NEW YACHT IS PRETTY VESSEL

Has Reached Stage Where the Beauty of Her Lines Can Be Seen.

Those in the city who are interested deeply in the building of the yacht which will represent the Territory of Hawaii in the transpacific yacht race of 1908, are making regular trips to the yards of Sorenson and Lyle, where the new vessel is now being constructed, and where the work is open for all to see. That the new boat will be fast is readily appreciated by anyone who takes a single glance at her lines, in her present condition.

The ribs are almost all in place and the outlines of the new yacht, as she will appear when completed, are such that those who have contributed to the fund may feel assured that she will more than repay them for what they have so generously given. Clean cut, and with the build of a greyhound, though still showing strength, which is needed to stand the long ocean voyage, the Hawaii yacht, even in the condition that she is today, shows that she is bound to prove a factor in the race, which may by no means be despaired.

Alec Lyle, the superintendent of the marine railway regards her as his pet and both night and day has her welfare in his mind. As a rule he may be found at the yard, watching the construction of the new boat at all times of the day, but when he is not present, his father, James Lyle, who has the broadest experience of any of the local shipbuilders, is always on hand to see that nothing may go wrong. James Lyle, of whom a photograph is given in this issue, is well-known here. Since 1881 he has been regarded as one of the men of Honolulu to whom any detail in the line of ship-

BILL SQUIRES GETS ONE MORE SOUND THRASHING

(Associated Press Cablegram.)

BAKERSFIELD, December 21.—Flynn won in the 6th round.

Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, Colorado, administered the third defeat to Bill Squires, the "champion" of Australia, night before last in Bakersfield, California. This places Squires in a still lower class than he has been. He refused to fight Jack Johnson when the latter chased him to Australia, and then went to California when he was quickly defeated by Tommy Burns. He made a second try against Twin Sullivan, but again got the worst of the battle. Flynn, a rough fighter and hard hitter has not been well known till lately when he fought his most important battle against Jack Johnson and was beaten and outclassed, both in speed and hitting. After this Flynn fought Bob Ward, in Oakland, in the latter's first professional fight and beat him in the final round of a six round go. Then the second rater steps in and in six round has defeated the much touted champion, who was supposed to defeat Jeffries.

American-Hawaiian Steamship Nevada, new sail plans for the yacht were received. There were many changes from the original plans which were sent and all show an improvement which means more speed to the craft.

Yesterday at the marine railway there was a contrast formed which was interesting. The new yacht, which, as has been mentioned, has reached a stage where her lines may be seen plainly, was in the shed which has been constructed for the purpose. On the marine railway was the Helene, Fred Whitney's yacht, which has been one of the old reliables in the races in this city for many years. To the casual observer even, the changes which the modeling of racing yachts have undergone since the date of the Helene's building was evident at once.

The sum of money needed for the new yacht has not yet been gathered, though there is plenty in the treasury to make sure that the work will be a success. Those who visit the scene of the work, and have a chance to see what is being done, are ready to double their subscriptions, so if you feel that you have given all that you can possibly afford, it will be wise to keep away from Sorenson & Lyle's. If you want to see the building of the finest yacht ever launched on the Pacific Ocean, and watch her as she grows, then it will be well to make a trip on the Alakea street cars and take the opportunity now presented.

at the improvements made in play and in inside ball. "The game played today (Thursday) was the hardest since the team organized on the Coast, and I consider that we were lucky in winning it. The two sorest men in Hilo tonight are Williams and Dashwood, the Hilo battery, because they did not win, and they are scrapping with all the rest of my team."

REGULARS ARE GIVEN BEATING

Yesterday afternoon at Atkinson Park, Kakaako, the baseball team of Company F, N. G. H., succeeded in defeating the team from Company G, of the Twentieth Infantry, which has been beating all the teams in the Kakaako section of the city. The victory was mainly accomplished through the fine pitching of H. Kaal, who was in the box for the men of the National Guard. He is the well known player who was with the Elks and the H. A. C.'s in the big league some years ago and now seems to be rounding back into his old form. He held down the opposing batsmen in good shape and with perfect support would have come near a shut out.

BALL GAMES AT KAKAOKO

There will be two good games at the Atkinson Park, Kakaako, this morning, and the attendance which is found at these contests will surprise anyone who has never seen them. In the first game the police will line up against the Honolulu Brewery, and, as both teams have been playing fast ball, a hot contest is expected. The second game will be between the Sanitary Steam Laundry and the Ocean Views. As the teams are evenly matched it is hard to say which will come out on top. The nine from the U. S. S. Ironquills will have a day off this Sunday. They will be ready for the next game, with a couple of changes in their lineup, which they expect will make a difference.

WANT CREDIT OF WINNING GAME

Hilo Sore Because of the Loss of Eleven Inning Contest.

The Hilo ball players feel sore over the fact that they lost the eleven-inning game which was played against them by the Spalding team. They certainly have a right to feel that way, though at the same time they can not complain, as the game was won through ball playing. The story that they tell is true in all its details, but the fact that Hildebrand had the baseball wisdom to stand on the bag, where he had a right to stand, and interposed his body at the proper time, was one of the things which wins games. It was not dirty ball, in any sense of the word, but he did not lose the chance to take advantage of his build and the rules of the game.

The Hawaii Herald has the following story of woe in this regard:
Spalding's official baseball guide for 1907, under rule 54, "Entitled to Bases," section 5, says that any base-runner is entitled to a base—
"If he is prevented from making a base by the obstruction of a fielder, unless the latter have the ball in his hand ready to touch the base-runner." In the second game played in Hilo, at the end of the ninth inning, Lyman failed by less than a yard to reach the plate before he was put out. As he passed third base on the run home, Hildebrand backed away from the base in front of Lyman, compelling the latter to make a long curve which was more than enough to lose the run and the game, the Spaldings not having scored during the nine innings.

Not only was this palpable to everybody watching the game, but when Hildebrand returned to the bench he asked others of his team if they had seen his play, remarking that it was an advantage once in a while to be built broad of beam, or words to that effect.

The umpire was not asked for a decision and the point has only been seriously discussed by the Hilo players since the Spaldings left here. There is no doubt, under the rule quoted, that Hilo won the game in the last half of the ninth inning, and there was really no occasion for playing the two subsequent innings.

KAM TEAMS ARE EVENLY MATCHED

There was an interesting game of intercollegiate football played yesterday afternoon at the Kamehameha grounds between the team from the school and that of the alumni. The youngsters put up a harder fight than was expected, and, through the fact that they showed better condition than their older adversaries, were able to hold down the score to a tie. A second game will be played before long, as from the combination of the two teams a fast eleven for the triangular league will be picked. The score yesterday, when the second half was ended, stood 11-11.

NO GOLF PLAY ON HOLIDAYS

From the present indications there will be no tournament in the golf line either on Christmas or on New Year's Day. It is just possible that some event for New Year's may be arranged, though the players as a rule want to spend the two holidays at home. The interest in the game has reached a fever heat, through the coaching of Alexander McLaren. His work has been extremely successful, and more and more devotees to the Scotch game are being found every day.

Another count was made last night in the doll contest at Sachs, with the following result, showing the twelve leaders:

Tickets are to be had from any of the members.

ping might be entrusted and would receive the attention of an expert who knew his business and was sure to see that work was honestly and well done.

James Lyle was born at Dartmouth, on Halifax harbor, N. S., seventy-four years ago. He entered shipbuilding as soon as he quit school. His father built clipper ships for Cunard, founder of the Cunard Steamship Line and was among the pioneers of steamboat building. Lately the sidewheel ferry steamer, Sir Charles Ogle, which he built about eighty-five years ago, was noted in the press as the oldest steam vessel on the British registry.

While a young man James Lyle removed to the United States, going to work in the yards of the late eminent shipbuilder, Donald McKay, at East Boston. There he helped to build, from start to finish the illustrious American clipper ship Sovereign of the Seas, which made the record passage of 103 days from Honolulu to New Bedford. He also worked on other famous clippers of that day and was employed in the shipyards of Medford (Mass.), Damascota (Me.) and Mallory's, Mystic (Conn.), at the last-named town being married on October 24, 1854.

Mr. Lyle was construction foreman for the late Horace I. Crandall in building the latter's patent marine railway in the United States and Nova Scotia, on the Rio de la Platte in Uruguay and at Honolulu, besides having been superintendent of a marine railway in Nova Scotia. After the completion of the works here he became superintendent for Mr. Wilder, continuing as such until Sorenson & Lyle acquired the lease. His eldest son, James Alexander Lyle, is now superintendent of the railway.

The iron keel of the new yacht was constructed by the Honolulu Iron Works, under the direct supervision of Tom Smith, who watched its casting with the greatest care. It is 27 feet in length and at its widest part is 21 inches, from which it narrows down to 10 inches at its lower extremity. Its weight is 2530 pounds, from which the uninitiated in the lines of yacht building, may get some idea of the amount of work necessary for a yacht such as is now being constructed.

ANNA GOULD AND THE ROUE PRINCE DE SAGAN

That Mme. Anna Gould intends to bestow her hand, heart and what remains of the fortune which was not dissipated by her former husband, Count Boni de Castellane, on the profligate Prince de Sagan, is a rumor that will not down among New York's four hundred. Within three months Mme. Gould will be at liberty to marry again, according to the decree of divorce granted her by the French courts. It is supposed she is desirous of keeping secret her intention to wed the princely spendthrift and heartbreaker until she has cast off all shackles attaching her in any way to little Count Boni.

Her brothers and sisters are vehemently opposed to her throwing herself and her money on Helle de Talleyrand-Perigord, Prince de Sagan, and it is said they are using every endeavor to keep her away from the adventurer, who is said to surpass in wickedness, wildness and extravagance any other man in Europe. The painful experience of the family with the frantic expenditures of Gould money by Count Boni will be nothing to the reckless squandering of what remains by the dashing and artistically made up Prince, according to society gossips. Where Boni de Castellane made ducks and drakes of the Gould cash, Prince de Sagan is likely to use airships to get away with it faster.

FAR SWIFTER THAN BONI.

Five months ago, when the rumors were first current that Anna Gould was infatuated with the Prince, Edmond Kelly, the French-American lawyer who obtained her divorce for her, said: "If Prince de Sagan captures Mme. Gould it will prove to be the most expensive matrimonial match ever made with an American millionaire and a titled foreigner. Prince de Sagan can spend more money before 9 o'clock in the morning than Count Boni could spend in a week."

Since that time Prince de Sagan has been assiduous in his attentions to Mme. Gould. At the garden party at the Austrian Embassy in Paris in August, which was a very aristocratic affair, it was said that the millionaire sat and gazed at the fascinating Prince with undisguised admiration. The Prince talked of his many duels and adventures and some of his escapades which would not shock the feelings of a woman who might be inclined to fall in love with him.

A month ago it was given out that the marriage of the Prince and Mme. Gould would certainly take place after the divorce decree had become effective. This was emphatically denied by the Gould family and by the attorneys of Mme. Gould. Not more than a week ago, however, cable despatches set forth that the marriage had actually taken place in London with the aid of a special license. This was again denied, and was effectually squelched by the failure to find a record of any license in London. But the continued attentions of the wicked Prince, which have not been repulsed by Mme. Gould, are said to point conclusively to a marriage after the divorce decree becomes effective—unless the Prince in the meantime indulges in some escapade outside the pale of gilded vice recognized by French aristocratic society which will make the match impossible.

WICKEDNESS IS INHERITED.

Prince de Sagan has already dissipated two fortunes left him by his grandfathers. He also inherited his wickedness from a long line of ancestors. His great-granduncle, Marquis Maurice de Talleyrand, Napoleon's foreign minister, was considered the most monumental liar, turncoat and cynic in French history. In his own particular form of dissipation Prince Helle surpasses some of his ancestors, it is said. He is the oldest son of the Duke de Talleyrand, who, under the title of Prince de Sagan, was the most notorious character in Parisian society. His admirers called him "the modern Alcibiades." He is now helpless from paralysis.

Prince Helle is a cousin of Count Boni de Castellane, but he far outclasses the latter in wild and foolish action. It is said that he even became reckless enough to forge the name of Max Lebaudy, the self-styled king of the Sahara. It is estimated that when he had money he kept as many as twelve establishments in Paris, which were decorated luxuriously. He is 48 years old, but he is well manicured and well massaged. Little Boni looked on him as an ideal of manhood and used some of his wife's money to fit up different apartments in Paris similar to those of the Prince, the existence of which became known during the hearing of the divorce case.

MORE MARITAL TROUBLES.

Mme. Anna Gould's marital affairs, however, are not the only ones that are worrying the Gould family. Howard Gould, who received $10,000,000 when he became of age, is now being sued by his wife, Mrs. Katherine Clemmons Gould, and there have been charges and counter-charges which promise to make the hearing a cause celebre in New York. The fight for the divorce has led to Howard Gould employing detectives to look into the career of his wife before marriage when she was on the stage. The Gould family was strongly opposed to the match, but finally consent was given. The couple have been living apart for some time, and the main fight by Mrs. Gould is over the amount of alimony. She has been receiving $5000 a month, but thinks Howard ought to pay her twice as much. The latest phase of the suit was the bringing in of the name of Colonel William F. Cody, "Buffalo Bill," by Howard Gould through an affidavit of Helen Mar, who declared that Katherine Clemmons, then unmarried, had confessed to her improper relations with the Colonel.

ONE COUPLE RECONCILED.

Still another case of "sweet bells jangled, out of tune," was the marital experience of Frank Jay Gould, the youngest son of the railroad magnate. Frank married Miss Helen Margaret Kelly, daughter of Edward Kelly and granddaughter of the late Eugene A. Kelly, the New York banker. They were married December 2, 1901, and the union promised to be a happy one. In less than five years, however, Mrs. Frank Gould had left her husband and asked for a legal separation. Miss Helen Gould urged her young sister-in-law to visit her, and after a time the papers in the separation suit were destroyed. Mrs. Gould went to Hot Springs, Va., and her husband planned to spend a year on his yacht. The couple, however, were later completely reconciled and left for a European trip together.

All on a Christmas Day

By Laura A. Smith.

Miss Salome looked about the little church with a feeling of deep satisfaction and a Christmas joy she had never felt before. Over the pulpit in letters cut out of bright gilt paper were the words, "Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men."

It hardly seemed this beautiful Christmas morning that six months had passed since Miss Salome, looking out of her window on the deserted and abandoned little white church of her fathers, had felt a wave of shame and distress sweep over her, and had aroused herself like a lioness to go forth and restore this house of worship.

Briefly he told the story—the first talk Miss Salome had with him about restoring the abandoned church which, seen from her window day by day, had seemed to reproach her and call her to the missionary field. How she had gone forth with a courage and enthusiasm worthy of a Joan of Arc and this beautiful Christmas day showed the result.

Miss Salome wept silent tears of joy during the services. Where'er she looked she saw cheery smiles and loving glances, even the carols and hymns seemed sung in her honor.

At the close of the service she started to slip out of her pew and away before any should stop her, but her way was barred by a tall, dignified man. Through the mist of her tears, she realized that she had seen and known this man before; that he had stepped out of a happy forgotten past when he was "Tom" and she was "Sally," and life was in its spring.

"Tom Gladding is coming to dinner," sang her heart, as she opened the door and called to Gladys.

opposite her carving the plump turkey. It called most vividly to her mind the favorite game that she and Tom had played when he was five and she was four. Then the table was a starch box out under the old apple tree, hidden by a hedge of raspberry bushes.

With a song of thanksgiving she noted that the years had passed pleasantly over the little house. In the parlor especially nothing was changed. There were the same deep chairs of horsehair and walnut, the same round table with a knitted white cover with deep fringe, the brass lamp with round glass globe, whose glittering pendants rattled when you crossed the floor.

Stop, thought Miss Salome, one thing was changed. Her dress was somber black and her hair drawn smoothly back. Tom would not like this. Upstairs she went and drew out a soft gray dress that had been carefully packed in sweet clover and kept for state occasions. She loosened her soft brown hair so that it looked fluffy and the little stray ringlets that were anxious to get loose had a chance.

Soon they were seated and oh, what a happy Christmas dinner it was! Tom told the story of his travels and the minister dwelt on the glory of having the little church reopened and to Miss Salome's embarrassment dwelt on her part in the affair. He spoke in eulogistic terms of Salome's father, who had died nearly nineteen years ago, and who had been a great support to this same little church in his day.

"Well," said Mr. Gladding, slowly, "most men make fools of themselves at one time or another during their lives. I left saying I would come back when I was sent for. The summons never came and I was bound by a stubbornness hard for a gentle Christian like yourself to understand. I said to myself I would die before I would set foot in this town unless I was sent for by the person who sent me away."

"Is it your sweetheart?" asked the interested Mrs. Whitson. "Surely she will forgive and welcome you back. Life isn't long enough to keep bitter feelings."

It was after the first few minutes of perfect happiness that Miss Salome's hand reached her pocket and mechanically drew out the paper she had found in the hall. There was no beginning, no signature. It read:

"I am to be Santa Claus at the children's celebration at the church this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Wait for me at the little entrance to the vestry. It will be dark then and we will slip away in my sleigh to the Salem minister's and be married. Then we will come back and face the music. Sweetheart, do not fall me."

"Your niece and my nephew," said Tom, and he began to laugh. "History repeats itself. What is Bert's crime?"

Then he turned to the other couple waiting, smiles on the man's face, tears on the woman's, and slowly and solemnly, while the children's voices in Christmas carols came through the door, uttered the words which sealed their happiness.

Bert and Gladys drove off to the chime of merry sleigh bells. From the little church, every window ablaze with Christmas glory, children's voices sang on: "Glory to God in the Highest."

THE TRUTH ALWAYS. "When you are in doubt tell the truth." It was an experienced old diplomat who said this to a beginner in the work. It may pass in some things, but not in business. Fraud and deception are often profitable so long as concealed; yet detection is certain sooner or later; then comes the smash-up and the punishment. The best and safest way is to tell the truth all the time.

THIS CHOCTAW PRINCESS BREEDS CHICKENS FOR CASH

While the Ute Indians are defying the whole United States army because they do not want to go to work, an Indian princess who lives in Washington has solved the Indian problem, so far as she is concerned, by going into business.
 She is Sophia Pitchlynn, daughter of Peter Pitchlynn, a Choctaw chief. The chief has represented his people at Washington for twenty-five years. His son and daughter bought an incubator two years ago, and what was little more than recreation at first has become an occupation of some magnitude.
 Princess Sophia not only raises for the market, but exhibits at the poultry show in Madison Square garden, New York. She calls her birds after Indians of her tribe, and Princess Sequoyah have won prizes. The princess says cleanliness, proper feeding and exercise are the secrets of success in raising hens.

representative of the cult, Dr. Francis J. Fluno, of Oakland, California, a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist of Boston, Mass.

The purpose of this board is to give correct information about Christian Science. Dr. Fluno was a practicing physician when some twenty years ago he became interested in Christian Science, and since then he has given his time to practicing according to its teachings. Christian Science has often been confounded in the public mind with systems that the Christian Scientists themselves say are widely different. This will be an opportunity for the public to inform itself, from an authoritative source, of what its teachings are. In this day of tolerance and revolution along all lines of thought the lecturer should receive it least intelligent consideration.

The Scapegoat

Did you put your wad in copper or a block of Steel preferred?
Are you feeling rather sore and rather low?
There's a scapegoat on the premises, so circulate the word—
You can blame it on T. R. and let it go.
If stocks are under par,
Just put it on T. R.
The touring car that plastered down the mortgage on your place
Has come to grief, as many of them do;
The interest, however, keeps a very steady pace,
And butchers' bills are mounting daily, too.
Well, if you smash your car,
Just blame it on T. R.
Your city has been built upon a rock inadequate,
It slips one day and shakes you into pi;
But do not make the blunder of ascribing it to fate—
That isn't up-to-date philosophy.
If quakes your dwelling jar,
Just blame it on T. R.
For all of us are sure that our extravagance and waste,
Our trifling with the laws that rule the game,
Our recklessness and folly and our money-getting haste
Would have no consequences worth the name
Unless our rash reformer, with a busybody's glee,
Should bring to light and air the hidden shame;
Our private graft was flourishing, as any one could see,
Until he took to meddling with the same.
If pales our lucky star,
Why, hang it, blame T. R.

London's Famous Clubs . . .

London's most important club from the social point of view is no doubt the Marlborough, which is situated in Pall Mall, not very far from Marlborough House. It owes its prestige to the favor of the King, who still visits it on occasion and has his favorite seat in the dining room, which, it need hardly be said, no one would ever dream of occupying. Membership is practically confined to the people whom the King regards with favor or who are in the more exclusive court set. Should his majesty by any chance visit any of the clubs to which he belongs he is by his own request treated like any other member, but it need hardly be said that no one would ever dream of approaching him unless special permission were given for the purpose, and the King always speaks first to any one with whom he desires to converse.

One of the most expensive clubs is the Naval and Military, founded in 1862. It is frequently spoken of as the "In and Out" Club, because of the two words placed over the gateway. Entrance to it is obtained by a fee of 40 guineas, and the annual subscription is 10 guineas.

Much older, however, are the Guards' and the United Service, which opened their doors within two years of each other, the former having been started in 1813 and the latter in 1815, the year in which Waterloo was fought. The Guards' Club has a strict rule against the admission of strangers, and it forbids the playing of round games of cards. The United Service Club, which moved from Charles street to the premises it now occupies in Pall Mall in 1828, the change having cost close upon £100,000, is commonly called "The Senior," and it has some of the most famous men living on its books, the Kaiser and the Czar being among its honorary members, while such great soldiers as Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener and Lord Wolseley are members. The other service clubs include the Army and Navy, the Junior United Service, the Cavalry and the Junior Naval and Military.

Among the political clubs the most important are the Carlton, for the Conservatives, and the Reform, which is strictly Liberal in its principles. The entrance fee to both is £40 and the annual subscription 10 guineas. Contrary to what many people believe, however, the membership of the Carlton and the Reform is not limited to politicians, for many men whose lives are spent far removed from the excitement of the political world belong to them.

The largest of the political clubs is the Constitution, which is housed in Northumberland avenue. It has a membership of 6500 who pay an entrance fee of 10 guineas or 15 guineas and an annual subscription of 7 guineas or 4 guineas, according as they are town or country members.

The National Liberal runs it close in membership, with 6000, while the Junior Carlton, in Piccadilly, has 5000 members, and the Junior Conservative 3500.

At the head of the scientific and literary clubs stands the Athenaeum, which was founded in 1824 for the association of persons of scientific and literary attainments and artists, and noblemen and gentlemen, patrons of learning, etc. Those who originally came together for the purpose were the Marquis of Lansdowne, the earls of Liverpool and Aberdeen, Faraday, Chantrey, Sir Thomas Moore, and seven men who were afterward to be Prime Ministers of England. The club, which stands on the site of what was formerly Carlton Palace, is of Grecian architecture, and the frieze is an exact copy of the procession which formed the frieze of the Parthenon at Athens.

The social clubs are exceedingly numerous, among the leading ones being the Bath, which combines society with swimming and other sporting accomplishments; the Windham, with the curious entrance fee of 31 guineas, and the Wellington, which admits women as visitors, as does the Bachelors'. Among the other famous social clubs are Boodle's, the Cocoa Tree, the Oriental, the Orleans, the Saville and the Thatched House.

For those interested in the theater there are the Garrick, in Garrick street, where famous actors can often be seen lunching as they sit at the tables by the windows; the Green Room, where the less exalted members of the theatrical profession fraternize, and the Savage, which numbers among its members lovers of music, literature and art, and includes no less a personage than the king himself.

Followers of art, literature and science have the Arts Club, where Royal Academicians and associates of the Royal Academy meet in friendly intercourse. For men who have traveled there is the Travellers' while 'varsity men are to be found at the Oxford and Cambridge, the New Oxford and Cambridge, the New University.

To satisfy the growing clubbable instincts and desires of women there are close on thirty women's clubs. The one with the largest membership is the Empress, which numbers 3600 women of social position, but the oldest is the Alexandra, which was established in 1884 for "ladies of position" only. In many respects the most interesting is the Lyceum, every member of which must have done some original work, and for this reason it stretches out its hands across the seas and has branches in the leading capitals of the world.—TIT-BITS.

How I Restore Nerve Force

Every organ of your body is governed by a network of nerve wires. These nerves convey the power which runs the human machine. This power is called nerve force. Nerve force is nothing but electricity. The reason any organ becomes weak is because the nerves which control it lack electricity, or nerve force, the motive power of your body. This lack of nerve force is shown by weakness of any kind, whether in the stomach, liver, kidneys, heart or other organs.

If your memory is poor, confidence and nerve all gone; sleep restless; if you suffer frequent headaches and your eyes are dull and heavy, it shows that your supply of nerve force is depleted.

So many men try to build up nerve force by dopping their stomachs with drugs. It is impossible. What the nerves require is nourishment—nerve food. If there was any nourishment in drugs, they might do some good, but you know there is not. Drugs are drugs, stimulants, narcotics, antidotes, poisons, not food. Electricity is nerve food—nerve force. It soaks into your nerves and is taken up by them just as a sponge absorbs water. It nourishes and vitalizes the parts which drugs cannot reach.

Every dose of drugs that you put into your stomach weakens your nerves. Every time you kill a pain or an ache—by stupefying the nerves with poisonous drugs, you are hurting them, and any one can see that in time, by steady dosing, your nervous system will be completely broken down.

Electro-Vigor is a relief from the old system of drugging. It does by natural means what you expect drugs to do by unnatural means. It gives back to the nerves and organs the power they have lost, which is their life.

Electro-Vigor is not an electric belt. It is a dry cell battery, and makes its own power. It is easily, comfortably worn next to the body during the night and gives out a continuous stream of that strength-building, nerve-feeding force which is the basis of all health.

My digestion has greatly improved under the use of Electro-Vigor and I can eat almost anything without distress. My circulation has improved and I am sure my strength is greater.

Honolulu, T. H.

REV. JNO. T. GULICK.

When I came to you I was in a very distressing condition. A continual drain has debilitated my system, and as invariably happens, the nervous system broke down also. To a man in such a condition life is nothing but a burden.

I am happy to say that I am now perfectly healthy and full of energy, all through the use of Electro-Vigor.

WM. ROCKEFELLER, La Moine, Cal.

Every sufferer should try Electro-Vigor. It is far cheaper than a course of drugging.

THE KING OF SPAIN'S INCOGNITOS.

The King of Spain is now traveling as the Duke of Toledo, but before his marriage his designation when on his journeys was Count of Covalonga—a title which recalls an interesting historical event. It was at Covalonga that Pelayo, in the year 718, fought the battle which saved a portion of the peninsula for Christendom and put the Moors to rout. Some of his men had climbed the precipices and destroyed the Moorish rearguard with showers of stones, while Pelayo himself charged their main body with the flower of his cavalry. Immediately after the victory his followers proclaimed him King of Spain in the village which was the scene of his triumph, and the title of Count of Covalonga, which he simultaneously assumed, has ever since been borne by his successors.

"Did she give you any encouragement?" "Well—she said she thought bright girls ought to marry simple-minded men."—Houston Post.

ORIENTAL RUG SALE

Thousands of Dollars Worth of Rare Antiques and Genuine Values

By the Alameda J. Hopp & Co., the furniture house in the Lewers & Cooke Bldg., received from one of the largest importers of Oriental Rugs in America a shipment of very fine rugs. These rugs are sent to us for selection. We will select a few from the large stock, sell as many as we can, and return the rest to the importer within a few days. The original importer of these goods authorizes us to guarantee them in every way. We guarantee to you that the rug you buy of us is exactly as we represent it. If we say it is antique you can be sure that there is no deception in the matter. Although many are genuine antiques you will find them shown under a very strong natural light. This is to the buyers' advantage as under a strong light defects caused by moths, tears, water, smoke, or inferior dyes can be readily detected. We invite your critical examination of the goods

The list of rugs includes: Kermanshak, Kurdistans, Daghistans, Kabistans, Shirvans, Shiraz, Cashmeres, Antiques, Anatolians, Khivas, Gwendjis, Chichis, Tereghans, Saraks and Bojharas. They are in all sizes from 3 ft. x 6 ft. to 9 ft. x 12 ft. We have no hesitation in saying that this is the finest lot of Oriental Rugs ever shown here at one time. The prices they are sold at in the East are marked on each rug and the rugs are to be sold here at the same price.

We invite you to inspect them Monday morning. The persons getting first view of these rugs will get bargains.

UNCLE DUDLEY A CHRISTMAS COMEDY

Farce comedy prevails again tomorrow night at the Orpheum theater, when Frank Cooley and Gladys Kingsbury and their company appear in "Uncle Dudley." A play of funnier plot would be hard to conceive, involving as it does a range of characters from a hypocritical old church deacon to a bullying prizefighter. The action takes place on Christmas day. Uncle Dudley hires a hypnotist to put his nephew under mesmeric influence in order to cure him of a propensity for staying out at night. How the nephew learns of his uncle's plan and turns the tables so that the uncle is himself hypnotized, is one of the complications of the story. Miss Kingsbury, as an up-to-date girl whose chief interest centers in boxing, has a light, merry role in which she does splendid work.

The play is particularly suited to Christmas week, as its action takes place on Christmas day and Uncle Dudley admits before the curtain is finally run down that he has spent the most enjoyable Christmas of his life.

Following "Uncle Dudley" it is planned to produce "At Risk of His Life," a stirring melodrama, rehearsals for which are already in progress.

SUNSHINE WANTED.

Editor Advertiser: I wish, through the columns of your paper, to thank those who have, in the past, so generously contributed to our Home.

Also to suggest that those, whose attention has not been drawn to our work, might be glad of an opportunity to send a little sunshine, at this holiday season, into the lives of our little children, who have a much smaller share than many.

Our work is comparatively unknown, but we have cared for over sixty Japanese and Korean women and children during the past year.

"I expect to pass through this world but once. If, therefore, there be any kindness I can show or any good thing I can do any fellow human being, let me do it now."

METTA S. MACK, Supt.
Susannah Wesley Home,
1444 King street, phone 1754.

ANOTHER RUSH.

There was another rush at Silva's Toggery last night and the people secured more of the quality ties for Christmas gifts. That is a feature in the Toggery, good-quality and the public seems to realize that it is the place to find it. Possibly this is instinctive in people who know Hart, Schaffner and Marx clothing as well as the Honolulu people do.

A REAL PROPHET.

The following prophecies are selected at random from among the thousand versus of Nostradamus's wonderful book of "Prophecies." They illustrate the character of all, and show in what ingenious fashion each may be interpreted to fit the knowledge of the reader. It must be kept in mind that Nostradamus claimed to have prophesied all important events from his day to the end of the world:

How is this for the American Revolution and Paul Jones?

The West shall be free of the British Islands.
The discovered shall pass low, then high,
Scottish pirates shall be who shall rebel
In a rainy and hot night.

Napoleon?

Of the name that a French King never was,
There was never a lightning so much feared,
Italy shall tremble, Spain and the English;
He shall be much taken with women strangers.

Louis Napoleon?

To the great Empire quite another shall come,
Being farther from goodness and happiness,
Governed by one of bare parentage,
The kingdom shall fall a great unhappiness.

Yellow perils?

The Kingdom of Fez shall come to those of Europe,
Fire and wood shall destroy the city.
The great one of Asia shall come by land and sea with a great troop,
So that the blues, greens and crosses to death he shall drive.

By the Kingdom of Fez he undoubtedly meant Turkey, and who cannot see in the "great one of Asia" the yellow race?—Metropolitan Magazine.

"I wish you would mention this to Jinks. It is highly important." "I'll mention it to him today." "But how do you know you will see him today?" "I'm bound to bump into him. I owe him money."—St Paul Pioneer-Press.

Policeman (holding down tramp on sidewalk)—No damage, ma'am; he's merely having a fit. Kind Lady—Gracious! Shall I get some water and throw it in his face? Policeman—Do you want to kill him?—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

"Are you going to settle anything on your daughter?" asked the young man with the cigarette and languid air. "Well, it rather looks if she marries you that she is going to settle something on me," replied the parent.—Yonkers Statesman.

Jack (encountering an old friend)—Hello, Jim! Fancy you volunteering! Jim—Well, you see, I've no wife and family and I love war. But what brings you out here? Jack—That's just the point, I've got a wife and family and I love peace.—Regiment.

AN UNFORTUNATE AMBIGUITY.

Parson.—Where is the other man who used to be here as keeper?
Park Gatekeeper.—He's dead, sir.
Parson (with feeling).—Dead! Poor fellow! Joined the great majority, eh?
Park Gatekeeper.—Oh, I wouldn't like to say that, sir. He was a good enough man as far as I know. —Punch.

Newspaper of the Jungle

Big game shooting promises to take the place of bridge as the amusement of society. British East Africa is, in fact, the big game hunter's paradise. Since the building of the Uganda Railway tourists can reach the only large tract of country in the world where wild animals have been carefully preserved and are about as plentiful as rabbits.

The tourist can travel by comfortable steamships through the Mediterranean, the Suez Canal and the Red Sea, and land at Mombasa, where he finds a modern railway with dining and sleeping cars and all the other accompaniments of civilization. This takes him to Nairobi, where he is in the heart of the lion and elephant country. Leopards are as plentiful as tabby cats and lions are three a penny.

British East Africa is on the edge of a boom as a pleasure resort, and David Garrick Longworth, the proprietor and editor of the Globe Trotter, a paper published at Nairobi, has come to London to start the boom. Mr. Longworth has had experience in booming countries as pleasure resorts, for he was editor of the Sphinx at Cairo for 10 years, and conducted a publicity campaign for Egypt which helped to make it known all over the world as the ideal place to spend a winter. Lord Cromer has written to Mr. Longworth complimenting him on his work for the development of Egypt and the Khedive has decorated him.

The Globe Trotter, which is Mr. Longworth's latest venture in journalism, is unlike anything else in the way of a newspaper that has ever been published. Its society columns are occupied with the doings of lions, elephants, rhinoceroses and other inhabitants of the jungle, and what little space is left after describing their doings is devoted to stories about parties and individuals "on safari."

Safari, by the way, promises to become a recognized addition to the English language before long. It is quite untranslatable, but any one who has ever been on a hunting expedition in British East Africa knows all the joy that the word calls up. It is derived from the Arabic "msafara," which means a caravan but as used in British East Africa it means a big game hunting expedition with all the comforts of modern civilization.

The Globe Trotter is full of advertisements by enterprising gentlemen who wish to provide outfits for safari parties, serve as guides for them or to sell them mules or donkeys or zebras, for the tame zebra is almost as familiar a beast of burden in the safari country as the horse or ass.

"Big game is our staple industry," said Mr. Longworth to an Express representative. "You can shoot it from the windows of the Pullman cars on the Uganda Railway or from the steps of your hotel, which, by the way, is equipped with electric light, lifts and everything else that you would expect in the center of civilization. Occasionally, it is true, the attentions of the lions and leopards are a little annoying; but, after all, that only adds a spice of excitement to life in Nairobi. "We don't try to hush up such little matters out there. In fact, our town authorities make the most of it when a lion makes a little raid in the main street and carries off a coolie. They want to advertise the fact and to let all the world know that there is still a corner of the earth where all kinds of big game can be had for the shooting."

"Come," they say to the shooter. "Pay us £50 for a game license and we will allow you to kill or capture the following animals:

- 2 elephants.
  - 2 rhinoceroses.
  - 2 hippopotamuses.
  - 2 zebras.
  - 2 gemsbucks.
  - 1 eland.
  - 1 sable hippopotamus.
  - 1 roan hippopotamus.
  - 2 kudus.
  - 2 tapis.
  - 2 hartebeestes.
  - 1 bongu.
  - 2 aard-varks.
  - 2 cheetahs.
  - 2 aard-wolves.
  - 2 marabouts.
  - 2 egrets.
  - 10 antelope of certain species.
  - 10 chevratins.
- "We have all these in stock," they say. "Where can you find a better collection outside Regent's Park, and all ours are running wild and in inexhaustible numbers."

Mr. Longworth is looking forward to the time when the news of the lions and hippos will be crowded out by the news of new arrivals to hunt them. At present the editor of the Globe Trotter finds his news a little monotonous sometimes, although it must have been rather exciting to those engaged in making it. Here are a few extracts from a news item concerning the adventures of a babu station master at a station called Simba, on the Uganda Railway. Simba, by the way, means "place of lions." The station master sent the following telegram to headquarters:

"Urgent. To Traffic Manager. 1:45 A. M. "Lion is on platform. Please instruct guard and driver to proceed carefully and without signal in yard. Guard to advise passengers not to get out here and be careful when coming in office."

While the unhappy babu was barricaded in his office a big game hunter arrived as a sort-of relief expedition. He saw a lioness roaming about the metals looking for trouble and sniffing for the train to arrive, and he shot her at 50 yards' range. Shortly afterward two lions strolled across the permanent way. One met the same fate; the other was wounded and attacked the hunter.

Meanwhile the station master was still worried by lions. Here is his next telegram, dated the same day, 8:50 a. m.

"One African injured at 6 o'clock, again by lion, and hence sent to Makindu Hospital by trolley. Traffic Manager please send cartridges by four down train certain."

The next telegram is more alarming. It is marked "Extra urgent."

"Pointsman is surrounded by two lions while returning from distant signal, and hence pointsman went on top of telegraph pole near water tank. Train to stop there and take him on train, and then proceed. Traffic Manager to please arrange necessary steps."

The issue of the Globe Trotter containing this interesting news item is in itself an example of the possibilities of the country. The cover is made of bark cloth, which forms the principal clothing of the natives.

The happy native has not to pay anything for his clothes. When he wants a new suit or his wife a new dress he simply goes into the forest, strips the bark off a tree and pounds it with a rigid mallet for a few minutes. The result is a material closely resembling crepe, which wears very well, and can be cut and sewed in any form desired.

British East Africa would be an ideal place for a Socialist colony. A man can live there almost without labor. He has bananas growing wild for food, bananas beer for drink and bark cloth for clothing.—London Express.

"Boo-hoo!" sobbed the young wife. "I just know that you didn't think of me once while you were on your vacation." "Why, Julia, how can you talk like that?" protested her husband. "Didn't I mail you a postal card with a scene of every place I visited?" "Yes, but, G-George, they were all postmarked Chicago and received the day after you left."—Chicago Daily News.

Doctor (to patient)—Your heart is rather irregular. Have you anything that is worrying you? Patient—Oh, not particularly. Only that just now when you put your hand in your pocket I thought you were going to give me your bill.—London Telegraph.

"You know Shakespeare was a bad actor," said the man who prides himself on his theatrical lore. "That," answered Mr. Stormington Barnes, "is merely hearsay. Maybe the critics who reported his performances didn't know any more about acting than critics nowadays."—Washington Star.

Farmer.—Gosh! This is a great machine. I run over that feller and never felt the bump. —Duluth News-Tribune.

Borus (struggling author)—You book reviewers were unnecessarily severe on that last novel of mine. Naggus—Why, you ungrateful hound, with one accord we pronounced it one of the cleanest and most uplifting works of fiction that had appeared this season. Borus—That's what I mean, I haven't sold a single copy.—Chicago Tribune.

Gaddie—You don't seem to have made a very satisfactory impression on Borem. Cleverley—I tried very hard to do so. Gaddie—Well, he told me you didn't impress him as a man he would care to associate with very much. Cleverley—Fine. That's very satisfactory. It's the very impression I wanted to make.—Philadelphia Press

In Waikiki Land Case—Money Suits Brought—Federal Sentences, Etc.

A bill of exceptions has been filed by C. W. Ashford for defendants in the case of Territory of Hawaii v. Moses Puahi et al. This is the case in which the Territory obtained judgment for a piece of land at Waikiki, stipulated to be of more than $5000 value. Defendants had challenged the constitutionality of the great division of lands by the king in 1848, also that of the Organic Act, with regard to konohiki and crown lands respectively. Should the Supreme Court affirm the judgment, an appeal may be taken to Washington. The stipulation of value was made in view of such a contingency.

SUITS FOR MONEY.

Kwong Le Yuen Co. sues Chin Ping, otherwise known as Ah Ping, doing business under the name of Ping Kee at Kaaanapali, Maui, for $4839.67 with interest at 9 per cent. per annum as promised at an accounting held on May 14, 1906.

Suit has been brought by the First American Savings and Trust Co. of Hawaii, Ltd., against A. J. Campbell, Treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii, for two sums of $750 and $15, making $765 in all, together with interest, costs and attorney's commission.

CHINAMEN COULD QUIT.

C. F. Peterson for plaintiff and Castle & Withington for defendant in the suit of Hattie Kekalukalu Kekino v. Y. Ahin have filed a stipulation as to what Y. Ahin's testimony will be if he does not return to the jurisdiction before the trial. It is substantially as follows:

Ahin assigned the lease in question on October 2, 1907, to members of the copartnership known as Kwong Yee Wai Co. In the latter part of 1904 he, together with Young Hee and S. K. Mahoe, went to see the plaintiff and told her that unless she was willing to grant a reduction in the rent he and the tenants would quit, as they were cultivating the premises at a great loss. She replied that under no circumstances would she reduce the rent and that if the Chinamen did not want the place they could quit. On the faith of this statement made by plaintiff he did then and there quit the premises and has never occupied them since.

FEDERAL SENTENCES.

Judge Dole sentenced Nectario J. Luiz to imprisonment eight months, and his paramour Salamanca four months, with costs added in both instances.

INDICTMENTS ATTACKED.

E. C. Peters moved to quash the indictment of Jacob Rosenberg for receiving stolen goods, on the ground that the grand jury had been illegally summoned. Judge Lindsay reserved his ruling until Monday.

J. Lightfoot entered a demurrer to the indictment of Lee Sa Kee on the ground that the Edmunds Act was never intended to have force in the Territory of Hawaii. Judge Dole reserved his ruling and continued the case until January 2.

COURT ITEMS.

Judge De Bolt gave judgment for plaintiff for $434.41 with interest in the suit of E. O. Hall & Son, Ltd. v. J. J. Harvey.

Judge De Bolt granted a divorce to Kapailkapu Kaalua against Lota Kaalua. Ah Loy also succeeded in obtaining a divorce from Annie Waikapu.

J. W. Cathcart is substituted for Charles Creighton, deceased, as attorney for plaintiff in the suit of C. Ah Pau & Co. v. Oceanic Steamship Co.

Judge Lindsay received an agreed statement of facts in the gutter ordinance test case, Territory v. McCandless and Armstrong, and gave the attorneys until Tuesday to file authorities.

LAUNDRYMAN FINED FORTY AND COSTS

A stiff fine was handed out by Judge Andrade yesterday morning in the case against Fong Kee, a Chinese laundryman who failed to live up to the rules made and provided by the Board of Health. The fine was much the largest inflicted on any of the delinquents on the calendar. W. H. Wilkinson paying seven dollars for a drunk and Robert Sloan getting off with four. Louisa Testa and a companion booked as Joe Reyes had their cases go over until Tuesday. They are accused of dissoluteness.

LABORATORY FOR LEPROSARIUM.

Dr. Brinckerhoff expects to receive on the Texan, due next week, the supplies for a complete laboratory, the laboratory which will be fitted up for his work in the leprosarium on Molo-kai. He expects to set up the majority of the instruments in his quarters in the Marine Hospital Service building in town and will use them for the training of the laboratory assistants he has employed, so that when the time comes for real work there need be no time lost in training the men. Within a year from date Dr. Brinckerhoff expects to be installed in the new buildings at the settlement.

Gladys—Papa will be so pleased to know that you are a poet. Algernon—Ah! Then, like you, he adores poetry. Gladys—No, not that, but the last one of my lovers he tried to lick was a football player.—Life.
