Been meaning to get this one in for awhile. Way to go and better luck next time to Joannie Conlan, 13, of Hollywood Road, for her fine showing as a finalist in the 1985 Miss Michigan U.S. Teen Pageant held at the Plymouth Inn last month.

Joannie, the daughter of Larry and Sue Conlan, was one of 75 contestants chosen from around the state. She didn't finish in the top five, but her folks say she had a good time, met some nice people and will use it as a good learning experience.

Give her another four years and I'll bet she really breaks some hearts.

Get it on tape

For you parents, grandparents or guardians out there, Curtis Mathes Home Entertainment Center at 16844 Kercheval, in the Village, has announced it will video-record your children free of charge on Saturday, May 18, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The recording is being done to help combat the disappearance of thousands of children in the United States every year. The videocassette will provide a true picture of your child for your records, showing their looks, mannerisms and voice.

The recordings can also be updated as the child grows. All Curtis Mathes asks is that you bring in a blank VHS videotape or they'll sell you one for their cost at $6.

A crime prevention officer will also be on hand to fingerprint children if so desired. The program will be conducted in cooperation with the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center.

is the Book Village bookstore. The highly popular business will be scooting down the street to 17051 Kercheval, into the building formerly occupied by the Sign of the Lion.

Coming into the old store will be Jacobson's Fabric store. In an interesting twist, Gwen Samuels, of the Book Village, says more than a few customers have volunteered to help transport some of the thousands of books and magazines from their old location to the new.

Gwen says the new store will be much larger and will allow them to offer a new item — sheet music. Oh yes, the post office will be making the move as well.

One other thing, for all you baseball fans out there. Tiger broadcaster Ernie Harwell will be at the old Book Village store on Tuesday, May 14, signing autographs and editions of his book, "Tuned to Baseball," from 3:30 to 5 p.m.

The new Book Village hopes to open by May 23.

Turkish update

I'm happy to report I received a very nice, and flattering, letter from Woods resident and Middlebury College student Tracy Edwards this week bringing me up to date on an fyi story that appeared some time ago.

Remember Semih Yilmaz, our wandering Turkish sailor who tossed a message in a bottle into Lake St. Clair imploring any beautiful American or Canadian girl to write him?

Well, Tracy, who describes herself as a "crazy college girl who loves writing, and more so, receiving mail" has written Mr. Yilmaz, and to her surprise, has received three letters, two postcards and a photograph of Semih in his uniform (apparently military service is required in Turkey).

This is what crazy Tracy has

Park forum seeks solutions to crime

By Pat Paholsky

Is there a significant crime problem in Grosse Pointe Park or is it only a perception held by some that crime in the city is rampant?

Speakers holding both views and some in between addressed an audience of more than 100 who gathered in Pierce School auditorium Monday night for a public forum on crime prevention in the Park. Sponsored by Pointers for the Park, the two-hour proceeding was orderly, and only once threatened to get to the shouting stage, but didn't.

The incident occurred during the last half of the program when members of the audience were invited to express their views on crime. Resident Dutch Hendricks said the best way police could control crime statistics was to not record incoming calls.

"I have checked the calls I made and they were not recorded," he charged.

David Gaskin, a councilman who spoke earlier, asked the resident for dates and whether he had confronted anyone about it. Hendricks could not supply the dates, but insisted there were others in the audience who had the same experience. Gaskin answered that he had not heard of such a charge up to that point and asked anyone with similar experiences to let him or any member of the council know.

Co-chairpersons of Pointers for the Park, Donald Herman and James Robson, laid strict ground rules at the beginning of the forum, limited speakers to three to five minutes and members of the audience to one minute each.

The group, organized in January, is seeking solutions to crime, according to Robson who is also a Wayne County deputy sheriff. The group takes a more moderate position than the Northwest Park Association, whose members have discussed establishing a contingent of Guardian Angels. Robson said he is opposed to bringing in the Guardian Angels.

Sgt. Randall Cain, crime prevention officer for the Park, spoke first. He was the only speaker allotted 15 minutes. The former state police trooper, who is also a juris doctor, said crime worldwide has increased 600 percent.

"There is no place you can go to get away from crime," he said. "You have to stay here and fight it."

He spoke of the department's willingness to conduct security checks of residents' homes. He said one of the best ways to tip off a burglar that nobody is home is to shut off all the lights, leave the garage door open and forget to lock the doors. Forty percent of all burglaries occur in unlocked houses, he said.

He spoke of ways residents can secure their homes when they're not there and added, "Neighborhood Watch works. It's everyone in the neighborhood watching out for everyone else."

A study in Detroit on Neighborhood Watch showed that burglaries dropped 61 percent and major crimes decreased 50 percent.

The next speaker, an opponent of public safety, John Molinari, was one of the two members of the Citizens Commission on Public Safety who studied the issue in the Park and voted against it. The recommendation for public safety was 11-2.

"We have excellent police and fire departments in Grosse Pointe Park," he said. "What I would like to do is build on that excellence. Because you need improvements doesn't mean you scrap the system."

He said that Durinam, N.C., which has public safety, received a recommendation in March to end it, according to a story in the local paper.

He added that neither he nor Louis Mieczko, the other member of the minority report, have handed out literature supporting their views. It was a reference to a youth who was distributing a two-page report from Mayor Palmer Heenan advocating public safety as residents entered the auditorium for the forum.

Fredericks Olds, a member of the commission who voted with the majority, asked residents to read the report, which is available at the library or city offices.

"The problem to me is we have been treating crime as business as usual," he said. "I believe the extra numbers (of officers) will help cut down the number of people accosted."

He said Grosse Pointe Woods is a good example of a successful public safety department.

Mayor Heenan, a strong supporter of public safety, said it is a long-term solution to the problem. Short-term solutions have been implemented, such as more police cars and changing the police patrol routes, he said.

"All of these things will not stop crime," he said. "We can't do it alone. We have a council and I'm only one vote on that council."

Heenan said there would be a discussion of public safety by the council at its regular meeting Tuesday, May 28. The meeting was rescheduled from Monday due to Memorial Day.

Later in the program, in answer to a question from a resident who asked if the matter would be placed on the ballot, Heenan said there were many different ways to go with public safety. The matter was being studied by experts, he said.

Cable gears up for crackdown

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Starting in June, Grosse Pointe Cable officials say they will use civil and criminal remedies against people they find pirating cable services.

That's not a threat, the company adds. It's a promise.

Subscribers have until the end of May to report tampered equipment or illegal hook-ups with the company, according to General Manager Michael DuFour. This is the second amnesty period for the company in three years.

Those who have tampered equipment can call the company or bring in their converter boxes to the company offices in Pointe Plaza and receive a new piece of equipment, no questions asked, DuFour said. In some cases, the company hopes to exchange its older converter boxes with newer, more tamper-resistant digital converters, he adds.

So far, the company has received "quite a stack of tampered converters," DuFour says. A few people have also reported being hooked up to the system illegally, he adds.

"The amnesty program has proven successful, and after May 30, we expect to seek full protection under the law" when dealing with service pirates, DuFour says, adding he was surprised by the number of subscribers taking advantage of the amnesty.

Making detection of cable theft easier is equipment that allows the company to monitor what signals are being drawn over the cable from outside the home. That equipment wasn't available during the company's last amnesty in 1982, when the company relied on inspections of converters.

After it completes its system-wide audit by the end of June, the company will continue to spot-check the signals being received through cable throughout the area, DuFour said.

There are federal and state laws against cable piracy, but the company will opt for civil redress first, DuFour says.

In most cases, the company will file claims against the cable pirates in small claims court in order to recover its equipment and, in some cases, win restitution for fees on the pirated service. There is the possibility of filing criminal complaints against some pirates. Which route the company goes will be decided on a case-by-case basis, DuFour says.

"There are some people we know are stealing cable services and we are waiting to hear from them," DuFour says, adding the company does have criminal complaints ready to be filed with local police departments against some of the worst offenders.

The company's problem is not illegal hook-up, but tampered converters, jimmied by subscribers to draw in services they aren't being billed for. Although he wasn't sure how much the local franchise loses to piracy, the cable industry nationwide reports losses of millions of dollars, DuFour says.

There have been some reported illegal hook-ups, however. In some cases, a home that has cancelled service will be hooked up illegally.

When a subscriber cancels, the company disconnects the cable at the pole but leaves the wires to the home in place. The company also tries to recover the converter from the customer.

The company doesn't remove the wiring for the home because many cancellations come as the result of a subscriber moving away, DuFour says. In some cases, the new homeowner will want to subscribe and the company will simply reconnect the service instead of having to replace all the wiring.

Grosse Pointe Cable reaches a little more than half the households in Harper Woods, Grosse Pointe Woods, Farms, City and Park.

The company announced in early April it would begin its second no-questions-asked repair or replacement of equipment after a number of cases of subscribers brought in converter boxes that appeared to have been tampered with, DuFour says.

Employees at a Manufacturer's National Bank branch office helped foil a pigeon drop and saved a Farms woman $10,000, according to Woods police.

And, a bank spokesman warns, this is the season for confidence games to be played on older persons.

The pigeon drop usually involves a person who claims a large amount of money in a bag or envelope. The con man will then ask the victim what should be done with the money and a decision is reached to split it.

The con man will ask the victim to put up "good faith" money, to be returned when the money is split, according to Manufacturer's National Bank spokesman Michael Mauer. After taking the victim's money, the con man returns an envelope filled with paper.

Hangin' in there

The Robert Callaway family, of Fisher Road, is growing by leaps and bounds — well, better make that hops and flutters. The Callaway's porch light is made from an old ship's lantern and he recently removed a panel to repair the lamp. A young mother sparrow moved in, built a nest and laid three eggs. So far, one of the eggs has hatched, but Callaway was concerned that the youngster might fall out of the rather cramped quarters of the lamp. So he built a heavy-duty corrugated cardboard platform under the lantern, giving mama sparrow a wrap-around porch. According to Callaway, the young mother watched from a distance, then flew over and inspected the handiwork once everything was completed. She seemed to like it and now the Callaways are waiting for the other eggs to hatch and further increase their family.

Council says lake improved, but wetlands are in peril

By Tom Greenwood

The battle to clean up Lake St. Clair is slowly being won, but the war is far from over.

At least that's the opinion of speakers at a recently held forum of the East Michigan Environmental Action Council (EMEAC) at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

The 500-square-mile lake, discovered in 1669 by French explorer Adrian Jolliet, has earned a world-class reputation for fishing, boating and swimming, while also providing the drinking water supply for four million people, half the population of southeastern Michigan.

"It's most important that we try to protect the lake for ourselves first and not the fish," said Macomb County Public Works Commissioner Tom Welsh, one of the keynote speakers. "If we do that, the fish will also be taken care of."

Welsh noted that since the 1940s and '50s, areas near Lake St. Clair has been plagued with water pollution and flooding with part of the problem lying in the complex system of interrelated sewer systems common to St. Clair Shores, Roseville and East Detroit.

"Often in the past, because of the inadequate capacity of these systems, excess polluted water was allowed to overflow into Lake St. Clair without disinfection," Welsh said. "This resulted in contamination of one of most valued recreation resources, as well as the main source of drinking water enjoyed throughout the metropolitan area."

Welsh added that recently his department completed a five-year-long, $35 million water pollution abatement program in East Detroit, Roseville and St. Clair Shores that includes 12 miles of new sanitary sewers, additional pumping stations and pollution treatment works at the existing Chapaton and Martin retention basins which will enhance flood protection and the drinking water quality of the lake.

"One of our retention basins holds 28 million gallons of overflow and the other holds 10 million," Welsh said. "The water usually is held there, backed down into the system and then pumped to Detroit. When we have to dump it into the lake, which we had to do 39 times in 1984, the water is chlorinated first."

Welsh said that there were still problems with the amount and quality of water going into the lake. "Our greatest concern is that those of us living in the area are the greatest polluters," Welsh said. "The Pointes have done the least in pollution abatement. The worst spills in Lake St. Clair are from Fox Creek and the Milk River. In St. Clair Shores they've built a good storm water system, but they don't enforce their downspout ordinances."

"I'd estimate that 50 percent of the homes in that city couldn't pass that ordinance. After a heavy rain, the downspouts end up overloading the storm drains, which overflow into the sanitary sewers which in turn are dumped into the retention basins — all because the ordinance isn't being met."

"I'd like to see people swim again at Dodge Park," summarized Welsh. "You can do it now, but a few years ago you could walk across the water. We're better, but

Bank thwarts con game, saves woman $10,000

Employees at a Manufacturer's National Bank branch office helped foil a pigeon drop and saved a Farms woman $10,000, according to Woods police.

And, a bank spokesman warns, this is the season for confidence games to be played on older persons.

The pigeon drop usually involves a person who claims a large amount of money in a bag or envelope. The con man will then ask the victim what should be done with the money and a decision is reached to split it.

The con man will ask the victim to put up "good faith" money, to be returned when the money is split, according to Manufacturer's National Bank spokesman Michael Mauer. After taking the victim's money, the con man returns an envelope filled with paper.

The elderly Farms woman was approached Tuesday afternoon, April 30, after she left Kroger's near Mack and Moross, reports said. One woman claimed to have found an envelope containing a large amount of money and a note reading "$45,000 — for partial payment," reports said.

As the two women talked about what to do with the envelope, they were approached by another woman, who joined in the conversation, reports said.

One of the women claimed to work at a store in the Pointe Plaza shopping area and told the Farms woman if she would drive them to the store, they could ask her boss what to do. The Farms woman dropped the women off in front of a store in the shopping center, reports said.

One of the women went inside and returned shortly, saying her boss had told them the money was hers. The three then decided to split the amount, after each put up good faith cash. One of the suspected thieves then handed the other an envelope, which she said contained $5,000, reports said.

The Farms woman went to the bank and was issued a cashier's check for $10,000. While talking with the woman, the branch manager suspected a pigeon drop and summoned police. The two thieves were gone when police arrived, however.

Woods Director of Public Safety Jack Patterson expressed gratitude that the bank's employees were able to recognize and thwart the attempted con game.

The large cash transaction would have set off warning bells for the teller involved, Mauer said. As part of their training, bank employees are taught about confidence games and other deceptions and how to recognize them, he added.

The teller will try to get the customer to take the payment in the form of a cashier's check, made payable to the customer, Mauer said. In addition, management is alerted of the transaction, and they can further question the customer about the need for a large amount of cash.

Most business deals don't require large amounts of cash, Mauer said. They can be taken care of through electronic transfers of funds. Large cash withdrawals could mean attempted con games, so banks are careful for their customers' sakes, he added.

A healthy dose of common sense, logic and suspicion can help people avoid being conned, Mauer said. If still uncertain, talk to someone at a bank about the proposition or call the police.

"Typically, these people will prey on the elderly and their motive is greed," Mauer said. "Remember that if it sounds too good to be true, it is."

Get the habit

Don't wait until July 1 to buckle up — get in the habit now — it could save your life. That's the advice from Secretary of State Richard Austin who reminds all motorists that Michigan's new safety belt law goes into effect July 1. Six other states — New York, New Jersey, Illinois, Missouri, New Mexico and Indiana, in addition to Michigan's neighbor, Ontario, now have safety belt laws.

It takes the average person about seven minutes to get to sleep at night.

St. John plans fundraiser

The Saint John Hospital Guild will hold its 25th Annual Stag Dinner Tuesday, May 21, at the Westin Hotel. More than 2,000 men are expected to be in attendance and they will have a chance to win one of two grand prizes — a 1985 Buick Skylark, compliments of Jerry Mickowski Buick or a 1985 Chrysler New Yorker, compliments of Pointe Dodge/Chrysler. The guild will also be giving away 25 silver Rolex watches. The evening begins at 6 p.m. with cocktails, followed by dinner at 7:30 p.m. and entertainment at 9 p.m. featuring Detroit's own Gaylord and Holiday. Tickets are $175 per person and are tax deductible. To order, send a check payable to the Saint John Hospital Guild, 22101 Moross Road, Detroit, Mich. 48236. Proceeds raised by this year's event will be donated to Saint John Hospital's Rehabilitation Services which include physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech pathology, audiology, cardiac rehabilitation, sports medicine and a pediatric gymnasium. For more information, call the guild office at 343-3674 Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

GP Theatre to compete in regionals Saturday

Playgoers can see two productions of the same play, "Agnes of God" by John Pielmeier, along with three other award-winning shows, during the regional Festival of Community Theatres to be held in Holland Saturday, May 11.

All five entries won state finals held earlier this year. "Agnes of God" was the winning selection by both the Grosse Pointe Theatre and The Players Guild of Canton, Ohio.

State competitions are held every two years. The site for the regional festival rotates among the states, so this is the first time in 10 years that it has been held in Michigan. The Community Theatre Association of Michigan is the sponsor.

The five-play competition will begin at 1:30 p.m. in DeWitt Center on the campus of Hope College. Each play can be no more than one hour in length, and no group may take longer than 10 minutes to mount or take down the set. Each performance will be evaluated immediately afterwards by a panel of three judges, whose decision will be announced Sunday morning. That play will go on to compete in the national festival in Racine, Wis., in June. Tickets for the five-play series are $10. Individual tickets are $3. An all-inclusive play festival weekend registration for $25 includes the plays, receptions the evenings of May 10 and 11 and brunch on Sunday, May 12.

Christian education to be discussed

The Rev. Joseph P. Russell, director of Christian Education for the diocese of Ohio, and Dolores Dickinson, director of religious education at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Canton, Ohio, will lead a seminar on Christian Education at Christ Church, 61 Grosse Pointe Blvd., Friday, May 10, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

On Saturday, May 11, from 1 to 3:30 p.m., Ms. Dickinson and Mr. Russell will lead discussions with Christians educators. He will preach at the 9:15 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. Sunday services and will speak at the adult forum at 10:30 a.m. in Miller Hall. A graduate of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, he is the author of "Sharing Our Biblical Story" and "Using The Bible With Children." The public is invited to attend. Call the church office, 885-4841, for reservations.

Blood drive

There will be a Red Cross blood drive at Grosse Pointe Congregational Baptist Church Thursday, May 16, from 2 to 8 p.m. The church is located at 240 Chalfonte in the Farms. For an appointment, call Elaine Lugo at 445-3400.

3-night photo trip

Photographer Joseph Messana will lead a three-night photo trip to Cincinnati, Ohio, and Covington, Ky., on Memorial weekend. The excursion will be a color slide course, stressing composition. Cost for the workshop is $150 for photographers and $35 for friends or spouses. Payment required by May 18. For information, call Messana during business hours at 773-5815.

Old idea gets new look It's 100 years for outdoor sign company

By Mike Andrzejczyk

You've seen the ads in the classified sections of newspapers; people looking to share the cost and maintenance of a home or apartment with someone else. It's the old adage that two can live as cheaply as one.

That old idea has gotten a new boost recently from the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

SEMCOG has started a program in Wayne, Washtenaw, Oakland and Livingston counties to match people looking for housing with compatible people who have room to share. Using existing facilities, HomeShare seeks to match singles, couples, young and old persons to compatible people with housing to share.

Locally, HomeShare is coordinated by Pam Halladay in the City of Detroit's Senior Citizen Department. The department takes referrals from the metropolitan Detroit area, including Hamtramck, Harper Woods, and the Pointes.

It's a program whose time has come, Ms. Halladay says. The increasing cost of housing, decreasing rent and housing subsidies and the shortage of affordable housing all make home-sharing a sensible alternative, she says.

The program, which started in March, matches providers and sharers based on common needs, interests and preferences. The application process includes a personal interview, the checking of references and the signing of disclaimers, Ms. Halladay says.

The four-page application and personal interview make it easier to find a compatible sharing partner, Ms. Halladay says. Two or three people, with separate sleeping facilities and other private space, but common rooms like a kitchen, living and dining room, usually share a home, but the program is flexible so more can be added if there's space available, she adds.

Response to the program has been good in its first month, Ms. Halladay says. Most of the calls coming in are from people with space available who would like someone to move in. That may be because of the name of the program, which seems to emphasize the provider's role in making space available, she adds.

Home providers are often older persons who are looking for someone to help share the cost of a home, Ms. Halladay says. Half the time, providers look to share with people of their own age; the rest are looking for younger people able to help with maintenance, she adds.

Those seeking information about the program can get the details over the phone or have a packet mailed to them, Ms. Halladay says. Because the application process includes an interview with the program coordinator, it's preferred if interested persons can come to the department's offices in Room 409 in the Veterans Memorial Building, 151 West Jefferson. Interviews can be arranged in the person's home, however, Ms. Halladay says.

The provider is then matched with a person seeking living quarters. A meeting is set up either in the department offices downtown or some "neutral territory" so the two can meet, talk and decide whether they are compatible enough to try living together, Ms. Halladay says.

A trial period is suggested to make sure sharer and provider are truly compatible, Ms. Halladay says. After the two-week trial time is up, the parties can get together and put together a home-sharing agreement that spells out responsibilities, duties and the costs to be shared.

Although the agreement isn't necessary, it is good for everyone involved to know what is expected of them as part of the arrangement, Ms. Halladay says.

After the agreement is signed, the agency continues to monitor the arrangements with monthly calls.

The flexibility of the program allows the agency to match the needs of the provider, Ms. Halladay says. Although the optimum number is two or three people sharing a home, someone with more space available looking to share with more than that number can be accommodated, she adds, warning that it may take longer to find compatible people with whom to share.

HomeShare does not charge for its services, unlike private home search companies. It also screens applicants to try to find like-minded people to share living quarters.

There is a slide presentation that Ms. Halladay says she can make available to interested groups. Services for Older Citizens should be seeing the presentation in the next couple weeks, she adds.

The program seems to grow after more people find out about it, Ms. Halladay says. It was featured recently on WKBD Channel 50 and received a number of calls because of it, she adds.

Although the agencies working on the coordination of HomeShare are using existing funding, state money should become available in coming months, Ms. Halladay says. The state funds will strengthen a program that has already been built on the desire and commitment of its workers, she adds.

For more information about HomeShare, contact Pam Halladay through the Detroit Senior Citizen Department, 409 Veterans Memorial Building, 151 West Jefferson, Detroit 48226, or call 224-1664.

By Pat Paholsky

In the old days, a billboard poster was put up on site in sections. The image of a man in painter pants and a painter's hat wielding a push broom endures. He pasted and smoothed each section, like a wallpaper hanger, until the whole picture emerged.

Today, the vast majority of outdoor signs near roadways are individually painted, indoors, by an artist who has spent four years learning the craft. Known as a pictorial painter, the artist may have a degree in fine arts or perhaps is learning the business from a family member.

Standing on scaffolding, the artist refers to a small hand-held version of what the sign will look like, and with oils, paints a greatly magnified rendition of the client's message. If a client orders six identical bulletins to be shown at various locations, then each one will be individually painted.

The bulletins, measuring an average 14 feet by 48 feet, are lined up one in back of the other, in a capacious two-story room in the company's plant near Woodward and Grand Boulevard. Each sign is brought to life by an artist, and a visitor can view the activity from a second-floor vantage point.

The company is Gannett Outdoor and it is part of the largest outdoor advertising group in North America, with operations in 11 states and Canada. Outdoor advertising is only one cog in the wheel of Gannett Company, Inc., which counts newspapers, including USA Today, radio and television stations and other related industries among its holdings.

Presiding over Gannett Outdoor of Michigan is Roy Leinweber, president and general manager and a lifelong resident of Grosse Pointe. The company was recently honored as a Michigan Centennial Business by the Historical Society of Michigan.

Leinweber started with the company in 1964 when it was owned by Robert O. Naegele. In 1969, Karl Eller, based in Phoenix, acquired the Detroit market from Naegele and Leinweber became president. The companies of Eller and Gannett merged in 1979.

The company's present position as part of an empire is far removed from its beginnings in Detroit in 1885 when horses were the mode of transportation. Two brothers, Henry W. and John D. Walker, opened a new business, Walker & Co., at Griswold and Larned, posting bills.

Theaters, patent medicine companies and the circus were primary clients and Henry posted their notices on fences, barns, sheds and walls.

The company expanded, establishing operations in nearly a dozen Michigan communities, and in

This is what downtown Detroit looked like in the 1920s when cars had almost entirely replaced horses and local advertisers found that outdoor advertising was one means of spreading their message to residents.

1914, a few poster boards were illuminated with hand-fashioned lights. The boards were close to the ground and a popular size took eight sheets to cover. Each sheet might have advertised a different product.

In 1922 Harry Walker, who had taken over the business when his father Henry died, bought a large warehouse near Woodward and Grand Boulevard from Cadillac Motor Car Company. He also bought an indoor equestrian riding academy next to the warehouse and remodeled both into the company's home offices.

The company is still there, located at 88 Custer, and the offices are in the midst of another renovation that is enhancing the natural carved woodwork and other architectural details that are too costly to duplicate today.

In the mid-1920s, Walker and Co. became the first in the industry to add neon tubing to its signs, and local companies, including Ford Motor Co., Stroh Brewery and Vernon's, commissioned Walker to have their corporate names spelled out in electric glass tubing.

The company also began the first traffic study in the business — a count of cars passing a poster — in 1929. Traffic studies today are an important selling tool in the outdoor advertising industry.

To meet the demands for new cars after World War II, factories began 24-hour production and with people traveling at all hours, Walker & Co. installed clocks and lighting on its boards from 6 p.m. until daybreak — another first for the industry.

Other landmarks in Detroit that came from the company's workrooms are the ball on top of the Penobscot Building and the 15-foot-high letters on the General Motors Building. The company today, while it has divested itself of the sign-manufacturing business, maintains the Goodyear tire, seen by travelers coming to Detroit from the airport on I-94 and the lighting on the letters spelling out the Ambassador Bridge.

Detroit has more outdoor advertising than most cities, Leinweber said. Freeways provided the impetus for large-scale outdoor advertising, he said, adding:

"Most Detroit freeways are recessed and since they're lower, there's more inclination to have larger displays."

The company, which serves Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, employs 168 people and does business in 85 communities, Leinweber said. Every day, employees in 60 vehicles are on routes, doing service work on bulletins. In the rotary program, the message is changed every 60 days and moved to another location.

The term billboard came from the poster, also called bills, posted on boards. Now most structures are metal and referred to as bulletins.

The cost to rent a bulletin varies, depending on location and other factors. Leinweber said a typical charge would be $475 a month. If the message is displayed in a prime, well-traveled business district, the cost may run about $2,000 a month. About 10 to 15 percent of the signs carry public service announcements, Leinweber said.

A third type of outdoor sign is called a spectacular and includes messages that are animated, such as the display on the Lodge freeway for the state lottery. Controlled by computer in Lansing, Leinweber said the sign involves an elaborate operating system.

New technology involves fiber-optics, a means of transferring light from one light source to another. It enables colors on a sign to change, among other things, Leinweber said.

But how can six signs, all individually painted, look identical? It's all in the method. A transparency is made of the copy or the message and is projected by a special projector full-size on a wall that is lined with paper. With an electric pencil that perforates the paper, an employee traces the outlines. The paper is then a pattern that will be placed on a bulletin and wiped with powdered carbon. When the paper is lifted, the design remains. Ninety percent of the work is done in-house, Leinweber said.

The company also does specialized painting, such as the murals for the Detroit Institute of Art and the Renaissance Center. Employees have also done props for stage sets, Leinweber said.

Accepting the Michigan Centennial Business award is Roy J. Leinweber, at the left, president and general manager of Gannett Outdoor Company of Michigan. William S. Schindler, a trustee of the Historical Society of Michigan, presented the award recently at the company's offices in Detroit.

Cinema League to celebrate 30 years

The Grosse Pointe Cinema League will celebrate its 30th anniversary with a banquet Monday, May 20, at the War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road.

Punch will be served at 6 p.m. followed by dinner at 6:30 in the Crystal Ballroom. After a short business meeting, the group will adjourn to the Fries Auditorium to view three 8mm films by the late John Jakel.

"Flower Market" covers the once-a-year flower and plant extravaganza held at Detroit's Eastern Market. Many of the beautiful garden and flower box displays of July and August begin here in early May.

"New Orleans, the Other 50 Weeks" is a look at New Orleans minus the Mardi Gras. Truly one of North America's greatest cities, New Orleans has something for everyone. There is a paddlewheel boat trip down the Mississippi, a visit to Jackson Square, exploring the Old Quarter and riding a street car into its suburbs.

"Walpole Island Pow-Wow" covers the brilliance and pageantry of the North American Indian pow-wow. Included is the dancing competition in which participants, dressed in colorful costumes, perform to the beat of the drum just as their ancestors did.

Tickets for the evening, at $12.50 each, may be obtained at the War Memorial office. The deadline is May 15.

District sells Old Kerby

The oldest building owned by Grosse Pointe public schools will soon become the newest parking lot for Grosse Pointe Farms.

The board of education Monday night, April 15, approved a warranty deed running to the Farms for the Old Kerby School, built more than 80 years ago. The Farms paid $80,000 for the building, which in past years has been used by the school system to house its Instructional Material Center and maintenance department.

The IMC has moved into Barnes School and the maintenance department has also completed the moving of equipment and materials out of the building.

The Farms will demolish the building to provide more parking for its court and municipal offices, according to City Clerk Richard Solak. The city will use $30,000 in Community Development Block Grant funds to pay for the work.

The Old Kerby School was built in 1904 and is one year older than the system's administration building. It was closed to classes in 1949 with the completion of the new Kerby facility.

Demolition is expected to be done in August.

Police say break-ins related

Woods police say they believe three break-ins and one attempt on Roslyn and Hampton Tuesday night, April 30, may have been committed by the same person.

In all but one of the incidents, the thief entered or tried to enter through an unlocked door, worked quickly and left while the residents were sitting in another room, detectives said.

The first incident was reported to police at 10:10 p.m. Tuesday. The homeowner told police she had heard the front door open and close while the family was sitting at the rear of the home. When she went to look, she discovered that her purse, on the chair next to the front door, was missing. Another purse was also taken from the home. They contained about $80 in cash, reports said.

Both purses were found — the cash missing — in the bushes in front of a nearby home. Nothing else appeared missing. It's believed the thief was frightened off by arriving police cars, reports said.

The second incident, believed to have happened between 10 and 10:30 p.m., on Roslyn was reported at 11:36 p.m. to police. The homeowner said he and his family were watching television at the rear of the home when his daughter went to get something from her mother's purse on a counter just off the living room.

She put the purse back and shortly after heard a noise that sounded like the front door opening and closing, reports said.

When she went to investigate, she found that her mother's purse, containing $35 in cash, was missing.

At 11 p.m. that night, another Roslyn homeowner told police he heard noises at the rear of his home. When he investigated, he found that the screen on the storm door had been ripped open and the front door left ajar, reports said.

When he saw some movement in his neighbor's bushes, he called police, according to reports.

At about the same time, a Hampton resident reported his home had been broken into, police reports said. The homeowner told police he and his family had been watching television at the rear of the home while someone pried open the side door and rifled a bedroom and dining room. Taken was $450 in cash and some change, reports said.

Some residents reported seeing a white female who looked like a "burned-out doper," reports said. Police are investigating.

Test scores show differences at two local high schools

By Mike Andrzejczyk
Grosse Pointe high school students scored lower this year than last on the Scholastic Aptitude Test, the first drop in test scores since at least 1982. The students scored higher than last year on the American College Test, continuing the improvement of local scores.

The SAT and ACT are examinations used by colleges and universities as part of their admissions procedures. Students intending to go to college take at least one of the exams.

This year's average composite score on the SAT was 1012 on the math and verbal sections, compared to 1018 last year. This year's average ACT score was 21.3, up from 20.6 last year.

The discussion of test scores was part of a presentation Monday, April 15, by Office of Research and Development Director Roger McCaig.

Local students traditionally score well above the national average, McCaig said. In 1984, the last year for which national scores are available, local students bettered national scores by more than 50 points on the verbal and 70 points on the math sections of the SAT, he added.

More important is the continued disparity of test scores between the two high schools, McCaig said. Seniors at South scored higher than their counterparts at North on both college board exams, he added.

The 275 seniors who took the ACT at North scored an average 20.4, while the 322 South seniors scored 22.1 on the exam. The 135 North seniors who took the SAT scored an average 992, while South 234 seniors taking the test scored 1015.

North seniors were outscored by the South counterparts on both exams at almost every grade point level, McCaig said. The only level at which North students scored better than South students was at the 2.0-2.4 grade point average.

There are two probable explanations for the scoring differences, McCaig said. There is a difference between grading systems at the two schools, with a majority of tough graders being at South, he said. Students at the two high schools may be doing the same quality work, but South students may be getting lower grades for it than North students.

More students at South appear to be taking a more rigorous academic program than their north-side counterparts, evidenced by the proportion of students at each school taking top-level courses, McCaig said. The more rigorous academic demands may help students better develop their skills, helping them score better on college board exams, he added.

It's not a matter of one school being better than the other, McCaig said. Differences in staff and grading systems can explain much of the disparity, he added.

What the administration is trying to do is find out what works in a program at one of the high schools and apply it to the other, McCaig said. The system's department heads look not only at each other's programs but those being used in other school systems.

The system also has to consider changes for the grading scales at the upper academic levels, McCaig said. Teachers in those courses aren't doing students any favors by grading tougher than other teachers and may actually be damaging the students' chances at higher education, he said.

It's not a matter of lowering standards, but changing them, McCaig said. Instead of giving students in advanced placement courses low marks, teachers should advise the students to move to a lower level course, he added.

Even as the number of college-age students declines, colleges remain fixated on grade point averages and college board test scores. Students who have good scores and good grades can be assured of a four-year college accepting their application, McCaig said.

But, in a study of admissions to Michigan State and University of Michigan, it was found that students with low grades and good test scores were likely to be turned down for admission, McCaig said. Students with grade point averages between 2.5 and 2.9 were turned down or accepted conditionally three-quarters of the time at U of M and 42 percent of the time at Michigan State, he added.

Students at the two high schools with grade point averages of between 2.5 and 2.9 score at the same level on college board exams as students with higher grade point averages from other districts, McCaig said. Local high school students whose work is considered average in the local program would perform above average in other districts.

The irony of the situation is students attending quality programs, like North's and South's, find they are less competitive in college admissions even though they are able to work better than other students at their grade point averages, McCaig said.

Colleges seem to be turning more to the grade point average as a determining factor of admissions, McCaig said.

Students with low grade points but good college board tests scores will find they aren't being accepted to colleges the way they were several years ago, McCaig said. Colleges focus on the long-term performance evidenced by the high school grade point instead of the potential shown in the college board exams.

The worst thing the school system can do is advocate a lowering of grading standards, McCaig said. Instead, it has to hound university admissions boards to remind them of the quality performances of Grosse Pointe students, working as advocates of students who have been rejected college admission but are able to do the work, he said.

Principals at the two high schools continue to work on the problem of grading disparity, McCaig said. The administration should be cautious about enacting uniform standards for grading because they will be too cumbersome to be applied and will interfere with teachers' skills, he added.

The faculty must also be made aware of the scope and seriousness of the problem, McCaig said. The system had made a major effort to sensitize tough-graders at both schools that they aren't serving the best interests of the educational system by grading the way they do, he added.

There is no correlation between teaching quality and grading, McCaig said. Some very good teachers have earned the reputation of being easy graders and the opposite situation is also true.

Courses and curriculum at the two high schools are the same, McCaig said, so the differences in grade levels have to be in the individual classrooms.

Everyone has to understand what is going on in the school system, parents and students included, so everyone can continue moving in the same direction for quality education, McCaig said.

Exchange program formed for Germans, Americans

The Congress-Bundestag Youth Exchange Program initiated by the U.S. Congress and the German Bundestag in 1983 is going into its second year.

One hundred young German and 60 American professionals skilled tradesmen between 18 and 24 will begin the year-long program in the United States and Federal Republic of Germany in July/August 1985.

The Germans coming to the United States will attend a one-month language course and continue with one term of career-oriented courses at a community college. During the final six months the participants will work with American firms.

10022 — phone (212) 751-5544, which has been charged with the execution of the program, solicits internships from American companies, coordinates placement with host families, and works closely with the community and junior colleges to set up educational programs for the German participants.

Persons who can provide an internship or want to act as a host family can contact the society in New York.

The next county executive

County Commissioner John Hertel may be reluctant to even speculate about what he might do when Wayne County Executive William Lucas announces he is a Republican candidate for governor — which may already have occurred by the time this editorial is in print.

But Commissioner Hertel is not at all reluctant to talk about the enjoyment he is getting and the satisfaction he feels from his new position as chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. For the first time in recent years, he thinks the board has a "positive image" because of the success Wayne County government has had in dealing with many important issues.

Hertel concedes there still are crucial problems ahead but pointed out that in recent weeks the board has revamped its committee assignments and procedures, worked out an administrative reorganization and met for the first time with the Detroit city council to consider two issues of common interest: juvenile crime and port authority development.

The board chairman believes that the two bodies can achieve progress through cooperation. He points out both governments have limited resources, but if they work together will have greater chance of success in whatever they undertake. The two bodies already have set up a joint committee to work on port authority development, with two commissioners, two members of the council and single representatives from the state House and state Senate. They are also setting up a subcommittee to see what can be done to combat juvenile crime in the county.

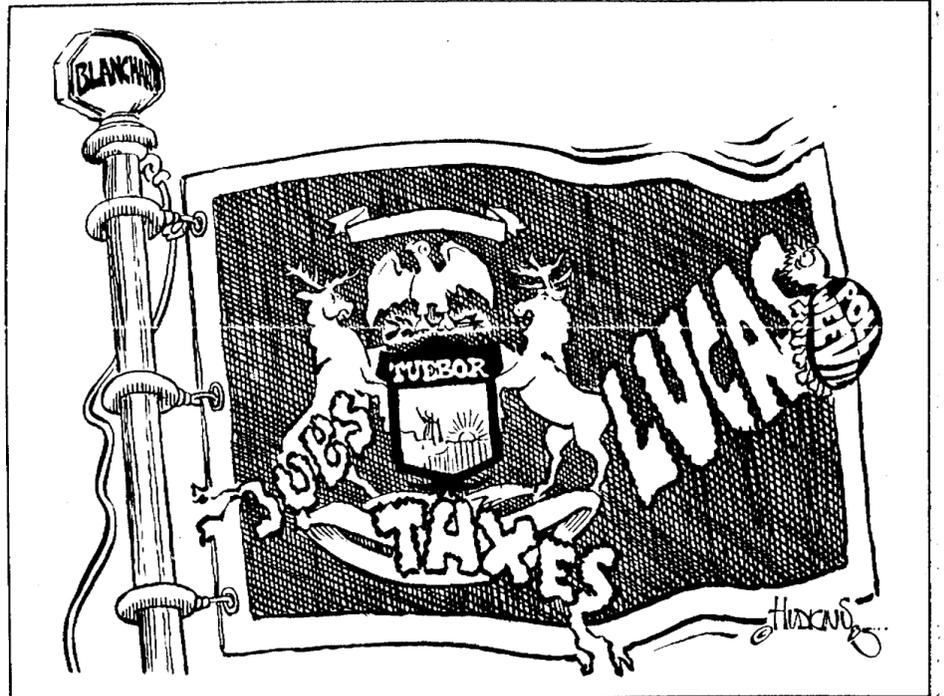

The ruling caucus of the county board now comprises two-thirds of the members, or 10 of the 15, and it includes six Detroit commissioners and four from the suburban county area. That means the caucus also can show more clout in dealing with the county executive since it now has sufficient votes to override his veto if and when it feels required to do so.

Not that the board's majority is anti-Lucas. From Hertel's viewpoint, the board is simply trying to do the best job possible for the county and that means cooperating with the executive when the board thinks he is on the right track — but disagreeing with him when it thinks he is off-base. Under Hertel's leadership, the board has made it clear it accepts its role as the county legislature and accepts Lucas as the county administrator. Prior to the adoption of the county charter four years ago, the county board tried to perform both functions — and did both rather badly most of the time.

In our view, Lucas deserves the lion's share of the credit for the progress Wayne County has made in the last three years in reorganizing its government, cutting expenses, balancing its budget, abolishing the road commission, and, at the same time, improving county services. Yet Hertel and the county board deserve some of the credit, too, for the improvement in county government, because of their cooperative attitude.

In fact, that is why Hertel's name is being mentioned as a possible successor should Lucas seek the governorship. Hertel is not encouraging such talk and fears it may be harmful to his efforts to work with the other members of the county board and with the county executive on county problems. But it is only natural for citizens, who want to make sure that county reforms and improved county government continue after Lucas seeks higher office, to consider as a possible replacement a man who has shown the same zeal for good government as the incumbent county executive.

Writer defends Reagan's policies

To the Editor:
The May 2 issue of the Grosse Pointe News contained two very educational letters from readers expressing dissatisfaction with Reagan Administration policies in the areas of trade and budget deficits, social programs, defense and relations with Nicaragua. After reading these emotional outbursts, one is struck by the remarkable ability of the writers to intermingle fact and fantasy. Since space and good taste do not permit a point-by-point analysis of the two respective letters, an examination of the previously noted national issues will serve to illustrate the illogic and confusion which some individuals are plagued with.

Bryant Kong's "Open letter to President Reagan" bristles with sarcastic accusations which deserve exploration. "It is all thanks to you." This is the flippant way in which Reagan is assigned all the blame for a "record budget deficit of more than $200 billion" and a $37 billion trade imbalance with Japan. In Mr. Kong's world, such things as the U.S. Congress and consumer demand must not exist.

It is the United States Congress which has, over the course of many years, committed the national government to a plethora of obligations that cannot be met. The cost of providing "jobs, student loans, aid to cities and states, benefits for the elderly and for the unemployed, and other peacetime matters" has helped debase our currency and build a crushing national debt. To argue that these "social programs" have been threatened because of defense spending misses the point.

No one can seriously claim that gutting the Pentagon is going to solve our problems. Like any large bureaucracy, the military is guilty of waste, but its current 25 percent share of on-budget funding is dwarfed in comparison to other on-and-off budget spending. The military can also do one thing that most other government programs cannot — justify its continued existence. Constitutional provision is made for the "common defense" but try to find some solid basis for an organized system of income redistribution.

If Constitutional arguments are insufficient (principled objections have been ignored in the name of "public policy") then a consideration of some numbers might impress the unconvinced. The 1985 national deficit will exceed $24 billion and the U.S. national debt now exceeds $1.8 trillion. In fiscal 1985, interest alone on this debt will cost more than $130 billion (up from $51 billion in 1980). It should also be noted that interest on the debt is the fastest-growing component of the U.S. federal budget.

Some experts outside of government forecast that '85-'90 federal deficit spending will easily exceed $2 trillion. Using the more accurate accrual accounting method, but still maintaining unrealistic Reagan Administration projections on government spending, GNP growth, inflation and interest rates, the '85-'90 deficit will be $2.8-4.0 trillion. Cutting the MX missile is not going to help and one should remark on the obvious desire of the "peace movement" to just shift spending ("reorder spending priorities").

United States financial over-extension does not end at our nation's shores. The trillion dollar Third World/Soviet block debt balloon continues to grow with increasing indications of possible disaster. International Monetary Fund efforts to keep the debtor nations afloat are failing (Brazil has declared bankruptcy) and many Western banks could take heavy losses. American taxpayers have provided much of the funds that the IMF has disbursed in this global income redistribution scheme and most citizens remain unaware that they have been committed to involuntary servitude at the behest of their national leaders.

Unwilling to seriously grapple with the governmentally induced financial peril, the leadership of this nation is blowing smoke. Politicians, in their maddening ignorance, refuse to take note of reality and look for someone to blame for our bleak future. The Japanese are a good target, since they are already disliked by a significant part of the labor force. This is especially evident in the Detroit area.

The U.S. Congress stands poised to enact protective tariffs against the "unfair" Japanese. Before our representatives do something

To the Editor:
The litter and weeds growing in the landscaped area of the Village shopping area along St. Clair are very unattractive. I noticed today for the umpteenth time in recent years. Who is responsible for keeping the place looking nice?

If the city isn't able to do so, then the merchants should hire a crew because they try to attract shoppers who like a high-class type of surroundings.

Letter from a Yankee fan

To the Editor:
As all baseball followers know by now, the Yankees fired manager Yogi Berra and rehired Billy Martin. This is not unusual because the Yankees seem to have a new manager every year. This will be Martin's fourth time as manager of the Yankees, but chances have it if he doesn't do well, they will probably fire him and hire Lou Pinella as manager.

give their managers a chance to prove themselves. It seems if they don't do good for a month, they get the hook. George Steinbrenner, the Yankee's owner, fired Berra even after a spring training statement saying he wouldn't fire him until after a year. And don't be surprised to see a new face on the Yankees next year.

From culture to pork

Back when former Gov. William Milliken and Detroit Mayor Coleman Young fashioned the annual equity package of state aid to Detroit, the money was earmarked chiefly for the operation and maintenance of the city's cultural institutions. The theory was that the state ought to assume part of the cost of running such institutions as the art museum, the public library, the historical museums and, later, the Detroit zoo.

People around the state accepted that proposal, even though some Republicans grumbled over helping to finance operations in a city that perennially votes Democratic. But in general the public seemed to feel that the cultural institutions in Detroit — the so-called jewels in its crown — were state resources that were often used by non-city residents and that therefore the state had a legitimate interest in maintaining these institutions.

Trouble began to come in the state Legislature over the state funding for Detroit when the equity package began to be expanded. It is not only the cultural institutions that get state aid now. The funds also go to help pay for police protection for special events at Hart Plaza and the Renaissance Center, for Cobo Hall services and upkeep, and for operating trolleys along Washington Boulevard and East Jefferson.

Now it is true that Detroit is not out of its economic doldrums and still needs all the help it can get. But what has now happened is that other cities in the state are being designated for special state aid for various purposes, whether their cultural institutions are worthy of such state support or not. They simply want to share in the distribution of funds which more and more looks like an old-fashioned political pork barrel with money being set aside for specific cities as a result of political pressure rather than need.

It is true that the original package for Detroit contained funds to pay off some Department of Transportation pension debts. But when those obligations had been met, the city then claimed it needed the funds for police protection and other services for visitors to Detroit. And it got the funds for those purposes last year and now wants them renewed this year in its overall package of $34.2 million.

So what has happened this year? The state Senate originally approved the equity package for Detroit, plus $4 million for 19 outstate cities. But then the Senate recalled the package on the demand of Sen. Patrick McCollough, Dearborn Democrat, because his community was not on the list of the 19 to get aid. In effect, he wanted to broaden the pork barrel and add more cities, including, of course, Dearborn.

That obviously didn't make much sense to the Senate which saw the issue getting out of hand. So, on second thought, it agreed to give the Senate Appropriations Committee authority to hammer out a compromise in the equity package, which, we understand, is what the committee now is trying to do.

Under a new plan proposed by Sen. Harry Garst, Appropriations Committee chairman, an unlimited number of outstate cities could compete for the $4 million in cultural aid. Such aid would be earmarked for museums, art institutes, zoos, historical and other related projects with a state agency screening applicants and recommending which cities would get the grants.

Garst said the new idea is to remove the pork barrel aspects from the legislation but the final determination still is likely to be made on the basis of political power. Aside from those in Detroit, just how many cultural institutions are there in Michigan that deserve state aid on the grounds they are assets for all of the people of the state? A handful perhaps. The outstate aid plan would be improved by Garst's suggestion but basically it still would be a barrel of pork.

And why did the state get into this pickle? Because Mayor Young and Detroit weren't satisfied with state aid for the cultural institutions and persuaded legislators to add additional funds for operating services that have little or nothing to do with culture. And now, of course, everyone wants to get some of the same pork.

Public cool to casino plan

Despite the sales pitch being made on behalf of the development of casino gambling in a dozen hotels on Belle Isle, the proposal still is opposed by a 2 to 1 margin of the general public, according to a Detroit News TelePoll. Yet a substantial proportion of the respondents said they want to hear more about the plan before making up their minds.

The Detroit News poll found strong opposition among the residents of both the suburbs and the city of Detroit. A total of 42 percent of the suburban residents and 47 percent of those in the city came out against the plan, while 21 percent gave favorable reactions in both the city and suburbs. But 30 percent of Detroiters and 35 percent of suburban respondents said they want more information before making a decision on the issue. Two percent in both city and suburbs expressed no opinion.

However, the Central Business District Association in Detroit apparently gave warm support to the casino gambling proposal when it was outlined by Patrick J. Meehan, the developer of the idea. The business organization obviously was attracted by the promise of 50,000 jobs and millions of dollars in tax revenue for the city and state. Upgrading of recreational facilities on the island, restoration of historic buildings and building of a monorail system to transport tourists and residents to the island are other features of Meehan's plan.

The plan must surmount formidable opposition if it is to be carried out. Eight of the nine members of the Detroit city council have expressed opposition and so have many members of the clergy in the city. In addition, there are other obstacles: state legislation to authorize casino gambling in Detroit, passage for a referendum by city voters and city council granting of a lease for the 200 acres of Belle Isle that would be involved.

For many people, the casino gambling proposal is regarded as a final opportunity to provide adequate financing for services in Detroit without further increases in taxes. But the offsets, including the loss of the use of much of Belle Isle by the public, the influx of crime that follows legalized gambling wherever it is introduced, and the disruption of normal business activities in the area, still rank too high to make Belle Isle casino gambling an acceptable idea for most residents of the city and suburbs.

This newspaper takes the same position. The developers have not convinced us that the casino gambling idea is good for either Detroit or the suburbs. Nor have we been persuaded that this is the "last resort" to save Detroit from further losses of population, business and prestige. Surely there must be other more desirable alternatives than a gambling proposal that would have so many bad effects.

absolutely disastrous, they should remember that Smoot-Hawley Tariffs of 1929 which some historians call the "catalyst" which precipitated the Great Depression. Are we ready for a global trade war? Governmental intervention has brought us to the abyss, but does anyone care?

Reagan's efforts to prevent a military conflict with the Soviet Union have, meanwhile, been quite successful despite intense opposition from "peace groups" and their Congressional allies. Deployment of cruise and Pershing II missiles in Europe was a definite defeat for the Soviet-backed "peace movement." The defense build-up that Carter initiated in the wake of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan continues with some additions. It is rather ironic that Reagan is blamed for a "constantly escalating military arsenal" which has the support of former Secretary of Defense Harold Brown.

Individuals who allege that "we need a strong defense so that, if the case arises, we can beat the Soviets to a first strike, and obliterate communist and civilization in one fell swoop" lack knowledge, but compensate through emotional appeals. A "strong defense" is a broad term that can be used to cover a multitude of things, but a first strike capability is not in the planning or deployment stage. In fact, fear of a growing Soviet first strike capability is what galvanized Washington to modernize our nuclear forces and look for alternatives to the doctrine of Mutually Assured Destruction (MAD).

President Reagan has done this nation a great service through his support of the Strategic Defense Initiative ("Star Wars"). Given time and adequate funding, S.D.I. may lift the shadow of nuclear war and actually provide a defense that defends. Reagan has not made any move to place "nuclear weapons in space" and those who say otherwise are misinformed. People opposed to the reliance on nuclear weapons should support "Star Wars" because of its stabilizing nature.

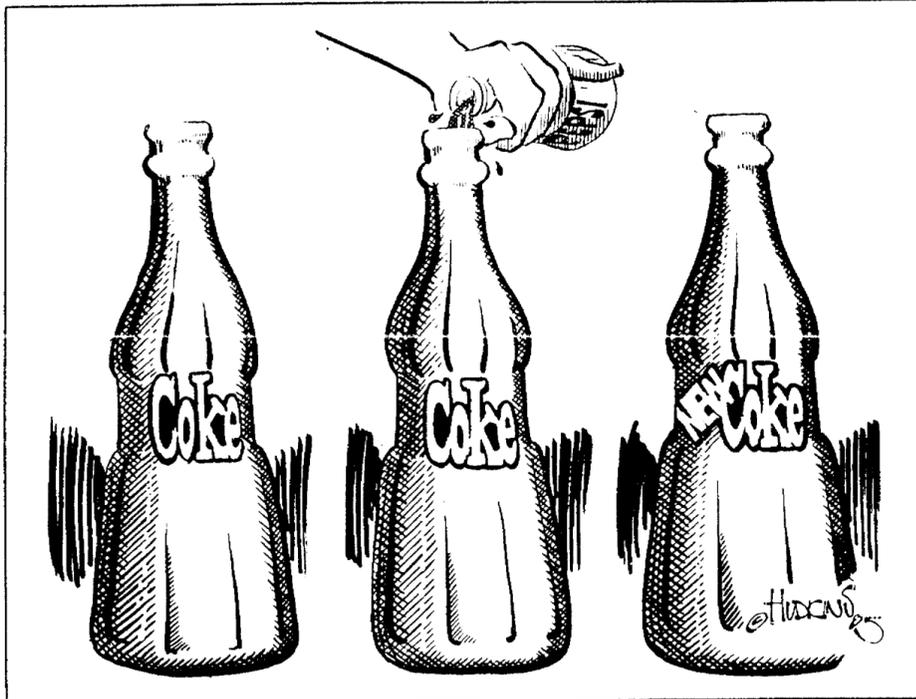

The Soviet Union recognizes the importance of S.D.I. and has done its utmost to kill our program in the research phase. This is while the Soviets continue to pour resources into their own space weapons projects. Past Soviet non-compliance in international treaties raises serious doubts that S.D.I. could or should be "negotiated."

Americans delude themselves if they view the Soviet Union as anything other than a brutal totalitarian dictatorship hiding behind words that democracies like to hear. Under Joseph Stalin, the Soviets murdered 25 to 40 million human beings, but since his death we have been lulled into a sense that their attitudes have changed. If Soviet imperialism is no longer a factor in world affairs, then someone should explain this to the Afghans.

Soviet imperialism also reaches into Central America and has found a base in Nicaragua. Mr. Kong is unable to comprehend the present consequences of a Soviet proxy regime in Nicaragua, but the disclosure of certain facts might be edifying. Soviet-trained terrorists from such groups as Baader-Mein-hof, Red Brigades, Montoneros,

News media against Reagan

To the Editor:

The lad who wrote the article, "Open letter to the President," which was published in the May 2 edition of the Grosse Pointe News has talent (if indeed he wrote without assistance) and it is unfortunate that such talent was not directed to something useful.

It is obvious to any thinking reader that the American news media do not like the president and the Republican Party; they never say anything good about either and use every possible means of finding excuses (real or imagined) to criticize and they magnify their stories to the nth degree.

The news media did not want the president to win his election and reelection, for reasons of their own which they do not disclose and appear to be intent on wiping the Republican Party off the face of the earth.

The Democrats blame the president for the deficit but Congress controls the budget. The Democrats have been in control for the great majority of the last 50-plus years and are thereby mainly responsible for the huge national debt. Anyone should know that continued overspending can only result in disaster.

President Reagan recognizes the Soviets and Communism for what they are and is the first president to really try to defend America. A simple review by anyone who cares what the Soviets have done since their beginning (1918), undeniably points to what they are trying to accomplish. Is that what the American public wants? I cannot believe so.

The young lady who wrote the letter, "Build-up of arms is insane," is to be commended for a brief and articulate letter. The answer for her is given above with one additional statement as follows. The United States must not allow itself to succumb to nuclear blackmail.

The only hope of that portion of the world which remains free today is a strong United States, for if it falls, the rest of the world will fall and the Soviets will reign supreme.

Do not forget that Lenin has been quoted as saying, "Liberty is precious, so precious that it must be preserved for a few elite masters of a world of slaves."

I say

Where's Gene Kelly when you need him?

In all those old Gene Kelly movies, sometime in between when Gene lost the girl, got her back and danced his head off in the meantime, he would come across at least one poor soul who couldn't dance a lick. If his tap-dancing partner happened to be a man, old Gene would invariably come to the rescue and soon the guy who had two left feet wound up dancing on the head of a pin. If Kelly was paired up with a woman, he usually just danced in circles around her, looking so suave and smooth that the audience would hardly notice that when she danced, she looked like a yak in heat.

I could use a guy like Gene Kelly every once in a while. Normally, dancing and I are about as compatible and Ronald Reagan and Tip O'Neill. Occasionally, however, I find myself prevailed upon to trip the light fantastic. (And in my case, trip is the operative word).

When I do dance (other than when I touch a bare foot to a cold bathroom floor or to hot asphalt in the summer) it's usually when a weird relative forces me out onto the dance floor at a family wedding or when some gallant stranger takes it upon himself to "rescue" me from whatever fascinating conversation or dirty joke session I happen to be happily engaged in that moment. Either way the dancing fool in question usually just ignores my protests and guides me out to the dance floor . . . where we proceed to dance like two yaks in heat.

Which brings me to my main problem with dancing. Unless one is Gene Kelly (or Fred Astaire, or Ginger Rogers or John Travolta or Michael Jackson, and who is?) by and large, people look ridiculous when they are dancing. At least they do to me.

I'm forever haunted by the mental picture I have of myself, hanging on for dear life as a huffing, red-faced relative, heavily into polkas, whipped me around the dance floor at a wedding, bruising shins all the way. And I wince at the memory of the time a guy who was nine inches taller and about 175 pounds heavier than I put a bear hug on me, carried me around the floor and called it dancing. (Although I have witnesses who'll swear it was assault and battery).

Other people look just a silly as I do. I recall watching a friend of mine (a statuesque woman who hit the six-foot mark by the time she was a high school freshman) dance with her first husband at a wedding we were both at. He was around 5-5 and spent the dance staring morosely into her rib cage while she maintained a steady gaze at the part in his hair. I still shudder when I think about that.

The way I figure it, unless one is Gene Kelly, when one dances, one is center stage on a dance floor, waving arms, shuffling feet, snapping fingers one beat behind the music and in general, looking for all the world like a person in immediate need of the Heimlich Maneuver. Not a pretty picture, is it?

Free CPR class

Cottage Hospital will offer a free Heartsaver Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) course on Thursday, May 16, 7 to 10 p.m., in Boardrooms A and B on the lower level of the hospital, 159 Kercheval Ave.

The class is free but interested persons should call 884-8600, ext. 2390, to register.

Then there's the dance floor itself. Sure, Gene Kelly could dance his heart out in a revolving room, atop a glass table that rose magically from the floor or on a 70-foot winding staircase. I'd like to see him try "Singin' in the Rain" on one of the dark, forbidding, highly-waxed runways they call dance floors these days.

Peggy O'Connor

They're usually in the darkest part of the room, which is an advantage since no one can see the dancers make idiots of themselves. But the lack of light also conceals the fact that the floor is raised about an inch and a half up from the rest of the floor. So even if I somehow manage to disguise my clumsiness on the dance floor, it'll be page one news the moment I stumble off of it and end up face down in the dinner plates of those seated nearby.

I have also noticed that proprietors of these dancing places have a sadistic streak in them a mile wide. That's why they hand-polish those floors to the point where Peggy Fleming would feel comfortable trying out a new routine. And naturally, one does not attend dancing affairs in such places while wearing one's comfortable Keds. Nooooo. One wears three-inch, spiked heels which look great in the shoe store but make the approach to a dance floor fraught with trepidation akin to what Sir Edmund Hillary must have felt when he got his first look at Mount Everest.

And even if you do find a suitable partner and are able to locate a dance floor safe enough even for Ralph Nader, there still is the matter of the right music.

Now, slow music is nice and fast music is nice. But you can't dance slowly to fast music anymore than you can get a pig admitted to Yale. And the only person who could dance fast to slow music was the great interpretive dancer Isadora Duncan. And we all know what happened to her.

I have found that if the music is slow, you must have a dancing partner who will not yell at you when you attempt to lead. He must be understanding of the fact that you will step on his shoes, socks and pant cuffs no fewer than 14 times during one dance. And he must remember to move in circles of more than six inches in diameter in order to combat motion sickness. The only way to find a partner like that is to pay for one . . . and I think that's illegal.

If the music is fast, you must try to remain as dignified as possible, keeping in mind that moonwalking is for Neil Armstrong and/or Michael Jackson. If you absolutely must dance, it's best to just close your eyes, wave your arms, shuffle your feet, snap your fingers, try not to look too ridiculous and don't get angry when somebody approaches you to ask if you are choking on your dinner.

On second thought, forget the whole thing. Leave the dancing to Gene Kelly and brush up on your fascinating conversation and dirty jokes.

Beshara J. Mabarak
 Services for Mr. Mabarak, 87, of Three Mile Drive, were held Wednesday, May 8 at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Maron Church.

He died May 5 in Ford Hospital. Born in Bak'ata, Lebanon, he immigrated to the United States with his father in 1905, working with his family in their Detroit grocery store. In 1919 he started his own real estate and insurance business which was located on Mount Elliott for 66 years.

Married to Katherine Thomas for 60 years, Mr. Mabarak was active in church and community affairs. His contributions include: first resident of the World Lebanese Union; treasurer of the World Lebanese Union Metro Detroit chapter; president and treasurer of St. Maron; treasurer of the United Kesrawan Society; inducted into the order of St. Sharbel and received recognition from the U.S. Treasury Department for his success in selling war bonds during World War II.

Mr. Mabarak was also a regular at the Eastern Market for over 70 years.

Mr. Mabarak is survived by his wife, Katherine; 12 children; 16 grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Diane Helene Gabriel
 Services for Mrs. Gabriel, 44, of Elford Court, were undetermined at press time. Please call the Verheyden Funeral Home for more information.

She died Thursday, May 2, in Hawaii.

Born in Michigan, she is survived by her husband, Kenneth; a daughter, Annette; a son, Mark; one brother; her mother, Jean Merle; and a grandmother, Annie Sutton.

Interment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Taft John Rashid
 Services for Mr. Rashid, 66, of the Woods, were held Monday, May 6, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and Our Lady Star of the Sea Church.

He died May 3 in Bon Secours Hospital. Born in Flint, he was the owner of several parking lots.

Mr. Rashid was a charter member of the Our Lady Star of the Sea Knights of Columbus #7780 and was a fourth degree member and trustee of the Richard Cardinal Cushing Association.

Interment was at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Lt. Col. Howard C. Hartwig

Services for Lt. Col. Hartwig U.S.A. (ret.), formerly of the Pointe, lately of Albuquerque, N.M., were held April 3 in Albuquerque.

He died April 1. Col. Hartwig was one of the first draftees for service in World War II from the Pointe and continued to serve his country with tours of duty in Korea and Vietnam. He was awarded the Bronze Star by Gen. William Westmoreland in 1964.

Col. Hartwig is survived by his wife, Wilma; two daughters, Cheryl Swart and Candice Dovale; two brothers; one sister; and three grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heights Christian Church, 6935 Comanche NE, Albuquerque, N.M. 87110.

Interment with full military honors was in Santa Fe National Cemetery. Pallbearers were from Kirkland Air Base, Albuquerque.

Joseph A. DeBusschere

Services for Mr. DeBusschere, 87, of the Park, were held Wednesday, May 1, at the Verheyden Funeral Home.

He died April 26 in his home.

Born in Roulers, Belgium, he was the owner of a tavern and was also a member of the Belgian-American Businessmen's Association and the Belgian Retirees Club.

She died April 23 in her home.

Born in Kincardine, Ontario, she was predeceased by her husband, Angus, and is survived by a son, John A.; one sister; and four grandchildren.

Interment was at White Chapel Cemetery.

McRuth Beers

Memorial services for Mrs. Beers, 69, of the Farms, will be held Monday, May 13, at 4 p.m. at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church.

She died April 23 in St. John's Hospital.

Born in Alabama, she was married to the late William A., and is survived by a daughter, Carole A. Dukes; a son, William A. II; one brother; and four grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Michigan Heart Association. Arrangements were handled by the Verheyden Funeral Home.

Myrtle Adams

Services for Mrs. Adams, 93, of Neff Road, were held Monday, May 6, at the Verheyden Funeral Home.

She died May 3 in the Cottage-Belmont Nursing Home.

Born in Wisconsin, she was married to the late Dr. Wilber E. Adams and is survived by a son, Dr. Charles W. Adams; three grandchildren; and five great-grandchildren. She was also preceded in death by a daughter, Harriet Jean Adams Robb.

Interment was at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Mary Ellen Dowling

Services for Mrs. Dowling, 92, of Beaconsfield Road, were held Wednesday, May 8, at the Verheyden Funeral Home and St. Ambrose Church.

She died May 5 in her home.

Born in Ireland, she was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis and the Legion of Mary.

She was predeceased by her husband, John, and is survived by two daughters, Sister Margaret Mary, IHM, and Helen.

Memorial contributions may be made to the IHM Retirement Fund.

Interment was at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

PLO, and ETA have been officers in the People's Sandinista Army, advisors, and honored guests of the communist forces. International terrorism has no frontiers but given Nicaragua's proximity, Americans have reason to worry.

There are always a number of problems that every generation of Americans must deal with in its lifetime, but this nation is in dangerous waters at present. Very important decisions must be made on how our government continues to operate. If the citizenry genuinely wants real change for the better, a good grounding in fact is necessary to understand and then criticize.

Al Mazur, elm injection chairman for the Park, will discuss the injection program at a seminar Wednesday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m. Interested persons from all municipalities are welcome to attend.

Elm care seminar is May 15

The Grosse Pointe Park Beautification Commission will sponsor an elm care seminar at the Windmill Pointe boathouse Wednesday, May 15, at 7:30 p.m. Persons from all municipalities are welcome.

Al Mazur, elm injection chairman for the Park, will lead an informal discussion of this year's injection program and offer a slide presentation.

Mazur and commissioners Jerome Abbs and Carol Ward will also answer questions about the discontinuation of spraying elms in the Park.

Arbotect 20-S will again be used this spring for injection. Persons planning to inject their elm trees should measure the tree circumference four feet above the ground to insure proper dosage. Trees can be injected after Memorial Day.

For more information, measure your tree and call Mazur at 881-0193.

Hearing aid recycling program begins

A hearing aid recycling program was started last week sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Rotary Club in cooperation with the Michigan Ear Foundation.

Normand Giard, president of the club, presented a check to William J. Rice, M.D., president of the ear foundation, to initiate the program during the Rotary Club regular Monday morning meeting recently.

The recycling program will collect unused hearing aids, recondition them and then dispense them to those unable to purchase one of their own. The pilot program will begin in Grosse Pointe and extend throughout Michigan as other Rotary Clubs become involved.

To contribute hearing aids or money to the project, contact a member of the Rotary Club or the Michigan Ear Foundation, 19501 East Eight Mile Road, St. Clair Shores, 48080. Contributions are tax-deductible.

Commended

Congressman Dennis M. Hertel, left, was recently commended by two citizens' groups for his voting record on environmental and consumer issues. He is shown with the political director of the League of Conservation Voters, Steve Pearlman, who presented him with a "spring flower" award. Hertel was also selected by the Consumer Federation of America as one of its "Heroes" for his record of support on consumer issues.

DEPENDABLE.

That one word certainly describes Wanda Burlett, a small bus operator out of the Taylor terminal. In fact, during her solid four years of service at SEMTA, being dependable has been just part of the job.

And we don't just mean getting to work on time and doing a good job. Wanda certainly does that. But just as important to her is knowing her passengers can count on her in special situations. Especially her senior passengers. "I know my older passengers," says Wanda. "And sometimes they can get a little lost or sometimes be a little late. They know I'm not leaving until they get on my bus."

Dependable. That's Wanda Burlett. But she also brings other outstanding qualities to the job — just like all SEMTA people who make SEMTA the bus system that works. They're simply doing their best to be the best. As for Wanda, it just means doing it very dependably.

Help for hearing project

Norman C. Moore, M.D., assistant professor of psychiatry at Wayne State University and a Grosse Pointe resident, looks on as Laurie Fitzimmons accepts a check for $200 from David Littler, district governor of Lions International. Ms. Fitzimmons, on a volunteer basis, is testing the hearing of 300 elderly residents in Detroit as part of a research project to look at the special problems of those who have both a hearing impairment and mental illness. The money will cover travel and other expenses. Dr. Moore is the principal investigator of the project.

Wildlife Festival is this month

Clare will be the site of the first Michigan Great Lakes Wildlife Festival scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, May 25 and 26.

The festival, sponsored by Ducks Unlimited and the Stroh Brewery Co., will bring together Michigan's finest wildlife art and artists and will feature contests for the Michigan Ducks Unlimited Artist of the Year and Carver of the Year.

An art show and sale will be held both days at the Town & Country Restaurant and an antique duck decoy display will be featured at the Doherty Motor Hotel on Saturday and Sunday, including a swap and sell.

Entries for the Artist of the Year and Carver of the Year contests will be on display at the Doherty Saturday afternoon and at 6:30 p.m. Saturday evening, an awards banquet will be held announcing and honoring the contest winners.

The public is invited. The price for the weekend events, excluding the banquet, is $3 per person or $5 per family.

Advisory Council battles myths of group homes for disabled

Editor's note: The Group Home Advisory Council of Grosse Pointe and Harper Woods was formed in 1982 to promote the establishment of residential group homes for developmentally disabled adults. Their goal is to assist toward integration of group homes into communities. The council has prepared a series of articles which the Grosse Pointe News is publishing. This is the third of four articles.

Ronald has lived all of his 28 years at home, surrounded by the love of family and friends. He enthusiastically participates in a Neighborhood Club bowling league, the Foundation for Exceptional Children's Teen Club and the Boy Scout troop of which he has been a member for several years. In addition to his mental limitations, Ronald's small motor coordination is impaired. His speech and performance levels have steadily improved over the years with the help of dedicated teachers and speech therapists, but Ronald will always need supervision in daily living situations.

Lori needs to wear a helmet to prevent injury when she experiences epileptic seizures. Despite her handicap, her sweet disposition and outgoing personality have enabled Lori to make many friends and live a life as normal as possible. The neighborhood children accept Lori's disability in a matter-of-fact way and help her when she has a seizure. Lori loves living at home, but her elderly parents can no longer care for her as they once were able.

George exhibits varying levels of development. A man with partially-controlled epilepsy and slight brain damage, he has taught himself how to play a mean game of pool and is an avid history, rock 'n' roll and trivia buff. But although he can easily relate details of World War II battles and Greek mythology, he often mixes up cities with states and has difficulty giving street directions. Sometimes uncomfortable in social settings, George is unsure of just what conversational topics will seem interesting to someone else. He needs the emotional support of an accepting peer group.

Ronald, Lori and George are Grosse Pointers who want to live in a group home, but they sometimes face discrimination from people who don't understand their developmental differences. Physical appearance and mannerisms contribute significantly to the way people respond to and interact with others.

Does talking with someone who slurs his words make you uncomfortable? Would you be embarrassed if George suddenly forgot what he was trying to tell you or became visibly confused? If Lori began playing with your children, would you become alarmed and separate them? Because Ronald, Lori and George look or sound different, should they be kept at a distance?

Even though they are active in the community now — shopping at Kroger, swimming at the parks, attending church — the concept of these mentally-impaired adults living apart from their families in a group home is frightening to some residents.

Why? Let's examine some common concerns of (potential) group home neighbors:

1. The placement of group homes will have a detrimental effect on property values. Eight major property values studies have been conducted across the nation from 1973-1980, including one in Lansing in 1976. The results have shown that there is no impact on neighboring property values as a result of the presence of small group homes. Property values in communities with group homes had the same increase or decrease in market price as in matched control areas. Proximity of neighboring properties to a group home did not affect their market value — up or down. Establishment of group homes did not generate a higher degree of neighboring property turnover than in the matched control areas.

2. The residents of these homes will pose a danger to my children. As far as behavior of the residents is concerned, retarded, individuals are no more dangerous than you or I would be. They are not mentally ill, an entirely different condition from mental retardation, nor have they served time in prisons. In fact, because of their desire to be accepted, retarded adults in group homes often make better neighbors than average citizens. They are anxious to establish good will and take pride in their home and yard.

3. Who monitors these homes and what recourse does the community have if the group home develops problems? Under current legislation, the community has a complaint procedure to follow if the home is not properly maintained or if the residents do not appear to be receiving appropriate care. We certainly do not have this kind of recourse against any of our other neighbors. Local Associations of Retarded Citizens monitor homes and teams of parents review the quality of life in the home.

Lori, Ronald, and George's parents want their children to have the right to live as independently as possible. All of us need to work together to afford the optimum available to each citizen. Next week we will discuss some of the ways the Grosse Pointe community can reach out to welcome its developmentally disabled citizens.

YES

YOUTH ENRICHMENT SERVICES and NEIGHBORHOOD CLUB

Thanks to the enthusiastic response of those of you who have already been involved with YES, we are continuing to grow at a rapid pace. On June 24 we will begin a new program at the Neighborhood Club in Grosse Pointe in addition to programs already operating in St. Clair Shores, Bloomfield Hills and Kalamazoo. We use computers as a lever to enhance learning. Our computer-based educational program is the individualized motivational enrichment you seek for your child.

YES is now offering two new opportunities for interested parents to learn more about our program. On Tuesday, May 21, from 4-6 p.m. and again on Thursday, May 30, from 8-9 p.m., a coffee hour and program demonstration will be held in the YES room at the Neighborhood Club. Here's a chance to find out what advantages a YES program can provide for your child and discover for yourself what many of your neighbors already know.

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION FOR THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE GROSSE POINTE SCHOOL SYSTEM, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Annual Election of The Grosse Pointe Public School System, Wayne County, Michigan, will be held in said School District on Monday, June 10, 1985.

Section 1052 of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1986, provides as follows:

"The inspectors of election at any annual or special election shall not receive the vote of a person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which the person resides or whose name is not in the registration file in the precinct in which the person offers to vote when city or township registration records are used in school elections as provided in Section 1053."

THE LAST DAY on which persons may register with the Clerk of the Township or City in which they reside in order to be eligible to vote at said Annual Election to be held on June 10, 1985, is Monday May 13, 1985. Persons registering after 5:00 P.M., Eastern Daylight Time, on said Monday, May 13, 1985, are not eligible to vote at said Annual Election.

Under the provisions of Act 451, Public Acts of Michigan, 1976, registrations will not be taken by school officials, and only persons who have registered as general electors with the Clerk of the city or township in which they reside, or through registration at a Secretary of State Driver's License Bureau, are registered school electors. Persons planning to register with the respective Township or City Clerks must ascertain the days and hours on which the Clerk's Office is open for registration.

Registration of unregistered qualified electors of said School District will be received at the following places:

- Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe Park shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Park, 15115 East Jefferson Avenue, City of Grosse Pointe Park, Michigan.
- Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe, 17150 Maumee, City of Grosse Pointe, Michigan.
- Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Farms, 99 Kerby Road, City of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan.
- Residents of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, 20025 Mack Avenue, City of Grosse Pointe Woods, Michigan.
- Residents of the Township of Grosse Pointe shall register at the office of the Clerk of the Township of Grosse Pointe, 795 Lakeshore Drive, Village of Grosse Pointe Shores, Michigan.
- Residents of the City of Harper Woods shall register at the office of the Clerk of the City of Harper Woods, 19617 Harper Avenue, City of Harper Woods, Michigan.

This Notice is given by order of the Board of Education of The Grosse Pointe Public School System, Wayne County, Michigan.

Dated March 11, 1985

Boat club honors three

Three persons were honored at the annual Commodore's Ball held by the Grosse Pointe Farms Boat Club recently.

Mildred Koeplin was presented with the Ed Lauer Memorial Trophy for her volunteer work with the club. A member since 1969, she has been treasurer for three years and a member of the board of directors. She is currently social events chairman for the club and she also spends many hours as a volunteer at Bon Secours Hospital.

The Commodore's Award was given to Florence Maddox for her effort and dedication to the club since she became a member in 1969.

Peter Metropoulos was presented with the Humanitarian Award for saving a man's life at the Pier Park last year. Currently attending the University of Michigan School of Public Health, he plans to attend medical school. Both of his parents are doctors.

Children's Home celebrates Founders Day

Founders Day, commemorating 149 years of service to children by the Children's Home of Detroit, will be held Wednesday, May 15, at the Home's campus on Cook Road in Grosse Pointe Woods.

This year's event will be an "in-house" party highlighted by a picnic for parents of children in residence, tours through the facilities and the traditional balloon launch.

Fifth-three balloons, each carrying a message representing a child on campus, will be launched. Finders of the balloons are asked to return the message, making it possible to determine winners of long-distance flights.

Next year's celebration, the 150th birthday of Children's Home, is already being planned and will include special events and activities.

Children's Home of Detroit was founded in 1836. At that time, the facility was called the Ladies Orphan Association of Detroit and was located on Antoine Street. After several relocations and name changes, the Children's Home settled at 900 Cook Road in the Woods in 1950.

Residential treatment services include individual and group therapy for children in residence and their parents, special education, recreation and health services. For children without proper family resources, the home provides foster home placement at the time of discharge. Short term respite care is also available.

Drive carefully

Springtime in Michigan means motorcycles on Michigan highways.

The spring brings out-of-practice motorcyclists and motorists who have not shared the road with motorcyclists for several months, and this leads to fatalities.

State Police statistics show 18 motorcyclists have died in highway crashes as of April 21 of this year. In 1984, 151 motorcyclists died on Michigan highways.

Richard Austin, chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, asked all motorists to watch for motorcyclists during the 1985 riding season.

Hotline for car owners

By Elizabeth Hanford Dole
Secretary of Transportation

Recently I spent a morning answering the Department of Transportation's Auto Safety Hotline (800-424-9393) here in Washington, D.C. I heard such questions as, "Who do I talk to about a problem I am having with my truck?" "Do you have any information on a recall for my car?" "When will I be notified of this current recall?" "I'm having a problem with my seat belt. What should I do?"

Nearly 1,000 questions like these, received every day by the hotline, are answered by a dozen or so telephone operators at the Department's National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA).

The toll-free hotline is an effective means of two-way communication between consumers and NHTSA: Consumers can learn the most recent developments in auto-related safety matters, while NHTSA gathers complaint data and other vital safety information from the public.

When an auto owner calls the hotline, the operator asks for the year, make, and model of the car. That information is put into a computer, which then displays the safety recalls or any other actions that are pending on that model. The operator can also determine if NHTSA is investigating a given model automobile because of safety complaints received from other consumers.

If a consumer wants to report a safety-related defect, the operator will mail a questionnaire within 24 hours that can be completed and returned to the auto safety engineers at NHTSA. This complaint will then be reviewed or referred to another government agency if it is not safety-related.

The specially-trained hotline operators can answer many safety questions, but they are not allowed to become involved in disputes between dealers or manufacturers. Moreover, they cannot help with problems that do not concern safety; nor can they recommend or endorse any specific cars or service facilities. These questions must be handled through the manufacturers' representative or local consumer agencies. However, hotline operators do assist callers by directing them to other agencies that might be able to help.

You can reach the Auto Safety Hotline by dialing 800-424-9393, toll-free, from anywhere in the continental United States, including the Virgin Islands and parts of Puerto Rico. The hotline is also available to the hearing-impaired through teletyp (TTY) facilities found in many libraries and public institutions serving the hearing-impaired. The toll-free TTY number is 800-424-9253.

CITY OF GROSSE POINTE WOODS MICHIGAN

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED 1985-86 GENERAL FUND BUDGET AND THE PROPOSED PROPERTY TAX LEVY

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of Grosse Pointe Woods will be meeting on May 20, 1985, at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Building, 20025 Mack Plaza, for the purpose, among other things, of conducting a public hearing on the proposed 1985-86 General Fund Budget and the proposed Property Tax Levy.

A copy of the proposed budget will be available for public inspection during regular business hours at the office of the City Administrator-Clerk. Public comments, oral, or written, will be welcome at the public hearing on the aforesaid proposed General Fund Budget and the proposed Property Tax Levy.

PROPOSED 1985-86 GENERAL FUND BUDGET

Expenditures	Revenues
Debt Service	Debt Service Tax	$ 169,757
General Government	EMS Tax	157,183
Public Safety	Operating Tax	3,541,816
Public Works	Fines/Forfeitures	431,757
Park & Recreation	Permits & Licenses	63,715
Capital Improvements	Intergovernmental	897,147
Transfer to Streets	Miscellaneous	48,150
Contingency
Total Expenditures:	Total Revenues:	$5,309,525

TRUTH-IN-TAXATION STATEMENT

Last year, 1984, the City of Grosse Pointe Woods levied 11.358 mills ($11.358 per $1,000 SEV) for general operating purposes. Because of an estimated .9552 decreasing factor in the State Equalized Valuation for all existing residential properties within the said City for the year 1985, the City of Grosse Pointe Woods, in order to maintain essential City services and programs and in order to continue its extensive repair and replacement program of the City's infrastructure system, therefore finds it necessary and prudent to increase its tax levy from 11.358 mills to 11.831 mills for general operating purposes. Therefore, a net increase of $12.04 in actual tax dollars is anticipated during the year of 1985 for the average home with a $40,000 SEV assessment.

COMPUTATION OF TAX LEVY FOR AVERAGE HOME

SEV assessed at $40,000

Current 1984 $40,000 × .9684 SEV Factor × 11.358 mills (.011358) = $439.96

Total Tax Dollars Increase: $12.04

COMPARISON OF TAX LEVIES

	Current	Proposed
Debt Service (electorate approved)	.548 mills	.540 mills
EMS Advanced Life Support (electorate approved)	.500 mills	.500 mills
General Operating	10.310 mills	10.791 mills
Total Tax Levy:	11.358 mills	11.831 mills

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE SAME AFORESAID TIME AND DATE ON THE FOLLOWING OTHER BUDGETS OF THE CITY OF GROSSE POINTE WOODS, AS OUTLINED BELOW:

PROPOSED 1985-86 ENTERPRISE FUND BUDGET

Water & Sewer	$2,324,214

Spring cleaning should include your records

Are you one of those people who saves everything and stuffs it into a drawer where it'll sit for years? Or are you just the opposite, the kind of person who throws out everything, even the documents you may need. Keeping the right records can be an onerous task. According to the Michigan Association of CPAs, this checklist can help put your record-keeping on the right track.

Separate Wheat from Chaff — Most of the records that people must store are kept for tax reasons, to support claims in case of an IRS audit. Spring cleaning of your records should begin by separating tax-related papers from those which won't be missed in the event of an audit, such as credit card receipts or nonbusiness related telephone bills. On the other hand, items such as business entertainment receipts, tax-related bank statements and investment-related documents should be retained.

Tax Returns and Supporting Documents — There is no set time limit on how long you need to keep a federal income tax return and supporting documents that are proof of deductions. It depends on your personal circumstances and how complicated your return is. If you file a 1040EZ every year, you probably don't have to keep your return and other tax-related records more than three years after the due date of the return. If the IRS audits you and finds an error on a return that's been filed more than three years ago, they cannot assess a penalty or ask you to make good on any accidental understatements.

But people who file more complicated returns by taking credits, averaging income or depreciating property have longer record retention schedules, CPAs say. Someone who depreciates a building using the 15-year accelerated depreciation schedule would want to keep all the returns filed during the depreciation period. They'd also retain all documentation relating to property, such as contracts, bank statements and receipts for improvements. Three years after you have filed the last return using the depreciation schedule, you can safely discard much of the supporting tax documentation.

Keep in mind that the three-year statute of limitations applies only to inadvertent mistakes in filing. Someone who understates his gross income by more than 25 percent could be assessed with back taxes and fines for up to six years. A waitress, who is more likely to be challenged for grossly understating her income, may want to keep pay stubs and tip records to satisfy the six-year requirement. There is no statute of limitations for someone who files a fraudulent return or fails to file any return.

Since this can be complicated, many CPAs tell clients to hang on to all of their tax returns. If you require an old return, the IRS will send you a copy for $5. Usually this takes no less than six weeks.

Wills should be reviewed annually. Only one signed will should be kept and it's best to leave it in a safe deposit box.

Veterans Discharge Papers should always be retained, preferably in a safe deposit box or a fire-resistant strongbox. Veterans discharge papers can be useful when applying for a mortgage, bank loan or insurance policy and in making burial arrangements at federal cemeteries.

Insurance Policies should be kept in a fire-resistant strongbox. You wouldn't want a homeowners policy to be destroyed by fire when you need it the most. With your insurance policies you may want to file photographs of your possessions, including cars, stereos, furniture and jewelry. They can be useful in substantiating an insurance claim.

Stock and Bond Certificates and Deeds should be stored in a safe deposit box.

Contracts and Personal Financial Statements should be permanently retained. Financial statements should be updated annually or even more often if you apply for a mortgage or bank loan.

The Final Touch would be to jot down the location of your safe deposit box, its contents, and the names of your insurance agent, attorney and CPA. If you or your spouse become disabled or suddenly die, this information ensures that the mortgage gets paid and other routine chores are carried out.

To that list of sardonic expressions used by some to describe the mentally suspect, add: "He may be a quart low." "Somebody shot the dots off his dice." "He's only about half-wrapped." "All his lights are on but nobody's home."

For small businesses

Small businesses seeking financial support for research and development activities may be eligible for the $250 million from the federal Small Business Innovation Research (SBIR) program.

Individuals interested in learning more about SBIR and other research supporting efforts should attend the 4th Annual Conference of Federal and State Research and Development Opportunities sponsored by the Michigan Department of Commerce and the U.S. Small Business Administration.

The conference will be held Thursday, May 16, at the Sheraton Oaks in Novi.

The conference goals are to inform small businesses, individual entrepreneurs and university researchers about the federal SBIR program and state financing programs and also to provide information about proposal preparation techniques, patents, licensing, research and development partnerships, venture capital sources, and Michigan's academic research facilities.

Federal officials responsible for awarding SBIR grants will inform attendees about the opportunities that exist and how firms can successfully apply.

In addition, conference participants will be able to meet one-on-one with government officials to discuss their research interests. Among the major federal agencies sending representatives are the U.S. Department of Defense, U.S. Department of Energy, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the National Science Foundation.

Persons interested in receiving more information about the conference should call Todd Anuskiewicz at 964-5030.

Poupard: Much more than just an elementary school

By Mike Andrzejczyk

Poupard Elementary School is the only Grosse Pointe public school not in Grosse Pointe, built before Harper Woods was a city and Edsel Ford was a freeway.

There's a lot more to Poupard than K-5, however. For years, it has served as the district's center program for trainable mentally impaired students as well as housing two learning disabled sections and a pre-school developmental kindergarten program. The school is host to 327 students, served by more than 50 full- and part-time staff.

The school has seen a lot of changes since it first opened its doors in 1951 at the corner of Van Antwerp and Harper. Harper Woods formerly incorporated as a home-rule city later that year and construction was soon to begin on "The Ditch," the Edsel Ford Freeway that divides the city.

Poupard almost doubled in size in 1955 when an additional gymnasium and classrooms were added to the original building to cope with the growing student population. In the boom years, as many as 850 students attended the school designed for 775, and space had to be made for them.

There when the doors opened at Poupard was John Hammel, who spent 11 years as principal at the school, watching the community as well as the system grow.

Hammel spent more than 30 years with the school system before his retirement and is now a member of the Grosse Pointe Woods Historical Commission.

The section of Harper Woods the school serves, almost the northern third of the city, was once part of the Old Cook School District No. 9, Hammel says.

Poupard was built in 1951, a medium-sized school who first year enrollment was about 270 students. The building was named for Charles A. Poupard, who served the school board as treasurer from 1922 to 1948.

Poupard died before he could be honored at the dedication ceremony for the building however, Hammel recalls. His son, Clement, accepted the resolution honoring Poupard's contributions to the district.

Although the area around the school was developed, there was still a great deal of undeveloped land that was soon swallowed up in new subdivision development, bringing new housing, new families and new students to the school.

The growth years often saw the school add as many as 100 new students a year, despite the loss of kids to the middle schools. Although there were problems associated with rapid growth, they were "happy" problems compared to those faced when enrollment declines, Hammel recalls.

"The growth of a school is easier than a decline," he adds. "You spend a great deal of time recruiting, because you always need new teachers. Our libraries were classrooms for many years and sometimes the teacher's lounges were used for classroom

As the community around the school developed, there were other additions. The Ford freeway was built. Eastland was built about that time as well.

Harper Woods was changing as streets were paved and drainage ditches replaced, Hammel recalls. At one time, students could catch crawfish in the ditches around the school.

While principal at Poupard, Hammel also served as principal at Vernier School. It wasn't uncommon for principals to have more than one building, but there were assistant principals to help, he adds. Hammel went on to serve at Maire and Monteith before retiring from the system, but remembers fondly his "first school."

Working at Poupard was a marvelous experience, with much support from parents and the PTO, Hammel says. There was a large, experienced staff at the school and the entire operation ran very efficiently.

"I often said that as a principal, that was the most efficient way to run a school," Hammel says. Now, as student population declines, there are a number of benefits to smaller school populations as well, he adds.

James Cooper is Poupard's sixth principal and he says he finds the same interest and involvement among Poupard parents as Hammel did.

The PTO has sponsored a large number of events, from Christmas and Halloween functions to a Staff Appreciation Day, scheduled for yesterday. The PTO has also worked to donate funds to add a sign to the Van Antwerp side of the building, replacing the metal sign attached to the playground fence facing Harper.

The PTO remains active, looking for ways to improve the school. Some of the possibilities include landscaping or improvements to the building lobby and reception area.

Parent activity in the school is also high. More than 200 parents who volunteered their time to the school were invited to the building during the recent Volunteer Day Celebration, Cooper said. The 15 top volunteers are going to be honored at the May 30 vocal concert at the school, he adds.

Cooper has been with Grosse Pointe schools for 26 years at the elementary and high school level. He has some familiar faces to look out over at PTO meetings.

"Some of the parents I see now I have had as students in elementary school. I picked them up again at the high school and now they're parents of elementary school kids," Cooper says. "I've known some of them for years. At one of the PTO meetings, I said this was like Old Home Week."

"These folks have been just fantastic," he adds. "Parents appreciate what you are doing for their kids."

There are 255 students in the multiple sections of K-5 programs, with 72 more enrolled in the TMI, learning disabled and developmental kindergarten. The two sections for learning disabled students at the school include one for five- and six-year-olds and one for seven- and eight-year-olds, Cooper says.

Poupard is also one of two schools in the district to operate a Chapter One reading and math program for its students. The other school is Defer.

The running of Poupard is a little more complex because of the various programs, Cooper says. "You find you are more involved with parents and their individual pro-

The TMI program will be moving to Brownell Middle School next year, out of the rooms it has occupied for a number of years at Poupard. This year, TMI students have become involved in assemblies and other school functions, Cooper says.

One program that didn't quite get off the ground at the school this year was the visiting of fifth grade classrooms by instructors from the TMI program, who would talk about handicaps and how they occur, Cooper adds.

Another program at Poupard is the High Ability, Cooper says. All the building has high ability classes for the best students in each grade level.

One of the projects the High Ability kids undertook recently under the direction of their instructor Lynne Olds was a debate. Topics included whether or not the United States should intervene in Lebanon, whether or not child seat belts should be required, and whether or not states should fund abortions. Parents and fifth grade classes at the school attend the debates as well, Cooper says.

There's something that's fun about teaching elementary school students, Cooper says. They haven't been infected with the idea that school doesn't have anything to offer them yet, making them eager to learn, he adds.

"Elementary school kids are still interested in learning," Cooper says. They're enthusiastic about education and eager to get at learning. When he has time, he says he likes to have some of the students read to him.

"You can just see their faces light up when they learn a new word or when they finish a new story," Cooper says. "They come to school every day with smiles on their faces, ready to learn."

One of the school's problems is The Ditch, which is two lanes of traffic and two fences away from the east playground. The freeway means extra traffic and extra care by crossing guards provided by Harper Woods, Cooper says.

Parents have gone before the Harper Woods city council a number of times in the past, seeking improvements to make improvements to the Vernier-Harper intersection, Cooper says.

Next year, the school will add an outdoor education program to the curriculum, something it hasn't had for several years. Parents are also helping raise money to defray the cost of the program, which Cooper says will be a good learning opportunity for the children, some of whom have never spent a night away from home.

"The people I have worked with here are just the nicest people I have associated with," Cooper says. "Everybody is here for a purpose and people are willing to go out of their way to help their children educational-ly."

Students honor employers with co-op program banquet

Grosse Pointe's public school system held its annual Co-op Banquet Wednesday evening, May 1, at the Warren Chateau to honor employers who participated in the program.

Students enrolled in Child Care, Commercial Foods, Dental Aide, Medical Aide, Distributive Education, Business and Office and Trades and Industry said "thank you" to their employers for helping them in the cooperative education program.

Jill Seely and Pat Causley from North served as mistress and master of ceremonies. North's Joe Haney gave the invocation. Kimberly Gaines of South introduced the special guests attending the banquet and Ann Vick of South gave the official student welcome.

A special award was given South Principal Frances French for her years of dedication to the program. Miss French initiated the cooperative program 25 years ago.

Employers receiving awards for 5 years of participation in the program were Cottage Hospital, food service; Elias Bros., Mack and Harvard; George Goodis, D.D.S.; Frank Hoffman and Associates; Indian Village Cleaners; Little Tony's Lounge in the Woods; Salem Memorial Child Care; Jerome Sodonis, D.D.S.; and Ray Summers Service.

Manufacturer's National Bank at Mack and Brys received a 10-year participation award. Neighborhood Club Small Set, Whittier Towers and Zimmermans Pharmacy have provided employment to students in the program for 15 years.

Receiving engraved plaques for their commitment to the co-op program for 20 years were Louis

Gregory, M.D.; Manufacturers National Bank, Mack and Lochmoor; and Sears Roebuck.

Student of the Year awards were presented at the banquet by Kiwanis Club representative Richard Beach. Students honored in Child Care from North were Lori Head-apohl, Katherine Sauer and Tracy Slinger. Receiving the top award was Miss Slinger.

The top student in Commercial Foods at North High was Michael Sklaba. Other finalists were Daniel herfoot and Bryan Vanasse. South winner in Commercial Foods was Patrick Toddy. Finalists were David Evans and Maria Piccione.

North High Dental Aides finalists were Daniel Genord, Mari Graham, Patrick Hoey and Kimberly Kocin. The top pick was Mari Graham.

From South's dental program, William Bresser, Clayton Guensche and Katie Rosasco were selected as finalists with Miss Rosasco winning the top award.

In Distributive Education at North, Marco LaChapelle won out over Brian Meulebrouck and James Paros. Grosse Pointe South's Distributive Education winner was Barbara Youngs. Other finalists were Sue Rotta and Tamara Taylor.

In the Medical Aides program, the finalists from North were Katherine Buccinna and Colleen MacDougall and from South High Kevin Aardema, Elizabeth Barton and Martha Kolojeski. The winner at North was Katherine Buccinna and from South the winner was Kevin Aardema.

In the Business and Office Education program at North High, Antonette Bruglio was named Co-op of the Year. Other finalists were Kristen Johnson and Thomas St. Peter. At South High the Business and Office Education award went to Devon Fuller. Catherine Bertoline and Holly Piche were the other finalists.

The last program to receive awards were students enrolled in the Trade and Industry program. The finalists were Bradley Barton and Bryan Duquet from South and James Ewald from North. The winner in this category was Barton.

The annual co-op banquet is perhaps the largest school community function held in Grosse Pointe (470 people attended this year's banquet). Preparation will soon begin to plan next year's banquet on May 6.

POSTURE AND YOUR SPINE

Your posture can greatly determine the health of your spine. This is why you should avoid "posture traps". Examples: Soft chairs, mattresses, pillows and couches. Chairs with a flexible back or no back at all. Counters or benches that are too low and cause you to hunch over. Sleeping with either no pillow or 2 pillows. Result: Back pain, irritability, muscle strain, fatigue, pressure on spinal nerves.

Furniture that you use daily should be firm and supportive. Closely observe your postural habits to determine what should be changed to improve your health. Our office can put you in contact with suppliers to obtain the new posture chairs, mattresses, pillows, back pillows, etc.

NOTICE OF HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Zoning Board of Appeals will meet in the City Hall at 90 Kerby Road, Grosse Pointe Farms, on:

Monday, May 20, 1985

at 8:00 p.m. to hear the appeal of Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Whalen, owner of the premises located at 309 McKinley, from the denial of the Building Department to issue a Permit for the construction of an enlarged family room to the rear of the residence located at the foregoing address. Such permit issuance was denied because the residence located on the foregoing premises is nonconforming for reason that it projects into the side yard space in violation of the provisions of Article XIII, Section 1300 of the City's Zoning Ordinance, and in accordance with provisions of Article XV, Section 1502, Item 4-A of the City's Zoning Ordinance no such structure may be enlarged or structurally altered unless a variance is granted.

The Hearing will be public, interested property owners and residents of the City are invited to attend.

Receives award

The Exchange Club of Grosse Pointe/St. Clair Shores awarded its twelfth Proudly We Hail plaque recently. Recipients are "patriotic Americans who have demonstrated their national pride by regularly flying the red, white and blue," according to club President Paul Mumma, shown at the left congratulating Bob Steiger of the Farms. The group meets for breakfast every Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. at Gilberts Restaurant on Harper Avenue in St. Clair Shores. For more information, call Mike Reynolds at 271-5080.

Foreign language typefaces developed

Wayne State University has developed the first of a series of typefaces for the Apple Macintosh computer for foreign languages which do not use the Roman alphabet or use it with special diacritical marks.

Fonts have been developed for classical Greek (Colophon); Polish (Warszawa, Krakow, Gdansk); Armenian (Yerevan); Ukrainian (Kyiv); Russian (Moscow following American keyboard and Mockba following the Russian). In parentheses are the names chosen to identify the fonts.

Among other languages for which typefaces are being developed are Arabic, modern Greek, Hebrew and Serbo-Croatian.

The fonts have been designed by Professor Marc Cogan of the Department of Humanities and Professor Frank Corliss of the Department of Slavic Languages and Literature, with the assistance of Dickran T. Toumajan and Larissa Prychodko, both of the Slavic. Technical support was provided by Grace E. Smith of the Computing Services Center.

The particular fonts designed were chosen specifically to reflect the ethnic communities in Detroit and will be made available to these communities in Detroit and throughout the United States as well as to academic users from any university and the general public. Distribution of the fonts will be handled by the WSU Computing Services Center for a $5 handling charge to cover the cost of the disk.

For additional information, write the Documentation Library, Computing Services Center, Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich. 48202 or call 577-2144.

Open auditions

The Stagemaster Theatre Co. will hold open auditions for "The Sound of Music" Monday and Tuesday, May 20-21, at 6:30 p.m. at the Jefferson Middle School on Rockwood in St. Clair Shores.

Monday is the only day for dance auditions, but acting and vocal auditions will be on both days. Prepared pieces are not required. The musical will be performed Aug. 9, 10, 16 and 17. For more information, call 773-9429 evenings.

Cousino reunion

The Cousino High School Class of 1975 will reunite for its 10-year anniversary Saturday, Aug. 31.

The dinner-dance reunion will be held at Zuccaro's, 16 Mile at Groesbeck in Clinton Township, beginning at 7 p.m. Tickets are $25 a person and must be purchased in advance; reservation deadline is June 1.

The reunion committee is still attempting to reach all '75 Cousino graduates. If you can help locate a former classmate, or would like to make reservations for the reunion, call Glenda (Avesian) Karibian at 540-3858.

Forum seeks solution to crime

gram in front of people they can intelligently vote on," he said.

Other comments from members of the council came from Vern Ausherman: "I would hope the council would devote as much time to crime as they did with the tree problem."

Carroll Evola: "Crime affects us all — our fire insurance and probably our homeowners insurance. I remember 35 years ago when my sisters and I never had a key because our door was never locked."

David Gaskin: "Public safety is not a complete solution to crime. It may put more officers on the street, but there will be significant periods of time, money from departments switching over."

John Prost: "The primary problem is not crime but quality of life. We live here because we like it here, but our quality of life is altered. The solution has much more to do with us watching over one another."

Mark Valente: "We have to increase our awareness of our neighbors and our community. Each and everyone of us knows what is usual and what is unusual."

Councilwoman Patricia Forster, who made it to the meeting at the tail end, did not speak.

City Manager John Crawford said Detroit Edison has increased lighting on the 1400 block of Wayburn and the city was looking into converting other street lights to a more efficient and brighter light.

"Lighting is one way of discouraging the type of crimes we are most fearful of," he said. He added that the statistics on crime have remained steady and the perception of crime is greater.

Acting police chief Lt. Tom Martin said that in his 50 years as a resident and 35 years on the force, the community has remained stable. The neighboring community, Detroit, has changed, he said, and the people who buffered the zone no longer live there.

"Quite honestly, we have to learn how to protect ourselves," he said. Put away lawn mowers, bicycles and close the garage doors and sheds. Lock vehicles and get to know your neighbors, he said.

"We cannot, we will not harass people for simply walking down the street," he said.

About a dozen members of the audience spoke. Jack Ruth of Nottingham said, "My concerns are quality of life and property values and the one thing that hurts property value is paranoia."

A woman said she was against uniting the police and fire departments. She said if nurses in hospitals were united with office workers, there'd be more workers walking the halls, but the help would not be better.

Nadine Owen asked City Manager Crawford if there was a residency rule for police and fire personnel. Crawford said labor contracts negotiated in 1982 require that police and fire employees move to the Park after one year of employment. The requirement does not apply to personnel hired before July 1982.

Council says lake improved . . .

there's still room for improvement. Of greatest concern to Elizabeth Harris, staff attorney for EMEAC, are the controversies surrounding the Lake St. Clair wetlands. Despite their enormous value, more than 70 percent of Michigan's original 11.2 million acres of wetlands have been seriously impaired or destroyed, according to Ms. Harris.

"In 1873 there were 18,000 acres of wetlands on Lake St. Clair," Ms. Harris said. "In 1973 there were just 5,000 acres left. The wetlands provide a home for birds, fish and many fur-bearing animals. They serve as a water purification system, holding back many nutrients that would otherwise enter the lake, plus they've proven to be effective in flood control, holding excess water, then slowly releasing it into the lake."

Ms. Harris also noted that the Lake St. Clair wetlands, specifically the Vershay, Salt River and St. Johns marshes, also provide shelter to more than three million birds that travel through the area along two major migratory routes that intersect at Lake St. Clair.

"The value of these areas can't be estimated," she said. "They provide a spawning group for bass, bluegills, pike and perch. Lake St. Clair and Lake Huron provide 80 percent of all the perch fishing in the Great Lakes; indeed, Lake St. Clair itself could be called the most valuable fishing area in the Great Lakes."

EMEAC is keeping a close eye on two legal battles brewing over the 300-acre Vershay Marsh, located near Metropolitan Beach Metropolitan and St. Johns Marsh, located near Anchor Bay.

"The U.S. Supreme Court will ultimately decide if the Vershay Marsh is indeed a true wetland," Ms. Harris said. "Detroit wants the area protected, but Riverside Bayview Homes wants it developed. It's important because if (the decision) could ultimately affect half the wetlands in the United States."

"St. Johns Marsh is important because developers are trying to build upon it. If they can't build, they want to be compensated for the area. There's no development in Canada. Their marshlands on the other side of the lake are 100 percent intact. They don't allow development of any kind. "We are now at a turning point for the wetlands left on the American side," she said.

Joining in the fight to save the American wetlands from further development is the Lake St. Clair Advisory Committee, headed by Mike Graywood. Formed in 1968 by now-deceased Macomb County Commissioner Raymond Trombley, the group was initially dedicated to protecting the small bass population which was being depleted by heavy fishing during spawning season.

The organization has since expanded to improve the sports fishing and water quality of Lake St. Clair.

"Water quality in the lake and the Clinton River is improving," Graywood said. "We're finding fish in the river that we haven't seen in great numbers in 25 years. Species like sauger, a cousin of the walleye, that needs clean water to spawn; also the golden shiner. It too needs good water to live."

Graywood explained that his group has been heavily involved in fighting to keep Lake St. Clair a haven for fishermen, beginning with a resolution in 1969 to ban walleye netting in the lake. The resolution was passed in 1972.

Bon Secours offers health seminars

In conjunction with National Hospital Week, Bon Secours Hospital's Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores will offer free seminars by staff members Tuesday through Thursday, May 14, 15 and 16 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Topics and speakers are:
* Tuesday, May 14 — "Fuel for Fitness," nutrition for exercisers by Tom Heinrichs, M.A., registered dietitian.

* Wednesday, May 15 — "Stretching Workshop" by Shelby Seaton, M.S., exercise physiologist, and Susan Stys, B.S., exercise leader.

* Thursday, May 16 — "Fighting the Battle of the Bulge," how to exercise for maximum fat loss by Dwight Gaal, M.A., exercise physiologist.

All seminars will be held in the Bon Secours Health and Fitness Center classroom, 22300 Bon Brae west of Jefferson between 10 and 11 Mile roads.

Call 779-7040 to reserve a seat.

Other projects have included instituting a testing program to battle the mercury scare in 1970; offering fishing methods instruction for the public from 1971-74; establishing a fishing guide for Lakes St. Clair, Erie and Huron in 1974; and stocking 35,000 brown trout in the north channel of Lake St. Clair.

"The plantings are still continuing," Graywood said. "We've planted 50,000 this year, plus we also have raised, harvested and planted nearly 500,000 walleye fry in the lake between 1977 and 1984. The objective is the rejuvenation of spawning grounds in the U.S. waters of Lake St. Clair."

Graywood added that in the future his organization hopes to keep the water quality up to standards, check on polluters, both rumor and fact, and to watch for poachers and violators.

"We're also fighting the loss of our wetlands," he said. "We'd eventually like to see all the wetlands in state ownership on the American side."

Anyone interested in further information on the East Michigan Environmental Action Council can call 258-5188 or write to EMEAC at 21220 W. 14 Mile Road, Birmingham, Mich. 48010.

Bon Secours gets new DSA equipment

Bon Secours Hospital has added computerized diagnostic equipment to its radiology department called digital subtraction arteriography (DSA). Bon Secours is only the eighth hospital in southeast Michigan to have it.

DSA is used primarily to view the carotid arteries which are located in the neck and which supply blood to the brain. By using DSA, doctors are able to screen patients for blockages in these arteries that could lead to a stroke.

New Japanese 'Super Pill' Insures Rapid Weight-Loss

No Dieting — Eat All You Want, Pill Does All The Work

BEVERLY HILLS, CA — An exciting new "all natural" weight-loss "Super" Pill developed by the JMA (Japanese Medical Association) has just been approved for distribution in the United States. Reportedly, it can guarantee that you will lose more than a pound a day without dieting, from the very first day until you reach your ideal weight and figure. News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Phenomenal Calorie Burner Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so startling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe, it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss! Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "The most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (as all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee
You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

$19.95 — 30 day supply, or $35.95 — 60 day supply. Order immediately by sending a check or money order to DYNALABS, 270 No. Canon Dr., Ste. 1255 (Dept. U-21) Beverly Hills, CA, 90210. (Enclose your return address). Credit card holders can order by simply dialing toll free: (1-800-367-2400) 24 hrs. a day, 7 days a week. Either way your order will be promptly sent. Please don't wait. You really do deserve to be thin.

North sets spring concert

Grosse Pointe North Bands & Orchestra will present their Annual Spring Concert Tuesday, May 14, at 8 p.m. in the Community Performing Arts Center at North.

The Symphony Orchestra will open the program with Saint-Saens "Dance Macabre," "Brandenburg Concerto #3" by Bach, and "Return of the Jedi" by Williams.

The Concert Band will perform "Fantasy On American Sailing Songs" by Grundman.

The Symphony Band will play music from their state festival program: "Montmartre March" by Wood, and "Trittico" by Nelhybel. Then they will join the Concert Band for a rendition of "Marvin Hamisch Showcase."

Conductor Nathan Judson will lead the three groups in their performances.

Tickets at $2 for the concert are available from North or at the door.

Preparing for the Festival of the Arts that will be held at North May 14 and 15 are, from left, Brad Keatts, John Wargelin, Pennee Tsangalias, Liz Patek and Liz Anderson.

Cum Laude Society inducts new members

The University Liggett School chapter of the Cum Laude Society welcomed 15 additional members at its induction ceremony April 17.

Cum Laude is a national organization to honor superior scholarship at the secondary school level as does Phi Beta Kappa at the college level. To be eligible for membership, junior and senior students must have achieved a cumulative record of outstanding scholarship from their freshman year.

New senior members of Cum Laude are Robyn Burns, Grosse Pointe; Delphone Davison, Grosse Pointe; Nancy Georgi, Grosse Pointe; Lubna Jafri, Grosse Pointe; Angela Navarro, St. Clair Shores; Barbara Roman, Hamtramck; Robert Tumacder, Grosse Pointe; and Michael Wilkie, New Baltimore.

Also invited to membership were seven junior students: Oscar Alcantera, Grosse Pointe; Thomas Baks, Grosse Pointe; Brian David, Grosse Pointe; Lancelot Lie, Grosse Pointe; Thomas Redmond, St. Clair Shores; Carolyn Seydel, Grosse Pointe; and John Travis, Detroit.

In addition, there are three members who were honored with membership in 1983-84 as juniors: Gillian Darlow, Grosse Pointe; Jeffrey Sweet, Grosse Pointe; and Monique Wise, Grosse Pointe.

Two seniors win four-year scholarships

Two Grosse Pointe high school seniors were among the 2,450 winners of college-sponsored four-year merit scholarships announced yesterday by the National Merit Scholarship Association.

Mary Dietz from South and Randy Kuntzman from North were among seniors to win merit scholarships financed by 190 of the nation's colleges and universities, which have committed more than $9 million for these awards.

Miss Dietz' four-year award comes from Michigan State, the nation's pioneer land-grant university which offers about 200 different undergraduate programs. She has chosen international relations as her career, and is theater club treasurer, a member of the International Thespian Society, varsity softball player and a National Honor Society member for two years, according to the NMSC.

Kuntzman, who has chosen medicine as a career, won a four-year scholarship from Carleton College, the first private college in the upper Midwest to have chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi, located in Northfield, Minn.

Kuntzman is a Kenneth Cook award winner for chemistry, a finalist in the Michigan Math Competition for two years, and was nominated for national competition in the International Chemistry Olympiad. He was a second place winner in the state Science Olympiad, and holds certificates of merit in French, science, chemistry and social studies.

He is a fourth place finisher in the Cal 25 Sailing National, a second place finisher in intramural racketball and also had a lead role in the school's winter play production, according to NMSC.

North students earn top marks in Latin

Five North High School students were honored recently for their excellent showing in a competition sponsored by the American Classical League and the National Junior Classical League.

Silver awards were won by Helen Bugariu and Albert Lombardini while honor certificates went to Thomas Pugel, Nicholas Nahat and Heidi Hanneman.

More than 57,000 students entered the competition. The students at North were instructed by Latin teacher Mary Mansour.

Counselors sought

Persons 17 years or older, are eligible to apply for a summer position as counselor-in-training (CIT) at Interlochen's National Music Camp.

Application forms for the 1985 season, June 18 through Aug. 19, are available by calling (616) 276-9221 or writing: CIT Program, National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich. 49643.

CITs at the National Music Camp attend daily classes and workshops on group dynamics, age group characteristics, leadership, problem-solving and communication. They learn camping and recreation skills through field work including several overnight campouts. Red Cross certification in first aid, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and advanced lifesaving is also part of the course.

CITs spend approximately eight weeks as cabin co-counselors, where they assist with cabin duties, divisional responsibilities and waterfront, recreational and social activities for campers of different age groups.

North plans art festival

Grosse Pointe North High School will present the Seventh Annual Festival of the Arts in the Grosse Pointe North Performing Arts Center. The festival will open Tuesday, May 14, at 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. and will continue Wednesday, May 15 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 7 to 9:30 p.m.

Exhibits of student work in drawing, painting, photography, sculpture, wood technology, fashions and architectural drafting will be featured. Many of the student works will be for sale.

Performances by the Music and Dance departments will be presented during both evenings. The Grosse Pointe North Planetarium will be open both evenings for viewing of the stars. Gourmet foods will be served by the "Pointe Cuisine" in a cafe atmosphere.

Tri-school concert

The bands from Mason, Ferry and Poupard schools will perform at a single concert Thursday, May 9, at 7:30 p.m. at Parcels Middle School, Mack and Vernier.

Besides being the first tri-school concert held at the elementary level, the three schools are the feeder schools for Parcels.

The public is invited.

ULS teacher named dance teacher of year

The Michigan Dance Association will honor Jennifer Noyer as Dance Teacher of the Year at the Michigan Youth Arts Festival at Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo on May 10.

She was one of two teachers from elementary, secondary, college, university, as well as studio level chosen for this award. Ms. Noyer has taught dance at ULS since 1979. She holds a B.A. degree with honors from the University of Michigan and an M.A. from Wayne State University.

Recently Ms. Noyer was the coordinator of the New Wave/Next Wave: Dance, Music and Art. This artist-in-residence program, funded by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, was initiated by a grant proposal written by her.

Participants in the program were students from a consortium of four schools: University Liggett, Cranbrook, Cass Technical High School and Center for Creative Studies. Three major American artists — Trisha Brown, a contemporary dancer; Donald Judd, a minimalist sculptor and Robert Ashley, an avant-grade composer — met with students for master classes, lecture-demos and panel discussions.

Prime Time for senior citizens

By Marian Trainor
Who would have thought when mother was a bride that among the many problems of maintaining a happy marriage, rearing children and running a household would be: Who is going to care for the children while mother works?

There was no such problem at that time. The home and family were mother's work and outlet for her creative yearnings. Now, in addition to doing the family laundry, cleaning and cooking, many mothers must work outside the home to help to earn the wherewithal to keep the home fires burning. It not an easy job being a bread-maker and a bread-winner.

How did this dual role come about? With many there was that inner urge to prove themselves as a person: to accomplish something on their own. With others it was a necessity. One person just couldn't earn enough to pay the bills.

Whatever the reasons, mothers work and being the caring, loving persons they are, they worry about how well their children are doing while they are away from the home.

Day care centers, babysitters, latchkey arrangements more often than not work out, but leave mothers with a nagging sense of guilt. They wonder if they are missing something in the child-mother relationship. They would like to be there when the first tooth is discovered, the first step taken, the first word spoken. They worry about the quality of the care the child is getting and they wish that they could take part in such school activities as field trips, spend a few hours with their child in the park or share a reading time.

They remember their mothers and grandmothers who were always there. They were never pushed to the wall to get everything done and they wonder how this situation came about. When did the "Queen of the Kitchen" relinquish her throne and take on the job of helping to finance the kingdom?

Actually, like all social change, it came about through revolution. The same industrial revolution that freed man from time-consuming, back-breaking work with machines, some time later, when the inventors got around to it, freed women from time-consuming, back-breaking home duties.

Once upon a time women raised their food and preserved it for winter. No cans, frozen foods or pre-packed meat were available. They swept their homes with a broom. Carpet sweepers and vacuum cleaners came later. Washboards, that now get decorated and hang on hall walls, had a much more utilitarian purpose then. Women scrubbed clothes on them and wore off the skin of their knuckles doing it.

Looking back, can you imagine the freedom that came with such inventions as a washing machine, a gas stove, central heating? And those were just some of the conveniences that made mother's life easier. As a result she had time for herself.

Time marches on and with it came changes. Wars brought women into the workforce and the economy kept them there. A one-income family couldn't compete with a two-income household.

Just housing became a major consideration on whether mother must work. It is interesting to ponder what caused what. Did two-income families push the price of homes up or did the price of homes escalate to the point where it was necessary for two people to work?

Whatever. The working mother is left with the problem of leaving her children in the care of others. Up to now she has not had much help with that problem or much sympathy.

The babysitter goes home at six and the boss schedules her for overtime. A child is ill and can't be taken out to a babysitter. A mother of a school-age child can't afford a babysitter after school.

Some of these problems could be solved if the employer would let her come in early and be home when the child gets out of school. No dice. It's a nine-to-five job.

And there's the problem of maternity leave, an issue that was

Adamo honored

Vincent Adamo, president of Conner Park Florist Co., was the speaker at a recent luncheon meeting of the Riverside Kiwanis Club, held at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

Adamo managed the floral arrangements at the White House for the inauguration and Christmas and told club members about the preparations. After his remarks, Adamo was presented a certificate of appreciation by club President John Adamo, his son.

Adamo has served as president of the Allied Florist Association and the Michigan State Florist Association. He has also been a board member of Florist Telegraph Delivery. Adamo is currently president of the Society of American Florists and has operated Conner Park Florist since 1946.

Riverside Kiwanis Club is a local club of Kiwanis International, a worldwide service club of 305,000 members in 75 nations and geographic areas. Riverside meets at noon Thursdays for lunch at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club, 655 Cook Road. Visitors are welcome.

Blood pressure

High blood pressure can cause stroke, heart attack, kidney damage and more, but it can be treated and controlled.

Have your blood pressure checked free at Cottage Hospital Tuesday, May 14, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Registered nurses and licensed practical nurses will take blood pressure readings for anyone in the community on an informal basis in Boardroom B, located on the lower level of the hospital, 159 Kercheval Ave.

discussed at the Association of Junior Leagues 63rd annual conference last week in Detroit.

Working to correct this problem, the association will support legislation introduced in Congress by Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colorado, co-chair of the Congressional Caucus for Women's Issues.

The proposed legislation, the Parental and Disability Leave Act of 1985, calls for an established period of temporary disability job protection for fathers and mothers and an exploration of ways to pay for parenting leaves.

The United States is the only major industrialized country without a national policy covering maternity or parental leave.

Beyond the needs of a new mother to remain with her baby for a period of time without fear of losing her job, is a consideration of what it would mean to a nation with a high birthrate among inner-city teens and the gradually lowering birthrate among working women who opt not to have children because of job demands.

You can't go back, although some traditionalists would solve the problem of the working mother with the solution that she return to the home "where she belongs." For the good of the mother, her children and the country, we need to help her solve her dilemma. And what better time to pledge support than Mother's Day?

That would be a welcome gift along with all the other mementos and acknowledgments of our appreciation.

We wouldn't want to forget such customs as wearing a carnation on Mother's Day. Miss Anna Jarvis worked many years to establish Mother's Day and when she finally got President Woodrow Wilson to sign a joint resolution in Congress in which he ordered the second Sunday in May be observed each year as Mother's Day, he wore a white carnation in his lapel as a mark of respect of all mothers. And so, on Mother's Day, it has become a tradition to wear a red carnation if your mother is living, and a white one if she is deceased.

Mother's Day has brought about a proliferation of customs. Miss Jarvis did more than just honor mothers. She has endeared herself to card and gift shops, department stores and florists, not to mention hotels and restaurants that feature special brunches and dinners to honor mother. But who's complaining. Mothers are worth it.

When we honor our mother on the second Sunday in May, we are giving expression to a feeling of respect and reverence for all mothers everywhere — those living and those who have passed on.

Many of them have given the world sons and daughters who have made great contributions to our country.

"All that I am or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother," said Lincoln. Edison paid tribute to his mother with: "She was so true, so sure of me and I felt I had someone to live for, someone I must not disappoint. My mother was the making of me."

Each of us could voice such sentiments about our own mother.

Antarctica, at the bottom of the world, is a land of icebergs, glaciers and penguins. The film includes stops in Argentina and the Falkland Islands.

The film is open to the public. Admission is $1 and includes refreshments served after the show.

Birthday party

The Grosse Pointe Woods Senior Club will give itself a birthday party Thursday, May 16, at 3:30 p.m. at North Hill.

There will be ice cream, cake and other treats. Bring a $1 gift that is wrapped. All seniors are welcome.

Boss Brass

Rob McConnell's Boss Brass, an elite group that eclipsed the world's top jazz bands to win the 1984 Grammy Award in the "Best Performance for a Big Band in the Jazz Category," will top off this season's professional event program at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts at 7 p.m. on Sunday, May 19.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $8 for students and senior citizens. They may be obtained at the Center's box office or reserved on credit card by calling 286-2222, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Center is located at the Center Campus of Macomb Community College at Hall (M-59) and Garfield roads in Clinton Township.

Pancake breakfast

The Harper Woods Jaycees, in cooperation with the Harper Woods Lions Club, will hold a pancake breakfast Sunday, May 19, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Harper Woods Community Center on Harper a block north of Allard.

This year's breakfast will benefit the Leader Dogs for the Blind program. The sixth annual all-you-can-eat breakfast includes pancakes, sausage, coffee, milk and juice.

Tickets are $2.75 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Camera Club

The Grosse Pointe Camera Club will meet Tuesday, May 14, at 7:45 p.m. at the Brownell Middle School, 260 Chalfonte, in the Farms.

Along with the monochrome print and pictorial slide competition, a mini-program will be presented.

Visitors are welcome.

Positive parenting

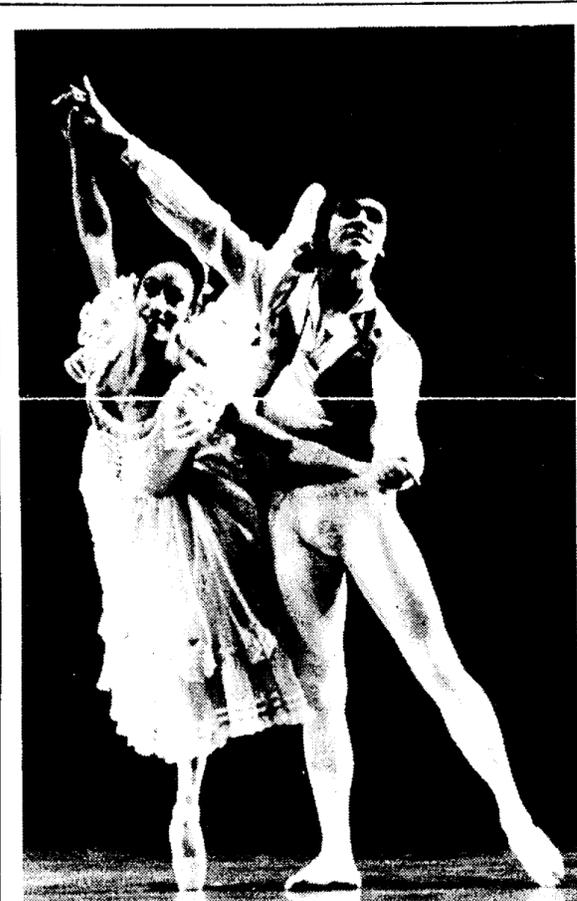

Nationally known psychologist Dr. David Groves will present a program on the importance of self-esteem in children through positive parenting on Tuesday, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Maire School gym.

Dr. Groves, who has a Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Michigan State University, has presented numerous workshops on mental health promotion, wellness and prevention of mental illness in Michigan and in other states.

Piano recital

In its final concert of the season, the Lyric Chamber Ensemble will present pianist Fedora Horowitz in recital at the Edsel & Eleanor Ford House, 1100 Lakeshore Road, on Sunday, May 12, at 3:30 p.m.

A wine reception will follow the concert. Tickets are $6 and $8. For more information, call 357-1111.

Sleeping Beauty

Evelyn Cisneros and Kirk Peterson, principal dancers from the San Francisco Ballet, are featured in three performances of Tchaikovsky's classical grand ballet at the Macomb Center for the Performing Arts. The production is a joint effort of the St. Clair Shores Symphony Orchestra, the Contemporary Civic Ballet and the Macomb Center. Performances are set for Friday, May 10, and Saturday, May 11, at 8 p.m., and a matinee Sunday, May 12. Admission is $13. To reserve tickets on credit card, call 286-2222 weekdays.

Viennese Ball

The War Memorial's annual Viennese Spring Ball will be held Saturday, May 18, from 9 p.m. to midnight.

As regularly as spring comes to Grosse Pointe, dancers will waltz to the lilting music of the Johann Strauss Salon Orchestra in the Fries Crystal Ballroom. Additional entertainment will be provided by the Austrian Society's Folk Dance Ensemble who will perform lively, country dances.

And, in keeping with popular tradition, Alex and Maribel Sucek will lead an interlude of Viennese songs to which participants can join in the chorus.

Since tickets, which are $12.50 per person, are limited, advance reservations are recommended. Spring formal attire is suggested and sparkling refreshments, including an appealing Austrian wine, will be available for purchase. Table groupings for friends and guests can be made upon request.

For reservation information, call 881-7511.

Legs against arms

Supporters of a nuclear weapons freeze will walk six miles (10 kilometers) around Belle Isle Saturday, May 11, to raise funds for the campaign. The second Legs Against Arms walk-a-thon is organized by the Detroit Area Nuclear Weapon Freeze.

Organizers expect more than 1,000 people to walk this year.

The day will feature musical entertainment before and after the walk at the Belle Isle bandshell. A pep rally will send off walkers, runners and wheelchair participants at 10 a.m.

Anyone interested can call 577-5053 for more information.

Daniel

The Junior Choir of St. Paul Ev. Lutheran Church will present a musical, "Daniel," Friday, May 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the church located at Chalfonte and Lothrop in the Farms.

Dessert will follow the performance. There is a donation of $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Reservations are not required.

AARP meeting

The Grosse Pointe City Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons 3430 will meet Monday, May 13, at 1 p.m. at the Neighborhood Club.

This will be the annual potluck luncheon with members bringing a dish to serve five persons or paying $3. Entertainment will be provided by accordionist Quinto Vitale.

A tour of the Fisher Mansion including an American-style lunch will be held Friday, May 17. Reservations may be made by calling Helen Masten at 844-2013. The cost is $11 per person.

Rotary info fair

The Harper Woods Rotary will sponsor its first Community Information Fair Saturday, May 11, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Michigan Bell Garage located at 19500 Harper, adjacent to Salter Park in Harper Woods.

Activities will include a flea market and bake sale sponsored by the Harper Woods Rotarians and Rotaryans; crime prevention demonstrations and displays by the Harper Woods Police Department; and fire prevention and safety demonstrations conducted by the Harper Woods Fire Department. Also Michigan Bell representatives will be available to discuss changes in the telecommunications industry and customer service.

All proceeds will go to the Harper Woods Rotary which is a member of Rotary International, an organization dedicated to the betterment of youth.

Symposium

State Commerce Director Doug Ross will discuss the "Future of Michigan's economy" when he addresses the sixth annual Women Decision Makers Symposium at 9 a.m. Friday, May 10. The symposium will be held at the Edsel and Eleanor Ford house on Lakeshore Drive.

Small engine repair

Small Engine repair and maintenance will be the subject of George Stroble's talk to the Men's Garden Club Thursday, May 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Central Library.

To present a better understanding of his discussion, he plans to bring a small lawnmower engine and visually show the causes of engines not functioning. He will indicate the minimal tool requirements necessary to repair and clean engines.

Stroble has been teaching adult education classes at East Detroit and Lakeshore High Schools for the past 10 years and has had a working interest in small engines for 26 years.

The public is welcome.

Lunch, card party

The Bon Secours Hospital Guild will sponsor its luncheon/card party on Tuesday, May 21, from noon until 3 p.m. in the hospital's Science Hall.

Table and door prizes will be awarded. For tickets or more information, call 881-4353 or 886-7170.

Beware of persons soliciting funds

The American Red Cross warned residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to be wary of individuals claiming that they are collecting donations for African Famine Relief on behalf of the Red Cross.

"There are many groups and organizations who are legitimately collecting funds to give to the Red Cross for African Famine Relief," said Duane E. Johnson, executive director of the Southeastern Michigan Chapter. "However, there are also some unscrupulous individuals who are using people's concern about the tragedy in Africa to rip them off."

Johnson cited recent reports of a person with a cannister allegedly collecting funds for Red Cross in the parking lots of businesses on Telegraph Road in Taylor.

"Red Cross is a United Foundation/United Way agency and does not solicit funds in that manner," said Johnson, "nor have we authorized anyone else to do so in our name. There have also been reports of individuals — some of them teenagers — collecting money door-to-door. We don't do that either."

Anyone in Wayne, Oakland or Macomb County who uses the name or symbol of the Red Cross in collecting funds must have permission from the Southeastern Michigan Chapter, said Johnson. Anyone who uses the Red Cross symbol or name without authorization is violating the United States Criminal Code (Section 706, Title 18) and could be subject to a $250 fine and/or six months in jail if convicted.

"If you want to help African famine victims through the Red Cross and aren't sure about the legitimacy of the person or group asking you for a donation," said Johnson, "the safest thing to do is send your contribution, earmarked 'African Famine Relief,' directly to the American Red Cross, Southeastern Michigan Chapter, P.O. Box 351, Detroit, Mich. 48232."

Since November 1984, southeastern Michigan residents have contributed nearly $312,000 for African Famine Relief through the American Red Cross.

Small businesses credited with economic recovery

For the 21st straight year, May 5-11 has been designated as National Small Business Week in America. The time has been set aside to honor the 14.2 million small businesses across the nation which, according to the Small Business Administration, have led the economic recovery and expansion in the United States.

To pay tribute to small businesses in America, the Grosse Pointe News presents three stories about local businesses and their owners.

Jewelry

Keeping it in the family is very important to Jerald Valente. A large portrait of Joseph Valente, Jerald's father, hangs over his desk in a small, uncluttered office in the Village.

"My father started Valente Jewelers in 1934 in Detroit," he said. "He passed on eight years ago, five years before we moved the business to Grosse Pointe, but my mother works here nearly every day as do my two sisters and a niece."

"She'll be going to gemologist's school and also become part of the business. That's the way it should be."

A graduate of Wayne State University, Valente and his wife Georgia live in the City. She's a stockbroker.

Valente estimates 60 percent of his business, located at 16849 Kercheval, involves custom work — designing new jewelry or redesigning old jewelry for his clients. But his real love is with colored stones, especially jade.

"Jade is a passion of mine," Valente said. "I sell it and also collect it. I love the history behind jade. Not that many people know about the stone itself. For instance, did you know there's no jade in China proper, the country most often associated with jade?"

"They get most of their jade from Outer Mongolia. Another source of jade is the United States. During the Gold Rush and when the railroads were being built out West, thousands and thousands of Chinese entered this country for work. They knew a good thing when they saw it. The Americans building the railroads didn't want the funny green rocks they kept digging up and told the Chinese they could have all they wanted. The stones eventually ended up back in China. Incidentally, jade isn't always green. It comes in every color from emerald green to white, which is the rarest.

"Jade's very tough stuff too," added Valente. "It was originally used as weapons because of its hardness. It can often take up to two years just to cut on piece."

Another stone Valente takes great interest in is garnets. "We carry them in colors other than red," Valente said. "We're seeing more and more people going with colored stones, rather than diamonds, although diamonds are still the most popular stone. I find this shift to other stones very exciting."

Valente Jewelers also does insurance and estate appraisals, watch repair and carries a fine selection of timepieces.

"We're starting to see a shift back to more traditional values in the jewelry business," Valente said. "More and more couples are coming in for engagement rings. A few years ago it seems no one was interested in that anymore. We're also seeing more men wearing jewelry, although not so much in Grosse Pointe. The men in the Pointe are very conservative. A good watch and wedding ring is about as far as they go."

"They do show some imagination though," Valente continued. "One of our most unusual custom designs was for a man who brought in two cloves of garlic and had them duplicated into gold earring for his wife. He never told us why he did it and we never asked. I'm also happy to report that he wasn't Italian either."

Elaine Salvia

Clothing

Things have pretty much come full circle for Elaine Salvia. A former resident of the Farms, she and her family moved to Armada to sort of "get away from it all."

After awhile, things became a little too routine, so she opened up a gift shop named The Phoenix in Romeo. Later, she added a line of clothes and "thing just took off."

"Then we heard of an opportunity back here in the Farms and purchased the Merle Norman franchise here in the Colonial Federal building," Ms. Salvia said. "Then, because we had so much room, I transferred some of my clothes from the Romeo store down here and the community has really accepted them. That's how The Phoenix and Merle Norman Cosmetics here in the Farms got started."

An upbeat person, Ms. Salvia aims her clothing selection at the career-oriented woman or the woman on the go. "They're definitely not kicky kids clothes," she said. "We're more forward-looking. I chose this style because this is the type of clothing I like wearing."

"It's a real challenge when a woman comes in and says she can't wear our clothes and we put together a look, including a total make-up package, that looks great and is loved by her husband or boyfriend. When we can do that — well!"

Working alongside her at The Phoenix, which is open Monday through Saturday, are wardrobe coordinator Margaret Edson and beauty adviser Dawn Hollis.

"I'm a licensed cosmetologist," Ms. Hollis said. "We offer free make-up lessons here at the store, starting with the basics. We show a woman how to cleanse her skin properly, then apply the type of look that fits her. The average session with a woman lasts an hour, but we teach her how to apply the same make-up in less than 10 minutes. We explain everything and try to co-ordinate it with her new clothing."

Ms. Salvia says she travels to New York City on buying trips at least six times a year. "We look for something a little different — a little unusual," she said. "And we provide it at a good price. We just held a fashion show for 350 women in St. Clair Shores, showing them how to develop new outfits from simply utilizing one favorite article of clothing such as a scarf or favorite blouse. We work hard at what we do here."

All clothes at The Phoenix are promotional priced — meaning there's two prices listed — the suggested manufacturer's price and the selling price.

"We usually knock at least 20 percent off, or the best that we can manage," she said. "We don't handle seconds at any time and all we offer are brand names. We also handle accessory jewelry as well."

She keeps an eye on fashion trends and is seeing a change in the American woman's buying patterns.

"It used to be that fashion designers determined what a woman would wear, in what color and often what length," she said. "And women just went along with it, even when it wasn't flattering. Ever see a short woman in a maxi skirt? It's ridiculous because it makes her look matronly."

"Now women are thinking for themselves. They've become more independent and aren't going along with what designers ordain. Women are starting to wear clothes that make them look good, and that's very, very smart."

Glasses

Sooner or later, if you're human, you'll need John Wylie or someone like him.

Wylie is owner of Woods Optical Studios, 19599 Mack, in the Woods. An optician for 40 years, Wylie will tell you that most people end up needing glasses.

"It's just a fact of life," Wylie said. "As you grow older, your eyes change. Nearly everyone ends up needing glasses. The change occurs at about age 40. There's not too much you can do to stop it, so just relax and accept it."

As an optician, Wylie specializes in the measurement and fitting of eyeglasses. His shop, divided into show rooms, fitting rooms and laboratory, can provide customers with precision-ground lens, custom frames fitted to the shape of their face and follow up care — all on the premises.

"We specialize in medical glasses and custom glasses," Wylie said. "We also carry sports goggles, ski goggles, designer sunglasses and tanning glasses, the kind you use while under a sun lamp. We sell a lot of sunglasses, some of them very expensive. We keep them locked up in a cabinet in our newest fitting room. We handle glasses by Ann Klein, Gucci, Dior and Dunhill. I'd say neutral gray glasses are best for the eyes."

Wylie, who works with two assistants who obtained their optical degrees from Ferris State University, has seen many changes in the business during his 40 years on the job.

"The biggest change I'd say is the public's acceptance of glasses," he said. "There's even little reluctance on the part of children to wear glasses now. It's because of the wider variety of styles available. Glasses are very chic now. It's like they've suddenly been 'discovered.'"

"Another change, of course, is contact lenses. Now you can wear glasses and no one knows it. We don't sell contact lenses here because it requires a doctor on the premises. But we do grind all our lenses strictly from a doctor's prescription."

Wylie's wife, Pauline, who's a nurse anesthetist at Grace Hospital, and their three children, live in Orchard Lake. "I really like it out there," he said. "But I've been thinking about moving to Grosse Pointe. Boy, it's sure a long ride in every day."

High school journalists attend state conference

More than 900 high school journalists, including 45 from Grosse Pointe North and South high schools, and their advisers attended the annual spring conference of the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association April 23 at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center.

The conference featured learning sessions, seminars and award presentations for newspapers and yearbooks. Newspaper contest entries came from 57 schools. In addition 43 yearbooks were offered for judging.

Keynote speaker Bruce Watterson, award-winning yearbook adviser at Ole Main High School in Little Rock, Ark., talked to the group about "Producing the Total Journalist for the '80s." Other speakers included Neal Shine and Bob Talbert from the Detroit Free Press; Lynn Henning and Roger Martin of The Detroit News; Betty Jane Minsky, Lansing State Journal; Ross Woodstock, news director of WILX-TV; and Charles Green, formerly Associated Press Detroit Bureau chief and now editor-in-residence at MSU.

Faculty from the MSU School of Journalism who conducted sessions were Todd Simon, Ken Pfister, Patrice Hornak and Ron Cioffi.

MIPA was organized in 1921 at the University of Michigan where it headquartered for 50 years. From 1971 to 1982 the association was under the direction of Dr. Thomas Rood of the Department of Journalism at Central Michigan University before moving to MSU in the Fall of 1982.

Last year's top yearbooks were from Battle Creek Central High School (Class A), Fenton High School (Class B), and Vestaburg High School (Class C/D).

ULS day camp scheduled

University Liggett School, 1045 Cook Road, will again operate a day camp open to all local residents.

The camp season is Monday through Friday, June 24 through Aug. 2. Three-week sessions, June 24-July 12; and July 15-Aug. 2 are available.

The day camp is held on the 43-acre ULS main campus in Grosse Pointe Woods. Facilities include two gymnasiums, eight tennis courts, several baseball diamonds, track facilities, two heated outdoor swimming pools and a bath house.

Camp activities extend beyond the school campus to outlying areas, where woods and lakes provide an ideal setting for overnight trips, canoeing excursions and nature studies. The camp offers youngsters a healthy, constructive summer recreation program.

The Full Day Camp is for youngsters between the ages of 6 and 13. Full Day campers are grouped according to age and attend from 8:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. five days a week. The campers may register for a minimum three-week program or the full six-week camp session. The Full Day camp counselor/camper ratio is 1 to 10.

Activities offered include swimming, tennis, archery, gymnastics, drama, music, trampoline, arts and crafts, golf, individual and team activities, nature studies, canoeing, sailing, campcraft, field trips and overnight camping.

As a special offering, Full Day campers may choose a combination program, concentrating in one area in the afternoon each day. Campers may choose: Day Camp/Computer Program — either three-week session; Day Camp/Tennis Clinic — either three-week session; Day Camp/Soccer Clinic — second three-week session only.

Space is limited and there is an additional fee for the combination program. Riding lessons are also available for Full Day campers in corroboration with the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club.

The Junior Camp is structured for 4- and 5-year-olds, who have not yet completed kindergarten, and is in session half-days from 8:45 a.m. to noon, five days a week.

Junior campers may register for a minimum three-week program or a full six-week session. A junior counselor/camper ratio of 1 to 8 allows for individual concern and personal attention. The Junior Camp is now filled for the 1985 camp season.

An Extended Day Program for working parents is available for the Junior campers from noon to 3:15, or noon to 6 p.m. For the Full Day campers, the Extended Day program is from 3:15 to 6 p.m. Supervised swimming is available. A week's minimum commitment is required for the Extended Day Program.

For further information, call the camp office at 884-4444.

From Another Pointe Of View

By Janet Mueller

The Detroit Review Club, known since 1894 for its philanthropic work in the metropolitan area, has, for the past four years, been involved in "a different kind of program." DRC has helped feed a llama, an arctic fox, a zebra and a giraffe through the Adopt an Animal program sponsored by the Detroit Zoological Parks Department.

Mrs. Alexander Pietra, chairman of the club's philanthropic committee, and her co-workers Mrs. M.L. Van Dagens, Mrs. Edgar A. Hahn, Miss Wanda Lee, Miss Laura Mackeben and Mrs. James Mullaney have enjoyed their work and are proud to be responsible for DRC's involvement in Adopt an Animal.

Next Tuesday, May 14, at Lochmoor Club, following luncheon, the Review Club's general membership will hear all about Adopt an Animal, and the History of the Detroit Zoo, and the role it plays in the conservation of wild animals. Official hostess Mrs. James Houlihan, DRC's first vice-president, will chair the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Justin Emery, president, who is taking her teenage granddaughter to England.

Mrs. Robert Gerisch, immediate past-president and this year's program chairman, will introduce the Detroit Zoological Parks Department speaker, Khadejah Shelby, first woman Deputy Director of the Detroit and Belle Isle Zoos and the Belle Isle Aquarium. Ms. Shelby has held many jobs in city government. She was appointed to her present position by Mayor Coleman Young.

In addition to being the Zoological Parks Department's Deputy Director, she is president and business manager of the Brazeal Dennard Chorale, one of the nation's finest choral groups. She holds a Fellowship in the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums, is a member of the Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Media Women and serves on the board of directors of the International Visitors Council.

Among her other activities and commitments — and they are MANY! — is membership on the executive committee of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's Classical Roots Concert Series. She's a fascinating, articulate speaker, a special spring treat for DRC members and their guests.

Reservations for the luncheon and Ms. Shelby's program, at $10 per person, are being taken by DRC member Mrs. James Bird. At the conclusion of the meeting, Betty Gerisch will announce the place and time of the Review Club's Annual Friendship Tea, to be held this year on June 18.

'Green Thumb' Lectures in May

The Grosse Pointe Garden Center and the Wayne County Extension Service present a pair of Green Thumb lectures at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial this month, on Thursdays, May 16 and 30. Each begins at 10:30 a.m. and will be followed by an optional, light luncheon.

The first program, "Ornamental Trees and Shrubs," will be given by Larry Wright, a professional landscape contractor. The second, "Landscape Diseases," will be presented by Leo Blum, who gives horticulture training to Frank's Nursery employees nationwide.

Fee for each lecture is $5 ($3 for Pointe Garden Center members). Lunches are $4 each, and must be reserved at least three days in advance. The complete package of two lectures and two lunches is $16 ($12 for Garden Center members). Anything more you want to know? The number to call for further information is 881-7511.

'May Mingle' for Project HOPE

It's a grand idea: a chance for Grosse Pointers and Bloomfield-Birminghamites to "meet halfway," at Bennett's Courtyard, the little gem of an inn tucked halfway between the two communities, on Utica Road between 14 and 15 Mile Roads, to mingle and dance for good cheer and charity.

It's a May Mingle presented by the Project HOPE League, and it will run from 8 p.m. to midnight on Friday, May 17. Proprietor Ken Bennett is providing hot hors d'oeuvres between dance sets. Music will be by Vasquez and Bajor, good for everything from rock ballads to soft jazz to dance standards.

Among those you'll be mingling with is Dr. Martin L. Weissman, recently returned from Grenada where he spent two months as a Project HOPE medical volunteer. Dr. Weissman is an orthopaedic surgeon who maintains private practices in West Bloomfield and Southfield. He'll be available throughout the evening to share his unique and rewarding HOPE experiences.

The May Mingle is the League's spring fund raiser for Project HOPE (Health Opportunities for People Everywhere), dedicated to health care education at home and abroad. Admission is a mere $10 — and that's a tax-deductible donation. Advance reservations (649-4775) will reserve your mingling and dancing spot, but door admissions are welcome, space providing.

Art and Flowers is Blooming

Art and Flowers is a blooming success all over the Detroit Institute of Arts, where the admission-free "Festival of Spring" will continue through tomorrow, Friday, May 10, and never has our museum looked lovelier than during this DIA Centennial Celebration.

Thanks go to everyone who cooperated to turn the Art Institute into a garden gallery for a few Very Special May Days, especially to members of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, among them Grosse Pointers Mrs. Louis Barroll, Mrs. Daniel Beck, Mrs. Ferdinand Cinelli, Mrs. Richard Noyes, Mrs. James Schueler, Mrs. Elliott Phillips, Mrs. Jon Clark, Mrs. Alex Gill, Mrs. John Hastings, Mrs. Pierre Hefter, Mrs. Robert Petz, Mrs. Lloyd Marentette, Mrs. Daniel Johnson, Mrs. Hilary Micou and Mrs. Robert Palmer — and, of course, Mrs. Henry Kuhlman, the festival's "Flower Lady."

Mrs. Peter Biglin and Mrs. Osborne Day, of St. Clair Shores, and Mrs. Paul Machuga, of East Detroit, all well-known names in local flower circles, deserve special thanks for their time and talent donations to Art and Flowers, too.

Proclaim Frances French Day in three cities

The Mothers Club of Grosse Pointe South High School will host a reception honoring FRANCES E. FRENCH, retiring Principal of South High, next Wednesday, May 15. All are welcome to attend from 7 to 9 p.m. at South High's Cleminson Hall. Dr. JOSEPH SPAGNOLI, Deputy Superintendent of Schools, pictured above with Miss French, will serve as Master of Ceremonies for a program beginning at 7:30 p.m. A student string ensemble, under the direction of Ralph Miller, will provide background music.

The City Councils of the Farms, City and Park have passed resolutions designating May 15, 1985, as Frances E. French Day in their three cities, in honor of her dedicated service to students and parents of the community.

Miss French's career at South High School for the past 35 years has included positions as teacher, Business Education Department chairperson, assistant principal and principal. She is the first woman to serve as a high school principal in Grosse Pointe. She received her undergraduate degree from Western Michigan University, her Master's degree from the University of Michigan and, during a sabbatical, did additional graduate work at Michigan State University, where she held the position of Visiting Professor.

Miss French initiated the Medical Aides, Child Care, Trades and Industry, Commercial Foods, Distributive Education and Office Education Co-op programs that have given hundreds of South High School students the opportunity to work in local businesses, under teacher supervision.

Her consistent example of dedication, loyalty and efficiency combined with exceptional human relations skills has gained her the respect and appreciation of students, faculty and parents. Her many contributions to South have been instrumental in shaping one of the nation's outstanding high schools.

The Mothers Club has established a "Frances French Scholarship Fund." The scholarship will be awarded to a worthy student at South High. Contributions may be made payable to the Mothers Club and sent to Mrs. Frank Zinn, 676 Lakepointe Avenue, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich. 48230.

David R. Cracchiolo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Cracchiolo, of Lakeshore Road, was named to the Dean's List for the first semester, 1984-85, at Loyola University, Chicago, Ill.

Air Force Major Richard D. Shatzel, son of Carol N. Shatzel, of San Clemente, Calif., and husband of Valeria, who is the daughter of Valeria P. Hodges, of Washington Road, has graduated from the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va. He is a 1969 graduate of Claremont Men's College, Calif.

Grosse Pointe South High School senior Terence Ayrault, son of David and Merrie Ayrault, of Lakepointe Avenue, has been accepted for admission at Heidelberg College, Tiffin, Ohio. He plans to major in journalism.

Patrick S. Frangel, son of Anne G. Frangel, of The Woods, and the late William H. Frangel Jr., joined the U.S. Army Rangers in March, 1984 and recently completed paratrooper training — completing five jumps of 2,000 feet from a C-131 jet — at Fort Benning, Ga. He was scheduled to enter Officers' Candidate School on April 21. Frangel is a 1977 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School. He received a degree in communication arts from Michigan State University in 1981.

Local resident Diana Weinte has pledged and been initiated into Epsilon Rho chapter of Delta Gamma sorority at Western Michigan University.

Questers tour 'Old Detroit'

George E. Fullerton will take the Grosse Pointe Chapter of Questers on a tour through Old Detroit via a slide presentation of old postcards tomorrow, Friday, May 10, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

Fullerton has lived in Detroit since he was 4 years old and began collecting postcards at the age of 12. As a young man he worked at the Old Western Union Building and became familiar with all the grand old buildings of Detroit, many of which have since been razed.

He is a member of the Grosse Pointe Cinema League, the St. Clair Shores Players, the Michigan Railroad Club and the Steamship Historical Society of America.

Mrs. Richard Mertz will hostess the event, with Mrs. Edgar Hahn and Mrs. Wallace Temple as co-hostesses.

Grosse Pointe Questers' committee chairmen for 1984-85 were Mrs. George Bay, program; Mrs. Pierre Palmenier and Mrs. Thomas Reghanti, yearbook; Mrs. Manuel L. Papista, publicity; Mrs. Frank Welbon, nominating; Mrs. John Pear, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Hahn and Mrs. Fred Schumann, projects and donations.

Village Garden Club to meet

Village Garden Club members gather Friday, May 17, at 11 a.m. at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club for luncheon followed by a program with Paul Desmet, president of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society, as guest speaker. Hostess Mrs. William Scott Jr. will be assisted by the Mesdames Walter Rockwell, Kendrick Brown and Carroll Bou-tell.

Perry-Parsons rites are read

Thirteen-month-old Hilary Joy Parsons learned to walk just in time to serve as "flower baby" at the wedding of her aunt, Bethany Ann Parsons, of Van Antwerp Road, and David W. Perry on Saturday, November 24, in Old Christ Church, Detroit.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.F. Parsons, of Harvard Road, Detroit, wore an off-the-shoulder gown of ivory satin, styled with a chapel train, and a four-layered veil caught by a satin rosebud headpiece.

White roses and ivy formed her cascade bouquet. She carried the prayerbook that had belonged to her great-great-grandmother, who had attended Old Christ Church.

Her honor attendants were her brother, Dr. Michael T. Parsons, of Chicago, who walked his daughter, Hilary, down the aisle, and Janet (Mrs. Bruce) Ottenbreit, who wore a ballerina length dress of sapphire blue chiffon and a rosebud hairpiece, and carried long-stemmed, white roses.

Mrs. Ottenbreit, of Trenton, was the former Miss Parsons' University of Michigan roommate.

The "flower baby" wore a dress designed and created by her mother, Dr. Anna Steere (Mrs. Michael Parsons), of dark blue velvet trimmed with white lace. Little Hilary decided to carry her baby's-breath headpiece.

James Perry came from Silver Spring, Md., to act as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Cordell Perry, of Wheaton, Md. Ushers were Richard Lowe, of Pasadena, Md., Philip Kurczewski and William Berry.

The ring bearer, six-year-old Eric Wehrwein, of Rochester Hills, carried the rings for the double ring ceremony on a needlepoint pillow created for the wedding by the bride's friend, Claudia Chester, of River Rouge. Eric's mother, Terrie Wehrwein, participated by reading a Bible selection during the service at which The Reverend John Laycock presided.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. Organist Dr. Malcolm Johns played classical selections, including the Hallelujah Chorus as recessional. The mother of the bride wore a dress of deep rose chiffon, the bridegroom's mother a heather-toned, light wool suit. Each mother received a rose from the bridal bouquet during the ceremony.

The 10:30 o'clock Thanksgiving Weekend rites were followed by a reception in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial's Alger House, after which the newlyweds left for a short vacation in Chicago before the bride returned to her graduate studies at the University of Michigan. They vacationed in England at the end of April.

Out-of-town guests included the bridegroom's sister and niece, Mrs. Nancy Hoggard and Ann Jones, and his nephew, James Perry Jr., who came from Maryland, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Walter Lyford, of Sturbridge, Mass., her uncle and aunt, The Reverend and Mrs. Forest Parsons, of Naragansett, R.I., and her uncle, T.T. Musselman, of Lakewood, Ohio, and nine cousins who came from all over New England.

Miss Bauer is fall bride

Saint Paul's-on-the-Lake was the setting for the early fall wedding of Suzanne Bauer and Stephen Sigety Jr. Presiding at the noon rites Saturday, October 13, was Father Ronald Alder.

Frank Berdan, godfather of the bride, gave the readings. Brother Ignatius, a life-long friend of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Martin Bauer, of Harper Woods, distributed communion.

The bride, who moved recently from Grosse Pointe Woods, chose a traditional gown, ivory in color, styled with a Queen Anne neckline and Gibson Girl sleeves. The bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls featured a natural waistline. The organza skirt, edged in matching lace, extended into a chapel train.

Matching lace bordered her mantilla veil. She carried a cascade of gardenias, ivy and baby's-breath.

mauve and Wedgwood blue silk flowers.

Robert Sigety acted as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sigety, of Redford. William Rohlfing ushered.

The bride's mother selected a cocktail dress of mauve lace, accented with a satin sash. The bridegroom's mother's cocktail dress, in shades of purple, was tiered and pleated. Both mothers pinned orchids to their purses.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the St. Clair Inn. The newlyweds are at home in Mount Clemens.

Mystery trip for Questers

"It's fun to search and a joy to find" is the national motto of The Questers, Inc. — and the Grand Marais Questers will prove how true that is when they take off tomorrow, Friday, May 10, on their annual "mystery trip" arranged by Mrs. John MacKay.

Members will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the parking lot of the Grosse Pointe Congregational and American Baptist Church on Chalfonte Avenue, where maps will be distributed and carpools formed for a day of antique shopping.

June wedding date is made

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy S. Payton, of Madison, N.J., are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jennifer Marie, to Robbin E. Roddewig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Roddewig, of Roslyn Road. A June wedding is planned.

Miss Payton, a graduate of Madison High School, and her fiance, a Grosse Pointe North High School graduate, will both receive Bachelor of Science degrees this June from Michigan State University, hers in Geophysics, his in Electrical Engineering. The prospective bridegroom is a member of the MSU Rugby Team.

Park Garden Club to meet

The Grosse Pointe Park Garden Club meets Monday, May 13, at noon in the home of Mrs. H. Sanborn Brown who will be assisted by Mrs. Walter G. Levick. President Mrs. Richard Mertz will call for reports and an election of officers for the coming year at this annual meeting.

Lois is honored for Distinguished Service

Farms resident LOIS PROCTOR MACK, who has just completed a one-year term as president of the Wayne State University Hilberry Theatre's Understudies, holds the Distinguished Service Award she received from the WSU Board of Governors for having "increased the Hilberry's steadily growing financial support from the Detroit community to an all-time record and successfully accomplishing the renovation of the backstage area through additional contributions from the private sector." At far left and right, respectively, are the Hilberry Repertory Company's ANGELA YANNON and RICHARD KLAUTSCH, costumed for their roles as Lydia Languish and Captain Absolute/Ensign Beverley in Hilberry's current production of "The Rivals." To Lois' immediate right is LEON ATCHISON, chairman of the WSU Board of Governors, and to his immediate right is DAVID ADAMANY, WSU president. Lois has been a member of the Understudies, 70 women engaged primarily in fund raising and audience development, since 1975. The group was formed in 1964 at the invitation of the late Clarence B. Hilberry, then-president of WSU, for whom the theatre is named.

MOT to hold May auditions

Michigan Opera Theatre will hold auditions Thursday and Friday, May 23 and 24, for singers interested in performing in the company's 1985-86 season. All singers will be considered for a position in the MOT chorus, for possible supporting roles in next season's main stage productions and for performance opportunities with the company's year-round "Overture to Opera" program.

Information on specific audition requirements may be obtained and audition appointments made by calling the MOT Production Office, 963-3717, no later than Wednesday, May 22. Individuals interested in auditioning for supporting roles in "West Side Story" must be able to demonstrate a combination of strong vocal-acting-dancing talent.

MOT will move to the Fisher Theatre for its 15th Gala Season, opening Oct. 11 with a double bill of Puccini's one-act comedy "Gianni Schicchi" and Leoncavallo's "I Pagliacci." The company's first performance of von Flotow's romantic comedy "Martha" opens Nov. 1.

The fall season concludes with a new production of "West Side Story," opening Nov. 15 for a limited run of three weeks. MOT's anniversary year programming concludes in the spring with three grand opera performances of Puccini's "Turandot" in March at the Masonic Temple Auditorium.

Michigan Opera Theatre has extended the deadline for receiving applications from individuals interested in the production/technical areas of its fall 1985 Young Artists Apprentice Program. Applicants for the 12-week program must submit a resume and two letters of recommendation to the MOT Production Office, 350 Madison Avenue, Detroit, Mich. 48226 no later than June 1.

Preview aids four charities

Four Detroit metropolitan-area children's charities posted a record $93,115 from the proceeds of ticket sales for the 1985 Detroit Auto Show Charity Preview Night — an increase of 70 percent over last year's $54,877.

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults (Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties) took in $18,325. Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit raised $38,625; the Assistance League to the Northeast Guidance Center, $20,890; the Children's Center, $15,275.

The Charity Preview, a black tie affair traditionally held the Friday evening before the Auto Show, which ran Jan. 12 through 20 this year at Cobo Hall, opens to the public, is sponsored by the Detroit Auto Dealers Association.

WSU Theatre Festival set for summer

This year's Wayne State University Summer Theatre Festival will present five modern plays, ranging from farce to drama. The festival opens Tuesday, July 2, at the Hilberry, where four evening productions and a matinee production for children will be performed in rotating repertory through Aug. 3 on the main stage and "downstairs" at the Studio Theatre.

The opening production is a 10:30 a.m. children's matinee of "Androcles and the Lion" by Auran Harris: a commedia dell'arte musical version of the classic legend about a slave who befriends a suffering lion.

Opening Friday, July 5, at 8 p.m. will be Beth Henley's "Crimes of the Heart" in the Hilberry and Paul Ableman's "Green Julia" in the Studio. "Heart" examines the relationships between three Mississippi sisters. "Julia" uses fantasy episodes to define the special relationship between two college roommates. Ben Travers' "The Bed Before Yesterday" and Athol Fugard's "The Island" complete the repertory with 8 p.m. openings Wednesday, July 10, playing in the Hilberry and Studio respectively.

Travers' farce is about a rich, middle-aged widow and her unrestrained pursuit of a baffled, mild-mannered man down on his luck. "The Island" is an indictment of White South Africa and its policy of apartheid.

Brochures with complete schedule and ticket information will be available later in the spring. They may be requested by calling the Hilberry Theatre box office, 577-2972.

Christmas in May

RUTH CURTIS stands by a "tree" laden with smocked Christmas ornaments which, with smocked dresses, blouses and pinafores, will be on display — for order taking, with a deposit required — next Tuesday, May 14, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church Women's Association's spring Fair Showcase. Items ordered in May will be available at the Memorial Church Women's November Country Fair. Other interesting Showcase articles, reasonably priced, include garden statuary and bulbs, knitted items, "second chance" merchandise, Variety Corners' miscellaneous and homemade goods, calligraphy, the fruits of a Service Guild project called Craft Capers and Serendipity items, created under the direction of Louise Hoyt and Caroline McAdow. Luncheon will be served between 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. at the church during the Showcase.

AAUW's May meeting focus to be writing

"Writing as a Creative Craft" will be focus of the American Association of University Women-Grosse Pointe Branch next Thursday, May 16, at a 7:30 p.m., open-to-the-public meeting in Grosse Pointe Memorial Church's Fellowship Hall. No reservations are necessary, and there is no admission charge.

The evening's guest speaker will be Neal Shine: one of the area's most visible journalists. A Grosse Pointe resident, he is senior managing editor of the Detroit Free Press and writes three columns a week for the paper — Tuesdays and Thursdays on the back page and Sundays in Detroit Magazine.

He is also the host and moderator of Detroit Week in Review, seen Friday nights on Channel 56.

In addition to his talk, Shine will have the honor of introducing some creative writers from this community who have already demonstrated their expertise: the winners of the AAUW's Pens for Peace essay contest for seventh and eighth graders in the Grosse Pointe School District.

Parents and teachers have been invited to this recognition ceremony, when monetary prizes and plaques will be awarded.

A graduate of the University of Detroit with a degree in Journalism, Shine began at the Free Press in 1950 as a copy boy and became a reporter in 1955, after his return from service in the United States Army. Following several promotions, he was named managing editor in 1971 and has held the senior post since 1982.

During most of his newspaper career, he has also been busy with journalism-related activities in the area. He is a past-president of the Detroit Press Club, continues to serve on its board of governors and is vice-president of the Detroit Press Club Foundation.

He has taught for 20 years at various universities. He is currently adjunct professor of Journalism at Oakland University, where he conducts a course in Media Ethics.

Grosse Pointer Dr. Helen A. Hart, recent director, Detroit Public Schools Management Academy, will speak on "Second Career — No Fear" next Wednesday, May 15, at the Grosse Pointe Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association's annual Business Associate Event, designed to honor the business associates and employers of ABWA members and to provide an opportunity to learn more about other fields, industries and positions. Dr. Hart has obtained a Doctor of Education degree in Educational Administration from Wayne State University.

The program begins at 6 p.m. at a private club on Lakeshore. Richard Hazel, the chapter's 1983-84 Business Associate of the Year, president of John V. Carr & Son, Inc., will name the 1984-85 Business Associate of the Year.

Yvonne Miller, executive administrator producer, Sandy Corporation, will give the vocational talk. Patricia Artz, chapter president, will give the history of ABWA, which has over 110,000 members nationwide and, as an educational association, lists the awarding of scholarships as one of its key programs. Last year, ABWA's 2,000 chapters awarded more than $2,500,000 in scholarships.

Additional information about ABWA may be obtained by contacting Elizabeth C. Knop, of Yorktown Road, chairman of the Business Associate Event, at 774-9300 (business) or 886-3676 (residence).

Fort Pontchartrain DAR date at DBC

Fort Pontchartrain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gathers for a noon luncheon Friday, May 17, at the Detroit Boat Club. The post-luncheon program includes a business meeting, Mrs. Bernard L. Seitz, regent, presiding, and Memorial Services conducted by Mrs. Milbert A. Ellman and Mrs. Clifford M. Stock.

New officers will be elected and installed. Reservations are being taken by Mrs. Frank S. McKinnon and Mrs. Leonard L. Jensen.

Attending from this area, in addition to the Mesdames Seitz, McKinnon and Jensen, will be Mrs. Robert Brines, Mrs. Gordon N. Cameron, Mrs. Robert Callaway, Mrs. Paul Honderick, Mrs. George F. Killeen, Mrs. Edwin Langtry, Mrs. Frederick McNamara, Mrs. Charles Ross, Mrs. Frederick Schelter and Mrs. Joseph Thomas.

Navy League Ball is slated for early June

Spring flowers in the patriotic colors of red, white and blue, centered on round mirrors and circled with votive candles, will highlight round tables at the 35th annual Navy League Ball. Mrs. Nolan Kirkman, vice-president of the Detroit Women's Council of the Navy League of the United States which sponsors the party, is in charge of decorations.

Official hostess Saturday, June 8, at Lochmoor Club will be Mrs. Roger Harter, the Council's newly-elected president. Ball chairman is the Council's immediate past-president, Mrs. James Glander. Honorary chairmen include both Mrs. Thomas K. Fisher, who was instrumental in founding the Council when she served as "Miss Navy" during World War II, and Mrs. Frank Nair, the Council's treasurer. Gerry Fisher and Lois Nair are longtime friends.

Guests of Tom and Gerry Fisher on June 8 will be Grosse Pointers Mr. and Mrs. Victor Breidenbach, Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maiullo. Lois Nair will entertain her children and grandchildren. Her out-of-state guests include Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Nair, of Towanda, Pa., and Nancy Nair, of Wichita, Kans.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Nair are coming in from West Bloomfield for the party. Also attending will be Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Houghtaling, of Greensburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. John Malkowski and Carol Shader, escorted by David Manns to whom she will be married later in the month.

This year's Navy League Ball theme is "Hands Across the Border," highlighting the close relationship between Canada and the United States. Many Canadian

Navy men and women attend the ball each year.

Mrs. John Lavrakas handled invitations. Mrs. Anthony Kunert is in charge of the Color Guard. Both are Council past-presidents. Ticket chairman is Lois Nair, who can be reached at 823-3486 or 823-6470. Donation is $37.50 per person.

The party begins at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails, followed by dinner an hour later. Jack Qualey will provide the dancing music. Funds raised via the ball go to support the United States Sea Services: Navy, Marines and Coast Guard.

Colony Town Club to meet

Grosse Pointe, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Detroit and Windsor members of Colony Town Club and The Cancer Loan Closet Foundation will rendezvous at 10:30 a.m. next Wednesday, May 15, at the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club for their annual meeting.

The short business session's mid-morning timing is a departure from the annual meeting time of the past few years — so members are reminded to take note. Installation of new officers and introduction of new board members will be followed by cocktails and lunch, served at tables centered with red geraniums.

Assisting Mrs. Franklin P. Williams, chairman of the day, are the Mesdames Bruce Berckmans, Windsor S. Davis, Carl E. Hassel, William H. Hosbein, Eugene W. Sturges, Emil F. Traum and C. Lloyd Yohe. Mrs. Williams is accepting reservations at 884-7666.

Grand Marais Club to meet

The Grand Marais Garden Club's annual meeting will be held Monday, May 13, at the home of Mrs. Harold Lee who will be assisted by co-hostesses Mrs. John Calwell and Mrs. Phillip Skillman. Theme of the gathering is "Tulip Time at the Lee's."

Installation of officers elected at last month's meeting will follow luncheon. The slate is headed by Mrs. Ellsworth W. Allison as president and Mrs. Lee as vice-president. Mrs. Erwin Maus and Mrs. Peden Meikle will serve as recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively. Mrs. Milton R. Weed will serve as treasurer.

'Annie' is Windsor Light Opera's treat

"Annie," the Windsor Light Opera Association's 72nd major musical production, opened Saturday, May 4, and will run on weekends at Windsor's Cleary Auditorium through a Sunday, May 19, matinee performance. Tickets, priced at $8 for Friday evening and Sunday afternoon performances, at $9 for Saturday evening performances, may be reserved by calling 519-252-6455.

Call Ketchum Group Friday

The Elizabeth Ketchum Group of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church meets tomorrow, Friday, May 10, at 1 p.m. in the Women's Lounge at the church. Mrs. Fred W. Adams will serve as hostess. Devotions will be led by Mrs. Arthur O.A. Schmidt.

Slate Career Planning day

Family Service of Detroit and Wayne County, through the Learning for Living Center, is offering an all-day workshop, Career Planning for Women, on Saturday, June 8, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Family Service East District, located on Chalmers in Detroit.

The program is open to women of all ages who are seeking to rejoin the workforce after being full-time homemakers or who are interested in making career changes. Focus is on helping women determine their career interests and discover how to get the training necessary for the jobs they want.

Resume writing and interview skills are among the topics to be covered. Registration information may be obtained by calling 833-3733.

This exhibit is all-Greek

"The Greek-American Family in Michigan: Continuity Through Change," on view through June 30 at the Detroit Historical Museum, presents the history and nature of Greek-American immigration to the state through photographs, documents, artistic and cultural artifacts and maps.

The exhibition was prepared through the cooperative efforts of Wayne State University's Departments of Greek and Latin, Geography and Urban Studies and English (The Folklore Archives); the Detroit Historical Museum and members of metropolitan Detroit's Greek community.

Funding came from the Michigan Council for the Humanities and organizations within the Greek community. A special feature of the show is an Oral History component featuring slides and taped interviews of many Greek-Americans narrating their lives and experiences.

The Historical Museum is open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday. Further information on the Greek-American exhibit and related activities (public lectures, films, artistic performances and other cultural events scheduled in conjunction with the show) may be obtained by contacting Silvia Williams, curator of Urban History, at 833-9706.

Gowanie Club greets spring

Ann O'Brien chaired the sellout Gowanie Golf Club spring luncheon and fashion show on the last Thursday in April, with Rita MacDonald serving as ticket chairman. Models from Steinmann's Ltd. in Mount Clemens moved to the piano music of Cheryl Waldeck.

Clothes from Jack Clark's Pro Shop were modeled by Joan

Stewart, Lee Miller, Beverly Kjos and Mary Soulliere. Zita Wright organized the models and their apparel.

Shirley Kretzschmar was in charge of donations. Reservations were taken by Anne Fiorello and Lucy Costan. Proceeds from the fashion lunch will go toward improvement of Gowanie's ladies' locker room.

Spring Fling for Phase I

Phase I, the single, young adults, ages 25 to 40, who gather regularly for Sunday evening program meetings at Grosse Pointe Memorial Church, will hold its annual Spring Fling dance this Sunday, May 12, at 7:45 p.m. in the church's Fellowship Hall. Admission is $3. The group's sports calendar lists a tennis night tomorrow, Friday, May 10, at 7 p.m. at the Spindler Park courts. Summer volleyball begins on Thursdays at Spindler Park May 16, and will continue through the summer, with play time from 7 p.m. until dark, weather permitting.

Rose Society meets May 15

Paul J. Desmet, president of the Grosse Pointe Rose Society, will present his program on "Bud Your Own Roses" at the society's meeting next Wednesday, May 15, at 7:45 p.m. in the Brownell Middle School cafeteria.

Hybrid teas and other large roses are produced at the nursery by a grafting process called budding. Individuals can use budding in their own gardens to produce their own superior rose plants: sources of excitement and pride. Other advantages of backyard budding include a nearly limitless choice of varieties — and an almost-free rose plant as the end result of the budding's effort.

Desmet will illustrate the budding process with his excellent close-up slides. In June, this program will be donated to the American Rose Society for the use and enjoyment of local rose societies throughout the country.

Desmet will be happy to answer questions at Wednesday's meeting. He is a pharmacist at Cottage Hospital who has been growing roses for 12 years, and an accredited rose judge who was selected as the Outstanding Consulting Rosarian of the Great Lakes District in 1982. He has experimented with rose culture in the garden, in the greenhouse, indoors under lights and in test tubes. He is a Master Gardener accredited by Michigan State University and a frequent and popular lecturer on all phases of rose culture, as well as an excellent photographer. He also operates The Rosehouse, Michigan's smallest miniature rose nursery.

The Grosse Pointe Rose Society is co-sponsored by the Grosse Pointe Public School System. Hostesses for Wednesday's meeting are Joyce Bauhof, Blossom Bege-man and Linda Brabson.

To give techniques for Gorgeous Nails

Mid-month workshops on "Gorgeous Nails — by Yourself" are scheduled for Tuesday, May 14, from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m., and Wednesday, May 15, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Assumption Cultural Center, located on Marter Road at the border of Grosse Pointe Woods and St. Clair Shores.

Participants will learn how to overcome the problems of brittle nails, tough cuticles, ridges and stains, splitting and peeling. Special tools will be supplied. Fee is $5 per program, plus supplies. Additional information may be obtained by calling 779-6111.

Little question does not need a big answer

One of the satisfactions of being a parent is being able to answer a child's questions — to fill a small mind with ideas where there were none before.

This satisfaction is sometimes replaced by annoyance, of course, for as a child's understanding grows, so do the number and difficulty of his questions. And not only are his questions often hard to answer, they tend to pop up at times when you are busy or your mind is occupied by something else.

Sometimes a child will ask a question just to gain your attention. But more often than not he has been doing some hard thinking about something and has run up against a mystery.

Whatever the circumstances, the way you answer his questions can have an important effect on the direction of his thoughts, both now and later. Your response can even influence his appetite for learning, according to Growing Child, the monthly child development newsletter.

There are two easy but not-too-useful ways to answer a child's question. One is simply to say, "I don't know." In our complex world, that may be at least partly correct. The other is to bestow on the child everything you know about the subject.

Unfortunately, neither type of answer gives the child the kind of information that is most useful to him. The first obviously provides no information. The second floods him with too much; it is very easy to be overzealous, forgetting that each word, phrase and idea is new to the child.

A few too many words and all is lost: the child simply can't hold on to it all.

There is an artful middle ground between these two extremes. It takes a bit more care, but the results will be well worth the effort.

The artful answer gives the child an explanation he can remember for the present, but plants the seeds for further questions in the future.

An overloaded answer might be "a car has an engine that makes its wheels turn; when you push on a pedal with your foot, the engine turns around and that makes the wheels turn so the car can move."

Engine, pedal, pushing, turning... too many ideas. The answer has more than a child can digest, and he may catch none of it.

A more effective explanation might simply be "a car has an engine that makes its wheels turn." "Engine" is a new word that will require all of the child's attention. You can illustrate engine by lifting the car hood and giving him a look, again without much other distracting explanation.

A good rule of thumb is to look for the shortest and most general explanation that will answer the question. This will give the child a big picture — a single, important fact he can chew on.

After he has digested the main idea, he will be ready, in his own time, for the details. A few minutes or a few weeks later he will come to you with another question: "What makes the engine go?" or "How does the engine make the wheels go?"

Then you can pause for a moment and select the best single fact to answer this question. For your effort, you will save some time in the actual explanation... and possibly the trouble of re-answering the same question later. And you will lead your child to better questions, building his understanding in an effective way.

The Growing Child newsletter follows a child's development month by month from birth to six years old. For more information and a free sample newsletter, write to Growing Child, P.O. Box 620N, Lafayette, Ind. 47902. Include your child's birthdate when writing.

Dancing out another Villagers season

Ring down the curtain on another season of delicious dining and delightful dancing, Villagers' couples like MR. and MRS. JAMES ROSE (left) and MR. and MRS. CARSON GRUNEWALD (right) will dance the night away at the Grosse Pointe Hunt Club on Saturday, May 18. Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., dinner at 8:30. Dancing will be to the music of the Blue Notes. As always, guests are welcome at dinner dances sponsored by the Villagers, for whom the Roses serve as publicity couple, the Grunewalds as membership couple. For more information, call 885-3441 or 881-6343.

Options increased by early detection of breast cancers

Early detection of breast cancer not only saves lives but also makes possible more options in the treatment of the disease, reports Dr. Barbara Threatt, director of Screening and Detection Services at the Michigan Cancer Foundation, responding to a recent University of Pittsburgh study.

She confirms that "women with breast cancer found in its early stages may usually be treated with less radical surgery than removal of the entire breast," stressing that early detection is the key factor in finding tumors which will respond successfully to the less radical surgery combined with radiation.

For more information about breast cancer, treatment options and ways to reduce the risk of the disease, contact the MCF at 833-0710.

Daley work at Pewabic

Bill Daley, chairman of the Crafts Department at Philadelphia College of Arts since 1966, was guest of honor last Friday, May 3, at a 6 to 9 p.m. reception at Pewabic Pottery marking the opening of an exhibit of his work that will continue there through June 2.

He gave a slide lecture at 8 p.m. during the reception, and conducted a two-day workshop Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5, instructing participants in his techniques for making large forms.

Daley's work emerges from what he calls "whacked geometry... non-regular geometry... vessels as ushers of time aiding passage through edge, plane and volume to present mysteries." The scale is large, the structure thin-walled.

His visit to Pewabic, the nationally-known historic and contemporary ceramics center located on East Jefferson Avenue, opposite Detroit's Water Works Park, is supported by the National Endowment for the Arts and the Michigan Potters Association.

At the same time as the Daley Show, the Pewabic Sculpture Court will feature a display of massive icons by Cranbrook graduate (1982) and former Pewabic student teacher Paul Sires, currently director of Clay Works at Spirit Square Art Center, Charlotte, N.C. The Pewabic Gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The pottery's programs include ceramics classes, contemporary and historic exhibits, a consignment gallery and the production of hand-crafted tile and vessels in the tradition of its founder, Mary Chase Perry Stratton.

Mid-May Art Fair for Birmingham

The annual spring art fair sponsored by the Birmingham-Bloomfield Art Association will feature 130 booths in Shain Park, Birmingham, on Saturday and Sunday, May 18 and 19. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days. Eight area restaurants will set up food concessions, offering everything from gourmet and ethnic dishes to hot-dogs and popcorn. In the children's area, BBAA faculty members will demonstrate and supervise a hands-on experience for boys and girls in painting, clay, sketching and printmaking.

George R. Pamerleau II, a 1980 graduate of Grosse Pointe North High School, has entered the U.S. Air Force. Following graduation from a six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, he will receive additional training in the Security Specialist area.

Linda Hardin, of The Shores, is a member of the Hope College Chapel Choir Singers who participated in the college's annual spring concert trip which included six states and the District of Columbia March 20 through April 1.

Patricia A. Larson, daughter of Richard M. Larson, of Crescent Lane, received a Special Recognition Award in the Second Michigan Small Colleges Fine Arts Competition. Her pastel was selected by Paul Stewart, professor of art from the University of Michigan, out of 102 works submitted for the competition.

Shawn Whelan, son of Mrs. Shirley A. Whelan, of Wayburn Avenue, has pledged the fraternity Alpha Tau Omega at Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio, where he is a freshman business major. Shawn was graduated from Grosse Pointe South High School in 1984.

Maria Vann

Blunt-Vann troth is told

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Vann, of Nottingham Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Maria Lynn, to Christopher Owsley Blunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Blunt, of Middlesex Boulevard. An early June wedding is planned.

Miss Vann and her fiancé are both Grosse Pointe South High School graduates. She received her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree in Photography from the Center for Creative Studies this month.

He holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in History from the University of Michigan, where he is currently enrolled in the Graduate School of Business, and is employed by the Kelsey-Hayes Company in Romulus.

Miss Reinman to be married

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reinman, of Ridgemoor Road, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jo, to James O'Keefe, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Keefe, of Manlius, N.Y. A mid-September wedding is planned.

Miss Reinman, who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in Hotel and Restaurant Management from Michigan State University, is currently employed as food and beverage controller with the Radisson Mark Plaza Hotel in Alexandria, Va.

Her fiancé, who holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Cornell University's Hotel School, is food and beverage manager of the Naval Officers Club at the Washington Navy Yard, Washington, D.C.

Salvation Army's Auxiliary to meet

The Auxiliary to the Salvation Army's final meeting of the season is set for Monday, May 13, at 11 a.m. at the Edwin Denby Children's Home on Pembroke in Detroit, where a musical program, arranged and written by Captain and Mrs. Geoffrey Allen, will be presented by the children.

Reservations, required for the luncheon to be provided by the people at the Home, may be made by calling 537-2130.

Slate unyeasted bread workshop

Diane Watt will show how to make Apple Walnut, Lemon Yogurt, Four Grain and other unyeasted breads in a "Cooking Naturally" workshop running from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday, May 20, at Assumption Cultural Center, located on Marter Road.

Students will learn to develop their own recipes, using a variety of available ingredients. Fee is $10. The number to call for additional information is 779-6111.

Bermuda trip for Albrechts

Vacationing in Bermuda are Mr. and Mrs. William Harry Albrecht III whose wedding Saturday, May 4, in River Road United Methodist Church, Richmond, Va., was followed by a reception at The Blair House in Richmond. They will return to make their home in Indianapolis, Ind.

The Reverend George Creemany presided at the 3 o'clock ceremony for which the bride, the former Kathryn Ann Showalter, daughter of Weldon James Showalter, of Charlottesville, Va., and the late Evelyn Showalter, selected a traditional gown of white chiffon, styled with a high-collared bodice of Venice lace accented with pearls and sequins, its sweetheart illusion neckline outlined with pearls.

Miss Rivard wed in April

Judge Patricia Schneider presided at the Friday, April 26, wedding of Renee Denise Rivard and Timothy John Jettke in the Grosse Pointe Woods Municipal Building. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Rivard, who entertained at a reception in their Robert John Road home following the 11 o'clock ceremony.

The former Miss Rivard wore a long-sleeved, afternoon length dress of off-white chiffon and lace, gathered at the waist and wrists.

Here's a good spring excursion idea: hop in the car and drive out to Bloomfield Hills next week to browse through more than 1,000 plant varieties available during Cranbrook Garden's 13th Annual Spring Plant Sale at Cranbrook Greenhouse on Lone Pine Road.

Admission to the sale, sponsored by Cranbrook Gardens Auxiliary, is free. It will be conducted Wednesday, May 15, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Thursday, May 16, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Free parking is available across Lone Pine Road, in the Christ Church Cranbrook parking lot.

This year's sale focus is colorful wildflowers, plus perennials and scented geraniums. Also highlighted will be varieties of handwoven baskets, including tulip, berry, Williamsburg and apple.

Ferns, orchids, miniature plants and other exotics, specimen begonias, fuschias, gesneriads, succulents, flower baskets and epiphyllum will be featured. Sale proceeds are used to maintain and improve the 40 acres of gardens and grounds surrounding Cranbrook House. Further information may be obtained by calling 645-3149.

See hand-spinner at the Log House

Jane Perzyk will show visitors to the Selinsky-Green Log House techniques used in spinning yarn from wool this Saturday, May 11, during the regular 1 to 4 p.m. open hours of the restored 1870s farmhouse, built by Polish immigrants, located on 11 Mile Road, just east of Jefferson Avenue and behind the St. Clair Shores Public Library.

Admission to the Log House, open from 1 to 4 p.m. every Wednesday and Saturday, is free. Further information may be obtained by calling the library, 771-9020.

Honor maid Pamela Jo Apperson, of Richmond, and bridesmaids Betty Dierstein, of Virginia Beach, Va., Mary Hartzell, of Petersburg, Va., and the bridegroom's sisters, Ann Albrecht, of Athens, Ga., and Teri Albrecht Parks, of Seattle, Wash., each carried a single white orchid, with silk lilies-of-the-valley and ivy.

Their floor length dresses of yellow linen featured white eyelet-embroidered bodices, sundress style, covered with scallop-sleeved, scallop-hemmed jackets that buttoned up the back.

James Palmer, of Dearborn, acted as best man for the bridegroom who is the son of former Pointe residents Mr. and Mrs. William Harry Albrecht Jr., who now divide their time between Owosso and Duck, N.C.

Ushers were Stephen Williams, of Newton Falls, Ohio, the bridegroom's cousin, Weldon James Showalter Jr., of Herndon, Va., the bride's brother, Malcolm Parks, of Seattle, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Gerard Kowolski, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

its high, lace neck accented with ribbon ties. Her headpiece was a silk flower crown, with a short veil. She wore a matching wrist corsage.

She was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Marsha McIntyre, of Milford, in a long-sleeved, V-necked, afternoon length dress, black and white in color and gathered at the waist and wrists. Sweetheart roses formed her silk flower wrist corsage.

Roger Rivard acted as best man for his future son-in-law, who is the son of Monica Jettke, of McKinney Street, Detroit, and the late John Jettke.

The mother of the bride wore a grey, white and yellow dress, the bridegroom's mother a tan suit with an off-white, crocheted vest. Their corsages featured off-white silk flowers.

The newlyweds vacationed at the St. Clair Inn. They are at home on McKinney Street in Detroit.

Sandy gives Loving Service

SANDY LUPO (left), wife of local chiropractor Dr. Joe Lupo, receives the 1984 Ladies for Life Loving Service Award from BETH HUMBER, president of the Ladies auxiliary to the Life Foundation, Inc. Mrs. Lupo, a Woods resident, has been an active member of Ladies for Life since 1975. In 1979, she received the group's Appreciation Award. Bach Brunch dates in May

"Brunch with Bach" continues this month at the Detroit Institute of Arts, offering informal chamber concerts at 10 and 11:30 a.m. in the museum's indoor, air-conditioned garden, Kresge Court, on Sunday mornings.

Works of Vivaldi, Haydn and Weber will be performed this Sunday, May 12, by Shaul Ben-Meir, flute, Debra Fayroian, violoncello, and Muriel Kilby, piano. The New World String Quartet will play music of Haydn and Smetana the following Sunday, May 19. No concert is scheduled for Sunday, May 26: Memorial Day weekend.

The series offers two menus — $7.75 for the complete brunch, $6.75 for a lighter, continental brunch. No-frills concert-only stairway seating is available on a limited basis, at $2.50.

Advance reservations are required. They may be made as early as a month before a given concert or as late as the Friday afternoon before a concert by calling the museum ticket office, 832-2730, during regular business hours.

It is suggested that children younger than 5 are too young to attend "Brunch with Bach."

LOCATION! LOCATION! LOCATION!

Tucked away in one of the Farms most desirable areas. A unique network of pathways puts this fine brick Colonial within an easy walk to schools churches and shopping. A lot of square footage for the money. You get four to five bedrooms, three and one half baths, a paneled family room, breakfast room, a Mutschler kitchen and central air conditioning. This is just what you've been looking for. Call now, before it's gone! Open Sunday.

QUALITY BUILT IN 1973!

Built by Wilburding, this charming center hall Colonial has all the extras you expect in a modern home. A well designed floor plan offers a good traffic pattern for the family or entertaining. The four bedrooms include an extra large master and two and one half baths. The family room opens onto a patio with gas grill. You get central air, a modern kitchen and breakfast room; all you need is your furniture.

HALF TIMBERED COLONIAL

A pleasing combination of English and Colonial style architecture this spacious house has four large bedrooms. On the third floor is a bedroom and lavatory with room for a shower — perfect for a teenager, guests, or dear old mother in law. The house is immaculate and well maintained. A new furnace keeps heating costs low. Open Sunday.

BY APPOINTMENT

Situated on a secluded street near the lake, this classic Mt. Vernon Colonial was built by Walter Mast. The paneled library has a wet bar, beamed ceiling and parquet floor. Three bedrooms, two baths. Guardian Home Warranty.

This classic center hall brick Colonial has an equally classic interior finished in natural woodwork. The family room was added in 1978. The furnace was new in 1981 and the hot water heater in 1980. Large room sizes. Three bedrooms, one and one half baths.

Classic English Tudor with large rooms. Modern kitchen has greenhouse. Library paneled with wormy chestnut. New sprinkler system and landscaping. Five bedrooms and four and one half baths. Quick occupancy. Open Sunday.

MPWN slates May meeting

The Michigan Professional Women's Network will present Dr. Betty Ancker-Johnson, vice-president of Environmental Activities Staff, General Motors, at its Monday, May 13, dinner meeting at Ramada Inn in Southfield. The evening begins at 6 p.m. with a networking hour. MPWN meetings are open to the public, but advance reservations are required. Further information may be obtained by contacting Linda Russell at 851-9441. Dr. Ancker-Johnson holds a Bachelor of Arts degree with high honors in Physics from Wellesley College, a Ph.D. magna cum laude in Physics from Germany's Tuebingen University and several honorary doctorates. She has held several governmental and industrial executive positions in addition to several teaching and research positions and is also an author and speaker.

A PREVIEW OF ART AND FLOWERS: Grosse Pointers Henrietta Fridholm (standing) and Marilyn Gushee admire an arrangement of flowers created by the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan for a press preview of "Art and Flowers," the May 7 to 10 event planned as part of the Detroit Institute of Arts' Centennial Celebration. Marilyn is general chairman of Art and Flowers, which features elaborate floral designs created to complement the museum's masterworks and guest speakers, including Martha Stewart, author of "Entertaining," and White House floral designer Dorothy Temple. Henrietta is a member of the "Art and Flowers" public relations committee.

Woman's Club annual lunch is Wednesday

Grosse Pointe Woman's Club members bring their yearly activities to a close with their annual luncheon and installation of officers next Wednesday, May 15, at Lochmoor Club.

Arrangements for the 12:30 p.m. luncheon have been made by Mrs. Henri Gelders and Mrs. Phil Saverino. Hostesses, who will assist in seating the guests, are Mrs. Delmer Buttrey and Mrs. Jack Schmelz. Programs were designed by Mrs. Vene L. Whims.

The program begins when Mrs. Jack Thorpe, mistress of ceremonies, introduces Mrs. L.A. Rice, who will conduct the installation of Mrs. George Gerow as the club's new president.

Also to be installed are Mrs. Raymond J. Duffy and Mrs. Edward Eissa, as first and second vice-presidents, respectively; Mrs. John E. Engstrom and Mrs. Gelders, recording and corresponding secretaries, respectively; and Mrs. Michael H. Schneider, treasurer.

Ticket sales and table reservations have been handled by Mrs. John Kelly, chairman, and her co-chairman, Mrs. Walter Lesinski. Warren Dilloway will provide background music. Mrs. Lampton Cardwell has arranged for a showing of summer fashions from Miner's of Grosse Pointe.

Models, their hairstyles courtesy of Maier-Werner Beauty Salon, will be Woman's Club members, the Mesdames Milan Alexander, Walter Bavol, Martin Daher, Elinor Giblin, Horst Jensen, Leslie Jones, Alexander King, M.A. Skaff, Robert Trinklein and Mrs. Thorpe.

The models will be assisted by the Mesdames Lloyd Beemer, Chester Bogan, Robert Brent and Mrs. Lesinski. Arrangements have been made for bridge following the fashion show.

Have Fitness Weekend fun

The YWCA of Metropolitan Detroit's Women's Fitness Weekend this Friday, May 10, through Sunday, May 12, at Camp Cavell on Lake Huron, near Lexington, offers a recreation, exercise, body care and self-improvement program under the guidance of YWCA fitness specialists.

Each participant is encouraged to move at her own pace. Nature walks, ping pong, archery, crafts and tennis will be available, along with danceercise, jumping rope, yoga, aerobics and jogging.

Classes in fashion coordination, skin care and make-up and hair styling have been scheduled. Relaxation, career and stress management workshops and cooking classes will be offered, all included in the $50 Fitness Weekend fee.

Horseback riding, golf, color analysis and a massage are available at an additional charge. Reservation information may be obtained by calling 961-9220. Extension 14. All participants must be YWCA members, and must submit a health waiver card.

Farm, Garden Club to meet

Elegant Eating

A selection of recipes from the low-calorie, low-cholesterol — and penny-wise — collection of Thyra Grey Howard and Helena DeWitt Roth focusing, this week, on BROCCOLI.

Broccoli is rich in potassium, A-beta carotene, folic acid and algalic acid, all of which are cancer fighters and essential during pregnancy. While one cup contains only 26 calories, broccoli has twice as much vitamin C as an orange and almost as much calcium as whole milk. It is the best vegetable source of B2 and phosphorus.

BROCCOLI AND CAULIFLOWER WITH LEMON AND GARLIC

- 1 large head cauliflower
- 1 large bunch broccoli
- 4 Tbsp. safflower oil
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup bouillon
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Juice of 1 lemon
- 1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel (optional)

Separate cauliflower into florets. Trim tough stems from broccoli and discard; slice remaining stems into thin rounds. Break florets into small pieces. Rinse vegetables under cold running water.

Heat oil in wok or large skillet over medium-high heat. Add garlic and cook until golden (do not over-cook or dish will be bitter). Remove immediately with slotted spoon and set aside.

Increase heat to high. Add cauliflower and broccoli and stir-fry 2 minutes, being careful not to break florets. Add bouillon and mix well. Cover and cook until vegetables are crisp-tender, about 2 to 3 minutes, adding more liquid if needed to prevent burning. Remove lid and continue cooking several seconds to evaporate remaining liquid. Add salt and pepper. Mix in lemon juice and garlic.

Place in preheated serving dish. Sprinkle with lemon peel. Serve to 10.

CHICKEN AND BROCCOLI WITH WALNUTS

- White of 1 egg
- 1 Tbsp. soy sauce
- 1 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 1 tsp. minced fresh gingerroot or 1/4 tsp. ground ginger
- 1 lb. boneless, skinless chicken breast, cut across grain into 1/4-inch-wide strips

SAUCE

- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/4 cup dry sherry wine
- 2 tsp. minced fresh gingerroot or 1/4 tsp. ground ginger
- 1 1/2 tsp. cornstarch
- 1 tsp. vegetable oil

TO FINISH

- 4 Tbsp. vegetable oil
- 4 cups broccoli florets
- 1 cup walnuts
- 1/2 cup green onions, sliced

Chicken: Mix egg white, soy sauce, cornstarch and ginger in a bowl. Add chicken and stir to coat thoroughly.

Sauce: Mix all ingredients in a small bowl.

To Finish: In wok or large skillet, heat 2 Tbsp. of the oil over high heat. Add broccoli and stir briskly 1 to 2 minutes, until crisp-tender. Transfer to large bowl. Add remaining 2 Tbsp. oil to skillet and heat over moderately high heat. Add chicken and cook 4 to 5 minutes, stirring constantly, until pieces separate and turn white. Return broccoli to skillet, add walnuts and sauce mixture. Stir briskly for 20 to 30 seconds, until sauce thickens and chicken is glazed. Sprinkle with green onions. Serve with hot, fluffy rice to 4.

'Merry Potter' to work clay

The Women's Association of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church gathers next Tuesday, May 14, at 10 a.m. for a brief business meeting after which Julia Keim, program chairman, will introduce Merry Derrick who will present "The Merry Potter:" an object lesson in which a potter's wheel is used to present a special message — that God is the potter and we are the clay — based on Jeremiah 18.

Devotions will be led by Dorothy Newhouse. Reservations for the noon luncheon following the program may be made by calling 882-5330. Child care is available.

SPRING IS TIME FOR A SPECIAL CRAFT: Above, instructor Libby Van de Putte's daughter, Mary, models a sample of the Smocked Spring Bonnet with dress to match that Libby will teach her students to make in a 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. workshop next Tuesday, May 14, at the Grosse Pointe War Memorial. Below, Marge Pankhurst shows off some of the creations that can be made in her War Memorial "Creative Sweats" workshop running from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 18. Information on both programs may be obtained by calling 881-7511.

Sports Week

By Peggy O'Connor

Each Monday evening, on my way to the printing plant where this paper is produced, I pass by the Heilmann recreation complex near Seven Mile and Morang. At this time of year, the softball fields are crowded. . . . just as they at Messner, South High and all around the Grosse Pointe area.

But it wasn't until this past Monday that I stopped to see what was going on at Heilmann. I had to circle the block a few times to find a parking space, even at 6 p.m., which is starting time these spring evenings. At diamond No. 5, Cozy Corner 1 was getting ready to face Cozy Corner 2.

The women tossing the softball around were young, mostly in their 20s and 30s, some with their husbands and kids in tow; others had come with boyfriends or sisters. I focused my attention on the catcher, the one who had brought her husband and their three kids and who, because this was only her second game with Cozy Corner 1, wore a yellow "Mackinac Island" sweatshirt instead of the sponsoring bar's red T-shirt.

They told me that last week, in the first game of the year, Cozy Corner 1 had been beaten, 16-8. But scoring eight runs was almost like a win, they said, for a team that plays for fun and was 1-23 last year. The catcher in the yellow sweatshirt had come to the plate with a teammate on third in that game. Her husband had yelled from the sidelines "Don't go for the hit. Get the sacrifice." So she did and the run scored on her out. She was satisfied, she told herself.

It was a far cry from the days when the catcher played for the Police Athletic League. Back then, she batted left, ran to first on a base on balls and played like her life depended on it. In one game, against a tough team of girls who were a little bit older, a little bit rougher and a lot bigger, the catcher blocked the plate on one play like she was Lance Parrish. She came home with bruises but that run didn't score.

Thirteen years and three children later, the catcher in the yellow sweatshirt bats right, doesn't swing for the fences and says that she's nervous when she takes the field for Cozy Corner 1. That's hard to figure, remembering her P.A.L. days when her middle name was "aggressive."

But she joined this team because she wanted to have fun and stay in shape. She borrowed a Cincinnati Reds baseball cap because it was red and had a Cozy corner "C" on it. She bought herself a catcher's mitt and spends Monday evenings before game time listening to her husband's batting tips.

On Monday, Cozy Corner 1 and 2 played in 30-mile-an-hour winds. The husbands sitting in the tiny bleachers joked that even "Al Kaline couldn't hit one over the drawn-in outfield in this wind." But Cozy Corner 2 could and did and they ended up winning, 16-1.

The catcher in the yellow sweatshirt only batted once and she struck out. She's not sure, but she thinks the umpire stuck a close strike or two in there on her because she threw her bat and just missed his head when she ran out a foul ball on her first swing.

Mary Jane, Cozy Corner 1's manager, changed catchers after the fourth inning. "That's okay, my legs were hurting anyway," the catcher in the yellow sweatshirt said as she sat down on the bench.

She plans to work on her swing since her throwing arm is already coming along nicely. And she promises herself that she won't worry about the fact that she doesn't look as good on the field as she does in her mind. Oh yes, she won't be throwing anymore bats, either.

But Claire, the short, spunky catcher who wears a yellow Mackinac Island sweatshirt and thinks aerobics is for the birds, will be back out there next Monday night, stepping out from behind the plate on every throw back to the pitcher, running out those bases on balls, swinging at any pitch that looks good and, if the opportunity presents itself, blocking the plate like Lance Parrish.

She'll also be making her big sister — who has the good sense to watch the whole thing from the bleachers at Heilmann — very proud.

Meet the 'first lady' of Little League

By Peggy O'Connor

How do you advance from Little League mom to Little League president in one easy step? You've got to love your work. That's what Sue Petersmarck says and she ought to know — she's in her second year as president of the Grosse Pointe Park Little League.

"I wasn't a baseball fan at all before my son George got involved in Little League. Football was my game. The first year all I did was go to the games and scream and yell. Then Larry and Kendra Harding got me into running the concession stand at the games. I did that for two years and ended up falling in love with baseball," Petersmarck says.

She went from selling peanuts and popcorn six years ago to leading the G.P.P.L.L. which is comprised of six Instructional League teams, five Minor League and four Major League teams. And Petersmarck says she still loves baseball, despite the fact that Little League has had to weather some stormy seasons recently.

"There has been a decline in participation over the past few years. The Little League main office has been in communication with the individual organizations about it, but mainly they want to know what we are doing about it. We were down in numbers again last year, which is why we had the Minors and Majors playing an inter-league schedule with the Farms-City League.

"This winter, I tried to see if we could change the rule that only kids who lived in the Park could play Little League. Let's just say my proposal didn't go over well. And the Little League rules state that kids must reside in the city they play for. I guess you just can't fight city hall," Petersmarck says.

G.P.P.L.L. registration has increased this year, mainly because the league allowed enrollment of 7 year-olds in its Instructional League program, Petersmarck says. Only the Major League teams will play the inter-league schedule this season.

"The Tigers' great season last year has helped our program, too. We've got 9- and 10-year-old kids signed up who have never played and I think it's just because of how the Tigers turned everybody on to baseball."

The Tigers haven't been as appreciative of the G.P.P.L.L. as it is of them — Petersmarck says she never got an answer to letters the league wrote to a pair of Tiger players asking them to participate in last Saturday's opening day parade. But that's been just about the extent of Petersmarck's problems with Little League, she adds.

"I guess I expected a problem with the 'good old boys', you know, the ones I thought might resent a woman in the job. But I've had none. Oh, they like to tease me when I've got a million things going on, but I just laugh. You've got to be able to laugh," she says.

"The only other problem I have is with parents who ride their kids, get on them from the stands, or those who just pay the registration fee and do nothing else. It's funny, but they are also the biggest complainers," Petersmarck says with her throaty chuckle.

"There was a little girl who didn't make it into the majors through our draft system. Her dad called me and accused me of being sexist. I talked to the little girl later and told her I couldn't believe that she would really think an organization that I — a woman — am head of would allow that to happen. It turned out that she didn't."

The good outweighs any problems like that, Petersmarck says. She says she's developed some friendships with Little League parents and kids, had lots of fun and learned a lot more. "This is a good group we've got working on Little League in the Park. Like the Hardings, Larry is field and equipment manager and he's working every time I see him. I love working with our board . . . people like that make it all worthwhile," Petersmarck says.

The feeling is apparently mutual. "You'll never see anybody work harder than Sue Petersmarck," says board member Bob Saylor. "She never quits."

That's probably because there's a lot to be done. Petersmarck is responsible for organizing the parade and opening day, setting up registration, tryouts and the draft, lining up coaches and then spending the season hitting as many games at each level of play she can. "I check out the games, talk to the kids and the coaches. Just to make sure everything is going well and that the kids are playing at the level they belong," she says.

"Why do I do it? My husband (George) and I talked about that. We came to the conclusion that I don't do it for our son. I do it for me. I really like the job."

But two years as G.P.P.L.L. head honcho is enough for Petersmarck. She'll conclude her term this year, then "take six months off. Maybe I'll work on the St. Clare Athletic Commission.

"There'll be something to fill in my time. And I'll probably still be out here, watching ball games," Petersmarck says.

She would like to see a few changes in the Little League rules before she goes. "I'd like to see 7- and 8-year-olds play Instructional, 9- and 10-year-olds play Minors and 11- and 12-year-olds play Majors. Make it by age instead of the draft and maybe make allowances for kids with unusual ability. But it'll never happen, they'll never change.

"I just hate to see kids get hurt. The hardest thing for me has been

Play golf for Bon Secours

The Second Annual Bon Secours Hospital Invitational Golf Benefit is set for Monday, June 10 at the Lochmoor Club in Grosse Pointe Woods. Proceeds from the event will support program development at Bon Secours Hospital's Health and Fitness Center in St. Clair Shores.

The day includes continental breakfast, lunch, dinner, cocktails, an afternoon fashion show and chances to win 10 major door prizes. Hole-in-one prizes include $10,000 cash (split with Bon Secours) four automobiles, a Rolex watch and a fur coat. More than 100 prizes will be offered.

Tickets are still available for the 8 a.m. shotgun start. The afternoon field of play is filled.

Tickets for the entire day, including 18 holes of golf, are available for a $200 donation. An $85 donation is requested for cocktails, dinner and eligibility for door prizes only. All donations are tax-deductible as allowed by law.

Corporate or business sponsorships are available for a $500 donation. This includes placement of the donor's corporate or business name on the tee, recognition in the

The Bon Secours Hospital Invitational Golf Benefit steering committee includes George Kramer, Jr., general chairman; Kenneth Adler, co-chairman; and Christopher M. Carney, newly appointed executive director replacing Sister Patricia A. Eck, C.B.S., acting executive director, Bon Secours Hospital. Further information may be obtained by calling Ms. Jamie Spriet, Bon Secours Hospital, 882-1126.

Fun Runs resume

The popular Runners' World Fun Runs, sponsored by the Assumption Cultural Center on the first and third Saturdays of the month at 8:30 a.m., begin again in May. Runners meet at the west side of the Cultural Center building and run various distances (one-half, one three and five miles).

Cost per run is $1; certificates will be presented and runners will have a chance to earn a gift certificate.

WHITE SOX-ORIOLES
The Sox and Orioles provided a thrilling game for a large opening day crowd last Saturday, with the Sox edging out the O's, 8-7. The Sox were led by pitcher Jason Benavidez, with strong relief from Fred Turner and Dan Cummins, (who also pulled off a double play). The offense featured a five-hit performance by John Roberts and clutch hits from Josh Cummins, Peter Moran and Benavidez. Jim Campagna, Andy Bramlage, Ryan McCarrroll, Tim Nolan, Mike Riley and Brian Sampson played well on defense.

Leading the Orioles were pitchers Kelly Graves and Tim Gramling. Mike Spanich led the offense with a three-run homer. Also contributing to the offense were Gramling (three hits), Matt Jacklyn (double), Graves (double) and Brian Forester, Jason Bailey and Darren Havern. John Haise, catcher Scott Lupo, Matt Bentley, Aaron McNally and Joey Michael played excellent defense.

YANKEES-CARDINALS
The Yankees rode a home run barrage to a 19-4 win over the Cardinals. Peter Griem (three-run homer) and Kyle Hoyer and Jason Bedsworth (two-run shots) provided the power. Danny Minadeo, and Bedsworth hit triples and Jamie Loffredo and Jeff Schmidt hit doubles. Starting pitcher Hoyer struck out six in his major league debut; Matt Recht and Minadeo also pitched for the Yankees. Recht also led the Yankee defense with George Petersmarck, Kevin Rauch, Richard Nelson, Rob McLaren, Joshua Christ and Sean Byrne.

Jim Pote, Dan Commer and Dan Paull pitched for the Cardinals. Pote had a homer and a double and Brian Lulis added a double. Also Park's Ruth League to open

The Grosse Pointe Park Babe Ruth League season opens Saturday, May 11 at South High. Approximately 70 boys from 13 to 15 are participating in the 1985 program, according to league president John Bruce.

Facing each other in the major league's opening contests are the East Area Builders-Braves and the Certified Data Management-Phillies at 10 a.m.; the defending playing very well for the Cards were Lance DeBets, Bill Saylor, Ed Dorda, Pat O'Donoghue, Don Seranno, Chris Holley, Chip Peterson and Ryan McCartney.

Park Minors

MICHIGAN STATE-MICHIGAN
Michigan State beat Michigan, 7-5, in the Minor League opener. Randy Aardema pitched for MSU; Brian Brenner and Scott McCain were on the mound for Michigan. Power hitters for MSU were Leslie Lickford and Charlie Lickford with triples and Fritz Coyro and Aardema, with doubles. Brenner had two hits for Michigan; Ted Tedesco, Paul Scippola, Richard Spencer and McCain had the other hits. Each team exhibited fine fielding, including a force-out by State catcher Charlie Lickford to second baseman Coyro.

The Grosse Pointe News is happy to publish weekly Little League results from all the Grosse Pointes. Coaches, parents, players or just interested parties may submit game summaries in writing by noon on Mondays.

MARINES-ARMY
The Marines edged the Army, 29-28, last week. Carl Melchior and Matt Markle hit run-scoring doubles for the Marines and teammate Ryan McCain hit a double and a home run. Army's Justin Braun smacked two doubles and a triple and Mark Campbell and Chad Andrus also hit for extra bases. Matt Edelstein, Scot Stang, Paul Prentis and McCain played well on defense; the game ended on a double play turned in by Melchior.

AIR FORCE-COAST GUARD
Air Force won a 17-16 squeaker over Coast Guard. Peter Sullivan, Jessica B. and Sarah Brenner col-champion McNamara Associates-Dodgers and the Jim Saros Real Estate-Padred follow at 2 p.m. The Design Detroit-Cardinals met the Brewers earlier this week in the minor league opener.

The Park's Babe Ruth season will continue until the end of June, when the Park's champion will take part in a playoff series with the winners of the Farms and lected doubles for the winners; Mike Batts, Chris Dettmer and Billy Sumner each had two base hits for Coast Guard. Ben Trombley and Dettmer had triples. Air Force pulled off a double play in the sixth inning.

NAVY-RANGERS

The Navy outscored the Rangers, 24-20. Kurt Meyer and Brian Sullivan had triples for Navy and teammates Chris Pote and John Solobodowski each doubled. John McNaughton, Andy Brewer and Brian Everham cracked extra base hits for the Rangers. Tony Covataio, Jake Howlet, Geoff Kimmel, Brian McCloskey, James McGovern, Kenny McIntyre, Ryan Berg, Jeff Button, Jerry Holusha, Annie Manion, Jimmy Michael and David Nelson each had three hits in the game.

Farms-City Majors

PHILS-INDIANS
The Phils beat the Indians, 15-3, to open the season. David Reed and Mike Oliver turned in fine pitching performances. Joel Peterson and Reed each went 2-for-3; Robbie Knowles, David Vier and Oliver also hit safely. Mark Bonanni pitched three fine innings for the Indians, allowing one run. Dan Teranes and Marty Gulewicz pitched three innings. The Indians' Tom Kolojeski and Teranes each singled in the first inning and scored on Blake Crawford's home run. The homer cleared all the fences and just missed making it over the Farms' storage building on Kerby and Chalfonte.

Farms-City Class C

ALBANY-BUFFALO
Albany edged Buffalo, 10-8, behind three hits each from Mike Uznis and Joe Cera which led to a five-run first inning. Buffalo's Chris Alff had three RBI to keep Buffalo close as the team nearly pulled the game out in the final inning on Robbie King's double and Jay Ricci's triple. Buffalo's attack also featured two-hit performances from Andrew Ricci, Ryan Robson and Carter Glass.

Woods leagues in a battle for the All-Pointes championship. Following that, 13-year-old and 14- and 15-year old all-star teams will be selected to participate in the district playoffs.

Cottage Run draws hundreds

With a record time of 15:48, Sidney Bass, Jr., 17, of Detroit, nearly flew across the finish line to win the fifth annual Cottage Hospital FUN RUN/WALK on Sunday, May 5. Sara Brieden, 21, of the Farms, was the first female to finish; her time was 19:54.

Over 400 runners, walkers, and racewalkers turned out for the 5-kilometer (3.1 mile) event presented by the Cottage Hospital Auxiliary and sponsored by The Meade Group. Proceeds from the entry fees benefit the hospital.

All Pointes ends season

The All Pointes Swim Club capped its 4-2 season with an awards banquet at North High School on April 26.

All swimmers received an All Pointes beach towel and a certificate recognizing their hard work and enthusiasm on behalf of the team. Numerous ribbons and awards were given; Denise Vitiglio and Adam Brady were honored with the Spirit Award, the Most Valuable Member Trophies went to Mike Bucciero and Kim Higel and the Coaches Trophies to Chris Candiotis and Lisa Vallan.

All Pointes placed fourth in the interleague finals. Taking trophies home were Charlie Roddis, Craig Winger, Geoff Kirles, Bucciero and the team of David Reinke, Roddis, Vallan and Marsha Zeller.

This year, All Pointes entertained Water-Loo Swim Club from Ontario. The two teams alternate as hosts for this international swim meet which club officials say is a great experience for the swimmers and their families.

All Pointe members who are interested in information regarding the 1985-86 season should contact Judy Higel.

Cage camp set

The ninth annual Bishop Gallagher Basketball Camp for boys 9 to 14 will run from June 17 through 21 at the school, 19360 Harper, in Harper Woods.

South soccer goalie Marcia Wright (who hadn't been scored on in six games this year) made this save in last week's victory over Edsel Ford. That's Helen Markus, a stalwart on South's stingy defense, helping out.

North wins Alpena tourney

By Bill Hoover
North High

The highlight of North's varsity baseball season thus far occurred last weekend when the Norsemen defeated Cadillac, 6-1, Bay City Handy, 1-0, and Alpena, 4-3, to win the championship of the Alpena Invitational Baseball Tournament.

Making the tournament victories even sweeter was the announcement that North senior Dan Kopitzke had been voted Most Valuable Player in the tournament games.

Against Cadillac, Joe Weidenbach allowed only seven hits in his complete game victory. Frank Vento and Brian Ulatowski had three hits each to lead North; Kopitzke added two hits.

In the game with state-ranked Bay City Handy, Kopitzke pitched a three-hit shutout in which he struck out 12 batters enroute to the 1-0 victory. As coach Frank Sumner observed, "Kopitzke was in control the whole game." The game's only run came in the sixth inning when Weidenbach singled in the winning run.

The final game of the tournament was a close one that North won in the seventh inning. With the score tied 3-3, Craig Engel led off with a double and advanced to third on a wild pitch. Tim Rice walked, setting the stage for Kopitzke to single past a drawn-in infield and score the game winner. Pitcher Dennis D'Agnese's allowed only three hits and struck out nine.

"The kids were very determined and responded well on Friday after making the long trip. I was very pleased with the pitchers, who went the whole way in their games; and that's what won us the tournament," Sumner said.

As for Kopitzke, Sumner added, "he performed well under extreme conditions (rain) and played great defensively against Alpena... he was very deserving of the award."

In earlier action last week, the Norsemen dumped Lakeview, 12-3, on April 29; split with Lakeshore on April 30, losing 9-5 and winning 5-4; and shut out Brablec, 13-0, on May 1.

Against Lakeview, the Norsemen rallied from a 3-1 deficit for nine runs in the fifth inning. Kopitzke, who recorded the win, gave up five hits and fanned seven. Offensively, Rice had four hits and three RBI; Pat Kilcline went 3-for-3 and had four RBI, including a three-run homer; and Steve Pochmara added two hits and two RBI.

In the first game of the Lakeshore doubleheader, D'Agnese suffered North's first league loss of the year. Bright spots for the Norsemen were homers from Kilcline and Weidenbach.

In the nightcap, Rice's two-run homer in the fifth gave North the victory. Kilcline, who had two hits and one RBI, pitched 5½ innings to record his first varsity victory.

The Norsemen raised their league mark to 4-1 against Brablec as Engel pitched a four-hit shutout. North's offense was splashed by Weidenbach, 2-for-3; D'Agnese, two hits; and Vento, two hits and two RBI.

Kickers win two

North's girls' varsity soccer team rolled over Dearborn, 4-0, on April 30, and Fordson, 5-0, on May 2, raising its record to 8-1.

Amelia Dugan led North against Dearborn with three goals; Shannon Armstrong had one.

Against Fordson, Armstrong's two goals led the Lady Norsemen as Bridget Briery, Alexa Parmentier and Stephanie Smith chipped in a goal each.

North hosts ULS at 4 p.m. today and travels to Grosse Pointe South at 4 p.m. May 14.

North's girls' JV soccer team improved its record to 4-1-1 by blanking Seaholm, 2-0, April 30. Michelle Zrimec scored both goals.

The JV's next game is at 4 p.m., May 14, at South.

Teams all on track

North's boys' and girls' varsity tracksters returned with victories from L'Anse Creuse on May 2. The girls crushed L'Anse Creuse, 89-39, and the boys won, 84-53.

The Lady Norsemen, finishing all four relays and taking first in all the running events, were led by Jill Dornbrock, Barb Labadie and Patty Loeher.

The boys' varsity team was led by Mike Wujek, who won the long jump with a leap of 20 feet, 6 inches, Baik Hur, who finished first in the 300-meter low hurdles (43.8) and first in the 100-meter high hurdles (17.8); and Phil Shefferly, who finished first in the pole vault (10 feet).

The next girls' and boys' varsity track meets are Thursday, May 9, at home against South Lake. Starting time is 3:45 p.m.

Harms on target

North's girls' varsity softball team raised its Bi-County League mark to 3-1 on one-hit and no-hit pitching performances by Paula Harms.

On April 29 the Lady Norsemen jumped off to a 4-0 lead after three innings and went on to defeat Lakeview, 7-1. Harms, who struck out seven batters, collected two hits as did Ellen Gouin and Linda Rayos.

The Lady Norsemen followed the Lakeview win with another impressive win, this time blanking Brablec, 4-0. Harms struck out 14 batters while pitcher her first no-hitter of the season. Offensively North was led by Missy Preston, who knocked in two runs with a double; and Virginia Sanders; who scored twice after being walked.

South soccer team faces tough schedule

South High's girls' varsity soccer squad made it over its first tough hurdle — a come-from-behind, 3-2 victory over Utica in a pre-regional qualifier on Monday night. But several difficult games remain on South's schedule, threatening the girls' unbeaten streak.

In the game against Utica, Claire Busse scored South's first goal from Suzanne Saad. Saad added the second goal on a rebound from a Busse shot and Sarah Dow got the winner on a pass from Renee Stoyka. Her hard shot from 25 yards out beat the Utica goalie.

The game marked the first time all season that South goalie Marcia Wright had given up any goals. South has only allowed the opposition four goals in eight games this season and the two against Wright on Monday came in very windy conditions.

Becky Steffes and Kim Wood played very well against Utica. South spent most of the second half in Utica's end of the field, but had to come from behind twice to take the victory.

Last week, South's string of four consecutive shutouts (three wins and a 0-0 tie) came to an end when the girls beat Garden City, 6-2. Claire Busse (two), Kim Wood (two), Suzanne Saad and Renee Stoyka scored for South. The girls followed that with a 2-0 win over Edsel Ford on May 2.

"That was a very tough game... they are a good team," said coach John Case. Becky Steffes and Saad scored for South.

"Everybody has been playing well," Case said before Monday's game with Utica. "We've only conceded two goals, so obviously, our goalie Marcia Wright and our defense — June Langs, Helen Markus and Jennifer Smith — have been playing exceptional soccer. But then, our halfbacks are doing their jobs, too."

Case said he really isn't surprised at South's unblemished 7-0-1 record. "I knew our starters were good, but I didn't know how good. We didn't think we'd be outstanding at every position, but I knew we were well-balanced and that has been the key to our success so far."

South had a difficult schedule this week, league games with Fitzgerald and Novi, a state tournament game on Friday, a match-up with rival North on May 14 and continued action in the state playoffs.

Netters second; tracksters win

The University Liggett School boys' varsity tennis team finished second in last week's 18th annual ULS invitational tournament. Ann Arbor Pioneer won the tournament with 42 points; ULS had 26. Other point-getters were South High, 18; North High, 16; Dearborn, 15; Edsel Ford, 11; Greenhills, 5; South Lake, 3.

Individual winners for ULS were Kirk Haggarty at No. 2 singles and John Birgbauer and Ashu Nautiyal at No. 1 doubles.

Last week, the Knights defeated Monroe Catholic Central, 7-0, and lost to Detroit Country Day School, 4-3. This weekend, ULS travels to Midland for the Dow Invitational.

On the JV side, ULS beat Monroe Catholic Central, lost to DCDS and finished fourth in the Redford Catholic Central Invitational. In the 8-2 win over Monroe, singles winners included Robert Niccolini, David Kim, John Shanle and John Poland. Winning at doubles were the teams of Jeff Buhl-Bill Reuther, Steve Eberhardt-Varik Foster, Mike Africa-Peter Sripinyo, and Jeremy Belenky-Ryan Strouger.

ULS did not win a set of the 6-0 loss to DCDS, but against the same team in the Redford Invitational, ULS doubles team won one and went to a third set tiebreaker in the other. Sripinyo and Africa took a 7-5, 6-1 victory.

Gordie Maitland and Ted Evans had lost previously to Bill Klaus and Hihhil Shah, but took them to 2-6, 6-4, 7-6 in a great match. Maitland and Evans won the consolation title, 7-5, 6-2. Other point-getters for ULS at the Invitational were Shanle and David Kim, 1-6, 7-6, 7-6.

"I am extremely proud of this squad," said coach Chuck Wright. "They kept coming back and never gave up..."

The JV's record is 3-4 with four matches coming up this week. They play at home on May 15 hosting Catholic Central at 4 p.m.

Girls on track at 11-1

The girls' track and field team picked up two more wins and gained some valuable experience last week. On Tuesday, April 30, the Lady Knights defeated Bethesda Christian and Lutheran Northwest: 78-1/2-64-21-1/2. On Saturday, May 4, they traveled to Macomb County Community College to experience their first big invitational meet this season.

On Tuesday, two new school records were set. Lydia Alexander won the long jump and ran 18.23 in the 100 meter hurdles, while Rebecca Boone threw the shot 26 feet, 10 3/4 inches. Other first place victors were Nora Staebler (discus), Samantha DeSmet (high jump) and Judy Go (300 meter hurdles). Also scoring were Miriam Mueller, Catrin Winter, Paula Rodriguez, Carolyn Seydel, Liz Hader, Sophia Park, Charu Nautiyal, Laura Rizzo, Pam Hickey, Wendy Willett, Lisa Beizai, Vera Samudrala, Kavita Sood, Scarlet Parris and Jennifer Van De Graaf.

At the Bethesda Blue-Golf Classic Invitational Track Meet the girls finished in seventh place as they met stiff competition from 12 Detroit area track powers. "We were definitely out of our league," said Schmidt, "but the girls responded beautifully. We brought 14 members of our team to the meet, and nine of them recorded personal best performances."

Alexander took fourth in the 100 meter hurdles; Go notched fifth place in the 100 and 300 hurdles. Carol Ling picked up sixth in the 300 hurdles; Rodriguez was fifth in the 3200 meters; DeSmet, fifth in discus and sixth in high jump; Boone was sixth in both shot and discus. The 1600 meter relay team of Mueller, Park, Go and Nautiyal took fifth, as did the 3200 meter relay team of Rizzo, Nautiyal, Rodriguez and Sood.

On Saturday, ULS hosts the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference championships.

Yes, Jimmy Carson fans, the pride of Grosse Pointe Woods is still playing hockey. Carson's team, the Verdun Junior Canadiens, are in Memorial Cup competition this week, after beating out three other Quebec Major Junior Hockey League (QMJHL) teams in recent playoff action. Verdun beat Shawinigan and Hull, four games to one each, then took four straight from Chicoutime to earn a spot in the Memorial Cup, which pits the QMJHL champ against the winners of the Western and the Ontario junior leagues. The championship game was played last week at the Montreal Forum in front of 8,000 fans. Carson closed out the 14-game playoffs with nine goals and 18 assists for a total of 27 points. He set the league's rookie regular season scoring record earlier this year.

Sharpen sports skills at 'Y'

The Lakeshore Family YMCA will offer an after-school sports program for boys and girls ages 6 and up. The students will learn the rules, regulations and fundamentals of a variety of sports.

Some of the sports covered are baseball, basketball, floor hockey, flag football, track and field and volleyball. Classes will be on Fridays for seven weeks and began May 3 from 4 to 5 p.m.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who make me see everything and who shows me the way to reach my ideal. You who give me the Divine Gift to forgive and forget the wrong that is done to me and you who are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue want to thank you for everything and confirm once more that I never want to be separated from you no matter how great the material desires may be. I want to be with you and my loved ones in your perpetual glory. Amen.

Thank you for your love towards me and my loved ones. Pray this prayer 3 consecutive days without asking your wish, after third day your wish will be granted, no matter how difficult it may be. Then promise to publish this prayer as soon as your favor has been granted. Thank you for favors received. R.D.

Vanden Plas

From a heritage of coachbuilders to kings and the sporting aristocracy of Europe comes the most exclusive Jaguar sedan you can own.

Frankly created for the few, the Vanden Plas is a limited edition based on the classic Jaguar XJ6 Sedan. It's sedan it shares the XJ6's superbly balanced ride, big overhead valve six, its famed handling, elegant interior, its unrivaled smoothness and serene motion.

Inside, however, the Vanden Plas is unique. Even in the Jaguar tradition, you will find a higher level of luxury and refinement than you can find in any other Jaguar sedan.

have been fitted into passenger foot wells. Low seat-to-shoulder height permits immediate rear passenger access. On the outside, special styling and a discreet Vanden Plas badge identify this as the most exclusive version of the best Jaguar ever built. Call for details and make your reservation today.
