Corona slows down and accelerates

This is now the second annual report, whose content is clearly influenced by the Corona pandemic. On one hand, Corona (temporarily) slowed down developments, on the other hand, it accelerated them.

By Ulrich Hahne and Wilken Treu

For the first time, this annual report is not primarily oriented towards the events and highlights of the past year, but towards developments that have taken place in and around the Hannoveraner Verband in 2021 and that will influence the future. The key figures relating to the area of breeding reflect a diverse picture, as usual. The increases in the number of registered foals and the amount of coverings as well as the increase in the number of newly registered mares are pleasing. However, it must certainly be taken into account that this increase is to some degree due to a "Corona backlog", as significantly fewer mares were newly registered last year. The three-year average remains at a constant level compared to 2019.

The continued steady decline in the number of members and in the total of all registered mares is regrettable. Last year we explained that the Verband was gradually losing long-standing members who had not been actively involved in breeding for some time; this trend continues. Looking at mare performance tests, an increase in numbers compared to the previous year is noticeable; however, in comparison with 2019, there is a renewed decline. In addition, the increase in the number of tested mares is due exclusively to mares that have completed their broodmare test in the form of a sport test as part of a dressage horse class or a jumping-horse class. The pilot project Hannoveraner Sport Test Dressage and Show-Jumping was well received. 47 mares participated and, from this year on, it will become a permanent part of the Hannoveraner mare performance testing system; a section for eventing will be added.

With regard to the testing of mares, the Hannoveraner Verband is thus also opening up towards the sport accommodating those breeders with sport ambitions. In 2021, for the second year in a row, mares received awards not only at mare shows, but also directly at mare performance testing sites.

In January, Sascha Böhnke opened the Verden auction year with top priced horse Schiller. In February, Escamillo was awarded the Weltmeyer Prize, and in August, he and rieder Manuel Bernal Dominguez became Vice World Champions of six-year-old dressage horses.

It is not meant to hide the fact that mare shows with continuously declining numbers of participants have additionally suffered from these competitive events. Nevertheless, this system offers optimization for the breeder and reduces the training time for the young mares. Different regions of the breeding area decided differently on the continuation of the mare show-system and the premium-system of the Hannoveraner Verband. As a logical consequence, two systems will coexist in 2022. Accordingly, there will be combined events, which include a mare performance test and a mare show with the option of receiving the title "Hannoveraner Prämienanwartschaft", as well as the option of separating these events and hosting them on different days. The representatives of the breeders in the different horse breeding clubs and district associations will make the decision which system to use. Declining and/or modified events must not lead to the Verband withdrawing from the regions. The committee for breeders' relations started the discussion about alternative events. The breeders must always support and execute possible new developments. This can lead to different results in different regions.

First Championship for eventers

In eventing, the first Hannoveraner cross-country horse championships took place. This closed another championship gap for young Hannoveraner. In Luhmühlen, foals for eventing were specifically offered at the auction of the AG Lüneburg North. In addition, during the first week of March, Verden will offer an eventing clinic, which will include training days and lectures, an indoor event in the Niedersachsenhalle (jumping classes over cross-country obstacles) and a round-table discussion for breeders with the main topic "Thoroughbred blood in the breeding of event horses". We currently observe that other studbooks are increasgly devoting themselves to the subject of eventing and hence the Hannoveraner Verband is all the more maintaining its efforts in this field. Important impulses have been set and the Breeding Committee Eventing has taken on initiating further projects.

This also applies to the Show Jumping Committee, which, among other things, has made the Hannoveraner Program For Breeding Show Jumpers more sport-oriented. Firstly new admission criteria apply to stallions that have to meet competition requirements because of their age in order to be admitted to the program. In another step, the committee will turn its attention to mares. For them, a multi-stage entry system is conceivable and will be implemented in 2022. The far greater change, however, has affected the licensing of the jumping stallions. In 2020, a discipline-related licensing commission was used for the first time, and due to corona, the licensing of show jumping stallions was already somewhat separated from the licensing of dressage stallions.

The Hannoveraner Verband further developed this step last year creating the show jumping licensing in combination with the newly established Hannoveraner Show Jumping Masters for four- to eight-year-old horses. In addition, a three-year-old stallion was presented at a Verden main licensing for the first time. The premium recipient and high-priced Chaflight by Chacfly/Sunlight xx demonstrated an additional possibility for future approvals to positively present young Hannoveraners according to their individual development. This does not only apply to the division of show jumpers. It is now important to optimize the experience, which was gained last year, for future events and to give the Hannoveraner show jumping breed a modern face.

* incl. Hannoveraner sport test (47 mares/7 dates)

The perception of how people act in society is also reflected in the discussion about the licensing date. This has come under criticism not only outside the breeding community. The above mentioned Chaflight, however, offers an alternative to the breeders who consider the licensing of their stallion at two-and-a-half years too early. The Hannoveraner Verband must question itself with respect to this issue and accept this discussion. It advocates for the continuation of licensing two-year-old stallions. But the horse industry must be willing to make changes in the preparation and presentation of young stallions and must recognize that a need for change exists.

Intense discussions

The Dressage Committee, together with Germany's co-national trainer Jonny Hilberath, initiated a discussion about the breeding of dressage horses. In an intensive discussion, which was made available to the breeders as a video message, the committee dealt with the topic, which qualifies a horse needs for competing at the Grand Prix-level and when these can be identified. This is an absolutely necessary discussion if the Hannoveraner Verband wants to maintain its superior position in the sport of dressage long term. However, the number of offspring of stallions, of which 30 foals and more were registered last year, shows that this discussion is predominantly given little consideration in the breeding decisions of Hannoveraner breeders. The focus is mainly on young stallions.

Nevertheless, in 2021 some very special Hannoveraner stallions once again succeeded in putting themselves in the limelight in all age groups and in all disciplines of the equestrian sport. The media of the Verband continuously reported on this and tried to meet the demands. In addition to the readers of this members' magazine, there are almost 70,000 followers of the Facebook account, which has now been in operation for ten years reaching almost seven million people based on the posts during the year 2021. Newer, but just as important in terms of perception, is the development on Instagram, where 35,000 followers (+14) are matched by a reach of almost three million (+300 percent). Contributions/posts on these channels by the Hannoveraner Verband are almost equal. In addition, the number of views of the Hannoveraner homepage lies in an acceptable range with about 270,000 users – especially considering the fact that the auction events were almost completely presented on a separate online auction website (~ 310,000 users).

The above key figures did not, however, prevent the Hannoveraner Verband from not having a flawless year in terms of public image. The reason is not its representation in the various forms of media, but in the depiction of structural issues, which the major structural reform brought about and the associated human side following the election. The business activities of the Hannoveraner Verband were not affected; the committees continuously worked intensively on the issues. It is not possible to report all the results, but often the direction and further procedures on current and future issues were discussed, recommended, sometimes discarded and thus fed into the strategy process of the Hannoveraner Verband. This also characterizes the work of the committees, which is stamped by good will and a lot of conviction for the cause. For this time-intensive commitment to the Hannoveraner Verband, thanks are due to all committee members.

Lively demand

The horse sales in the riding horse sector during 2021 proved to be strong. A shortage of supply due to the nationwide decline in foal numbers in recent years has been countered by a brisk demand for some time now. The auctions are also profiting from this, partly even strengthened by the, by now, familiar possibilities of expanding the reach by means of online auctions. As a representative of the successful auction year, the November auction in 2021 resulted in an increase of the average price by 5,000 Euros compared to the team to start the season with a bi-weekly, continuous schedule of auctions. A doubling of the sales figures was the result (2020: 145 foals, 1.35 million Euros; 2021: 299 foals, 3.05 million Euros). The results raise questions about the medium-term auction system. The pandemic-related restrictions have not led to a clouding of the horse market, and the system of online auctions makes it possible to continue selling many horses without people coming together. There are at least two different attitudes regarding this issue: The desire to return to the "meeting place Verden" versus the desire to buy a horse in a "smart" fashion and with a certain anonymity or at a spatial distance. The Hannoveraner Verband is striving for a mix of future auction possibilities. Online auctions are indispensable; at the same time, a lively meeting place and an exchange of ideas at the location Verden should be guaranteed for certain occasions for breeders, exhibitors, buyers and the staff of the Verband.

professional location with Verden. By now, the organizers are getting used to the routine, and ways have been found to keep the distances for riders and helpers short on the spacious grounds. Based on the experiences from the previous year, a year-round frequency of show events is still planned. The goal is to link and interlock breeding and sport on the grounds of the Verband. The World Championships for Young Dressage Horses demonstrated the possibilities of the Verband's show grounds. The entire terrain was beautifully prepared in a manner befitting its status. Although such large events continue to be labor-intensive, the event concept has at least led to a balanced event budget.

In 2021, competition riders were probably more active in Verden than breeders. The outdoor show grounds were used for Hannoveraner Verband competitions as well as for externally organized shows. The change in shows add a longer-term,

Timely action

While the timely actions at the site in Verden continue to be subject to review, decisions have already been made at the sites in Alsfeld and Wickrath. The final phase of the sale of the equestrian centre in Alsfeld has started: After 17 years of affiliation with the Hannoveraner Verband, the Hessian site will most likely be eliminated. The decision is a result of the developments over the past years and is part of a process of the Hannoveraner Verband to refocus. After the managing director of Schloss Wickrath GmbH, Fabio Ladwig, left, the team around Jörg Zahn started reorganizing the event centre In Wickrath, Rhineland. Third-party rentals and in-house events are increasingly ensuring adequate use to capacity, which must prove true during the entire year of 2022.

These developments should not be interpreted as a retreat from the regions. The voluntary work of the local horse breeding clubs provides an important unity and the understanding for the aforementioned decisions. In addition to the allegiance of regional breeders, a beyond-regional tool for binding breeders to the Hannoveraner Verband was also created exactly one year ago. Instead of cancelling all information and educational offers, the Hannoveraner WebSeminars were created. With the goal of educating people about the basics of breeding and improving the assessment of a horse's strengths and weaknesses, online seminars were held weekly over a period of months for interested groups of breeders. The demand coincides with the increased need for support by newcomers of recent years, to which the Hannoveraner Verband will open up more and more.

In addition to pure business activities, the year 2021 was also marked by projects that were pushed ahead. Be it within the Hannoveraner Verband or beyond. The restrictions during the past year often set limits; (interim) goals were not always achieved. The common health database could not be started yet, a Hannoveraner breeding value estimation model based on the linear description is still being worked out, and the Hannoveraner participation in the development of genomic selection is still pending. However, in the sense of further developing the services offered to Hannoveraner breeders, these are projects that demand a high priority. In addition, improvement procedures and further training in the daily business are also necessary. The committee of finance, personnel, and law has taken this as an opportunity to start a concept for personnel development. The aim is the continuous, strategic training and further education of the staff to be able to stand up to the changing demands of clients and to accompany a continuous improvement process.

On the part of the Verband's management, the task for 2022 is to return to a stronger exchange and cooperation directly at the grassroots level of the horse breeding clubs under more "normal" conditions. The horse breeding clubs with its voluntary officials continues to be an important anchor for the breeders' loyalty to the Verband and should be cultivated. ■

Two World Cup-Victories

One week before Christmas, Hannover's jumpers delivered convincing performances. While Coby and Philipp Weishaupt won the World Cup-jumping class in Riyadh/UAE, Count Me In and Connor Swail triumphed on the other side of the globe in Fort Worth/USA.

By Britta Züngel

Count Me In was born in 2007 in Stöckendrebber, the northernmost city district of Neustadt am Rübenberge. Friedrich and Bernd Lübmann had acquired his dam Sunshine as a young horse. "Sunshine's dam, the Mahon/Hessenstein-daughter Maritim, was an intelligent and tough mare," remembers her breeder Monika Ahlers from Grethem. Sunshine's sire Sherlock Holmes, who had been second in both dressage and jumping at his 300-day-test and was highly favored by breeders, also contributed to the clear dual predisposition. And Sunshine could jump – with a straight "very good" the bay completed the free jumping-part of the mare performance test. She passed this talent on to her offspring. Her son by Le Pri-meur, born in 2005, was the top seller at the winter auction in Verden in January of 2009 and celebrated successes up to 1.60 metres as S.I.E.C. Lonnie with rider Hamad Nasser Al Qadi. "Count Me In always wanted to jump, and had a lot of power," Bernd Lübmann remembers. He was sold to Canada as a foal. His breeders followed his development. "We kept hearing about him, also that he might have been a bit difficult as a young horse." Count Me In found his way into the barn of Beth Underhill. The world-class rider owes her greatest successes to a Hannoveraner: With the New Zealand-born Witzbold/Ab-ridge Member xx-son Monopoly (breeder: J. A. Cottle, Johnsonville/NZL), she competed at the Olympic Games in Barcelona/ESP and participated in the World Equestrian Games in The Hague/NED and Rome/ITA. With a winning total of over 1 million dollars, Monopoly was accepted into the "Jump Canada Hall of Fame". At their third international competition, Count Me In and Beth Underhill finished third in a 1.45 metre-class at the CSI2* in Caledon/CAN. They won their first Grand Prix in Rockwood/CAN three months later. In the following five years, numerous other top placings followed in Canada and the USA.

It was only in July last year that the 61-year-old handed over the reins to Conor Swail. He got off to a dream start with a victory in the very first competition. This was followed by four spectacular victories in highly prized, 1.50-metre jumping classes, before he made it to the World Cup in Fort Worth/USA. "His consistency is phenomenal," the Irishman said of his "Crosby" in an interview. "He is developing into one of the best horses I have ever had and we are only at the beginning of our career together. With every course that I jump with him, he gets more confident, more comfortable. And he is so careful, has quality and is fast. He has a lot of potential – so it's exciting." ■

Adieu Fine Lady

It was to be a very special farewell for a very special horse: In Geneva, Eric Lamaze officially retired Fine Lady from competitions.

By Britta Züngel

"That little mare" was bidden farewell to the sport in Geneva. Photos: Lafrentz

The Forsyth/Drosselklang II-daughter Fine Lady was one of the showpieces of the Hannoveraner showjumping breed. "She is in great health and fit, but she is already 18 years old," said Eric Lamaze. And he chose the appropriate venue for the farewell: In Geneva, he was the first Canadian to win the 300,000 Euro Rolex Top 10-final. He did it with "that little mare". Since 2014, Fine Lady has not only carried her rider to 32 victories on the world's most renowned show grounds – in Calgary alone they won eight times and in Aachen three times – but also to Olympic bronze in Rio de Janeiro in 2016. The wiry bay only had a jumping fault in the jump-off for the medals. "I would like to say a special thank you to the Zieglers for supporting me with Fine Lady," said the 53-year-old at the farewell ceremony. "She is a horse I will never forget and I will miss her very much. I'm glad we can give her the retirement she deserves. Hopefully we will have many Fine Lady-foals in the future."

Fine Lady was born at Wilhelm Leymann's farm in Wedehorn on March 9, 2003. She was very sensitive from the beginning. The Grannus-daughter Golden Lady from the line of Flindra was a big success for the breeder. She is not only the granddam of Fine Lady, but also of Delloren by Drosselklang II/Acord, who was longlisted for Rio with Nasser Al Ghazali. Fine Lady's great talent became apparent very early on. Family Baum, whose stallion station in Hofheim-Wallau was home to sire Forsyth, purchased her after they had seen the petite bay mare in the free-jumping chute. Fine Lady celebrated the first victory of her career with Franziska Baum in Bad Homburg in a jumping horse-class at the A-level. A short time later Karl-Heinz Löffler came to the Fohlenhof. He significantly influenced her career. He was looking for talented young horses for jumper rider Andre Stude. "He was at the beginning of his career at that time. I wanted to buy him a really good horse," the Thuringian recalls. He was particularly impressed by the light-footedness of the then five-year-old. She jumped like a leopard. "And I liked the Hannoveraner blood of Drosselklang II – it produces toughness and courage!" Success came straight away. Nevertheless, Fine Lady took a year off in 2009 and gave birth to a colt. The sire is Cornet's Stern, winner of the Westphalian licensing and a Bundeschampion at that time. DSP Corny Star lives up to his parents; he is successful up to 1.45 metres with rider Henry Stude.

Back in the show ring, Fine Lady celebrated her first advanced (S) level victory in August, barely eight months after giving birth to her son. Six victories and 68 placings later, the first part of the success story came to an abrupt end. Andre Stude went to the State Stud in Moritzburg and wanted to take his successful horse with him. "I didn't want to go along with that," says Karl-Heinz Löffler. In a night and fog operation, he brought Fine Lady and three other horses to Holger Wulschner in Passin. It took a bit of persuasion to convince the rider from Mecklenburg to take over the horses. After a short training period, Holger Wulschner took the bay horse to the CSI2* in Offenburg at the beginning of 2013 and placed right away. "National trainer Otto Becker said: You can take her to the CSIO5* in Al Ain/UAE right away," the former owner proudly shares. The desire was aroused, and once Fine Lady had won the Grand Prix of Neumünster, Oliva/ESP and Hagen within only two months, Artesan Farms, the sponsor of Olympic Champion Eric Lamaze, acquired the exceptional mare. Intended as a horse for speed classes, it did not take long for Fine Lady to jump her way to the top and carry her rider from success to success. Much to the delight of the former owner, who did not miss the opportunity to fly to Rio de Janeiro on short notice.

"She is unique, because nobody thought she could reach the level that she did," said Eric Lamaze. "She is a great little mare with a huge heart, who believed in every adventure she was given. Winning an Olympic medal and the Rolex Top 10-final proved her big heart." Fine Lady will spend her retirement in Belgium, where both Eric Lamaze and Family Ziegler family have stables. "Fine Lady loved to win and she loved Eric in the saddle. We are happy that she will now stay in Belgium. As a European horse, she has always felt most comfortable there," said Carlene Ziegler. ■

A duo on the podium

For the second time, the final of the 'Nürnberger Burg-Pokal' was not held in the festival hall in Frankfurt but at the Schafhof in Kronberg, around 15 kilometres away from the Main metropolis. Two Hannoveraner earned top placings: Schöne Scarlett finished second with Helen Langehanenberg, and Quizmaster came in third with Frederic Wandres.

By Sina Stahlsmeier

The 'Nürnberger Burg-Pokal' is the most important series for seven to nine-year-old young dressage horses in Germany. The final, which was held for the second time as part of the "Schafhof Edition" of the Frankfurt international horse show in Kronberg, was particularly successful from a Hannoveraner perspective. Young dressage stars out of the Hannoveraner breeding program finished in two of the top three places.

Last December marked the 30th anniversary of the 'Nürnberger Burg-Pokal'-Final, and one female rider will not soon forget this anniversary: Helen Langehanenberg rode the Danish mare Straight Horse Ascensione by Zack/Don Schufro earning a score of 77.268 percent, relegating herself and the Hannoveraner mare Schöne Scarlett to second place. The Quasar de Charry/Velten Third-son Quizmaster with rider Frederic Wandres won bronze.

We shall certainly read the name "Schöne Scarlett – Beautiful Scarlett" more often in the future in connection with important championships. As the first competitor in the final in Kronberg, the Scolari/Londonderry-daughter presented herself with excellent quality. "As a foal, Schöne Scarlett already danced vivaciously and loved to present herself with cadence when playing with other foals in the pasture," said breeder Dr. Heidi Bouws, who raised the mare with her husband Wilfried on the farm in Scheden, and prepared her for her tasks in the arena. At her mare test, she already delivered a fabulous performance: 8.5 for the three basic gaits and 8.75 for her outstanding rideability were recorded on the certificate. At the age of five, the dark bay mare was vice Bundeschampioness with rider Leslie Rohrbacher, and as a six-year-old, she again placed in the final in Warendorf. When the mare was ready to be trained for the advanced level with the goal of qualifying her for the World Championships for young dressage horses at the age of seven, the breeders contacted Helen Langehanenberg. "It was certainly exciting, when Helen Langehanenberg called back and we made an appointment for her to try out the horse at her place," says Dr Bouws. In Kronberg, the nine-year-old Hannoveraner premium mare, who had once left the show in Göttingen as the winning mare, already presented herself very well in the introductory class. The 1.68 metre-tall mare showed her quality and charisma. Especially the harmony between rider and horse came to the fore. Helen Langehanenberg and "Scarletti" finished third with a score of 75.390 percent. The final competition on Sunday went even better for the pair. The judge's comment by training ambassador of the German Equestrian Federation Christoph Hess was: "A horse that has been beautifully staged. A great, harmonious round, it could have gone on for hours." He predicted a promising future for the mare, which came a little bit closer even in Sunday's final. With a score of 77.00 percent, she was the first horse in the arena to set a mark that was only just surpassed by the last competitor – Helen Langehanenberg with stable mate Ascensione. Thus, the bay remained unbeaten in both the preliminary competition and the final. Helen Langehanenberg and Ascensione obtained a score of 76.975 percent on Saturday, putting her ahead of herself by a narrow margin. The Danish mare, a full sister of the privately owned stallion Sezuan, convinced with her thoroughness and the precisely executed half-passes, which the judge at H even rewarded with a score of 9. The next day, Helen Langehanenberg improved once again in the final. It was a heart-stopping final, at the end of which she took gold and silver.

Frederic Wandres had travelled directly from the World Cup-show in London/GBR to Kronberg and performed well in the introductory class with his mount Quizmaster. The gelding presented himself even a little better than Schöne Scarlett. Especially the medium trot as well as the extended walk impressed the judges. They rewarded the pair with scores in the range of eight, which translated into second place in the introductory test. As a foal in Klaus Küver's stable, the dark bay horse always turned towards people: "As soon as you came into the stable, he stuck his head out of the box stall and wanted to cuddle," the breeder remembers. He had bought the dam Valleri at the age of two. Quizmaster is the first foal of the Velten Third-daughter. He could very well have a future in international dressage. "The dam line only produced super horses; I still have a half-brother by Quizmaster," said Klaus Küver. After selling the gelding as a foal, he first ended up with the renowned breeder and stallion owner Mathieu Beckmann, who ensured that Quizmaster became the Bundeschampion of three-year-old mares and geldings in 2015 with the Swedish rider Jessica Lynn Thomas. He came to the stable of Sascha Schulz as one of the top selling horses at the elite auction in Verden in October of 2015. The rider from Luxembourg and Quizmaster won bronze in Warendorf, and, one year later, they competed in the final for five-year-olds at the World Championships for young dressage horses in Ermelo/NED. After that, the journey continued to Hof Kasselmann, where the gelding made the leap into the big arena together with his rider Frederic Wandres. In March of last year, the pair won the Nations Cup in Wellington/USA as part of the German team. The final class in Kronberg went as well for Frederic Wandres as the class on the previous day. The gelding exhibited some highlights, especially his expressive trot and the half-passes. However, he did not quite reach the result of Schöne Scarlett. Frederic Wandres was very pleased on his Instagram channel: "I'm thrilled and proud of how all the horses have developed." Fifth place was the final result for the Rhineland gelding Leo Löwenherz by Licosto/Rockwell (breeder: Richard Klein, Hennef) and Niklaas Feilzer. The professional rider at the stable of Isabell Werth is thrilled with the energetic chestnut. After earning a third placement at the Bundeschampionat for six-year-old dressage horses, here at the Schafhof, the chestnut lacked a little relaxation and suppleness, which resulted in a deduction for the half walk-pirouette.

Louisdor- and Piaff-Prize

In the final of the Louisdor-Prize, an "old acquaintance" stood on the winner's podium: Total Hope OLD with Isabell Freese. The Oldenburg with the prominent dam Weihegold took home the victory in the Short Grand Prix with a harmonious and solid round. Second and third place went to Fabienne Müller-Lütke-meier with two Westphalian chestnuts, both by Vitalis: Valencia As and Valesco. The Hohenstein/De Niro-son High Five (breeder: Dirk Ahlmann, Reher) was the best Hannoveraner. With Annabel Balkenhol, he finished in fourth place. The Rhineland gelding SilberStern by Silbermond/Raphael followed in eighth place with Dr. Annabel Frenzen. Her father, Achim Frenzen, had discovered SilberStern's dam Raphaela at her breeder Dr. Carsten Haack in Freiburg. After placing twice in the Bundeschampionships, the brown now arrived at the next level in his career.

The Piaff-Prize was initiated by the Liselotte Schindling Foundation for the promotion of the sport of dressage. Semmieke Rothenberger won with her KWPN mare Flanel. This pair had already won double gold at the U25 European Championships in Hagen/GER. Last year's winner Ann-Kathrin Lindner with FBW Sunfire was not able to pass her and finished second. The Oldenburg mare Paola followed with rider Alina Schrader. Exclusive BB by Edward/Donnerschwee (breeder: Günter Druselmann, Meitze) became a TV-star on the final weekend. Reporters from the "hessenschau" accompanied the successful young dressage rider Raphael Netz, who rides with Jessica von Bredow-Werndl and Benjamin Werndl in Aubenhausen, through the stables and asked him about his relationship with "Eddie": "He is a foolish and playful young horse, but he also understands the seriousness of the situation when it counts," Raphael Netz told the reporters. In Kronberg, not all elements went well yet. After all, it was only the second Grand Prix for the young pair. Nevertheless, the 22-year-old should be extremely satisfied with a fifth placement. ■

In third place, Quizmaster by Quasar de Charry/Velten Third and Frederic Wandres have climbed the next rung on the career ladder.

Exclusive BB by Edward/Donnerschwee finished fifth with Raphael Netz in the Piaff-Prize.

Breeder's luck with Gentleman

The ten-year-old bay stallion Gentleman FRH by Grey Top/Fabiano not only looks good, but also convinces with his breeding and athletic qualities. Already at his licensing in Verden in 2014, the comments were exuberant: "A wonderful type, three fantastic basic gaits with style and ability – not many young stallions present themselves here as complete." With his dual predisposition, Gentleman FRH is the predestined eventing horse, which World Champion Sandra Auffarth recognized immediately at the subsequent auction. She was thrilled at first sight, "Him or none!" was her verdict in the Niedersachsenhalle. "Actually, we had only come to the licensing as spectators, but we were very impressed by the light-footedness and the quality at the jump," Alexander Wening from Stud Lichtenmoor told us. Together with his business partner Veronica Sinz, he bought the highly talented stallion at the auction and then made him available to Sandra Auffarth. A decision with a groundbreaking character. The exhibitor and breeder, Mr. and Mrs. Schelhas, were of course pleased that "once again a horse from our breeding station successfully changed hands on an auction in Verden and came into such good hands." The renowned female trainer did a great job with the stallion. After his outstanding performances at the sport tests in Münster-Handorf, Neustadt/Dosse and Warendorf, she made Gentleman FRH a two-time Bundeschampion. Only one other event horse has been able to do so. With his willingness to perform, his above-average basic gaits and his jumping ability, he already convinced the judges in 2017, which they rewarded with the comment: "A modern horse, beautiful in type, with a very good canter that allows for everything". One year later, Gentleman FRH was able to improve once again. He was awarded the Best Event Horse Of 2018 with a dream score of 9.8. "We have nothing to criticize!" An assessment of a stallion can hardly be better. The success story of the bay stallion has come to a bit of a standstill, as the owning couple has gone their separate ways and it has not yet been finalized, who will be responsible for Gentleman FRH in the future.

Being awarded the suffix FRH by the Association for Promoting Hannoveraner Horses in the Sport is a great honor for the stallion, who was only five years old at the time. Which, for obvious reasons, made his breeders, Annette (55) and Detlef Schelhas (65), particularly happy. "We see this as a reward. We were able to combine many of our breeding goals in Gentleman FRH. We have always attached great importance to the movement, the correctness of the basic gaits and the rideability with simultaneous performance willingness of our breeding horses. In addition, they should convince with their type and look as pretty as possible. This requires a little bit of luck, but also a lot of hard work and experience," the breeders agree. When they return to the farm in Lage, Westphalia, with their large truck and the long trailer after a long and exhausting day of work, they enjoy the sight of their breeding horses. "After my uncle died, we got the opportunity to take over his former farm. The buildings, however, were in very poor condition. It took us a few years to renovate the main house and partially rebuild the stables and storage sheds. In 2006, we finally moved in," the breeder says.

Sporting ambitions

Today, the spacious box stalls house the broodmares with their foals and a large number of young, hopeful horses. On the 30-hectare site is enough space for all the horses during the grazing season.

Paddocks and an all-weather riding ring were built; they even invested in a hot-walker. The only thing missing is an indoor riding arena. If necessary, the 30-year-old daughter Hanna Schelhas uses the indoor arena at the nearby riding club Lops-horn-Lage. That's where the present couple first met in 1986. Both were active competitors. Detlef Schelhas drove two-in-hand ponies for many years, and Annette Stoyke owned several riding horses, with which she competed in dressage and jumping up to the medium (M-) level. Today, her daughter Hanna has taken over her sporting ambitions. She loves jumping competitions up to the medium (M-) level, is just as successful in dressage and is currently in the process of stepping up to the advanced (S-) level in dressage with Balerion by Bonifatius, a homebred from 2012. "No foal leaves our farm because you just can't judge a horse's full potential after only a few months. All horses are started under saddle and leave the farm as two-, three- or four-year-olds. We want to continue breeding with the best offspring," Detlef Schelhas explains. The horse breeder already remained steadfast with St.Pr.St. Allergirl by Argentinus/Bolero, which he bred himself in 1987. "She was very much sought-after, but I kept her anyway." A decision, which he was not to regret. In 1993, Allergirl delivered Borodino by Borneo, a very successful sport horse. In 2004, the colt Lehmann was born, a promising candidate for the licensing. Two years later, the Londonderry son was licensed and sold very lucratively to Stud Sprehe. With different riders, the chestnut gelding made his way into S-level dressage.

As a youngster, Detlef Schelhas already gained his first experiences in breeding ponies. "The ponies of our neighbours in Bad Salzuflen fascinated me very much. That's how I got in touch with the long-established breeders Reinhold Meise and Heinrich Behrmann." He still has a close relationship with both of them today, and they also introduced him to Hannoveraner breeders. "I learned a lot from them, started to pay more attention to the dam lines of the sires and looked for suitable mares." His first choice was Babsi by Bolero/Grande (breeder: Johannes and Klaus Meyer, Oederquart), the dam of Allergirl, in 1982. Other mares of today's bloodlines are Gerona by Gernegroß xx/Archimedes (breeder: Elisabeth Mertens, Neuenkirchen) and St.Pr.St. Hanna by Hohenstein/Lauries Crusador xx (breeder: Reinhold Meise, Lage). In 1999, Gerona delivered the mare Franziska by Fabiano, the dam of Gentleman FRH. Selecting St.Pr.St. Hanna was even more important for today's mare line. She is the dam of Lara, born in 2008. Breeding St.Pr.St. Hanna to the homebred stallion Lehmann combined two bloodlines. In 2012, she also gave birth to Balerion, Hanna Schelhas' current, successful show horse. In 2013 and in 2017, St.Pr.St. Lara gave birth to two more mares of the current dam line: Bondgirl by Belissimo M and Vanya by Vitalis. In addition, 13-year-old St.Pr.St. Stina by Silberschmied, whose dam is Allergirl's daughter Le-schaya by Londonderry, also belongs to the broodmare band. The lines of Nordspitze and Aricia are here cared for. All mares have one thing in common: They produced numerous successful sport horses. The breeders have moved away a little from the dual predisposition and now increasingly focus on specializing in breeding dressage horses and show jumpers. Annette and Detlef Schelhas consciously make sure that also proven top Hannoveraner sires such as Grande, Argentan or Bolero as well as the Thoroughbreds Lauries Crusador xx or Gernegroß xx are present in the earlier generations of the pedigrees; Weltmeyer, Donnerhall or Hohenstein can also be found.

Due to their successes, the horse breeding program of the Schelhas couple has developed into an independent branch of the business alongside the fruit trade. At least twice a week, Detlef Schelhas' working day begins at three in the morning. Then he gets into his truck and drives either to Bielefeld or Hannover to buy fresh, high-quality fruit and vegetables at the wholesale market, to then market them together with his wife Annette to the numerous regular customers at the weekly markets in Lage and Lemgo. "Horses have a calming effect on us with their aesthetics and their charisma. Their calmness and equilibrium help to relieve me of all the stress after a strenuous day at work," Detlef Schelhas describes the importance of his Hannoveraner breeding program. He wishes to once again breed a Bundeschampion. ■

Dressage
A dream came true

For Kasey Cannon from the USA, a seemingly unrealizable dream became reality: Mid October, the 46-year-old flew to Germany. Her destination was Billerbeck in Westphalia, for a two-month training stay at Helen Langehanenberg's dressage stable. With her on the aircraft was her four-legged partner, the 2011-born Diesel CF by Dressage Royal/Ritual (breeder: Stallion Station Kothe, Steinfeld), a right-hand brother of the great Damsey FRH, with whom Helen Langehanenberg had achieved such great successes and who retired from the Grand Prix-sport at the beginning of last year. Kasey Cannon runs an avocado farm in Moorpark, California, near Los Angeles, and rides dressage as a hobby. Diesel CF joined her stable six years ago. Since then, she has been highly successful with the bay in the USA in classes, which are in line with his age. In 2017 and 2018, the pair was "Reserve Champion USDF Dressage Horse of the Year" at the S-level. Afterwards, the talented stallion was licensed for the American Hanoveraner Society. One year later, Diesel CF competed at the Prix St. Georges-level and convinced with his talent for piaffe and passage - just like his full brother Damsey FRH.

The idea of staying in Germany was born in 2019 when Kasey Cannon came to Germany for the Hanoveraner Breed Orientation Course. She met Susanne Meyer. On her stallion station, Damsey's semen has been available for years. Susanne Meyer introduced Kasey Cannon to Helen Langehanenberg. An application to the American Dressage Foundation for a training grant was rejected, but she still managed to realize her dream without this support. In her blog, which she published on her homepage www.Carronadafarms.com, she writes: "For us, this was the ideal time. Diesel is now ten years old and we are working on all the Grand Prix-movements." Despite the cold, she feels comfortable in Germany. She was well received in Helen Langehanenberg's stable, experiences the Germans as friendly and respectful, and is downright enthusiastic about Helen Langehanenberg. "She is so incredibly friendly and I felt welcome straight away. Helen is probably one of the hardest working and most motivated people I've ever experienced, and yet she always has time to be polite and attentive." The fact that dressage has a different status in Germany than in the US is something she noticed very clearly: "In Germany, it's an important industry and a fundamental part of the culture, in the US, it's more of a hobby across the board." In her training, Kasey Cannon notices great progress towards the end of her stay: "I started to feel a completely different horse. He developed more carrying power in his hind legs - in the walk, in the passage, and in the canter. The feeling is incredible, light in the contact and more throughness; he reacts to the smallest aids and he is, on'. I feel that we have reached a different partnership since we arrived here. I have become a different rider and Diesel a different horse. I feel like I have won the lottery twice. The first time because I got a horse like Diesel CF. The second time by staying with Helen. This trip was incredible. I will be forever grateful for this time in Germany." Dr Ludwig Christmann

From other licensing sites

Two Hanoveraner made it to the final ring of the 53 young stallions with dressage pedigrees at the Westphalian main licensing in Münster-Handorf: Escaneno by Escamillo/Veneno (breeder: Tobias Schult, Hünxe) as well as Vogue by Vitalis/Fidertanz (breeder: ZG Werth, Moers). Also licensed were a dark bay by Dante's Junior/Lauries Crusador xx (breeder: Eibe Johanns, Cuxhaven), Eternity by Escamillo/Belissimo M (breeder: Isabel and Jörg Clasen, Hiddestorf), Geronimo G by Glamourdale/Escolar (breeder: Gestüt Grasekamp, Datteln) as well as the Rhineland registered Halleluja by Henkie/Feuerspiel (breeder: Ignaz Berger, Sulzbach-Rosenberg). In part two, the focus was on 29 show jumping stallions. United du Prieuré de Seny (Rhld.) by Untouchable/Lux (breeder: Didier Jacquemin, Seny/BEL) received a premium. The Cavoiro-H/Lordanos son Chaka (breeder: Eitel Wehrs, Steinwedel) and a chestnut by Quaid/Stalito (breeder: Helmut Haber-mann, Hänigsen) also received the green light for Westphalia.

A chestnut by Fürst Toto/Royal Classic (breeder: Arnd Schwierking, Barver) was among the best in Vechta and was awarded silver at the Oldenburg licensing as a premium stallion. In addition, a bay Ballantines Finest/Landos son (breeder: Heinrich Gießelmann, Barver) was licensed. A total of 44 stallions competed, 24 of which received a positive licensing result.

Boss by Benicio/Franziskus (breeder: Thomas Eichhorn, Heilshoop) opened the licensing in Redefin with the head number 1. Shortly before, the bay stallion had been part of the collection of young stallions at the 138th Elite Auction in Verden and was now licensed for Mecklenburg. A dark bay by Escolar/Samarant (breeder: Elizabeth Kapp, Clüversbors- tel), which Helgstrand Dressage had sent to the State Stud, was celebrated as Reserve Champion. At the foal auction, Paul Schockemöhle discovered an Escamillo/Fiorano son (breeder: Hans-Joachim Burdorf, Verden) who was licensed like a Rhineland registered chestnut by Santo Domingo/Christ (breeder: Albert Sprehe, Essen), a bay by Valverde/Christ (breeder: Hedda Ottmann-Droege, Düsseldorf), a black stallion by Zenon/Dancier (breeder: Heinrich Schröder, Bahrenbors- tel) and Zoomaton MW by Zoom/Benetton Dream (breeder: Silke Groeneveld, Bunde). Cash by Cristallo/Calido (breeder: Josef Kuper, Werlte) was given the green light in the group of jumping stallion. With the traditional name Ferdinand, a Fire and Ice J/Chivas son (breeder: Heinz Speet, Haselünne) appeared in front of the commission and was also licensed. Third licensed Hanoveraner was a chestnut by Orientexpress/Cornet Obolensky (breeder: Heinrich Ramsbrock, Mens- lage). ■

As every year, the new entries to the stallion directory are presented in detail in DER HANNOVERANER. Some stallions licensed at the past events have not yet reached the performance requirements for registration.

These stallions will be presented in DER HANNOVERANER when they have passed their missing disposition or sport test. They are entered in the stallion book I after passing the age-appropriate test. Afterwards they will also be published in the picture section of the Yearbook Stallions. The individual scores of the stallions from the stallion performance test and the disposition test can be found in connection with the reporting on the tests.
