Dec. 15 is last day

Village council petition deadline near

Persons interested in serving on a village council next year have until Dec. 15 to file a nominating petition with their local village clerk.

The petitions require 7 to 20 signatures of registered voters to have a candidate's name placed on a ballot. The general election will be held March 14. If necessary, a primary election will be held Feb. 15.

CASS CITY

Terms scheduled to expire next year in Cass City are for president, clerk, treasurer, assessor and 3 trustee positions.

Currently serving as president is Lambert E. Althaver, who was appointed to the position by the council after President Larry Davis resigned effective Aug. 1 to accept a job transfer/promotion in California. Joyce LaRoche, meanwhile, is clerk/treasurer, and Daniel Erla serves as assessor.

All 3 village officials are serving 2-year terms. Trustees whose 4-year terms will expire next year are Lynda McIntosh, Joanne Hopper and Nat Tuttle. The other trustees are Mike Weaver, Elwyn Helwig and Dorothy Stahlbaum.

Nominating petitions are available at the village Municipal Building, 6737 Church St., Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

KINGSTON

The 2-year terms of president, clerk, treasurer/assessor and 3 trustees will expire next year in Kingston.

Currently, Arlo Ruggles is president, Kenneth Boileau is clerk and Beverly J. Heron is treasurer/assessor. Trustees whose terms will expire in 1988 are Paul Lalko, William Kupiec and Marlene Powell. Also serving as trustees are Jane A. Lalko, Floyd J. Heron and Robert Miller.

Nominating petitions can be picked up at the Village Hall, 3655 Ross St., on Fridays from 8 to 9 a.m., and from 1 to 4 p.m.

GAGETOWN

Nominating petitions for 3 trustee seats on the Gagetown Village Council are available from Clerk Elery Sontag, 6574 Gage St., Gagetown. Those elected will serve 4-year terms.

Trustees whose terms are set to expire in 1988 are Thomas Reehl, LeRoy Stapleton and Richard Carroll. Also serving as trustees

Santa arrives Friday morning

When does the Christmas season officially start? That's easy as any kid will tell you. It starts when Santa comes to town.

And Santa will arrive in Cass City Friday morning at 10 a.m. He's bringing the family, too. Mrs. Claus and the elves will come riding into town on the back of a truck, the modern reindeer sled.

Santa won't be empty-handed either. He's loaded with free candy for good little boys and girls. If you miss him on the truck you will find him easily at his house at the corner of Seeger and Main Streets.

What's more, he will be there every Friday from 6 to 9 p.m. and Saturday from noon to 2 p.m. until Christmas. He's also scheduled to be dishing out the goodies Wednesday, Dec. 23, from 3 to 6 p.m. and Thursday, Dec. 24, from noon to 2 p.m.

Bach Festival returns

The Bach Festival returns to Cass City for the ninth time this weekend with performances slated at the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City Friday, Saturday and Sunday under the direction of Don Th. Jaeger, conductor.

Jaeger needs no introduction to classical music lovers in the Thumb as he has been the director and conductor of the Festival since it started and through his efforts instrumental and vocal soloists with national and international reputations comprise the Festival orchestra.

Jaeger is music director and conductor of the Boulder Bach Festival in Colorado, Lake Arrowhead Bach Festival in California and Festival of the Lakes in Michigan. He is an oboist of international reputation. He was a prize winner of the Prague Spring International Competition and a Fulbright scholar in Amsterdam.

Jaeger will be working with a host of familiar faces including many returning soloists. Four artists new to the Cass City Festival will also perform. Robert Hart, a member of the Midland Symphony Orchestra, will play the flute. Paul Schoelles, clarinet, is presently a piano technician in Midland and at the National Music Camp at Interlochen. He majored in the clarinet at Eastman School of Music and has held positions as principal clarinet in the Midland Symphony in Michigan.

Monica Lee McCormick, violinist, is a native of Pittsburgh and graduate of Oberlin College of Music. She is now studying for a master's degree in violin performance at the University of Michigan. She has played principal second violin with the Westmoreland Symphony, the University of Pittsburgh Orchestra and the Orchestra Nova of Pittsburgh.

The Festival was to have opened Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church in Caro with an organ recital by David Schrader accompanied by Martin Porter on the trumpet.

The artists will enjoy the Thanksgiving holiday with Cass City families which serve as hosts during their stay here. Open rehearsals will be held Friday and Saturday from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and the public is invited. There is no cost. Before each of the 3 per-

Surplus food cut means hard times for area poor

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

Nearly 900 low-income families in Tuscola County are among those who probably will receive less federal surplus food, butter, milk and rice in the near future because of dwindling supplies nationwide.

According to state and county officials, a reported decrease in federal surplus food stocks may affect area residents as early as next spring.

Pat Christie, Community Services director with the Human Development Commission, says that some 4,100 households in Tuscola, Sanilac, Huron and Lapeere counties-HDC's service area--will be affected.

Christie stated that the Michigan Department of Education, which receives and distributes surplus food from the USDA, has indicated that reports of reduced food supplies are correct.

"The most recent correspondence indicated that dairy products will not be guaranteed past March 1988," she said, adding, "after that date, we don't know what we'll receive or even if we'll receive anything. They're also telling us that honey and rice are in short supply."

The HDC normally distributes some 100,000 pounds of federal surplus food every other month in the 4-county area. The area includes 880 households in Tuscola County, 1,088 in Huron County and 1,007 in Sanilac County.

Cheese, butter and rice are included in most distributions, while milk, flour, honey and cornmeal are alternated.

"We usually distribute 4 or 5 items," Christie explained, adding that butter isn't available in the summer due to a lack of refrigeration facilities.

BASED ON NUMBERS

Families receive surplus food based on the number of persons in a household. A family of 2, for example, receives on the average 20 to 25 pounds of food, and a family of 5 receives about 45 pounds, Christie noted.

"The cheese and butter items are what most people want--that's the biggest draw," she continued, adding that poorer households will feel the greatest pinch if dairy products are cut extensively.

"Certainly it's (reduced supply) going to affect some of our families because they rely on the surplus food." Although the surplus food is only meant to be a supplement, for some, she added, "this is a major staple in their diets."

"I don't believe all 4,100 households are going to starve by any means, (but) I believe it's going to make it very difficult for them. We expect a difficult winter--some families will have a difficult time heating their homes and feeding themselves."

Christie explained that a tough winter is expected for some because of the local economy and lasting effects of fall flooding in 1986.

ENERGY ASSISTANCE

Another important factor is energy-related assistance. Christie indicated that federal and state budget axes are threatening heating assistance money. HDC officials expect to receive some information in early December regarding how much money will be available.

Assuming surplus food supplies dwindle, Christie predicted that low-income families will focus on other sources of assistance.

"As commodities drop off, there will be a greater demand on local food pantries," she said, adding that there are 5 such facilities in Tuscola County.

"I'm sure that if there is a major supply cut, we will contact them (recipients) by mail to see if we can find another source of assistance. We will respond to them in some way," Christie added.

Roger Lynas, supervisor of the food distribution program in the Michigan Department of Education, echoed Christie's comments, but pointed out that he has seen "nothing to indicate" that the federal government has reduced its stock of surplus food by half, as was published last week in a New York newspaper.

"We've gotten indications that these items may be in short supply, (but) we fully anticipate having adequate supplies of all items through March," Lynas stated. "What's going to happen after that, we don't know."

Regarding dairy products, Lynas remarked, "A lot depends on what happens in the next 4 months on the amount of fluid milk they (USDA) purchase and take out of the market."

Brzezinski killed in M-46 crash

A Kingston man was killed Nov. 18 when the vehicle he was driving collided with the rear of a corn truck about 3 miles east of Reese in Denmark Township.

Philip F. Brzezinski, 52, 5188 E. Sanilac Rd., was eastbound on M-46 east of Bradford Road at 6:38 p.m. when his car struck the rear of a truck, also eastbound, driven by Wallace F. Hecht of Reese, according to Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies.

Brzezinski apparently did not see Hecht's vehicle, which was traveling at 25 to 30 miles per hour at the time of the accident, deputies said. The impact of the crash sent Hecht's vehicle into a ditch, but the driver escaped injury.

Brzezinski was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Saginaw, by FlightCare Helicopter.

Reports indicate that neither driver was wearing a seat belt.

Area women take part in European exercise

Two Cass City women are among 39 Michigan National Guard members with the 207th Engineer Battalion, Bay City, who recently participated in "Reforger '87," a training exercise held in West Germany.

Sgt. First Class Susann M. Guinther and Sgt. Linda

L. Roose were among personnel assigned for a 3-week tour of duty.

According to Guinther, Reforger occurs every year when forces of the U.S. Army, consisting of units from the Army, Army Reserve and National Guard from across the country, participate in joint exercises. The training took place over September and October in the areas of Trauen and Kohlenbissen.

The 207th personnel, who were assigned living quarters in Trauen, were assigned to work with the 213th National Guard Unit from Pennsylvania. Guinther remarked that the 207th acted as a re-deployment assembly area, including operation of mess hall facilities, personnel and operation office, and assignment of living quarters for units awaiting reassignment to home units in the United States.

Guinther noted that area personnel had one day off to tour areas such as Hamburg, Celle and Bergen. Border tours were available free of charge, she said, adding personnel visited Bergen-Belsen, the Jewish concentration camp where author Anne Frank spent the last days of her life.

That's not shopping

By Melva E. Guinther

Anyone who knows me well can attest to the fact that I love to shop.

Shopping ranks right up there with chocolate truffles, hot fudge sundaes and teddy bears, as my favorite things.

In fact, I pride myself on having it down to an art, if not a science.

In spite of this penchant to shop, or possibly because of it, I refuse to venture out the day after Thanksgiving.

Those who do are not true, dyed-in-the-wool shoppers. They're reckless, foolhardy thrill seekers with a death wish.

Trust me. The thing to do after Thanksgiving is stay home, watch videos and eat warmed up turkey and stuffing.

A few years ago, a beloved family member persuaded me to throw common sense to the wind the fourth Friday in November.

We went to the mall. After driving around for an hour or so, we came upon a car backing out of a parking place about a mile from the entrance.

Other drivers, likewise circling for the spoil, were not kind. They made unfriendly gestures and, while I couldn't read their lips because of the clenched teeth, I'm reasonably sure their comments were uncomplimentary.

Undaunted, we made our way to the door. Upon reaching the main part of the mall, we were instantly sucked into the moving mass of humanity.

From time to time, when their segment of the multitude passed the opening of a store, one of our group would manage to extricate himself and stumble into the comparatively roomy atmosphere of the shop.

For the most part, the crowd inside the store was waiting for an opportunity to get back out.

The only experience to which I can liken it is one time when business called me to Cass City Intermediate School and I got trapped in the hall when the bell rang. A relative in a metropolitan area made a daring trip to Macy's the day after Thanksgiving.

The store had posted stalwart employees at the top of the escalators who were literally pulling customers off to safety. Otherwise, the way they were packed in, they might have fallen to the floor and been trampled. Eventually, the escalators had to be closed down completely.

Now that's a trip, but it's not really shopping.

FRIED GREEN TOMATOES AT THE WHISTLE STOP CAFE by Fannie Flagg (fiction). When Cleo Threadgood and Evelyn Couch meet in the visitors' lounge of an Alabama nursing home, they find themselves exchanging the sort of confidences that are sometimes only safe to reveal to strangers. At 48, Evelyn is falling apart; none of the middle-class values she grew up with seem to signify in today's world. On the other hand, 86-year-old Cleo is still being nurtured by memories of a lifetime spent in Whistle Stop, a pocket-sized town outside of Birmingham, which flourished in the days of the Great Depression. Most of the town's life centered around its one cafe, whose owners, gentle Ruth and tomboyish Idgie, served up grits (both true and hominy) to anyone who passed by. How their love for each other and just about everyone else survived visits from the sheriff, the Ku Klux Klan, a host of hungry hoboes, a murder and the rigors of the Depression makes good reading.

THE CAT WHO CAME FOR CHRISTMAS by Cleveland Amory (non-fiction). It is fitting that the founder and head of the Fund for Animals personally rescues and takes in strays, and one incident proved to have a profound effect on him. On a snowy Christmas Eve, Amory helped capture a scrawny cat and took it to his apartment. How does a new cat-keeper train a creature accustomed to fending for itself in Manhattan's alleys? Slowly, with patience and respect, Amory offers an entertaining, if precious, recreation of his first year with Polar Bear (his account of selecting a name takes 20 pages). One highlight is a visit to the vet where the receptionist was a cat. During this time he also housed a dog and a grounded pigeon, and consulted a cat psychologist as well.

PAPER MONEY by Ken Follett (fiction). The story is set in London, and intended to show that crime, high finance and journalism are corruptly interconnected. It is one day in the life of an evening newspaper and features an adulterous politician, a corrupt financier, a criminal gang, a mentally retarded youth and an eager cub reporter, their linked destinies all moving toward a single - and intensely exciting - climax.

"If It Fitz..." Permanent coupling

By Jim Fitzgerald

My wife and I led a darling social life and didn't know it. And we are living testimony that handcuffs can result in a permanent coupling.

I didn't become aware of our darlingness, which occurred in 1953, until just recently when reading a review of a new book called "Letitia Baldrige's Complete Guide to a Great Social Life." According to the review, Baldrige is "the noted etiquette expert and former social secretary to U.S. ambassadors in Paris and Rome."

In her book, Baldrige described a darling handcuff party for singles given by well-known socialite Ricki Nederlander, of Birmingham. "Once matched up, the couples are handcuffed together by a hired uniformed guard (who keeps the keys that fit the rented handcuffs). Except for a visit to the rest room, each couple is handcuffed for the entire evening," Baldrige wrote.

"I did do this party once," Nederlander said when called to verify the procedure, "with a single friend from the east side. We handcuffed our guests, and they had to swim and eat and do everything together. But it

Jara MacRae's heifers receive state honors

Cass City resident Sara MacRae is among several persons recognized recently for top entries in the '87 Michigan Holstein Association's All-Michigan and Junior All-Michigan contests.

MacRae's senior heifer calf, "MacRae Mandingo Meghan C," netted reserve honors in the All-Michigan contest.

To qualify for entry, an animal must have placed in the top 3 of its respective class at a Michigan district show, the Spring Show, Summer Show or State Fair. The owner must be a member of the Michigan Holstein Association and live in Michigan.

The same calf earned MacRae reserve honors in the Junior All-Michigan contest, while her junior yearling heifer, "Will-Lo Acres Merit Glenda," won a honorable mention.

MacRae, 19, will be a sophomore at Central Michigan University this winter. She is the daughter of Bruce and Lois MacRae, 8410 Hadley Rd., Cass City.

never resulted in any permanent couplings, so I never repeated the experiment."

Before we were married, my wife and I were handcuffed together at an office Christmas party in the basement of the American Legion building in Lapeer. At the time, I didn't know it was darling. I thought it was dumb.

It happened because of my underwear, which was olive drab — I was only 8 years out of the Army. The underwear was also tight because I was no longer eating Army food. Because of these circumstances, I felt constrained to move about in a military manner.

I recruited several party guests, ordered them to shoulder various brooms and mops liberated from a storage closet, and marched them up and down the dance floor in close-order drill, shouting HUT-TWO - THREE - FOUR! exactly the way I'd done it when I was a sergeant and my underwear fit.

An advertising salesman named Fred, who moonlighted as a fully equipped clanking sheriff's deputy, took offense when I marched the troops over his table while he was sleeping under it. With the help of several ex-sailors, Fred had me courtmartialed and sentenced to being handcuffed to a nearby pillar.

A problem arose when it was discovered my arms wouldn't reach far enough around the pillar for my hands to be manacled together. The problem was solved by filling the hand gap with a nearby blonde woman named Pat. Once the four-handed connection was made, we were left warmly embracing opposite sides of the pillar.

It was the beginning of a relationship. Two years later, I asked Pat to marry me. She said she'd rather marry the pillar but it couldn't afford a wife because it was the sole support of the dining room seating 500 people. So she said yes to me and we've been a permanent coupling for 32 years.

I was always too embarrassed to go public with the story of how my wife and I first got together. I thought our union was the result of rather boorish behavior. But then I read that a handcuff party is recommended by a noted etiquette expert and former social secretary to U.S. ambassadors in Paris and Rome.

I couldn't wait to tell Pat that our first coupling was not only good etiquette, it was darling, even internationally chic, and we should be proud we did it years, simply years, before Ricki Nederlander got the idea.

At the reminder of our long-ago embrace around the pillar, a wistful look of regret came into both my wife's eyes. "I wonder what that pillar is doing today," she said with a sigh.

I was hurt but, 65 miles away, a dining room quivered.

The Haire Net

Any congressman worth his salt will be glad to tell you how much we should rejoice for being blessed with life in the United States as we celebrate this Thanksgiving.

If you ask them to spell it out, one of the first on the long, beautiful list is the freedom of speech. Rightfully so.

But when letting Mikhail Gorbachev speak before a joint meeting of Congress was considered, a group, including Congressman Bill Schuette from Michigan, signed a petition to stop the address.

Schuette says, "When Gorbachev has torn down the Berlin Wall, when he has taken Soviet troops out of Afghanistan, when he has stopped exporting communism to Central America and when they have freedom in the Soviet Union, then he can speak in the U.S. Capitol."

What Schuette doesn't explain is how banning Gorbachev from the podium of Congress is going to help eliminate all those conditions that Americans everywhere deplore.

Is Gorbachev going to run right home and tell his people that we won't let him speak so he must clean up his act? Maybe Schuette and the rest are afraid that somehow Congress and the country will be unduly influenced by this smooth talking foreigner as he speaks through an interpreter?

It's the same old story, really. If you don't like the news, kill the messenger. I wouldn't be so crass as to say that Schuette and his cohorts are acting with their eyes on the voting booths. Perhaps it's just petty spite that motivated them.

It's possible to defend a view that our freedom of speech doesn't extend to persons from outside the country. The Bill of Rights doesn't extend past the nation's boundaries.

But there's no law that says we can't listen to what the leader from the world's other superpower has to say and here's one vote for allowing it to happen.

When the politicians try to muzzle Gorbachev, they are saying to all of us that we aren't capable of separating the wheat from the chaff. The view from here is that we should listen when he talks and let him talk all he wants to. It can't hurt and it could help a little. Probably won't, but it could.

It's sure that those with a contrary view are saying, if we let him speak here, our president should be able to speak in Russia and have it reach the Russian people.

There are long, long odds against that, but it shouldn't matter. If we give more than lip service to freedom of speech, we should welcome Gorbachev to the Congress. Refusing to even listen seems to me to be a poor way of attempting to increase world understanding and chances for peace.

Report car-deer mishaps

Three of 4 vehicle mishaps reported to the Cass City Police Department as of Monday involved deer.

A vehicle driven by a 16-year-old Cass City youth struck another vehicle, driven by Maxwell S. Hammond, 4224 Woodland Avenue, on Main Street west of Oak Street Nov. 16.

Reports state that Hammond was attempting to park when his vehicle was struck by the youth's vehicle, which had stopped for Hammond's vehicle prior to the collision.

Both vehicles sustained minor damage. No citation was issued in the 3:35 p.m. accident.

Also Nov. 16, a vehicle driven by Norbert J. Pruss Jr., Algonac, sustained extensive damage when it collided with a deer on Vandike Road about 1/2 of a mile north of Severance Road at 7:30 a.m.

Light vehicle damage was reported by Nancy M. Confer, 4784 South St.,

Gagetown, whose vehicle struck a deer while traveling east on Milligan Road 1/2 of a mile east of Schwegler Road Nov. 18. The mishap occurred at 7:48 p.m.

Also reporting a car-deer accident was Nelson O. Bolzman, 1915 W. Fairgrove Rd., Caro, who was eastbound on M-81 west of Koepfgen Road Sunday evening when a deer ran into his vehicle. Bolzman reported slight damage to his vehicle.

Rabbit Tracks

by John Haire
(And anyone else he can get to help.)

There's debate in the Michigan legislature about whether the new 65-mile-per-hour speed limit on rural interstate highways goes into effect Saturday or Tuesday.

Which is a debate, really, about nothing. No one is ticketed for driving 65 on interstate highways these days. In fact 65 barely keeps you up with the traffic flow.

Duck hunters that come from the city to hunt Saginaw Bay might better look closer to home. Last Friday I watched a flight of ducks suddenly cruise in for a landing in an open field, about a mile south of Square Lake Road and I-75 which is the start of the metropolitan area. In that field were at least 500 ducks feeding. (No exaggeration.)

Speaking of wildlife, let's talk about the deer here. Each year there are more of them. And each year someone spots one roaming within the village limits. This year it was Florence Mayhew, 6430 Third Street, at 11:45 a.m. Nov. 17.

It's that time again. The Chronicle is sending a special delivery of the paper to the North Pole so Santa letters will be certain to be seen.

The Chronicle will publish them sometime between now and Christmas. Wallet size only pictures will be accepted. Black and white is best, most colored photos can also be used although some are not suitable for reproduction.

Hospitality workshop set Dec. 2

A workshop entitled, "Hospitality in a Jiffy," will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 2 at the Farm Building in Bad Axe.

Sponsored by the Home Economics Department of the Cooperative Extension Service, the program will feature caterer Carol Truemner, who will share some professional tips on how to take the pain out of home entertaining.

A cookbook, "Hospitality in a Jiffy" will be given to each person registered.

Additional information on registration and fees is available by contacting the extension service at 269-9949.

Hrycko studying in Japan

Raymond Hrycko

A Gagetown resident currently is living and studying in Japan in conjunction with a foreign studies program through Kalamazoo College.

Raymond Hrycko, the son of Thomas and Carol Hrycko, both of Gagetown, is among 150 students participating in the school's foreign study program. Hrycko is a junior.

Aside from Japan, students taking part in the program are living with host families in West Germany, France, England, Italy, Spain, Scotland, Denmark, Greece, the Netherlands, Nepal and Africa. Participants typically spend 6 months as juniors or 3 months as sophomores, becoming acquainted with different cultures and people while studying at selected colleges and universities.

Thanks to a special endowment of the S.R. Light Trust Fund, the foreign study program is extensively subsidized by the college, making the program feasible for virtually all students.

Kalamazoo College has the highest participation in foreign study of any college in the nation, with about 85 percent of the students participating in the program, according to school officials.

State police report 2 mishaps

There were no injuries in 2 mishaps involving Cass City area residents reported by the state police post in Caro.

A vehicle driven by Dorothy J. Zimmerman, 4170 State St., Gagetown, was eastbound on Bay City-Forestville Road 1/2 of a mile west of Grassmere Road Friday in Elkland Township when it hit a tree and a telephone box.

Zimmerman apparently over-corrected when her vehicle went off the edge of the road, according to troopers, who stated that she lost control of the vehicle, which slid into a ditch.

Zimmerman's vehicle sustained slight damage in the 3:55 p.m. crash. A Cass City resident reported hitting a deer with her vehicle while driving on Deckerville Road west of Phillips Road in Novesta Township Saturday.

Doris J. Donahue, 3495 Deckerville Rd., was westbound on Deckerville road when the animal leaped onto her path. Her vehicle sustained light damage.

"Suspicious" grass fire east of Cass City is under investigation

Department of Natural Resources officials early this week continued an investigation of a 30-acre grass fire, ignited east of Cass City Sunday night, according to Elkland Fire Chief Dick Root.

The fire, which is being called "suspicious," was one of 3 the Elkland Fire Department responded to over the past 8 days.

Root stated that fire fighters responded to the Rudell Ratz residence, 6364 E. Cass City Road, at about 9:30 p.m. Sunday. He noted that the grass fire appeared worse than it really was.

A bulldozer to secure the property, were set to inspect the area Monday, Root said.

Earlier Sunday evening, fire fighters were called to a car fire in an alley behind 6328 Main St. in Cass City.

The fire was already out when firemen arrived, Root said. He noted that the car, a 1975 Ford Mustang owned by Wally Czekai of Cass City, sustained minor damage.

Root indicated that the cause of the blaze was a short from a battery post. Fire destroyed a 1979 Chevrolet Camaro on Dodge Road about 1/4 of a mile south of Deckerville Road Nov. 17.

Fire fighters responding to the 8:30 p.m. alarm could do very little to save the vehicle upon arriving at the scene, Root remarked.

"It was pretty well destroyed when we got there," he said, adding "The inside was burned out."

Damage to the vehicle owned by Dan Spencer Shabbona Road, is estimated at $1,200 to $1,400.

The cause of the fire thought to have started in the carburetor area, remains undetermined, according to Root.

"A lot of it had gone out, but we still felt the DNR should plow it out," he remarked, adding that firemen had difficulty fighting the fire because of an adjacent swampy area.

"Our biggest danger was the barn" on Ratz's property, Root explained, adding that the fire advanced within 25 to 30 feet of the structure. "We protected the building and called the DNR."

2 deputies graduates of academy

Two Tuscola County sheriff's deputies are among several persons who are the first to graduate from the Basic Corrections Academy offered through Eastern Michigan University and the Department of Corrections.

Tuscola deputies Alva Hayes and Genavie Martens are among 18 persons who recently graduated.

The academy, a legislatively-mandated school offering a 160-hour course in corrections, was held at EMU in cooperation with the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department under the leadership of Sheriff Ronald Schebil.

The academy was the first of many planned at EMU, and is being used as the basis for the future development of a 4-year degree program at the university.

Teachers to receive mini-grants

Ten teachers from Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties are among nearly 200 instructors statewide who were recently selected to receive Teacher Mini-Grants.

The grants, awarded by the state Board of Education, range from $250 to $750 each and are to be used for a variety of special in-classroom projects. A total of $105,000 will be divided among 199 teachers in 130 school districts in 48 counties.

Among the recipients is Owen-Gage Elementary School first grade teacher, Carol Wildman, who was awarded $750. She plans to use the money to acquire computer software to enhance her classroom computer system. The software is designed to help pupils build reading and spelling skills.

The money will also be used to purchase a speech synthesizer, which enables the computer system to communicate verbally, Wildman explained.

Other instructors receiving grants include Ron Barrons ($359) and Larry Krueger ($639), both of the Tuscola ISD Area Skill Center; Sharon Schutlzler ($600), Caro Community Schools, Cottage 7; John Hesterberg ($745), Sandusky High School; Marsha Bennet ($300), Dave Burzyck ($300), Doreen Paganini ($723), Betty Shetler ($564) and Marilee Schock ($616), all of the Huron ISD Area Skill Center; and Wayne Kadar ($275), Harbor Beach High School.

 well," she said, adding, "I would say (volume) is much higher--some customers are buying 4 or 5 turkeys."

Lenda says that his regular turkey price of 59 cents a pound is "down considerably" from last year. On other foods, Lenda noted that lettuce prices are very high due to a poor California crop, and that cucumber and green pepper prices are a little higher than last year. However, most other holiday foods are reasonably priced, he added.

Erla's co-owner Marilyn Erla, meanwhile, reports good turkey sales. "Prices are very low. Turkeys are going very

Erla stated that a 2-week special on turkeys for 49 cents a pound is underway at the store. The regular price ranges from 59 cents to 69 cents a pound, and fresh turkeys go for 79 cents a pound.

FARM FRESH

Turkeys also are available at a Cass City-area farm, where those willing to pay more for their holiday bird can take home a live or freshly slaughtered turkey.

Owner Earnest Cook says he hopes to nearly double last year's sale of 58 turkeys from his farm, located one mile west and 2 1/2 miles north of Cass City on Koeppgen Road.

The 67-year-old says he's already sold 58 turkeys this year, including 7 birds, weighing a combined 119 pounds, purchased by a Mayville-area church.

"It seems everybody wants a farm fresh turkey," he remarked, adding that his customers generally "tell me how many pounds they want."

Cook then takes the turkeys to George Cooklin, Cass City, for slaughtering. Cook has been raising turkeys, as well as a number of other birds for the past 4 or 5 years. He currently has 70 turkeys, 61 chickens, 15 geese, 11 ducks, 10 pheasants (3 varieties), and 2 quail. He also has 3 rabbits and 5 head of cattle.

Although he sells his turkeys for $1.05 per pound, Cook indicated he hopes to donate some turkeys to area residents experiencing hard financial times during the holidays.

"I would like to help a few people out--somebody out there who's in bad shape," he added.

Cook invites persons who know someone in need of help to call him at 872-2310.

8 tires are slashed at Erla's, Inc.

A complaint involving some $2,000 in damage to Erla's Food Center trucks last week remains under investigation by the Cass City Police Department.

According to police, a vandal(s) cut 8 tires on 2 large stake trucks used for meat delivery. The trucks were parked at the store, 6233 Church St., at the time of the incident, which is thought to have taken place sometime after dark Nov. 18 and before 6 a.m. Thursday.

Each tire will cost $200 to $250 to replace, store officials estimated.

Also under investigation is $200 in damage to a glass door at the Parkway store, 6703 Main St., discovered by an officer while patrolling over the weekend.

According to reports, someone apparently kicked a 2-foot hole in the right portion of glass double doors at the store. The damage was done sometime after 11:30 p.m. Saturday and before 1:20 a.m. Sunday.

Mating fluid

Under the influence: Once a male tree cricket attracts a female, he entices her to stay with the insect equivalent of "buying her a drink." According to International Wildlife magazine, the male cricket lifts his wings, exposing on his back a small depression filled with a thick, scented fluid. The female mounts his back and feeds on this nectar. While she's drinking, they mate.

2 arraigned in court

Two Tuscola County men were arraigned in Tuscola County District Court Friday.

Michael O. Decker Sr., 37, 4927 Main St., Millington, was charged with fourth degree Criminal Sexual Conduct.

His preliminary examination was scheduled for 9 a.m. Dec. 2. Bond was set at $2,000.

Decker is charged with using force or coercion in engaging in sexual contact with another person Oct. 19 in Millington. If convicted, he faces a maximum sentence of 2 years imprisonment and/or a $500 fine.

Also arraigned was Gregory A. Carlisle, 27, who faces a charge of breaking and entering a vehicle/trailer.

Carlisle's preliminary examination also is scheduled for 9 a.m. Dec. 2. Bond was set at $5,000.

He allegedly broke into a beer keg trailer July 30 in Vassar, court records state.

The crime carries a maximum penalty of 5 years imprisonment or a $1,000 fine.

Cass City man escapes injury

A Port Huron man was treated at Deckerville Community Hospital Friday after the vehicle he was driving failed to yield the right of way and was struck by a vehicle driven by a Cass City man.

Jerome F. Dzieglewicz was treated for injuries he received in the 10:40 a.m. accident, while the other driver, Frank P. Keller of Cass City, was not injured.

According to troopers at the state police post in Sandusky, both vehicles approached the intersection of Argyle and Reinelt roads at the same time--Dzieglewicz from the west and Keller from the south--but Dzieglewicz's vehicle failed to yield the right of way. He was cited by troopers for the infraction.

The impact of the crash caused Dzieglewicz's vehicle to roll over twice, troopers said.

Troopers noted that the intersection is not signed, but that at such intersections the vehicle to the left is required to yield the right of way to the other vehicle.

Huron historical group to hold annual program

Area history buffs are invited to attend the Huron County Historical Society's annual holiday dinner and program.

According to Jean Willett, all 6 county chapters will attend the event, scheduled for Dec. 5 at the Hitching Post in Elkton. The event will begin at 5:45 p.m. with a turkey dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m.

Newspaperman, historian, photographer and writer Walter Rummel will present a program entitled, "Early Days in the Upper Thumb," with slides and narration. The program will include some history of Tuscola County.

Also, Clyde Leiterman will be performing old-time music and will lead the group in a sing-a-long.

Interested persons must make reservations by Dec. 2 by calling 269-8325 or 269-8165.

FIVE YEARS AGO

Navy Seaman Recruit Eugene D. Kady II, son of Eugene K. and Melanie Kady of Gageton, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego. During the training cycle, classes included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. The Philathea class of First Baptist Church met Saturday evening in the church fellowship rooms. Thirty persons attended. After a potluck meal and devotions, games were played under the direction of Barbara Hutchinson.

Mrs. M.B. Auten and her daughter, Mrs. Tom Craig, were guests of Mrs. Auten's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John Starbann, at White Pigeon from Nov. 14-16. Jon Fahrner, past president of Elkland-Novesta United Way, did the painting over the top of the thermometer at Seeger and Main Streets Monday, the goal for the year of $14,000 having been exceeded by $1,517.54.

TEN YEARS AGO

Sue C. Kulinski of Cass City has been named to the honor roll for the summer quarter at Ferris State College, Big Rapids.

Bob Cleland Sr. and Bob Cleland Jr. of Pontiac, Raymond Wallace, Dick Wallace and Dave Matthews Jr. spent from Thursday through Saturday at their cabin at Onaway.

Harry Parrish of Uby waited 16 years of hunting to get his first buck and when he did it was a dandy. Hunting on Reed Road, east of Cass City, he downed a 14-pointer with 2 shots.

Two players from the Owen-Gage girls' basketball team are on the North Central D League all-conference first team. A unanimous selection of the 9 coaches was Mary Lenhard, an Owen-Gage senior, and Laurie Andrakowicz, a junior on the Bulldog team.

25 YEARS AGO

At the Elmwood Extension Club meeting, held Tuesday at the home of Mary and Alma Wald, members voted to have 6 dozen cookies ready for the Christmas Tea to be held in Reese. Fifteen dozen cookies were also promised for the Veteran's Hospital. Leaders, Mrs. Gladys Laurie and Mrs. Alma Wald, presented the lesson. Postmaster Lewis Bishop has asked Cass City Postal patrons to help in getting Christmas mail in early.

The entire family of Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson attended the Robinson's 50th wedding anniversary open house Saturday at the Carl Wright home. Mrs. James Karr, a granddaughter, made and decorated the anniversary cake.

Duane Chippi, Cass City, brought down a five-point, 145-pound buck and his hunting partner, Maurice Adair of Argyle, shot an eight-point, 175-pound buck near Marion on opening day. Both shot their deer within the same hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Ball and girls will entertain Mr. and Mrs. Grant Meredith and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rockwell of Snover at Thanksgiving dinner.

35 YEARS AGO

Three Cass City gridgers were named to the first all-star team of the Thumb "B" football loop. The 3 from Cass City to be honored were Bob Wallace, Tim Burdon and Don Tuckey, all seniors.

When the Detroit Junior Livestock Show opens Tuesday, the Cass City 4-H Club will be trying for its eighth grand champion steer and seventh grand champion lamb since 1930. Last year Cass City copped the grand champion in both classes. Dale Leslie's 1100-pound Aberdeen Angus, "Blackboy," topped the steer class and Bill Zinnecker won the sheep championship with his Southdown wether lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parrott returned home Sunday from hunting deer at Seney. Mr. Parrott shot his deer on opening day.

HEALTH TIPS

Hay fever sufferers can have symptoms throughout the year

Hay fever is not only seasonal. Up to 40 million Americans suffer from it -- and as many as 20 million of these sufferers are afflicted with hay fever symptoms throughout the year.

According to the American Lung Association of Michigan -- the Christmas Seal people -- seasonal hay fever only occurs during the early fall, spring and summer when plants are shedding pollen into the air. Perennial hay fever, however, is a year-round sensitivity to a myriad of other airborne particles, many commonly found in the home or workplace. These particles can also cause the typical symptoms of hay fever -- sniffles, a running nose, teary and itching eyes, uncontrollable sneezing, nasal stuffiness, and a tickly throat.

The typical home is a virtual treasure trove of allergy-provoking particles. People with perennial hay fever are allergic to one or another of the hundreds of different types of microscopic airborne particles that fill the home and, for some, the workplace.

Common house dust contains tiny fibers of wool, linen and cotton shed from clothing, rugs, and other items made of these fabrics. Dust also frequently contains living creatures: the small house mite has attained a certain notoriety among allergy doctors as a potent instigator of hay fever attack.

Other household triggers include human hair and skin as well as animal dander, which includes the skin sheddings and saliva of a household pet. Feathers, glues, plaster, newsprint, and insecticides are also on the long list of potential allergy triggers in susceptible people. Finally, molds growing in dark, humid recesses throughout many houses can shed spores that, like pollen, provoke an attack.

Sufferers from perennial as well as seasonal hay fever know all too well that tobacco smoke and chemical fumes can aggravate their symptoms, as can drafts, chilling and sudden temperature changes.

Hay fever, also known as allergic rhinitis, occurs because of an inherited sensitivity of the nasal tissues to inhaled particles called allergens. These particles set off reactions resulting in the release of chemical irritants, including the recently discovered class of substances called leukotrienes.

During hay fever season (which includes early fall), the best advice is to stay indoors as much as possible, keeping windows closed and the air conditioner running (with a closed vent). Electrostatic air filters and similar devices may also help. For people whose active lives keep them outdoors much of the time, the best solution may be one or more of the available allergy medications. Antihistamines are usually effective, but can cause sleepiness. Nose drops or sprays work for a while in relieving nasal congestion but then backfire, leading to an increase in congestion. Consult your physician so that the best drug or combination of drugs can be recommended.

The situation for sufferers of perennial hay fever is more complex. As a rule of thumb, it's good advice to keep the house clean and well dusted and to search in nooks and crannies for offending molds. And as with seasonal hay fever, an air purifier helps. Here are some other hints for minimizing indoor hay fever attacks:

- * In humid weather, use a dehumidifier.
- * Don't smoke.
- * Ask others not to smoke in your home or office.
- * Avoid rugs, feather pillows and fabric curtains.
- * Store paints, cleaning fluids and other chemicals away from the living area.
- * Keep ventilation ducts clean.
- * Do not keep a pet if you or other household members are allergic to it.

Allergy Shots May Help Some Sufferers

Another option exists -- immunotherapy. Commonly known as allergy shots, this treatment desensitizes the body's immune system to the substances that provoke an allergic reaction. However, a complex and often expensive set of diagnostic tests must be carried out to identify the specific offenders. Injections must be given weekly for many months, even throughout the year in some cases. Immunotherapy doesn't always work, but for some it is the only way to achieve a bearable life.

While for the majority of individuals hay fever is relatively benign, causing discomfort rather than serious disease, the toll paid by the U.S. economy is staggering. Estimates from various federal agencies indicate that 5 million workdays and 1.5 million schooldays are lost each year, with a monetary loss of over $300 million. And even if a sufferer does not stay home, his or her productivity tends to be lower because of the discomfort of the allergy.

Legume seeds

Alternative sources of energy: Although legumes have enormous potential as sources of food, many of them are overlooked as major crops. According to International Wildlife magazine, many legume seeds are 2 to 4 times richer in protein than cereal grain. And one kind of South American legume, called nunas, can be popped like popcorn and provide a highly nutritious snack.

23 Cass City students earn perfect scores

Twenty-three students in the 10th grade at Cass City High School earned perfect scores in both the math and reading portions of the Michigan Assessment tests, school officials announced.

Questions are divided into 4 parts in the tests and students answering 3 or more parts correctly are considered meeting the test's objectives.

In the math only portion, 8 students scored perfect records and in reading only 33 had perfect scores.

Scoring perfect records in both categories of the test were:

Winter, Klein, Truemner share hobby

3 gals say "clowning around" rewarding

by Tom Montgomery
News Editor

On most days, Janice Winter, Julie Klein and Eleanor Truemner can be found in their roles as working mothers and grandmothers.

The 3 area women—Winter and Truemner are Cass City residents, while Klein lives in Kingston—enjoy busy, but separate lives.

On certain special occasions, however, the ladies take time away from the usual grind to shed everyday roles, dress and inhibitions for some good old-fashioned clowning around.

The trio are serious about being clowns. Each has been practicing the hobby for about 3 years now, and the rewards, they say, are more than they bargained for.

"When you put your make-up on, you get kind of intrigued, but the first time you get out with children or in a nursing home, you find it so rewarding," Truemner remarked. "You come away feeling very good inside."

Klein said that being a clown is particularly enjoyable when visiting somewhat un-responsive nursing home patients.

"When they see a clown, it's like it brings something back to them," she said. "It triggers something."

"They (the elderly) are as thrilled about receiving candy as the young ones," Winter added. "The response of the older and the young is what I like best. It's fun, you know, when you're having your downs, it picks you up."

TRAINING

The decision to become clowns was somewhat unexpected, according to the area residents, who noted that the hobby is a craft that requires training and practice.

Luckily, one of the best clowns in the business—Dave Lewis—offered to teach a few sessions on clowns 3 years ago, according to Truemner, who said that Lewis learned his trade through the Barnum and Bailey Circus organization.

Truemner explained that Lewis was working in the Thumb as an investment counselor at the time, and that he happened to stop in at the Colony House, owned by Janice and her husband, Marv.

"Janice got talking with him and she asked him what he did. He agreed to come here and teach it," Truemner said, adding that about 2 dozen persons, including a family from Bay City, participated in the clown sessions.

Winter remembers well her meeting with Lewis. "I was tending bar one night and he said, 'You know, you'd make a good clown,' and he proceeded to tell me he was a professional clown," Winter remarked.

clowns have modest mouths with small markings around the eyes. Although the whiteface clown, which dates back to the seventh century, traditionally wears a skull cap, many today use a variety of wigs instead.

Winter, meanwhile, is both an Auguste and tramp clown. The Auguste is a very colorful clown in both make-up and character. This clown is the butt of everyone's jokes and takes all the falls, pies and seltzer.

Like the Auguste clown, the tramp clown is never the "set-up" man—the tramp is the one that the joke is pulled on. Referred to as the true American clown, the tramp's costume usually consists of a dark suit with tatters or patches. The make-up creates the effect of a red-nosed, unshaven bum.

CODE OF CONDUCT

Aside from appearance, each of the ladies also learned a basic "code of conduct" for clowns as well as learning how to develop a character and prepare an act.

There are neither male nor female clowns, for example, Truemner commented, adding, "A clown never reveals his name, and a clown never eats in public."

She continued, "If you walk up to a child in a parade... and that child doesn't like you, you back away—don't force yourself."

Clowns also never use vulgar speech or embarrass or hurt the feelings of an audience member, especially children, the trio explained.

"We've gone into hospitals, birthday parties, parades and nursing homes," Truemner said. "We're practically on call in Marlette and at Provincial House," Klein added.

The ladies pointed out that they're rarely paid for their visits, which is fine with them.

"Kids, no matter how sick they are, really perk up" when a clown visits them, Klein said.

"You get more kisses," Truemner remarked. Klein added, smiling, "and hugs."

Christmas trees

"Oh, Christmas Tree..." Thousands of years ago people in Egypt, Rome and England decorated trees to celebrate the beginning of winter. But, according to Ranger Rick magazine, it was not until 400 years ago that people in Germany decorated the first trees to celebrate Christmas. Then, on Christmas Day in 1747, some German settlers in Bethlehem, Pa., decorated trees for their children. These were probably the first Christmas trees in America.

Chemical Bank declares dividend

Gilbert A. Currie, chairman, announced that directors of Chemical Financial Corporation, at their Nov. 16 meeting, declared a quarterly cash dividend of poration is the parent company of Chemical Bank and Trust Company, Midland, as well as Chemical Banks in mid-Michigan, including Cass City.

Your neighbor says

Thanksgiving is best with family, relatives

Despite technology and commercialization, which have plagued countless holidays, the spirit of the first Thanksgiving appears to have survived over the years in many area homes.

Thanksgiving, traditionally, is synonymous with a bountiful harvest and marked by a genuine thankfulness among those who will share a meal and some good conversation.

The sharing may take any one of a number of forms. Some annually look forward to visiting with family, while others dedicate the holiday to helping those who are less fortunate.

Your neighbor, Vickie L. Englehart of Cass City, says she'll be staying home with her family and having dinner with her grandmother this year.

The Cass City High School senior says her family typically celebrates Thanksgiving together, and that "being home with family and spending time with relatives" is what she likes best about the holiday.

Englehart, 17, however, noted she isn't thrilled with all Thanksgiving traditions. "I hate turkey. I get some ham, though," she remarked, adding, "You can't watch anything but football—I hate that."

Englehart, who hopes to go on to college, is currently employed at the Chronicle through the high school's co-op program. She hopes to eventually enter the nursing field as an RN.

Englehart is one of 3 children born to Don and Barb Englehart of Deford. The couple also has 2 sons, Don, 20, and Tim, 14. The family resides at 7820 Shabbona Rd.

Hawks inexperienced

Undefeated JV graduate to defend Hawk title

The best thing about this year's defending Thumb B Association champions, Cass City, is that coming up to varsity ranks will be players from an undefeated junior varsity team. The worst thing is that nearly all of the players that swept the team to the title have graduated.

That means, says Coach Ron Nurnberger, starting his 14th season at the helm of the Hawks, that we will be very inexperienced. There isn't much height on the 10-man squad either.

Although good size is always one of the first things that coaches look for, it's not essential for a winning team. Last year's champions did not have a starter over 6-2, yet went undefeated in the league.

Although last year's players were not tall, they were talented. Dave Miller, now on the Alma College JV team, was an all league and all area guard. Kurt Bliss was all league and a 4-year varsity veteran. Mike Kelley led the team in rebounding for 2 years and Mike Ware was the starting center for 3 years. Steve Ross and Dennis Hyatt shared a forward spot and Virgil Peters was a sparkplug off the bench.

There are 2 players back who saw lots of action last season. Jeff Sontag started most of the games and saw action in all of them. Mike Randall played on the varsity last year as a sophomore, but was hampered by illness. Those 2 will be the only members of the team with a significant amount of varsity experience. Greg Hanby, 6-3 senior, and Darin Monroe, 6-0, saw limited action in reserve roles.

The success of the team this year depends on how fast last year's junior varsity players adapt to varsity competition. Paul Tuckey, 6-0 forward, was a tough rebounder and a ball handling guard on the JV. He'll move up to the front court on the varsity. Jeff Krohl, 5-10, is a guard with quickness who improved rapidly during the year. Jeff Dillon, 5-11 forward, is one of those players who is hard to classify. He does many things reasonably well and has the knack of doing whatever it takes to win. Last year the team simply played better when he was on the floor.

All games start at 5 p.m. (Frosh - JV - Varsity)

Pat Murphy, 6-1 forward, could be the sleeper on the team. He shows flashes of basketball talent and, if with experience he puts it all together, could be a player to be reckoned with as the season progresses. Brent Meining, 6-1 center, was the top rebounder on the JV last season and he's sure to see lots of action this year. Kevin Hartwick, 6-foot, is scheduled for duty at guard.

There are 2 other players on the squad, Darin Ross, 6-foot forward who was not out for the team last year, and Mario Haddad, 5-9 guard who is an exchange student.

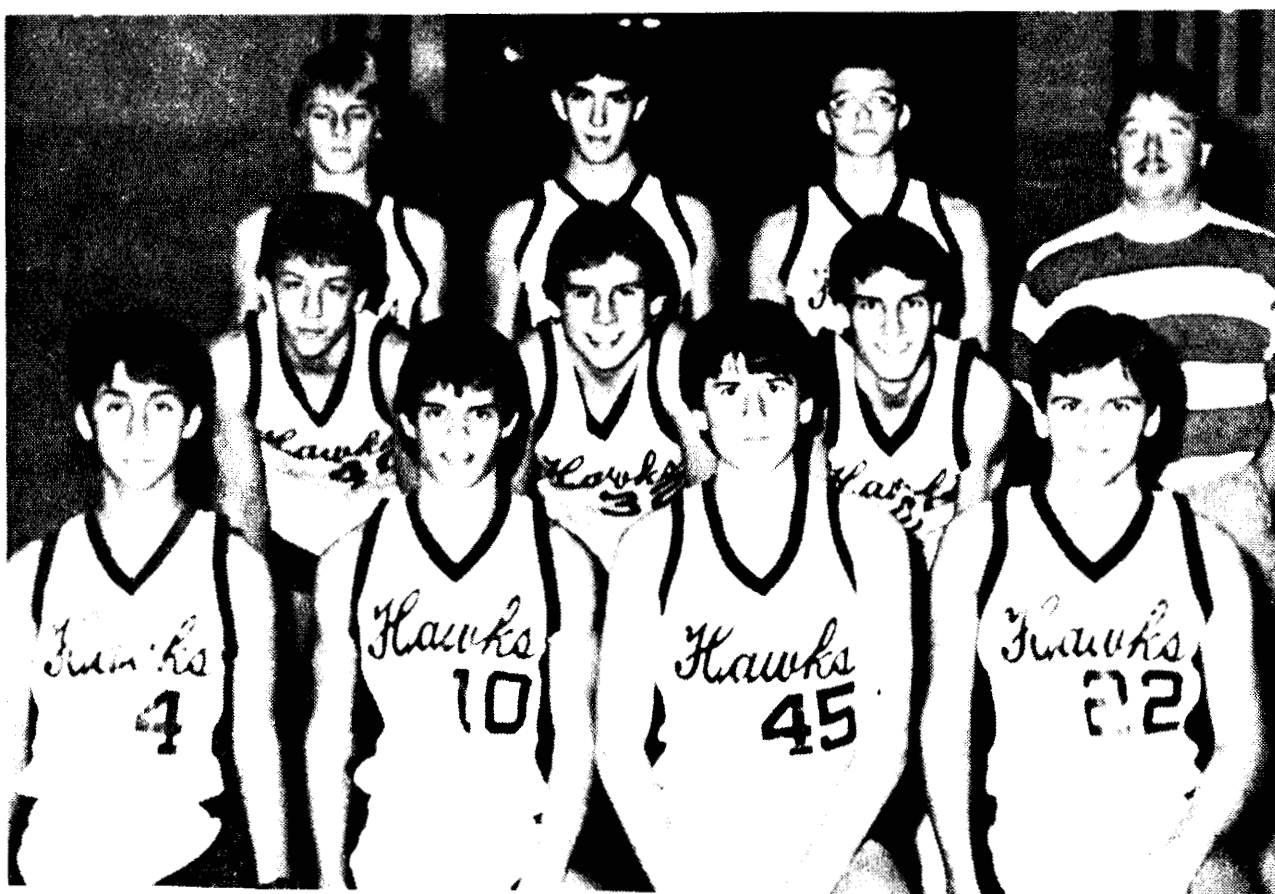

LEAGUE TEAMS

The consensus is that if anyone wins the Thumb B Association title this year, it will be Elkton-Pigeon Bay Port. The Lakers are big and experienced and should be hungry after failing to live up to pre-season predictions last season. Vassar is another team that Nurnberger feels has the talent to challenge for the title.

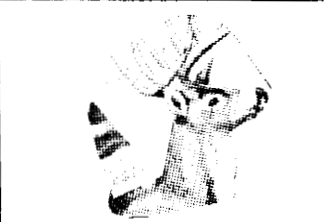

After these 2 come the rest of the teams in the league. Cass City is as unknown quantity because of its inexperience, the coach feels.

Buck luck

Don Yax reported taking a 6-point buck at about 10 a.m. Opening Day, Nov. 15, while hunting near Kelly Road.

The deer, his second in 2 years of hunting, weighed in at 170 pounds.

Also reporting success on the opener is George Nowakowski of Deford, who bagged a 6-point buck at about 8:30 a.m. while hunting on his Mushroom Road farm.

The 170-pound animal was only the second deer taken by Nowakowski since he began hunting in 1934. He shot his first deer in 1984.

Caro resident Leo Spencer also got a 6-point buck. He shot the 160-pound animal while hunting in the Colwood Road area Nov. 18.

Akron-Fairgrove ends fine Owen-Gage season 56-44

The Akron-Fairgrove Vikings eliminated Owen-Gage from the district class D tournament Monday night, 56-44. The winners jumped off to an 11-0 lead in the opening minutes and were never headed. The Bulldogs fought back to move within a bucket at the end of the quarter, but that was as close as they were to get.

Coach Dean Roller said the game was decided on the free-throw line where the Vikings posted a big edge. It was the third time this season that the Vikings defeated the Bulldogs.

PORT HOPE GAME

The Bulldogs used a big second quarter Friday, paced by Susie Salcido's 8 points, to break open a tight game and went on to rout North Central Thumb foe Port Hope, 55-35, in District action at Bay City's St.

Joseph High School. The Blue Stars clung close to the Bulldogs in the early going thanks to the work of Staci Friedland, who netted all the Blue Star's points in the opening stanza including one long range jumper from beyond the 3-point line.

The Bulldogs were able to take a slim 10-7 lead into the second quarter, despite Friedland's efforts, partly due to the 6 markers of all-conference forward Salcido. The Bulldogs then stepped their game up a notch in the second quarter, registering 21 points while holding the Blue Stars to 2 baskets and 2 free throws and savoring a 31-13 lead at the intermission.

The Bulldogs got into foul trouble early in the second half which enabled the Blue Stars to trim the Bulldog lead to 13 points heading into the final period as Port Hope connected on 7 of 11 tosses from the charity stripe.

Any hope of an upset was laid to rest in the fourth period when Salcido netted 2 baskets early in the final quarter.

Salcido led all scorers with 24 points, while Friedland posted 15 in a losing effort. The two were the game's only players to finish in double figures.

Hawks lose heartbreaker in final seconds to Cats

Cass City came to the end of the tournament trail at Deckerville Friday when the Hawks lost a heartbreaker to Mayville in the district class C opener, 35-34.

Coach Daryl Iwanovitsch was pleased with everything about the game except the final score and a cold shooting night for the girls. We played an excellent game, the coach said, our defense held them in check, but we shot only 23 percent, while Mayville shot 38 percent.

It was an uphill battle all night for Cass City which trailed all the way until the final 45 seconds. A bucket on a tip by Darlene Monroe put the Hawks in front 34-33 for the first time, but the lead didn't last long as Dana Wilson hit a 6-foot jumper almost immediately and the Hawks were unable to score in the final 30 seconds.

The cold shooting first half cost Cass City a chance to advance to the second round. The Wildcats posted a 12-9 first period lead and followed it with a 5-2 advantage in the low scoring second period to lead at the intermission, 17-11.

Cass City chalked up an 11-8 advantage in the third period and kept chipping away at the Mayville lead in the final quarter to set the stage for the wild finish.

Cass City had balanced scoring with Monroe with 10 points the only Hawk in double figures. Wilson led in the final regular season game of the year, 59-46, Tuesday, Nov. 17, at Cass City. The first quarter surge was paced by Darlene Monroe who burned the nets for 9 points as the Hawks charged in front 15-10.

But it was all downhill after that as the Patriots stiffened their defense and Shari DeSimpelare personally nearly doubled the point production of Cass City in the second quarter. She scored 18 points while the Hawks netted just 10 and at the intermission USA was off and winging with a 35-25 lead. For the night DeSimpelare converted 14 of 17 free throw attempts and netted 26 points.

The Hawks fought back in the third period and clawed their way into a tie as they outscored the visitors, 15-7. But it was all USA in the final decisive quarter as the winners posted a 17-5 edge to chalk up the win.

Coach Daryl Iwanovitsch said the game turned on defense, especially on DeSimpelare in the second quarter. USA shot better than Cass City with 18 for 40, while the Hawks were 16 for 47.

Monroe led Cass City with 17 points on 7 for 11 shooting and 8 rebounds while Lisa Nicholas played what her coach called her best game with a basket, a steal and 5 rebounds in a very good defensive effort.

CASS CITY'S Jenny Tracy drives past a USA defender, but the Patriots were too strong for the Hawks who lost, 59-46.

DNR warns drivers of car/deer hazards

Department of Natural Resources officials are warning that fall, especially November, is the most likely time for car/deer accidents in Michigan.

Bucks in rut are more on the move at this time of year, with the first few hours, before sunrise and after sunset being the times of greatest accident potential on the roads.

Last year, 32,746 car/deer collisions were reported in Michigan, with 8,060 reported in November alone. Another 1,500 accidents

"associated with deer," were reported in 1986, such as drivers swerving to avoid hitting deer on the highways and ending up in the ditch.

Five people died in car/deer accidents in Michigan last year, including 2 women in one accident in Saginaw County Nov. 15, 1986. Three other car/deer accident fatalities took place in Alpena County, Kent County and Dickinson County.

Drivers should stay alert and aware of deer crossing hazards, officials urge. Sighting of deer beside the road ahead and approach of a deer crossing sign are good reasons to slow down and prepare to stop without swerving.

Seat belts of all vehicle passengers should be fastened at all times. Keeping high beam lights on whenever possible may help.

Since deer often move in numbers, beware of "trailers" after one or more deer have crossed the road. Maintain steering control and remember that it's safer to hit a soft deer than a tree or another vehicle.

If a deer has been hit, try to get the vehicle and deer off the road. Set the emergency flasher on the car as appropriate and do not handle injured deer. (Live deer may bite or kick and cause further injury.)

Once a deer has been struck and killed, it is yours to claim. Notify the nearest State Police or Sheriff, who will give you a permit indicating the car/deer collision (which is also useful for an insurance claim).

Cass City's Darlene Monroe, a junior, was the lone Hawk player to be selected on any of the 3 teams chosen for all-conference honors by Thumb B Association coaches. Monroe was on the second team.

As might be expected, co-champion Lakers and North Branch dominated the selections. The Lakers placed 2 members on the first team and 2 on the third team. North Branch placed just one. Stacy Lamphere, on the first team and she was named the honorary captain. North Branch placed 3 on the second team and another on the third squad as all 5 starters on the team were honored.

Besides Monroe, 2 other Hawks received votes. Cindy Powell, junior, and Sue Papp, sophomore, won honorable mention.

The all-conference players are:

FIRST TEAM

SECOND TEAM

Taking stock

By Bill Myers

You want to extend your reach. Some of us are content with an ordinary step-ladder, high enough to paint some window casings on the first floor.

Others are more ambitious. They want to paint the second story. So they get a regular ladder, that goes up maybe 12 feet. It's more risky and it better be sitting on level ground.

The macho type want to paint the cornices and under the eaves. So they get an extension ladder. Two ladders in one. The top one hooks over one of the upper rungs of the one underneath. It gets pretty shaky and wobbly. The do-it-yourself painter then compounds the risk by trying to reach out too far to the left or to the right from the top of the ladder.

With all that leverage at the top, the ladder starts sliding sideways, like an upside-down pendulum. It crashes to the ground.

This is called a "correction."

I call it falling on your fanny because you had no business being up that high on a shaky ladder, trying to act like a professional painter, or a fireman or a Flying Wallenda.

Early last summer in a column I wrote about the market being too high. It was historically high in prices in relationship to earnings. An average stock earning $5 a year was selling for $100--20x earnings. If you got all the earnings, it would take you 20 years to get your investment back.

Dividends were near historical lows. Around 3% -- before taxes. Say 2.25% after your income tax.

Stock prices were historically high relative to book value. If a company was worth $1 million (assets minus liabilities) the market was valuing it at $3 million -- 3x its worth measured by net assets.

All these factors -- prices too high in relation to earnings, dividends too low in relation to prices, and prices too high measured against assets.

This is the simple country boy approach.

People whose money I handle would nudge me now and then and point to a stock market that had gone up 40% since New Years. I kept them fully invested in bonds.

One client has always insisted on managing by herself quite a bundle of stocks she inherited. In June, I wrote her calling attention to the items I've just described. I suggested she put stop-loss orders under stocks of say 10% under the market. The market then was around 2600. She didn't do it. She is now a half-million less rich than she was before.

Oh, bonds went down, too. It's a little different in this field, though. Bonds pay off at 100¢ on the dollar when they mature. And when does General Motors or IBM mature?

In the meantime the return on bonds is 4x after-tax what stocks were bringing in. That's right -- stocks at 2.25% after tax on dividends. Tax-exempt municipal bonds are 9%. Taxable Bell Telephone bonds, 11%.

All this year I had no answer when people asked me, "Where is the market going?" I don't have an answer now. I said all along it was too high. I said it was too high at 1600; I said it was too high when it hit 2,000 and then 2,700. I sounded like a needle stuck in the record. A lot of folks just turned me off. Who wants to listen to a country curmudgeon when there are lovely sirens singing their seductive airs?

After the market had its 150-point fall on Oct. 15 and 16, the pundits rushed to prophesy what would happen next. Some samples from the Wall Street Journal of Monday morning, before the 508-point drop (oh, pardon me -- "correction"):

"A classic selling climax -- a sign the recent selling frenzy has exhausted itself..." (Anonymous sources.)

"If we haven't seen the bottom, we're probably very close..." -- Dennis Jarrett, Kidder Peabody.

"Big market declines always end in a final 'death rattle.' Friday's session represents that kind of climactic selling." -- Jack Solomon, Bear Stearns & Co.

"Friday's session was not a true selling climax. (Volume was not high enough at 336 million shares). A true panic would be 600 to 700 million shares." -- Ned Davis of Davis Research of Venice, Fla.

So it took a fellow in the tank town of Venice, Fla., to say we hadn't seen 'nuttin' yet after the Oct. 15-16 drops. Monday night on the tube, all the pundits came out to tell why it happened. The trade deficit, the national deficit, the Persian Gulf fracas, the Bork hearings, German interest rates... If some or all these things caused the market to fall, where were all the experts the week before, telling stockholders the market was going to tumble? The problems have been around for quite a while. To credit them with causing a market crash after the crash has happened is phony reasoning. Predicting needs to be done in advance.

Tuesday morning quarterbacking bores the hell out of me.

2 bills to focus on state erosion woes

Two bills to address erosion problems created by fluctuating water levels in the Great Lakes will be introduced in the Legislature by Sen. William Sederburg (R-East Lansing) and Rep. Ken DeBeaussiaert (D-New Baltimore).

Sederburg's bill would establish a mandatory setback from the Great Lakes shoreline for all non-moveable structures which are to be built on non-bedrock soil.

For structures no larger than 3,500 square feet, the setback would be 45 feet from the bluff, and for larger ones, 90 feet from the bluff.

"During the last 2 years, record high water levels on the Great Lakes taught us we must be extremely cautious when we build along Great Lakes shorelines. These setbacks will assure those building along the shoreline will have a margin of safety for their buildings," Sederburg said.

DeBeaussiaert's bill would require sellers to notify prospective buyers if property has been designed as a high risk erosion area. It makes sense, he said, to pass on any information which might be available, so people can make an informed judgement.

"It is essential that people buying property along our beautiful Great Lakes shorelines are fully informed of any risk they may be assuming when they buy property," DeBeaussiaert said.

Both bills were developed in conjunction with the Office of the Great Lakes and the Great Lakes Shoreline Advisory Committee, said Thomas Martin, office director.

"Families have lost their homes, communities have lost their roads and all of us have witnessed the fouling of our lakes by debris. These twin bills will help ensure that these lessons will not soon be forgotten as water levels recede," Martin concluded.

Rep. Teola Hunter (D-Detroit), chair of the committee, said there is an urgent need for a more coordinated and centralized system to provide services to children and families.

"Currently there is a fragmented, inconsistent and underfunded approach in preventing juvenile delinquency. Existing services are spread among state and county social service, mental health, public health and education programs," she said.

Hunter said the new agency would reduce the funding needed for administration of various programs, but the logistics of it, such as what department the agency might be under or who would be in charge of it, have not yet been worked out.

The $45 million, Hunter continued, would be spread throughout a number of state agencies. "Obviously we believe that this funding will have a tremendous impact on the prevention of juvenile delinquency and will be a major factor in reducing the need for our prison system," she said.

Rep. Thomas Power (R-Traverse City) said that many of the ideas included in the report, such as preschool programs, are already being implemented. But the report urges that they be continued and expanded, he said, and "they'll save money in the long run."

Also included in the 49-recommendation report was formation of a permanent over-see committee on early intervention and prevention services.

The committee would be charged with monitoring current family preservation efforts and would seek a coordinated approach to services.

Other recommendations were that each county office of the DSS develop a plan for comprehensive child abuse and neglect services; that Aid to Dependent Children and General Assistance grants be increased in the 1988-89 budget; that family planning services be increased; that a toll-free state substance abuse line be established, and that the number of guidance counselors in elementary schools be increased.

SEPARATE AGENCY FOR CHILDREN

The House Ad Hoc Committee on Early Intervention and Prevention of recommended that an agency to oversee and centralize children and family services be created by the state and that $45 million be appropriated for its programs.

Both bills were developed in conjunction with the Office of the Great Lakes and the Great Lakes Shoreline Advisory Committee, said Thomas Martin, office director.

"Families have lost their homes, communities have lost their roads and all of us have witnessed the fouling of our lakes by debris. These twin bills will help ensure that these lessons will not soon be forgotten as water levels recede," Martin concluded.

Community Ed. Dept. airs 2 local offerings

The Cass City Community Education Department recently announced 2 class offerings that will begin during the next 2 months.

A 1 1/2 hour session on decorating homes with greens, spices and potpourri for the holiday season will be offered at 7 p.m. Dec. 10 at Cass City High School.

The class will be taught by Jeri Tordai, owner of Special Scents in Cass City, and will include gift ideas using spices and potpourri in unique ways.

Also, men, women and school-age children may register for a 6-week American Tae Kwon Do class, set to begin at 7 p.m. Jan. 4 at the Cass City Intermediate School gymnasium. Each class will last for 2 hours.

Additional information on registration and class fees is available by contacting the community education office at 872-4151.
