MAJOR PEARSON WANTS AID

ROOMS NEEDED DURING GUARD ENCAMPMENT IN AUGUST.

Citizens Must Help Care for Visitors. Many Rooms Needed.

The following letter from Leroy Pearson, quartermaster general of Michigan, indicates that there will be a scarcity of accommodations for wives and other relatives of the guard officers, during the time of the National Guard encampment to be held at the Military reservation beginning August 4.

Board of Trade, Grayling, Michigan.

We are commencing to receive many inquiries regarding accommodations for officers' wives and families during the encampment.

It looks as though we would have many more than can be accommodated at the camp and we desire to locate accommodations at the private cottages and down-town residences, if possible.

I wondered if your local Board of Trade would undertake to compile a list of people in Grayling and at the lake who desire to rent a room or two, whether or not they desire to furnish meals, and any other information that would be of interest to an applicant.

If you could have this information compiled and sent to me, we will publish it to the officers throughout the State and that will enable them to communicate directly with the parties who have accommodations.

Leroy Pearson, Quartermaster General.

Will those homes that can provide rooms during this time please notify President of Board of Trade or any of the other officers.

COUNTY OFFICERS BANQUET.

The monthly banquet and get-together meeting of the county officers and supervisors was held at Hotel Cody Tuesday night and was well attended. Mine Host Cody and his good wife know well how to make things taste good to a crowd of banqueters and this time was no exception. Delicious chicken and biscuits with all the perquisites that go with a chicken dinner were served the guests.

County Treasurer Edwin Chalker was master of ceremonies. It is the custom of the members to discuss at these meetings problems that come up in every-day work, but because of the fact that one of the members, Hans Christenson, was about to resign and move to Flint, it was turned into a farewell meeting.

Several appropriate and interesting talks were given. Those who took part in the addresses were the following:

Marius Hanson, Lieutenant Emerson Bates, Editor O. P. Schumann, Prosecuting Attorney, Merle Nellist, Superintendent of the Poor, L. A. Gardner, Judge Geo. Sorenson, Postmaster Holger F. Peterson, Supervisor Wm. Feldhausen, Chairman of Road Commissioners, Ralph Hanna, Supervisor Oliver B. Scott, Township Treasurer Efner Matson, James Bowen and Supervisor Hans Christenson.

Well deserved tribute was paid to Mr. Christenson, as an official and as a worthy citizen. He will offer his resignation at once and with his wife will leave soon for Flint to make their future home.

Before the meeting closed a round of discussion pertaining to taxation and other pertinent subjects were had, and many new angles upon the subject were opened. Chairman Chalker promises to devote a whole evening on the discussion of this subject soon.

POLICE RECORD FOR JUNE.

Local police officers report the following arrests and convictions during June up to Wednesday of this week: Carl Nelson, Emil Giegling and Vernon Deetrow, all for fast driving; George Miller, Jr. for driving without lights. The arrests of the foregoing were made by Sheriff Jorgenson.

Night Marshal Al Cripps is credited for the arrest of Edgar Dyer for being drunk. He says that Dyer made some resistance and might have been charged with resisting an officer, but when he saw that Dyer was going to put up a fight he asked him whether he wanted it smooth or rough and Dyer answered "smooth."

When the latter was landed in jail he had the skin nearly all peeled off his right cheek bone. Cripps is getting a reputation of being an officer who cannot be trifled with. (Later)—Just as we are going to press this morning we learn that Conrad Howse of Maple Forest was arrested last night by Cripps for being "soused." Justice Freeland fined him $10.00 and $3.95 costs.

Earl Barber of Frederic is again in the clutches of the law. This time it is reported that the stole a Ford coupe in Frederic and was on his way south on the gravel road leading to Grayling when he accidentally went into a ditch and wrecked the car. He was arrested last fall for carrying a loaded revolver but was let off on probation for one year by Judge Smith.

Albert Lewis of Frederic was his bondsman and when the car episode occurred he requested that the young man be apprehended and cancelled his bonds. No formal complaint has been issued by the owner of the car, and it is believed that some settlement has been made by Barber. Earl just simply won't keep out of trouble. He seems to have had a lot of it during the past couple of years.

CHAUTAUQUA DATES JULY 17-18-19

It's time you took a vacation! Here's your chance to have a rest and some fun—3 days of vacation and entertainment—and it won't cost you a penny for railroad fare.

1st Day—Laudis Orchestra—A peppy, lively bunch of honest-to-goodness music makers who play everything from Opera to Jazz. They will hand you the kind of music you want to hear and it will be impressive.

U. G. Lacey, Lecturer—Takes the old town apart and puts it together again. He's a jim dandy story teller and packs a lot of brains under his straw lid.

2nd Day—Herrod Jubilee Singers—A colored troupe of entertainers who always hit the bulls-eye. They sing those old negro melodies and slave day songs and are happy-go-lucky, care-free musicians and comedians. This is something new and different.

Ash Davis, Cartoonist—Draws beautiful pictures with the speed of a rifle bullet. Makes funny cartoon—draws 'em upside down, sideways, and every which way and keeps you laughing.

3rd Day—Pair of Sixes—If you like big comedy dramas here is one for you. New York called it "The funniest farce in the world." It's certainly a world beater of a play. Bring the family and let's see how you can laugh the loudest.

Josh Lee—Is a story teller, mimic, impersonator, humorist and all around—funny man—besides being a top notch speaker. This afternoon will be one of the big programs that you must not miss. Hear them all at the Chautauqua tent.

M. E. SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC.

The annual Church and Sunday School picnic of the Michelson Memorial Church was held at the Military Reservation, Tuesday afternoon.

Autos left the church at 2:00 but a number of those present arrived later in the afternoon. The time was spent pleasantly in the officers mess hall, on the grounds, and along the lake, and several of the members of the different classes of the Sunday School indulged in the running races.

Prizes were awarded to the following: Elaine McDonald, Jean Peterson, Beginners Class, (girls); Jack Zeder, Carl McArthur, Primary, (girls); Eleanor Land, Lois Sorenson, Junior, (girls); Norma Buckholtz, Elizabeth Matson, Junior, (boys); Elmer Neal, Irving Neal, Intermediate, (girls); Ruth McNeal, Marion Jones, Intermediate, (boys); Marion Phelps, John Phelps.

A self-serve supper was enjoyed by 125 people in the Officers Mess hall at 6 o'clock, the children being served first and the parents and friends after. Ice cream cones and lemonade made the supper more enjoyable. All report a very nice time.

Chestnut Charley, Judge—"yourtobeshotadawn." Prisoner—"idon'tgetupthatearly."

Great Fireworks Exhibition Ready for State Fair

"India," a stupendous feature characterized by costly exhibitions of fireworks both day and night will be one of the big entertainment features of the $5,000,000 Michigan State Fair which will be held this year at Detroit from August 31 to September 9.

The daylight fireworks will be a special attraction for the benefit of the children who are at the fair in large numbers before nightfall.

Real elephants, ridden through the streets of the fair grounds by native Hindus, are part of this attraction.

The fireworks exhibition will be held each night for nine nights. Each show will last 45 minutes.

HALF A MILLION TO SEE BIG FAIR

$1,000,000 BEING SPENT TO CARE FOR GROWING ATTENDANCE

"Half a Million"—That is the slogan of the 1923 Michigan State Fair which will be held in Detroit August 31 to September 9.

"Our annual attendance has just about reached the 400,000 figure already," said Secretary Manager George W. Dickinson. "But with an additional $1,000,000 being spent this year for extensive improvements we expect fully half a million persons to visit the fair during the ten days."

"This is the nation's greatest exposition. It is a $5,000,000 show given by the state of Michigan for the education and entertainment of the people. It is the state's great playground as well as an agricultural school so there is every reason to believe that the hosts that come from near and far each year will become an army of half a million this fall."

"Already we have arranged for stupendous attractions and many more are being planned that will be a most pleasant surprise to the people of cities and farms."

"Our agricultural and live stock exhibits this year will surpass by far anything of the kind ever seen, everything seems to indicate. And our races and other sports, our great spectacular stunts and our lively midway where the carnival spirit reigns will be without parallel."

"Every man should try to spend at least a few days at this great exposition, bringing his family along to enjoy an educational vacation in the finest weather of the year."

ALL GOVERNORS INVITED TO FAIR

BIG RECEPTION PLANNED AT STATE EXPOSITION IN DETROIT

The governors of every state in the Union will be invited to be the guests of the state of Michigan at the Michigan state fair on Governors' Day, in Detroit, Friday, September 7, Secretary Manager Geo. W. Dickinson announces.

"Because of the general interest in state fairs throughout the nation, and because of the remarkable success of the Michigan State Fair, it is likely that our invitation to the governors will meet with general acceptance," Mr. Dickinson said.

"Here the governors will have an opportunity to observe the nation's most successful fair and to study the methods that have resulted in its growth," he added.

It is planned to have a great reception for the governors. First, they probably will be driven in automobiles throughout the downtown streets, the automobiles bearing banners of the state from which the governors come.

Then a great public reception will be held for the executives in the big new Coliseum in the state fair grounds, where about 18,000 persons will have an opportunity to see and hear the governors.

An automobile trip through Detroit, an inspection of the fair, luncheons and other affairs are being tentatively arranged.

During the governor's visit the downtown streets of Detroit will be profusely decorated with banners to give the whole city a gala appearance. Banners will parade the streets in buses and the metropolis will take on the atmosphere of a great holiday.

A plan that will be of great interest to farmers is the contemplated erection in the state fair grounds of a $200,000 pavilion for the exhibition of sheep and swine. The Michigan State Fair is progressing so rapidly that in a year from now still larger quarters for the exhibits will be imperative. It is the policy of the management to try to accommodate every possible exhibit, not only for the satisfaction of the individual farmer, but for the benefit of all other farmers who find valuable lessons in the observance of the neighbors' products.

MONTH VACATION EXPENSES PAID

THE U. S. GOVERNMENT BUILDS REAL MEN AT CAMP CUSTER.

Crawford County Entitled to send Two at Government Expense. Capt. E. N. Frakes, from Camp Custer was in the city Wednesday afternoon to confer with Melvin A. Bates about Camp Custer training camp for this summer.

Crawford county, says Captain Frakes, is entitled to send two young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years to Camp Custer for one month at the expense of the government, where they will be trained in military affairs. Such enrollment, he says, does not require enrollment in the federal reserves and, in no way ties any strings to the young men who attend the camp; it does not hold them for future military duty, as some may suppose.

The nation, to maintain its supremacy, needs real men, and that is the idea of the citizens training camp at Camp Custer each year. It means virtually a month of vacation at the expense of the government.

The government furnishes uniforms, shoes, shirts, leggings and other articles of clothing for the students free. These are to be returned at the end of the camp or may be purchased by the students at cost. The only things needed in camp that is not furnished by the government are underclothing and toilet articles.

The meals in camp are better than the average meals at home and better than are served in the regular army. Every precaution is taken to guard the students' health, and the sanitation of the camp.

The young men in this camp will not be submitted to swearing and vulgar language, and everything possible is done to care for the mental and moral training of these young men. They are warned against social diseases and their morals are carefully guarded.

There is a place reserved for two young men from Crawford county. Applications should be made immediately. Melvin A. Bates of Grayling has been appointed chairman of the county committee to whom applications may be made. Here is a real opportunity for two of our boys for something worth while and we hope that enrollments may be made promptly.

A Later Edition. Item from the Lush Herald—Owing to the lack of space and the rush of the Herald's prize contest, several births and deaths will be postponed until next week.

JUSTICE DISMISSES MICHELSON CASE.

Mrs. Olaf Michelson was very much provoked Tuesday night when Sheriff Peter F. Jorgenson informed her that she was driving her auto without head lights, and asked her to appear in court at 10:00 o'clock next morning to answer to the charge.

The lady resented the fact that while others had been reprimanded for such errors and cautioned to be careful in the future, the Sheriff arrested her forthwith upon the first provocation. She appeared in court at the appointed time and was accompanied by a large majority of the members of both local literary clubs, whom she had invited to be present.

Justice Frank Freeland presided, and read the information as contained in the complaint and warrant. In reply Mrs. Michelson asked permission to state her case, and said, that at the time she had been in Olsep's drug store and when she came out to turn on her head lights, that the streets were well-lighted and that there were very few cars in the street and that at no time did she endanger herself or others. Also that she was not a law breaker, and asked why she was not extended the same courtesies as were given others and, instead of arrest, be reprimanded.

She told the Sheriff, who was present in court, that just because she was a woman he jumped upon her and asked him why he did not try to arrest some of the bootleggers around town instead of trying to bulldoze a woman.

The Sheriff replied that she had appeared upon the streets again that evening without having the lights of her car burning. This the defendant denied and stated that she had driven directly to her home at the lake following the first episode.

When asked what time it was that the offense took place the Sheriff replied "8:30 o'clock."

Justice Freeland dismissed the case and asked the defendant to be careful in the future. The law provides that autos must have lights burning while traveling upon the public streets within one hour after sundown. It happened that the sun set at 7:40 p. m. that night so that in fact Mrs. Michelson did not violate the law for it was still ten minutes before the hour was up.

FIRST SPEECH ON WESTERN TOUR

Thousands Hear Executive in St. Louis—Urges Obedience to Law—Many Short Stops Made.

St. Louis, Mo.,—In the face of the overwhelming verdict of 1920, the issue of the League of Nations is as dead as slavery. It is not the part of wisdom and common sense to let it rest in the deep grave to which it has been consigned, and turn our thoughts to living things?

Urging the entry of the United States to the world court in the first prepared address of his western trip, the president said that to bring about the end he desired he would gladly wipe out factional difference, and proposed a reconstruction of the machinery of the international tribunal.

The president devoted virtually all of his address to the world court issue, but he also reviewed briefly what had been done by his administration to get the country back on the right track in its domestic affairs.

Trapping of Felon Ends Most Stubborn Fight in History of Marquette. Marquette, Mich.—George Natchoss, fugitive fier from Marquette branch prison, was captured Sunday, after a desperate fight in a swamp near Perkins, between Maple Ridge and Escanaba.

His body was riddled with the bullets of the attacking posse. He died shortly after being taken to the Escanaba hospital. It was found 14 bullets had hit him.

The capture ended one of the most stubborn battles for liberty in the history of the Marquette prison. It lasted four days. After Natchoss had shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Frank Curran and wounded Lieutenant J. C. Cleghorn, orders were issued to shoot the desperado at sight.

Last Sunday the posse of picked rifle men, augmented by every available farmer of the district, surrounded the swamp where Natchoss was known to be hiding. They were led by Lieut. Cleghorn, whose injuries proved to be only slight, his life having been saved by a belt buckle deflecting the bullet.

Natchoss and a fellow prisoner, George Blooch, walked away from the prison a week ago Friday. Knowing the highways would be watched carefully they preferred to bury themselves in the bush, taking a chance of being able to slip through the guards on foot.

SAMMY SAUSAGE'S TRICK

"Grunt, grunt," said Sammy Sausage to himself, "I've thought of a new trick."

"Let's hear it," said Brother Bacon. "Squeal, squeal, let's hear it."

"Grunt, grunt—I would like to hear about the new trick," said Grandfather Porky. "Tell your grandfather what the new trick is. Is it some way of getting under the fence and wandering where there is no food? Is it a trick of that sort?"

"No, Grandfather," said Sammy Sausage. "But I cannot tell you my trick."

"Grunt, grunt," said Grandfather Porky. "Why can't you tell me? I suppose it has something to do with food and so you are keeping the secret all to yourself."

"Was there ever a pig who was not greedy?" he asked Sammy Sausage as he twisted his tail.

"Never," said Grandfather Porky. "And let me never live to see the day when a pig is found to be generous."

"I'd rather be thought sweet and clean than be thought generous."

"You needn't worry," said Sammy Sausage. "You will never be thought any of those things. You will have those wishes granted you. In fact they have been granted to you long before you made them."

"But you're not telling us your trick," said Brother Bacon.

"I said it to myself," said Sammy Sausage.

"Said what to yourself?" asked Grandfather Porky.

"You Won't Be Told."

"I said to myself that I'd thought of a new trick," said Sammy.

"But I heard you say it," said Brother Bacon.

"I know you did," said Sammy Sausage. "And I am sorry about that."

"I didn't mean either of you to hear me. I didn't mean any one to hear me. I didn't intend to share so much as my secret with anyone."

"Squeal, squeal," said Brother Bacon, "how the pig nature will come out. It's splendid to see it!"

"Splendid," said Grandfather Porky. "But I'd like to know the trick if he didn't mean us to hear him when he was squealing happily to himself—it must be a very nice greedy secret that he has."

"It certainly must be," he repeated. "Yes, that's so," said Brother Bacon.

Sammy Sausage grinned and squealed delightedly. "But you won't be told," he grunted.

"Oh, just tell me," said Grandfather Porky. "I promise I won't tell a single creature."

"Oh, just tell me," said Brother Bacon. "I promise I'll not tell any one."

"Of course neither of you would tell any one else for you wouldn't share so much as a secret," said Sammy Sausage.

"What did I tell you?" exclaimed Grandfather Porky. "I knew it was a greedy secret."

"Oh, just tell me," said Brother Bacon.

"Just tell me," urged Grandfather Porky.

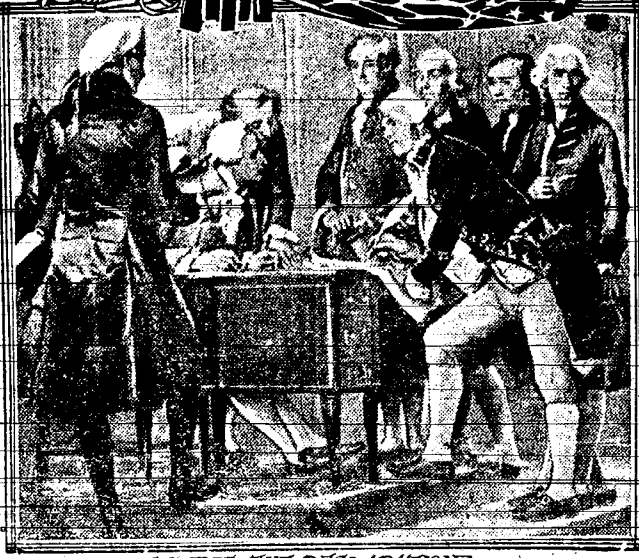

But Sammy would tell neither of them. In a little while the farmer came along with the food for the pigs. It was then that Sammy rushed as hard as ever he could and as he reached the feeding trough just a second ahead of the others he put both feet in it as well as his snout so that others would not get so much to eat and so he could have more room. This was the trick he had thought of, but the other pigs soon put a stop to this idea by all trying the same thing, and finally having to go

Jefferson and Monticello

Jefferson is the first American who has consulted the fine arts to know how he should shelter himself from the weather.—Marquis de Chastellux.

THE THOMAS JEFFERSON Memorial Foundation is raising a million dollars by popular subscription to acquire Monticello and maintain it as a national memorial to the man who signed the Declaration of Independence on paper. The difficulties that have heretofore prevented the acquisition of Jefferson's Virginia home as a permanent national monument have been overcome. Jefferson M. Levy, present owner of Monticello, whose family has held title to the property since his uncle, Commodore Philip P. Levy of the United States navy, bought it in 1829, seven years after Jefferson's death, has sold the property to the Memorial Foundation of the author of the Declaration of Independence and was finally to part with Monticello. Patriotic business men have financed the purchase of the property and the Memorial Foundation.

SIGNING THE DECLARATION

Monticello is peculiarly fitted to be a Jefferson shrine because he himself planned and built the mansion. Its location is about three miles from Charlottesville, the seat of the University of Virginia, which Jefferson founded. An acreage site from the spot which Jefferson selected as the site of his home stretch great reaches of some of the most beautiful country in the United States.

The site of Jefferson's birthplace, Shadwell, is only a short distance away. He himself selected the site for his mountain home, drew the designs and plans for the house, selected the stone and timber used in the structure, looked after the construction of the brick and he built made by his own servants, devised advanced and ingenious contrivances for comfort and convenience, designed the decoration of the interior and personally selected the furnishings, and ornaments, and not only planned but gave personal supervision to the laying out of the various buildings on the estate, the gardens, the walks and the roadways. Work was begun on the house in 1770.

When Shadwell was destroyed by fire in 1770, Monticello was far enough completed for the family to move in. Two years later he brought his bride, Martha Wayles Skelton, there, although a greater part of the house was still unfinished. It stood, throughout his life. Monticello continued in minor ways, as his biographer Raynor says, it, "in a state of almost constant edification and re-edification. In 1803, there were still rooms to be plastered. In 1808 the main house itself might be said to be completed, but long after that he experimented with garden temples and other smaller buildings.

Though architecture was only a hobby with Jefferson, today he is acclaimed a great architect. Anyway Monticello is not the only example of his work; he is responsible for the structure of several other plantation houses in the neighborhood and took great delight during his last years in planning the buildings of the University of Virginia and overseeing their construction.

The exterior of Monticello—"Little White House"—is in the Doric order of architecture. The interior is in the Federal style. Aesthetically, the full height of the house, with stone pillars and steps projects 25 feet. It is a high, pillared and balustraded structure, mounted by a dome, standing in the midst of a lawn overlooking river, woodland and fertile valley, with a view of mountains to the west and of

Eagle Nests Endure

Describing the hardy eagles which make their nests on the desolate islands off South Carolina, Herbert Ravenel says in Harper's: "There is something characteristic of the great bird itself and something attractive to the mind, in the performance of the eagle's home. Most birds' nests are ephemeral things. After a few weeks or months they are gone, and not only gone but forgotten. The eagle's home is like an ancestral mansion. It stands year after year, enduring for a longer time than many a man lives, cared for and kept in repair by the winged architects who build it and who seem to have a genuine affection for it. On a plantation near the coast there is a nest in a pine 112 feet above the ground. For more than 50 years the same pair of eagles have inhabited this nest, and it is possible that they will still be living there when houses that now are building today, out of the kind of lumber with which one must now be content, have fallen into ruin."

Fearful to Contemplate. According to a contemporary Zulu and camel became panic-stricken at the sight of a white man. Imagine what will happen to the poor beast if ever they get a noseful of the white women who immerse themselves in that three-gallon-for-a-dollar perfume that is so much in vogue for street riding and the movies.—Buffalo Express.

Many letters similar to this have been published testifying to the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They are sincere expressions from women who describe as best they can their feelings before and after taking this well-known medicine. Many times they state in their letters their willingness to answer women who write them. It is an offer dictated by gratitude and a desire to help others.

LIQUOR SHIPS SEIZURE LOOMS

MEDICINAL CLAIMS ONLY HAVE BLOCKED OUTRIGHT CONFISCATION.

MINISTER BALDWIN UPHOLDS U.S.

British Law Does Not Tolerate Even Temporary Presence of Unlawful Liquor.

Washington—If foreign ships should persist in bringing liquor for beverage purposes on the high seas within American territorial waters they will raise the question of confiscation of the vessels as well as the liquor, administration officials intimated Monday.

So far, says the prohibition unit, the treasury department "has not insisted upon the seizure of the foreign ships that have brought liquors into American territorial waters for two principal reasons." These reasons are:

"1. The question involved concerning the liquors is whether they may, as claimed by the foreign vessels, be used for medicinal purposes, and they are brought into our waters with an avowed purpose to test that question legally, and for this purpose the presence of the subject matter of dispute only, to wit, the liquors, is required.

"2. For the reasons of delicacy involved, it being the purpose of the department to proceed in as unobtrusive manner as is consistent with a proper enforcement of the law and thus avoid complications that might possibly be of a serious nature."

As a result of the test the foreign ship lines will learn how much liquor they may bring across the three-mile limit for medicinal purposes. Then if they bring in liquor in excess of the amount for medicinal purposes their ships will be liable to confiscation in addition to the contraband liquor.

Although the public outcry in England against American interference with ship liquor supplies is loud and indignant, any protest or retaliation by the British government would occasion great surprise here, particularly in view of Prime Minister Baldwin's statement in the house of commons that British official seals confer no immunity upon any article brought by a British ship within American territorial waters and the disclosure that the British government itself does not tolerate even the temporary presence of liquor of an unlawful status within British territorial waters.

Administration officials called attention to this case, which was decided on June 8, to demonstrate that the United States deals with liquor unlawfully brought within territorial waters no more severely than does the British government.

MANY ARE INJURED IN WRECKS

Seven Dead in "L" Plunge—Interurban Jump Track.

New York—Seven persons were killed and 83 were injured Monday when a two-car train plunged from the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit elevated structure at Fifth and Flatbush avenues in Brooklyn and were smashed to matchwood.

Edwin Parcell, motorman, was arrested on a charge of homicide. Firemen tossed aside their helmets and rubber garments and plunged into the wreckage, tearing at the timbers with their hands, when axes and crowbars could not be used without endangering the injured.

As the cars crashed to the street, they carried with them a mass of high-tension electric wires and these, splitting sheets of blue flame, ignited the shattered wreckage of the antique wooden cars.

Kalamazoo—Walter Green, of Kalamazoo, motorman of the interurban car which Monday jumped the Michigan United railway tracks on a curve at Parma and crashed into the fire and police building 200 feet away is battling bravely for his life in the Jackson city hospital. He suffered a fractured skull, and local physicians fear he has little chance for recovery.

The car, carrying 30 passengers, was running from Kalamazoo to Detroit, via Jackson, and was behind schedule, it is said. Plunging across the street, and swaying from side to side, it periled the lives of several firemen who were sitting about the doorway of their station. They leaped to safety a moment before the car hit the building, wrecking the front and scattering the brick and stone in all directions.

Postman Walks Many Miles. Baltimore—To the moon! That, after a way of figuring, is the record of David O. Walsh, Baltimore postman, champion long distance walker of the local postoffice. But the veteran letter carrier, who for 35 years has collected mail from boxes along the city streets, never may return. On May 25, his sixty-fifth birthday, he faced retirement. Now he is 29,750 miles on his return trip. Walsh is credited with walking 287,750 miles during his service at the Baltimore postoffice.

AGRICULTURAL YEAR BOOK AND BULLETINS FREE.

Congressman Roy O. Woodruff of this district, has just been allotted his quota of Agricultural Year Books for 1922, and wishing to place these interesting and valuable publications of the Department of Agriculture at the disposal of as many constituents throughout the District as possible, advises that he will forward copies without charge to all who will write him at Room 385 House Office Building, Washington, D. C. until the supply which has been made available to him is exhausted.

This edition of the Year book contains the Annual Report of the Secretary of Agriculture, giving a general outline of the work of the Department during the past year, the progress that has been made in dealing with difficulties which the Department is assisting the farmer to overcome, a statement of conditions in the various lines of agricultural activity and information relative to appropriations and expenditures of the Department. Included in this report is also a list of Farmers' Bulletins, Department Bulletins and Department Circulars published during the last fiscal year.

In chapters dealing with the history, the present situation and the future outlook, the reader will find presented in a somewhat detailed manner the economic situation regarding five of our leading agricultural products, namely: hogs, dairy, tobacco, small grains other than wheat, and forestry. The statistical part of the year book comprises more than 500 pages and submits figures on the production, market prices, and freight rates of the leading agricultural commodities throughout the country.

Profusely illustrated, accurate in its facts and figures, and attractively bound, this volume is worthy a place in the finest library. It is not only a faithful review of conditions in the field of agriculture to date, but it attempts to foretell as well as can be done what may be expected in the future, in the light of past experience.

Practically every problem that confronts the farmer is covered in this volume, besides scores that are of interest and value to householders generally among the latter we have selected a few, and suggest that anyone interested should write Congressman Woodruff to send them. They are as follows:

- 132. Nutritive Value of Food.
- 256. Preparation of Vegetables for the Table.
- 375. Care of Food in the Home.
- 391. Economical Use of Meat in the Home.
- 511. Farm Bookkeeping.
- 609. Bird Houses and How to Build Them.
- 717. Food for Young Children.
- 771. Homemade Fireless Cookers and Their Use.

MOUNT ETNA IN ERUPTION

FIVE TOWNS WIPED OUT BY ADVANCING WALL OF FLAMING LAVA

THIRTY THOUSAND HOMELESS

Mount Vesuvius is Showing Signs of Life—Roads Blocked by Fleeing Populace.

Catania, Sicily—Furling thousands of tons of flaming lava high into the sky from its main crater, while five new craters are belching molten destruction with reports like those of a thousand cannons, Mount Etna is in eruption and already has destroyed five villages and threatens a score of others.

A great wall of molten lava, 30 to 40 feet in height, slid over the spot where the little town of Sanguo-Glossa had stood, and advanced in a flaming line, 300 yards across, upon neighboring hamlets. The village of Boscogate disappeared. Three entire townships, Ferrò, Picciolo and Pallamalata have disappeared.

Thirty thousand persons have been made homeless in the stricken area, it was officially estimated.

Inhabitants of the threatened towns warned for days by rumblings and mutterings of the great mountain-volcano, fled to safety in time; no casualties have been reported, but roads are clogged with rickshaws and peasants and their families staggering along beneath loads of household belongings, snatched from in front of the fiery masses that inundated their homes.

At each new demonstration of the awakening giantess, new fights are begun by the terrified Sicilians. The lava pours down the mountain sides and over the surrounding country at considerable speed.

A line of railroad has gone under; the station at Castiglione burst into flames and then was buried in lava.

As in the days of old Pompeii the terror of the volcano has communicated itself to the countryside for miles around. Cattle and sheep are being driven in great herds from the direction of Etna.

The populace fills the street of nearby towns, even of those at a safe distance. No work is being done.

The eruption began at an early hour last Sunday morning with a terrific explosion as though the end of the world had come. The whole top of Etna appeared to have blown off.

Home Mount Vesuvius, on the edge of the bay of Naples, is increasing in activity, according to a report here. The volume of smoke has been increasing steadily, the report stated. Residents in the vicinity are alarmed. Mount Etna's activities are believed responsible for the new signs of life from Vesuvius.

AUTOMOBILE RACER IS KILLED

Three Drivers and Two Spectators Injured at Fair Grounds.

Grand Rapids—One driver of a racing car was killed and three pilots and two spectators were injured in the 100-mile automobile race at the West Michigan State Fair grounds at Comstock Park, last Sunday.

Bernard J. "Buddy" McCle, 21 years old, of Detroit, who had participated in 25 races in Michigan, was buried in his death in a collision of machines. Byron Dalley, 30, Jackson; Glenn Howard, Indianapolis, and Aura Smith, 23, Bay City, all pilots, were hurt, and Roy Rich 23, and Guy R. Cole, 17, spectators, were seriously injured.

While speeding down the track directly opposite the grand stand on the thirty-ninth lap, Dalley's car blew a tire. He wheeled to the inside of the track and was wiping his goggles when McCle's car bore down through the cloud of dust and locked wheels with Dalley's speedster.

USE PLANES TO SURVEY ALASKA

Data Will Be Obtained That Would Take Weeks of Labor.

Washington—An extensive survey of Alaskan territory from the air, with a view to ascertaining data on airports, air bases, and general coast line information of value to aviation projects, will be made this summer by two Navy DT seaplanes.

It is expected that information of value to conservation and development projects will be obtained in this manner from the air in territory and over terrain that is otherwise almost inaccessible.

In addition to the survey that will be made in connection with airport and landing field facilities, photographic maps will be made and information will be gathered which will be of great value to the coast and geodetic survey and the Alaskan coal commission.

It is also planned to make a survey of the Alaskan oil fields and of the seal herds on the Alaskan coast and in the surrounding waters.

LIMESTONE

Buck Up.
Fight 'Em to a Finish.—(A chapter in the "FARMER" and "The Farmer")
Man No Longer Helpless.

Man has not finished his mastery of what used to distress him. He has just begun. He will discover means of masterful control over more diseases, economic disadvantages and crop pests than he has already mastered. He is not through. He has only fairly begun.

Much Room For Improvement.
The farmer of the future will show about as much improvement in training and methods over the farmer of today as the modern trained physician shows over the ignorant quack.

Diseases of Baby Cattle.
Losses could be cut to almost nothing if methods discussed in these notes, recently, were used, and they kept away.

Fruit Pests.
Pests that cause wormy and disfigured fruit can all be controlled by the various sprays applied at the time indicated in spray charts that I have offered to everyone in the county.

Leaf Hoppers.
The leaf hopper on potatoes is lately a worse pest than the potato bug. They are best controlled by spraying with Black Leaf 40, a tobacco preparation obtained at drug stores. Method of diluting is printed on the package.

Three Birds With One Stone.
While traveling over the field straying, better kill three birds with one stone. Into the spray mixture put Paris Green or Arsenate of Lead for bugs; Black Leaf 40 for leaf hopper; Bordeaux Mixture for blight.

Worms on Currants and Gooseberries.
After raising these choice fruits why let them be snatched away from you by worms. Knock 'em out with hellebore, dusted on when bushes are damp with dew.

Striped Cucumber Beetle.
This beetle is a small, black and yellow striped beetle that feeds on leaves of cucumber, cantaloupe, and other vines of like nature, attacking them as they come up and continuing to feed them for weeks.

Onion Maggot.
Make poison-bait spray of one-fifth ounce Sodium Arsenate dissolved in one gallon boiling water to which add one pint cheap molasses. Apply in large quantities to the soil in old broom into a pall of the spray and flit the water on onion tops and grass as operator walks along. Can be applied by a wide strip on each side across this way. Better go over onion patch lengthwise and then crosswise. During fair weather once a week is enough. If washed off by rain, must be done over again. The spray attracts and kills flies that lay eggs from which come onion maggots. Necessary to spray grass, weeds and bushes near onion patch.

Scours in Calves.
Usually result of carelessness in feeding. Dirty pails, irregular feeding, and over-feeding often mean scouring troubles and calf losses. A calf with bad case of scours generally becomes a stunted calf; with remaining to the farmer. Too many calves die from this scour.

Calf Pails should be scalded daily and kept as clean as the milk pails. If scouring starts, reduce feed to one-half. Give half-pint castor oil in a little milk. If this is not effective, mix one ounce of Burdock substrate, one-half ounce of Epsom salt, and three ounces of molasses and give a spoonful mixture in every 24 hours. Give one-half ounce of Epsom salt in a glass of water.

boiled water. Keep in amber-colored bottle.
Of this mixture add one teaspoonful to each pint skim milk fed to calf that shows signs of scours.
Better get one of these remedies ready, label it, with how much to give written on label, and put where you can find it, and where children will not get it, and where it will not be mistaken for something else.
Do it now, the season for calf scours is here. Then you will not need to have a fit when you want the remedy.

Worms in Hogs.
A hog with big appetite and thrifless condition, with dry, dead hair, is good indicator of presence of worms.
Should See Them.
At the Agricultural College you can see long bottles full of these worms from three to six inches long. If you ever saw them you would be interested in riding your pigs of them.

To Expel Worms in a 100 pound Pig.
Santonin—5 grains.
Calomel—2 grains.
Aresanut—2 grains.
Sodium Bicarbonate—1 dram.
Keep hog off feed 12 hours, then give dose in slop of middlings.
Evening of same day give a mash of wheat bran. This flushes bowels. Gather and burn worms.

Navel Infection of Calves and Colts.
Caused by a germ. Animal usually very unthrifty; generally can't be cured.
Germs enter raw navel of new born animal. Let calves and colts be born in stables made especially clean by cleaning, scraping, scrubbing, disinfecting and while washing; or, in a pasture.

Bunk.
Don't try to quiet your conscience by saying: "Too much trouble. Good stock is born without all this fuss."
Yes, and a lot of good stock dies because of lack of little intelligent attention in the artificial surroundings under which man now keeps stock. Those who blunder must suffer.

We are taxed more by our ignorance than we are by the government. This subject of Science and the Farmer will be treated further, soon.

WHAT LEGION POSTS CAN DO

Essay Contests, Participated in by Children, Bring Out Many Good Suggestions.

Carrying out a national program of activities in community affairs, American Legion posts in many localities are holding essay contests among school children. The post at Mouson, Maine, recently held a contest among children of the seventh and eighth grades on the subject, "What the American Legion Can Do to Better Our Town." The winning essay, written by Miss Anna Zimmerman, contains suggestions which Legion officials believe worthy of adoption by other posts.

The essay, in part, follows: "The erection of a soldiers' monument would keep alive in the minds of the small boys' admiration of bravery and patriotism. This would also make the town look better and could show other towns that we had contributed our share towards defeating the Kaiser."

"Clean streets is another item of great importance. The children could be encouraged by the Legion to keep the streets and sidewalks free from all kinds of waste matter."

"Another thing of importance is a public playground where children of all ages could go and play any time that they wish to. This playground would require a supervisor to keep the grounds in good condition and to introduce proper play. This would keep the children off the streets and playgrounds there would be less chance for accidents."

"A school fund would be a very good thing for the town to have. We have a very fine school but there is no good place to play outdoors, while if they had a fund that would give them a playground at least one night a week."

"Another suggestion would be to have a 'War' or 'Veterans' day in the town. This would give the children a chance to see the old soldiers and hear them tell of their experiences in the war."

"Also, it would be a good idea to have a 'Soldiers' Hall' which would add to the town a great deal as there is no hall to have entertainments and socials given by the town unless they use the hall owned by private parties."

"The Legion has helped open up the quarries that are now out of work which would draw young men as well as men with families to come here and live."

"They could also help stimulate Americanism among the people of Mouson by holding a parade on the town square."

LEGION EXTENDS GLAD HAND

Placing in Federal Position Member of Canadian Body One Example of Comradeship.

The band of the American Legion is always extended in fellowship to veterans of the allied armies. In many cases this is done in daily association and in comradeship and in others, in actual aid and financial assistance for the former comrades at arms.

T. T. Watson, a member of the 10th War Veterans' Association of Canada, is a firm believer in the fraternal ties of the Legion and he has been active in the effort to bring the Legion into the organization of the Canadian veterans. This organization is now being organized in the city of Toronto, Ontario, Canada. Watson is a member of the 10th War Veterans' Association of the United States and Canada. Watson writes: "I started out in the Oregon valley and came to the U. S. last winter."

"Went into the American Legion and asked what was the chance for a member of the G. W. Y. A. to get a job. They said the chance was fine and until they found me a job there was bed and board and an advance in money. Instead of 24 hours they placed me in a good U. S. federal job, where I still am and likely to remain."

"I write this to show that the American Legion has the friendliest feeling for all Canadian returned men. Their motto is 'Every returned man a job, and they seem to be carrying it into effect.'"

Watson made his application to the Tacoma (Wash.) post of the Legion which placed him at work in a local hospital.

On Equal Terms

A rookie who had been assigned to the cavalry much against his will approached the sergeant and remonstrated.

"Say," he objected, "I never rode a horse in my life."

"Oh, that's all right," countered the sergeant, easily. "We've got a horse that's never been ridden in his life. We'll start you off together."—American Legion Weekly.

Juvenile Scalper

Teacher: "I thought I told you to sit in the seat next to Mary Jones." Willie Wisecracker: "Yes, ma'am, ye did, but I sold it to Tommy Smith for a nickel."—American Legion Weekly.

For Better Citizenship

All public school children of Ohio must receive a physical examination and take not less than 100 minutes per week of physical training, according to a bill recently enacted into legislation by the Ohio legislature. The bill was sponsored by the American Legion of that state which has adopted a platform of better education in the public schools. The law will make possible the detection and remedying of many physical defects in the school children and the development of normal physique and mental alertness.

Kipling's Recessional

Kipling's poem, "The Recessional," now to be found in several church hymnals, that of the Church of England in Canada, for instance, became at once popular and is today famous because it is true poetry, because its theme is important, its sentiments lofty, its construction original, strong and in parts even sublime, and its metre sonorous and impressive. It teaches a great truth—the dependence of the success of human efforts and the stability of human institutions upon divine laws; and the poet exhorts the British people not to lose sight of this great truth. It really is a prayer, for does not the poet several times repeat: "Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet."—Montreal Family Herald.

Show Hats of Varied Types;

Lace Adorns Alluring Gowns

A LOT of things happen along to take the joy out of life, but a lot of other things have happened this season to add joy to it. Among these happenings are the new hats shown for summer wear. They are joyous and lovely affairs calculated to make one forget a bitter moment or a bad quarter hour.

Every woman loves, and with good reason, a wide-brimmed, gracious model, like the fine millan shown at the top of the group. It has a demure, demure of black velvet about the under brim and a delightful little frill, of the val lace, at the brim decorated with silk embroidery in three high colors.

As long as women have patriotic instincts they will love good laces and do them honor by choosing them for their most alluring dresses. And if one's needs call for only one formal gown, it is the part of wisdom to choose lace for it, or lace in combination with another fabric of equal class. One of those satisfying gowns in which lace and crepe de chine set one another off, is presented here.

Wide lace flouncing makes a part of the fabric displays, everywhere and it is shown in many colors. In the gown edge. A band of velvet about the perimeter makes a background for two gorgeous puppets and, a little distance from the neck, a crepe de chine, and hanging straight to the ankles. It also forms a sturdy support for the crepe de chine. The bonnet-like shape at the top makes use of crepe de chine for its slip-over bodice of the crepe de chine. This drapery is in the effect of a plain brim covering. Strands of beaded, matching it in color, are braided and lie about the brim, ending in a long scarf at the right side, where three blossoms are posed. The pretty poke shape, at the right, covers the back of the head.

Below at the left, a tall hat of light-colored silk is trimmed with bands and ornaments of plaited, falls ribbon. The spirited sports hat, that finishes the group, has a flexible crown made of blue folds of white satin and a plain brim tulips at the side. Imagine this gown in sand color or in Cleopatra blue, in cocoa or gray with hose and slippers to match; in any case you will be undecided as to which is the handsomest.

Tiered Effects Pleasing.
The tiered treatment adapts itself particularly well to youthful evening gowns. Many of the models seen were in odd shades of blue and many were of old-fashioned honey-colored taffeta.

Prints in Vogue.
Never have prints been more in vogue. A rough surfaced silk which has a pattern stenciled in gold and colors has countless possibilities both for frocks and decorative purposes.

Perfume Lamps.
No boudoir is complete these days without its perfume burner, a combination of electric lamp and incense burner. They come in the most fascinating shapes and colors and a variety of sizes.

Apron Made in Silks.
The apron mode appears very prominently on the silk street and afternoon dress. These are very often of soft black but crepe edged with cream-colored lace. Usually these aprons are arranged in graduated form.

Youngstown Contractor Gains 21 Pounds Taking Tanlac and Now Eats Anything.

The wonderful powers of Tanlac are again very forcefully demonstrated. This time in the case of Dan Keegan, prominent contractor, 873 Ayers St., Youngstown, Ohio. He says: "I was going as far as my friends scarcely recognized me and I hardly expected to live, but in just two months' time after I started on Tanlac I picked up twenty-one pounds and felt as well as I had in ten years. For a long time I had to live on milk and eggs, was little more than a walking skeleton and had a persistent cough that was pulling me to pieces."

"Well, Tanlac would be cheap at five dollars a bottle. I can eat any old thing now without trouble afterwards, and if I'm short a hand I can pitch in and do a day's work with any of my men and never feel the worse for it. I can recommend Tanlac to the limit."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Rather Risky.

A movie queen approached the manager with a momentous question. He was not unprepared for it.

"Don't you think I can make just as good pictures if I marry?"

The big boss deliberated and made measured reply: "It's risky, girlie."

"Why so?"

"Well, you won't get so much help. As things stand, the author, the director, the camera operator, the press agent and the property man are in love with you."—Los Angeles Times.

You Can Buy More Weight— But You Won't Find a Better Car

In the Studebaker Big-Six you get all the performance, all the comfort, and all the dependability that any car can give—at a price that smaller producers cannot even approach.

The Big-Six Touring is a seven-passenger car with a seven-passenger motor and seven-passenger dimensions throughout. It distinctly is not a seven-passenger body mounted on a five-passenger chassis.

The Big-Six will take the steepest hills on high. It will maintain a high rate of speed over long stretches hour after hour. No car provides more restful riding—none is easier to operate. None is freer from frequent repairs.

Equipment is complete, even to an extra wheel with tire, tube and tire cover.

Its low price is due to large volume and to the fact that Studebaker overhead is shared by three models—all sixes. Then, too, only one manufacturer's profit is included in the Big-Six price because all vital parts are manufactured in Studebaker plants.

If you spend more than the Big-Six price you can buy more weight and bulkiness and pay more for overhead and operation, but you will not get a better automobile.

Studebaker has been building quality vehicles for 71 years.
