Grosse Pointe's own Michael J. Connolly, the 33 year old whiz kid who was appointed general counsel for the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission by President Reagan last year, has reportedly resigned from the post under pressure from the White House.

The former General Motors employe who lives on Kensington Road in the Park has been criticized for his allegedly pro-employer stance on the commission and a propensity for dropping cases against large firms. Connolly could not be reached for comment, but the Wall Street Journal reported he is headed back to our town to resume private law practice next month. Connolly held the EEOC post for nine months.

The News takes this opportunity to apologize to Farms Councilman Joe Fromm for neglecting to publicize the fact that water rates in his city have taken a recent dip, unlike the rest of the Pointes. As of July 1, Farms residents experienced a five percent drop in their water rates as a result of a corresponding drop in sewage flow rates from Detroit. The old rate was $14.10 per 1,000 cubic feet. The new rate (ta daaa!) is $13.40 per 1,000. Farms comptroller Carol Lock said that if the water dispute with Detroit hadn't been solved, Farms residents would have seen a 10 percent increase in their rates. He also advises enjoying the lower rates while you can. They'll probably go up in a year. At least now we know why the lawns are always greener in the Farms.

A tip of the hat and pat on the back to Shores residents Leroy and Joyce Strey this week. Seems the Streys were visiting Niagara Falls recently when they found a wallet in their hotel parking lot. Inside were credit cards, $95 and the name of David Almeida, of New Bedford, Mass. Finding the wallet was the easy part. Finding David proved more difficult. Hotel officials were no help since Almeida had already checked out. The local police offered nothing but advice. Telephone calls to New Bedford were no good since David lived with his father and had no listing under his name. Many phone calls later, the Streys managed to track David down and found him at home. Strey paid for the postage, wrote a check for the $95 and wrote a nice letter on top of it all. Almeida was so impressed, he called the News and asked us to thank Leroy and Joyce. Consider it done, David.

Members of the Macomb Metro Police Softball Team are walking tall this week after capturing the World Classic Police Softball Tournament in Detroit last weekend. This is the third, and biggest, tourney win for the boys in blue this summer, according to team member and Farms Patrolman Mark Brecht. The Macomb squad squeaked out a dramatic 25-24 win over the Detroit team in the finals. Believe it or not, first prize was a brand new AMC Eagle that with total options could reach $14,000 in value. The team (all amateurs) will probably auction it off and use the proceeds to pay their team travel expenses next year. The rest of the prizes were more in keeping with police work including a $6,000 stress evaluator and training for two officers for the runner up. Third place prizes were Second Chance bullet proof vests for all team members and the fourth place team received Kel-Lite police flashlights. Other Pointe officers on the team were Shores PSO John Trevillian and Woods Det. Michael Van De Ginste. Reportedly, there were three arrests made for base stealing.

Farms agrees: Ford has a better idea

By Tom Greenwood

It was a standing room only crowd at the Farms Council meeting Monday night, Aug. 23, that saw the city fathers vote unanimously with one abstention to allow the first cluster home development on Lakeshore Road.

The vote, which came after a two and a half hour discussion, was preceded by a rare personal appearance before the council by Henry Ford, II, owner of the property.

Ford explained that he had been unable to sell the land, site of his now unoccupied 76-room mansion, for the past several years. Ford said he thought this was an opportunity to develop a "quality, innovative type project" on the property and to provide the type of development where owners could "lock up their homes and leave them, worry-free, for two months, if they wished." Ford said that before the meeting he had already received calls from two buyers interested in putting down deposits on homes.

After a brief explanation to the council, Ford turned the discussion over to William Caldwell, president of the Caldwell Equity Corp., proposed builders of the development.

Caldwell explained that although plans weren't yet "fully formed," the developers hoped to build 18 "cluster" type homes on the 7.85 acre site, interspersed along a meandering road stretching from Kercheval Avenue to Lakeshore Road.

Three of the homes would be constructed along the 390 foot frontage paralleling Lakeshore Road. Caldwell explained that although some of the homes would be attached at a common garden wall, or common corner, they weren't really "condominiums."

"With most condos, home-ownership is limited to a 'paint to paint' basis," said Caldwell, "meaning the condo owner owns only what's within his walls. He doesn't own the structure. With these homes, the buyer owns the home and the property it's built upon. Upon closing, the homeowner would join a 'Homeowners Association' which would entitle him to 1/18th ownership of the remaining land."

Caldwell explained that his company had researched building single, one family detached homes on the property (like most homes in the Farms), but decided against it since it would require the granting of at least 40 variances from the council concerning front and rear yard set backs and the like.

"With a rezoning allowing cluster type homes, we can utilize the unique qualities of the property," said Caldwell. "It's a long, narrow lot with hilly terrain and a fine view of the lake. If we just shot a road straight through and put in single, family homes we'd lose the pool, poolhouse and probably 90 percent of the trees. This way we save them."

Caldwell said the development would be based on four or five basic design floor plans, offering two and three bedroom homes with attached two car garages. Prices for the homes would begin at about $300,000. The road running through the development would be private and would offer single entrance and exit onto Kercheval and Lakeshore.

Caldwell said that if construction were to begin in 1983 "with a normal market," his company would hope to finish by 1985.

Audience reaction to the plan was mixed, with scattered applause greeting pro and con opinions on the development. John Wayne, of McKinley Road backed the rezoning saying "he liked it both as a teacher of architecture and as a citizen."

"They've done well aesthetically," he said. "As a homeowner I also believe it will enhance the community."

On the negative side, one of the most vocal opponents of the complex was Philip Leon, of Lakeshore Road, who said the project was "reasonably" attractive but, he feared, setting a precedent.

"The homes will not be consistent with what's now on Lakeshore," he said. "It'll be very difficult to say 'no' to the others that follow after saying 'yes' to Mr. Ford. Tradition is wonderful. Cluster homes are not Lakeshore Road."

After public discussions were closed, Councilman Nancy Waugaman proposed that the zoning variance be granted, but only after voicing fears of setting a precedent in the matter.

"It would be nice to see the big homes remain on Lakeshore," she said. "mansions sitting 300 feet back on four or five acres of land. But those days are gone. Nobody can afford to maintain that lifestyle anymore. At least this way the property is utilized and the council still has control over the situation. Every person with a half acre of land is not going to be able to re-zone it for cluster housing. We won't allow that to happen."

After two hours of debate, the vote was swift, with the entire council voting to approve the rezoning, contingent upon final site plan approval. Two other proposals before the council on behalf of Ford, dealing with preliminary site plan approval and reduction of a 50-foot side yard variance to 34.6 feet involving the existing pool on the Ford property, were also approved.

Councilman Lloyd Semple abstained from all voting because of ties between the Caldwell Equity Corp. and his law firm.

After the meeting ended, Caldwell said he was pleased by the way the vote went. He said he and Ford would firm up plans in the coming weeks and that no date had been set for the demolition of the Ford house or for ground breaking for the new subdivision.

Henry Ford, II, (standing) successfully argued his case for development of cluster housing on Lakeshore Road before the Farms Council on Monday.

Clyne murder: Case closed

By Tom Greenwood

Jeanne Clyne was in the wrong place at the wrong time. That's the opinion of Grosse Pointe Farms police who confirmed that mass murderer Coral Eugene Watts killed Mrs. Clyne nearly three years ago as she walked along Kercheval Avenue.

At a press conference held Saturday afternoon, Aug. 21, Farms police said Watts had confessed to the murder only after he was granted immunity from prosecution by the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

Reading first from a prepared statement, Det. Earl Field explained that immunity had been granted because "in all likelihood, outside evidence will never be developed to lawfully prosecute Watts for this homicide. We, nevertheless, feel that the ends of justice — the protection of society — will be served in this case."

Mrs. Clyne, a former reporter for the Detroit News, was killed early on the evening of Oct. 31, 1979. A resident of Merriweather Road, her body was discovered on the north side of Kercheval, lying along side the walkway between Lothrop and Merriweather Roads. She was 44.

After delivering the statement before television cameras, Det. Field answered questions from reporters. Field stated he had interviewed Watts over a seven hour period on Thursday, Aug. 19, in Houston, where Watts was sentenced to 60 years in prison for burglary with intent to commit murder.

According to police reports,

Esquire owner Ron Demers: "We want to get out of town as much as the city wants us out."

of the game parlor. In letters to the editor of the News and to city administrators, parents repeatedly said they thought the Esquire was a good place for local kids to go to play the popular video games.

Watts, 28, said he was "just driving around" when he decided to kill Mrs. Clyne. He said he saw her walking along on Kercheval and followed her in his car before pulling two blocks ahead and parking.

Watts told police he walked toward Mrs. Clyne, then suddenly pulled out a 14 inch screwdriver and stabbed her 11 times in the chest.

Watts reportedly told police Mrs. Clyne kept saying "okay-okay-okay" as he stabbed her. Watts also said she threw her hands up across her chest and that he was sure he "nicked her in the hand" when she did. Police reports show Mrs. Clyne suffered defensive wounds on one hand.

Watts also reportedly told police he ran back to his car and drove off toward Mack Avenue. He said he kept the weapon and later threw it away in Detroit. Watts stated Mrs. Clyne was still standing when he fled.

During the interview, Watts also reportedly corrected the police description of him given to newspapers at the time, saying the golf hat he was wearing was "dark red and not dark blue."

Det. Field said that during the entire interview, Watts never expressed any remorse and that he was very "calm and matter-of-fact" in his description of the murder. Reportedly, Watts never said why he killed Mrs. Clyne.

Det. Field also said Watts casually mentioned murdering two other women in the Grosse Pointe area. Watts reportedly would only make the admissions when recording equipment in the room was turned off during an interview break.

Det. Field said the description of the murders was "startling" in its accuracy, and that the Farms police department is cooperating with police in a nearby city in their efforts to clear the two murders.

Det. Field also said his department has received calls from police in Pennsylvania, Toledo, Ohio, and Traverse City about the murders of young women in their areas.

In the Traverse City case, the Michigan State Police are reportedly re-opening the investigation of the 1975 stabbing death of a young mother at a highway rest stop. The woman was killed without apparent motive in a restroom while her two young sons waited for her in their car, police said.

"Every police department with unsolved murders of young women is going to be interested in this guy," said Det. Field. "He kills by stabbing, strangling or drowning — all apparently without motive and completely at random. That covers a lot of murders. He killed 12 women in 14 months while in Texas, and he also came back to Michigan twice during that period."

"Who knows what he's done in the years before he was caught? At least in our case, we can finally lay Jeanne Clyne to rest."

Corrections

In last week's edition of the Grosse Pointe News it was erroneously reported that Coral Eugene Watts, confessed murderer of Jeanne Clyne, had worked for the Grosse Pointe Asphalt Maintenance Company. Watts actually worked for Pointe Asphalt Paving, Inc. The News regrets the error.

John Furtaw is director of Calvary Services for the Aging and Rita Munley Gallagher, R.N., is program coordinator for adult day care at the agency. Their titles were incorrectly stated in the Aug. 19 issue of the Grosse Pointe News.

Trustees ask for Grobbel appointment

Shores village trustees asked the State Court Administrator's Office Tuesday, Aug. 17, to assign Park Municipal Judge Beverly Grobbel to the village's municipal court until a district court is formed.

"From a policeman's standpoint, she's just great," Assistant to the superintendent Michael Kenyon told the trustees. "She's consistent."

"Because we are a village," village attorney William Killebrew said, "we can only appoint a sitting judge. The judge will hear cases only until there is a district court, which hasn't happened yet."

Mrs. Grobbel was assigned to the Shores after the death of Woods Shores Municipal Judge J. Patrick Demis last June. At the same time, Robert VanWiemersch was assigned to the Woods Municipal Court until a four-person subcommittee could review resumes and make a recommendation to the city council for a permanent replacement.

That committee is still reviewing applications, City Administrator-Clerk Chester Petersen said.

Video victims

"But now it's come full circle. The Music Man is right here in River City," noted Councilman John Prost at the city's Aug. 23 meeting, attended by a group of angry residents.

"This is the biggest problems in the city this summer," said Mayor Douglas Graham. "We've got to do something."

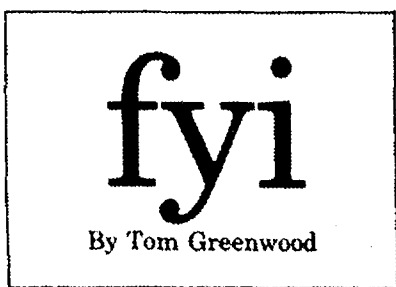

The city filed action against the Esquire several months ago in Wayne County Circuit Court for its violation of the five-game limit. But, as City Attorney Herold Deason pointed out at the last council meeting, "we're dealing with a court docket that is one of the most crowded in the U.S." The case may not be heard for months.

Ron Demers, co-owner of the Esquire, said he and his partner are trying to sell the theater and get out of town. "I'd like to see the kids who are causing trouble be caught myself. We're doing the best we can here. We'd like to sell and get out of town as much as the city wants us out."

City manager John Crawford said he received one call last week from a prospective buyer of the theater, but that person also was interested in keeping the revenue-producing video parlor in operation.

oasis sometime Monday night after sawing a padlock from the door. Taken in the robbery were four boxes of Grenadier cigars, two boxes of Bances cigars, 25 cartons of cigarettes, 12 splits of champagne, 12 splits of Cold Duck, one case each of Budweiser and Miller Lite beer, two bottles of tobasco sauce and two wrenches. A half-keg of beer was poured out at the scene. Because of the amount of refreshments taken, police believe more than one person was involved. So be on the lookout for any number of strong, hard drinking, hot sauce loving handmen who are really into tobacco. Or one golfer who couldn't wait til the course opened the next day.

Residents in the Kerby Road-Chalfonte area are more than a little upset right now. A traffic light at the intersection went on the blink this weekend with dire results. It now shows a yellow caution on Chalfonte and blinking red for drivers on Kerby. Apparently drivers on Kerby aren't paying attention and have been running the light often enough to cause three accidents this weekend. According to Farms Traffic Control Officer Joe Belanger, no one has been seriously injured in the accidents — yet. The Farms hope to correct the problem soon. In the meantime, slow down, keep alert, buckle up and proceed with caution.

Knife-man is robbed

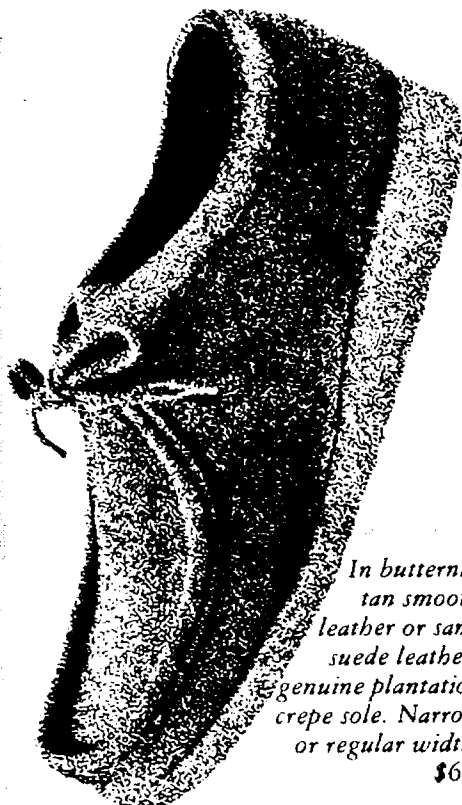

A 60-year-old Detroit man who travels neighborhoods with a cart and sharpens knives and blades for citizens was robbed of $50 cash on Sunday, Aug. 15, according to Park police reports.

The victim told police he was on Wayburn Road just north of Jefferson Avenue when two men approached him, wielding a knife, and ordered him to turn over his money. Police have no suspects.

Woods buys equipment

Grosse Pointe Woods moved closer to getting an Advanced Life Support system Monday, Aug. 16, when the council approved the purchase of radio and defibrillator equipment.

The council also delayed awarding a design and construction contract for the proposed dormitory behind the municipal garage. City Administrator Clerk Chester Petersen said the bids were much higher than the amount the city had budgeted.

The city appropriated $45,000 for the dormitory in its 1982-83 budget. The lowest bid, according to city officials, was more than $63,000.

The building, to be located behind the municipal garage, would house paramedics on 24 hour duty. The building would provide approximately 1,400 square feet of both living and storage space according to contract specifications.

Petersen asked the council to postpone the matter until the city could meet with the low bidder and try to talk the price down.

WCCC tax set at .85 mills

Trustees of the Wayne County Community College last month approved a 1982 tax rate that will cost Grosse Pointe taxpayers about $875,000 this year, or about $48 per household.

A motion to continue last year's rate of 0.85 mills for this year was made by Grosse Pointe's representative to the college board, John Grylls, at the trustees' July 7 meeting and was approved unanimously. The tax will generate a total of $11.5 million from taxpayers in 36 Wayne County communities. The rate includes 0.25 mills for operating purposes and 0.60 mills for debt retirement. A mill equals $1 for every $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Earlier this summer, college administrators announced the closing of the Austin Center on East Warren Avenue, the closest WCCC branch to Grosse Pointe. The college's eastside operation will move to its new facility at Connor and I-94, which scheduled a grand opening celebration today, Aug. 26, from 3 to 5 p.m.

But, because of the Austin Center closing, officials in Grosse Pointe Woods passed a resolution last week opposing WCCC's 1982 tax rate. Councilmember Jean Rice admitted the city's action will have no effect on the tax rate, but said it was a good chance to "do some snarling" at the college officials. Ms. Rice said she thinks the closing of Austin will mean that even fewer Grosse Pointe residents will use the college in the future. She indicated local taxpayers are being forced to support a service they don't use. College officials have said that about 10 to 15 percent of WCCC's 20,000 full and part time students are from the Pointes.

New social worker at Calvary Center

The Calvary Senior Center, a community center for older adults, recently announced the appointment of a new social worker, Linda Anderson MacQueen.

A former coordinator of group activities at Luther Haven on Detroit's east side, Ms. MacQueen will maintain contact, provide protective services, information and referral, to the older adults serviced by the center.

Ms. MacQueen, who succeeds Carol Reinke, earned a Master's degree in social work from Wayne State University and a Bachelor's degree in human resources and development from Oakland University.

Both Calvary Senior Center and Luther Haven are units of Lutheran Social Services of Michigan.

Register kids now for kindergarten

Enrollment in Grosse Pointe's public schools' kindergarten classes for the 1982-83 school year are still being accepted.

Parents who have not yet registered their kindergarten-age children in a program for 1982-83 can either contact the offices of their local elementary schools or can contact the Office of Elementary Curriculum in the Administration Building of The Grosse Pointe Public School System at 389 St. Clair Avenue. The telephone number for the office is 343-2022.

Denby High School's January and June Class of 1947 is planning a 35-year reunion Saturday, Sept. 25, at the German American Cultural Center, 5251 E. Outer Drive in Detroit.

Tickets are $22.50 per person and includes cocktails, dinner and open bar. Organizer Anne A. Monfils says all other classes are invited to the reunion which begins at 7 p.m.

For more information and tickets, call 773-0625 or 427-0579.

The council did spend almost $30,000 on a "Life Pak 5" defibrillator unit and radio equipment to link the host hospital with the ambulance.

The portable defibrillator, used to regulate or restart the heart, was recommended by Detroit Receiving Hospital, Public Safety Director Jack Patterson said, adding the same equipment was being used by both the hospital and Detroit Emergency Medical Service.

Both Detroit Receiving and Detroit EMS said they could loan the Woods a spare unit if the city should have trouble with its equipment, Patterson said, saving the city the cost of buying or renting a standby unit.

"We have been informed that this is the best unit on the market," he said. "Receiving and Detroit have offered to allow us use of their spare unit if we suffer any breakdowns, saving us the possible cost of rental or standby unit purchase."

"Therefore, considering the similarity, training and use of the equipment from our neighbors," he continued, "I would recommend we purchase the unit without competitive bidding."

Communication equipment costing $22,125 will link the emergency room doctor directly with the medic giving treatment, Patterson said, much like the "black box" in the television series "Emergency!" The unit will be portable and can be hooked into telephone lines or transmit along radio frequencies to transmit a patient's vital signs to a hospital, he said.

The price of the equipment is high, Patterson said, but only one company makes the unit, making competitive bidding useless. The unit is compatible with the rest of the department's radio and emergency equipment and can be serviced by the DPS radio technician, he said.

Patterson said the department expects to have the equipment operational and ready for state licensing by October or November of this year. Four of five paramedics have the necessary training to begin the ALS program while the fifth can begin training the first of the year, he added.

State police warn of flare gun laws

New laws regulating the sale and ownership of flare guns have now gone into effect and Michigan State Police officials are urging retailers and potential purchasers of these devices to be aware of these changes.

The new laws exempt retailers and purchasers of flare gun pistols from the handgun purchase permit and registration requirements, but restrict sales to boaters or pilots who are 18 years or older.

The purchaser is required to present a boat registration, bill of sale or airplane pilot license to the retailer in order to purchase a flare gun pistol. Possession and transportation of the devices is restricted for use in conjunction with boating and aircraft emergencies.

Traveling between home and boating use, or purchase and home, etc., the device has to be unloaded, enclosed in a case and carried in a trunk of the vehicle. If the vehicle does not have a trunk, it should be transported in an area not readily accessible to the occupants of the vehicle.

Violation of the new laws also carries penalties. Anyone selling, purchasing or possessing a device not in compliance with these provisions is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $200 or imprisonment for not more than 90 days, or both.

A person who uses a device in violation of the act is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than $200. Additionally, a person using a device is held strictly liable for any damages caused by that use.

State Police also warn that the flare gun pistols are by law still classified as firearms and anyone using one in commission of a criminal act would be subjected to the penalties prescribed for violating the particular criminal law.

City hopes to pave alley

Grosse Pointe City Manager Thomas Kressbach thinks he has a deal that is just too good to pass up for people living near the City's last unpaved alley along Mack Avenue.

The alley is a nuisance for people in the area as it creates dust and weed problems, floods occasionally during the summer and ices up in the cold months. Cost of paving the alley between Fisher and Lincoln Roads south of Mack is $26,651, but Kressbach says a federal grant has been made available this year that will reduce that cost by some $8,500. The city also is willing to cough up about $5,000 to pay for engineering and sewer costs.

That leaves the 10 residents and landowners in the area a bill for paving the alley of just $12,653. Kressbach proposed in a letter sent out earlier this month that the landowners split the bill on a voluntary basis.

Owners of seven commercial buildings near the alley were asked to share $10,758 of the costs (85 percent of the total) and the three homeowners were asked to pay a total of $1,896 for the project. Individual assessments range from $3,100 to about $114 and are based on footage abutting the alley.

The city is also offering to take payment in four installments, interest free, over an 18-month period, according to Kressbach. The city manager asked landowners to respond to his request for the voluntary assessment by Sept. 1, because the federal funds for the program must be used during the current construction year. Those funds come from HUD's Community Development Block Grant program, according to Kressbach.

Cottage offers speakers

A speakers' bureau on health and human relations topics is now available to area community, school and church organizations through Cottage Hospital, according to a press release. The speakers' bureau is under the direction of Lyle Ward, ASCW, director of the social work department at Cottage.

The social work staff will be available to lead discussions on various subjects including stress management, dealing with adolescence, pre-marital questions, myths and realities of growing old, mental illness and its symptoms, and dynamic family living. Other subjects can be requested for presentation.

WCCC expands gerontology vocational program

Gerontology, a career education program at Wayne County Community College, is offering several classes in its curriculum this fall. The program explores the normal processes of aging and related social, legal and economic issues, while preparing individuals for work in agencies and organizations serving the needs of older citizens in the community. In addition to regular academic courses, the program offers a field placement experience in direct services to or on behalf of the older adult population.

WCCC's gerontology program is the only degree program in gerontology available on a community college level in southeastern Michigan. It offers students the opportunity to earn either an Associate Degree or a Certificate. Courses may also be taken as electives or for personal enrichment. Instructors for the classes are all practitioners in the Detroit metro area.

The program provides excellent learning opportunities for students new to the field of Gerontology, as well as those currently employed in the field. The training will also be beneficial to other individuals in planning and preparing for successful aging.

Tuition for the classes is $24 per credit hour for residents of the WCCC service district, and $34 for out-of-district residents. Tuition is free to all persons 55 to 59 who are retired, and to all persons over 60.

This fall classes will be held at the WCCC Downtown Center, 1001 W. Fort Street at the John C. Lodge, the Eastern Center, 5901 Corner, the Greenfield Center, 8531 Greenfield, and the Downriver Center, 21000 Northline Road in Taylor.

Classes include the following:

- Introduction to the Study of Aging, an overview of the field with emphasis on the normal aging process, will be offered at all four locations.
- Mental Health and the Aging focuses on the mentally healthy older adult from the socio-psychological perspective. This class will meet at the Eastern Center and at the Greenfield Center.
- Health and Physical Processes of Aging examines the physiological changes which are normal to the aging process, and changes which are the result of the environment or disease. The class will be held at the Downriver and Eastern Centers.
- Programs and Services to the Aged presents a comprehensive view of the national, state and local structures which provide services to the older adult population. The classes will be held at the Downriver Center and at the Downtown Center.

Sociology of Aging is an introduction to the field of social gerontology and is designed to familiarize the student with sociological concepts and theories in the study of aging. This class will meet at the Downtown Center.

New regulations for the utilities?

The Michigan Citizens Lobby is waiting for a court ruling to certify a Nov. 2 ballot proposal that would increase regulation of Michigan public utilities. The proposal would eliminate the automatic fuel adjustment clause now in effect, and require utilities to submit all rate requests to the Public Service Commission for public hearings.

Opposing the proposal is a group called Citizens for Michigan Jobs and Energy, including representatives of the state Chamber of Commerce, utility companies and unions. They say the ballot proposal will lead to higher utility bills and massive job losses.

The News asked shoppers on the Hill if they will vote in favor of the proposition in November.

Mary Kuntzler, employed at Leo's and a resident of Harrison Township. "I'll vote for it because I think they raise their rates too often. You should see my bills."

Frank Shar, Detroit. "Yes, I'm for it. The way it is now, they just get whatever rate increase they want when they go to the PSC. If they have to go before an elected commission, we might have a chance."

Diane Mourad, St. Clair Shores. "Yes, I'll probably vote for it. My bills are too high, and I do think that's a good way to deal with the problem."

Pam Gladstone, Grosse

Pointe City. "I think it's a good idea. I feel consumers have been misled by the utility companies for too long."

Charles Knight, Mt. Clemens. "I don't like the idea of an elected board. Look what's happening with our Consumers Power bills, we're paying an assessment to balance out a lower rate for the poor. It's a case of the rich helping out the poor and that's good, but it could go too far if the PSC becomes a very political body when it is elected. I certainly think the hearing idea is a good one. Of course you always have political agitators showing up at those things."

Pam Gladstone

Bob Miller, Grosse Pointe City. "I don't suppose I will vote for it. People don't like to think any rates should be increased. But prices are going up and they have to increase. In fact, the proposition would probably increase the utilities' costs and our rates in the long run."

Vicky Shar, Detroit. "I'd like to see it pass, but I don't know if it will really help. The utility rates are going up because costs are going up. They'll get their rate increases one way or another. They'll just double up their requests."

GPW denies first video game appeal

By Mike Andrzejczyk

In the first request for a variance from the city's month-old video game ordinance, the Woods council Monday, Aug. 16, refused to ease the parking restriction to allow Mr. C's Deli, 20915 Mack, to install a Pac Man machine.

The council voted 4-2 to deny the request of Vito Catafio, store president, to count one parking space from the Ridgmont municipal lot to meet the additional parking space requirement. Councilman Robert Novitke was not at the meeting.

The video ordinance requires one additional off-street parking space for each machine. An appeal to the city can be made to have that requirement waived.

Another request by Catafio to cut the six feet of space required on each side of the machine down to three feet was also turned down.

City Attorney George Catlin said the space provision doesn't fall under the appeal process.

"I wouldn't ask for the variance if I thought the one machine would jeopardize my business," Catafio said, adding the store and the family had a "reputation at stake" as well as an investment in the city.

Catafio asked the council for a temporary permit, so the store could show how the machine would be operated. The council could review the operation and revoke the license in 30 to 60 days if it wished, he added.

Councilmembers, however, said the variance would mean granting the store more public parking spaces. The store already received one variance before it opened, Councilman Thomas Fahrner said.

"We gave them a variance to open their business," Fahrner said. "I really don't think we should lean on public parking for variances."

Councilman John Sabol agreed, saying, "This council would be wrong approving the variance, because he (Mr. C's) would be sapping all the public parking." Parking is a problem for all Mack merchants, Catafio said, adding, "If everyone on Mack Avenue had their own parking, then why would we need those lots? I thought that's what the lots were for."

He said the game would not draw extra cars to the store, basing his contention on experience with the games at other Mr. C's locations.

The game would be a convenience for customers, Catafio said, and would not be meant for children to come off the street to play. There would be no crowds, no lines and no interference with other customers, he said.

Councilman Jean Rice said the game, not the parking requirement was the problem.

"There may not be anyone here who objects (to the game)," she said, "but I don't think the people of this community want it."

"We, the council, have to view a change as to whether or not it is desirable to the residents of the community," Mayor George Freeman said.

The city has received three requests for video game licenses. City Administrator Clerk Chester Peterson said Catafio's was the first to require the appeal, he added.

Man arrested on Berkshire

A Detroit man was charged with prowling and obstructing an officer in Park municipal court last week after he was arrested in a Berkshire Road backyard early in the morning, Wednesday, Aug. 18.

The man, James E. Meldrum, 32, of Phillip in Detroit, is on parole as a result of his conviction earlier this year on breaking and entering charges in the Park, according to Park Police Chief Henry Coonce. He pled guilty before Municipal Judge Beverly Grobel of obstructing an officer and pled not guilty to the charge of prowling. A trial on the latter charge has been scheduled for Aug. 25.

In arresting Meldrum, one officer fired a shot, but no one was hit, Coonce said.

Police were called to the Berkshire neighborhood at about 6 a.m. Wednesday by a resident who said he saw a prowler with a flashlight in his garage. Officers approached on foot, found several area garage and tool shed doors ajar and gates open in yards, Coonce said. The suspect was chased by Park Sgt. William Furtaw who fired his pistol into the ground at one point, according to Chief Coonce.

The suspect was wrestled to the ground by police, including officers from the City and Farms, Coonce said.

Judge Grobel sentenced Meldrum to 90 days in Wayne County Jail based on his guilty plea to obstructing an officer.

Trustees approve '82-83 tuition

The Board of Education voted last week to keep 1982-83 tuition rates for out of district students at last year's levels.

Rates for the coming school year follow:

- High school students - $250 per month
- Middle school students - $225 per month
- Elementary students - $200 per month

For high school students completing their senior year with three full previous years in Grosse Pointe high schools the rate will remain at $200 per month. High school students with less than three previous years in Grosse Pointe high schools will be required to pay $225 per month.

NBD announces two appointments

National Bank of Detroit has announced the appointment of Fred J. Johns (right) to first vice-president in its Information and Operations Services Division and James W. McNamee II to first vice-president in its International Division. Johns, of Grosse Pointe Park, joined the bank seven years ago and held the office of vice-president in the Information and Operations Services Division. McNamee, a Grosse Pointe City resident, has been employed by the bank as an assistant cashier and commercial loan officer in the Credit Administration Division. He has also served as head of the Far East and North America Groups in the International Division and as head of the International Operations and Foreign Exchange.

Cable TV fees paid to cities

The five municipal members of Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc. recently received a total of $19,011 in franchise fees for the first half of 1982, according to the firm's Vice President and General Manager Michael Reynolds.

Company president John Rickel said the fees paid to the cities in future six month periods will match or exceed the current level. Since the cable company began serving customers more than two years ago, the cities have received a total of $87,011 in franchise payments. The fees are based on the number of customers in each city. The cable system now serves about 10,000 households, according to the firm.

Grosse Pointe Woods received the largest payment for the first six months of 1982, $12,387. Harper Woods received $10,017, Grosse Pointe Park, $7,782, Grosse Pointe Farms $6,250, and Grosse Pointe City $3,578. Grosse Pointe Shores is included in the St. Clair Shores cable franchise held by Cox Cable.

The Grosse Pointe cable system is operated by Group W Cable, formerly called Teleprompter.

Original inhabitants of the Canary Island of Gomera were mutilated Africans — their tongues had been cut out — who landed there after being set adrift in small boats. They survived as goat herders. They developed a fairly sophisticated language by whistling a musical adaptation of the Spanish vocabulary. It was passed down through the generations. Until fairly recent times, the lonely herdsmen at some distances carried on lengthy dialogues in the world's whistled language.

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Grosse Pointe Woods will pick the brains of developers and residents as it begins studying the possible redevelopment of the Seven-Mack Shopping Center and the rest of its business district.

The Woods council signed contracts at its Monday, Aug. 16, meeting with Gerald Luedtke and Associates, Inc. and Nordhaus Research, Inc. to perform studies.

Luedtke and Associates will do a four-part study to test the market for possible developers at the Seven-Mack area, look at the possibility of a new supermarket at the Farmer Jack store, analyze commercial frontage on Mack south of the municipal offices to Bournemouth and to extend the city's neighborhood strategy zone to the northeast portion of the Woods.

Nordhaus Research will conduct telephone interviews with residents to find out attitudes on the development of the commercial strip, shopping, off-street parking and possible zoning changes.

Both studies will be funded with Community Development Block Grant funds from this and previous years. Administrative Aide Gerard McNamara said. The Luedtke study will cost $14,000, while the Nordhaus study will cost $3,700, plus or minus 10 percent, according to contracts.

The Woods is trying to develop a plan for the Seven-Mack area which has been rezoned as a high density city center district. The zoning allows for the development of commercial, retail, office and medical buildings, along with restaurants, bars and service industries.

Woods plans business strip study

Other uses under the zoning regulation include high-rise residential structures, hotels, theaters, hospitals and accessories and parking structures.

The company will contact prospective developers of retail and office space, parking and apartments to determine interest in the area. From this, Luedtke and Associates will develop a strategy for redevelopment of the site, and present it to the council, according to the contract.

This is a follow-up to an earlier study by the company titled "Redevelopment Potential in the Seven-Mack Commercial Area," McNamara said. The redevelopment study was authorized by the council in April, 1981, and paid for by CDBG money.

A six-person committee was formed to study the document at the council's June 7 meeting. The committee, made up of council members Jean Rice and Robert Novitke, Planning Commission members Robert Frederick and Joseph Parthun and CDBG Advisory Commission members Al Adams and Harold Ruttan, met with Luedtke on June 16, to listen to his presentation.

City officials say the Luedtke study is exempt from public disclosure because it is falling under an exemption in Michigan's Freedom of Information Act that allows inter- and intra-agency memorandum to be kept from the public.

Luedtke's study could take as long as a year to complete, McNamara said, but preliminary work should begin soon.

In addition to looking at the Seven-Mack area, Luedtke and Associates will look at alternative uses for the Mack Avenue Farmer Jack store. According to the contract, the company will look at the possibility of putting in modern supermarket there or alternative uses for the property, including apartments, townhouses and other residential uses.

The analysis of Mack commercial frontage from the municipal offices south to Bournemouth is a follow-up to Luedtke's 1980 Mack Avenue Blight study. The study will look at off-street parking in the area, retail and office uses, the condition of buildings and the feasibility of housing development. The results, according to the contract, will be given to the council in a brief memorandum which will make recommendations for the long-range development of the area.

Luedtke and Associates will also write a rationale for the city's extension of its neighborhood strategy area to the northeast side of the city. Under the CDBG regulations, the city has already established a neighborhood strategy area on the west side of Mack to the north city limits and would like to extend the area to the east side of Mack.

While Luedtke studies the commercial aspect, Nordhaus will conduct resident surveys to determine attitudes toward redevelopment in the area, and shopping surveys. From the 500 ten-minute telephone interviews it plans to make, the firm will gather information for use in future grant applications and future development projects.

Now, First Federal makes it easy for you to put your permanent life insurance policies idle cash value to work. You can earn $350, $750, $1,000 or more while your total insurance protection remains the same, or may even increase (see chart).

Here's how First Federal's Idle Assets program works. The cash value of your insurance contracts is usually available at a low rate of interest, 5% or 6% in many cases. We estimate the cash you have available in your insurance contracts and show how this money can earn money-market-type interest for you in an Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit for 30 months.*

Certificates are available for a minimum of $1,000. The interest rate, which is determined when funds are received at First Federal and the account is opened, is guaranteed for the full term.

Your total insurance protection remains the same or may even increase (see chart).

You will also be provided with additional life insurance for the full 2 1/2-year term in the amount of your certificate.

So come into your nearest First Federal office. And bring your life insurance policies. We'll do all the work and return your insurance policies on the spot. Then we'll put your idle assets to work!

Here's an example of how the Idle Assets program can improve your financial picture:

Face value of ordinary life insurance policy	$20,000
Estimated cash value	8,000
Interest earned on Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit (2 1/2 years at 12%+)	2,400
Cost of insurance loan (2 1/2 years at 5%)	1,000
Your net earnings in 2 1/2 years (total earned interest minus cost of loan)	$ 1,400

And the total amount available, should death of the insured occur during the term of the Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit, is also increased:

Original insurance policy minus loan amount	$12,000
Idle Assets Certificate of Deposit	8,000++
Idle Assets life insurance	8,000
Total amount available	$28,000

*Example of interest rate available on the certificate. The actual interest rate is set at the time of the certificate opening.

Example of interest rate available on the certificate. The actual interest rate is set at the time of the certificate opening.

*Substantial penalty for early withdrawal from certificate savings accounts. Maximum life insurance is $10,000 and is available only to persons under age 60 along with Accidental Death and Dismemberment (AD and D) insurance for Idle Assets deposits over $10,000. Only AD and D insurance is available to persons age 60 and over. Maximum AD and D insurance is $100,000. All insurance is subject to the terms and conditions contained in insurance certificates issued by the insurer. Steiner wants no part of budget

Outgoing Wayne County Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner, Jr., of Grosse Pointe, wants to extend the County fiscal year two months and let the new 15-member Board of Commissioners decide the next budget, he says in a county press release.
Steiner proposed the idea to his colleagues on the current 27-member Board which continues in office until Dec. 31, a month after a new budget is adopted according to existing policy. At present, the County fiscal year runs from Dec. 1 through Nov. 30.
Steiner's plan would remove next year's budgeting responsibility from the current Board and allow the new Board the month of January to develop a new budget. It would also free the current Board of any criticism of the new budget, Steiner told his colleagues.
"Since many of us have not been nominated for the general election and we are lame ducks, I am going to propose to you that we extend the present budget through December and January, and allow the new 15 commissioners to sit in session in January and formulate a new budget for Wayne County," said Steiner.
"My rationale for this is that if the budget is wrong they will blame the old (existing) Board of Commissioners and make us fall guys. Again, if the budget is right we will receive no credit whatsoever."
"There is another thought: All the people who campaigned against us had all the answers, knew what to do, and I think they should have the opportunity to form a budget and clear up the deficit as they have stated they will do."
Steiner lost to Barbara Gattorn in the First District in the Republican primary election on Aug. 10.

Major cancer study launched

Louise TeWalt, of Lincoln Road in the City, is one of several Wayne County unit chairmen busy signing up participants in the American Cancer Society's second major research endeavor to learn how lifestyle and environmental factors influence cancer.

The Cancer Society's first study, conducted in 1959 through 1972, identified the link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer and heart disease and helped initiate the public campaign against smoking. The society hopes to break new ground in its second major study as well.
Study participants will complete a confidential questionnaire about their working, living and eating habits. Volunteer researchers, such as Mrs. TeWalt, are an important part of the study. To reach Mrs. TeWalt, call 885-7214.

Woods home hit for cash

Thieves broke into a Grosse Pointe Woods home Monday evening, Aug. 16, escaping with an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry along with a handgun.

Police were called to the Morningside Road home by the owner who said she returned home from work to find the glass door wall at the rear of the home ajar.

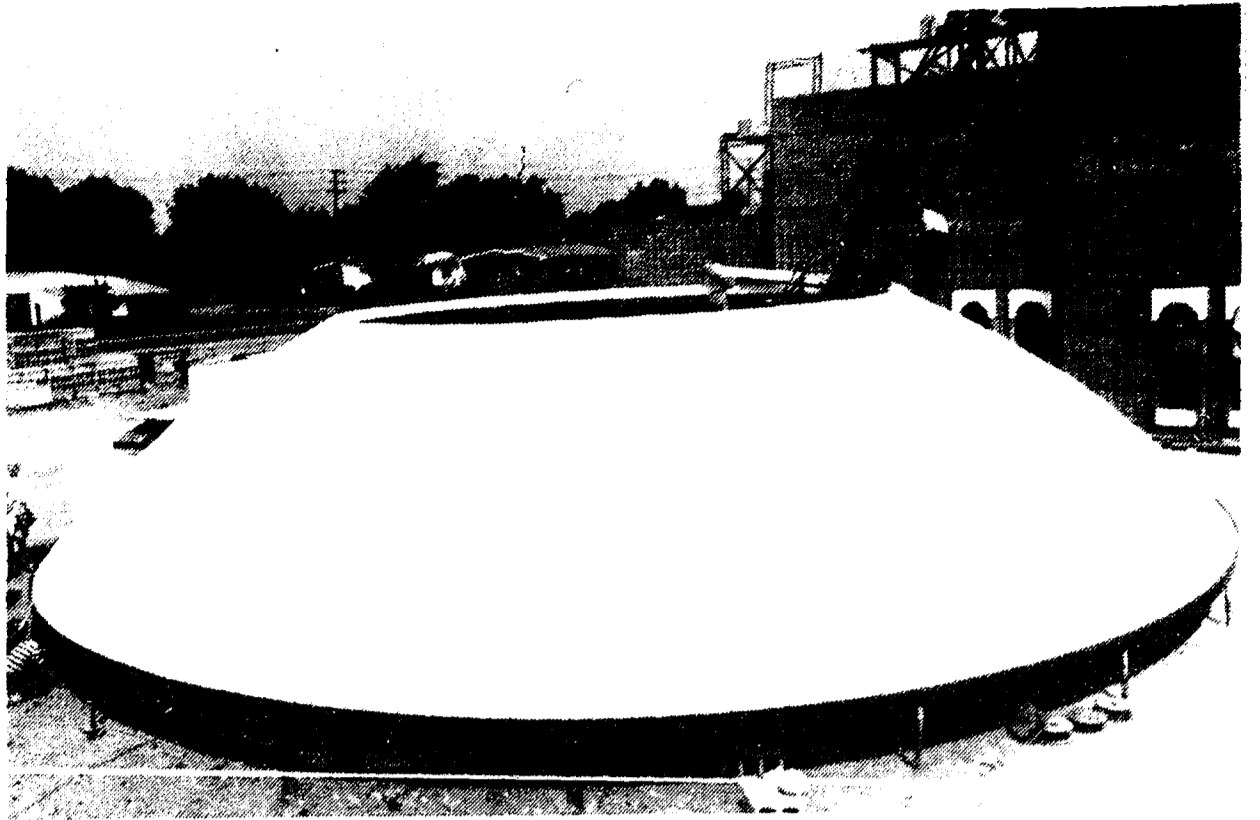

The door wall had been locked with a slide bar in place, the owner told police.

Police said the first and second floor of the home were ransacked. A gun cabinet in the den was opened, but nothing appeared missing, police said. The cabinet, according to reports, held six rifles of various calibers.

A chrome bank from a child's bedroom was taken into another bedroom where it was opened and $40 worth of folding money taken, reports said. A foot-tall barrel type plaster bank was also emptied and opened, with an unknown amount of money taken from it, police said.

No, it isn't a giant Frisbee. Workmen at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church were busy constructing a giant polystyrene foam dome on church property last Friday. The dome, made up of nine foot long foam strips heat welded into place, will later be covered with concrete and hoisted into place on top of the church's new addition (below). Church officials were hoping the dome would be installed over the weekend, highlighting the church's annual Greek Festival, which also was held last weekend. John Stevens and Associates are architects on the project.

No, it isn't a giant Frisbee. Workmen at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church were busy constructing a giant polystyrene foam dome on church property last Friday. The dome, made up of nine foot long foam strips heat welded into place, will later be covered with concrete and hoisted into place on top of the church's new addition (below). Church officials were hoping the dome would be installed over the weekend, highlighting the church's annual Greek Festival, which also was held last weekend. John Stevens and Associates are architects on the project.

Woods home hit for cash

Thieves broke into a Grosse Pointe Woods home Monday evening, Aug. 16, escaping with an undetermined amount of cash and jewelry along with a handgun.

Police were called to the Morningside Road home by the owner who said she returned home from work to find the glass door wall at the rear of the home ajar.

The door wall had been locked with a slide bar in place, the owner told police.

Police said the first and second floor of the home were ransacked. A gun cabinet in the den was opened, but nothing appeared missing, police said. The cabinet, according to reports, held six rifles of various calibers.

A chrome bank from a child's bedroom was taken into another bedroom where it was opened and $40 worth of folding money taken, reports said. A foot-tall barrel type plaster bank was also emptied and opened, with an unknown amount of money taken from it, police said.

Fee for the eight week course is $36.

Ms. Lachusa's paintings are well known in the Pointes from various shows including a recent showing at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club. She is currently working on painting for shows in which she has been asked to exhibit in Connecticut and Chataqua County in New York.

Lorraine Chambers McCarty returns to the War Memorial this fall with three classes offered on Tuesday, Sept. 21 to Dec. 7. A morning class from 9 a.m. to noon and an evening class from 7 to 10 p.m. is designed for all levels from beginner through intermediate painters. Ms. McCarty teaches in all medium and stresses individual attention. Critiques, slides and class discussion help the student to progress more rapidly.

Ms. McCarty's afternoon class, meeting from 12:30 to 3:30 p.m., is for the advanced student and is entitled "Reawakening Creative Thought." Fee for the 10 lessons is $79 plus a fee for the model when used. Ms. McCarty's credits are impressive, including solo shows in Washington, D.C., Boston and Dayton. She is in the World Who's Who of Women, Who's Who in American Art, of American Women, in the Midwest and Archives of American Art. Almost as well known as an aviatrix as she is as a painter, Ms. McCarty's works are in private collections of Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan Department of Aviation, Sen. Barry Goldwater, Governor and Mrs. Milliken and many more.

Mary Louise McCarrroll will offer two courses this fall. Miss McCarrroll received her Master's of Fine Arts degree from Southern Illinois University and has twice been awarded the Artist-in-Residency from the Ragdale Foundation in Lake Forest Illinois. On Mondays beginning Sept. 20, she will teach Figure Drawing. His works are in many Grosse Pointe gardens and homes and in churches throughout the country. Both beginners and intermediate students are welcome in the class where they will work in clay. each instance is $45. The supply fee for the beginning course is $16. For the advanced course the material fee is $7 if the student already has a Platinum pen barrel, Fount India ink and Bostick's manual.

Later in the fall, Sumifile, or Japanese mood painting, a special water color technique will be taught. The course will begin on Tuesday, Oct. 5 and run for 10 weeks. There will be an afternoon class from 1 to 3 p.m. and an evening class 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Fee is $60.

Framing one's own painting is an important finishing step and it can be an expensive one. But you can save money by taking Marguerita Ibarluzza's Picture Framing course. There is a morning class from 9 a.m. to noon and an evening session from 7 to 10 p.m. Both courses begin Sept. 16 and continue for eight weeks. Course fee is $39. NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan 1982, that on September 2, 1982, at 8:00 o'clock p.m., at a special session, the Board of Education of The Grosse Pointe Public School System will hold a public hearing at the Administration Building, 389 St. Clair Avenue, Grosse Pointe, Michigan 48230 (313) 343-2010 on the levy of a proposed millage rate of 27.3584 for operating purposes.

The present voted millage of the school district of 36.6200 mills has been reduced by the "Headlee Amendment" to 31.6369. The Board of Education has complete authority to establish that 27.3584 mills be levied in 1982 for the General and Library Funds from the present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate for the General and Library Funds would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1982 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan in 1982 in the amount of $528,620, or an increase of 1.8%. This will be offset by a decrease of an equivalent amount in the Debt Retirement Fund.

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the school district.

PLEASE NOTE - THERE WILL BE NO INCREASE IN MILLAGE RATES AND BECAUSE OF THE DECREASE IN THE DEBT RETIREMENT FUND, THERE WILL BE NO INCREASE IN TAXES. WE APOLOGIZE FOR THE MISLEADING WORDS "INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES" IN THE HEADING OF THIS NOTICE; THIS WORDING IS REQUIRED BY STATE LAW.

PROPOSED INCREASE (DECREASE)
GENERAL FUND	$649,874
LIBRARY FUND	(121,254)
DEBT RETIREMENT FUND	(528,620)
NET EFFECT	$ -0-

The purpose of this hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the millage levy. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve any portion of the proposed millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

The "mall" in shopping mall came a long way around from "mallet." You've heard of that old game Pall Mall? First, the name identified the mallet used to hit the ball. Then it was the name of the place where the game was played - an alley, a courtyard, a field. Then the placename was shortened simply to mall.

Take a bite out of crime

By Patrick Fagan

Most doorwalls come equipped with what are most kindly termed "flimsy" locks.

For glass doorwalls, you should consider several precautions. From the simple placement of an old broomstick or dowel rod ("Charlie bar") in the lower track, to the more sophisticated type of auxiliary lock to prevent intrusion by this entry.

Rarely does the intruder break doorwall glass to gain entry, because of the noise created. A more common form of forced entry with doorwalls is through the insertion of a crowbar or other device at the bottom, to force the doors up and out of their track.

Such intrusion is easily thwarted by the installation of a series of screws mounted in the "play" area or open space above them. Mount screws in the upper track, leaving just enough clearance for easily sliding of the door, but not enough so as to allow the door to be lifted by force out of its lower track.

Another inexpensive and easy device for securing a sliding glass doorwall is that of drilling a hole or two in the frame and inserting a pin through the holes and the anchor molding. This can be a do-it-yourself project with a simple drill and ten penny nails, or you can purchase such a kit commercially. Both are effective.

Methodist Church holds elections

The Rev. David B. Penniman was elected to Elder's Orders and received as a full member of the Detroit Conference of the United Methodist Church recently at the 141st consecutive annual session in Adrian.

Penniman has been reassigned to the Grosse Pointe United Methodist Church as associate minister for the coming year.

He was ordained an Elder in the United Methodist Church by Bishop Edsel A. Ammons, resident bishop of the Michigan Area of the United Methodist Church.

Elder's Orders and reception into full membership in an annual conference are the final steps into the ordained ministry of the church.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. John Penniman of Kalamazoo, Penniman graduated from Bay High School in Bay Village, Ohio, and received his B.A. degree from General Motors Tech in 1977 and a Master's of Divinity degree from Pacific School of Theology in Berkeley, Calif.

At the same conference, the Rev. James Greer, II, was elected to Deacon's Orders and received as a probationary member of the conference.

He was ordained a deacon on Saturday, June 5, in the United Methodist Church by Bishop Emmons.

Son of Dr. James Greer, of the Woods and the late Mary Alice Greer, he graduated from University Liggett High School in 1974. Greer received his Bachelor's degree from Northern Michigan University in Marquette in 1978 and is now a student at Drew University Theological Seminary in Madison, N.J.

Youths arrested

Petitions were filed against two Woods juvenile brothers in Wayne County Probate Court in connection with the larceny of a double-headed parking meter. Grosse Pointe Woods police reported.

According to police reports, the theft took place at the Hampton municipal parking lot at 12:55 a.m. Monday, Aug. 9. The police said they were called to the scene by a Woods resident who heard pounding on metal. The police apprehended two boys, ages 12 and 13, who had jumped the fence of an adjacent yard on Hollywood and walked east. The boys were found carrying a green nylon bag containing a variety of tools.

The police discovered a damaged double-headed meter in the bushes at the southeast corner of the parking lot. The meter's cost is estimated at $200.

Students' benefits are reduced

Several changes in the Social Security law went into effect last Sept. 1, in order to save the system money, according to James T. Moslener, manager of the district Social Security office at 17420 Mack Avenue.

Students' benefits will be discontinued after April, 1985. Students 18 or older who started college before May, 1982, and are entitled to a child's benefit for August, 1981, will keep getting benefits. But their checks will be cut 25 percent in September, 1982, another 25 percent in September, 1983, and yet another 25 percent in September, 1984. Also, they will get no cost-of-living adjustments and no benefits from May through August.

College students 18 to 21 who became eligible for a child's benefits after August, 1981, only got the benefits through July, 1982. Those now 18 and attending elementary or secondary school will keep getting benefits, but those 19 to 21 received them only through July, 1982.

A mother's or father's benefits will now end when the youngest child turns 16 instead of 18, unless the child is disabled. Children will keep getting benefits until 18. This will take effect immediately for parents who became eligible after August, 1981.

For parents eligible before Sept. 1, the changes will not take effect until September, 1983. The combined savings by 1986 are expected to be almost $1.7 billion.

People can get more information about the above changes either by contacting the local Social Security office or telephoning the Social Security information number at 493-1111.

Dorothy Newhouse teaches the fine art of calligraphy or "beautiful writing" through the public school system's Department of Continuing Education. Above is a sample of her work. She learned the skill from William Bostick, a teacher at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial which also offers classes in calligraphy.

Calligraphy — A personal writing style

Of all those arts in which the wise excel, Nature's chief masterpiece is writing well.

John Sheffield,
Duke of Buckinghamshire

By Joanne Gouleche

When some of us sign on the dotted line, it's with a distinctive flair — free flowing and, at the very least, legible. Still others move the pen up and down in a decidedly indecipherable fashion creating nothing less than scribble.

The art of handwriting has somewhat diminished as a skillful art even though each of us may think we are dotting our i's and crossing our t's correctly.

In his book, local calligrapher William Bostick quotes Scottish essayist Carlyle: "The art of writing is the most miraculous of all things man has devised." Well, the miraculous is happening all over again. For some unknown reason there is a resurgence of interest in writing beautifully once more.

Calligraphy or "beautiful writing" is appearing on everything from menus to wedding announcements, merit certificates to name tags.

"I don't know really what it is," says local calligraphy teacher Dorothy Newhouse. "I guess people have found it to be beautiful and consider it a skill. People like receiving calligraphic items."

Mrs. Newhouse has been teaching calligraphy in the public schools' Department of Continuing Education for two years now and considers it her "fourth career" after lifework as a museum administrator, mother of three children and French teacher at North High School for 18 years. She retired a year ago.

She became interested in calligraphy nearly six years ago when she took a class taught by Bostick at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Mrs. Newhouse uses his book "A Manual on the Acquiring of a Beautiful & Legible Handwriting" to guide students from their regular sober strokes to a calli-graphic style of the 16th century called "Chancery Cursive."

According to Bostick's book, the chancery style was officially adopted as the hand of Papal decrees because of its beauty. Bostick's theory on the popularity of calligraphy is penned to America's disgust with the "ugliness and illegibility of much 20th century handwriting."

In her well-attended classes at Brownell school each week, Mrs. Newhouse focuses on beginning skills of calligraphy, teaching students to be comfortable with the tools of the trade — felt-tipped pens and special ink.

Even though each student uses the Bostick workbook, Mrs. Newhouse encourages students to develop their own style. But after eight sessions Mrs. Newhouse reminds students it takes lots and lots of practice to control a beautiful hand.

"You constantly, constantly try to improve yourself, but you enjoy the creativity of improving."

Not only does Mrs. Newhouse find it a pleasure to teach calligraphy, she also has found a dozen uses for it herself. "My regular handwriting has improved slightly, too."

Mrs. Newhouse put her calligraphic skills to good use about six years ago when she addressed wedding invitations for each of her daughters-in-law.

"I use it when I address all my envelopes. An organization has asked me to do 14 certificates of appreciation," says Mrs. Newhouse, who is busy calligraphing a recipe box and a few poems for friends.

"After you learn it, you somehow keep using it. That's what I love about it."

Prime Time

For Senior Citizens
 Marian Trainor

A vacation, even a short one adds new dimensions and spice to life's daily routine. No matter how satisfactory our customary routines and how comfortable our day-to-day living plan has become, stepping out of that setting for a brief time gives a deeper appreciation of our own little niche in the world and how much it means to us. It revives the spirit and fills the mind with mental pictures of people, places and happy times.

was a delight all the way reacting to our attention with his captivating and endearing blandishments. Our knowledge of baseball and baseball history was greatly enriched by our 11-year old, who carried with him all the baseball memorabilia that could be accommodated between passenger luggage and baby equipment.

Admittedly, unless one is a frequent traveler, it takes a little doing to convince oneself that the business of spending long hours in a car, traveling untrammeled roads and eating food of undetermined origin is worth the trouble. But the lure at the end of the yellow brick road (in this case assorted freeways) beckons. The urge to see a son, daughter-in-law and five grandchildren persists, and troublesome thoughts are pushed aside.

On a trip such as this, there are courtesies you learn to appreciate. One of them is a local government which provides well-kept attractive parks where weary travelers can stop to eat a picnic lunch or just stretch their legs. Canada is to be commended for this thoughtful and pleasing accommodation.

However, practical tasks attendant to departure remain — packing, what to take and what to resist taking; putting the car in condition (traveling in a car with good brakes makes for a more reassuring journey); seeing that the house is reasonably burglar proof and finding an altruistic, animal-loving someone to take care of an eight-week old puppy. (Under what or whose influence did I acquire that irresistible but troublesome addition to the household? W-e-l-l he was one of 13 puppies about to be evicted from his home and bequeathed to the Humane Society. Anyone for a German Shepherd puppy?)

On the other hand, the Empire State of New York was not so hospitable. In the long hours of travel across that state, there was not one area where travelers could picnic. The only available stops were commercial (rest?) areas where a traveler could purchase inferior, high priced food, fill the car with gas priced at 25c cents a gallon over the usual rate and listen to the whine of trucks' idling motors. (It is cheaper to keep them running than to turn them off and on.)

To get back to pre-departure problems and the one of parking a dog in particular, which can, if one is not a strong and determined character deter one from even a day's journey away from home. Operation dog was fortunately resolved when a kind-to-people and kind-to-animals daughter-in-law took him in — strictly on a temporary basis.

If you are like us when you are traveling, it is a temptation to go as far as you can the first day so that there is not so far to go the next. This usually means that you are looking for accommodations long after the more prudent tourists have settled in. This practice is not to be recommended unless the "no" sign on motels intrigues you and you are willing to mush on through fog and dawn's early light until you track down an innkeeper who by some happenstance has room for you.

The day of departure arrived before second thoughts concerning the wisdom of the trek could undermine that pioneer spirit that reminded us that an 800 mile trip to a Boston-suburb was nothing compared to those our forefathers made in covered wagons across the country on uncharted roads.

There is an advantage to this procedure. Searching for shelter also moves one closer to his destination and provides the next morning's pleasant surprise of early arrival.

The option of winging it was ruled out, because we argued there is a certain convenience and control attached to driving in your own car particularly if someone else does the driving.

The joy of reunion is a feeling that every family experiences after a separation. It was no less so for us. Letters and phone calls are a poor substitute for being with those you love, watching their faces, hearing their voices and experiencing their feelings as they talk and reminisce. The past becomes so precious as it is recalled, the present illuminated by the wondrous fact that we really are together again and the future is bright with the certainty that distances can never dissolve the most precious of life's blessings — family.

You can listen to the radio, stop when you feel like it, sleep (only if you are a passenger) eat, drink, (non-alcoholic beverages, please) watch the cars and trucks roll by. One regrets the past opportunities that traveling by car provided for sightseeing and people-watching in pre-freeway days. Going overland was relaxing and, in a way, reassuring. Driving through the small towns of our country, one sensed a more tranquil way of life undisturbed by the problems of urban living. (It was possible that all the problems of big-city life did exist in microcosm but it was pleasant to romanticize and think otherwise.)

We would have been satisfied to just be together but there was a desire, also, to see a part of the country that had become home to one of our children.

However unless time is of no consequence, the old overland routes are much too slow going particularly when there is only a week's time allotted for travel and a visit with the family.

That we did, and the pictures will forever remain, not in print but carefully stored in the recesses of memory to be recalled and treasured in years to come. Nor were all of these lovely mental mementos just of places. Their beauty and wonder was enhanced by the lovely people we met as we went sight-seeing.

So, it was a freeway trip with two bonuses, viewing the Appalachians from the car as we traveled through New York and Niagara Falls from the Peace Bridge.

Our first priority was to see the Atlantic Ocean, a 40 minute drive from my son's home in Pawtucket. The most sophisticated traveler has to be impressed by the awesome expanse and power of that body of water. I have visited all of the Great Lakes and seen them at their stormiest but they are but a titillation of the pound and thud of the Atlantic: pygmies in contrast to a giant.

There were six of us. My son, daughter-in-law, their 16-month old son, and my daughter, her 11-year-old son and myself.

The long stretches of beach were impressive, the horizon stretching out to forever, unbroken by boats or ships. This was nature at its loftiest, uncontrolled by man, unmarred by any of the marine paraphernalia that clutter up inland waters.

For those who have misgivings about travelling with children, don't let that deter you. The baby

'Atomic Cafe' at the DIA

"The Atomic Cafe," released in 1982, described by The Village Voice as "a comic horror film," will be shown by Detroit Film Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28. Showtimes both evenings will be 7 and 9:30 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Tickets at $2 and D.F.T.'s 10-ticket discount coupon book at $15 may be purchased in advance through the museum ticket office (832-2730) and at the door.

Edited entirely from rarely-seen, vintage American propaganda films, television and radio shows, cartoons and once-popular, now-forgotten "bomb songs" like "Atomic Love" by Little Caesar, the film recreates the unintentionally hilarious atmosphere of official insanity that accompanied the Cold War and the birth of the Atomic Bomb.

For a detailed Detroit Film Theatre schedule of weekend movies through December, call the Art Institute ticket office at 832-2730.

Abduction attempt foiled

A cruising Grosse Pointe Park scout car apparently frightened off a man who was trying to abduct a young woman in the 1300 block of Wayburn Road on Sunday, Aug. 15, according to police reports.

The woman, who is 21 years old, told police she was parking her car at about 4:55 a.m. when a man armed with a pistol approached her and demanded her purse. He also told her to come with him, but when he saw a scout car drive by he ran, the woman said. Police could not locate the suspect.

Costly weakness Human biological studies reveal that people who sleep about seven hours a night are less likely to die of coronary heart disease or stroke than people who sleep either more or less, say Today's Health.

NOTICE OF HEARINGS ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, on:

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1982

at 8:00 p.m. to hear the appeal of Dr. David D. Aronson, owner of the premises located at 332 Grosse Pointe Boulevard, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Permit for the construction of a two story addition to the residence located at the foregoing address, and the relocation of the garage at same address. Such permit issuance was denied for reason that:

1. The residence located on the foregoing premises is nonconforming for reason that it projects into the front and side yard space in violation of the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance, and in accordance with the provisions of Article XV, Section 1502, Item 4-A of the City's Zoning Ordinance, no such structure may be enlarged or structurally altered unless a variance is granted.
2. The proposed addition would infringe upon the required front yard of 25 feet, leaving a front yard of 22.0 feet, and thereby requiring a variance from the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance.
3. The proposed relocation of the garage and its detachment from the residence will result in a side yard of 2 feet thereby infringing upon the required side yard of 3 feet and requiring a variance from the provisions of Article XV Section 1503, Item 3 of the City's Zoning Ordinance.

1,500 births in '82

A baby boom at Bon Secours

Due to a recent surge in births, Bon Secours Hospital in Grosse Pointe has had the largest percentage increase in deliveries of all hospitals in the seven county area of Southeastern Michigan between 1977 and 1981. The hospital announced last week.

The statistics were gathered by the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council from the 42 out of 80 hospitals in the area that provide obstetric services.

The statistics show deliveries at Bon Secours Hospital have increased from 751 in 1977 to 1,339 in 1981. The hospital expects 1,500 births in 1982.

The increase happened while Michigan's birth rate has been declining since July, 1980, according to Michigan Department of Public Health data.

One reason for the increase is the hospital's medical and nursing staffs' reputation for providing family-centered care with sensitivity, caring and expertise, the hospital said.

"We have a rule that each patient is an independent person," said Muhammad Ariani, M.D., chief of the obstetrical department at Bon Secours. "She is not like any other person at all. She should be treated like no other person.

"Bon Secours does a good job of making birth as natural and as safe as possible," Dr. Ariani added.

Consolidation of Cottage Hospital's obstetric unit at Bon Secours Hospital in August, 1981 has also contributed to the increase, the hospital said.

The hospital believes its birthing room, infant car seat rental program, prenatal classes, and a gourmet dinner for new parents are what brings obstetric patients to Bon Secours.

Residents named to senior advisory group

The Grosse Pointe Board of Education recently appointed residents to serve on the public schools' Senior Citizen Advisory Committee. The committee was formed three years ago to help determine appropriate activities for the school system to sponsor in meeting the needs of the Grosse Pointe's senior citizens.

Each year members of the advisory committee meet periodically with school administrators responsible for the Departments of Community Services and Continuing Education and the public library, along with the schools' volunteer coordinator.

Those persons appointed to serve on the advisory committee for the 1982-83 school year include Jon Austin, Neighborhood Club of Grosse Pointe, Charles Breen, Cottage Hospital Stroke Club, Burt Francis, American Association of Retired Persons, Dabner Howell, Department of Continuing Education Advisory Committee, Howard Hush, Grosse Pointe Woods Senior Citizens Commission, Eugene Ivanso, Senior Men's Club, and Arthur Jamieson, Village Club.

Other appointees include Betty Kitchin, Food and Friendship Program; Helen Leonard, Outreach Librarian; Elaine Reed, Senior Forum; Stewart Sharrow, Woods Senior Citizens Commission; Irene Sutton, Woods Senior Citizens; Louise TeWalt, Department of Community Service Advisory Committee and Services for Older Citizens; and Kay Whittaker, Senior Women's Club.

School trustee Catherine Brierly will represent the Board of Education on the committee.

Prime Time for senior citizens

(Continued from Page 14A) freshening as the sea air, whose character was as strong as the ocean's pulse. She was a mother raising her family alone, a nurse working the night shift, and a willing and helpful friend. Cheerful and positive in her attitude, she was a central and beloved member of our group who had become drawn together by common interests.

The next day, we saw another side of the ocean. Rock-strewn, it was viewed from a walk high above its surface. It, too, was a reminder that nature, brought into submission to serve man's purposes still retained a power that could never be harnessed. The mystique of the ocean was working on all of us.

This particular spot was shown to us by another gracious person whom we will remember for his generosity in giving up a day of his vacation to show us this other side of the ocean's facade.

There were other impressive excursions — the Kennedy Library, beautifully located on the ocean's front; South Boston, an Irish stronghold, a converted warehouse, Faneuil-Hall now an emporium dedicated to foods of all varieties and boutiques of every description and other sights every tourist to the Boston area tries to visit.

The most memorable night was spent in a small pub in Pawtucket. An Irish gathering place, it featured Irish music, wonderful discussions and two gracious bartenders. One had a Ph.D. in English, the other had a teaching degree.

We will not soon forget an Irish priest we met there who talked to us about Irish literature, giving us more insight and appreciation than we had learned in a whole semester in college.

Another grand person that we met was a young man blessed with Irish charm and a lovely voice, who sang from his heart a repertoire of ballads, ditties and marching songs. As we listened, pride in our heritage was rekindled. No need to search for roots in libraries. Dates and names became unimportant. What counted was recapturing a spirit contained in the words and music of those songs born out of the hopes and struggles, the successes and the unquenchable optimism of our ancestors.

Vacation-wise it was not a sophisticated, glamorous trip. But it was a pleasing, satisfying experience. Our little world had expanded to include memories of what we had seen but, more importantly, people.

A parent and grandparent is never happier than knowing that their children and grandchildren are experiencing a full and happy life. In an era of family instability, it is comforting, and new friends can add a precious dimension to life.

SEMTA installs TDD schedule service

For the first time, deaf and hearing-impaired persons will be able to communicate directly with the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA) with the help of the Teletype Device for the Deaf (TDD).

A TDD, a telecommunications device designed for hearing-impaired individuals to communicate visually, has been installed in the SEMTA Customer Information Center and is ready for use by individuals who have compatible units.

All SEMTA large bus, small bus CONNECTOR and commuter rail schedule information is available through the new SEMTA TDD service. Hearing impaired passengers can also schedule advance reservations for curb-to-curb CONNECTOR service in the tri-county area with the TDD.

SEMTA's TDD service can be reached by hearing-impaired individuals who have compatible equipment by dialing 256-8633.

While the SEMTA Customer Information Center is open weekdays from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 7:30 a.m. until 4 p.m., we recommend that our deaf and hearing-impaired passengers use the TDD service between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. for quicker service," said SEMTA General Manager Gary W. Krause.

The special TDD equipment, which is available to deaf and hearing-impaired persons through Michigan Bell Telephone Company, uses a standard telephone and a small portable terminal to transmit and receive information. The TDD unit features a typewriter-like keyboard for entering information, a video-display screen to observe information which has been entered, and a teletype unit which provides a permanent record on paper of everything that is typed into the unit as well as the responses.

"The SEMTA TDD service is just one of the many services we are providing to meet the special needs of deaf and hearing-impaired passengers," Krause pointed out. "In addition to the TDD, a number of SEMTA employees who work with the public have undergone an introductory course in sign language to help them communicate with the hearing impaired."

"In April 1982 SEMTA placed 15 new large buses in service which are equipped with 'stop requested' signs that light up and enable deaf and hearing-impaired passengers to see that their request to get off the bus has been acknowledged," he added.

With the arrival of the new TDD equipment, SEMTA will begin providing interpreters at public hearings and passenger meetings when requested," Krause said.

Requests for interpreters at SEMTA public hearings and or passenger meetings should be made at least 48 hours in advance by calling SEMTA Community Relations Coordinator Dan Dirks at 256-8718.

Clouds on the GOP horizon

Aside from a few grumblers, Michigan's new Republican leadership is united for a fall campaign in which it hopes to retain the governor's chair, win other state elective posts and possibly even wrest control of one or more houses of the Legislature from the Democrats.

By nominating former Michigan Supreme Court Justice Thomas Brennan for lieutenant governor, Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson for attorney general, and Michigan Northern Railway President Elizabeth Andrus for secretary of state, the GOP convention in Grand Rapids last week put together a slate which it believes will be able to win success in November.

Even Lt. Gov. James Brickley, who was one of the losers in the gubernatorial race, appeared to join the unity campaign by nominating Brennan for his own post.

YET BEFORE THE NEW leaders under Richard Headlee, the Farmington Hills insurance executive who is the party's choice for governor, start relishing their November election victories, they still should consider a few political clouds on the horizon.

One is that Gov. William Milliken, while endorsing Headlee and the ticket, has made it clear that the extent of his support will be in doubt so long as Headlee continues to run against Coleman Young and Detroit. Milliken attended the state convention only briefly, explaining he did not want to appear to be stealing the limelight from Headlee.

Another is that neither Headlee nor Patterson could refrain from taking political whacks at Milliken whose own choice for the GOP nomination, Brickley, was beaten by Headlee. Milliken critics said the governor was a poor loser by failing to spend more time at the convention. But Milliken supporters felt that Headlee and Patterson were, in effect, poor winners by their attacks on the retiring governor.

A third is that while the GOP convention nominated one woman, Ms. Andrus, for secretary of state and three other women as candidates for the boards of Michigan's three major universities, some GOP women are still upset at the fact that both the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor are opposed to free choice of abortion as well as the now-defunct equal rights amendment.

A fourth possible GOP handicap the attack by Headlee and former Gov. George Romney against union bosses as bearing much of the blame for the state's economic troubles. It is true the AFL-CIO, the UAW and the teachers unions already have endorsed the Democratic nominee, James Blanchard, but the GOP attack on union leaders will tend to increase organized labor's opposition to the GOP and make it more difficult for Headlee to make a distinction between labor leaders and the union members he hopes to woo to the GOP. And while high labor costs have contributed to Michigan's woes, most of the blame has to be put on the national economic recession.

While the GOP show of unity was impressive, the public knows that what it saw and heard in Grand Rapids were the voices of the party leaders. The question now is whether the party will pursue the narrow, more conservative road that Headlee appears to be following or whether the nominee for governor and the new conservative team will broaden the party's appeal to the moderates, middle-of-the-roaders and even conservative Democrats who, after all, helped elect Milliken time after time.

A worthwhile proposal

It is not a new technique but Robert E. FitzPatrick, the Republican nominee for Wayne County executive, now has challenged the front-runner, Sheriff William Lucas, the Democratic nominee, to a face-to-face debate on the issues involving Wayne County and the executive's position. It's a good idea and we hope the sheriff agrees to a debate even though it was proposed by his Republican opponent.

IT IS TRADITIONAL for lagging challengers to seek debates with their foes, but front-runners often have been forced into accepting the idea just because it is popular with the public if not with the professional politicians. In Lucas' case, he's an articulate, pleasant and popular man who ought not to fear a debate with his foe. In fact, we think a series of debates would be extremely helpful to the public.

As FitzPatrick said in issuing his challenge, Wayne County citizens "have every right to know the candidates' basic differences in administrative capability, philosophy of government operations and executive experience." Debates are not the only way in which such basic differences can be shown but they certainly can be an effective way of getting that message to the public.

FitzPatrick, a former Wayne County Board of Commissioners chairman, points out that the county deficit of $1.8 million in January, 1971, when he took office, was transformed into a $12.4 million surplus by 1974, his final year in office. In view of the fact that the county has been running in the red ever since and the deficit now has reached almost $18 million, FitzPatrick does make a point about his own record. It is also true, of course, that the county board chairman did not and does not exercise the same amount of power that the new county executive will have when he takes office next Jan. 1.

FitzPatrick has two strikes against his candidacy. One is that Lucas is personally popular and his name has high recognition. The other is that Wayne County is so heavily Democratic that it is unusual when any Republican can win a county-wide race.

Because of those factors, FitzPatrick is reminding voters that he always has believed that local government should be a nonpartisan system, and in fact, had filed for county executive on both tickets for that reason. When forced by the courts to make a choice, he selected the GOP ballot as a matter of political practicality — meaning he didn't think he could defeat Lucas in the Democratic primary — even though he himself is a lifelong Democrat.

FITZPATRICK BELIEVES the executive ability of the county executive, fiscal reform and jobs are the three major issues in the campaign. Whichever party voters favor, a debate, or a series of debates between FitzPatrick and Lucas would help them arrive at their choices on the basis of facts and opinions derived from such a confrontation rather than simply on the basis of blind political partisanship.

A victory for compromise

That 226 to 207 vote by which the U.S. House of Representatives approved the $98.3 billion tax bill last week proved again that politics makes strange bedfellows not only on the national scene but in Michigan as well.

In this case, a Republican President, Ronald Reagan, and a Democratic Speaker of the House, Tip O'Neill, supported the tax measure and pleaded for its passage but Democratic Congressman James Blanchard of Pleasant Ridge, his party's nominee for governor, voted against it along with Democratic Congressmen George Crockett and Dennis Hertel of Detroit, who represent the Pointes in Congress, and Republican Congressman Mark Siljander of Three Rivers. It was truly a collection of odd couples on both sides.

IN THE FINAL vote 103 Republicans and 123 Democrats supported the bill while 89 Republicans and 118 Democrats opposed it. With this close division, neither party ought to be able to make a partisan issue or even assess credit or blame in the fall election campaign. But don't bet on it. Incumbents may wish to explain their votes, especially if challengers question their motives.

Different constituencies had different views of the bill, however. Ultraconservatives in and out of Congress felt that the President had deserted his own pledge to reduce the size of government even though the bill requires budget cuts as well as tax hikes. Liberals didn't like the increases in taxes on cigarettes and telephone service, the reductions in individual income tax deductions for medical costs and health insurance premiums, the new requirement that restaurants with 10 employees or more report their waiters' tips, and the new spending cuts for Medicare and Medicaid. Businessmen opposed the changes that cost them advantages voted into law in last year's tax bill and closed tax loopholes helpful to business and industry.

Yet many conservatives and liberals joined in voting for the bill because it is expected to reduce the deficit and, as the President said, help get the country's economy moving again. Liberals also were wooed by the provision for extending unemployment benefits up to 10 weeks in states, such as Michigan, where benefits would have soon expired.

In the end, the bill proved to be a patchwork of compromises needed to win the votes for passage. And that patchwork, of course, explains the strange coalition of Democrats and Republicans, conservatives and liberals that finally made the bill become law, and proved again that politics is the art of compromise.

Even though some of the President's constituency in and out of Congress disagreed with the bill and his support of it, the final approval was again a tribute to Mr. Reagan's leadership.

IF THE PASSAGE of the tax bill was a defeat for supply side economics, as some observers claim, the general public is unlikely to hold that against the President if, indeed, the measure does help to reestablish confidence in the economy and give a needed boost to the recovery that so many people, especially in Michigan, are praying for. At this point, the public is more interested in that result than the route taken to achieve it.

Know Your Schools

A trustee's proper contribution

By Kenneth Brummel
Superintendent of Schools

John Fisher, past president of Teacher's College, Columbia University, has noted that, "The proper contribution of the school board member is not expertise, but wisdom; not detailed knowledge, but high values and sound judgement."

In this second column about board of education functions, I want to examine some of the ways the trustees of the Grosse Pointe Board of Education makes their "proper contribution."

As representatives of the citizens of this school district, board members are responsible to the state government for the education of all pupils in kindergarten through 12th grade and for adult and community school programs. Thus, board trustees are state officers elected in the manner prescribed by law and for the purpose of discharging a legal responsibility. As state officers, board members have to uphold state laws when exercising the authority of their office.

As an elected body, the board identifies community aspirations and needs, and develops educational programs and services based on financial plans that are consistent with community resources. Educational policies reflecting community attitudes and aspirations are implemented by the superintendent of schools, who is appointed by the board as its executive officer.

Two of the most important duties of the board are to establish policy and determine goals for the school system. Existing policies are reviewed and changed as necessary and new policies added when appropriate. In determining goals for a new school year, the board reviews accomplishments of past school years and staff recommendations for the future, a process that is occurring now. Goals consistent with the system's philosophy statement are then developed and further expanded in individual, departmental and building objectives.

The members of the board of education also recognize their crucial role in promoting education in the community. Therefore, they conduct their business in a manner that reflects a strong commitment to quality education for all residents and fosters public confidence in their actions.

The board serves as the vital link between the public and the schools. It is the desire of the board to provide an avenue for citizens to express interest in and concern for the schools. Accordingly, residents are strongly urged to learn what is happening in the schools, to visit regularly with the leadership of individual schools and the school system, and to attend meetings of the board.

Through citizen participation in school activities, students, community and school staff are brought together in a partnership that improves instructional programs, defines positions of responsibility and accountability, develops a sense of appreciation for all peoples, enables the school system to meet community needs, and provides unlimited opportunities for the schools to serve all residents.

In the final column of this series, I will explain briefly the relationship between the board and the superintendent as the board discharges its legal responsibilities in operating the school system.

Newspapers misunderstand county's problems

To the Editor:

The editorial in the Aug. 19, edition of the Grosse Pointe News saying, in part, "Both were widely regarded as having been part of the county's problems" is a cheap shot — unfounded — in fact, unintelligent.

I shall only speak for myself as I ask for an apology. The writer, had he done his homework as I have for the past five and a half years, would not have made such a stupid statement. There was no effort made by the Grosse Pointe News to look at my record which would indicate a perfect attendance record, a voting record devoid of abstentions, resolutions requesting county reform, resolutions for the betterment of the public health and safety, and 60 to 70 hours of weekly work — 52 weeks each year for the past five and a half years.

What will not be evident is any attempt at witch-hunting which is the forte of some commissioners, past and present, for one intended purpose only — and that is "media exposure." It is evident that the writer does not have first hand knowledge of county government but is a reader of our two daily papers from which he gleans his material — sort of "the blind leading the blind."

The irony of all of this is that when the state of Michigan or the city of Detroit make serious and costly blunders, such as they both have made many times, the media "cries crocodile tears," ignoring the fact that these costly blunders were caused by poor management. The county, not unlike the state and the city, has the same economic problems but also, in addition, has five constitutional officers elected county-wide. These elected officials — the county clerk, the drain commissioner, the register of deeds, the prosecutor, and the Sheriff — overspend their budget appropriation, creating deficits in the county's budget. When the board of commissioners refuses to appropriate additional funds, they are immediately faced with court action instituted by the grieved elected official. The media find this a good time to stick their head in the sand. There is danger in this practice — "suffocation."

The media — has also supported in the most emphatic way the county charter — that is good. I am pleased that by supporting county reform the media is supporting me. I was one of seven commissioners who introduced the county reform resolution. The sad part of all of this is the weak document which emerged is certainly not what I wanted. I wanted a stronger instrument — one with more answers than questions. One must look at the composition of the charter commission and then the reasons for such a poor instrument becomes vividly apparent. The charter commissioners had no more knowledge of Wayne County's complex problems than the writer of the editorial.

Only time will tell if this weak charter is in the best interest of the county residents. Yellow journalism will be the order of the day in reporting events relative to county functions. The media is on record in support of this inadequate document and most certainly cannot be shown in error.

I pride myself as a man of integrity and honor and I will be the first to publicly apologize if I am wrong. If the media is truthful and honest in its reporting, then that will be a milestone in journalism in this part of the state, and an apology from me will not be necessary.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

It will be a Red Letter Wednesday for Mrs. Robert Gerisch Sept. 8 when, as the group's new president, she presides at the Detroit Review Club's season kickoff luncheon — a complete sellout! — at the Village Woman's Club in Bloomfield Hills.

Betty Gerisch is used to sellouts as she has numerous awards, including a "Heart of Gold," attesting to her fund raising ability and her interest in cultural and philanthropic projects. She's a veteran chief executive, too, past-president of many clubs including three that have special significance for the DRC: the Salvation Army Auxiliary, founded by DRC's 1908-1910 president, Delphine Dodge Ashbaugh; the Women's City Club, DRC's home from the time it opened until it closed; and the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, president emeritus of which for many years was DRC's past-president (1918-1920) Mrs. G. Leon Haywood.

The September luncheon sellout began in mid-June at the Review Club's annual tea, held at the Pointe home of Mrs. James Mullaney, the club's retiring president. Inez Mullaney had announced at the annual meeting that the DRC would be honoring one of its members at the tea, for her work throughout the years — but that the honoree's name would not be revealed until the June party.

Inez' first order of business was to ask Betty to introduce Lou (Mrs. Aaron E.) Wilcox, of Loraine Road, who, as program chairman, had been told she was to announce her line-up of guest speakers for the coming year ... and Lou was the most surprised lady at the party when she was told that BEFORE she could get around to doing what she had planned to do, she had to accept a Plaque of Honor for her longtime service to the DRC. Needless to say, Lou was delighted.

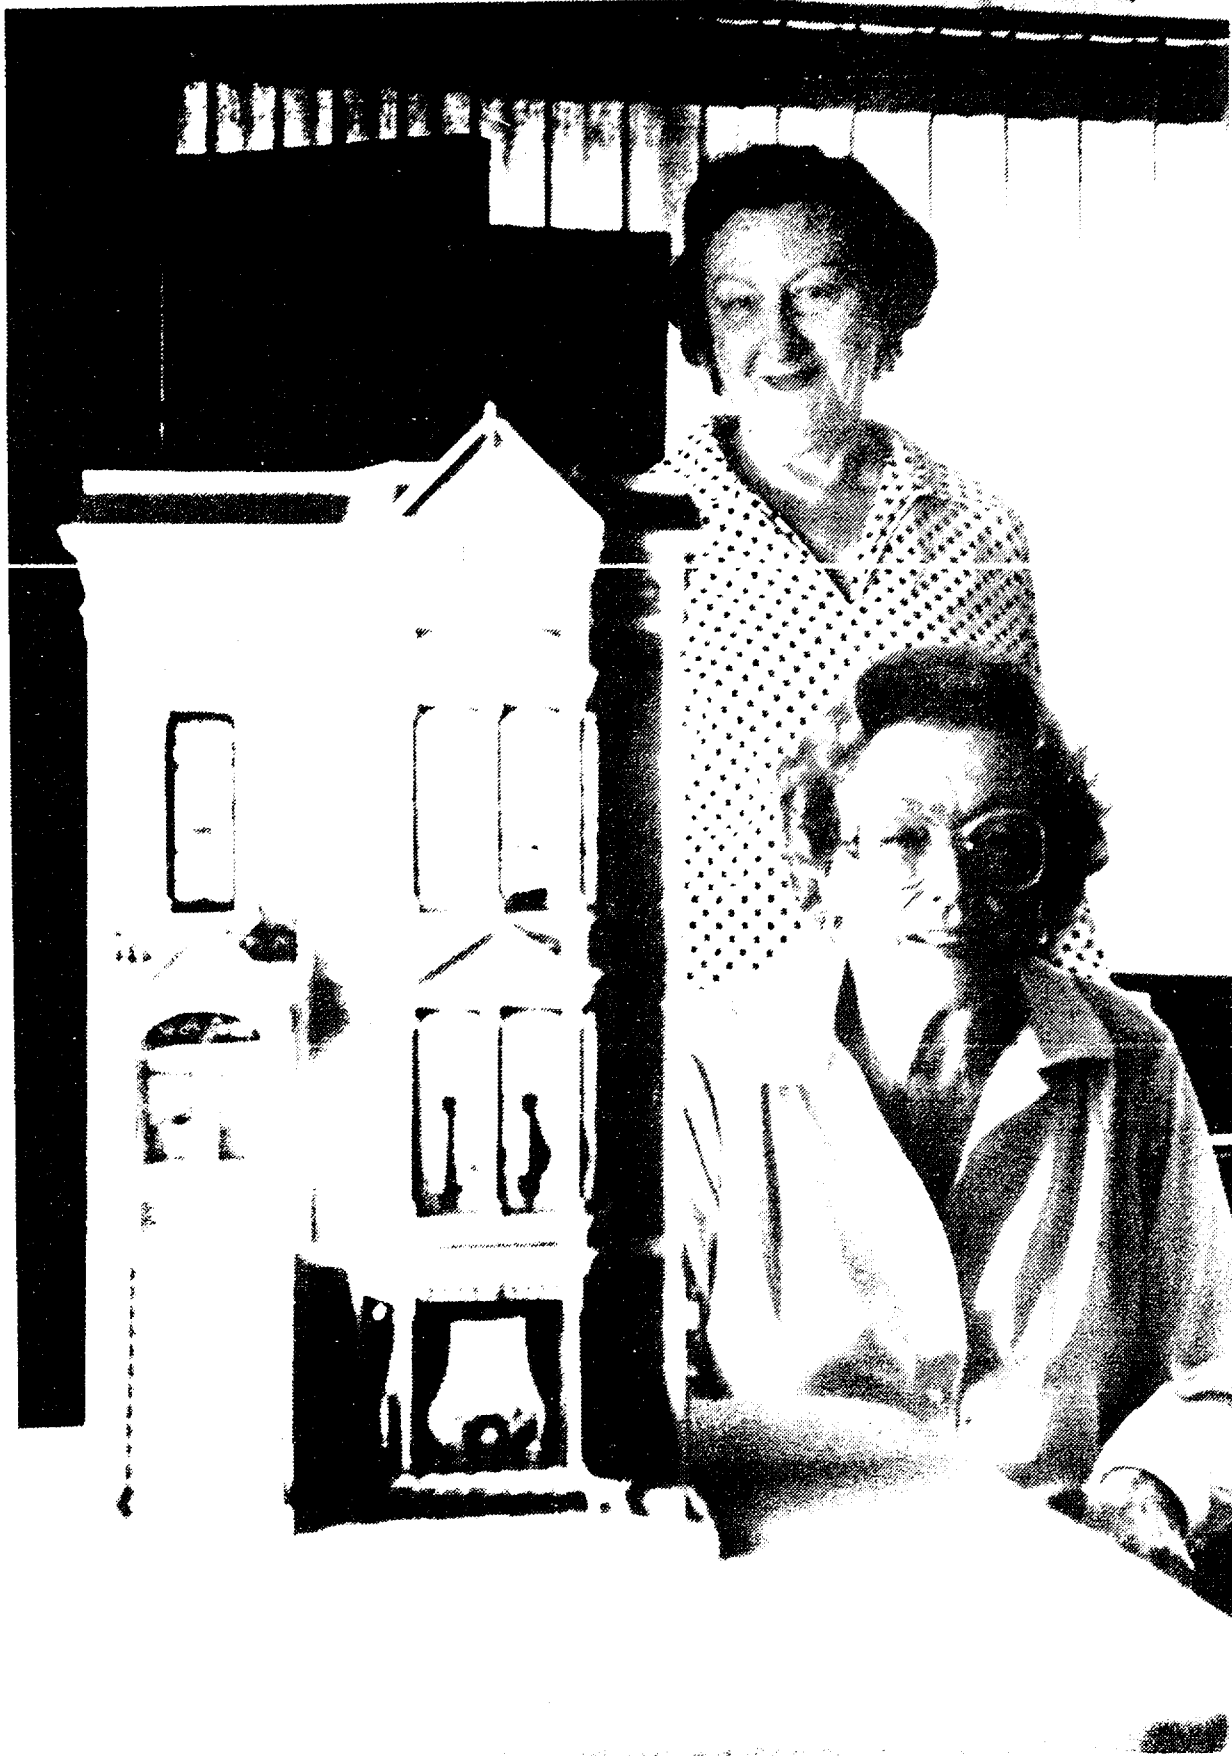

And needless to say, after a gracious acceptance speech, Lou got back to business and did her program chairman thing. When she announced that Detroit News columnist Pete Waldmeir was to be the guest speaker at the 1982-83 season kickoff luncheon, members and guests wanted to sign up for it immediately; among the first in line was Mrs. William Howard whose nephew, Elton A. Eckstrand, a handsome lawyer and car racing buff, had the opportunity, several years ago, to purchase Penkill Castle in Scotland.

Pete Waldmeir wrote about "The Laird from Grosse Pointe" in a Detroit News Magazine feature story in October of 1980. Penkill has been extensively renovated via sunken baths, wall-to-wall carpeting in the bedrooms and a modern, restaurant type kitchen, but the "new" Laird insisted upon, and succeeded in, keeping the "old" charm with all the mod cons. A limited number of guests are welcome, at a large fee.

Pete and his daughter, Patti, spent some time at the castle. "Aunt Ethel" has spent many weeks there. She's bringing her prized copy of the Detroit News story with her to the DRC kickoff luncheon, hoping the author will autograph it for her. We just bet he does — and we just bet that when the Laird visits Grosse Pointe later this year, Betty, Lou or Ethel will ask him to appear at a DRC luncheon. And we just bet he does, in kilt, with a piper to pipe him in.

Kay has actively pursued her hobby for the past three years, collecting items for her displays during her travels. Her rooms are delightful, ranging from the traditional to the unique. Her Wild West Saloon comes complete with cards and tiny bottles. Her Spanish Chalet features 127 Lilliputian bundles of straw thatching. Her Arabian Tent is exquisitely authentic.

She has designed and worked miniature needlepoint pictures to be placed in Victorian settings, and fashioned a Chinese pagoda complete with bamboo mats, ming trees — and slippers!

And she is just ONE of the Small World exhibitors whose rooms — more than 40 of them — will be on display in the War Memorial's Studio I during the Festival. The others include Priscilla Blair, Anne Boomer, Robert Bowen, Karen Burt, Shirley Cavanaugh, John Denkel, Peter Fronteria, Terry Henson, Mary Jean Harland, Dorie Krusz, Elizabeth Lubera, Gladys Rose, Helen Marshall, Nancy Marvin and Susan Innes.

There's no admission charge for the Festival, and there's no admission charge for the Small World exhibit. Parking, too, is free. Light lunches will be available at nominal cost. There'll be demonstrations, a carillon concert and a special section of crafts for children plus the work of over 170 artists and craftsmen on display in the main exhibit area.

SUSAN LEVITAN, daughter of RICHARD and BONNIE LEVITAN of The Pointe, participated in the Women in Engineering workshop held at Michigan Technological University in July. Susan is an MTU senior.

Winter semester honor students from Central Michigan University included sophomores JOHN W. DeBOER, of Washington Road, AMY E. DIETZ, of Washington Road, and DEAN C. GRAHAM, of Bishop Road.

The finals are scheduled for the following Saturday, Sept. 25, the super-finals for Sunday, Sept. 26. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cameron

Mr. and Mrs. Michael E. Starrs

Miss Gray wed at Star of Sea

At home in Haslett are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robert Cameron who exchanged marriage vows Friday, June 4, at an evening ceremony in Our Lady Star of the Sea Church. Mrs. Cameron is the former Patricia Anne Gray, daughter of Mrs. Robert James Gray, of Faircourt, and the late Mr. Gray.

Mr. Cameron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gray Cameron, of Birmingham.

The 6 o'clock ceremony at which Father Hector Saulino presided was followed by a reception at the Detroit Yacht Club, where the couple are junior members. They drank their champagne toast from the bridegroom's parents' 25th anniversary silver champagne glasses.

Miss Campbell wed in summer

The wedding of Judith Marie Campbell and Michael Edward Starrs Friday evening, August 6, in Saint Paul's-on-the-Lakeshore was followed by a reception at the Gourmet House. The newlyweds vacationed at Harbor Springs. They will make their home in Troy.

The bride, daughter of former Moross Road residents Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Campbell, who now make their home in Ortonville, wore a traditional dress, its bodice and long sleeves fashioned of Alencon lace, its skirt of nylon tulle, with a chapel train, bordered in satin and appliqued with Alencon lace. Seed pearls accented the gown's scoop neckline and sleeves.

After a weekend vacation at the St. Clair Inn, the bridegroom, a district sales representative for Fram Corporation, a Bendix Company, left for a two-week training seminar in Providence, R.I. The bride, who works for Hudson's at the new Meridian Mall in Okemos, joined him the following weekend for a vacation in Newport, R.I.

The former Miss Gray selected a traditional, lace-trimmed wedding gown of white chiffon. Her lace-trimmed veil was waltz length and fell from a Juliet cap. Her flowers were stephanotis, crown lilies and ivy, and she carried her great-grandmother's lace wedding handkerchief.

Kathleen Marie Gray, honor attendant for her sister, wore a gown of rose-colored Qiana with a matching chiffon jacket. Bridesmaids, dressed identically in lavender gowns and jackets, were Margaret Brenner, the bride's cousin, and Sharon Sue Cameron, the bridegroom's sister-in-law.

Don L. Cameron acted as best man for his brother. Ushering were David B. Cameron and John G. Cameron Jr., two other brothers, William T. Camp, the bridegroom's fraternity brother, and Edwin Meier, the bride's uncle.

Mrs. Gray selected a floor length dress of deep lavender Qiana and a corsage of two cymbidium orchids for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother's dress, also floor length, was fashioned of rose-colored, flowered chiffon. She, too, wore a cymbidium orchid corsage.

the Village Woman's Club and, as a longtime DRC member, has been asked to be chairman of the day. She has asked Lou Wilcox to introduce the speaker. Earlier in the summer, Mrs. Flanders entertained some of the luncheon committee members at a preliminary planning session.

She hosted a final planning session at her home last week. Those she has entertained include Betty Gerisch, Lou Wilcox, Mrs. Joseph Bunono, Mrs. James Houlihan, Mrs. Justin Emery, Mrs. Stuart Jr. and Mrs. Fred Gies; all but the hostess and Mrs. Gerisch are from Our Side of Town.

On The Road with Lou and Ed

The day after the DRC's June tea, which fell on Lou and Ed Wilcoxes' 56th wedding anniversary, they headed north with Lou's sister, Irene (Mrs. Coby) Byl. Their destination was Marquette where they were entertained by one of Lou's young astrology clients, Patricia Canonie. It was a typical Wilcox trip: meeting new people, enjoying new places and experiences to the hilt.

The Wilcoxes love to travel, and they do it well. They were all over Florida this winter, rendezvousing with old friends like Trudy (Mrs. Charles) Gunn, who moved with her husband to St. Petersburg after he retired as general manager of CKLW. Trudy, who had never held a paying job in her life (but she HAD been president of the Women's City Club when Lou was that club's program chairman, and heading a 7,000-member organization with an operating budget of at least $1 million, requires a knowledge of finances, public relations and salesmanship... among other things), found retirement life a little dull, so she decided to hire herself out at a boutique on Treasure Island.

A year later, Charles bought her the first Trudy Boutique, at Dolphin Island. Now she has five shops, each with its own smart white panel truck with Trudy I, II, III, IV and V lettered in black on the side panels. Since Charles died, she has involved her son, daughter-in-law and daughter in the business.

Trudy who, Lou reports, looks marvelous, buys in New York, California, Texas — even Paris. She does custom shopping for people who live in the area all year. The second boutique she bought was the Treasure Island one she worked at first. She is training her daughter and daughter-in-law in buying, and they love it! They also love Trudy, but then: everybody does.

"I'll always remember the time I was asked to chair the Glamour Pink luncheon at the City Club, when they redecorated their dining room," Lou reminisces. "I was using pink cloths and American Beauty roses as decor, and Kathleen Casey, from Glamour Magazine, was coming in as guest speaker. Trudy helped make the party sensational by tinting her beautiful white hair glamour pink, and talked some of her friends into tinting their hair pink, too." Trust a Leo to come up with the right dramatic touch, every time.

News Flash from The Far West

Returning last week from a visit to Seattle, Pointer Mary Willingham reports that George Kurz, recently retired pastor of Saint James Lutheran Church, and his wife, Eunice, enjoyed a banner August day salmon fishing in the Pacific out of Westport, netting 90 pounds of fish. Pastor Kurz, competing with about 800 people in some 50 charter boats, landed the second largest fish of the day: a 35-pound king salmon. He also reeled in both a 20-pound and a 15-pound king. Eunice, not to be outdone, ended the day with a catch including 20 pounds of sea bass.

Moon Festival dates at WSU

The Chinese American Educational and Cultural Center, in conjunction with Wayne State University's Alumni Association, will be celebrating its sixth annual Moon Festival Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 11 and 12, at various locations on the WSU campus. The public is invited to attend the Chinese lunar celebration traditionally held to give thanks for a good harvest, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. that weekend.

The festival begins with a colorful and exciting Lion Dance which, according to CAECC Director Chen of Hsieh, "is the appropriate activity to begin this ancient Chinese celebration."

New this year will be a martial arts demonstration by local instructor Franklin Fu. This special event was arranged by the Association of Chinese Americans.

Fu's specialty is Tai Chi Chuan, known for its slow and graceful movements which are performed daily as a type of exercise. "We are delighted that Franklin will be able to demonstrate to the public this form of martial arts which has remained so popular for many decades," says Roland Hwang, ACA president.

The Moon Festival will also feature Chinese dances, calligraphy and painting demonstrations, fashion shows, children's games, Chinese movies, food and gift booths, as well as a Tea House at the WSU Alumni House.

Hsieh explains: "The Moon Festival is not only for celebrating the harvesting of crops and the full September moon, but it is also a time for sharing pleasures with friends and family and the remembrance of beautiful traditions."

Hold Gowanie Ladies' tourney

Gowanie Ladies Golf Association members ended their three-day (Aug. 3, 4 and 5) medal tournament this year with a new club champion: Audrey Ramge. Runner-up was Elvira Toepfer.

First Flight winner was Eloise Redinger, with Nancy Krebs the runner-up. Second Flight winner and runner-up, respectively, were Ardeth Brown and Florence Simpson. Third Flight honors went to Rosemary Juif, winner, and Angie Venetits, runner-up. Fourth Flight winners were Margaret White, winner, and Ann Molling, runner-up.

Field winners for the 34 holes were Eloise Redinger and Rosemary Juif, who tied for the low net, and Nancy Krebs, who had the lowest putts. The tournament was co-chaired by Ann Schim and Trudy Vincent.

everyone adjourned to Bennett's Courtyard for dinner and prize giving. The Fern Hill luncheon followed Suburban Women Golfer's annual mini-tournament at Partridge Creek Golf Course. That luncheon, held early this month, honored the tournament and weekly events winners, and during it nominating the committee chairperson Ginny Connors announced a slate of officers for the 1983 golf season headed by Sue Dip as president and Mearl Frame as vice-president. Recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively, are Marion Bockstanz and Pat Cushman. Georgette Szejbach will serve as treasurer. Events planned for September include a two-week medal play tournament and a second husband/wife outing at Partridge Creek.

Remodeling with an eye to the future

Last year Americans spent a record $16.4 billion fixing up their homes. In many cases they did so because they couldn't afford a new house, but others were prudently improving not only their present living conditions but their future investment as well.

There's no question about it: remodeling can be a blue ribbon investment in your home. Here, according to the August Reader's Digest, are some of the remodeling moves that can pay the homeowner handsomely.

• Almost anything you do to update an aging kitchen: new cabinets, flooring, work spaces. Caution: don't spend more than 10 percent of your estimated selling cost.

• A bright, modern bathroom or adding a second bathroom are valuable selling points.

• Increasing the insulation can be a top investment. Not only will it save you money now, it will also pay off when you sell.

• Aluminum siding will probably not return 100 percent on your investment, but many homeowners think it is well worth the money.

• Adding a family room if you don't already have one should also yield a good return. People have come to expect them. Don't, however, sacrifice garage or other necessary existing space.

There are other remodeling plans that may not necessarily contribute to your selling price, though they may give you and your family much happiness. Among them:

• A swimming pool. While you may cherish its pleasures, others view it as a lot of work.

• Top grade carpeting. To many, carpet is carpet.

• A new wing. If, in doing so, you outclass your neighborhood, you won't be able to recoup your investment.

• New heater, roof or furnace. These fail to impress buyers unless they are in deteriorating shape. These items are musts, anyway.

Back to school tips for parents

Parents can do a few simple things that will make the first days at school go smoothly, the National Education Association points out. Here are some tips that can help your child start the school year right:

- Be sure the school has a record of your child's immunizations, completed medical forms and proof of age.
- Make certain the child can take care of basic personal needs, such as tying shoes, knowing the first and last names of parents, home address and telephone number — and how to use a bathroom.
- Make certain the child gets a good night's sleep and a good breakfast before the first day at school.
- Practice the best route to and from school or the bus stop.

Remember that a parents' own reactions and attitudes go a long way toward determining how a child feels about school.

Proclaim Cystic Fibrosis Week

President Ronald Reagan and the Congress of the United States have proclaimed Sept. 19 to 25 as National Cystic Fibrosis Week throughout the country. Cystic Fibrosis is the number one genetic killer of children in America.

children born will live past the age of 21. Few will enter their 30s. Cystic Fibrosis is an inherited and degenerative disease that attacks the lungs and digestive system by producing a thick, glue-like mucus that impairs normal breathing and digestion.

Darlene Krato, president of the Metropolitan Detroit Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, explains that "this week is not for fund raising. It is to inform the public that CF exists, and that we're working very hard to find a cure."

Early diagnosis is imperative. One of the signs of CF is a salty taste of the skin of the youngster. If, when kissing a child, you taste salt, contact a physician immediately.

"Major research improvements have been made. Only 15 years ago, it was rare for a child to live long enough to enter grade school. Today, thanks to improved medical treatment, nearly half the Cystic Fibrosis

"We all need to learn more about this disease, especially since Cystic Fibrosis can often be mistaken for other common childhood diseases. The mistake could be deadly," Krato says. For further information and locations of local treatment centers, contact the Metropolitan Detroit Chapter, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, at 552-9616.

Pointer of Interest

By Jenna Doe

You're driving along a country road late one night. As you guide the car around a curve your headlights reveal a hitch-hiker. The debate with yourself begins. Should you risk picking up the hitch-hiker? Warning signals flood your thoughts: don't talk to strangers, lock your doors and never, never, never pick up a hitch-hiker.

On the other hand, this is a lonely road and it could be hours before another car comes along. Never trusting anyone is inhibiting your lifestyle, and the company might be pleasurable. You stop. But the hitch-hiker makes no move towards the car. You get out and realize that the hitch-hiker is a plywood replica of a man with a series of notes written on its back telling where it's been and its destination. You've just met one of Jim Pallas' hitch-hikers.

Pallas, Grosse Pointe Park sculptor, began the hitch-hiker project when the Detroit Focus Gallery asked for entries in its mail art show. Pallas made the hitch-hiker of himself sitting in lotus position and hung a sign around its neck that said "Detroit." He set it on a blacktop road near Lake Odessa with a note thanking the driver who stopped for it and indicating that it was headed for 743 Beaubien, with no mention of the gallery. The hitch-hiker arrived the next day.

Since then Pallas has made a number of hitch-hikers, including family members, local artists and celebrities. Pallas gives the completed hitch-hiker to the subject to be sent wherever the subject chooses. Pallas then checks on the whereabouts of the hitch-hiker from time to time.

"THE HITCH-HIKER project is a romantic piece about risk and the open road," Pallas says. He has no intention of making money on the project.

Pallas is best known for his electronic sculptures. He is the creator of Century of Light, the sculpture on Washington Boulevard that is a network of lights, equipped with microphone and radar that responds to the people on the boulevard. The lights will follow a pedestrian across the street or respond to a conversation spoken in normal tones.

The programming module for Century of Light is a seven and one-half-foot sculpture of white painted metal, with a micro computer, keyboard, screen, a sharpener and popcorn popper. This module, Progmod, can be programmed to perform a number of light responses on a smaller light screen, in the same way that Century of Light does. Progmod can be disassembled to fit in a Honda, taken downtown and plugged into Century of Light to reprogram the large sculpture. Although the two sculptures can work together, both sculptures can be worked and enjoyed independently.

Pallas has always been interested in motion and sound. Early sculptures, when he was an art student at Wayne State University, often are on wheels with sound illustrations. His first piece

Polish Opera Festival slated

A Polish Opera Festival, benefiting the upcoming Michigan Opera Theatre production of the Polish masterpiece "The Haunted Castle," will run from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 29, at the Polish National Alliance Hall on Conant in Hamtramck.

The day begins with a pancake breakfast and includes presentations by area dance and song ensembles, a bake sale, games for children and adults, a flea market, a boutique stocked with posters, music and other souvenirs of the opera — and plenty of good Polish food.

The program is sponsored by the Polish Roman Catholic Union, the Polish Women's Alliance, the Polish Falcons, the Alliance of Poles, the Summer fun for Phase I

Phase I, the organization for single, young adults, ages 20 through 39, who gather regularly fall through spring for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, has a pair of end-of-summer activities planned for this weekend.

Business Administration from the University of Denver at commencement exercises June 5.

DEAN VANLANDUYT, son of MR. and MRS. R. VANLANDUYT, of Regal Place, was graduated in May from the University of Texas with a bachelors degree in Civil Engineering and is now employed with the Bridge Division, State of Texas.

Jim Pallas, of Bishop Road, with Progmod.

with a motor is the Pendulum and Wheel. It is a sculpture of steel and electronic components. The motor is switched on and off with a mercury switch.

"Eventually I wanted to do circuitry, so I began replacing the mercury with transistors," Pallas says.

Pallas has taught himself electronics. But when he has a question he goes to the experts for an answer. Computer specialists Rene Vaga and Randy Mims worked closely with Pallas on the Century of Light sculpture.

PALLAS WORKS IN a garage-studio where he appears quite comfortable. The studio is lined with drawers containing electronic material. There is a file cabinet where Pallas keeps records of everything from newspaper articles to his open notebook projects. (These are projects that are continuing, like the hitch-hiker project.) A telephone and intercom connect him to the outside world. Black boards of incomplete electronic circuits decorate the walls.

Pallas' most recent sculpture, Son of Bird on a Perch, a working name subject to change, sits in the corner, feathers flipping and lights blinking in response to the sounds in the garage. He says he plans to change the sculpture because he thinks it's boring.

"Good art doesn't go stale," he says. "It must remain constantly interesting, even if you don't like it. If it's a real work of art you will always notice a new association in the sculpture." Son of Bird on a Perch has failed to meet this requirement.

Pallas is a professor of art at Macomb County Community College, South Campus, where he teaches full-time. He is also involved with the world's largest sculpture with another Macomb art professor, David Barr.

This sculpture consists of an invisible tetrahedron spanning the inside of the earth with the outer four corners just protruding from the crust of the earth, according to an essay by David Barr. The artists travel to the four corners of the earth, which were determined by a University of Michigan geographer, to create the sculpture by setting a small tetrahedron in the exact place designated. The four corners are Easter Island, South Africa, New Guinea and Greenland.

MANY PEOPLE ARE collaborating on the project. Pallas is doing the photography and tape recording. "Maybe a book or a film will come out of the project, but mainly it is an idea for your head," he said.

Pallas accompanied Barr to Greenland last summer and they are awaiting visas to complete the project in New Guinea.

Pallas has just completed a show at Detroit Focus Gallery. He is represented by Allan Stone Gallery in New York. He currently has a piece on loan to the Macomb Community College library. Pallas explains that it is a self-portrait that has a plastic bubble type scalp. When one stands in front of the sculpture and talks to it, saying, "You are brilliant, or very talented," the head inflates and gets larger and larger.

Pallas says that his art is accessible. "It doesn't have to be explained. Everyone likes it." He says that some people will say his work is not art — but they still look at it.

Pallas' shows are popular. All of the sculptures are covered with an aesthetic guarantee. "If the piece goes bad I'll buy it back, whatever was paid," Pallas says. A piece has never been returned.

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, a group of PURE and DIFFERENT LOW-CALORIE SALAD DRESSINGS.

Weary of eating the same old commercial low-calorie salad dressings based on various vegetable gums? Why not try one of these truly different and totally pure dressings tonight? All are based on a method used by famous French chefs for years. Just boil 3 Tbsp. of white rice with 1 cup water for 45 minutes until the rice is very mushy (rice, blanch in favor, imparts no taste to the finished product). In blender, whirl cooled rice with the remaining ingredients — et voila! — a delicious, pure, low-calorie salad dressing for just pennies.

HERB DRESSING

3 Tbsp. white rice
1 cup water
2 1/2 cup "favorite" vinegar
1/4 cup water
6 sprigs parsley
6 sprigs watercress
1 stalk celery, diced
2 green onions, sliced
1 small clove garlic, quartered
Juice of 1 lemon
1/2 tsp. salt
1 Tbsp. sugar
4 dashes hot sauce
1/4 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

Boil rice in 1 cup water for 45 minutes. Cool. Add all ingredients to a blender and blend until smooth. Makes 2 cups.

GARLIC AND LEMON DRESSING

3 Tbsp. white rice
1 cup water
2 1/2 cup "favorite" vinegar
1/4 cup water
2 cloves garlic, peeled
Juice of 1 lemon
1/2 tsp. seasoned salt
2 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. turmeric
3 dashes hot sauce

Boil rice in 1 cup water for 45 minutes. Cool. Add all ingredients to a blender and blend until smooth. Makes 2 cups.
Calories about 7 per tablespoon.

TOMATO DRESSING

3 Tbsp. white rice
1 cup water
1 cup tomato juice
2 1/2 cup "favorite" vinegar
2 Tbsp. tomato puree
1/2 green pepper, chopped
3 green onions, chopped
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
3 sprigs parsley
1 tsp. paprika
Juice of 1/2 lemon
1/2 tsp. salt
3 dashes hot sauce
3 dashes Worcestershire sauce

Boil rice in water for 45 minutes. Cool slightly. Add all ingredients to a blender and blend until smooth. Makes 4 cups.
Calories about 7 per tablespoon.

G.P. Boat Club events a hit

It was two successful events in two weeks for the Grosse Pointe Boat Club as the group held its annual corn roast on Aug. 21 at the City Park. The corn roast followed the club's rendezvous at Chatham, Ont.

A record 22 boats made the voyage from the City park and other marinas on the American side from the Park to St. Clair Shores. More than 100 club members and guests attended the rendezvous, which featured a Saturday evening cocktail party and a dockside continental breakfast Sunday morning.

The Chatham rendezvous of 1982 was the fourth consecutive boat club event at which attendance exceeded 100, despite the fact that rain has been a part of every club event this year.

The Grosse Pointe Boat Club has about 140 members, the majority of whom keep their boats at the City Pier. However, active members include residents of the Park, Farms, St. Clair Shores, Harper Woods, East Detroit, Warren, Mt. Clemens, Northville, Rochester and Detroit. The Club also has a number of out-of-state members, from Palo Alto, Calif., to Sarasota, Fla.

Club functions are open to members and non-members, alike.

Farms tennis champs decided

The Farms tennis tournament was held Aug. 12 through 15 and champions in five divisions were crowned.

In 14 and under boys' singles, champion Klaus Lahner downed runner-up Jeff Barry, 6-1, 6-0. Sarah Dow took the 14 and under girls' singles title by defeating runner-up Julie McGann, 6-6, 6-4, 6-3.

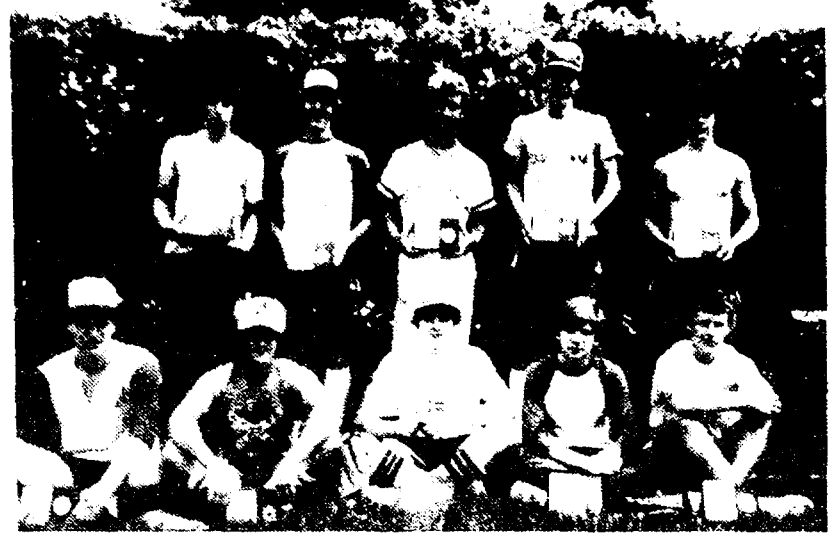

Kim Pierce took the women's singles, topping runner-up Carolyn Johnston, 6-3, 6-0. The men's singles crown went to Charlie Oakman, who beat runner-up Ed Wolf, 6-3, 6-4.

In the mixed doubles category, Klaus Lahner and Lori Wood took the title from runners-up John Crowley and Kim Pierce in a proset, 8-5.

Club high school champs crowned

The Neighborhood Club League High School softball team has ended its season with many exciting tournament games. This year's league had the most teams and players participating than ever before with 21 teams and over 300 players.

Each team played in six regular season games, along with being a part of a double-elimination, post-season playoff. In the boys' Young Adult League (grades 11 and 12), the Power Hitters were crowned champions by defeating the Road Runners, 17-2. The Girls' League was won by the Vital Options in a tough contest against North Tool Assorted Nuts, 10-6. The Senior League (Grades 9 and 10) boys' had the night Panthers outscoring Corbett's 14-11 to take the championship.

Sorry, Greg

Poor Greg Gersch. The 15-year-old rower must have been pretty disappointed when the photos and story of his crew's victory in the July national sports festival appeared in the Aug. 19 issue of the News. Gersch's name and photo were not included, courtesy of the folks with the sports festival.

All isn't lost for Greg, however. He not only won the gold medal as coxswain of the crew (which was comprised of men in their 20s) but he did get his name in the Detroit Free Press. In addition, Gersch is considered South High's and the area's best coxswain. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Gersch, of University Place, the South High junior spent plenty of mornings getting up at 4 a.m. to practice crew. It paid off with the festival win.

Gersch's crew, the North entry in the men's four-oared coxswain race, hit the finish line in 6 minutes, 51 seconds to capture the gold medal.

List Inter-Club final results

Indian Village has taken the Grosse Pointe Men's Tennis Inter-Club championship for the second straight year. A tennis racquet award will be presented to Indian Village to be displayed over the next year. Following are the final league results.

TEAM	W	L
Indian Village	31	9
Country Club	28	12
Hunt Club	24	16
Lochmoor	18	22
Yacht Club	12	28
ULS-Racquet	7	33

The Country Club hosted a member-guest men's doubles tournament on Aug. 7 and 8 following Inter-Club competition. Roger Mulier and Roger Powers were the consolation round winners, topping runners-up Chris Charleton and William Humer.

Rollin Allen and George Wrigley were the champions, defeating Kris Robbins and Bob Rodgers.

It's been a long, long time

Some golfers never get one ... others get three in one week. And some golfers get one, wait 25 years, then get another.

That was the case with golfer Donald A. Dykstra, of Fontana Lane. Dykstra notched his first hole-in-one shortly after taking the game up at the age of 12. His second hole-in-one came in 1957 and 25 years later, Dykstra collected his third ace, using a 3-iron to conquer the tough, 190-yard, 15th hole at Birmingham Country Club on Aug. 18.

Dykstra, an avid golfer, is a past president of the Lochmoor Club.

For Norman G. Williams, it was 60 years until his hole-in-one earned him a place in the sun. Golfing at Stony Creek Golf Course with Jack Ferguson and Art Nickel, the Young Lane resident used a 3-iron to ace the par-three, 170-yard 11th hole. It was Williams' first hole-in-one since 1922.

Rowing camp for Lisa Black

Pointer Lisa Black is one of 46 women rowers from across the United States who participated in a two-week National Women's Rowing Development Camp in Lake Placid, N.Y., last month.

The purpose of the camp was to prepare rowers like Black for the 1982 and 1983 U.S. teams as well as for the 1984 U.S. Olympic team. The contingent was comprised of 26 sweep rowers, 13 scullers and seven coxswains.

They were selected from among more than 400 candidates — all of whom participated in the National Women's Rowing Association National Championships.

Pointe gridmen on college lists

Pointe names appear on a least two of this fall's college football rosters as football practice winds up and the collegiate season gets ready for kickoff. Returning to the Central Michigan University Chippewa lineup this fall is junior Mike Bevier, a linebacker and one of 19 juniors on the CMU squad. The Chippewas were 7-4 in 1981, despite two home losses and a scoring drought which saw them fail to notch a touchdown in four games.

Former Grosse Pointe South High School standout Chris Kohut is on the 1982 Saginaw Valley State College Cardinals' roster. Kohut, a sophomore, is a 6 foot 3 inch, 185-pound linebacker. The Cardinals were 3-7 in 1981.

Weather poses challenge in Scherer sail races

Skipper Richard Maxon and his crewmate Peter Streck, representing the Crescent Sail Yacht Club, took first place in the J. Otto Scherer Memorial Races held last Sunday, Aug. 22, at the Crescent Sail Yacht Club. The pair took finishes of two-one-two for 4 3/4 total points.

All of the sailors proved their skill and ability in the heavy weather during the three-race series, sailing Flying Junior Sloops. The 20-to-30-knot southwest winds (often gusting much higher) caused six capsize, but the sailors did a spectacular job of righting their boats and finishing without mishap.

Skipper Mark Lie and crewmate Parcival Lie, of the Great Lakes Yacht Club, finished second with one-two-four finishes and 6 3/4 points. Third place went to skipper Lancelot Lie and Anne Collier, representing the Great Lakes Yacht Club, with their five four-one finishes and 9 3/4 points.

Next were Robert Souville and Paul Decker Jr., of the Crescent Sail Yacht Club; Peter Askew and Dan Grow, of the Bayview Yacht Club; and Brian Baker and Steve Gmeiner, of the Detroit Yacht Club. Tied for seventh place were Laurie Breck and Jill Glatzback, of the Detroit Yacht Club and Roger Lagar and Merritt Palm, of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

They were followed by Andrew Kozac and Jeremy Belenky, of the Grosse Pointe Club and Justin Palm and Doug Zwemer, of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

The series was run by Past Commodore Herbert J. Mainwaring with the assistance of Vice Commodore Ralph E. Watkins, Mrs. Marie Mainwaring, Chris Groschner, Jo Dan Hartingh, William Herbert, Edward Boothroyd and John Baude.

The perpetual trophy awarded in the race is named for the late J. Otto Scherer, of the Park, in recognition of his great interest in the junior sailing program and the outstanding contributions he made in furthering the sport among young sailors.

The presentation of the trophies was made by Mrs. J. Otto Scherer.

All Pointes opens year

By Earl Duignan

No sooner had the cheers and excitement of another successful summer league season subsided, did attention begin to focus on the All Pointes Swim Club's upcoming fall and winter competition. All Pointes' new head coach John Temrowski is preparing to welcome a new group of local swimmers to the opening of the 16th season of the Pointe area's oldest swim club.

In practices, which begin the first week in October, All Pointes coaches strive to develop in each swimmer an understanding of and a proficiency in the four basic stroke categories: free style, back, breast and butterfly. The young swimmers have the opportunity to test the knowledge and skill gained during practices in both a dual meet format, as well as in selected AAU competition against swimmers from around the metropolitan area.

All Pointes' primary dual meet competition comes from within the Michigan Metro Winter League, which includes teams from Allen Park, Dearborn, Dearborn Heights, Livonia, Redford, Southfield and Riverview. In addition to six league encounters, All Pointes will also compete in non-league meets with a representative of the Macomb Winter League, as well as the annual contest against a team from the Region of Waterloo, Canada.

All Pointes enters the 1982-83 season with high hopes of improving upon last year's up and down year. The east siders began the 1981 season in impressive fashion by capturing the first three dual meet encounters, only to fall short in the final four meets prior to the league championship meet. But the team's fortunes ended on a positive note, as All Pointes finished a strong fourth in the 10-team league championship meet.

Anyone wishing more information about the All Pointes Swim Club should contact membership chairperson Elaine Benson at 882-1387. Immediate openings currently exist in all age brackets with the exception of the girls' 9 to 12 and the boys' 9 to 10 age groups.

All Pointes notes: Prior to the opening of practice in October, All Pointes is hosting a bring-your-own picnic at the Grosse Pointe Shores park from 8 to 9 p.m. next Wednesday, Sept. 1. All current members, as well as interested families, are invited to attend, meet the All Pointes head coach and enjoy an evening of swimming.

ALWAYS ON SUNDAY: THE RIVER CRAB BRUNCH.

Featuring your old favorites plus a new and exciting array of appetizers, homemade pastries and enticing entrees.

Every Sunday from 10 to 2. $8.95 for adults. Kids under 12—$4.95.

The biggest.

Newspapers are the largest advertising medium of them all. By far. In 1981, advertisers invested $17.4 billion in newspapers—more than they spent in TV or magazines or radio or any two of them combined.

	Advertising Volume
	1980 ($ millions)	1981 (Est.) ($ millions)	Increase ($ millions)
Newspapers	$15,541	$17,420	$1,879
Television	11,366	12,650	1,284
Radio	3,702	4,212	510
Magazines	3,149	3,533	384

Source: McCann-Erickson

That's nice for us, but why should you care? Well, newspapers are Number One because advertising experts believe they work, and back up that belief with more hard dollars than they spend with any other medium.

Their confidence is well placed. Sixty-two million copies of newspapers are sold on the average day, and almost 7 out of 10 consumers read one. And readership is highest among the Upscales... those with higher incomes, more education, better jobs, greater appetites for life. Translation: people who buy.
