 kid who has potential, looks good on camera and speaks well. That's what local television is about."

That doesn't mean the children are not deeply interested in what they are doing. Nor does it mean they are amateurish and camera-shy. Sutherland's stories are delivered crisply. Erin, a Park resident whose father works with the Neighborhood Club sports department, covers sports with knowledge and a smile.

Scott, a Farms resident & Kerby School student whose interest is science, talks about Hawaiian volcanic action and the migration of air-breathing catfish. Scuras, from the Woods, reviews

Stephen King's latest anthology of short stories and novellas.

Scuras said he is an avid reader, and wrote book reviews "on and off" for his junior high school paper, the Brownell Beeline.

Barrett, of the City, delivers her performing arts segment with style. A South High student, she hopes the experience will help her get into television. Amluxen, from the Woods, discusses the new looks in fall fashions.

Cho, from the Farms, runs down the movies playing in the area.

The pilot, still unsponsored, will be shown Wednesday night, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m. on channel 17. The regular broadcasts will be taped Fridays for broadcast Tuesdays and Thursdays. Ms. Alpert said.

"Young Viewpointes" may not be flashy, but it is local origination programming, something by the community for the community, she said.

of unemployment benefits and the aid to Michigan on its unemployment benefit debt to the federal treasury, he wanted a 10-week extension rather than a 13-week extension in benefits. He also opposed provisions that apparently will bar the Michigan unemployed whose benefits had run out prior to June 6 from qualifying for the extended benefits.

"These limitations in effect watered down the strongest points being made by Michigan supporters for the tax bill," he contended.

Hertel didn't support the withholding of taxes on dividends and interest, required under the new tax bill, which he sees as mainly an effort to collect such taxes earlier and thus benefit the federal treasury. He said 89 percent of the recipients of dividends and interest now pay their taxes on such payments and many of the 11 percent who don't pay receive only small amounts of dividends and interest which are not reported to the Internal Revenue Service by those making the payments.

Overall, the Democratic congressman does not believe that the President's economic program "adds up." He said, "You can't have tax cuts as massive as those approved a year ago, huge increases in defense spending and then expect to balance the budget by cutting social programs." He feels he was consistent this year in voting against the tax hikes because he had voted against the tax cuts a year ago.

As a member of the Armed Services Committee, as was his predecessor, Lucien Nedzi, Hertel supports a buildup of conventional weapons but feels that the defense establishment is "spending unwisely because it has so much to spend."

HE BELIEVES THE public has supported the Reagan administration's general buildup of U.S. defenses but thinks that because the Pentagon has gone too far, especially with proposals for some highly complex and extremely expensive weaponry, the pendulum of support is swinging against huge increases in defense spending.

Those increases in defense spending, at a time of cuts in aid for education and social programs, are now being questioned by the public, in his opinion.

Overall, Hertel appeared to be more self-confident and more sophisticated about Washington than in his interview a year ago. He obviously was in a conciliatory mood and wasn't angry at anyone. And why should he be? He was unopposed in the primary and doesn't face any opposition in November, which means he has a clear track to at least two more years in Washington.

ed the character of eastern forests, attacking and defoliating almost any tree and bush, agriculture department officials said. Trees are defoliated, limiting their ability to store nutrients needed to survive the winter. A couple of years of defoliation can make a tree much more susceptible to illness and early death, they said.

Infestations in Michigan have been pinpointed in central and northern Lower Peninsula forests, Dollhopf said. In recent years, moths trapped in the southeastern Michigan have increased, Dollhopf said, making battle plans against the moth more imperative.

The department has been hard-pressed to fight the moth as the state's economic crisis brings budget cuts, Dollhopf said. An infestation one quarter mile from Gov. William Milliken's Traverse City home hasn't shaken any money loose for spraying and study, Dollhopf said.

St. Clair will expand hours

St. Clair Ambulatory Care Corporation's Family Medical Center, 22151 Moross Road, Detroit, will expand its office hours. The hours, as of Sept. 10, will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Thursdays. Thursday evenings are for scheduled and call-in appointments.

Family Medical Center practitioners are specialists in family care and are trained to deal with the family as a single unit.

The Family Medical Center is part of St. John Hospital's Family Practice Residency Program. The resident physicians in the center are licensed medical doctors concentrating their efforts in the specialty of Family Medicine. In this practice, the physicians work in all areas of medicine - pediatrics, adult medicine, gynecology, obstetrics, outpatient surgery and geriatrics.

For further information, call the center at 343-3040.

Woods transfers liquor license

The Woods council has voiced no objection to the transfer of a Class C liquor license from Frank Losh, owner of Nightingale Lounge, to Evens Telegadas.

Telegadas, according to police, plans to renovate the building to upgrade the business and clientele. In addition, the name will change to "Telly's Place."

St. Clair CLOTHING

St. Clair, an exceptional value in well tailored clothing. Fine woolen fabrics with none of the important hand detailing omitted.

The younger man will appreciate the St. Clair BLAIRMOOR model. A trimmer cut coat and smaller waisted trouser to fit the youthful figure.

Coat, vest and pant, 280.

Seniors find Dial-A-Meal a delight

By Joanne Gouleche

Hank and Mary Wholihan depend on Saran Wrap like the Soviet Union depends on U.S. wheat.

Oh, my. To think what would happen if Hank and Mary ran out of the plastic wonder in their tiny tiled kitchen, leaving all those people eating cold Roast Loin of Pork...

But don't worry, hungry one.

'Smile' at the War Memorial

"Smile," a collection of skits from "The Best of Broadway," will be presented Friday and Saturday, Sept. 24 and 25, and Oct. 1 and 2, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial.

Advance tickets for the 8 p.m. shows may be purchased by sending a check or money order to: Entertainers Anonymous, P.O. Box 293, East Detroit, 48021. Mark the envelope "Tickets."

Advanced adults tickets are $4, senior citizens and students pay $3.50. Groups of 25 or more pay $3. Tickets at the door are $4.50.

The Wholihan's cupboards are stocked to the brim with enough of the wrap to keep your "Dial-A-Meal" piping hot.

Chuckle if you want. Call it the Chicken Delight of Grosse Pointe. But move over Dial-A-Joke, Dial-A-Profiteer and Dial-A-Gift. The Wholihans are discovering their new Dial-A-Meal business is providing a much-needed service to local working couples and especially to the community's elderly.

"Considering it's been only a few weeks since we have been in business, the response has been very good," says Mary, who shares Dial-A-Meal kitchen duties with her husband in their Oxford Road home. "The persons who are calling us are working couples and the elderly who are unable to cook. We think we are providing a service."

For $5 a plate and a $1 delivery charge, the Wholihans offer 12 home-cooked menu entrees with all the fixings — from baked chicken to baked cod tails with tartar sauce.

THE MOST POPULAR entree so far with Dial-A-Meal customers has been Roast Beef Au Jus with oven browned potatoes, green beans almondine, fruited gelatin salad, roll and butter. A Bavarian Cream Puff is featured with the Chicken A La King entree, which includes patty shell, tossed greens with house dressing, roll and butter.

"We think there's a need for the Dial-A-Meal service," Hank says, "especially for people who are alone or who don't want to go out to a restaurant. Some people are even calling for their elderly parents."

Cooking for crowds is nothing new to the Wholihans. Hank has been involved in the catering business for 33 years. And what comes simple for Hank in his own kitchen? "Vegetables. They're easy."

Pots and pans begin to clatter at about 4 p.m. each day in the Wholihan kitchen when the Dial-A-Meal process begins to unfold and Hank and Mary combine cooking talents to whip up Baked Pork Chops, Stuffed Chicken and Rice Casserole, Green Peppers, Salisbury Steak, Chicken A La King, Grilled Cube Steak, Swiss Steak and Spaghetti.

"Everything is fresh. We always use items that are in season," Hank says. "We also make sure our dinners have adequate nutrition."

Deliveries are made anywhere from 5 to 7 p.m. seven days a week or "whenever the customer prefers," according to Mary. Customers can pick up their own orders if they wish. The Wholihans prefer you make your dinner request before noon by calling 884-9468.

Dial-A-Meal customers have been complimentary about their Swiss Steak and Stuffed Green Peppers.

"Everything has been very positive so far," Mary said. "Everyone says they like our food, but the best kind of compliment is when they reorder."

Group home advisory council

workshop on special education program. The aim of the group home approach is to simulate a family setting that fulfills the emotional as well as physical and medical needs of the patients.

The community advisory council was formed to oversee the creation of the group home and may actually operate the home, according to Carol Igoe, council and ARC member. The group is working with representatives from the Southgate Regional Center for Developmental Disabilities who are assisting the ARC on public relations and community education and advising the group on licensing procedures and financing.

Jean Krane, Southgate Center community relations representative, said she is pleased with the way the local organization is working. "Most often, we have to go out and form a group like this before we can even begin looking for a site," Ms. Krane said. "Here, we have a community organization that has come to us for help. That is very unusual."

Ms. Igoe said the local ARC has a waiting list of 35 persons who are ready for group home placement. She said the council has inspected several homes in the area to determine if they would be appropriate group home sites and that decision is expected shortly after Oct. 1.

THERE ARE currently no group homes in Grosse Pointe, but the state tried to open one last year on Bedford Road in Grosse Pointe Park. That home was opposed in Wayne County Circuit Court by residents who charged the state violated its own rules requiring notification of residents about its intent to open a home. The home was stopped by Judge Robert Colombo who declared the lease signed between the homeowner, a former state mental health employee, and the state to be null and void. The lease on the home was reportedly the most expensive for a facility of its type in the state.

Any person interested in participating on the community advisory council should write to the Grosse Pointe ARC, care of the Neighborhood Club, 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe City, 48230.

War Memorial to offer diet control class

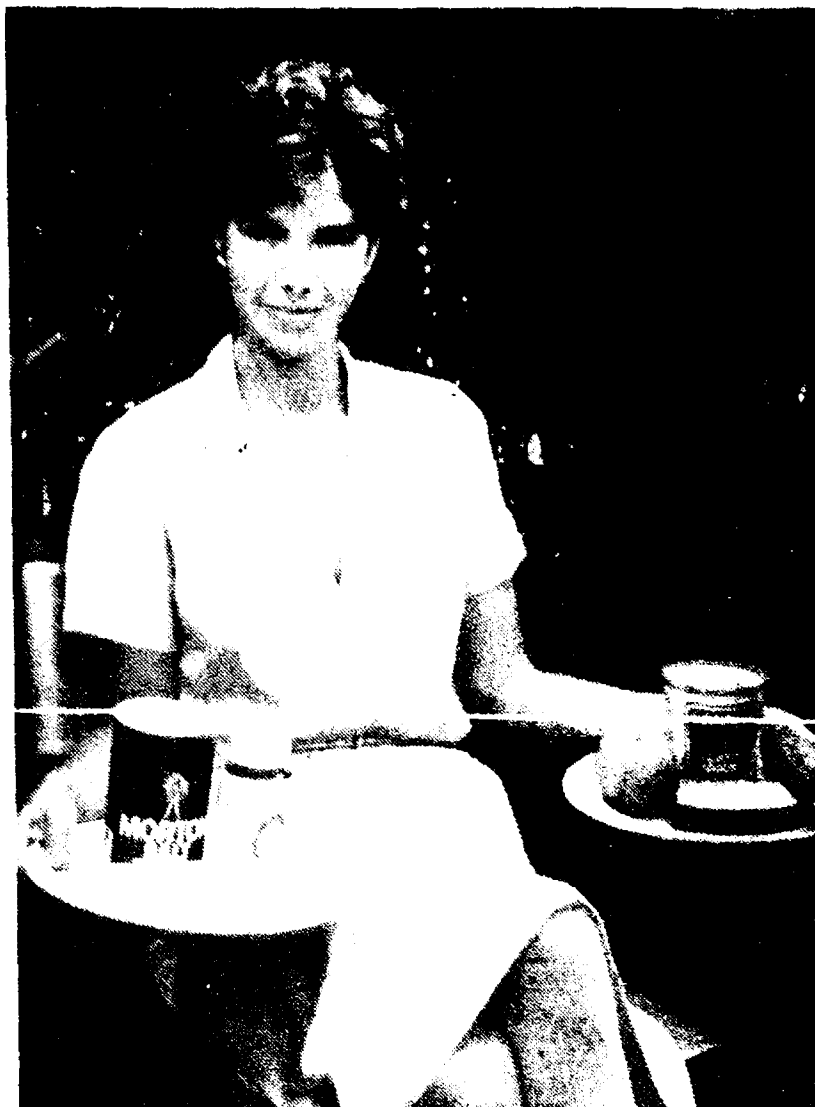

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial, for the first time, is offering an eight week course in nutrition this fall. The course, titled "The Facts About Nutrition" will be taught by nutritionist Allison Boomer.

Ms. Boomer who is new to Grosse Pointe received her Master's degree in Public Health Nutrition from the University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston. She is a member of the American Public Health Association and the Society for Nutrition Education. She has also published original research in maternal and child nutrition.

Her enthusiasm about the course is evident as she states, "There is an overwhelming amount of information on the subject of nutrition and the consumer just doesn't know how to evaluate the facts from the myths."

"As a nutritionist, I am concerned about the public's understanding of the facts. There are too many quacks misleading the consumer especially on the subjects of vitamin supplements and weight loss," Ms. Boomer said.

The course which covers a wide variety of subjects during the eight weeks is intended to give the consumer the tools necessary to critically evaluate nutrition information. Some of the class titles include: "Determining Individual Requirements for Nutrients," "The Facts and Myths About Vitamins," "Menu Planning, Vegetarian Nutrition and Low Fat/Low Salt Diets," "The Quality of Our Food: Food Additives, Food Processing and Nutrition Labeling," "Nutrition and Disease: Heart Disease, Hypertension, Cancer" and "Successful Weight Loss the Safe Nutritious Way."

Which to choose? Allison Boomer, nutritionist, will teach a class at the War Memorial this fall to help clear the confusion.

The classes begin Sept. 22 and will be held on Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and Thursday evenings 7:30 to 9 p.m. The course is $65 for the eight weeks plus a $5 textbook fee. Each person attending will receive two nutrition books and reading material from government agencies and professional societies.

Meet Ms. Boomer on Thursday, Sept. 16, at 8 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial for a complimentary introductory lecture. For more information call 881-7511.

'Nuclear Age' series begins this month

"Choices for Peace in the Nuclear Age" will be the subject of a series of meetings at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church this month to explore both sides of the nuclear weapons debate.

The controversial issue will face Michigan voters in the November election when they will be asked to approve or reject a bilateral nuclear weapons freeze proposal.

Speakers will include Dr. Alvin Saperstein, a nuclear physicist at Wayne State University. He will discuss nuclear weapons on Sunday, Sept. 12. On Sunday, Sept. 19, Harry F. Noyes III, U.S.A.F. Ret., will speak on the flaws in the freeze concept and critical myths about nuclear arms strategy. Dr. David Singer, political science professor at the University of Michigan, will discuss "The Nuclear Freeze and Beyond" on Sunday, Sept. 26.

Meetings begin 9:30 a.m. in the church's lounge, 19950 Mack Avenue. The public is invited to attend.

Burglar hits Lincoln home

Grosse Pointe City police last week reported that someone had burglarized a home in the 300 block of Lincoln Road.

Police said Lincoln Road entered the home by breaking a window in a rear door. The thief made a thorough search of the house, police said, who later discovered that a master bedroom dresser had been ransacked.

Police are investigating the Aug. 22 incident. No report was given on what was taken from the home.

Nigro will discuss cancer and diet link

"Eating Right to Prevent Cancer" will be the topic of Dr. Norman Nigro's talk on Thursday, Sept. 9, from 7 to 9 p.m., in boardrooms A and B of Cottage Hospital of Grosse Pointe, 159 Kercheval Avenue, Grosse Pointe Farms.

There is no charge for the program. However, reservations should be made in advance by calling Cottage Hospital's Education department at 884-8600, extension 2390.

Dr. Nigro will speak about the relationship between nutrition and cancer and will offer practical suggestions to alter dietary habits to promote health.

In recent years, health care professionals and the general public have become increasingly aware of the relationship between diet and health. Studies of the geographic distribution of cancer have made it clear that in some cultures certain cancers occur rarely or not at all. Scientific research shows that the dietary habits of these people play a significant role in preventing the development of these cancers.

Seniors will meet at North today

The Grosse Pointe Woods Senior Citizens will meet Thursday, Sept. 2, at 3:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Grosse Pointe North High School. The group said it has planned many interesting trips for this fall and winter.

The group will travel to Vermont, Montreal, the Thousand Islands and Niagara Falls Wednesday, Sept. 9, through Sunday, Sept. 14. The cost of the trip is $369, which includes meals, transportation, and some extras. The group said it will be staying in Sugar Bush.

U-M real estate class begins Sept. 13

A course in Income Property Analysis and Taxation will be offered this fall at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial by the statewide Real Estate Program of The University of Michigan.

The course begins Monday, Sept. 13, and runs each Monday and Thursday for 11 sessions from 7 to 10 p.m. Instructor is James Smalley.

The course will cover real estate investment analysis, income property appraisal approaches, taxation consequences, exchange techniques, financing, formation of small syndications, land development considerations, and lease and leasehold interests.

Although advance registration for the course is advised, students may also register at the class prior to the opening session.

The University of Michigan Real Estate Program, now in its 36th year, offers courses for the professional benefit of both experienced persons and those new to or interested in the real estate field. The Graduate School of Business Administration and the Michigan Association of Realtors cooperates in offering the statewide certified courses, which have been approved for licensing purposes, and can lead to the U-M Certificate in Real Estate.

For further information, contact the U-M Real Estate Program, 2410 School of Education, Ann Arbor, Mich. 48109 or phone 313-763-2170.

Seniors get help with gas bills

Senior Citizen Information Program sponsored by Services for Older Citizens, Inc. (SOC) has scheduled Thursday and Friday, Sept. 2 and 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. to take applications for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. senior citizen category.

Any person 65 years of age and older who is the head of a household where Michigan Consolidated Gas is used may apply if they do not have an outside gas light, do not have a gas air conditioner, or do not heat a swimming pool with a gas heater. There is no income qualification.

Benefits are a slightly lower gas rate and 50 per cent discount on labor charges for Michigan Consolidated work.

Senior citizens desiring to fill out the application should bring proof of age and address (driver's license), a copy of their gas bill and Social Security number.

The Senior Citizen Information office is located at Ferry elementary school, 748 Roslyn Road, Grosse Pointe Woods. Parking is available in the school lot off Morningside Drive.

Although Sept. 2 and 3 are especially designated for applications, forms may be filled out in the Senior Citizen office Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Homebound older persons may call the office for a staff person to bring an application to be filled out in the home.

For further information call the Senior Citizen Information office at 882-9600.

Renaissance Concerts return to the Ford House

By Susan McDonald

The first time Misha Rachlevsky brought his newly-formed Renaissance Concert group to Grosse Pointe for a performance it was embarrassing — to say the least. There were more people on stage at the Punch and Judy Theater (seven) than there were in the audience (six).

Organizers for the 1978 concert were ready to give up in despair. "There's just no audience for classical music in the Pointe."

They were wrong, though, and Rachlevsky, an enthusiastic Russian immigrant who plays violin with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, proved it.

His Renaissance Concert series returned to Grosse Pointe two years later and sold out its four announced concerts at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House in just two days. A dozen added performances in the Great Gallery sold out, too and, last year, the Ford House series grew to more than 30 concerts — all filled to the brim.

"We don't wait for the audience to come to us. We go out and develop the audience," Rachlevsky said. "We've introduced many new people to classical music that way. Once I get them in, they keep coming back."

The Grosse Pointe story is just part of the Renaissance success saga. The organization plans to produce more than 120 concerts this season, including the unusual Nightcap with Mozart series on Friday evenings at Birmingham Unitarian Church, and Music for a Renaissance City at Orchestra Hall.

Rachlevsky has a definite flair for promotion and fun. His Nightcap series was livened by fireworks for the 4th of July and a baby shower for Princess Di this spring. (All the gifts were delivered to Buckingham Palace, he promises). He notes with all seriousness in his fall flyer that "to maintain our neutral status in the greatest musical rivalry of the decade, Domingo will not be invited to appear this season since Pavarotti was not engaged to appear last season."

Rachlevsky, 35, graduated from Moscow Institute of Music in 1970 and emigrated to the U.S. in 1973 when he was 27. He left Russia "because while Russia's music education was great, it wasn't too hot on political science and failed to convince me that capitalism is rotten. I have a big desire to see for myself." His family still lives in Moscow.

He played in Israel, South Africa, Mexico and Canada between 1973 and 1976, when he joined the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Ticket sales are going well for the local series this year, he says, and the $10,000 grant from the Webber Foundation is helping the group make up for the inevitable loss of state arts funds. The Webber Grant, however, must be matched by the group's own funds so Rachlevsky is conducting a fund-raising campaign with a goal of 100 percent participation (even if it is just $1) this fall.

The series in the Ford House's Great Gallery begins this month and includes tours of the house. Individual tickets are $7 and there are three package options for $24 for four concerts, or $40 for all eight. Village Records and Tapes on Kercheval Avenue is handling ticket sales this year and they can also be ordered by calling the 24-hour concert hotline, 62-MUSIC. The 1982-83 series includes the following performers:

- Sept. 19 — Shaul Ben-Meir, flute, David Wilson, piano.
- Oct. 31 — Rachlevsky, violin, Mark Abbott, French horn, Jonathan Shames, piano.
- Nov. 28 — Chris Birg, guitar.
- Jan. 16 — Laurence Liberson, clarinet, Debra Fyroyan, cello, Ellen Weckler, piano.
- Feb. 13 — Valentine's Day Concert, Rachlevsky, violin, Birg, guitar.
- April 10 — Rachlevsky, violin, Michelle Cooker, piano.
- May 1 — The President's Trio, Rachlevsky, violin, Glen Mellow, viola, and Kevin Plunkett, cello.
- May 22 — Thomas Curtin, recorder and Baroque flute, Daniel Jencka, harpsichord and Baroque harp.

Kids' theater auditions set

Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Children's Theater, in its 29th year under the direction of Sally Reynolds, will open registration on Friday and Saturday Sept. 10 and 11. Mrs. Reynolds will interview prospective members.

Enrollment for new students in grade school will be from 4 to 6 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 10. New high school enrollees may register from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on Friday.

Enrollment for former students will be held on Saturday, Sept. 11. Grade school students are scheduled between 10 a.m. and noon and high school students from 12:30 to 2 p.m.

Students will be notified following interviews of their acceptance and play assignments. Classes meet Fridays beginning Sept. 17 at 4 p.m. and Saturdays beginning Sept. 18 at 10 a.m. Classes are one and a half hours per week for 12 weeks. The fee for the classes is $55. Call the War Memorial at 881-7511 for more information.

Labor Day tourism may equal '81

Tourism watchers across the state predict that the upcoming 78-hour Labor Day weekend activity should follow the summer-long trend and equal the 1981 level, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

Mileage projections, campground reservations and other barometers show a strong Labor Day building for tourism operators, despite the economy, according to Auto Club's Travel Operations Manager James Drury.

"There even are some predictions of holiday travel possibly exceeding last year's pace," Drury said.

If the weather is warm and sunny, the Michigan Department of Transportation said motorists could travel a record 715 million miles during the holiday, which runs from 6 p.m. Friday, Sept. 3, to midnight Monday, Sept. 6.

Last year the department predicted a 700-million-mile holiday, but bad weather put the actual figure at 600 million miles traveled. A record 695 million miles were traveled during the four-day 1978 Labor Day weekend.

Officials at the Southeast and East Michigan tourist associations believe that interest sparked by the "Say yes to Michigan" campaign and imaginative and savvy advertising on the part of tourism merchants should generate 5 to 10 percent more spending this Labor Day over last year.

Business at the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island is up approximately 5 percent from last summer, and management there predicts Labor Day tourism will remain consistent with that increased level.

Also, summer crossings at the Mackinac Bridge are running 2 percent above last year, an increase expected to continue through the Labor Day weekend.

The Upper Peninsula Travel and Recreation Association expects Labor Day weekend will bring in the same amount of travelers as last year, and if the weather is good, the region could see a 2 percent increase. U.P. tourism officials report an increase of group tours and out-of-state visitors this year.

In west Michigan, a tourist association spokesperson said Labor Day tourism should equal last year's. Hotel and motel operators who keep rooms available for walk-in guests should see an increase in business over last year if the weather is pleasant.

State Travel Bureau officials expect Labor Day activity to correspond to summer tourism — equal to last year's levels.

Public and private campground use this Labor Day weekend also should equal last year's levels, if the weather remains dry.

Forty-nine of 71 state park campgrounds are expected to fill by Saturday morning this Labor Day weekend, with no vacancies expected at the 21 state park campgrounds in west Michigan.

New! SHORT TERM SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

at Standard Federal Savings

- Terms from 7 to 31 days
- Competitive market rates paying 1/4% more than any bank can pay
- Insured safety
- Minimum deposit $20,000.00

Beginning September 1, 1982, Standard Federal Savings offers an attractive alternative to money market mutual fund accounts with short term flexibility, competitive interest rates and one very important difference...

Unlike investments in money market mutual funds, a depositor's savings at Standard Federal Savings are insured to at least $100,000.00 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation (FSLIC) an agency of the U.S. Government. Insured savings are also backed by the full faith and credit of the U.S. Government.

The rate of interest is established by the Association and may not exceed the average auction rate (on a discount basis) for 13-Week Treasury Bills as determined by the U.S. Department of the Treasury.

Although Federal Regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal, this account can be opened for a term as short as 7 days so that each and every week your funds are available on the maturity date and on the next business day without any withdrawal penalty. So, when you open a new 7-Day account at Standard Federal Savings, you have maximum liquidity and your funds earn at market interest rates.

Kudos for Lungershausen

Harpsichord opens Musica season

Alice Lungershausen, who will be performing on the harpsichord Sunday evening, Sept. 26, at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, was recently honored in Salzburg, Austria, for her 25 years of work for the Pro Mozart Society of Greater Detroit.

vice-president and past president of the Women's Association of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, was presented with the Magic Flute Medal by the Internationale Stiftung Mozarteum.

It was a homecoming of sorts for Mrs. Lungershausen, former harpsichordist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra under Sixteen Ehrling, as she once studied harpsichord at the Mozarteum in Salzburg.

The Pro Mozart Society of Greater Detroit assists financially in the publishing of a complete new edition of the works of Mozart by the Mozarteum.

A longtime resident of Grosse Pointe Park, Mrs. Lungershausen is a native of Ann Arbor, where she graduated from the University of Michigan with a Master of Music degree, as well as two degrees from the Literary College and a membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

Advanced study of the piano followed. Her interest in the harpsichord came later and, after studying under such masters as Philip Manual, Rudolph Dolmetsch and (at the Mozarteum) Isolde Ahlgrimm, she has devoted herself entirely to that instrument.

In addition to the Detroit Symphony, Mrs. Lungershausen has performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Saginaw Symphony, the Toledo Symphony and the Grosse Pointe Symphony and has made many solo appearances.

Church.

The Christmas concert will be preceded by "Carols on the Carillon" outdoors at 7 p.m. with Memorial music director William De Turk.

"Music for Harp and Organ" will be the program Feb. 13, when De Turk, on organ, joins Patricia Terry, on harp, for a varied demonstration of the harp's vast possibilities.

On March 6, "Italia Mia — Songs and Dances of the Italian Renaissance" featuring the Waverly Consort, will be the program. The songs and dances will be presented by 10 musicians using early instruments including viola da gamba, baroque violin, violone, recorder, rauschpfeife, harp shawm, dulcian, lute, theorbo, harpsichord and organ. The concert is being presented through a gift from Nena and Bill Dahling.

When summer rolls around again, Memorial Church will begin its sixth series of carillon recitals on Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. through July and August featuring DeTurk on the church's 47-bell carillon.

Kithara brings us classical guitar

The Kithara Series — which revived the classical guitar in Grosse Pointe last season in concerts at Unitarian Church — will return this fall with seven performances on Wednesday evenings beginning Sept. 29.

This year's series promises to feature many rarely-heard classical works as well as a good amount of contemporary music by young performers. The series opens with the new "Ten-String Trio," playing chamber music, baroque and contemporary German works. Trio members are Karen Wingert, cello, Janet Roehm, flute, and Corey Trager, guitar. Their show will also include "A Potpourri of Favorite Beethoven Tunes" arranged by Diabelli and music by Bach.

All concerts begin at 8 p.m. at the church, 17150 Maumee in the City. Admission is $5 and includes a white wine reception after the concert. Call 322-2175 for more information.

Other concerts in the series include:

• Oct. 20 — New York soprano Lori Corrsin with guitarist Helene Rottenberg performing works in Spanish, French, German and English.

• Nov. 17 — Wayne State University guitar instructor Peter Toliass and John Hall, instructor of guitar at University of Windsor, with works by Leonard Bernstein, George Gershwin, Bach, Vivaldi and Brouwer.

• Jan. 12 — Nelson Amos, guitarist from Eastern Michigan University's Music Factory, performing works by Augustin Barrios, William Foden, Paganini, Albeniz and Satie.

• Feb. 16 — "Trio Lyra", composed of three University of Western Ontario faculty members, Gloria Gassi, soprano, Fiona Wilkinson, flute, and Ray Sealy, guitar.

• March 16 — The "Ten String Trio" returns to perform works by Giuliani and Paganini, 19th century virtuosi, and a series of musical "homages" to Debussy, De Falla and John Dowland.

• April 20 — Susan Cook, harpsichord, joins Helene Rottenberg, guitar, to perform works by Manuel Ponce and Brian Kelly.

Kithara Series also offers concerts at the Birmingham Unitarian Church and in Ann Arbor. The group also will entertain in private homes.

Fall ballet underway Sept. 16

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial's School of Ballet will begin its fall term under the direction of Mary Ellen Cooper, president of the board of directors of teachers of the Cecchetti Traditional Italian Method. Miss Cooper has taught both young people and adult classes for the past 28 years at the center.

Registration for new students from age 5 through teens and also new adult students will take place at the center, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 13 and 14, 3:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. by interview with Miss Cooper. Students will be placed in small class groups according to ability.

Adult classes and instruction will begin Monday, Sept. 16, and continue for 11 weeks, Monday through Thursday, 8:15 to 9:15 p.m. The cost is $36 and covers 11 one-hour sessions. A new beginning adult class will meet Friday mornings starting Sept. 17 at 10 a.m.

Young people's classes for age 5 through high school begin Sept. 20. Students study for a 12-week term for $36. They are enrolled in small classes according to age and ability for one hour classes. Monday through Thursday at 4 and 6 p.m. after regular school, and all day Saturdays.

Miss Cooper is a graduate of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto. She has taught throughout Michigan and on the West Coast.

For more information, call the War Memorial at 881-7611.

Beginning Bridge classes Sept. 15

The Grosse Pointe War Memorial will offer classes in bridge this fall.

Beginning Bridge will begin on Monday, Sept. 15, and will continue for 10 consecutive Mondays until Nov. 15. Class time is from 8 to 10 p.m. Fee is $28.

Refresher Bridge will begin on Thursday, Sept. 9 through Nov. 18, from 8 to 10 p.m. Fee for the class is $28.

Siegel closes Village store

Citing sagging sales, the B. Siegel Company announced Monday it had closed the doors to its Grosse Pointe store, 17131 Kercheval in the Village.

The women's clothier also announced it had closed its Dearborn store because of declining sales.

Siegel Vice-President Patricia Rayburn reportedly said company stores at Eastland, Northland and in Birmingham are "holding their own," while sales at the downtown and Seven Mile and Livernois stores have increased over the last year.

Ms. Rayburn said the company couldn't keep the Grosse Pointe store in business much longer because "they're not ringing the cash register out there."

Celebrating 25 years

Clothier Dick Sterr (left) will celebrate his 25th year of business on the Hill in Grosse Pointe Farms by opening a second store in Birmingham in the Bloomfield Commons, at Maple and Lahser Roads. Champagne and hors d'oeuvres will be served at the store's grand opening Thursday, Sept. 16. Store hours will be from 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The store will remain open until 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays. The Birmingham store will be managed by Sterr, along with his son, Carl (pictured).

SJH announces appointment

St. John Hospital recently announced the appointment of Mina Frank to assistant administrator for nursing.

Mrs. Frank came to St. John in 1969 as nursing supervisor and was named evening administrative assistant in 1971. Last year Mrs. Frank was appointed administrative assistant — Nursing Department.

A native of Greenville, S.C., Mrs. Frank began her nursing career at Greenville General Hospital. The following year she came to Detroit where she served as afternoon supervisor at North Detroit General Hospital for three years. She joined the nursing staff at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in the same capacity in 1966, where she remained until she came to St. John.

Mrs. Frank received her nursing diploma from St. Joseph's Infirmary School of Nursing in Atlanta, Ga. She went on to the University of Detroit where she earned her B.S. degree in Human Services. In 1981 she earned her M.A. in Business Management from Central Michigan University.

Rent-a-fish in the Park

By Tom Greenwood

In America, a land where anything and everything is possible, you can now rent a fish. Or fishes, as the case may be. And we're not talking about your average guppy in a goldfish bowl either.

At the Classic Aquaria shop, located in the Engineer Building at 15524 Mack Avenue, Suite 300, you can rent (and also buy) ultra modernistic aquariums stocked with exotic fresh water fish from the Philippines, Bangkok, Sri Lanka and other intriguing countries with names you can't pronounce.

"We've found that many people approach aquariums like they do houseplants," said Frank Kulesza, president of Classic Aquaria. "They want them around because they love them, but they end up killing them off through neglect or over maintenance. We take care of that problem."

For a rental fee varying from $35 to $65 a month, homeowners (also restaurants, bars, doctor's offices, etc.) can rent an aquarium completely stocked with practically any variety of fish desired.

Kulesza's company provides the aquarium, pump, filter, air tube, light, flora, extension cords and cleaning magnets. They'll come once a month and clean the tank, vacuum the gravel, replenish the food supply and replace any fish that may have gone belly up.

For a $20 monthly fee, they'll provide the same services to customers who purchase fish and aquariums from them instead of aquariums. Purchase prices vary from $135 to $650.

For many persons, half the fun is selecting the fish, then the type of aquarium they'll live in. The selection is large, varying from free standing octagon or triangular shaped models standing up to 80 inches tall and coffee table models that turn a functional hobby into a unique conversation piece.

Others include "bubble" aquariums. These are fish tanks with a large "bubble" bulging from the side that magnifies the size of the fish, helping to create an illusion of extended space.

Another favorite is the "Sea View," in which a stark contrast is created by the black back panel that frames the fish in a shadow box effect. All lights are hidden away, creating a "lit from within" effect, highlighting the fish to their best advantage.

All the aquariums are constructed of formed acrylic plastic, affording a greater variety in shape and size.

"When I tell people I sell fish for a living, they usually ask how much I get a pound," said Kulesza, with a smile. "It's funny, but when the economy is down, the aquarium business is usually up. People stay home and watch their fish instead of going out. They don't cost much to maintain and they eat very little. Fish are the most popular pet in America."

Kulesza has been involved with fish as pets for many years, buying his first aquarium about 30 years ago. "I tried selling them once before," he said. "I'm an engineer by trade, and I did some of my work from the back of an aquarium store I used to own."

"The business grew until I was working full-time as an engineer in a building devoted to fish. A few years later, I'm selling fish in a building devoted to engineers."

To top things off, Kulesza still works as an engineer at times. Currently he's doing work for, you guessed it . . . Fisher Body.

Frank Kulesza in his Park office.

Self-employed must file for tax

Self-employed persons and people who earn extra income in self-employment should be aware that such income must be especially reported in order to count for Social Security purposes, according to James T. Moslener, district manager of the local Social Security Office.

In fact, Social Security taxes may be due even if a person does not owe any income tax. Moslener said. As long as a person has net self-employment income of $400 or more, he or she must file a federal income tax return and pay Social Security taxes, he said.

The tax on self-employment income is reported on Schedule C (Profit or Loss from Business or Profession) and Schedule SE (Computation of Social Security Self-Employment Tax), available from any Internal Revenue Service office. Calendar year self-employment tax returns for 1981 must be filed by April 15, 1982.

People receive Social Security credit for self-employment income only if net earnings from self-employment amount to at least $400 during the year. The net earnings figure is acquired by deducting all business expenses connected with the self-employment activity.

Social Security self-employment taxes for 1981 were paid on earnings up to $29,700, at a rate of 9.30 percent. People who have both wages and self-employment income should pay first on their wages — which are usually automatically deducted by the employer — and then include their self-employment earnings up to the maximum taxable earnings.

People who paid taxes on the maximum wages covered by Social Security do not pay Social Security tax on the additional income earned in self-employment, Moslener said.

Because Social Security benefits are based on the amount of earnings a person has credited to his or her Social Security record, it is important to report all earnings. It can mean higher payments for retirement or for the family in case of disability or death, Moslener noted.

More information may be obtained by contacting the local Social Security office located at 17420 Mack Avenue or by calling the Social Security information number at 493-1111.

Care centers for aging adults

The Michigan Senate has declared the week of Sept. 5 through 11, as Adult Day Care Week and Sept. 7 as Adult Day Care Day. Sen. John C. Hertel presented a copy of Senate Resolution Number 548 to Rita Munley Gallagher, R.N., program coordinator of the Calvary Services for the Aging Adult Day Care Center, on Aug. 26. Mrs. Gallagher is also the chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Michigan Association of Senior Day Care Centers. The resolution recognizing adult day care centers was introduced by Sens. Hertel, Jack Faxon, John Kelly, David Plawewski, John Welborn and Jackie Vaughn. "With the federal government reducing funds for senior citizens, programs like these meet a very important need," said Sen. Hertel. There are 14 adult day care centers in the state which serve the needs of the frail elderly by providing various support services in a group setting. The Calvary Services to the Aging Adult Day Care Center is the only center of its kind on the east side.

It provides an alternative to nursing home care. It has been estimated that 20 to 40 percent of those in nursing homes could be cared for outside such institutions if community care such as adult day care was available.

Adult day care centers provide many services, including occupational and physical therapy, emergency medical care, medication monitoring and education, health care assessment and planning, individual and family counseling, exercise, social activities, spiritual services and nutritional services.

Currently accepting applications, the Calvary Services for the Aging Adult Day Care Center is the result of a commitment by Bon Secours Hospital and Lutheran Social Services of Michigan to work together to care for the needs of the impaired elderly. Located at 4950 Gateshead, in Detroit near Mack and Moross Avenues, the center will be open mid-fall, Monday through Friday, except on holidays.

The program is open to adults who are 60 years of age or older, have one or more chronic illnesses or medical disability and are currently under the care of a physician, live within an area bound by Eight Mile Road, Gratiot, Conner and the Detroit River, move with minimal assistance. The Calvary Services for the Aging Adult Day Care Center is staffed with a variety of health care professionals skilled in serving the elderly.

For more information regarding the Calvary Services for the Aging Adult Day Care Center phone 881-3377.

Obituaries

Edwin Fisher

Services for Mr. Fisher, 76, of Washington Road, were held Saturday, Aug. 28, at St. Paul Church in Grosse Pointe Farms. He died Thursday, Aug. 26, at his home.

Mr. Fisher was the son of Albert Fisher who came to Detroit in 1880 and formed Fisher Carriage Works, which subsequently became Fisher Body. He was the owner of the Cadillac dealership in Ann Arbor, until he retired in 1973. Mr. Fisher was a member of the Detroit Athletic Club and the Country Club of Detroit.

He is survived by his wife, Peggy; two sons, Dr. Anthony Fisher and Edwin Jr.; three daughters, Ruth Watts, Ann Mabley and Laura Terry; a sister; and 12 grandchildren.

Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

Mary R. Cooper

A memorial service for Mrs. Cooper, 69, of Lakeland Avenue in Grosse Pointe City, was held Sunday, Aug. 29, at St. Philip and St. Stephen Church in Detroit.

She died Sunday, Aug. 22, near her hometown of Hancock in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Mrs. Cooper was a graduate of University of Michigan, where she received her Master's degree in bacteriology and met her husband, Dr. Ralph R. Cooper, an internist.

She moved to the Detroit area in 1946 and was a member of the Women's City Club and the Auxiliary of Wayne County Medical Society.

Mrs. Cooper is survived by her husband; a son, Michael; two daughters, Mrs. James (Lynn) Robertson and Mrs. James (Elizabeth) Jessup; and two granddaughters.

Tributes may be made to the Michigan Humane Society or the St. Clair Renal Dialysis Center.

Mrs. Hildegard F. Eppinger

Services for Mrs. Eppinger, 74, of Grosse Pointe Farms, were held Monday, Aug. 30, at the Verheyden Funeral Home.

She died Friday, Aug. 27, at Bon Secours Hospital.

Born in Germany, Mrs. Eppinger is survived by her husband, Edward; two daughters, Diane and Karen; a brother; and three grandchildren.

Interment was in Gethsemane Cemetery.

Mrs. Marie Ludwig

Services for Mrs. Ludwig, 84, of Grosse Pointe Farms, were held Tuesday, Aug. 31, at the A.H. Peters Funeral Home.

She died Sunday, Aug. 29, at St. John Hospital.

Mrs. Ludwig is survived by her husband, William; a son, William R.; four grandchildren; and a great granddaughter.

Memorial tributes may be made to the Evangelical Home of Michigan, 6700 West Outer Drive in Detroit or to the Children's Hospital of Michigan, 3901 Beaubien in Detroit.

Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery.

Arthur Kaerold Pederson Snede

Services for Mr. Snede, 60, of the Park, were held Friday, Aug. 27, at St. James Lutheran Church, the Farms.

Born in Minneapolis, Mr. Snede died Tuesday, Aug. 24.

He was employed with Uniroyal for 19 years, serving in executive sales positions in various major cities of the U.S., and later with Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. in Dayton, Ohio as corporate director of sales training.

More recently, he worked with the federal government as an industrial specialist in Detroit. Mr. Snede spent the first seven years of his life in Norway, land of his parents' birth, then returned to America. He was a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

Mr. Snede was a captain in the U.S. Corps of Engineers during World War II and afterward served with the War Assets Administration in Washington, D.C. He was a member of the American Society of Military Engineers, Westphal Post 251-American Legion, Voiture 1281-La Society Des 40 Hommes et Chevaux, Ark Lodge 176-A.F. and A.M., Mounted Commandery No. 23-Knights Templar, Ark Chapter No. 53-Royal Arch Masons, Zuhrah Temple-A.A.O.N.M.S., Founders Society and Merry-Go-Rounders of Grosse Pointe.

Mr. Snede is survived by his wife, Rose; two sons, Richard and Mark; two brothers; his mother, Mrs. Christine Snede and one grandchild.

Interment was in Fort Snelling National Cemetery, Minneapolis.

Cox changes movie channels

Cox Cable St. Clair Shores replaced its Home Box Office movie station with Spotlight, a 24-hour premium movie service Wednesday, Sept. 1, the company announced last week.

Spotlight is a cable network which offers movies 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with no cuts or commercials, the company said. It will be shown on Channel 5 in St. Clair Shores, Grosse Pointe Shores and Fraser. There will be no cost increase over HBO, according to Mike Zimmer, company general manager.

"We are co-owners of Spotlight, and, as a result, have better control over programming," Zimmer said. "This will allow us to be responsive to the wants and needs of our subscribers."

Zimmer said Spotlight will offer a wide variety of Hollywood movies, including "Arthur" and "Mommie Dearest," with little duplication of same-time programming with other services. Spotlight features a different movie or entertainment attraction every night of the month during prime time. Classic movies, film festivals, children's films and a foreign film of the month will round out the schedule, Zimmer said.

LWV to host membership tea

The League of Women Voters of Grosse Pointe will open its 1982-83 calendar of events with its annual September meeting and membership drive. Ardis Gardella, of Grosse Pointe Shores, will host a tea this year on Wednesday evening, Sept. 15, at 7:30 p.m. at her home.

The membership tea is of special significance this year the league says. The Grosse Pointe chapter will be joining with hundreds of leagues across the country in an intensive four-week campaign to increase its active membership. The general theme of this national campaign drive is "Action Packed Politics." The tea on Sept. 15 will serve as the league's kickoff event for local recruiting efforts.

The purpose and organization of the league, and a preview of this year's program will be presented by Suzanne Suski and Shirley Piku, president and vice-president of the local league respectively. All interested persons are welcome and urged to attend this opening tea. For information call Arlene VanKirk at 823-1513 or Virginia King at 771-9457.

Clown Corps seeks members

The Grosse Pointe Clown Corps, in need of new members according to group president Arthur Kuehnell, will begin September with a barbeque at Harper Woods Memorial Park, on Beaconsfield south of Vernier, on Monday, Sept. 6, Labor Day, to help raise money for muscular dystrophy.

Other activities this month include participation in the East Warren Businessmen's Parade Sunday, Sept. 19, beginning at 1 p.m. at Warren and Alter and running to Balduck Park, where festivities, food and drink will be available.

The Corps will hold a new members' meeting Sunday, Sept. 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the Grosse Pointe Woods Public Safety Building, 20025 Mack.

Anyone who lives in the area between the ages of 5 and 18 can join the Clown Corps. For information, call Kuehnell, 881-8186.

Firm recommends Mack-Vernier changes

By Mike Andrzejczyk

The Mack-Vernier intersection is well-designed, but could use some improvements to make it safer, according to a traffic study presented to the Woods council at its Monday, Aug. 16, meeting.

The 36-page report compiled by consulting engineers Goodell-Grivas, Inc. cited heavy use by pedestrians as reasons for making the improvements at the intersection.

"We have found the design of the intersection good," the study introduction read, "and the overall accident experience is quite low compared with other signalized intersections of similar traffic volume."

"However, due to the large number of crossing pedestrians from the two nearby schools," the study continued, "we felt that several improvements could be made to reduce the potential for accidents."

Nine recommendations from the study include changes in signage, pavement parking additions, signal length changes and modification of crossing guard routines.

Crossing guards at the corner were "conscientious and energetic in performing their tasks," the study said, but were unable to stop some cars that did not yield to pedestrians while making right turns onto Vernier.

Motorists at the corner are a major problem, the study said. On-site observers recounted incidents where pedestrians were forced to jump back onto the curb or delay crossing the street because motorists failed to stop for them.

"Pedestrians could only cross at the end of the 'Walk' signal after vehicles completed their turns," the study said. "The crossing guards were often able to 'hold' the right-turners, but many motorists did not respect or adhere to the crossing guards."

To combat that, the study recommended selective enforcement by police and the changing of signal timing to allow for two to three seconds of "all-red" allowing pedestrians a chance to cross safely.

Pedestrians crossing against the signal was another problem cited by the study. The worst offenders, according to the study, were Parcels students, although the study said 80 percent of them crossed properly.

The schools and the city should continue education and enforcement programs along with installing another set of crosswalk signals in the medians, the study said.

Changing the placements of crossing guards could stop improper crossings and right-turners, the study recommended.

Two signs on the northeast corner of the intersection obstruct the view of pedestrians and motorists and should be either moved or replaced, the study said.

In addition, "No Turn On Red" signs located on three corners should be supplemented with other signs, the study said. Signs in the median or hanging from the signal wire were recommended.

Lane use arrows should be added to right and left turn lanes to reduce the possibility of side-swipe and rear-end collisions, the study recommended.

The corner had only 57 accidents in the last five and a half years, the study noted, and the incidents have been decreasing during the last four. The number was quite low, the study noted, considering that average daily traffic on Vernier was 28,099 vehicles, while average daily traffic on Mack was 31,126.

The accident rate could be cut in half if all the recommendations are taken, the study added. Other recommendations were considered by the company, but the final nine were those considered most cost-effective.

The study was started after school officials, parents and Parent-Teacher Organization members came before the Woods council earlier this year. The group asked the city to install a flashing school crossing sign on Mack to enhance the safety of the corner. The suggestion, the group said, came from former Public Safety Director John Dankel.

After machinations between the city and the Wayne County Road Commission, the Woods council decided to have the study of the corner done, looking for ways to improve the safety of the corner.

Ross Kogel, president pro-tem of the Parcels PTO and one of those who asked for the study, said he was pleased with it, adding the concern of parents had been the safety of the corner.

"It's a very professional study,"

Shed blasted in the Woods

Woods police are investigating an explosion in the rear yard of an Edmunton Road home Monday night, Aug. 23, that may have been the work of pranksters.

Officers were called to the home about 9:16 p.m. by the owner who said he had heard an explosion in his back yard. Investigating, police discovered that an explosive had been taped to the wall of an aluminum storage shed in the rear yard.

The blast, according to police, was powerful but not large. Damage was contained to the shed area.

An 18-inch hole was blown in the west wall of the shed, reports said. Metal fragments were blown through an opposite wall.

What kind of explosive was used is not known, police said. The device may have been a home-made black powder or flash powder explosive with a fuse, they theorized. Debris from the device and fragments of the shed are being sent to the Michigan State Police Crime Laboratory to determine the exact nature of the explosive.

Residents in the area told police they saw a group of youths run through a Blairmoor yard, exiting on Aline. Because it was dark, witnesses were unable to furnish police with descriptions, reports said.

Immaculata plans reunion

The Immaculata High School Class of 1952 is planning a 30-year reunion Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn.

Cocktail hour will begin at 12 noon with lunch following at 1 p.m. Tickets are $15.

For more information, call Georgiana McLaughlin McHugh at 559-3615 or Carol Leahey Raymond at 939-4848.

Kogel said. "If the city does a majority of those things recommended, the corner will be made much safer."

The flashing sign was something the group thought could make the corner safer, he said, but after the study and "logical persuasion" by both the city and the Public Safety Department, the sign is no longer part of the corner's safety plan.

"We didn't feel the corner was as safe as it could be and the administration felt that it was," Kogel said. "As it turns out, everybody was a little right."

Mason principal William Mestdagh said he was pleased with the study although it didn't address the lowering of speed limits on Mack and Vernier, one of Mestdagh's proposals.

Safety education goes on throughout the school year, he said, noting that no Mason pupil had been involved in a pedestrian accident after school while he had been principal.

"Our children are very good," Mestdagh said. "The problem is the older children. We start the first week of school with a presentation by Traffic Officer Pat Fagan talking about proper crossing procedures. We do that a couple times during the year along with our regular safety programs. Safety is talked about quite a lot."

Hard times hit the Foundation

Handicapped kids who are too young or too severely impaired for public school programs have always had a place to go in Grosse Pointe — the Foundation for Exceptional Children, housed at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church on Lakeshore Road. The Foundation has helped more than 400 such children in its 27 years.

But the program is threatened this year by a financial crisis that has left the Foundation with just $1,000 in the bank less than a month before its scheduled opening date, according to Director Dorothy Martens. The foundation is issuing a frantic appeal for help. Its annual budget is about $80,000.

Its board of directors, headed by Joseph Tapert, met last week and voted to delay opening day a week, until Sept. 16, Ms. Martens said. Employees have agreed to work two weeks without pay, she said. The board also raised tuition to $480.

Its board of directors, headed by Joseph Tapert, met last week and voted to delay opening day a week, until Sept. 16, Ms. Martens said. Employees have agreed to work two weeks without pay and the board has raised tuition to $480, she added.

The tuition increase and salary concessions will help, but not solve, the Foundation's financial problems, Ms. Martens said. The organization gets no support from the state or federal government but relies on individual contributions and funds from a few private foundations and local charities including Rotary, Soroptimists, Lakeshore Optimists, Jaycees, Grosse Pointe Lions and Kiwanis.

The Foundation is currently conducting a fund drive and plans to raise cash through a card party, scheduled Sept. 29, and participation in the League of Women Voters bazaar on Sept. 18. (For more information, call the Foundation at 885-8660.)

In addition to its program for about 25 handicapped children, the Foundation operates a Teen Club, which sponsors a bi-monthly social gathering for older mentally handicapped persons. It also sponsors a support group for families of handicapped persons and provides training to students from North and South High Schools, University of Detroit High, Star of the Sea, Dominican, Regina, and Finney.

Ms. Martens said the Foundation's main problem is inflation. While its donations have remained steady, its costs have risen dramatically, despite the fact that the Memorial Church hasn't raised its rent in seven years.

War Memorial needs volunteers

Volunteer services at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road, is in need of more helpers and workers.

The Service Guild for Children's Hospital meets each Tuesday beginning Sept. 7, from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Needed hospital supplies are made and assembled including poison control brochures, bite blocks, tracheotomy pads and short stay surgery folders. Volunteers bring their own sack lunch. Coffee is provided.

The Cancer Center meets each Monday beginning Sept. 13, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Braille Transcription, to teach sighted people to transcribe reading materials and instructions for the blind, is taught by Mrs. John McNamara on Thursdays beginning Sept. 16, from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Materials are furnished at cost, (about $20), and manuscripts are submitted to the Library of Congress at the end of the course to receive a transcriber's certificate to work for Leader Dog, the Red Cross and similar organizations.

The War Memorial also maintains a free hospital loan closet where citizens in need may borrow crutches, walkers, wheel chairs and hospital beds.

For further information, call the War Memorial at 881-7511.

SEMTA offers half-fare cards free to seniors

For a limited time, senior citizens and handicapped persons in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties can obtain a special SEMTA half-fare photo identification card at no cost.

Through Oct. 15, special arrangements can be made for a SEMTA representative to visit a senior citizen meeting place and process the photo ID cards without cost. Normally a $1 application fee is charged and the participant must supply his own photo.

The ID passes enable senior citizens, aged 65 and older, and handicapped persons to board any regularly scheduled SEMTA bus on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and during weekday hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. and 6 a.m. at half fare.

To schedule a SEMTA representative for a visit, coordinators and others working with senior citizen groups and organizations should contact the SEMTA Public Affairs Office at 256-8765. When calling, persons should be able to supply information about how many photo ID cards will be needed and at least two preferred dates for the visit.

For persons unable to visit a site where passes will be processed, applications may be filled out and mailed at no cost, to SEMTA at the First National Building, 600 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226. Applications are available by calling SEMTA at the same number. A one-inch square photo of the person applying must accompany the application.

To date, more than 6,000 seniors and handicapped citizens own and use the reduced fare passes in the tri-county area.

By making the processing of the cards convenient and at no charge, SEMTA continues its policy of putting its customers and their needs first.

Candy sale benefits Muscular Dystrophy

Three brothers Lawrence, Cameron and Shannon Frame, of Lothrop Road, plan to conduct a candy sale to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association in Grosse Pointe shopping areas next week.

The candy has been donated by several local merchants, including Gene's Party Store, Rand Drugs and Woolworth, according to Lawrence Frame. He said 100 percent of the profits from the sale will be donated to the association. Candy will cost between 30 cents and $2.95, he said.

Dominican sets adult classes

Dominican Adult Learning Center, located on Whittier Road near Harper, has announced its fall registration for business classes, workshops and studio courses.

Classes in typing, shorthand, accounting, bookkeeping and computer programming will be offered, along with workshops in public speaking, resume writing and finding a job. Studio courses will include drawing, watercolor, chair caning and stained glass. For registration information, call 882-8500.

So you forgot where you put your keys and you can't remember if your luncheon date is tomorrow or next week. You sigh and remind yourself that poor memory is one of the penalties you pay for living a long life.

Sorry, but that excuse won't wash anymore. Experts have found that the difference in what older people remember and the young remember is very small. In a study done by Roger Dixon of the Max Planck Institute for Human Behavior and Education in West Berlin, the abilities of people in their 30's to recall a short text was compared with those in their 60's. It was found that given equal ability in high verbal skills, there was little difference.

Beyond the assurance that poor memory is not part of the aging process, such studies provide evidence that older people can go on learning as long as the desire to acquire new skills and interests remains. It may be that it is possible for them to get more out of learning because they bring to the subject a background of living experience.

The older person who has lived through four wars will have a broader base of understanding the effect of war on people and nations than a younger student whose acquaintance with American history is limited to lectures and the written word.

"The Grapes of Wrath" studied as literature will have more meaning to a reader who has lived through the depression years than one who is experiencing the deprivation and hardships of that era vicariously in a novel.

IT IS THIS portfolio of living experience that could account for the differences that experts found in the process of remembering between younger and older people. They found that younger people remembered the facts of a story but older people were better at remembering the point of a story. This seems to be logical since younger people have little to go on but facts while someone that has lived many years can computerize facts into their subconscious memory, sort them into a pattern that leads to a conclusion based on their life experience.

And what a wealth of experience the older generation of the 1980's have to draw on. If there is one word that characterizes this century, it is change -- a change so rapid that it is remarkable that those who have lived through it have been able to assimilate it. Besides the personal changes that occur in everyone's life -- births, marriages, deaths, good times and bad -- there were the rapid changes brought by technology.

Is it possible for someone who has not experienced it to understand the thrill of hearing music with earphones attached to an oatmeal box wound with copper wire and equipped with a cat whisker to bring in sound? This was the forerunner of the modern stereo radio with its high fidelity sound. Is it possible to imagine watching the first television set with a "bubble" attachment to enlarge the picture?

My mother lived in a house that had a stepstone at the curb for ladies lighting from the horse-drawn carriage. During her lifetime she saw the demise of streetcars, the invention of motor-driven high powered cars and planes that crossed the ocean in record time. She saw the homes of her friends torn down to make way for urban renewal. She sorrowed when the house she was born in was razed and she was forced to move from familiar surroundings into a strange world of highrise apartments and impersonal neighbors.

But, however meaningful these findings concerning the capacity of older people to remember -- and it could be very encouraging to those who are contemplating taking courses -- they don't do much to help with the problem of retrieving misplaced keys or forgotten luncheon dates beyond the assurance that such memory lapses are common to all ages.

However, there are techniques which work for younger people who have trouble remembering and should work for those with added years also.

ONE OF THE MORE successful methods for remembering touted by experts is that of association. For instance, you might be introduced to a Mr. Lambey. You are impressed with his quiet, gentle manner. You want to remember him by name so you associate his name with a "lamb". Fine, just don't call him Mr. Lamb the next time you meet him.

Another example -- Mr. Mykowski, a name that is harder to remember. Broken down his name can become, "my cow skies." Just don't start to laugh at this mental picture you have created every time you meet Mr. Mykowski.

We generally remember best what we work with most. Consider Grace Hopper, a Navy captain who is still on active duty at the age of 75 because "She's got a computer brain and the Navy can't do without her." She is on the Admiral's staff at the Naval Data Automation Command at Washington, D.C.

"My job," she said, "is to look ahead and see what's going to happen next. It's very exciting." Hopper joined the Navy 39 years ago.

"I was very lucky," she went on. "I was ordered to be the first Navy computer."

It is obvious that Captain Hopper's acumen has been kept alive by continued activity in her field. Time and age have not diminished her memory capacity.

Closely aligned with memory is intelligence. The capacity to remember is an asset in learning new skills and assimilating knowledge gained from experience. However making sound judgments rests with intelligence.

It is good to know that memory does not decline with age but it is just as reassuring to know that age does not affect intelligence.

According to a study done by Raymond B. Cattell and John L. Horn, intelligence consists of two kinds of abilities. One is related to the functioning of the nervous system and can be measured by tests of reasoning. This is known as fluid intelligence.

The other is defined as the ability to use habits of judgement based on experience, in order to solve problems. These habits have taken definite form as a result of earlier learning. This is called crystallized intelligence and includes an awareness of concepts contained in general information and knowledge of special fields.

OLDER PERSONS did better on tests for crystallized intelligence but did not surpass young participants on fluid intelligence. This is not surprising since the test involved the nervous system. While the ability to think quickly may slow down with age, intelligence does not diminish. It just takes a little longer for older people to solve problems.

The study also found that when intelligence did decline during the postretirement years it was generally because they were made to feel left out. It was found that society sometimes encourages older people to play the "sick" role, a role that exempts them from his or her normal obligations. This low expectation attitude actually discourages perfectly capable people from engaging in activities requiring independence and competence.

An older person who succumbs to that role may come to view themselves as helpless and dependent. This self-image and behavior, in turn reinforces society's prejudices. A vicious circle begins. The older person, deprived of self-confidence and beset by self-doubts, reinforces an image of lowered intelligence when actually the same potential is there, needing only self-motivation.

Do memory and intelligence decline with age? The answer is no, particularly at this point in time when older people enjoy greater health and vigor and are better educated than their predecessors.

Ford Hospital will expand Lifeline alert

Henry Ford Hospital will soon be able to offer "Lifeline" emergency alert systems to more elderly and handicapped persons living alone, thanks to donations by two hospital groups and a community funding effort under way.

"Lifeline," an alert system utilizing the person's home phone, enables the senior citizen or handicapped person to summon emergency help simply by pushing a button. Henry Ford Hospital made the system available in December, 1981, at a nominal cost.

Ten additional "Lifeline" units will be purchased with $4,500 donated by the Hospital's Gift Shop and Gift Cart volunteers. Still more units will be purchased thanks to a donation in excess of $3,000 to be made by the Hospital's Recreation Association, which raised funds for "Lifeline" and two other projects at its sixth annual Olympiad chariot race held in July.

The "Lifeline" program is one of Henry Ford Hospital's geriatric programs, which address the special health care and related needs of the increasing number of elderly people in metropolitan Detroit.

For further information about "Lifeline" or to inquire about getting a unit, call 876-1992.

Views of the News

The old order changeth

Before approving Henry Ford II's request for a rezoning of his Lakeshore estate, the Grosse Pointe Farms Council sought to calm the fears of Pointe residents worried about the precedent that would be set and the increased density of dwelling units that would result from construction of cluster housing on the property.

In discussing Ford's plan with a crowd of concerned property owners that packed the council chambers, Farms officials made it clear that approval of Ford's application would not automatically mean acceptance of every future request. They insisted each application would be considered on its merits and, as Councilman Nancy Waugaman said, "Every person with a half acre of land is not going to be able to rezone it for cluster housing."

IN ADDITION, in her motion to accept the Ford proposal, Ms. Waugaman stipulated that the dwelling density on the Ford property could be no more than the 2.3 units per acre shown on the plan presented to the council. Under the cluster housing provisions of the zoning regulations currently in effect, density could have been as high as 4.5 units per acre.

Both Ford and his developer, William Caldwell, made it clear that they wanted a quality project which would have low dwelling density and would retain most of the trees as well as the swimming pool and pool house on the property. In answer to questions about future changes in the development plan, Caldwell said no plan is ever cast in stone but any major deviation would be brought back to the council for its approval.

Even with those assurances about precedent, housing density and possible plan changes, some residents of the Farms and the other Pointes were not especially happy about the proposal to replace Ford's 76-room mansion with 18 units of two-bedroom and three-bedroom dwellings in a cluster housing complex. Several people expressed concern that Lakeshore Road no longer would remain one of the finest streets in America, as it was described by one resident, if construction of the new development goes ahead.

Yet it is difficult to argue against the case that Ford and Caldwell made in their presentation to the council. Ford pointed out that after he had been unable to sell his home, he began working with Caldwell to see what could be done with the property. That is when they came up with the cluster housing development which Ford described as a "quality, innovative-type project" where owners could "lock up their homes and leave them, worry-free, for two months if they wished." Nor is the project apt to lower nearby property values if it is developed as planned with units starting at about $300,000 each.

The question is what, if any, are the possible alternatives to the kind of development that Ford proposed. None has been offered to date.

Realistically, it has to be conceded that the demand for mansions the size of Ford's home is limited. As Ms. Waugaman said, "It would be nice to see the big homes remain on Lakeshore, mansions sitting 300 feet back on four or five acres of land. But those days are gone. Nobody can afford to maintain that lifestyle any more. At least this way the property is utilized and the council still has control over the situation."

It is also reassuring that the council and Pointe residents have Ford's own promise that he plans to stay with the development project until it is completed. Depending on when work can get underway, Caldwell said it probably would take two and a half years to complete construction, which would mean, he said, if it were started early next year it could be completed in 1985. Ford presumably would remain involved in the project until all the units were built and sold.

As the project goes ahead, however, the Farms Council will have a continuing responsibility to make sure the development proceeds as planned. While Ford said he already had calls from two people who wanted to make down payments on the new housing units, nobody can guarantee how quickly the dwellings can be built and sold. Even in the Rose Terrace development, only 17 of 25 units have been built and the condition of the undeveloped lots leaves something to be desired. Yet measures can be taken to require completion of construction as rapidly as possible and thus reassure nearby residents.

THE FORD ESTATE is not the first on Lakeshore to be subdivided or developed. Yet it is always sad to see "the old order changeth, yielding place to new," as Tennyson observed. As more and more of the beautiful old mansions fronting on Lake St. Clair along lovely Lakeshore Road come down, the community's hope is that the new homes that replace the old ones will have a beauty, quality and charm of their own. In the case of his own property, Ford appears to have pledged to seek that goal in his cluster housing development.

Ford decision sets a bad precedent

I would like to commend your Tom Greenwood for the excellence and accuracy of his reporting of the Farms council's consideration of Henry Ford's request for rezoning of his Lakeshore Road property. The headline read, "Farms agrees: Ford has a better idea." I would like to play upon another Ford phrase, ever complaining, ever explaining; Mr. Greenwood identified me as "one of the most vocal opponents of the complex."

I am not convinced that proponents of Mr. Ford's cluster plan fully understand the fears of neighbors such as Mr. Booth and myself who spoke against it, and I would like to assure them of our sensitivity to the concerns which it was purportedly addressing. While I do not agree that three similar buildings only 15 and 20 feet apart along Lakeshore Road are consistent with either good aesthetics or existing standards on the street, not for a moment do I think that Mr. Ford might have sold the beautiful house to be maintained as is. It is clear that few could afford it or maintain it, and of those who could, who would want to do so? Life styles have truly changed, but I don't think he ever made a serious effort to sell the property for traditional single family development as was done in the cases of the Glancy, Torrey, and several other estates. A good design firm should have had no difficulty working out a plot scheme on a site of nearly eight acres.

The precedent of allowing this clustered housing, the council to the contrary, may not be an easy matter to deal with in the future. Other large parcels will come on the market and if the council decides against similar housing on individual merits, an appellant can cite the Ford development all the way to the Supreme Court. Woodward Avenue through Bloomfield Hills is a nearby example of what happens step-by-step when "the walls come tumbling down."

Concern has understandably been expressed for the needs of "empty-nesters," but this project does not answer them. I am not certain they can be met in the Farms, but my violin is not tuned to play a sad song for these 18 families who might have been denied an opportunity to pay "a minimum of $300,000 for 2,600 square feet of living space here. And the "association" which will control at their expense the maintenance of the buildings and needs of the grounds will hardly prove a panacea. These condominium-type situations usually produce more aggravations and expenses than if individuals exercised their own options.

Then there is the rather neglected area of how little was really spelled out. Sidewalks, street lighting, gate houses are to be dealt with later. The entire picture presented to the council, including four basic house plans for 18 buildings, and which three examples will line up in a row along the street, is at this point very nebulous. Designer renderings shift like the wind and sands prior to the setting of wood and mortar. As a child and Detroit, I enjoyed the beauty of Lakeshore Road just as I do now, and I hope that the traditions that are starting to give way will not lead to diminishing the beauty that all who drive by have always enjoyed. Now that Mr. Ford and the council have opened a door, who knows whether one of the nation's outstanding boulevards will deteriorate. Mr. Booth and I knew before we attended the meeting which way the vote would go, but we spoke up anyway because we felt that our fears should be noted. This letter has been written with the same concern and I hope that this development will proceed as beautifully as possible, now that it has been sanctioned.

Lost in a political shuffle?

Now that Martha Griffiths has emerged from political retirement to accept the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, it is clear that both the Democratic and Republican nominees for governor have chosen running mates who reflect their own views on several major issues.

ON THE NOW defunct equal rights amendment, free choice of abortion and state aid for Detroit, Mrs. Griffiths strongly backs the "pro" side of those issues expressed by James Blanchard, Democratic nominee for governor. Similarly, former Michigan Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas Brennan, the GOP choice for lieutenant governor, joins Richard Headlee, the GOP gubernatorial nominee, in taking the other side on these issues.

In a press conference, Mrs. Griffiths contended that Headlee had insulted Michigan and two of the most distinguished women the state has ever had — Betty Ford and Helen Milliken — through his opposition to the ERA. Mrs. Griffiths, one of the congressional authors of the amendment, also criticized Headlee for trying to "read Detroit out of the state" with his attacks on Mayor Coleman Young and state aid to Detroit.

Headlee promptly retorted that the selection of Mrs. Griffiths "completes a federal ticket, a ticket of the past, a ticket which represents the 'tax, spend more' philosophy of the Democrats." Since Mrs. Griffiths once served in the state Legislature and has been in private law practice and serving on the boards of major Detroit and nationally-based corporations since her retirement from Congress, that attack did not seem to be any more on point than some of Mrs. Griffiths' comments about the GOP ticket's hostility to Detroit.

It is true that there is something to be said for giving the voters a clear choice between the two tickets on such matters as ERA, abortion and state aid to Detroit. And it no doubt is better to have this kind of a choice rather than having one position or the other weakened by a balancing act in the choice of the running mate.

Yet the trouble here is that too much attention could be paid to these issues on which the choice is clear and not enough to what we regard as the major issue: the state's economic future. Both nominees and both parties are pledged to help improve it but the way in which each nominee and each party will seek to achieve that goal would seem to be of major importance.

AS THE CAMPAIGN moves along, we hope the public will hear more from both tickets and both parties as to their specific programs for improving Michigan's economy, with the help of business, labor, the Legislature and other interests in the state. While neither party can achieve complete success in this aim without some recovery in the national economy, the details of how each ticket would try to turn the state around and lift it out of its current depression deserve more attention than the problem has been getting in these early days of the fall campaign. To date the economic issue seems to be getting lost in a fast political shuffle.

Water rates are news

I wish to correct comments in the Aug. 26 F.Y.I. column in which Tom Greenwood "apologized" to me for "neglecting to publicize" the fact that water rates in the Farms were reduced by the council effective July 1.

First, the apology is not due to me but to the residents of the Farms who are directly affected by the action, the entire council for refusing to accept and pay rate increases from the city of Detroit for sewage treatment since 1975 which resulted in prolonged hearings about the dispute in U.S. District Court and to the city administration and the city's attorney, Kathleen Lewis, who successfully argued the city's case before Judge Feikens.

Second, it was not a case of "publicity" but one of reporting the facts. The council's refusal to accept rates promulgated by the City of Detroit and the subsequent water rate reduction were news. The savings to all Farms residents, as a result of the council's action, will exceed $100,000 every year.

If I may parody some of Mr. Greenwood's subtle humor, I would say the news of the water rate reduction may not have been as protuberant as the council's dispute with the Wayne County Road Commission over Lakeshore but it certainly was not a drop in the bucket and at least we have found a conduit for reporting it.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

You all know how fast your autumn calendars fill up after Labor Day, so make a point to circle Friday, Oct. 8, RIGHT NOW because you definitely don't want to miss the first in a series of benefit events to support the John Lake Scholarship Fund: a program featuring Josephine Brummel, concert pianist — and wife of Grosse Pointe Superintendent of Schools Kenneth Brummel.

The fund, to assist outstanding college-bound Grosse Pointe high school students, was created to honor the recently retired director of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. So the concert will, of course, take place in the War Memorial's Fries Auditorium. Thirty years ago, when John Lake gave up high school teaching in The Pointe to become the just launched War Memorial's first director, there was no Fries Auditorium, no Fries Building, no Art Wing . . . only Alger House, and the ideas and dreams of the man who was to become, over the years, "Mr. War Memorial" to all Grosse Pointe.

The benefit was jointly announced by the John Lake Scholarship Committee and Honorary Committee, both formed when Mr. Lake retired because many community groups and individuals felt it appropriate to honor him with an ongoing tribute.

Members of the Scholarship Committee are Mr. and Mrs. William Bradley, Mrs. Bruce Bockstanz, Henry T. Ewald, Mrs. Robert Kennel, Mrs. John McKinley, Dale Pegg, William Peters, John Rickel, Mrs. Sterling Sanford, Mrs. Alger Shelden, Mrs. Perry TeWalt (chairman), Dr. Mark Weber, the War Memorial's current director, and John Worcester.

Honorary Committee members are Mr. and Mrs. J. Addison Bartush, Mr. and Mrs. Wilber Brucker Jr., James Dingeman, Mrs. Robert C. Hartwick, Mr. and Mrs. Earl I. Heenan, Jim McDonald, T.H. Mecke Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Parcells Jr., Mrs. Jerome Remick, Mr. and Mrs. Mark C. Stevens, C.F. Tompkins and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander L. Wiener.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. on the second Friday of October. Tickets will be available at the War Memorial, Village Records and Tapes and other locations to be announced later, at $4 for students, $8 for adults, $25 patron and $50-or-more benefactor. Ticket chairman is Mrs. William Bradley, of Ford Court (886-0079).

A Rare Look at Angkor

Wilbur E. Garrett, editor of National Geographic Magazine, first visited the temples of Angkor in 1968. Shortly thereafter fighting began in Cambodia, now Kampuchea, and for the next decade the medieval capital of the Khmer Empire was virtually forbidden territory to all outsiders.

Ready for a second season of Enlightenment . . .

Ideas that stretch the mind are once again the substance of the successful Enlightenment Series that opens its second season at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial this month. And this season the ideas will cover an even broader scope as MICHAEL FARRELL, of the Detroit Institute of Arts and Windsor University, joins popular lecturer Sherwin Wine, director of the Center for New Thinking, and a panel of best selling authors in this fall's new program. Previewing Farrell's presentation recently at the DIA was KAY HEALY, a member of the Council of Sponsors established last year to help the War Memorial expand its programming to meet community needs which are not being met by other organizations. The opening set of this year's provocative Enlightenment discussions will take place at 8 p.m. on three successive Wednesday evenings, beginning Sept. 22. In these, Farrell will display his remarkable facility for relating art to the social, political, economic and psychological aspects of the culture and period in which it was created. Under the overall title "Art of the Bourgeoisie" he will explore the influence of the rising middle classes on the development of three periods of art: The Renaissance in Italy, Dutch Art in the 17th Century and French Art in the 19th Century. The talks can be expected to provide startling new perspectives — not all completely reverent — on the significance of many works of art that have long been revered as masterworks. Immediately following Farrell's final program, the Enlightenment Series will continue on Thursdays with three of Rabbi Wine's popular discussions of subjects dealt with in current best selling books. The fall program will conclude with a Book and Author luncheon, offering Grosse Pointers a chance to meet and question authors of newly published works which are receiving critical acclaim. Farrell is a well known art historian whose competence and charisma have made him a popular lecturer. He is an associate professor at the University of Windsor's School of Fine Arts and adjunct curator of Education at the DIA; in the latter capacity he has taught the General Survey course for the museum's Docents, worked with the Art to the Schools program and publicized the DIA's exhibitions and collections throughout the state. He is currently living in and restoring a Victorian house in downtown Detroit: acting on his convictions regarding the importance of saving our architectural heritage. Members of this year's Coun-

Washington Frisbee Fest is an end-of-summer fling June wedding for Miss Meier

By June B. Chocheles
Smithsonian News Service

It's Labor Day weekend in Washington, D.C. Thousands of people are gathered on the National Mall — picnicking, playing softball or just plain relaxing.

Suddenly, a bright blue and silver saucer-shaped object whizzes by, quickly followed by a larger, orange disc, then one with a weird greenish hue. In a few seconds the sky is filled with hundreds of brightly colored spinning discs, all appearing to converge on the United States Capitol.

Don't head for cover! It's not an invasion by an alien space-age army or even a friendlier visit from a group of extra-terrestrial tourists. It's only the "big throw," the grand finale of the Smithsonian Institution's annual Frisbee Disc Festival, the world's largest non-competitive disc event.

The festival, sponsored by the National Air and Space Museum, includes much more than this massive fling. Featured during the five-hour festivities are workshops and exhibitions of disc tricks and moves by disc champions, both the human and canine kind. It's a day when young and old, novice and expert, can learn or perfect the tosses and catches that make Frisbee disc play one of America's favorite pastimes.

The festival was begun in the spring of 1977 at the suggestion of Bill Good, a member of the museum's art department staff and a Frisbee disc enthusiast.

"The Smithsonian was already holding annual kite and boomerang festivals," Good recalls. "I thought the Frisbee Disc Festival would be an appropriate addition. And as for the air and space connection, a disc is really a combination of an airplane wing and a gyroscope."

Explains Donald Lopez, chairman of the museum's aeronautics department: "A disc has an airfoil shape — slightly rounded on the top and flat on the bottom. The shape gives it lift when it's moving, the rotation keeps it stable and the angle at which it is thrown gives it direction."

Sounds simple enough, but there's more to disc-flipping than meets the uninitiated eye. "The faster the forward motion of a Frisbee disc and the greater its attitude (the angle at which it flies), the greater the lift and the longer the flight," Frisbee disc experts Mark Dianna and Dan Poynter write in "Frisbee Players' Handbook" (Parachuting Publications, 1978).

"It's the same principle as an airplane's wing. When the leading edge of a forward moving wing is tilted upward, air is compressed underneath it. When the speed of a Frisbee disc slows, the disc levels out because the air pressure above and below it becomes the same."

An entire vocabulary has grown up to describe some of the nuances of Frisbee disc aerodynamics, but even the experts admit that the precise aerodynamic basis of why a disc can fly has yet to be explained.

But Frisbee disc aficionados don't seem to worry about physics and aerodynamics as they practice perfecting their disc skills at the festival's workshops. The beginner workshops concentrate on the basic toss and catch skills which, once mastered, are used to perform more advanced disc moves. Intermediate and advanced workshops focus on "fancy tricks," including "nail delays," where the disc spins on the nail of the index finger, and "chest rolls," which involve rolling the disc from one hand across the body, down the other arm and into the opposite hand.

The object of all these maneuvers, of course, is to keep the disc spinning, and all advanced moves are guaranteed to impress any audience a disc spinner can muster.

When the workshops break, everyone's off to find a prime spot on the Mall for viewing the freestyle and canine exhibitions: the most popular events at the festival. The freestyle portion features World Class Frisbee Disc Champions who combine dance steps with disc moves to create a unique performance involving grace, style and disc play expertise.

In a typical routine, a performer reels a disc in close to the body and releases it with a quick snap of the wrist, from behind the head or under the leg. Or a disc may be released upside down when the performer is in mid-air.

The disc silently sails through the hot, humid, summer air only to be "finger-tipped," "air-brushed" and "toe-jammed" — all special tricks — before it is finally caught and quickly sent spinning away to a partner who will spontaneously perform a totally new set of moves.

Then there are those amazing dogs who appear to have invisible wings as they leap to heights of up to nine feet to catch spinning discs between their jaws. Most dogs have been trained since they were pups, when their first taste, literally, of Frisbee disc play was at meal time: their food was served from an upside-down disc.

Amid all this tossing, catching, leaping and continuous spinning, at least one pie tin always turns up in the act, a nostalgic link to what some people claim are the origins of the Frisbee disc: the Frisbie Pie Company of Bridgeport, Conn. Shortly after World War II, so the story goes, young men at Yale University are said to have tossed empty pie tins across the campus yelling "Frisbie" in an attempt to warn fellow students of a possible onslaught.

Other stories link the first flying disc to Elihu Frisbee, another Yale, who, in 1827, flung a collection plate across the campus to protest compulsory chapel attendance.

The first flying discs as we know them today, however, were developed in the early 1950s by inventors around the country who were experimenting with a new synthetic material: plastic. One inventor, a building inspector named Fred Morrison, designed and produced the Picoo Flyin' Saucer in his basement.

Morrison sold his discs on the county fair circuit. Actually, he sold "invisible strings" and discs were slid along the "string" to prove its existence. When someone bought a string, the disc was thrown in as a bonus.

In 1957 Morrison sold his saucer to the Wham-O Manufacturing Company, which was also beginning to market another plastic toy, the hoola-hoop. Within a few months the Pluto Platter, a flying disc complete with a cupola, portholes and the names of the planets inscribed around the rim, appeared on the toy scene. Shortly after, in 1958, the Sailing Satellite emerged; coincidentally, that was the year in which the United States launched its own man-made satellite, Explorer I.

And while man-made satellites were making their debut in space, Pluto Platters and Sailing Satellites were making their own debuts on West Coast beaches. Space was no longer an unreachable entity and these small plastic toys were a kind of tongue-in-cheek reminder of what could be "out there."

On May 29, 1959, Frisbee became a registered trademark of Wham-O Manufacturing Company, but like NASA's space program, Frisbee discs did not really take off until the mid-1960s. The International Frisbee Disc Association was formed in 1967 to promote appreciation for the Frisbee disc at all levels — from recreation to competition — and, in the early 1970s, organized competitions for field events got underway.

Since then, Frisbee discs have been seen in the hands of actors, professional athletes and presidents, and they've even been tossed by former astronaut Michael Collins who, as director of the National Air and Space Museum, in 1977 flung the Frisbee disc that began the first festival.

June wedding for Miss Meier

Exchanging marriage vows Saturday, June 12, at a late morning ceremony in the Grosse Pointe Academy Chapel were Mary Colleen Meier and Charles Loftis Dakin. The 11:30 o'clock ceremony at which Father Robert Wzygoski presided was followed by a reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House and gardens. The newlyweds are at home in Troy.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. James Edward Page, of Dean Lane, and John Lawrence Meier, of Naples, Fla., carried a trailing arm bouquet of stephanotis and lilies-of-the-valley accented with pink African violets and ivy.

Her white moire taffeta gown featured an off-the-shoulder neckline accented with silk flowers, delicate, flounced sleeves, a molded bodice and chapel length train. She designed her circular headpiece of silk flowers graduating in size to the back, where large, white puppies caught a fingertip length veil of silk net, and wore short, scalloped-edged, white gloves.

Elizabeth Ann Meier, honor maid for her sister, and bridesmaids Julie Ellen Meier, another sister, Cynthia Elizabeth Droll, Holly Hudson-Ziegler, a college classmate, and two Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority sisters of the bride, Marta Mulder Birchfield and Kathy Lettas Cornwall, of Minneapolis, Minn., wore long dresses of white taffeta styled with portrait necklines featuring full, ruffled collars. Pleated cummerbunds of vivid pink taffeta circled their waists.

The honor attendant wore a headpiece of ivy, freesia and pink violets. The bridesmaids carried modified arm bouquets of roses, astroemeria and rubrum lilies, gerber daisies and assorted wildflowers, in bright pastel shades, with ivy.

Mrs. Charles L. Dakin

Mr. Dakin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Calvin Dakin, of Bloomfield Hills, asked Brian Stephenson, of Alexandria, Va., to act as best man. Ushers were John Patrick Meier, brother of the bride, James Birchfield, Dennis Merlo, Mark Mover and Erna Mrowczynski.

The mother of the bride wore a white silk gown with a delicate pink overprint and carried a small clutch bouquet of deep pink lilies and freesia. The bridegroom's mother selected a silk chiffon gown and a similar clutch bouquet.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Simon E. Dunn, carried a clutch bouquet of lavender African violets and ivy.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. John Noel Bailey, of St. Charles, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Riley, of Vestal, N.Y.; William Fischer, of North Palm Beach, Fla.; George Costakis, of Evanston, Ill.; and Mrs. Patrick Costello, of Delray Beach, Fla.

Register for fall at Marygrove

Marygrove College is conducting registration for fall term undergraduate, graduate and Continuing Education classes. Students can register in person at Marygrove, 8425 West McNichols at Wyoming, Detroit, Mich. 48221, or by mail. Phone registration with MasterCard or VISA is also possible by calling 862-8000.

Undergraduate registration runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. until Friday, Sept. 3. Classes begin Tuesday, Sept. 7. A wide variety of courses leads toward several degree programs at the Bachelor and Masters levels.

Registration for courses in the Division of Continuing Education began Monday, Aug. 30, and continues through Friday, Sept. 17. Classes begin Saturday, Sept. 18. "Kids College" registration began Monday, Aug. 30, and ends Friday, Sept. 24, with classes starting Saturday, Sept. 25.

Registration will generally run from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with extended hours beginning Tuesday, Sept. 7. Prospective students are advised to register early since many classes get filled quickly.

Over 100 fall Continuing Education classes, seminars, workshops and special programs will be offered for persons interested in acquiring or updating career-related skills or in participating in personal enrichment or recreational activities.

Day, evening and weekend classes are conveniently scheduled for both children and adults. Adult classes cover such diverse areas as medical/health career training, professional and management development, travel agent training, gospel/piano church music, arts and recreation, personal development, financial planning and languages.

Marygrove also offers a wide variety of Kids College courses for children who are very gifted, average or need remedial help in English, math or reading. Areas covered include preschool (ages 3 to 6 years), basic studies, creative arts and enrichment courses for grades one to 12.

Classes for gifted children include Mathletes, Renaissance reading, creative writing, philosophy and news analysis of current political, economic and social issues.

New health career Associate Degree Programs have been instituted in Cardiovascular Technology and Radiologic Technology. A three-day workshop on the Clinical Use of Dance Therapy will be offered Oct. 1 to 3. It is designed for students and clinicians in hospital settings, community based application, mental health and occupational therapy.

Know Your Symphony, a 12-week course focusing on the weekly concert repertoire of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be offered Sept. 21 to Dec. 7. Live symphonic experiences are included in the course.

Marygrove also is instituting a Security Guard Training Program encompassing building and grounds security, first aid, use of weapons and legal issues. The first of this series of courses, Self Defense/Stick Fighting will be offered Sept. 21 to Nov. 23.

For the convenience of commuters, Marygrove participates in the Ride-Match carpool program to assist students in finding transportation to the college. For more information on courses or RideMatch, contact Marygrove at 862-8000, Extension 240.

Harbor Springs is wedding site

Candace Anne Maxon and David Prescott Lancaster, who vacationed in Montreal, Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and Maine following their marriage Saturday, July 3, in Harbor Springs' First United Presbyterian Church, are at home in Bellevue, Wash.

The bride is the daughter of Marilyn S. Wood, of Moran Road, and Robert B. Wood, of Harbor Springs. The reception following the ceremony was held at the Woods' Shoofly Farm.

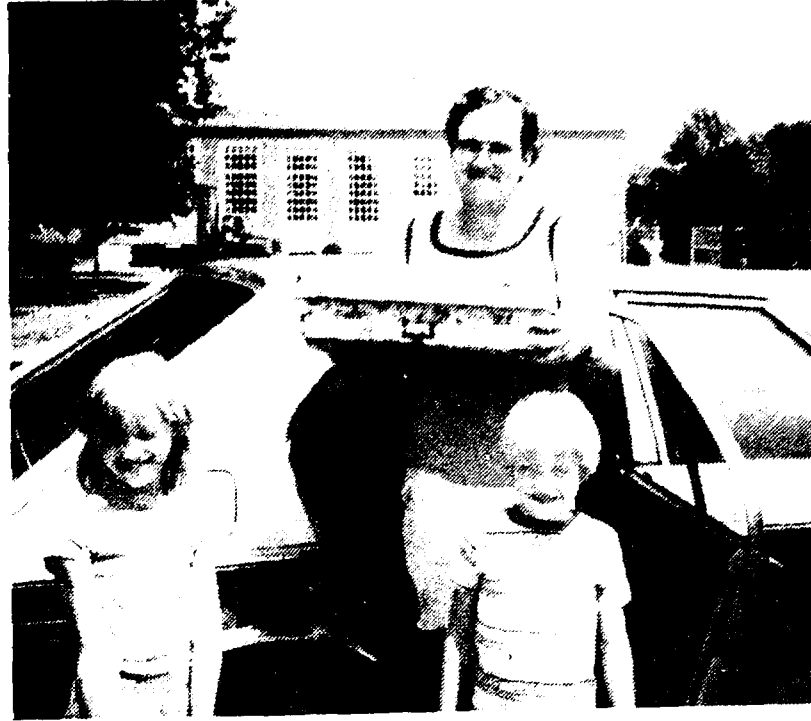

The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Lancaster, of Indianapolis, Ind. Dr. Lancaster officiated at his son's 5 o'clock wedding.

The bride, who wore an imported cotton batiste and eyelet blouse with a matching skirt and carried a bouquet of multicolored wildflowers, was attended by her sister, Christine Wood Wardwell, as honor matron, by two other sisters, Jane S. McFeely and Martha L. Cyphers, of Hudson, O., and by her daughter, Dana Merrill Maxon, who wore white cotton batiste and carried a basket of wildflowers. Peter Lancaster, of Washington, D.C., was best man. The mother of the bride wore a pastel floral print dress and a wildflower corsage. The bridegroom's mother selected a lavender dress, with a tucked front, and a corsage of bachelor buttons and baby's-breath.

Metropolitan Rose Society sets show

The Metropolitan Rose Society will present its Fall Rose Show this Saturday, Sept. 4, from 2 to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 5, from noon to 5 p.m. at the Macomb Mall. New home for local history . . .

Helping to transfer the Grosse Pointe Historical Society's records and collections to their new home in Monteith School, located on Cook Road, are RANDALL KENT and his assistants, JASON and BETHANY, who are especially interested in the boxes of Indian artifacts. After a busy August spent moving from its former location at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, the local Historical Society is ready to welcome visitors in its new quarters and is looking forward to an exciting year of programs and events, starting Monday, Sept. 20, with Jon Gandelot's illustrated talk on "The Past and Present of Trowbridge House." Be sure to see the showcase display sponsored by the Historical Society during September at the Grosse Pointe Central Library.

Karen Dolson to say vows

The engagement of Karen Marie Dolson and Mark Thomas Gaffney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gaffney, of Jackson, has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dolson, former Farms residents who now make their home in Scottville, Mich.

Miss Dolson, a Grosse Pointe South High School alumna who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University, is a teacher at Gerber Children's Center, Kalamazoo. Her fiancé, a graduate of Grand Rapids' Ottawa Hills High School, studying for his Bachelor of Arts degree at Michigan State University, is a merchant seaman, currently employed in Louisiana.

The wedding is planned for mid-October, at Saint Augustine's Cathedral in Kalamazoo.

Beta Epsilon DKGs Fall ox roast to have a birthday for Newcomers

Members of Beta Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society, largest group of women educators in the world united in an effort to assist women who want to pursue advanced education and improve their professional status, will gather Thursday, Sept. 16, at 5 p.m. in the Severn Road home of their president, Mrs. Russell Nahat, to celebrate the founding of their chapter 18 years ago.

Executive board members Joanne Saucier, vice-president, Virginia Magreta, recording secretary, Eileen McMichael, corresponding secretary, and Mildred Bush, treasurer, will serve as hostesses, welcoming members and guests of honor prior to the salad buffet.

Three of the honored guests, Lola Tropea, Barbara Hopper and Norma Lusby, are past-presidents of the chapter. Three others, Clara Frangquist, Betty Farmer and Viora Hency, have served the chapter in various capacities through the years. The evening's festivities will include a special birthday ceremony.

DKG's international convention a few weeks ago in Atlanta, Ga., attracted 2,628 members from throughout the United States, Canada and 13 foreign countries.

The Grosse Pointe Newcomers Club is "Bullish on Grosse Pointe," and has selected this as theme for the annual autumn Newcomers Ox Roast, to be held this year Saturday, Sept. 11, at the Windmill Pointe Park.

The fun begins at 6 p.m. The menu includes corn-on-the-cob, salad, rolls, dessert — and, of course, plenty of hearty roast beef and drinks. Interested couples should make reservations by contacting party chairmen Steve and Marcia Sholty at 886-7191.

Assisting the Sholtys as ox roast hosts are Russ and Rita Conrad, Bill and Marcia Holmer, Fred and Michelle Minturn, John and Jeanne Prom, Steve and Barb Smith, Al and Debby Hackbarth, Brian and Susan Howe, Nick and Joan Piccione, Wayne and Candy Morrison and Allen and Dawn Brown.

Couples who have recently moved from an area not touching the boundaries of Grosse Pointe are eligible for membership in the local Newcomers organization and invited to contact the membership chairmen at 881-2890 or 824-2219 for further information.

Then, last fall, Garrett and two other National Geographic staff members were permitted to tour the Vietnamese-controlled areas of Kampuchea, including the ancient capital's magnificent ninth to 13th century temples. What they saw there formed the basis for an article, "The Temples of Angkor: Ancient Glory in Stone," that appeared in this May's National Geographic.

It was a lavishly illustrated article, of course, in keeping with National Geographic's tradition of magnificent illustration. Garrett took the photographs, revealing both the artistry of the archaeological treasure, which covers an area twice the size of Manhattan, and the damage done in the last decade by rebels in and around the historic site.

He'll be in town Tuesday, Sept. 14, to deliver a first-hand report, with his own color slides, on what he terms "the most important ancient site on earth," at the Detroit Institute of Arts at 3 p.m. His program, under sponsorship of the museum's Friends of Asian Art, is open to the public at $3 general admission, $1 for students and senior citizens.

Grosse Pointers planning to attend the lecture and the Friends of Asian Art dinner preceding it include Dr. and Mrs. Kim K. Lie, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Wu, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Endicott and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kaiser. They're in for a rare treat: a rare look at a rare treasure, presented by a man who rarely "goes out" to lecture.

A Gem of An Antiques Show

Reservations for the Junior Group of League for the Handicapped-Goodwill Industries' first fall meeting Monday, Sept. 13, at 11:30 a.m. at the Grosse Pointe Congregational Church on Chalfonte Avenue are being taken until noon next Thursday, Sept. 9, by Sue Prowse, Su Reed and Judy Breyer. Earlier in the morning, at 10 a.m., the committee planning the 35th Annual League-Goodwill Juniors' Antiques Show and Sale will hold a meeting of its own, also at the Congregational Church.

As always, it promises to be a gem of a show. Over 50 dealers are bringing 18th and 19th century American and English furniture, primitives, toys, jewelry, oil paintings, prints, quilts, clocks, dolls, pewter, tin, silver, glass, spatterware, Staffordshire, Oriental rugs, Shaker furniture, nautical accessories, Chinese exports and other fine items to Dearborn's Fairlane Manor, setting up shop just hours before an Invitational Wine and Music Preview Thursday, Nov. 4, from 7 to 10 p.m.

The market will be open to the public Friday and Saturday, Nov. 5 and 6, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Sunday, Nov. 7, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission donation is $3.50 ($3 for groups of 15 or more and senior citizens). Admission to the preview is by advance ticket only ($22.50 donation). Ticket information may be obtained by calling 474-5887.

As always, this antiques show/sale offers more than just dealers. There's the Country Store, stocked with unusual handmade items and unique gifts, candies, cheeses and pecans, homemade jams and jellies, pickles, salad dressings and baked goods. There's Goodwill's own booth, where antiques, collectibles and items of quality donated during the year are available for purchase.

There's the Gingerbread Diner, where light lunches and dinners, coffee and desserts, all prepared by Junior Group members, will be served. Every patron gets a catalogue, containing the floor plan of exhibits, lists of dealers and advertisers and articles of special interest. An ongoing series of American Country Craft Demonstrations will focus on lace making, stenciling, weaving, spinning and quilting.

And this year, a special feature of the League-Goodwill Juniors' Antiques Show and Sale will be an open-to-the-public lecture Friday, Nov. 5, by Guy Kaplan whose "Official 1982 Price Guide to Antique Jewelry" is one of the most extensive listings of antique jewelry ever published, designed for the advanced collector and museum curator as well as the general public.

oil of Sponsors, once again chaired by Mrs. Charles Mosher, are Mrs. John R. Baker, Mrs. Keith E. Crain, Mrs. Robert H. Healy, Mrs. Charles L. Henritzky, Mrs. Charles F. Kaess, Mrs. William H. Kessler, Mrs. Alexander C. Sucek and Mrs. Henry M. Woodhouse. Tickets for Farrell's "Art of the Bourgeoisie" lectures, at $19 for the three-session, illustrated series, $8 each for single programs, are available now at the War Memorial (881-7511).

A good time for potatoes

Buttery yellow potatoes without the butter will be offered in selected stores in two Michigan cities this year. Called Yukon Gold, these yellow-fleshed potatoes have other merits in addition to their rich color.

The new variety has excellent flavor, contains some vitamin A, is a good keeper and resists greening. Shallow eyes make it less wasteful when peeled; when cut, the flesh also darkens less readily than that of other potatoes. Growers favor Yukon Gold because it matures early and yields well.

Saginaw and Grand Rapids shoppers will help determine if this all-purpose, European-style potato has a future in the United States. Consumers may accept yellow-fleshed potatoes for all uses or view them mainly as a curiosity.

If proliferation of products is any indicator, shoppers certainly have put their stamp of approval on processed potato products. A trip to one supermarket revealed 27 different frozen potato packs and 15 dehydrated potato products. Planks, wedges, treats and tri-potatoes are some of the more recent product additions. Currently, all these processed products — except for some mashed potato flakes — cost more per serving than fresh potatoes.

Fresh potatoes generally offer a price advantage over processed potatoes in the late summer and fall. This year is no exception. The fall potato crop looks good nationally as well as in Michigan.

Total potato acreage to be harvested this fall is estimated at 1,099,700 acres. If predictions are on target, this means the crop will be 4 percent larger than last year's record low crop. Michigan alone has 48,000 acres in fall potatoes, an increase of 8 to 10 percent over 1981. Most potatoes are still in the ground but preliminary digging reveals potatoes of superior quality and size.

Fresh potatoes are graded for quality and size. Standards have been tightened, allowing for fewer defects such as cuts, bruises and sprouts. The grade sold in greatest quantity (but not the top grade) is U.S. No. 1. If size is not designated, the minimum for U.S. No. 1 potatoes is 1-7/8 inches in diameter; there is no maximum size. If U.S. No. 1 potatoes are also designated size A, 40 percent of them must be 2 1/2 inches in diameter.

Consumers will find a wide spread in fresh potato prices now. A recent market check in just one supermarket revealed 10 pounds of Michigan potatoes at $1.09. Although they were not so marked, these very likely were unclassified.

Unclassified potatoes are essentially upgraded potatoes. They will have more defects and be more variable in size than graded potatoes, but they must be wholesome.

A 10-pound bag of U.S. No. 1 Michigan potatoes was priced at $2.49. A 5-pound bag of the same grade put up by the same packer was just 69 cents, showing that it pays to compare prices.

Miss Falk wed in California

Bernadine Falk and Thad Earl Vincent, who both raced for the Michigan State University Sailing Club, exchanged marriage vows Friday, August 27, aboard the 44-foot sailboat docked at Redondo Beach, Calif., where they will live and work.

The 11 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at Redondo Beach's King Harbor Yacht Club, after which the newlyweds left to vacation at a Club Med resort in Ixtapa, Mexico.

The bride, daughter of Bernie Falk of Maryland Avenue, holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Journalism from Michigan State University. She was attended by a Grosse Pointe South High School classmate, Ruth Ann Woodrow, of The Park.

Bruce Vincent came from Battle Creek to serve as best man for his brother, who was graduated from

Mr. and Mrs. Thad E. Vincent

Michigan State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Vincent, of Battle Creek.

Miss Holstein weds in west

A reception at the Newport Beach Tennis Club followed the spring wedding of Melissa Fowler Holstein, daughter of former Farms residents Mr. and Mrs. George M. Holstein III, who now make their home in Newport Beach, Calif., and Keith Nelson Alward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Alward, of Lochmoor Boulevard.

The Very Reverend John Ashe presided at the 5 o'clock ceremony Saturday, May 22, in Saint James Episcopal Church.

The former Miss Holstein wore a floor length gown of white silk organza, its portrait neckline and hemline edged with double-faced silk ribbon, and a fingertip veil edged with matching ribbon. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, roses, stephanotis, freesia, Peruvian lilies and her favorite lilies-of-the-valley.

Honor attendant Dana Anderson, of Pasadena, and bridesmaids Mary Magbee, Yuriko Gamo, of New York City, Ellen Fowler and the bridegroom's sister, Julie Alward, wore floor length, white dresses with a border print of garden flowers. Their bouquets matched the print's peonies, roses, daisies and delphinium.

Drew Brophy, of The Woods, was best man. Tom Jerger, Larry Roth and John Brown, all of The

Mr. and Mrs. Keith N. Alward

Woods, and Jeff Fowler, of San Clemente, Calif., the bride's brother, seated the guests.

The mother of the bride wore lavender silk. The bridegroom's mother chose a gown in beige and taupe shades. The newlyweds vacationed in Carmel, and are at home in Fremont, Calif.

Out-of-town guests included Grosse Pointers, Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Brophy, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jerger, John Brown, Jane Louisignau, Joanne Rhinehart, Ray Spitzley, Marilyn Wheeler and the bride's aunt, Eleanor Tuttle.

Slate Detroit Rose Society fall show

The Detroit Rose Society will host the Great Lakes District Rose Show in conjunction with its own Fall Rose Show Saturday, Sept. 11, from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 12, from noon to 5 p.m. in the Tel-Twelve Mall. All entries must be in before 10 a.m., Sept. 11. The public is invited. There is no charge.

Rekuc-O'Brien vows spoken

Saint Clare of Montefalco Church was the setting Saturday, August 21, for the 5:30 o'clock wedding of Mary Treacy O'Brien and Timothy Eugene Rekuc. Father Ron Essman presided at the ceremony. The bride's cousins, Mike Malleck and Pat O'Brien, were altar boys.

After a reception at Royalty House, Warren, the newlyweds left to vacation in San Francisco and Los Angeles. They are making their home in Livonia.

The former Miss O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien, of Berkshire Road, wore a long-sleeved dress of nylon sheer over taffeta, trimmed with lace appliques, pearls and sequins, featuring a high collar with a pleated lace ruffle at the neckline and a matching ruffle at the hem which formed a cathedral train.

Her long, lace-edged veil was held by a matching lace crown. She carried a cascade of white silk roses, lilies of the valley and stephanotis and wore her grandmother's pearl necklace.

Erin O'Brien, honor maid for her sister, wore a dress of sheer nylon over taffeta, pale lilac in color, its off-the-shoulder, portrait neckline edged in wide, white lace. She carried a basket of silk summer flowers and had a matching flower wreath in her hair.

Dressed in similar, pale pink gowns and carrying similar baskets of flowers were bridesmaids Kelly, Kathleen and Patricia O'Brien, three more sisters of the bride, and Lori Sweet, the bride's high school friend, and junior bridesmaid Carla Hahn, of Carlton, Mich., the bridegroom's niece.

Flower girl Karen Rekuc, in a long, white dress styled with puffed sleeves and a ruffled neckline and sashed in pink, carried a small basket of silk flowers and wore a matching wreath in her hair.

Mr. Rekuc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rekuc, of Allen Park, asked David Kovach to act as best man. Guests were seated by Jim Smoltz, Steve Zammit, Kevin Scannell and Steve Whipple, of Paw Paw, a Michigan State University classmate of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride accented her long dress and matching jacket of pink Lutesong with a corsage of matching silk roses. The bridegroom's mother chose a long, lace-bodiced dress of lilac Lutesong and a corsage of silk orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Timothy E. Rekuc

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmother, Eileen Treacy, of Brantford, Ont., and the bride's uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lentos who brought their family with them from Olympia Fields, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. David Malleck and their family, from Kitchener, Ont.

Fall wedding date is made

Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Staniec, of East Detroit, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Anne Margaret, of Wicks Lane, to Dr. Michael C. McMillin, of Neff Road, son of Mrs. Dorothy McMillin-French, formerly of Rivard Boulevard, now of Sarasota, Fla., and the late Ken McMillin. The wedding is planned for early October.

Miss Staniec was graduated from Dominican Catholic Preparatory School and holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Michigan State University, where she affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority. She received her Master of Social Work degree from Wayne State University where she is now completing work toward her Ph.D. in Human Service Administration.

Dr. McMillin, an alumnus of Grosse Pointe South High School, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Michigan State University and his M.D. from Wayne State University Medical School.

Grand Sociable Scoundrels fun

The Grosse Pointe Sociable Scoundrels' annual golf outing at Gowanie Golf Club in mid-August was followed by cocktails and dinner, with many non-golfing members joining the group for the evening's fun. The outing was hosted by Norm Acker and Marvin Miller.

The Scoundrels gather again next Wednesday, Sept. 8, at 6 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Shores Park for their annual picnic. Rain date is Thursday, Sept. 9: same time, same place. Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Gorman will be in charge, assisted by Mrs. A. Seiferlein and Mrs. Richard Schrage.

Tour destination is Assumption Catholic Church

Assumption Church on Gratiot Avenue, celebrating its 150th anniversary this year, will be visited for the first time by members and friends of the Detroit Historical Society Thursday, Sept. 16. The tour originates from the Detroit Historical Museum at 5:30 p.m. Annunciation and Saint Anthony's Churches are included in the program.

Assumption, founded in 1832 by German settlers, is the second oldest Catholic church in Detroit. It was served by priests who rode out on horseback from Saint Anne's until 1851, when Father Amandus Vandendriessche was named parish priest. He replaced the original chapel with a large brick church.

Later, inspired by a pilgrimage to the Grotto at Lourdes, France, Father Vandendriessche built a similar shrine behind the church. With the help of his parishioners — mostly farmers, brickyard workers and lumbermen — large stones, quarried in Michigan, were hauled to the site by wagon. The shrine was dedicated in 1881; over the years, thousands of people have come to pray there, particularly on the Feast of the Assumption.

The last evening church tour of the season on Thursday, Oct. 7, will feature the tracker organs of Holy Trinity, Trumbull Avenue Presbyterian and Saint Joseph Churches. Thomas Kuras is the organist. William Worden will give the commentary.

Tickets for these tours may be obtained by sending checks or money orders ($9 for members of the Detroit Historical Society, $11 for non-members) to the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48202.

Further information may be obtained by calling 833-7934 Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

How to Get "THAT SPECIAL LOOK"

Our business is a curious mixture of creativity, desire to please, pride in our accomplishment and the hope that if you like what we do for you, you will consider us your salon.

In return, we pledge to keep this salon current in every way, employ the best hairdressers, carry the finest products for your hair, skin and nails and have available all the myriad of services you would expect from a total full service salon.

Facial contour

Oblong Oval Pear Round Square

We are introducing the Bart Edmond Consultation. We want to show and share the existing Beauty Steps with you. A conversation with you to learn a little about you, how you want to look and why, to know a little about your life style, study the shape of your face, bone structure, hair texture and how we can most benefit you. I will do a quick personal sketch of your new look. We will discuss color, perms, skin and make-up and how we can most benefit you. FREE personalized sketch with Ron Kotes and Bart Edmond.

(NO SURPRISES!) There are no surprises when it comes to our fees, a price list will be given to you.

Step 1. Shampoo, treatment with Redken hair-care products, you sit back relax and enjoy the gentle head massage.

Step 2. Cut n' Style of hair. There's a mirror in front of you, so you can watch the way your exciting new look comes about. Styling includes blow drying or lamp-drying, curling iron, or roller set.

Step 3. Your make-up, we call it "mother nature's" helper. The true art is "mother nature's" skillfully. All this for $35.00. Without make-up for $25.00

You may purchase a make-over reticulate, arrange proper time another day, to make the waiting as short as possible.

We are proud to offer you the finest lines of cosmetics available in the United States. Redken and Vivian Woodward cosmetics.

All the work we do is fully guaranteed and we back it with our pride.

They shall dance . . .

Looking forward to a season of dancing and dining, the Grosse Pointe Villagers executive committee met recently at the Lincoln Road home of President-Couple DICK and BETSY BOYNTON (second from right) to finalize plans for fall, winter and spring parties. Under the Boyntons' leadership, the following committee members have agreed to assume officer duties: Vice-President and Treasurer Couple ED and FLO KLIBER (far right), Secretary Couple B.J. and CHARLES DOWD (far left), Membership Chairperson May Thompson (not pictured) and Advisors and Past-President Couple JOYCE and KEN BRATT (second from left).

Five 1982-83 season dinner dances have been confirmed at local private clubs, including one at the Detroit Boat Club in September, one at Lochmoor Club in November, one at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club in January, one at the Selfridge Officers Club in April and one at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club in May. All, except for the April pre-paid members-only party, are open to guests.

The Villagers dance club was founded in 1947 by four Grosse Pointers whose husbands had just returned from service during World War II. Mrs. George Ballanger, Mrs. William Coddington, Mrs. Eugene Most and Mrs. Richard Wunsch were close friends; it was the era of the Big Bands and

Short and to the Pointe

Among Wayne State University College of Engineering students named to the Dean's List for outstanding academic achievement last semester were Pointers GARY T. DEBOER, Chemical Engineering; ZLATKO STEVANOVIC, Industrial Engineering; THOMAS G. HEBBON, Mechanical Engineering; and TERRENCE J. CARRNS, Engineering Technology.

Members of the WSU Day at Bobo committee which arranged for a day on the island for Wayne State University Alumni and friends included FLORENCE HEATH and KAREN SALOME of The Woods.

Among those incoming freshmen awarded honors scholarships from Central Michigan University are KELLY L. BROWN, of Moran Road, and ROSEMARY KEN NEDY, of Hillcrest Road.

Navy Quartermaster 3rd Class MICHAEL P. MURPHY, son of PATRICK E. MURPHY, of Somerset Road, and MARY E. MURPHY, of St. Clair Shores, recently returned from a seven-month deployment to the Western Pacific and the Indian Ocean. He is a crewmember aboard the destroyer USS Oldendorf, homeported in San Diego, Calif. During the deployment, the ship participated in various training exercises with other United States 7th Fleet units and those of allied nations. Port visits were made to The Philippines, Kenya, Australia, Singapore and Somalia, where "Project Hand-slap" material was delivered to an orphanage. Crew members also performed volunteer work at the orphanage.

Offer autumn Sunday Strolls

The Detroit Historical Society's Sunday Strolls program continues into autumn, with a visit to the New Center Area and an opportunity to be among the first to tour "New Center One" scheduled for Sept. 12. The New Center Area Council will conduct this stroll, which includes a visit to New Center Commons to see the 1890-1920 homes recently restored or undergoing restoration.

A walk past Corktown's Irish cottages, Italianate, Queen Anne and Colonial Revival homes will be directed by members of the Corktown Historical Society Sept. 26, and Joan Boram will guide strollers through Woodlawn Cemetery Oct. 17, describing the lives and careers of several prominent Detroit families who have private plots and mausoleums located there.

Advance reservations, required for each stroll, may be obtained by sending checks or money orders to the Detroit Historical Society, 5401 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48202. Tickets are $2.50 for Historical Society members, $3.50 for non-members. The strolls begin at 2 p.m. and last from two to two-and-a-half hours.

SUMMARY OF THE MINUTES

CITY OF
Grosse Pointe Farms
MICHIGAN
AUGUST 23, 1982

The Meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m.

Present on Roll Call: Mayor James H. Dingeman, Councilmen Joseph L. Fromm, Jack M. Cudlip, Nancy J. Waugaman, Harry T. Echlin, Gail Kaess and Lloyd A. Semple.

Those Absent Were: None.

Also Present: Mrs. Kathleen G. Lewis, Associate Counsel, Mr. Andrew Bremer, Jr., City Manager, Mr. Richard G. Solak, City Clerk and Mr. Robert K. Ferber, Chief of Police.

Mayor James H. Dingeman presided at the Meeting.

The Minutes of the Meeting which was held on August 2, 1982, were approved as corrected.

The Council voted unanimously to allow Councilman Lloyd A. Semple to abstain from voting in matters pertaining to Henry Ford, II and the Caldwell Equity Corporation for reason that he is a partner in the law firm of Dykema, Gossett, Goodnow & Trigg, who represented the Caldwell Equity Corporation on other matters.

Following a Public Hearing on the matter, the Council adopted a resolution approving the Proposed Amendment to the Zoning Ordinance, Code No. 12-03. Zoning Map Amendment No. 6. Ordinance No. 254.

The Council adopted a resolution approving the preliminary Site Plan for the development of the Ford property located at 457 Lakeshore Drive.

Following a Public Hearing on the matter, the Zoning Board of Appeals approved the Minutes of the Meeting which was held on July 12, 1982, and further, granted the appeals of:

a) Mr. Henry Ford, II, owner of the property located at 457 Lakeshore Drive, thereby granting a variance to allow the existing pool house to encroach into the required side yard, thereby allowing a 34.6 foot side yard for the structure.

b) Mr. David Piech of 332 Moran, thereby allowing issuance of a Building Permit to construct a family room addition on the rear of his property located at the foregoing address.

c) Mr. Paul D'Angelo of 251 McMillan, thereby allowing issuance of a Building Permit to construct a room addition on the rear of his existing dwelling located at the foregoing address.

The Council adopted a resolution approving the Request of St. John Hospital for permission to park in the Farms' Pier Park during the months of October, November and December, 1982, Monday through Friday from 7:00 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., at a rate of $1,300.00 per month, subject to certain specified conditions.

The following Reports were received by the Council and ordered placed on file:

- a) Building Department Quarterly Report, 1982.
- b) Property Maintenance Code Quarterly Report, 1982.
- c) Fire Department Report for the Month of July, 1982.
- d) Police Department Report for the Month of July, 1982.

The Council adopted a resolution approving certain salary and benefit increases for non-union personnel, and approved the Minutes of the Closed Meeting held July 12, 1982.

Upon proper motion made, supported and carried, the Meeting adjourned at 11:55 p.m.

JAMES H. DINGEMAN, MAYOR
RICHARD G. SOLAK, CITY CLERK

Rose Society meets Sept. 8

Don Jensen, of The Arrangement, will be featured speaker for the meeting of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society next Wednesday, Sept. 8, at 7:45 p.m. in the Exhibition Room of the Grosse Pointe Public Library's Central Branch, Kercheval Avenue at Fisher Road. "Arranging Cut Flowers and Roses" is the title of his program.

Jensen will discuss making floral displays with materials from the garden, while creating some arrangements for the audience. At the conclusion of the program, his creations will be given away. Don, who has been doing floral art since his young school days, has been operating The Arrangement florist shop in the Grosse Pointe area for the past 12 years. The meeting is open to the public. Those attending are encouraged to bring one or two flowers of any type, roses included, from their own gardens for Jensen to work with.

Refreshments will be served following the presentation. Hostesses for the evening are Gladys Gies, Ellen Quinlan and Catherine Vermeulen.

Short and to the Pointe

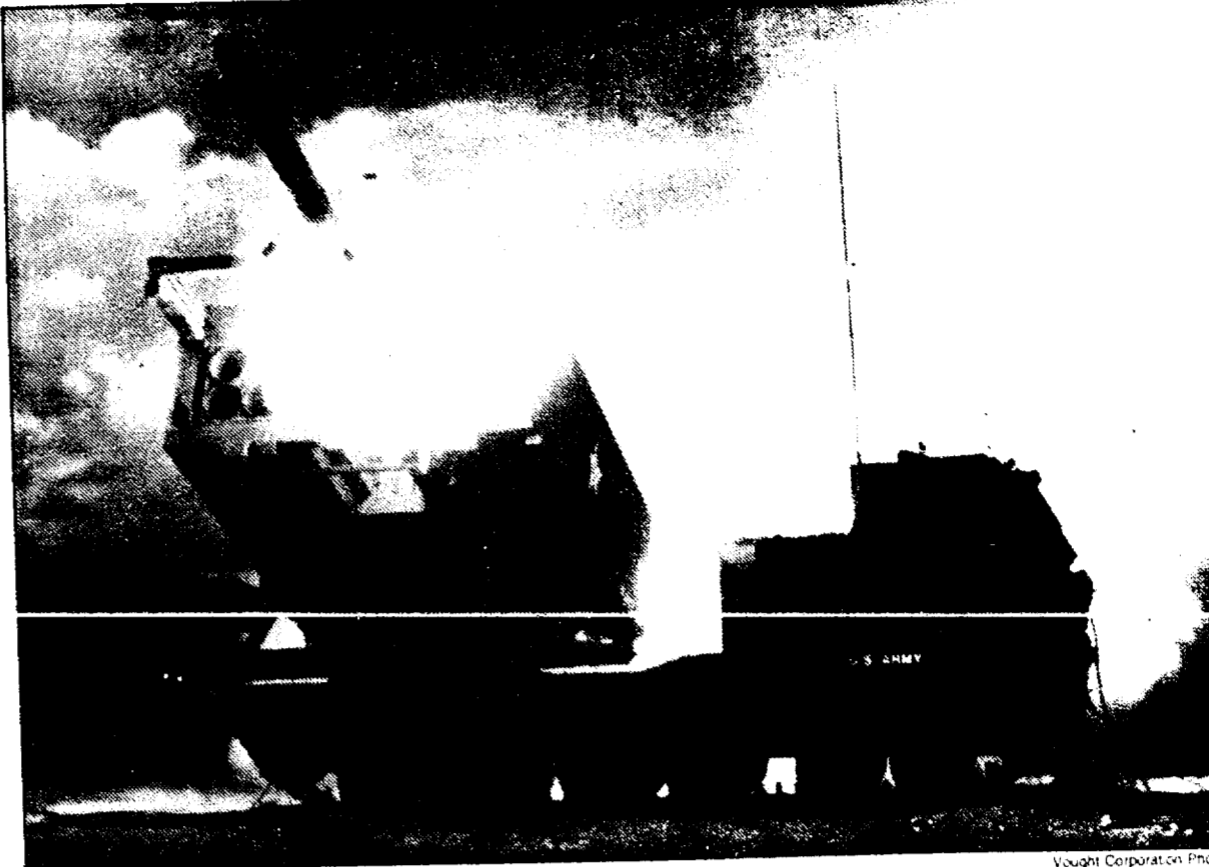

CATHERINE A. KENNEDY, daughter of MR. and MRS. WILLIAM KENNEDY, of East Jefferson Avenue, has been named a College Scholar, the highest honor for academic achievement, for the spring term at Middlebury College.

KAREN SULLIVAN, of The Woods, spent eight days this summer at the American Legion Auxiliary-sponsored Girls' State, conducted at Central Michigan University. A senior at Regina High School, Karen was elected a "county commissioner" and served as "county medical examiner" during the event, for which she was sponsored by the National Guard - Iron Fist Unit No. 70 of Harper Woods.

SCOTT ROWE, of The Pointe, was among students who attended a special six-week program, the Summer Science Institute, at Lawrence Institute of Technology this summer. Rowe is a student at Roper City and Country School.

ANNMARIE ELIZABETH MONAGHAN, a 1981 graduate of Our Lady Star of the Sea High School, has been named to the Dean's List for the spring, 1982 semester at Rosemont College, where she is a member of the class of 1985.

Among the new students who visited the University of Kansas in July for an orientation session was JEFF S. FOSTER, son of MR. and MRS. WALTER FOSTER, of Fordcroft Road. Foster is registered as a sophomore in the university's college of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

An MLRS (multiple-launch rocket system) delivers one of its twelve free-flight rockets during manufacturer's testing. The first Army unit to be equipped with the new system will conduct firing tests at White Sands, N.M.

Donald D. Sfat launches into a new field

The ancient Chinese are credited with the first use of rockets in warfare, though with little success. The Russians, in World War II, fielded the dreaded "Katyusha" rockets for fire support. With the introduction of the Army's new Multiple Launch Rocket System (MLRS), this particular form of weapon has reached a new level of effectiveness and complexity.

Army Pvt. 1 Donald D. Sfat, 21, is one of the first soldiers to work with the new system. While the manufacturer has test fired hundreds of rounds from the MLRS, no soldier has so far had that opportunity.

"I like being among the first in this particular MOS (job specialty)," said Sfat, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ty P. Sfat, of Balfour Road, "and having a part in determining the system's capabilities. I have a real case of anticipation. I'm looking forward to going to White Sands this month and actually getting to fire this thing. We've learned a lot about it, but putting rockets downrange is going to be the real test of that."

Sfat, an MLRS crewman with the 3rd Battalion, 6th Artillery, also said that he likes being stationed at Fort Sill, home of the Army Field Artillery School, because "of the many activities and educational opportunities available here. The absolute worst thing is the weather - too many tornados."

Sfat enlisted in December, 1981, after attending Grosse Pointe South High School. "I joined to continue my education, acquire a skill and see if I could make it in the military. I'm looking now at possibly going into the Air Force when my Army hitch is up in 1985."

Army Pvt. 1 Donald D. Sfat, an MLRS crewman at Fort Sill, Okla.

Presently, Sfat and the other soldiers of the unit are busy molding themselves into an effective and smoothly functioning unit, no easy task when everyone concerned is new to the game. The centers of attention and the unit's reason for being are the shiny-new SPILL's (self-propelled loaders/launchers) that form the striking arm of the MLRS. Highly mobile and capable of delivering the massive firepower of their 12 large rockets over ranges of 18 miles, the MLRS adds new depth to the battlefield and poses new challenges for the soldiers who must use it.

Construction work is a risky business

Falling beams, carelessly dropped tools, overturning ladders, collapsing walls and scaffolds are some of the more obvious dangers to life and limb of the construction worker. Adding invisible but more insidious hazards, such as unacceptable levels of noise which can impair hearing and exposure to noxious dust or vapors which can cause illness, make working in the building industry high on the list of dangerous occupations.

Between 1970 and 1979, International Labor Organization statistics show that while the rate of fatal accidents in the construction industry declined slightly in the majority of reporting countries in Africa, the Americas, Asia, Europe and Oceania, it increased in several others. For example: in the Republic of Korea one construction worker in every 2,000 was killed in an accident at his place of work in 1979. The picture was grimmer in the same year in Guatemala, where four workers in every 2,000 suffered a fatal accident.

These statistics, however, do not tell the whole story. By far the most frequent are the non-fatal accidents which can result in disability and loss of employment, causing untold human suffering, and in the end are costly for both the employer and the public purse.

Many of these mishaps are the result of poor design, human error or carelessness and could be prevented by following certain safety and health precautions, including hygiene, first aid procedures and medical care, according to a compendium of occupational safety and health practices in the building industry prepared by the International Labor Office in Geneva.

This 256-page work supplements an earlier ILO Code of Practice on the subject and recommends comprehensive, practical measures to make the construction industry safer and healthier.

The compendium stresses the wide range of operations covered in the construction industry - such as excavations and earth moving, building in timber and brick and the use of prefabricated units - and that, with each new project, the workplace changes. This brings specific, often unforeseen, hazards which are sometimes increased by the use of unskilled labor.

Falls are one of the main hazards of the building industry . . . falls into trenches, falls from high structures, scaffolds or ladders, falls on the flat caused by litter in workplaces. The ILO compendium calls for "exceptional importance" to be given to "precautions against falls of persons, irrespective of the height of a possible fall. A considerable number of persons are killed by falling from only low heights."

Exposure to various types of dusts or vapors can produce acute or chronic effects on the central nervous system or may result in lung diseases such as pneumoconioses which may take five to 10 years to appear and can be fatal. To counter this occupational hazard (which occurs in the building industry sectors of mining or quarrying, blasting with quartz sand and work on furnace masonry) special care must be taken, the compendium says, to effectively exhaust the dust at its source and to make use of respiratory protective equipment. Periodical medical examinations should also be made mandatory.

Both technical and personal protective measures can be taken to reduce the harmful effects of another occupational hazard for construction workers: noise. Noise is generally considered to be harmful when it exceeds 85 decibels and noise levels for operators of building machines usu-

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the forthcoming low-calorie, low-cholesterol - and penny-wise - cookbook by Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth presenting, this week, a delicious BAR-BECUE DINNER for 12.

LEMON-TARRAGON CHICKEN

3 broiler-fryer chickens (each about 1 1/2 lb.)
Lemon juice
Soy sauce
Hungarian sweet paprika
Crushed, dried tarragon

Clean and dry chickens; atix to rotisserie spit. Sprinkle generously with seasonings. Cook at medium temperature, basting occasionally with additional lemon juice and soy sauce which have been blended together. Cook for one hour or more, until chicken legs move easily at the joint. Each chicken will make 4 servings.

Calories under 150 per serving. Cholesterol depends on the chickens chosen - and is a great deal less if the skin is not eaten.

SKEWERED SWEET POTATOES

Scrub potatoes well; dry. Thread through centers onto heavy skewers. Grill, turning often, 30 to 40 minutes or until done. Push potatoes off skewers with fork. Cut an X in top of each; press ends to force open. Serve with unsalted margarine.

FRUIT STRATA SALAD

2 cups shredded lettuce
2 cups honeydew melon balls
2 cups stemmed strawberries
2 cups fresh peaches, sliced
1 cup blueberries
1 carton (8 oz.) low calorie apricot yogurt
1/2 cup toasted slivered almonds
Fresh mint sprigs (optional)

Place half the lettuce in the bottom of a large glass bowl. Lightly sprinkle with lemon juice any fruits that have a tendency to turn dark. Spread honeydew melon balls over lettuce, followed by strawberries, then sliced peaches and lastly the blueberries. Cover the fruit with the remaining cup of lettuce. Evenly spread the yogurt over the lettuce. Cover and chill for several hours. Before serving, sprinkle with toasted slivered almonds and garnish with a couple of fresh mint sprigs. Gently toss before serving to 12.

Note: other combinations of sliced fruits - pitted cherries, seeded grapes, etc. - may be substituted as desired.

Detroit Genealogical Society will meet

"The Location of the Records of Detroit and Wayne County" will be Richard M. Doherty's topic when he addresses the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research Saturday, Sept. 11, at 2 p.m. in the Explorer's Room of the Main Branch Detroit Public Library on Woodward Avenue.

Assistance with genealogical problems will be available in the library's Burton Historical Collection during the morning.

Doherty is president of the Oakland County Genealogical Society, delegate to the Federation of Genealogists and a member of the Ontario Genealogical Society as well as the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research.

The weaker sex?

Although women have always known the opposite is true, the female human has always been thought of as the weaker sex. That is certainly not the case with Stacy Strongman, of South Renaud Road, above. As her black belt karate instructor Jeff Seibenick makes a not-so-subtle approach from behind (left) Strongman (right) reacts with an even-less-subtle

(and effective) blow to the solar plexus. Strongman has been in karate training at the Neighborhood Club for two months and says that karate has greatly increased her confidence. Women interested in the Club's women-only karate class should call 885-4600 for further details.

Pointe athletes play fall sports at Kalamazoo

Five Pointers are among the athletes preparing for Kalamazoo College's fall sports season. Teams in cross country, field hockey, football, golf, soccer and volleyball begin play this month.

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate Mark Rolain returs for his second year on the Kalamazoo Hornet cross country squad. The men's team earned a 3-3 mark in 1981, good for fourth place in the MIAA.

Starting her fourth year on the women's field hockey team is Marti Haug, another North High graduate. The field hockey Hornets were 3-12 in 1981.

North alumnus John Caputo, a 6 foot, 2 inch, 200-pound sophomore, is listed at the defensive tackle spot on the Hornet football roster. The Hornets were 3-6 last season; 2-3 in the MIAA.

Rounding out the list of Pointers on Kalamazoo sports rosters are Michael Azar, North High graduate and second-year fullback on the Hornet soccer team; and Mary Fideler, of the Pointe, a junior who plays volleyball at Kalamazoo. Fideler attended Plymouth Canton High.

Cal 20's take challenge

The Cal 20's are past the mid-season point — and the highlight of the first half season had to have been the second annual Cal 20 International Labatt's Challenge Trophy Race on Aug. 7. The race, across Lake St. Clair, from the Crescent Sail Yacht Club in the Farms to the Thames River in Ontario, was more successful than last year's event, club spokesmen said.

Participation doubled over 1981, with 11 Cal 20's, five Pearson Ensigns, five Folkboats, three Catalina 22's, two Sea Sprites, an S-2 and Barry and Krista Baccus' Chrysler 22. Tagging along for the ride (but not in competition) were a CN35, a Newport 27, a Catalina 27, a C & C 35 and a Cal 40. A total of 35 boats competed.

The event was conceived last year by Cal 20 Fleet Captain Art Spindler as a challenge from the Cal 20's to the Ensign fleet. Last year's challenge ended in a draw with Jim White's Ensign, Thumper, and the Park's Jack and Janie McAllister's Cal 20, Refuge, declared co-winners.

This year, Spindler expanded the challenge to include Catalina 22's Folkboats, S-2's and other boats of comparable size. The Cal 20's finished one-two-three out of the six boats that managed to cross the line under sail within the time limit.

The Woods' Gene and Jeanne Bertelsen took first in the Labatt's Challenge, as their Cal 20 Sirius finished more than an hour in front of Cal 20 Refuge. Cal 20 Born Free, sailed by Bill and Rice Laitner, of the Farms, was close behind in third place. Next were Larry Rotta, of the Park, in his Folkboat, Ampolios, followed by the Park's Bill Lee in his Ensign, Lee Way, and by Jim Kent's Ensign, Phoenix.

Mid-season Cal 20 leaders include, DRYA — Refuge, McAllister; Main and Jib Championship — Spectrum; Peterson; Tuesday Evenings — Loc Cal, Williamson; Wednesday Evenings — RSVP, Palmer, of the Woods; Thursday Evenings — Refuge and Sirius; and Sunday Series — Spectrum, Peterson, of the Farms.

Further information on Cal 20 activities may be obtained by calling Art Spindler at 885-7839.

Mattes returns to WMU roster

Grosse Pointe North High School graduate Jeff Mattes is listed on the 1982 Western Michigan University football roster at the defensive tackle spot.

The 6 foot, 3 inch, 219-pound, junior played under former coach Jim Krucki at North.

Exermetrics comes to town

Move over aerobics — Exermetrics has arrived in the Pointe. A 14-week session in Exermetrics will begin next week, Tuesday, Sept. 7, at the Grosse Pointe Woods Presbyterian Church at 19950 Mack Avenue, and the First Evangelical Lutheran Church, 800 Vernier Road.

Classes at the Woods Presbyterian are on Monday through Friday, at 10:30 a.m., and Tuesday and Thursday at 6:30 p.m. Class times at First Evangelical Lutheran are on Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. Fees for Exermetrics are $24 for one hour per week, $37 for two hours per week and $47 for three hours per week. According to Kathy Peacock, of Fordercroft Road, Exermetrics developer and class director, Exermetrics is a fitness program that improves flexibility and muscle strength while helping to improve cardiovascular stamina. The class consists of floor exercises, running aerobics and relaxation movements choreographed to a pleasing variety of music.

Further information on Exermetrics may be obtained by calling Ms. Peacock at 882-1415 or 774-6753.

Park volleyball champs crowned

Grosse Pointe Park's adult volleyball summer league drew to a close with 12 teams competing for the tournament title. The league champion was determined by the season standings. The title went to the Dynamos, with a league mark of 11-0.

Tournament play pitted the top six and bottom six teams in the division against each other. The Dynamos captured the upper division title; the lower division crown went to the Park Power team. In the finals, Park Power claimed the tournament title in an upset match victory over the Dynamos.

The adult volleyball teams played games on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings throughout the regular season this summer.

Doubles tourney dates are set

November (thank goodness) is still a few months away... but long-range planners should note that the Sixth Michigan Indoor Tennis State Pro Doubles Championship is set for Wednesday, Nov. 3 through Sunday, Nov. 7.

The $4,000-purse championship tournament is at Lochmoor.

Pointers are Alpena All-Stars

They didn't win a championship, but the boys selected to represent Grosse Pointe in a Senior Babe Ruth All-Star state tournament in July turned in a performance they can be proud of. Playing three tournament games, the Pointe All-Stars won one contest and were defeated by just one run in two others.

In the first contest, Grosse Pointe bowed to St. Clair, 6-5. Pointers Brian Brass and John Conway pitched well and Charlie Scott led the offense with his home run.

Grosse Pointe took the second game, beating Walled Lake, 3-2. Joe Brandenburg, Steve Walker and Mike Dunne pitched well in the win. Dunne came into the game in the bottom of the seventh with the bases loaded and no outs. Dunne set the Walled Lake batters down one-two-three to cap the win for the Pointe. Dan Shine executed a perfect suicide squeeze bunt to score Paul Martinelli from third base for the winning run.

In the final tournament game, the Pointe lost to Alpena, 4-3. Dunne again pitched well, but Pointe batters were unable to help him on offense. Jim Arnold, Martinelli and Rick Overbey collected Grosse Pointe's only hits.

"We played well on defense, but on offense we had trouble hitting the ball. I know we would have had a good chance of winning the state championship if we'd hit better," manager Al Devine said. "But it was a great experience and a good time for the players," Devine added.

The Pointe was managed by Devine and coached by Ken Walker and David King.

Ever-Clear golf day is Sept. 4

The seventh annual Ever-Clear Invitational Golf Tournament will be held this Saturday, Sept. 4, at the Plumbrook Gold Club, 16 Mile Road and Schoenherr. Proceeds from the tournament will benefit Bon Secours Hospital programs.

This year's event has openings for 150 golfers. Awards will be given for tournament champion (men and women), most improved golfer and more.

The golfing afternoon will be followed by a dinner-dance at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club. Cocktails will be at 7 p.m., buffet dinner at 8 p.m., followed by disco dancing.

The Ever-Clear Invitational Golf Tournament is held in cooperation with The Friends of Bon Secours under the chairmanship of Robert R. Cleary and Robert A. Everett. For reservations for the golf outing and dance, call Bon Secours Hospital at 343-1520.

Junior Wings pick coaches

The Detroit Junior "A" Wings have retained Thomas Wilson and Jerry Sawchuck as coaches for the 1982-83 season in the Great Lakes Hockey League.

Tryout camp opened yesterday, Sept. 1, at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena, where the Detroit Junior Wings play their home games. Games are on Sunday evenings.

gpha Grosse Pointe Hockey Association PRESENTS HOCKEY FUN FOR KIDS

Join us this fall and winter for the most comprehensive hockey program available. An excellent coaching staff supports the children in all phases of skating and team play. Last year nearly 400 boys and girls had fun with us.

WHO CAN PLAY?
Any youngster 5 or older. Teams will be available for children in the following age brackets:
Mite 5 - 8 years old Bantam 13 - 14 years old
Squirt 9 - 10 years old Midget 15 - 16 years old
Pee Wee 11 - 12 years old Juniors 17 - 20 years old

WHAT IF MY CHILD HAS NEVER SKATED BEFORE?
The vast majority of new registrants every year have never skated before. The emphasis of the program is on teaching skating. By season's end, you will marvel at the improvement in your youngsters skating skills.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?
The annual registration fee is $50 for the first player in the family and $30 for each additional child. Additional charges for ice time are divided equally among all team members.

WHAT ABOUT SUPERVISION, COACHING AND SAFETY?
All on-ice activities are supervised. All coaches are selected and approved and reviewed by a coaches review board. Safety is of utmost importance. This year is expected to be the seventh consecutive year in the association without a serious injury.

WHEN AND WHERE DO I REGISTER?
Former players in the association may be contacted by mail and, nonetheless, should re-register by return mail or in person. All newcomers should come to the Grosse Pointe Community Rink on Canyon between Warren and Mack.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1982 — 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1982 — 9:00 A.M. to 1:00 P.M.

To register, your children will be asked to fill out a registration form... if you are registering for the first time, please bring (his or her) birth certificate for confirmation of birth date.

For further information, call the Director of Registration, Tim Sullivan at 886-4033.

WE LOVE OUR HOME AND NEIGHBORS BUT WE HAVE OUTGROWN OUR 3 BEDROOM, 2 1/2 BATH CENTER ENTRANCE COLONIAL ON BROADSTONE, a quiet tree-lined street in Grosse Pointe Woods. Our home has a large living room with fireplace, an over-sized master bedroom with attached master bath and sun deck, and a large paneled family room with beamed ceiling, parquet floor, Pella windows and a doorwall leading to a large covered porch and patio with gas grill. The spacious kitchen has a Solarian floor, dishwasher, disposal and a large eating area. The basement is fully paneled and tiled, with an acoustical ceiling. The attic is complete with extra insulation, plywood floor, lighting and pull-down stairs. There are custom moldings throughout the house. The roof, driveway, aluminum siding, and gutters are only 4 years old. Best of all, there is a large beautifully landscaped lot for the children to play in. We are looking for another family to make our house their home. The biggest.

Newspapers are the largest advertising medium of them all. By far. In 1981, advertisers invested $17.4 billion in newspapers—more than they spent in TV or magazines or radio or any two of them combined.

	Advertising Volume
	1980 ($ millions)	1981 (Est.) ($ millions)	Increase ($ millions)
Newspapers	$15,541	$17,420	$1,879
Television	11,366	12,650	1,284
Radio	3,702	4,212	510
Magazines	3,149	3,533	384

Source: McCann-Erickson

That's nice for us, but why should you care? Well, newspapers are Number One because advertising experts believe they work, and back up that belief with more hard dollars than they spend with any other medium.

Their confidence is well placed. Sixty-two million copies of newspapers are sold on the average day, and almost 7 out of 10 consumers read one. And readership is highest among the Upscales... those with higher incomes, more education, better jobs, greater appetites for life. Translation: people who buy.
