Duty station.—Dacca with extensive travelling throughout the country.

Duration of appointment.—12 months with possibility of extension.

Desirable starting date.—1st October, 1974.

Terms of appointment.—Salary and allowances are free from income tax. Although quoted in US dollars, they are payable partly in the currency of the home country and partly in the currency of the duty station.

Annual salary.—Between US $20,118 and US $24,251. (The initial salary of the appointee will be fixed in accordance with his/her qualifications and experience. Increments are granted annually).

Post adjustment.—(Class 4) (subject to change); between US $2,304 and US $2,648 (single rate); between US $3,456 and US $3,972 (dependant rate).

Assignment allowance.—US $1,100 (single rate); US $1,400 (dependant rate).

Family allowance (if eligible).—Spouse US $400 per annum; each child US $300 per annum.

Other benefits.—Installation allowance; education grant for children, repatriation grant upon termination of assignment, 30 working days' annual leave; home leave travel with eligible dependants every two years; and social security benefits.

Description of duties.—General—The expert will lead a team consisting of himself and two associate experts in assisting the Government of Bangladesh in formulating and implementing a development programme for rural public works by labour intensive methods. Each member of the team will have an official government counterpart whose expertise in this field is to be developed. The team will be attached to the Ministry of Local Government, Rural Development and Co-operatives, and will work in close co-operation with the Bangladesh Academy for Rural Development (BARD) and other affiliated regional institutes, who, under the Five-Year Development Plan have a programme for training, research and evaluation. The team will achieve its objectives by setting up and implementing with the assistance of BARD and the existing rural works programme staff, a comprehensive public works pilot project in a selected rural area. The pilot project will serve to identify and quantify the necessary inputs and methodologies to be applied, and will serve as training model for the national programme.

Specific.—(i) To develop the aptitudes of professional workers in consultations with ward, etc. committees to identify and design rural community infrastructure works.

(ii) To develop the expertise of professional workers in planning and time scheduling of construction projects within the rural works programme, and in evaluating cost and labour requirements of such projects.

(iii) To set up a system for promoting the formation and employment of work brigades recruited from small-scale farmers and landless labourers.

(iv) To identify the means whereby the productivity of such work brigades can be improved by the development of better methods and improved locally manufactured tools and equipment.

(v) To develop the expertise of professional workers in executing and controlling labour intensive construction projects and the subsequent maintenance of completed works.

(vi) To rationalise all construction and maintenance procedures by preparing and disseminating instruction sheets and training manuals covering all aspects of the planning, organisation and control of such work.

(vii) To recommend and assist in installing any desirable changes in the over-all organisation structure required for planning and implementation, and, in co-operation with BARD and other allied institutes, set up and participate in the necessary training programmes.

Duty station.—Internal communications in Bangladesh are not good and at certain times of the year extremely difficult. Although the duty station is shown as Dacca, there would be long periods of detachment from Dacca when the expert would be either residing in the vicinity of the pilot project (the location of which would be determined by the expert in consultation with the Government) or one or other training institutes. It should be understood that when residing near the pilot project, the amenities and living conditions may be substandard.

Qualifications required.—1. A university degree in civil engineering, or other equivalent professional qualifications.

2. At least ten years' experience as a practising civil engineer, with at least five years' practical experience in developing countries in the planning, resource scheduling, organisation and management of large labour forces undertaking public works such as irrigation, flood control, road works and rural community building.

3. Experience in the identification of training needs and the organisation and participation in training courses for civil engineering and construction management.

Languages.—A good working knowledge of English. Some knowledge of Bengali would be an advantage.
