Dear Readers,

In front of you, please find the Summer, 2015 edition of Hotspots. This issue focuses on the cow families of Batke Outside Cora and Sandy-Valley Planet Sapphire: two modern cow families already making an impact and whose influence will continue to grow as their descendants thrive in the herds of top breeders around the world. We are also very pleased to include another brood cow poster with this issue. This latest poster in our series highlights foundation cows born in the second half of the 1990's.

The dairy industry is constantly changing. It is fascinating to see how breeders and AI companies are working to provide dairymen with the product they need at certain times. Sometimes those genetics help to solve a problem and sometimes they help breed the cows that are better suited for a new political era - such as we see in Europe with the disappearance of the quota system. With the variation that Holsteins have to offer, the breed keeps proving itself as the best, most profitable breed for dairymen worldwide, quota or no quota.

We hope you enjoy going through this issue.

Best regards,

The Hotspots Team

Sandy-Valley Plane Sapphire

→ Today's genomic giants from a time-tested bloodline

We know them and love them; we read about them in every Holstein magazine – the 'one name' cow families that have impacted the breed over the past decades: Roxy, Adeen, Splendor, Altitude, Raven, Missy, Minnow, Cosmopolitan, etc. They are prolific genetic transmitters. Though systems change and preferences vary over the years, their descendants always seem to find their way to the top of the index and type lists. It's been no different in the genomic era.

The Beginning

The Snow-N Denises Dellia family has been respected and sought after worldwide for over 20 years. Always a force on the type side of the breed, the family has now, through a couple of different branches, stormed its way to the top of the GTPI charts. One of those branches took root in Scandinavia, Wisconsin at Sandy-Valley Farms and blossomed with a cow named Sandy-Valley Plane Sapphire, a Planet daughter scored VG-87 at two years who quickly achieved Gold Medal Dam status with 11 Very Good daughters to date.

Behind the well-known and well-respected breeding operation at Sandy-Valley Farms is the Bauer family. They had observed the Dellias with great interest over the years.

Greg Bauer, Sandy Valley

"We always admired the Dellia family and in 2002, we purchased Regancrest-JB Tatum-ET, a VG-87 Rudolph daughter of the Tesk Della cow (a daughter of Dellia). We liked her so well that we purchased her yearling heifer by Bellwood Marshall, Orthoapple Marshall Alia-ET."

She was a silky, long-necked, stylish heifer that became our first VG-89 two-year-old," comments Greg Bauer. Alia was a natural choice to mate to their homebred bull just released at Select Sires, Sandy-Valley Forbidden, and this mating produced Sandy-Valley Forbid Sully. Though not as tall as her dam, she was wider throughout and scored VG-87 as a two-year-old. An open-ribbed dairy cow with great udder texture, Sully, in turn, was flushed to another homebred bull, Sandy-Valley Bolton. Bauer explains, “The Bolton flush was made because we thought a high production bull like Bolton would complement the great type of the Dellias. We were fortunate to get one heifer, Sandy-Valley Bolt Sheila-ET, the dam of Sapphire.”

Sheila became an all-time favorite at Sandy-Valley due to her trouble-free nature and her great will to milk (her first lactation milk record of 44,790 milk is still the herd’s highest for a two-year-old). Eventually scoring EX-92 EX-MS in her third lactation, Sheila was known for her dairy strength and width coupled with superb feet and legs. “As a yearling, she had a smoother look to her and given her outstanding foot & leg structure, we thought Planet would be a nice mating. This produced the Sapphire cow. Sapphire was a nice blend of these two sires in that she had a better foot than most Planets and a little more width through the rear end than most Boltons. It was also a strength to strength mating in that we doubled up high milk production from functional udders,” noted Bauer.

Marketing and Matings

Born in May of 2009, Sapphire was tapped early on to enter the flush program at Sandy Valley. The earliest matings to Robust, Iota, Mogul and Uno were deemed highly successful when those offspring hit the ground in 2011 and 2012. The Robust mating produced bulls that headed straight to AI: Sterling and Sutton at Select Sires. As for the females, the Bauers are milking three Very Good Robust daughters that are now fresh with their second calves after making impressive 1st lactation records. These three cows are all starting their own branches of the family with many offspring over +2500 GTPI throughout the group.

Though the Bauers have preferred to keep most of the Sapphire offspring on farm, they did merchandise one Robust daughter. The Elite Dairy Genomics group of Illinois purchased Sandy-Valley Robust Ruby (VG-86) as a yearling and immediately set to flushing her. Her first flush to Mogul yielded her first home run as EDG Rubicon clocked in at +2526 GTPI and advanced through succeeding proofs to as high as +2718 GTPI before settling in at +2651 GTPI on the April 2015 run. Owned by Sexing Technologies, Rubicon has been on mating lists around the world for his high production yields (+1431M +100F +52P) combined with his good type number of +2.17T. His full brothers, Ruger (+2594 GTPI) and Rowdy (+2580 GTPI), are also owned by Sexing Technologies. Rubicon wasn’t Ruby’s only success story. Her Numero Uno daughters, Rachel (+2600 GTPI), Riza (+2525 GTPI), Rae (+2498 GTPI) and Randi (+2492 GTPI) have all produced offspring over +2500 GTPI and higher. OCD Delta Rae 4528, a Mr Mogul Delta daughter out of Uno Rae bred and owned by Oakfield Corners Dairy in New York rings the bell at +2664 GTPI and the big news in May was a new high GTPI female in the family as the results for Westcoast Supershot Riza 2951 came in at +2765 GTPI. She is a Supershot daughter of Uno Riza at Westcoast Holsteins of British Columbia.

But the Ruby daughter that is opening eyes around the world has to be EDG Ruby Mogul Rose. Purchased as a three-month-old calf on the 2013 Parade of Perfection Sale by Greg Andersen of Seagull Bay Holsteins in Idaho, Mogul Rose has proven that her $27,000 purchase price was a bargain. Her two sons by Stantons Catalyst rank among the highest in world for GTPI and NM$ - Seagull-Bay Charismatic (+2744 GTPI +951NM$ owned by TAG) and Seagull-Bay Comanche (+2614 GTPI +875NM$ owned by Seagull-Bay). Greg Andersen feels they will both be global impact sires due to their excellent genomic numbers in combined fat and protein, productive life along with moderate stature numbers.

Greg Andersen, Seagull Bay

“The Planet Sapphire family was certainly on my radar as she had made some really nice young sons and daughters with great genomic predictions. As an individual, she was also very impressive with 40,000 milk and a strong transmitter of protein.”

“The Robust mating on Planet has made a lot of great males and females in the breed and Sandy-Valley Robust Ruby could worthily stand with OCD Robust Delicious and Seagull-Bay Miss America on the podium of top Robust daughters. Of course, when I bought Rose, neither Robust nor Mogul had a daughter proof yet but now, two years later, the sire stack of Mogul x Robust x Planet is a rock solid cross,” expounds Andersen.

The Moguls directly from Sapphire herself also developed nicely and the two full sisters in the Sandy Valley herd are now scored VG-88 and VG-87. Their full brother at Select Sires, Sandy-Valley Slate, is +2410 GTPI and should have a daughter proof early in 2016. Mogul Summer (VG-87 +2317 GTPI) has a Flame daughter, Sandy-Valley Summer-night at +2576 GTPI.

Hermann Niermann of World Wide Sires, Germany owns a Cashcoin daughter of Mogul Summer that is housed at Sunshine Genetics in Wisconsin and is g RZG +150.

Hermann Niermann, WWS

“Season shows a nearly perfect German genomic profile without any weak traits. Sapphire, her granddam, has turned out to be one of the most influential members of the Dellia dynasty in the genomic era and Summer is the best milking Mogul daughter I have seen so far.”

Success from the Iotas

Sapphire also has two Iota daughters that both scored VG as two-year-olds. Interestingly, though not among her high-ranking daughters in respect to GTPI, several of the very high GTPI descendants of Sapphire come through the two Iota cows, Topaz and Amethyst. Amethyst (VG-87) has daughters by Mogul, Numero Uno, Mascalese and Layne – all of whom have offspring over +2500 GTPI and a number over +2600, including Afterburner, a Flame son at Semex at +2656 GTPI. Topaz (VG-86) has daughters by Krunch and McCutchen with the same success rate with their offspring.

In fact, Greg Bauer highlighted a couple of members from these Iota branches when asked about exciting animals that looked to contribute to their breeding program in the future: “Two individuals come to mind. Aqua, a +2648 GTPI Pure x Uno x Iota Amethyst just entering our IVF program; and Treasure, a +2642 GTPI Silver x McCutchen x Iota Topaz that is special in terms of blending conformation with production numbers. The McCutchen dam is now springing and may prove to be the best typed animal in the family.” A full brother to Amethyst and Topaz, Sandy-Valley Saloon +2307 GTPI, is at Semex. He now has daughters calving and should receive his official proof in December. “He’s been popular throughout his young sire career. He has a very impressive genomic profile, and as most would expect, he has an ability to transmit breed-leading production levels while sacrificing very little on overall type,” notes Brian Carscadden, a sire analyst at Semex who has worked closely with the Sapphire family over the years.

Even less heralded Sapphire family members have shown the ability to hit the big genomic home run. Kevin Jorgensen of Wisconsin is sire analyst for Select Sires and also owns several head of cattle privately with Mystic-Valley Dairy. They purchased Sapphire’s November 2012 McCutchen daughter, Sandy-Valley McC Secret, in the 2013 Wisconsin Showcase Sale even though she carried only a mid-range GTPI of +2270 at the time. We bought her because Sapphire was one of Planet’s best daughters and one of the best cows at Sandy Valley. Secret was a wonderful calf, though not show-age and not super high for GTPI,” notes Jorgensen. The partners decided to forego flushing her and bred her to Yoder. That resulting natural calf born last October, Jenny-Lou-KJ Yoder Stevie, came through with an eye-opening +2552 GTPI and is now owned the ART group of Select Sires. Jorgensen still greatly admires the family and mentions that Sandy-Valley Sterling 7HO11585, a Robust son of Sapphire and thus a full brother to Robust Ruby, looks very, very good and will likely be an August graduate for the A.I. company.

While of course delighted with the genomic headlines generated by the Sapphires, the Bauers also consider the family extra special because Sapphire’s dam, Bolt Sheila, combined Sandy-Valley breeding on both the top and bottom of her pedigree. It’s been their most extreme production family – noted for consistent producers that are great freestall cattle, tough yet docile, that excel in commercial settings. And, sadly, while Sapphire was lost a week after her second calving, her influence in the Sandy Valley herd and worldwide will continue for decades to come.

Michelle uses Udder Comfort routinely on fresh cows in the robotic set-up. 'Rory,' their popular agvocate-cow seems most interested in the yellow spray. Michelle and her father Norbert in the office of the robot barn.

“For 10 years, we have had tremendous success with Udder Comfort™. Routine use on fresh udders, makes a huge difference,” says Michelle Hasheider-Burianek. She and her father Norbert run the 3rd generation dairy at Elm Farms, Inc., Okawville, Illinois, where 125 cows have milked robotically for 3 years.

“Fresh cows are separated after going through the robot. We check them and apply Udder Comfort at the head gates for 2 to 3 days after calving; heifers 4 to 5 days. We see the benefits of udders stay soft and milk out evenly.”

End of Quota ...

Change in Breeding Goals?

On April 1, 2015 the milk quota system in the EU came to an end, does this opportunity to produce more milk also mean that breeders are change their breeding goals? Hotspots interviewed consultants and sire analysts and found breeders across Europe are still expecting a bull has to have it all.

Although the prices for dairy are a bit disappointing at this moment, the perspective for dairy products in the future looks good. The world population is growing and global prosperity increases. According to the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO), 60% more food will be needed by 2050 and therefore, the elimination of the quota system comes at the right time. It means for the European farmers that there are no longer limits in producing milk. And what does that mean for the breeding goal? Of course farmers should have asked themselves this question three years ago. At that time the insemination decisions were made from which heifer calves and future milking cows were born. Not surprisingly farmers in the Netherlands have more focus on sires that transmit a high milk yield. The reason is simple: more milk per cows means a higher efficiency and a bigger profit. "But also components are relevant," adds CRV representative Anne Bosma. "Especially the protein percentage is important." Cheese is an important dairy product in the Netherlands and for that reason protein has a high value for processors. Dutch farmers have been breeding for a higher percentage protein for several years.

Low production Costs

The components are also an issue in the UK, Owain Harries, Cogent sire analyst notices. "The payments are going more towards components, thanks to the increased cheese production." But it's not only fat and protein on which UK farmers make their sire selection. "More efficient cows," summarizes Harries, adding that it's not the ending of the quota system that made farmers decide to breed more in that direction. "Its been going on for several years. You can say it's a summary of overall balance of traits. High PLI, high in milk suggest more efficiency," Harries says. "And also body condition is a trait that farmers look for, and fertility which is enclosed in the PLI formula quite heavily." Fertility is a point of attention everywhere, Harries notices.

Owain Harries, Cogent

"The end of the quota system didn't encourage UK farmers to use bulls with an extreme milk production. They focus more on low production costs as the milk price is going to show more volatility. "

Harries added, "Efficiency and fertility are main issues in a low cost system. If sires have all these traits to make cows healthy and efficient, transmitting more milk is seen as an extra. But it isn't necessary, our cows produce enough milk."

High production, strong cow

Another very important breeding value for selecting bulls according to Dutchman Bosma is longevity. "Since we have introduced this, it is and stays an issue for farmers." Feet and legs are important traits as well and dairy strength. "Farmers do want higher producing cows, but not the narrow and frail type of cow," translates Bosma farmers' demand. As he thinks of this list with criteria he concludes that farmers want it all. Including a positive score on the new traits efficiency, feed intake and health.

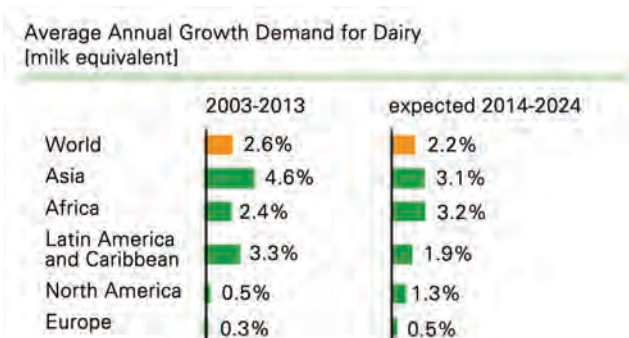

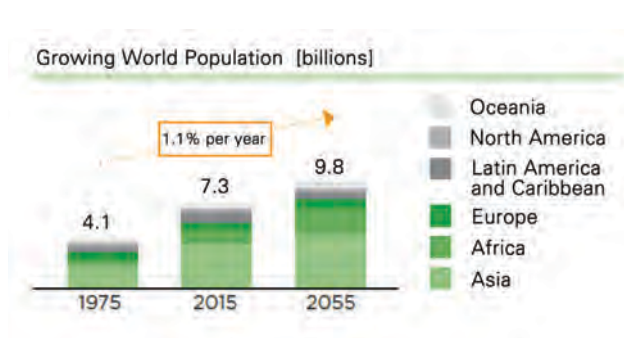

It sounds familiar to Hartwig Meinikmann from RUW. "We don't see a direct change in choosing bulls after the quota ended. For a few years dairy breeders have been selecting for complete and functional cows." The German RZG contains all the important traits, he notices. "But it's not always the highest sire they choose," says Meinikmann. "They prefer a 150 RZG sire with no mistakes above a higher one with 160 RZG, but a score of 98 for milkability." Thanks to genomic selection dairy farmers can be picky in selecting their most desirable sires.

Hartwig Meinikmann, RUW
 "We have been able to select sires that have it all: a complete package of production, type, efficiency and health."

Lower culling rate

A changing breeding goal can also mean a change in the ratio between milking cows and young stock. For example in the Netherlands dairy farmers produced 6.5 percent more milk in April 2015 after the quota ended. And there is more milk to come as farmers kept more young stock on their farm. The percentage of young stock increased 6.5 percent in 2014 compared to 2013. At CRV they notice that farmers are willing to milk more, but there will be a limit to the growth, because of manure and environmental legislations. For the near future the number of young stock will decrease and their space will be taken by milking cows. The consequence is that cows have to live longer and the culling rate has to be lower as there will be less replacement heifers. Quite a challenge, but perhaps an answer can be found in changing the breeding strategy.

A smart plan could be to inseminate more animals with sexed semen, to increase the genetic ability of the herd. Theoretically it would deliver enough replacement heifer calves when farmers inseminate all the heifers and 20 percent of the cows with sexed semen. Then other animals could be inseminated -for example- with a beef bull to get higher calf prices. Even more progress can be made while implanting these animals with top embryos from strong performing cow families. Meinikmann suggests combining the use of sexed semen with genotyping young stock. "To make a better selection from all born heifer calves. Within six weeks you have the results and can sell calves you're not going to raise." This saves costs, although he admits that genotyping animals is still costly. "But you don't need to expand the young stock housing except for calves up to six weeks of age." Further the genomic test helps to make a better mating. "Farmers will improve the overall genetic capacity in their herd."

Higher demand for dairy products

The global food consumption continues to increase, predicts the FAO. Especially the demand for milk and milk products in developing countries is growing with rising incomes, population growth, urbanization and changes in diets. This trend is pronounced in East and Southeast Asia, in countries like China, Indonesia and Vietnam. This offers a good opportunity for producers to increase production.

ECLIPSE HOLSTEINS / SEXING TECHNOLOGIES

Eclipse Atwood Archrival maintained his crown as the No. 1 Type bull in the world after the April, 2015 run with an impressive +3.84 type number. Bred by Richard Hull of Eclipse Holsteins in western Australia, this Atwood son hails from a maternal pedigree loaded with type. Out of Bolleholster Anya, a Shottle daughter who scored VG-87 at 2 years, Archrival's pedigree extends further back to a VG-89 Champion, an EX-94 Lee then the prepotent brood cow, Chief Adeen EX-94 2E DOM.

ARCHRIVAL

Archrival vaulted to the top of the type chart in August, 2014 and has held a firm grip on his number one status in subsequent runs. With +2.81UDC and +2.85FLC numbers and extreme udder trait numbers like +3.19 for fore udder attachment, +4.22 for rear udder height and +3.88 for rear udder width, he looks to be difficult to unseat from his throne for several summaries to come. Archrival is distributed worldwide by Sexing Technologies.

ASCOL - Willemschoeve Baily Chen made his name known after the April, 2015 sire summary with an eye-popping +3.56 type number, ranking him the 5th highest bull in the breed for type and the No. 1 McCutchen son for type! Owned by ASCOL, the Spanish bull stud that values high type and high production, Baily Chen is out of a VG-88 Atwood daughter that was imported from the US out of Farnear-TBR Bailey VG-87, a popular Shottle daughter, then back into the same Regancrest cow family that produced the famous EX-92 Barbie.

Baily Chen builds his type number from popular show ring traits as stature, depth, openness, width and extreme udder traits such as +3.47 for fore udder attachment, +4.25 for rear udder height and +3.91 for rear udder width. Overall, his composite numbers of +3.10UDC and +2.74FLC indicate a promising future of producing sound cows with superb udders and feet and legs.

MASTERRIND - MASTERRIND had a very successful April 2015 Sire Summary and continues to provide numerous top sires. Whether you're looking for reliability, type, production, components, health traits, red genetics, polled genetics, or an outcross pedigree, our powerful line-ups of daughter-proven and genomic bulls have quality offerings for every herd's need.

Despite the significant base change in Germany in April, a large number of popular MASTERPROVEN sires maintained or even exceeded their last genetic data in multiple areas. We are pleased that with Mowambo, Pioneer and Bakombre, three of the Top 5 daughter-proven sires from Germany with over 500 milking daughters, all originate from our successful MASTERRIND breeding program! In addition, we offer Jucator and Wendland Holsteins Genesis, two elite outcross specialists from the current German Top 10 proven sire list.

JANTJE 40 (s. Jucator)

A large group of exciting new genomic graduates are making the MASTERGEN line-up stronger than ever. Three new MASTERGEN bulls arrived in the German genomic Top 10 in April! We also continue to offer the highest German sons from a long list of popular sires of sons in the German top rankings like Boss, Cashcoin, Enforcer, Epic, Liquid Gold, Long P, Platinum, Predestine, Snowmaster or Sympatico.

As one of the world's premier polled Holstein programs, MASTERRIND announces the arrival of several high-ranking heterozygous and homozygous polled MASTERGEN sires. Finally, our lineup also includes a valuable group of Red Holstein sires to ensure that our clients breeding Red & White Holstein have a great variety of quality sires to choose from, including Amor-Red, a new, world-class Red proven sire who is transmitting the great breeding attributes of his famous Kamps-Hollow Durham Altitude family.

AI TOTAL - Founded in 2010 and based in the Netherlands, AI Total is one of the world's youngest AI companies, but already has a successful track record for breeder satisfaction with proven bulls like WONDER and genomic sires like CARLO, CONDOR and HEAVEY. AI Total takes pride in presenting a lineup of Holstein sires that are 'The Total Package' which reflects the company's main goal and vision: to offer a variety of bulls to dairy producers that have balanced proofs for reliability, production, health traits and type.

Their impressive group of Mogul sons debuted last year and in April, AI Total added some of the top Supersire and McCutchen sons to the lineup, including SUHNSTAR, MCCUTCH 3290 and SHEAN. In addition, SAM-RED and DOUWE-RED brought a boost of production and health traits to the Red & White sire group. AI Total bulls maintained their indexes extremely well through the April proof run. Breeders were pleased to see this proof stability which is partly due to the company's selection policy of bulls with proven sires and deep cow families.

515H000138 - MODIOUS

AI Total is growing their company in various markets around the world and have developed valuable relationships with their global distributors. Their mission, however, remains the same as first developed in the Netherlands five years ago: to help breeders make the best decisions for genetic improvement and thus, profitability in their herds.

The Batke Outside Kora cow family

A once in a lifetime cow

She is 12 years old and a living legend: Batke Outside Kora. The excellent cow, scored with 94 points, won the European Championships title in 2006 as a young cow, produced over 100.000 kilo milk and is blessed with high genomics as well. The cow who has it all spreads her genes widely thanks to high testing offspring. A story about the fuse of show en genomics.

The huge amount of € 95.000 was offered to the German breeder Heinrich Batke for his home bred Batke Outside Kora after she won the Young Milking Cow title at the European Championship in Oldenburg in 2006. 'Yes, it was a lot of money', admits the retired breeder. 'But I realized that we could only sell her once', he remembers, while his daughter Judith adds that they have been thinking about it seriously. 'We knew that we would never have a cow like her again.' Kora stayed at the farm in Visbek (half an hour southeast from Bremen) and the breeders are still happy about that decision. 'She has brought us so much joy, that is priceless.' Not only by winning the European championship, Kora also became Grand Champion at the Weser Ems Konvent in 2008 and brought the Batke family fame and fun. 'My grandchildren sit on her back, Kora is part of our family', says Heinrich. In the meantime she produced over 100.000 kilo milk in a bit more than 5 lactations. 'She milks a lot, between 15.000-16.000 every lactation.' Heinrich remembers that Kora produced over 70 liters milk in her third lactation. 'She can handle it', refers Heinrich Kora's good condition score. It's a family trademark the Batke breeder confirms. 'When she went to the European show in 2006, she had to loose 50 kilo. 'We couldn't do it', Heinrich remembers. 'She went to another farm were they were more 'cold blooded' to let her loose weight.'

About 6 daughters are milking on the family farm with 55 cows (180 head), all with an easy VG-score. 'Big, framy and strong cows with a very high production, a lot of width in the chest, a strong fundament and the ability of late maturing. They keep growing as they get older', describes Judith the typical traits of the family. 'Exactly the characteristics farmer are looking for these days.'

Special

Batke Outside Kora was born in 2002 and straight from the start a 'special one', Heinrich remembers. 'She was tall, strong with dairy type and extreme good feet and legs.' As a young calf Kora went to Heinrich's brother, Josef Batke. He raised her and as time gone by the brothers realized that Kora would be the 'Zahnestuck', as they say in Germany. After 50 years of breeding cows, Kora was the cow every farmers dreams to breed once in his career. 'We never thought she was going to be so special and influential.'

Kora wasn't a coincidence. With Outside x Lee x Leader x Raider x Jubilant x Astro Jet, she has an intriguing and well balanced sire stack. A high lifetime production and strong type are 'baked' into her pedigree. In combination with her EX-94 conformation and her impressive lifetime production it would be enough for eternal glory. But Kora made it even better. As genomics entered the Holstein industry in 2009, also Kora's offspring donated hair samples and they turn out to be sky high. This complete package makes the Kora's one of the most success full cow families in Germany.

Lots of offspring sold

After Kora became Europe's finest young cow, the Batke's could sell a lot of her offspring. About 12 bulls ended up in AI, for example Coral

'Kora won the European Championship, produced >100.000 kg of milk and currently has 6 family members in the European GTPI Top 50 calves'

Batke Outside Kora in the show ring
Kora was European 2yr. Old Champion in 2006

CCC Goldwyn Konny VG-87-DE 2yr.
Kora's Goldwyn dtr, left a great legacy

CCC Goldwyn Kira VG-87-NL 2yr.
Snowman from Goldwyn Konny

SS Spamkiller, a Red Carrier son of September Storm. Heinrich remembers. 'We got over 50 calves in total and there are more to come. Last January we flushed Kora again', Heinrich says enthusiastic. The harvest was 12 embryo's by Missouri, that resulted in 8 pregnancy's. Judith adds that there is still demand for her bulls. 'On private farms. Lately we sold a few, all over € 2000.' All together Kora even made more money for her breeders then the exiting bid they got after the European contest. 'But it was a risk off course, she could have died the next day after the offer, then you end up with nothing.' At first investors bought Kora's calves because of her great pedigree and show results. It was a bonus that her offspring turns out to have sky high genomic numbers and became popular bull mothers. Amazingly if you look at Kora's pedigree, notices Judith.

Surprisingly with high genomics

It is exactly what happened to the Canadian Cattle Club, a syndicate of ten German breeders. Chairman Heiko Andresen is still impressed with the story. 'We bought Goldwyn Konny at the age of 6 months for € 8000 at an auction. That day we heard that Goldwyn passed away.' It made the cow friends even more eager to buy Konny. 'We wanted to invest in show cows and I liked the cow family with great sires and Laurie Sheik three times in the pedigree. It was the best thinkable base for Goldwyn', Heiko analyses, mentioning that Konny doesn't look like a typical Goldwyn. 'She has much more width, strength and very good feed and legs.'

'We didn't think of genomics at all', Heiko continues. Luck was on their side. Konny genomics were very high and that resulted in a melt between show and genomics for the cow family. And -even more important- Konny transmits it to her offspring resulting in genomics up to 2600 GTPI and 160 RZG. After two lactations Konny is in a flushing program, but all eyes are focused on the next generations. Her Snowman daughter Karat for example, one of Heiko's favorites. 'She is 5 months in her second lactation and producing 55 kilo milk per day, easily. She still has meat on her bud.' Typical Outside, he says. 'And the big, wide

'Kora produced over 70 kg milk in her 3rd lactation, she can handle it'

head also.' Konny's daughters by Niagra, Snowman and AltaIota were sold for top prices at different auctions. For example her Snowmandaughter CCC Snowman Kate brought in € 15.200. A Numero Uno daughter at Hermann Meyer is one which really is able to transmit the high ones, her Commander daughter HMO Ko-bra with 4/15 GTPI +2583 and 12/14 RZG 162 sold for € 25.000 in the Schau der Besten Sale 2015 and she has another sister by Supershot in the European GTPI Top 25.

PP out of Kora?

Konny wasn't the only Goldwyn from Kora. A full sister to Konny, Kansas was bought by Georg Geuecke en Walter Weber as an in calf heifer, she was the first born daughter of Batke Outside Kora. Her Snowman son Snowflake and Bedford (s. Beacon) were the most used genomic bulls of their year. In the meantime Kansas' daughters fulfill their expectations: most of them score VG and are healthy, easy producing cows. And there was a full brother to Konny and Kansas: Gokart already has his second crop daughters: high in type and with a lot of fitness.

At the time Konny got her genomic test, Norbert Holtkamp decided to buy Snowman embryo's. 'I liked the cow family very much, the mother and the grandmother from Konny were really nice show cows.' It was an extra bonus that her at Wilder farm born -very easy milking- Snowman daughter had a high genomic score. Norbert is going to milk a few daughters from 'his' Wilder Kora the next months. One of them is a Saloon daughter and a full sister to Wilder Hira, the #1 GTPI Saloon daughter in the breed with 4/15 GTPI

'Konny's genomics resulted in a melt between show and genomics for the cow family'

+2470. Hira's Modena son with almost 2600 GTPI sold on the On-line Elite Bull Sale for € 27.000, this bull has 2 full sisters in the European Top 25 GTPI! And there is more to come in the Wilder barn. A Parker P daughter from Wilder Kora delivered recently several Powerball P offspring. 'In the hope to breed a homozygous polled one.'

Shottle daughter at DHV show

Although the high genomics offspring of Kora is in the picture, at the Batke farm it's quiet with AI interest. 'Our Kora's score between 120 and 136 RZG', Judith says. But she and her father Heinrich have the privilege to work with the special brood cow Kora. 'We enjoy her presence every day. Since the last time we flushed her, we are trying to get her in calf again', Judith says. Kora is not going to be in the showing anymore, although she's yet 100% 'showable' with her strong udder and feet and legs. All eyes are on her Shottle daughter, scored EX-91. 'She will go to the DHV show in June', Heinrich says. 'And we hope she will show as good as her mother.' Continuing. 'But that's almost impossible, Kora is a once in a lifetime cow.'

Generations Epic

Choose your favorite EPIC daughter

By a top of the list bull and hailing from the respected and time-tested Lead Mae cow family, it's no surprise that Generations Epic emerged as a popular genomic young sire in late 2011. Bred by Generations Inc. and Cormdale Genetics of Ontario, Canada, Epic was a crowd-pleasing bull for Generations customers with his high rankings for GLPI, GTPI, milk yield, fitness traits and type score and was used extensively early in his career as a mating sire. Select Sires purchased Generations right as Epic was adding daughter information to his proof and he has continued to sell well for the Ohio company. Now with almost 2000 daughters contributing to his production proof and almost 1000 daughters adding type data, Epic is holding on strong in the Top 50 TPI list at +2247, which ranks him at #31 on the US chart after the 4/15 run. He achieved Gold Medal Sire status in the US following the 12/14 proof run and also earned a Superior Type designation in Canada this year with 86% of his daughters scoring Good Plus or better.
