Girl Scouts Delve in Indian Lore With War Dance During Camping Spree

An Indian war dance was included in campers cut at the Ord Girl Scouts camp-out at the Veterans Recreation Grounds over the weekend. Dancers are Janet Andersen (striped pants) and Stella Linke. Drummers are Sheryl Lenker, Shirley Proskocil, Joyce Meyer, Susan Misko and Kathryn Williams.

Ethel and Wilma Nelson spent the weekend visiting friends in Valentine. They also visited the Fort Niobrara Game Reserve and Ft. Falls near Valentine.

Bayard Asks Rehearing

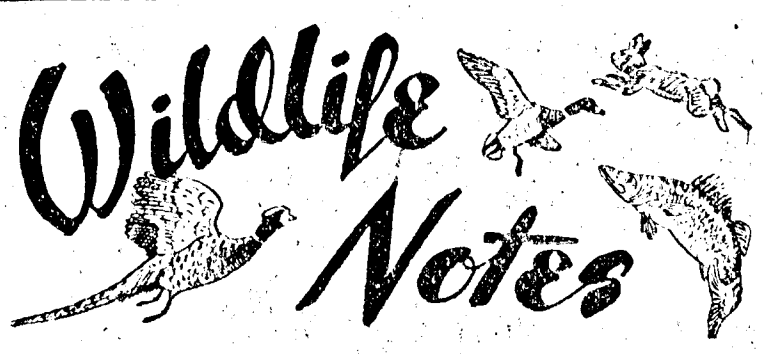

The city of Bayard asked the Nebraska Supreme Court for a rehearing in the Court's reversal of a State Railway Commission decision which held that the North Central Gas Co. was required to furnish gas to Bayard.

The commission had ruled the gas company was under its jurisdiction. The Supreme Court reversed this.

The case began when the city took over the gas company's distribution lines and the company refused to furnish gas to the city at wholesale.

The brief contended that the railway commission's decision for the city was not arbitrary, unreasonable or beyond its jurisdiction.

Increase in Nebraska Reared Ducks Is Forecast by Game Commission

District game supervisor Harvey W. Miller of Bassett has revealed that all indications point to a substantial increase in the number of Nebraska-reared ducks entering the Central Flyway this fall.

Miller added that all reports to date reflected a good reproduction for the state's breeding population which this spring was estimated to be 63% greater than in 1956. The duck population this spring averaged eight ducks per square mile in the eastern part of the sandhills, 11 in the central, and 13 in the western.

Shovellers Increase Most
Greatest increase over last year were in shovellers, up 164%; blue-winged teal, up 161%; and pintails, up 56%.

Due to the lack of snow last winter, the early part of the breeding season looked like another bad year for Nebraska ducks, according to Miller.

Most streams and lakes and all potholes in the sandhills area, particularly in the eastern part, were dry. These conditions limited the habitat available for the early migrants into the sandhills.

But from mid-March until the first of June, rainfall accumulated and more water areas developed for the late migrating birds.

This probably accounts for the large increase in blue-winged teal and shovellers, both late migrants.

The game commission is presently making additional surveys to further determine the reproductive success in the state.

Fisheries Supervisor Resigns
John R. Heaton, who has been employed by the Game commission as fisheries supervisor and who also was biologist for the commission at Alliance in 1955, has resigned his post to accept employment with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service. He has been assigned to the state of Idaho and the resignation was in effect Monday.

Big Game Hunters Note
The Game commission urges all prospective big game hunters in Nebraska to commence making arrangements for a place to hunt this fall.

Pointing out that almost all deer and antelope hunting in the state is done on privately owned land where permission is needed to hunt Director M. O. Steen also urges that all hunters be sure that

Big Car Races At Nebraska State Fair

For the first time since the days of Speedway Stars, Gus Schrader and Emory Collins, big car races will be one of the highlights of the Labor Day program at the Nebraska State Fair, Secretary Edwin Schultz has announced.

In addition to the Labor Day meet, big cars will race on Sunday afternoon, September 1, and Thursday afternoon, September 5. The races will be under the sanction of the International Motor Contest Association, and some of the country's best-known drivers will be competing for national championship points, as well as for trophies and increased cash purses.

The stock car races, also under IMCA sanction, has been billed as the "Nebraska International" and will be run on Friday afternoon, September 6. It will be a 200 lap, 100 mile affair with foreign and American sports cars competing with standard stocks.

Competition in Transportation Has Been Good For You!

Nowhere else in the world does the businessman, the farmer, the consumer enjoy the kinds and quality of transportation service available here in the United States.

Under the spur of competition, the trucking industry makes remarkable improvements in terminal operations through efficient mechanization—railroads strive to cut running time—airlines tailor air-freight to shipper requirements—the whole field of transport service researches, adapts, changes and improves.

This is service competition which benefits everyone concerned—which has given American agriculture and industry the finest transportation in the world.

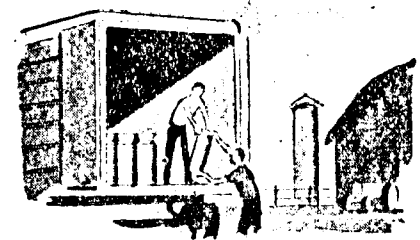

Now, some would like to throw the emphasis on virtually unrestricted rate competition. We tried unrestricted rate competition once before—and it nearly wrecked our developing country. Now we have vigorous price competition to be sure, but with built-in safeguards to protect shippers, carriers, and public alike.

Booming industry in Ontario—new factories everywhere.

Trek To Ontario (This is the second installment of Quiz Editor Ed Apking's adventures in Ontario, where he spent two weeks in company with thirty other newspapermen from the United States.)

You can believe it or not, but this amazing province of Ontario claims North America's first oil well! That statement, put forth while we were at Oil Springs, near Sarnia on Lake Huron, made our editor from Pennsylvania bridle a bit, but the coast was cleared on the technicality that the Ontario well was the first "dog" oil well, whereas the Titusville, Penna., well was "drilled."

And it was a dog well. First discovered by a farmer, the black liquid that puzzled him proved to be petroleum, and a thirty-foot dug well soon supplied with all the oil he could sell at an early day price of a dollar a gallon. Other early wells in the Oil Springs-Petrolia area were also dug. Drilling came later, at one time the area had some 3,000 wells. Most of them found oil at 200 to 400 feet. Today, about 1,600 wells exist, rigged up in groups of tandem pumps and producing five to ten gallons per day apiece.

Most of the wells are owned by the farmers, who gather their products in barrels or tanks, and sell to refineries at Sarnia, some 20 miles away. Sarnia, incidentally, is the receiving end of a pipe line from the western plains and Alberta fields, 1,500 miles away. Refineries in Sarnia still buy all local crude produced at a premium price, although they admit the entire local output would hardly keep their plant running two days a year.

Refineries and petrochemical plants abound in Sarnia—with a diversity of products ranging from gasoline to butyl rubber and plastics. Detergents are going to be a new product—most Canadian detergent soaps are now shipped in from the U. S. Most of the plants are offshoots of U. S. firms in similar business such as Dow Chemical and Esso.

Sidelight: Aside from petroleum and the vast amount of fresh water available from Lake Huron, a major factor in the location of the industrial plants was the presence of salt beds some 2,700 feet below the surface. The beds are of several hundred feet thickness—as the salt is removed by a hydraulic process, the caverns created are used to store petroleum and other products until needed.

In 1649, an overwhelming thrust by the Iroquois (the Six Nations of upper New York) virtually wiped them out and the few remnants of the tribe were scattered—some to the far west, others to farms near Ottawa, 500 miles to the east.

The missionaries shared the fate of their flocks—most of them were killed or tortured to death and their churches burned to the ground.

A magnificent cathedral crowns a 400-foot hill near the site of one of these early settlements, Fort Ste. Marie. This is the Martyr's Shrine—and its lofty spires seem to grow of themselves, quivering and pulsing with the joy of liberated souls, while far below, the very soil cries the agonies of the Jesuit martyrs and the heart-breaking annihilation of the Huron Indian nation.

IN DOMESTIC LIFE a man is presumed to be guilty until he can prove himself innocent.

On The Lee Side If It Ain't by Rule, It Ain't Playing Golf

To save my soul I can't think of a name for the game they're currently playing on the Ord Municipal Golf Course, but whatever in thunder you call it, you can't call it golf.

At least golf as I know it, and as it was taught by a dour relative who did play golf, and play it well enough to make a living at it. Unfortunately, I can't play golf well, although I was exposed to half a million miles of it, lugging a bag behind my more fortunate relative. To analyze it briefly, my swing stinks. It is patterned after the home run style of Babe Ruth.

Consequently, when I address a golf ball, I do so like Ruth hitting for the left field stands. And if you think a baseball swing has even the remotest acquaintance with golf, then you are the rankest kind of duf.

But although I can't play well, I think I have a speaking acquaintance with golf rules. And when I play, I would no more think of violating a rule than I would to give myself four strikes in baseball. As far as I am concerned, when you don't play the rules, you don't play the game.

If you excuse your lack of adherence to the rules on the grounds that the game is just "Exercise" I suggest you throw your clubs into the North Loup and go out and run around the course. You'll develop more wind that way and you won't have to be continually lying about your score.

I mildly suggested this approach to a confirmed golfer here last week after I had seen two rather startling shots. In the first, a man approached a ball hit into the rough bordering the long sixth. The man reached down and took the ball on a tuft of wheatgrass, carefully took his club and cleaned away debris in back of the ball, then whanged it towards the hole. The man was pleased with the shot (?) and ventured to a companion: "I made a remarkable recovery."

In the second, another man drove a ball out of bounds into an alfalfa field bordering the fourth. Five minutes later I saw him thump away at the ball in the field after he had carefully set the ball up. The shot lit on the lip of the green. From there it was raked onto the sand where he managed to get it down with two putts. "Thank God!" the man said as the ball dropped, "I finally managed to get a 4."

In my talk with the confirmed golfer, I mildly suggested the first golfer didn't make a recovery at all, since it is absolutely forbidden to touch your ball or ground a club in the rough, and that the second man, by even the wildest interpretation of the rules, should have had a seven.

My golfer friend replied: "That's the ground rules here. That's the way everybody plays it!" Well, it must be the Eisenhower influence. I read the other day where Ike drives three balls off the first tee picking the best (they call it a "Mulligan") for his next shot. Of course, that's strictly against the rules and only goes to show you the caliber of the people they let occupy important offices these days.

Maybe my approach to golf is too orthodox. If so, I know how it became that way. I was watching a match between two fine pros and my favorite needed only a four to win. I watched him bang a beautiful drive, go all most dead on an approach that landed in a sand trap. His recovery was within inches of the pin and the putt went down solid and true. I jumped with joy.

Yet his card for the hole showed a five. "How come?" I asked. "I watched you all the way and I saw only four?" "I grounded my club in that sand trap," he said, "so I had to add a penalty." "But nobody was with you—I started to say." "Bill," he said, his voice underscoring the last word, "golf is a game played by gentlemen!" I wish my old pro friend were alive today. He would certainly fume at the way the game has degenerated. And at the character of some of the guys playing it. That includes Eisenhower!

Out of Old Nebraska Willa Cather Memorial Sparks Interest In Early History of Webster County

Two developments in Webster County in one month have brought the county to the forefront of historical attention in Nebraska. One of these is the rekindling of the question of the location of the Pike-Pawnee village. This village, where Lieutenant Pike met with the Pawnee Indians in 1806, was claimed by the state of Kansas and the site marked over fifty years ago. This claim has been forcefully disputed by Nebraskans. This spring the question of the location has been raised again as Kansas and Nebraska representatives in congress have both claimed the site for their states. The site claimed by Nebraskans is in Webster County between the towns of Guide Rock and Red Cloud.

The other major development of historical interest in Webster County has been the continuing interest of Red Cloud to fittingly honor its most famous citizen, Willa Cather. This spring a new book on Miss Cather's writings, Early Stories of Willa Cather by Mildred R. Bennett states on the dust jacket that royalties will go to the Willa Cather Memorial Fund. The activity of the last five years to develop this memorial thus again comes to our attention.

The county received its first settlers in 1870. Donald McCallum and Emanuel Peters made a dug-out and established themselves near present Guide Rock that spring. The Garber brothers about the same time investigated the county and decided to locate in the Red Cloud area. By the next year there were enough settlers in the area so that they petitioned for and received the right to hold an election and set up a county government. The election was held on April 15, 1871; county officers were elected and a county government established. Settlement followed rapidly. The census of 1870 showed but sixteen people in Webster County, but by 1890 there were 11,210.

One of the early settlers of Webster County was Silas Garber. Mr. Garber brought fame and attention to his county when he was elected Governor in 1874, and reelected for a second term. Perhaps more than any other governor elected in Nebraska's history, he represented the interests of the newly settled or frontier areas of the state at the time of his election.

Webster County is just north of the geographic center of the United States. It is a typical Nebraska agricultural county without important industrial development. As the agricultural practices of the area have changed the population of the county has tended to decrease. Where it had over 12,000 in 1870, the population had dropped to 10,210 in 1930. The next twenty years saw an even further decrease, and in 1950 the population was 7,395.

Today's MEDITATION from The World's Most Widely Used 'Devotional Guide' The Upper Room

Read Philippians 4:10-13. For freedom Christ has set us free (Galatians 5:1, BSV.) Once I heard a church school teachers say, "There was a time when I became so tense in trying to get across the lesson in one brief hour that the Holy Spirit could not make contact through me. Now I have learned to relax." That teacher has come a long way in finding the freedom which Christ has set us free. No matter what our work is, our liberty lies not in the negative but in the positive. Our Lord has freed us from ourselves for Himself. Selfish peace comes from inside for the outside.

When Christ dwells in us, our peace and responsibility are inseparable. Personal tension and fear are not compatible with Christian liberty and fulfillment of purpose and duty. We are free to plan and prepare, and also at liberty to relax and to achieve. It is not we who give ourselves such freedom; Christ gives it to us.

Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the prayer which Thou hast given us through the gift of Thy Son. Grant that we may enter into the fullness of Christ. Help us to follow Thy purpose and to find Thy peace. In the name of our Saviour we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day: "Where the Spirit of the Lord is there is liberty."

Reader of the Quiz During 1956, there were 2,200 more highway traffic fatalities than in the previous year.

State Capital News

The State Highway Advisory Commission once again was embroiled in controversy—with members of the Legislature as well as with some irate citizens. A question of whether to relocate State Highway 2 between Unadilla and Syracuse was kicking the much of the fuss. Although it is a local matter, the outcome could affect highway construction all over the state.

At issue is a proposal of the State Highway Department, already approved for federal funds, to reroute part of the road on a diagonal. This means it would split several farms. Opposition from owners of the farms took on additional force when they enlisted help from farm groups and other organizations in fighting the new route. As a result, the Highway Commission has taken another look at the project. It will decide at its July 22 meeting whether to reconsider last year's 4:3 approval of the relocation.

The turning point in the Commission's deliberation came last spring when opponents of the new route appeared in force at a Commission meeting. Another large delegation was on hand to urge action no matter where the road was to go. The opposing groups were told to "go home and get together on a location." Now representatives of both sides have come back to the Commission with a "compromise" plan they are agreed upon. It calls for a bypass around Unadilla, then following the present route to Syracuse. This satisfied the aggrieved landowners. But State Engineer L. N. Ress vigorously opposed the compromise calling it "the most expensive route you could pick out."

Something Just A Little Bit Different Well, traveling through the countryside is simply bound to be interesting. And also, it's bound to be instructive.

Like the signs at Missouri Valley, Iowa last week that blazoned: "GAS WAR" and backed it up with signs offering gasoline for 20.9 per gallon. After we saw it on several stations we believed it! And the same town is going to have a goose calling contest Sept. 27 and 28, more signs declared. Take note you mighty hunters who are goose callers.

And at Woodbine, Iowa, Herb's is "the place to go for signs that glow." My, my, Woodbine was also the place to go for an awful lot of water. The fields were lakes on either side of us. Another village had a sign "Plenty Fun, anyone over 21".

At Soo Rapids a poet missed his calling and went to work for the Chamber of Commerce, indicating about that place "In the valley of beauty on the highway of progress" to boost that young city. Up the line a little bit closer to Minnesota a big sign "When livestock is bruised, We all lose" bore a 4-H symbol. Some sense and (also cents) to that sign.

Unique too was the fancy new highway that built up to a railway embankment twenty feet high . . . and stopped. We went on the old road through the old railroad underpass beside it . . . and found the new highway will smack up to the railroad embankment on the other side too! But no sign of any way to go, through except on the old road. It reminded us of that handsome four-lane super-highway we met a year or two ago down in Kansas. It ran smack up to the state line . . . and stopped where a noble cornfield waved on the Oklahoma side of the state boundary.

Another sign that was new to me was the one big word ABSOLUTE posted atop the town speed limit signs we passed in Iowa. Thus it would read Absolute speed limit 20 miles for example. In other words no nonsense tolerated. There were a good many other signs too. For instance Deer Crossing signs where we didn't see any deer crossing, either two legged or four legged.

There were Men at Work signs where we didn't see any men at work . . . mostly men just loafing. There were No Passing signs where no one in his right mind would ever pass. And No Stopping signs where no one in his right mind would ever stop. And of course STOP signs where it seemed no one in his correct senses would need to stop . . . but we did.

One place, going into Omaha, we darn near got stopped permanently. All at once a big truck approaching us aimed right for us, coming fast, at an angle. Since he had taken our side of the road over completely, Gene had presence of mind enough to feel that the driver had probably gone to sleep and that the sound of a honk would bring a tragedy. So Gene took to the wrong side of the road and the huge roaring truck passed us safely on our right, running onto the gravel and grass at a great rate. Evidently this woke the driver and he finally succeeded in keeping the truck from turning over into the deep ditch on his left. He was lucky. No sign there. But we felt like posting one of those "We must have been sitting tight in God's pocket!" —Irma

State Property Tax Levy Will Go Up About 1/4 Mill Say Senators

Council Director Robert Armstrong said a one-cent-a-pack boost in cigarette taxes and a drop of .33 mill in the state building levy will make up some of the additional revenue needed for the general fund. Some capital tax experts were holding out hope that the State Board of Equalization, which meets in August, can avoid raising the levy at all.

Non-tax money, such as unexpended balances and drivers license fees, might make up enough to get by without a tax increase. The tax men were cheered by indications that the state property valuation this year will not drop from a year ago.

Slight valuation dips were shown by the first counties reporting to the state tax commissioner. But these were rural areas hard hit by drought. Tax officials expected these reductions to be offset by increased valuations in larger counties with growing industrial and commercial property.

While the Legislature has packed up for another two years, its members will continue to be busy—with special studies rather than with writing laws. Makeup of 13 Legislative Council study committees will be announced July 6 by the Council's executive board.

Special interest is expected in the membership of an unprecedented committee assigned to poke into property tax violations and report them to the governor. The committee is expected to be headed by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who led a strong attack against tax evaders during the session and proposed the study. A legislator introducing a study proposal usually is assigned to head that committee. If Carpenter gets the job, he has promised to uncover tax irregularities that will "rock the state."

Other study committees and their principal introducers include: —Small loan laws, Sen. Bedford of Geneva. —Secondary boycotts by labor unions, Sen. Simmons of Fremont. —Game and fish matters, Sen. Syas of Omaha. —Underground water laws, Sen. Thompson of McCook. —Sales and incomes taxes, Sen. Otto of Kearney. —Highway user taxes, Sen. Auferkamp of Julian.

North Loup News Play Equipment Added by North Loup Legion Post

Playground equipment is being placed on the vacant lots east of the Williams Oil Co., to make a place for the children to play, especially on Saturday night. Several pieces of equipment are already in use, more will be added, a fence put around the lot and probably a small ball diamond laid out.

The project is sponsored by the American Legion.

Tells of Girls' State

A coffee hour sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Thursday morning honored the 57 Girls' State Emilie McDermott. Coffee, rolls, cookies and sandwiches were served from a beautifully appointed table, with Mrs. Paul Jones pouring. Mrs. Sheldon VanHorn was in charge of arrangements. After coffee was served Emilie gave a report on her weeks at Girls' State in June.

Mrs. Mulligan Leaves

Mrs. Lella Mulligan held a sale of her household goods Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Mulligan was an overnight guest Wednesday of her daughter, Mrs. Elma Potts in North Loup and Thursday afternoon went to St. Paul where she will make her home with a sister and a niece.

The Quiz Editor Said Fifty Years Ago . . .

Editorially . . .
'Tis the little things that count! and it is the little things of dress that really make up the whole, the sum total of one's appearance.
The head of a large corporation had occasion to advertise for a stenographer. Applicant after applicant for the position was examined in the private office. Some were dismissed with a few words, and out of over 40 candidates but three were retained to undergo tests as to their fitness for the work.
The president said: "You noticed that there were some girls whom I asked if they could take dictation in some one or another foreign language. Well, it was not that I require such work, but merely that their appearance was against them, and I wanted to let them down easy. One girl had a skirt with a long train to it, quite unsuitable for a business office, although it might be all right for a theater party. Another had a lace waist with a lot of fancy ribbon waving like a banner in an afternoon tea table. Another showed gloves with her fingers sticking through for lack of mending; while another had her hair so frizzed and becurled that she looked more like a toy terrier than a stenographer. You may be doubtful, but the three I retained for examination had plain clothes, neat and tidy—although, perhaps, they might not be considered in the first flight of fashion updown, and the impression they gave me was that of successful business women. Their hair was not touched, their collars fitted, their shirtwaists set well and their belts were trim and frigid. I just guessed that their work would be like their appearance—up-to-date, trim, frigid and business-like throughout."

Medical Helps
If choking, get down on all fours and cough.
After the use of a mustard rub, on any part of the body, rub that part with camphorated oil to avoid the possibility of taking cold.
At the first intimation of a sore throat try a gargle of one teaspoonful of salt and one of carbonate of soda to half a glass of water.
If stung or bitten by an insect, make a paste of starch powder with chloroform and eau de Cologne and apply to the affected part at once.
Winter
Here is a chooboy's composition: "Winter is the coldest season of the year, because it comes mostly in the winter. In some countries winter comes in the summer, then it isn't so worse. I wish winter came in summer here, then we could go skating barefooted and make snowballs without getting our fingers froze. When it snows in summer they call it rain."

Clever Homemakers Club of Elyria One of First in County

The Clever Homemakers 4-H Club of Elyria is one of the oldest girls clubs in Valley County. It was first organized in 1933 under the leadership of Mrs. Agnes Dodge as the Jolly Juniors 4-H Club. When the girls grew older the name was changed to Elyria Seniors and later when younger girls joined the club they became the Clever Homemakers and have kept this name through the years.

Some of the original members were Loretta Kusek, Audrey Hoyt, Sylvia Iwanski, Mary Ann and Marguerite Dlugosh and Phyllis Dodge and the leaders through the years have been Mrs. Dodge, Loretta Kusek Iwanski, Sadie Collison Cornell, Phyllis Dodge Garnick, Irene Iwanski Kapustka and Irene Papietnik.

The Clever Homemakers have always participated in many of the 4-H activities, the members winning high awards in both the County and State Fair contests. They like camping. Usually some of their members will be among 4-H'ers who attend the annual 4-H camp.

The club meets in the Elyria Parish Hall, free of charge but for the past few years the girls have held bake sales. The money made is used to help pay the expenses involved for use of the hall.

Their club project this year is Safety. In addition the younger girls are also taking Let's Cook and Let's Sew, the older girls the more advanced cooking and sewing projects. A first aid lesson is shown in the picture.

4-H Camp
Didn't get a chance to report on 4-H Camp last week. Everybody returned tired but happy. I hope. When volunteers were called to ride with me instead of on the bus, there were a lot of you. Don't know whether that proves buses are popular, or people are gregarious. Anyway Mary Hapson, Pat Zikmund, and Vera Anderson, the leaders that accompanied the group and I all enjoyed the camp. We hope to see a lot of you back again next year.

Corn borer report:
Reports from the State Entomology department say there is little probability of the first brood borer requiring control. The corn in most fields was too small to attract the moths. There may be some early planted fields that are the exceptions. If 75 per cent of the plants show shot holes — control would be a paying proposition.

Grasshoppers:
A very serious grasshopper population has developed in eastern Nebraska, according to reports. A brief survey here Sunday showed quite a lot of partially grown hoppers in pasture and hayland. No reports have been received to date of severe infestations. If you do have them thick, control of the younger hoppers is more effective and less expensive than of the older ones.

Communicate:
Katherine and I attended a school on communications at Curie last week. We had a good chance to put some of the principles in action on the way home. Miss Ranganyaki Ranganyanski called "Ranga", rode back with us. She is the Indian girl who will spend the next month in Valley County.

Ranga and we were able to communicate very well. We found out her biggest thrill in the States so far was meeting some cowboys in North Platte. The Harry Ritz family plan to bring her to Ord's 4th of July celebration where they hope she will catch the spirit of our independence.

Lybarger On Cruise
NORFOLK, Va.—Claris W. Lybarger, teleman (third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Lybarger, and husband of the former Miss Shirley R. Gates, all of Arcadia, Nebr., is taking part in a summer practice cruise for midshipmen aboard the U. S. Atlantic Fleet tactical command ship USS Northampton.

"Cruise Alfa," the first of three annual summer training cruises for midshipmen of the Naval Academy and Reserve Officer Training Units, began on June 12, when the Northampton took part in the International Fleet Review at Norfolk, Va., and then departed for South Africa.

Crew members of the ship will conduct individual training for the future Navy and Marine Corps officers.

Exercises held during the cruise will be designed to train the midshipmen in the fundamentals of seamanship, navigation and gunnery, and to acquaint them with shipboard living.

The Northampton expects to visit Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Fort of Spain, Trinidad; and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, before returning to Norfolk early in August.

The average circus that visits Ord have never carried or boasted of exhibiting a herd of giraffes. The Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. and Hingling-Barnum Circuses are the only two American circuses now exhibiting giraffes in the nation have them as an attraction.

Giraffes which are found only in the continent of Africa are the tallest of all living creatures. They belong to the Ruminants, of Cud-chewers and naturalists are inclined to place them somewhere between the Deer Family and the Hallow Horned Ruminants, in which are to be found oxen, buffaloes and antelopes.

The towering height of the giraffe is entirely attributable to the great length of the neck and limbs. A full-grown giraffe will measure approximately nineteen feet in height. Giraffes live mostly in forests or wooded country.

Undoubtedly, this will be the first time any circus has ever brought giraffes to Valley County. The Al G. Kelly-Miller Bros. Circus boasts this year of having the second largest herd of performing elephants in America and the most varied selection of wild animals ever with any circus. The management cordially invites the public to visit the show grounds upon arrival of the circus to see the many animals fed and watered, especially school students. This feeding and watering is usually done at nine a. m., show day.

July 4 Celebration Here Opens With Bathing Beauty Contest at Ord Pool

Ord's big July 4 celebration, which will be climaxed with an $800 fireworks display at 9:15 p. m., starts Thursday morning with a bathing beauty contest at the municipal pool.
The beauty contest is sponsored by BPW. It offers $54 in prizes to the best swimmer, best diver and girl with the most personality in the age groups 7 to 12, 13 to 17 and 18 to 21.
Registration for the contest starts at 9:30 a. m. The contest gets underway at 10 a. m. and is expected to consume most of the morning.
Afternoon activities start with a band concert on the park slab at 1:30 p. m. and a picnic at 2 p. m. The Ord Municipal Band, under the baton of Albert Pesces, will play a list of popular marches and show tunes.

Clair Smith, North Loup; Dies of Self Inflicted Gun Wound

Funeral services were held from the Hastings Pearson chapel in Ord Monday for Charles Clair Smith, North Loup, who died Friday from a self-inflicted gunshot wound.
Smith was 49. He had been in poor health for some time and unusually despondent since the death of his mother two weeks ago.
On Thursday, Clair and his father, Arthur W. Smith had driven to Long Pine, to take home Charlotte Moore, a granddaughter who had been visiting in North Loup.

Wheeler Districts Join

Five school districts have consolidated in Wheeler county during the last month, County Superintendent Mrs. Minnie D. Lawson reports.
The last group to consolidate was Districts 11, 10 and 31 in Mud creek precinct. Hereafter, school will be held in District 20 only.
On the north side of the county, Districts 29 and 18's have consolidated and pupils will attend school in District 18's.

10 Percent Tax Hike Predicted

A preliminary glance at school and city budget figures, combined with incomplete reports of county audits indicates that Ord residents are going to pay about ten per cent more in property tax dollars as they did last year.
Monday, the Ord school district adopted a $78,000 taxation budget, exclusive of bond funds, that is within a few hundred dollars of a year ago.
At the same time the school is adding two teachers and upping maintenance and upkeep costs caused by the new addition.
Total budget of the school is up some $15,000. The added costs will be met through school tuition. The tuition hike amounts to a little less than $60 per pupil per year.
While the school was holding the line on taxes, the Ord city council Tuesday night adopted a budget calling for $1215 less tax funds than a year ago.

SCS-CAP Offer Free Air Soil Tours From Ord Airport Sunday, July 14

Say, Mr. Farmer, did you ever see bench terracing, irrigation or land leveling from the air? Did you ever go flying across Valley county farms in the cool air 1,500 feet above where you can really see the "lay of the land"? That's in store for you in the First Annual Free Soil Conservation Air Tour here Sunday, July 14.
Tours will originate at the Ord airport starting at 10 a. m. You can come anytime in the day. Tours will continue until sunset.
SCS-CAP Sponsors
They are sponsored by the Soil Conservation Service and the Civil Air Patrol.
Two will be offered. One covers the eastern half of the county, the other covers the west side.
You can take either, or both. The short tour lasts 20 minutes, the long one 40 minutes.
Coffee and cookies will be served in the plane hangar all day by the Ord Quiz and the ASC office.
Remember, there are no charges. Simply get in the plane and takeoff.
Six Planes Ready
The CAP is supplying planes and pilots. Pilots will be Harold Marshall, George Benn, Ellis Carson, Charles Zanger and several relief flyers. At least six planes will fly.
Air soil conservation tours are growing more popular in Nebraska each year. Two hundred and fifty farmers were recently flown on one at South Sioux City, Nebraska, where the idea is in its sixth year.
Another in eastern Nebraska drew 500. The tours are limited to farmers, 16 years or older.
Remember, it's all free. This is your invitation.

Ord Library Loaned 14,231 Books Last Year; 2021 Patrons

The Ord township library loaned 14,231 books and 2707 magazines last year, Miss Mamie Smith librarian, has reported to the Nebraska Public Library commission.
The loans included 6356 volumes in the preschool to eighth grade level; 6820 adult fiction and 1055 adult non-fiction books. The library has 2021 registered borrowers.
"No child becomes a juvenile delinquent in a library," Miss Smith said. "The boy or girl who is reading is not only out of trouble at that precise moment, but is also well on the way of becoming a better student in school and more useful citizen in the future. Any encouragement that can be given to get children to read more helps the child, the family, the community and the nation."
"We need more children for our Wednesday morning story hour," Miss Smith added. "Mrs. Jirak has interesting stories each week, and the children who are attending seem to enjoy them very much."

Ord Ladies' Open Golf Meet Set

Mary Joe Cicmanec, tourney chairman of the Ord Ladies' Open Golf tourney has announced that the tourney will get underway Sunday, August 6, with prizes awarded to both Ordite and out-of-town feminine golfers.
Following a seven o'clock morning coffee, the girls will tee off promptly at 7:30 a. m., with a dinner to be held at Wilma's at 1 p. m.
For further information, all interested lady golfers should contact Mary Joe.

Humidity Hi As Mercury Soars to 89

Soaring temperatures and high humidity coupled to give Ord residents an uncomfortable week, all thought weather was ideal for all farming operations and growing crops.
With a bumper first cutting of hay in the stack, local farmers turned their attention to corn and milo. First cultivation is practically complete in corn fields, and some early planted fields are being laid out.
Implement dealers report a small rush for parts and service work as small grain harvesting machinery is being readied.
Wheat—lots of lodging, heavy straw, but no one willing to contend with the harvest starts.
Cats—a milder than average year generally with dusty fields looking like record breakers.
Barley—where conditions are ideal one of the best crops in local history.
Farmers generally are ready for another good rain or two before the small grain harvest starts.
Weird weather conditions of nasty looking clouds, and seemingly unpredictable changes, have made farmers wary as many of the old familiar signs of hail and high wind seem changed this year.
Barring hail or damaging high winds Valley county should harvest one of its better small grain crops. Exceptions will be wheat fields that have had too much moisture.
Precipitation locally was nil for the week, with a hundredth of an inch recorded on Thursday. Temperatures ranged from 75 on Thursday to a high of 92 Tuesday, with lows ranging from 55 degrees to 76 degrees.
Precipitation this year to date is 17.38 inches as compared with 11.25 inches at this time last year.

Donald Dobbersline Killed in Auto Wreck In St. Joe, Missouri

A former Ord resident, Donald F. Dobbersline, was killed Sunday in a car-truck collision near his home in St. Joseph, Missouri.
Mr. Dobbersline had lived in Ord until 1950, when he was called back to serve in the Korean war. He served his country in the Pacific during World War II.
He was a member of the Ord posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.
Donald Frederick Dobbersline was born in York, Neb., February 2, 1918. He moved to Ord with his parents while an infant, and grew to manhood here. On March 2, 1945, he married Lola Nadine Cobb of St. Joseph. The couple made their home here until the Korean conflict when they moved to St. Joseph.
Survivors are his wife, a son Elmer, daughter, Patricia, mother, Mrs. Rose Dobbersline, Grand Island, a sister, Mrs. Willard Connor, Scottsbluff and two brothers, Dave of Sidney, Neb., and Charles of Kansas City, Mo.

School Board Elects

Darwin Sheldon was elected president of the North Loup school board at the re-organization meeting held Monday night. Sheldon succeeds Fred Lundstedt whose term expired. Stanley Brown was elected secretary and Iyle Sinek will continue as treasurer. Other new members of the board are Edward Hudson and Dale Stone. George Cox is retiring member and has served as secretary.

New Blood Donors to Make Quota

With vacations and a busy farm season expected to cut deeply into the number of blood donors, Mrs. Clark Weir, local Red Cross bloodmobile chairman, started beating the bushes this week to uncover new volunteers.
The Red Cross bloodmobile will visit Ord Wednesday, July 10. The usual 192 signers are needed to make the local quota, and new volunteers will have to makeup a good portion of the list.
Two new wrinkles in the July 10 visit have been revealed by Mrs. Weir:
(1) Blood from donors who have had malaria or leucidex will now be accepted. This blood will be made into plasma.
(2) There is a definite shortage of "o" type blood and donors with this type are urgently needed.
The fourteenth trip of the bloodmobile here offers an opportunity for 20 local persons to join the gallon club. At present, there are 61 local donors in this bracket, and several are trying for the two gallon club.
Volunteers are urged to sign at either Ord drug store, or to call 383 for an appointment.
This trip members of county extension clubs and Legion Auxiliaries are helping recruit donors. Auxiliaries of Ord, North Loup and Arcadia will furnish and staff the canteen, Ord Legion and VFW auxiliaries will do clerical work.

Stringed Instrument Plan Told

A new music instruction program has been launched by music director Al Pesces, as part of the Ord public schools summer music program. String classes will start Thursday, July 11, at 10:15, according to Mr. Pesces. Registration may be made by any time up to that date by contacting Mr. Pesces at the American Legion Hall.
No students will be accepted for the summer stringed instrument program after that date, he said.
The new string program is without cost, for either instruction or books. The instruction books are being loaned from Mr. Pesces' library.
Pesces said that the school has three violins, a viola, cello and bass viol which are available to beginning students on a rental basis. Rental charge is nominal.
Because of Independence day activities, the regular Wednesday night band concert this week was shelved in favor of the Fourth of July concert. At the same time instruction and practices for the cello and junior high bands scheduled for Thursday were cancelled, but the program will be resumed Friday.

Fireworks Okay; Fund Hits $832

The Rotary Fireworks fund reached $832.78 Wednesday to completely underwrite the cost of this year's fireworks show.
Rotary President Hal Pierce reported fireworks cost $800.
"They," he added, "there are $10 or $15 needed for freight and a couple of bucks more to actually get the stuff ready to fire."
He said the $832 would probably cover this year's show well, with a few bucks to spare. The spare donations will be placed in the bank to start next year's fund.
Here is the final report on donations:

City Dads Whittle Tax a Bit

Ord city councilmen Tuesday night adopted a budget calling for $35,160 in taxifund funds, as compared with $36,375 last year.
At the same time councilmen decided to combine the band fund with the general fund, and will also pay swimming pool operations out of the general fund.
Previously the band fund had been a separate levy, and the pool had been handled by the park board. Here are comparison figures:

Fund	1957	1956
General	$17,400	$19,025

Ord Ministers Meet; Plan Organization

Ministers of the Ord and Mira Valley churches were invited to a minister's meeting at the Christian church in Ord on Monday. Rev. Dean McKay was the host pastor.
The matter of forming a Ministerial Fellowship in Ord was discussed and those in attendance were in favor of forming such a group.
The next meeting will be on Monday, August 26, 1957 at the Ord Park. The ministers, wives and families will be invited to this meeting and share in a picnic.

Jack Brown Rites at Arcadia Friday

Funeral services for John (Jack) Brown 69, Arcadia, will be held from the Methodist church in Arcadia Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Brown died Monday afternoon at the Sacred Heart hospital in Loup City, following a lingering illness. Burial will be in Arcadia cemetery.
He was a longtime resident of Arcadia, operating a dray and bus line, and later being employed by the irrigation district. A wife and several children survive. The body is in state at Hastings-Pearson mortuary in Ord.

On ROTC Training

Marvin J. Volf, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Volf of Arcadia, and Dean K. Stryker, son of Mrs. Claire M. Stryker of Erierson are receiving six weeks of summer ROTC training at Fort Riley, Kansas with members of the University of Nebraska cadet program. Both will complete the training August 3.
Volf is a 1954 graduate of Ord high school and is majoring in civil engineering at the university. Stryker graduated from Erierson high school in 1954.

Joe Jirak Retiring; Groves To Swift Post

Bob Grove, who has been employed by the Coca Cola company for several years, Monday will commence work for Swift and Co. He will assume the sales territory now being handled by Joe Jirak. Mr. Jirak is retiring.
Mr. Grove will leave Sunday for Omaha for a week of schooling with the company before returning to Ord.

Loft Family Safe

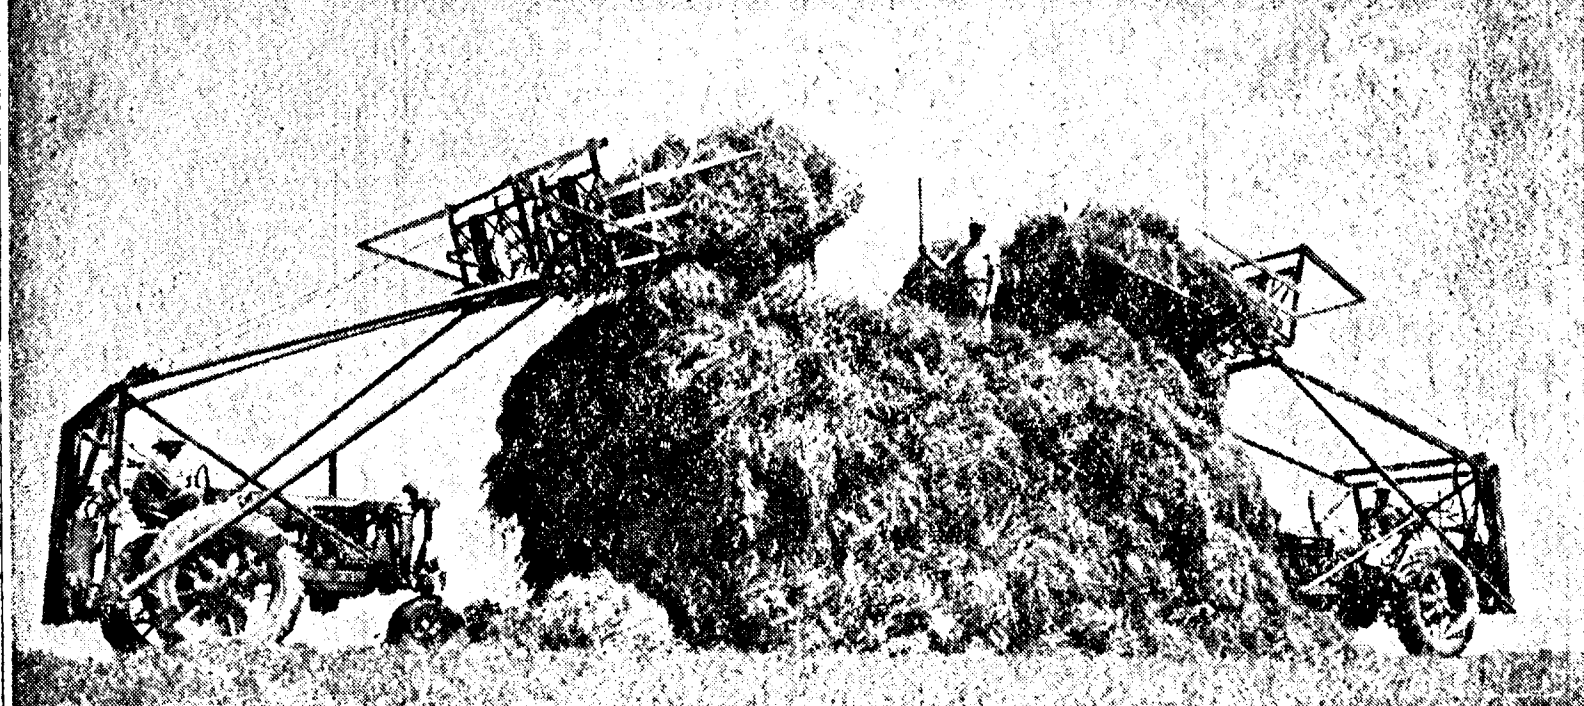

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Elstermeier and family of St. Paul received word this week that the E. E. Loft family of Lake Charles, La. had been evacuated before the hurricane hit, and were safe. Mr. Loft is brother of Mrs. Elstermeier, and both were formerly of Ord.

Police Looking for High Priced Fishing Tackle

A South Carolina visitor lost an expensive fishing rod and reel at the Ord dam Sunday. He reported to local police.
Dr. Lenka, who is visiting Albert Hasmusen of St. Paul, said he had put down his rod and reel to walk around the dam. On his return he spotted the fishing tackle going over the hill in the hands of a boy. He gave chase but couldn't catch the fleeing youngster.
Ord police are hoping that parents may recognize and turn in the rod and reel if it was a local youngster who made off with them. The reel was an imported Parman spinning reel, the rod was a Montague brand, Jim Sobon, police chief, told the Quiz no questions would be asked.

Village Budget Cut

The North Loup Village budget for the coming fiscal year was cut from $8,000 to $5,000 at a meeting of the village board Monday night. The slash will make a substantial reduction in North Loup taxes next year.

Valley County Farmers Putting Up One of Biggest Hay Yields in History

Valley county farmers were putting the finishing touches this week to one of the largest first cuttings of alfalfa in local history. Yields are running near three tons per acre on most fields. Above, Enos, Edmund and Rollie Zulkoski are topping off a stack on the Enos Zulkoski farm. The field is a former hog pasture.

Mustangs Drop Pair; Errors costly; Play Loup City at 7 p.m. Thursday

Manager Röllie Johnson's Ord Mustangs will tangle with Loup City in the rubber match as feature of Ord's Fourth of July celebration with the game getting underway at 7 o'clock. After losing the season opener, 2-4, Ord handed Loup City their first setback of the season only last week, 5-0.

Ashton and St. Paul, however, snapped the Mustang win streak. Errors proved costly as the Ord Mustangs dropped a 5-3 tie to Ashton, Sunday, and lost a 7-4 game to St. Paul last Thursday. Ashton retained their hold on first place in the Sherman Howard loop as a result of 10 fielding misuses, mostly occurring after two were out to permit Ashton to get four unearned tallies.

Ashton scored its initial pair of runs in the third inning when, with two down, Kslozcek was safe at first on Vasicek's error and advanced to second on a passed pitch. Mostek was safe on Mason's error and Stickney singled to score Kslozcek and Mostek.

The Mustangs added two more runs in the sixth on two hits and a pair of Mustang misuses. Ellis Doubles in the seventh. Dilla struck out but Ellis lined a two-bagger, stole third, and after Vasicek was thrown at first by Stickney, Ellis scored on Thompson's single.

Ashton added another unearned run in the ninth when Kslozcek, recorded amid Mustang misuses. The Mustangs attempted to rally in the ninth. Dilla walked, taking second on a wild pitch. Ellis hit Stevens connected with a double, scoring Ellis but Bill Novosad was thrown out at first on a roller to the shortstop.

St. Paul Edges Ord
With Ord leading St. Paul, 4-1.

Rehash . . .

W. H.

With tuition being hiked by the State Regents under prodding of the recent unicameral session, Athletic Director Bill Orwig announced late Saturday that plans are being formulated for a "MU Touchdown Club" since the Cornhuskers' athletic grant-in-aid funds definitely will need more finance to cope with the hike.

Orwig pointed out that Nebraska is the only member of the Big Eight which did not have such a "touchdown club" . . . a "pass-the-hat" you're in affair.

That, of course, is where the Okies of Soonerland have really derived funds for their talent in recent years and in these days of commercialized college football, a small college of national football renown . . . Santa Clara, Fordham . . . St. Mary's . . . Creighton . . . St. Louis . . . have been forced to throw in the sponge simply because even the NCAA could not cope with the problem.

For a while, Vanderbilt operated under a deflated program but with the annual "Football Derby" conducted by the Southeastern conference right after Thanksgiving for high school seniors, the Commodores decided to plunge again and since they have come to the fore. Players are signed by members schools at that time.

So, if the Cornhuskers are to ever get back into the football limelight, Husker faithful must be prepared to support Orwig's plan which is reported to be a means of tax deductions, since it is to be an especially incorporated group. Wonder who will lead the Ord and Loup Valley group?????

With Independence day Thursday, major leagues will be busy with baseballs being taken a breather in preparation for the All-Star game. At this time, it looks like Dorrell Johnson and his fellow Yankees have finally caught fire and the Pale Horse of Chicago are commencing to falter.

However, it also looks like Cincinnati's stuffing the "players ballot box" has cost Darrell of ever getting a chance to be voted into a starting place in the American league lineup. Commissioner Ford Frick tossed out most of the Cincy ballots and has also informed that the ballot will finally be tossed out the window with only managers having anything to say about selections.

This looks unfair inasmuch as the members of the All-Star game, the late Archie Ward of the Chicago Tribune, started the game with the sole thought of baseball players' fans doing the picking . . . and by ballot.

If ever was there a business man enthused about working with kids in his spare time, it would have to be none other than Ord's Jay Auble.

Auble, who is retiring from the jewelry store business, has introduced the marketing of stimulating interest with the small fry in playing golf. He has even organized a full golfing tourney card.

Due to his Marquee business, Auble has persuaded an Omaha golfer, the Phillips of the Kaiser aluminum firm, to come to Ord soon to give the small fry some special instruction.

Phillips is a former Tennessee hitting champion and according to Jay's own business pressure prevents Phillips from having the time to show up certain Nebraska golfers in tourneys.

The definite date of his appearance has not been set but you can bet Ord's business pressure prevents Phillips from having the time to show up certain Nebraska golfers in tourneys.

Jay also says that some of the small fry have actually shot the 9-hole course in 42, just a bit over par. Ord's business pressure prevents Phillips from having the time to show up certain Nebraska golfers in tourneys.

Here's hoping that Ord baseball fans will turn out for the double header this Friday evening when the unbeaten Ord Midgets entertain Central City at 8 p.m., and the Quiz Legion nine tangles with the Grand Island Juniors starting at about 8:15 p.m.

Last week, we mentioned the Falls of the North Loup being run across by Rich Piskorski and Verne Andersen. You will notice that Spud has beat Rich to it and has an entrancing snapshot of it in today's Quiz.

Braves Trail Yanks In Pee Wee League

The Braves remain but one-half game in back of the Yankees as Pee Wee loop teams ended their third week of play last Friday.

Actually, the Yanks have the Cardinals to thank as the Redbirds handed the Braves a pair of defeats, 5-0, and 7-0, while the Yanks were being shellacked, 6-1, by the Dodgers and falling before the Redbirds, 4-3. The Yankees won only one game last week, 3-0, over the Indians while playing a 1-1 dead-lock with the Braves.

The Braves nipped the Dodgers, 4-3, and tomahawked the Tigers, 4-2.

Cardinal Bill Alberts now shares the home run leadership with the Braves' Bruce Douthit with five circuit clouts each.

There will be no league play Thursday, July 4, but play will resume Friday morning.

Monday — Cardinals 5, Braves 0; Dodgers 4, Tigers 2; Yankees 3, Indians 0.
Tuesday — Tigers 8, Cardinals 3; Dodgers 11, Indians 0; Yankees 1, Braves 1.

White Sox, Red Sox Tied - Little Loop

The White Sox tied the Red Sox in Little League play last week by taking two games from the Red Sox split with the Phillies, losing the first, 2-1, and then rebounding to thump the Phis, 51-7.

Rich Zulkoski of the Redlegs leads the loop with four home runs while Galen Anderson has hit (4) circuit bluffs for the Red Sox.

Wet Line Talk

Dear Ed:
Enclosed you will find one of the finest shots of what is on our very own stream. You are looking at none other than Big Falls on the North Loup river and Cherry county. The day Harry Dugas and I ventured out to this country to see what this ole river of ours looked like on the upper end we didn't think we would ever come upon a beautiful sight as this. I'll always be grateful to Harry for taking this picture at the right time and at the right angle. The falls being situated as they are in a deep ravine, you have only a short while in the morning for photographing and then the shadows grow because of the taper of the rock.

I'm not talking up the terrain around these falls as the creature that thrives best in these parts is the rattlesnake and the countryside seems well suited for just such inhabitants. As we ventured into the bottom of the canyon just below the falls we witnessed one of the finest sights of the trip. How much time was spent admiring their beauty was never recorded but the stay was thoroughly enjoyed.

The falls are about 1 to 15 foot high and the pool below them affords one of the finest havens for trout. We were fortunate to have driven up to this country in the month of June. The trout have ample feed provided by the abundant insect life at this time of year. This we soon found out to be true as the trout appear that we managed to take out that morning had packed stomachs with water beetles and insects of all kinds.

The local residents at Carriers Camp informed us that the best time of year to seek out the trout in this stream is in April or earlier.

As we drove upstream and visited with the ranchers, they were surprised to hear we had taken at least two trout. No one attempts to take trout out of the stream in the middle of the summer for reasons mentioned above. There have been some fine trout weighing as much as seven pounds taken out of the river and there are tales of some real tackle busters still lurking in the pools and rapids.

Yours, Spud

Rockville Nips Legion 9-8; G. I. Legion, Cen. City Midgets Here Fri.

Leading 8-6 going into the bottom of the sixth, the Ord Quiz Legion nine committed three costly errors to permit Rockville to score three unearned runs off no hits to edge out Manager Beran's Ord Quiz legion nine at Rockville Sunday.

It was a heartbreaker for Dick Goodsell to lose, after having turned in another yeoman performance on the mound, fanning nine, yielding seven scattered hits while issuing four passes.

Grand Island's Legion team will visit Ord for a return game this Friday evening and the Quiz nine voices determination to settle the score for an early season loss in a comedy of passes, errors and umpiring.

Manager Al Bahe's Central City Midget nine will tangle with Manager Bill Gogan's unbeaten Ord Midgets in the preliminary at six o'clock.

Ord Scores 5 In First
Ord drew first blood in the Rockville fray when they scored five runs off two hits. Dunlap was safe at first on R. Moritz' error and advanced to third when Blaha was safe at first on an error by Rasmussen and R. Moritz. McDonald was also credited with a single. McDonald scored when Wilson was safe at first on an error by Penas before the Rockville side could be retired.

Wilson, chunky hurler, who had pitched good ball, then struck out Penas and Martin and Welneke lined to Rasmussen in the seventh to end the game.

The Fatal Sixth
Schmaljohn and Lith were retired when Rasmussen walked and R. Moritz was safe at first on Dunlap's error. Rich dropped McDonald's fly ball in centerfield to score Rasmussen and R. Moritz. McDonald was also credited with a single. McDonald scored when Wilson was safe at first on an error by Penas before the Rockville side could be retired.

Girls Softball To Hold Double Game
Ordite sports lovers will have a chance to see a different kind of softball game next Wednesday, July 10, at the Ord softball diamond when the Ord Girls softball team mount some stubborn critters better known as burros and seek to play amid stops, go, and just plain balk of the uncooperative animal.

As added attractions, three monkeys will be on exhibit and while the girls claim these are trained, it is doubtful whether they will get into the act.

AUBLE BROS.

For the past several weeks I have done a lot of yakking about the Stevens flying, past, present and future, so I think it would be a good idea if we dug up a few facts about some of the other Ord pilots.

—Orl has one record-holding airman. He is none other than Ellis Carson, our airport operator. The record—well, he holds the title of being the biggest private pilot in the state. The boys here like to tell the story of the time when they jammed Ellis and another heavyweight, Clarence Davis, winter clothes and all, into a small two-seater for a trip to Lincoln. It took one fellow on each side of the plane to cram the door shut.

Ellis tells me he took his first instruction in 1934 in a 35 horse power airplane. He weighed 220 at the time and the instructor 200. An amazing machine, the airplane.

Lack of funds during those years prevented him from soloing, and after a few months lessons were dropped.

Bitten by the flying bug again in 1946, Ellis got back behind the controls, this time soloed and to date has logged over 2000 hours in single engine puddle-jumpers.

Flying well over 100 hours of blizzard relief in 1940, Ellis made nationwide headlines and was picked as the pilot who had done the most relief work during operation snowbound. He and Mrs. Carson were flown to Chicago, bedded down in a suite in the Stevens hotel and there, Ellis made a network broadcast of his snowbound experiences, sponsored by Sun Oil Co. Among his cherished possessions is a record of said broadcast.

In his flying career, Ellis has had a few close shaves but no serious mishaps. He is still a quite active pilot, holds an office in the new CAP squadron and devotes a lot of time to the betterment of aviation.

At the CAP meeting Tuesday night the date of the CAP sponsored flying picnic was definitely set for July 21 with July 28 rain date. Ellis and yours truly are supposed to work out the details, advertising, etc. All airman visiting Ord that day will be furnished transportation to, from and about town and to the church of their choice. The picnic will be held at the city park.

Arrangement was made between local pilots and soil conservation officials to hold a Soil Conservation Air Tour scheduled July 14. Interested farmers will be given a free air trip covering nearly 100 miles over Valley county over a route which will take in the high points of soil conservation work. Coffee and doughnuts will be served in the hangar all day. As well as the local planes, Bill Lee has made arrangements for one or two four-place planes to be on hand from South Sioux City. Civil Air Patrol members will assist in the all day affair, and we are all extending you the invitation to be present for this event.

Picnic days are rolling round again and chances are you'll be looking for new ways to pep up the traditional hamburger. For tops in enjoyment, add just the right amount of Tabasco, the famous liquid pepper seasoning from down south, to the ground meat before you grill it.

Picnic Potato Salad: 2 pound potatoes (6 cups diced), 1 small onion, chopped, 1 1/2 cups diced celery, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3/4 cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco. Cook potatoes in skins until tender. Peel and dice. Add onion and celery; sprinkle with salt. Mix together mayonnaise, mustard, vinegar and Tabasco. Add to potato mixture. Mix lightly with a fork being careful not to break potatoes, chill. To serve, garnish with salad greens and tomato wedges. YIELD: 8 servings.

Former Arcadia Man Dies at Grand Island

Kenneth W. Guye, 56, a partner of the B & G Lathing and Plastering Company and a veteran of World War I, died Wednesday afternoon June 19 in a Grand Island hospital following a prolonged illness. He became ill last August and had received continuous medical attention since that time. The family residence is at 1018 1/2 North Kimball in Grand Island.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Trinity Lutheran church. The Rev. O. A. Graebner and the Rev. Odo B. Husman, pastors, conducted the service. Burial was in a Grand Island cemetery.

Mr. Guye was born July 19, 1900 at Arcadia to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Guye. He received his schooling there.

During World War I, he enlisted in the United States Navy. When he was honorably discharged, he returned to Arcadia for a short while. Then he left his home community and followed construction work. For several years prior to 1949, he was located in California, where he was in the contracting business. In 1949, he and Mrs. Guye came to Grand Island to make their home.

There, Mr. Guye and Arthur Bottorff entered the lathing and plastering business in a partnership, the B. & G. Lathing and Plastering Company.

He was a member of the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church, affiliated with the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

Mr. Guye and Miss Marie Rupp were married at Aftroya Grande, California January 31, 1942.

He is survived by his wife; his mother, Mrs. Samuel Guye of Omaha; a brother, Carroll Guye of New York City; one sister, Mrs. R. J. Scott of Omaha; and by other relatives. He was preceded in death by his father.

Side Dressing Corn

With the rapid growth of corn all the side dressing will have to be made in a very few days. If growth continues for the next week much of our corn will be too large to side dress. We are very nearly caught up on orders and could take care of a few more fields early next week. Come in and ask about the cost of Nitrogen applied to your field. If you need some phosphorus applied and you will get good results from a mixed liquid fertilizer. Sorghum will show a very good response to Nitrogen and it should be applied in the next couple of weeks. Increase your grain crop about one-fourth by the proper use of Nitrogen.

Corn Borer Control

Corn Borers are showing up in great quantities east of us and it looks as if we could expect a heavy infestation in our section also. We will carry a good supply of Granular DDT and will have a machine to apply this for you and anytime that we are not using the machine ourselves it will be for rent. Be sure to ask about this in advance. It will be pretty hard to get to your field on just a day's notice.

Wheat Fertilizer

We all know the effect of proper application on wheat fields. If you don't have a recent soil test let us have a test made for you and give you the proper recommendation for the use of fertilizer and we will be in position to apply straight Nitrogen or a mixed fertilizer. And if you have the proper fertilizer used you can expect a very nice profit on every dollar spent on Nitrogen. A fertilizer containing 15-10-0 or 16-8-0 would be a very good fertilizer if you don't have a soil test. Come in and ask about them.

City Council Meeting

The surplus includes $10,800 in the general fund, $5,857 in the electrical energy fund, $3,300 park funds, $1,600 for the fire department, $1,700 cemetery, $1250 street lighting, $455 band, $16,400 roads, $24,300 cemetery perpetual maintenance, $1600 airport, $1500 in oil dust treatment and $170 overdrift in paving district six. Some $95,000 is carried in cash, with the balance in bonds and securities.

In other business the council instructed city treasurer James Ollis to sell some $17,000 worth of government bonds now held in the cemetery perpetual maintenance fund, and reinvest the amount in Ord school district "explosion" bonds.

A proposal to whittle Saturday night liquor closing hours from midnight to 11 o'clock was tabled by the council. Linnor dealers Emil Kokes and Herb Rickard appeared before the council to ask the change. Frank Falcetta, a third dealer, notified the council he would also like the cut in hours. Frank Coufal, Ord's fourth dealer, appeared to oppose the change, telling the council he did a lot of business between 11 and 12 on Saturdays.

Councilman decided to huddle with liquor dealers to see if a voluntary deal could be worked out.

A 10 x 22 concrete block addition to Bill's Grocery, owned and operated by Bill Jablonski, was approved for construction. Permits issued by Herb Rickard appeared before the council to ask the council to erect a sign on the curb in front of their business house. The Bohemian Hall was granted a dance license.

City street and sidewalk improvement for the summer was outlined by committee chairman Dal Korte, who said that a number of streets would be repaved this summer, and that some private jobs would be done, including parking lots at Ord high school and St. John's Lutheran Church. Two alleys will be armor coated. Karre was given permission to order two farm cars oil and armor coating binder to carry out the program.

A Garden of Satire
A garden is such a delightful place. To get blisters on your hands that is just the right mixture of clays, loams and sands. Under your nails, that is. You see the seeds sprout and grow. Weeds, that is. Then later you reap what you sow, spinach which nobody likes, that is. When it comes to the show, it's ours my husband says. But when it comes to the hoe, it's mine, that is. Yes, a garden is such a delightful place. If there wasn't no' that is, that is, Ima Farmer.

Request for Tax Funds Whittled

In time honored horse-trading procedure of asking more than you expect to get, Valley county officials, department heads and county board members spent most of Tuesday mapping out a preliminary budget for the 1957 fiscal year. The final budget will be formally adopted at an August first meeting of the supervisors.

County funds seem inclined Tuesday to favor a hold-the-line policy and were generally whittling on requests for funds by county officers and departments.

In nearly all cases, requests for funds were higher than expenditures made during the year, and in many cases higher than requests submitted a year ago.

Although arguments flew thick and fast as board members scrutinized budget requests, the supervisors appeared to join forces on final votes and continue their whittling process.

County road requests were slashed some $8,000, to bring the fund down to $10,000 more than was spent last year. At the same time $4600 was transferred into the road fund from a dormant inheritance tax fund, with the result that the county road levy will be about the same as last year.

Figures will be available at a later date.

County Gets Big End of Auto Permits

Valley county gets the lion's share of automobile and truck registration fees, records of the Valley county treasurer revealed this week.

So far this year, the treasurer has issued 2382 auto licenses, 585 farm truck licenses and 284 commercial truck licenses.

Of the slightly over $40,000 in fees collected in the past fiscal year, $19,675.99 went to the county road fund. The state got $16,546.13 for state highway maintenance and $10,589.00 went for state supervision.

The remainder was split among cities and villages of the county with Ord receiving $3,559.13; North Loup $681.49; Arcadia $719.52 and Elyria $123.33.

The county's share of gasoline taxes is split on about a 20 to 1 basis. Of around $84,000 received in the county last year as a share of gasoline tax, $36,173.17 went to the county road fund. The county bridge fund got $10,935.48, and Schroeder Mail Route road fund $33,746.39.

Ord city got $2686.80; North Loup $631.20; Arcadia $688.80 and Elyria $104.10.

Four Ordites Caught in Grand Island's High Wind and Storm

Three Ordites—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lee and Dean Flock—rode out Sunday night's violent storm at Grand Island on Highway 11 north of that city.

The Lees were trapped about four or five miles south of St. Paul in the Bunker Hills area.

Flock, traveling alone, was about five miles farther south on the same highway.

The Lees were returning from Wichita, Mr. Flock was returning from Uteca.

All three reported the storm as "exceeding violent."

The Lees were drenched when the cloth top of their car was bowed out by the wind. Both arrived at St. Paul dripping wet and frightened.

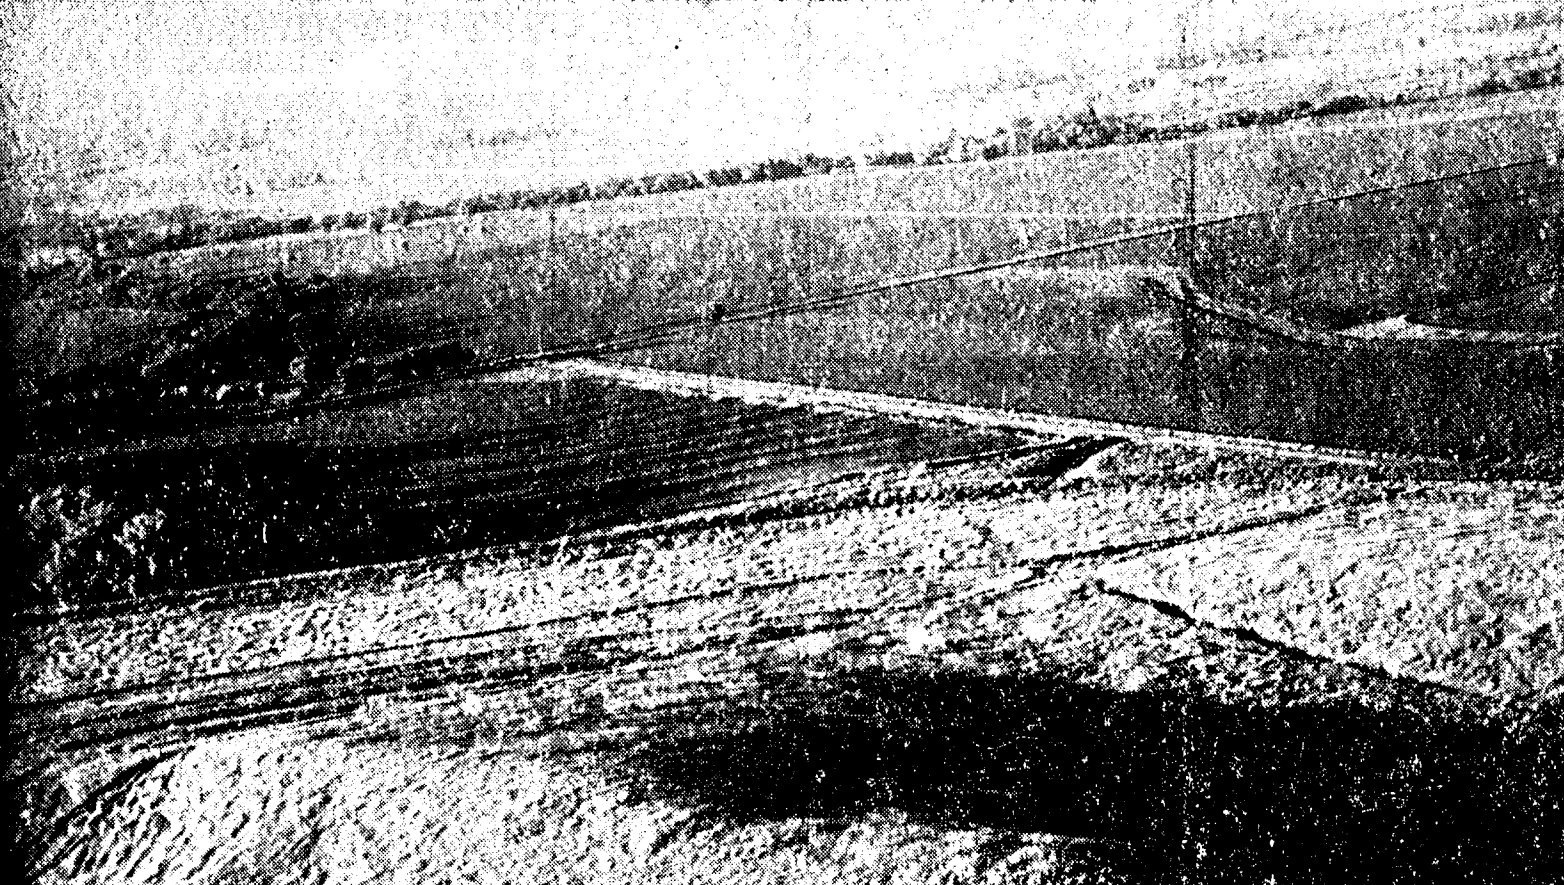

Mr. Flock, in a sedan, was luckier. His car was almost blown from the highway but he managed to keep it under control.

Grand Island weather reports estimated the storm's fury at 88 miles per hour.

Rainfall estimates were as high as two and one-half inches in the 20 minute blow.

Also riding out the storm, but from a slightly more advantageous position, was Al Moudry, of Jack and Jill Store. Al was headed towards Grand Island and when the storm struck he took shelter behind a row of trees.

Al reported Grand Island littered with trees after the blow. "That made me think my shelter wasn't as safe as I had believed," Moudry said.

A new perspective to farming... aerial view of bench terraces on the J. B. Ferguson farm near Elyria.

Free Air Soil Tour Set for Sunday, July 14; Committee Hopes 200 Riders

Farming takes on a new perspective from the air. Terraces stand-out, land leveling is prominent, irrigation can be seen in entirety.

Practically every farmer, after he has seen land from the air, gains a much better understanding of features that may be adding to, or subtracting from farm productivity.

That's why the SCS, CAP, Extension Service, ASC and the Ord Quiz are so anxious for farmers to take the Free Aerial Soil Conservation Tour here Sunday, July 14, from the Evelyn Sharp (Ord) Airport. They hope to fly 200.

Tours are free. Three federal agencies and the Quiz are underwriting the expenses. The CAP is furnishing planes for the cost of fuel.

Tours start at 10 a.m. and will continue until flying is halted by dark.

Church First

That means you can attend church then drive out to the airport for your free aerial tour.

Tours are limited to farmers 16 years and older. Wives are welcome.

"Wives sometimes can see a needed improvement at first glance," a SCS technician pointed out, "where the farmer has been ignoring it all winter."

So wives are doubly welcome.

There'll be plenty of planes and plenty of capable, safe pilots, so waiting lines shouldn't be necessary.

Local planes will include George Benn and his Aerona, Harold Marshall and his Luscomb and Ken Stevens and his Taylorcraft, (if refitting on the latter is finished).

Pilots On Hand

Spell out pilots will include Charles Zangger, well known instructor and former airlines pilot-turned-farmer, Ellis Carson, Ord grocer, Dr. Robert J. Lynn and others.

Expected from Sioux City to help out will be four planes all flown by dependable airmen.

They will include Jerry Curry in a Tri-Pacer furnished by the Curry Paint and Floor Co., George Hirschbary, a well known Sioux City truck line operator, in a Cessna 182, Ralph Beerman, of the Beerman Bros. Dehy plant at Dakota City, in a Beechcraft Bonanza, Dick Beerman, of Beerman Bros., in a PA-20 (Pacer) and Bob Sipe, printing foreman of the Dakota County Star in South Sioux City, in another PA-20.

It looks like a big successful tour. Remember, Mr. Farmer, this is your invitation to attend—and ride free!

Refreshments will be furnished

County Gets $5,392 June Gasoline Taxes

Valley county's share of state gas tax collections in June amounted to $5,392.03. The figure does not include Schroeder Mail Route collections, which amounted to about two-thirds of regular tax collections.

Garfield county received $2,344.36; Wheeler, $1710.20; Sherman, $5,187.00; Howard, $6,095.34.

Mira Valley Vote on New School Tuesday

Voters in School District 10, a recent consolidation of four Mira Valley districts, will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a new $2,000 school building.

Polling place is the original District 10 schoolhouse. Polls will be open from one o'clock to eight o'clock P.M.

The district plans a modern two-room schoolhouse to be designed so that additional rooms can be added when necessary. Fifteen year bonds are to be issued by the district, with bonds becoming optional five years after issuance.

The district has a valuation in excess of a million dollars.

Temperatures Soar; Residents Swelter; Crops Grow 'n Grow

Temperatures soared to the hundred mark the past week, residents sweltered, and Valley county crops continued to grow and grow.

Humidity was high throughout the week. Weatherman Horace Travis recorded rainfall of 1.11 inches Thursday and .07 inches Sunday night. The latter fall was the tail-end of a violent storm in the Grand Island area where four inches of rain fell in twenty minutes and winds of up to 90 miles an hour were recorded.

Both pump and gravity irrigation started in full swing over the county last weekend. Farmers, with a bumper first cutting of hay in the stack or bale, are completing their second corn cultivation.

The small grain harvest is about a week away, and will run smack into the second hay cutting.

Over the county barley and oats yields predictions are the most optimistic in years. Winter wheat growers are still pessimistic, but conditions improve daily under ideal weather conditions and absence of hail.

Generally, all small grain will have unusually heavy straw.

Corn, both dryland and irrigated, surpassed the traditional "Knee-high by the Fourth of July" goal. Some scattered fields are late. Shattered corn ears from last year's harvest give an impression of heavy suckering in many fields.

So far this year the moisture mark stands at 18.01 inches as compared with 11.67 inches last year.

Date	High	Low	Precip.
July 4	80	62	11
July 5	90	51
July 6	95	63

Arcadia's new census has not been reported as yet. Last year the district had 170 including 23 boys and 16 girls in the under five group, nine boys and 3 girls in the 5-6 year bracket, 37 boys and 43 girls in the 7-15 group, 19 boys and 20 girls in the 15-20 age group.

School Kid Count Is Under 1957

A nose count of Ord children and youths of school age shows a drop of 67 over a year ago, a survey completed this week by Pat Wozniak, school secretary, revealed.

Last year the Ord school district, on July first, had 761 persons under the age of 21. This year it was 694. The drop is slightly under ten per cent.

Here are the figures:

Age	Boys	Girls	Total
Under 5	93	95	188
Age 5-6	40	41	81
7-15	167	145	312
15-20	32	58	110
Totals	332	312	691

Age	Boys	Girls	Total
Under 5	93	105	198
Age 5-6	36	55	91
7-15	175	170	345
15-20	63	64	127
Totals	367	391	761

The drop in population is mainly attributed to several large families moving from town to places being filled by young couples. The city had some ten new homes built last year, about the same number will be built this year, and at present, rental housing is still tight.

In Broken Bow, a drop of 287, or over 20 per cent was revealed in this year's census, second straight year for a drop in the Custer county seat.

Like Ord, Broken Bow's drop came largely in the older age brackets, with the six-year and younger groups nearly holding their own. Broken Bow's total school census report, including those under 5 years of age, dropped from 1309 to 1022.

In North Loup school census figures showed 29 boys and 28 girls in the under five-year bracket, ten in the five-six year bracket, 48 boys and 56 girls in the seven to 15 year bracket and 16 boys and 24 girls in the 15-20 year bracket for a total of 202. Girls lead boys 114 to 88.

North Loup's school count is two less than last year when 204 were recorded, although newly consolidated District 70 is now included with the North Loup K-12 district. Last year the school had 22 boys and 29 girls under age five, 11 boys and 14 girls in the 5-6 year age bracket, 43 boys and 32 girls in the 7-15 group, 14 boys and 19 girls in the 15-20 age group.

Henry Lange is Candidate for Senator

Henry G. Lange, 46, prominent Mira Valley farmer, paid a filing fee in Ord Tuesday as a candidate for the unicameral legislature.

Lange will seek the post now held by Leroy Babeusky of Palmer, as state senator from Valley, Howard, Greeley and Wheeler counties.

Lange's first venture in politics, although he has served on local school and township boards in the past.

The Ord man is presently serving as president of the Twin Loups Reclamation District and is also part-time manager of the Ord hospital. With his brother, Edgar, he farms some 900 acres, part of it pump irrigated.

Lange is president of the congregation of St. John's Lutheran church in Ord and has been prominently identified with Lutheran church activities in the Nebraska area. Mr. and Mrs. Lange have six children, one studying for the ministry, another preparing for a religious education teaching position, and a third in nurse's training. Two younger children attend Ord high school.

He was recently honored by the Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben as their Good Neighbor of the Year.

Ord Firms Change Managers

Three Ord business firms change managers here this week.

Two of the changes were effective immediately while a third will be made August first.

Al Stewart, long time manager of the Ord Safeway store has been promoted to manager of a new Safeway Supermarket now nearing completion in Hastings. Stewart is spending this week in Omaha at school, and will get further training for his new job during the next two weeks.

His place here will be filled by Stanley Hopkins, at present assistant manager of the Kearney Safeway store. Mr. Hopkins and his family are expected to move here in two weeks.

The Stewart family will move to Hastings as soon as housing is secured. They will sell their home here.

Charles Clawson, Nebraska City, took over as manager of the local Lee Store Friday. He replaces Adrian Davis who will manage a Lee Store in Gillette, Wyo. Mr. Davis left over the week-end for Wyoming and will return this week to get his family and household goods. His home in Ord will be occupied by the Clawsons and the Davis family will move to the home vacated by the former manager of the Lee Store in Gillette. Mr. and Mrs. Clawson have a daughter, 9. The family is affiliated with the Baptist church.

Don Hoffman, Grand Island, is the new salesman and route driver for the Coro Cola company, replacing Bob Grove, who has joined Swift and Company, taking the place of Joe Jirak, retired.

Mr. Hoffman will move his family to Ord the latter part of the week. They will occupy the house owned by the Coro Cola company next door to their warehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have three children, 11, 8 and 3. They are members of the Presbyterian church.

Conservation Work in County on Schedule

The six months timetable in the Valley county Soil Conservation District is just about on schedule. Ed Sprague, in charge of the local office, told the Quiz today.

In some cases, work done so far this year is far above the district's goal for the year. Other conservation work expected to be done this year has been held up by wet weather and the rush of farm work.

Sprague said that tree planting, grassland improvement and irrigation improvement is usually completed the first half of the year, while other operations are carried out in all seasons. Some of this will be seen on the air tour Sunday.

The table below gives rate of progress, goals and amount of work accomplished on the more common SCS work for the year.

Goal	Completed 1957
Basic farm planning, number	20 20
Contour irrigation, acres	230 230
Deferred grazing, acres	860 860

Pool Has Record Attendance

Sunday set a new high in paid admissions at the Ord municipal swimming pool, when 290 were recorded according to pool manager W. W. Parks.

Record attendance was on Tuesday, June 2, when 399 persons used the pool. The figure included 215 who were taking free swimming lessons.

Some 230 are enrolled in swimming classes, according to Parks, and fully half this number are expected to graduate as competent swimmers by the end of fall.

Starting July 15th season tickets at the pool will be half price. Tickets for ages 8 to 11 are $2.25, 12 to 16 will be $2.75 and adult season admissions $3.00.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings are set aside for adult only, or for very small fry accompanied by the parents.

Part of the record breaking crowd at Ord Homecoming Day, July 4th. Here's part of the crowd that saw Ord beat Loup City in an eight inning baseball match, just before the lights were doused for the Homecoming Day $300 fireworks display. Hundreds of others who could not find grandstand or bleacher seats sat on the grass or in their cars as Ord firemen shot the big fire display. No one kept count of the persons who showed up for the annual affair but estimates range from four thousand to six thousand.

Ritzi Family and Guest From India

Narayan-swayn Ranganayal (Miss Ranga as she is called in the United States) a 30 year old exchange student from India arrived at the Harry Ritzi farm, about four miles west of Arcadia, on Saturday evening, June 29th. She will leave them the 11th of July and go to Mira Valley, where the Alfred Bursons will be her host family for the next two weeks.

From the Burson home she will go to Madison, Wisconsin where she will attend a conference held for all the I.F.Y.E. from all over the world. After that they will be given one week to do as they desire. Her friends plan to spend the time at Niagara Falls. From there they will go to various farms in the United States. Ranga will go to New Jersey where she will spend the next three months. Before returning to her home country she will visit England, Germany, France, Switzerland, and Italy. She will arrive in India approximately the 15th of December.

Ranga comes from a family of five girls. Her two oldest sisters are married, and each have two daughters. Ranga is the third daughter in her family. Her youngest sister graduated in 1955 and is now a doctor. Her sister is a junior in the Woman's College of Cumbetore, where she is working for her Bachelor of Science degree. Ranga has 6 years of college and the Harry Ritzi family of Arcadia all enjoyed a picnic on the Bob Perry lawn in Ord the 4th of July. Later in the evening they all attended the ball game and the fireworks at the Ord park. It was the first ball game Miss Ranga had ever seen.

F. N. Auferheide of Ann Arbor, Mich., arrived Wednesday evening and spent a few days at the W. J. Ramsey home. Mr. Auferheide was enroute to Denver to meet his wife who has been visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Keith Dorsey and her sister, Miss Neelia Stanton of Omaha. He left Monday for Dunsmuir, N. Dak. to visit their grandmother and an uncle who is sick and also other relatives. They are expected home Saturday.

Marianne Gnaster Weds Ed Piskorski

Miss Marianne Gnaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gnaster of Ord, became the bride of Edward Piskorski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piskorski of Ord Saturday morning at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Ord, with the Rev. Thomas Siodowski saying the mass and performing the double ring ceremony. Music was furnished by Mrs. Don Edwards on the organ who accompanied the soloist, Miss Amela Novak.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon organza and Venice lace over nylon net and satin. The fitted bodice, buttoned at the back, featured an oval neckline banded in Venice lace in a flower motif. The bride wore a tulle and tulle tulle shirred sleeves repeated the lace trim. The bouffant organza skirt, shirred at the waist and worn over hoop petticoats featured a chapel sweep train and repeated the lace of the neckline and an outline for shirred side panels. The bride wore an imported French illusion fingertip veil held by a Chantilly rosepoint lace disk trimmed in seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls worn by her mother at her wedding.

Miss Patricia Wozniak of Ord was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Janis Pocock of Ord, Elizabeth Burrows of St. Joseph, Mo., and Miss Marythea Freiberg of Plainview, S. D. All wore identical gowns of aqua taffeta with an overlay of white cyclone embroidery and nylon in tulle length, shirred at the waistline. The matching bodice of each gown featured a portrait neckline and brief shirred sleeves. To complete the bridesmaid attire they also wore matching taffeta headbands trimmed in seed pearls.

Best man was Martin Piskorski of Kearney and the ushers were Donald Beran, Paul Moritz and Richard O'Neill. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gnaster wore pink and white and the groom's mother, Mrs. Piskorski, wore navy and white.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at St. Mary's Auditorium. In charge of the serving and other duties were Mrs. Monica Waters of Des Moines, Iowa, Mrs. Dorothy Butts of Burwell, Mrs. Mary Simon of Dearborn, Mich., Mrs. Don Beran, Miss Judy Webster of San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Richard Piskorski.

After a short wedding trip in Canada the couple will make their home in Omaha where Mrs. Piskorski will teach school and Mr. Piskorski will attend the University of Omaha. The bride attended Duchesne College in Omaha, graduating in 1956. Mr. Piskorski had two years of college at Kearney.

Mrs. Mortensen Home

Mrs. Crawford Mortensen arrived home Friday, twenty-four hours after leaving Rome, Italy. Her trip included travels through Spain, Portugal and Tangier, and also the Balearic Islands, off the coast of Spain and owned by Spain. In Palma de Mallorca, on these islands, she visited a friend for several days. She then flew to Paris and met a friend she had known in college, days who was visiting her daughter in Holland. She rented a car and chauffeur for the remainder of the trip, driving through the chateau country in France, through Switzerland, part of Austria and Bavaria, and from there down over the Brenner Pass to Italy. In Italy they visited Florence, Venice, Pisa, and Rome. The plane she boarded in Rome was one of the new jet-stream planes just put on in the middle of June.

Oregon Visitors

Lafe Cook of McCook, and Mrs. Pearl Cook of Portland, Ore., arrived Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Onnie Patchen. They are the uncle and aunt of Mrs. Patchen. Mr. Cook returned to McCook and in the evening the Patchens took Mrs. Cook to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Thompson where she will visit for a couple of months.

Ord Suburbanites

The Ord Suburbanites extension club met at the home of Mrs. Henry Zikmund Thursday. President, Mrs. Floyd Peterson, opened the meeting. Roll call was topics of interest on Independence Day. Mrs. Carson Rogers gave an article on the Annin & Co., worlds largest flagmakers. Song leader, Mrs. Zikmund, led the group in patriotic songs. The afternoon was spent making hat boxes. Lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be a family picnic in the park.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guggenmos Return From Ten Days Trip In Caribbean Area

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Guggenmos returned Friday from a Caribbean trip, won by Mr. Guggenmos in a sales contest sponsored by the Helene Curtis cosmetic company.

The first stop on their trip was Miami. There they visited Miami Beach and the Hialeah race track. At Hialeah, they met Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson who were just returning from Havana and were on their way home. On the 28th they left for San Juan, Puerto Rico, where they took tours of the city and visited some night clubs. A custom in this city is a siesta from noon until 2:30 which is observed by everyone. In Kingston, Jamaica they stayed in a beautiful, old English type hotel. Here they found the people to be mostly very poor and a few very rich, but no middle class.

Havana was a beautiful and modern city. They took tours of the city and the cigar factories, where all cigars are made by hand. They were entertained at the world famous night club, the Tropicana, which was extremely elaborate and presented a beautiful show.

Mr. Guggenmos observed that hotels in these cities were not rated high class hotels unless they had both fresh water and salt water swimming pools. The climate was very hot and humid. Homes in some cities for the most part would make our poorest house look like a mansion, but nearly all boasted a television antenna. The television broadcasts were all in Spanish. The Ordites were treated like royalty in Jamaica where they were met by the press and entertained at the home of the Helene Curtis distributor there. Scenery and accommodations were wonderful, but the chicken dinner cooked by Mrs. Guggenmos when they returned home, surpassed any food that they were served on the trip, in Mr. Guggenmos opinion.

Six couples from the United States enjoyed this trip, other couples being from Pittsburgh, Oklahoma City, Columbus, Ohio, Springfield, Mo., Ft. Wayne, Ind. The Guggenmoses were met in

Mustangs Run Wild Over Scotia, 26-7; St. Libory Here Sunday Nite

Scoring five runs in the first inning, the Mustangs ran wild over Scotia as they posted a 26-7 lopsided score over hapless Scotia, who were tied for first only two weeks ago with Ashton in the Sherman-Howard flag race. St. Libory plays here Sunday night.

Homers by Ellis, Staab and Bill Novosad plus Tuck Mason's ninth inning three-bagger featured the 24-hit clobbering at the expense of two Scotia pitchers. All but three were earned runs.

Five Runs in First

Kokes opened the first with a bunt. Bud Novosad doubled. Dilla was safe at first on H. Johnson's error. Kokes scored. Bud Ellis was safe on a fielder's choice as Bud Novosad was tagged while trying to score. Thompson then doubled to score. Dilla and Ellis, Vasicek lined to H. Johnson. Staab found Wells offering doubt to his liking, as he homered with Thompson aboard. Blaha was tossed out at first to retire the side.

Scotia's tally in the first frame came as the result of Hember singling, Ellis miffing H. Johnson's grounder and scoring on Wells' single.

Bill Novosad Homers

With one down and Staab on second and Blaha on first as result of singles, Bill Novosad connected for the second Mustang coup, doubling, Kokes doubling and going third on a passed ball, scoring on another Scotia error, this by Beck.

Scotia's main rally came in the fifth when Hember opened with a double. H. Johnson fanned but after D. Vance was tossed out at first, three successive singles scoring an error by Thomsen gave Scotia three tallies.

While Ord roared back with five tallies in the sixth off a pair of singles and then Blaha's double, the big one came in the seventh inning.

Eight More in 7th

Staab opened with a crashing line single, Blaha doubled, Bill Novosad scoring them with a sharp single. Kokes walked and Merrill Mason singled, scoring Novosad.

At this point Hember replaced Wells and he finally began to hit, singled and Ellis homered to give Ord a 20-6 lead. Curran was out at first but Vasicek walked. Tuck Mason was out on a long fly hit into left field but Blaha walked. Bill Novosad singled to score Vasicek. Stevens then fled to left field.

Orl Added Four More Runs in 9th

After Vasicek filed out, Tuck Mason tripled, Blaha singled and Jim on a single. Poczok singled, and both runners scored when Wagner dropped Stevens' drive into centerfield. Merrill Mason filed out to centerfield but Dilla doubled scoring Kokes. Koll grounded to the third baseman for the final out.

Judges Name Judy

Judy Jones, 15-year old teenager from Sabatha, Kansas, was crowned the Homecoming beauty queen by the contest judges as a morning feature of the Ord Fourth of July celebration.

Judy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Jones, who have been guests of the Mike Yosts.

Fishing Gossip

Wet Lines

By Spud Kapustka

Dear Ed:

Usually about this time of year you will find that the weather takes all the enthusiasm out of the sport of fishing.

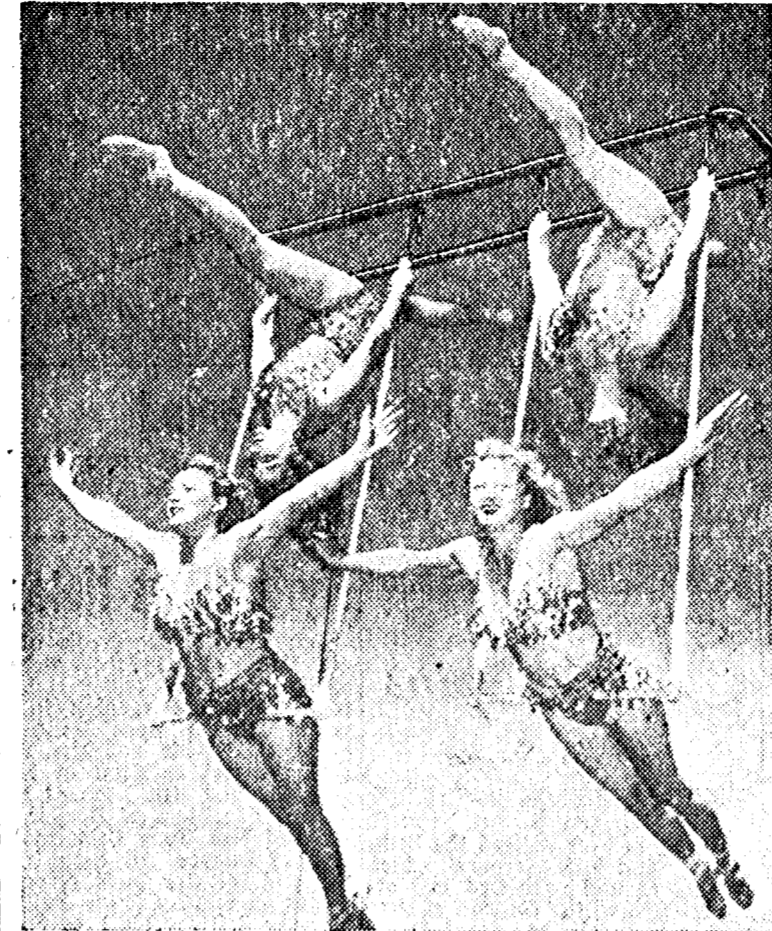

When the temperatures reach that 100 degree mark, you soon separate the men from the boys. The fishermen become less active after a few setbacks as of recent and the fish actually become more eager to bite as the weather and water warms. So do the mosquitos and deerflies and you don't have to twist some fellows' arms to have them just drop the subject of going. If you are one of the hardy ones you will get as much enjoyment out of the sport now as in the early spring. One enjoyable way of fishing now is out of the rubber raft as you can dangle your feet in the side and even if the fish aren't biting you are in seventh heaven.

The trip up and back can be on the warm side this time of year unless you start in early morning and drive back late in the evening.

Am particularly fond of fishing with waist waders and there is much comfort in just going into the water or about four foot depth and letting the coolness of it soak in. I have also found this to be the most productive way of getting fish and it isn't as tiring as most people might think. The human body is to some extent buoyant and with the small quantity of air that is trapped within the waders, it all helps to lessen the weight of the body on the feet and you have a near floating sensation that is quite restful. I have used a plastic wader for about three years and I think I have three more years of wear left in them which would make the cost about $1.50 a year. The only reason that I may have to discard them then is because of the excessive amount of punctures caused by my own carelessness. With good care a pair of waders will last many years before they will show signs of deterioration.

Petska Wins Small Fry Golf Title; Sam Phillips Gives Ordites Golfing Tips

Young Roger Petska is king of Ord's small fry golfers as result of a 92-total score in Monday's championship tournament flight at the Ord city golf links.

Petska, who led all qualifiers last week with a 46 qualifying round scored a 48 total in the initial nine holes and shot a 44 on the final nine in the eighteen hole match route against seven other competitors. Bob Sevenker was second, posting scores of 52 and 45 for 97 total with Rich Oseantowski a close third with a 98 total.

Janee Benda Wins Girls'

Playing a nine-hole route, Janee Benda shot a 69 to crown down Mary Banks and Joyce Parkos for the girls flight championship. Mary had a 92 while Joyce shot a 111.

Alvin Vasicek won the first flight championship with a 53-score while Mike Naeve captured the second flight and Danny Yost won the third flight.

Sam Phillips Instructs

Before the tourney got underway, the small fry were given some expert instruction by Sam Phillips, a salesman who travels for Kaiser Aluminum out of Omaha.

Phillips is a native of Memphis, Tenn., and played actively in high school and college circles. In his high school days one of his friendly golfing rivals was Cary Middlecoff, nationally known golfer. He was a frequent winner of Tennessee tourneys and later played on the Louisiana State University golfing team in his college days.

Phillips wowed the small fry with a soft southern voice. He showed them how to properly grip a golf club, stance, and swing.

Phillips later told the Quiz that he believes that following partic-

Quiz Legion Downs St. Paul, 2-1, Dunlap Homers in Pitching Duel

Quiz Legion took a thriller Tuesday night from St. Paul as Dick Goodsell and Jerry Sturek hooked up in a tight pitchers' duel with the tall Quiz southpaw fanning St. Paul batters as he pitched a one-hitter and tripled the winning run in the third, scoring Don Vasicek after Dunlap led off with a circuit blast.

St. Paul drew first blood, scoring their only run in the first inning. After Zavevka was thrown out at first by Welnek, Jepson walked, took second on a wild pitch, then stole third and home. Oakeson and Sturek struck out.

After putting out the fire in the second and third innings by crucial strikeouts, Ord staged their only successful but sufficient rally.

St. Paul Threatens in 7th

After Dunlap homered, Blaha lined to the shortstop, but Zulkoski walked only to cut off second on a fielder's choice, with Don Vasicek safe at first. After Vasicek stole second, and with the count of 2-1, Goodsell tripled, but was left stranded when Penas grounded to the second baseman, Knothe.

With two down in the seventh by the strikeout route, St. Paul threatened again when Zavevka walked. Jepson was safe at first on Dennis Vasicek's error, Zavevka taking third, Jepson stole second only to be Oakeson grounded out to Blaha to retire the Saints.

Legion Nine Trounces Loup City, 18-3; Ravenna here Monday

Rebounding from last Friday's heartbreaking loss to Grand Island, the Ord Quiz legion nine pounded Loup City pitcher Pettys for 17 hits and scored 18 runs as the Quiz Kids took an easy win from their ancient foe, Loup City, 18-3, Monday.

Dick Goodsell was the sparkplug for the Quiz nine as he belted two homers, a triple, and a single for four hits in five trips to the plate, scoring five runs.

Four Runs in First

Ord scored four runs in the opening frame. After Stevens lined to shortstop J. Jakubowski, Don Blaha tripled, scoring on Sheldon's single. Don Vasicek singled and then Goodsell hit his first homer. Dunlap walked and took second on Pettys' error. Holoun singled, Dunlap taking third but was tagged as he attempted to score. Cronk walked but Penas hit roller to the pitcher and the inning ended.

Goodsell opened the bottom of the third with his second home run blast with Dunlap then getting a life at first on Maschka's error and stealing second. Holoun fled to the second baseman and then young Mike Cronk walked but Penas and Stevens fanned to leave the runners stranded.

Blaha's Second Triple

Blaha got his second triple of the evening as he led off the fourth. Sheldon singled, scoring Blaha and then stole second, was safe at third on catcher Hegerty's error. Don Vasicek tripled to score Sheldon and tallied moments later on Goodsell's single. Dunlap fanned but Holoun singled to score Goodsell. Cronk fled out to T. Jakubowski's error, Penas was tossed out on a throw from third to first to retire the side.

Martin Doubles

Stevens opened the fifth with a grounder to the shortstop but Blaha was safe at first on another T. Jakubowski error. Martin cracked on a throw by Hegerty as he tried to steal second.

Sheldun walked followed by D. Sich's single. Goodsell was safe on an error by the Loup City left fielder. Sheldon scoring. Dunlap walked and then Tom Martin cracked a sharp double, driving in three runs. Cronk fled out to the second baseman to end the inning.

Goodsell Triples

In the sixth, Dennis Vasicek fled to the second baseman. Stevens walked, Blaha singled, Don Vasicek was tossed out at first and then Goodsell tripled, scoring Stevens and Blaha. Dunlap singled to score Goodsell but Martin grounded out, second to first.

Loup City managed to get but one hit, a single in the fifth off

Ord Midgets Ramble, Floor St. Paul, 15-1

After St. Paul scored one run in the first, the Ord Midgets roared back with at least three runs in each of four innings to trounce St. Paul's Midgets, 15-1, at the Ord diamond Tuesday.

While Francis Osenowski was limiting St. Paul to but a solitary hit, Ord batters racked up 14 hits with Rich Zulkoski clouting two triples and a single in three trips to the plate. Vasicek, relieved Osenowski, baffling 'em.

Next week the Midgets will meet the Ravenna Midgets in a prelim affair to the Ravenna-Quiz legion game. Loup City Midgets will be here on Tuesday, with the Midgets traveling to Central City Wednesday for a return game.

Return From Trip

Mrs. John Golka, Sr., and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Swanek of Omaha, returned Sunday night from a trip to the Black Hills and Yellowstone National Park. They visited Frank Golka and family in Green River, Wyo., and John Golka in Cheyenne.

Ord Markets

The prices given below are obtained from reliable Ord firms at 12:30 Wednesday and are subject to change.

Wheat, $1.86; corn, $1.26; barley, 78c; oats, 64c; rye, 96c; cream, 60c; heavy hens, 8c; leghorn hens, 6c; heavy springs, 20c; leghorn springs, 18c; stags, 6c; eggs, special, 24c; farm run, 22c.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Polak, and their two children of New York, called on Mrs. Vincent Kokes Tuesday forenoon. They are house guests of Mr. Polak's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Vogeltanz.

GRAIN HARVEST

Grain harvest is right here and we are ready to start taking grain just as soon as it is dry enough for you to start your combines.

We have quick unloading facilities and you will find our tests and grading reasonable.

We have a couple of trucks available to haul your grain from the combines. See us early and tell us that you would like our truck when the combine starts.

FEEDERS

No doubt we will have limited amounts of oats and barley offered and we would like to have your order for the oats and barley that you want to buy during harvest. We can deliver it right to your bin, and the price will be reasonable.

FERTILIZER

Right now is the time to plan to fertilize your wheat land for next year. Let us have soil tests made for you if you do not have a soil test made let us apply either 16-0-0 or 15-10-10 to your field just as soon as you are through combining; in that way you will get an extra benefit from the decay of the stubble and straw. Come in and visit with us in regard to your fertilizer and soil tests.

INSECTICIDES and WEED KILLERS

Spraying materials of all kinds in stock. Get those weeds before they get larger and tougher. They are hard enough to kill when sprayed early.

There is some army worm and cutworm damage to alfalfa fields. If you have any such trouble spray just as soon as you take off the next crop of hay. Don't let the pests have the next crop of hay.

CORN BORER CONTROL

Granular DDT 5% on hand, and we have an applicator to rent to you. Better take care of this corn now than to wait till you see the damage from Corn Borers. This plan is a very effective control.

Ken Peterson Listed Possible Candidate for State Treasurer

Former State Senator K. W. Peterson of Sargent, is now filing this week as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of State Treasurer, it was reliably reported Sunday.

Peterson, 55, a life-long Republican, served in the Nebraska Legislature, representing the 35th District from 1951 to 1957.

Primarily interested in the implement business at Sargent, Peterson also is a director and stockholder of the Farmers State Bank at Sargent, secretary of the Burwell Butter Factory at Burwell, president of the Central Market and Locker Co., at Sargent, and is a landowner.

He is a business associate of Tal Coonrad, director of the Division of Employment Security.

Peterson, a bachelor, attended Donahoe College and is a member of the Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite of the Shrine, Elks Lodge and Lions Club.

Other filings for the same office include Senator Monroe Bixler of Harrison and Harry R. Swanson of Swanton, who was democratic secretary of state for several terms, but switched parties in making his filing for the GOP nomination. The office is now held by Ralph Hill, who must vacate it due to a statutory ruling forbidding more than two terms.

School Jobs Open

Teaching jobs remain to be filled in the Ord public school faculty according to Supt. Nels A. Sullivan. The Ord schools require a home economics, high school English and sixth grade teacher.

In North Loup unfilled jobs include a high school English and a music teacher. Arcadia lacks a music and high school English teacher while English and science posts need to be filled at Burwell.

Rural District Joins Scotia High School

Consolidation of Rural District 5 in Greeley county with the Scotia K-12 school was approved Friday by Greeley county superintendent Ida Foster.

The rural district has been contracting with Scotia for several years, and has two pupils. It is directly south of the town. The Scotia district had a valuation last year of $1,351,035 and District 5 was valued at $22,000.

Wheat

Wheat harvest has started in our community. We have run moisture tests on several samples and we wish to caution everyone against cutting their wheat containing high moisture content. If you intend to hold your wheat in your bins be sure it is under 13% moisture. Our discounts start on 13% moisture wheat and if your wheat carries excessive moisture we will be unable to buy it at any price. We are always willing to run a moisture test on your wheat samples at no cost to you. Remember we are always in the market for your wheat at highest possible prices.

Wildlife Conservation is Study Subject for Fort Hartsuff 4-H Club

A small but active group, the Fort Hartsuff 4-H Club, are studying Wildlife Conservation for main interest. Members are also carrying Beef, Dairy and Let's Sew projects.

The club, newly organized in 1956 with Earl Dent and Roland Meyer as leaders, won the float contest in the Ord Jubilee. Some of the prize money was used for members to visit the State Fair.

The picture was shot on the John Hank's farm with three of the project calves. Later members had a little judging practice.

A tour of the tree plantings on the Hank's farm for wildlife cover was made the same afternoon. The tour took in other members' projects, ending at the Dent farm where cup cakes and drinks were served.

The club had a fishing trip to Lake Ericson in June, and Spud Kaputka demonstrated proper boat handling and how to catch fish.

Msgr. Muenstermann Dies at Grand Island

Msgr. Muenstermann entered the priesthood in 1908 and served at Spalding Cedar Rapids, Eddyville, Kearney, St. Libory, Anselmo and Merna prior to his retirement in 1955. He was a native of Germany.

From 1941 through 1944 he served as vicar general of the Grand Island Diocese and held other positions in the diocese. He was made a domestic prelate in 1943.

Funeral services were held Saturday in St. Mary's Cathedral, The Most Rev. Bishop John L. Paschang head of the Grand Island Diocese officiated at the pontifical mass.

State Fair Coliseum Will Be Open Aug. 31

The new $400,000 State Fair Coliseum will be ready for use during the 1957 exposition August 31—September 6, Fair Board Secretary Edwin Schultz has announced.

R. Clare Clement of Ord is president of the State Fair board.

The new Coliseum, on which construction was started immediately after last year's fair, is 200 feet by 280 feet with an arena 200 feet by 85 feet.

Seating capacity for arena events will be approximately 4,000 people for tag events, with chairs placed in the arena; the capacity will be approximately 7,500.

The arena will be surrounded by a wide concourse to provide exhibit space and to take care of a heavy flow of traffic.

During the 1957 Fair, the new Coliseum will be the scene of open class livestock judging, and also the site of a Quarter Horse show with both performance and halter classes.

Peter K. Jensen Rites Here Monday

Funeral services were held Monday from the Hastings-Pearson chapel for Peter K. Jensen, 88, retired farmer, who died Saturday.

Rev. Dean McKay officiated. Doyle Dickey, accompanied by Mrs. Viola Kellison was soloist. Bearers were Chris Johnson, Warner Vergin, Ludwig Gross, Lloyd Needham, Frank Clark and Roy Meyer. Interment was in Ord cemetery.

Peter K. Jensen was born July 21, 1869 in Thisted, Denmark. He came to America in May, 1887, where he lived for a time on the farm of his aunt, Mrs. Nels Sorenson, who had paid his way to America.

Mr. Jensen married Johanna Olson at Arcadia, on December 27, 1892. To them were born six children, one boy and five girls, three of whom are still living.

He lived for a short time with his family in Greeley and St. Paul but spent the main part of his life in and around the town of Ord. He spent about half of his working life employed by the Burlington Railroad and the remaining half on a farm near Ord. He retired to a less active life in 1931 at the age of 61 but spent much time with his hobbies.

Mr. Jensen was nationally known for his hobbies. His scroll saw work has been distributed to such distant parts as Puerto Rico, Cuba, California, Minnesota and Kansas. He was a great lover of garden work.

He was identified as a youth with the Lutheran Faith.

Survivors include three children, Arthur, Clara and Minnie, all of Ord, a daughter-in-law, Helen, one sister, Mrs. Kristine Larson of Ord and a half-brother, Soren Jensen of Thisted, Denmark. His wife died in 1938.

He was also preceded in death by one sister, a half brother and a brother.

Omaha to Seward Interstate Complete in 1960 Says Ress

The Omaha to Seward county line stretch of Nebraska's Interstate highway is set for completion in 1960, state engineer L. N. Ress said Friday.

The highway department will award contracts for 6.4 miles of the Interstate Thursday, with work scheduled to start August 1.

The section is from the Gretna Fish Hatchery corner of Highway 370 between Gretna and Papillion.

Ress was asked if there was any change of Highway 75, which runs through Omaha, being converted into a north-south link of an interstate highway.

He replied that if a north-south interstate highway comes to Nebraska it would run from Topeka through Lincoln, missing Omaha, because a north-south route is already being planned through Council Bluffs, Iowa, and south from there.

The estimated cost of building the interstate from the Lancaster-Seward County line is $72 million. The state will share the cost with the federal government on a 10-90 basis.

"With the passage of LB 375 by the Legislature," Ress said, "we now are able to do some definite long-range planning." The legislation added a cent to the gasoline tax and is expected to bring in about $3,750,000 more each year.

Business Real Estate in Sargent Slashed

Real estate valuation along Main street has been cut a total of roughly 50% in several downward adjustments since it was reappraised last year.

A final ten per cent slash was ordered Friday by the County Board of Supervisors. They included all city, town and village real estate in the county in the adjustment made on their findings of a sitting as a Board of Equalization.

Sargent's Main street valuation had been as high as $140 a front foot at the bank intersection. From there it tapered off block by block to $50 a foot at the highway and at the bank intersection.

Under the new figures, the bank corner has been dropped to $80 a foot, and the ends of the business section to $20 a foot.

Businessmen have kept the road hot between here and the county seat for months striving to effect the cuts.—Sargent Leader

Aurora to Vote Again on School Bond Issue

AURORA—Aurora residents will go to the polls for the third time in September to vote on a bond issue for the erection of an upper elementary grade school to replace one destroyed by fire July 10, 1956.

The bond issue was defeated the first two times, when it failed to gain the 55 per cent majority of the votes necessary for passing of the issue.

School children in Aurora have been attending classes in churches and other buildings since the fire. A new high school is expected to be ready for occupancy this fall.

Trek To Ontario

(Third of a series telling of a Nebraskan's journey through Ontario as a guest of the Ontario government, in company with thirty other newsmen from thirty different states.)

The Martyr's Shrine near Midland is also the site of early Fort Ste. Marie, constructed 300 years ago. The first French trappers and Jesuit priests who built the site, came by canoe and portage, bringing poultry, livestock, trading goods and vestments of the first church. They built a church, a school, a hospital. An aqueduct brought spring water from hills a mile away to the lakeside fort. Because it was as much a French military outpost as a mission, Ste. Marie was heavily palisaded.

Nearby was a Huron village, also palisaded, around which the Indians grew corn and squash and sunflowers from which they extracted oil to dress their long black hair.

Reverent priests and laymen, through the years, have excavated the sites of this early fort. Painstaking sifting of the soil—a trowel full at a time has brought to light the grave of Father Lalemant, the priests believe. A new grave, which evidence strongly points to be that of the martyred Father Brebeuf, is being studied.

That afternoon we arrived at Penetanguishene for a tour of the 30,000 Islands in the Georgian Bay region. I counted only a few thousand of them—maybe they didn't show them all to us. This is "summer-home" country deluxe. The islands—rocky outposts in the bay—are becoming crowded with summer homes, although there's still lots of building room. Entire islands sell for $100 to $1,000 each. Electricity is provided with an underwater cable that snakes its way around the bay from island to island. Ingenious people, these Ontarians!

I know now why Ontario tourist population is gaining by leaps and bounds.

A day and a half at lovely Fern Cottage, Atherly, near Orillia, was designed partially as a "break" by our hosts, who had kept us on a dizzy pace of sight-seeing, banqueting and receptions until this time.

Here's a summer resort par excellence, but the emphasis is on comfort and relaxation rather than gaudy and vigorous entertainment.

Accommodations range from cabins to rooms, while the cuisine of Fern Cottage dining room is known for miles around and is a mecca for local residents as well as tourists.

It was here that I first learned of Brjerton College, a semi-vocational school in Toronto, which concentrates on non-professional courses of study. Two young ladies of the college were working at Fern Cottage as part of their seminar in Hotel and Catering Management.

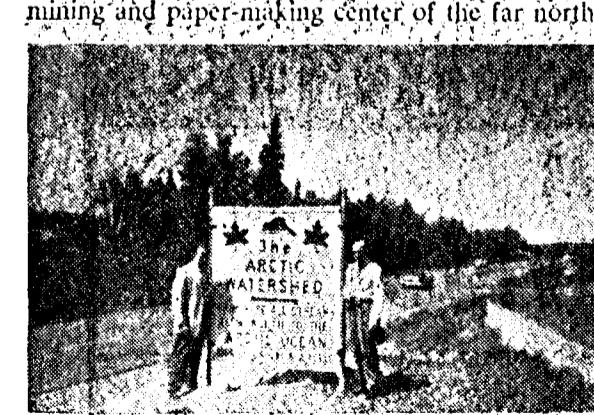

Under instruction of Bert Rumble, owner of Fern, they were getting intensive training in purchasing, preparing and serving foods, meal planning and resort accounting. At other times during their "seminar" they take over supervision of a group of cottages, learning the ins and outs of laundry management, decoration and equipping of sleeping rooms, and maid management. They wait on tables, tend bar, handle the books.

My understanding was that the girls would receive college credit for their summer work, in addition to regular pay.

There's no doubt that upon completion of their three-year college course, plus the three summer seminars, that the girls will be fully equipped with experience and training for their chosen field.

Nearby Orillia is the home of the late Stephen Leacock whose sparkling sketches, and dreamy soliloquies have delighted countless thousands. Because Leacock is one of my favorite authors, it was a real delight to listen to Dr. Ralph L. Currie, Kentucky scholar, who is in Orillia restoring and establishing the Leacock home as a literary shrine. Leacock's Canadian Sketches, given us as a memento, will remain a treasured gift.

We said goodbye to our chattered bus at Fern Cottage, and boarded the Canadian Northland to Timmins, Abitibi and Kirkland Lake, the gold-mining and paper-making center of the far north.

Toward the land of the midnight sun and the back country.

Timmins, our Saturday night stop, seemed to be a typical western mining town. The dozen or so gold mines in the area were running full blast, although the canny Canadians seem to be storing their gold bullion, anticipating a price rise, rather than selling it to the US Mint at the present price of $35 per ounce.

If the Mint ever raises the price of gold, there'll be dancing in the streets of Timmins and Kirkland Lake. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if it turned out to be the biggest brawl since VE day.

The accent is on gold and newsprint, but there are new developments in copper and nickle, iron and uranium. It's rather hard to believe that gold mining is profitable enterprise. The Hollinger Mine, which we visited, is rated as one of the better producers of the area, yet the rate of extraction is a quarter ounce of gold per ton of ore, plus negligible amounts of silver.

This mine is highly mechanized—now employs around a thousand miners who produce some four thousand tons of ore a day. Prior to mechanization, production was about two thousand tons a day, with a labor force of over three thousand men.

The mine elevator took us down to the 5,350-foot level. That's about as deep as I ever care to go again—one had the feeling it was just a bit too close to hell. And my socks will never be the same from the fast drop they took as the mine elevator plunged down a little over a mile in what seemed to be seconds. I'm still thankful for stout suspenders.

Just before the elevator trip, the miners passed out stout belts of about the same appearance as the Marines used to win the war with in San Diego bars. We were instructed to put them on snugly. Now I know why.

Timmins has a golf course, and one "green" is right in the middle of an ore dump and a few yards from a mine shaft. Ever so often you get chased off the "green" because of blasting operations, and if you try to pick up a divot, a fellow with a badge and gun comes around and makes you uncomfortable.

Possession of even a hunk of rock (unless you are a licensed prospector) is a trip to the hoosegow. In spite of all this, mine owners estimate they lose several millions yearly because of "high grading." You've got the general idea—there were no samples passed out in Timmins.

"The congenital optimist is a man who starts putting on his shoes when the after-dinner speaker says 'And now, in conclusion . . .'"—Tennessee Ernie.

On The Lee Side A Convertible is Not, (underline Not) a Shelter

For the first time in our lives the wife and I are sorry we bought a convertible.

Our sorrow centers around an occurrence last Monday morning at 12:20 a.m. That's the hour and minute that a raging windstorm struck the area around Grand Island.

We had been to Wichita. We left there at six o'clock Sunday evening pointed towards Ord, 375 miles away.

At Superior, Nebr., the state line, we began to pick up a towering storm 18 to 20 miles away on our west, or left side.

The storm appeared violent and we were thankful that we were traveling north. It appeared we might outflank it.

Hastings was being pelted with a strong wind when we arrived. We hurried through to arrive at Grand Island some 30 minutes later.

Grand Island was calm and still. For a minute I toyed with the idea of riding out the blow deep in the Grand Island concrete viaduct. But since it was still—probably the "calm before the storm"—we decided to try and make St. Paul.

Five miles south of St. Paul the storm struck. We were atop a ridge in the Bunker Hill area. A violent wind buffeted the car, threatening to roll it off the road.

The rain started to fall in bucketsful. The wind was so strong it bowed up the car's cloth top, leaving a gap of some two or three inches along the side. Through the gap poured rain riding on the wings of the 80-mile wind.

My wife screamed at me, (the wind was so strong normal conversation couldn't be heard), to close the window. "It is closed!" I said. So we slunk down in the seat with our arms around each other while the rain cascaded over us in torrents.

I had stopped the car since I couldn't see. Every once in a while we could feel it lift on one side then bounce down again as it was dropped by the wind. I kept the engine racing.

For ten minutes the wind and rain shrieked over us like a howling banshee. My wife and I both began to tremble with fright. "I'm terrified, honey!" my wife said.

"If it is any consolation to you, so am I!" I answered.

We peered through the windshield hoping for signs of a letup. The rain was leaping across the road in straight horizontal lines. I could scarcely make out the hood ornament five feet away.

In the ten minutes of violent buffeting, I had time to think. Mostly I thought about what we would do if the car rolled over.

Should we chance the ditch and maybe get pierced by one of the fence posts I saw go whirling by every once in a while?

Or should we stay in the car and hope to remain uncrushed if it toppled over the embankment?

And I also thought about a $20,000 insurance policy—one of those three-day-trip things sold by Armstrong—and I said to myself: "Somebody is going to be pretty lucky in this storm but it won't be the Lees!"

In 20 minutes the storm was over. We drove on into St. Paul expecting to find it wiped from the earth.

At a cafe there I begged a cup of hot chocolate for my wife who was now fighting off a combination of hysterics and chill.

"My wife is pretty badly shaken up by the storm," I said to the counterman, "give her something warm."

"Okay!" he said so he gave her the hot chocolate. Then he turned to me with a cup of hot coffee.

He watched my trembling hand as I reached for the coffee, then he said: "You are just a little shaken up yourself, too, ain'tcha Bud?"

I looked down at the coffee for a long time, stirring it slowly, before I answered. Then I said:

"I'm going to ignore your question and ask you another: do you know anybody that wants to buy a convertible Oldsmobile—real cheap?"

Alfalfa, a Valley County Major Crop, First Came to Nebraska in Mid 1870's

Each year for over a century, Nebraska has been crossed by throngs of travelers. The attention of these travelers has been attracted by a variety of Nebraska objects ranging from the prairie dog to the buffalo and from the Broad Platte Valley to towering Chimney Rock. Modern day travelers note and comment upon another and relatively new part of the Nebraska scene, the alfalfa dehydrating plants. The traveler cannot miss them as they are interspersed along the highways in the central and western portions of the state and in some respects are the usual rural landscape's familiar resemblance to the industrial east.

The tourist sees a new and important Nebraska industry. The dehydrating plants represent an investment of over ten million dollars to produce an annual product worth over ten million dollars, purchase over two million dollars worth of alfalfa and pay three million in wages. The census of 1950 listed ninety-five alfalfa plants in the state.

Although the dehydrating plant is a newcomer to the Nebraska landscape, the alfalfa which it processes has been a Nebraska crop for over half a century, being introduced into Nebraska in the middle 1870's. It came from west to east, some of the first seed being produced from Utah, California and Colorado. S. P. Baker in Frontier County and H. D. Watson in Buffalo County were among the early users of the seed. There are reports of alfalfa having been grown during the years 1872-1875 in Harlan, Buffalo, Franklin, Webster, Furnas, and Kearney counties. By 1895 the State Board of Agriculture report could state, "Alfalfa has no equal today among the forage plants of Nebraska."

Thousands of visitors to the State Fair in 1895 thronged through the Alfalfa Palace, a structure built of baled alfalfa hay. Its superintendent G. W. Hervey

State Capitol News . . .

There is a good chance that Nebraska's most controversial murder case in years—the conviction of Loyd C. Grandsinger for the 1954 shooting of Safety Patrolman Marvin Hansen—will eventually end up before the U. S. Supreme Court.

That was the opinion of statehouse attorneys after two rapid-fire developments in the case: 1. Federal District Judge John W. Dehant declared in Lincoln that Grandsinger's conviction and death sentence were "void." 2. Attorney General C. S. Beck announced that state will appeal Dehant's ruling to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis, Mo.

This means the evidence submitted to Dehant will be reviewed by the three-man Circuit Court. This is expected to take some time with a possibility it could be a year before another decision will be rendered.

If the appeal court upholds Dehant, the state apparently will have three avenues of action: appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court, retry Grandsinger in Cherry County District Court where he was convicted or free him.

There was speculation that, in this event, the decision would be to "go all the way to the top," to the Supreme Court.

If Dehant is overruled, Grandsinger's attorneys could appeal to the Supreme Court. It is assumed they would do so.

So the highest court in the land, which has shaken the nation recently with its liberal decision on civil rights cases, might have the last word in the Grandsinger case which has become embroiled in these same civil rights questions.

Four members of the Supreme Court would have to agree to accept the case before it could be appealed. Last year the court refused to hear the case.

But legal observers point out that the 1956 attempt to go before the high court was on different grounds than would be the case now. Also, they add, two members of the court have changed since then and it has taken on its present liberal attitude.

Dehant's ruling was a scathing indictment of the quality of justice Grandsinger received in the state courts—at the district level where he was convicted and before the State Supreme Court which upheld the conviction.

"Virtually a legal lynching," was the way the federal judge described it. He found that Grandsinger had been denied "effective assistance of counsel" at his June, 1954, trial.

He based this evidence that Grandsinger's attorney, Charles A. Fisher of Chadron, had tampered with evidence by attempting to enlarge a bullet hole in the belt of Trooper Hansen.

Statehouse attorneys call the case one of the most unusual, and perhaps most important, to arise in the state in many years.

Beck explained the matter is being appealed because Dehant's decision "raises such an important and grave issue in the administration of justice and because the principle involved extends beyond this one case."

The "administration of justice" issue presumably centers on Grandsinger's rights under the state and federal constitutions.

Grandsinger's attorneys and a citizens committee, formed to work for a review of the case, contended that the action of the defense attorney denied Grandsinger "due process of law" as guaranteed in the Constitution. The "due process" clause has been the basis for several of the U. S. Supreme Court recent decisions.

The state has argued, in effect, that it was Grandsinger's own attorney and not the state which denied him due process of law.

The principle extending "beyond this one case" which Beck referred to, apparently is the question of whether the federal courts have any business in the case at all. Thus, there arises the clash of state and federal jurisdiction in the matter.

It likely will be many months before the final outcome is known.

Earlier predictions that Nebraska's total property valuation would remain steady this year continued to hold up as more counties delivered assessment abstracts to the state tax commissioner.

Valuation will be a key factor in setting the state tax levy in August.

Some tax observers have predicted that with the same valuation as last year, the state cap got by with little or no levy increase this year.

A number of counties were turning in slight drops in valuation. But others reported increased values which promised to offset the drops.

At the same time, it appeared that some of the sharper drops in value might not be allowed by the State Board of Equalization which has the job of assuring equal assessment among the counties.

Several counties are expected to be called on the carpet to justify their assessment cuts. Included will be Harlan, which cut its values 20 per cent, and Hall, which dropped $3 million from its 1956 valuation.

Oil-booming Kimball County was among the leaders in boosting its valuation. The far western county showed more than 20 per cent increase in values over 1956.

Lancaster County, second largest in the state, added $11.5 million, or about three per cent, to its valuations of last year.

Other counties reporting valuation increases included Scotts Bluff, York, Banner, Phelps, McPherson, Logan, Jackson, Garfield, Fillmore, Dixon and Brown.

Something Just A Little Bit Different

G'wan you men, go read something diff. . . I mean, Something Else. . . On account of I'm writing this white wrapped up in my bathing suit and a towel and maybe one sun burning thought.

It's this suntanning business. SO different than the sunbonnet days when little girls were deliberately kept covered up and pale-skinned.

But soon people were talking and thinking in terms of tanning and sunning and the phrase "protect your skin" almost vanished from advertising lingo.

Once I used to douse myself in cocoa butter and try to keep from sunburning. It was a goocny mess. Mostly it attracted flies and gnats and that ilk. My husband informed me it didn't attract him. And it was a lot of bother and mess. So I gave that up since I burned anyway, cocoa butter or not.

oo

People with freckles got more freckles. And they quit worrying about it, tan or not. All day long they would worship the sun, lying full length in the sand or out on one of those fancy lawn chairs.

And the trouble they go to Baby Oil sales flourish for use by sun tanners. Lots of big, str-rong he-men rub baby oil on their backs and shoulders before fishing, swimming, boating now.

All sorts of nostrums sold. One school of tanners rubbed iodine on themselves. . . of course they got a golden look, what do you think? (They do say all these modern suntanning creams and potions have a measure of iodine in them for this very purpose.)

oo

I guess there are as many kinds of tan as there are people.

oo

Last week the Vern Scofields of Lincoln came to see us at Cullen Lake. Without turning a hand, with no fuss or trouble and very little oil Les proceeded to turn a gentle, pleasant tan.

Vern, who is red headed (?) and freckles terrifically—(he calls it skin-headed) could not step foot out of the comfort for he burns so quickly. Sunburn creams and lotions couldn't begin to keep up with the damage the sun did to him. He probably took on several thousand new freckles in a day or two in Minnesota.

oo

When Bob and Shirley Bogue and their young son Jeff of Oakland, Nebraska stopped this (Saturday) morning, again I saw a pretty tan. I'll bet Shirley didn't deliberately acquire it; I think it was completely natural for her to tan attractively.

oo

In the days when he fished Minnesota lakes all day long Gene used to tan a dark mahogany shade. One year when we went home I am positive the people in one filling station thought he was a Hawaiian.

They would look at him and then look at pale me.

I was my usual grub-worm white.

I can vary that . . . to a lobster red . . . or to that "wonderful" golden gint of those little brown freckles.

And I envy you tan people so much.

Many times in our lives we seem to be alone. The problems of the home, of business, of health, of life itself seem overwhelming. Darkness prevails. Especially then we need to remember that Christ, who has promised never to forsake us, is by our side. As we reach forth and take the help He offers, the way becomes ever so much brighter. The light of Christ in our lives enables us not only to overcome our own feeling of aloneness, but also to reflect His light into the lives of others.

Prayer
Our Father, Thou has promised through Thy Son to sustain us at all times, and especially when our burdens are heavy. May we today see His light as He walks by our side to help us gain the victory. In His name we pray. Amen.

Thought For The Day
I will let Christ be the light of my life.

The mysterious "X" ray was first discovered in 1895 by Wilhelm Konrad Roentgen, German physicist, while he was experimenting with high vacuum tubes. It was he who named the ray "X" for unknown quantity, though medically it is called the roentgen ray.

Pass the salt and butter Here's corn to feast on!

If you've ever enjoyed roasting ears "farm-style," you know that corn fresh from the stalk is the best in the world! The reason it's so good, farmers will tell you, is that you get to eat it before the heat of the day turns the corn sugars into starch...and before the flavor fades. We know this too...and that's why, with the help of our Produce Buyers and shippers, we've worked out a way of retaining flavor and tenderness...so the corn we sell is almost like the corn farm folks themselves enjoy! Our buyers insist that our corn be picked in the cool morning hours, while the dew is still on the tassel. After a thorough chilling, it's packed in chipped ice and whizzed on to us. You'll find it in our produce section...sweet, tender, juicy. For the finest in all produce, every time...all you need to remember is SAFEWAY.

Extension Notes

By Katherine Helzer
Valley County Extension Agent

Where were all of our 4-H Swimming Girls on the 4th of July? The committee planned for and hoped to have at least 40 to 50 contestants enter the Exhibition Contest at the Ord Swimming Pool. Those of you who can swim and did not appear really missed a good time and a good show. Just ask the girls who did participate.

I was amazed at the swimming and diving skill of the young swimmers who took part and how they did enjoy it. The judges had the sympathies of the entire audience for the decisions were hard to make but they did a good job and all were happy.

We had twenty 4-H Girls Club Leaders and Junior Leaders at the extension office on July 5th. Plans for the 4-H activities at the County Fair were discussed and some definite plans made.

As usual when we asked for volunteers to help register and arrange the clothing and food exhibits we found them 4-H Club members and leaders usually come forward when help is needed.

Removing Summer Stains:
 Removing water stains is a fast and effective way to remove fruit stains from fabrics.

Gerda Petersen, Extension clothing specialist at the University of Nebraska, says the old familiar rule, "pour on boiling water" can be used for fruit stains on washable cottons. However, boiling water removes special finishes on some cottons, shrinks Dyeol and some woolen fabrics, and may fade or affect the texture of silk.

Cool water may be used to remove fruit stains on fabrics that will not withstand boiling water or will not water spot. If the stain is on the surface it may be sponged off with a damp cloth.

If the stain has penetrated the fabric, it can be soaked in cool water and rubbed gently to loosen the fruit particles before laundering. In some cases the stained fabric may be placed face side down on an absorbent cloth and force water through the stain with an eyedropper or small syringe. This method is good if you do not wish to get much of the fabric wet.

The sooner any stain is treated, the easier it is to remove, says the specialist.

Protect Dark Cottons:
 Textile chemists at the U. S. Department of Agriculture have developed a treatment for perspiration stains on dark cottons.

The stains should first be washed in warm water, rubbing soap or synthetic detergent well into the stain. Discolored fabric can be sponged with a vinegar and water solution if the first treatment is not completely successful. The textile chemists found that an older stain can be removed with a solution of ammonia and water. This may help restore the color.

The fresher the stain, the better your chances for removing it. Pressing a garment that is even slightly stained may set the stain and cause more discoloration.

Many dark summer cottons are sleeveless and cannot be protected with dress shields. Some of these cottons carry labels indicating the dye is fast to perspiration. The label may give facts about both the fabric and its finish that will be helpful when you need to remove a stain at home.

Farm - Ag Tips

By Bob Perry
Valley County Agricultural Agent

Harvest Time:
 We have a good supply of combine tags in the office. If you are having your grain custom harvested the following announcement from the State Department of Agriculture may interest you.

Quote: "This year, as in the past, the Department of Agriculture and Inspection, Weed Division, will again inspect all transit combines entering the state. Each machine will be inspected and when found to be clean, a combine notice tag will be fixed upon it. Machines that are found to be dirty will be subject to court action and fines ranging from $10.00 to $500.00 and cleaned before they are allowed to go on.

It is the duty of each farmer to see that all machines are clean before entering his fields to combine. This will stop the infestation of Nebraska fields with the seven primary noxious weeds: Field bindweed, Canada thistle, Leafy spurge, Hoary cress, Russian knapweed, Bur ragweed, and Puncture vine.

The Nebraska Weed Law states that all trucks and trailers, as well as combines must be clean when entering and cleaned before going on to the next farm or next job. Unquote.

The prospects for spring grain are excellent, especially if we don't get too many 100 degree days. Wheat producers are anxious to get into the fields. Field inspection here hasn't revealed any black rust as this is written but wheat that is down and not filled properly. Worms in Alfalfa:

Reports from various parts of the county and Garfield county indicate that variegated cutworms may be doing quite a lot of damage. Inspection was made of a field on the Leo Wolf farm where the alfalfa was not coming back after being cut. Part of the field showed almost no growth. If you have patches in your alfalfa that aren't recuperating you might want to look for these pests. Under trash, bales on the ground surface is where they will be. Heptachlor, 1 quart per acre will do the job. For safety, wait 10 days before cutting for hay.

Noxious Weeds Farmer May Soon See Test Results

The state noxious weed and seed office announces it has established test plots in 20 Nebraska counties. Many of these are established in Valley Co.

Most of the work was concentrated on the hard-to-kill perennial weeds with additional plots devoted to tanweed, buckbrush, Johnson Grass and irrigation ditches.

Work was also done on spraying seedling alfalfa using several different chemicals and in combination with one another.

New Chemicals Used
 Several new chemicals, available for research purposes only, were used along with old established chemicals.

Each test plot carries a record: date of spray, chemical used, time of day applied, temperature, etc. It is interesting to view the results.

The state office has announced it is working on a plan for conducting tours, possibly sometime in August. It is inviting weed districts, county agents and everyone interested to participate.

When the date is set it will be announced in this column.

Small Home Plans Are Back In The Picture

DESIGN C-425 shows three bedrooms, the central one of which, because of its location, can also be used for workroom, playroom, den or guest room. Plans also call for a full basement, vestibule, living room, bath and combination dining room-kitchen. The kitchen has cabinets on two walls, double windows and provides large floor space.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-425

The living room features a picture window with flower pot ledge and large unbroken wall spaces. House contains large linen closet and generous wardrobes.

Exterior finish is wide siding and asphalt shingles and there is a covered entrance. Floor area is 1069 sq. ft., with cubage of 19,776 cu. ft.

Bathroom Least Decorated Room

The bathroom is probably the least-decorated and most used room in a house.

Women who fuss over the living room and fix up the bedroom regularly, treat the bathroom like a decor stepchild.

They justify the oversight by pointing out that the bathroom usually is the smallest room in the house, and just what decorating can you do in a space maybe six by nine feet?

The answer is that you can do plenty of bathroom decorating, and thereby make the bathroom look much bigger.

Of course, the nicest redecorating method would be to call in a contractor, order a fine, up-to-date bathroom, and let him do the work and worrying until the bill comes in.

But most people can't afford to rip out the tub and the rest of the plumbing to put in new fixtures.

So the problem is to decorate a room that is permanently crowded with tub, sink, lavatory, medicine cabinet, etc.

Bathroom floor space is limited, so rule number one in bathroom decoration is: if there is no room on the floor, hang it on the wall.

You can buy fancy shelves, cabinets, even laundry hampers designed to hang on the wall. If you have narrow or odd-cornered wall space, build in your own shelves and use them for all the reachable space at hand.

Putting shelves and cabinets on the wall in a bathroom also has the added advantage of making floor-mopping easier.

Towel Racks

Colorful original towel racks also add to your bathroom decor. Try the plastic rings and the ornamental clips that take so little space, but look so good.

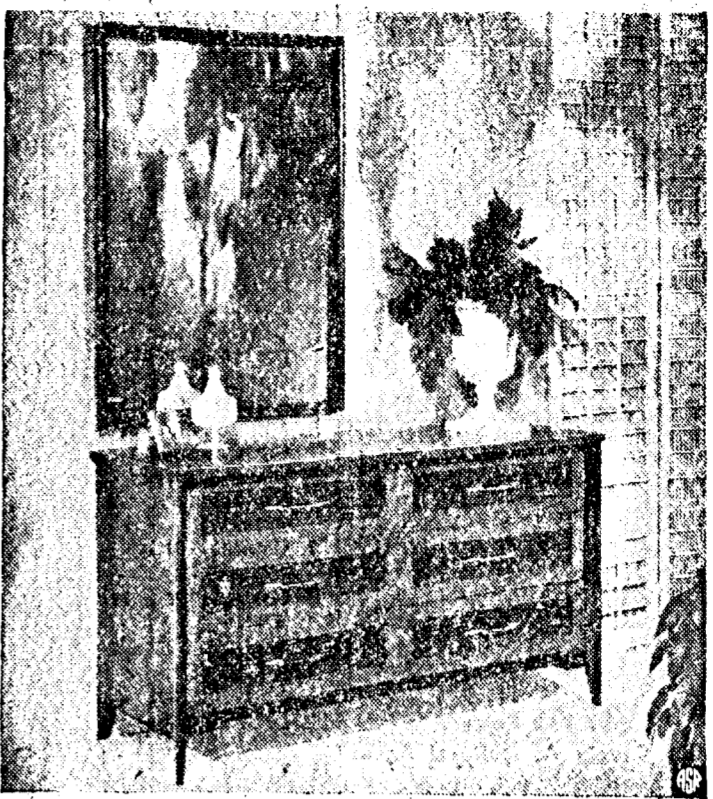

But if you complain that you just haven't room for even the smallest towel rack, buy a plain white enameled garden variety trellis. This comes in various widths, and it makes a perfect towel-rack and clothes-dryer for the smallest of bathrooms, since every cross-bar can be used as a rack.

If you already have a waste-basket and hamper tucked under the sink, you can still enlarge the bathroom with a little decorating work on these items. Paint them the color of the tile, or paper them with the same paper used on the walls. They melt into background and give an illusion of space.

Mirrors are dandy for any blank part of a bathroom wall—both for primping and room-enlarging purposes.

Portland Cement Paint

Cement paint work on damp masonry. In fact, the surface should be moistened before this type of paint is applied. Spraying also is advisable after application to insure complete bonding.

The dresser... light cherry wood "frames" darker walnut

Combination of Two Lovely Hardwoods in Simple Design Achieves Air of Elegance

By the interplay of two lovely hardwoods—nut brown walnut and spice-toned cherry—a design of great simplicity achieves an air of timeless elegance in this six-drawer dresser.

All its companion pieces in a new, moderately-priced bedroom group have the same unadorned lines, but there is nothing severe in this design—primarily because fine cabinet woods of themselves offer great visual warmth. This is especially true when their grain patterns are the main decorative theme. Here, for example, the walnut surfaces reveal shelllike figures, the gentle, familiar wood pattern of which no one ever tires.

The lighter-colored cherry which "frames" each drawer is a luxurious note, suggestive of costlier decorator furniture.

Walnut "Warm's" Glass

Polished brass pulls are thin, straight-line—just a dash of accent on each drawer—to avoid distracting the eye from the wood. Note, too, how the gently rounded, plain walnut frame softens the "coldness" of the large mirror, and how its "off-balance" placement avoids monotony.

In this group the manufacturer has introduced a new size—42 inches—in chest pieces. It is a three-drawer version of the above dresser (which is 34 inches wide). There is also a "triple dresser" in which three much narrower center drawers are not banded with the cherry wood. Instead their walnut fronts form a single, eye-pleasing brown line between cherry-bordered rectangles on either side.

In a low-scaled chest-on-chest, the upper chest has door fronts which also vary the design theme by being of walnut alone. Beds in this group offer a choice of headboard or bookcase styles, both with the appealing cherry-banded panels. Capacious two-drawer night tables follow the design of the dresser we've illustrated.

Benefits of "Bonded Woods"

For those interested in construction details, the dresser's frame, which includes the slightly "shaped" protruding posts in view, is made of solid walnut. But all the flat surfaces—sides, drawer-fronts, top—take advantage of the great modern process of "bonding" woods which has superseded

The first three are "Don't's":

1. Don't ever leave the brush in water.
2. Don't ever stand the brush on the bristle end.
3. Don't ever allow any paint product to harden in the brush.

And next are three "Do's":

1. Do clean your brush promptly after use—with the proper thinner for the paint product used.
2. Do follow with a gentle wash in mild soap suds and water, and a rinse in clear water.
3. Do comb or brush the bristles straight, wrap carefully and permit it to dry without disturbing or bending the bristles.

Hot Air Holds Lots of Water

Everybody has had experiences to show that warm air can absorb and hold more moisture than cool air.

We've seen the lawn dry quickly once the sun comes out, and we've noticed drops of moisture from on a glass containing an iced drink.

But unless she's used to having an engineer's handbook convenient, the housewife may be surprised at how very sharply the moisture-holding ability of air rises as the temperature goes up. It's this characteristic that makes her clothes dryer so effective.

At 70 degrees Fahrenheit a pound of dry air will hold 110 grains of water, the handbook tells us.

The figures jump up to 156 grains at 80 degrees, and to 218 grains at 90 degrees. At 100 degrees the total is up to 302 grains.

But look what happens at 150 degrees! At that level, a pound of dry air will actually hold 1,487 grains of water! Most dryer operations use air temperatures at upwards of 150 degrees, and so it can be seen readily enough what a thirsty stream is flowing through this useful household appliance.

A fan keeps the air moving, and tumbling action of the drum sees to it that all the contents are exposed to the drying air. Add automatic, easy-to-set controls and the dryer is complete—ready to take maximum advantage of the water-holding power of warm air.

Lifting Enthusiasm May Cause Injury

Paperclips and puttering around a yard have something in common—they both can cause back injuries.

It's often an apparently harmless object that is an injury-dealer—wet leaves on a sidewalk or paperclips on an office floor, according to the National Safety Council.

And of course back injuries also are caused by lifting objects that are too heavy.

With the advent of warm weather, many men (and women, too) who practice job safety throw caution to the winds when they do yard work or repair projects at home. The result is a familiar complaint, "Oh, my aching back!"

How can a person tell if a load's too heavy for him? These points should be considered:

1. How is the lifter built—slight or sturdy?
2. What type of work is he used to?
3. Is the load bulky or compact? A slight office worker is asking for trouble if he attempts a single-handed lift of a 100 pound bag of fertilizer.

How to lift properly is another subject many persons are unfamiliar with. This procedure is recommended: lift with legs bent, back straight, load held close to the body. Grip the load at opposite corners, straighten the knees and pull the load up directly over the feet. But don't jerk or strain.

Other ways to prevent back injuries are these:

1. Beware of carrying heavy objects up or down stairs.
2. If a wheelbarrow has to be pushed across soft ground, the task will be easier if a plank is put down first.
3. Instead of lifting a heavy carton or box, rock it on its corners—it'll "walk" with little effort.
4. Use a plank for skidding heavy objects up or down stairs.

"A back injury, whether it's suffered from lifting a heavy object improperly or from slipping, is painful—and often costly," the Council said.

The WEEKLY Handyman

By Don Burrowbridge, Director Thor Research Center For Better Farm Living

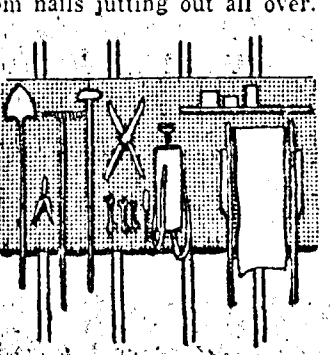

Do you have a case of the clutters?

You can check for symptoms in the garage. If it's hard to park the car inside because the space is filled with brooms, rakes, ladders, shears, tricycle and an old toy wagon, then you've got it bad.

The prescription to cure this rather common ailment, however, won't cost much and really will save you money by extending the life of your equipment.

It's simply this: "Hang the stuff up."

Some follow this advice by nailing a nail into wall studs for each piece of equipment. Soon they have a vertical mess instead of a horizontal clutter, weakened studs, and a pin cushion effect from nails jutting out all over.

Here is an idea for keeping your shop uncluttered.

A sensible, tidy technique is to attach sheets of perforated board along one or more walls of the garage. Device or buy hooks of varied shapes and you can hang up practically everything from power tools to lawn chairs.

Group the articles carefully to make storage use of almost every square foot. Put long-handled pieces like rakes and hoes in the same section. Between the handles you can fit shorter spades, pitchforks and mops.

Shelves can be attached to perforated boards to provide accessible storage of canning jars, paint cans and other supplies. Plan the length of the shelves to avoid crossing space needed for hanging long objects.

Naturally, if you're considering other improvements for your garage you'll select the storage wall space accordingly. And keep safety in mind; try to hang objects with sharp points either toward the wall or sideways.

Oak Is Popular for New Floors

Laminated oak blocks are becoming popular as a flooring material for home modernizing projects.

The blocks are especially suitable for below-ground recreation rooms and for home additions built on concrete slabs. The ease with which the blocks may be installed makes them ideal for do-it-yourselfers.

Before the blocks are applied, concrete slabs should be moisture-proofed. Then, a mastic is spread over the slab with a tooth-edged trowel.

The blocks, nine inches square and prefinished, have a tongue-and-groove arrangement, so the edge of each succeeding block groove is "hinged" over the tongue of the adjoining one. This prevents the mastic bunching up, while insuring a tight fit.

Since the blocks are laminated, expansion is a negligible factor and the contractor or home craftsman need not worry about allowing expansion room at the borders.

Brush Care Is Essential

If you want to get best results from your home painting—take good care of your paint brush or brushes. That is the advice of paint brush manufacturers, who say there are six elementary rules all paint brush users should remember.

1. Wash brushes in water after each use.

2. Do not let brushes dry out.

3. Do not let brushes get too wet.

4. Do not let brushes get too dry.

5. Do not let brushes get too hot.

6. Do not let brushes get too cold.

HOT HOT HOT

And the hottest probably is just ahead of us. We can in a few days time get a Lennox Central Air Conditioner and put it in for you. Those of you who have read the article in the last Look magazine, "How the Nortons beat the heat" are probably drooling unless you already have Lennox air conditioning.

But though our interest is now on how hot it is, do you realize that as you read this, there are less than eight weeks till Sept. 1st, next week there will be less than seven? And two weeks from now less than six? Truly it is time to think about heat for fall, and to see Jay Nelson about repairs, alterations, or extensions to your heating equipment, or about a new Lennox furnace. We offer you the best for your money all year around, but as the season fills up and we get rushed, the costs in the form of extra phone calls, miles and other devices to save time, make the overhead go up some, and the price of the job goes up a little with it.

So see us now. Get your heating needs arranged for before the rush and save some cash too.

Bin Bustin' Small Grain Crop is Hope

The first loads of what appears to be a bumper small grain harvest in Valley county have been delivered to local elevators. Combining started in full swing as the Quiz went to press today, with most fields dry and ready to cut following Sunday's drenching rain. A small amount of grain was cut as early as Wednesday of last week. Although some scattered fields, due to lack of fall moisture, will not be cut or will have low yields, a majority of farmers tell the Quiz that yields will be far better than anticipated. Early reports include: Will Koelling, Mira Valley, delivery to North Loup elevator, averaging 30 bushels, test 61, moisture 13.50, rated by Koelling from "top poorest field." Harold Koelling, 50 bushels per acre, moisture 10.50 to 13.50. Harry and Eldon Foth, Mira Valley, yields running 40 to 48 bushels, test 61 and 62, moisture 11.3, 30 acres cut. E. J. Lange, Mira Valley, eight acres cut Friday, total 438 bushels, test 61, moisture 12. Franklin Fuss, Mira Valley, 12 acres barley cut Friday, running better than 40 bushels. (Continued on Page 8)

Ulrich Gets Hiway Gravel Contracts

Maintenance gravel contracts on Highway 80 from Ord to Highway 91 west of Ericson, and Highway 80 four miles east and four miles west of Arcadia were let this week to the Ulrich Gravel Co. of Ord. The 17-mile Ord-Ericson contract was let at $5508.25, and the Arcadia stretch at $4232.50.

New Scotia District Has Million and Half Valuation for Taxes

A dropped digit in a Quiz story last week concerning the consolidation of the Scotia high school district with Greeley county district 5, south of Scotia, gave the new district considerably less valuation. Some $202,000, to come closer. The Quiz story had credited District Five with $22,000 valuation, whereas the district had $234,680 valuation. The Scotia school has a valuation of $1,314,135, and the combined area will now run considerably over a million and a half dollars. District Five has been contracting with other districts since 1948. At present there are seven school-age children in the district, and the consolidation is the first addition to the Scotia district since the original consolidation in 1920.

Nebraska's Big Rodeo Is July 31

Rain or shine, Nebraska's Big Rodeo at Burwell will start Wednesday, July 31, and continue through August 3. The 34th annual event features four afternoon shows, an arena show each evening, plus finals of the rodeo Saturday night. Top cowboys from over the United States will compete for $21,500 in prize money in saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, brahma bull riding, calf roping, bareback riding and cow cutting. U.S. and Canadian drivers and teams will compete for the championship title of the United States in chuck wagon races. State finals of the Miss Rodeo of America contest will see Miss Dallas Hunt, Miss Rodeo of America and reigning queen of the Burwell rodeo, presiding over her court. Quarter horse races will be held daily, with a sale of quarter horse stock scheduled for Friday afternoon. Night shows will feature brahma bull fighting, cutting horse contest, reining contests, feature acts and golden retrievers in action. Cy Taillon will again be announcer, with Allen Bing at the organ. Beutler and Morgan rodeo stock will be used.

4-H Family Picnic Planned for Sunday

Sunday, July 21st, is a day for all 4-H families to picnic together. Junior Leaders, who are sponsoring the event, have plans for different age groups. "Ranga" Valley County Indian guest from Madras state, will give us some of her impressions of America. Singing will be led by some of our Junior Leaders and Linda Cochran will give a short reading. Two 4-H demonstrators from Howard County will present their demonstration on livestock loss prevention. Ball games, horse shoes or your own choice of amusement will follow. The covered dish dinner will begin at 1:30 P.M. in Ord City Park.

Conservation Air Tour Draws 350; Second Flights Start 8 A.M. Sunday

An unexpected response of 350 persons completely swamped the Valley County Soil Conservation District-CAP sponsored air tours Sunday afternoon. Eight planes—four of them from South Sioux City, Neb.—chewed away at the huge crowd from ten o'clock in the morning. By sunset they had succeeded in getting 207 Valley county-ans aloft. Midway of the flights, when registrations ran completely away from possibilities, soil district officials held a hurried consultation. They agreed to continue the tours next Sunday. "We want the other 150 persons, who signed for the tour, to get a look at the county from the air," an official said. He immediately went into a huddle with Airport Manager Ellis Carson and Mr. Carson said he would try to enlist the aid of several four-place planes by calling friends in Hastings and Grand Island. Sunday's four-minded crowd was probably the largest to swarm the Evelyn Sharp airport. It started gathering shortly after ten o'clock, reached almost a 1,000 at three p.m., then departed rapidly when it became apparent that not all registrations could be flown. CAP and Soil District Supervisors were jubilant with the unexpected response. "We had hoped for 200," one said, "and would have settled for 150, but this beat anything I have ever seen." Start Is Glum Despite the tour's apparent success it started disappointingly. A 74 inch rain blanketed the Ord area Sunday at 6 a.m. Other villages near Ord reported as high as three inches. At 9 a.m., an hour before the tours were to start, sponsors were worried frowns. The entire Ord area was blanketed with heavy overcast. North Loup reported a 400 foot ceiling. Scotia was completely weathered in. In addition to that three South (Continued on Page 8)

Repeal Air Tour Is Scheduled Sunday; More Pilots Found

The Soil Conservation District and CAP late Wednesday announced it will fly more tours this Sunday, July 21, starting at 8 a.m. The tour will seek to erase the backlog of 150 disappointed riders left over from last Sunday. Eight planes will be on hand. This time there'll be John Clinch in a Cessna 172, the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics in a Beechcraft, Emil Smolik in a Stinson and possibly Bill Burton in another four seater. Former Ordite Here. Clinch is an airport manager and Cessna dealer in North Platte. Smolik is a former Ordite and propane dealer in several Nebraska towns. Mr. Burton is the New York Life Insurance representative at Grand Island. All fly four seaters. Also on hand for another season will be Ken Stevens in his recovered Taylorcraft, George Benn's Aerona, and two Luscombs piloted by Harold Marshall and Dr. R. J. Lynn, CAP Commander. Details Same. Tour arrangements will be the same as last Sunday. If you registered then all you have to do will be to show up at the airport. When seating is available, and in numerical rotation, you'll be taken aloft for a look at conservation practices. There may be room for a few extras. But, official warning, previous registration will get the nod first. New registrants will be flown only when seating is available.

Rains Drench County; One to 5 Inches

Drenching rains Sunday morning covered Valley county with a near inch to five inches of moisture. While rain fell hard in spots, and was accompanied by severe electrical disturbances, there was almost a complete lack of wind. Lightning killed three milk cows on the Glen Cochran farm, southwest of Ord, where rain measured 2.75 inches. A riding horse was killed by lightning on the nearby Harvey Krahulik farm. Some hail fell in the lower Davis Creek neighborhood, although area covered was small. Rainfall ranged from 3 inches on the Chet Travis farm west and south of Ord, to .75 in the city. Reports from over the county: Eastern Mira Valley — inch to two inches. North Loup — 2.20 inches. Davis Creek — four inches. Western Mira Valley — three to five inches. Springdale — close to an inch. Elyria — inch and a half. Ericson — an inch. Geranium — inch to two inches. Lack of wind prevented extensive damage to combine-ripe small grain fields, although much grain was knocked down in the heavy rainfall area. Daytime temperatures ranged from 81 to 102 degrees through the week, with a low of 67 recorded on Sunday morning during the heavy rain. Weatherman Horace Travis recorded .75 inches here Sunday morning, 11 inches Saturday morning and 4 inches Monday morning to bring the weeks total in Ord to $9 inches. Rainfall to date is 18.87 inches as compared with 11.67 inches a year ago. The sixty year average compiled by Travis shows 15.25 inches on August first, with a 23.14 total for the year. Over 60 years July produces 3.06 inches of moisture, with 1.04 inches recorded for July this year. August has averaged 2.55 inches and September 2.38 inches.

Ord High Classes to Start Early

New high school hours were approved Monday evening by the Ord school board when it met to consider purchase of kitchen and dining room equipment, and set hours for cafeteria operation at the high school. All classes, including band, will start at 8:20 in the morning. Students not in band will attend other classes or study hall. The noon recess will be split into two periods, 11:20 to 12:20 and 12:20 to 1:00. Students will be dismissed in shifts during these periods and the cafeteria will serve during both periods. Classes will dismiss at 4 o'clock. Music and athletic activity will occupy the 3:20 to 4:00 period for some students, others will use the period for study hall or makeup. Previously band students started rehearsals at eight o'clock, while classes began at nine. "Our new schedule will allow most students to take five subjects and still have as much study hall time as before," Superintendent Nels Sullivan told the Quiz. Two sisters from Callaway, both of them career teachers, will join the Ord faculty this fall, Sullivan said. Graduates of the University of Nebraska, they bring teaching experience from Hastings and Superior to Ord. Miss Laura Deal will teach freshmen and sophomore English, while Miss Florence Deal will be sixth grade mentor.

720 Taking Part in Ord Summer Fun

Registration in Ord's summer music, athletic and recreational programs reached 720 this week, although many of the registrations represent children in two or more programs. Some adults are included, enrolled principally in modern and square dancing classes. Music, including three organized bands, small instrumental and singing groups and individual instruction totals 160. Swimming instruction has 230 enrolled. Square dancing draws 84, and 100 are enrolled in modern dance classes. Tennis has 35 adherents, and 32 youngsters are in golf instruction classes. Pee Wee baseball has 90 youngsters; Little League baseball 38 youngsters and 20 are in Midget baseball; girl's softball has 22 enrolled. The summer program of instruction and recreation is a joint venture of the city of Ord and the school district, aided by several local service clubs.

Irrigation, Gravity and Pump, Rules Working Hours of Farmers

Valley county farmers were asking for another eight or ten hours in a day, as irrigation season returned right in the middle of a bumper small grain harvest and second hay cutting. Sunday's general rain gave a brief respite, with most farmers returning to their ditches and sprinklers Wednesday. Above, Harold Garnick, Elyria, confers with Alvin Markvicka, ditch rider for the North Loup River Public Power and Irrigation District. Garnick took his first water Friday.

Five Rural Schools Still Need Teachers

Five rural school districts in Valley county still need teachers, county superintendent Fred Appelget reported to the Quiz this week. Appelget listed Districts 52 and 16, southwest of Ord; District 25, southwest of Arcadia; District 56 southwest of Burwell, and a lower grades position in Elyria, District 63, as having vacancies.

County Agent Warns Army Worm Peril

Rank growth of small grain, weeds and grasses may be harboring hordes of hungry worms County Agent Bob Perry said today. A spot check in various areas of the county didn't reveal worms in dangerous numbers except in oats northwest of Ord, George Zikmund who found them thick in rank oats with new alfalfa, mowed and stacked the oats. The worms disappeared—probably into adjacent growth.

The armyworm is a grayish-green striped fellow with two dark stripes on the head. They stay on the ground in the shade in the daytime. When one field becomes unfavorable for them they will migrate to another. Any green plant will furnish feed.

Farmers should be on the alert for these pests, Perry warns. Without suspecting their presence a lot of damage can occur before they will be noticed. If as many as 10

Mrs. Bredthauer is Honored at Age 85
Honoring Mrs. D. H. Bredthauer on her 85th birthday, a dinner was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Goff, son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bredthauer in Grand Island, with 100 guests for an open house in the afternoon and evening.

Among the guests were 20 grand children and 28 great-grandchildren, as well as her children, Mrs. Rose Fuss, of Scotia, Mrs. Ernest Lange of Ord, Herbert Bredthauer of Wood River, Oscar Bredthauer of Grand Island, a brother, Ed Hackel of Ord, and two sisters, Louise Hackel and Katie Marks, both of Ord.

The table was centered with a birthday cake and floral pieces adorned it on either side.

Mrs. Bredthauer, a pioneer of Nebraska, has enjoyed exceptionally good health and has been very active. She is a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, Trinity Lutheran Ladies Aid and Grand Island Woman's Club. She and her husband, who died in 1944, celebrated their golden anniversary in 1943. She has been very interested in the Centennial celebration and especially the Centurama which brought back memories of when she, aged 10, and her parents and brothers and sisters came from Kansas to Valley County by covered wagon.

Among the gifts was a gold watch presented to her by her children. Friends were present from North Loup, Ord, Scotia, Columbus, Wood River, Kearney, York, Lincoln, Chester, Illinois, and Marysville, Kansas.

Bloodmobile Draws 142 Pints Here

Ord came close to making its quota of 150 pints of blood last Wednesday, when 142 pints were drawn by the Red Cross Bloodmobile. Hot weather, a busy farming season and vacations combined to cut the number of donors, according to Mrs. Clark Weekbach, bloodmobile chairman.

"We had 160 volunteers but 18 were rejected," Mrs. Weekbach said. "We also had 12 new donors."

Of the 160 appearing, 28 came from Arcadia, 16 from North Loup, two from Burwell, two from Elyria, five from Ericson and 117 from Ord.

Accepted donors included 59 business men and women, 19 housewives, 23 farmers and 30 farmers' wives. Members of the extension clubs in the county and the Legion auxiliary of North Loup solicited for donors.

Henry Benda became the first person in Valley county to belong to the Two Gallon Club. Benda swilled his total with two pints given at the Ord Hospital.

Nine more donors joined the Gallon club and received gold pins or a certificate. Floyd Augustus, Walter Foth, Will Foth, Mrs. Martin Rasmussen, Mrs. Wayne Turner, Mrs. Chris Johnson, James Sobon, Donald Naev and Mrs. James Meese.

Nebraska Wheat Growers Look Overseas

Carl Bruns (left, sitting), president, Nebraska Wheat Growers Association, U.S. Department of Agriculture, to conduct market development activities on wheat in foreign countries. Sitting, right, is Gordon Fraser, assistant administrator, Foreign Agricultural Service. The agreement was signed in Washington, June 28.

Standing, left to right, are: Lester Mori, treasurer, Nebraska Wheat Growers Association; A. M. Cummings, chief, Foreign Marketing Branch, FAS; Leslie F. Sheffield, chief, Nebraska Wheat Commission; Garrett Dudden, Nebraska Wheat Growers Association; Dale Farringer, FAS; and Robert B. Reover, secretary, Nebraska Wheat Growers Association. The Nebraska Wheat Commission has designated the Nebraska Wheat Growers Association to carry out the market development work abroad. It will be financed jointly by funds provided by the Nebraska Wheat Commission and by foreign currencies generated from sales of U. S. farm products abroad under Title I of Public Law 480.

Oneta Holmes, Arcadia, Weds Avery Noll of Ord in Double Ring Ceremony Sunday

Miss Oneta Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Holmes of Arcadia, became the bride of Avery Noll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Noll of Ord, Sunday, July 14th at 3 P.M. at the Arcadia Methodist church. Rev. Fred C. Gardner performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 150 guests before a background of seven bunches of pink and white gladioli. Nuptial music was furnished by Karen Brown at the organ who accompanied the soloist, Carl Easterbrook, who sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a gown fashioned of hand clipped chantilly lace and tulle. A stand away Queen Ann collar accented the bodice of lace, which was designed with long fitted sleeves that tapered to deep points at the wrist. Beneath the narrow waist, the lace was repeated in tunic effect, accented with baby scallops which draped softly over a bouffant of minute tulle ruffles drifting to floor length. A clip on half hat of rose point lace and pleated tulle, encrusted with sequins and pearls held her finger tip veil of imported bridal illusion. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Donald Fells of Arcadia, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Jean Hunter of Omaha, a sister of the groom. Both wore identical gowns of embroidered rose pattern of nylon over white taffeta with rose tulle sashes and fitted waists. The skirts were full formal length. Each carried colonial bouquets identical to the brides' bouquet. Candle lighters were Mrs. Walter Bangarner of Arcadia and Mercedes Tevebough of Nelson, Nebraska.

Best man was Jean Hunter of Omaha, brother-in-law of the groom. Groom's attendant was Donald Fells of Arcadia, brother-in-law of the bride. Ushers were Ralph Klein and Eldon Flanagan, both of Lincoln.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Holmes chose a dusk beige nylon lace dress over beige satin with white accessories. Mrs. Noll, the groom's mother, wore lilac nylon lace over blue satin with white accessories. Both mothers wore pink rosebud corsages. Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor with Mrs. John Fells of Arcadia in charge. Garden flowers were used for decoration. Servers and helping with other duties were Mrs. Cecil Butt, Gay Dutton, Mrs. Earl Gogan, Linda Gogan, Mrs. Vance Ohmes, Mrs. Louis Bittz, Kay Ritz, Mrs. Portius Sell, Jo Ann Sell, Harriet Turner and the Methodist W.S.C. Margaret Holmes of Cheyenne, Wyoming, cut and served the four tiered wedding cake, decorated with pink rosebuds which was baked and decorated by Byron Pester of Ansley. Helen Thies of Council Bluffs, Iowa, had charge of the guest book.

After a short wedding trip to Colorado the couple will be at home after July 22nd at Omaha where both will be employed at the Omaha Public Schools. For traveling the bride wore a gray suit with white accessories. The bride is a graduate of the Arcadia High School and University of Nebraska. The groom is a graduate of the Ord High School and attended both Principia College and the University of Nebraska.

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoon and Janet of Ord, Mrs. Ellen Flanagan of Hot Springs, South Dakota, Glen Flanagan, of Carter, South Dakota, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Flanagan of Lincoln, Miss Helen Thies of Council Bluffs, Iowa, Miss Harriet Turner of Lincoln, Miss Mercedes Tevebough of Nelson, Mrs. Margaret Holmes of Cheyenne, Wyoming, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Holmes of Polk and John Holmes of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. William Noll of Le Mars, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rathbun of Scotia, Ralph Klein of Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Hunter of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Norton, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Noll, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Needham and grandson, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Needham, all of Ord.

WELL STEER YOU RIGHT

Line Up Here for Safe Driving!

Has rugged driving and "curb" parking put your wheels out of whack? Better let us check 'em before you start on your vacation.
 We've got the know-how and the precision equipment to do a real job of wheel alignment and balance. That's the best assurance that your car will be under control when you take to the road.

$7.50 (Plus Parts and Installation)

BRAKES!

Most cars have plenty of "grip" but only a few can stop safely. Let us check your brakes so that you may go on your trips with as much reassurance as possible.
 Brakes relined for $1.50 a wheel plus materials.

BALANCING!

You've never experienced the joy of real driving pleasure until you've driven a car with properly balanced wheels. We check each wheel separately, adding weight where necessary. Get real driving pleasure with balanced wheels!
 $1.50 per wheel, includes weights.

TRUING!

Most of the high speed thump and tramp on modern cars is caused by out-of-round tires. Our service restores roundness and you'll get a new feel in steering at the wheel.
 TRUING — $2 per wheel
 You may have a combination of truing and balancing for $3 if you take both at the same time.

"Synthetic" Corn, Now Being Developed, May be Answer to High Priced Hybrid Seed

The staff of the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station has taken a look into the future and reports help for dryland corn farmers may be coming soon.
 The help may come in the form of synthetic strains of corn that can be propagated like the old open-pollinated varieties, the Experiment Station Staff reports in its "Nebraska Experiment Station Quarterly."
 The report says:
 Plant breeders say that synthetics now being developed and tested may sometime yield as well as hybrids. More important, the synthetics will offer a cheaper source of seed for farmers who have no irrigation to help them through dry seasons.
 Most Nebraska corn growers who could apply water to their fields in 1956 harvested a good crop. The combination of water, excellent hybrid, and commercial fertilizer made 100-bushel corn fairly commonplace. But without irrigation water, the 1956 crop was so poor that some growers were tempted to save seed from their own fields for planting next spring. This practice doesn't pay because seed from a hybrid field is no more productive than the open-pollinated varieties. On the other hand, seed from a synthetic variety will usually produce a plant as vigorous as the plant from which it was taken.

Plants More Variable
 Another advantage of the synthetics is their variability between plants, which makes them less vulnerable to extreme weather hazards than the hybrids. In all the plants in a field of hybrids are at about the same stage of development, a few days of very hot dry wind may result in poor pollination because of tassels blasting. The more variable synthetics will fare better because they shed pollen over a much longer period. The disadvantage of the hybrids in hot dry weather is sometimes offset by planting mixtures of varying maturity.
Not Yet Available
 Plant breeders are not yet ready to recommend synthetics, nor is the seed available in sufficient quantity for commercial planting. However, they believe synthetics may find a place on dryland farms in future droughts.
 Dr. John Louquist, corn breeder at the Nebraska Experiment Station, thinks that prolific (or multi-earred) varieties (which also help dryland growers hedge successfully against drought. Two-earred varieties, common in the South, could be planted at thinner rates than are recommended for years of normal rainfall — say, 3,000 plants per acre. If the season turned dry, the prolific would produce only one ear, but total yield would be higher than if closely spaced plants were competing for a subnormal supply of moisture. On the other hand, if there were plenty of rainfall, the plant would produce two ears and thus make up at least in part for the yield otherwise lost by thin planting.

Not For Irrigation
 The staff reports further:
 Farmers who irrigate may never be interested in either synthetics or hybrids. The hybrid, which has revolutionized corn production in the past 20 years, helps to assure them of a crop. The hybrid was of some help to the dryland farmer last year, too. Because they root deeper and are more vigorous than the open-pollinated varieties, hybrids can produce grain under conditions that might destroy their less hardy predecessors.
 Any corn must have moisture to produce grain, but our new hybrids have some ability to withstand moisture stress. This is because the drought resistance present in an occasional plant of the parent varieties has been "sorted out" and concentrated in the hybrids.
 And present hybrids are better than those available twenty years ago. In fact, all of the hybrids grown in 1936 have now been replaced by improved introductions.

Evolution in Methods
 Cultural methods are also undergoing constant evolution. Today we know more about proper timing of irrigation. There is a trend toward fewer cultivations with a consequent saving of labor and a reduction of root pruning. Seed producers are treating seed as protection against various rotting fungi. Farmers are treating their soil to control corn rootworm, wireworm and other insects that attack the seed and the root.
 Fewer cultivations are now possible because of advances in farm mechanization which allows more timely tillage operations. Mechanization also makes each operation more efficient because it is done at the appropriate time.

Tale Spins

Sunday evening towards Sunday a tired and happy bunch of guys folded up shop at the first and very successful "Air Tour" at the Sharp Field.

A lot of people put forth a lot of effort to put the Air Tour over. First of all was the conservation department, who started the ball rolling.

I looked over the bunch and tried to pick out the biggest cog in the operation. Believe me, it was hard to do.

Plane owners made about the biggest financial sacrifice. They were reimbursed for their expenses at the rate of $2 per passenger hour.

Funny things happen sometimes. Orville Lueck, farmer from near Arcadia, is a name I have heard for years.

It seems that everyone had their heart set on a ride in the Beech Bonanza here from Sioux City.

At the home of their leader, Mrs. Lyle Sinteck, the fourth grade made vanilla cookies while the third grade made oatmeal cookies.

Quiz Legion Nine Draws Broken Bow in District Tourney Here, July 26

Ravenna's legion team looms as the odds-on favorite in the District Six North sectional American Legion baseball tourney that opens Friday afternoon, July 26, with three first round games scheduled.

Assistant adjutant-general Warren Baker of Lincoln split the District into two sectional tourneys, with the winners to meet in a play-off District championship game at Aurora, August 1st.

Rockville, Scotia, Ansley, Loup City, Broken Bow, Ord, Sargent, Arnold, Ravenna, Wolbach and Spalding were assigned to the Ord northern sectional while St. Paul, Belgrade, Clarks, Palmer, Fullerton, Aurora and Shelton were assigned to the Aurora sectional.

Ord Midgets Favorite
Ord is favored in the northern sectional in Midget team play, being paired with Loup City in the opening game. The winner will play the right to meet the Aurora Midget sectional winner, St. Paul, Shelton, Central City and Aurora were assigned by Baker to play at Aurora.

Play Runs Four Days
The Ord tourney will run through Tuesday night with games scheduled for Friday afternoon and evening, Saturday evening, Sunday afternoon, Monday and Tuesday evening.

To trim the field to eight teams in the Legion Junior section, three games are to be played Friday. Rockville kicks off the tourney by playing Scotia at 4 p.m.; Ansley meets Loup City at 6 p.m., to be followed by the Broken Bow-Ord Quiz clash at 8 p.m.

Saturday, the Loup City Midgets play the Ord Midgets at 8 p.m. Sunday play will start at 1 p.m. with Sargent meeting Arnold. Ravenna plays the winner of the Rockville-Scotia fray. Wolbach meets the Ansley-Loup City survivor, while Spalding will tangle with the winner of the Broken Bow-Quiz game.

Winners of the top half bracket will clash Monday evening while winners of the lower half bracket will meet in the nightcap to determine the Tuesday night sectional championship game.

Midget Finals Tuesday
Ansley's Midget team will play the Loup City-Ord Midget game winner for the Midget title Tuesday at 6 p.m.

Bill Heuck has been named tournament director and following are the designated umpires for the meet: Tom Toland, Lyle Novosad, Don Goodsell, Glen Beehrine, Merle Mason, Leon Klanczyk and Rollie Johnson. Floyd Bagby is director of the southern sectional tourney at Aurora and will also be in charge of the District championship play-offs.

One Burwell Vacancy
Burwell public schools have but one teaching spot to be filled, that of a junior high teacher. "We're looking for either a man or a woman," B. W. Burke, superintendent, writes The Quiz.

are fish that do exceptionally well in this part of the state. If you have a man made lake, you can restrict the fish in it to these species and the average angler is plenty content to fish in waters that he knows are not infested with everything under the sun. Some of you fellows that have the potential water supply and terrain for a one or two acre lake, I wish you would give this a lot of thought. I will wager 10 to 1 that you will, after you have developed a small lake, realize a good return on your investment and you won't be sorry you did it. Spud

Fishing Gossip Wet Lines By Spud Kapustka

Dear Ed: I think it would be most proper if we would congratulate some of our enterprising citizens for providing fishing grounds for the angling public.

Edging the Redlegs, 8-7, the Phillies lowered the boom on the Red Sox, 21-6, to climb into a first place tie with the White Sox, which shut out the Red Sox, 2-0, and then nipped the Redlegs, 3-3.

The Red Sox then salvaged an 8-7 decision over the Redlegs which has lost all games so far this year.

What burns me up is the fellows that do not spend any money for improving the fishing grounds they already have that just happened to develop by forces of nature and still think the public is sucker enough to pay through the nose for a few mosquito bites. To have good fishing in a lake requires the same effort from the owner as good farming methods are necessary for good crops.

There are a lot of anglers in this area that are willing to pay the price to fish in good, well managed small lakes because for every year that an acre or two is able to drive any great distance to satisfy their fishing urge. I would like to see more people become aware of the demand that is developing for angling waters. You can drive to any area that provides for boating and fishing and see what is happening. We have farmers and ranchers that have natural springs and streams flowing through their places that could be developed into productive lakes. These could be made to return more per acre per year than an average crop. In most cases a lowland pasture or meadow would be inundated and it doesn't take much revenue to offset the income normally realized from this same land. If a man can develop a small lake into good fishing for an average acre or two, he can develop a small lake into good fishing for a lot more. With the machinery that is available today a good fishing hole can become a reality in less than a year.

Fishing Hotspots

Nebraska's string of "Great Lakes" is still providing anglers with excellent fishing. According to the latest State game commission reports, walleye fishing is lasting much longer this year than in previous years.

Catfish are reported to be biting well at night. Sam Grasmick, state conservation officer, reporting on the Lincoln county area, has reported that despite the large number of fishermen coming to the area that fishing was still excellent.

Grasmick has reported that Maloney reservoir and the Canal system is very good for walleyes with the Canal also providing excellent results with catfish. Sutherland and Jeffrey reservoirs were also considered good for catfish with the crappies hitting at Jeffrey.

Warden C. W. Schaffer has reported that Lloyd Hagobuck of Monroe came up with two yellow catfish, one one weighing 52 pounds while the other weighed 13 1/2 pounds.

World Fish Record
Lloyd Erickson provided Robert E. Nuquist of Erie, Pa. with a world-record fish in 1944.

First Pheasant Hunt
Nebraska's first ring-necked pheasant hunting season occurred only 30 years ago. A three-day season was opened in Sherman and Wheeler counties that fall, with the result that nearly 5,000 birds were bagged.

Catch 52 Bluegills at Pibel

The Buck Williams family of Ord decided to have a picnic dinner at Pibel lake last Sunday, and combining it with a morning fishing session caught 52 bluegills.

Buck states that so far this year the Williams have caught nearly 500 fish at various lakes.

Hunters Locked Out?

State press reports have stated that ranchers in the Crawford area are dissatisfied with the approved hunting regulations. For some time the ranchers have been campaigning for a longer deer season that would allow more deer to be taken and that while the state game commission is reported to be sympathetic to the proposal, their hands have been tied, according to Bob Munger, outdoor writer of the Star-Journal.

Coturnix Stocking
To date, some 16,000 birds have been released in scattered parts of the state and an additional four thousand will soon be released. Some were released in Greeley, Howard and Buffalo counties as well as the Pressey wildlife area in Custer county.

Mustangs Twist St. Libory Tiger Tail, 11-5, on Big Fourth Inning

Rollie Johnson's Ord Mustangs scored six runs off three hits in the fourth inning as they twisted the St. Libory Tiger tail, 11-5, although the visitors outhit the Ponies, 11-9.

Ord took an early 2-0 lead in the first on Merrill Mason's leadoff double, who scored the initial run at the expense of two passed ball pitches by Kappelman, who hit Kokes with a wild pitch, the latter scoring on still another erratic toss by Kappelman.

Mary Vasicek led off the second with a line single, took second on another wild pitch and after Bill Novosad walked, Merrill Mason rapped a single, scoring Vasicek. Mason opened the fourth with a walk. Kokes singled, and Dilla was safe at first on Kappelman's error. Ellis was safe on a fielder's choice as Mason was cut off at the plate. Staab fanned but Thomsen walked, scoring Kokes.

Mary Vasicek singled, scoring Dilla and Ellis. Buda reached first when hit by the pitcher. Bill Novosad singled to drive in two more runs moments after Thomsen was safe at home plate on Cobb's error. Mason then popped out to shortstop Becker.

Tigers Rally
With two men out in the fifth, Kappelman singled, stole second, and was safe at third on a Mustang miscue after Jensen was safe at first on Staab's error. Becker singled to score Kappelman on an error by Bud Novosad. Larry Quant struck out Jensen. Jerome Campbell struck out the Cardinals at first on a passed ball. Becker scoring. Irvin singled in Quant but Jerome Campbell and Irvin were left stranded when Jim Campbell popped to Vasicek.

R. Quant had relaced Kappelman on the mound for St. Libory at this juncture with Poocek taking over for Bud Novosad in the sixth. With two down in the fifth, Ellis walked, scoring on Staab's double. The drive having bounced the ball over the fence but Thomsen singled only to leave the runners stranded when Vasicek fanned.

Quant's walking Dilla, followed by three wild pitches scoring Dilla, gave Ord their last run in the seventh as Ellis walked, Staab walked, but left Ellis and Staab on base when Kapustka fanned and Vasicek was out, K. Quant to Kappelman.

The Mustangs travel to Palmer next Sunday and will have their next home game, which is the last of the season, on August 4 when they host St. Paul.

Summary:
St. Libory - L. Quant, c, 5-1-0; J. Campbell, 2b, 4-1-1; L. Irvin, 3b, 5-0-2; J. Campbell, 4th, 4-0-0; B. Buhman, 7th, 5-0-0; T. Cobb, 1b, 1-0-0; G. Quant, 5th, 3-0-0; M. Mason, 6th, 3-2-0; B. Small Fry Golfers Watch Sam Phillips Give Demonstration

Ord Small Fry golfers watch former Tennessee golfing champion Sam Phillips give demonstration as to how to properly grip a golf club, the proper stance and swing, at the Ord golf links prior to the Small Fry golf tourney last week.

Phillips, who now lives in Omaha and travels for an aluminum company, consented to give the Ord youngsters some golfing instruction on invitation of Jay Auble, who is giving instruction in golf as part of Ord's Recreational program.

Hig's SPORTS Rehash ...

When I came down to the office last Sunday, the first thing that I noted was a copy of the Osage Farmer, the weekly paper of Cooperstown, N. Y. You'd guess it—that's the home of Baseball's Hall of Fame, where in just another week a native of Wahoo, Nebraska, Sam Crawford and "Old Marse" Joe McCarthy will be enshrined in that baseball memorial edifice.

It was there at Cooperstown, that the immortal Abner Doubleday unveiled the national pastime in 1839 in the little hamlet whose ballpark is known now as Doubleday Field.

Two contenders for the 1957 World Series berths—St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago White Sox—will play an exhibition game before a sell-out crowd of some 8,500 fans.

This little hamlet is on the shores of Lake Ontario and was the one-time home and inspiration for Jas. Fenimore Cooper's "Leatherstocking Tales."

To date, some 83 baseball greats of yesteryear have been enshrined and Sam will take his place beside other Nebraska natives—Grover Cleveland Alexander, Dizzy Vance—as well as the immortal Babe Ruth, Walter Johnson, Lou Gehrig and Honus Wagner.

Old "Marse Joe" also takes his rightful place alongside those stars whom he guided and managed into baseball fame and fortune.

One week later, and the New York Yankees will stage their own "old timers" day and "Marse Joe" is to be the special guest of the day.

A peek at the early prospects for the Ord Chants has been promised Quiz readers by Coach Bill Gogan, as soon as he catches his breath after the arrival of Master William Gogan III last Thursday afternoon, "Pop" now has two prospects for 1973-75 chant squads. Bill was reported buying out all cigar counters of stogies.

With the Legion game between the Ravenna lads and the Quiz Legion being cancelled, Manager V. J. Beran scheduled practice sessions instead for the boys in preparation for the Legion sectional tourney here.

Gas Pumps Pay Trade Stamps Costs in Iowa
Gasoline pumps set to charge extra for trading stamps were reported in Iowa Monday by state inspectors.

In one case, the pump showed the price per gallon as 31.9 cents. When an inspector bought five gallons, the total on the pump's meter was $1.65.

More Suspicious
The inspector, being more suspicious than the usual motorist, did some quick arithmetic and figured the pump meter was calculating at 32.9 cents a gallon, not 31.9.

The filling station operator told him the extra penny a gallon was to pay the cost of trading stamps given with the gasoline, the inspector said.

L. B. Liddy, chief of the agriculture department's gasoline pump inspectors, said he has received several similar reports in the last few days, but there is nothing he can do about it.

State regulations apply only to the pumps' accuracy in measuring out gallons, not their arithmetic in adding up dollars and cents, he said.

Liddy did order a crackdown Monday on filling stations which sell gasoline from pumps that have not been licensed or which give the customer less gas than the meter shows.

Possible Saving
Liddy said a busy filling station might "save" 100 gallons a month with pumps set to "short-measure" customers by five cubic inches out of every five gallons.

Each of approximately 23,000 gasoline pumps in Iowa is supposed to be inspected and licensed. Liddy said about 1,000 pumps have not been licensed. —Des Moines Register-Tribune.

LIQUID FERTILIZER

Sturdy Grain Stalk Stops Lodging!
In looking over the county's grain fields last week we noticed some pretty heavy lodging. Most of it that we saw could have been avoided had the grain stalk been properly fed with phosphate and nitrogen. If you've finished combining and you have had some lodging, we'd suggest you apply a mixed fertilizer now to prepare for next year. Often times the grain you save will more than offset the cost. And of course we'll be glad to make soil tests you so you can apply the correct proportions.

Late Corn Fertilizing!
There's still a little time to apply fertilizer to your corn, if it was late planted. Proper fertilization will not only produce a better yield, but it will hasten maturity. Keep the latter part in mind!

We Know You Are Busy!
We know this is the season when every farmer needs four hands so we're ready to assume your fertilizing chores at a more than reasonable cost. We have the equipment and manpower to do the job quickly and efficiently. A phone call puts us on the job. Our phone is 185.

Wool Sewing Contest

Summer Activity For Girls

Young women wondering what to do during school vacations have a ready-made solution to the problem of how to spend summer's sunny days.

One top-notch way of filling summer leisure hours is to plan and begin creating next fall's wardrobe. Mrs. V. B. Vandiver of Leonard, points out that the "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest is an ideal avenue for this activity. Mrs. Vandiver is state contest director.

Girls between the ages of 14 and 22 who enter a suit, coat, dress or ensemble which they have made themselves from all-wool fabric, will not only have kept busy this summer, they will also have improved their sewing skills and will have the opportunity of winning valuable prize awards, the state contest director says.

Districts Cover Entire State

There is still plenty of time to enter a garment before district finals which will be held in October. Mrs. Pumphrey points out. State finals are scheduled for November in Omaha. To encourage younger girls to develop sewing skills a special sub-deb contest for the 13 to 15 age group will be held. Prizes are awarded in each district for the best all-wool skirts or jumpers.

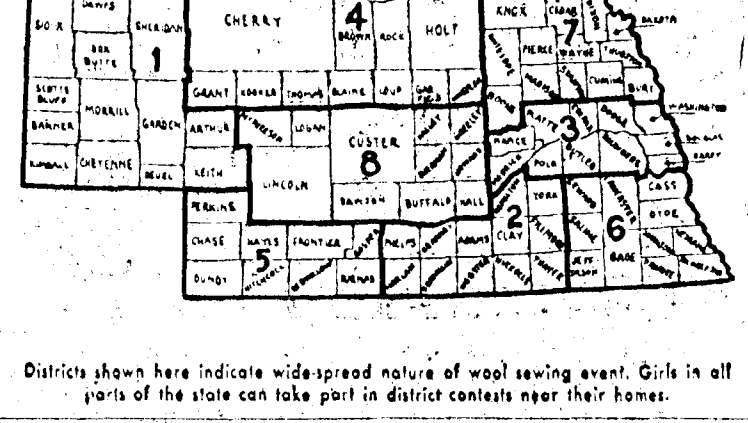

Girls are urged to get in touch with the district director for their area for information on the contest. District directors are: District 1: Mrs. Clifford Webster, 2634 El Rancho, Sidney; District 2: Mrs. Harry Holdt, Red Cloud (co-chairman); District 3: Mrs. S. Pierce Allen, Fort Calhoun and Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson, Blair, co-chairmen; District 4: Mrs. Leslie Kime, Valentine; District 5: Mrs. Everett Lomax, Wilsonville; District 6: Mrs. Pumphrey; District 7: Mrs. Ottwin Schlueter, Pender; District 8: Mrs. Del Kopf, Cozad.

The contest is sponsored in Nebraska by the North Platte Valley Lamb Feeders Association.

Valuable Awards Given
Girls may contact state or district directors of the Wool Bureau, 16 West 48 Street, New York 36, for test co-sponsor with the National Wool Growers Auxiliary.

Valuable awards in the sewing event include: two trips to the National Finals to be held in Salt Lake City, Utah, courtesy of F. W. Woolworth Co.; portable Singer sewing machines; two-week trips to Europe via Pan American World Airways; scholarships and Savings Bonds.

Jamrogs Display Frye Lake Haul

Leonard and Tommy Jamrog of Ashton and Mori Lukaszewicz of Farwell display their haul of 90 crappies, which is the limit catch.

In the center of the picture are several bullheads which flank two of the largest pumpkinseed sunfish that the Jamrogs have ever seen.

The party made the trek to Frye Lake in the middle of June and all fish were taken on small minnows which were slowly trolled with the wind in a boat until a school was struck.

Jamrog Asks "Is This a Record Catch?"

Leonard D. Jamrog of Ashton poses with one of 45 crappies caught at Frye Lake north of Hyannis on July 5th by Jamrog, his son, Tommy, and Louie Mendyk of Omaha.

Weighing two pounds, four ounces, the fish was first caught and brought to the surface within three feet of the boat when it got away, momentarily, but was rehooked and taken into the boat. It measures 16 inches in length and six inches wide.

according to the editors, is to promise cut-rates to those who will permit their homes to be photographed for "advertising" purposes. This offer is hedged with so many conditions that inevitably the full prize must be paid.

Often such racketeers conceal many of the charges in the fine print in the contract, or offer worthless guarantees and then skip to the next town.

To guard against such operators, the magazine advises:

1. Don't bite at super-bargains. Ask for the names of four or five previous customers that you can check with.
2. If the company is not known to you, check its standing with your local bank, chamber of commerce or better business bureau.
3. Read the contract twice before signing. Demand a duplicate of what you sign, with the contractor's signature on it.
4. Don't sign the completion certificate, indicating the job meets with your approval, until you have satisfied yourself that it's in accord with the upland form and may have a place in low-lying areas where moisture is less limited.

Steps are being taken at Kansas State College to isolate strains of so-called "lowland switchgrass." This type of grass is larger and coarser than the upland form and may have a place in low-lying areas where moisture is less limited.

Inflation Creeps On No Tax Cut This Year

Prices will rise again this year, and there is no end in sight to the steady creep in the value dollar, according to the editors of the Kiplinger Magazine.

The ravages of inflation, taxes and high prices are having their effect on almost everyone. The dollar you spend today buys 13 1/2 cents less than it bought in 1950.

A tax cut, the editors say, is not in the cards this year. Next year you may get some relief, but you shouldn't expect it to make a dent in your money problems. Furthermore, there will be no let up in the hidden taxes, excises and local and state tax collections. Higher prices are in the wind for the rest of the year, so there will be no relief from this quarter unless you know how to get around them by searching out the good buys. Steel prices will go up this summer. When steel prices rise, other prices (such as those of cars) rise too. Also going up is the price of wool things. Prospective buyers will find that house prices still edge ahead.

The dry cleaner, the doctor, the dentist, the local garageman, the laundress and the repair man and anyone else providing service to the family will up his bills. Clothing and recreation will also cost more. In short, juggling the budget will be even more tricky by fall.

Burlington Truck Takes Over Arrow

The Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington, in an order issued effective Aug. 2, has authorized acquisition of the truck operating rights in Nebraska of the Arrow Freight Lines of Broken Bow, by the Burlington Truck Lines of Chicago, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad.

Purchase of Arrow's 1,070-mile operation, owned in partnership by George R. and James Pirnie, is authorized without restrictions, sometimes imposed on railroad acquisitions.

Arrow's routes, which closely parallel the rail lines of the CB&Q and, for the most part, are complementary to the routes of the Burlington Truck Lines, provide service between Omaha, Lincoln, Grand Island, and the northwest-ern sector of Nebraska, including Alliance and Scottsbluff.

Reports coming to the Quiz so far are from Mira Valley where harvest started several days ahead of the rest of the county. Dorsey Brothers at Arcadia have been delivering 25 bushel wheat to the elevator.

Generally, wheat yields in the county war run from nothing to 60 bushels per acre. County Agent Bob Perry told the Quiz Tuesday that early checks made him think that lack of phosphorus content in soil was responsible for the scattered fields that will not be cut. "Most of these were on alfalfa ground and dry as a bone last fall," Perry said.

Barley yields will average 35 to 40 bushels to the acre, local crop reporters estimate. Most four row Spartan barley has been cut, while winter barley is expected to run higher in yield.

Oats, which two weeks ago looked like a bumper, is showing the effects of high temperatures, and fields examined by the Quiz editor show some signs of chaffiness. There will be lots of good oats in the county and some fields should run 75 to 80 bushels.

Some red rust has been noted in oats fields. Wheat has lots of rust, although this has not particularly affected yields. Lodging is prevalent, and combining is slow and difficult.

Farm - Ag Tips

By Bob Perry
Valley County Agricultural Agent

It can rain in July:
Farmers who took the air tour Sunday reported a lot of water standing in the south Mira Valley area.

Several reported from 2.50 to 3 inches on their farms in that locale. The standing water surely helped highlight the importance of soil and water conservation to those who viewed it from the air.

Ed Sprague and I received a lot of thank yous for the tour. We felt like proxies for the people who really deserved the thanks. The pilots, The Soil Conservation District, and the spark plug for the whole show, Bill Lee. A lot of others put in leg work and cooperated.

A follow-up tour to accommodate those who registered and didn't get to ride will depend on if and when planes are available.

Poisons:
With so many new insecticides on the market there is ever present danger. Extreme caution should be used with all poisons. The old "Saw" about an ounce of prevention is sure true in this case.

Following are a few suggestions:
1. The first important rule is... In case of poisoning call a physician or an emergency hospital immediately!
2. If the patient has inhaled poisons, remove him to the open air. If breathing has stopped, give artificial respiration.
3. If poison has been spilled on the skin, wash off immediately and thoroughly with large amounts of warm, soapy water.
4. If droplets or particles of poison have entered the eyes, flush thoroughly with water.
5. If patient has swallowed the poison, empty the stomach as soon as possible. If patient is vomiting, give large amounts of warm water. If an emetic is needed give warm salt solution (one tablespoon in a glass of water), repeating until the vomit fluid is clear.

Graveside Services

Graveside services were held in the Ord cemetery Monday afternoon for Karen Sue Skala, five-month-old daughter of Helen and the late Bennie Skala.

The infant died suddenly Friday, July 12 at Forsyth, Montana, en route with her mother, sister and brother, from Washington state to Omaha.

Rev. Allen Martin officiated at the last rites. Hastings-Pearson were in charge of arrangements.

Survivors include the mother, another Richard, two sisters, Sandra and Linda, paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Skala, maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fleider of Ord.

Chimney Fire Friday

A chimney that may have been clogged was blamed for a Friday afternoon run by the Ord Volunteer fire department to the S. I. Willard home in West Ord.

Mrs. Willard, who was canning cherries, had started a fire in a paper-filled basement cook stove. The basement was filled with smoke which was rolling out the windows when neighbors reported a fire.

Southwick Parent Dies

Funeral services were held Monday at Kingsley, Iowa, for Earl Southwick, father of Don Southwick, Ord high school instructor. Mr. Southwick, who has been ill for some time, died Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Southwick and children, who had been at the graveside of their parent, returned to Ord Tuesday evening.

That left the burden of the early registrations to be borne by four local pilots — Harold Marshall, George Benn, Bob Lynn and Ken Stevens.

In three two seaters the four started. By noon they were 25 registrations behind. Only the arrival of the planes from South Sioux City kept the tour from getting completely out of hand then.

Early tours were an hour long. At 3:15 soil district officials cut them to 20 minutes in order to make more trips.

That helped some but the registrations still continued to surge over the practical flying possibilities.

The official's decision to prolong the tours to another Sunday came as a relief to many farmers. Many of them had sweat out blistering airport temperatures for two hours.

When the announcement was made one farmer was heard to utter: "Thank the Lord! Now I can go home and get out of this heat."

In addition to riders, the tours drew hundreds of curious. Between trips they crawled over planes, fingered controls and chewed the fat with pilots. Parking in the airport area was a sea of misaligned cars that for a while threatened access.

Despite the almost holiday-like atmosphere no accidents were reported other than mild cases of sunburn and queasy stomachs from first time riders.

The latter dominated tours. One reported carrying 18 passengers. "Fifteen," he said, "were taking their first ride."

All in all it was a big day. "You might," said one CAP official, "term this as the day the air age came to Ord."

Other tour sponsors were the Valley County Extension Service, the Valley County ASC, and the Ord Quiz.

County Agent Bob Perry told the Quiz Tuesday that early checks made him think that lack of phosphorous content in soil was responsible for the scattered fields that will not be cut. "Most of these were on alfalfa ground and dry as a bone last fall," Perry said.

Barley yields will average 35 to 40 bushels to the acre, local crop reporters estimate. Most four row Spartan barley has been cut, while six row barley is expected to run higher in yield.

Oats, which two weeks ago looked like a bumper, is showing the effects of high temperatures, and fields examined by the Quiz editor show some signs of chaffiness. There will be lots of good oats in the county and some fields should run 75 to 80 bushels.

Some red rust has been noted in oats fields. Wheat has lots of rust, although this has not particularly affected yields. Lodging is prevalent, and combining is slow and difficult.

Farm - Ag Tips

By Bob Perry
Valley County Agricultural Agent

It can rain in July:

Farmers who took the air tour Sunday reported a lot of water standing in the south Mira Valley.

Several reported from 2.50 to 3 inches on their farms in that locale. The standing water surely helped highlight the importance of soil and water conservation to those who viewed it from the air.

Ed Sprague and I received a lot of thank yous for the tour. We felt like proxies for the people who really deserved the thanks. The pilots, The Soil Conservation District, and the sponsoring for the whole show, Bill Lee. A lot of others put in leg work and cooperated.

A follow-up tour to accommodate those who registered and didn't get to ride will depend on if and when planes are available.

With so many new insecticides on the market there is ever present danger. Extreme caution should be used with all poisons. The old "Saw" about an ounce of prevention is sure true in this case.

Following are a few suggestions:

1. The first important rule is in case of poisoning call a physician or an emergency hospital immediately!
2. If the patient has inhaled poisons, remove him to the open air. If breathing has stopped, give artificial respiration.
3. If poison has been spilled on the skin, wash off immediately and thoroughly with large amounts of warm, soapy water.
4. If droplets or particles of poison have entered the eyes, flush thoroughly with water.
5. If patient has swallowed the poison, empty the stomach as soon as possible. If patient is vomiting, give large amounts of warm water. If an emetic is needed give warm salt solution (one tablespoon in a glass of water), repeating until the vomit fluid is clear.

40' x 80' Building To Sell

One week from this Saturday, (Saturday, July 27) immediately following our hog sale we will sell for Bill Cook Jr. his building located in North Loup, Nebr. which was formerly the Sime Hatchery. It is located in the southwest part of the village, one block south of Highway 11, by the Roy Sime residence. This is a frame structure 40 x 80, fully insulated and ventilated, has two automatic fans, built new about 5 years ago, is in A-1 condition, and could be useful on any farm as a dairy barn or for storage. It can be moved any reasonable distance and reset on a foundation for $500.

For inspection contact Bill Cook Jr. at his farm near North Loup or the auctioneers at the Ord Livestock Market, Cummins and Cummins.

The Junior Leaders assist their respective adult club leaders with various parts of the club program. For exchange of ideas and fun they recently banded together. A community project being planned is the erection of "Welcome to Valley County" signs. The picnic, Sunday, July 21st is for any 4-H family and friends. "Ranga", Valley County's Indian guest will speak a few words. Entertainment is planned for all age groups.

Farm Tractor Power and Safety Viewing set for July 25

Demonstrations will be one highlight of Tractor Power and Safety Day, July 25, on the University of Nebraska college of agriculture campus.

The demonstrations with the specialist presenting them are listed below. A test on the effect of wheel weight on drawbar pull is being prepared by G. W. Steinbruegge, professor of agricultural engineering at the university. Two tractors, similar except for the amount of weights on the rear wheels, will be hitched to the laboratory's test car by means of an equalizer or large doubletree. The two tractors will pull and the slippage of each will be announced to show the difference wheel weights make.

D. E. Lane, assistant extension engineer, and William D. Lutes, extension safety specialist, are preparing two demonstrations on safety for the day's program.

One of the demonstrations will show the proper way to refuel tractors. Propane refueling will be featured by showing the proper line hook-up, coupling and disconnecting.

For the dangerous tractor operation demonstration, a back upset on a high hitch, a back upset in a ditch, a back upset when in a mudhole and side upset have been planned.

L. F. Larsen, engineer in charge of tractor testing is preparing a demonstration on drawbar tests of large crawler type tractors.

Such a tractor shipped in from Salt Lake City, Utah, will be used to demonstrate how the laboratory tests drawbar pull of crawler tractors.

A demonstration also is being planned by Larsen which will show the equipment that the laboratory uses for testing. The test car with a tractor attached will show the operations used by the laboratory.

A demonstration on horsepower tests as a guide for maintenance being prepared by John J. Sulek, assistant professor of agricultural engineering, and Chauncey W. Smith, professor emeritus of agricultural engineering, includes a dynamometer just where their horsepower is going. Tests of this type were started some years back when farmers brought their tractors to the laboratory to determine the effect of a summer's work on the horsepower.

Sulek also has prepared the demonstration on engine oils. He will discuss engine oils with emphasis placed on the viscosity and API (American Petroleum Institute) service ratings. A laboratory unit will be used to show the viscosity. In order to show the effects of heavy oils on horsepower output a tractor will be used. Sulek also will designate the proper engine oil for certain situations.

First Irrigation Starts at Sargent

The first irrigation water on the Sargent Unit was turned out last Tuesday morning to farms owned by V. S. McDaniel, Bob Sutton and Floyd Sigale, all located west of Sargent, says the Sargent Leader. Interest in irrigation has quickened during the past week as a result of the hot dry weather. Farmers with turnouts from the completed portions of the Sargent Unit have been signing up their acreages in increasing numbers during the past week.

Water is available for the 1957 irrigation season to all the lands under the First and Second Sections of the Sargent Canal and the First Section of the Sargent Laterals. Payment for water is at the rate of $3.75 per acre for a delivery of 1 1/4 acre feet of water per acre of land to be irrigated. Additional water can be purchased for $3.25 per acre-foot. Water payments must be made in advance of service and can be made on July 22, August 4 and 19 and September 9 from 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. at the home of George Semler, President of the Sargent Irrigation District, in Sargent.

Mrs. Jim Goff of Burwell spent all day Tuesday in Ord. She was a dinner guest of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hansen.

Music Training Develops New Philosophy in Youngsters Says Ord Director Pesses

With 97 pupils taking individual instruction in instrumental music this summer, plus others enrolled in the Ord city band, junior high band and cadet band, Al Pesses, Ord schools music director, said that the main objective of music training was to inculcate "having a heart." Pesses listed seven results of music training:

- (1) A child preserves his health through the body and mind contributing to his development because he understands himself and knows what it means to him in health to have correct posture, develop keen eyes, exact hearing, strong lungs and a relief of nervous tension.
 - (2) The child sees the need for development of accurate coordination of eyes, ears, lips, tongue and fingers since these faculties become extremely sensitive to mental commands.
 - (3) The child has foresight enough to visualize the need for the selection of an honest and dignified vocation.
 - (4) The child becomes part of a group of individuals who share love, joys and sorrow of each other.
 - (5) The child makes use of his leisure time sensibly and steers his imaginations away from the pitfalls of idleness.
 - (6) The child becomes anxious to participate actively and on a friendly basis with his neighbors in community affairs and also develops a spirit of competition.
 - (7) The child develops a broader concept of living and is motivated throughout life with a desire to good things and enjoy cultural existence.
- "All this is my philosophy," Pesses said, "to teach a child to have a heart through music. That's why it has been such a joy this summer to start these little folk down the music pathway."

Spare That Court!

Statesman, spare that court!
Touch not a single brow.
In our youth it held the fort
And we'll defend it now.

In Praise of Dr. Miller

We're getting dogged on fed up with the politically inspired carping at Congressman A. L. Miller by some of the public power interests in Nebraska.

To one who has studied the record, it's very apparent that these groups are trying to make Dr. Miller the whipping boy for their own ineptness and dog-in-the-manger attitude of some years back. They are being joined loudly by a few remnants of New Deal zealots, who would use the issue at stake, the heavy transmission line from Fort Randall to Grand Island, as a coalition on which to ride to public attention.

The whole criticism of our congressman is laden with absurdities. A democratic congress voted down a public power dam in Idaho. Ergo, Dr. Miller as a member of that congress, is labeled as an "anti public power" leader.

At that time, the cheap power from Randall would have been the nemesis of such boomdoggles as the Columbus power plant, whose haphazard production of electricity at the expense of irrigation farmers is only too well known to farmers of the Loup Valley.

Apparently, our public power interests couldn't foresee a future with air-conditioning, television and pump irrigation. They couldn't believe the rural electrification would expand until every farm became an electrical customer with an ever-increasing demand for power.

So much for the critics. Their short-sightedness today is just as absurd as it was several years ago.
What is so absurd about the public power interest's choice of a whipping boy, is that no Nebraska public official, since the days of the late Senator George W. Norris, has done as much in Washington in the interests of irrigation and the bringing of electricity to rural areas as has A. L. Miller.

His record of active promotion of reclamation and irrigation projects in Nebraska—whether in his district or not—is unchallenged. His devotion to the cause of rural electrification is admitted by his severest critics.

You'll note we haven't said that Dr. Miller is an ardent backer of "public power." Public power in Nebraska means one thing, in the nation, the meaning is different. In Nebraska public power is locally controlled, and locally managed, even though there are some who would like to see a glorified federal control similar to that in the TVA area. Let's keep our "public power" a Nebraska power. And let's give credit to far-sighted Americans like Dr. A. L. Miller who are helping us maintain our local stature and ideals.

Strange Bedfellows

The new fight to repeal the one-cent additional gasoline tax voted by the legislature is producing some strange bedfellows.
The petroleum industries naturally are in the front of sponsors who have a referendum petition lined up to block the one-cent increase.

And the Farm Bureau, who traditionally have gone along with the oil industry on gas tax matters, have enlisted; as well as the rural letter carriers association and the Farmer's Union.

And now, strange as it seems, the railroad people, through their employee's unions have entered the battle. The railroads admit frankly they don't care much one way or another about the merits of the gas tax, but hope that repeal will necessitate an additional tax on trucking.

The truckers, who have played footie with the first groups listed in past gas-tax battles, so far have remained silent.

The new alliance has some strange angles.
Farm groups, apparently, have forgiven the petroleum industry for ramming a bill through the legislature that makes oil and gas bills a first lien on crops.

The truckers are still debating "taking sides" because of the frankly admitted threat of the railroad unions.

And the National Farm Organization, that a year ago in drought time, had a lot of political potency, is going to sit this one out.

We can hardly blame farm groups for opposing additional taxes for road building. Many of them, despite thousands of miles built recently under the Schroeder law, are blocked from transportation when it rains or snows. Most farmers can hardly see the justification of paved rural roads in Douglas county, for example, when there isn't enough money to have their own road graded, much less graveled.

And the new Interstate, regardless of what it is going to do for tourist business in Lincoln and Omaha, hardly makes an impression on the average farmer. Even though the road is supposed to be built with 90% federal funds (and Nebraskans pay the 10% in the form of federal income and gas taxes instead of state gas tax) the half million dollar a mile cost looks rather astronomical to a farmer who knows that $2000 will buy him a mile of graded and graveled road past his farm.

Nevertheless this editor hopes that the referendum campaign will die an early death. If we are going to have roads in Nebraska we must pay for them.

This editor is naive enough to believe that when the big populous counties get their roads constructed that some of the funds will trickle down to the local level. It may take a decade to do so, but that isn't such a long time when you compare it with the many decades that the state has ignored the building of roads for the future. That's the main reason for the mess we're in.

Repealing the gas tax is going to add further mess. E.R.A.

Need More Holidays

This country needs more holidays so that workers will have more opportunities for needed relaxation from the daily grind. W. H. Plourde writes in the Fullerton Nance Co. Journal. He continues:

"We're all for it. In this business there is little enough news that is sufficiently exciting to make an interesting front page week after week. We see big news possibilities in the expansion of our national holiday program. It would furnish us with exciting items like this:

"George Ditchwater is in a serious condition at Memorial Hospital. His car collided with a hamburger stand on Highway 77 while he was on his way to celebrate Groundhog Day with relatives in Prat Falls."

"Fred Bugbottom and family are all laid up with whooping cough which was contracted while visiting in Kansas on April Fool's Day."

"Stores and public offices will be closed from Friday until Monday next week because of the Halloween holiday which falls on Friday this year."

"The Henry Flywheel farm was the scene of a disastrous fire Tuesday afternoon. When they discovered the blaze, members of the family phoned to several neighbors for help but there was nobody home. The fire occurred during the height of the Valentine Day celebration."

"In his will your late employer has named you as his beneficiary," said the lawyer.

"It wasn't me, sir," said the girl anxiously. "I know he had one, but it wasn't me, honestly."

Now I don't want to get into any long-winded discussions about food, nor do I want to subject myself to the possibility of poison at any of the cafe counters around town, but if I can straighten out a thing that has been bothering me pretty much here lately then I'll be ever so much obliged.

It's this here stuff about Hash Brown Potatoes.

I believe I have eaten in every cafe and food counter in the village. In practically every one I have found a variety of fried spuds masquerading as "Hash Browns" that have as little resemblance to real Hash Brown Potatoes as Bulgarian has to McCarthy.

The kind of spuds being served here as Hash Browns simply ain't. They may be American Fried Potatoes, or German Fried Potatoes if your eating habits date back prior to the First World War, but they ain't Hash Browns.

I can't see the reason for all the confusion. Hash Brown Potatoes are simply what the sign says. They are hashed up fine, sometimes sprinkled with a dash of chopped onion, then browned.

If you take a boiled or steamed spud, strip it of its jacket then fry it, that doesn't make it a Hash Brown.

If you want to hang the latter appellation on it, then you HAVE to chop it up fine, and you HAVE to brown it well.

In a going railroad eating house, that knew the correct name for potatoes if it didn't know another thing, I was taught to make Hash Brown Spuds like this:

You take a couple of boiled or steamed spuds and peel 'em. Then you reduce 'em to a fine texture with a chopping can. You can even put 'em through a grinder, I won't quibble. But I do insist they have to be hashed up fine.

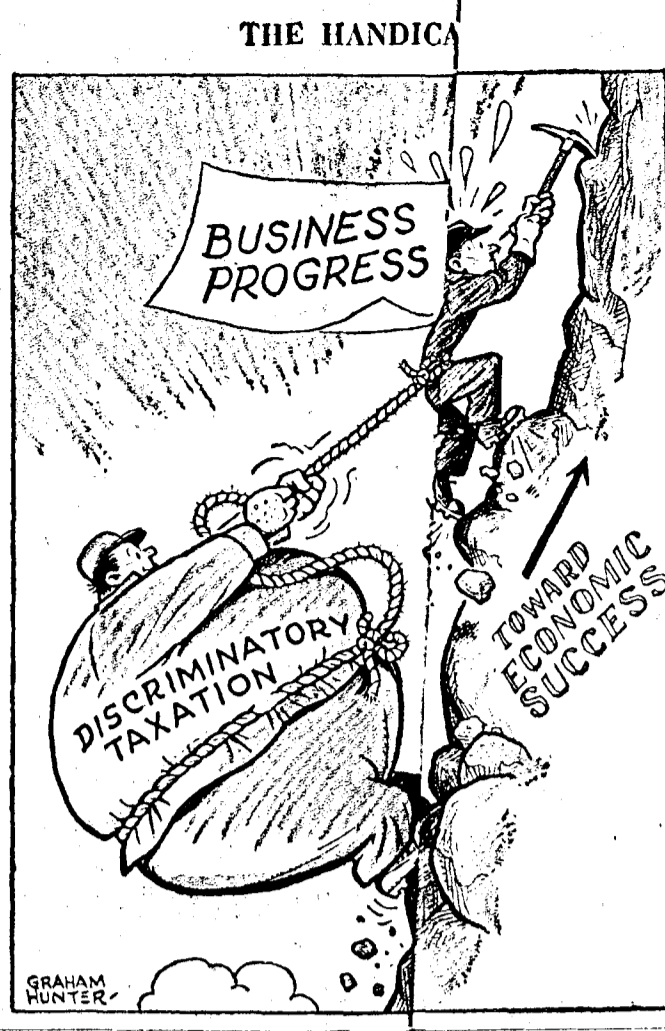

Next you grease a small pan. Dump the spuds into it and place over a hot fire. When the spuds are browned on one side, you flip the cake over taking particular pains not to break the browned crust.

The flipping lets you brown the other side. When you figure the other side is nicely browned, you place a side dish or plate over the pan. Then with a dexterous hand you turn the pan over. And, if you have handled the operation right, then you'll have a nice looking plate of finely chopped spuds covered with an unbroken, brown, delicious crust on both sides. They are real eating for a man and are about six times more palatable than French Fries which, by the way, here aren't French Fries but Shoestrings.

Someday, when I have the time and space, I'll go into the difference between the two. Maybe I'll even let you in on the recipe for my favorite spud of all, O'Briens.

Meanwhile don't go around asking what do I know about cooking.

I wrote the book, sister!

Out of Old Nebraska
Wheeler County Once Trice As Big; Split In 1884 to Form Garfield in Western Half

The A. T. Andreas, History of Nebraska published in 1882 described the newly created county of Wheeler as one with advantages "that must necessarily make it, when thoroughly developed, one of the most prosperous interior counties of the State. The new county was fortunate in having numerous streams and fertile valleys. Farms had been started in the valleys and in the uplands a large number of cattle roamed over the prairies."

The first settlers had entered the region in about 1874 and on February 17, 1887, the state legislature created Wheeler County. The legislature named it for Daniel H. Wheeler, Secretary of Nebraska State Board of Agriculture. The boundaries of the new county enclosed an approximate area of 1152 square miles. It was not until four years had passed that any action was taken to organize a county government in Wheeler County. On April 11, 1891 Governor Albinus Nance appointed A. J. Stewart and Charles Lawrence as special county commissioners and H. H. Cahill as special clerk. These officers held their first meeting on June 1, 1891 at Cedar City. The commissioners' records show that this first meeting was unproductive of business because A. J. Stewart had not received his commission from the governor due to "unavoidable delay in the mail."

Subsequent meetings were more successful and an election was arranged in which officials were chosen. The county seat location was settled, however, and the commissioners decided to continue to use Cedar City as county seat but to keep the records at Cumminsville.

In 1891 a petition was signed to divide the county and on October 5, 1894 Garfield County was formed from the western half of Wheeler County.

Battle Shaping Up on New One Cent Increase in Gas Tax; Odd Angles

What may be the biggest road fight in Nebraska history is gathering steam rapidly. It appears this battle — over an extra cent of state gasoline tax authorized by the Legislature — will surpass the recent fight over a proposed ton-mile tax for trucks.

The action of the state engineer will slow and possibly stall action on the Interstate Highway between Omaha and Lincoln.

Gov. Victor Anderson has gone on record strongly for the extra cent of gasoline tax — most of which would go for matching federal funds for the Interstate Highway.

The governor has said if the petition drive announced by the farm groups blocks the seven cent per gallon tax from becoming effective September 20, he may have to consider a special session of the Legislature. This the governor indicated, would be to provide road revenue.

Meanwhile, the Better Nebraska Association announced serious consideration was being given to another campaign to put the ton-mile tax for trucks matter up to voters again.

And, also in the background loomed reports that a group may start still another petition drive to repeal the law that allows farmers to get a refund of the state tax on gasoline used for agricultural purposes.

Undaunted, farm group officials including the Farm Bureau, Farmers Union and State Grange, filed notice with Secretary of State Frank Marshall of the form of the petition to be circulated.

It will take 28,397 legal signatures to put the repeal question to the voters. If the groups get 56,794 signers, the law boosting the gasoline tax would not take effect as scheduled September 20.

In the midst of the furor, State Engineer L. V. Rees announced he has stopped all planning on about $37.2 million worth of extra road

Everything's Big except the price
The new kind of Ford looks big because it is big... and it acts as big as it looks!
No matter how you measure the new kind of Ford, it comes out BIG! Not only is it the largest sedan of the low-price three... it's longer even than some medium-priced cars. And no other car in Ford's field can match its performance!
Styled to stay in style. Measure Ford's exclusive "Sculptured Look" against cars costing hundreds more. You'll see that Ford is years ahead... with styling that makes it unnecessary to pay more.
Built to stay built. Try Ford's "big-car" ride, and you know why Ford makes luxury a low-price word. With new suspension, new frame and body, you'll wonder where the road bumps went!

There's a great deal waiting in the new kind of FORD

FABLES, FACTS and FANCIES

Who said - "Genius is about 2% inspiration and 98% perspiration?"

The teenager sitting above was born in 1847 of poor parents. At the age of 12 he became a newsboy on trains running between Port Huron and Detroit, Michigan. He was so interested in chemicals that he set up a crude laboratory in the baggage car of the train. One of his experiments backfired and set the car on fire. He was immediately given his walking papers!

At the age of 16 he risked his life to pull a youngster from the path of a train. To repay Tom Edison, the father of the youngster offered to teach Tom telegraphy. Tom was an apt pupil and soon became an expert and in a short time he invented many modern improvements to make telegraphic communications more efficient. Edison often worked 20 hours a day. His efforts gave the world the incandescent light, the storage battery, the moving picture machine, the talking machine and many other remarkable inventions.

The life of Thomas Edison, and many other poverty-stricken Americans who rose to dominate and overcome their environments should be an inspiration to all of us, young or old, in the 20th century. They have proven that when there is a willingness to work hard there is no such thing as failure in building a successful career.

And the cornerstone of material success and security in this life is a bank account which one builds, and builds, and builds.

Extension Notes

Valley County Extension Agent

Training Lesson on Safety: It was too bad so many of the clubs were missing at the training meeting on "Safety Around the Clock Through Good Management". Not only was it a good lesson but Mr. Lutz, a Safety Specialist from the State Extension Service, presented the material in a most fascinating and interesting way. The absent ones missed a treat. The materials for this lesson are excellent so the leaders who were not there can obtain the materials from this office. I hope every club will try to have this lesson some time during the next club year. Giving the lesson without a training session with Mr. Lutz is better than not using it at all. Do try to put it on your 1958 calendar if you cannot schedule it for one of your fall meetings.

Arcadia Flower Show: An invitation has been received from the Arcadia Garden Club inviting all Extension Club members interested to exhibit at their Flower Show in Arcadia on August 7, 1957. The general theme for the show is "Around the Calendar with Flowers". The Extension Club members may exhibit in a new feature class called "Invitation Class". The theme for this class is "Any Holiday".

There will also be a "Table Setting" exhibit in which Extension Clubs may exhibit. The "Holiday" theme will also be used in this section. Each club will furnish its own card table, cloth and one place setting (omitting silver) and articles or flowers needed for table decoration.

Time of entry - 9-11 A. M. Judging - 11 A. M. to 2 P. M. Open house begins at 2 P. M. Evening hours - 7-9 P. M. The 4-H Achievement program will be in the evening.

The Arcadia Flower club assumes no responsibility for loss or breakage but every effort will be made to guard against either.

Council Meeting: Club Presidents, remember the Council Meeting at the Extension Office on Friday, July 19, 1957 at 2:00 P. M. Important decisions for our 1958 program will be made. "Come And Have A Say About It."

An Under-Rated Hazard is how three doctors sum up the cleaning fluid, carbon tetrachloride, after a seven year study. Writing in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, the doctors call it one of the commonest medical causes of serious and even fatal kidney damage. The doctors warn that carbon tetrachloride can have dangerous effects, whether it is breathed, swallowed or even absorbed through intact skin. If you use carbon tetrachloride, use it carefully. Read John 6:47-56.

I am the living bread. (John 6:51) Bread is the world's most common food staple. Though it may vary somewhat in ingredients and methods of preparation, in shape and taste, bread is essential to the diet. The Brazilian, for instance, eats bread with coffee each morning. He would feel lost without it.

Jesus' mission to mankind and His way of expressing Himself out across all time and national boundaries. When He said, "I am the bread of life," He spoke to all men of all times. Christ is as essential to our daily spiritual diet as daily bread is for our physical diet. His absence from our lives leaves us spiritually hungry. His presence is a joy to us and a source of strength.

Only the bread of heaven come down from God gives us true life. In Christ is our hope for spiritual health, for He alone, the one who is the living bread of life, satisfies our deepest need.

Prayer
Our Father, as Thy people long ago prayed, so we pray: "Lord, evermore give us this bread." Grant that as people everywhere this day eat their daily bread, they may also partake of the bread of life. Strengthen and sustain them, and us, in service to Thee. In His name. Amen.

Air Tour Draws Nearly 200 Here Sunday, Viewing Conservation Work

Pilot Jerry Vasieck (far right) discusses the trip with passengers Mrs. Ernest Lange, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilson. Jerry's plane is a four-seater Stinson.

$1000 Worth of Flying Time Given

Second Conservation Air Tour Gives 183 Glimpse of Farms

The second section of the CAP Conservation District air tour sent 183 adults aloft in a ten hour flying session Sunday.

Technician Edw. Sprague said the figure did not include children. Two pilot hauled several loads of relatives and youngsters at the tour's end.

Nearly 400 Flown
Sprague's figures showed almost 400 adult farmers flown in the two Sunday efforts. Two hundred and six were airlifted last week.

This Sunday's tour was again hampered by weather. Light rains fell early.
And the tour's were halted about 1:30 p.m. for an hour while a light drizzle blanketed the area north of Ord.

Airport Manager Ellis Carson of the CAP called the halt. He said the rain probably wouldn't harm aircraft but it did interfere with visibility.

No Chances Taken
And there were too many planes in the air to take any chances, he said.

The postponement took an hour. As soon as the overcast moved off tours were resumed. They continued until sundown.

An air crash near Alliance also interfered. Two CAP planes, both Luscombes being flown in the tours here, were called to aid in a search originating at North Platte. They later rejoined the tour.

This Sunday's effort was aided by the appearance of three four-place planes secured by Mr. Carson.

Carson invited Rolland Harr, of the Nebraska Department of Aeronautics, Emil Snolik of Schuyler and John Clinch of North Platte.

Leach Buys Plane
Harr showed up in a Beechcraft Bonanza, Snolik sent Jerry Vasieck in a Stinson, and Clinch was represented by Doug Leach of Burwell flying a new Cessna 172. Leach later purchased the Cessna Monday.

Vasieck flew steadily throughout the day except for one or two trips when he was relieved by Carson, Charles Zangger or others.
Leach also flew steadily except for several relief trips. Harr worked without relief.

Local pilots George Benn, Harold Marshall, Ken Stevens and Bob Lynn piloted planes throughout the day except for short relief stints.

This Sunday's tour, shortened somewhat from the previous Sunday's flying plan, covered a 30 mile leg in the eastern half of Valley county.

It began with viewing outstanding practices on the Gilroy farm north of Ord then worked southward until it turned over the Breadthauer farm west of North Loup.

Refreshments for both Sundays (coffee and donuts) were furnished free by the Ord Quiz and the Valley County ASC.

Fajimon Radio and TV service furnished a public address system free both days.

Total Cost $300
The flight line was managed by CAP personnel Vernon Nay and Lloyd Griffith. Registration was handled by SCS men. The tours were arranged by the SCS and the Valley County extension service.

The total cost of oil and gasoline was $300. Carson said, at regular rental rates, the tour represented about $1,000 worth of flying.

Boiler Room Fire in Ord High School

Cold shivers chased up and down the spine of Ordites Monday afternoon when firemen made a run to the boiler room of Ord high school where an explosion was reported.

It has been eight months since a boiler explosion wrecked the school causing some $80,000 damages.

The "explosion" this time turned out to be a balky acetylene torch, on which a leaking new tank of gas started to blaze. Plumbers installing boilers in the new outside boiler room of the school extinguished the blaze before firemen arrived.

No damage was done, and none of the three workmen, Bruce Kelly and Bob Waldeman, Grand Island and Charles Novak, St. Paul were hurt.

The Ord fire department also made a run to the Dora Hodgson rest home Saturday afternoon, where a motor on a dishwasher caught fire. Damage was minor.

Thurber Leaving Burwell; Coder Named Co. Agent

Willis Thurber, county agricultural extension agent in Garfield, Loup and Wheeler counties, has resigned his job effective August first.

He will be replaced by George Coder, Elwood, who has been assistant to Mr. Thurber for the past year.

Thurber came to Burwell in 1941, and was responsible for a revival of interest in 4-H clubs in the area. With more than 350 boys and girls enrolled in the three county area, he has seen several of the top teams and individuals, he coached receive state and national awards.

Coder is a graduate of the University of Nebraska School of Agriculture. Before coming to Burwell he served two years with the Army in Korea.

Burwell to Play Here Wednesday

Burwell will play the Ord Mustangs here this Wednesday evening in a hastily scheduled game. Mustangs manager Rollie Johnson announced late Tuesday.

Johnson stated that he intends to use the game so that this year's newcomers to the Mustangs, who have had to sit out most games on the bench, will gain experience.

The Bins Are Bulging!

Small Grain Crop Is Best in 15 Years

Combines roared through Valley county small grain fields this week as one of the best harvests in fifteen years sent local farmers hunting for storage room.

Grain buyers report business brisk and expect it to get better as soon as "normal carryover" and crop loan bin room is filled.

Over the county yields were running:
Wheat, test 57 to 61, carrying a bit of moisture, yields will average around 40 bushels per acre.
Barley, test 45 to 48, a bit on the damp side, yields running 40 to 50 bushels per acre, mostly 6-row, with 4-row a bit heavier.

Oats, yield out somewhat by several days searing weather, early fields running 70 bushels per acre.

Showers the early part of the week, which gave Ord a quarter inch of moisture, have hampered grain harvest operations. Temperatures have been cool, compared with the heat and high humidity of two weeks ago.

Corn, now standing better than six feet in irrigated fields, is booming. Only a small percent of the crop has tasseled as the Quiz went to press and some late corn has a lot of growing to do. The record acreage of sorghums in the county made excellent progress through the week.

Farmers are torn between desire for clear weather to complete the small grain harvest and second hay cutting, and rains to give the promising corn and sorghum stands a shot in the arm. Some farmers express concern over root development in late corn which seems to be delayed.

Grasshoppers are reported threatening damage to corn, sorghum and late hay and other crops.

The week's temperatures:

High	Low	Precip.
July 18	98	72
July 19	88	72
July 20	87	68 .03
July 21	79	63 .22
July 22	83	63
July 23	84	64
July 24	85

Rainfall for the week totaled a quarter of an inch, bringing this year's total to 19.12 inches as compared with 11.81 inches at this time last year. Sixty-year average for Ord is 15.25 inches by August first.

Old Age Payments Up in 1957

Fifty-five more Valley county retired workers were receiving old-age beneficiary payments from the social security retirement funds during the 1956-57 fiscal year than in the previous year.

Mrs. Verna Rankin, manager of the Grand Island district office of the social security administration, has released figures showing that 218 retired workers were receiving insurance payments totalling $11,109, as compared with 163 beneficiaries receiving $8,359 monthly in the 1955-56 fiscal year.

Beneficiary Payments
Monthly benefits were being received by 91 widows or aged dependent husbands of old-age beneficiaries while payments were also being given to 11 aged widows or dependent aged widowers in the county.

The increase in aged beneficiaries is due partly to the lowering of from 65 to 62 of the age at which a woman without an entitled child in her care may qualify for benefits.

Child Beneficiaries
In December, 1956, 35 children in the county were receiving a $1249-monthly total as minor children of a deceased insured parent.

Six widowed mothers who were caring for child beneficiaries were receiving a total of $254 per month.

Besides Valley county, 97 beneficiaries in Garfield received payments totalling $4,384 monthly. Howard had 330 beneficiaries receiving $14,731; Sherman, 245 beneficiaries receiving $10,463; and Wheeler, 32 beneficiaries, $1,417.

Fr. Tom Siudowski Moderator

Rev. Thomas Siudowski

Fr. Tom Siudowski Moderator

Father Thomas Siudowski, pastor of Our Lady of Perpetual Help church in Ord, has been appointed Diocesan Moderator of the Diocesan Council of Catholic Women and the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, it was announced this week by Bishop John L. Paschang.

Father Siudowski succeeds the late Rt. Rev. Mosynor Francis J. Tschida, who died last summer.

Father Tom was assigned to the Ord parish December 31, 1940.

A native of Chicago, where he was born September 7, 1906, he made his preparatory studies for the priesthood at Quigley Seminary, his philosophy and theology courses were made at St. Mary of the Lake Seminary, Mundelein, Ill., and St. Cyril and Methodius, Orchard Lake, Mich.

He was ordained to the priesthood June 9, 1933. After serving as assistant pastor in Sidney and North Platte he was appointed to the Sargent parish in 1936. During 1938 he served with the Catholic Church Extension Society for several months, before returning to Sargent and his later appointment to Ord.

Irrigation Tour Date Set Aug. 8

With two successful air tours to show conservation practices now history, Valley county farmers will make a ground tour Thursday, August 8, to study irrigation practices.

Paul E. Fischbach

Five Valley county farms will be visited, highlighting gravity irrigation development, boom type sprinklers, use of over 300 pounds of nitrogen on hill dropped corn, use of trace elements in land treating, and bench leveling for irrigation.

Paul E. Fischbach, assistant extension agricultural engineer at the University of Nebraska, will moderate the tour.

Sargent Highway South Completed

Oiling is completed on a 6.7 mile stretch of Highway 183 from Sargent south. The new road will be open for travel this week. Remaining work is forming and shaping shoulders and painting a white traffic stripe down the middle. Three months were needed to complete the project.

And It's All Free!

Home Talent Emphasis Valley County Fair

The emphasis is on hometown entertainment this year at the Valley County Fair set for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, August 11, 12 and 13 at the fairgrounds.

A carnival has been booked to play the fair dates, President Lloyd Geweke announced.

And he added, grandstand entertainment Monday night will be a demonstration by the Ord Volunteer Fire Department with Tuesday night to be filled with a showmanship contest.

The Tuesday night judging will be followed by the sale of the cattle, by custom bought by Ord business firms.

Everything Free
"This year's fair will be entirely free," Geweke said, "free gate, free admission, free exhibits. We are going to ask folks to help by buying Fair Booster Buttons at $1 each, but there's no compulsion to buy."

The buttons are round red and white affairs that bear the legend, "Valley County Fair Booster, 1957, Ord, Nebraska."

Here is about the way the program shapes up:

SUNDAY, AUGUST 11
Morn. — Registration. Exhibitors may enter Saturday or until 8 a.m. Monday.
Aft. — Horse show. (Secretary Stan Nolte is still working out details.)

Farmers Get Water

Governor Anderson Nixes Loup Power Plea to Stop Irrigation

Heavy Dew Keeps Bolli From Burns

A heavy dew Tuesday morning, and quick thinking on the part of Howard Bolli probably prevented the Arcadia man from being burned more severely when he was sprayed with gasoline in attempting to start his tractor. He had removed a spark plug and was turning the flooded motor by hand, when a plug ignited the gasoline.

A roll in the grass extinguished the flames, and Bolli was left with severe burns on his left arm and hand, stomach and hip.

Alone at the time of the accident, he managed to drive to Arcadia where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Nyeel Moss.

Bolli had started the tractor to pump water for his cattle, because the cistern was dry.

But this time Governor Victor Anderson said "no!"

Can Use Water
He told the irrigation bureau to withhold action, at least temporarily, and farmers can continue to use Loup water.

The governor took the matter under advisement after listening to spokesmen for the North Loup River Irrigation District and the Middle Loup Irrigation District.

He said the spokesmen, including former governor and state engineer, R. L. Cochran, pointed out the question of Loup River water rights is involved in a federal court case which comes to trial in October.

Wait For Court
The spokesman suggested that the state should wait to see how the federal court rules, said irrigation bureau chief Dan S. Jones, Jr.

Jones said the Nebraska attorney general has ruled that, under state supreme court decision, the North Loup Irrigation District must pay the public power district at Columbus for any water diverted in excess of 24 thousand acre feet a year.

Under the same ruling, the Middle Loup Irrigation District is supposed to pay for any water in excess of 15 thousand acre feet a year, Jones said.

The North Loup and Middle Loup river irrigation districts won a skirmish in the battle for Loup river water this week.

The Loup River Public Power District, Columbus, Friday asked the state irrigation bureau to regulate diversion of water by the two irrigation districts.

The move was similar to that made by the power company last year, when at the height of the irrigation season, and a near-drought in this area, they tried to stop pump and gravity irrigators from using water without paying the power company's price for water.

But this time Governor Victor Anderson said "no!"

He told the irrigation bureau to withhold action, at least temporarily, and farmers can continue to use Loup water.

Ord Census Down From Last Year

Ord's 1957 population is down from last year, a compilation of school census figures showed this week.

The nose-count gives Ord city 2323 residents as compared with 2410 last year. The official 1950 census gives the city 2240 population, showing a gain of 97 since that time.

In the school district, 2434 residents are listed as compared with 2534 a year ago, a drop of 100.

School officials said the fluctuation was normal. Several survey crews of the Bureau of Reclamation were quartered in Ord when last year's count was taken, and many of these have moved to new locations. Steady construction of new residences in Ord is a good reason to believe that our permanent population is growing slowly.

Burwell Rodeo Set Wednesday

Nebraska's largest community extravaganza, the 34th annual Burwell Rodeo, gets underway next Wednesday afternoon as leading cowboys from across the nation compete for some $21,500 in prize money.

Started by an enterprising group of Burwell residents in 1921, the Rodeo has grown in stature each year to the extent that it has become one of the outstanding rodeos in the nation.

Miss Dallas Hunt, who is Miss Rodeo of America, is reigning queen and will preside over her court throughout the rodeo and will crown the 1957 Nebraska Miss Rodeo as a featured highlight of the festivities.

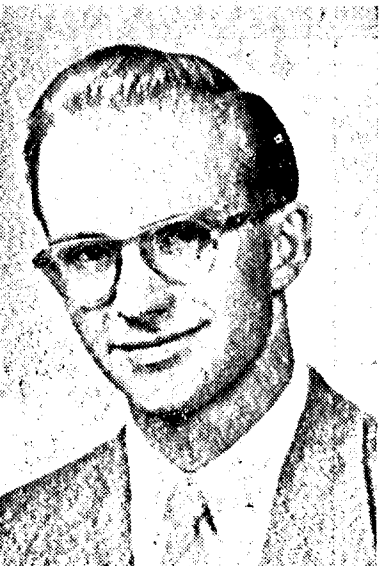

There will be both afternoon and evening performances in the four day program, which runs through Saturday.

On hand will be a Sioux Indian village, Bentler and Morgan rodeo stock, numerous feature acts, while Allen Bing will be the organ and Cy Taitton will be the announcer.

The program will be presented regardless of bright sunshine or lousy, rainy weather.

Three New Teachers Join Ord Faculty

William Roth, formerly of Nebraska, but now a resident of Oregon, will be sixth grade teacher in Ord public schools next year, superintendent Nels Sullivan announced this week.

Roth has attended college two years at Kearney.

Pictured also is Miss Laura Deal, Callaway, who will teach freshman English, and Miss Florence Deal, her sister, who will teach a combination fifth and sixth grade. The school needs a home economics and senior English teacher to complete the faculty.

Papiernik Farm Home is "Do-It-Yourself" Project

The new Chet Papiernik home, eight miles north of Ord on the east side of the river is a do-it-yourself project by Chet, his wife, Irene, and his hired hand, Ralph Pokorney. Chet started construction last fall by cutting rafters in the barn. Outside construction started this spring, and work is carried out in time snatched from farm jobs. Plans for the six room house with a bath and a half bath came from Popular Mechanics Magazine. Papiernik calls in skilled workmen for difficult jobs and for plastering and masonry. Finishing date is expected this fall.

North Loup News

North Loup Flower Show Open Wed.

The North Loup Flower show will be held Wednesday, July 31, at the community building. Entries must be in by 11:00 A.M. and judging will take place after eleven. Doors will be open for the show at 2:00 P.M. During the afternoon tea will be served.

Cash prizes will be given in the children's division, which is divided into two groups, under nine years and over nine. Arrangements must be made by the child himself. Each child who enters an exhibit will be given an ice cream cone. A division for men has attracted a few entrants in the past and more are expected this year.

Shadow boxes are to be entered by clubs and organizations, and cash prizes will be given for these. $5.00 first, $3.00 second, $2.00 third and fifty cents for each entrant. Boxes will be furnished by the committee this year and will be uniform in size and ready to be lighted. Anyone wanting a box to arrange can get one at Hill's Top Market or call Mrs. Vernon Thomas.

There is no charge for entrants nor admission charge. A free will offering will be taken.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Zola Schudel and Mrs. Lillian Pokraka.

In a poster contest to advertise the flower show, Evelyn Thomas won first, Betty Lou Thomas second and Carol Sue Sinteck third. Posters were judged on originality, neatness and relation to the subject.

LIQUID FERTILIZER
You Can Watch it Grow!
We don't have to tell you people who are changing sprinkler pipe, but a good share of this Valley county corn is over six feet tall, and you can just about watch it grow. The dryland corn is almost up with irrigated corn in most fields—as irrigation hasn't been used too much this year. And it's easy to pick out the fields that were properly fertilized. There's an extra foot in height, there's a deep healthy greenness that comes only from the proper balance of phosphate and nitrogen in the soil. Now—barring hail and some searing winds—all this corn will have to do is beat the frost. Here again, proper fertilizer is important as it not only produces the maximum yield but hastens maturity. Even at this date some late corn can still be fertilized.

Next Year's Small Grain....
Those of you who have the small grain harvest about licked are already thinking about this fall's planting. It's not too early to determine the correct fertilizer application—we'll be glad to make soil tests to help you do the job right.

Call on Us!
Just phone 185 if there's anything we can help you with during this busy season when every farmer wishes he were two men and there was 36 hours of daylight. We're here to serve you with fertilizers, feed, insect and crop sprays and other farm needs. And we'd like to talk to you about buying your grain. Phone 185 if we can help you—no obligation, of course.

Midgets End Regular Schedule with 3 Wins

The Ord VFW Midgets ended their regular season schedule with three straight victories this week as Manager Bill Gogan's lads await the opening round Legion district tourney game with Loup City here Saturday.

Loup City was edged by Ord when Dean Nelson singled in the winning run in the bottom of the seventh with one down and the bases loaded to give Ord a hard-earned triumph, 4-3.

Loup City had taken a 3-1 lead in the fourth but the Midgets tied it 3-1 in the bottom of the fifth. Williams, Ord leftfielder, made two running catches to cut off Loup City rally tries in the sixth and seventh innings.

A four-run first inning scoring barrage proved to be the margin needed to down St. Paul, 7-4, as Osenowski limited St. Paul to four hits, Monday night.

St. Paul had scored two in the first and one each in the fifth and seventh innings but the Ord Midgets picked up one in the second and two more in the bottom of the sixth.

Rap Sargent, 13-6 Ord scored seven runs in the top of the seventh as Ord outlasted a stubborn Sargent Midget crew, 13-6, in a game played at Sargent last Sunday afternoon.

Sargent took an early 2-0 lead in the first inning but Ord tied it up in the top of the second only to see Sargent go out in front, 3-2 in their half of the same frame.

Ord forged into a 6-4 lead in the top of the sixth but a two run rally by Sargent again knotted the score in the bottom of the sixth. Osenowski checked Sargent in the bottom of the seventh, retiring the hosts in stride.

Loup City 100 300 0 R H E
Ord 010 020 1 R H E

Fishing Gossip Wet Lines

By Spud Kapustka

Dear Ed:
Howard came up this last weekend and without too much urging he had me convinced that a trip up to the Long Lake area would prove of interest this time of year.

I went to a conference with his wife and she thought it would be all right if he went, so at about four o'clock in the morning we were astir and soon on the way.

Taking the only road from here to Brewster we came upon a stretch where it looked like they were trying to eliminate a lot of corners. We took this freshly graded road and were making good progress for the first few miles. Things might have worked out all right for us if the construction crew had overslept.

As it was we bulled our way right into the middle of the melee of machinery and I'll swear some of those earth movers must carry 20 yards of dirt. It seemed as though they would make a couple of passes at a sandy knoll and it would be gone. The boys gave us a couple of cold stares and we gathered we weren't wanted around. That called for a jog through a pasture and some fence.

We arrived at Brewster still in the wee hours of the morning and Howard, knowing of a fellow from his home town, decided that we should call on him for some information. We got the poor fellow out of bed and after finding out what our mission was (a personally delivered hello from his mother) we were a bit more welcome than an owl in a crow's nest.

After giving our regards to him from his mother we hashed a bit about fishing in their parts and Long Lake was the best advice he could give us.

When we crossed the Calamus River north of Brewster we came upon the newly graded road that takes a fellow right in to Willow Lake but I somehow always feel that a trip to the Sandhill lakes isn't complete without traveling a few miles of trail so we by passed the graded road and took the trail we used in the good old days. Irwin having made this trip for the first time was beginning to wonder if we had associated himself with questionable company.

We did come back onto the graded road after a few miles and then Howard and I began to reminisce on a lake we had been fortunate enough to fish in a couple of years ago. That was a case of a bass every second cast and I have seen nothing like it before or after that time. It seemed we had been nearing the spot where the turnover was that took us to the lake and before we could get our bearings the graded road took us right smack through the middle of the bass water, we so fondly spoke of.

Arriving at Long Lake when the heat of the day was about to take hold, we enjoyed the fresh water we were able to get at the recreation grounds.

The afternoon of fishing proceeded three crappies and though the catch was meager we came home convinced that the lake has plenty of fish in it. The crappies were feeding on the surface most of the afternoon, but what we had to offer them they didn't seem interested in. I hope to go up there again sometime and see if I could figure out what they might like.

Small Fry Plan Golf Meet With Dads Next Mon.

Jay Auble, instructor, and recreational director Bill Gogan announced Tuesday that plans have been made for an Lad-Dad golf tourney for the Small Fry youngsters that have been participating in the recreational golfing program this summer.

The golf tourney, to be held next Monday, July 29, starting at 6 p.m., will have the lad and father team up as partners in a nine-hole match.

The total scores of the Lads will then be compared with the total of the Dads to determine the winners.

Auble also stated that in event any "Dad" lacks a club, they will fit him out with a set at the clubhouse and that should it be necessary, a "dad" will be borrowed, whereby each one of the small fry will have a partner.

Nebraska Prep Coaches Grid Clinic is Set for August 12-14

Athletic Director Bill Orwig of the University of Nebraska announces the annual Nebraska high school coaches clinic, conducted jointly by the University and the Nebraska High School Activities Association, will be held August 12-14 at Lincoln with Coach Bobby Dobbs of Tulsa university and Bill Strannigan of Iowa State as guest instructors.

Upwards of 250 coaches from all over the state have attended previous clinics.

Hig's SPORTS Relash ...

Gregg McBride made a comment the other day about the lack of the former Scottsbluff star who left Nebraska after one year and then wound up at the University of Alabama, where he became the mainstay of the once mighty Crimson Tide. He was voted "Tide of the Year" by the students last year.

McBride related that when former coach Bill Glassford learned that Don was leaving, he tried to induce Don—who is a nephew to Mrs. Esther Covey of the Quiz staff—to enroll in Miami university, Florida, under Coach Andy Gustafson. However, Don took but one peep at the Hurricanes and enrolled at Tusculooosa's institution instead.

Coach Bill Gogan, though the opening practice session is a week away, is bemoaning the lack of veterans for this year's Chant squad. The Chants will have eleven lettermen returning including Bob Armstrong, Kenneth Austin, Allan Bundy, Delmer Conner, Ed Duda, Gerald Dunlap, Kent Hornickel, Bob Linke, Frank Schamp, Don Vasicek and Marvin Witherwax.

The Chants will start their grid slate at home when they play the Holdrege Dusters, then followed with games with Albion, Broken Bow, Central City, Fullerton, Loup City, Ravenna, Gothenburg and Aurora.

With the Mustangs unable to play due to inclement weather last Sunday at Palmer the Mustangs will try another trip next Sunday, this time to Elba.

This is the weekend of the District legion baseball tourney and it is hoped that the wide area of good attendance at all games. Don't forget that Ord will tangle with Broken Bow, Friday, at 8 p.m., while the Midgets will play Loup City at 8 p.m., Saturday, in the Midget class.

The Orange Bowl committee's announcement that the Atlantic Coast Conference is dropping out of the pact with the committee to play the winner or runner-up of the Big Seven (next year, Big Eight) conference comes as no surprise since the ACC has not been too happy with the pact.

The Big Eight was strongly recommended by both the Columbia and NBC radio-television corporations as an annual feature of the Orange Bowl classic—they kick in a good amount of cash into the kitty each year—and it will mean that the Big Eight will, in turn, abandon its rule that no school can make two consecutive trips to the bowl.

Busby, who succeeded Clyde McBride, long rated as one of the outstanding sportswriters of all time, picks the Oklahoma Sooners as first with Colorado as runner-up—thus giving Oklahoma a ticket to the Orange Bowl come New Year's. Kansas, Missouri, Kansas State, Nebraska and Iowa State follow in order.

Wildlife Notes

State Fisheries Stock Area
More good fishing is on the way in Nebraska with nearly one million fish being released during the summer months throughout the state, including a tremendous number of walleye fingerlings.

In the District II area, bass were released at Blakeslee and Village Creeks near Arcadia as well as bass and bullheads in Victoria Springs lake near Anselmo.

New Superintendent
John C. Kurtz, 39, of Crawford has been named superintendent of the Fort Robinson park facility by Nebraska Game Commission director Mel Steen. Kurtz, a native of Long Pine, recently retired from the U. S. Navy.

When the new park facility is completed it will consist of a lodge and headquarters building with 11 rooms and a cafe, 14 rental units in adobe casita, a picnic area and a camping area four miles west of Crawford. It is scheduled to be completed late this summer.

Wilderness Bill
A bi-partisan wildlife preservation bill, Senate 1176, has been introduced in the United States Senate. The proposal, if passed, establish a clear-cut national policy for both the present future of preserving the wilderness areas of the western state for wildlife purposes.

It has been met with the approval of most wildlife groups, religious and medical professions, conservation administrators and the legal profession.

Ord Area Was Elk Habitat
Ord and central Nebraska was once considered choice elk-hunting territory. A recent state historical report states that 300 elk were observed near Ord in 1875, alone.

Record Perch
A state-record 1-pound, 10-ounce perch was taken last week by Mrs. Ethel Engle of North Platte at the McConaughy reservoir to displace the record of Fred McMurtry of North Platte who caught one weighing two ounces less in the Engle catch. McMurtry caught his at the Sutherland reservoir.

Deer Archery Questionnaire
Questionnaires recently completed by persons holding archery permits to take deer in 1956 show that only 10.2% of the hunters were ever successful. At the same time, it disclosed that 65% were reported as having had at least one shot.

Fish Die-Offs
Each summer the Game Commission receives telephone calls from excited persons who report that "the fish are all dying" in this or that pond or lake.

Dodgers Retain Pee Wee Loop Lead
The Dodgers retained their grip on first place as the week's play ended Friday as the Indians finally climbing out of the cellar and taking fourth place behind the Braves. The Yankees ended their losing ways and climbed back into second.

Cedar River SCS Dist. Stocks Fish In Farm Ponds

Three cooperators of the Cedar River Soil Conservation district have recently stocked farm ponds with fish from the Federal hatcheries obtained through the Soil Conservation Service.

Jerome Bernt of Spalding, C. A. Krebs of Scotia and Frank Schudel of North Loup recently received large mouth bass fingerlings this month.

Blue gill fingerlings will be stocked at a later date in numbers that will balance the bass population—usually 1,000 to 1,500 blue gills for each 100 bass.

In order for a pond to be eligible for stocking, certain specifications are necessary.

It should have at least a half-acre surface water area, as well as having a minimum depth of from six to eight feet, depending on the source of the water.

Any others interested in stocking a pond should contact an SCS technician for help in site selection, applications for fish, and management practices for best production.

To the Editor:

We read with much interest Mr. Pesses reference to music of the "New philosophy" training in it develops.

As Mr. Pesses was saying, (result #5) "The child makes use of his time sensibly, and steers his imagination away from pitfalls and idleness." To this we may add one or two old adages: "Idleness rusts the mind, and an idle mind is an evil mind." Why not then, channel these bright minds along the appreciation of the finer things in life?

Again Mr. Pesses says, (#7): "The child develops a broader concept of living"— "a desire for good things and, enjoys cultural experiences."— A definition of music may add a little to this: "Music is that branch of fine arts which relates to the agreeable combination and succession of sounds, embracing melody and harmony."— All this brings to our minds that music is the universal language.

Loup Valley Livestock Club - Strictly a Boys' Club

The Loup Valley Livestock Club is rather a select group. They've had a rule in the by-laws since they organized in 1950, that boys only were eligible members. Ign Pokraka on the left, who has led the club since 1951, is always ready to take the group to contests and on trips. Wherever there's a chance that a little knowledge might rub off on the boys, Ign has been for it. For 1957, the club has a total of 40 projects among its eleven members. That's why, as we have seen above there are three leaders. Merrill Koelling and Ed Penas split the jobs with Ign so more subjects can be covered. Ed is pointing out a part of the wiring system of a tractor. Tractor is a four year project, the Loup Valley boys being in their third year. Members, left to right above, are Larry Mulligan, Rich Penas, Gary Worrell, Arden Koelling, Larry Worrell, Dean Williams, Jamie Knapp and David Pokraka. Additional members are Bruce Severance, Cletus Severance and Lynn Schuer.

Extension Notes

By Katherine Helzer
Valley County Extension Agent

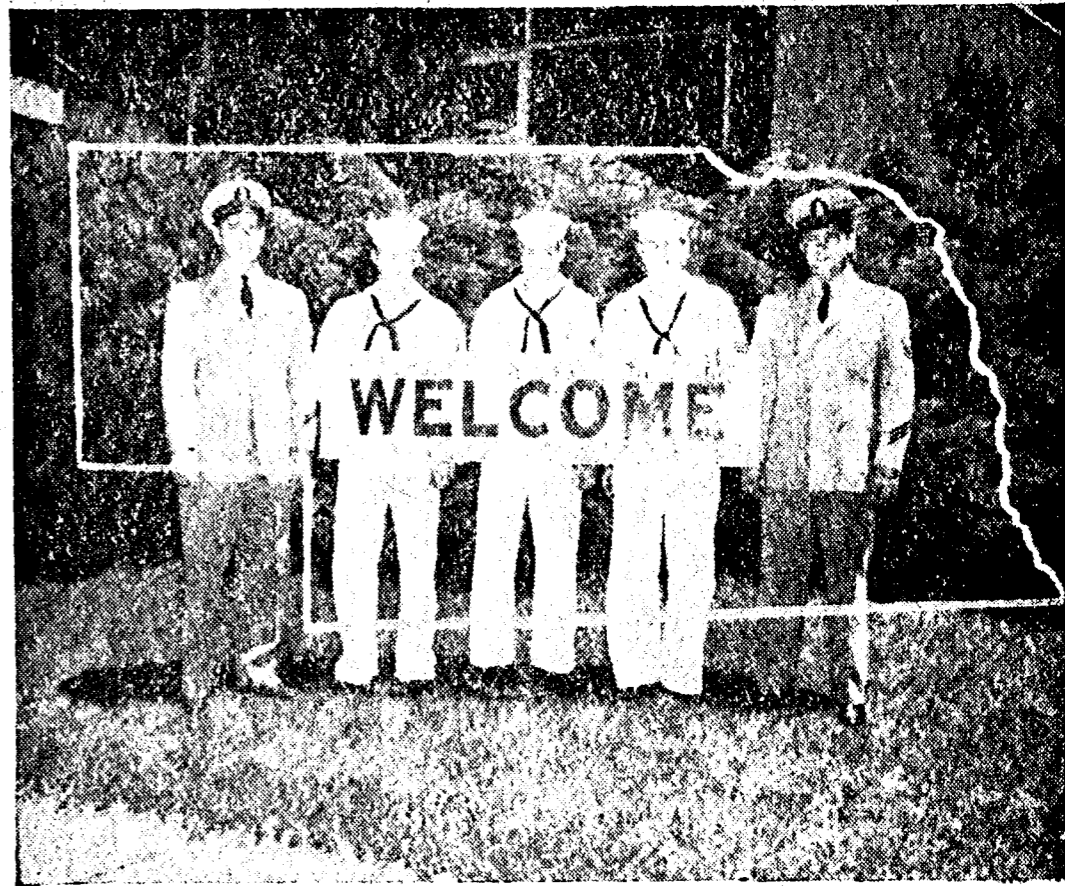

I attended the achievement program of the Merry Mira 4-H Club, this past week, held at the home of Mrs. George Bell and a most delightful afternoon it was. Mothers and I were the guests. The first item on the program was a game period conducted by LaVerna Peterson. It was fun. Three of the girls sang solos, Karen Peterson, Mary Louise Hanke and Susan Merritt with Karen Aldrich as accompanist. Piano solos were played by LaVerna Peterson and Patricia Bell and to close the talent program Bonita Davis gave a reading on "Funny Things That Happen in the United States." The program was followed by a dress revue in which the girls wore the garments made in their clothing projects. And last but not least were the refreshments—such a display of attractive and good food I haven't seen in a long time, all prepared by the girls themselves, open face sandwiches, two beautiful frosted cakes, an angel food and a sponge, cookies and a beverage. I think there will be some ribbons won by this group in both the food and clothing projects.

The regular summer meeting of the county council was held in the extension office on Friday, July 19, with 18 club president and officers present. Mrs. Floyd Bossen, County Chairwoman, presided. The project lessons for 1958 were selected as follows: Laundry Tricks and Gadgets; Outdoor Cookery; Shoes that Fit; Furniture Arrangement. Agents of Hoop for the Family Extension plans were made for special lessons and projects for the next club year. We were sorry all the clubs were not represented but I believe those that were here have selected some excellent and interesting lessons for our next club year.

Summer months are the days for "gypsies" in Nebraska and throughout the country. Clara Leopold, extension home management specialist at the University of Nebraska, says the home maker is perfect bait for these transient door-to-door gyp artists. So beware. "How can you tell a gypster when you see one? First of all, they look extremely authentic, usually have a friendly, pleasant personality and a logical story explaining why they are selling their product. Refuse to deal with strangers. 3. Get all the facts before you make a decision. 4. Never let anybody give you a rush about money. 5. Never contribute to unknown causes and charities. 6. NEBRASKA CAREER MEN who are among the finest in the Navy have been especially selected as official hosts during "Salute to Nebraska" week, July 22-28, at Great Lakes Navy Homecoming. Extending an open invitation to Cornhuskers are 1 to R. Robert A. Stoupa, chief machine accountant of Brainard; Reuben E. Clark, signalman first class of Kearney; Harry C. Skudler, hospital corpsman first class of Omaha; Neil R. Geis, engineman, first class of Beaver Crossing; and Jack D. Hiatt, chief yeoman of Geneva. The committee members will be on hand to introduce state dignitaries to the base and welcome Nebraska visitors during the open house when the special Nebraska recruit company now in training graduates on July 27 as part of the Navy's "Salute to Nebraska." Robert Watson and Harold Flieder of Ord are among the graduates.

Nebraska Horse Owners Clean up at Ak-Sar-Ben

Nebraska horsemen who raced their thoroughbreds at the recent Ak-Sar-Ben meeting hit a record high in purse winnings totalling $230,165. Melvin Bekins, chairman of the Ak-Sar-Ben Racing Committee, said the horses carrying the colors of 94 Nebraska owners thus accounted for 32 per cent of the total purse distribution of $720,240. The old record of Nebraska owners' earnings at Ak-Sar-Ben was $207,567, set in 1956. "Better Caliber Horses" "The fine showing made by these horsemen in Nebraska in winning nearly one-third of our purses is a definite indication that they are realizing greater profits through breeding and racing better caliber horses against some of the nation's finest horses," Mr. Bekins pointed out.

Sargent Man's Plane Overturns

A 72-year-old woman suffered only slight injury when the small plane in which she was riding crashed in U. S. Route 281 just north of Hinton, Oklahoma, Friday. She is Mrs. Sittie Massey, of Hinton, who suffered a minor leg injury. The pilot was her son-in-law, Dr. Merritt Layton Owen, 47, of Sargent, Neb., with whom she had been staying while receiving medical care. Dr. Owen was not hurt. Mr. Owen told state police he intended to land at Anadarko, south of Hinton, but was caught by darkness and believed the Anadarko field to be unlighted.

Trek to Ontario

Ottawa, seat of Canadian government is a picturesque city. It is a blend of old and new—the charm and antiquity of several hundred years offering direct contrast to the feverish building of new homes and new industry that seems to be characteristic of all Ontario.

Our day started with a nine-course breakfast (three kinds of fish!) at the Chateau Laurier, our home for the day and night.

The Laurier is within walking distance of the houses of parliament, which we toured. A new insight on the workings of Canadian government was given us by Rene Beaudoin, speaker of the house. The fact that Canada has just gone through an election, the defeated were moving out, and the victors preparing to move in, added much to flair and atmosphere of the capitol.

One custom on our trip was the selection of a U. S. editor at each meal or gathering to respond to the welcomes given us by our hosts in the spots we visited.

I drew Ottawa, and at our luncheon that day we were guests of the Ottawa city government and board of trade.

Any newspaperman gets accustomed to meeting, talking to, and dining with government dignitaries, but our head table that day had more "high brass" than I've met at one time.

I was flanked by Mr. Merchant, the American ambassador, on one side, and Mayor Geldhart of Ottawa on the other. Members of parliament were numerous in the room.

This is what I said:

"We have traveled over your northlands and still-wilderness areas, where your farmers of today are pushing back the forests to make homes for themselves and the generations to come.

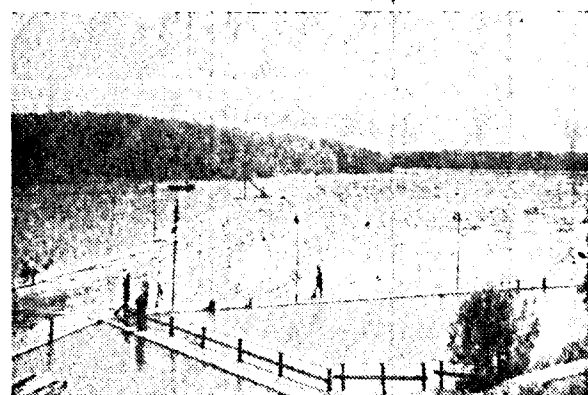

"Today we're in an area where ancient and honorable history abounds in every foot, and where your hardy pioneers cut down forests two and three hundred years ago to make homes where men might live well.

should ever be closed. We both love and desire the same things, and as neighbors, as brothers, we can seek them together.

"Whether you are Protestant, Catholic or Jew, you will accept the premise that our nations are founded under God, and that His love for us, and our Love for Him is the underlying reason for all of us being here.

"Surely, in the travels over your land and my land, is all evidence that God has been good to us. And just as surely, I say that once we spurn His commands to love one another, then He will turn His face from us, just as He has done in the many other countries of the world where the borders are iron curtains, and the nations are sorrowful pits of distrust, poverty and starvation."

On The Lee Side

A Flying Story About A Sarcastic Pilot

Here is a little flying story that occurred in the wake of last week's air tour:

You'll remember that four of the planes came from South Sioux City, Nebr., and they were all piloted by pretty nice fellows.

But even the nicest fellow begins to tire after eight hours of steady flying, even when it doesn't consist entirely of takeoffs and landings.

So along about six o'clock the South Sioux City boys were beginning to show signs of fatigue.

They didn't complain outright, but after every load they looked beseechingly at the Starter Vernon Nay as if to ask: "When are you going to let us go home?"

Vernon and myself were acutely aware that we had sapped about every ounce of willingness from our South Sioux City friends.

Yet every time we looked at the long waiting line we shook off our more humane impulses and signaled for three more riders.

We were never refused, that is, we were never refused until darkness made it unsafe to fly, and only then in a somewhat joking vein because one pilot, after he had flown his last load, walked over to me and with a very straight face said: "Bill, I think I have one more drop of blood in me and you can have it if you want it!"

Well, anyway, after we had closed up shop, I took one of the pilots home where he collapsed on the couch. I pried him off there at midnight promising to call him at 5 a.m. (He still had to fly back to South Sioux City and go to work.)

I kept my promise, or rather the wife did, and we were both up and around at the horrible hour of five. The weather was lousy. It was clouded over, it was dark, and it looked like a good day for a safety-minded pilot to stay in bed. Even Ellis Carson was glum when I called. "He can take off if he wants to," Ellis said, "but if it was me I would go back to bed and live a little longer!"

Ellis' report worried me. I called my pilot to the bathroom window, pointed to the weather outside and said: "Well there she is. What do you think?"

My pilot friend took several seconds to answer. Just as he prepared to speak, a plane roared across the house tops.

He watched it several seconds then dryly said: "I think you better get out to the airport and get that fellow down. You should have never sent him up that late last night with a load."

Then he turned away and stalked into the bedroom.

It took me three minutes before I realized that my friend was digging me for my zeal of the afternoon before. "Okay," I said when his intent dawned, "go on back to bed and see who cares!"

He didn't. He went on dressing and after breakfast, took off for South Sioux City at 7 o'clock. A telephone call informed that he reached there in the excellent time of one hour and 20 minutes.

That's about the story except for the identification of the plane that whizzed by us as we watched out the window. It was Cork Biemond taking off for O'Neill with his flying sprayer.

"But I am never going to tell my South Sioux City friend.

Since he was so smart, I am going to just let him go on thinking I DID send a plane load of air tourers up after dark, and they had to fly around the airport all night long!

Tax Commissioner Says General Fund Headed for Treasury Deficit

State Tax Commissioner Fred Harrington has taken a long look at the Nebraska treasury.

And he came up with a prediction: If after the end of general fund receipts—which include the state property tax revenue—is not increased, there could be no funds left in a few years.

Harrington reported state agencies have been authorized by the Legislature to spend $4.7 million of leftover funds from the 1955-57 biennium.

But, said the commissioner, there is only $1.5 million actually in the treasury.

And, he added, at one time he had to transfer money to the general fund account to keep the fund solvent.

A check of figures showed, Harrington reported, that during the past 11 years, the state has collected $5.8 million less than it levied. Wrongdoing, he stressed, or is in uncollected back taxes.

Harrington reckons two per cent of the taxes assessed never are collected. In addition, a two per cent commission must be paid to the counties for taking in tax payments.

By law, the state can allow only a three per cent cushion above the amount it figures is needed to operate during a year.

The end result, he said, is that the state has been slipping one cent behind yearly.

Harrington asked the state auditor's office to make a thorough study of the problem and come up with some exact figures on why there is such a low amount in the treasury. There is no suspicion of wrongdoing, he stressed, or of letting a bingo.

Vox Pop

The Quiz solicits letters for publication from its readers on subjects of general interest. All letters must be signed. Readers can, however, have letters appear under a non-deplorable. Unsigned letters will not be published under any circumstances. Keep letters short and to the point.

To The Editor:

Naturally I was delighted to read the editorial "In Praise of Dr. Miller" which you wrote for the July 18 issue of the Ord Quiz. I want to thank you for your kind words about me. A pat on the back is truly appreciated when the chips begin to fly.

As to your views on the controversy which is currently in progress, I think you have stated the situation quite accurately. Some of the power boys in Nebraska are doing a lot of squirming right now knowing full well that their support at the proper time would have secured for us the 230 KV line. To save their own skins some of them wanted me to trade votes. A half-billion project for a $9 million project seems quite a trade for a country boy.

Regardless of size or scope, I have not traded votes and I will not. When I came to Congress I told the people of the Fourth District I would represent them honestly and conscientiously and vote the way I considered best for the District, for Nebraska and for the Nation. I have done that.

I believe in public power such as we have in Nebraska. Locally controlled it is far different from the federal power system some Congressmen and some Senators who traded votes want to set up in the Northwest. At the same time I am a firm believer in free enterprise. My firm conviction is that the Government should do for the people what the people cannot do for themselves and that it should not go beyond that. In the Hells Canyon case there is private money capable and ready to do the job. Why should Nebraska taxpayers be bled for $6 million for a dam that is not necessary?

The element of time is another factor. The Northwest needs power now. The private company can furnish that power some time next year. If the federal dam were approved it would be six or eight years before power is available.

The battle is still on in Congress. Last Wednesday I had the necessary votes to kill the Hells Canyon issue at least for this session. However, the Democrats began a series of delaying tactics which prevented the issue from coming to a vote. I have served notice on the Chairman that I will demand daily meetings of the full Committee, with the Hells Canyon issue the first order of business, until the legislation is resolved.

I had expected the attacks from some of the power boys in Nebraska so it came as no surprise. They had tried to put on the pressure before. One man went so far as to urge me to vote for anything so long as we get the transmission line. I will have to vote my convictions.

I believe my record on public power is clear to the world. I have voted for 98 per cent of the projects so far advanced. They were good projects. They were needed and they required federal aid for accomplishment. I voted against a few projects as not in the public interest.

I will continue to vote for sound irrigation, reclamation, flood control and power projects on matter where they are in the United States. They are not bondfoggles. They are needed.

Something Just A Little Bit Different

Something Different happened to me last week. Something I'll bet never happened to you.

I was left in completely solitary grandeur. All by myself for the first time in my life, so far as I can recall. Always I have been with my parents, my husband, my children, my roommate in college or someone, but when Gene left last week I stayed on here alone, as he hoped to come right back.

oOo

We live out of Niswaw three or four miles in the woods, on the shore of a lake, in a row of ten or so of cottages set apart a few dozens of feet.

Our house is a big old red rambler, built now and then and here and there as the family could afford it or shifted in one direction or another. A definite (but unplanned) Cape Cod effect, don't you know? Additions were stuck on the additions, upstairs, downstairs, porches, lean-tos.

So I had quite a bit of room to rattle.

And I did.

I can't say that I was scared. I can't say I was lonely, exactly. More, it felt strange. Did you ever try it, being alone?

oOo

But Flora was next door south and we soon teamed up. I'd take my hard cooked egg over to her house or she'd bring her cold meat over here. We had coffee together often, we compared grocery lists—and mail from home, that most important event of the morning and the afternoon.

oOo

Then Charlotte Baird Payton of Cambridge, formerly of Ord, drove in to visit Flora, bringing her niece. We became a female world.

oOo

Then Dick and Judy Andersen came over from Grell Lake and decided to stay with me, both of them feeling especially at home on lovely Cullen Lake after visits of other years. I was delighted to have them. And with Betty Andersen Moritz and her husband stopping by, accompanied by some friends of theirs, you can see we soon had a quorum.

oOo

Though the only thing we voted on was to organize a pool on what time Gene and Hi would arrive, each of us choosing an hour we thought most likely.

We all missed the arrival time . . . by about two days.

So nobody won the 30 cents, or whatever it would have been at a nickel per head.

oOo

Fish haven't been biting too much this summer, but Charlotte and Marge, Flora and Dick, even Judy, tackled them again and again. Every trip they brought a few in, but their best catch was made in a pouring rain Friday evening.

oOo

No, I didn't go out that time. I'm a sissy.

Mostly the catch on this lake is crappies and bluegills, or pan-fish as they're called up here in this land of lakes and pines and fish.

oOo

How did I like being alone?

Why, I didn't mind it much!

—Irma

I want to thank you again for your excellent editorial which helped erase some of the scars of the battle. At the moment I do not know just when Congress will adjourn but it will probably be around the middle of August. Then I will hit the trail for Nebraska and will, of course, pay a visit to Ord where I hope we can talk further over a cup of coffee.

Sincerely yours,
A. L. Miller, M.C.
Fourth District, Nebr.

P.S.—I am asking permission to insert your editorial in the Congressional Record. I will forward a copy to you.

Dear Editor:

Have you been hearing about our city cousin's vacation? Well here is a report on one vacation.

Here I set on the sand so nice and warm

Trying to soak up some of that Southern charm.

Am getting a nice tan in this sunny weather.

In two more weeks my skin will be like leather.

The only man in sight is a "life saver"

And who wants him with his unromantic gentlemanly behavior.

I'll wait till this afternoon and see what I find.

Probably he'll be over forty and half blind!

"You'll find fun, sun and romance a la carte," the folder said.

Whoever wrote that should drop dead.

A romantic vacation, bah; What a pity.

I left my beautiful, wonderful, romantic job, back in the city.

Ima Farmer.

Respectable Citizen

To the Editor:

I agree with Quiz reader when he says the women in Ord are running around half dressed and half naked. And it's just as bad in other towns. And it seems that pregnant women have no modesty at all. When I was a young woman we wouldn't have dreamed of galivanting around in the public like that. Can't something be done about it?

Heedless Horsepower

by O. Sgglow

The efforts of the Farm Council to launch a drive for a vote on whether to repeal Nebraska's seventh cent of gasoline tax has started anew.

A temporary setback was caused when the group had to refile with the Secretary of State the form of petitions to be circulated.

The re-filing was necessary because of technical errors discovered in the original petition form.

Meissner Dies

Nebraska's parole officer since 1941, Richard C. Meissner of Omaha, died last week.

He was stricken the day he was to appear at a regular parole board hearing. Cause of death was a cerebral hemorrhage.

Meissner was born on a farm in Cherry county where his father had homesteaded. He taught school in Washington county and was superintendent of schools at Morrill.

Before joining the state parole board in 1941, Meissner practiced law in Omaha, mainly with the Court of Domestic Relations.

Bingo Drive

The 1958 election is producing many attempts for petition drives. One of the latest is planned by the State Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Robert Lowe, state adjutant, said the group "pretty definitely" is planning a drive for a vote on letting a bingo.

The 1957 Legislature killed a bill which would have called for a vote on a Constitutional amendment to Speed killed and injured more than 800,000 persons in 1956.

Rosena Benson Weds David Hall

Miss Rosa Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Benson of Lincoln, became the bride of David Hall, son of Horatio Hall and the late Hazel M. Hall of Grotton, N. Y., Saturday, June 22nd at the Chapel of the Lake View Methodist Church. Rev. Dillon L. Hess performed the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was furnished by Dolores Sobotka of Ord, a friend of the bride, who accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Hess, of Lincoln.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle fascinator with a molded bodice and a sheer yoke. A petite collar, seed pearls, and sequins adorned the gown. A deep lace motif accented the tulle skirt over satin which ended in an aisle wide train. Her imported net illusion veil was held by a lace band of seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of red roses.

Miss Terri Wadas of Ord, friend of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a ballerina length gown of orchid. An orchid band with imported net and seed pearls adorned the veil. She carried a bouquet of clustered pink carnations. Dianne Forshee of Aphalin, N. Y., niece of the groom, was flower girl. She wore a white nylon dress over taffeta and a hat. She carried a lace and ribbon basket with red rose petals, which she scattered down the aisle. Dicky Benson of Cotesfield, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. He was dressed in a white suit and carried the rings on a white heart shaped pillow of satin and net.

Best man was Jim Spillinek of Ord, an army buddy of the groom. Ushers were Duane Hall of Grotton, N. Y., brother of the groom, and Robert Benson of Inland, Nebr., brother of the bride. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Benson wore a dress of bluish pink with matching accessories. She wore a pink corsage. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home. The white wedding cake, surrounded with rosebuds centered the bridal table. Mrs. Paul Petska of Cozad, sister of the bride cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Norris Benson of Cotesfield and Mrs. Robert Benson of Inland assisted with the serving. Shirley Holmes of Ord received the gifts and Evelyn Holmes of Ord was in charge of the guest book.

After a wedding trip the couple will make their home at 305 East Cortland Street, Grotton, N. Y. For traveling Mrs. Hall chose a blue nylon acetate lace dress lined with taffeta with seed rhinestones adorning the neckline. She wore a matching lace coat and pink accessories.

The bride graduated from the Ord High School with the 1936 class. She has been employed at Russell Stover Candy Company in Lincoln. The groom graduated from the Grotton Central High School with the 1934 class. He has served in the armed forces and is now employed at the Smith-Corona Typewriter Center in Grotton, N. Y.

Today's MEDITATION

The Upper Room

Read Matthew 25: 34-40.

As he thinketh in his heart, so is he. (Proverbs 23:7.)

A few Friends, known as the Quaker Group, visit a certain prison each month. Each of us is assigned one or more men to see.

One of the men is frank to admit he spends much time planning ways for another holdup when he is released. His present term is for highway robbery.

My plea with this young man, twenty-four years of age, is to replace his thinking of crime with thoughts as to how he can help others and also go straight himself when he goes free again.

All of us do well to check ourselves daily as to our thinking. When we realize evil thoughts are slipping in, then quickly we need strength to banish them. Just to decide we will think only of things free from sin will not accomplish desired results. We need to pray for strength. Through prayer we can seek divine guidance to replace evil thoughts with ones fully acceptable to our heavenly Father. The complete answer of how to overcome evil with good is given in the Bible.

Prayer
Our Father, forgive us our sins.

We thank Thee that Thou hast provided a way of escape from sin from evil thoughts. That we may find help, teach us to come to Thee in prayer and to read Thy Holy Word, in Jesus' name. Amen.

TEMPTING SQUARES TAKE NO BAKING

Here's a perfect warm-weather dessert that takes only six ingredients and ten minutes of your time to turn out. You don't even have to light the oven to make these crunchy nut squares, for the only thing that needs cooking is the vanilla filling. Be sure to use vacuum-packed nuts for pecans with sweet, fresh flavor—they come in handy one-cup size cans so you don't have to bother with a measuring cup. Make the squares in the early morning when it's cool, and you can leave them to chill until serving time. Then when dinner is all set your dessert is ready too... simple, easy and delicious!

ROYAL DATE-NUT SQUARES
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 cup (1 can) Royal pecans, chopped
1/2 cup chopped dates
1 package vanilla pudding
2 cups milk

Pour melted butter or margarine into an oblong pan (10 x 6 x 2 inches). Sprinkle 1 1/2 cups of the crumbs evenly over the bottom. Then sprinkle in 1/2 cup of the nuts and all the dates. Combine the pudding and milk; cook as directed on the package. Pour the hot pudding over the mixture in the pan. Sprinkle the remaining crumbs and nuts evenly on top. Chill until firm, about 3 or 4 hours. Cut into squares. Makes 8 servings.

Max Troyer Writes About Riots, Martial Law in Taipeh, Formosa

(Editor's Note: Max Troyer of Evanston, Wyoming, the nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dillo Troyer of Ord, writes the following which is reprinted from the Rock Springs, Wyo., Miner.)

Max Troyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. Troyer of Evanston, is stationed at Taipei, Formosa, where he is employed by the United States State Department as an engineering geologist. His wife, Jane, teaches conversational English in a Chinese adult school in Taipei.

In a letter to his parents, Troyer tells incidents that occurred in Taipei during the recent riot, triggered by the shooting of a Chinese "peeping Tom" by a U. S. Sergeant. Mrs. Troyer had written previously to assure the family they were all right. Troyer states in part:

"Things are quiet now and since we are all back to normal I will try to write a few lines about our 'block Friday' incident as it is called here.

"Most Americans believe that this was a planned demonstration that got out of hand. I'm sure that the government regret it very much. It is said that only 50 to 200 people of the 10,000 in the mob did the damage.

"If true, they were efficient as they left only the shell of the American embassy in ruins. The building, everything was destroyed or badly damaged, all doors torn down, plumbing ripped away and holes punched in the walls. There was very little stealing.

"Many of the American ladies of the city, including Jane, have been assisting in sorting out the papers from all the files. What a mess! Radios, typewriters, tape recorders, movie projectors, safes everything smashed. The damage is said to be almost four million dollars.

"The day it happened started like any other day. During lunch hour Jane got a call from a Chinese friend warning us not to go out and swearing us to secrecy concerning the call. I paid no heed to this and drove to the Commissary and the PX and then started to the Embassy in business. I got within a block of the Embassy and gave up because of the crowd.

"I then drove to our office which is about ten blocks from the Embassy.

Sewage Disposal Plants Get Grant

Fifteen sewage-treatment plants should be under construction in Nebraska within six months, T. A. Filippi said Saturday.

The chief of the State Health Department Sanitation Division said plans for plants costing $4,679,000 are on the drawing boards right now.

The treatment plants, he said, will help protect Nebraska's most important resource—its water supply.

From the public health standpoint alone it is important to stop dumping raw sewage into streams, Mr. Filippi said.

Will Stock Fish
An additional benefit, he said, is the recreation possibilities. For example, he said, the State Game Commission will stock fish in some streams as soon as pollution is reduced.

Among cities which have sewage-treatment plants under design, Mr. Filippi said are Omaha, Beatrice, Fairbury, Superior and Norfolk.

Milford and Cozad have their blueprints and are ready to award construction contracts, he said.

A treatment plant is under construction at Hastings with the help of a $142,667 Federal grant.

Other tentative allotments of Federal aid, Mr. Filippi said, include: Beatrice, $191,580; Fairbury, $84,967; Superior, $70,129; Norfolk, $118,000; Cozad, $35,441.

Nebraska's Federal aid allotment of $661,075 for fiscal 1957 has all been earmarked, Mr. Filippi said.

Another $674,150 is available for fiscal 1958. This has not yet been allocated among Nebraska cities, the sanitation engineer said.

Applications for Federal aid are on file from Omaha, Broken Bow, Juniata, Osceola and Ogallala. Other cities are preparing to apply.

Daniel Lunney, 78, Dies in Ord, Friday

Daniel Lunney, 78, died at an Ord rest home Friday. He had been ill for about a month, and had been in the rest home three weeks.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the North Loup Methodist church, with Rev. Clarence Buehler officiating. Mrs. Harold Hoepfner sang "Beyond the Sunset" and "In the Garden," accompanied by Mrs. Louise Bretnick.

Burial was at York, Nebr., with the Metz mortuary of York in charge of arrangements. Pall bearers were Dale and Alvin Holmes, Ed Whalen, Jesse Whiting, Albert Sergel and Clarence Lee.

Daniel Lunney was born on July 23, 1879, at Centerville, Iowa, and died at Ord, July 19, 1957, just a few days before his 78th birthday.

Farm - Ag Tips
By Bob Perry
Valley County Agricultural Agent

Grasshoppers:
The grasshopper infestation seems to be quite general over the county, but is much heavier in some places than others. Good kills have been reported by spraying.

The insecticides recommended for control vary a lot in their lasting effect. It is not safe to cut for hay or to pasture for forty days after using toxaphene. 30 days for dieldrin, 21 days for aldrin, or 7 days for heptachlor.

It is a recommended practice to combine insecticides with 24 D when spraying field margins or roadsides or waste.

A lot of questions on what to use for hoppers on gardens have been received. If it is absolutely necessary to spray vegetables, use 3 teaspoons of 50% malathion per gallon of water. Wait 7 days before harvest. Wash thoroughly before using.

Spraying Grain Sorghum:
Now should be the time to get weeds in grain sorghum with 24 D. John Furrer, Extension Agronomist suggest 1/3 pound ester or 2/3 pounds of amine per acre.

Spraying after the plants are 4 inches high and before 14 inches high is the safest time. Earlier may injure the root system — later may injure head and seed formation.

Attention, Sheep Men:
The 21st Annual Nebraska Sheep Day show and sale at State Fair Grounds, Friday, August 2nd, with the sale in the afternoon. Yearling rams and ewes of six breeds will be offered for sale.

Tips on shearing lambs from the Midwest Wool Cooperation:
1. If holding lambs, shearing will give cheaper gain.
2. Lambs are less subject to parasites.
3. Lambs will feed better.
4. An average clip will give some net profit above shearing costs.
5. You will receive an incentive payment for lamb wool.

The WEEKLY Handyman

A living room should look as if it's been lived in... but not for two or three generations.

The simplest way to bring any room up to date is to paint it with modern colors that are easy to apply with roller or brush. But like many handyman projects, the advance work determines how the final results will look.

Here's a few things to do in a previously painted room before you pry the cover off the can:

- Remove or countersink protruding nails, take off picture hangers, electric outlet covers and other attachments.
- Wash woodwork and walls from the bottom up, and then the ceiling. Use a washing compound because a clean surface is absolutely necessary for a good-looking, durable paint job. For a fast, safe job on high work, use two ladders with a plank between.

Prepare walls carefully before applying paint.

Scrape away loose paint, plaster and bumpy spots. If you wish to restore a natural finish to heavily painted or varnished woodwork, use a commercial remover, smooth off with a power sander, and re-finish.

Patch holes and cracks not only in the walls but between window headboards and the wall and around the molding. This eliminates dirt catchers and prevents entry of outside soot. Canned, ready-to-use, patching materials are handy for small jobs, but save money by mixing your own for large patching jobs.

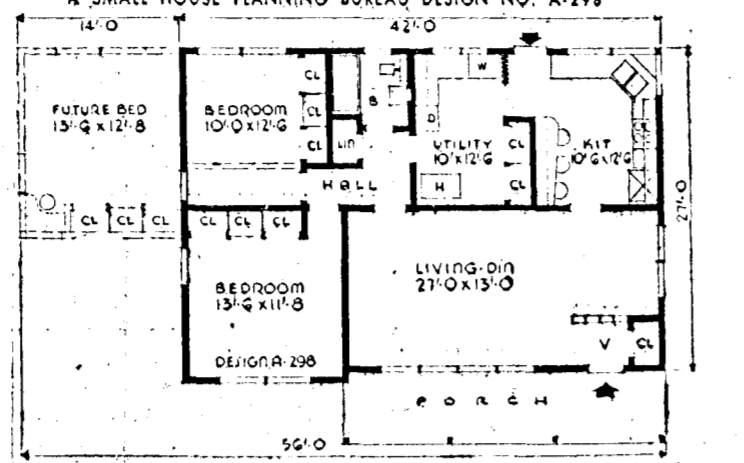

Sand any large patches and seal according to instructions on the plaster container or paint can.

Now you're ready to roll.

Small Home Plans In The Picture

DESIGN A-298. This plan shows three bedrooms, one of which is indicated for future addition, if desired, by merely extending the wall.

Construction calls for an insulated slab on gravel fill and a flat roof calculated for snow loads. Exterior finish is wide siding and vertical redwood walls, built-up roof, picture window and a covered terrace.

Plans also show a combination living-dining room, utility room for

'Save for Home', Couples Advised

A program to encourage young married couples to begin saving for a new home and to acquaint them with modern, long-term financing methods is being promoted by two home-interested agencies.

The National Association of Home Builders and the United States Savings and Loan League have announced a joint educational program to foster home ownership and channel increased savings into mortgage investment.

The Joint "Save for Your New Home" program will be conducted on a local basis through members of the U.S. Savings and Loan League and the NAHB's 285 local and state associations throughout the country.

The officials of the two organizations said their objective is to promote regular savings for a definite purpose—owning one's own home. Both the NAHB and the League's members plan to place major emphasis in their new program on the important role of home ownership in the economic and social development of their communities.

Tomatoes Threatened Blight, Canker Will Prevail

Tomatoes may become seriously damaged this year by two diseases. Tomato blight and bacterial canker will prevail if continued moisture conditions continue. The results can vary from loss of parts of the plant, to complete loss.

Blight (septoria leaf spot) occurs on plants of any age, but first spots appear after the plants have begun to set fruit. When the spots are numerous, the leaves die and drop from the plant. This exposes the fruit to sunscald.

Spraying plants with a copper fungicide, Nabam, Zineb, Ziram, or Maneb will give adequate control if done before the disease is evident. The chemicals are sold under various trade names.

Pole Frame Building Low Cost for Farm

Pole-frame construction, a building method popular with pioneer settlers, is gaining wide acceptance again for a variety of commercial, industrial and farm buildings.

Pole-frame structures are among the most economical to erect because they require only a limited amount of skilled labor, no expensive excavations or concrete foundations, and no costly bracing or scaffolding.

Construction involves only the sinking of long wood poles into the ground. Then, the building's walls and roof are fastened directly to these poles.

Often, such structures can be erected for as little as $1 or less per square foot. Wood siding is recommended as one of the wall materials to hold down costs.

Architects have revived the pole-frame technique for utility buildings, warehouses, garages, bulk storage bins, equipment sheds, boat houses and even factories. To increase the life of such buildings, poles should be preservatives treated, the lumbermen suggest.

Finishes which accent the natural beauty of wood grain continue as a leader in furniture design. This was evident in the new furniture lines exhibited at the National Furniture Design Show in Chicago recently.

Floating Walls Reduce Noise

Floating walls for homes are one of the latest developments for comfort. They don't mean that your house will be able to float away into the Land of Oz. They've been developed merely as a new method of sound conditioning to reduce the amount of noise in a home.

These walls act as mufflers to soak up some of the sound that otherwise reverberates from room to room through the house framing. By hanging plaster or wall-board away from partition studs and ceiling joists much of the sounding board effect is overcome.

It is not a difficult form of construction. Special metal clips are used to hang lath or paneling away from framing members. The clips act as shock absorbers to keep sound waves in the room where they originate. When you combine these floating attachments with gypsum lath covered with acoustical plaster you've got something.

Less Cracking

A bonus in this system is less plaster cracking.

Of course, you can't stop all noise in a house even if you use every known form of practicable sound conditioning including wall-to-wall carpeting. And it's just as well. Robert B. Newman, professor of acoustics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, insists that silence is not always golden. "It can be as annoying as too much noise."

The professor made his remark to members of the New York chapter of the American Institute of Architects. Some background noise is pleasant, he said. When a ventilator was turned off in the MIT library, he found the students disturbed every time someone flipped the pages of a book.

But there's no denying that the rattle of kitchen pans, the flushing of toilets, the blare of a record player in the family room, don't have to be broadcast throughout your home.

Hubby Needs A Relaxing Room, It Says Here

There are women who should see a psychiatrist before decorating their homes.

Many a man has come home from a hard day at the office to find that his wife has painted the living room or study (where he'd planned to relax) a vivid orange or other stampeding color, hardly conducive to his nerves.

Homemakers should take a leaf from medical researchers and other experts who planned a "peace of mind" room for tranquil living, coordinating all ingredients of the room—color, fabric, furniture, lighting and artwork—into a peace theme designed to soothe harried emotions.

The room stressed warm, soft pastels such as dusty rose or pale yellow to provide cheerfulness, light and an airy feeling. Warm colors, the experts suggest, should border on cool colors such as soft blue-green or gray. Two cool colors or two violently warm colors are likely to irritate you.

Red stimulates and speeds the reactions and may make you nervous, they say. Blue seems to quiet the nerves but leads to a depressed feeling after a time. Designers who studied the fabric problem in relation to tranquility reported that novelty or nubby fabrics and highly contrasting textures may be distracting and unenjoyable.

Soft light should be used, they say. Too-bright light is likely to dull appreciation of objects and persons.

Wood Is Cheapest For Home Building

Lumber and wood products are among the most economical materials available to home builders.

But this advantage hasn't limited the use of wood to budget-priced houses.

A recent Bureau of Labor Statistics survey of homes selling for $20,000 or more showed that 77 per cent were of wood-frame construction and 69 per cent had wood windows.

Other features of these higher-priced homes: 74 per cent were one-story dwellings; 91 per cent had two or more baths; 64 per cent had basements and 18 per cent had built-in air conditioning. Nearly one out of every five new houses falls in the $20,000-and-up price class.

Flat Roof Color

Owners of homes with low pitched, nearly flat roofs can re-roof their houses in modern color today, thanks to recent advancements in roofing application methods.

Roofs with as little as two inches of pitch per foot now can be covered with asphalt shingles. This means that thousands of home-owners can give their houses new life with color in place of the dull, uninteresting roofs they now have.

New Beauty For Older Homes

Operation Facelift can give new beauty to older homes. Here is a faded residence, still fundamentally sound, which needs only a covering of red cedar grooved shakes applied over cedar coursing to give it that attractive "new" look. Your lumber dealer can help you plan the improvement without charge.

Operation Facelift

The body should be rested before the mind can be put at ease, the designers point out, so it is important to choose comfortable furniture for your restful room. A soft, high-back chair with an ottoman, one that fits the man in size and pleases him in style is essential to comfort.

Keep out of the growing garden when the leaves are wet. Do not sprinkle the leaves of plants late in the day so they are wet at nightfall. Both practices favor the spread of fungus disease.

Psychologists attribute wood's popularity among homemakers largely to the fact that it was once a living thing. Further, they explain that wood appeals to more of the senses—light, touch and smell—than other building materials.

Variety in Finishes

Choice of the final finish gives the home craftsman great variety in working with hardwood plywood. Clear materials can be used for a beautiful finish, stains or color tints can be introduced in numerous shades or the plywood can be painted.

An underground water pipe of wood, more than 150 years old, was taken up in Philadelphia recently and found to be in an excellent state of preservation. The pipe was about 13 inches in diameter with a five-inch bore.

Williams Return
Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams and family returned Sunday afternoon after a two week's vacation. They left Ord for the Black Hills, where they saw Mt. Rushmore. They then proceeded to Yellowstone, where they saw Old Faithful, Sun Valley, Colorado before returning.

In a log cabin in Yellowstone Mr. and Mrs. Williams suddenly realized what it was like to have no modern conveniences as they had to carry water and had no electricity. Mr. Williams also discovered his electric razor was of no use to him.

Of special interest to the children was the North Pole at Pike's Peak, Colo. The North Pole was started a year ago and is about a fifteen minute drive up Pike's Peak. In the North Pole Shop they found Santa, elves, Santa's reindeer and toy shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams and family have many pleasant memories of their trip.

Wolfe's Have Daughter
Mr. and Mrs. Duane Wolfe of Clay Center, nee Karen Lowenstein of Shelton, are the parents of a daughter born Sunday, July 21, weighing 6 lbs. 12 oz. The baby has been named Kim Rene. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wolfe went to Kearney Sunday to see Mrs. Wolfe and baby.

Lower Speed Cuts Chances of Death in Auto Accidents

If you have an accident while driving 25 m.p.h. the chance of someone being killed is only one in 300. But for each additional 10 m.p.m., you greatly increase the chance for a fatality.

The 1957 edition of "Accident Facts," the statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, shows that the chance of an accident being fatal at 35 m.p.h. is one in 115, at 45, one in 70, at 55, one in 40, at 65, one in 20, and at 75, one in 8.

Mixing Chemicals Shows Promise in Weed Control

Tough, deep-rooted weeds always present a real problem. Ordinarily, one application of 2, 4-D or similar killers will not destroy them.

Some, like bindweed, Canada thistle and nutgrass, have refused to die no matter what we sprayed on them.

Recently, I have been running some tests with mixtures of two or more different weed killers, figuring that if I hit them from two directions, maybe they'll die faster.

The new aminotriazole weed killer for poison ivy will not do much on bindweed if used alone. However, when I use 2, 4-D and aminotriazole, or better yet, a 2, 4-D, 2, 4, 5-T and aminotriazole mixture, I have been able to knock out 90 per cent of the bindweed with a single application.

One of the tricky weeds is nutgrass. No single chemical has done a perfect job. I tried a mixture of Sodar, 2, 4-D and Dalapon and this "witches brew" did the trick.

Mixing Chemicals Shows Promise in Weed Control

The value in using two different chemicals is that each attacks the weed in a different "system." Thus aminotriazole breaks down the plant's ability to manufacture food, while 2, 4-D breaks down the vascular system which distributes that food. With both systems disrupted, naturally the plant starves to death.
