

The origins of the family name
REID

This ancient name appears in the earliest of records; a Leofwine le Rede is recorded living in Kent between 1016 – 1020; a William Red appears in the Pipe Rolls of Gloucestershire in 1170; a Godwin le Rede lived in Norfolk in 1273.

The use of surnames appears to have started in about the year 1000, introduced to the British Isles by the Normans during the 11th century. They were a way of further identifying people, and were usually patronymic (eg John son of Richard), local (eg John by the Brook), a trade name (eg John the Smith) or a nickname (eg John the Little).

The name Reed is a nickname, from the Middle-English word "reed" or "rede", meaning "red", and would have been used to describe someone with a ruddy complexion or red hair.

Many different spellings of this popular name occurred, and it can be found spelt as Read, Reed, Reid, Reade.

A family called Read was established in America in the early 18th century by John Read, born in Dublin, who was sixth in descent from Sir Thomas Read of Berkshire. His son George was a signatory to the Declaration of Independence.

The ancient family motto was MEMOR NET FIDELIS (latin), meaning "Mindful and faithful".

No genealogical connection is implied in this document and is intended for display purposes only.

Arkansas. He married UNITY WILLIAMS.

Notes for GRANVILLE BILLINGSLY SHANNON:

It is said that when Granville moved to Arkansas, he got involved in one of the biggest feuds in the history of the Shannon-Fisher war. Cole Younger and Frank James were involved on the Fisher side, so the story goes.

Granville followed his fathers footsteps and his grandfathers who were both stockmen.

There was a well known feud between the Shannon's and the Fishers that lasted for several months and the cause for at least 12 people being killed, one being Granville's son in law. Dr. J. C. McKinney M. D.

The story goes:

One day his youngest son Maurice rode his father's prize horse into town, on his dad's best saddle. While in town he was drawn into a card game with the Fisher brothers, two notorious troublemakers and reputed outlaws. They were friends of Belle Starr's husband, who ran with Frank James and Cole Younger.

The Fishers took all Maurice's money, then won his fathers horse and saddle, which he promised to deliver to them the next morning. Instead, Samuel showed up with men and told the Fishers they should not take advantage of boys and they were not getting his horse.

A few days later the Fishers cornered Maurice and demanded the horse and saddle and roughed him up a bit. At that point Finis Shannon, either Maurice's older brother or his older cousin (probably the latter) walked to the saloon, saw what was happening, drew his pistol and shot one of the Fisher boys. That started a bloody war in which the remaining Fisher brother(s) their gang, kith and kin, including Frank James, Cole Younger, Bell Starr's husband, waged a hit and run guerrilla war with the Shannon's.

The Shannon's supporters included a large clan, several military officers, the local sheriff and his deputies. There were gun battles, posses, and ambushes, lasting several months and killing almost a dozen people before the last of the Fisher Brothers were killed.

This story can be found in the magazine "Old West" Fall of 1985

Notes for WILLIAM SCOTT REID:
From "History of Wayne County Indiana"

Wm. S. Reid, son of Daniel Reid, was born in Rockbridge county, Va., Dec 10 1818. He removed with his father's family to Preble county, Ohio in 1822, and in 1823 to Richmond. He married May 7 1839, Sarah Jane Mansur, by whom he had nine children, of whom only Sarah M., Clara m., and Masure C. are living. Mr. Reid was for a time a clerk in the land office at Fort Wayne; on a farm in Allen county about twelve years; in the dry goods trade in Richmond three years; and for several years in the pork-packing business in which , as one of the firm of Vanneman, Reid & Co., he still continues. He also for a number of years, with C. C. Beeler, engaged in the grocery trade, which they discontinued in 1870."

Charter Oak Pork House

This business was started in the winter of 1853-54, by William Wiggins and William S. Reid, for buying and slaughtering pork. On the death of Mr. Wiggins soon after, Jeremy Mansur joined Mr. Reid. Mansur & Reid carried on the business until 1861 or 1862, when Mr. Mansur retired and G.W. Vanneman, C. C. Beeler, and John P. Smith became partners of Mr. Reid; since which time the business has been continued under the firm name of Vanneman, Reid & Co. In 1867, this establishment took the name of "Charter Oak Pork House." It has the capacity to slaughter and take care of about 900 hogs a day, or about 20,000 in a season, lasting about 20 days. The average number actually handled within the 1st three years, prior to 1870, was about 14,000 a year, and the value of the pork annually slaughtered and sold, about $250,000. This establishment was a few years ago destroyed by fire, but was promptly rebuilt. Nealy 20,000 were slaughtered in 1870, and in the season of 1871, 20,638.

Reid, internationally known financier, who died suddenly Saturday after a brief illness were held in his apartment at 907 Fifth Avenue shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning. The body will be interred this morning in Richmond, Ind. where Mr. Reid was born sixty-six years ago and where he started work as a messenger boy at $12.00 a month.

In a servants room, not more than twelve or fifteen feet from the coffin was the "tin plate king's" little brown Pekingese "Wiggie" that Mr. Reid purchased as a pup in England fourteen years ago, and which, according to servants, had been his constant companion ever since. In fact, they said the financier and "Wiggie" were seldom separated.

During his three-day illness "Wiggie" never left his bedside and since Mr. Reid's death has been crying almost incessantly. Although the door in the servant's chamber was closed and "Wiggie" neither heard nor saw any part of the funeral service, she lay motionless on the bed throughout the burial, whining mournfully.

'She's been sick ever since Mr. Reid died,' one of the servants said. "There's no doubt that she realizes her master has gone. We don't know what to do to restore her to her normal condition."

The regular Episcopal Service was read by the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires rector of St. Thomas' Episcopal Church where Mr. Reid worshipped. Taking part also were twelve members of the church choir, who opened the service by singing "Abide with me" and brought it to a close with "Nearer My God to Thee"

In two rooms hung with costly paintings, sat Mr. Reid's friends, numbering almost 200, who came to pay their last tribute. Among them were Francis L. Hine, Chairman of the board of the First National Bank; James Spayer, banker; Bernard M. Raruch, R. A. C. Smith, John Golden, ex-Judge William M.K. Olcott, Joseph Hartman, Albert H. Wiggin, President of the Chase National Bank; Seward Prosser, President of the Bankers Trust Company; Townsend Morgan, Thomas Cochran of J. P. Morgan & Co.; ex Judge, Morgan J. O'Brien, James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor; Gates W. McGarrah, President of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank; William H. (Big Bill) Edwards, Edward E Loomis, President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad; Frederick D. Underwood, President of the Erie Railroad Company; D.E. Pomeroy, Vice president of the Banker's Trust Company; Frank O Baker, Dr. S. Nelson Irwin, his personal physician for twenty-four years and others.

A reminder of Mr. Reid's association with William B. Leeds, who, with Mr. Reid and W. H. Moore, organized the "tin plate trust" lay is the presence at the services of Mr. Leeds son, William B. Leeds Jr., husband of the Princess Xenis, Young Mr. Leeds is also a godson of Dr. Stires.

Besides the company of notables there were present also a large group of servants and former servants as well as present and past chauffeurs in the financiers employ.

His only daughter, Mrs. Henry J. Topping attended the funeral, accompanied by her husband, the son of John A. Topping, President of the Republic Iron and steel Company and two of their three children. Mr. and Mrs. Topping accompanied the body to its Indiana resting place. It left from Pennsylvania Station at 1:05 in the afternoon.

Just before the train started, Secretary Davis, a life-long friend of Mr. Reid, announced that burial services would be conducted by the financier's home lodge of the Masonic order. Only a wreath of orchids and white roses adorned the large bronze coffin as it was placed aboard the private car.

Descendants of John "Major" Reid

520. FRANCIS T. "FRANK" (JUDGE)<sup>10</sup> REID (JOHN JR.<sup>9</sup>, JOHN (MAJOR)<sup>8</sup>, NATHAN (JAMES?)<sup>7</sup>, JOHN R. (COLONEL) JR.<sup>6</sup>, THOMAS<sup>5</sup>, ALEXANDER<sup>4</sup>, ANDREW<sup>3</sup>, ANDREW "GENERAL"<sup>2</sup>, JOHN "MAJOR"<sup>1</sup>) was born March 09, 1845 in Williamson Co., Tennessee. He married JOSEPHINE WOODS June 04, 1872, daughter of ROBERT WOODS and MARINA CHEATHAM. She was born May 25, 1852.

Notes for FRANCIS T. "FRANK" (JUDGE) REID:
Source: Prominent Tennesseans P. 113-118

The following are excerpts from the pages listed above.

"Judge Reid was born in Williamson county, Tennessee ... at his uncle's, Dr. Frank T. Reid, for whom he was named, but grew up in Nashville, where he has resided ever since, except the war episode in his life, and twelve months' travel in Europe.

In 1852 he joined company F., Starnes' cavalry regiment, but was transferred, just before the battle of Chicamauga, in the fall of 1863, to Capt. John W. Morton's battery, and served Tennessee, Georgia, Mississippi, and Alabama till the close of the war, having taken part in all the battles and skirmishes in which Forrest's command was engaged, from the battle of Thompson's Station to the end. When transferred from Starnes' regiment he was promoted to first sergeant of the battery.

He began his study of law in 1866 under his father, Judge John Reid; was admitted to the bar in 1867, licensed by Judges Frazier and Cooper. His first partner was Neill S. Brown, Jr. 1868-1872, after which he became partner with his father.

He inherited from his mother a quick, mobile and emotional nature, combined with very great gentleness, exquisite sensitiveness, and the nicest sense of honor. He is a man who revels in the luxuries of learning and aesthetics,, lives in a world of ideas, and if a man's library may be taken as an index of his tastes, he is, by this test, fond of poetry, works of imagination, tales and essays, rather than metaphysics and kindred subjects. For his literary taste and cast of mind he is more deeply indebted to Mr. Carlyle than to any other writer. It is probable that from him he imbibed that hatred of sham, boldness of utterance, and keenness of satire that characterize him as a stump speaker. It is noteworthy that in his speeches he makes few quotations, either from prose or poetry, but delivers his own thoughts in his own language. Hence, his public addresses are novel in conception, fresh in make-up, genuine in purpose, and presented in forcible style, strengthening the strong, fixing and wavering and attracting an enthusiastic following."

He never had a collegiate education. One year in military college or University of Nashville, at 16 joined the Confederate Arm.

His mother died when he was four years of age, and his maternal aunt, Mrs. Gov. Neil S. Brown reared him. At the age of 24 (1869) he made a trip to Europe and spent twelve months traveling over the continent "to see the world"/

In August 1878 he was elected circuit court judge of the eight judicial district.

Frank gave an eloquent speech during his opening address as the Republican candidate for governor, a portion of which said:

"It was from under the roof of that honored and eloquent old Wig leader, ex-Gov. Neill S. brown, where the greater part of my life had been passed, that a sixteen year old boy, I left to join the ranks of the Southern army... Because I enlisted in that army did that commit me, for the balance of my life. to the support of the political doctrines of John C. Calhoun? Was it loyalty to the doctrines of nullification, State sovereignty and the constitutional right of secession that led those of us who wee bred in the school of Henry Clay to enlist under the Confederate flag...

A boy, I fought in the ranks, under confederate flag, barefooted in the depth of winter, and in rags; and because upon my restoration to American citizenship, a grown man, my matured reason said to me that it was vastly better for the best interests of mankind that the flag had gone down in defeat, albeit covered with glory; that the Republican party was the true exponent and representative of the principles that had triumphed, and which we who had appealed to the sword were in honor bound to accept and which the God of Battles had declared should mould the future historical development of the country; because I refuse to live among the tombs and wear crape for the dead, believing it to be my duty t "live in the living present" forsooth, I am denounced as a renegade, and apostate, a traitor."

Again I want to thank Louise Cox for these pages and much more.

Notes for SARAH ELIZABETH REID:

The Saffold family were wealthy planters in Morgan County. Sarah Elizabeth, like her mother, became the mistress of one of the finest antebellum homes in the area. The Civil War would change the nights of gay entertainment to ones of horror. Two of her sons, William and Seaborn, died from lack of medicine which was unattainable because of the Union naval blockade of southern ports.

"On January 6, 1862, while death was stalking the armies, Sarah gave birth to her fourth child, Sidney Reid Saffold. The year of 1863 was to be the most tragic year in 29 year old Sarah's life. The tide of the war turned against the South at the battle of Gettysburg. Union Navy blockades of the South's seaports had cut its supply line. Medical supplies were non-existent. Two of her children 8 year old William Reid Saffold and four year old Seaborn Goudelock Saffold became gravely ill, as did her fourteen year old step son, Marion. With Thomas away from home on government business, and Sarah, left alone, she had to nurse her sick children and manage a large plantation with slaves who were becoming restless, and an Overseer who was in no mood to cooperate with a female. The children's condition worsened, and Sarah, heartbroken and helpless had to watch all three die, She buried her eldest, Willie, in the Reid family cemetery in Eatonton in January, and in August, laid her little Seaborn to rest, even as she carried a fifth babe in her womb. Her life had changed from one of happiness and wealth to a life of sadness. "

This is a letter that Sarah Elizabeth wrote to her husband during the Civil War.
(Warren and Ben are slaves...Mr. Johnson, the overseer.)

Buckhead Georgia

Nov. 5, 1863

Your kind letter of Monday was received last night my dear Husband. I feel much relieved to learn that you are feeling better than when you wrote the day before, and hope that you will continue to improve.

It is certainly a blessing to have you keep your health since you must be army. It makes the discomforts and duties of camp life less _____. You wished to know in one of your last letters what Mr. Johns was doing, he has been here ever since last Thursday filling the crib in the lot. Warren says they will finish hauling by Weds. Mr. Johnson leaves everything with Warren and Uncle Miles. He has not stayed here a single night to see the cows pent up. Mr. Johnson never tells anything unless specially questioned with inference to each matter. He has taken dinner here each day since I returned from Eatonton, and yet I know no more about matters in general than if I had not seen him in a month. I will give your instructions about the hay at dinner.

I think I shall go in and spend the day with Mother tomorrow. Jenny is still with her. By the way, you inquired after Ben, he has been walking out of doors for the last few days. I had a great deal of trouble with him to make him either get up or sit up. When he was, once he was unwilling to exert himself in the least. I had to threaten to have him dragged out of the bed feet foremost or head foremost right on the floor before I could bring him to his senses. I have never written to you of Mrs. Wrights letter. My letter did not reach her until she had engaged to open a select school. she assures me she will come as soon as she is at liberty. She is very sad at the loss of her husband, she tells me that he was her earthly all, you know I have often spoken of her attachment to him.

Sidney improves every day and has more and more of our darling Willie's ways. When I go down to Eatonton again i shall plant out their burial place, the least attention I can pay their memory's a sad yet _____ pleasure. Oh! how my soul yearns after them in their contrasting characters; Willie in his manly surety and self reliance. Seaborn so lovely in his winning gentleness and trustfulness. May their memory ever be with us to turn us away from sin, and stimulate us in our efforts to win a home with them in Heaven. God have mercy upon us. With love

Your wife S. Sal

Notes for THOMAS PETER SR. SAFFOLD:

Served as Circuit Judge in 1855. Elected delegate to the 1861 convention and cast his vote for Georgia to leave the union. When the war ended in 1865 he received a pardon from president Andrew Johnson. He immediately re-entered politics and was appointed by President Grant to the Board of Visitors fro the class of 1871 at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

Letter that Thomas wrote to Sarah one week before their marriage

Madison June 18 1854

My dear Sallie,

Dr. Talmage has been absent. I received his letter yesterday. He compliments you, exhorts me to take special care of such a treasure, and promises to officiate as high priest at our marriage. I did not see you as I left, a pleasure I was willing to forego, when I remembered you were sleeping in the arms of innocence, hope and love. Nothing can exceed the depth and fullness of your devotion to me. It will ever be the great sun, the animating center of my life. I shall look for your letter tonight. Mrs. Thomas and Bob will be with me this evening. this is the reason I write now. Otherwise you might not hear from me until Friday. Marion is perfectly well, the swelling thought to be mumps having wholly subsided. I have been looking this morning at the partially improved lot opposite Mr. Burneys. Mr. Norton asks too much for it.

It is a beautiful place, and I had rather improve it than any location I know. But I will have the benefit of your views about it after a while, I think I shall buy it, if a wise and masterly inactivity by which I mean a manifestation of indifference as to owning it can abate the price. You shall hear from me on Saturday. Be sure and write by Fridays mail. Heaven bless my own, my darling Sallie

Ever yours

T.P. Saffold

P. S. You will find the keys in the ward robe and the ward robe key in Annies bureau.

Notes for ELIZABETH CATHERINE REID:

There seems to be a question on the children of E. Catherine, as to why she named the children Reid, if she and James T. Davis were married. It is unknown if he took off, and/or was the father of all the children, as all her children are named Reid.

Son John Franklin, who was raised by his grandparents and Uncle at age 16 took the name Reid.

Becky Culpepper (bbjr@worldnet.att.net) writes

This is what family relatives have told me..The children did not know who their father was, and their mother named them all Reid. She was also listed as living with a ??? Box and a John Davis.

E. Catherine Reid died at the home of her daughter, Mary.

Arkansas, daughter of SIMEON

PRINCE and SARAH LITTLETON. She was born Bet. 1833 - 1835 in Tennessee, and died 1875 in Conway Co. Arkansas.

Notes for MATHEW GASTON REID:

Matthew Gaston Reid moved with his father to Conway Co. Arkansas prior to 1855 when he married Martha Prince. "History of Gwinnett Co."

Matthew enlisted in the Union Army at Dallas in Polk Co. on Dec. 26, 1863 through March 16, 1864.

a member of Union Army: Co. G 2nd Reg. Arkansas volunteer mustering in as a Private on Jan 6 1864 at Ft. Smith Arkansas.

From Roy Youngs writing "The Union had held Ft. Smith since September of 1863 The organization of the 2nd Regiment was not completed until Mar 13, 1864 at Ft. Smith, at which time the aggregate enlisted strength was 913 men. Due to there being no mustering officer, there was only eleven officers and about 600 men mustered. They were then attached to the District of the Frontier Department of Missouri, 7th Army.

Mathew took with him one of his slaves, who also enlisted and one horse. Several years later, his widow filed for compensation for the slave, who died, and the horse which was not returned."

Mathew contracted typhoid fever and died at the Army Hospital at Clarksville, Arkansas. The hospital was located at the Presbyterian Church building)

Notes for MARTHA ELIZABETH PRINCE:

Jackson Philpot was appointed guardian of the minor children of Mathew Reid on Oct 12, 1867. For an unknown reason, Jackson deserted the family stole the child Reuben, and fled the state going to Texas. Following this, Martha returned to Conway County, from Polk county, and applied for guardianship of her four minor children in 1872. (Conway Co. Probate Court Book E, p. 415) She received Letters of Guardianship and Simeon Prince, her father, posted bond as surety.

Apparently various member of the Reid Family have contacted Jackson's descendants over the years, but they deny any knowledge of the relationship of Jackson with Martha. (Martha's cousin, Robert Timon Reid, had a son James who married Hattie Philpot, a granddaughter of Jackson)

When Martha died, Simeon Prince, her father, was appointed guardian of her minor children. There is a record of the children petitioning the court to appoint their uncle, Henry Reid, as their guardian in place of Simeon Prince on July 22 1875. Placing the death of Martha between 1872 and 1875. \

Some sort of problems apparently arose after Henry took over as guardian of the three younger children. What it was, is unknown (David of age 19 on his own) But whatever happened caused a separation in the two family branches that lasted nearly 100 years.

Children of MATHEW REID and MARTHA PRINCE are:

Henry served in the Union Army during the Civil War. The Records indicate that there were two separate enlistments. In a petition for an invalid pension filed by Henry on March, 1884, he indicated that he enlisted in the Army for six (6) months on June 10 1862 at Helena, Arkansas, and was enrolled in Company B of the 1st Regiment of Arkansas volunteers commanded by Captain T. W. Williams. He was honorably discharged at St. Louis, Missouri (Benton Barracks) on Dec. 31, 1862. A War Department Record from Adjutant General's Office dated April 25, 1884 substantiates this information and indicated that he mustered in on July 2 1862, at Helena, Arkansas and is reported on the muster roll for September and October 1862 as present.

In the "Declaration of a Widow for Original Pension" filed by Eliza Ann Reid, on August 5, 1905, she indicated that Henry also enlisted at Springfield, Missouri on July 12, 1863 as a private in Company E, 2nd Regiment, Arkansas Volunteers and was discharged on August 20, 1865. According to the description which Henry gave on the petition, he was 6 foot 1/2 inch tall, had light complexion, light hair and dark eyes.

Henry died on March 3 1905. According to the "Declaration of a Widow for Original Pension" filed by Eliza, of a "Disease of Lungs." Henry is buried in the Reid Cemetery in Conway County, Arkansas, near Cleveland.

When she died, William and Robert, and their mother Amanda (Reddick), along with Alma Reddick and her husband, Payton Reddick, all helped make the coffin for Eliza Ann. Payton and Alma took W. P. Reddick's car and took John and Carrie Reid, Arthur Reid, and one month old Audrey Reddick to Arkansas to bury Eliza Ann. A truck was hired to carry the body and Thomas Patterson drove the truck. 664. GEORGE HILLARY DR.<sup>10</sup> REID (ROBERT R. DR.<sup>9</sup>, ROBERT ALEXANDER<sup>8</sup>, GEORGE A.<sup>7</sup>, ALEXANDER<sup>6</sup>, ANDREW<sup>5</sup>, ALEXANDER<sup>4</sup>, ANDREW<sup>3</sup>, ANDREW "GENERAL"<sup>2</sup>, JOHN "MAJOR"<sup>1</sup>) was born 1833 in Greenville, Butler Co., Alabama, and died 1869 in Nashville, Davidson Co., Tennessee. He married CAROLINE VIRGINIA FRENCH, daughter of HENRY SMITH FRENCH. She was born 1837.

Notes for GEORGE HILLARY DR. REID:

It is said that Dr. Reid ministered to those who were saved from the ELIZA BATTLE when she burned on the Tombibee River during one of the coldest spells known in Alabama. The cause of the fire was not known until later when a letter came one day from NY to the authorities asking if there had been such a disaster. A Prisoner of theirs in New York had told them of helping set the fire on the boat after he and a pal had stolen a grip full of gold from a passenger.

Dr. Reid and his wife were said to be one of the most elegant couples in Nashville, Tennessee, and were among the wealthiest and most prominent families of the area. They lived next door to William Walker, the grey eyed man of destiny who so captured the imagination of 19th century America.

During the Battle of Shilo, Dr. Reid was informally attached to the Confederate Army as a volunteer surgeon. While in this capacity he contracted an illness from exposure during that famous battle, that he never recovered from. Whenever a battle took place within a wide radius of Nashville, he was known to ride there poste haste to render aid to the wounded.

Notes for WILLIAM JASPER REID:

At age 16 William Jasper Reid replaced his father as a Confederate soldier when Asa Barton Reid came home sick. He served at Blacks Hospital in Madison, Georgia. After the war, he returned home, married, and while living in Cleburne Co. Alabama, he commuted by rail to Medical schooling Mobile, Ala each week until he graduated. He practiced medicine in rural Cullman county, Alabama, until his untimely death from pneumonia. He rode out in the rain to tend a patient, and died Nov. 30, 1893. He left a widow and eleven children. Times were hard in rural Alabama after the war and his widow only collected 10 cents owed for a tooth extraction. He and his wife and some of his descendents are buried in the Old Shedd Cemetery at Trimble, Alabama.

Arkansas, and died May 08, 1902 in Citra, Hughes Co., Oklahoma. She married WILLIAM JOHNSON KEEN April 04, 1879 in Lick Mountain Twp., Conway Co. Arkansas, son of JOHN KEEN and SARAH EUBANKS. He was born November 08, 1853, and died May 29, 1926.

Notes for MARY PRISCILLA ELIZABETH JANE REID:

Mary Priscilla was named after her Mothers sister, Mary Priscilla, grandmother Martha Elizabeth and her grandmother Jane Gaston.

Roy Young Narrative:

"The Mary Reid and W.J. Keen family was living on their 40 acre farm near Cleveland in Conway County, Arkansas, when during the winter of 1891-92, Grandpa heard of good land and better opportunities in the Indian Territory. News had come back to friends and relatives from those who had gone from the area and found a new and exciting life in the vast lands to the West.

The Keen farm was perhaps small by modern considerations, but it was productive and described by Della (Roys grandmother) as having a nice apple orchard. There were few cash crops, and most of what was grown was primarily for the subsistence of the family.

Della and Willis were the only two children old enough to attend school while the family lived in Arkansas. She described the little one-room school house as somewhat bleak. It had wooden plank benches for the students to sit on and they held their slates in their laps. Most of their schooling was conducted during winter terms when the children were not normally needed to help on the farm. They studied from the usual books available in that day. Della's daughter Rosa Lie Yokley still has the old Blue Book Speller that Della used in the few terms of school she got to attend.

I once asked Della , my grandmother, about the Christmases they celebrated when she was a child. It seemed to make her sad, and I learned very little. She did relate her memory as a very small child of five or six. It had come a big snow during the night and the wind had caused big drifts against the out-buildings and the fence. After breakfast, her dad, W.J. Keen, took her and Willie by the hand and led them outside. He pointed out some animal tracks and wagon tracks and told them that Santa Claus had been there during the night. I can just imagine their delight and the thrill it was to receive a stick of peppermint candy, a rag doll or a new pair of mittens.

Making a wagon train trip in January may seem strange upon first hearing about it and we might wonder why a man would subject his young family to such an ordeal. But Spring planting time was not far off when plans were finalized to leave for the Indian Territory.

Among the REID RELATIONS who made the trip to Indiana Territory were:

The KEENS, W.J. (38) and his wife Mary Reid (31) their children Minnie Mae Della (9-10) William Luther (8), Reuben Ab (6) and Tommy Wakefield (2)

The BROCK's, W. J. Keen's step-father Christopher Columbus Brock (56) and his mother Sara Ann Eubanks Keen Brock (59)

The ARNOLD's, John (43) and his wife Louise Elizabeth Keen (41) and their daughter Matti8e Laticia

The VINSON's, Jasper and American Pembroke (Aunt Pem) and their children.

The REID's, William H. and his wife Magdaline Prince."

Other stories of the journey and events in Indian Territory are included In the Reid Relations, Roy Young and Billy Reid

And boy have they been digging the family out, as the following lineage indicates. Thanks Burnie and Euna..

Notes for CHARLES STEPHEN NORMAN:

From Biographical and Historical Memories of Western Arkansas: p 41

"Charles S. Norman, a member of the firm of Norman and Bradford, general merchants, at Cleveland, was born in Van Buren County, March 29, 1857. He is one of eight children born to Robert L. and Catherine (Muler)* Norman; of these children four boys and the girl are still living, and all reside in this county; the parents are natives of Alabama and Tennessee respectively, and father followed the occupation of farmer and blacksmith. In 1850 he emigrated to Arkansas, where he made his future home, and resided till his death in 1881. At the outbreak of the great war he entered the Confederate army, and was Captain in Company K, Tenth Arkansas Regiment; he participated in the battle of Helena, and in 1864 he received a discharge and returned home, and served as registering officer of Van Buren County; he held the civil office of Justice, and was a popular citizen during his life, taking an active interest in all things of public improvement.

Mrs. Norman is still living and resides with her son, the subject of this sketch; she is a worthy member of the Advent Church. Charles Norman was educated at the public schools of the county and at the age of 19 years began life for himself by engaging in farming, which he followed till 1887, when he engaged in merchandising with the firm of H. M. Howser & Co., for one year, when he again retired to the farm and followed agricultural pursuits till 1889, when he formed his present business connection, which bids fair to be a permanent commercial success. He married Nov 9 1876** to Winnie A. Reid, a native of this State, and six children have blessed this union; Crosby S. Ibbie L. (deceased), C. M. (deceased), Ollie P., Thomas J. and Franklin..."

*Note 1 Charles mothers name was actually Meeler, she was a sister to Eliza Meeler wife of Henry Reid, a cousin to Winney

**Note 2 I believe the marriage date indicated in this sketch is incorrect and the March date is correct, as recorded in the Conway County Register for Marriages

Charles was also said to be an Adventist preacher
