Kids focus on discrimination

Martin Luther King Jr.'s legacy lives on ixth-grader Wayne Schulz encountered discrimination Tuesday in a place where he least expected it - his own school.

He wasn't allowed to drink from water fountains in prime locations. He had to go to the end of the lunch line. And he was ordered to stay in class longer than some of his friends.

"I'm being treated like the blacks were in the old days," Schulz, an 11-year-old white student at Adams Middle

"I don't think it's right," he said. "I feel bad for them – real bad."

Schulz didn't suffer alone. Two-thirds of Adams students faced discrimination based on color - the color of paper dots they received and taped to their clothing following random drawings in their homerooms.

Students who drew orange dots lost many of their privileges. They learned a hard lesson as one-third of the

The school experiment preceded Martin Luther King Jr. Day, celebrated on the third Monday of January with school closings in Wayne-Westland. The project also came as educators prepare to focus on African-American history during the month of February.

Sitting in the lunchroom, sixth-grader Royce Bankhead bemoaned the discrimination he encountered because of his orangedot status.

"I had to wait in a long. line just to get a snack, Bankhead, 11, said. "It's not? right that other people get? to do special stuff just. because of a certain color."

Angry students protested to principal Celestine Sanders as she walked down a busy hallway during lunch. One young man warned Sanders that students might be in her office the following morning to complain.

Sanders and her staff didn't explain the project to students beforehand. They wanted to give the youngsters a true learning experience in discrimination.

Educators let the students talk about the project - and their feelings about it - the following day.

"We wanted the students. to feel what it is like to be discriminated against," Sanders said. "They don't really have a feel for what it was like in the past. A lot of them just see Martin Luther King Jr. Day as a vacation. day. They don't understand, what it represents.

PLACES & FACES

Fun in the sun

Arlene Font of Westland is among 11 winners of a winter getaway to Jamaica from Q95.5 WKQI-FM. She will join Danny Bonaduce and the Q-Crew for eight days beginning March 1. To win, listeners in December had to identify the number of songs played while the station's Motor City Money Meter was running. Winners had the option of accepting $100 or daring to spin the Q95.5 wheel for prizes including a trip to Jamaica. Font chose to seek a prize and will now head to Jamaica.

Let's dance

The city's 16th Annual Daddy/Daughter Dance is scheduled for 7-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 12, at the Bailey Recreation Center, behind Westland Gity Hall on Ford Road. Cost is $6 per couple or $8 for fathers who bring more than one daughter. Grandfathers, uncles and older brothers also may join the fun. Tickets go on sale today at the Bailey

That dance will be followed by the city's Third Annual Mommy/Son Dance, scheduled for 7-8:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13, at the Bailey Center. Cost is the same, and tickets also are available at the Bailey Center. Grandmothers, aunts and older sisters may participate. For both dances, participants will receive souvenir photos and balloons.

Lifeguard training

A Red Cross lifeguard class sponsored by the Westland Parks and Recreation Department is set for 7:30-9:30 p.m. Feb. 4 through March 27, on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Tuesday classes will be at the Dyer Pool in the Dyer Center on Marquette, east of Newburgh. Thursday classes will be at the Bailey Recreation Center behind City Hall on Ford Road.

Cost is $80 per student paid to Westland Parks and Recreation. An additional $54 for books will be required on the first night of class. Registration is available at the Bailey Center.

Students who complete the class will receive Red Cross, CPR, first aid and lifesaving certificates. For more information, call (313) 722-7620.

Voters face tax question for pools

BY MARIE CHESTNEY STAFF WRITER

In June, Livonia residents will be asked to approve a quarter-mill tax increase to upgrade two high school pools to meet state guidelines for competitive swimming.

The Livonia Board of Education Monday gave the go-ahead for administrators to prepare the lan-guage that will appear on the June 10 school ballot.

Council to consider Spectrum proposal

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Westland City Council members Tuesday will decide the fate of a medium-security residential treatment program for delinquent, abused and neglected? girls age 11 to 17.

Residents opposed to the plan are expected to push for council denial during a 7 p.m. meeting Tuesday at Westland City Hall.

Parent Linda Alger said the council has been asked to read aloud materials provided by residents who oppose the controversial plan.

Spectrum Human Services Inc. of Livonia wants to house 46 girls in the former Margaret Montgomery Hospital, a psychiatric facility that closed last year on Joy Road between Inkster and Middlebelt.

Spectrum also wants to move its corporate offices into the 59,000-square-foot building.

The Westland Planning Commission recommended that the council deny the treatment facility but approve Spectrum's offices. The split decision came during a Jan. 7 public hearing that drew some 40 residents opposed to what they consider to be a detention facility.

Plea accepted for man accused in Westland murder

By Darrell Clem STAFF WRITER

A Detroit man charged in a Westland murder pleaded no contest to a lesser charge Wednesday, averting a trial and a possible life sentence in prison.

Antonio Jacob Peay. 20. pleaded no contest to voluntary manslaughter in the May 1, 1996, shooting death of 30year-old Christopher Rugg of Redford Township.

Peay was originally charged with first-degree murder.

In accepting a plea agreement. Peay will face eight to 15 years in prison when he is sentenced Feb. 20 by Wayne County Circuit Judge Sean Cox. Westland police officer Scott Fetner said.

Pear faces an additional two-year term for a felony firearms charge.

A second defendant. 22-year-old Thomas Lamar Walker of Inkster, is still awaiting trial for first-degree murder. He will face life in prison if convicted as charged.

Walker's trial was postponed Wednesday because he and his defense attorney had "irreconcilable differences." and he will receive a new lawyer and a new trial date. Fetner said.

Rugg was killed May 1 during an incident that started in Inkster and spilled over into Westland. Police said Rugg was fleeing on foot from Peay and Walker when he was gunned down on the west side of Henry Ruff Road near Fetner testified during an earlier court hearing that Rugg apparently had gone to Inkster to avenge an earlier robbery when he was slain. Statements that Walker made to police also indicated that Peav had sold "bad dope" to Rugg. Fetner has said.

Police found Rugg's body about 3:15 p.m. He had been shot four times - once in the head, once in the back and twice in the chest.

Police statements indicated that Walker and Peav had a .357-caliber revolver and a 9mm handgun.

Rugg also was believed to have been armed when he went to seek out Peav and Walker in an area of Inkster known as "Little Saigon." Fetner said.

During a June 18 hearing in Westland 18th District Court, defense attornevs David Cripps and Marcia Covert argued that Rugg fired shots at Walker and Peay while they were standing on the street.

In ordering Peay and Walker to stand trial: however, 18th District Judge Gail McKnight ruled that there was no evidence to prove that Rugg ever fired any McKnight also admitted statements that Walker and Peay made to Westland police. Walker admitted firing shots at Rugg as the victim fled. Fetner Peay's statement was less extensive. but McKnight ruled that Peay incriminated himself when he nodded in the affirmative to questions posed by Fetner about Rugg's murder.

Defense attorneys have tried to argue that Rugg may have provoked Peay and Walker and that the defendants shouldn't have been charged with firstdegree murder.

But prosecutors and police have noted that Rugg was shot twice after he had fallen to the ground, including once in

Engler signs state bill protecting Sassafras Trails from development

BY DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Gov. John Engler has signed a bill aimed at protecting a 64acre Westland nature area, Sassafras Trails, from residential development.

"We're real glad about that," Friends of Sassafras Trails member Teresa Robbins said Friday. "We really had no doubt that the governor would sign the Engler's support came one month after the state House and Senate passed a bill allowing the Wayne-Westland school district - owner of Sassafras Trails - to negotiate with natural resources officials to protect the land. The state plans to give the school district $520,000 to secure the development rights for Sassafras Trails, a heavily wooded area northeast of Palmer and Wildwood roads. School board president Patricia Brown welcomed the news that Engler had signed the bill. "That's great news," she said, Friday. "We need that money for rext-year's budget." Robbins said she is encournged that the school district and mitural resources officials will; now be able to resume negotiations for a contract protecting the property.

School officials had discussed possibly selling Sassafras Trails during a severe budget crunch three years ago, but the citizens group launched an unrelenting crusade to protect the land from development.

State Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton Township, and state Rep. Eileen DeHart, D-Westland, also joined the fight and worked tirelessly in Lansing to pass pro-Sassafras Trails legis-Sassafras Trails supporters became alarmed in December when a state Attorney General's opinion raised questions about whether the property qualified for the $520,000.

Last summer, changes to the Michigan Farmland and Open Space Preservation Act resulted in an opinion that the state couldn't legally buy the development rights.

But Bennett pushed a bill that allowed the Sassafras Trails negotiations to continue because they had began prior to changes as early as Tuesday, during a 7

Friends of Sassafras Trails now hopes to convince Wayne-Westland school officials to refrain from selling the old Wilson school on Wildwood, on the western edge of Sassafras Trails.

"Wilson school is right in the heart of Sassafras," Robbins said Friday.

Livonia MEAP records math loss, gain in reading

BY MARIE CHESTNEY STAFF WRITER

Five years of steady gains in math scores for Livonia school students came to an end when this year's crop of fourth and seventh graders sat down in September to take the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) math test.

Livonia Public Schools' fourth and seventh graders fared better on the MEAP reading test. Fourth grade scores rose, while scores for seventh graders stayed just about the same.

Statewide, both math and reading scores dipped, causing much surprise among educators.

"We're a little disappointed they're down, but they're down statewide," said Superintendent Ken Watson. "We didn't see dramatic declines. We're disappointed, but not discouraged."

Livonia's fourth-grade math scores have been building since its 1991 base score of 43.4. The 1993 score was 49.0; 1994, 67.2; 1995, 74.5. In 1996, the score dropped back to 69.

Livonia's seventh-grade math scores have risen since its 1991 base score of 39.9. The 1993 score was 45.8; 1994, 56.7; 1995, 65.0. The 1996 score slipped back to 63.2.

Schools statewide gave the tests two weeks earlier, Sept. 30 instead of the previous Oct. 15, said Marlene Bihlmeyer, curriculum director. The loss of two weeks worth of math review may have hurt, she said.

"In math, research has shown there's a loss of knowledge and skill that occurs over the summer," Bihlmeyer said. "The loss is greater in math over the summer break than in reading. Kids might now have an opportunity in everyday life to apply some of this higher-level math

Board of Education approved new math textbooks for grades K-6. The new series will be phased into the district's 22 elementaries over a two-year period. The series is nothing like traditional math books long-used; they are geared more to solving problems such as those found on the state's MEAP test.

MEAP test scores for students who began the new series in September won't show up until next year. Scores for students who begin the new series next September won't show up for two Increasingly, Bihlmeyer said, the MEAP math test is becoming more like a reading and writing test. "Before, there were pages of numbers. Now there's more word problems."

Educators wonder if this year's drop in math scores is a blip in an upward trend, or the start of a new trend downward.

"Were the 1995 scores unusually high?" asked Al Edwards, research and evaluation specialist. "Is the 1996 score more realistic?"

Livonia's fourth-grade reading scores are still continuing an upward climb from a 1989 base of 46.6. In 1993, the score was 48.3; in 1994, 50.8; 1995, 54.6; ments set by the state.

Starting with a 45.2 bace in 1989, Livonia's seventh-graders have struggled in the years since to boost their scores. In 1993, they scored 43.9; in 1994, 44,1; in 1995, 50.8; and in 1996, 50.1.

"We would rather see steady continuous progress than huge leaps in any one year," Edwards said. "Big leaps are hard to sustain."

MEAP tests are now given to different groups throughout the year. Livonia's fifth- and eighthgraders took theirs in March. They sailed through the writing test and stumbled on the science chair this year's events.

Thomas, Scott is one of the original founders of the event. The two were driving through Plymouth one year during that city's annual ice extravaganza, and began thinking about how Westland could celebrate during the winter months.

"The mayor and I though we needed to do something in Westland in the wintertime," she said. "On a winter weekend, we wanted to give them something to look forward to.

"We're hoping for (temperatures in the) 20s and a nice snowfall," she said.

Since the festival's inception, the Westland City Council has allocated $25,000 per year to pay for the WinterFest. The first year, organizers used the entire amount; the second year, $20,000. Scott said she hopes that eventually the WinterFest will be totally self-supporting, with a community-sponsored base.

"I wanted civic organizations to get involved," Scott said. The first year of the festival, bitter temperatures deterred crowds, she said "but it didn't stop the spirit of the WinterFest."

New this year will be businesssponsored ice sculptures in addition to ice sculpture demonstrations by the culinary arts proation Director Chuck Skene co- gram in the Wayne-Westland schools. Demonstrations will Along with Mayor Robert take place both Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 1-2.

> The Westland Community Foundation is also planning a special WinterFest reception for business people Thursday at the William Ford Vocational/Technical Center, 36455 Marquette. Scott said she hopes the event grows in the coming years.

"Someday, I hope to have it throughout the city," she said. "Cooperation with the civic organizations has been fantastic."

Participating in the Winter-Fest is actually a fund-raiser for the community groups. Ten percent of the money raised is given back to the WinterFest committee, with the respective groups keeping the remainder for their own coffers.

General information will be provided about the festival over the next two weeks in the Observer. Full schedules are available at city hall, Parks and Recreation, and at various places around town.

Performers: The Earth Angels, a Westland-based group of young performers, will sing and dance during the upcoming third annual Westland WinterFest. They will take to the stage at 5 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 1, and 2 p.m., Feb. 2, at Bailey Recreation Center. The group is seeking youngsters to audition to perform for family reunions, schools, retirement parties, festival, sock hops and parties. State lawmakers face key labor issues this term

BY TIM RICHARD STAPY WRITER

Two major labor issues are back before the Michigan Legislature, despite the time lawmakers spent debating them in 1995.

First, minimum wage. The House passed an election season hike in the minimum wage, but it died in the Senate Labor Committee, chaired by Mike Rogers, R-Brighton.

Reason: House Bill 4180 hiked the restaurant server's mini-or $2.52. Business argued that servers, with tips, were making far more than the minimum, and that no hike for servers was necessary.

This year, Sen. Loren Bennett, R-Canton, introduced Senate Bill 1 to raise the minimum wage from $3.35 to $5.15 an mum wage, which is pegged at hour. It would mirror the federal 75 percent of the base minimum, minimum wage change enacted by Congress last year. His bill reportedly didn't touch the server's $2.52 minimum.

CAPITOL CAPSULES

SB 1 was denounced immediately by the National Federation of Independent Business when it went to its first hearing before the Senate Labor Committee last

Most businesses in the state already pay above the minimum wage in order to attract and retain quality workers," said Charles Owens, NFIB state director, "However, small businesses currently exempted under federal law should have the flexibility to determine wage levels that the current Michigan law provides.

"Small business owners believe the marketplace, not the government, should determine the wages and prices of business and commerce." Federal law doesn't apply to firms with less than $500,000 in gross receipts that aren't in interstate commerce.

Worker's comp

Second issue is worker's compensation reform. Last May Rogers got his SB 895, aimed at cutting fraud in worker's compensation, through the Senate on a 21-16 party-line vote, but it died in the House Labor Committee.

Rogers said his bill would halt co fraud and "wouldn't cost injured ... workers a penny."

"If that's all it did," replied Democrat Ken DeBeaussaert of c. Macomb County, "we could come ! to an agreement." DeBeaussaert said Rogers' 895 tried to overturn two court decisions, rewrite workers comp eligibility standards, retroactively terminates benefits for those paid under the old standard _ and generally. -

Local host families needed for students

How would you like to learn about a foreign land without ever leaving your own home?

Lynne Levenbach, local coordinator for the PAX Exchange Program, and Gideon Levenbach, who represents World Learning, are seeking local families to host international high school students for the 1997-98 school

Whether you have young children, teenage children or no children of your own, you can be a host family if you can provide a bed, a place to study, meals and a loving heart.

Teenagers from all over the world dream of coming to America to spend a year as a foreign exchange student, living with an American family, and attending an American high school. They take English language tests, endure personal interviews, save their money, prepare an application, gather references, and then hope that an American family will want them. The students have their own medical insurance and spending money.

The Levenbachs receive hundreds of applications. They will work with volunteer families to help them select the student who is the best match with the family's interest and lifestyle.

Everyday activities will take on new meaning when you share them with a student who is eager to discover the American way of life. At the same time, families will learn and grow as ideas are exchanged and lifestyles compared.

Families can open up a whole new world to your family as well as to the visiting girl or boy.

Term limits have consequences, lobbyist warns

BY KEN ABRAMCZYK STAFF WRITER

A former Speaker of the state House of Representatives believes term limits will eventually lead to a part-time state legislature.

"It will be an evolution. It will be difficult for someone to take six years out of their career, but there will be a natural evolution to a part-time legislature," Gary Owen said. That continual transition may lead to difficulty in reaching a consensus on longdebated issues.

Now a chief executive officer with Governmental Consultant Services, Owen was responding to a question from the audience at the Canton Economic Club at a lunch Friday at Summit on the Park where Owen was the guest speaker.

Owen was elected to the state House in 1972, and served for 10 years, then became Speaker of the House for six years. A native of Alabama. Owen was educated at the University of Michigan, receiving a bachelor's degree in economics and a master's in urban planning.

A Ypsilanti Township resident. Owen works for the second largest lobbying firm in the state. Lobbyists from both major political parties work at the firm, which represents Chrysler Corp., Consumers Power, Masco Corp. and Detroit Auto Dealers Association

Owen believed term limits will carry some consequences for state lawmakers and the general

"Now you will have a new group of people who will control the House. (Voters) will be able to keep a group of reasonable group of people in the Senate," Owen said. "But that's just speculation."

In other state politics and policy, Owen predicted:

■Uncertainty of what will happen with the gas tax, but believed there is a "tremendous need" for it.

■It will take at least two years for state lawmakers to rewrite state statutes to govern deregulation of electric utilities:

"In the short-term there will probably be a lot of screaming, but once it's done, it will be better for everyone," Owen said.

The state will lose between standing job. $600 million to $3 billion in a lawsuit on special education funding to local school districts. "It is clear it is a mandated program," Owen said. "We didn't

"It will be a significant decision and it will change drastically what's going on in Michigan."

pay for it.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack later asked what the likelihood that the state of Michigan would be "on the hook" for this money when it is the only state that mandated special education programs up to the age of 26.

Owen said the state probably would look for ways to trim the program's costs.

Another lunch guest asked Owen about the future of college education costs.

"I don't believe the state has adequately funded higher education," Owen said. "The state has funded many capital improvements on campuses, and the community colleges, which are funded locally, are doing an out-

"But I think there will be less and less money available for higher education." Student loans are available, but many Canton Township residents may not qualify for financial aid, Owen said.

On campaign finance issues and in response to a question on possible reform, Owen remembered one of his re-election campaigns where he spent $15,000 and his opponent delved out $12,000. It was considered the most expensive campaign in the state at the time.

"Now, it's up to a half million," Owen said.

Raising campaign money was called "the most distasteful part of the job," Owen said. "But if you take the private sector out of the process, what do you have

"We have a free enterprise system. We may have too muchregulation in some areas and not enough in others. But it has Susy Heintz is back at work for the Engler administration.

"Her title is business and education liaison with the Jobs Commission," said spokesman Jim Tobin. "She has great business connections, knows how to get things done in business and government, and knows our welfare policies."

Tobin said Heintz's jobs will be to "1) promote school-to-work initiatives with business leaders and 2) encourage private business to offer jobs to welfare clients."

"The Sooz" will be stationed in the Jobs Commission's offices in the Detroit state office building at 1200 Sixth. She started late in 1996.

Heintz, 47, moved to Macomb County in mid-1996 to be the Republican sacrificial ewe against Democratic U.S. Rep. David Bonior. She had to fight a primary against the late Gil DiNello and went down as the statewide GOP vote shriveled.

Heintz is the former Northville Township trustee, clerk and supervisor; two-term Wayne County commissioner; SEMTA public transit board member; and head of Gov. John Engler's Detroit office from 1991-95. She left to chair the state Republican Party and left that to make the congressional run in Macomb County after no other candidate could be recruited to tackle Bonior.

Her Christmas card had a return address of Clinton Township.

DNA records kept

State Police may now keep DNA (genetic) records on people convicted of heinous crimes under laws sponsored by Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth. The package was signed by Gov. Engler earlier in January.

The laws require records to be kept on convicted murderers and kidnappers, even if they are juveniles. They prohibit the release of a state prisoner without the taking of blood and saliva samples.

"The police have a new weapon in their fight against crime. They will solve more cases and do so more quickly," Law said.

BEAUTY AND THE BEST

Jeffrey Bruce

Simplify your beauty routine

One of the more interesting details of Princess Di's divorce is the fact that she spends $6,000 a year on her underwear. There is no mention of how much she spends on her colonic irrigation, gym fees, aromatherapy, or cosmetics, but chances are it is a significant amount.

It's amazing how readers of celebrity magazines are getting used to such excesses as Mrs. Marcos' shoes, Zsa Zsa's jewels, Ivana Trumps' various nips and tucks, etc. These are definitely what you could call High Maintenance Women. They require endless shopping sprees, designer clothes, lots of jewelry, many vacations, constant attention and lots of upkeep.

In the 90's most women are striving to achieve the most in a limited amount of time usually with a limited budget. Their stimulation and fulfiltment in life comes from other sources. We'll call them the Low Maintenance Women.

How can you get optimum results without spending the entire day at the beauty salon? If the only thing you make for dinner is reservations, and if you have full-time domestic help and no children — feel free to stop reading now.

Set aside an extra 15 minutes for a great bath with some essential oils, a big loofah and a glass of something delectable. Take time to look in the mirror and repeat as often as necessary "You look great" or "I like me and I'm going to stay in shape"

You'll save thousands on therapist's bills. Of course the HMW can be found with a personal trainer and a wardrobe full of color-coordinated aerobics outfits, tans that are out of season and definitely achieved out-of-state, never more than 10 feet from their cellular phones, and their foreign cars valet-parked. The highlight of their day is keeping appointments with the plastic surgeon, planning the next tummy tuck, etc.

HMW, as stated, love to hunt down the latest craze in plastic surgery – lips made larger ala Goldie Hawn in "First Wives Club" or the newest flavor-of-the month plastic surgeon. Save yourself the need to exchange horror stories by always wearing a foundation with sunscreen. Most damage is done by the sun — protection on a daily basis is the best way to slow down the signs of aging. Get yourself a skin care regimen that fits into your time schedule and stick to it.

Avoid stress — there is always a special beauty to a calm, happy face.

There is no end to what a HM gal can spend on her hair. Flying to New York every six weeks to be touched/colored only by the hands of...(fill in the blank) is just the beginning. There are tons of treatments, most of them unnecessary, that can be enjoyed by the sybaritic. Smart women (LM) know that hair style is based on age, weight and lifestyle. For the most part the ideal length is in the middle, between the jaw and the shoulder.

We all know how much trouble long hair can be, but short hair requires some attention as well—constant trimming and coloring if you want to maintain the look. Being handy with different sized rollers, a light hair spray and styling gel can get you through most social occasions.

It would be nice to have The Make-Over Team arrive at your door each morning, and there are probably some women who consider this a necessity. But for the rest, there are a few tips. Pick neutral colors that match your skin tone. Choose long lasting make-up. Use lipsticks that are dewey-matte, and always use lip liner to keep the color on.

Carry powder with you through the day so you touch up that shiny break through. Even if you don't like eye shadow in the day, always wear mascara. If you want to wear the new outrageous shades of nail polish, keep your nails shorter, and remember that dark shades show chips quicker and this along with toe polish can push you towards being a HMW.

The sky is the limit for the HM devotee. After catching the shows in Milan and Paris a couple of times a year, you'll need some weeks at the spa or in the Bahamas to recuperate. It can get tiring remembering who saw you in what last, and very few can afford to wear each outfit once. The LMW knows to base her wardrobe around a few, well-designed pieces in classic colors that last for years, and that to accessorize each season is all she needs to stay up-to-date and interesting.

Jeffrey Bruce's beauty column appears the third Sunday of the month. During February he will visit salons in Romeo, Highland, Rochester, Flint and Livonia. For more details call 1-800-944-6588. Don't forget to send your beauty questions to Jeffrey. Bruce, clo Malls & Mainstreets, The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, 48009.

Internet exhibit is 'dino'-mite game

Dinosaurs from the past and cyberspace links of the future unite to teach families how to use the Internet for information. Wonderland Mall proudly hosts this special program through April.

By Susan Demaggio

Eight major corporations linked expertise to bring "The Cyberspace Safari" a virtual field trip about dinosaurs, from the Detroit Science Center to suburban families and school groups via an Internet program set up at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

The $750,000 exhibit opened Jan.
16 and will continue through April.
A trip to "The Cyperspace Safari" begins with a 20-minute, multimedia demonstration on using computers and the Internet. Once this "ticket-punching" is complete, the real safari "Dinoscience" begins.

Visitors complete a quiz using Internet links to help find the answers to questions about four different dinosaurs. A five-minute time limit on each question allows guests extra time to explore the Net at their own leisure.

The safari is based on the Dinoscience exhibit in progress at the Detroit Science Center downtown. It was created by the same company (Research Casting International of Canada) that provided the skeletons used in the movie "Jurassic Park."

All presentations are conducted by trained Detroit Science Center staff. According to Mel Drumm, director of the center, more safaris are on the way exploring topics like Flight, Light, Lasers, Physics and the Human Body.

Schostak Brothers & Co., owner/operators of Wonderland Mall, are providing 4,000-square feet of retail space for the project.

"We are delighted to join forces with the Detroit Science Center to make this fun and valuable project a reality, as it enhances our year-round community programs," said Robert Schostak. "It fits well with the changing role we see for community malls, as we work to offer more family-oriented entertainment and educational experiences to our full-service shopping and dining."

The Microsoft Corporation provided all the software programs used. Other sponsors include Intel Corp., (computer processors and memory); MicroAge Infosystems (computer networking and systems integration); Ameritech of Michigan (ultraspeed T-1 phone lines); PCR Personal Computer Rentals (providing 20 workstations); Online Marketing (web site creation and Internet gateway); and WOMC Oldies 104.3 (publicity and corporate support).

"The Cyberspace Safari" is open at Wonderland Mall, Plymouth and Middlebelt roads in Livonia, Monday-Saturday 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday noon to 5 p.m. Groups can contact the Detroit Science Center for reservations (313) 577-8400, ext. 417. Children under 16 must be accompanied by an adult. Fees: $7 per hour for each family using a workstation. $3 per hour, per person for pre-arranged groups. $4 per hour, per individual. $5 per hour, per person for surfing the Internet during non-peak display hours.

Visitors will find the exhibit near the Service Merchandise entrance to the shopping center.

N'land chief plans center's future

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO

John Bemis is all eyes and ears as he strides through the Northland Center in Southfield.

The mall's new manager asks sales associates in a teen apparel store to "turn down the music," then makes note of which mall floors need more polishing.

He pauses to make sure a customer studying the mall directory knows where she's going, then he spies the "Half-Off" sign being hung over the leather jackets in one shop window.

"Those pieces should have sold during the holidays at full price," he muses. "That's quality merchandise and good design."

As Northland's new boss, Bemis is determined to take Michigan's oldest and largest shopping center into the 21st century. At 37, he is one of the youngest mall managers in the country, but responsible for one of the toughest properties at 2.2 million square feet of retail space across 160 acres.

The center is 93-percent occupied so Bemis, a leasing specialist, has been charged with filling the mall.

"I've targeted three categories; Northland needs a full-service bookstore, a quality sitdown restaurant, and some higher-end men's clothing stores," he said. "And we'll get them because this center is on the cutting edge of what's happening in our "Northland is the first mall to redevelop in a quasi-urban center. We're neither urban nor suburban. We can't be lumped. We can have

Top Job: John Bemis plans to move Northland forward. our cake and eat it to, have all the hot fashion trends our shoppers want, yet maintain standard suburban merchants like Target and JC

"Our plan for the new year is to fully retain our share of the urban market while at the same time expanding and recapturing the office building trade nearby, in addition to wooing shoppers from north Southfield, Berkley and Oak Park.

"We want to get back our Detroit shoppers who have wandered over to Oakland Mall, Fairlane and Twelve Oaks." Bemis arrived at Northland in November to replace Catherine O'Malley who left to manage Twelve Oaks in Novi. Bemis said he was recruited by Compass Retail Inc., the management subsidiary of Equitable Real Estate Investment Management Inc., (which owns Northland Center) from his position as regional manager of leasing for Schostak Brothers & Co.

A resident of Rochester Hills, Bemis and wife Michelle, have two children, Elizabeth 7, and Michael,

"I bring them over to the mall on my day off, in my jeans, and we shop Northland," he laughed. "We're hoping to spread the word that Northland is a beautiful, safe, quality shopping environment. People who come back and see it since the big remodel last year have lots of good things to say."

Bemis graduated from Central Michigan and managed restaurants for Bennigan's before joining Homart Development where he held various positions in leasing and management. After a stint with Equity Properties and Development, he joined Schostak where he handled specialty leasing and redevelopment planning for eight shopping centers in four states.

He is the son of Don Bemis, former superintendent of Utica Schools and later State Superintendent of Schools. He grew up in Utica, the eldest of four children.

"We're a tight-knit family still," he said proudly. "In fact, my dad stops by the mall to visit and enjoys talking to the staff. I warned them! The people at Northland are such professionals. I feel fortunate to have joined such a team."

Bemis reports that the Northland Center ended 1996 on a high note, with holiday sales up three-percent over last year. He is looking forward to Jan. 27 when he takes a seat on the Board of Southfield's Downtown Development Authority.

"I see the shopping centers of the future as very social places where people are offered a very tactile experience. They will not be sterlle consuming environments."

Creme de la Mer

Cult cream classic soothes

At this point in winter, everybody has dry skin somewhere on their body - so what better time to extol the virtues of Creme de la Mer, sold exclusively at both Neiman Marcus and Saks Fifth Avenue at the Somerset Collection South in Troy.

At $155 for a 2-ounce jar, the cream better be invented by a rocket scientist - and it was! It takes four months to make each jar that must be hand-filled according to Julie Leong, company spokeswoman.

"There's nothing else like Creme de la Mer in the cosmetic market and it's truly a fascinating product," she said.

cist Max Huber to treat a bad rocket fuel burn, the sea-kelpbased moisturizer can be used on the entire face including the eyes. After Huber died in 1991, Estee Lauder stepped in as a backer, and the cream is now made in Lauder's Long Island laboratory.

Avid users claim it fades brown patches, dries up acne without leaving scars, and heals scars - some hospitals use it to aid post-operative healing.

For a long time it was sold through word-of-mouth recommendations from countesses and socialites. Neiman Marcus had waiting lists for the cream.

Super Bowl ladies day

Westland Center, Wayne and Warren roads, hosts a Super Bowl shopping event, Sunday, Jan 26 for women whose significant others are otherwise engaged that day.

Greeters at the mall entrances will pass out coupons and shoppers can register to win a $500 shopping spree. Linda Lee from WYCD Young Country Radio will greet shoppers from 3.5 p.m. in east court.

Hair removal salon opens

Spa Thira is open at the Somerset Collection North in Troy. The state-of-the-art spa is one of seven throughout the country that uses softlight laser to "dis; 1 able" hair follicles. In most cases, according to the company, hair is permanently removed without electrolysis, shaving, waxing - or pain!

Manager Sharon Langford explained that a three-step, noninvasive process removes 50-percent of hair after one treatment with a "nd-yag" very low light laser. A few additional treaments may be required. A registered nurse and an aestitician work together administering treatments.

Discomfort is minimal according to Langford. After-effects may include temporary redness and puffing.

Spa Thira specializes in removing facial hair, plus hair on bikini lines, underarms, legs and backs. Spa Thira does not offer treatments for men's facial hair because of the strong hormone levels in the area.

Treatment prices vary from

"There is no cutting and no healing involved in the processs," Langford said. "It is a wonderful new way to remove unwanted hair and bring you a new level of freedom."

It's possible that no other industry experiences the constant change that is witnessed in the beauty and fashion industry. New looks — and new companies — explode onto the scene rocking the status quo, and then, sometimes just as quickly, fade into vague memories.

The growth and expansion of this enterprise has been so amazing that the Pond's Corp. recently sponsored a special event at the Parsons School of Design in New York City to honor the beauty industry. "The Changing Face of Beauty" exhibited the fascinating advances in beauty and marked the 150th anniversary of Pond's.

Throughout time, women have been bombarded with home remedies, cure-alls and guarantees from contraptions that promised to reshape their noses and reduce their chins, foreign teas that assured the blooming of a fuller, more beautiful bosom, and modern-day acid washes and preventative moisturizers. For well over a century, the mass media has been successful at convincing women that natural beauty always can be improved upon.

Beauty rituals can be traced as far back as 51 B.C. to ancient Egypt, when Cleopatra would bathe in milk to soften her skin. In the early 1800s, a common practice among women was ingesting arsenic to whiten their

The 1920s witnessed a short trend dubbed "cosmetic beading," when American movie stars like Theda Bara, applied drops of a hot wax-like material to the tips of their eyelashes for a sultry look.

Fifty years later, Farrah Fawcett's "feathered" hairstyle on "Charlie's Angels," took the country by storm. It was copied in some regions for more than a 1911 Vogue report on the beauty

The Guardianware Mystery

In the mid-1930s, Guardianware was manufactured and bought by loyal customers across the country who use their beloved pots and pans to this day. Problem is, many of them need replacement glass lids for the cookware and don't know where to find it.

In 1955, Guardianware was sold to the Presto Co. which discontinued the line in 1957. In 1980, the Guardian Service Cookware Company came on the scene to reintroduce the cookware and sell replacement parts. Customers can get more information by calling 1-714-828-0750, or writing Guardian Service Cookware, 8300 Cerritos Ave., Stanton, CA 90680.

Heavenly cake food for angels ood for the angels, yes indeed! Angel food cakes get their height, volume and lightness from egg whites (which have no fat and no cholesterol). There are calories in angel food cakes so you'll still need to plan for those. Enjoy eating some glorious desserts that can be made with angel food cake.

You can make them from scratch, buy commercially prepared mixes or find cakes ready made in the grocery store. Here are a few tips for making an angel food cake from scratch:

- The more air in the batter, the higher and lighter the cake will be. Handle the fragile foam gently so it doesn't deflate.
- Beat egg whites that are at room temperature. ■ Keep the bowl and utensils completely free of
- fat. Any fat inhibits the development of foam. Cream of tartar is an acid that helps stabilizethe egg foam. This helps to develop a finer texture and make the cake white.
- Superfine sugar can be used for angel food cakes to give it a finer texture.
- Work quickly when making an angel food cake so you don't lose the lightness of it.
- Always cool an angel food cake upside down.

Dress them up

Cherry Angel Food: Fold in 3/4 cup of maraschino cherries cut in half and add 2 to 3 tablespoons of cherry syrup.

For chocolate lovers: Add 2 to 3 tablespoons of unsweetened cocoa, 1 teaspoon chocolate extract, 2 to 3 teaspoons instant coffee and 1 to 2 tablespoons finely grated semi-sweet chocolate.

Cinnamon swirl: Fold in 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Candy striper: Gently fold in 1/2 to 2/3 cup finely crushed peppermint candy (add more or less depending on your preference). Lemon zest: Add 1 tablespoon grated lemon or orange peel, or 2 tablespoons fresh lemon or orange juice and/or 1 teaspoon lemon or orange

Very berry: Fold in 1 cup fresh raspberries or frozen, drained raspberries or 1/2 cup fresh pureed strawberries.

The Layered Look

If you want to dress up a commercially bought cake or if you simply go for that layered look and taste, try these suggestions for more height and more flavor; make layers of: .

- Low-fat or nonfat pudding.
- Fruit fillings made by spreading 1 cup of any fruit preserve or jam.
- Low-fat or nonfat frozen yogurt, ice milk or non-dairy whipping cream.
- Whole berry cranberry sauce or other readyprepared cranberry combinations, such as crushed orange cranberry sauce or raspberry cranberry sauce.
- Apple, cherry, blueberry or peach pie filling.
- Powdered whipped topping mix made with skim milk and flavored by adding 1 to 2 tablespoons cocoa to every cup of whipped topping. Crown your angel food creations with any of the following:
- Flavored syrups made by heating 1/3 cup water, 1/4 cup sugar and 3 tablespoons of vanilla or other extract, coffee or your favorite liqueur until the sugar is dissolved. For lemon or orange syrup, heat 2 to 4 tablespoons lemon or orange juice with 3 to 4 tablespoons sugar over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Poke the warm cake with a toothpick or tines of a long fork. Slowly pour or brush the syrup over the cake, letting the syrup soak in.
- Fruit sauces made from pureeing 1 to 2 cups fresh, frozen or canned fruits, adding sugar to taste (approximately 2 to 6 tablespoons) and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Extracts and liqueurs can also be added.
- Fruit glazes made by mixing 3/4 cup confectioners sugar with 2 to 3 tablespoons lemon juice or 2 to 3 tablespoons orange juice concen-

Any of these delicious desserts would be a wonderful ending to a meal or as a snack. Be really adventuresome and use slices of angel food cake to make French toast, a great way to start the day.

Bundled up against the winter cold, people go undercover in Michigan during the winter. This is no time for fancy meals, or fussing. Many of us are still recovering from holiday overindulgences. We're tired, and fighting colds and flu. Simple one pot dinners fit the bill perfectly.

Pot roast tops the list of possibilities. "When you think of American favorites, pot roasts immediately come to mind — they're part of our culture, and everyone has a favorite," said Betty Rosbottom, author of "American Favorites" (Chapters Publishing, 1996).

In creating Pot Roast with Rich Root Vegetable Sauce, Rosbottom said she wanted to preserve the traditional pot roast - gently simmering a beef round tip roast with aromatic vegetables, herbs and seasonings until the beef is fork-tender — but give it a contem-

The book offers more than 125 recipes for hearty meals with Mediterranean flavor, From "Soups Like 'Mama Mia' Used to Make," to chicken, beef, veal, seafood, pasta and pizza, Callen's recipes are "tailored to the American kitchen and, for the most part, to ingredients you will find easily in your supermarket."

Single malts gain popularity among many wine drinkers

Single malt scotches have attracted today's wine drinkers with unparalleled enthusiasm. Understanding the essentials of single malts enhances their enjoyment. The traditional method of producing any whisky involves steps known as malting, mashing, fermentation, distillation and maturation. But several other factors affect a single malt whisky's character:

- Water: the most important element determining the taste of a single malt whisky. If water is clear, spring water that runs over granite on. route to the distillery, the malt will have a fine, elegant flavor. If water percolates through a peat bog, it carries amber color and smoky character to the whisky.
- Malting: Barley, the grain used for single malt whisky, is steeped in water for two days encouraging germination and production of an enzyme (maltase) that converts barley's starch to fermentable sugar. Malted barley is dried over a fire. If that's peat, a Scottish household fuel, it contributes a dis- tinctive smoky character. Climate/Air: Oak casks used to age whisky are porous and "breathe" air as alcohol evaporates. A warm, dry climate encourages early maturation, while a sea-side atmosphere produces a salty or seaweedy taste.

- Age: There is no perfect age for single malts, but there is usually an optimum age. Like people, single malts reach maturity at different ages. Choosing the right single malt to match a mood is also an ingredient of enjoyment.

The following are some favorites listed from light to heavy.

■ Glenkinchie 10 year – classic Lowland single malt, the heart of Haig & Haig Pinch blend, has medium-to-light body, pale amber color, soft aromatic nose, palate smoothness and a slightly dry finish. A pure spring water source soft and slightly chalky, explains Glenkinchie's characteristic dryness suiting it to an aperitif pour:

■ Glenfiddich Special Reserve 8 year - a Speyside whisky whose water source is Robbie Dhu spring. So important is the water that Glenfiddich owners purchased 1,200 acres of the surrounding hillside to protect it. Aged in Spanish sherry butts and American bourbon barrels, it has pale golden color with elegant aroma of vanilla oak and just a touch of smoke. A smooth dram, best with a touch of cool water, is an excellent aperitif malt.

Dalwhinnie 15 year - from the Northern Highlands is full-bodied with a light, fruity aroma, sweet taste and soft, heathery honey-like finish. The distillery has the highest elevation (over 1,000 feet) of any distillery in Scotland, where water is pure snowmelt running over granite.

■ Oban 14 year - rich body, pale amber color and assertive aroma, especially its peaty smokiness. Palate is the unusual T-shape of the copsmooth, striking a balance that is dry and smoky with malty, fruity undertones. The distillery lies on Scotland's West Coast and creates interaction of sea air as the casks breathe during maturation. It begins the malts more suited for after dinner.

Cragganmore 12 year - golden-colored with a slightly smoky character, dry palate and just a hint of peat. Its origins are Speyside (after the River Spey), Scotland's most famous whiskyproducing region located within the Highlands. Taste of this great malt is most influenced by per stills.

Glenmorangie Madeira Wood 12 year - is a new product in our market. Nosed neat, it smells madeirised, with a burnttangy trace. With a drop of water, fresh black pepper emerges with toffee, mint, citrus orange, peach and that intriguing burnt character.

■ Glenmorangie Port Wood 12 year - finishes its aging process for an additional two years in port pipes. The result is a malt with an antique copper color, a complex, sweet-dry flavor and nose with hints of port wine and ■ Glenmorangie Sherry Wood 12 year - also new to our market. The nose has full-bodied sherry wine notes with traces of honey and mead. With a few drops of water added, nuttiness develops with scents of vanilla and caramel.

■ The Macallan 18 year -Speyside malt deriving much of its distinctive character from the sherry butts in which it is aged. According to Macallan, whisky has traditionally matured best in . oak casks that have contained sherry. Due to the increasing expense and scarcity of these vessels, other distillers no longer insist exclusively on sherry casks. To ensure their supply, The Macallan directors journey annually to the bodegas of Jerez to buy fresh oak casks and pay the sherry producers to age their best oloroso and fino sherries in them for three years. Afterward the casks are shipped to Scotland where The Macallan is matured for 10, 12, 18 and even 25 years.

■ Glenmorangie 18 year – a Highland Malt. The distillery is one of the smallest and most northerly in Scotland. In the late 1980s, Glenmorangie owners, believing that their whisky had a unique bouquet, conducted research with some of the best noses in the world - French perfumers. They identified 17 distinct aromas in the 18 year old. The most common six are: chocolate, cinnamon, honey, mint, rose and vanilla.

■ Talisker 10 year – the only whisky made on the western Isle of Skye, has a dark amber color and powerful bouquet with hints of seaweed and spice. An intense, tantalizing initial taste finishes big, warm, peppery and peaty. Like everything on Skye, it is touched by the sea, and its character is profoundly affected by dark, peaty water.

■ Lagavulin 16 year - distilled on Islay, one of the Inner Hebrides Islands. It is noted for its very firm body and is the most complex of all Islay malts. Initial taste is robust and slightly sweet, offsetting the whisky's dry, salty note. Finish is astonishingly long and powerful, with a peaty, smoky taste.

coarsely chopped 1 can (13 3/4 to 14 1/2 ounces) ready-to-serve beef broth

1 cup dry red wine

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. In 5-quart ovenproof Dutch oven, heat oil over medium-high heat until hot. Add beef roast; brown evenly. Remove roast; season with salt and pepper. Add onions, celery and carrots to same pan; cook and stir until onions are tender, about 5 minutes. Add thyme, parsley, bay leaves, garlic, tomatoes, beef broth and wine; stir to blend. Return roast to pan; bring to a boil.

Cover tightly; transfer pan to oven. Cook in 350 degree F. oven 3 hours or until beef is tender, turning roast over halfway through cooking.

Remove roast; keep warm. Strain cooking liquid; reserve. Remove and discard bay leaves from vegetables. Puree vegetables in blender or food processor fitted with metal blade. Add 2 cups cooking liquid through feed tube with the motor running. (Sauce may be kept warm or reheated in a saucepan, over low heat). Carve roast into thin slices; serve with sauce. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Recipe from National Cattlemen's Beef Association. CHICKEN AND VEGETABLE

RISOTTO

2 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil, plus more as needed

1 garlic clove, crushed under a knife

1 small red bell pepper, seeded and cut into 1/2-inch

1/2 teaspoon dried rosemary 1 medium onion, chopped

1 medium carrot, chopped 1/2 cup canned crushed

tomatoes 1 1/2 cups Arborio rice

About 6 cups hot chicken

1/2 cup thawed frozen peas.

1/4 teaspoon salt 1/8 teaspoon freshly ground

2 cups leftover cooked chicken cut into 1-inch pieces

2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese, plus more for serving

In a heavy-bottomed Dutch oven, heat the olive oil over medium heat. Add the garlic and cook until fragrant, about 1 minute. Add the bell pepper and cook, stirring often, until tender, about 10 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, transfer the pepper to a bowl, discarding the garlic.

If necessary, add a little more oil to the Dutch oven. Add the rosemary, onion, and carrot. Cook over medium heat, stirring often, until the vegetables soften, about 5 minutes. Add the tomatoes, reduce the heat to medium-low and simmer until slightly thickened, about 10 minutes.

Add the rice. Cook, stirring constantly, until it absorbs the cooking liquid, about 3 minutes. Add 1 cup of the broth and reduce the heat to medium low. Simmer, stirring constantly, until the rice almost completely absorbs the broth, about 3 minutes. Continue adding the broth 1 cup at a time, stirring constantly, waiting until it is almost completely absorbed before adding more. When 1 cup of the broth remains, stir in the bell pepper, peas, salt, and pepper. Place the chicken in the center of the rice. Pour the remaining broth over all and cover. Reduce the heat to very low and cook until the rice is tender and slightly creamy and the chicken is hot, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of the cheese. Serve immediately in warmed bowls, with a bowl of Parmesan cheese on the side. Serves 4.

FLASH-IN-THE-PAN WINTER

STIR-FRY

3 skinless, boneless chicken breast halves (about 1 pound)

1 tablespoon peanut or vegetable oil 1/4 teaspoon coarse

(kosher) salt 2 teaspoons grated fresh gin-

1 garlic clove, minced

2 pounds bok choy or Napa cabbage, cut into slices about 1/4-inch thick

(about 6 cups) 1 medium onion, cut into wedges about 1/4-inch thick 6 scallions, cut diagonally into 1 1/2-inch lengths

3 tablespoons soy sauce Rinse the chicken under cold running water and pat dry. Cut into 3/4-inch pieces:

In a wok or large skillet, heat the peanut oil and salt over medium-high heat. Add the ginger and garlic and stir-fry until fragrant. about 30 seconds. Add the chicken and cook, stirring frequently, until white throughout but still juicy. 3 to 4 minutes. Add the bok choy, onion, and scallions and stir-fry until crisp-tender, 2 to 3 minutes. Add the soy sauce and cook, stirring one minute longer. Serves 4.

Recipe from: "Chicken Dinners in One Pot," by Peggy Falon (HarperCollins Publishers, Jan. 15, 1997; $17.50).

CAULIFLOWER BISQUE

2 tablespoons vegetable oil 2 large leeks, whites and tender greens, trimmed, well washed and chopped

1 plump shallot, chopped Pinch dried thyme

1 medium cauliflower, cleaned, cored and broken into florets

1 large russet potato, peeled and coarsely chopped

5 cups chicken stock 1 1/2 cups milk

Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper

1 tablespoon minced fresh chives

Heat oil in a large, heavy-bottomed pot over low heat. Add leeks, shallot and thyme, tightly cover and braise over low heat until leeks are very tender, about 10 minutes.

Add cauliflower, potato and 4 cups stock, increase heat to medium-high and cook, uncovered, until stock just begins to boil. about 5 minutes. Tightly cover pot, reduce heat to low and cook until cauliflower is very tender, 20 to 25 minutes.

Let soup cool slightly, about 15 minutes. Carefully spoon solids into a food processor fitted with the metal blade. Add 1 cup warm stock and process until solids are very smooth.

Return puree to pot and whisk in remaining 1 cup stock and milk. Cook over medium heat until soup is hot but not boiling. Season with salt and pepper. Ladle into heated soup bowls and sprinkle with chives. Serves 6.

Wine recommendation: Foxen Vinyard Chardonnay (California: Santa Barbara County) or another full-bodied California Chardonnay, preferably from the Santa Barbara region.

James Bond's Aston Martin DB-5, the gadget -loaded spy car that starred in 1964's film phenomenon "Goldfinger," will be on display at Henry Ford Museum Jan. 11 through March 9, 1997.

Sometimes described as the car that made James Bond famous, the DB5 appeared in "Goldfinger" for only 13 minutes (ending with bond wrecking the car) but still captured the imagination of audiences worldwide. It proved so popular that it was resurrected for the next Bond film, 1965's "Thunderball."

mere transportation. It is equipped with both offensive and defensive weaponry to assist its driver, James Bond - Agent 007 - whose business was spying on behalf of "Her Majesty's Secret Service."

The car is a film representation of author Ian Fleming's original philosophy about 007: "Bond may go wildly beyond the probable, but not beyond the possible." "On film, the car was an extension of Bond himself," said Donna Braden, a museum curaBond's clever, quick wit and amazing, unorthodox ways of achieving goals."

high-tech nature of the DB5 was extraordinary for its time, and is even amazing today. The current DB5 is a restored version, with all the "bells and whistles" of the original car in place but not necessarily in working order, Museum hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. all week. Admission is $12.50; senior citizens 62 and older $11.50; youth ages 5-12 tor and one of the planners of the $6.25; children under five and This particular DB5 -the DB5 exhibit. "The cleverness of members admitted free. Special DP/216/1 - is far more than the car's accessories parallels group rates are also available.

Zoo exhibit focuses on environment

The Detroit Zoo has opened "Ecotoons: Our Endangered Planet," an exhibition featuring editorial cartoons that focus on the global environment and conservation of the earth's natural resources.

The exhibit opened Saturday and runs through March 9. It will be displayed in the zoo's Wildlife Interpretative Gallery (WIG).

"Ecotoons" shows a satirical side of environmental and conservation issues. The collection of 95 works was compiled by the Cartoonists & Writers Syndicate, New York, and includes the works of cartoonists and graphic artists from 40 countries including the United States, France, Italy, Philippines, Poland, South Africa, Mexico, Norway, Russia, Brazil and Australia.

"Even though the artists speak different languages, the drawings deliver a message that can be understood by all," said Gerry Craig, curator of the WIG. "Conservation of the earth's natural resources and protection of the environment are concerns of people all over the world."

The drawings were displayed at the 1992 Earth Summir in Rio de Janeiro at the request of the United Nations and seen in 500 North American newspa-

Admission to the WIG is included with regular zoo admission.

The Detroit Zoo opens at 10 a.m. 362 days a year. It is located at Ten Mile Road and Woodward Avenue in Royal Oak.

Admission is $7.50 for adults; $5.50 for senior citizens 62 and older and students; $4.50 for children ages 2 to 12 and free for children under 2.

Spartans dunk Churchill

Livonia Stevenson garnered 10 first-place finishes, including all three relay events, in a 115-71 boys swim victory Thursday over host Livonia Churchill.

With the victory, Stevenson improves to 3-2 overall while Churchill is 1-2. Two Spartans figured in four firsts apiece.

Keith Falk won the 200 freestyle (1:54.22) and 100 breaststroke (1:07.58), while Steve Domin took the 50 freestyle (23.17) and 100 butterfly

The foursome of Falk, Domin, Jacob Varty and Pat Rodemeyer captured the 200 freestyle relay

Falk, Mike Malik, Varty and Victor Hakim added a win in the 400 freestyle relay (3:44.03). Domin Mark Sgriccia, Dave Knapp and Matt Earhart took the 200 medley relay (1:51.1).

Sgriccia, who figured in three firsts, was also a double individual winner, taking the 200-yard individual medley (2:15.74) and 100 backstroke

Hakim garnered the other Stevenson first in the 500 freestyle (5:13.59).

Churchill winners included diver Matt Marshall (209.0 points) and 100 freestyler Rob Shereda (54.2).

Lady Ocelots upset

Strong performances from the five starters wasn't enough to save Schoolcraft's men from cage defeat Wednesday at Macomb CC, 89-86.

All five reached double figures in scoring for the Ocelots, who led 49-44 at the half. Naron Burks' 27 points and 11 rebounds led their effort; Tymon Marshall had 18 points and eight boards, Dwaun Warmack added 14 points and 10 assists, Rudy Hatfield (from Livonia Churchill) had 13 points and 10 boards, and Jose Bru scored 10 points.

The Monarchs were led by Dorian McClure with 35 points. David Carter chipped in with 19, Eric Hill had 15 and Jeff Mott scored 14.

Wayne tames nemesis Tigers

BY NEAL ZIPSER

Following Wayne Memorial's 69-60 comeback victory over visiting Belleville Friday, it became evident that there's a good chance history might repeat itself.

Last season, the Zebras began 4-2 before reeling off 19 straight wins. Do you believe in deja vu?

"I'm hoping history repeats itself," said Wayne coach Chuck Henry, whose Zebras finished 23-3 last season, "So far, this season is exactly the same as last season. We came out after Christmas and won the next 19."

With the win Friday, the Zebras improved to 7-2 overall and 4-0 in the Mega Conference's Red Division.

And like history in the Mega Red has proven, the Wayne-Belleville matchup is always a closely fought contest. The Tigers, who traditionally pose Wayne's biggest challenge in the division, actually led 47-45 entering the fourth quarter before Wayne exploded on a 10-0 run to pull out the victory.

"They turned it up a notch to a level that were not used to seeing," Belleville coach Rod Fisher said.

The fourth-quarter surge was led by senior guard Lorenzo Guess who led all scorers with 28 points. Guess scored 10 of his points in the fourth quarter, including a breakaway layup that gave the Zebras a comfortable 10-point lead with 3:11 to play.

Wayne also received 15 points from senior forward Richard Rashad and 10 points from senior guard Lavelle Guess. Senior Rodney Hurst chipped in with nine points.

The Tigers stayed close thanks to the play of senior forward Rob Griffin, who poured in 27 points and pulled down 10 rebounds.

Belleville (2-6 overall, 2-2 in the Mega Red) came in with a below .500 record, but the record didn't create a letdown, according to Lavelle Guess.

"We looked at them like the usual Belleville team — tough, physical and a team that goes all out," he

It appeared it might be a Wayne blowout early as the Zebras jumped out to a 13-2 lead, behind seven points from Lorenzo Guess. Belleville scored the final seven points of the quarter to cut the deficit to four.

BOYS HOOPS

Belleville dominated the second quarter, outscoring Wayne 22-12 to take a 31-25 halftime lead. The Tigers were sparked by Kevin Edwards and Darcell Lewis, who both came off the bench to score 10 and seven points, respectively.

"We began with four good minutes and then played poorly for the next 12," Henry said. "I thought they did a better job breaking down our defense than we did breaking down our defense. We also brought up the point about being outrebounded at halftime and challenged them to change that."

The lead switched hands nine times in the third quarter but Belleville maintained a 47-45 advantage after a three-pointer by C.J. Grantham with nine seconds left in the third quarter.

The Zebras scored the first 10 points of the fourth quarter and opened up a 63-53 lead behind triples by Hurst and Lavelle Guess.

"They out rebounded us and outplayed us in the fourth quarter," Fisher said. "They also hit some big three-pointers and we weren't contesting shots. We had the lead going into the fourth, but missed too many open shots and gave them too many second chances.'

"I was happy with the way we played in the second half," Henry said. "We knew this was going to be a tough game because it was Belleville. The team knows the type of kids Belleville has and the type of talent on that team."

Wayne committed only 10 turnovers against Belleville's man defense. The Zebras also picked up their shooting in the second half, shooting 44 percent from the floor (25 of 57), after making only nine of 26 shots in the first half. The Tigers made only 10 of 29 second half

Plymouth Canton's basketball team passed another test.

Livonia Churchill's team might

"We did all right, considering it. was finals week," Canton coach Dan Young said. "We were tired. We had heavy legs early. "But we fought through it. We're find on the scoreboard right now and certainly won't find in the WLAA The Chargers are still adapting to the ways of new coach Rick Austin and might have learned a lesson or two in the loss.

"We played good for awhile," Austin said. "We played against a "And you have to play consistently

Stevenson takes down John Glenn on mats

Following two banner seasons, Livonia Stevenson's wrestling team was supposed to be in a rebuilding process.

Reconstruction, however, may be ahead of schedule as the Spartans improved their dual-meet record to 4-0-1 with a 43-23 victory Thursday over Westland John Glenn. Ranked No. 13 in the latest Division I statewide poll, Stevenson is showing signs again it could be making another

Stevenson's top returnee, senior Nick Petryk, ran his record to 18-2 when he pinned Glenn's Matt Bid-

"Being a senior and the fact that they put me out for a lot of big matches last year I'm not as neryous going out there," Petryk said. Petryk has already avenged one of his two losses this season. He lost to Trenton's Kevin Scott, 3-2, in the Doyle McIntosh Invitational, but came back to beat Scott, 3-2, at the Garden City Tournament. His other loss occurred against Pete Yu of Rochester

Adams, 6-5. "I'd like to finish in the top four in the state and I'd like to get 100 career wins," Petryk, "And one of my goals was to win the Catholic Central Tournament (which he did last week). And I'd like to avenge my second loss, and not lose anymore if I can."

Petryk gained valuable experience during the summer working out with college grapplers at the

Salar et maranal and in the Michigan State camp. First-year assistant Joel Smith has also provided valuable coaching.

"He (Smith) was a two-time All-American at Eastern and he's brought a lot of energy to the practice room," Petryk said.

Freshman Joe Moreau got things going for the Spartans with an 11-2 victory over Jeff Albrecht at 103 pounds. He has won 10 of 11 so for, but more importantly it has allowed junior Katsuhiko Sueda to move up for some matches at 112.

Sueda, who is a good bet to qualify for the state meet this year, ran his record to 18-3 when he won by technical fall over Glenn's Jesse Purdon, 15-0.

Other Stevenson winners include Chris Goins (119), an 11-0 victor over Justin Bass; Dan Sedar (130), a pin in 4:34 over Mike Schornak; Brian Barker (145), a 12-6 decision over Bob Provost; and Eric Puninske (171), a pin in 2:39 over Charles Banaszak; and Derek Wieland (215), an 8-6 victor over Bramer also won on a walkerer.

Red-hot Stevenson wins 4th straight

Livonia Stevenson got off to a slow start this season in boys basketball, but now the Spartans are Observerland's hottest team as they earned a 58-50 upset victory Friday at Walled Lake Central.

Stevenson, winners of four straight, are 4-3 overall and 2-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Mike Voutsinas, who came off the bench to score 13 points, was one of four Spartans to notch double figures.

Tyrone Davidson added 12, while Ed Szumlanski and Mike Potempa chipped in with 11 and 10, respectively.

"We handled their pressure well tonight and got scoring from several people," Stevenson firstyear coach Tim Newman said. "We're having fun right now."

Matt Ullsich and Brad Burlingame tallied 14 and 12, respectively, for the Vikings, who fell to 5-3 overall and 2-1 in the WLAA.

Stevenson keyed its man-toman defense on Central junior guard Todd Negoshian, who scored 33 points in a 50-47 victory last week at Canton.

Westland houses Vision Lanes

ALLEY

Call it a resurrection, or even a minor miracle, but like the "Phoenix" that arose from the ashes, Fiesta Lanes on Ford Road in Westland has been taken over by new owners and new management.

They have re-opened for business as of last weekend, but it was a monumental task to get this building back in shape.

No more leaky roofs, no more automatic pinsetters that didn't work half the time. Under the direction of Greg Sicilia, this is now a very nice facility.

not It was expected by some to ever be a full-scale bowling center again. The building and facilities were badly run down, the last of the leagues left with bad feelings and even Channel 2 gave it some unfavorable publicity, naming it in the "Hall of Shame."

There were numerous attempts to sell the business and none worked out, so it stayed vacant.

It was up to the owner of the property. Mike Paglia, to make a decision. His choice was the right one, as he hired some very experienced bowling people to operate the facility.

One of the first orders of business was to get a new name to go along with the new image.

Thus we now have "Vision Lanes" added to the bowling community.

One of the very first tasks was to get a new roof. The old one leaked so badly that league bowlers had to get a ball that would react well in water instead of oil.

Automatic scorers were installed, the 32 lanes were stripped and re-surfaced, new masking units were

The ceiling tiles were replaced, the carpets were good, just needed a cleaning, and a separate room was set up for the video games. They were kept separate so the electronic beeps, pings and zings would not disturb the bowlers.

Churchill slides past Patriots in WLAA tussle

Junior Beth Rutkowski came off the bench to deliver a pair of key hits as Livonia Churchill earned a hard-fought 15-9, 15-3, 15-17, 15-12 Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball win Wednesday over Livonia Franklin.

Rutkowski recorded two kills with the score tied at 12 and Megan McGinty, who led the Chargers with 19 kills, put the finishing touches on the win.

Churchill is now 13-2-4 overall and 2-0 in the WLAA. Franklin falls to 7-4-1 and 1-1.

"Franklin played tough defense and played with a lot of spirit," Churchill coach Mike Hughes. "The score was not indicative how tough Franklin made things for us."

Lori Leszczynski added 14 points, while Jenny Duncan and Lisa Fabirkiewicz contributed 10 and eight, respectively.

Danielle Sockolosky served 18

points, while setter Kari Buzewski recorded 40 assists. Andrea Will had 23 digs.

"She just played superb defense," Hughes said. "And she made only one error."

Brooke Hensman and Missy Blanton each had 10 kills for the Patriots.

Blanton, who plays the right side, attacked at a .615 clip. She also had six digs and three blocks. Hensman contributed 16 digs and three blocks.

Setter Randi Wolfe collected 23 assists.

Stevenson tops North

It wasn't pretty, but Livonia Stevenson earned a 15-8, 15-7, 13-15, 15-11 WLAA victory Wednesday at North Farmington.

Gina Palmeri was Stevenson's top hitter with 13 kills. Whitney Crosby added seven kills and 12 aces, while Kelly Kristy registered six kills.

Setter Nicole Tobin collected 19 assists, Beth Pinneo went nine for-nine serving.

Stevenson is now 11-2-1 overall and 2-0 in the Western Lakes.

"We've been struggling since Christmas," Stevenson coach Kelly Graham said. "We been playing just well enough to get a

Vikings sweep Glenn

All-Stater Becky Cummings had 22 kills and seven blocks Wednesday to spark host Walled Lake Central past Westland John Glenn in a WLAA-Lakes Division match, 15-5, 15-10, 15-2. The loss drops Glenn to 7-8-1 overall and 0-2 in the Lakes. Setter Jamie Romej had nine digs and three assist-blocks in the loss. Chrissy Harkless added four kills and three assist-blocks.

Clarenceville triumphs

Livonia Clarenceville opened its Metro Conference season Thursday with a convincing 15-1, 15-7 victory at Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett.

Michelle Berry was the top hitter for the Trojans (9-6-1 overall) with eight kills.

Other contributions came from Jackie Kibilko (17 digs/three aces), Danielle Sledz (three aces), Amy Jones (three kills) and Nicole Riedl (23 good sets with 15 assists).

Blazers whip Regina

Livonia Ladywood improved to 18-2 overall and 2-0 in the Central Division of the Catholic League with a 15-3, 15-4 win over visiting Harper Woods Regi-

Nicole Vondracek led the winners with six kills, while Mary Lu Hemme added six digs and two aces.

Sarah Poglits had nine assists.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

!. Include the price. Don't vaste your time or a potential nuyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond o your ad will be those who are renuinely interested. Surveys how that readers are more nterested in those items and ervices they know are within heir price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days.
Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

DeVille Concours wins points for comfort, safety improvements

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

While many of my neighbors were slipping and sliding and crunching their cars to negotiate the first "real" snowstorm of the season, I was tooling around without a care in the world.

I was driving the 1997 Cadillac DeVille Concours, complete with antilock brakes, traction control, stability enhancement and a computerized integrated chassis control that aims to keep the car from skidding or spinning out of control. It also is updated in body structure, suspension and brakes.

I'm not always so lucky. Most of the time, when you schedule a test car with all that stuff you'd really like to try out, the road is dry as a bone and the evaluation just isn't the same. The same thing happens when a 4-wheel drive comes in when it's sunny and

Well, for once, it worked out. This DeVille Concours is not only the most comfortable Cadillac I've ever been in, but also it's the safest.

Most cars have anti-lock brakes. A lot have traction control. Most are very stable, and it's getting so that every new-car model year brings the promise of safer vehicles.

It's gotten so that I've almost forgotten what it's like without ABS on a car. Last summer, however, Cadillac gave us a real-life reminder. Maybe it's because the luxury carmaker saw test drivers as getting a little too comfy with the products.

To fix our wagons, Cadillac invited a bunch of us to test some Cadillacs — without ABS. Without traction control.

And without a bunch of other safety mechanisms.

I walked away with a new appreciation of those nearly standard safety enhancements. I don't think we can live without these safety tools we've become so used to.

And during a recent week when my neighborhood got socked with between 6 and 9 inches of snow, depending on where you live, the DeVille Concours did a wonderful job of negotiating the highways and byways in inclement weather.

Thanks to the enhancements made on this year's model. Take, for example, the integrated chassis control with stability enhancement and road texture detection. This is new for 1997, and it's a state-of-the-art electronic chassis system that helps drivers control the car on slippery roads or during emergency maneuvering. The system also enhances operation of the standard anti-lock brakes on rough road surfaces.

But it's a little complicated. On snow, gravel and other slippery surfaces, the ICCS system compensates — on its own — when you oversteer or understeer. Like when the car's rear starts to slip, the ICCS applies the brake for the outside front wheel and nudges the rear back into line. You can actually feel the rear of the car straighten out. One Cadillac official called it a "guardian angel; a co-pilot that takes control and provides assistance when you need it most."

The bottom line is that you get a greater sense of control in situations where you might normally have lost control of the vehicle.

Help also comes from Magnasteer, a variable-effort steering system. This provides you with continuous speed-sensitive steering that adapts to changes in the car's speed and road conditions. Again, better control.

The DeVille Concours is also equipped with a Rainsense windshield wiper this year. This system turns the wipers on in bad weather — automatically. You don't have to do a thing. It will accelerate the wipers when you gain speed or a heavy rain is falling, and decreases when the rain lets up ... and will return to pause or park without you touching any buttons.

The only thing you've got to do is place the wipers in the "auto delay" mode. That's it.

Not only are there changes under the sheet metal this year. This new DeVille Concours has changed on the interior and exterior as well.

Let's start with the inside, which has been updated big time this year. There's seating for five, oh-so-comfortable power bucket seats, a center console that's not cumbersome, new instrumentation with analog gauges and better control knobs and buttons on both the climate control and stereo controls.

On the outside, the front fenders, fascia and hood have been restyled for an updated look. Look at the front of the car and it actually looks a little sporty. Yep, I said sporty. The front of the DeVille now has a wider, more aggressive stance and looks even more solid on the road.

Here I go again: The 4.6-liter 32valve dual overhead cam V8 Northstar system is just so great. This 300-horse engine is so hushed-up quiet, so smooth, so powerful that "responsive performance" just doesn't fill the bill. And it's not so powerful that it's too much. It's just right. Perfect.

DeVille has a first this year — side airbags. This is the first application of side airbags on a domestic vehicle. What the side airbags do is provide an added crush space between the door and the passenger or driver. They're door-mounted, deploy quicker than frontal airbags and provide an extra level of protection.

One more first for DeVille this year — the OnStar system. It's an optional package that includes a fixed — and hidden — cell phone that features two special buttons for OnStar services. It's available on all Cadillacs this year. It's a good idea that enhances safety, security and convenience for the driver.

OnStar provides roadside assistance with location, including police, fire and ambulance; automatic notification of front airbag deployment; theft detection, notification and tracking; an emergency button for medical, fire or police response; a remote to unlock the driver's door, to lock all doors, to flash the car's exterior and interior lights or to honk the horn to help you find your vehicle in a large lot.

If your airbag goes off, the OnStar Center will call you on your car phone. If you can't answer, OC will contact local emergency services and provide them with your vehicle's description and location.

Later this year, OnStar will be capable of providing routing support, a variety of concierge services and locations of hotels, restaurants, dealerships, hospitals, ATMs, airports, carrental companies and gas stations.

It's a really neat system that I enjoyed thoroughly. The hands-off car phone with its ultra-pleasant "Veronica" voice prompt was especially fun and easy to use.

I could go on and on. Did I like this car? You bet. Would I buy it? In a heartbeat.

The DeVille Concours is fun to drive, luxuriously comfortable, user friendly and kept me safe during a rotten week of weather. Yep, Cadillac's got a real winner here.
