THE INDUSTRIAL COURT

CAUSE No. 66 OF 1993

Parties:

Tailors and Textiles Workers' Union
and

Messrs. Texco Spinning Mills Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Refusal by the company to recognize our union.

Charles A. Mboya for the claimants.

Tom A. Osiru for the respondents.

AWARD

The Notification of Dispute Form "A", dated 22nd March, 1993, and duly signed by the parties pursuant to section 14 (7) of the Trade Disputes Act, Cap. 234, Laws of Kenya, together with the statutory certificate from the Labour Commissioner under section 14 (9) (e) of the said Act, were received by the court on 28th July, 1993. The matter was then listed for mention on 11th August, 1993, when the parties were directed to file their submissions on 25th August, and 3rd September, 1993, respectively, and the case was fixed for hearing on 15th September, 1993. The claimants, however, belatedly submitted their memorandum on 2nd September, 1993, to which the respondents filed their replying written statement on 9th instant.

The respondents are a limited liability company situated in Nakuru, and they undertake spinning of cotton yarn for use in the manufacture of blankets. It is stated by the respondents that they started operations on trial basis in 1989 to June, 1990, and went into full operations in July, 1990. They were registered as a factory by the factories inspectorate on 30th November, 1991 (Annexure 1). The total labour force in 1989, was 40 employees, 4 of whom were managerial cadre. The labour force has since increased to a total of 75 employees, 5 of whom are supervisors and 10 are trainees on indentured learners scheme, or apprentices (Annexure 2). The current unionisable employees stand at 60.

In October, 1990, the claimants submitted their memorandum for recognition to the respondents, but after some negotiations the latter rejected the demand on the following grounds—

- (i) that contrary to the normal procedure, the check-off list was prepared and forwarded by the branch secretary and not the secretary-general;
- (ii) that the second schedule thereof only indicated the names of 13 employees who allegedly joined the claimants' union without bona fide date and original signature of the secretary-general thereon; and
- (iii) that the claimants had not attained a simple majority as required by the relevant laws on matters of recognition.

On 20th March, 1991, the claimants reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour over the matter; and in accordance with section 7 of the said Act, the Minister appointed E. H. Ochieng of Nakuru Labour Office to act as an investigator. On 15th October, 1992, the minister's report was released to the parties in which he "recommended that the management accord the union recognition with immediate effect" (Annexure 5).

The claimants accepted the Minister's recommendation, but the respondents rejected it for the following reasons—

- (a) that the investigator did not take into consideration their submission;
- (b) that the investigator did not make a physical check in order to ascertain the actual labour force and the correct number of employees who were alleged to have joined the claimants' union; and
- (c) that only 13 employees had joined the union and not 22 as alleged by the claimants.

The claimants submitted that prior to approaching the respondents in October, 1990, for recognition, they had recruited into their union a simple majority, i.e. not less than 51 per cent of the latter's unionisable employees (Annexure 6); and prepared a check-off list and forwarded it to the respondents to effect deductions of the union membership dues. The respondents did not accept the check-off, terming it a forgery. They contended further that since they were the right union to represent the employees and that no other rival union claiming representation, the respondents should accord them recognition so as to avoid strikes, lock-outs, etc.

The claimants, therefore, prayed the court to endorse the Minister's findings and recommendation and award them recognition.

In their written submission, the respondents stated that in July, 1990, the claimants had recruited 13 employees, or 39 per cent out of 34 unionisable staff; and the check-off list thereof was undated and contained duplicate signatures. They maintained that the claimants did not comply with the laid down procedure in their dealings with them, and accused them, the claimants, of being dishonest and insincere in handling this matter.

In the circumstances, the respondents prayed that the claimants are not entitled to recognition until they fulfilled the requirements of the law.

In this dispute, the claimants have urged the court to award them recognition on the ground that they had recruited into their union a simple majority of the respondents' employees, but the respondents have resisted the demand for lack of the required simple majority. Under section 5 (2) of the Trade Disputes Act, Cap. 234, Laws of Kenya, the conditions precedent to the recognition of a trade union are—

- (a) that the trade union has in its membership a simple majority of employees eligible by virtue of the union's constitution to join that particular undertaking or a group of undertakings; and
- (b) that there is no rival union claiming to represent such employees.

Keeping in view the aforementioned conditions, the only dispute for consideration in this case is whether the claimants had, in October, 1990 or on 20th March, 1991, when the dispute was reported to the Minister for Labour recruited into their union a simple majority of the respondents' unionisable employees. On careful scrutiny of all the annexures and other documents produced in support of the parties' respective written submissions and verbal arguments, we are unable to find that the claimants have proved their case for recognition by the respondents. Annexure 6 to the claimants' written submission shows that the employees thereunder were recruited into the union on 13th July, 1993, and not in 1990. We have looked in vain into the claimants' written arguments to find out whether they had, on or before 20th March, 1991, recruited into their union a simple majority of the respondents' unionisable employees, but there is no evidence on the record to show that they commanded such a simple majority. It is, therefore, difficult for us to ask the respondents to recognize the claimants in the absence of clear evidence to support their demand.

In the result, we hold that the claimants have not fulfilled the conditions of section 5 (2) hereinabove, and are, therefore, not competent at the moment to represent the employees in the respondents' undertaking. The demand is rejected.

THE INDUSTRIAL COURT CAUSE No. 8 OF 1994

Parties:

Kenya Building, Construction, Timber, Furniture and Allied Industries Employees' Union
and Messrs. Gachagua Ltd.

Issue in dispute:

Recognition.

Mr. C. A. J. Osicho for claimants.

No appearance for the respondents

AWARD

In this dispute the claimants are seeking recognition from the respondents on the grounds that they are the sole and rightful union to represent the unionisable employees of the latter; that there is no rival union; and that they have recruited into their union the mandatory simple majority of the unionisable employees of the respondents.

The respondents are incorporated as a limited liability company and carrying on business of saw milling at Molo in Rift Valley Province. On 3rd August, 1989, the claimants approached the respondents for a formal recognition (Annexure 1), but received no response, and on 9th September, 1989, they reported a trade dispute to the Minister for Labour (Annexure 2), in accordance with section 4 of the Trade Disputes Act, Cap. 234, Laws of Kenya (hereinafter called "the Act"). The Minister appointed Mr. B. M. Ochanda of Molo Labour Office to act as the investigator; and in his subsequent report, which was released to the parties on 11th February, 1992, the Minister recommended that:

"Having considered both parties' submissions coupled with production and perusal of muster roll and check-off list forms, the union did manage to recruit more than 51 per cent in their membership the employer accords the union formal recognition forthwith in order to pave way for the employees' improved terms and conditions of employment." (Annexures 3 and 4).

The claimants accepted the recommendation, but the respondents did not react to it.

Consequently, the dispute was referred to the court by the Minister for Labour on 8th February, 1994, in accordance with section 8 of the Act. The reference, together with the statutory certificate from the Labour Commissioner, pursuant to section 14 (9) (e) of the Act, were received by the court on 10th February, 1994, and the dispute was listed for mention on 23rd February, 1994. On this date, Mr. C. A. J. Osicho appeared for the claimants, but the respondents failed to appear although they were notified by post at their address on record. In the circumstances, it was directed that the parties should file their written statements on or before 9th and 30th March, 1994, respectively, and the case was fixed for hearing on 21st April, 1994. The respondents were again informed by post. The claimants filed their memorandum on 10th March, 1994, but the respondents did not submit their reply statement thereto. On 21st April, 1994, the respondents did not appear and the dispute was, therefore, heard ex parte.

The claimants submitted that saw millers in Molo area are anti-union activities and this is the fourth case of this kind against them. They, however, pressed their demand for recognition on the grounds that the employees of the respondents are entitled to union representation; that the terms and conditions of service of the employees affecting their welfare can only be determined by negotiations between the parties when they recognize each other; that freedom of association and the right to union representation is enshrined in the country's constitution and it would be a violation of it if the respondents refuse to recognize them; and that it would be for the common good of the parties if they recognize each other so as to promote good industrial relations.

They submitted that they had initially recruited into their union 120 members out of 171 unionisable employees, but the current membership stands at 108 out of 140 unionisable employees (vide Annexure 5 and C.Exh. 1).

The claimants, therefore, prayed the court to award them recognition by the respondents.

This dispute is undefended although the respondents were duly served by post at their address on the record. There is, however, no doubt that the claimants are the sole and rightful union to represent the unionisable employees of the respondents as there is no rival union in the industry. There is also evidence on this record (C.Exh. 1) to show that they represent the majority of the unionisable employees—i.e. 104 out of 140, or 74.3 per cent.

That being the case, we are satisfied that the claimants are entitled to recognition by the respondents in accordance with the requirements of section 5 (2) of the Act; and accordingly we direct and order that the parties must sign a recognition agreement for negotiating and collective bargaining purposes within two months from the date of this award.

Given at Nairobi on 13th May, 1994.
