

Boy Saves Tots in Fire

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Officials have credited a 16-year-old boy with rescuing two infants from a blaze that swept two floors of a North End tenement, killing one person and injuring four others.

Carlos Pagan, who lives down the street from the building that caught fire, carried two young children from a third-floor apartment in the flaming four-story building.

Pagan said that after climbing the back stairs of the building, he "found the little kids just lying there just like dead," and bundled them in his coat and carried them outside.

Nilda Garcia, 11, was identified as the victim of the blaze, which began Saturday night and burned through the top two floors of a building at 1611 Main St. Police said the girl apparently died of smoke inhalation.

Twelve families occupied the four-story brick building, according to police. The Red Cross found housing for the four families made homeless by the blaze.

The injured included Yolanda Garcia, 8, and Carmen Luz Garcia, 7, sister of Nilda. They were listed in fair condition in Hartford Hospital.

Also injured was James Flores, 38, who was in fair condition at Hartford Hospital, and Cruz Resto, 30, who was treated and released.

Nixon Delivers Record-Setting $200.8 Billion Budget for 1971

Budget Text Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following are textual highlights of President Nixon's budget sent to Congress today:

I have pledged to the American people that I would submit a balanced budget for 1971. This is particularly necessary because the cost of living has been rising rapidly for the past five years.

The budget I send to you today—the first for which I bear full responsibility as President—fulfills that pledge.

Outlays are estimated at $200.8 billion, with receipts at $202.1 billion, yielding a surplus of $1.3 billion.

For the first time in two full decades the federal government will spend more money on human resource programs than on national defense.

In the past few years too many hard choices were avoided. Indeed, the willingness to make hard choices is the driving force behind my 1971 budget proposals.

Revenues are estimated to be $202.1 billion in 1971, exceeding 1970 levels by only $2.7 billion. The small size of the increase reflects the termination of the income tax surtax and the provisions of the recently enacted Tax Reform Act of 1969.

Federal civilian employment—as measured by those in full-time permanent positions—will decline for the second consecutive year.

The 1971 budget was framed in a period of persistent price rises and is designed to help curb the inflation that has gripped our economy too long.

The 1971 budget shows a significantly different set of priorities from those contained in the budget presented by the previous administration a year ago.

Although 1971 outlays are $3.5 billion higher than the total proposed a year ago for 1970, outlays for national defense and space activities have been reduced by $10.8 billion. The current estimate of 1970 spending for defense and space is $4.4 billion less than that recommended last year by the outgoing administration, and a further reduction of $6.3 billion is proposed for 1971.

A substantial increase in postal revenues is necessary. I am recommending a total of $218.0 billion of budget authority for fiscal year 1971. This includes $216.8 billion of new obligatory authority and $1.3 billion of lending authority.

About 41 per cent of estimated outlays in the 1971 budget will be devoted to human resources—spending for education and manpower, health, income security, and veterans' benefits and services. Spending for national defense, despite continued improvements in our military forces, will claim a smaller percentage of the budget than in any year since 1960. Although

Counsel Raps Carswell Re Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (AP)—A surprise witness testified today that Supreme Court nominee G. Harrold Carswell, while a U.S. district judge in Tallahassee, Fla., had a reputation as an obstructionist in civil rights cases.

The testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committee was given by Ernest H. Rosenberger, a New York City lawyer, who said he served as a volunteer counsel for civil rights workers in the Florida panhandle in the summer of 1964.

Most of his testimony dealt with a case in which nine clergymen were sentenced to jail by a city judge in Tallahassee after they had attempted to integrate the airport there, and their subsequent efforts to obtain release through a habeas corpus petition.

Rosenberger contended that Carswell had told the city attorney how to circumvent an order of the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals by reducing the sentence of the clergymen to the time they had already spent in jail.

The witness said the effect was to wipe out the clergymen's standing to get a hearing on their habeas corpus petition and to leave them with a permanent criminal record.

His interpretation was challenged by Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska and other Republicans on the committee.

The calling of Rosenberger delayed the scheduled appearance of leaders of civil rights organizations to testify in oppo-

Defense Cut $5.3 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today offered a $71.2 billion military budget aimed at strengthening the nation's nuclear shield while cutting the number of Americans in uniform below 3 million men for the first time in about five years.

Nixon's defense spending figure for the 1971 fiscal year is $5.3 billion below this year's revised level and about $10 billion under the final Johnson administration military budget.

"Pending agreement to limit strategic armaments, we must proceed with a full range of new programs—including the Safeguard missile defense system—for protection against an evolving threat from potential aggressors," the President told Congress.

While saying conventional forces also must be strong, Nixon declared his new doctrine aimed at getting allied nations to carry the main burden of their own defense.

Continued U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam is a major factor behind a projected reduction of 252,620 uniformed men next year.

Coupled with a 99,000-man troop cut this year, the new slash will drop total American armed strength to 2,908,127 men by June 30, 1971. It has not been that low since the United States plunged into the Vietnam war on a major scale.

Nixon gave no specifics in the budget message on his decision to move forward with the Safeguard antimissile—ABM—defense system. He indicated at a news conference Friday he will broaden it toward providing an umbrella defense against an anticipated Communist Chinese missile threat in the late 1970s.

This may be one of the administration's toughest tests in Congress this year. The first phase of the Safeguard, contemplating protection of two major Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile bases from Soviet attack, barely cleared the Senate last summer.

Among major projects outlined in Nixon's message is replacement of about 580 first generation Minuteman missiles with the Minuteman III, armed with multiple warheads that can be aimed at separate targets.

Also planned is conversion of six Polaris submarines to the advanced Poseidon missile, an other multiple warhead weapon.

Both the Minuteman III and the Poseidon are approaching the end of a two-year test program.

The Pentagon also will start buying new short-range nuclear missiles designed to give added punch to B52 bombers and a small force of F2111 bombers.

Nixon said the country's strength to deter any Soviet nuclear attack is currently assured by an arsenal of more than 1,050 land-based intercontinental missiles, 650-plus submarine-mounted missiles and better than 500 long-range bombers.

But behind the administration's urgency in pushing the Safeguard antimissile system is intelligence information that the Russians are installing their big S99 missile at a pace which could threaten knockout of the U.S. Minuteman ICBMs in their underground silos before 1974.

Looking to the future, the new budget will finance major development of the Air Force's B1 bomber, an advanced airborne missile platform intended to replace the B52s in the late 1970s.

Other forward-looking developments include an undersea long-range missile that could be fired at Russia or China from U.S. submarines stationed off the American coast or in U.S. harbors.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said the United States may have to accelerate these advanced weapons if the Russians don't slacken their strategic arms buildup.

640,000 Jobs Go with Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—About 640,000 employees of defense contractors will lose their jobs by mid-1971 because the Pentagon is cutting back military buying, officials said today.

These officials preferred to use the term dislocation, rather than unemployment.

These officials, stressing the 640,000 figure is an estimate, forecast the reduction in defense industry employment will begin to show itself significantly in four to six months.

This is when a $30 billion backlog in unfilled defense orders will be dissolved.

Defense officials, talking about the impact of reductions under President Nixon's fiscal 1971 budget, said there would be a total reduction of 1,321,708 military men, civil service workers and defense contractor employees by mid-1971.

Some of this has already occurred, but the bulk of the reductions are yet to come.

The 1.3 million figure is larger than a prediction made by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in mid-January, when he spoke of a cutdown of about 1.25 million.

In addition to the defense contractor job loss, there will be nearly 532,000 fewer uniformed men on duty and more than 120,000 fewer civil service workers on the Defense Department roll.

Phil Promises Early Spring

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP)—It'll be an early spring this year, according to Punxsutawney Phil, the weather-forecasting groundhog. He declined for the first time in 20 years to look at his shadow, thus decreasing an end to winter weather.

In fact Punxsutawney Phil didn't even answer the door when Punxsutawney Groundhog Club president Sam Light, dressed in frock coat, silk hat and striped trousers, knocked with a cane he says is made from a piece of Noah's Ark.

Underground sources had reported earlier that Phil would ignore any efforts to extract him from his burrow and would go on hibernating because of the unusually cold weather he's experienced this winter.

The last time the groundhog failed to see his shadow here was 1950, when he darted back into his hole in the glare of television lights.

And in 1960, Phil was right. There was an early spring. As tradition has it, if Phil emerges from his burrow and sees his shadow, he returns to wait out six more weeks of winter.

But the famed groundhog disappointed disciples gathered atop Gobbler's Knob this morning by failing to even acknowledge their presence. Phil, in fact, bit Light as he put his hand into the burrow.

Officials Try To Prevent Rail Closing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hoping to avert a nationwide rail shutdown before a court-ordered cooling off period expires next week, government officials worked today to arrange a settlement between industry and union negotiators.

Negotiators for both sides, however, saw little hope of a quick settlement from today's talks.

The dispute reached the brink of a nationwide shutdown Saturday night before a Washington, D.C., federal judge halted a strike against Union Pacific Railroad by four shopcraft unions and the threatened coast-to-coast retaliatory lockout by the railroads.

The 10-day postponement ordered by U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica gave the Labor Department time to call for more bargaining talks before it turns to other means to resolve the 14-month-old dispute.

Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Uery Sunday arranged for new talks—and top negotiators for both sides—William P. Wipplinger for the unions, John P. Hiltz for the railroads, agreed to come to any meeting called by the government.

"We told him we are agreeable to meetings," Hiltz said. "As long as we are talking there's always a chance" of a settlement.

Wipplinger had said he saw no immediate prospect of break-

Train Collision Kills 140, Injures 105 in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A total of 140 persons were killed and 105 were injured in the crash of a cross-country express into the rear of a stalled commuter train bringing travelers home from a weekend in the country, the state-owned railway announced today.

The wreck, one of the worst railroad disasters in history, occurred Sunday night 26 miles outside Buenos Aires at General Pacheco, a town on the pampa.

Maximo Blanco, a signalman, was taken into police custody but no charge was made against him. Police said he had been working at a signal station near the crash site, a mile from the railroad station at Pacheco on the lonely pampa.

A railroad station three miles from the scene of the wreck was attacked 90 minutes before the crash, but the province chief of police said the attack apparently had no connection with the wreck. He declined to say who the attackers were or to give any details, but antigovernment terrorists have attacked a number of police and railway stations in recent months.

Officials of the state-owned Argentine Railways Co. said the 21-car express en route from the northern city of San Miguel de Tucuman to Buenos Aires plowed into the rear of a 10-car suburban train which had stopped due to mechanical trouble about a mile from a lonely stop on the pampa 25 miles west of the capital. The suburban train was jammed with passengers returning to Buenos Aires from a summer weekend in the country.

Radio stations in the Buenos Aires area broadcast emergency bulletins far into the night calling for blood donors and volunteers to aid rescue workers using blow torches and cranes to remove mangled bodies from the twisted wreckage.

It was the worst train wreck in Argentine history. The worst ever recorded occurred at Modane, France, on Dec. 12, 1917, when 843 persons were killed in the derailment of a passenger train.

There was no official explanation for the crash.

An unofficial report said a signalman failed to warn the express, which was moving at an estimated 85 miles an hour, that the local train was stopped in its path. Another report said the express had been accidentally switched onto the same track as the local.

Eugenio Armando del Pine, a passenger on the suburban train, said smoke from fires in the area blanketed the halted train and could have hampered the visibility of the engineer aboard the express.

Officials of the General Mitre Line, which operated both of the trains, said the local train carried about 1,000 passengers and the express about 400. Many of the passengers aboard the suburban train were returning from the weekend in the country.

The express derailed four of the suburban train's coaches and telescoped three of them. The leading diesel of the express—it had two—was split.

Both the engineer and the machinist aboard the express diesel were believed to be among the dead. The engineer of the suburban train was injured.

"We were going very, very fast when all of a sudden everything exploded and people went everywhere," said Maria Isabel

Swiss Art Dealer Gets Term For Exhibiting Fakes

Lucerne, Switzerland (AP) — A Lucerne court sentenced a Swiss art dealer today to three years in prison for trying to sell about $2,500 worth of fakes attributed to Van Gogh, Chagall, Matisse, Klee and other masters.

Anton Achermann, 56-year-old owner of Lucerne's Sofacenter, was convicted of fraud for showing the 128 paintings and drawings, including 115 "Van Goghs," in a 1967 exhibition that won initial rave reviews from press critics.

The crash occurred at 8:30 p.m., less than a mile from the intersection of General Pacheco and within a few miles of a highway.

Negro Minister Conducts White House Service

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon heard a Negro clergyman tell a White House congregation Sunday that the nation should resolve to "share the abundance of our rich land with the deprived not only at home but abroad as well."

The Rev. Mammie L. Wilson, president of the Council of Churches of New York, was the first of his race to conduct one of the White House services since the President started them a year ago.

Concept of Monarchy Is Fading in Canada

By MAX HARRELLSON, Associated Press Writer

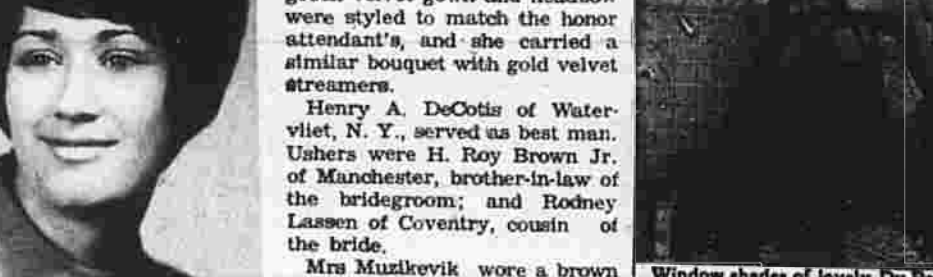

Ottawa (AP) - There's still debate on the subject, but no doubt remains that the concept of Canada as a monarchy is fading. Many Canadians look to Britain as their mother country. For years such Canadians have regarded Americans who happened to mention the king or queen of England "when speaking in a Canadian context. Their argument: the sovereign living at Buckingham Palace is as much the monarch of Canada as of Britain.

This is technically so, and Queen Elizabeth II on her trips to Canada is greeted as the sovereign. But Canada's autonomy has been acknowledged in progressive degrees for more than a century, and is now to all practical purposes complete. Not all French-speaking Canadians scoff at the country's ties with a London-based sovereignty, but some of them do.

Years ago Canadian citizens ceased to receive big medals and similar honors from London; Lord Thomson of Fleet, the Canadian-born minister of public lighting, went to live in Britain before he was named a baron in 1964.

A few weeks ago Canada officially forewore the awarding of the Victoria Cross and other British military decorations to Canadianians. Another recent development is the elimination of the queen's portrait from several values of the United Jack, or a flag akin to it, was flown in Canada only in the Victoria Cross and other British military decorations to Canadianians.

Under the British system the monarch is head of state while the prime minister is head of government. In an uncertain political situation the monarch may influence the naming of ministers, but generally popular elections leave no doubt about who gets the job. The U.S. president combines the duties of head of state and head of government.

Budget Cuts Defense $8

Nixon omitted certain details on the conventional forces which have been spelled out in past budgets, explaining he did so to "maintain the security" of his plan for gradual withdrawal from Vietnam.

How the Army sources said they expect the Army to lose, at least one division from the present force of 34 divisions, the strength of three divisions, the deactivation of a fourth division formed for the war.

The Army will lose about 124,000 men next year and drop to a level of 1,239,000. The Marine Corps will lose 63,000 to 241,188, the Navy by 50,000 to 643,840, the Air Force will lose 60,000 to 100,000, and the Army will lose 78,520.

The Navy will be allowed six of a new class of anti-ballistic missile destroyers, three very fast nuclear attack submarines, another nuclear-powered guided missile frigate and two more modern amphibious assault vessels.

The budget allows money for advanced procurement for a fleet of 100 nuclear-powered submarines, a fleet of 100 nuclear-powered aircraft carriers, four counting the pioneer carrier.

However, Nixon said the defense program will be cut by $8 billion, and that the Army will lose 124,000 men next year and drop to a level of 1,239,000.

The Army will receive additional anti-aircraft, bombardment and anti-tank missiles to combat its firepower. The Army will receive 400 tanks and armored troop carriers to improve its mobility.

The Air Force is to buy an increased fleet of 47 attack planes for close support of ground troops and to develop the new F15 air superiority fighter designed to overcome Russia's best planes in the 1970's.

The 1971 budget will allow the Air Force to complete its buy of 21 of the giant C-17 military transport planes, a significant cutback from the original plan.

Nixon gave no hint as to future plans for the troubled-planned F111 military fighter. More than 500 of the planes have been provided for so far, but Laird has implied a proposal to buy 40 more next year may be canceled.

Research and development which the military counts on to prevent a technological Pearl Harbor is down by $18 million. But the sum allotted for this purpose is a whopping $2.28 billion.

Counting in $2.28 billion for the Atomic Energy Commission and some other functions normally considered purely military, Nixon's proposal for national security spending next year totals $77.58 billion, down nearly $6 billion from fiscal 1970.

Private funeral services were held last afternoon at the Erickson Funeral Home, 5 Hart St., with Mass of requiem at 11 a.m. at St. Joseph's Cemetery, Willimantic.

Why do we give Top Value Stamps?

Because they help keep our prices down. Here's how it works...

Today competition between food stores is intense. Only the store that offers you more is going to survive. And because no business can operate at a loss, only the store that can make a profit is going to survive.

So every store is looking for ways to cut costs... and still give customers the kind of service and prices they want.

Some stores do it by cutting down on breadth of selection... offering fewer products, fewer brands, even fewer sizes.

Some do it by cutting down on employees... fewer check out lines. Some do it by cutting down on maintenance and repair... dirty aisles and grocery carts with jammed wheels. Some do it by cutting quality.

Some even try to convince you that dropping stamps means they can lower prices. Not true!

The truth is that in most cases you pay exactly the same prices at a store that doesn't have stamps. In fact, you may pay even more.

Why? Because a store that cuts customer services inevitably loses business. So they have to charge more to make ends meet.

On the other hand, good merchandise and good service plus the extra savings of trading stamps attract more customers. Our store offers all three, so we sell more. We don't have to charge as much on each item to come out ahead. So we can actually charge lower prices.

Makes sense doesn't it? That's why we give you more selection, more quality, more service and the built-in savings of Top Value Stamps. We get more customers and sell more merchandise. So we can afford to charge you less. And do

Helpless Mississippi Easy Prey For Pistol

NEW YORK (AP) — Drooping coats, flopping hair and all college basketball's crown prince was holding court. Pete Maravich glided through helpless Mississippi with the greatest ease, his regal form switching toward the basket instant on the goal.

Then the roar of the crowd rolled down from the stratosphere of the Louisiana State University Coliseum as the LSU wonder boy cracked career record Saturday night. "He was superb," exulted Coach Frank Maravich after watching his panther-lean son score 33 points to give LSU 77 for his career—springing off Robertson's 2973.

PETE MARAVICH

Maravich gave the arena-ringing crowd 1,000 raps by ending as the Tigers toppled Ole Miss 109-86 in one of the top games in an otherwise upset-studded Saturday.

Vanderbilt shocked second-ranked Kentucky 88-81, Loyola of Chicago upset seventh-ranked Marquette 76-72 and Notre Dame surprised 10th-ranked Illinois 88-81.

Elsewhere, top-rated UCLA raced to its 16th victory without a defeat this year by clinching a Stanford 102-84; third-ranked St. Bonaventure won Niagara, 88-81; No. 4 South Carolina stopped Tech 87-78; No. 19 Kansas State squeaked by Missouri 83-82.

And No. 8 North Carolina State whipped Cincinnati 118-87 and No. 9 North Carolina tripped Maryland 77-69.

Hawks Move into Second Place in West Lakers Check Jinx in Philly

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers won in Philadelphia for the first time since 1967 and put the Atlanta Hawks somewhere they haven't been since last Nov. 2—in second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division.

Elgin Baylor scored 33 points and Jerry West hit a pair of clinching foul shots Sunday as the Lakers beat the Hawks 118-112, while Atlanta lost 133-124 to Baltimore.

Los Angeles, winning for the eighth straight time, took a half-game lead over Atlanta, which lost its fourth straight and 10th in the last 13 games.

In other NBA action, the East-leading New York Knicks edged Detroit 117-111. Seattle upset Milwaukee 118-110. Chicago topped Cincinnati 118-108. San Francisco trounced Boston 123-106 and Phoenix nipped San Diego 105-100.

Baylor helped guide the Lakers from 18 points behind in the second quarter to a 21-12 lead and then West clinched it on two free throws with two seconds left. West finished with 28 points. Billy Cunningham connected for 28 points and Archie Clark for 27 for Philadelphia.

Baltimore knocked off Atlanta behind the shooting of Kevin Loughery, who scored 18 of his 29 points in the third period, and Jack Marin, who got 18 of his 26 in the fourth. Lou Hudson pumped in 45 for Atlanta.

The Knicks scored from a 63-49 deficit to an 88-87 lead and went on to make Detroit their eighth straight victim. Willis Reed hit for 30 points and Dave DeBussche scored 22 for New York. Jimmy Walker scored 32 and Dave Bing 20 for Detroit.

Seattle dropped Milwaukee seven games behind New York when Barry Clemens hit a jump shot with 21 seconds left in the game. Tom Meschery sparked Seattle with 27 points. Milwaukee got 23 from Flynn Robinson and 31 from Bob Dandridge.

Bob Love's two foul shots with 15 seconds left in the game put Chicago ahead of Cincinnati to top, 107-106, as the Bulls ended a three-game losing streak. Charles Walker topped Chicago scoring 30 points, and Love added 25. Tom Green led Cincinnati with 27.

Ferrari quit sports car racing in 1967 after the F1A Formula engine limits for group 4 engines to five liters. This year, the Italian works built 25 cars to meet homologation rules and five of them to Daytona with the benefit of adequate testing.

But Siffert caught on at Daytona's long back stretch as 35,570 chanted spectators cheered. He covered 76 laps for 2,370 miles, shattering the previous record set by Roy Salvadori and Carlo Masetti in 1966 in a GTO that Weyer later inherited.

Brown Got Second Chance Result Was Biggest Payday

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Pete Brown, a one-time polo victim who learned his golf on the formula of "play three holes and run," was given a second chance by Tony Jacklin and Jack Nicklaus and ran right into the biggest payday of his life.

But on the first extra hole the young Englishman put his tee shot behind a tree, hit the tree and was three, about 100 yards away from the hole. Brown, the runner of the fringe in two, putted in 18 inches and watched while Jacklin missed. He tapped in for a birdie.

But he conquered the growing pressure that built while he waited for Jacklin and Nicklaus to play the 90-yard, par-five 18th hole, then won a sudden-death putt for his second title in a 17-year career.

California Race Trainers End Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California race trainers employed a 21-day strike that ended Sunday night, ending the longest track strike in the state's history.

The pact, approved by a 486 to 206 vote of the Service Employees International Union, ends a pay increase of $3 a day for the first year, $2 the second year and $2 for the third year.

The strike over wage demands by the trainers was a spirited contest at Santa Anita, where the trainers were on strike for 21 days.

Evans Unhappy in Boston Win Sprint King Had Planned For Revenge

NEW YORK (AP) — Lee Evans, a disappointed loser at the Wainwright Millrose Games, came back with a vengeance Saturday night in Boston only to become a disappointed winner.

Evans, the Olympic 400-meter champion and world record holder, was pitted against three other record breakers in the 600-yard run Friday night and came away second best to Martin McGrady.

I was really psyched up to make a run at Martin after last night," Evans said shortly after his 1:10.8 victory in the 600 at Boston. "I'm disappointed he didn't run."

McGrady, the world's best with a 1:09 clocking indoors for 600 yards, scratched with a sore ankle in the Boston A.A. Games Saturday night, only moments before the event, after winning in New York with a 1:10.0 meet.

In Boston, Evans went to the front with less than a lap to go in beating Villanova's Olympian and 500-yard record holder, Larry Green, who had won the 600 A.A.M., the 400-yard record breaker, was tied in both races.

Two other meet standards fell and Evans was last in Boston as underdog Art Dulung of Holy Cross shattered the 1,000-yard mark with a 2:07.4 clocking and Maryland's Tony Greene tied the meet 500-yard mark, in 5:5.2.

Wild Brawl Spices Latest Bruins' Success

NEW YORK (AP) — In the largest turnout in the NHL's history, the member-nationals of the 1970-71 season of 342-121 in favor of ratification of the contract overturned a 1969-70 membership vote of 138-94 against accepting the pact.

At the time of the strike would be short since other labor management problems in the NHL had been solved quickly after being put out of the first game of a doubleheader. He was thrown out of the second game, too, and as he departed the umpire said, "All please don't climb that light tower."

But don't ask the man if he can manage in the big league. Walter Alton couldn't manage in the big leagues until given the chance to manage at the third level where they their victory over Toronto.

The game was interrupted by a second period brawl with both benches emptying to join in the melee.

It was estimated the state of California lost $200,000 a day in the farm system of Bob Carpenter's Phillies, having won pennants in 1950 and 1954.

The state takes a share in taxes of the total wagers each year with Eugene, Ore., in the Pacific Coast League and Reading, Pa., in the Eastern League.

Rock in the PCL, Williamsport, Pa., in the Eastern League, and the Phillies in the South Atlantic League.

With all the places he has managed in seven different states for the Phillies since 1969, he may be the best manager in the agency would have been easier than running a National League club.

Head coach of the East team will have two years to adjust positive thinking and impress on the Phillies that a winning attitude is half the battle.

He is a stocky man with piercing dark eyes and looks like a small carbon copy of Joe Torre, the Cardinals catcher. Of course, he never hit Torre, except when he battered 33 with 15 homers for the Pine Bluff, Ark., team in 1963.

When he reports to Clearwater, Fla., for the Phillies spring training camp, he will be 42 years old and in 13 of them his teams have won more games than they lost.

Senate Closes Carswell Query

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee closed its hearings today on the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court over the protest of civil rights spokesmen who said he should be recalled as a witness to explain his "segregationist" record.

Rush appealed to the committee not to approve "someone worse" in wake of the Senate's rejection of the prior nominee for the seat, Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

"Judge Carswell is Judge Haynsworth with a cutting edge," Rush said, "with a bitterness and meanness that Judge Haynsworth never had."

Rush told the committee that nothing in Carswell's record indicates he has really repudiated a white supremacy speech he made 22 years ago.

The hearings concluded on a note that the Senate will not act on the nomination until after the presidential inauguration on Jan. 20.

Pope Tells Clergy To Remain Celibate

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI ordered the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the Netherlands today to revise its stand against the celibacy rule for priests.

He said it was indispensable for the Dutch bishops, priests and laymen to disagree on the matter.

Historians say some of those earlier edicts were honored more in breach than observance.

At the outset of Christianity, some and perhaps most of the men whom Jesus chose as his apostles were married. St. Paul, although himself either single or a widower, suggested most of them had wives. He wrote in 1st Corinthians 9:5.

"Do we not have the right to be accompanied by a wife, as the other apostles and the brothers of the Lord and Cephas?"

Cephas is Greek for Peter, chief of the apostles, considered by Roman Catholicism as the first Pope. His wife once was healed by Jesus of a fever.

Catholic scholars say that of 269 popes, about 40 up to the 9th century were married.

From New Testament times, public as controversy grew over his statement Sunday that celibacy was "a capital law" of the Church and could neither be abandoned nor discussed in the Church.

The Pope's hard-line stand on priestly celibacy, along with his ban on artificial birth control in 1968, are major issues on which papal authority have been attacked.

NEW YORK (AP)—Although Pope Paul VI says the rule against marriage for priests must not be eliminated or even discussed, it already is an issue of wide discussion in the Church.

Some theologians predict an eventual change. They foresee a Roman Catholic return to the early Christian pattern, when ordained men might be either married or unmarried. This still is the basic approach in Eastern Catholic Protestantism. It was the 12th century, at the Second Lateran Council of 1139 against the celibacy rule for priests.

There had been earlier, varying council fixed the present ban against clerical marriage.

Explosion Rips Police Station, Court Building Near Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—An explosion ripped through the downtown area of Cleveland, Ohio, today, blowing through windows and shattering glass in a residential area.

The explosion, which occurred at 10:15 a.m., was heard by residents in a 10-block radius.

Police Chief Charles F. Holmberg said the explosion occurred in a residential area near the intersection of 15th and 16th streets.

Several injured children were hospitalized in critical condition.

Britain Mourning Bertrand Russell

PENNYHYDEVAETH, Wales (AP)—Britain today mourns the death of Bertrand Russell, one of the great minds of the 20th century and one of its most controversial figures.

Russell died Monday night at his home in North Wales. He was 97.

A spokesman said Russell's fourth wife, Edith, was with him when he collapsed. He reportedly had been suffering from influenza.

There was no immediate word on arrangements for the funeral. The family was expected to issue a statement later today.

"This has come as a terrible shock to everyone," said Kenneth Coates, a director of the Bertrand Russell Peace Foundation.

The Times of London said "Bertrand Russell's claim to be remembered by history rests primarily on his work in mathematical and symbolic logic and philosophy on which his influence was pervasive and profound."

In recent years Russell, a peace philosopher, was the recipient of the Nobel prize for literature in 1950 and was a member of the British Order of Merit, restricted to 24 members at any time. He was the third Earl Russell and the grandson of a British prime minister, the first earl.

Yet in 1940 his appointment to lecture at the College of the City of New York was revoked by a state Supreme Court justice who said the appointment was "an attempt to establish a chair of indecency." A woman taxpayer brought the suit because of Russell's open endorsement of trial in philosophy on which his influence was pervasive and profound.

Doctor Helps the Tasteless Say 'Ah!' and Drool Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Last July 28 Adolph (Rudy) Coniglio, who calls himself the best pizza maker in northern New Jersey, suddenly lost the ability to taste his food.

He thought he had been sold rotten tomatoes, but when other people said the tomatoes tasted good, "I realized it was myself."

Coniglio, 54, went to his doctor, who said it was nerves and prescribed tranquilizers. They did no good. Another doctor just threw up his hands while a third suggested a nose operation.

In all, Coniglio, who lives in Closter, N.J., went to 20 doctors and spent close to $5,000 trying to regain his sense of taste. He had closed his restaurant and was about to go to Europe in the hope that doctors there could help him.

Most foods tasted bad. All he could eat were pears, cheese and milk. Meat and fried foods were particularly repugnant and he could not stomach the spicy food he used to love. He couldn't swallow hot food; it all had to be cold.

Then Coniglio was referred to Dr. Robert L. Henkin, a neuro-otolaryngologist at the National Heart and Lung Institute in Bethesda, Md., who has spent the last 12 years developing a new theory to explain how man tastes.

Henkin was well aware of the pizza maker's problem. Over the past five years he has treated 50 patients who suddenly have lost the ability to taste, plus another 150 patients whose loss of taste was a serious side effect from drugs they were getting for other diseases.

With just two weeks of treatment, Coniglio regained most of his taste.

He left the clinic center at the National Institute of Health Saturday, after three weeks of tests, which show 90 per cent of his taste sensations returned.

He is back drinking two or three glasses of tomato juice a day — something he loves but couldn't do when his ability to taste disappeared.

Report Reveals Potential Health Value of Marijuana

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secret research at an Army chemical warfare laboratory shows that a synthetic form of marijuana may be useful in treating such diseases as high blood pressure and extreme sunstroke.

The never-published studies, done 10 years ago at the Army Chemical Corp. Medical Research Laboratory at the Edgewood (Md.) Arsenal, were disclosed in proceedings of a National Institute of Mental Health conference of January, 1969, reported Monday.

At that scientific meeting, Dr. Van Sim of the Edgewood Arsenal described his work publicly for the first time. He said that both the synthetic chemical and natural marijuana "are interesting from a medical standpoint... there are three areas where they are of therapeutic use in medicine."

Besides the two medical uses that he studied, Sim cited work published in 1966 by the late Dr. Walter Siegfried Loewe of the University of Utah, who found another marijuana-like, a 7-11 and larynx, all in the oral cavity, also play important roles in the regulation of the digestive tract, not the tongue, is the seat of the most sensitive area for the taste sensation.

Henkin also said that the tongue is one of a number of factors in taste; the palate, pharynx and larynx, all in the oral cavity, also play important roles in the regulation of the digestive tract, not the tongue, is the seat of the most sensitive area for the taste sensation.
