writes Ed huge letters nearly every day. That's about all I know about Ed, except that he keeps me informed on "stuff like that there!" (That okay, Ed???)

"If you think I'm scared, you're crazy—I always shake like this!" eh Rodney Yates. Boys shouldn't call up other boys and scare them half to death. It could be fatal!

L. P. Ward was dating Betty Sides, Pat's sister, this week-end Betty came up from Concord, and Pat and Bill, Emily and Chick, and Betty and L. P. all spent Sunday in Concord.

Everyone was sorry to see Captain Bruce Bailey hurt in the game Saturday night. Hope he's fine n' dandy by now!

Margaret Pearman has been seen around campus and in the book store several times recently with "Curley" Morris. Could these frequent meetings have any meaning?

"So Blue," that beautiful new hit song, is dedicated to Edna Clark, who didn't get to see the love of her life, Don McNeill, last week-end. Maybe this week-end will have a different story. Sho' hope so, good buddy.

Taylor "Al Jolson" Greene's voice can be heard quite often in the girls' dorm, as he serenades Betty Barbour with "We Could Make Believe." Quite a song, I must admit!

DAE frat is planning a big party Saturday night, and it promises to be a finern. Dancing, self-playing piano, wiener roast, and all. DAE frat, Harry Cardwell, and all the cast in "The Hour of Alarm" deserve a big pat on the back for the fine entertainment they gave the students Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Don't know how it got to be midnight so fast, but that's what the little Swiss clock says; so it's best I put me to sleep. Till next time, it's just "Happy Birthday, be home soon, so till then, Bye Shug!"

Gaelber's Black & Gold Inn at Columbia is the favorite off-campus haunt of University of Missouri students. That's because Gaelber's is a friendly place, always full of the busy atmosphere of college life. There is always plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola, too. Sporting Around

BY PAUL PRYOR

Hats off to the Tar Heels! U. of Carolina's football squad deserves a great deal of praise for their showing against Notre Dame last Saturday. Remember Bill Scheffil? He's playing ball for John Hopkins University. A guard, Bill plays a terrific game. We sure missed his line play this season. Jack Hammond, former H. P. College athlete, is up and around. Hope you are feeling O.K., Jack.

Captain Bruce Bailey, who was injured in E. C. T. C. game, spent the week-end in High Point Hospital. But Monday Bruce was back on campus. All your friends are glad your injury wasn't serious.

We have a new cheerleader in our midst. He's Chief Petitt. Old Chief has a cow bell and, boy, does he yell!

Coach Williard Coble's Trinity High School eleven has been invited to a Bowl game in Graham, North Carolina. Luck to you, Coach.

Lloyd Pardue, Clayton Lynden, Ace Cartwright, Bill Moser, Bud Deal, Shelly Hunsucker, and Toookie Teague were among Carolina rooters at the game in New York last Saturday.

High Point College should be well represented on the mats as Bill Lloyd, Gene Palko, Tom Morris, Charles McConkey and Fred Southland will probably make up the nucleus of Coach Paschal's squad.

C. L. Kimball and Gene Palko were elected Co-Captains of E. P. O.'s basketball squad for the coming season.

Intramural football ended this week, but the standings were not released in time to go to press, so we'll run them in next edition. Joe Inman and Bob Morrison have discarded their casts. Good to see them walking regular again. Some of the football squad wished me to express their thanks to Truman Farrell and his associates for the way they were taken care of during the football season.

SPECIAL TO HI-PO from Footsie Owens:

Paced by their star flanker, towering Bob Draper, the N. D. M. Club defeated the E. H. O. Club by a score of 7 to 6. Both teams went into the game undefeated and unscored on. In the opening minutes of play, big Bob Draper intercepted a pass heaved by Ace Cartwright to Cass Embler and went over standing up. "Farmer" Hostley scored the all important point. In the closing minutes of the first half, Ace Cartwright, again passed to Embler a long one on the ten. Pal Jones went deep into the end zone and scored E. H. O.'s lone tally. The attempt for the extra point failed. Both teams played on even terms the remainder of the game. A capacity crowd was on hand to see the contest. E. H. O.'s Eskridge was outstanding along with N. D. M.'s Stuart Hartley.

Terriers Rang Down Curtain on Panthers

Panthers Tie Last Conference Foe

By JIMMIE HUFFSTETLER

On Saturday night, Nov. 12, at Ablion Millis stadium the Panthers closed out their conference season by tying the Pirates of E. C. T. C. 26-26.

Both teams entered the battle without a win in conference games; therefore, the game was to determine the "cellar dwellers" in the North State Conference. High Point had previously tied Guilford. This places E. C. T. C. in the cellar.

It was a high scoring game with both teams being forced to take to the air in the last half for their touchdowns. Neither team was able to muster up the necessary punch to score in the first quarter and each tallied in the second quarter with neither side making the conversion for the extra points. The score was tied 6-6 at half-time.

The most spectacular run of the game occurred at the opening of the second half. E. C. T. C. kicked off and the ball was taken by Hugh Gordon on his own 10. From here Gordon returned the ball 90 yards for a T.D. During the remainder of the third quarter both teams took to the air to score once each.

During the early minutes of the fourth quarter E. C. T. C. took to the air and scored their third touchdown. For the second time in the game the Pirates were in the lead 20-19. The Panthers retaliated by regaining the lead in less than two minutes. VonDreles' pass to Fisher was complete. The Panthers led 26-20. After this the Pirates were unable to cope with the Panther line till the breaks began to turn in their favor. The Panthers suffered two straight 15-yard penalties which placed the ball on their 15-yard line and fourth down. At this point Coach James sent Evans into the game with instructions to drop behind the goal line and thus give the Pirates a safety. But the Pirate line was too fast and downed Evans on the 13. There were 15 seconds remaining in the ball game. In a desperate struggle the Pirates took to the air in order to score. Three attempts were fruitless, but the fourth try was complete. The try for the all-important extra point was incomplete and therefore the game ended with the score tied 26-26.

It was a rough, bruising game with both lines charging hard and fast. The only serious injury of the game was suffered by Captain Bruce Bailey of the Panthers. He was removed to the hospital where his injuries were found not to be serious. He was able to play against Wofford.

"You used to say there was something about me that you couldn't help but love."
"Yes, but it's all spent now!"

Wofford College invaded Ablion Millis Stadium last Saturday night to ring the curtain down on the 1949 season for High Point College. At the same time they handed Coach James and his Purple Panthers the worst defeat in their careers. It was obvious from the first kickoff that High Point was meeting the Notre Dame of the small college circle.

When the Terriers arrived in town Friday afternoon they had a string of 21 games without defeat to their credit and by midnight Saturday night their string had been extended to 22 as they smothered the Panthers 83-13, before 2,200 cold, shivering fans.

Supporters of High Point can be consoled by the fact that Wofford had previously beaten such foes as Tennessee Tech, Presbyterian, The Citadel, and Catawba. Some of these foes have played Southern and Southeastern Conference teams and gave a good account of themselves in those games.

The Wofford attack was led by Sammy Sewell, who personally accounted for three touchdowns and carried the ball eight times for 128 yards. It was a smooth operating single wing team that was characterized by vicious blocking on the line.

The longest run of the game was registered by Vernon Quick, a terrier guard, who intercepted a blocked pass from VonDrehle on the Wofford 13 and returned it 86 yards for a touchdown.

Lloyd, Ilderton, and VonDrehle led the Panther attack. In the second quarter Lloyd and Ilderton drove 60 yards, with Lloyd driving over from the two-foot line for the initial score of the Panthers.

In the waning minutes of the fourth quarter Wofford was penalized 45 yards on three straight penalties for personal fouls. This placed the ball on the 14 yard line with five seconds remaining in the ball game. VonDrehle faded to pass, but could locate no receiver clear; therefore he changed his mind and scooted across the goal for the second Panther tally.

The game was sponsored by the American Business Club with all proceeds being donated to the local Girl Scouts in order to help promote a summer camp for them.

During the season the Panthers have played hard for the stu-

The officers for the W. A. A. this year are: President, Anita Cornelison; vice-president, (vacant); secretary, Pauline Callway; treasurer, Marjorie Ingram; reporter, Mary Lee Richardson; faculty adviser, Miss Arnet; honorary members, Mrs. Paskall and Miss Baber.

Active members are Marjorie Ingram, Pauline Callway, Laura Mae DeHaven, Rossie Anita Cornelison, Cora Conner, Mary Lee Richardson and Anita Withers.

Non-active members are Imogene Lewis, Inky Gerringer and Mary Lynn Smith.

Dot Stone, Kat Wade, Reba Wright and Ann Hendrick are eligible for membership.

Basketball Season To Get Under Way

Our first game, on November 26, should be one of the most exciting games of the entire season as Hanes Hosiery has several ex-Southern Conference stars on their lineup. High Point has been working out in the afternoons and should be in excellent shape for this game. Milt Candler, a High Point lad, has been looking good in practice sessions along with Hunt, Cartwright and Embler. Coach James hasn't had much time to look over the squad, but starting Monday he'll be looking over his aggregation. Tom Kellam, Paul Pryor and Keith Mobley, football players, will probably be out for practice come Monday. Kellam and Pryor were on the varsity squad last season while Mobley has had a great deal of experience both in high school and while in the service. See you November 26!

dent body and all of us have been good sports in our defeat. At the helm we have an able and experienced coach whose record of victories greatly surpass the defeats. A new system was introduced this year which requires experience to perfect. At the beginning of the season I stated that this was a building season with the victories a year away. The team has shown power, therefore we can expect a much better season next year. In between there will be a fine basketball and baseball season. Students, you are reminded to keep up that excellent support.

INTRAMURALS

Faculty Challenges Students

The mighty Faculty Club has challenged the lowly student body to a duel. Weapons are optional so long as the weapon does not exceed some type of ball. The students have been extended an invitation to choose the ball they would like to use to "drub" the honorable members who have made it a practice to "drub" them three times each week. After the students have chosen their weapon then Mr. Paschal will be glad to oblige with a date convenient to all concerned.

The 1949 intramural football league was very successful. There were nine teams competing and thirty-six games were played. In a hard-fought contest N. D. M. defeated E. H. O. by a score of 7-6 to close out with an undefeated season and wrap up the championship. An excellent school spirit was evident at all the games and each was characterized by clean sportsmanship. Mr. Paschal, the director of the tournament, stated that, "The teams have showed a wonderful spirit and complied with the officials by following the rules and regulations of the tournament well; each team was able to offer fine competition for the other."

All students who are contemplating or would like to attend the Health and Physical Education convention to be held at Columbus, Ohio, December 27-28 are urged to contact Mr. Paschal immediately.

Basketball is just around the corner and an exciting intramural Basketball League is being formed. The tournament is slated to get under way soon; therefore all captains are urged to get their teams together and turn in names to Mr. Paschal so that he may complete the schedule at an early date. Incidentally, it would be nice to have a girls tournament also. Girls, get your team together.

Intramural Football League standings:

Team	Standing
N. D. M.	1.000
E. H. O.	.750
Rebels	.688
Parsons	.553
D. B. A.	.375
I. T. K.	.375
Penny Hall	.250
Shmoos	.250
Bloody Buzzards	.000

At press time there was one game yet to be played.

After the Bloody Buzzards and Schmoos play their final game the complete results will be announced in the next issue.

Society News

High Point College "folk" turned out for a very successful evening of square dancing Wednesday, November 17. This event sponsored by the Methodist Student Fellowship, gained favorable comment, especially from people to whom square dancing was a new accomplishment. Figures were called by Mr. Paschal and music was by recordings. . . . The D. A. E. fraternity is looking forward to its first social event of the year, a cabin party, Saturday, November 19. The fraternity should be congratulated for its fine presentation, "The Hour of Alarm." Few people realize the abilities and talents possessed by so many High Point College students. . . . Mr. Paschal, who directs the most popular place on campus, namely the Student Center, announces that a bridge tournament will be held sometime in the near future. All you bridge "sharks" be sure to sign up. Who knows? You may be the winner! . . . The E. P. O. will hold its first social event on Saturday, November 19. We understand that Palko is going too. . . . Every Sunday night in the auditorium at Roberts Hall vespers are held for all the students. This year the attendance in proportion to the number of students enrolled has been very small. Everybody is urged to attend next Sunday night at 6:30 p.m., when the program will be under the direction of Wayne Shelton. . . . The Faculty Wives Club, a new organization, holds its meetings the third Thursday of every month. This month's meeting, an informal gathering, will be held at Mrs. Dale's with Mrs. Braithwaite and Mrs. Coble as co-hostesses. Mrs. Cooke is president, Mrs. Driver, vice-president, and Mrs. Short, secretary. . . . Each month the Religious Education Club makes favors which go on the trays of the patients at the sanatorium. This month's favors are paper "horns of plenty" to be filled with candy. . . . Monday night, November 14, Belinda Mendenhall, a former member of "Le Tertulia," invited the members of the club to her home for a weiner roast and hay ride. This club is made up of students who are especially interested in the Spanish language and excel in this language usage. . . . At the regular meeting of the local Iota Tau Kappa fraternity, Monday night, November 14, brothers from the chapter at Elon College were the honored guests. At this meeting brotherhood between the two chapters was stressed. A brotherhood party will be held shortly after the first of the year so that all the members of both chapters may become better acquainted. The Elon chapter was organized in 1927 the same year as the local Beta chapter, and has been very active on the Elon campus except during the war years. . . . The Theta Phi sorority is now making plans for its annual Christmas party, December 3, at Mann's Cabin. The party will include a steak supper for the sisters and their dates and a "slumber" party afterwards for the girls.

The Fashion Parade

The holiday season is fast approaching and bringing with it a continuous schedule of parties. This is the season you like to look your best, and this is the year you can do it. Never before has such a variety of gorgeous frocks been offered at prices that are within the budget of a college girl.

The new ankle-length party dress is the rage this season on every college campus. Girls love it because it is young, and incidentally flattering to pretty ankles! It goes to anything short of a cotillion. It is Paris inspired and gives you something the usual party dress lacks.

One of the most stunning is a blindingly beautiful dress of gold lame and net. The bodice is cut after the line Chanel immortalized in the twenties. The skirt is a shower of gold dust with a dipped hemline in back. 'Tis said all that glitters is not gold; but this time it is gold, you will glitter at that important party.

This is by no means the only choice. This short-skirted dress is offered in such a range as to meet the approval of the most discriminating shopper. Available in silver lame, completely overcast in white net, it is heavenly. To emphasize the trim waist, it is shown in white rayon chiffon with a wide, hand-painted satin sash. Another ideal holiday dress is one of Korde nylon net, like driven snow, fired with a rhinestone-studded red bummerbund with a peplum swirling over the skirt.

Keep in mind your hair, eyes and skin, and purchase one of these dazzling creations. You'll love it; he'll love you!

Freshman Class Officers Elected

On November 10th the freshmen met and elected officers for the school year 1949-1950.

Darrell Vuncannon, High Point, N. C., was elected president. While in high school, Darrell was a member of the National Honor Society, the Key Club, and also on the track team. Jane Roach, also of High Point, is vice-president and was a member of the National Honor Society and the Beta Club. Barbara Cook, from Garysburg, N. C., was elected secretary. Barbara was co-valedictorian of her high school class. Besides being very active in the Youth Fellowship work in her district, Barbara holds a State office in the 4-H Club. Greg Merhige, Freeport, Long Island, N. Y., is treasurer. Greg was active in sports while in high school and is now a member of the N. D. M. Club. Robert Barrett was elected as Student Government Representative and hails from Conway, N. C. While in high school Robert was president of the Beta Club, the basketball team, and very active in Youth Fellowship work.

From the previous outstanding records of these people elected to these very important offices, we may expect an outstanding record from this new class.

Personality Corner

Sonny Cardwell says, "Remember, wherever you may go, whatever you may do, KEEP ON THE SUNNY SIDE!" No doubt you, by now, know who Sonny Cardwell is, but if you do not, let me tell you a little about him and his Sunnyside Boys. Organized last year after Christmas, this A Cappella quartet was composed of Sonny, Glen McCulley, now at Duke University, Felix Long, and Francis Booze. Their first piece which they performed was "Cool Clear Water." After their first performance, at which they were enthusiastically received, they decided to make "Keep On the Sunny Side" their theme song. During the remainder of the year they made about fifty different appearances in nearby cities, at local civic clubs, high schools, churches and also had a thirty-minute program in Reidsville.

The two outstanding campus appearances have been in "The Chaotic Hour" given last year and "The Hour of Alarm" this year. The quartet this year is composed of Sonny who hails from Reidsville, N. C., Francis Booze, High Point, N. C., Felix Long, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Lonnie Bledsoe, Mt. Airy, N. C. All the members are music majors except Bledsoe who is a physical education major.

Stern Measures Needed to Stop Communism

Mr. Alvin Wingfield, student of Russia, spoke to the student body and faculty of High Point College, Tuesday, November 22, 1949, on the danger of Russian Communism to the peace of the world.

Mr. Wingfield is one of the country's most outstanding interpreters of Russian thought, though he insists he is an amateur on the subject. Mr. Wingfield has had firsthand contact with the Russians as liaison officer between the headquarters of General Lucius Clay and the Russian headquarters in Berlin, Germany, during the early months following World War II.

Textbooks used in the education of first and second grade children in Russia were shown to the assembly with emphasis placed upon the early slant given to the military in that country. Also shown were newspapers which Mr. Wingfield receives direct from Moscow. Mr. Wingfield, an accomplished linguist, translated some of the headlines from these newspapers to show the students the type of propaganda Russia feeds to its people.

"Only the sternest measures—short of war, if possible, but still the sternest measures—can stop Russian efforts to Communize and dominate the world," declared Mr. Wingfield.

During the last 18 months Mr. Wingfield has been invited to address more than 200 organizations and institutions throughout the southeast.

Dr. Cooke Speaks To Altrusans

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, President of High Point College, was guest speaker at the November dinner and program meeting of the Altrusa Club on November 22, at the Sheraton Hotel.

"Education Is A Good Investment" was the subject of Dr. Cooke's address. He asked the group to accompany him on an imaginary trip to certain parts of the world and gave statistics on each country's educational level in relation to its standard of living and natural resources to support his statement that a country's standard of living and income are in direct proportion to its educational level.

Of the 20,000 names in the volumes of Who's Who In America, 18,000 were college graduates, 2,000 were high school graduates, and only 22 ceased education at the end of the elementary grades. "On an average, the better educated man or woman gets higher wages, with few exceptions," Dr. Cooke said, quoting from available statistics.

Dean Lindley Speaks on "Our Neglected Local History"

Dean P. E. Lindley addressed the Kiwanis Club at the Sheraton Hotel Friday, November 25th, on the subject, "Our Neglected Local History."

Attention was called to the fact that the first battle of the Revolution was not at Lexington, Massachusetts, as taught by the history books, but here in North Carolina. The Battle of Alamance between the Regulators and Governor Tryon's forces May 16, 1771, was the first battle of the Revolution, according to research done by Dean Lindley.

Dean Lindley has visited numerous historical sites and made pictures to corroborate his research. The village of Guilford College was discovered as the birthplace of Dolly Payne Madison, wife of President James Madison. Beyond Guilford College is the birthplace of Joe Cannon, Congressman and Speaker of the House for many years.

Near Reidsville Dean Lindley located the neglected grave of the wife of Senator Stephen A. Douglas. Mrs. Douglas was the former Miss Martha Martin. She died in Washington and was brought back to North Carolina by private conveyance for burial in January, 1853. Senator Douglas' resting place is marked by a one-hundred-foot monument

Assembly Address By Rabbi Unger

Dr. Sidney Unger of Asheville, North Carolina, addressed the student body and faculty of High Point College on Tuesday, November 29, on the subject of Jewish customs and ceremonies which have meant so much to our Hebrew-Christian culture.

A graduate of Temple University, Dr. Unger also studied at the University of Pennsylvania and spent three summers at the University of Mexico. Young though he is, he served in two world wars. In the First World War, he served as a machine-gunner and as Chaplain in World War II. Dr. Unger is Rabbi of the Jewish Temple in Asheville in addition to being a scholar, religious leader, and lecturer.

"The end of all religious ceremonies and customs is to intensify the relationship between God and man," declared Dr. Unger.

overlooking a lake in a park in Chicago, Illinois.

Bentonville was the scene of the last battle of any consequence of the Civil War, March, 1896, between General Johnston and General Sherman. Sherman was coming up from Georgia and was stopped and held by Johnston. In this engagement it is estimated that the Union forces lost about 1,600 men; the Confederates about 2,700. The treaty ending the Civil War was drawn up west of Durham in Bennett House which has since burned leaving only the chimney standing.

Salisbury has a national cemetery in which Robert Livingston, son of David Livingston, missionary-explorer, was buried. Robert fled to the United States and joined the Union forces. He was taken prisoner and placed in a Confederate prison where he died from disease and starvation in December, 1864. He enlisted under the name of Robert Vincent. Livingston College is named for him.

Mocksville is the home of Major Tom Farrabee who dropped the first atomic bomb used in warfare. Dean Lindley visited Major Farrabee's home but found him away in school in Florida. Mrs. Farrabee, the major's mother, was reluctant to talk of the bombing or be photographed.

Ping-Pong Team Announces Plans

John Hinton, acting Captain of the High Point College Ping Pong Team, has announced plans for a ping pong tournament to be played with the teams from Elon, Guilford, and Catawaba Colleges. Plans are to play two games with each school, one here and one at the schools named.

Commenting on the potentialities of the team, Mr. Hinton said, "With just as many capable substitutes as regular players, the team should provide strong opposition to the opposing teams. Another favorable factor is that all the players are close enough in ability to make the tournament exciting and exceptionally close."

Lineups for the Ping Pong Team was derived from a tournament which was held during the last few weeks in the Student Center. It is hoped that the games with other colleges can be staged in Harrison Gymnasium at night. The Ping Pong Team fervently encourages student support towards making ping pong one of the important sports on campus. Financial support is desired by the team from the college athletic fund.

The Ping Pong team members and substitutes with their number of wins are:

- John Hinton, Jr. 20
- "Ace" Cartwright 14
- Don Emblor 14
- Herman Deaton 12
- Curley Morris 9
- Jake Steele 9
- Oliver Hauser 9
- J. W. Ray 8
- Charles Casey 7
- Substitutes
- Henry Maddux 3
- Laverne Lowder 3

Freshman Grades

According to information received from the Registrar, Mr. N. P. Yarborough, Freshmen grades have been mailed home to indicate the progress made by the student during the first quarter of this semester.

"These are not permanent grades, but just an indication of how Freshmen are getting along," explained Mr. Yarborough. "Only upperclassmen failing grades are turned in to the Dean."

"It is too early to state definitely how the Freshmen grades compare with previous years, but there have been two Freshmen with straight A's," concluded Mr. Yarborough.

M. S. F. Selects Conference Representatives

Among the two thousand student delegates and three hundred adult delegates that will converge on the campus of the University of Illinois at Urbana, Illinois, on December 27, for the Fourth National Methodist Student Conference, will be three High Point College students and one faculty member.

Announcement was made today that Owen Fitzgerald, President of the Methodist Student Fellowship on campus, Janie Bartlett, and Wayne Shelton were chosen as student representatives of High Point College with Miss Ruth Steelman as the adult delegate.

The theme of the Conference, "The Christian Use of Power In A Secular World," grew out of recent developments in the rise of power which are now a part of the world in which we live.

The Conference is genuinely a National Project of the Methodist Student Movement in all areas and aspects.

An attempt is being made to have in the Conference the representative Christian student leadership of the nations of the world. The international and interracial character of the Conference will be stressed in the presence of Nationals and representatives who are members of the student bodies of the campuses of this country.

The three representatives will leave by car with Miss Steelman from Greensboro December 26. They expect to return January 2.

Schedule Of Interviews Posted

Mrs. Alice Gorman, Vocational Advisor, has posted the schedule for interviews with Mr. C. B. Galmore, Jr., District Manager of the Proctor and Gamble Company, Charlotte, North Carolina, on November 29.

Twenty-three students have been allotted twenty minutes each with Mr. Galmore. Each student has a personnel folder containing teachers' ratings, intelligence, personality, and interest test scores, and comment by each student on his own life interests and purposes, which will be available to Mr. Galmore in his interviews with the group. These interviews are the first of a series which are being conducted for the benefit of those students graduating in January who are interested in salesman positions.

"In a day or two," said Mrs. Gorman, "I will send out letters to all county and city school superintendents giving a list of prospective teachers graduating in January."

One of the major duties of Mrs. Gorman's office is the placing of each year's graduates. This placement service is also available to alumni.

"The personnel records left each year by the student are available to any employer who may be interested in the record made by the student while at High Point College," concluded Mrs. Gorman.

Pictures in Foyer

Four pictures adorn the walls of the foyer in Roberts Hall. These four men were undoubtedly past presidents of the college or through their efforts have contributed something significant to High Point College. One does not have to strain the imagination very far to realize that many students will go through four years here at the college without realizing who those men are. Those men evidently were presented with a name at birth and undoubtedly those names came to be well known in the world. If we think enough of these men to honor them with their pictures on our college walls, surely it would not be asking too much to give equal honor to their names. Won't someone or some organization please see if it can't furnish appropriate names for these illustrious men? I am certain that students and visitors alike would appreciate knowing who these men are.

Trophy Case

Also standing in the Foyer is a trophy case. In this will be found the trophies that our teams have won in competition; that is, some of the trophies will be found in this case. There are several trophies around the school that will not fit for the simple reason that the case is already full. Undoubtedly the case was purchased several years ago when there were not many trophies. Since then the awards have increased; therefore, it is time that the case should be replaced by a larger and more appropriate one. Would the Senior class be interested in donating a new, larger trophy case this year?

Great Britain and Socialism

Great Britain is now passing through one of its most crucial periods. If it succeeds in solving the problems arising from this crisis, it will again be called one of the greatest countries the world has ever known; however, if it fails, it will be recorded with other great empires such as Rome and Greece.

What has caused this crisis?

The Labor Party and its type of socialistic legislation are the main causes of it. The Labor Party has had control of Parliament only four years. But within that time it has created "a severe economic crisis in the country's balance of payments." There has been a steady increase in the number of families in the "low income field." Through nationalization of industries and socialized medicine, it expected to improve the situation, but it has only caused a recession.

Despite the protests of the Conservatives, the Labor Party succeeded in nationalizing the major industries. The Labor Party thought it could save the people money; however, taxes have continuously been increased; and as a result of nationalization, the railroads have not been managed efficiently. In addition to this, "one unexpected result (of nationalization) has been the lack of real improvement in the morale of the miners."

Socialized medicine was approved by Parliament on July 5, 1948. Under this plan every person in the Isles was to receive free medical care. Although it was called free medical care, it was "financed through direct taxation," and cost the British people "$1,600,000,000 in the first year of operation.

With "a wildcat strike of railway workers against the nationalized railway system spreading, Liverpool dockers out, and London truckers engaging in a slow-down," the Labor Party called its forty-eighth annual conference at Lancashire. This conference is known as the Blackpool Conference.

"This was a conference of worried men." "Union members, disappointed by nationalization, were becoming increasingly hard for their government to handle," and one million votes more for the Conservatives would kill the Labor Party's chances for reelection. Not only did some of the people criticize its plans, but also some of its leaders. Bevin, the Foreign Minister, told the Blackpool conference: "Some of our people appear to have achieved material prosperity in excess of their stature. Some of them have got what they have got too easily and they are in

"Wha' Hoppended"

BY JEAN KERR

Dear Shug:

So many things have been happening around H. P. U. that I thought I may well write you and tell you a few of them.

Gary Henry, the boy all the girls are in love with, got a big surprise when he came back from the Thanksgiving holidays. Someone told him that Jean Ray had brought a car back with her, so Gary was ready to let the good times roll, but then he found out the bitter truth. No car—just a practical joker.

Hilda Maske had a wonderful time at home over the holidays. Maybe it's because of that certain male there.

Doris Autry is dating Bill Fanelty. He's that cute day student. You know those Autry girls really go in for the day students.

Nancy Lawson really had a big time Thanksgiving. She dated Doug Carter from Carolina. They went to the Dairy Bowl over in Lexington.

Shug, you know Lib Gilbert and "Mighty Bob" Gleason have been dating about all of this year. Well, I don't know "Wha' Hoppended," but they have called it quits. Bob dated Edna Clark Sunday night, and from what I hear, Paul Pryor is going to date Lib.

Betty "Littlebit" Mallard dated boys from Greensboro for the past two Sunday nights. Some boys from Brevard came up to see her Saturday night, but someone told someone that she really has a crush on a certain day student. What you doing "Casey"?

Arlyn Hughes is still receiving letters from a certain Gloria Flippen from Pilot Mountain, N. C.

Mary Frances Howell and her boy friend from Duke, who I think is named "Jimmy" have fallen out. But they say true love never runs smooth. Just in case things don't go as planned, tho' maybe Mary Frances and Boone Jackson will get together. They can just out square dance anyone on the campus.

Eleanor Church seems to have been seen many times lately with Bill White. But who was Eleanor dating the other night? I don't think it was Bill.

Jeanette Hawkins is sporting a broken arm. She fell down while skating backwards at the skating rink over in Greensboro and broke her arm. Hope it will be all well soon.

Mary DeVon had company this week-end. Her boy friend from Spartanburg, S. C., came up to see her, so they had much fun.

Anne, my younger sister, came down this week-end. Wonder who it was asked her if the college boys gave her a thrill, and when she said "no," he felt sure he could give her one. Did someone say something about someone being conceited.

Well, time is short, so spect I better sign off for now, hoping that there isn't anything in this column that will displease anyone, for the purpose of this column isn't to hurt anyone's feelings, but to keep everyone posted on the campus romances, and the other bits of news that keep life interesting. Just three more weeks till Christmas, so everybody be good—and "Bye Shug."

Junior Varsity Wins Close One

As a warm-up to the main event last Saturday night the Junior Varsity, paced by Deaton, Fisher and Bledsoe, defeated Piedmont Electric Co. of High Point by a one point margin.

It was a see-saw battle from beginning to end as the lead changed several times. With one minute remaining in the ball game the Baby Panthers trailed by four points. Two quick baskets by Fisher and Deaton pulled

Panthers Beat Erlanger To Start Cage Play

Coach James unveiled the High Point College Purple Panthers for the 1949-50 basketball season last Wednesday by downing Erlanger Mills of Lexington, 63-28, before a small pre-Thanksgiving crowd.

Before the final whistle had sounded all of the 16-man squad had a chance at the invaders.

For the first seven minutes the Panthers tested their strength and at this time they were trailing 9-8, but they had a convincing 32-13 lead by halftime, and they were not detoured from here on out.

The Panther attack was led by Ed Sueta, Leonard Hunt and Jesse Joyce, who each contributed nine points to take high honors in scoring for the night.

It was a rough game from start to finish with 43 personal fouls being called. The Panther defense held the visitors to only seven field goals.

Panthers Fall Before Hanes, 56-53

The strong cage team of Hanes Hosiery were able to eke out a four-point win over the Purple Panthers in a nip and tuck game last Saturday night at Harrison Gymnasium.

The Panthers entered the game as the underdogs, but came mighty close to upsetting the favorites whose team is comprised of one ex-All American and several ex-All Southern stars. The Panthers' youthful squad lists no seniors and a couple non-lettermen.

At half time the Panthers held a 33-26 lead, but lost this lead early in the second half when regulars Ed Sueta and Bill Waitz fouled out; thus depriving the Panthers of their highest scorers and most talented men under the basket.

The Hanes attack was led by former All-American John (Hook) Dillon who dropped in 18 points to cop high-scoring honors for the night.

During the second half the lead changed twice, but due to the loss of the pivot men the Panthers were unable to cope with the more experienced players from Hanes when the going was the roughest in the last few minutes.

If the playing to-date is any indication of the strength of the Panthers then we can expect to cop some laurels when the Conference competition begins.

Sporting Girls

BY "INKY" GARRINGER

What is this "thing" called W. A. A? Lend an ear, and I'll tell you.

The W. A. A. is the Women's Athletic Association of High Point College. Its purpose is to promote interest in gymnastic and athletic activities among the women of the college as a means of promoting skill in sports fellowship, health, and co-operation with other organizations on the campus.

Throughout the year a variety of sports is conducted: soccer, hockey, volley ball, basketball, and softball. By participating in one of these and getting the required number of practices (usually eight), a girl receives one hundred credits and is eligible for membership in the organization.

Awards are given according to the number of points earned—500 points, a numeral; 1,000 points, a letter; 1,500 points, a sweater.

Only a few girls have won the sweater. To win it a girl must start taking part in sports her freshman year and continue until she graduates. For each sport in which one gets the required number of practices, 100 points credit is given.

Individual varsity insignias are given to girls who make the varsity team in any sport. Such a team is chosen by the Woman's Athletic Council composed of the W. A. A. president, secretary, treasurer, and physical education instructor. Members of this team are chosen according to general appearance, co-operative attitude, effort, and ability. To each girl who makes varsity in a particular sport an additional 50 points credit is given.

The W. A. A. will accept transfer students into active membership if their previous points compare with our point system.

The association has its regular meeting the last Thursday night of the month. The basement club room of Woman's Hall is usually the place.

The officers—Anita Cornelison, president; Pauline Calloway, secretary; Marjory Ingram, treasurer, and the W. A. A. members invite all interested girls to meet them at the gym each afternoon at 3:00.

danger of throwing away by a few months of dissipating anarchy what we have spent our lifetime in building up."

Approximately seven months following this conference, the British pound was devalued. In a broadcast to the British people on September 18, 1949, Sir Stafford Cripps, said, "Our whole idea (in devaluating the pound) is to spread whatever burden there is fairly over everyone." This shows that the Labor Party is not expecting an improvement in the economic situation. He continued, "We must soon become self-supporting at whatever standard we can afford." There has already been a decline in standards, but Sir Stafford Cripps told the British that there will be further declines.

If Great Britain had complete socialism, capable leaders, and a well planned program, it would probably better the economic and social condition; however, until that time, "there is need of a new program and a new philosophy." The program should be one in which free-enterprise is permitted, and the philosophy should be one of individual freedom.

Q. When meeting professors socially, how does one address them?

A. If he holds the title of Doctor, call him that; otherwise call him "Professor." If he is an instructor, call him "Mister."

Q. Does a man's giving his fraternity pin mean that he considers himself engaged to the girl?

A. By most people it is supposed that, when a man gives a girl his pin, his intentions are a future engagement.

Q. Is it correct at a college dance for a man to cut in on a girl to whom he has not been introduced?

A. At a Fraternity dance, yes; at a Prom, no.

Q. Is it necessary to greet the chaperons at a dance?

A. At a large dance, if they are not receiving, you don't. At a small dance it is polite.

Q. Does an invitation to a man who is not a student at college, oblige the girl who invites him to pay the expenses of the evening?

A. If the word "invitation" is meant, yes. Otherwise she is a seller of tickets and not a hostess.

A Very Merry Christmas and

Former Student Preaches to Pres. Truman

Lieutenant William A. Rennie, class of 1940 of High Point College, had the honor of preaching to President Harry Truman Sunday, December 4, in Key West, Florida.

Lieutenant Rennie was an outstanding student while at High Point College. He was an accomplished violinist and played in the band. He entered the college program with the same enthusiasm which has characterized his entire career. Lieutenant Rennie graduated Magna Cum Laude from High Point College and did graduate study at Yale University.

During the recent war, Lieutenant Rennie served as a chaplain in the navy and is still in service at the submarine base in Key West, Florida. He is a native of Methuen, Massachusetts.

Facts Every HPC Student Should Know

Roberts Hall, better known as the Administration Building, was named in honor of Mr. John Calvin Roberts of Kernersville. Mr. Roberts donated the first money for the founding of a Methodist Protestant College. The understanding that if such a college was not opened by 1920, the money would be used for the education of ministerial students was a provision in Mr. Roberts' will. Students are still drawing upon the $10,000 fund set up by Mr. Roberts.

A pioneer in college work and a member of the first Board of Trustees, Mr. J. Norman Wills, gave of his leadership and resources to High Point College in its early days.

Lindley Chapel To Be Renovated

Extensive plans for the complete renovation of Lindley Chapel was announced today by Chester Brown, President of the Ministerial Association.

Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, President of High Point College, gave his full support to the campaign to raise the necessary funds for this work.

Contributions in the amount of $650 were received from the following organizations: $300 from an anonymous friend, $250 from the Men's Bible Class of First Methodist Church, $50 from the Girls' Religious Education Club, and $50 from the campus Ministerial Association.

Lindley Chapel, which is located on the second floor of Roberts Hall, will be remodeled and have carpets, new pews, and lighting fixtures installed by the end of the second semester.

Students at High Point College and the surrounding community are being treated for the second year with Christmas chimes and carols from the tower atop Roberts Hall.

Records and amplifier were purchased from the Boys' Dormitory fund. The recorder was rented out of the Girls' Dormitory fund. Donald Lakin has kindly given his time to playing these records in the evening from 6:30 to 8 o'clock.

Sixteen sets of Christmas lights adorn the tower. These were also donated by the Boys' Dormitory.

It was announced by Mr. Lakin that the music will be played until midnight Christmas Eve, and the chimes will ring on Christmas Day. It is hoped that this program will be continued in future years at High Point College since it adds greatly to the Yule spirit on the campus.

New Addition To Faculty

It was announced today by Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, President of High Point College, that Dr. Richard Cecil Todd will be added to the faculty in the Department of History temporarily for the second semester.

Dr. Todd, a native of Lancaster, Pa., will be graduated from the Graduate School of Duke University at the conclusion of this semester with a Ph.D. degree in history. "The Produce Loans; the Means of Financing the Confederacy," was the subject of his doctor's dissertation.

While a student at Duke, Dr. Todd was an active participant in a number of extra curricular activities, including track, basketball, school publications, and the literary society. He has also coached track and basketball.

The Anniversary of Our Saviour's Birth

Once again we stand on the threshold of celebrating two great events. The first great event will be the celebration of a birthday of a great personality who was born over two thousand years ago in a stable. He came into this world as a King but did not enter as a King. He entered as a peasant because His mission was not such a one that would have been successful any other way. Gladness and sorrow are not too far apart and even as we rejoice at this time over His birth we will be looking ahead just a few months when we will mourn the tragic death that came to Him on the Cross of Cavalry. But in between that birth and death there was a world of good and it is this good that we are rejoicing over.

To many of us Christmas signifies a vacation period, or a period to receive something. On Christmas Eve sit down and read Dicken's Christmas Carol and then see if there isn't something that you can do to show your appreciation of the birth of a Man who gave His life doing good for others.

Thoughts on the New Year

The other great event that we will celebrate while away is the New Year. This year will start the down-hill movement of the Twentieth Century. It will also start off by each of us making a few resolutions, which are promptly forgotten. Each of us will probably resolve to study a little harder. The staff of The Hi-Po gives the students their New Year resolution now, and that is to continue giving you a paper as scheduled and to work for a greater paper.

Be Careful . . . and Live

A few days before Christmas the National Safety Council will bring out their estimates as to the number of people they expect to be killed over the holiday period. Undoubtedly the figure will be high because for one thing the U. S. produced over six million automobiles this year to pass all previous records.

This means that there are more automobiles on the roads today than ever before. More people are killed during this season than at any other time. You will not be the only student on the road, as thousands of other college students will be going and returning from home at the same time we are. Every 24 hours 89 lives are lost in traffic accidents. It will be a much happier Christmas for everyone if you who drive will drive carefully and reach your destination.

Remember these figures: During the year 1949 there were 32,000 people killed as the result of automobile accidents, during the same period there were 1,100,000 non-fatal accidents. Although these non-fatal accidents were not fatal immediately the long-run effect could be disastrous. The direct economic loss from these accidents was over one billion dollars. These figures for the economic losses do not include the broken bones that never heal, the parents that lose a child, the child that loses a parent, the wife that loses a husband. The accident itself can result in poorer health which would lower the economic and social condition of the person involved. —The life you save may be your own.—To your loved one an automobile can be replaced but you can't; so drive in such a manner that you will protect that investment that has been made in you.

Bigger and Better Newspaper

In our desire to continue improving the paper the staff wanted to give you a larger and better paper for the last issue of the old year. We hope that you will enjoy this new size paper, as it is our desire to make it a regular practice in the near future.

SUGGESTIONS . . .

Chimes," and "The Cricket On the Hearth."

Miracle On 34th Street has been called a twentieth century Christmas carol. This little story by Valentine Davis will be read again and again by young and old as we enjoy the Christmas season.

The Littlest Angel, by Charles Tazewell, since its publication in 1946, is becoming a classic to be read over and over at this joyous season. It describes the troubles of a newly arrived little angel who was lonely in the beautiful golden streets of Paradise and caused too many upsets among the grown-up angels until an understanding angel took him in charge.

The Small One by the same author is a beautiful story for everyone who loves Christmas and small donkeys. Well, we all love Christmas, and you may even grow fond of small donkeys after reading this charming little book.

There are numerous collections of Yuletide stories and Christmas traditions that may be useful in preparing Christmas programs or that will just help entertain during the holidays. Let these books make your Christmas merry!

Dear Santa:

By JEAN KERR

You will probably be very, very busy with your Christmas rush by now, but this is just a little reminder, so that you won't forget the students at High Point College, who have been such good little boys and girls all year. Just between you 'n' me, there are a few students who would like to have extra special gifts on Christmas morning, so it is for them that I am writing this letter to you.

Mary Frances Howell has been a pretty good girl all year. She hasn't broken any dates, or stood anyone up, and on the whole she has been pretty good, so Santa she would like to ask you to cruise up by Duke University before you come on up to Canton, and bring her a certain little blond-haired freshman whose name is Jimmy. She knows you won't have any trouble finding him, for he is the only "Jimmy" in the world — although I would like to disagree with that.

Charles Casey had an unusual request, Santa. He said he just didn't want a thing for Christmas. He is a lucky boy, for he is happy with all the things he has so he said just "don't bring him nuttin'."

Margaret Southerland confessed that she has been a good girl all the year. She's been good, but she would be better if you brought her a great big ole diamond from Bill Peeler, but she admitted that she would be happy if you can't get a diamond on such short notice that she would be happy if you could persuade Bill Peeler to come back to school the second semester.

Santa, I know you must know Bill Elmore, since he is president of the ITK fraternity. Bill wants a little red wagon (Buick, that is) filled with a great big beautiful doll that can walk, and talk, and make love. He also wants some nuts and candy, too. Maybe you can get him the nuts and candy, anyway!

Joan "Cookie" Cook doesn't want much. She will be quite satisfied if you just bring W. G. up to New Jersey over the holidays. Now, that isn't asking much Santa, so slip W. G. the word, won't you?

Some of the girls just won't be satisfied if you can't bring a small part of the University of North Carolina. Two such girls are Rebecca Southerland and Emily Badgett, although Emily declares that this statement isn't "kee-rect." Emily said she would be satisfied just to get back to that big city of Pilot Mountain. Think you could fix it up?

Santa, if you are an ardent reader of the Hi-Po like you ought to be, you will realize that Jim Rusher's name has purposely been left out of the Hi-Po, but now that it is almost Christmas and he has been such an extra fine boy, he would like for you to bring him $500.00 in any old stocking under his Christmas

'Wha' Hopped'

BY JEAN KERR

Christmas holidays have finally arrived and everyone is ready to leave H. P. C., but the before-leaving rush has caught most of us. Last week-end the Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Junior Class was a highlight of the season. Everyone seemed to have a wonderful time. Paul Pryor was dating a mighty cute girl from W. C. Charles Casey was dating a girl from Greenboro; Bill Smith was dating Peggy Booker, from out at the nurses' home, who hails from Mount Airy; Arlen Hughes was also dating a nurse from Martin Memorial Hospital by name of Fenton Hiatt. Lots of other boys and girls were dating off campus names, but lots of students stuck to H. P. C. for their dates and had much fun.

Mac Underwood seems to have captured the heart of a certain girl up town. From what everyone says, she calls him "Baby Doll," and when he goes into the Hot Shop to eat, he can be sure of getting extra special favors. That must be fine!

Ed Austin wasn't dating at the Christmas dance, thus breaking two or three hearts. Ed had some of his friends from Gastonia up for the week-end so he didn't crowd a girl into the situation. Maybe he WILL SOON tho'.

Clayton Snyder still hasn't recovered from being called "Hose-nose" in this column, so for a Christmas present Clayton, here is that long-awaited-for "Didn't wanna do it, but didn't know any better" that you have been wanting to see. Hope everything in Pinnacle is fine for Christmas!

Betty Belcher told me that she wanted a "good BUDDY" for Christmas, and from what we hear, she got one. 'Spect Buddy Welch will cruise down to Wilmington during the holidays!

Lib Gilbert has decided that Bob Gilbert is the man for her—that is unless a certain Jimmy that thinks she is mighty cute makes that telephone ring!

Have you listened to the "Skyline Patrol" lately? Several of the H. P. C. students have been having their share of the requests played. Some of these lucky people are Cookie and W. G., Lib and Bob, Nancy and Harry Lee, Carlotta and Judson, Betty and Harold, and a few others. Wonder who Gene O'Daniel keeps requesting "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" for? Anybody we know?

What has happened to Barbara Cook, Roddy Yates, twosome? Roddy dated Sue Allred to the Christmas Dance, and has been seen around the campus with Betty Spearman, while Barbara has been seen mucho times with Bob Hughes, who incidentally left for Elkin Tuesday and all those mountain women of his.

Maxie Hall is still dating Harold Hutchens, while Stella Reading is still dating Bill Collett, although Stella has been seen around the campus with Gene Dull.

Mrs. Dave Chettle was up for the Christmas Dance, so that explains that happy glow that Dave was wearing around all day. "Mr. and Mrs. Chettle" make a darling couple. Congratulations and Merry Christmas!

Jean Colson would like to dedicate "I'll Have a Blue Christmas Without You" to Fred Rogers. She won't get to see Fred for two whole weeks, the way things stand now. Elizabeth City is just too far away!

Many of the Northern boys have already left for "Yankee Land." A few are sticking around tho' for a while, anyway. Paul Pryor is staying over until Sunday so he can date "Beth" again over at W. C. before he leaves.

Mary Devonne is leaving Saturday for Fayetteville, N. C. Christmas means "Huitt" to her, so know she will have many funs!

Polly Calloway was seen at the Christmas Dance with Bill Woods, while "Babs" Lawrence from Lexington, who is a former student of H. P. C. and plans to resume her studies here next semester was dating Sam Long from Winston-Salem. Babs was mighty distressed because she lost her corsage. Anyone find one?

Christmas rush, tests, and places to go—everyone will probably go home to rest up after a week like this, but after two weeks of holidays, will probably be glad to come back to H. P. C. to rest up. Ye Olde Editor has already blown his top twice by now because this column got lost in the Christmas rush, so better close by wishing everyone a merry, merry Christmas. Till next year about this time—Bye Shug!

tree, so that he can get married. Of course, I would be thrilled to death to find either under my Christmas tree any time.

Santa, I guess all the other students have written to you personally so Editor Grady says I better cut this short, so I will close now hoping that each and every student and faculty member at High Point College will have the merriest and best Christmas that they have ever had before. Till Christmas, I will close.

Bye,
"SHUG."

Moral: Be Careful

By LOUISE BUTLER

As I walked down the path in the deep woods, the snow began to fall, slowly at first then faster. I knew I must hurry to get a Christmas tree before it got dark. I had decided to get a big tree because big ones always seem to be so much more cheerful. I found three, but there was one that was just made for the window in the front room. I could see it now all decorated with lights, icicles, candy canes, and popcorn. It took only a few minutes to chop the tree down. It was beginning to get dark, so I hurried to cross the road back to the path. I could hear the roar of a car approaching, but there was no car in sight; but it was a car, and before I knew what had happened I and my Christmas tree went flying into the air. The next thing I knew I was in the hospital with a handsome young boy beside me. He explained to me and the policeman that he had not turned on his lights. After I came out of the daze, I really felt sorry for him; he was on his way home for the Christmas holidays. The officer in charge let him by with the hospital bill and a long speech on carelessness. I had only a broken ankle and a few bruises, but it could have been a lot worse. The little fir tree was all that saved me. It's Christmas Eve now, and I have a new Christmas tree loaded with presents, while aromas of chicken and dressing and all the trimmings are seeping from the kitchen. I'll always remember that first little tree, for Christmas would have been a sad time with a family of only three.

Short Story Contest

The 1949 College Writers' Short Story Contest of Tomorrow Magazine will close January 15, 1949. Manuscripts must be mailed on or before that date.

Prizes of $500, $300 and $200 will be awarded for the best three stories. The judges will be the editors of Tomorrow Magazine and Creative Age Press.

The prize-winning stories will be published in the spring and summer of 1950. All other stories will be considered for publication at Tomorrow's regular rates.

Entries should be addressed to College Contest, Tomorrow Magazine, 11 East 44th Street, New York 17, New York. They must be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Xmas Carols Sung
At Intermission Of Christmas Dance

Would you like to know what happened at the Christmas formal Saturday night? Well, there I was, the center of attraction, seeing everything that happened—yes, Taylor Green, I saw you too, I almost burst my points laughing at the "Desert Knights" in their renditions of "I Didn't Know the Gun Was Loaded" and "Take Me Out To the Ball Game."

I was the most outstanding one there except for those artistic Santa Clauses which really set the decorations off. I was gently swaying to the strains of "Whispering" when I saw Ted Orr seeking desperately for Frances. Someone had cut, and she stayed lost for an hour. It was a little crowded on the dance floor, huh, Ted?

Dr. and Mrs. Cook can really cut a mean rug to say nothing of Mr. and Mrs. Dale. I was really enjoying Joe Inman's bee bop until he had to leave for W. C.

About nine o'clock I saw a pair of blue eyes patiently watching the door for her "wrestling" escort.

Bob Robertson was in such a hurry to get to the dance I heard him say he burst the radiator on the Nash. The conversations were really very interesting, but I just couldn't listen to all of them at once. I did hear Bill say he wished he could dance one dance with Dirie Grey. After all he brought her.

The Marley twins were having a swell time. I hope their girls didn't get them mixed up. (I did.)

The highlight of the evening was the singing of Christmas carols at intermission. I was singing so loud I almost drowned out Wayne Shelton, who was leading the carols.

After intermission every time I looked down I saw Joyce Layton and Ray Shore. I'll bet they are still tired because they didn't sit out a single dance.

I really hope you kids enjoyed the dance half as much as I did.

I suppose I had better tell you how I knew about all the happenings in Harrison Gym Saturday night before they throw me out. I was the big red star that beamed down on you as you danced—and now into the trash can.

The small snake came home with tears in his little pink eyes. Rivulets ran down his hot little face.

"Mommy," he sobbed, "they won't let me play with the little snake next door."

"They won't let you play with the snake next door! Why those snobs! I knew them when they didn't have a pit to hiss in."—Illinois Tech.

"F-E-E-T," exclaimed the teacher, "what does it spell, Mary?"

"I dunno."
"Well, what is it that a cow has four of and I have only two?" So Mary told her.

At the annual meeting of the Methodist Foundation held in Wesley Memorial Methodist Church December 10, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, president of High Point College, delivered the main talk.

Dr. Cooke spoke on the topic "The Role of Independent Colleges and Universities."

He defined independent colleges and universities as "All those independent of government control and support—all private and church-related institutions."

Dr. Cooke declared that there was no substitute for competition, even in higher education; that it was of the greatest importance that independent colleges and universities not only survive but provide the stiffest sort of competition for those which depend upon taxes.

Dr. Cooke made the following observations: Four areas in higher consideration and attention: 1.—Privately endowed and supported colleges and universities must always be ahead of the procession. 2.—The problem of educational costs may need revising. 3.—If our independent institutions are to provide stimulus, imagination, and leadership, these will come out of people, and not out of stone and mortar. 4.—The only real defense, in this time of great and terrible problems, seems to be in the field of character and morality.

Citing our high educational level in America, Dr. Cooke said that we have the highest crime rate in the world.

He closed with the following statement: "We must make the education in our church-related colleges more than knowledge; we must make it Christian education; it must be education plus."

Recognition Of Students

By W. BRUCE STROTHER
(From Christian Education Magazine)

Observance of Student Recognition Day in the local church achieves two outstanding results. First, the service of recognition gives the student a sense of spiritual backing. How decisive this it at times, and how important it is to know that one has spiritual backing and support! In stabilizing young lives, more is wrought by warm-hearted interest than this world dreams of.

The second value of the observance is that it does something for the church. It reminds the congregation of responsibility to the student—a responsibility that is urgent and real. If Mother Monica or Mother Susannah had evaded responsibility, who can be sure that Augustine or Wesley would have stirred souls for God? If Mother Church evades responsibility to students, who can estimate the loss?

The tremendous pressures that are being brought to bear today upon students places us under the urgent and immediate necessity of thinking of education as something much more than the mere transmission of facts. It must also be a counseling process by which students are trained to expect, to identify and to deal with the situations which they meet. The church is definitely concerned both for the well-being of human personality and for the outlook of potential leaders.

The church's recognition of the importance of the student begins long before the young person goes to college. It is the pastor's privilege to counsel with students of his congregation all through their school years, and when the young people go away from home to school he has added opportunity. Whether he talks to the students as a group or individually, he must remind them that a strong moral and religious offensive is adventuresome and that participation in religious activities on the campus is enriching.

The church's interest in the student should be just as active when the young people are on distant campuses as when they are at home.

Without guidance, students can be caught in the headlong rush that characterizes most campuses and the interest in church can be crowded to the sidelines. Preoccupation with many different interests on the campus causes many spiritual casualties.

Student Recognition Day was founded that we may make a rich and telling use of the opportunity that is ours to reach the student. In giving most serious attention to the student who is home for the holidays, we shall be making greater inroads upon the secularism of our day and we shall be helping our students as they encounter the multitude of demands made upon them.

Then there was the co-ed that heard that all men are created equal and ran around telling people that all men are made in the same way.

Colmans to Star In New Radio Series,
"The Halls of Ivy"

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Colman will be heard weekly in their first regularly sponsored radio series, "The Halls of Ivy," a new half-hour comedy program premiering over the NBC network on Friday, January 6, at 8:00 p.m., e.s.t. (Rebroadcast 11:30 p.m., e.s.t.)

The new program is sponsored by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. of Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

For the first time in his long acting career, distinguished academy award winner Ronald Colman will embark on a radio series of his own, co-starring with Mrs. Colman in "The Halls of Ivy." The couple decided to do a radio show together following the acclaim they received for their quarterly appearances on the Jack Benny program. Colman has starred in many radio dramas but never before has undertaken his own series.

Colman's career encompasses 27 years of acting. His first starring role was opposite Lillian Gish in "The White Sister." He was one of the few silent picture stars successfully to weather the "talkies." He married Benita Hume, former stage and screen actress, in 1938.

"The Halls of Ivy" is a humorous but penetrating insight into the campus life of "Dr. William Todhunter Hall," a serious-minded college president played by Ronald Colman, and his vivacious wife, "Victoria," a one-time English variety star, played by Mrs. Colman. Locale is the mythical college town of Ivy, U. S. A.

Ken Carpenter is the announcer. NBC music director Henry Russell provides the music.

"The Halls of Ivy" was created by Don Quinn, originator and writer of the "Fibber McGee and Molly" program. The new series is written by Don Quinn and Walter Brown Newman.

Nat Wolff directs the program, which is produced by Sam Fuller for the Young and Rubicam, Inc., advertising agency.

Archie Scott is the NBC producer.

The lads at the corner drug store were exchanging stories about their experiences with the opposite sex.

"Aw," sniffed one, "Girls are a dime a dozen."

"Gee," sighed a younger lad who had remained silent until now, "and all this time I've been buying jelly beans."

"That's a pretty dress you have on."

"Yes, I only wear it to teas."

Coach Ralph James Resigns As Head Coach of High Point

As we all know, the head coach of our three main sports has resigned. Ralph James' resignation came on December 7 and is to be effective on March 1.

Suppose we look at his record here and that compiled at Asheville, the first stomping grounds of the great "Choo-Choo." During his stay at Asheville High he won 35 and lost three football games. Also he was manager of the City Auditorium. In '45 James made his initial appearance at H. P. C. That year he produced a North State championship team in football and took the Panthers to the Burley Bowl. In basketball he did as well. The hardwood edition of the Panthers were North State Conference champs that year. Who could ask for more. Joe College tends to forget past athletic achievements, its the present that counts. True, from '46 on the Panther growl has lost some of its noise, but we're not purring yet. Let's don't put all the blame on the coach.

You know, it could be that our lack of enthusiasm during the previous football season could have contributed to our poor showing on the gridiron. Our cheerleaders sure led a hard life. But that's all over, let's forget the past and plan for the future.

Of course we do not know as yet who our future head coach will be. But until March 1st Ralph James is still our coach, and if the outcome of our first six basketball games is any indication of future results, boy-o-boy, watch out!

Consider this change as inevitable. Many have been made this year, with probably more to come. Coach, we wish you the best of luck in the future.

Now what'cha say, let's stomp Hanes Saturday night.

A recent colored applicant answered thus: "Twice a week."

One strawberry to another, "we wouldn't be in this jam if we hadn't been caught in the bed together."

"Shall I keep trying?" asked the absent-minded telephone operator who had just married an aged sugar daddy.

COACH RALPH JAMES

"But This One Is Different"

A feature which had its beginning a dozen years ago in a staff meeting in the Department of Schools and Colleges of the former Methodist Church, South, is presented in this issue. The discussion was centering around the perennial problem of how to relate young people in college more closely to their home churches.

Dr. Harvey Brown asked, "Wouldn't a special worship service for and by college students while they are home for the Christmas holidays be a help in this connection?" "Are you proposing another special day?" asked one of the group. "Some tell us we already have too many special days."

"But this one is different," said Dr. Brown. "There would be no special offering taken; it would come at a somewhat slack time in the Church's program; and as regards both the nature of the service and the participating personnel it would be something new and interesting."

The proposal was approved and soon thereafter suggestions for a Student Recognition Day observance began to channel through to local churches. Interestingly enough, the promotion of Student Recognition Day departs from the usual course. There is no General Conference designation of the occasion; no annual conference endorsements of the "day" are obtained; and no great array of special literature is issued.

Colleges, Wesley Foundations, and executive secretaries of conference boards of education see values in this local church observance and help with its promotion. Christian Education Magazine regularly carries in its November-December issue both the suggested program for the Student Recognition Day service and articles in support of the occasion. N. D. M. Triumphs

In the inaugural basketball game in McCrary's new gymnasium in Asheboro the N. D. M. club defeated the Jay Vees of McCrary Mills 35-26.

McCrary jumped to a 6-1 lead in the opening few minutes of play but by half time the N. D. M. Bombers had tied the score 18-18. In the third period Hugh Gordon, N. D. M. guard, hit the hoop for five quick baskets and the Bombers went into the lead. In the last two minutes of play Greg Merhige put the game on ice for the Bombers by intercepting passes and driving for three goals.

Leading scorers for the Bombers were Captain Tom McGhee with 12 points, and Gordon with nine. Center Jim Perry was the defensive standout for the night.

More than one hundred students journeyed to Asheboro to see the N. D. M. game and the main attraction between the Davidson Wildcats and the undefeated McCrary Eagles.

Delta Beta Alpha

The Delta Beta Alpha held its annual Christmas party in Thomsville, N. C. The following couples were present: "Chis" Glasner with Bennie Jo Davis, "Beel" Marley with Pat Sides, Bob Marley with Wrenn Allen, Gary Henry with Jean Ray, Herbert Herring with Mary Lynn Smith, Reggie Heiser with Sarah McDougle, Forrest Brown with Jane Ray, Paul Ward with Betty Sides and Fay Gilbert with Jean Griffin.

A delicious steak supper was cooked and served by Bill Black and Kyle Stephenson. After the meal small novelty gifts were presented to each member and his guest.

The cabin was appropriately decorated in the Christmas atmosphere. Holly and mistletoe hung from the ceiling, and centered in the middle of the room was a beautiful Christmas tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Paschal and Mr. and Mrs. David Braithwaite were honored guests of the evening.

NEW ADDITION . . .

The addition of Dr. Todd to the History Department staff will greatly relieve the serious overflow of students in this field.

Dr. Todd is married but has no children. He and Mrs. Todd will arrive in High Point the last week in January to take up their residence.

Since unification, Student Recognition Day has been emphasized as an annual program feature by the Department of College and University Religious Life. It is estimated that during the Christmas season a year ago more than one third of the churches of Methodism gave public recognition to their college and senior high school students.

The observance in spite of its short history is already yielding returns. It is holding for the church many young people whose interests might easily become centered elsewhere during those days of rapid social and intellectual adjustments.—B. M. M.

Intramural Basketball

The first chapter of the Intramural basketball tournament is a repeat of last season as the Blasters continue to set the pace in the tournament.

There are four games yet to be played before the winner can be definitely decided. Three teams: E. P. O., I. T. K. and the Parsons have been eliminated, and the remaining battles will be among the Blasters, D. A. E., N. D. M., E. H. O., D. B. A., and the Clowns.

The final game will not be played until after the Christmas holidays. All students are urged to watch for the date in order to be able to provide proper support to their teams.

1950 Football Schedule Released

Coach Ralph James announced today that the football schedule for 1950 is now completed. Two newcomers from South Carolina appear on the schedule. These are Newberry and Erskine. At the recent North State Conference meeting it was voted to allow the fourth South Carolina teams to enter the conference; therefore, it is doubtful whether any other team in the conference will come up with a schedule comparable to the High Point schedule, since High Point will play only conference members next season.

The 1950 schedule:

Sept. 15—W.C.T.C.	Home
Sept. 23—Newberry	Home
Sept. 28—Guilford	Home
Oct. 7—Catawba	Away
Oct. 14—Lenoir-Rhyne	Home
Oct. 21—Appalachian	Away
Oct. 28—Open
Nov. 2—Elon	Home
Nov. 11—E. C. T. C.	Away
Nov. 18—Wofford	Away
Nov. 24—Erskine	Away

The Georgia Tech College Inn in Atlanta, Georgia, is a favorite haunt of the Georgia Tech students. That's because the Georgia Tech College Inn is a friendly place, always full of the busy atmosphere of college life. There is always plenty of ice-cold Coca-Cola, too. For here, as in university gathering spots everywhere—Coke belongs.

Sporting Around

BY PAUL PRYOR

High Point College should form—and soon—a cross country team. From what I hear we have some excellent runners in our midst. They are Art (Marine Tactics) Nicholas, John Czarnecki, Fred (Bull Durham) Darkis, "Preacher" Ricks, Adrian "Pat" Neal, Jack (is the water cold?) Liske, Richard (Snipe Hunter) Smith, and Bob Powell. The rumor is that these boys have been holding secret drills at night. How true can rumors be?

All of us enjoyed the annual Christmas dance. Curt Bovender and E. Ray Burleson deserve a great deal of praise for decorating the gym for the occasion.

In the Intramural basketball league we have "Mutt" Bob McCarron and "Jeff" Preacher Ricks in the same league.

According to Coach Arthur Paschal our college wrestling team is progressing. Charles Casey and Bob Forbes are improving with practice. Everyone is wondering where Bruce Bailey and Art Nicholas get their bodies—Well if one were to drop around the gym basement between four and five every afternoon you would be able to see why.

Ed Sueta credits his improvement on the court to losing his glasses last season. Ed was worried, for every time he dropped them he feared they were broken, but now with nothing to bother "Big Ed" he is becoming a threat for the All-Conference team.

In defeating Erskine last week High Point added further worries to member North State Conference teams, for Erskine was South Carolina champions last year.

Lenoir-Rhyne has most of their team back that won the trophy in Elkin last season and will pose a serious threat to all other contenders this year. Hanes Hosiery has defeated such foes as Duke, Wake Forest and Carolina, not to mention High Point, but a team from Salisbury-way known as Catawba, has beat this Hanes team. With comparison of comparative figures it will be shown that the North State Conference has better teams than our neighbor the Southern Conference.

Bill Lloyd was named to the All-Conference team by a unanimous vote and thus making him captain of the All-Star team. Bill is a junior in Business Administration and comes from Hickory although he has spent the greater part of his life right here in High Point. For the last three seasons Lloyd has been a pile-driving fullback, an excellent line backer, and a great competitor. A tribute to Bill was given by the Wofford players after the game with them. From their own words I quote: "He is the hardest running back that we have faced this season." And it must be borne in mind that they faced some pretty rugged opposition.

Girls, here is your opportunity to show the boys what you can do on the basketball court. After the holidays Mr. Paschal wants to start a girls' intramural basketball league. Get your teams together now and enter them with Mr. Paschal without delay. Remember that the tournament will get under way after the holidays.

Well, everybody, it's about time for Saint Nick to come along so I'll say good-bye till I return from "Yankee Land" and in closing I wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Waiz, Cartwright New Co-Captains

Gray "Ace" Cartwright and Bill Waiz were recently elected Co-Captains of the 1949-50 varsity basketball squad.

Cartwright, who is better known as "Ace," is a senior from Old Town, N. C. For the past three years he has been a member of the varsity. The honor that the team has heaped upon him is recognition of his outstanding basketball ability and his ever-present, cheerful smile.

Waiz, who is better known as "Goose," is a native of Salisbury, Ind. He has been a member of the varsity squad for the past two years. At the present time Goose is leading the field in total number of points scored for an individual player on the team. His one-handed hook-shot has made him a favorite here at the college. Waiz is married, a junior, and the father of one child.

N. D. M. Receive Medals

The N. D. M. Club, champions of the touch football league, received gold medals in recognition of their excellent work during the past season. Members of the squad receiving medals were Coach Jim Perry, Moe Merhige, Rog. Carnie, Bob Draper, Bill Waiz, Truman Farrell, Henry Maddus, Alex Pappas, Laverne Lowder.

Touch Football All-Stars

All-Star team selected by the coaches and captains of clubs: Bob Draper, N.D.M.; Powell Jones, E.H.O.; George Erath, Penny Hall; Bill Elmore, I.T.K.; Stewart Hartley, N.D.M.; Jarry Cordwell Parsons, Laverne Lowder, N.D.M.; Whitey Allen, E.H.O.; Leonard Hunt, E.H.O.

Joe: "How'd you get arrested?"

Ed: "Well, you know how those three-act plays go. First act they meet, second act they hold hands, and third act they kiss."

Joe: "Yeah."
Ed: "Well, I wrote a five-act play."

Adam and Eve had a pretty hard time naming the animals.

"Well, Eve," said Adam, "Let's call this one a hippopotamus."

"Well, heck, it looks like a hippopotamus, don't it?" — The Gamecock.

HPC Panthers Continue Winning Streak

CO-CAPTAIN ACE CARTWRIGHT

After losing a hard-fought game to the strong Hanes Hosiery team, the Panthers came back to win four straight decisions: Hanes Knitters of Winston, 68-35; Monroe Clippers of Monroe, 64-59; Eatman's of Greensboro, 79-42; Erskine College of South Carolina, 70-58.

In the game against Hanes Knitters, Coach James used his entire squad trying to find replacements for the starting five: Joyce, Co-Captain Waiz, Hunt, Sueta, Co-Captain Cartwright, Mobley, Draper, Jones, Swigget, and Deaton.

Sueta, Waiz and Joyce were leading scorers. Second game—Monroe Clippers, one of the strongest semi-pro clubs in N. C., provided High Point with a game that wasn't decided until the final whistle. Leonard Hunt was outstanding in this game against such name players as Jack Gentry, ex-Wake Forest star, the Shannon brothers, ex-Wingate College stars, and Miller from Appalachian. Hunt played almost the entire game without rest. He fouled out near the end, and Deaton took his place in the line-up. Eatman's semi-pro quintet from Greensboro with Larry Dempsey and Jack Elkins, ex-Guilford stars, were no match for the high-gear men of Coach Ralph James. Ed Sueta, the big center from Erie, Penn., sank shot after shot in the first quarter to give the Panthers an early margin of 20 to 2. James sent in his second five at this point, and the game was never in doubt, as Eatman's tired easily before our well-conditioned Panthers. Thus, the game proved to be merely a warm-up for the game with Erskine College.

Sporting Girls

BY "INKY" GARRINGER

Have you seen it yet? If you haven't, you "aint seen nothing." The girls' basketball team is what I'm referring to. Boys, it's really something!

And no wonder! With girls like Kathleen Wade, how can it be anything else? Kattie played varsity basketball for Trinity High School four years. In 1948 she made the All-State team. Then there's Marjory Ingram, the long-shot queen. Marjory played with the Allen Joy team while in high school. Another capable player is Mary Lee Richardson, a transfer from Pfeiffer. We hear she did quite a bit of playing there. Rosalie Kellis and her one-hand push shot came to us from Candor. An outstanding guard is Anita Cornelison, former Allen Jay High School star. Anita was chosen as the best girl player in Guilford county in '47. Laura DeHaven comes to us from Pennsylvania, where she was a star at her high school. Reba Wright and Ann Hendrix are former Jamestown stars. Pauline Calloway, a graduate of Yadkinville High School, shows up in every game.

The girls, under able coaching of H. L. Wilson, have won two games out of three. They defeated Jamestown High School and Pleasant Garden High School by one-sided scores. The defeat came last Friday night when Jamestown turned them back, 48-45.

The line-up for the game was as follows:

Pos.	W. A. A.	Jamestown
F.	Wade	Isenhour 23
F.	Ingram 2	Carner 11
F.	Richardson 16	Little
G.	DeHaven	William
G.	Cornelison	LaPrade
G.	Calloway	Nicholson

Substitutes: W.A.A. — Gerringer 13, Hendrix, Jamestown — Suits, Rogers 5, Endzel, Venable.

Coach Wilson says he can develop a championship team if more girls would come out for practice. We know that there are other girls who have been outstanding players in high schools but are not playing here. We want you on our team. Please come to the gym each afternoon at 3:30 for practice. Only a half-hour will not take too much of your time. See you there?

Reformer: "Young man, do you realize that you will never get anywhere by drinking?"

Stewed: "Ain't it the truth? I started home from this corner five times."

Society News

Heard each night from our tower are Christmas carols and songs which have added to an already jolly Christmas spirit around the High Point College campus. All organizations have been busy with plans, and some very successful parties have been given and are now just memories. After a Christmas dinner and cabin party, the Theta Phi Sorority had their last holiday party last night at the home of their advisor, Miss Adams. Secret sisters exchanged gifts, and an evening of merriment was had by all. Congratulations are sent to Mrs. Bill Martin, the former Gloria Foust, and also a Theta Phi girl. . . . The Day Students are looking forward to their annual Christmas party tomorrow night at the Woman's Club in Thomasville. Tom Kellam asks that all Day Students and their guests be present. Joe King, who entertained so delightfully in the chapel, will be guest of the evening. . . . The H. P. C. Choir is due praise from the Study Body for its delightful chapel program of Christmas music. The choir was guest of the Guilford Student Body on December 5th and received favorable praise for their fine performance. . . . Before we go any further, to Curt Boverder, Forest Brown, Ray Burlison and Owen Fitzgerald, special plaudits for their untiring work on the Christmas Dance. We feel sure that this very successful social function was due to their undying efforts. . . . The Religious Education Club had its yearly Christmas party on December 14th for the members of the club and their special guest of the evening, Miss Myrtle Engen. Marion Warren, Valma Griggs, Louise Bailey, Barbara Cook, Imogene Lewis and "Inky" Gerlinger served refreshments. Entertainment was provided by the social committee after which gifts were exchanged. At this time each girl's "Heart Sister," who had performed thoughtful gestures for each other during the week of December 7 and 14, was made known. . . . The Alpha Theta Psi Sorority was entertained in the home of Betty Auman on December 12. At this Christmas party the sisters exchanged gifts, sang carols, and played Christmas games. Honorary members who were special guests were Mrs. Alice White, Mrs. Gorman, Miss Fields and Miss Lillie Mae Moore. . . . Janie Bartlett, Betty Spearman, Herman Coble and Fletcher Womble attended the Saturday afternoon session of the International Relations Club conference at Guilford College on December 2. The purpose of this conference was to organize a State International Relations Club. The afternoon was spent in discussion groups led by Guilford College professors and Bob Byrd, World Federalist. . . . Congratulations to Dave Cheadle and his new wife, Jessie Hill and Glenn Morton, who will be married soon; also Neil Maddux and Fay Gilbert. . . . The Plantation Supper Club will be the scene of the annual Christmas party of the Iota Tau Kappa Fraternity and the Sigma Alpha Phi Sorority, Friday night, December 16. Dinner and dancing is the order of the night, and special guests for the evening are Dr. Helen Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Paschal, and Mr. and Mrs. Antonokas. . . . Lois Gresham, former Sigma Alpha, entertained the sorority and honorary members, Dr. Helen Bartlett and Miss Vera Idol, in her home on December 14 with an informal party. At this time gifts were exchanged and a delightful dessert course enjoyed by all. . . . Sunday evening, December 11, Miss Idol, member of the English Department, gave her annual reading of Dicken's "The Christmas Carol." This reading was enthusiastically received by all those present. To you, Miss Idol, many thanks, and we will be looking forward to your presentation next year. . . . Woman's Hall was the scene of a pajama party Thursday night, December 15, when all the girls assembled in the clubroom to listen to the Christmas story and sing carols. Under the large decorated tree were many presents, one for each girl. Mrs. Perry, and Ma Whitaker. Merriment reigned — even after the party was over! . . . The Home Economics girls prepared and served a delicious buffet dinner to special guests at the Home Economics House December 7. Following the dinner, games were enjoyed and gifts were opened. . . . Merry Christmas!

Buffet Supper Planned For Day Students

Final plans for a Christmas party have been announced by Tom Kellam, president of the Day Students. The party is to take the form of a buffet supper at the Woman's Club in Thomasville, Saturday, December 17, at 7:30 p.m. Following the supper an entertaining program is being planned for the students and their guests. All day students are cordially invited to attend and bring a guest.

Poll for 1950

It is said that the New Year is the time to stop and think where you've been and to decide where you're going. It is also the time we make and break so many resolutions. But to those of us on campus this business of resolutions is a serious matter. We think it shows determination, purpose, and will power. A poll has been conducted among some scholars of this Institution, and below are the results:

- Bob McKenzie—resolves to try to be more friendly to "Bishop" Byrd!
- Dot Montgomery—resolves never again to go wild with a pair of scissors!
- Fred Darkis—I resolve to stop making so many resolutions.
- Katherine Hunter—By 1950 I resolve to make a scholar out of Mary Lynn Smith!
- Bennie Jo Davis—By 1950 I resolve to gain twenty pounds—well, ten at least!
- Joanne Grimes—resolves to buy herself an alarm clock!
- Jimmy Kent—I never make resolutions. I won't drink more than my capacity—of water!
- Bob Hughes (HPC's postmaster)—resolves to stop using steam—he'll just read the post cards from now on!
- Milton Crocker—resolves to stop oversleeping every morning and try getting to class for a change.
- Stella Redding—I'll never slip around again. I've learned my lesson now!

FACTS . . .

ident of High Point College, served as organizer and campaigner for funds for the founding of our school. Dr. Andrews retired in 1930.
The second president, Dr. G. I. Humphreys, was elected in 1930 and served until his retirement in 1949. Dr. Humphreys is now living in Florida.
Portraits of these illustrious men may be seen in the foyer of Roberts Hall. This is a part of the long struggle for the fine institution every student today is enjoying.

Have you ever noticed the brass plates on the auditorium and classrooms in Roberts Hall? In the establishment of High Point College many persons interested in the future gave generously of their money to furnish the auditorium and classrooms. The wife, sons, and daughter of Mr. T. P. Hauser furnished the auditorium in memory of their husband and father. These are only a few of the facts that are tradition at High Point College. Learn to know your college better.

CHOIR . . .

- (Continued from Page 1)
- II
 - "Silent Night" Damrosch (arr.)
 - "Merry Christmas Time" Luvaas
 - "Christmas Song" Cornelius
 - "Carol of the Bells" Leontovitch
 - "God Is With Us" Kastalsky
 - III
 - "A Bright Star Shining" J. S. Matthews
 - "I Hear Along Our Street" Mackinnon
 - "Ah! Jesu" Johnson
 - The Madrigal Singers
 - "Behold That Star" Burleigh

Disc Lists

- Jo Stafford . . . From the movie "Casbah" comes "It Was Written in the Stars." A fine tune but nothing like her latest "If You Stub Your Toe On the Moon." Jo's the gal who carries a lyric in fine fashion.
- Frankie Lane . . . A real show of characterization — Clippity Clopin along. Need I say more? On the back is "Carry Me Back To Old Virginia," one I'm sure you have heard at some time.
- Perry Como . . . "Dreamer's Holiday." A beautiful new tune that can be done only by that master of song, Como.
- Bing Crosby . . . Always partial to Bing, we recommend, no, not "Mule Train"—but the reverse on "Dear Hearts and Gentle People." Bing's musicianship is always outstanding.
- Lewie Jordan . . . Have you ever been to a "Saturday Night Fish Fry"? No? I'm sure this tune will send you anywhere you want to go.
- Andrews Sisters . . . "I Can Dream Can't I?" is one of the most successful tunes in years, for these gals really know their music.
- Owen Bradley . . . This quintet is topping the list with their latest "Blues Stay Away From Me." I suspect you'll be hearing a lot from these boys in the near future.

Want A Penfriend?

Any student that wishes to be individually linked up with English-knowing friends in any of the four zones of Germany, are invited to write the license bureau in Germany stating type of penfriend wanted as to age, sex, and walk of life—to guarantee a suitable introduction it is requested that you state your own particulars and interests as well as the number and sex of penfriend wanted. All letters will meet with the best personal attention of the bureau's staff. Print your name and address.
International Correspondence Bureau, Anna-Maria Braun, Munchen, Lindwurmstrasse 126a, Germany-Bavarian-U. S. Zone.

Attention!

All H. P. C. students are invited to go Christmas Caroling Friday night, December 16, at 8:15 p.m. We will meet in the foyer of the Administration Building. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ridenhour will be chaperons for the evening. Refreshments and entertainment will be provided afterwards in the Student-Center.

"Was he surprised when you said you wanted to marry his daughter?"
"Was he! The gun nearly fell out of his hand."

Personality Corner

It makes no difference if its 12 p.m. or 6 a.m., we're always pounding on her door. The complaints range from the sniffles to a sore toe. A sudden cure is ordered by the patient because she desires to attend the dance or a ball game tomorrow evening. So out come the pills, atomizers, and whatever else is needed, and thanks to Nurse Myrtle the patient is no longer a patient.
Many a time we run into a gentleman from McGullock Hall. He's feeling mighty low, and so we direct him straight to our Lady in White; and thanks to her, he manages to survive.
Miss Myrtle Engen came to High Point College in the Fall of 1947, and apparently likes us as much as we like her. She came from Madison, Wisconsin, where she was connected with the City Health Department and worked in the city and public schools.

It is the general feeling on the campus that we have something Wisconsin "ain't" got, and that's Nurse Myrtle!
It's amazing how she manages to maintain that pleasant disposition, after all the times we disobey her orders. She says stay in bed, and we run off to the ball games. You'd think she'd lock us out in the cold; but no, she taps on a door to find out if our temperature has risen and "who won the game?"
Ever so often when the girls in Woman's Hall are struggling over their books, Nurse Myrtle drops in with a plate of her delicious fudge to help us along.
The strangest thing is that for all her troubles she asks only that we return the borrowed property and empty bottles. As a matter of fact, we think our Lady in White is about the most indispensable lady on the campus.

He: "Where were you born?"
She: "On a grapefruit farm."
He: "Well, that explains a couple of things."
