WATERFALL

Many of us are very much interested in the fact that the new owner of Le Grange expects to have the old mansion fully restored to its former splendor and loveliness. Work is to begin at once on a new caretaker's cottage. We have waited and hoped for years that this would come to pass, as we watched this beautiful old relic of plantation days slowly crumbling and being robbed of all its superb interior by vandals.

The outlook for the farmers is not so encouraging at present. Just as the ground thawed enough for plowing, it looks as if we are now in for the spring equinox. So why not go fishing? We are glad to learn that Mr. A. H. Utterback of near Haymarket, who has been ill of pneumonia, is much improved.

Mrs. R. B. Gossom, jr., and young son have gone to Boone Mill, Va., to spend some time with her husband, whose work with the S. C. S. is near that place.

There seems to be quite an epidemic of flu which we hope will soon pass on. Those who do not understand the nature of this treacherous malady are often the ones hardest hit by getting a second shot on the rebound.

We were sorry not to appear in our usual corner last week. Just as we were ready to eulogize on the return of the robin and the bluebird those heralds of spring, something hit us with a bang. They might call it flu, but that arrow was sure "pizen." Bad enough when one is told to say in bed, but when we are there because we can't get out, it's worse than worse, with the feeling that all the sins of the world were in some way tied to that sore spot in our side and were being jerked loose one by one by theimps that put them there.

NOTED PERFORMANCE BY SYMPHONY

An all-Wagner half, in which excerpts from the operas, "Lohengrin," "Parsifal," and "Tannhauser" will be presented, has been added to the National Symphony Orchestra program, scheduled for 4 p.m. Sunday, March 15, in Constitution Hall.

The Wagner selections will follow presentation of the feature previously announced—the first performance in Washington of Liszt's "Faust" Symphony. The Men's Glee Club of the George Washington University, which Hans Kindler, conductor, has announced will sing the choral part of the "Faust" work, will also appear with the orchestra in the Wagnerian group. The men will sing the "Pilgrims' Chorus" from Tannhauser.

Dr. George Anderson, prominent Washington tenor, will sing the solo role in the "Faust" Symphony. This composition, based on Goethe's dramatic poem, is a symphonic delineation of the most important characters in "Faust." There are three movements, "Faust," "Gretchen," and "Memphistopheles."

The selections which Dr. Kindler has chosen for the Wagner half are from the German composer's best known operas, and they are among his most beloved excerpts.

The program follows: "Faust" Symphony, Liszt, with George Washington University Men's Club, and Dr. George Anderson, tenor. (Intermission) From "Lohengrin"

Vorspiel No. 2 Vorspiel No. 3 From "Parsifal" "Good Friday Spell"—Wagner From "Tannhauser" "Pilgrims' Chorus" and Overture with George Washington Men's Glee Club.

EARLY FLOWERS

By Inno McGill

Added to their refreshing beauty and sweet fragrance, the earliest blooms on our lawns have what is known as a "Language" that is both interesting and romantic.

CROCUS: (Cheerfulness and Hope) Of these bright little flowers it can be said, as Shakespeare says of the Daffodils, they...

"Come before the swallow dares, and take The winds of March with beauty." Their emblems are appropriate for the Crocus brings its cheerful message of hope in the early Spring.

Mainly from southern Europe, the Crocus now is cultivated extensively in America. Its name from a Greek name signifying thread, is due to the fact that the saffron of commerce is derived from the thread, or filament, of the saffron, an Autumn Crocus.

According to the Greek fable, Crocu, a beautiful youth, was transformed into this flower as his lady-love, Smilax, at the same time, was transformed into the yew-tree. In England the Crocus is dedicated to St. Valentine.

PRIMROSE: (Youth)

The English name for this flower (derived from primus, "first," and rosa, "rose,") happily expresses one of its charms, and shows why it is the emblem of youth.

"Of maiden modesty and tender truth The Primrose is the type; as 'tis of youth."

Classically, this fragile flower is known as Paraisos, after the youth of that name who, grieving for the loss of his betrothed, Melicerta, was transformed into

"The early Primrose that, forsaken, dies."

Shakespeare mentions the "Pale Primrose" in Cymbeline and again in Winter's Tale he refers to its symbolic character. Milton also speaks of it as "The Pale Primrose." Carew styles it "The firstling of the infant year," and odes to the Primrose have been penned by Wordsworth, Keats, Felicia Hemans, White and numerous other writers.

EVENING PRIMROSE: (Silent Love)

This flower is dedicated to St. Elizabeth, Queen of Hungary, the "Patroness of the Poor." It has not been overlooked by some, among them Keats who writes of

"A tuft of Evening Primrose, O'er which the mind may hover till it doses, O'er which it well might take a pleasant sleep..."

THE ROSE: (Joy—Love—Prosperity)

In all ages, the Rose has been termed the queen of flowers, although her reign is somewhat disputed by those who admire Queen Lily. They may be described as sister sovereigns of the floral world—the Rose, an emblem of the material domain; the Lily, of a spiritual empire of purity and noble aspirations.

The earliest writers mention the Rose. Herodotus speaks of the Double Rose. In the Song of Solomon, the Rose of Sharon is mentioned, and allusion is made to the Plantation of Roses in Jericho. Isaiah uses the Rose as an emblem of joy and felicity.

Also, the ancients regarded the Rose as the emblem of silence, and frequently represented Cupid offering a Rose to the God of Silence. At their feasts, they suspended a Rose over the table in order to remind the guests that conversations were not to be repeated. And this custom, it is supposed, gave rise to the saying, "Sub Rosa."

CATHARPIN

Well, we suppose you all know what "Round and Round" is, or was, or is intended to be in the song now going the rounds and which is referred to in so many ways? Well, we have found it all out during the past few weeks and are still taking lessons. When we couldn't get out of the house for snow and ice, we just paced round and round the house talking about the weather. Now that it is a little better, we are just pacing round and round the yard until the roads get in condition to negotiate them once more; and when that happens we suppose we shall be traveling round and round to see our friends and to discover what the world looks like beyond our immediate bailiwick. You know this "shut-in-ness" sort of grows tiresome after a long time and one begins feeling lonesome and homesick to see somebody. The only visitor we had during the long siege recently was the tax assessor; and of all people, aside from his very agreeable personality he was the last fellow we wanted to encounter. But we treated him decently and had something new to think about after he had gone. So we are still living in hopes of better times ahead.

The native Catharpinites are not the only ones having experiences just now with muddy roads, but some of her ex-natives and strangers are sharing in that "pleasant pastime" as well. Last week one of Alexandria's prominent drummers came out Catharpin way and after negotiating the mud holes, sinks, etc. from "Dean's College" on, he finally pulled up in front of the store with steam spurting from his radiator equal to the geysers in Yellowstone Park and everything else looking like the last rose of summer including the poor, weary, way-worn traveler himself. He refrained from bad words but opined it was his last until things got better.

Now that spring is nearing and road and weather conditions giving promise of good behavior, it is time to sweep the dust of lethargy from our front doors and see what Sudley looks like after so long a period of rest and shut-in-ness. This has probably been the longest season of inactivity yet experienced owing to conditions over which no one had control except the weather man and he just ran things to suit himself; so that while he was having his way, we were resting and trying to keep warm and in as good a humor as possible until things came our way again. From now on it is hoped that services can be resumed without further interruptions from the elements and sicknesses, all of which have been indulging in 100 percent activity of late. Sunday school will open the first Sunday in April and supplies will be distributed on 5th Sunday, March 5. Let us all look forward and plan for a vigorous summer's work in every department.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Pattie, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Lynn and Mrs. Etta P. Lynn were Sunday callers at Rock Hill, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Akers.

This column extends greetings and sympathy to our "Central" Post Master, Mr. George C. Allen, of Gainesville, who is convalescing at Georgetown hospital where he has been under treatment for several weeks suffering from kidney trouble. His many friends wish him speedy recovery.

Mrs. J. D. Wheeler's condition remains about status quo and her friends throught the community very much concerned. It is hoped she may have strength enough to meet the crisis. She is now suffering from pneumonia.

Mrs. George Davis has been confined to her room during the past week suffering the common affliction of the neighborhood together with her two children, and the husband about ready to join them at any time to make it unanimous. All families are not just this way but some of them approach it very closely.

The Rev. J. L. McCutcheon of Modest Town, Va., whom many in this community know, has been unable to fill his regular appointments for several weeks due, it is supposed, to a return of his old trouble. His friends are much concerned regarding his condition.

Miss Bertha Pattie spent last week end in Manassas as the guest of her brother, John F. Pattie, of that city.

Mr. Reginald Morrison and sister, Edith, surprised the Lawn Valers by dropping in for a little visit over the week-end and returning to their home in Berryville on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Onley and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Feuchsel and sons, all of Clarendon, were Oakwood callers on Sunday. We had been thinking all along that we were the only people having a real "kick" against the weather man but they, of the city, seemed to have as many or more troubles anent weather conditions than we country Jakes. So after hearing their troubles, we quit complaining and concluded to take things as they come.

The "egg market" throught this section has been in a sort of comatose condition during the past few weeks due to the fact the regular huckster by reason of bad roads could not make his regular, weekly, society calls at the back kitchen door to relieve the thrifty housewives of their accumulating surpluses of that particularly culinary necessity. To make matters worse, prices were slipping and slipping and the more they slipped the crazier they got and the more they growled. And so it goes. The cityite growls because she has to pay so much and the countryite growls because she can't get so much. At any rate, we should not like to be in the huckster's shoes when next he appears upon the threshold pleading for mercy, only to receive a "hand-out" such as only a disappointed "Egg Queen" can administer. Well, there's loss and tragedy in every profession, isn't there?

THAT EVERYONE MAY KNOW

The many families whom we have served are well aware of the fact that we have a wide variety of caskets from which to choose. They know also that we maintain a very reasonable price range, with figures starting at a low price and gradually rising, so that a family, regardless of its means, can have just what is desired. Many persons have commented favorably upon the moderate prices of our merchandise.

But there are many whom we have had no occasion to serve who do not know about our prices, and their reasonableness. They may even have wrong ideas because of our reputation for fine services. For their benefit we make the statement that we offer our complete service - - - which means service of unsurpassed high quality - - - for a sum considerably under one hundred dollars. In easy steps prices graduate upwards, every service plainly marked, and differences in value evident at a glance.

We shall cheerfully discuss funeral costs and facts with anyone who cares to discuss them with us.

FIRE WARDENS MEET AT JOPLIN

Forester Eye Conducts Interesting Session.

On Thursday last in answer to a call issued by District Forester Berlin Eye, the forest wardens of Fairfax, Prince William and lower Fauquier essayed to attend a meeting held at Joplin about fifteen miles south of Manassas, where one of the new state parks is located.

Chief Fire Warden J. L. Money, of Fairfax, had present three of his wardens, while Chief Fire Warden J. M. Russell and assistant, Chief Warden W. H. Herring, of Prince William, had four with them. Mr. David Arrington was the only warden from lower Fauquier present.

The meeting was held in the study hall of the C.C.C. Camp and the group had as its honor guests the Prince William Board of Supervisors. Lt. Powers of the C.C.C. Camp gave the address of welcome and the group launched into the study of fire prevention.

Two very interesting talks were given by Mr. Money and Mr. Russell on organization work in their counties and their responsibility toward the public.

Following that, Hunter H. Garth, district forester of the Piedmont district, gave a rousing discussion on adequate fire detection and reporting, and the needs in such work. There was considerable round-table discussion of this feature.

Mr. Herring of Prince William gave a practical dissertation on putting out a fire. His talk was very much appreciated by everyone present. Mr. E. G. Baldwin, project superintendent of the camp, told the group considerably how the C.C.C. boys have taken part in fire control work.

Mr. William F. Griffith, educational adviser for the camp, was an impromptu speaker who gave some very interesting information about camp work and how it is being conducted.

The visitors were escorted to the camp mess hall at noon and the boys served a sumptuous repast that was much enjoyed.

The talk of the afternoon was built up around Mr. Eye's discussion of how the forest service was organized first in the United States and then in the separate states. He told very interesting facts of the growth up to the present day.

The most interesting figures that Mr. Eye gave were to the effect that both Prince William and Fairfax counties ran considerably better than the state average in area burned over during the five-year period from 1931 to 1935. His comparison of those figures with the year of 1930 alone was quite startling.

The session closed with a talk by B. J. Locher, of the National Park Service. Mr. Locher told of many of the problems that the C.C.C. boys had in trying to co-operate with the public. He also showed the valuable service which they had rendered in areas adjacent to their camp locations.

WOMEN IN INDUSTRY

Women are working in tens of thousands of jobs; some of them among the most important in the country. In the great Federal Government establishment, they occupy places at the very top, Congress, the cabinet, in the courts.

What is the effect of this rise of woman not only in public, but private enterprise? The question is one with many and far-reaching ramifications. It is answered, interestingly and provocatively, by outstanding men and women in an article in the feature section of The Sunday Star, March 15.

RELIEF IN 1814

The following interesting advertisement appears in the February 23, 1814, issue of The Alexandria Herald, indicating that public relief work is nothing recent:

"Good soup, made of the best pieces, will be delivered every day (Sunday excepted) from 11 till 1 o'clock, at Mrs. Richardson's, next door to Mr. Hingston's, Crockery Merchant, at six cents per quart. It will be delivered also at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, for the supply on Sunday. The society for the relief of the poor, having made this establishment with view of rendering their funds more efficient, indulge in the hope that private families will encourage it by the purchase of soup."

"As a great portion of the soup will be distributed gratuitously, a favorable opportunity is offered for a display of charity by country people and others who may have it in their power to send meat and vegetables, which, if sent to Mrs. Richardson's, will be thankfully received. Potatoes, which at this season are liable to frost bite, will in that case answer the purpose."

"SPUN COTTON"

"The product of the labor of the poor may be bought as usual from Mr. Robbins."

Remarks: WE WISH to take this occasion to pay a personal (and greatly deserved) compliment to the large number of producers within this district who by their untiring efforts have attained such a splendid record. Many of the men whose names appear upon this honor roll have been numbered among our principal producers for many years and the fact that this plant was selected as being the "MODEL DAIRY OF THE WORLD" is due in no small measure to the uniform quality of their product. For a time at least it is our plan to publish this "Honor Roll" each month and while we hope to see the names of some of our other good friends appear in future issues... we trust that every producer whose name is inscribed upon This Initial Roll will resolve to keep it there permanently. Again assuring you of my personal gratification in your achievement which in our judgement merits this public acknowledgement, I am

Very truly yours,

M. V. Davison
Production Manager

Henry M. Brown
