TREASURY DEPARTMENT

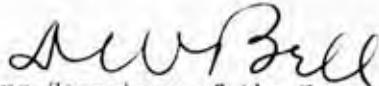

WASHINGTON

December 1, 1944

TREASURY DEPARTMENT ORDER NO. 56.

Effective immediately, the Director of Foreign Funds Control will report to Mr. Harry D. White, Assistant to the secretary.

Treasury Department Order No. 52, dated April 15, 1944, is modified accordingly.

Newell
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY.

December 1, 1944

Mail Report

The release of the report of the War Refugee Board on Nazi atrocities in Europe brought in a number of requests for copies of this story, but very few of the letters made any particular comment. It thus was impossible to size up public reaction to the release. There were two outspokenly pro-Nazi communications; otherwise, mail receipts differed little from those of last week.

There were a few additional letters mentioning the radio addresses that opened the Sixth Drive, and these again included more unfavorable than favorable ones. There were, however, a number of enthusiastic letters and telegrams about the Drive itself with several reports that local quotas had been surpassed. On the other side, a few letters reported that the writers would not buy bonds because of Government waste or bad timing. Only one writer spoke of the fact that those who withdraw savings to buy bonds will lose a half-year's interest if they are not permitted to wait until after December 31, and there have been fewer requests for extension of the closing date of the Drive than might have been expected for this reason.

Interest in the Florida bond burning lagged during the week, but what response that did come in showed alarm over possible loss of investment. There was also a marked increase in letters reporting rumors that the Government plans to cancel bonds and that Service men are writing home that their purchase will lengthen the war. Roger Babson's article of November 25 was cited now and then as detrimental to the Drive. Only 7 bonds came to this office for redemption, while the number of complaints about delays, especially from families of Service men, was slightly reduced.

Memorandum for the Secretary. December 1, 1944

There were 23 requests for tax refunds, many extremely urgent. Foreign fund matters were the subject of perhaps a dozen inquiries, and the question of post-war treatment of Germany brought in about a half dozen counter-proposals. There were 7 donations ranging from $2.00 to $370.00. There was the usual routine mail on tax matters, and no other new subject appeared in the miscellaneous mail.

General Comments

Margaret Bevan Huelin, Malaga, Spain. I wish to lodge a complaint regarding our recent experience in the U. S. Customs at New Orleans, La. * * * Previous to our departure from New York, the American Express Company, 65 Broadway, requested and obtained for us the visit of a Customs Inspector to our apartment at the Grosvenor Hotel, 35 Fifth Avenue. This officer made a thorough examination of seven large trunks of personal effects, carefully read through some documents and letters of introduction, which we would need on our arrival at Bilbao, these being the only papers which had not been examined and sealed by the Postal Censor. After examination the papers were placed in a trunk and the Inspector personally roped and sealed the trunks. He also telephoned the Customs House and obtained a definite assurance that we could take the outboard motor listed on the enclosed Export Declaration. On my arrival at New Orleans I went to the Customs House where I was informed that the trunks would all have to be opened and re-examined. Further, I lost nearly an hour and a half while a young woman argued as to whether or not we could take the outboard motor with us. The day of our departure all our baggage was examined on the dock and I can assure you, that after twenty-five years of travelling, I have never witnessed a more disgraceful way of handling passengers' baggage. Please understand that I am in no way protesting against thorough searching, which is naturally necessary in war-time. The contents of the greater number of our trunks were lifted out, dropped either on the ground or on an adjoining trunk and we were then told: "Now you pack the trunk." A white brocade evening coat and gown were crumpled up in a bundle and thrown on a trunk recently painted black. One trunk was so completely ransacked that it was quite impossible for us to repack it and part of the contents had to be carried piecemeal on board the ship. For many years I have carried with me as a lucky piece, a ten-dollar gold coin given to me by my late father. This the Inspector took and at first told me that he would have to confiscate it. After a strong protest on my part I was given a receipt, which I forwarded to Mr. Joseph Rowe, Vice-President, Irving Trust Company, One Wall Street, New York City. However, I have received no notification from the Bank up to the present date. * * * Concerning the articles which at present cannot be taken out of the United States, would it not be possible for the Customs authorities to supply prospective passengers with a list of the forbidden articles? The Customs authorities make no provision for the safety of articles removed from passengers' baggage. There should be an officer present who would take charge of the articles, issue a receipt and place them in safe custody until such time as the passenger returns to the United States. We saw a negro porter collect and carry off a large quantity of foodstuffs. Later I was informed by officers of the British Naval Control at Trinidad (British West Indies) that on every ship arriving from New Orleans there were passengers complaining of the same treatment as we received. * * *

Isidore Jwanier, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. I have read with pain your joint report of how many people met death in the hands of the Nazi gangsters all over Europe, but I wonder whether you have an idea as to how many could have been saved if our visa officials in Washington and consuls in Europe would have not been indifferent in saving some of these victims. As an example, I will bring you forth my individual case, which is one of thousands. * * * In the year 1937, I took out all papers for my sister in Roumania and sent them with money for a ticket and fare. (Has two brothers in Paris, France. Also sent papers to one of them there) * * * In the year 1938, I received a letter from the U. S. Counsel at Bucharest that a visa may come forth in the near future in the next 6 months. At the end of each 6 months there was a delay for 6 months more. That was going on until the Germans started the war with Poland and things became hot. * * * Meanwhile I have received a letter from my sister that she went to Bucharest to the U. S. Consulate and cried and kissed the floor of his office and protested why he doesn't give her the visa and why he sent her back the pass which became void because he kept it for a whole year in his drawer. He only laughed and everything was in vain. The Germans then occupied Roumania and Paris. The Red Cross informed me after being locked up by the Germans there was no trace of life of them. I hope this letter will give you a clear picture what happened in Europe while people tried to save their lives. I have sent a letter a couple of months ago to our President asking an investigation of my case, but as you know our President never reads these letters. They are sent to the proper departments. My letter was sent to the Visa Department, and I have received a letter telling me that they are sorry for what had happened to my brothers and sister.

Anonymous - Postmarked Los Angeles, California. Your intention to put a whole nation into human slavery has come to the notice of every friend and relative of the German people here, and you will have to take the consequences now. You are a marked man. You will reap what you have sowed. * * * There are yet too many red blooded Germans in this country who will avenge this, your black deed, etc. * * *

Carl Kreis, Chattanooga, Tennessee. Allow me to enclose a clipping of one of my letters to the Chattanooga Daily Times. In my humble opinion yours, Sir, is the best plan for a post-war peace with the Huns. Hoping that your plan will overcome all the obstacles at the peace conference, I remain, Sir, very respectfully.

Favorable Comments on Bonds

Alfred S. Boote, New York, New York. I heard your radio address of Monday night and I was greatly impressed by your words. I thoroughly agree with your statements. I would greatly appreciate it if you would be kind enough to send me a copy of your Monday night address which was delivered from the Waldorf-Astoria. * * *

R. Crosby Kemper, President, City National Bank and Trust Company, Kansas City, Missouri. Your Department has been doing a perfectly wonderful job in handling the various war loans and financing the Government's War effort. I would certainly hate to see any policy adopted that would interfere with the successful conclusion of the Sixth War Loan Drive and all War Loan Drives following until the termination of the War. There has been some criticism among the bankers of the Treasury's policy of refusing subscriptions to various individuals and institutions if there were any indication that the bonds were bought for speculative or semi-speculative purposes. * * * I believe the attitude of most Federal Reserve Banks toward some of the larger semi-speculative subscriptions is too severe. There have been instances where the refusal of subscriptions has had a very bad influence on the morale of bond selling organizations and has created the impression that the Treasury Department was trying to discourage large Government bond subscriptions. I know that there are two sides to this question but I do feel that all of us must be careful not to discourage the Government bond sales organizations. * * *

Benjamin Gutman, New York, New York. * * * The writer has two sons, both Lieutenants in the Army of The United States. We very recently received a letter from one, Lt. Edward Gutman, now stationed at Chatham

Field, Georgia. In this letter to his parents he adds the following: "By the way the Sixth War Bond Drive is now on, and I bought an additional bond. I trust you all are supporting YOUR freedom, YOUR country, YOUR war effort, and YOUR sons.....BUY BONDS." I am of the belief that this spirit as manifested by one now in the Army for the past two and one-half years; the words in which it is expressed, could probably be exploited to usefulness as a slogan in the present Bond Campaign.

Frank Tripp, General Manager, The Gannett Newspapers, Elmira, New York. I am so full of enthusiasm for the press job that is being done in this Sixth War Loan that I cannot resist writing you about it. I want you to realize that we who are close to it recognize you as the man who made it all possible, in this loan and the four preceding. * * * The patriotism of the press has been crystalized into fabulous volumes of news and advertising which have done more than create bond sales. They have vied with the armed forces themselves in maintaining the morale and enthusiasm of the people. I wonder if you realize that Treasury material appearing in the press has exceeded better than two to one that of any civilian agency involved in the war? * * * Cumbersome volumes of the unnecessary have been replaced by professional handling of the important. Ted Gamble's press conferences produce live news which press wires carry and amazingly often appear as first page features. The job flows according to common press practice, the papers are happy and the Sixth Loan is getting a news selling job never equalled in the history of journalism. The same big advertising job also goes on. This didn't just happen. It was a lot of hard work but too often those who develop details lose sight of the sustaining force at the top. That's why I'm sending these orchids to you and Ted Gamble.

Unfavorable Comments on Bonds

Charles D. Orth, Jr., New York, New York. My son, William T. Orth, died in line of extraordinary duty while serving with a unit of the American Field Service attached to the British Army in Burma. He was 20 years old, died intestate, and his net liquid and negotiable assets at the time of his death were less than $500, of which $225 were in Series E War Bonds. It is the wish of his mother and myself to convert these bonds to the possession of his only brother, Charles D. Orth, 3rd, who is now in service with our own Army in the European theatre. * * * I have received from the Federal Reserve Bank in New York a copy of Form PD 1946. Will you be good enough to advise if there is not some method whereby the simple and natural intention of the parents of the deceased boy, in a very small matter, as described above, may be accomplished without undergoing the intolerably complicated procedure involved in the implementation of Form PD 1946 -- especially since that form seems to require the signature of the brother overseas to whom it is desired to transfer the bonds?

H. L. Adler, Fresno, California. In your introductory -- talk, before the President, you had to, as usual, go too far. * * * Inasmuch as this Bond Drive is depending upon ALL the people, and as almost one half of them, never have discerned much Leadership of any kind (except Political) in the present encumbent, your remarks were entirely out of order.

F. C. Cutter, Fort Worth, Texas. I wish to protest as strongly as possible against your presumptuous comparison in your recent broadcast of Pres. Roosevelt with Washington and Lincoln; they were both men of character and veracity. They both strove for unity instead of class divisions for the purpose of advancing their own personal fortunes. * * * I imagine your partisan plug for F.D.R. will not contribute to the Loan campaign among the many who resent it.

Victor L. Alslerge, Brooklyn, New York. I wish to go on record that I am purchasing War Bonds in the Sixth War Loan Drive to help finish a war that a more far-sighted administration might have prevented or kept us out of, and not as your speech on the radio Sunday might seem to imply, as a build up of President Roosevelt.

John R. Galbraith, Chevy Chase, Maryland. On November 4, 1944, I turned over to the Union Trust Company of the District of Columbia for collection one $500.00 United States three and three-eights percent interest bearing Treasury Bond, No. C 00032693. This bond had been called for collection on June 15, 1943. * * * I purchased this along with another $500.00 bond some time between 1930 and 1935. The purchase was made in my name through the Union Trust Company, who made all arrangements for the purchase and who credited my account when the purchase had been accomplished. Some time between 1935 and 1938 I gave this bond to my brother and he has had same in a safety deposit box since that time. * * * I was never notified by the Treasury Department that either of these two $500.00 bonds had been recalled. I found out when I surrendered a coupon in the Fall of 1943 or the early Spring of 1944 that these bonds had been recalled. I corresponded with my brother, secured a power of attorney, and was instructed to remove his bond from his safety vault, collect through the Union Trust Company, and deposit the money to his savings account. I furnished the Union Trust Company with a photostatic copy of my power of attorney to act for my brother. I have been informed by the Union Trust Company that the Treasury Department has refused to pay the amount due, apparently because the bond was not surrendered to the Treasury Department within one year after it was recalled. Demand is hereby made for immediate settlement of this bond or the return thereof to me without delay or "red tape." You, as Secretary of the Treasury, are making demands on the people for the purchase of bonds now, for and during the sixth war loan drive, and, of course, are leaving the impression that these bonds have some value. I am sorely grieved with the manner in which you have handled the settlement of a $500.00 bond purchased in peace time and belonging to a man who is in the armed forces and in constant danger of death, and has been for a period of more than two years. I think it is utterly ridiculous for a matter to be handled as this has been done and I, as a tax payer, request some explanation. * * *

John Klauzenberg, President, and Frank Pinter, Recording Secretary, Local Union 2610, United Steelworkers of America, Baltimore, Maryland. In all previous War Bond Drives, our Local Union has done everything possible to put these drives across. We are proud of the record we have achieved and of the contributions our members have made in buying Bonds. In all previous drives, Management representing the Sparrows Point Plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company have cooperated excellently in conducting the drives with our Local Union, and plans were worked out mutually to help put the drives across. We are sorry to say that during this 6th War Bond Drive, the Management abandoned its policy and refuses to cooperate. Our Local Union Officers have been ignored and as a result, dissatisfaction among our members has developed toward the Management's arrangement attitude. This will reflect itself in the War Bond Sales. * * * Unless efforts are made to change the Company's attitude, we can see future conflicts of this sort. We protest vigorously and demand the situation closed up.

William M. Mill, President, Thomas Smith Company, Worcester, Massachusetts. Perhaps you have heard what I am going to write you about and perhaps you have not. I have heard it from three different sources. One was from a friend of mine who picked up an ex-serviceman and over-heard him talking in the back seat. Two of the three were from servicemen who have returned from the Pacific. One of our employees said that she has heard from several sources that the boys serving in Europe have written their people here at home to the same effect. This is - "If they buy more bonds it will only prolong the war." * * *

Andy Anderson, President, Andy Anderson's, Inc.
(Sporting Goods), Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Subject: "Legalized Hi-jacking." This may sound a little bit strong; however, it may at least get us a reply. During the first War Loan Drive, this firm purchased a quantity of Series G Bonds. Your prospectus stated, if we recall correctly, "Fine for Small Corporations." Interest was paid us at the rate of 2½%, most of which was taxed away.

Some time ago we were informed by the Treasury Department that a corporation cannot have surplus money in normal times in bonds of either the U. S. Government or private concerns. With this fact in mind, we recently sold $25,000 worth of Series G Bonds, receiving in return $24,182.00. We are now informed the $818.00 loss suffered is not a deductible item against regular operating profit. * * * If our Government wants us to give $818.00, or ten times that amount, we will be glad to make such a donation, but we certainly dislike being "rooked" out of any amount. It surely is not fair and certainly does not awaken in us any desire to try to help such a Government which sanctions actions of this type.

With the Sixth War Loan in progress, we have available $45,000 to help out. May we have an early reply as to why we should take the $818.00 loss in the manner outlined, in order that we may govern our monetary actions in such a manner that we at least will not be in a similar position to that which we find ourselves at present.

Dewey W. Fox, President, Marion County Branch N.A.A.C.P., Fairmont, West Virginia. (Letter addressed to Department of Labor and forwarded to the Treasury). On behalf of the American Legion Post No. 37, the Order of Elks, (Negro), I wish to protest the un-American methods directed at local Negro citizens by the Committee (White) responsible for the 6th War Loan Drive. Every Negro business in this City and County has been deliberately by-passed by the "Committee" in its advertising, while White speak-easies, booze joints and other disreputable establishments have been plastered with placards. The 5,500 Negroes in this County bought $32,000 in bonds in the last drive and received credit, (as published) by this offending group, for $2,500. They refused to correct their error. Evidence is accumulating here that they are deliberately insulting and intimidating Negroes in the present drive. * * * Negro men of Marion County are serving with distinction in the Army, Navy, Air Corps, Marines and War industries. * * * We intend to support this Country in the war effort and we intend to have our rights as citizens and men regardless of the cost. * * * Your cooperation is expected in the interest of justice.

R. W. Gouge, Interlachen, Florida. On January 13th, 1944, I registered from the Post Office in Mannville, Fla., one $25.00 bond Series E, issued July 1943, to your Department with a view of having it cashed or for being exchanged for a draft on which I could get the cash. Since that time I have written several letters to your Department with reference to the bond, and to date have not received any reply to them. Thinking that the bond could have possibly been lost in the mails I handled the matter with the Postmaster in Washington, D. C., who advised that this registered letter mentioned above was delivered in Pouch V 53677-8 January 17th, 1944. Would you please be kind enough to have this bond returned to me or a draft in exchange for same so that I may get it cashed.

Bessie M. Kunkel, Waukesha, Wisconsin. * * * The Sixth War Loan Drive started here Nov. 20th. As I was under obligations in Milwaukee, the first day I placed an order for $20,000 of the 2%-52-54. After I returned home and I read where the 8th Ward in Waukesha, Wis., where I reside was given an allotment of $47,000, I gave an additional $15,000 of the 2%-52-54 to the solicitor when he called. To date in the entire city only $36,500 has been raised, and it has been worked hard. My instructions were that my subscription was to be credited to the 8th Ward, Waukesha, Wisconsin. On Friday when our local paper printed a weekly report and only $6,080 was credited to the 8th Ward, I wondered where my $15,000 was placed. Upon inquiry, I was informed such a liberal subscription as I had given was placed on the Industry List. I am an individual and not in any industry, and all industry collections would be placed against the allotment of the local bank whose President is Chairman and directing the Sixth Loan Drive. I have never sold a single bond since starting to purchase in 1941, but I am telling you if you do not have my $15,000 purchase credited to the 8th Ward in Waukesha, Wisconsin, where I reside and if you permit the Chamber of Commerce to manipulate such a necessary subscription as I have given, I will never buy a single war bond again.

Unfavorable Comments on Taxation

Sergeant Chester C. Burton, USMC, Quantico, Virginia. During February, 1944, with the aid of an income tax advisor, I made out a joint income tax return for my wife and me, and we figured that I should get back approximately $106. I have heard other people say they got theirs back months ago, but I haven't had any luck. My wife has been to the Internal Revenue office at Philadelphia twice with no results. They told her to tell me to write a letter to them. I did that about two months ago, and still haven't heard from them. You are the last person I can go to. I would like to get the money back if it's coming to me, but if it isn't I would like to know why.

Karl Miller, Wayne, Michigan. I wish again to inform you I would like to know why I haven't gotten back the money I over-paid in income tax. Surely 8 months ought to give you an Idea when I can get this money. It is mine, and I demand to have it back just as much as you demand to have it when there is any to be paid to the Treasury. I have a F.H.A. Loan, and they are going to write Washington in regards to my past due notes. I am in dire need of this money and demand that I have it back, or I forfeit my loan with the F.H.A., so do something about it. It is very urgent, and I'm not fooling. * * *

Arthur Fentin, Roxbury, Massachusetts. I am a discharged veteran, and filed my income tax form last December, while still a member of the forces. My tax form figured out that I had a refund of approximately $21.00 coming back to me. The majority of the people in my neighborhood who filed returns after me, have since received their returns, and I am still awaiting mine. I am at present in need of the money and would like you to look into the matter and speed up proceedings on it, since according to my interpretation of the law, service men were to receive the first attention, but my case seems to have been the opposite. Please notify as to what action will be taken.

MR. WHITE
Branch 2058 - Room 214-1/2

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

INTER OFFICE COMMUNICATION

DATE November 28, 1944

TO Mr. White
FROM Mrs. Sundelson Enb
Subject: Sinews of Peace by Herbert Feis, 1944.

Comment

1. Feis supports the Fund and the Bank but in a very indecisive fashion. He finds that the Fund is probably as satisfactory as can be obtained under the present circumstances and relegates the Bank to the subordinate role of handling such minor special problems as the financing of international zones established after the war.

2. The discussion is extremely superficial, both analytically and statistically, and contributes virtually nothing to our understanding of post-war monetary problems. Most questions are summarily dismissed as being "impossible to measure" or "requiring too detailed analysis".

Feis also evades the responsibility of taking a position or indicating his views. With seeming profundity, he raises a myriad of problems but makes only general remarks on both sides of each issue. His contribution to the question of whether or not the Fund will be inflationary, for example, is little more than that it may be inflationary and then again it may not.

3. Feis makes only one specific recommendation: to give a veto power over all important decisions of the bank to the major countries, although he recognizes that such a provision would confine the Bank to very narrow sphere of activity.

4. The book is badly written. It is verbose and affectedly elegant to the point of being distasteful. The following example is typical. Instead of a high level of world trade, Feis speaks of the "fruitful and steadily sustained international economic activity which flows from the bosom of healthy countries." 1

Criticism of the Fund

Feis' main criticism of the Fund is that the resources available to members may not be too closely related to their needs.

He also emphasizes the importance of good faith by the participating countries and the necessity of further international cooperation on tariff, full employment measures, etc. His specific criticisms are as follows.

1. The Fund may be inflationary.
2. The purposes for which resources may be drawn from the Fund are ambiguous.
3. It is an artificial distinction to permit countries to use their own funds for capital transactions without permitting use of the Funds' resources for this purpose.
4. The transitional provisions are perplexing and difficult to interpret.
5. The procedure for determining initial exchange rates may merely prove to be a disguise for the actual process of international bargaining which will take place.
6. The provisions limiting changes in par values are not important restraints.
7. Countries will be able to use the resources of the Fund for unnecessary purposes despite the safeguards which have been provided.
8. The limitation on drawing power of 25 percent of the quota in any year is too rigid a limitation for the first post-war years.

Criticism of the Bank

Feis' main point is that the present veto power of members over loans made in their own currency is inadequate and that instead each country should be given a veto power over all important decisions. He doesn't go into any details on this question and hedges by concluding that our present veto power may be as much as we can reasonably seek. His other criticisms follow.

1. The Bank may decrease private investment opportunities by financing enterprises which will compete with us or by making member countries bolder so that they are willing to exclude private foreign capital from ownership and direct operations.
2. On guaranteed loans private capital would lose the specific returns which it now receives for performing the services of independent banker and counsellor.
3. The Bank will be endangered by difficult political questions. The provision dealing with this question in the Articles of Agreement doesn't solve the problem.

TO: Secretary of State, Washington
DATED: December 1, 1944

SECRET

See number 56 from the Department of the twenty sixth of October and 64 of the eleventh of November.

In reply to my communication a note dated the twenty sixth of November from the Vatican states that unfortunately Nunciature in Bratislava has not been able to secure data concerning the whereabouts of 400 Jews who were, in fact, transferred to Germany toward the middle of October from Slovakia. On being questioned repeatedly by Nunciature and local representatives of International Red Cross Committee, the Slovakian Government invariably responded that it was ignorant of the current whereabouts of these individuals.

In addition, the Vatican note states that Holy See has lately renewed its appeals through Nunciature to Slovakian Government that the Jews in Slovakia be treated in a humane and Christian manner and has approached the Slovakian Legation here in some sense expressing the regret that removal of Jews should have occurred contrary to assurances given before.

The Vatican note finally states that the Holy See will continue to do everything possible to relieve these suffering because of their race in the future, as in the past.

GOTEBORGSS HANDELS-OCHE SJOFARTSTIDNING November 19th.
About 100 of the 20,000 Baltic refugees who have arrived in Sweden were separated from the rest as suspicious cases. They were immediately taken to a special camp in Vastmanland for special examination. Twenty of them are notorious criminals and it is hoped that it will be possible to throw some light on the previous life of the others. Dr. Wendt, former Minister of Finance and member of Dr. Mae's puppet government, is in Stockholm. He is at a camp together with a number of Estonians who closely cooperated with the Germans. In Estonian quarters he is considered as an opportunist who changed more and more of late and made great efforts not only to get away himself but also helped others to escape from both the Russians and the Germans. Saar, Minister of Agriculture, was another member of Mae's government. He is also in Sweden.

SVENSKA DAGBLADET November 24th. It is reported from Gotland Sandon that the great stream of refugees from the Baltic States has now stopped. Altogether 1,042 people arrived there. They were fed, lodged and even supplied with clothes by the Sandon inhabitants.

SVENSKA DAGBLADET November 26th. Another large contingent of refugees from the Baltic States arrived at Oxelosund's harbor in one of the Navy's auxiliary cruisers. This contingent consisted of 300 people including 240 Latvians and 60 Estonians.

EXPRESSEN November 27th. Thirty Latvians arrived at Gotland besides the 100 reported this morning. They had been on the way for 44 hours, suffering many hardships.

NY DAG (Communist) November 30th writes in a notice headed "The Importation of Balts Continues": On Wednesday morning (November 29th) a motorboat containing about 130 refugees, mostly Balts, landed near Hudiksvall. Just before reaching the coastal waters the boat had run out of motor fuel. A tugboat was sent out to tow the refugee boat to land.

Yesterday informal inquiry was made of FOROF with regard to renewal of Paraguayan passports of individuals at Baksen-Berger and other camps by Spanish Embassy Berlin. However, this subject will be formally recalled December 4 by note, in view of message from the Department dated November 30, No. 3129. On November 24 delivery was made of pertinent Paraguayan note to Spanish Foreign Minister which Department's instruction 1187 contained and matter is also mentioned in Paraguayan protest which was handed yesterday to FOROF. This protest was briefed in Asuncion's cable No. 654 of November 20 to Department.

Foreign Office official said it was his impression that subject had timely attention after Embassy's note of October 9, No. 3194, was received, despite Swiss report that Spanish Embassy Berlin has had instructions in premises.

EMBASSY OF THE

No. 3502

Madrid, December 2, 1944.

Subject: Extension of protection to Jews in Hungary by Spanish Legation at Budapest.

Confidential

The Honorable
The Secretary of State,
Washington, D. C.

Sir:

I have the honor to refer to my telegram No. 3896, November 29, 9 p.m., repeated to Bern and Tangier, giving the substance of Foreign Office Note No. 875 of November 16, 1944, concerning the extension of protection to additional Jews in Hungary by the Spanish Legation at 1/2 Budapest. A copy and a translation of the first two paragraphs of the said Note Verbale are transmitted herewith. The third and final paragraph concerning the group of Sephardic Jews at Bergen-Belsen, Germany, has been separately treated in the Embassy's telegram No. 3873, November 28, 9 a.m., repeated to Bern, and in despatch No. 3482 of November 29, copied to Bern.

3/ The Embassy's Note Verbale No. 3375, November 14, 1944, to which the Foreign Office Note above mentioned refers, is copied herewith. The proposal contained therein to substitute 700 Hungarian Jews who are said to be variously confined in concentration camps in Germany for the 700 Jews in Hungary to whom token admission into the Spanish Zone of Morocco had been sought (despatch No. 2374 of October 3, 1944, from the Legation at Tangier) originated with the representative of the Jewish Community at Tangier, now in Madrid, who had been in consultation with the International Committee of the Red Cross in Switzerland. The proposed substitution resulted from information received by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs from the Spanish Legation at Budapest that the puppet Government at that capital would not respect the visas whose issuance was contemplated for the purpose of bringing the 700 together under Spanish protection in Hungary pending theoretical departure in the same manner as the 500 children and 70 accompanying adults are being afforded Spanish protection at Budapest under a previous arrangement (Tangier airmail No. 199, September 12, 1944, and Embassy telegram No. 3488, October 18, 12 m., repeated to Tangier).

cc: Miss Chauncey (For the Sec'y.), Ackermann, Akzin, Cohn, Drury, DuBois, Gaston, Hodel, Marks, McCormack, Pehle, Files.

The representative of the Jewish Community at Tangier, in consultation with the International Committee of the Red Cross, believed that it would be possible nevertheless to utilize the favorable attitude of the High Commissioner at Tetuan toward the admission, in principle, of 700 Jews into Spanish Morocco for accomplishing the removal to Switzerland of the same number of Hungarian Jews from concentration camps in Germany. On subsequent telegraphic advice from the International Committee stating that, except for 320 persons from Bergen-Belsen, efforts to secure permission for departure from Germany had been fruitless, the substitutive approach was abandoned. The proposal which my Note No. 3375, November 14, 1944, seconded accordingly is being withdrawn.

Although the Foreign Ministry is not informed, as my telegram No. 3896, November 29, 9 p.m., stated, whether the Spanish Legation at Budapest considers the 700 to be included in the total of 2,300 additional Jews to whom Spanish protection is being extended, the Embassy is proceeding on the premise that the 700 are distinct, and renewal of instructions by the Ministry authorizing the issuance of visas in these cases is having the Embassy's earnest attention.

Respectfully yours,

Carlton J. H. Hayes.

NOTE VERBALE

No. 875

The Ministry of Foreign Affairs presents its compliments to the Embassy of the United States of America and in reply to the latter's Note Verbale No. 3375, of the 14th inst., has the honor to state that, in compliance with the Ministry's telegraphic orders, the Spanish Minister reports that he has succeeded in extending official Spanish protection to 300 Jews resident in that city.

Further, he has issued around 2,000 "letters of protection" with which, up to the present, he has succeeded in obviating the internment in concentration camps or the deportation of that many other Jews. These protected persons are assembled in specified houses in the city until such time as they can be transferred abroad.

Enclosure No. 3 to despatch
No. 3502 of December 2, 1944,

No. 3375

N O T E V E R B A L E

The Embassy of the United States of America presents its compliments to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and has the honor to refer to conversations at the Ministry with an officer of the Embassy concerning some 700 Hungarian Jews who were the subject of an exchange of correspondence between His Excellency the High Commissioner of Spain in Morocco and the American Charge d'Affaires at Tangier.

The understanding of the High Commissioner in respect to the petition to His Excellency by the Jewish Community at Tangier, which petition had the support of the American Charge d'Affaires, was that the 700 persons affected possibly or probably might find it impracticable to arrange conveyance from Hungary to Morocco and that in such circumstance they would, as were the 500 Hungarian Jewish children whose entry into Morocco was agreed to in principle and who are now benefitting from the protection of the Spanish Legation at Budapest, be accorded like protective benefits in Hungary. With characteristic humanitarianism, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs authorized the Legation at Budapest to issue visas to these 700 which would have been serviceable in either contingency. The Embassy immediately informed the Department of State at Washington of this further cooperative action by the Ministry.

It is the Embassy's understanding that the Ministry of Foreign Affairs now has been informed by the Legation at Budapest that the puppet Government of Hungary declines to respect such visas and refuses either to permit the departure from Hungary of these innocent and unfortunate people or to allow them to be taken under the protection of the Spanish Legation.

In these circumstances, the representative of the Jewish Community at Tangier has asked the Embassy to support a request to the Ministry that the authorization which already has been granted, in principle, for the issuance of 700 visas to Jews resident in Hungary be transferred to the Spanish Legation at Bern for the benefit of the same number of Hungarian Jews who are suffering vile confinement in concentration camps in Germany. The said representative of the Jewish Community at Tangier states that the International Committee of the Red Cross at Bern has engaged to interest itself in arranging for the departures from Germany of these victims of Nazi cruelty and oppression.

The Embassy took the liberty of assuring the representative of the Jewish Community at Tangier that its support of the Community's petition to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs probably would be found to be superfluous in view of the latter's past initiative in placing the facilities of its diplomatic and consular representative at the service of broad humanitarianism. However, in view of its past correspondence on the specific matter under discussion and for purposes of clarity, the Embassy is glad to record its interest that the visa authorization previously conveyed to the Spanish Legation at Budapest be transferred to the Spanish Legation at Bern to cover the 700 Hungarian Jews in concentration camps in Germany with whom the Jewish Community at Tangier now is most immediately concerned.

Sen. Taft of the Republican Steering Committee, announced

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON

December 3, 1944

Dear Mr. Secretary:

We have, as in past drives, been watching the E Bond sales daily with a view of taking every possible step that could be taken during the drive itself to guarantee the attainment of this important part of our quota. Despite the fact that we went into this drive seven reporting days later than the June drive, which started on the 12th, we had only $37 million more money in E Bond sales up to the 20th of November than we had when we started our Fifth War Loan Drive on the 12th of June. The beam, therefore, provided for a greater backlog of sales than we started out with in the Sixth War Loan.

We never know when some of our credits are going to come during the drive, and during the month of June we received Army and Navy sales credits alone of $150 million which, largely due to bookkeeping, was offset by only $60 million worth of similar credits in November. If this one credit had been the same, then we would be just about on the beam today.

In the first eleven days of reporting, which are all we have had in this drive, we have credited $525 million in E Bond sales against $522 million in E Bond sales for the first eleven reporting days in the Fifth War Loan Drive, but, as above stated, the Fifth War Loan Drive started off with this earlier credit which, for whatever the total will amount to, we have yet to get in the present drive.

Too, because our drive started on the 20th of the month, there are many activities, such as bond premieres, free movie days, plant rallies, and special drives, that will take place in early December which have not yet been felt, but which were included in part in the Fifth War Loan Drive because it opened earlier in the month.

However, despite this explanation, we too have had some concern here about the sales because we would, of course, be more comfortable with some cushion to provide for eventualities which might take place in any drive and which could not be met with a deficit.

In the past few days we have had a crew here, under Mr. Engelsman, contacting by phone the heads of 50 of the largest corporations in the country whose record was not too good in the past drive. All of these firms employ over 5,000 people, and the action we have taken has disclosed that they are doing a better job than before in many instances and, as a result of the calls, we have had assurances that their total sales by the end of the drive would exceed those in the Fifth War Loan.

In the past few days we have had 100 of the largest banks in the country contacted with the idea of making certain that the planning which we had done in this field was resulting in a drive activity.

Every day for the past week we have sent specific information to each of our State organizations with respect to E Bond sales problems in their communities and requesting not only action on this but reports to us as to what could be expected from their particular States in regard to E Bond accomplishments for the drive. We have directed them to review and to tighten payroll savings drive machinery which, even at this advance date, can respond to attention where needed. We had already made plans to put a crew of 20 of our key people to the task in the next few days of calling personally the heads of the 500 largest corporations in America who employ some 10 million people, or roughly just under half of our payroll market in this country, with a view of further supporting the work that is being done in the field.

We are having here in Washington in the next two days the heads of the Retailer War Council, the War Activities Committee of the Motion Picture Industry, and the campaign chairmen of the American Bankers Association to put into motion specific steps in the establishments in their respective groups to guard against any letdown because of the impending holidays.

We have done a similar job already in the media field to make sure that Christmas advertising did not detract from the kind of support we need in every drive.

from radio, newspapers, outdoor, motion picture screens, etc. At the moment we are running newspaper advertising 13.3% over any previous drive, but if we didn't guarantee against the holiday problems, we could easily lose this favorable position. This has been done in every field.

As you have undoubtedly observed, we are running ahead for the first time in any of these drives in the important area of sales of securities other than E Bonds to individuals. We are $210 million over the beam in these sales and, subtracting the apparent E Bond deficiency from it, we are still running $102 million over the beam in total sales to individuals against our $5 billion quota. Because this has always been one of our toughest problems, we emphasized throughout the country in this past drive the need for solicitation among self-employed, professional individuals and among the $500 and upward purchasers that we have not effectively reached in previous drives. The results that we are getting seem to indicate that a good job is being done in this direction.

The only task that any of us has before us here now is that of seeing that nothing is left undone to guarantee the success of the E Bond sales. We are not the least bit complacent about it, because we have always been worried about the effects of the Christmas season on a job that requires covering as many bases as must be covered when you have to sell 50 million people an E Bond in any one of these operations.

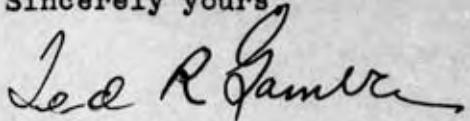

I do not feel that you need have too much concern on this date regarding the outcome of E Bond sales, and I say this with the knowledge that you know that we have nothing but concern about them here until it is finally reached. When and if I feel that we are really in hot water on this, and we can tell after watching the next five or six days' sales, I will communicate that word to you.

In the meantime, through last night we were running $2600 million over the beam in total sales, with $8941 million in. This would indicate that we would get as good a result in the overall as you have wanted.

Trusting that you have found Sahuarō Lodge an ideal place to relax and get a much-needed rest, I am, with all good wishes,

P.S. In the meeting which we held here today, Sunday, we felt that it would be a good idea, in addition to all of the aforementioned steps, to communicate a special message from you to the Chairmen which we are sending out tomorrow, urging them to check every issuing agency in their communities and go on record with you as to what they think their campaigns will result in with regard to E Bond sales for the drive period.

WASHINGTON 25

December 4, 1944

To: Secretary Morgenthau
From: J. W. Pehle

The following items may be of interest to you in connection with my new assignment.

1. Personnel.

(a) Parsons, formerly in charge of Treasury appropriations at the Budget Bureau, reported to me on Friday as the top administrative man. He is an exceptionally capable person and will do a great deal to add strength to the organization, which it badly needs.

(b) I had a talk with Duncan the day my appointment was announced and he volunteered to stay as long as he was needed.

(c) Atcheson, the Marshall Fields man, has, as you probably know, been planning to leave. Olrich called me on Friday from Chicago to offer his services whenever needed, and also told me he would speak to Marshall Fields about Atcheson continuing with us for another month.

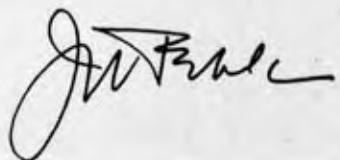

2. I have just been getting the essential facts in connection with the 20 million flash light batteries, which has already been the source of a considerable amount of criticism. No sales were effected and a new plan of sale is being prepared at a new price schedule, which will be cleared with O.P.A.

3. In lieu of Mr. Olrich taking a trip to Hawaii to set up the offices there, we are working out a different arrangement. It does not seem to me the matter is quite as urgent as it was made to appear.

4. It seems clear that there will have to be considerably more work done in strengthening the regional offices, particularly the office in New York City.

5. There is a great deal of work to be done in coordinating the activities of the entire Division here in Washington, as well as the relations between the Washington office and the field. In this connection, one of the first tasks will be to find a good man to head up the Office of Surplus Property since I do not intend to try to perform the duties assigned to me as Assistant to the Secretary in charge of both Procurement and Surplus Property and, at the same time, act as Director of the Office of Surplus Property, as Mr. Olrich tried to do.

NOTE VERBALE

The Embassy of the United States of America presents its compliments to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and has the honor to refer to its Note No. 3194, October 9, 1944, stating that instructions had been received to communicate to the Spanish Government on behalf of the Government of Paraguay the latter's authorization to the Spanish Embassy at Berlin to issue new passports in replacement of expired or proximately expiring passports held by persons at Belsen-Bergen and in other concentration camps in Germany or in German-controlled territory to whom the protection of the Paraguayan Government has been extended.

The Embassy refers also to the Note of the Minister of Foreign Relations of Paraguay to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Spain which was transmitted to the Ministry by its note No. 3428 of November 24, 1944, and to the third and fourth paragraphs of its Note No. 3464 of November 29, 1944, concerning Paraguayan documentation.

The Embassy is now in the receipt of a telegram from the Department of State at Washington stating that it has been reported by Swiss authorities that the Spanish Embassy at Berlin asserts that it has received no instructions concerning the issuance of new passports to persons in the described circumstances as desired and authorized by the Government at Asuncion.

The Embassy accordingly has the honor to request that it be informed, for onward transmission to Washington and Bern, of the date and manner of communication of the Ministry's instructions to the Embassy at Berlin in the premises; or, should it be discovered that, through inadvertence, the aforesaid instructions were not sent to the Embassy at Berlin, it would be appreciative if their expedition might now be accorded the Ministry's preferential attention.

No. 3504

Madrid, December 4, 1944.

Subject: Protection to Jews in Hungary by Spanish Legation at Budapest.

Issuance of 700 Spanish visas for entry into North Africa, in principle.

Confidential

The Honorable
The Secretary of State,
Washington, D. C.

Sir:

I have the honor to refer to my last previous despatch (No. 3502 of December 2, 1944) on the subject of the "Extension of protection to Jews in Hungary by the Spanish Legation at Budapest" and to my telegram No. 3912, December 1, 7 p.m., stating that instructions had been cleared and were being telegraphed by the Foreign Office authorizing that Legation to issue 700 visas to Jews in Hungary under the fiction of intention to proceed to Spanish North Africa, whereinto their admission, in principle, has concerned the American Charge d'Affaires and the Jewish Community of Tangier.

The despatch reported that the representative of the said Jewish Community, who is presently at Madrid, had consulted with the International Committee of the Red Cross and had thereafter reverted to the original proposal set forth in Tangier despatch No. 2374 of October 3, 1944, and enclosures. The visa authorizations now communicated to the Spanish Legation at Budapest are intended to enable the assemblage at some central shelter under the care and protection of the International Red Cross of groups now suffering from want and exposure at various outlying camps in Hungary in the manner that the 500 Hungarian Jewish children and 70 accompanying adults are already assembled and protected near Budapest through similar initiative at Tangier. The proponents have faith that the visas will be accepted by the Government at Budapest for the described effect.

1/ There is transmitted herewith for purposes of record a copy of a memorandum of November 30, 1944, which was presented at the Foreign Office on the following day at the conversation which preceded my telegram No. 3912, December 1, 7 p.m., above mentioned.

Respectfully yours,
Carlton J. H. Hayes.

Enclosure No. 1 to despatch
No. 3504 of December 4, 1944,

MEMORANDUM

The representative of the Jewish Community of Tangier has informed the Embassy of the receipt of telegraphic information from the International Committee of the Red Cross in Switzerland that discouraging precedent indicates that it will be impracticable to obtain the consent of the German Government to the departure for Switzerland of 700 Hungarian Jews from concentration camps in Germany.

Accordingly, the representative of the Jewish Community at Tangier has desired the Embassy to withdraw the proposal submitted by Note Verbale No. 3375 of November 14, 1944, that the issuance of Spanish visas to 700 Hungarian Jews in Germany be authorized in order to facilitate their departure for Switzerland, whereto entry had been arranged. Instead, it is now desired to revert to the original proposal which was the subject of an exchange of communications between the High Commissioner at Tetuan and the American Charge d'Affaires at Tangier. This original request will be recalled to have been for the issuance by the Spanish Legation at Budapest of visas to 700 Hungarian Jews to whose admission into the Spanish Zone of Morocco the High Commissioner had assented, in principle, in order that they might have the benefit of Spanish protection while sheltered and cared for by the International Red Cross pending theoretical possibility of their departure from Hungary. Such arrangement, through the humanitarian cooperation of the Ministry, is already in successful effect in respect to 500 Hungarian Jewish children and 70 accompanying adults who have been similarly assembled at Budapest for protection.

The Embassy is glad to support the request made to the Ministry by the Jewish Community of Tangier through its representative, Sonora de REICHMANN. The latter has stated her understanding that the 700 persons who will benefit by the anticipated instructions to the Spanish Legation at Budapest are distinct from the 300 and 2,000 who are mentioned in the Ministry's Note No. 875 of November 16, 1944.

About our comment added to No. 107 for WRB the following information has been obtained. This is our number 108 for WRB. For the past three years Germany has directed that no Christmas packages would be accepted for delivery after December 8 on account of communication difficulties. Upon thorough investigation here by Filseth, it is found that no restrictions have been imposed by Germans this year on individual packages. However, large bulk shipment will not be accepted after December 8. Therefore, small individual packages will continue to be sent.

CABLE TO AMLEGATION BERN, SWITZERLAND, FOR MCCLELLAND

1. In accordance with Department's general request for names and other data regarding persons alleging the possession of American citizenship now interned in Bergen-Belsen (reference Radio bulletin November 17, number 277), Katzki requested the representatives of Jewish Agency and Agudath Israel in Istanbul to telegraph such information, including that concerning holders of Latin American passports, to their representatives in Switzerland for delivery to you. The representatives are for the Jewish Agency, Dr. Chaim Pozner, 8 rue Petitot, Geneva, and for Agudath Israel, Maitre Mathieu Muller, rue de Deux Ponts 30, Geneva.

2. The following is the substance of a cable from Katzki dated November 29:

QUOTE According to reports from Geneva just received by Jewish agency representatives in Istanbul, the position of the remainder of Hungarian Jewry has reached a climax. Deportations to Germany many persons being forced to travel on foot have been proceeding very actively during recent days. The project for the emigration of the 8,600 Palestine certificate holders again has been stopped. The deportees are in great need. Funds also are required for hiding people facing deportation and for aiding their escape from Hungary.

QUOTE Intervention and assistance by the International Red Cross are not sufficient and the aid of England and the United States to stay the deportations and to protect the certificate holders is urgent the report concludes. UNQUOTE

The following is the substance of a reply received from Apostolic Delegate in Washington, dated November 30, to our letter transmitting information contained in your 6938:

QUOTE The Acting Secretary of State of His Holiness has just informed me that, according to information received from the Apostolic Nuncio in Slovakia, the persons in question were actually removed to Germany about the middle of October. The Apostolic Nuncio has made repeated and insistent requests to the Slovak Government to be advised as to the place to which these individuals were transferred, but the Slovak authorities declare that they are ignorant of this destination. Nevertheless, the Apostolic Nunciature is continuing its lively interest in the matter and will report later should further news be forthcoming. UNQUOTE 7929, December 4, 4 p.m.

Documents mentioned our 7602, November 17 reference which are photostat translations of nationality certificates were subject of Swiss informal communication dated November 20. This stated that it would not be possible on basis these photostats to have Swiss Legation Budapest inform Hungarian Government that persons concerned possess Salvadoran citizenship. Swiss expressed willingness to give appropriate instructions to Budapest regarding protesting provided the original documents or notarized copies specifically stating that originals of the documents are in custody of a Swiss authority are received. Subsequently Legation was furnished photostat copies of above mentioned nationality certificates bearing notarization merely stating that attesting notary had seen originals of the documents. These notarized papers were informally presented to Swiss Foreign Office November 29 together with similarly notarized photostats of 100 additional nationality certificates all issued by Mantello in Geneva.

In view of volume of these documents all issued by Mantello Swiss have reexamined their previously expressed position and have now decided they can cooperate in this matter only if originals of the documents are supplied them upon receipt of which they will make photostats at Foreign Office and send these photostats to Budapest with appropriate notarization. However, this action is conditioned on either (one) that Salvadoran Government confirms citizenship of individual persons in whose names documents are issued or (two) that said Government makes blanket statement that it considers valid all documents issued by Mantello specifically naming him.

Because of situation mentioned final paragraph Department's 3648 October 26 Legation made no statement concerning possibility of complying with either of two above mentioned Swiss conditions the lot of Salvadoran documents

-2- #7929, December 4, 4 p.m., from Bern

documents have been returned to Mantello at his request. His further action in connection therewith is unknown to Legation.

On inquiry Swiss have expressed view that it would be inadvisable for them to accept and transmit to Swiss Legation Budapest lists of persons on whose behalf Mantello has issued documents since such action would direct attention of German and Hungarian authorities to persons not physically in possession of Latin American documentation and might place their lives in jeopardy.

Instructions from Department and WRB are requested.

AIR MAIL

PARIS, 24 November 1944

AIR POUCH
NO. 9

Dear Mr. White:

This morning we called for the first time on M. Rene Pleven, the new Minister of Finance, who is the fifth head of the French Treasury I have dealt with during the past two years. We congratulated him on his appointment and expressed our interest in the development of French financial policy under his guidance.

We advised M. Pleven of Secretary Morgenthau's desire to obtain a full and authentic statement of the costs to France of the war and German occupation, as reported in Glasser's letter to Taylor of 30 October. M. Pleven immediately replied that he would be glad to furnish Secretary Morgenthau with a statement of the type requested. He specifically asked that the Secretary be advised personally of his desire to comply with this request and of his intention to do so. We told M. Pleven that we would notify the Secretary accordingly, and you may wish, therefore, to advise the Secretary of M. Pleven's response to this request.

M. Pleven went on to say that he had a very high regard for Secretary Morgenthau. He said that he had sent a telegram to the Secretary upon assuming his new post and was hoping for a reply. The Secretary, according to M. Pleven, was the one person in the US Government who showed any sympathy for the DeGaulle movement in the dark days of 1939-41. M. Pleven said that he had not forgotten the Secretary's attitude at that time and that he felt that Secretary Morgenthau had been an understanding supporter of the French cause throughout this difficult period.

M. Pleven further asked that the Secretary be advised of the fact that he is now engaged in a personal survey of the various regions of France. He is using the occasion of the Liberation Loan to visit the towns and villages and to talk with local committees of Liberation, workers, employers, farmers, and others. He said that he is not willing to rely on reports of others about economic conditions or the attitude of the people but is determined to see for himself. He stated that after his survey was completed he would be in a position to give the Secretary an authoritative statement.

Mr. White,

24 November 1944

We left with M. Pleven a little memorandum concerning the information desired by the Secretary, copy of which is enclosed.

We asked M. Pleven whether he could tell us anything concerning new fiscal measures which had been referred to in the press. He said that he was now considering such measures. He requested us to cable to Treasury to request the Secretary to use his influence to speed up the sending of the new franc currency, which we have done. We asked what M. Pleven proposed to do with this new currency. To this he replied with a very colorful allegory concerning a dog running along a canal paralleled by a line of telegraph poles, which was clearly meant to indicate that he does not intend merely to follow along where others have passed before.

On the other hand he said that he does not believe in giving the patient medicine that is so strong that it results in death. In any case, he said, he will not come to a conclusion before completing his survey of the country. He made specific reference to the Belgian program and said that if something like that is done in France many of the inequities will be corrected. It is our impression that the question of anti-inflation measures is still up in the air.

It is noteworthy that during our interview M. Pleven was not attended by any Inspectors of Finance or other representatives of his Ministry. M. Lepercq always had two or three Inspectors present at his conferences. This may indicate that M. Pleven will make some of his own policies.

Generally speaking our first impression of M. Pleven as Minister of Finance was favorable. It is our impression that he intends to stay in this job as long as possible, although it was quite plain that he regards it as thankless at present and expects to be sniped at from all sides. He gives an impression of confidence in himself and knowledge of governmental procedures and techniques that was totally lacking in Lepercq. His warm expressions of regard for Secretary Morgenthau and appreciation for the Secretary's attitude during the period when the Free French movement was struggling for recognition seemed sincere and naturally made a favorable impression on us. M. Pleven is, of course, generally regarded as a right wing adviser of DeGaulle and an "homme des trusts". His actions in dealing with some of the pressing problems of epuration and fiscal policy will soon reveal the extent to which he is prepared to press forward with a liberal administration of the Ministry of Finance.

Mr. White,

24 November 1944

If possible we would appreciate receiving a copy of the cable sent by M. Pleven to the Secretary and of the Secretary's reply, if any.

Very truly yours,

10/5/44 - 80

The Honorable
The Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

1. In accordance with the directions of your Committee on October 20th, 1944, we have examined the British non-munitions requirements program for the first year of Stage II.

2. In making our recommendations we have taken into consideration the fact that, in order to further the most effective prosecution of the war against Japan, it will be necessary to make some provision which will enable the Government of the United Kingdom to provide a moderate degree of easement in the standard and conditions of life in the United Kingdom in Stage II.

3. Our conclusions on the requirements programs submitted for agricultural products, raw materials and miscellaneous items, shipping and petroleum are set out below, and have been arrived at after full consideration of the programs presented by the representatives of the United Kingdom. These programs will be subject to adjustment in the light of changing circumstances in the war against Japan.

a) The Foreign Economic Administration regards the non-munitions programs as set forth in the attached schedules as appropriate for provision under Lend-Lease in the first year of Stage II, subject to the conditions and comments set forth below and the annotations contained in the attached schedules.

b) The following tabulation summarizes our conclusions:

	(in $ 000,000)	Accepted (subject to conditions as stated)
1. Food, Seeds and Tobacco		1,022.1
2. Raw Materials & Miscellaneous Items		351.1
3. Shipping		852.2
4. Petroleum		371.0
Total Programs		2,596.4

Details of the above programs are contained in the schedules attached hereto.

- c) The financing of the above programs is subject to funds being made available by the Congress for expenditure under the Lend-Lease Act. When application is made for such funds there will be included an appropriate additional allowance for contingencies other than those included with the attached schedules.
- d) The furnishing of the items set forth in the schedules attached hereto will depend upon the availability of supplies and transport or their allocation by the appropriate authorities. The Foreign Economic Administration will consider Lend-Lease applications in the light of (i) the relative needs of all claimants at the time, (ii) supplies available from other sources, and (iii) the British stock position of the item in question.
- e) The Foreign Economic Administration will review the end use to which requisitioned items will be put for conformity with the provisions of the Lend-Lease Act and with the programs now accepted.

4. The Foreign Economic Administration understands that the United Kingdom Government undertakes to continue throughout the first year of Stage II the supply on Reciprocal Aid of non-munitions items at present provided under Reciprocal Aid, subject to similar conditions as to availability of supply and transport and end use mentioned in paragraphs (d) and (e) above.

5. Additional Conclusions on Particular Programs

(a) U.K. Program for Food, Seeds and Tobacco

Maize for feed included in the program for the present will be subject to review from time to time by the United States.

The British program of requirements from the U.S.A. under Lend-Lease in the first year of Stage II assumes, inter alia, an extensive reduction of U.K. stocks during that year, the contemplated reductions being based on estimates of actual stocks in the U.K. at the end of 1944. Insofar as the level of stocks in the U.K. at the beginning of Stage II differs from that prevailing at the end of 1944, compensating changes in the British program of requirements in the first year of Stage II may be necessary.

b) U.K. Program for Raw Materials and Miscellaneous Items

The Foreign Economic Administration agrees that this program shall commence at an earlier date than the beginning of Stage II at the request of the representatives of the Government of the United Kingdom.

c) The British Empire Shipping Program.

The question of whether certain coastal vessels are to be made available for operation by the United Kingdom is still under discussion by the appropriate United States and United Kingdom authorities. Such of these vessels as the appropriate authorities may determine are required for the war against Japan and should be allocated to the United Kingdom for that purpose will be made available on Lend-Lease terms. Accordingly, provision has been included for their cost, estimated at a maximum of $74.2 million. An additional $65.8 million has been included as a special contingency fund for the Baltic coasters now under construction and the thirty-five small tankers, the construction of which has not been decided upon, in order that adequate financing will be available in the event that it is ultimately determined by the Foreign Economic Administration that these vessels are to be provided under Lend-Lease.

d) British Empire Petroleum Program

The Foreign Economic Administration concurs in the general principles on which the British Government has estimated British Empire petroleum consumption.

Various assumptions regarding petroleum stock levels in the United Kingdom at the beginning of Stage II and changes in the stock levels to be made during the first year of Stage II are set forth in the annexed schedules. Without accepting any of the differing underlying assumptions as to stock levels, financial provision in the amount of $38,000,000 has been adopted for present purposes to cover shipment of lend-lease petroleum products, although the quantities of petroleum products supplied may be substantially less, depending upon the decisions ultimately reached.

It is understood that until in any quarterly period petroleum stocks in the United Kingdom are on the average below the level to be mutually agreed upon for Stage II, the United Kingdom will pay the United States any proceeds received from the sale of petroleum products exported from the United Kingdom in the currency in which such proceeds are received after taking into account the cost of handling, blending, packaging, or refining in the United Kingdom. Thereafter, the United Kingdom will pay the United States a share of the proceeds from the sale of any petroleum product exported from the United Kingdom in the currency in which such proceeds are received, in the proportion, computed on a value basis to be agreed and taking into account such costs as may have incurred in the United Kingdom, of the total lend-lease receipts of the United Kingdom of the product exported to the total quantities available to the United Kingdom for the twelve months' period preceding the date of export. In either case, the proceeds per unit of quantity received by the United States shall not be less than the equivalent of the landed cost in the United Kingdom of the products exported, unless mutually agreed otherwise in the light of market conditions then prevailing. No payment will be made for any exports from the United Kingdom which (a) are programmed by SDAEF or its successor and shipped to United States or British military forces, or (b) are shipped to the continent on a lend-lease transaction between the United States and the country of destination, or (c) consist of products not of a type provided on lend-lease, or (d) consist of heavy fuel oil, or (e) are shipped to other areas in the British Empire for eligible lend-lease purposes and with the consent of the United States. It is understood that the United States and the United Kingdom will review the matters set forth below, which influence the amounts and values of petroleum products to be supplied. The Foreign Economic Administration regards the early settlement of certain of these matters as being important for the purpose of determining the lend-lease petroleum supplies to be furnished during the first year of Stage II. Meanwhile, the United States will be free to release such petroleum supplies on lend-lease as it may determine. The principal matters referred to are as follows:

- (1) United Kingdom petroleum stock position and review of general petroleum stock position.
- (2) Equitable participation of American and British nationals in the supply of petroleum markets and the reestablishment of commercial trade.
- (3) Equitable participation of American companies in the supply of bunkers in sterling areas.
- (4) Allocation of aviation gasoline produced at Bahrain.
- (5) Arrangements for repossession of the United States military share and establishment of a formula to determine residual lend-lease share of petroleum products in the United Kingdom.
- (6) Diversion of lend-lease and reciprocal aid petroleum products from purposes approved to other purposes.

Respectfully,

Leo T. Crowley
Foreign Economic Administrator

The Honorable
The Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

1. In accordance with the directions of your Committee on October 20th, 1944, we have examined the non-munitions requirements program for Australia for the first year of Stage II.

2. In making our recommendations, we have taken into account the fact that Australia occupies an important position in the Japanese war and that the end of the war in Europe is not likely to permit any significant relaxation of the war effort in Australia during the first year of Stage II.

3. Our conclusions on the requirements program submitted are set out below and have been arrived at after full consideration of the program presented by the representatives of the Government of Australia. This program will be subject to adjustment in the light of the changing circumstances of the war against Japan.

- a) The Foreign Economic Administration regards the non-munitions program as set forth in the attached schedule, totalling $111,788,000 as appropriate for provision under Lend-Lease in the first year of Stage II, subject to the conditions and comments set forth below and the annotations contained in the attached schedule.
- b) The financing of the above program is subject to funds made available by the Congress of the United States for expenditure under the Lend-Lease Act. When application is made for such funds there will be included an appropriate additional allowance for contingencies other than those included in the attached schedule.
- c) The furnishing of the items set forth in the schedule attached hereto will depend upon the availability of supplies and transport, or their allocation by the appropriate authorities. The Foreign Economic Administration will consider Lend-Lease applications in the light of (1) the relative needs of all claimants at the time, (2) supplies available from other sources, and

(3) the Australia stock position of the item in question.

- d) The Foreign Economic Administration will review the end use to which requisitioned items will be put for conformity with the provisions of the Lend-Lease Act and with the program now accepted.
- e) A special contingency fund of $10,000,000 for capital equipment has been included in the annexed schedule so that adequate financing will be available in the event the Foreign Economic Administration determines that such equipment is eligible for Lend-Lease under arrangements to be mutually agreed upon.

4. The Foreign Economic Administration understands that the Government of Australia undertakes, subject to similar conditions as to the availability of supply and transport and end-use mentioned in paragraphs (c) and (d) above, to continue throughout the first year of Stage II to furnish on Reciprocal Aid supplies and services in accordance with the attached note submitted by representatives of the Government of Australia.

Respectfully,

Leo T. Crowley
Foreign Economic Administrator.

December 5, 1944

1. The U.S. Authorities have requested that Australia should undertake to supply goods and services as reciprocal aid without geographical limitation.

2. The present position is that the Reciprocal Aid Agreement of 3rd September, 1942 between the Australian and United States Governments provides that Australia will furnish assistance, on reciprocal aid terms, to the U.S. forces in Australia or its territories. Notwithstanding the terms of this Agreement, the Australian Government have not, in practice, confined their reciprocal aid within this geographical limit: they have from time to time furnished considerable reciprocal aid to U.S. forces outside Australian territory, particularly to those in the South Pacific and latterly in Hollandia.

3. Australia is providing, as reciprocal aid to the U.S. forces, goods and services to the value of about 20% of her current war expenditure, with heavy consequential sacrifices to the population. These burdens, additional to those imposed by Australia's own war effort, have been spontaneously and willingly accepted, and the U.S. Theatre Commander in the area has expressed himself as being well satisfied with the scale of the reciprocal aid.

4. The Australian Government do not feel able to agree that the terms of their existing reciprocal aid undertakings to the U. S. Government should be revised in such a manner as to impose no limitation upon the amount or upon the area of such aid. They are, however, prepared, within the terms of their reciprocal aid undertakings, to continue to supply to the U.S. forces as reciprocal aid, within locally accepted programmes, the categories of goods and services which they now furnish. They would also agree that, where for strategic reasons it is necessary to transfer to other theatres supplies which have already been provided to the local U.S. Command, no objection should be raised to the transfer.

5. In addition, the Australian Government are willing, as at present, to examine any further requests, including those for additional areas, which may be made by the U.S. authorities, having full regard to the availability of supplies and to their responsibilities in other directions. They suggest that requests for the provision of supplies, on reciprocal aid terms, for areas outside their existing undertakings, should continue to be referred to them for consideration. They do not, however, think it appropriate that the U.K. Government should be called upon to undertake responsibility for the provision of reciprocal aid throughout the British Commonwealth. They accordingly propose, with the concurrence of the U.K. representatives in Washington, that in cases where the Australian Government feel unable to meet such requests, the question of the financial responsibility be jointly discussed between the Australian, the U.S. and the U.K. authorities.

6. If these proposals are acceptable to the U.S. authorities, it is suggested that the detailed arrangements should be settled by joint discussions between representatives of the Governments concerned.

NOTE ON INDIAN RECIPROCAL AID

The Government of India will continue to furnish Reciprocal Aid during Stage II on the same basis as hitherto. It will be appreciated, however, that the actual extent of such aid will depend on a number of factors including the availability of supplies and the strength of the military forces located in or near India.

It is the view of the Government of India that India's real resources (labour, food, transportation, coal, raw materials, etc.) are already over-mortgaged; in consequence deliveries against existing supply programmes are already behind.

The quantum of Reciprocal Aid which can be made available hereafter must necessarily be conditioned by these factors. Nevertheless, as stated above, within the limits of India's resources the Government of India will continue to furnish the requirements of the United States under Reciprocal Aid on the basis already in force and subject to similar conditions as to availability of supply and transport.

The Honorable
The Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

1. In accordance with the directions of your Committee on October 20th, 1944, we have examined the non-munitions requirements program for New Zealand for the first year of Stage II.

2. In making our recommendations, we have taken into account the fact that New Zealand occupies an important position in the Japanese war and that the end of the war in Europe is not likely to permit any significant relaxation of the war effort in New Zealand during the first year of Stage II.

3. Our conclusions on the requirements program submitted are set out below and have been arrived at after full consideration of the program presented by the representatives of the Government of New Zealand. This program will be subject to adjustment in the light of the changing circumstances of the war against Japan.

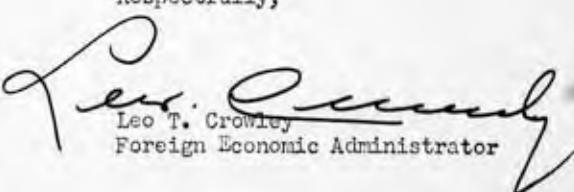

- a) The Foreign Economic Administration regards the non-munitions program as set forth in the attached schedule, totalling $21,127,000, as appropriate for provision under Lend-Lease in the first year of Stage II, subject to the conditions and comments set forth below and the annotations contained in the attached schedule.
- b) The financing of the above program is subject to funds made available by the Congress of the United States for expenditure under the Lend-Lease Act. When application is made for such funds there will be included an appropriate additional allowance for contingencies other than those included in the attached schedule.
- c) The furnishing of the items set forth in the schedule attached hereto will depend upon the availability of supplies and transport, or their allocation by the appropriate authorities. The Foreign Economic Administration will consider Lend-Lease applications in the light of (1) the relative needs of all claimants at the time,

(2) supplies available from other sources, and (3) the New Zealand stock position of the item in question.

- d) The Foreign Economic Administration will review the end use to which requisitioned items will be put for conformity with the provisions of the Lend-Lease Act and with the program now accepted.
- e) A special contingency fund of $3,000,000 for capital equipment has been included in the annexed schedule so that adequate financing will be available in the event the Foreign Economic Administration determines that such equipment is eligible for Lend-Lease under arrangements to be mutually agreed upon.
- f. The Foreign Economic Administration understands that the Government of New Zealand undertakes, subject to similar conditions as to the availability of supply and transport and end-use mentioned in paragraphs (c) and (d) above, to continue throughout the first year of Stage II to furnish on Reciprocal Aid supplies and services in accordance with the attached note submitted by representatives of the Government of New Zealand.

Respectfully,

Leo T. Crowley
Foreign Economic Administrator

RECIPROCAL AID - NEW ZEALAND

In terms of a note of 3rd September, 1942, and an exchange of letters of 15th December, 1943, the Government of New Zealand undertook to provide supplies to the Armed Forces of the United States in the South Pacific area by way of Reciprocal Aid. Provision was made in these documents for special conditions to apply to supplies made available for areas outside the South Pacific, but no such conditions have in fact been imposed, and though in the past New Zealand supplies have generally been confined to the South Pacific area, in actual practice substantial quantities of foodstuffs and other supplies have been provided for other areas. So long as New Zealand continues to be the most practical source of supply for foodstuffs and other appropriate commodities, the New Zealand Government will continue to further the common war effort, by accepting requisitions for supplies for United States forces in any part of the Pacific or in adjacent areas involved in the war against Japan.

It will be understood that the ability of New Zealand to meet such requisitions is dependent upon its capacity to do so and in particular upon (a) its obligations and responsibilities in other areas; for example, the provision of foodstuffs for the United Kingdom, and (b) upon the continued availability of Lend-Lease supplies from the United States to an extent essential to the maintenance of production without undue straining of the Dominion's resources.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

~~RESTRICTED~~

No. 11,230.

Santiago, December 5, 1944.

Subject: Chilean Government has communicated to German Government the fact that the United States Government is empowered to negotiate exchange of claimants to Chilean nationality for German nationals in this hemisphere.

The Honorable
The Secretary of State,
Washington.

Sir:

I have the honor to report that, by its Note Verbale No. 2517 of October 24, 1944, the Embassy asked the Foreign Office whether the Chilean Government had communicated to the German Government, through its protecting Power, the fact that the United States Government was empowered to negotiate exchanges of claimants to Chilean nationality for German nationals in this hemisphere. The Embassy suggested that, if such action had not yet been taken, the Chilean Government might wish to request the Swiss Government through the Chilean Mission at Berne to inform the German Government that such authorization had been granted to the United States Government.

There has been received from the Foreign Office a Note Verbale in reply, in which it is stated that instructions have been cabled to the Chilean Legation in Berne in the sense of the suggestion contained in the Embassy's Note Verbale.

The Foreign Office adds that, in accordance with conversations held in May 1944, the Government of Chile reserves the right to authorize or to deny entrance into Chile of bearers of Chilean passports who may take advantage of the exchange.

Respectfully yours,

CLAUDE G. BOWERS.

LEGATION OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

Kabul, December 5, 1944.

No. 608.

Subject: Relief and Repatriation of German Refugees.

The Honorable
The Secretary of State,
Washington.

Sir:

I have the honor to report that German refugees residing in Kabul have recently asked this Legation for information concerning arrangements which have been made, or are being made, for the relief of refugees still in Nazi hands and for the repatriation of refugees who have escaped abroad.

Specific inquiry has been made concerning an organization in New York which is understood to forward food parcels to persons interned in a concentration camp for aged Jews at Theresienstadt in Czechoslovakia. It is stated that this organization also assists in arranging the release and emigration from Nazi-controlled territory of persons interned at Theresienstadt.

Local German refugees who wish later to return to liberated portions of their homeland are interested in reports that the Inter-Governmental Committee on Refugees at a meeting in London in August 1944 proposed that religious and political refugees be repatriated by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration. They wish to know what procedure should be followed by refugees who desire repatriation.

Any information which the Department can provide in this connection would be much appreciated by the interested parties.

Respectfully yours,

/s/ C. Van H. Engert

MR. WHITE
Branch 2058 - Room 214-1/2

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

PARIS, 21 November 1944

Dear Mr. White:

I have been in Paris three weeks and would like to give you some of my impressions of economic and political developments.

Reliable economic data for France as a whole are scarce at the moment. The slender communication facilities between Paris and the provinces and the general inefficiency and decentralization of French statistical services make it virtually impossible to get a clear over-all picture from Paris. In the first few days that I was here I drew up a rather comprehensive list of questions on economic conditions during and since the occupation which I thought the Treasury would be interested in having answered. I then contacted the research section of the Ministry of Finance as well as two semi-private statistical societies (one of which publishes the official "Bulletin de la Statistique Generale de la France") for information and data. None of these sources has so far been very fruitful, but I believe that as communications improve they will be useful. Meanwhile I have been devoting most of my time to the bank investigations. The following remarks on economic conditions are, therefore, simply general judgments based on what observations I have been able to make.

Economic Conditions1. Prices and the Rate of Exchange.

The most significant fact with respect to prices is that there has not been since the liberation a single market in France. Hence it is useless and meaningless to speak of a general level of prices or to construct indexes of the cost of living, wholesale prices, etc. By virtue of the fact that transport facilities are still extremely limited, there exist in France a congeries of regional markets, each defined by the effective range of transportation available.

Naturally the city areas are worse off than the agricultural areas, a condition which also prevailed, although to a much lesser extent, during the German occupation. As you know, prices are very high for example in the Paris market. On the other hand, in the rich agricultural regions such as Normandy and Brittainy prices of foodstuffs are low and supplies abundant. I have on several occasions spoken to persons recently returned from such areas who had excellent meals in public restaurants, with meat, butter, etc., for thirty and forty francs. Comparable meals in Paris cost from five hundred to a thousand francs. In some regions the populace is using butter to make soap, while butter is unobtainable in Paris except in the black market at a fantastic price.

21 November 1944.

Obviously as transportation improves equilibrium at a new level of prices will be reached — a level which certainly will be far below that currently prevailing in the Paris market and higher than that prevailing in most of the provincial markets. By that time other factors than transportation will have begun to enter more importantly into the picture: reconstruction, resumption of industrial production, the supply and distribution of labor, monetary policy, etc. Once France becomes again a single effective market, and normal production resumes, the structure of prices will be determined on the one hand by the backlog of liquid purchasing power which then exists, and on the other hand by the pressures exerted currently by government deficits, wage increases, etc.

So far no effective measures have been taken to reduce the highly inflated monetary circulation (including bank and savings deposits), while at the same time additional pressure on prices is being exerted by the current annual deficit on government account of some seventy billion francs for the Metropole. Furthermore, reconstruction on the one hand and modernization of industry on the other (much of France's capital equipment is obsolescent) will require considerable savings out of current domestic production, at least until foreign assets can be converted into goods and imported. At this point it does not seem very probable that such savings will be made except under a generally rising price level.

All of these factors make any estimate of either the present or prospective level of prices out of the question. At the moment it can justly be said that prices prevailing/those regions where American troops are to be found are very much out of line with U. S. or British prices at the current rate of exchange. But from the point of view of the economy as a whole and its future relations with other national economies, very little can be said about the equilibrium exchange rate that makes any sense.

2. Industrial Production.

It seems pretty clearly established that, in general, French industrial capital equipment is intact, with a few notable exceptions such as railway engines and cars. At least there is no long-run problem of rebuilding destroyed and damaged factories and machinery. Neither is there much evidence that the industrial structure was warped during the occupation to fit a pattern that now would require over-all re-orientation. Apparently the German policy essentially was to leave French industry alone, and to rely on their control over the disposition of raw materials, together with the fact that Germany was the only foreign market for French goods, to achieve their aim of getting needed French products. The large industries succeeded very well, from all indications, in maintaining large profits, and from this point of view there was undoubtedly little incentive for the owners to do anything but fulfill the orders of the German war machine. Civilian production for home consumption was maintained at a much lower level than before the war, but still it was not on a bare subsistence level.

21 November 1944

It has been estimated that total production in 1943 was some 30 per cent lower than in 1938, and that the Germans acquired (directly and through clearing) some 40 per cent of what was produced. Agricultural production did not fall as much as industrial production between 1938 and 1943, the former being estimated as twenty per cent lower and the latter about 40 per cent lower. While perhaps a fifth of the lowered agricultural production went to Germany, as much as two-thirds of the industrial production may have found its way to Germany.

The fall in production during the occupation can be explained largely in terms of (1) scarcity of raw materials, (2) decline in the working population and (3) decline in efficiency.

The availability of raw materials not domestically produced was, of course, determined entirely by the German authorities as a concomitant of the latter's complete control over continental Europe's trade. The Germans were primarily interested in allowing raw materials to get to France if they were to be used to manufacture goods for Germany, although a small portion was allowed to go into civilian goods for French consumption.

The decline in efficiency was attributable to the substitution of unskilled for skilled labor, the replacement of male workers located in Germany by women, and deliberate sabotage and soldiering on the job.

The decline in the number and efficiency of workers was partially offset, however, by a considerable increase in the number of hours worked. In 1938, the average work-week was 39 hours and in 1943 it was about 45 hours.

The resumption of normal industrial production in France depends upon several factors, aside from transportation problems which have been adequately described in previous reports to the Treasury.

First there is the problem of those raw materials which must be obtained outside France, such as wool and cotton. Normal stocks have in some cases been pretty well depleted, and for those industries the first requirement is the acquisition of real working capital. An indication of exactly what raw materials are required, in what quantities, and possible sources of supply will be given in a later report.

Second, there is the problem of a supply of skilled labor. According to figures released by the Government, some 2,600,000 French prisoners, laborers and deportees are now in Germany. Out of a total working population of some 20 million, of which before the war perhaps 8.0 million were in industry, the immobilization of the above number constitutes a serious problem. From a longer run point of view, of course, most of these men be expected to return to the French economy, but until then the problem remains.

Third, there is the fact that French industrial equipment is generally obsolescent. This was probably also true with respect to pre-war French industry, but the years of occupation have served to aggravate the backwardness of industry here relatively to other industrial countries, for very little or none of the technical progress and innovations introduced in the U. S. and England during the war had a counter-part in France. It has been estimated that in 1943 the average age of the some 500,000 machine tools possessed by French industry was twenty-five years. This has significance, of course, mainly from the longer run point of view of France's national income and position in world trade.

21 November 1944

Lastly, there is the political factor to be considered. Labor is strongly demanding greater participation in industrial management, nationalization of key industries, the abolition of trusts, etc. A government decree has already been issued establishing worker committees for all firms having at least 100 employees, and Labor has hailed this as a "first step." There is, in short, a general atmosphere in France of industrial reform which inevitably will have the short-run effect of making the owners of capital a bit nervous and hesitant.

Despite these factors, however, French industry is in a much better position to resume production on a more or less normal scale than one would have expected. The basic fact that physical destruction and damage have not been extensive remains, at least for the near future, the most important consideration in the picture.

21 November 1944

Political Developments

France is, in my opinion, undergoing the most interesting social and political development in recent years. I was in France in 1936 at the height of the Popular Front's power and popularity, when Labor was riding high and was the most important political force in the country. It looked then as though the era of the two hundred families, the corrupt politicians and fascist-minded industrialist was over. The fall of the Blum government, the general reaction which followed, and ultimately the re-entrenchment in France of reactionary forces after the Armistice, all seemed to obliterate the liberal elements. Since the liberation of France, however, it is clearly evident that the French masses are once again in the mood which inspired them in 1936, with this basic difference, however: they have now behind them the political experience of 1936 and the years which followed, including a recognition of the weaknesses which led to the downfall of the Popular Front and a more widespread cognizance of the role which those who are now called "collaborationists" played in pre-war French life.

There exist in France now numerous political factions, but they are essentially united in their principles and programs. The links in the unity were forged in the process of resisting, and later in helping to expel, the Germans. "Resistance" and "Liberation" are still the symbols employed, but a positive program of reform -- economic, political and social -- is beginning to develop. Although the Communists are playing an important role in organizing resistance to the occupiers, it would be a mistake to regard the present resistance movement as "communistic": for numerous non-communist groups adhere to the movement and seek objectives which are considerably less radical than those of the traditional communist party.

At the moment, many vocal political groups in France are demanding the same basic reforms and government measures, typical of which are the following: the purging of collaborators and fifth columnists; improvement in the distribution of food; abolition of trusts; nationalization of certain key industries; taxation of illicit and abnormal profits; reconstruction and a national resumption of productive activity.

Not only are programs of action formulated, but groups are organized to press for them. Besides regular political parties, there are scores of resistance and liberation committees which continue to function in their respective localities and which are represented in the Consultative Assembly and the Council of National Resistance. Nearly every newspaper in Paris represents one or more of these groups and actively supports their programs.

An extremely impressive demonstration of unity among these groups was given in the parades on November 11. In the morning there were military parades, in which Churchill and Eden made their appearance. In the afternoon the various resistance and liberation groups, each behind its own banner, marched from the Place de la Concorde to the Arc de Triomphe. The crowd of reputedly more than a million persons which attended this demonstration was clearly politically-minded. The heroes of the day were those who died in the Paris streets fighting the Germans.

Nevertheless France's political situation has not yet concealed. Trends are present but they are not the kind that can be projected too far into the future with confidence. Not a whisper is heard as yet from those who most certainly look upon these political forces with fear. But that opposition should not show itself so soon after the liberation and before the war is over in Europe is not at all surprising, nor is it a guarantee that the old forces of reaction and corruption are dead.

The present government of DeGaulle is feeling its way along with caution, but it has won important victories. Its first real test was the establishment of central authority and order in the outlying provinces where until very recently large areas were under the control of FFI or similar forces. I have been reliably told of instances where local prefects appointed by the DeGaulle government were powerless and de facto control was exercised by the armed FFI groups. The situation was aggravated by the presence of many bands who purported to be FFI affiliates but who in reality were interested simply in looting. But in any event, it was obviously intolerable for a government to allow local independent authority to exist outside its competence. On the other hand, the great popularity of the FFI and the support given to it generally by the populace made the question a delicate one for a provisional government whose position had not yet been definitively established.

This was the situation facing the Government when on October 28 it dissolved the "milices partisanes" and forbade any person or group to carry arms without special permission, under penalties provided for by the laws of the Republic. Many people, perhaps most, approved of this measure as a necessary integration of power and authority. But some, and most particularly the communist groups, vociferously protested. The political bureau of the Communist Party stated that the measure "was taken by the government without prior consultation of the Resistance, which constitutes an indisputable mark of disdain and mistrust toward the patriots who have battled on the soil of the homeland for national liberation".

The day after the government's communique announcing its decision, the National Council of Resistance unanimously adopted a resolution recalling that the Milices partisanes had been created at the beginning of 1944 by the C.N.R. and that it should have been consulted before any measure was taken regarding it. An open break with the Government could easily have occurred at this point but DeGaulle was fully aware of the political power of the C.N.R. and stated his desire to be aided in the problem by the C.N.R. and all citizens. A compromise was reached in the establishment of "gardes civiques et republicaines" which are not to carry arms but to have them available at designated depots in case of need. Furthermore, the new organizations are under the direct authority of the mayor, the municipal council and the local council of liberation.

Mr. White,

7 -.

21 November 1944

One purpose of the gardes civiques et republicains is stated to be the defense of republican institutions against the fifth column. Opposition to the dissolution and disarmament of the milices patriotiques was put in terms of disarming "the people" in face of the "enemy". The new guards consist of just ordinary civilians organized locally in units of from eight to ten persons, which in turn form sections of five or six units.

Since then the DeGaulle government has rapidly consolidated its position. DeGaulle himself enjoys an immense and widespread popular support, for "Gaullisme" is inextricably associated in the people's mind with Resistance from its inception. The recognition of the government by the U.S. and Great Britain, the acquisition of a permanent seat on the European Advisory Council, the extremely good relations recently established with Great Britain and the concomitant feeling that France is rapidly regaining her place as an equal with the other great powers, all have contributed to make the present government generally popular.

The important fact remains, however, that the populace still regards the present government as "provisional". It is because of this provisional nature of the government that such organizations as the National Council of Resistance and the Consultative Assembly have particularly great influence. To fail to give proper consideration to the suggestions and principles of these organizations would be fatal to the government. There is little doubt in my mind that when elections are held in France the Resistance candidates - which means the liberal and left-wing candidates - will gain the overwhelming majority of votes. Those who now are more or less on the sidelines - although more as coaches than spectators - will probably find themselves participants in the near future. As restoration of the economy proceeds and the war in Europe draws to a close France will probably undertake reforms of a far more reaching character than have so far been adumbrated.

DeGaulle himself, however, is not likely to lose his position as head of the government, unless he becomes too resistant to the demands for reform which ultimately will be made. His future position is mainly a question of how responsive he will continue to be to the popular will, recognizing that he starts out as the most popular figure in France today.

Sincerely,

(signed)

FOR PEHL FROM MANN

Monday's London TIMES and EVENING STANDARD carried stories reported from Swedish sources to the effect that the Hungarian Quisling, Szalasy, was trying to barter the lives of 4500 Hungarian Jews for the recognition of his government. According to the press, the Swedish government is reported trying to find a way to save the lives of the Jews without submitting to Szalasy's blackmail. World Jewish Congress in London immediately approached Swedish Legation to determine situation and ascertain what was going to be done. They were informed today that Sweden did not intend to recognize the Hungarian Government but that Sweden "will negotiate and play for time" in order to save the lives of the Jews now under protection of the Swedish protective passport.

First Secretary Swedish Legation told World Jewish Congress to keep this strictly confidential and to take steps if possible to prevent Jewish press publicizing the above mentioned news story and making public inquiries as to what was going to be done. Legation explained that such publicity could only serve to defeat the plan to play for time, since the Hungarian Government would be forced to keep up its prestige and would probably try to force a quick decision on this point. Jewish press here thinks Swedish position logical and will not further publicize this story. You may care to discuss matter with World Jewish Congress and other Jewish groups at the earliest possible moment.

FOR WAR REFUGEE BOARD FROM HOFFMAN.

The following message is to Moses Leavitt from Joseph Schwartz:

Situation here very critical with 38,000 persons asking various forms relief from our committees of whom about half in Paris remainder provinces mostly large cities like Lyons, Marseilles, Nice, Toulouse. 6,000 being fed daily at our public canteens in Paris and additional canteen now being opened in Marseilles. In addition at least 8,000 children need immediate care, many of them having to be assembled in homes which must be prepared and equipped. During resistance period many new organizations have sprung up, all of whom insist continuing function in social service field thus complicating situation. French Government agencies beginning to function but have not yet definitely defined categories entitled to relief and particularly non-French Jews suffering greatly and not receiving public relief. Polish Government begun distributing relief to its nationals on basis 800 francs per person per month and it is hoped that this will lighten our burden. UNRRA has not been invited by the French to work largely because at present time they have no supplies and intergovernmental committee finds itself limited by its mandate which restricts activities to persons who had to leave their country because of race religion or political views and is also handicapped by lack funds for purely relief purposes. Believe that in present emergency for winter months will have to have budget not less than 30 million francs monthly which budget will be decreased it is hoped by the end of the winter as conditions improve and as government and other, agencies begin to function more effectively. To meet this budget for at least next 4 months you will have to transmit to us $250,000 monthly and it is hoped that balance can be met from franc reserves which have been set up here. Also consider it important reopen Cassa which was functioning in Paris up to 1940 in order make loans to people who can begin to earn. Could reconstruction committee make available 10 million francs for this purpose. Expecting leave for Switzerland next day and then visit Belgium after which will return for longer stay here. Arthur Greenleigh not yet arrived, please ask him proceed here at once as this most urgent. Would also suggest another American staff member be sent here. Please initiate application your end and we will push from here.

The message which follows is from Meileth Neustadt, He asks that to David Wertheim, Paolezion organization, 45 East 17th Street, New York City, a paraphrase of this message be sent, through WRB:

Very bad news with reference to the fate of Hungarian Jews was on November 8th received by us. Under sadistic treatment, and without clothing or food, Jews newly deported from Budapest, between ten and eighty years of age, concentrated at large brick works close to Budapest in Altofen. Many died on their way to concentration; only a very little aid by IRC allowed; they sleep in the open and in addition to 13,000 Jewish workmen for ten days without any food, there were 25,000, 70 per cent of them women and 30 per cent men, up to the 19th of November, and 2500 each day on the way 30 kilos Hegyeshalom, on the border of Austria. There were 92 old men dead and young women in turned-up skirts at Gyoer, and on further way number of dead quadrupled. There were almost 20% deaths with no names listed, according to declarations of accompaginon Stone Gyezhalomx. Intervention by our friend who visited Switzerland recently took place and age is limited now; since November 22nd no deportation has taken place; there still remain in Budapest 100,000. There are increasing claims that more attention be paid to the demands of IRC by declaring that Hungarian Jews are prisoners of war and by increasing rescue; according action conducted through Switzerland recently, a promise to reward those who aid Jews being included. They believe that rescue work has not been sufficient heretofore; they require an interview with the State Department and urgent action from everyone. It is requested that it be remembered that it is the last minute; please inform Segal, Tartakover, Wise, Goldman, Mereminski, and others.

FOR WRB FROM MCCLELLAND LEGATIONS 7295 B NOVEMBER 2.

Following visit of Kasztner to Swiss frontier early this month more precise information is available concerning deportation of Jews from Budapest who were forced to march on foot to Austria for labor service in German Reich.

Between November 8 and 19, 25,000 persons (roughly 70% women and 30% men), including children as young as 10 and some elderly people reportedly as old as 80, were forced to set out on foot from Budapest after having been brutally assembled in tile factory on outskirts of city by Arrow Cross party members. They were sent out in groups of from 2,000 to 2,500 per day along the main highway between Budapest and Hegyeshalom via Piliscsaba, Szony and Gyoer and were expected to cover 20 to 30 kilometers a day. Food given to them and supplies they were allowed to bring were totally inadequate with result that 15% to 20% never reached Hegyeshalom, 109 kilometers from Budapest, having either died or fallen out from complete exhaustion along the way. 80% of those who arrived could scarcely be considered capable of physical labor.

The deportation of this group was conducted by Arrow Cross. Another 13,000 Jews, mainly men, were similarly sent to Austria on foot by SS. "Special kommandatur" in Budapest. According to statement made by Eichmann head of this "kommando" to Kasztner Germans planned to deport from Budapest as labor 20,000 Jews for fortification work "schanzjuden", 20,000 male Jews from Honved labor camps "arbeitsdienstler" and 18,000 "assorted civilian Jews".

Kastner stated that Arrow Cross party was loud in its expressed desire to see all remaining Jews in Budapest (of whom there were reliably reported to be still about 100,000) deported.

It has

It has happily been possible for Jewish organizations in Budapest to extricate and hide some 5,000 Jewish children, a great many of whom have been placed in homes under the protection of the ICRC. 3,500 young Jews, including many men escaped from military work companies in the provinces, have also been hidden in Budapest.

I am continuing to contribute WRB funds for support of such efforts.

A detailed eye witness account of the conditions under which the 25,000 Jews were forced to march to Austrian border is being forwarded today to you by pouch.

"Referring to my direct cable of November 25 concerning Italian children and after conversations with Reale, Swiss Red Cross and McClelland, I desire earnestly support appeal to Italo-American organizations for funds for both children and adults. Collapse of Partisan movement Ossola Valley and other nearby regions produced some 12,000 additional refugees including 3,000 children of whom about 1,400 thus far placed homes or families by Swiss Red Cross. Number grows daily and although Swiss authorities supplying large scale minimum there is very definite need for outside assistance. Suggest any funds forthcoming be transmitted through ourselves and American Friends as previously.

Can we now unfreeze Swiss franc equivalent $20,000 blocked here following your cable of early October sent through WRB, if not directly for France then for purchase supplies here for France? Referring to my cable via Lisbon concerning funds for France, last exchange transaction made for Paris office before liberation was about 80 French francs to the Swiss franc. Current rate here about 125 now.

Delighted proposed Polish budget enabling inauguration well equipped ambulant medice-social service. FEDERAL POLITICAL DEPARTMENT

No. 99712

The Division of Foreign Interests of the Federal Political Department has the honor to refer to note No. 9735 of October 11, which the Legation of the United States of America addressed it, concerning the treatment of Jews in Hungary. The contents of this note has been transmitted on October 28 to the Hungarian Ministry for Foreign Affairs.

The Division of Foreign Interests has the honor to communicate below to the Legation of the United States of America the text of the Hungarian reply which has been notified on November 8 to the Swiss Legation at Budapest.

"With reference to its kind note verbale No. 401 a/b/of October 28, 1944, concerning a communication of the United States Government with regard to Jewish work camps in Hungary, the Ministry for Foreign Affairs has the honor to inform the Swiss Legation of the following:

"In Hungary's war effort total mobilization has been carried out, within the framework of which Jewish workers are needed. The communization in work camps of Jews fit for work is not discriminatory since on the basis of the appropriate law of 1939, all persons fit for work, without distinction as to race, nationality or religion and without regard to time of year, may be called upon for military labor services under military discipline. The concentration of Jews in work camps within the framework of the war effort can not be considered as "Gefanglager" (punitive camps) and, in fact, the concentration does not at all mean their extermination. In this connection, the Hungarian and German Governments have given their consent that such camps be visited by the delegates of the International Committee of the Red Cross. Furthermore, the protection of these Jews is appropriately provided for according to the nature of the work performed.

To the Legation of the United States of America,

"This

"The solution of the Jewish question in Hungary is determined solely by considering the interests of the Hungarian Nation. Threats of foreign countries of whatever kind can not change this principle and must be energetically rejected.

"The Jewish workers represent a part of the workers of the Hungarian Nation and they are used within the framework of the Hungarian war effort in a form which appears appropriate to the Hungarian Government.

"As a matter of fact the Hungarian Government intends to treat the Jews in a just and humane manner. The respective measures will, however, depend exclusively upon the attitude of the Jews themselves and upon the circumstance whether further enemy terrorist attacks on the Hungarian civilian population take place, which provoke a more intensified opposition of the Hungarian population against the Jews. The general standard of life of the Jews will finally not be lower than that of the working classes.

"With regard to the issuance of passports, protective passports, provisional passports, immigration certificates, promises of visas, etc. by foreign missions in Budapest to Hungarian Jews for their emigration to neutral countries or to Palestine, the Hungarian Government reiterates that, according to the arrangement agreed upon, it is still prepared to recognize these and to accord emigration to the Jews concerned within the framework of the number of visas agreed upon by the German Government and recently confirmed, for transit through German territory, in case normal diplomatic relations with the interested country permit it."

"Budapest, November 8, 1944."

The Division of Foreign Interests avails itself of this occasion to renew to the Legation of the United States of America the assurance of its highest consideration.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT:

As you know, the Netherlands Government requested a loan from the United States and I advised them to seek funds in the market. In accordance with this suggestion, they have negotiated a loan to be made by a syndicate of fourteen New York banks.

The loan agreement provides that the Dutch may borrow up to $100,000,000 at 1-1/2% interest repayable in about three years. The Netherlands Government is required to pledge gold having a value equivalent to the maximum credit that the banks may be called upon to extend.

It is necessary for me to have your approval before issuing an appropriate license under Section 34 of the Provisional Regulations issued under the Gold Reserve Act of 1934. If you approve the issuance of appropriate gold licenses in this ~~and similar cases~~, will you kindly so indicate by signing the notation at the foot hereof. MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

As you know, we will pay currently to the Western European countries the dollar equivalent of the local currency which our troops will be spending out of their pay in such countries, it being traditional that the United States should not place the burden of the pay of its troops on friendly countries.

In the case of Italy, however, we have not been paying the Italians the dollars representing our troop pay. Instead, we have been placing these dollars in a special account in the Treasury, holding them with the thought in mind that they might eventually be turned over for the use of the Italian people.

In view of the present situation in Italy I suggest that Italy should now be accorded arrangements similar to those in effect with the Western European countries except that we reserve all rights in the final settlement of accounts with Italy.

I recommend, therefore, that the dollars which we have set aside in this special account representing troop pay be made available to the Italian Government and that from now on dollars representing the pay of our troops spent in Italy be made available currently to the Italian Government.

This step is particularly significant at this time because of the need of Italy for foreign exchange with which to pay for the necessary civilian supplies for its people which have heretofore been paid for out of Army appropriations.

The British are entirely agreeable to this method of financing U. S. supplies, and will continue to provide their part of the supplies for Italy under their own financial arrangements but will not use troop pay. Changes in the present scope of the supply program will be the subject of further agreement.

The attached press release should not be issued until the Italian Government is informed, which will be done as soon as you approve the arrangement.

The Secretary of State and the Foreign Economic Administrator are in agreement with this proposal. The Secretary of War indicates that the matter is not one of concern to the War Department and he has no objection to the proposed action.

Average Weekly Expenditures Since Outbreak of War

See attached sheet for footnotes.

France (through June 19, 1940) $19.6 million

England (through June 19, 1940) $27.6 million

England (through June 20, 1940 to March 12, 1941) $54.9 million

England (since March 12, 1941) 21.9 million

- (b) Includes payments for account of British Ministry of Supply Mission, British Supply Board, Ministry of Supply Timber Control, and Ministry of Shipping.
- (c) Estimated figures based on transfers from the New York Agency of the Bank of Montreal, which apparently represent the proceeds of official British sales of American securities, including those effected through direct negotiation. In addition to the official selling, substantial liquidation of securities for private British account occurred, particularly during the early months of the war, although the receipt of the proceeds at this Bank cannot be identified with any accuracy. According to data furnished by the British Treasury and released by Secretary Morgenthau, total official and private British liquidation of war securities through December, 1940 amounted to $334 million.
- (d) Includes about $65 million received during October, 1939 from the accounts of British authorized banks with New York banks, presumably indicating the recapitalization of private dollar balances. Other large transfers from such accounts since October, 1939 apparently represent current acquisitions of proceeds of exports from the sterling area and other accruing dollar imports. See (k) below.
- (e) Reduction and change in all dollar holdings payable on demand or maturing in one year.
- (f) For breakdown by types of debits and credits see tabulations prior to March 10, 1943.
- (g) Adjusted to eliminate the effect of $20 million paid out on June 26, 1940 and returned the following day.
- (h) For monthly breakdown see tabulations prior to April 23, 1941; October 8, 1941; October 14, 1942; September 29, 1943; September 6,
- (i) Includes $ 4.6 million apparently representing current and accumulated dollar proceeds of sterling area services and nonresident exports.
- (j) Of which $7.5 million represents payment to American aircraft company.
- (l) Balances: $2.3 million transferred to accounts in this market of National Bank of Iceland.
2.6 million transferred to Reserve Bank of South Africa account at this bank.
2.0 million transferred to Standard Bank of South Africa, New York, for account of London office.

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS
ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE
G-5 DIVISION

APO 757
7 December 1944.

SHAEF/G-5/(Ops)/803/1

SUBJECT: Policy in Occupied Germany.

TO : AC of S, G-5, Twelfth Army Group
AAC of S, G-5, Sixth Army Group
CO, European Civil Affairs Division

1. The policies and procedures to be employed in the military government of occupied Germany during the period of the Supreme Commander's responsibility have been set forth in the directive to Army Group Commanders (AG 014.1-1 (Germany) GE-AGM dated 9 November 44) and in the Handbook for Military Government in Germany. These publications have been prepared with great care to reflect the broad policies laid down by the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

2. Essence of this policy is that no effort will be made to rehabilitate or succor the German people. Rather, the sole aim of the Military Government is to further military objectives.

3. All planning, direction and instruction by US elements concerning military government should be guided by this policy which reflects firm US views as known in this Headquarters. Principal points to be emphasized are the following:

- a. Germany will not be "liberated", but occupied as a defeated nation.
- b. The German people will be made to realize that all necessary steps will be taken to prevent any further attempt by them to conquer the world.
- c. No steps will be taken looking toward the economic rehabilitation of Germany nor designed to maintain or strengthen the German economy except those needed to prevent epidemics or serious diseases and serious civil disorder which would endanger the forces and to prevent the dissipation or sabotage of German equipment required for Allied countries.

4. Reports from the field indicate that Military Government Detachments and G-5 staffs of subordinate formations are inclined to try to do too much to relieve the problems of the German people. There seems to be a disposition to approach the administration of

3- Enc to 201 from [unclear]

Regraded Unclassified

Germany with the idea that it is our job to make Germany a "happy land" again. It is essential that all Military Government personnel be disabused of this concept.

5. The position of this Headquarters is equally firm with regard to fraternization. Reference is made to the Supreme Commander's letter of 12 September, Appendix "A" which prohibits fraternization by all troops under his command and lays down regulations to govern the conduct of Allied forces when making essential civilian contacts of an official nature. All Military Government officers and detachments should be required to familiarize themselves with the contents of these instructions and special steps should be taken to insure that all such personnel are aware of their responsibilities in this regard.

6. In view of the fact that the policies outlined in this letter are established not only for the period of the Supreme Commander's responsibility but will probably apply also for the American Zone in the period following dissolution of Supreme Headquarters AEF, it is essential that continuity of policy and attitude be obtained by assuring compliance with these policies from the outset in US commands.

7. Action taken to insure the familiarity of all personnel with these policies and to insure further that they are given universal effect should be reported to this Headquarters through the technical channel of communication on or before 15 December 1944.

SITUATION IN GERMANY AND GERMAN-CONTROLLED AREAS

Representative McClelland forwarded to us information which he received from a reliable and confidential source concerning the composition of the internees in the camp at Bergen Belsen. According to the figures which he received, there were in the camp at the beginning of September:

Approximately	1,370 Hungarian Jews
	593 Polish Jews with "foreign" passports
	660 Dutch Jews holding Latin American documents
Approximately	33 Other Jews, of unspecified nationality, holding Latin American documents
Approximately	5,500 Jews of Dutch, Greek, French, Polish, and other nationalities with no documents or with documentation considered by the Germans as insufficient
	$,156

The first two of these groups were said to receive tolerable treatment, but the last and largest group comprises Section Four of the camp, which is a work camp called "Albals" where the treatment is bad and the food, hygienic, and housing conditions are inadequate.

A representative of the International Red Cross who recently returned to Switzerland from Hungary reported that there are some 18,000 Jews working in the vicinity of Vienna. Most of them are Hungarians, but there are some Poles and Czechoslovaks included. They are divided into a number of small camps or work detachments, with 300 to 500 persons in each one. The Intercessor representative advised Representative McClelland that the German authorities in Vienna, surprisingly enough, seem willing to permit the International Red Cross to assist these Jews in collaboration with and through an official who still holds his position with the Vienna Jewish Community. The latter informed the Intercross representative that foodstuffs and clothing could be obtained in Vienna if funds were available. McClelland is exploring with Intercross and representatives of private organizations the possibilities for undertaking a program of relief for these people. The operations will have to be conducted as unobtrusively as possible, however, since the authorities in Berlin know nothing of the tacit working agreement of the German officials in Vienna with the Jewish Community there and the International Red Cross.

According to another report received through our Legation in Bern, there are indications in Germany from which the inference may be drawn that some leading Nazi circles, including SS executives, are beginning to adopt a different view towards arrests and deportations on political and racial grounds. This late change of heart was thought to be the result of Allied occupation of German territory, by virtue of which the Germans are faced with a reversal of conditions, so that they feel they may themselves find it necessary to appeal to international organizations or neutral countries for protection for their civilian population. The Germans are reported to have started the dissolution of some of their concentration camps in Northern Italy, particularly the Fossoli camp.

Slovakia and Hungary

Following our recent request, the Swiss conveyed to the German Government this Government's protest against deportations of Jews from Hungary and Slovakia, its demand that all persons holding documents issued in the names of American republics who have been deported from recognized civilian internment camps be immediately returned to camps supervised by the International Red Cross, and its determination to hold strictly accountable all persons sharing the guilt for deportations and other forms of persecution. The Swiss Foreign Office advised our Legation in Bern that the response of the German Government as stated by a representative of the German Foreign Office was that it does not recognize the right of the American Government to make representations in these matters which do not concern the protection of American nationals and that it considers the notes from the Swiss presenting our views unacceptable because of their threatening tone. In a later cable from our Legation, we learned that the Swiss Minister to Berlin, during a recent visit in Bern, declared that the refusal of the German Government to accept this and similar messages was founded mainly on the threatening tone of the messages and objections on the part of the Germans to accepting reproaches of this kind from another government. Even though the Swiss Minister assures the Germans that his position is merely that of a communication channel between belligerents, the Germans show resentment against the Swiss for transmitting such messages from the Government of the United States. For this reason and the accompanying adverse effect upon his relations with German Foreign Office authorities, he expressed the wish that notes of this character not be sent to the Swiss Legation for delivery to the German Government. It was indicated that officials of the Swiss Foreign Office shared their Minister's opinions in this respect.

In view of the position taken by the German Foreign Office spokesman, the Swiss Foreign Office saw no useful purpose in making the representations which we recently requested concerning the deportation of bearers of documents issued in the names of American republics who were formerly interned at Marianka in Slovakia. It accordingly instructed the Swiss Minister in Berlin not to pursue the matter further. The Foreign Office later agreed, however, to have the Swiss Legation in Berlin make the desired approach to German authorities with respect to persons in the group who are bona fide nationals of the United States and of Latin American countries represented by Switzerland. The Swiss also pointed out that an approach to the Germans along the lines suggested by the Swiss Consul in Bratislava, with respect to Jews claiming United States nationality, requesting the German Government to surrender the Jews in question to the Slovak Government might be interpreted as implying recognition of the Slovak State.

In response to the observations of the Swiss, we advised Representative McClelland that it is our view that the transmission by the protecting power of messages regarding the mistreatment of victims of enemy persecution serves a useful purpose regardless of whether or not the enemy government "accepts" such messages in a formal sense. We pointed out that, in view of this Government's stand regarding the holders of documents issued in the names of American republics, which is shared by the Inter-American Advisory Committee for Political Defense, no distinction between claimants to American nationalities on the theory that some may be bona fide while others may not, can be countenanced in communications to enemy governments relating to the treatment to be accorded such persons. The special interest of this Government in citizens and claimants to citizenship of the United States has already been indicated in a cable to our Legation asking that the Swiss be requested to inform the German Government that the United States Government expects to obtain assurances that the German authorities in Slovakia have not taken any action against claimants to citizenship of the United States which deprived them of any of the rights to which they are entitled, and that if any such persons have been so deprived of their rights or have been removed from Slovakia to some other area under German control, the German Government should provide the names of the persons concerned.

and information regarding their whereabouts and welfare. We asked Minister Harrison and Representative McClelland to bring to the attention of the Swiss the fact that acceptance of the German view with respect to the right of this Government to make representations concerning the treatment of claimants to nationality of American republics would leave these persons without such slight protection as our repeated representations may afford them. Moreover, in the light of the reportedly wavering position of some of the Nazi leaders on the matter of arrests and deportations on political and racial grounds, the German attitude toward such approaches is not likely to prove inflexible. With regard to possible misinterpretation of our request that Jews deported from Marianka be surrendered to the Slovakian Government, we expressed the belief that technical niceties cannot be allowed to stand in the way of saving human lives and suggested that any misconception regarding the American attitude toward the present regime in Slovakia can be avoided if in communications to the Swiss reference is made to "Dr. Tiso and his associates" or "the present regime in Slovakia."

Representative McClelland cabled us additional information regarding the fate of the Jews in Slovakia, particularly in Bratislava, which was contained in a trustworthy report dated October 28 which reached Switzerland on November 13 through Czech underground channels. The number of Jews sent by the Germans from Bratislava to Sered during the latter part of September and the first part of October was given as 4,000, somewhat lower than the previously announced figure. It was indicated that only about 300 persons are left in the camp, over 3,000 having been deported to an unknown destination. An estimated 20% of the Jews in Bratislava were said to have succeeded in escaping deportation by hiding and fleeing. The round-up was described as a general action conducted against all Jews in German-controlled Slovakian areas and included even so-called Class B baptized Jews, only Jewish wives of "Aryans" being excepted. Most of the Jews arrested in the eastern and central parts of Slovakia were sent to a newly established camp near the town of Topolcany. Nothing was known about this new camp beyond the fact that it is heavily guarded and cut off from outside contact, the inhabitants within a radius of four kilometers having been evacuated. In submitting this report, McClelland pointed to the significance of the fact that, until the termination of this action against the Jews in mid-October, the Gestapo delayed granting a German transit visa to the International Red Cross delegate who was scheduled to leave for Bratislava during September.

Minister Johnson advised us that the Swedish Legation in Budapest had cabled the Foreign Office in Stockholm that approximately 4,500 Jews with special Swedish passports have been moved to a ghetto established especially for them. The Legation is endeavoring to arrange transportation to Sweden for an initial group of about 150 of these persons within the next few days. It has successfully intervened to obtain the gradual release of about 15,000 Jews from labor service and deportation. Thousands of Jews were reported to be on the way to the western border of Hungary, traveling on foot under conditions of extreme suffering.

SITUATION IN YUGOSLAVIA

Ambassador Kirk cabled us from Italy that the group of refugees who are awaiting evacuation in a Partisan-controlled section of Yugoslavia are not on a possible line of German retreat and that our military authorities have assured him that they are in no danger from the Germans. The Balkan air force has made and is making special efforts to keep them supplied with food and clothing, but their evacuation is extremely difficult because of the reduced number of flights resulting from winter weather and priority given to the sick and wounded. He reported that some progress was being made, however, in efforts to evacuate small numbers. In a later cable, he reported that the Office of Strategic Services had informed him that a new air strip had just been completed near the present location of this group. It is planned to move them near the sight of this new field and then to evacuate them as soon as possible. In the meantime, they are in no immediate danger and will continue to receive supplies.

SITUATION IN RUMANIA

Representative Katzki informed us that, according to reports received by the Jewish Agency representative in Istanbul, Dr. Ernst Marton, a former member of the Rumanian parliament, has submitted a memorandum to the Nationalists proposing: (1) the extension of medical, financial, and other types of assistance to the 400 to 500 Rumanian Jews who remained in the Ordeal section of Transylvania after the German and Hungarian armies were driven out; (2) the registration and safeguarding of the real and personal property which was confiscated by the Hungarians from the 140,000 Jews deported from Ordeal to Germany or elsewhere; and (3) the rescue by exchange, similar to exchanges of prisoners of war, of Jews deported from Ordeal, 33% of whom it is believed are still alive. With reference to the third proposal, the memorandum stated that all Jews originating from Ordeal automatically became Rumanian citizens without distinction if at the date of the Allied occupation they had been deported by the Nazis to Germany or to Poland. It was suggested that the Rumanian Government propose the exchange of the deported Jews for the "great number of German subjects as well as suspected persons who upon joining the German army lost their status as Rumanian subjects in the eyes of the law as did their families."

Representative Katzki reported that Jewish Agency representatives in Istanbul had also received a telegram from the Budapest representative of the Agency suggesting an exchange of Ibdar Jews for German nationals in Rumania through the International Red Cross, similar to the proposal described above. The Budapest representative stated that the Germans have promised to consider the matter provided the Rumanians are in agreement. He expressed the view that the possibility for making such an exchange depends largely upon the attitude of the Rumanian, the United States, and the Russian Governments. Our representative indicated his belief that, while first-hand knowledge of the position in Bucharest is lacking, these exchange proposals, whether involving Hungarian and Rumanian Jews against Germans and Hungarians or some other combination, merit further inquiry and investigation.

The substance of a radio broadcast from Rumania on October 30 intercepted by the Office of War Information in Istanbul was reported to us from Ankara. The broadcast referred to information received regarding the present situation of Rumanian citizens in Germany and Austria, of Jews deported from the north of Transylvania, and of Jews of Rumanian nationality who are in Germany or Hungary or in territories occupied by the Germans. The Rumanian Government was declared to have requested the International Red Cross to make an inquiry concerning the fate and the situation of these Rumanian subjects, and at the same time to have requested the Swiss Government to inform Berlin and Budapest authorities that "the Rumanian Government will apply reprisals toward German and Hungarian subjects and toward the respective Ethnic minorities."

EVACUATIONS THROUGH TURKEY

Representative Katzki reported the departure of a total of 104 persons from Istanbul on November 16 and 17, proceeding by railroad to Palestine. There were included in this number 38 Polish refugees from Rumania who had arrived by train on November 11, 46 persons from Bulgaria, including 36 children, who had arrived by train on November 13, and 20 individual emigrants from Bulgaria who arrived by train during the week of November 12.

UNITED STATES VISAS FOR CHILDREN

Representative McClelland informed us that organizations in Switzerland responsible for the care of refugee children had inquired as to whether the 4,000 United States immigration visas authorized under the Board's program will still be available after the war. We advised him that this authorization was given for the purpose of encouraging the Swiss to receive refugee children and that it will remain in effect as long as necessary to influence Swiss action with respect to refugee children.

seeking admission to Switzerland to escape enemy persecution. We asked him to give us his views as to whether, in order to accomplish this purpose, it will be desirable to continue the authorization for a period beyond the time when flight from enemy persecution is necessary.

RECOGNITION OF LATIN AMERICAN PASSPORTS

Our Embassy in Quito was informed by the Ecuadoran Foreign Office that, in response to its cabled request of October 31, the Ecuadoran representative in Switzerland reported by telegram dated November 10 that Swiss authorities stated that they regretted that they would not be able to assume representation in Hungary of Ecuadoran interests. In view of a former statement by the Swiss that, unless they were requested to assume such representation, they would be unable to undertake protection of persons in Hungary holding documents issued in the name of Ecuador, we informed Minister Harrison and Representative McClelland of the foregoing and asked them to endeavor to obtain clarification of the Swiss attitude and their reasons for the reply declining to assume representation of Ecuadoran interests in Hungary.

WAR REFUGEE BOARD APPROPRIATION

In view of the provisions of the Russell Amendment (Section 213 of the Independent Offices Appropriation Act, 1935) the Board has requested an appropriation of $150,000 to finance its operations for the last six months of the fiscal year 1945. The Congressional hearing on this request took place on November 20th at which time Mr. Pehle testified before the Deficiency Subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations.

The following for McClelland is WRB 308.

1. In accordance with Department's general request for names and other data regarding persons alleging the possession of American citizenship now interned in Bergen-Belsen (reference Radio bulletin November 17, number 277), Katski requested the representatives of Jewish Agency and Agudath Israel in Istanbul to telegraph such information, including that concerning holders of Latin American passports, to their representatives in Switzerland for delivery to you. The representatives are for the Jewish Agency, Dr. Chaim Posner, 8 rue Petitot, Geneva, and for Agudath Israel, Maitre Mathieu Muller, rue de Deux Ponts 30, Geneva.

2. The following is the substance of a cable from Katski dated November 29:

QUOTE According to reports from Geneva just received by Jewish agency representatives in Istanbul, the position of the remainder of Hungarian Jewry has reached a climax. Deportations to Germany many persons being forced to travel on foot have been proceeding very actively during recent days. The project for the emigration of the 8,600 Palestine certificate holders again has been stopped. The deportees are in great need. Funds also are required for hiding people facing deportation and for aiding their escape from Hungary.

QUOTE Intervention and assistance by the International Red Cross are not sufficient and the aid of England and the United States to stay the deportations and to protect the certificate holders is urgent the report concludes. UNQUOTE

FOR NAHUM GOLDMANN OF WORLD JEWISH CONGRESS FROM GERHARD RIEGNER:

"At present Jewish problems concern in vast majority Jews in countries occupied by Soviet Russia and belonging to Russian zone of influence all action with a view to solving the problems of these Jews is only possible in agreement with Soviet Government. It would therefore seem most necessary that Executive World Congress initiate as soon as possible working relationship with Russian Government in order that support of this Government may be enlisted for such activities. I suggest accordingly that the Congress executive through the intermediary of the Soviet Embassies in Washington and London attempt to prepare the ground without delay for the dispatching of a Jewish delegation to Moscow. This delegation should discuss the following points:

- (1) The effective restitution of equal civic rights of Jews. (2) Their reintegration in their former positions with civil services and in the administration of business enterprises. (3) The immediate restitution of all properties still available. (4) The assurance of rapid governmental relief to all families pauperized as a result of persecutions. (5) The authentication of damages suffered by mixed commissions in which Jews will participate and from whom proposals regarding reparations should be accepted. (6) Creation of a body which on the basis of existing claims for compensation of damages should grant credits for reconstruction. (7) The creation of a system whereby Jewish communities can administer the property of missing (*). (8) Consent of the Jewish communities to their affiliation to a central Jewish relief organization in Europe. (9) The registration of surviving deported Jews in these countries and establishment of the conditions under which they can be repatriated or emigrated. With a view to initiating and favorably influencing the course of such negotiations the mediation of President Benes of Czechoslovakia might be requested." 6385.

FOR WRB FROM MCCLELLAND.

I have received assurances from Burckhardt now ICRC president that German Foreign Office was definitely approached on October 2 by committee with request that Reich Government consider extending to so called "schutzaefte" (detainees for security reasons) treatment granted by analogy to Geneva POW convention of 1929 to enemy nationals in Germany and German occupied territory. As of December one no answer had yet been received from Germans. Late in November when delegate of German Red Cross Hartmann was in Geneva this question was thoroughly discussed with him. German consul at Geneva was also urged a few days ago by ICRC to press German Foreign Office for an answer. (Department's 3925 November 18, WRB's 281).

I personally fear that little or no positive results will be forthcoming from this approach, past experience with Germans regarding similar questions, particularly the Jewish one, having shown fairly conclusively that neither German Foreign Office nor German Red Cross exercise any real control over political detainees and deportees both on Jewish and Jewish (*) such control being in hands of SS "reichssicher heitshauptamt" at Berlin.

With reference to a somewhat similar intercession to be made by neutrals headed by Vatican (Legation's 7170 October 28 from Sternbuch to Union Orthodox Rabbis and Department's 3788 November 7 WRB's 259) initiated through Papal Nunciature in Bern, it is important to note this is motivated by desire to secure reciprocal treatment of German civilians in territory already or shortly to be occupied by forces of Allied nations. Reciprocity is to be based on Geneva Convention and guaranteed by neutrals and Vatican. In return for this guarantee it is hoped to secure various concessions from Germans concerning treatment of non-assimilated detainees under their control. In speaking of Allied nations Angelo Donati, author of proposal, had Soviet Russia particularly in mind. To this end he has subsequently attempted to bring project to Moscow's attention by various channels: through two unofficial Soviet citizens in Switzerland Sokolin and Tcherniak reputedly in contact with Moscow and through Togliatti Italian Communist leader at present in Rome. If guarantee could be obtained from Russians to accord Geneva Convention treatment to German civilians in areas occupied and to be occupied by them it would indeed constitute a powerful lever with which to secure counter concessions from Nazis. Many months ago ICRC unofficially expressed to me their belief that any concessions which might be extracted from Soviets with regard to German POWS (even Russian agreement to deliver lists of names of those alive and well) would be invaluable in securing from Germans more favorable treatment of categories of detainees and deportees including Jews in their hands.

For your information the Turkish vessel TOROS which departed from Constanza December 3, arrived in Istanbul on December 5 carrying 905 emigrants from Rumania proceeding to Palestine. The TOROS proceeded from Istanbul to Constanza during the month of November and returned to Istanbul under Rumanian Red Cross safe conduct. The Palestine entry certificates and the Turkish and Syrian transit visas were issued in Istanbul pursuant to the Embassy's general agreement with the British and Turkish authorities which previously has been reported to you relating to such cases.

Passengers include 350 children repatriated from Transnistria to Rumania, Rumanian nationals, forced laborers from the Bor mines in Yugoslavia and a large proportion of refugees from Hungary, some of whom it is reported escaped from Hungary as recently as November 15.

In accordance with Ambassador Steinhardt's general agreement with the Turkish Foreign Office concerning railroad facilities, the Turkish authorities provided a special train and the entire group departed from Istanbul for Palestine on December 8.

Reports received in Istanbul from Bulgaria state that medicaments of all kinds are urgently needed for the Bulgarian Jewish people. We are advised that the high incidence of malaria among the men who have been released from labor battalions and in isolated outbreak of typhus and diphtheria which already has occurred in one group of Jewish people might have grave results due to the over-crowded and unsanitary conditions under which the Jews now must live. Although medicaments universally are unattainable in Bulgaria we are informed that the lack is particularly acute for the Jews because of the oppressive circumstances under which they lived during the past four years and their condition today. The need for winter clothing is great but we are (*) that medicines must be had without delay.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY.

December 8, 1944

Mail Report

Though nothing out of the ordinary appeared in the mail this week, the letters were decidedly varied and the general tone was interesting. The Sixth Drive remained the outstanding subject. Most of the replies from State Chairmen to a form telegram inquiring about the progress of the Drive expressed confidence and gave good reports. There were a few that reflected doubt about the sales of E Bonds. There were many reports of the completion of local quotas, some of which were far exceeded - in one instance a figure of 305% was given. Scattered through the mail, however, were protests that funds raised through Bond drives should be devoted to British Lend-Lease, putting down civil uprisings in foreign countries, or "coddling" of labor organizations. There were continued reports of rumors about the worthlessness of Series E Bonds, some of these transmitted by the White House or by Congressmen. There was the usual pre-Christmas demand for gift bonds in smaller denominations.

After a slight falling off in complaints from families of Service men whose Bonds have not been received, the number of such letters has again increased. In many cases the writer had been advised to secure a letter from the soldier in question, and is unwilling to bother a man who is overseas with what is frequently called "red tape" over the Bonds for which deductions have long since been made from his pay. There are still protests for the over-the-counter plan of cashing Bonds, and in spite of it, 19 were sent directly to the Secretary for redemption.

Tax mail continues to be dull except for the increasing demands for tax refunds long overdue, and those are anything but colorless.

Memorandum for the Secretary.

December 8, 1944

In the miscellaneous receipts were 2 or 3 abusive communications directed more toward the Administration as a whole than toward the Treasury; a few suggestions about postwar treatment of Germany; and 7 donations, ranging from $5.00 to $6,330.

Receipts of mail from the White House have been very low for some months. During November, they took a slight upturn, totalling 300 in all. This compares with a low of 228 in 1939, and a high of 841 in 1942.

General Comments

Halsted P. Layton, Georgetown, Delaware. I think your Plan for dealing with Post-war Germany is the best submitted so far, but I have serious doubts it can be put across due to the natural softness of the American People. However, time may correct that to some extent, but I am afraid not. If there is available a copy of your Plan, I would like to get one as I have read only portions so far. I sincerely hope you use all your power to force a ruthless treaty on Germany so she will be unable to start another war for many years.

Dr. Louis G. Stokvis, Los Angeles, California. During three years my speeches in the United Nations Committee of Los Angeles and publications, I have tried to convince the people that the only solution for a future peace is the very one you proposed also, and which is universally known as the "Plan Morgenthau." I am a Hollander, who stayed ten years in Germany, and, therefore, know the Germans thoroughly and the German danger. I communicated my views two years ago to the Netherlands Ambassador in Washington and the Netherlands Minister of War, who is one of my personal friends. I had the great satisfaction of learning that the directing circles of my country have a favorable ear for the solution you recommend. It may be that the enclosures contain some arguments you will find interesting. * * *

James B. Burns, National President, American Federation of Government Employees, Washington, D. C. Many of our members are much disturbed by the proposal to delay Government employee pay days up to twelve days. We have checked into the matter and are fairly well aware of your reasons for this action and we appreciate the problems involved in the numerous separations, transfers and other changes of status that are so prevalent nowadays. We feel it would be helpful, however, if you would prepare an explanation in some detail as to the necessity for this step at this time. I think if the employees were given the whole story of this problem, they would be better reconciled to its necessity. We shall, of course, be glad to make your statement available to our membership and hope that it may serve to further their acceptance of the new policy.

Favorable Comments on Bonds

Dr. H. G. Huey, Huey Hospital, Homerville, Georgia. (Letter addressed to President Roosevelt and referred to the Treasury). During your first Presidential campaign, the people of this South Georgia county were suffering from a severe depression, but with implicit confidence in your ability to bring opportunities and happiness out of fear, chaos, and despair. I attended the Inauguration and listened to your message to the people of America and the world, and it was a message in which the people and I had implicit confidence. This confidence has not been betrayed. When war was forced upon us, you as our great leader and Commander-in-Chief asked Congress to declare war upon the aggressor nations. My only way at that time of showing continued implicit faith in You was to wire offering without rent the use of this hospital and any other property that I might have. Your reply was that of a great humanitarian, "Your hospital is as much needed in your community as any of the hospitals in the Armed Forces," and although my health had been bad for several years, this message of inspiration has kept the hospital going on the highest standard possible. * * * You have asked for a sixth war loan. This request was founded on the same high principles of your entire Administration, and to prove my continued faith in you as my American leader and Commander-in-Chief, I intend honoring You by purchasing this county's entire quota personally.

Unfavorable Comments on Bonds

Eleanor H. Magliane, Washington, D. C. My husband accepted a position with the OWI as a field representative overseas and has made application for me to receive an allotment, starting when he leaves the country, to be sent to the bank. In the meantime, since there were unusual expenses to be met, he told me to use the Power of Attorney that was drawn up by a lawyer and get a War Bond cashed. According to the Morris Plan Bank, Washington, D. C., and the War Bond Cashier in the Treasury Building, 15th and Pa. Ave., N. W., this is impossible. Now the Power of Attorney reads "to endorse any notes, checks, drafts, or bills of exchange, which may require my endorsement, and to convert the same into cash." Doesn't this cover War Bonds too? I am not the co-owner of my husband's War Bonds and, therefore, unless I can use the Power of Attorney to cash them, if and when necessary, I have nothing to fall back on in case of emergency. My husband is leaving the country in a few weeks and if this matter is not straightened out before then, he will cash them all and put the money in the bank. It seems a shame to cash the bonds, as some of them are several years old, so, therefore, I am writing you asking your advice. Surely there are other people who have been in a similar situation -- what did they do?

Charles W. Gordon, Minneapolis, Minnesota. Your propaganda in daily papers on the (6,000 daily) extermination of Jews in Poland 2 or 3 years ago by the Germans is just too ridiculous to believe. Can't you devise something more reasonable and also more effective for your Bond Sale Drives. Such trash don't go over up here.

C. W. Higinbotham, Assistant Cashier, First National Bank and Trust Company, Turner Falls, Massachusetts. This is a trifling matter for a man in a small town bank to be writing direct to you. It seems, however, that at this time, when so many people are redeeming their bonds (we have cashed nearly $10,000 worth in our little village of 5500 during November), that a person should be encouraged to hold their bonds rather than be penalized by a technicality. We have a customer who, from her own funds, purchased a $1,000 G Bond in April 1943. She had it registered in her name and that of a relative as co-owner. Since that time, her husband has died, and she finds it necessary to re-arrange her estate. According to Section 315.32 of Regulation #530, it is impossible for this bond to be re-issued during the life of the co-owner. Yet she, as one of the co-owners, can redeem the bond at a loss of $31.00. This woman states that she has no use for the funds and would like to let them remain in government bonds, but she will not do so if she has to stand this loss. Has she any recourse?

G. A. Vradenburg, Jr., Captain USMCR, c/o FPO, San Francisco, California. At present I am putting about 75% of my savings into War Bonds. Although this is a patriotic gesture, it is also an attempt to invest my savings where they will do the most people, including myself, the most good. * * * When the war is over, I have no illusions that the government will get me a job, or will support me until I can get one. I intend cashing my bonds until I have a job. I know that there are several million other service men who intend doing the same thing. In order to meet these obligations, it is my opinion that the government debt will be liquidated to some extent. That is, the government will be forced to cash its outstanding bonds by taking money from the immediate revenue. In spite of the fact that I am out here fighting for my noble country, I am of the opinion that the government will not be able to meet the avalanche of returning bonds. I believe also that the Treasury Department will do its best to satisfy everyone. However, that does not provide me with any assurance that my bonds will be liquidatable when I get back home. I quite recognize the fact that government bonds are the safest investment there is. Although it would be disastrous to do so, I recognize the power of Congress to demand that people not cash in their bonds, or to make them redeemable at only partial value, through such means as a cheaper dollar. * * * Therefore, I would appreciate it if you could assure me that the War Bonds will be redeemable at full cash value, and that the already cheap dollar will not be made more so. If you cannot give me this assurance, much as I do not want to, I shall have to cease buying War Bonds until such time as my savings reach a point where at least 50% are available on call to meet all emergencies. Please do not give me a patriotic answer. I want the truth.

Leon M. Bazile, Judge, Fifteenth Judicial Circuit, Elmont, Virginia. I am a director in a small insurance company which has its principal office in the City of Richmond, Virginia. The majority of the directors either came from Hanover County, Virginia, or are property owners there. Hanover County is having a hard time making its quota in the current bond drive, and we decided that the insurance company would invest $5,000.00 in war bonds provided the credit went to Hanover County. Much to my surprise, we were notified by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond that a regulation had been adopted which prohibited bonds bought by an insurance company from being credited at any place other than where it had its principal office. * * * We want to invest this $5,000.00 in war bonds from a patriotic desire to aid in the war effort, but unless the Government permits Hanover County to get the credit, we are going to invest this money in something other than war bonds. * * * I have voted for President Roosevelt four terms, but it is just such unnecessary and arbitrary acts on the part of Federal Administrative Agencies which annoy the American people when they come in contact with any such arbitrary and unnecessary ruling. What the Government wants is money for its war effort; if it gets that money, it ought to be willing to let the credit for the purchase go anywhere their purchaser directs that it goes. Certainly a bond purchaser who demands no greater right than this, ought to be considered.

H. Louis Auten, Belleville, Illinois. The local Boy Scouts made a house to house canvass in Belleville for sale of War Bonds, and I gladly gave one of them a subscription for a bond, specifying delivery to be made through the Belleville National Bank. My wife called at said bank with war savings stamps and a check payable at par in Chicago, for a total amount of $18.75 as payment for the bond. She was asked to call later to get the bond, allowing enough time for them to make sure the check was good. When she did call later, after the check was cleared, she was compelled to pay an additional fifty cents as a service charge. To me this looks like a case of gross racketeering. * * *

Harold C. Parks, East Orange, New Jersey. My son is serving abroad in the Army, and has allotted a portion of his pay to the purchase of a War Bond each month to be sent to me for safekeeping. On October 3rd, I wrote the Army War Bond Office in Chicago to change my address. Having no reply whatever, except that the bonds stopped coming, I wrote them again about the middle of November. This time I received a post card filled with completely unintelligible gibberish, the sum total of which left me with the impression that I should send this on to my son. I quite realize that safeguards are necessary to prevent fraud, but it does seem to me that this comparatively simple matter of a change of address could be accomplished by sending a reply to the first communication telling in words of one syllable precisely what to do. * * *

Congressman Harold Knutson (Minnesota). I am just in receipt of a letter from George E. Harris, Wadena, Minnesota, which reads as follows: "I have a letter from a friend way up in Alaska who asks me, 'Is there any truth to a rather prevalent rumor around here that Series 'E' bonds are not legalized or authorized by Congress and therefore will be the first ones to go under in case anything happens. There are so many rumors around that I don't like to inquire here.'" (In his reply, Congressman Knutson stated, "Replying to your letter of December 2, let me say that all Government bonds are on an equal footing so far as legality is concerned.") * * *

Guy R. Brewer, Jamaica, New York, (Telegram). I am just cancelling my subscription to purchase War Bonds in the 6th Loan. I have purchased bonds in every drive, but tonight when Raymond Gram Swing announced that American tanks, and presumably other war material, were being used by the despicable English Tories to kill innocent Greek women and children, I see that my money and that of other conscientious American citizens is being put to a sorry use indeed.

Unfavorable Comments on Taxation

Thomas B. Hull, President, Hull and Company, Inc., (Insurance), Fargo, North Dakota. We appear to be signally honored in receiving in the mail this morning "Excess Profits Tax Refund Bond" #1854 to our order in the sum of $2.47 with no accompanying explanation or information as to what this is for. Inasmuch as your name is the only one appearing on this instrument, we are addressing this letter directly to you realizing it will have to go through probably several hundred channels of the existing bureaucracy before we can hope to get an answer, but it would be interesting to know just what this is for, or at least have some kind of an explanation. We gather from the wording of the instrument that this sum will be payable to us approximately on December 31, 1948. We were not aware that anything of this nature was due us and consequently would like to know more about it.

Miss A. G. Serving, New York, New York. I have written to Albany three times, regarding the refund on my federal income tax. The last time I wrote I sent a registered letter, but still have not heard why my refund is being held up. Under ordinary circumstances I would not be in a rush but, as I explained, it is necessary for me to undergo an operation by December fifteenth. I really need the money very badly. Yesterday I called the Bureau of Internal Revenue and was advised that anyone who has not received a refund entitled them, same is being held up for investigation and that they will be called. So far as I know, there is no need for investigation in my case. Also it seems like an awful long time to be investigating. I would appreciate anything that can be done about this matter. I have deprived myself to buy as many bonds as possible and I do not want to cash any. * * *

- 10 -

D. Eugene Shaub, Stamford, Connecticut. Before passing this along, kindly take a moment to read it. My 1943 tax return showed I would receive approximately $88.00 refund. * * * It is my intention to use this toward payment on my mortgage, said payment having been due 10/1/44. The bank has very kindly agreed to wait for a period until I receive it. However, after having written to the Hartford, Connecticut, Internal Revenue Office several times, they sent me a form letter telling me that no refund can be hurried up as such items are all handled "in the mechanical process" and that in due time I should receive it. That is all well and good, but believe me in these times of war bond deductions and insurance, plus feeding and clothing 5 youngsters, paying for a house, etc., all on approximately 3,200 or so dollars per year - it is not fun. * * * Anything you or your Department might do would be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Agnes L. D. Angel, Brooklyn, New York. I have written to you a number of times during this year asking for the refund of my over-payment of taxes for 1942, and I have always received evasive acknowledgments and no satisfaction whatever as to when I am going to get this money back which is long past due me. As it is quite impossible to get any kind of decent treatment from your office, I have addressed a personal letter to our President in the hope that this effort will lead to definite results. Of course, I would like to say that I shall expect 6% interest on my money for the time that you have held it. I could have employed this money very well indeed during the period that you have held it, and my opinion is that, in common justice and decency, you are obligated to refund my money with 6% interest. * * *

J. E. Darr, Sr., Fountain City, Tennessee. With this 6th Loan Drive on, am sure you are a very busy man, and in fact would not assume that you would have time at any other time to give a matter of this type any attention, but you should be in a position to have it reach the proper authorities for action. I have been unable to work since May 6th and have a sum of money due me on Withholding Tax, which I have made three attempts to have paid to help me over the spot I am now in. * * * What I have a right to know is why, since my initial is "D," have I not had my refund? Or if there was any discrepancy in my tax statement, why have I not been given an opportunity to rectify the error? The statement I furnished your Knoxville Office was the identical statement furnished by the firm for whom I had worked, and the Knoxville Office made the calculations and notified me what amount was due me on refund. In addition to this matter, would like to know what is the earliest date when I may file claim for refund for the tax withheld by the firm for the first four months of this year. The first of May, I had to quit work and am certain that no further earnings will be had during this year. This is not meant to reflect upon the integrity of anyone, but just to relate that I am behind the eight ball and see no way to get action in a matter so vital to me other than this.

Senator Francis Maloney (Connecticut). I am taking the liberty of sending you herewith an interesting letter which I have received from Mr. J. H. Dowd of the Johns-Hartford Tool Company, 390 Capitol Avenue, Hartford, Connecticut. -- * * * It can be said, without fear of contradiction, that small plants enabled the larger plants to establish their production records that have amazed the world during the war. They did it some of the time by furnishing a vital tool or gage or fixture, and in other instances, by making intricate and precise components. Let me sketch how the demand for production affected our own business. We received orders in 1941, and early 1942, for quantities of tools and components, completely out of balance with the equipment that we owned. We had two choices. We could refuse to accept the sub-contract because of lack of facilities, or we could provide the facilities. When we were making these decisions, the tax law for the current year was not even being debated, much less written. We decided, and when I say "we", I make no exception - all the small plants started to work to get the tanks, guns, planes, radar and all other vital war materials flowing. Some of us were amazed with results accomplished on the type of equipment we had to work with, and unskilled personnel available. The small business man is not a profound business executive. He is likely to be a mechanic who has risen to an executive position, and all of these men that I know of, I know of no exception, put in everything they had, and borrowed all that they could, and then placed back every dollar of profit into additional equipment in order to meet the constantly growing demands. Believe me, I am not pleading for the Johns-Hartford Tool Company, but all small industries, because I believe it is a positive picture of all the small working plants. Let me point out the unconscious unfairness of the Armed Forces in dealing out the precision machines and equipment, which they had purchased and made available under the orders to the industrial giants of the nation. It is unfair to criticize procurement services for so placing the business. In my opinion, they did exactly right. They wanted production and wanted it quickly, and they placed it where they could get the necessary production and where there was a reasonable chance that production would come quickly, and they furnished these plants with any equipment they needed. My criticism is that there was no provision to take care of the subcontractors, and I might say, there is still no provision for providing him with the tools needed to finish his part of the job, however small, important or unimportant. So the smaller war plant was thrown completely on his own, and forced by patriotism and demand to expand his facilities beyond his wildest dreams for further expansion. But concurrently, Congress was deciding to increase taxes. Late in the year a tax bill would be produced that was retroactive to the first of the year, and the little business man then found himself in a dilemma. He did not have money for taxes, did not take anything out of his business but a bare livelihood for himself. He put back all of the earnings of business into new machinery, equipment, expansion of plant and improvements, leased buildings, which was a total loss as far as he was concerned. So most of the small plants are in the unenviable position of showing large profits, which have been re-invested in plants, and large tax bills which have to be paid by borrowing or by liquidation. This could have been avoided if small business had been smart enough to realize the dead end that they were heading into, and had called it to the attention of Congress. * * * Let me present to you our tax report. This is accurate, exact figures that were furnished the government in our tax report, and the figures upon which we were re-negotiated this year. * * * We spent 132.7% of earnings in the year March 1, 1942, to February 28, 1943, and as we are a partnership, and as there is no provision under the tax law for share for the partners, then our actual situation is infinitely worse than the figures shown above. * * * I want to point out that most of the companies I know of have not got the money to pay their taxes as of next January, because two things have happened since the small plants increased their facilities to meet the initial demands. Facilities had to be procured for their newer products that these plants were called upon to produce. These had to be financed by themselves. Second, their margin of profit was substantially lower and reduced on the newer product, in most instances making it impossible for the small plant to accumulate for taxes out of profits. * * *

Dear Mr. Brand:

Since the Secretary is away from Washington, I am simply acknowledging your letter of December 6 which encloses a copy of your letter to Mr. Crowley. I shall be glad to bring both of these to Mr. Morgenthau's attention as soon as he is back at his desk.

Yours sincerely,

My dear Mr. Secretary,

Since Lord Keynes sent you a copy of his letter of November 26th to Mr. Crowley regarding the question of the eligibility for Lend-Lease of essential civilian requirements for British Far Eastern territories in the military period, I am enclosing for your information a copy of a further letter on the same subject that I have just sent to Mr. Crowley, indicating that problem is more urgent than was at first appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Crowley,

I am anxious to correct a misapprehension which I fear that you may have derived from one sentence of Lord Keynes' letter of November 26th to you on the question of the eligibility for Lend-Lease of essential civilian supplies required from the United States by British Far Eastern territories during the military period.

The sentence in question is that in which it was stated that the problem was not immediately urgent. I understand that the procurement of supplies for Burma is now most pressing, and that the British supply authorities in Washington will shortly be presenting a statement of requirements for Burma which it will be necessary to fill from the United States.

In the light of this information, I venture to hope that you will be able to give the general question raised in Lord Keynes' letter early consideration.

Sincerely yours,

28th November 1944.

Dear Mr. Secretary,

I enclose a copy of a letter which I have written to Mr. Crowley on a matter which may later on be of some importance, but which we have not had time to examine during the recent conversations as fully as perhaps it deserves.

Yours sincerely,

Keynes

The Hon. Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

28th November 1944.

Dear Mr.Crowley,

At the Sub-Committee discussion on November 15th our request (made in paragraph 8(vii) of Chapter 3 of the U.K. case) that essential civilian requirements in British Far Eastern territories would be eligible for Lend-Lease during the military period after re-occupation was briefly considered. Mr.Currie expressed doubt whether these supplies would be eligible, and asked whether they would not fall to be dealt with in the same way as the provision of essential civilian requirements during the military period in Europe.

Since this discussion I have made further enquiries. But I have had no subsequent opportunity to raise this matter at Mr.Morgenthau's Committee. May I, therefore, before I leave Washington, set out the views of my Government on a matter which is not indeed immediately urgent, but about which it is very advisable that we should clear the position in good time. Mr.Brand will be following this matter up after I have gone away. I am sending copies of this letter to Mr.Morgenthau and to Mr.Stettinius.

It is, I am afraid, clear that the arrangement referred to above which applies in Europe will not apply in respect of the British Far Eastern territories. I understand that that arrangement is practicable only in cases which are accepted as a combined responsibility under the aegis of the C.C.A.C. It is indeed true that Burma and Malaya come under the Southeast Asia Command, which is a combined command. But I understand that, largely at the instance of your War Department, the provision of essential civilian supplies during the military period is to be the unilateral responsibility of the United Kingdom. British North Borneo and Hong Kong, on the other hand, fall under the Southwest Pacific Command, which is not a combined one, and the U.S. War Department is, I am told, taking the line that it cannot accept responsibility for providing essential supplies for these areas unless they are freed as a result of direct military operations. In other words, if these become what is known as "hiatus" territories, the responsibility for providing essential civilian supplies during the military period will fall on the United Kingdom alone.

I hope that you will agree that in the light of the foregoing considerations there is a clear case for the grant of Lend-Lease terms for such of the supplies for these territories which must be obtained from the U.S. These are essential requirements needed during the military period in support of military operations. They are programmed by the military authorities and are under military control.

We do not yet know what items will be required from the U.S.A. and in exactly what quantities. This is now under examination to determine what proportion of the total requirements can be met most conveniently, having regard to supply and shipping considerations, from the United Kingdom, other countries, and the United States, respectively. Nevertheless, it is clear that we shall need to obtain quantities of certain goods - e.g. such as medical supplies - from this country. As

I have said, these are requirements deemed necessary by the military authorities to prosecute the war against Japan. I hope, therefore, that when the time comes for us to put in demands on the ~~United States~~, there will be no question but that in so far as those demands are to be met from U.S. capacity, they will be made available, like other military supplies, on Lend-Lease terms.

Yours sincerely,

KEYNES

INTER OFFICE COMMUNICATION

DATE December 8, 1944

TO Secretary Morgenthau

FROM Mr. White

I am appending memoranda prepared by Friedman who has just returned from China, submitting oral messages sent to you from

1. General Hurley
2. Dr. T. V. Soong, together with letter
3. Dr. Sun Fo, son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and President of the Legislative Yuan
4. Chou En-lai, second man in the Chinese Communist Party
5. General Wedemeyer, who has replaced General Stilwell as Commanding General of the Chinese Theater
6. Madame Sun Yat-sen.

I think that you would be interested in talking to Friedman personally about the current Chinese situation.

General Hurley's message to Secretary Morgenthau

The following message for the Secretary was obtained orally in interview with General Hurley on November 15, 1944.

General Hurley said that he had been given a three-fold mission in Chungking by the President: (a) to maintain the present government and work through the Generalissimo; (b) to keep China in the war, and (c) to unify the Chinese Army for a more effective war effort.

He feels that the Chungking Government consists of people who are "traditionalists" in that they take the position that the Japanese, even if they do win, will, like other conquerors in the past, lose in the end because they will be absorbed into the Chinese society. Moreover, they are interested only in preserving their own position. They claim, he said, to be pro-democratic and to favor the introduction of democratic processes. Actually, they are fascist and favor dictatorship and refuse to make concessions to achieve unity. As for their attitude on the United States, they regard the U. S. taxpayer as a "sucker" and despite the difference in situation, speak of deserving aid in the magnitudes given to Great Britain and to Russia.

As for the Communists, in his opinion, they are "the only real democrats in China" and favor multi-party government. He then cited his much repeated statement that in his discussions with Molotov in Russia, Molotov had made the point that the Chinese Communists were not real Communists and that, in reality, they were equivalent to the farmer-labor group in the mid-West. He said that the Americans did not understand the Chinese Communists and for what they really stood.

The Communists, General Hurley said, had done a better job of organizing for war than had been done by the Chungking Government. They favor the unification of China and the Chinese armies and had "offered a fine, liberal program to achieve unity". The Communists, he was sure, did not get Russian support.

With regard to the current negotiations on Communist-Kuomintang relations, General Hurley said that the Communists were fully prepared to cooperate in achieving a settlement and he already had their adherence to his proposals. He now needed the agreement of the Kuomintang group which had been appointed by the Generalissimo to handle the negotiations, in which T. V. Soong is the main figure. With regard to Soong, he felt that he was a "crook" but that didn't disturb him since he felt that in the environment of China wherein there was no such things as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments, Bill of Rights, Declaration of Independence, it was not surprising to find that their leading politicians were crooks.

He said that he expected to achieve the desired unity in a month or so or else he was "greatly mistaken" since he already had the Communists on our side and expected the others would come along.

With regard to the removal of General Stilwell and Ambassador Gauss, he said that they had had a "static" approach to the China problem; out of sheer disgust they favored "pulling the plug and allowing the show to go down the drain". This was not his mission.

We also discussed the financial negotiations going on in Washington and he said that he fully approved of the position being taken by the Secretary.

He concluded by sending his best regards to the Secretary and emphasizing that he felt the political situation in China would be considerably improved in the very near future.

Message from Dr. T. V. Soong to Secretary Morgenthau

At a private lunch with Dr. Soong on November 8th, Dr. Soong asked that the following message be relayed orally to the Secretary, together with letter which is being attached hereto.

He said that the situation in China was "mending" and that there would soon be many major changes and reforms in the military and economic situation and in the political relations with the Communists. He said that he was not worried about the situation but rather was "serene" because the "bottleneck" had finally been passed. He was also expecting an improvement in the relations with Russia. He said that future world peace depended on ability to get along with Russia.

Until now the situation in China had been bad. Changes necessary for improvement had been held up by the non-removal of General Stilwell. He had urged Stilwell's removal a year ago and said that it had been the reason for his returning to China in October 1943. President Roosevelt had displayed great courage in removing General Stilwell on the eve of the election.

He said that the present relations between the Generalissimo and General Wedemeyer were very good and that they were having daily informal conferences unlike in the case of General Stilwell. Stilwell and the Generalissimo had seen each other infrequently and on a formal basis.

He emphasized the fact that China and the United States had need for each other, particularly in the post-war period. He said that the United States had need for a strong united democratic China. He expressed cynicism about the talk of China being treated as one of the Big Four powers and said that in a way such talk was insulting since China's position would depend upon her internal strength and that external aid was necessarily of minor importance except in the short-run. Thus, there is no necessity for any one to say that Russia was one of the Big Four because obviously she is, while in the case of China it is a matter of potentialities and China would be one of the Big Four if necessary internal developments took place.

He concluded by sending his best regards to the Secretary and said that he was looking forward to seeing him. He hoped to be in the United States within two or three months.

MESSAGE FROM DR. SUN FO TO SECRETARY MORGENTHAU

The following conversation was held with Dr. Sun Fo on or about October 31st. Dr. Sun Fo is the son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen and the President of the Legislative Yuan.

It reflects his reaction to the recall of General Stilwell and Ambassador Gauss. The Ambassador's recall had not yet been announced but was known to such well-informed Chinese as Dr. Sun Fo. Dr. Sun Fo said that he was glad to send the following message orally to the Secretary and that he was sure that it would be kept completely secret since the consequences of any publicity would be very drastic.

Dr. Sun was very pessimistic about the situation in China. He said that Free China was undergoing a wave of reaction which was stifling even the small amount of political freedom which had come into being during the period of the Peoples' Political Council meeting in September. Thus, the meetings which had been called by the Democratic League to discuss constitutional reforms were no longer being held since it was now necessary to receive prior police permission to hold all meetings. This meant that all meetings were attended by spies of the government and, as a result, people were afraid to attend. Moreover, all talk of coalition government was forbidden and nothing could be said about it in the press.

The Generalissimo was in a more recalcitrant mood than ever and was feeling in a very strong position because he had been able to force the removal of General Stilwell. The Generalissimo now felt that he had nothing to fear from American pressure and that he need not live up to prior commitments on political reform.

The Generalissimo favored a military solution to the Communist-Kuomintang conflict rather than a political one. Thus, only the day before, Dr. Sun had been told by a General in command of the Kwangtung area that he had discussed with the Generalissimo the problem of what to do about the Communists in Kwangtung. The Generalissimo had replied that the General should use his troops to attack and wipe out the Communists and the Generalissimo had not been swerved in his attitude on this problem by having the point made to him that this would mean cessation of resistance against the Japanese in this area. In the opinion of Dr. Sun, such a policy was suicidal for the Kuomintang and the Chungking Government.

The Chinese Communists were spreading into the area which were being lost by the Chungking Government and already were very influential in the Southeastern provinces. Within a short period of time - within six months - the Communists would be relatively so strong that they could completely ignore the wishes and desires of the Chungking Government. The Communists knew this but because of their eagerness to prosecute the anti-Japanese war they were willing to enter into a coalition government at the present time which would preserve the Generalissimo as the head of state and keep the Kuomintang as a major political party in China.

Unless a coalition government was formed China in the post-war period would be Communist-dominated. On the other hand, if a coalition government was formed it could be expected that post-war China would develop along democratic lines similar to the United States. It all depended upon the willingness of the Generalissimo to make the necessary change but since the small group closest to him such as Ho Ying-chin recognized that coalition government meant the end of their influence, they were bitterly opposed to it and were consistently advising the Generalissimo against it and the Generalissimo was now following their advice.

In the opinion of Dr. Sun the removal of Stilwell and Ambassador Gauss were great blows to the cause of Chinese unity and considerably diminished the possibilities of needed political reform. He expressed sympathy with the Communists unwillingness to hand over their armies to the control of the Chungking Government until necessary democratic reforms had taken place since this would end the hope of democratic reform, as the Communists and their armies were the chief forces making for democratic reform in China.

At present, the influence of such liberals as himself was practically non-existent, and their future was extremely uncertain. It was extremely important that the American Government continue its policy of pushing for democratic reforms, national unity, reorganization of the Chinese armies, and activation of the Chinese armies.

The formation of a truly coalition government, he said, was essential for Chinese morale. At present, nobody wanted to fight the Japanese if it meant fighting for the corrupt Government in Chungking. The students, for example, were refusing to volunteer on these grounds. A coalition government would change this drastically and immediately. It would mean the revitalization of the Chinese war effort.

Interview with General Chou En-lai and his message to Secretary Morgenthau

On the evening of November 13 I received an invitation to have a private discussion with General Chou En-lai the following morning at 9:00 o'clock. General Chou is one of the three principal leaders of the Chinese Communists. General Chou En-lai had come down to Chungking from Yenan about two or three days before at the request and under the protection of General Hurley. His presence in Chungking was still a top military secret and the invitation to myself to see him was the first extended to any civilian representative of the American Government in Chungking. (I don't know if any others received invitations since I left Chungking soon after.) It undoubtedly reflected the fact that in the opinion of the Chinese Communists, as in the opinion of other Chinese, the Secretary is the No. 2 man in the American Government and the Chinese Communists, like the other Chinese, are eager to have his good will.

In addition to Chou En-lai and myself there were present his interpreter and one of the Communist officials in Chungking (Wang Ping-nan) who left soon after the conversation began. Despite the presence of an interpreter, however, the conversation was carried on in English between General Chou and myself. It was made clear to General Chou that what he would say would be transmitted to the Secretary and General Chou said that he understood this perfectly and would be glad if it was.

We first talked about the economic and financial situation in the Northwest; the economic policies of the Yenan Government and the possibility of economic and financial reorganization of the areas under the Chungking Government. Then we discussed the political situation. However, because of the greater immediate interest in the political statements made by General Chou, that part of the conversation is herewith given first.

With regard to the political situation, General Chou said that the purpose of his trip to Chungking was to help bring about the unification of China on the terms laid down in his October 10th speech, copy of which, together with some other material he gave me at this point. He said that the Communists were in favor of the prosecution of the anti-Japanese war but that they would not swerve from the basis which was laid down in his October 10th speech. They had waited eight years since the Sian Incident for the necessary democratic reorganization of the Chinese Government and they now felt that the objective situation made possible major changes within the year. (He refused to be pinned down as to whether within the year meant in 1944 or within the next twelve months.) He felt that with the aid of "our American friends" unity would come sooner. If his mission was successful, he would return to Yenan but only temporarily; if his mission was not successful he would return to Yenan permanently.

However, he said, if the present Government remained "unreconstructed" the Government in Yenan, as the representatives of 90 million people or more would have to ask for separate representation with regard to such things as international conferences, etc. Of course, the Yenan Government favored international cooperation in the financial field as well as in the political. He concluded by extending the invitation of his Government to the Treasury representative in Chungking to come to Yenan for personal investigation of the situation there.

Throughout the conversation Chou En-lai spoke in the tenor of a responsible government official and never indicated any doubts that his party would be part of the ruling group of China in the years to come.

With regard to the economic and financial situation, Chou stressed the need in the Northwest for foreign technical assistance, capital and machinery. He emphasized the fact that the guerrilla areas receive no outside help except what they were able to capture from the Japanese.

Production in Northwest China, he said, could be increased immediately with a comparatively small amount of foreign equipment.

With regard to the possibility of permanent economic development of the Northwest areas, he said he thought there was a basis for development of certain industries such as salt, chemicals and cotton.

The possibility of the application of the small unit type of production being used in the Northwest to the large cities in North and Eastern China was discussed. General Chou said that the economic reorganization of these cities after their liberation would necessitate a change in economic techniques. Small units would be used in the countryside but large scale production used in the cities.

The question was raised as to the possibilities of increasing production in Free China. He said that in his opinion, if his Government had the power and authority to make the necessary changes, production could be markedly increased in six months. What was basically needed was a democratic reorganization of the Government and of the existing bureaucracy.

With the end of the blockade, the Northwest, he said, could actually provide the other parts of Free China with such things as woolen cloth, thereby alleviating the grave economic situation in these areas. The fundamental approach to China's economic problems was to increase production and improve transportation.

With regard to China's post-war position, her greatest economic need would be for foreign capital. In this connection, he said that the Communists were prepared to permit foreign ownership of Chinese industries, etc. under Chinese laws and that their plans called for the existence of three types of ownership: (a) national, (b) private owned Chinese, and (c) foreign owned. He said that they recognized the need for peace and security to attract foreign capital and that this would be achieved by the democratic reform of China which would end the fear of civil war. He stressed the fact that China needs a long period of internal and external peace. Moreover, China had to participate in international economic and financial organizations if she was to overcome her present backward state.

He ended the discussion of the economic situation by stressing the point that the Chinese Communists did not feel that the socialization of industry was the proper form of economy for China and that China's industrialization would take place within the framework of capitalist economy.

INTERVIEW WITH GENERAL WEDEMEYER

General Wedemeyer replaced General Stilwell as the Commanding General of the China Theater.

I called on General Wedemeyer on November 14th to tell him that I was returning to the States and that Mr. Adler was returning to Chungking.

We discussed the financial negotiations and he said that he favored a firm attitude in negotiations. He did not fear the effects of such a firm attitude even if it resulted in an attempt to blackmail us by refusal to advance funds. If this happened, he would refer the matter to the President. I informed him that the Treasury's attitude had always been to be as fair as possible to the Chinese, but always to refuse to be blackmailed.

General Wedemeyer said that he was looking forward to Mr. Adler's coming and would consult with him on all financial matters and would be glad, as in the case of myself, to receive suggestions and advice on all matters relating to the financial aspects of the U. S. Army's activities in China.

With regard to the military situation, he said that the situation was deteriorating but it was not hopeless and that he had not given up hope of having China make an important contribution to the winning of the war.

INTERVIEW WITH MADAME SUN YAT-SEN

Madame Sun was very pessimistic about the political situation in China. She felt that it all hinged on the willingness of the Generalissimo to change his position and she did not see any great likelihood of that. She tended to deprecate the American role in bringing about a solution of the Communist-Kuomintang problem and indicated that she didn't think we were prepared to go beyond exchanging cables between Chungking and Washington. She clearly indicated that she felt that the Chungking Government was not interested in fighting the war and because of that would not be interested in a coalition government with the Communists who were interested in fighting the war. (At the time she gave no indication of knowing about the impending cabinet changes.) She scoffed at the idea that China's military defeats were due to lack of American aid and said that the Chungking Government was not interested in using the military equipment it received against the Japanese.

Because of the presence of an outside party (social caller who did not have enough sense to excuse himself and leave), I did not ask any questions. I was later told that Madame Sun had expressed regret at our not having had a completely private talk.

AIR MAIL

PARIS, 8 December 1944

AIR POUCH
No. 30

Dear Mr. White:

There are certain recent developments in connection with the epuration movement which are important to an understanding of current political trends in France.

On the one hand there has been a continued attack in the press on the slowness of the program of epuration in the Government and the important economic organizations. This criticism tends to become mingled with the criticism of the slow improvement in ravitaillement and general living conditions. It has been charged with respect to butter, coal, wine and other foods that even discounting the bad transport situation, the failure of supplies available in Paris to increase rapidly is due mainly to the continued administration of the supply services by Vichy appointees, who are interested primarily in hanging on to their source of profit. Opposed to the point of view that a rapid cleaning out of existing administrative officials would improve the situation is the opinion that to discharge too many people at once merely results in a complete breakdown of the existing machinery. M. Pleven made this point the other day in a conversation. I note with interest in the report of Aarons and Patterson on the Belgian situation that the Belgian authorities did wreck and then find it necessary to reconstitute a Nazi-inspired and manned supply service so there may be some validity to this point of view. Nevertheless there seems to be a growing conviction that if more changes were made the situation would improve.

The Government's program for bringing collaborationists to trial has received fairly severe criticism in the Consultative Assembly. The most marked expression of dissatisfaction so far is the gesture of reducing the budget of the Ministry of Justice by 100 francs after a long session of questioning M. de Menthon, Minister of Justice. The Assembly was not satisfied with the progress being made by M. de Menthon's Ministry.

Mr. White,

8 December 1944

There have of course always been those who took the view that there is too much rather than too little epuration going on in France. Persons in this group range from the extreme reactionaries whose persons, families, or fortunes are most likely to be affected by the movement to persons of generally liberal views who disapprove the irregular methods which have sometimes been applied under the pressure of mass excitement and who also disapprove of the way in which the left wing tends to assume that persons of wealth or of persons of conservative political views are ipso facto suspect from the point of view of collaborating with the enemy. It is a fact that many persons of conservative political tendencies were just as good members of the Resistance as any one else. It is also a fact, of course, that the overwhelming majority of persons who were not patriots are to be found in this category. The situation is one in which it is almost impossible to be what we call "fair".

There are certain points about the role being played by the communists in connection with the general movement of epuration which confuse the picture even more. The communists, and to a certain extent, the other Resistance groups, have, from the time of liberation, linked anti-communists and collaborationists and have tried to create an atmosphere in which persons known to have been guilty of anti-communism would be assumed to be guilty of collaborationism. This is a perfectly natural result of the Germans continued appellation of all Resistance elements as communists, and on the whole is probably not misleading. There are, however, anti-communists who were certainly not collaborationists and anti-communists who played an important role in the Resistance movement in assisting the British and American military operations both before and during the landings.

Mr. White,

8 December 1944

There is also to be kept in mind in this connection the rather peculiar role played by the communists during the period of the Russo-German pact -- a role which I do not fully understand. The communists never mention this period now but the return of Maurice Thorez to Paris has led many non-communists to refer to it. It is said Thorez spent some of this time, while France was at war with Germany, in Berlin writing and broadcasting in favor of Franco-German rapprochement. It is charged that in some of the areas where the communists are pretty much in control of the treason trials persons whose only crime was anti-communism during this period are being condemned, although not guilty of any treason to France or what the French call "intelligence with the enemy."

The most important of these cases has recently become a subject for discussion in the press in Paris and particularly in Lyon. The man who was Prefect of the Lyon Region under Vichy, M. Angeli, has recently been tried in Lyon and condemned to death. I have not seen the procès verbal of the trial but at least three of the Lyon papers have called this trial a grave miscarriage of justice. Angeli's defense was that he helped the Resistance, effectively sabotaged the carrying out of Vichy decrees, and reduced greatly the deportation of Jews and workers in the Lyon area. This, of course, is a story told by practically all officials accused of collaboration. I suppose there must be some cases in which it is true. I was told by a British officer who has talked to a number of people coming from Lyon since the trial, and who knows the region well, that the only real evidence against Angeli was that he was in office under Vichy (he was not a new Vichy appointee), and was anti-communist in 1940 and that those who justified his conviction say that it was necessary to convict him in order to get at some of his subordinates. There were considerable demonstrations in Lyon following his conviction which HUMANITE asserts were organized by the Fifth Column, and the other Paris papers say were orderly and spontaneous expressions of disapproval of the verdict. Obviously one can not pass judgment on this case from Paris. The significant fact is that with the exception of the communist paper all of the French press in Lyon, which has been just as strong in advocacy of the punishment of traitors as the Resistance press in Paris, denounced this verdict as a miscarriage of Justice. This rift in the press has not, to my knowledge, occurred before with respect to epuration.

Mr. White,

8 December 1944.

The points raised alone do not change the fundamental fact that an enormous amount of housecleaning remains to be done in France or the fact that the fundamental and honest demand for epuration on the part of the vast majority of the French people is not yet being met by the Government. Unless this is done it is probable that the political clashes over the subject will increase in number and become more bitter.

Very truly yours,

FOR PEHLE FROM MANN

Following message is for Suzanne LaFollette and Sigmund Jeremias, Labor's War Relief Program, 10 East 40th Street, New York from Albert Guigui:

"My project not having been agreed to by CGT, it is necessary to designate trustees in Switzerland. I confirm cable of November 22 informing you decision COT to distribute relief for families of victims of occupation and deportees and proposing designate Pierre Neumeyer and Robert Botvereau trustees in France. On my return London Mr. Mann again points out that authorization Treasury and WRB to dispose of funds does not apply to provide relief for families in liberated France of nationals deported to Germany. Paris cabled to withhold distribution. Clear instructions from you regard use of funds would be appreciated. Regards".

For WRB, see my 7534, September 13 and board's WRB 4, September 22. Confusion seems to have resulted from a message which Guigui says was sent by addresses through commercial channels while he was in France plus fact that his labor union (CGT) cannot understand why funds sent from United States cannot be used for such worthwhile relief projects as caring for families of those workers exiled or deported by Germans. I cabled Hoffman on November 29 to point out to COT restrictions of Treasury license. Guigui has now received message laying distribution of funds will be held up pending new instructions from him.

Project mentioned in message above is plan to rescue from Germany deported French workers. Latter use of these funds fully discussed in my letter of December 2. Please discuss with LaFollette and Jeremias and request them to clear reply through WRB channels so that confusion such as heretofore resulting from their messages may be avoided.

Greatly appreciate information contained in your letter of November 27 and enclosure. It is noted that no mention is made of special treatment of 2300 Budapest Jews to whom, according to Amembassy Madrid, Spanish letters of protection have been issued, and of 570 Jews, including 500 children in possession of visas to Spain and Spanish Morocco. Since then, Spanish Legation in Budapest was authorized to grant visas to 700 more Budapest Jews.

Please ascertain through available channels reasons for such omission of Jews with Spanish protective documents and visas from the exceptional treatment reserved to holders of similar papers issued by other governments. Amembassy Madrid is being instructed to take appropriate steps.

The following is an excerpt from a note by Ecuadoran Foreign Office to U. S. Embassy, dated October 30:

QUOTE In accordance with humanitarian principles, my Government addressed its diplomatic representative in Switzerland in order to arrange for the Federal Government as protector of Ecuadoran interests in Axis Nations, to negotiate with the German authorities so that they would respect the foreign status of persons who might be protected by Ecuadoran papers.

QUOTE The Charge d'Affaires of Ecuador in Switzerland has informed me that the Gederal Government has indicated that it is necessary, in order to carry out the negotiations entrusted to it, that the Ecuadoran Government previously recognize the Ecuadoran nationality of the bearers of these documents.

QUOTE The Government of Ecuador cannot accede on any account to the requirement stipulated by the Federal Government since the constitutional provisions that regulate the declaration of nationality establish a procedure which cannot be set aside without committing grave error that would give rise to a legislative investigation and to censure of whoever might authorize the violation of the fundamental laws of the Nation.

QUOTE Consequently, my Government in reiterating to Your Excellency's Government its intention of not insisting for the moment on the invalidity of those documents, informs it that in view of the foregoing, it has decided to suspend the negotiations under reference with the Swiss Government. UNQUOTE

We fully understand Ecuadoran position and fear that action of Swiss authorities, by addressing to Ecuador a new demand clearly impossible of fulfillment, is jeopardizing the safety of people whom we, jointly with Switzerland, have sought to keep alive.

In this connection, please also convey our regret over varying attitudes adopted with reference to Salvadoran documents reported in your 7929 of December 4, and our fear that this too will threaten the life-saving action of recent months.

Similar regret must be expressed over Swiss attitude concerning transmission of Honduran documents as reported in your 7901 of December 2, involving people said to be at Auschwitz.

Please emphasize to appropriate Swiss officials that further adherence to the attitude taken in the case of Ecuadoran, Honduran, and Salvadoran documents, and its extension to documents of other American republics might, in view of the well-known German attitude, lead to the horrible death of several thousand civilians hitherto kept alive by our joint efforts.

Concerning argument contained in last paragraph of your 7929 of December 4, this Government would be inclined to accept Swiss judgment on the subject, but the context leads us to believe that it is the newly developed strict approach of Switzerland to validation of citizenship documents rather than this argument that constitutes the main reason for Swiss attitude. That such strict approach, correct as it is in normal conditions, is being applied in the present circumstances, is a matter of deep regret.

Please explain the above to appropriate Swiss officials, expressing this Government's hope that they will resume their former attitude of liberally interpreting all grounds upon which they could continue their humanitarian function of saving innocent lives.

The substance of your 7542 of November 15 and 7668 of November 21 has been carefully studied by the Board and the Department. As indicated in Department's 3255 of September 21, item three, the Board is of the view that the transmission by the protecting power of messages regarding the mistreatment of victims of enemy persecution serves a useful purpose regardless of whether the enemy government "accepts" the message in any formal sense. However, if certain terminology in the Department's telegrams requesting that such messages be transmitted is known to the Swiss to be definitely unacceptable to the Germans and likely to defeat the objective of the Department and the Board, which is to save the lives of unfortunate individuals, it is requested that the Swiss use their best discretion in the matter. Other channels are available for communication of the omitted passages or phrases.

In view of this Government's stand regarding holders of documents issued in the names of American Republics, which is shared by the Inter-American Advisory Committee for Political Defense, the Department and the Board do not accept any German refusal to receive communications in matters pertaining to bearers of Latin American documents. Further, in addition to existing efforts, since each of the Latin American nations has a protecting power for the German Government, Switzerland, Sweden, Spain or Portugal, it is possible for these protecting powers in view of the general responsibility devolving upon them in that capacity to concert measures at Berlin to save lives of persons whose existence is threatened. If the Swiss feel they can not speak up in behalf of human beings whose governments they do not represent, there is no reason why they should not exercise a humanitarian initiative to obtain concerted protective action along the lines suggested by the United States Government by all the protecting powers. The United States Government appreciate and will be eager to support any such Swiss move.

There is a definite reason why the United States Government appears so frequently as spokesman for the other American Republics in these matters. It has the best sources of information and with this responsibility can not await multiple transmissions of communications to various governments before initiating remedial measures. It is furthermore clearly established on the basis of Resolution XXIV of the Committee for Political Defense and through communications exchanged with the various American Republics that none of the other American Republics is willing to accept German infringement of its sovereignty which is constituted by German decisions regarding the validity of its documents of nationality. The protecting powers are all aware of this position and should not need added instructions from the represented powers in order effectively to maintain the protection of bearers of these documents.

This Government of course has a special interest in citizens and claimants to citizenship of the United States and you are authorized to urge or request the Swiss authorities accordingly, unless that has already been done, in line fifth paragraph of your 7542 describing action which the Swiss were to take with respect to those whom they consider to be bona fide United States and Latin American nationals represented by Switzerland. It is hoped that that action has been taken. However, the Department and the Board wish to point out that since the Swiss have been arbitrarily deprived by the Germans of contact with many of the individuals whose lives are in the greatest danger they are not able to perceive how the Swiss can determine which of these individuals are bona fide nationals. If without such contact the Swiss should undertake to accept the German determination they would be accepting a grave responsibility.

The German Government is willing enough to accept representations of the United States Government in behalf of the other American Republics whether or not represented by Switzerland, when by doing so it obtains an advantage in the return of its nationals to Germany in exchange. Germany's failure at this late date to recognize the interest of this Government in claimants of nationality of the American Republics and its justification in making representations concerning matters affecting their availability for exchange is entirely inconsistent. The United States Government can not accept this German point of view. Moreover, Germany's attitude in the light of your 7616 of November 18 is not likely to prove inflexible in practice even if it remains so in negotiations.

There appears to be some misinterpretation attached to the Swiss attitude in the matter of the Americans and Latin Americans removed from Slovakia discussed in your 7163 of October 28, penultimate paragraph of your 7542, and the Department's 3769 of November 4 and 3852 of November 11, 1944. The Department and the Board understood that Grassli's proposal called for an approach to the German Government as the power responsible for the transfer of the Americans and Latin Americans held in Slovakia and that he intended the Swiss Government, on its own initiative, as a good office in behalf of both belligerents and in the effort to solve the impasse which might otherwise arise, to suggest to the Germans as a possible solution to the difficulty the return of these individuals to Slovakia. In its 3769, the Department therefore concurred in his proposal. In its 3852 requesting the Swiss to take definite action, it made the request extend only so far as this Government could speak in the matter without extending recognition to Slovakia. Your 7802 of November 28 covers only eight of at least 150 Americans understood to have been held at Marianka. If this figure represents the total number of American citizens of Jewish race remaining alive in Slovakia, numbers of American citizens have disappeared.

To make the matter clear, the Department would be glad if the Swiss could continue with the implementation of Grassli's proposal to the extent that is compatible with pending exchange proposals. The extent to which the Swiss can speak for the United States Government in making this proposal was defined in Department's 3852 and the Department notes with gratitude that they have done so and further that they have induced the Germans to consider the exchange of at least eight of the Americans concerned. The remaining elements of the proposal can only be implemented by the Swiss on their own initiative through good offices as a friendly neutral intermediary.

If there

If there were at Marianka or at Sereb nationals of the American Republics not represented by Switzerland, the Department and the Board would appreciate if in addition to the action suggested in the foregoing paragraph the Swiss would inform the Department urgently so that the appropriate protecting powers may be asked to take parallel measures in their behalf.
