AN OPEN LETTER

To the Citizens of Palmyra and Riverton:

Rapid Progress

A Word to the Wise

No Inflation in Prices

Carefully Study this

Great Opportunities

Some three or four years ago the development of Morgan Heights was begun; streets were graded and graveled; beautiful cement sidewalks, curbs and gutters laid; all of this soon to be followed by the erection of beautiful and comfortable homes—so that today Morgan Heights (located on the highest elevation in Burlington County) is conceded to be one of, if not, the nicest residential sections of the County.

All of the houses completed on this Tract have been sold with the exception of one at the corner of Morgan Avenue and Franklin Street. There is no doubt but what this one property will be sold in the Spring, for out of the many buyers that will be in the market, there will certainly be some people who will appreciate the beauty and comfort and substantiality of this home, (to say nothing of the large area of the lot upon which it is built) sufficiently to purchase it at the bargain price at which it is being offered. The same thing applies to the other properties which Builder Davis is now erecting and is about to erect on this Tract. Just at this point let us say that if there is one thing that adds to the attractiveness and permanency of Morgan Heights, it is the fact that there has been no inflation in prices of either lots or homes.

The prices of the lots are the same today as they were when the development was started, although every lot on the Tract has been enhanced by the improvements that have taken place, and it would certainly cost a hundred dollars more for each fifty foot lot, to lay the sidewalks, gutters and curbs than it did when this work was done. If the Palmyra-Riverton section has any future at all, prices will advance—and that rapidly—for no new development ground can be opened up at prices to compete. We believe that the ferry operating between Tacony and Palmyra alone will bring about a big enhancement in the values of this section, so that the wise man will take time by the forelock and buy today.

The main purpose of this letter, however, is to call to your attention the rare bargains that are within your reach in the lots fronting on Cleveland Avenue between Highland Avenue and Columbia Avenue. Certain it is that no discriminating buyer could fail to appreciate these bargains if he thoroughly understood the situation. Cleveland Avenue is at the highest point on the property; it is a well-graveled thoroughfare, and cement sidewalks, gutters and curbs have been laid. In looking over the plan we notice that a lot 50x190 feet, located directly opposite the beautiful home property of Mr. Edward B. Rich can be purchased for $850. We also notice that a lot 55x175 feet directly opposite the excellent home and beautiful lawn of Mr. William T. B. Purnell, can be purchased for $1000. We also notice that a lot 81x150 feet, located at the corner of Morgan Avenue and Cleveland Avenue can be purchased for $1500, while the one 79x165 feet, at the corner of Cleveland Avenue and Columbia Avenue can be purchased for $1350.

When one realizes that all of the improvements have been made around these lots, then and then only is the real value appreciated. Just to think of having a corner property with all the advantage of side light and air space for such small sums of money. The improvements around any one of these lots today would cost not a cent less than $700, so that you can see that (as far as real estate is concerned) corner lots are being sold at less than inside lots.

If you desire any further particulars about these properties, consult Mr. George N. Wimer, 15 East Broad Street, Palmyra, or Builder Llewellyn Davis, 910 Columbia Avenue, Palmyra.

MORGAN HEIGHTS DEVELOPMENT.

P.S. If any of our readers are interested in renting the farm part (about twelve acres) of this property, they should consult Builder Davis.

LESSON FOR APRIL 3

THE IDEAL CHRISTIAN.

LESSON TEXT—Rom 12:3, 9-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also to them likewise.—Luke 6:31.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt 5:1-16; 6:1-18; Phil 4:8, 9; Col 3:12-16; 1 Pet 2:1-7.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Making Others Happy.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Living Happily With Others.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Marks of a True Christian.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian's Standard of Character.

1. In His Relation to God (vv. 1, 2).
He is dedicated to God. He conscientiously presents his entire being to God.

1. The basis of this dedication (v. 1).
1) "The mercies of God." The grand reason for the dedication of ourselves to God is because we are recipients of the mercies of God.
2. The nature of the dedication (v. 1).
(1) An act of the free will. Those who voluntarily present themselves to God, He consecrates to His Service.
(2) It embraces the whole man (v. 1). By "body" is meant the entire personality—body, soul and spirit (1 Thess. 5:23). The inner life expresses itself through the body. (3) It is a living sacrifice (v. 1). In the Old Testament the victim was slain before being placed upon the altar, but in our case God wants our bodies as living instruments of service. (4) It is for rational service (v. 1). The logical outcome of our union with Christ is an intelligent service for Him.

3. The obligation of the one dedicated to the Lord (v. 2). It is non-conformity to this world. The one who has handed himself over to the Lord will not be fashioned by this evil, devil-governed age (1 John 5:19).

11. In His Relation to His Fellow Christians (vv. 9-13).
1. Love without hypocrisy (v. 9). We should not merely pretend to love people while hating them in our hearts.
2. Abhor the evil and cleave to the good (v. 9). God's children must be like Him. God hates wickedness of all sorts, so His children will have the same attitude towards sin that He has.
3. Be kindly affectioned one to another (v. 10). This is to be a brotherly love, namely, that which passes between those who are of one blood—members of the same family.
4. In honor preferring one another (v. 10). This is most difficult. It is natural to claim the best places for ourselves. Christ pleased not Himself.

5. Be not slothful in business (v. 11). This hardly refers to secular affairs, but rather to the church life which was to be characterized by zeal—energy and warmth, being regarded as service to the Lord.
6. Rejoicing in hope (v. 12). Affliction shall surely come to the Christian. In all trials the Christian should be filled with hope of future glory.
7. Patient in Tribulation (v. 12). This blessed hope will make possible a life of patience.
8. Continuing in prayer (v. 12). Only by constant and persistent prayer shall we be able to live above our circumstances and fix our hope upon Him whose coming shall bring deliverance from all our trials and transform us into His glorious likeness.
9. Distributing to the necessity of saints—given to hospitality (v. 13). It is obligatory to Christians to divide their wages with fellow Christians who are destitute (Eph. 4:28).

111. In His Relation to Unbelievers (vv. 14-21).
1. Do good for evil (v. 14). We are to bless those who persecute us. The natural man pays back in the same coin, but the renewed man responds in kindness and good deeds.
2. Be sympathetic (v. 15). We should rejoice with those who rejoice and weep with those who weep. Christ entered into the joys of the wedding at Cana, and wept with Mary and Martha.
3. Find points of agreement (v. 16). We should seek for points of agreement in all things, instead of being vain in our own conceits.
4. Live honestly before all men (v. 17). We should so live that our character may attract others to Christ.
5. Live in peace (v. 18). We should exhaust every means to bring about reconciliation. If the other party will not yield, we should see to it that it is not our fault.
6. Be not vindictive (vv. 19-21). Instead of rendering eye for eye and tooth for tooth, we should heap coals of fire upon our enemies by deeds of kindness.

HOUSES FOR SALE LOTS FOR SALE

MORGAN HEIGHTS Burlington County's Beauty Spot

Fruit Bearing Trees Excellent Improvements We are selling at pre-war prices

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Citizens of Palmyra and Riverton:

Rapid Progress Some three or four years ago the development of Morgan Heights was begun; streets were graded and gravelled; beautiful cement sidewalks, curbs and gutters laid; all of this soon to be followed by the erection of beautiful and comfortable homes—so that today Morgan Heights (located on the highest elevation in Burlington County) is conceded to be one of, if not, the nicest residential sections of the County.

A Word to the Wise All of the houses completed on this Tract have been sold with the exception of one at the corner of Morgan Avenue and Franklin Street. There is no doubt but what this one property will be sold in the Spring, for out of the many buyers that will be in the market, there will certainly be some people who will appreciate the beauty and comfort and substantiality of this home, (to say nothing of the large area of the lot upon which it is built) sufficiently to purchase it at the bargain price at which it is being offered. The same thing applies to the other properties which Builder Davis is now erecting and is about to erect on this Tract. Just at this point let us say that if there is one thing that adds to the attractiveness and permanency of Morgan Heights, it is the fact that there has been no inflation in prices of either lots or homes.

No Inflation in Prices The prices of the lots are the same today as they were when the development was started, although every lot on the Tract has been enhanced by the improvements that have taken place, and it would certainly cost a hundred dollars more for each fifty foot lot, to lay the sidewalks, gutters and curbs than it did when this work was done. If the Palmyra-Riverton section has any future at all, prices will advance—and that rapidly—for no new development ground can be opened up at prices to compete. We believe that the ferry operating between Tacony and Palmyra alone will bring about a big enhancement in the values of this section, so that the wise man will take time by the forelock and buy today.

Carefully Study this The main purpose of this letter, however, is to call to your attention the rare bargains that are within your reach in the lots fronting on Cleveland Avenue between Highland Avenue and Columbia Avenue. Certain it is that no discriminating buyer could fail to appreciate these bargains if he thoroughly understood the situation. Cleveland Avenue is at the highest point on the property; it is a well-graded thoroughfare, and cement sidewalks, gutters and curbs have been laid. In looking over the plan we notice that a lot 50x190 feet, located directly opposite the beautiful home property of Mr. Edward B. Rich can be purchased for $850. We also notice that a lot 55x175 feet directly opposite the excellent home and beautiful lawn of Mr. William T. B. Parnell, can be purchased for $1000. We also notice that a lot 81x150 feet, located at the corner of Morgan Avenue and Cleveland Avenue can be purchased for $1500, while the one 79x165 feet, at the corner of Cleveland Avenue and Columbia Avenue can be purchased for $1350.

Great Opportunities When one realizes that all of the improvements have been made around these lots, then and then only is the real value appreciated. Just to think of having a corner property with all the advantage of side light and air space for such small sums of money. The improvements around any one of these lots today would cost not a cent less than $700, so that you can see that (as far as real area is concerned) corner lots are being sold at less than inside lots.

If you desire any further particulars about these properties, consult Mr. George N. Wimer, 15 East Broad Street, Palmyra, or Builder Llewellyn Davis, 910 Columbia Avenue, Palmyra.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR APRIL 3 THE IDEAL CHRISTIAN.

LESSON TEXT—Rom. 12:3-8. GOLDEN TEXT—As ye would that men should do unto you, do ye also to them likewise.—Luke 6:31. REFERENCED MATERIAL—Matt. 5:1-16; 6:33; Phil. 4:8; Col. 3:12-15; 1 Pet. 3:1-7. PRIMARY TOPIC—Making Others Happy. JUNIOR TOPIC—Living Happily With Others. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Marks of a True Christian. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Christian's Standard of Character.

1. In His Relation to God (vv. 1, 2). He is dedicated to God. He conscientiously presents his entire being to God. 1. The basis of this dedication (v. 1). "The mercies of God." The grand reason for the dedication of ourselves to God is because we are recipients of the mercies of God. 2. The nature of the dedication (v. 1). (1) An act of the free will. Those who voluntarily present themselves to God, He consecrates to His Service. (2) It embraces the whole man (v. 1). By "bodies" is meant the entire personality—body, soul and spirit (1 Thess. 5:23). The inner life expresses itself through the body. (3) It is a living sacrifice (v. 1). In the Old Testament the victim was slain before being placed upon the altar, but in our case God wants our bodies as living instruments of service. (4) It is for rational service (v. 1). The logical outcome of our union with Christ is an intelligent service for Him. 3. The obligation of the one dedicated to the Lord (v. 2). It is non-conformity to this world. The one who has handed himself over to the Lord will not be fashioned by this evil, devil-governed age (1 John 5:19). 4. In His Relation to His Fellow Christians (vv. 9-15). 1. Love without hypocrisy (v. 9). We should not merely pretend to love people while hating them in our hearts. 2. Abhor the evil and cleave to the good (v. 9). God's children must be like Him. God hates wickedness of all sorts, so His children will have the same attitude towards sin that He has. 3. Be kindly affectioned one to another (v. 10). This is to be a brotherly love, namely, that which passes between those who are of one blood—members of the same family. 4. In honor preferring one another (v. 10). This is most difficult. It is natural to claim the best places for ourselves. Christ pleased not Himself. 5. Be not slothful in business (v. 11). This hardly refers to secular affairs, but rather to the church life which was to be characterized by zeal—energy and warmth, being regarded as service to the Lord. 6. Rejoicing in hope (v. 12). Affliction shall surely come to the Christian. In all trials the Christian should be filled with hope of future glory. 7. Patient in Tribulation (v. 12). This blessed hope will make possible a life of patience. 8. Continuing in prayer (v. 12). Only by constant and persistent prayer shall we be able to live above our circumstances and fix our hope upon Him whose coming shall bring deliverance from all our trials and transform us into His glorious likeness. 9. Distributing to the necessity of saints—given to hospitality (v. 13). It is obligatory to Christians to divide their wages with fellow Christians who are destitute (Eph. 4:28). 10. In His Relation to Unbelievers (vv. 14-21). 1. Do good for evil (v. 14). We are to bless those who persecute us. The natural man pays back in the same coin, but the renewed man responds in kindness and good deeds. 2. Be sympathetic (v. 15). We should rejoice with those who rejoice and weep with those who weep. Christ entered into the joys of the wedding at Cana, and wept with Mary and Martha. 3. Find points of agreement (v. 16). We should seek for points of agreement in all things, instead of being vain in our own conceits. 4. Live honestly before all men (v. 17). We should so live that our characters may attract others to Christ. 5. Live in peace (v. 18). We should exhaust every means to bring about reconciliation. If the other party will not yield, we should see to it that it is not our fault. 6. Be not vindictive (vv. 19-21). Instead of rendering eye for eye and tooth for tooth, we should heap coals of fire upon our enemies by deeds of kindness.

7. Mothers Lead the Way. Children are what the mothers are; no fondest father's fondest care can so fashion the infant's heart, or so shape the life.—Lauder.

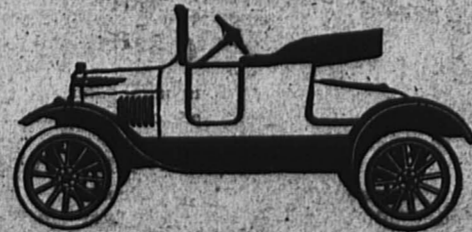

8. They That Bow Heads. They that bow their heads before God may hold them erect before the world.—A. S. Wishart.

9. Mothers. The future destiny of the child is always the work of the mother.—Napoleon.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR The Ford Runabout

A WONDERFUL servant for pleasure, and for business. And we hope now, with the factory increasing production, very shortly we will be able to make fairly prompt deliveries with Ford Runabouts. Anyway bring in your orders and we will see what we can do. Do not forget whenever you think of Ford cars, to remember that in the dependable, thorough and satisfactory "Ford After-Service" that is expressed by more than seven thousand dealers and fifteen thousand authorized Ford garages scattered all over the United States, that there is one right near you, no matter where you live, and wherever there is one there is the assurance of reliable, economical, prompt and efficient Ford service, where nothing but genuine Ford-made parts are used. Let us have your order as early as possible, to be fair to yourself as well as fair to us.

School Notes
Miss Sims and the girls of the grammar grades have sent two suitcases to the Armenians, containing thirty-two pairs of booties, a baby's layette, and several caps and sweaters made outside of school from yarn left from last year. A number of children's dresses, stockings, and underwear, which were darned and mended in school, were also among the things sent.

Miss Smith, a former teacher of the Cinnaminson school, who is now teaching in a private school in Camden, visited the fifth and sixth grades Tuesday morning. Her visit was greatly enjoyed by the pupils.

Mr. Schneider kindly gave Easter eggs to the kindergarten for an egg hunt. Miss Parker hid the eggs, and on the following day the children enjoyed themselves while hunting the eggs.

Richard Moore, of the eighth grade, whose number was twenty-one, received the prize offered by the Parent-Teacher Association for writing the best essay entitled "Good Citizenship." The boys of the school are showing great interest toward the spring athletic sports.

The boys of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are forming three separate base ball teams.

Miss Cheryl, the principal of the school, is thinking of holding a field meet among the boys of the school, so she can pick out the winning boys to be sent to Mount Holly.

SEVENTH GRADE
Hatch Wins Place on Cup
Still another name appears on the John H. Reese memorial trophy, that of E. E. Hatch. The ideal weather conditions last Saturday brought out a large array of the best shots, however, several took advantage of the mid-summer weather and played booby, being found on the cup links.

Four fifteen shot in the cup contest, which necessitated three squads of five each. With no wind worth while to interfere, the scores registered were some of the best seen down on the wharf during the entire season.

When the 50-target match drew to a close, E. E. Hatch and W. B. Lynch were the only two entitled to meet in the shoot-off. Hatch not only got in the shoot-off, but by breaking 47 of his targets, was the high man of the squad. Robinson, Rogers and Charles Vaughan were close runners up with 45 breaks each, but a trifle short to get them in the select class, due to their low handicaps. D. L. Vaughan, Stackhouse and Harvey Stewart were the only others to break over 40 of their targets. The two lady members of the Vaughan sisters, shot their usually good shoot, Mrs. C. Z. smashing 28 and Mrs. D. L. 24.

In the special match to determine the winner, Hatch barely nosed Lynch out, only beating him by half a point. Lynch has been shooting in top form and nearly every week sees him in the special 25-target match for the cup.

Yacht Club Notes

The Yacht Club banquet on Wednesday, April 6th, will be given in the Porch Club instead of the parish house. Nearly a hundred guests have sent in their acceptances, and the banquet committee can receive no reservations after Monday morning, the 4th. With the ladies' committee in charge of the dinner, all are assured a hearty meal, and R. W. Knight will see that the fun and entertainment is not lacking. If you have not done so already, send in your reservations to the treasurer, C. B. Durborow, at once.

F. S. Groves, Jr., has further indebted the trapshooting section of the Yacht Club to him, by presenting the Club with several handsome gun racks which were badly needed. Besides, Mr. Groves is responsible for the success of the shooting team this year by donating the big sterling silver cup for which all the members are striving. In addition to this Mr. Groves, with seven other gentlemen, made it possible for the Gun Club to shoot off the wharf by financing the moving of the club house back, and the repairs necessary to give the men the ideal home they now enjoy.

The hot weather brought out all the yachting fans, and they were at Delair painting their boats, and getting all in trim for the coming season.

The club owes Bill Baker a big vote of thanks. Bill single handed put the floats in fine shape, and not only saved the club a hundred dollars, but proved himself to be no mean carpenter.

Among those who motored to Atlantic City, Easter Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Dixon Taylor and family and a number of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ross E. Mattis and family, Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goslin.

Mrs. William J. MacCrosson will attend a meeting of the Philadelphia Dancing Masters Association of Sunday, where Miss Marguerite Walz will demonstrate the new Tango Trot, which is her own composition, and which she has given to the Association.

The annual supper given by Mrs. Alice Taylor for the benefit of the Riverton A. M. E. Church, last night, was largely attended as usual, and those who partook of the delicacies prepared by her skilled and faithful hands declare that she has lost none of her cunning in the gentle art of cooking.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Wiberg entertained friends from Chester, West Philadelphia, Roebling, Burlington, Palmyra and Riverton Thursday evening, at which time they announced the engagement of their daughter, Rose A. to Mr. Benjamin R. Leach, of Methuen, Mass. Mr. Leach is a graduate of Cornell and is at present in charge of the insecticide investigations at the Japanese Beetle Laboratory at Riverton.

Evidently house cleaning at the county jail is an event. The Mount Holly Mirror devotes a column in this week's issue to a description of the work done in that institution by Sheriff Flagg and Turkey Horner. Those who are acquainted with the thoroughness of the new sheriff's methods will readily believe that the old place has had such a renovating as has never before experienced. The improvements include painting all over the inside, a general clean-up of unused rooms and the inauguration of a vegetable garden in the jail yard. A very large part of this wholesome work was done by the prisoners.

Fined for Speeding
Recorder George K. Clark, whom everybody calls "Judge," sat on his first case last Monday. The term "sat" is used advisedly—for that is just what happened. The offender was William Reidenbacher, of Fork Landing, who was charged with speeding the day before (Sunday). The arrest was made by Officer Miller. According to the officer, Reidenbacher sped through town, narrowly missing a pedestrian. When he returned the young man seemed to think it was still "open season" for folks afoot, and some of them had a narrow escape from being run down. Miller stopped him to give him warning, when it is claimed, Reidenbacher became abusive. He was then directed to appear before the judge. A fine of $5.00 was imposed.

Evidently our new recorder takes State and municipal laws seriously, and means to do his part toward seeing that they are enforced.

Willits Takes Three More

The last games of this tournament will be played Wednesday, April 20, but in the time intervening there are several interesting and important matches to be played, which will no doubt attract the usual end-of-season gallery. The leaders will meet, Jones now in second place and Evans in fourth, being scheduled for April 13th and 6th respectively.

The changes in the standing of the teams since last week have been: Willits from fifth to third place.

Hirst from fourth to fifth.

Evans from third to fourth.

Rogers from seventh to eighth.

Craft from eighth to seventh.

Captain Vaughan has not only proven to be an able leader of a bowling team, but also an exceptionally efficient manager, by his genius in arranging a double-header when his men were in perfect form. Their match scheduled for March 17th with Hirst, was for some reason postponed, but from later developments it would seem that they had been a special training, as they arrived at the alleys Tuesday evening in prime condition, after the Manager-Captain had been successful in arranging to play the postponed Hirst game and the scheduled Rogers match simultaneously resulting in winning three from each team. R. B. Frishmuth scored 253 in one game, being the high single for the season and probably the best score on these alleys for several years. Chambers also bowled exceptionally well, marking up 213 in the second.

Willits again wins three, making eight straight.

Standing of the teams, including game of March 30th:

Vaughan	26	13	666
Jones	21	15	584
Willits	22	17	564
Evans	21	18	538
Hirst	17	19	472
Coe	17	19	472
Craft	17	22	436
Rogers	15	23	394
Bush	2	13	133

Season's three high scores:
R. B. Frishmuth 253
J. A. Claffin 234
C. W. Wanger 225

DEATHS

Heulings Lippincott
Heulings Lippincott, one of Burlington county's foremost citizens, died at his home in Cinnaminson township on the road between Riverton and Moorestown last Friday morning. The deceased had been in failing health for about a month. He was seventy-eight years of age and had led an exceedingly active life, having been identified with the financial interests as well as being engaged in farming on an extensive scale.

Mr. Lippincott succeeded his father in the presidency of the First National Bank of Camden, and when he relinquished the post two years ago, he was elected chairman of the Board of Directors. He was one of the organizers of the Camden and Suburban Railway Company, and sometime after that company was taken over by the Public Service Corporation, he was made a director of the latter corporation.

He was executor of many large estates and for a time represented the township in the Burlington county Board of Freeholders. Mr. Lippincott was one of the receivers of the Camden Iron Works, to the duties of which he devoted much of his time in later years. He was a member of the Union League of Philadelphia, and a staunch Republican.

He is survived by a widow and seven children: Howard Lippincott, Samuel R. Lippincott, Jr., Mrs. Charles M. Biddle, Jr., and Edgar Lippincott, of Riverton; Mrs. J. Milton Griscom, of Moorestown; Robert W. Lippincott, of Edinboro, Pa.; and Walter H. Lippincott, of Wynnewood, Pa.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2.30 at his residence, the interment made in the Friends' cemetery, Westfield.

George W. Lee
George W. Lee, who had been a resident of Riverton for half a century before falling ill, died at his home in Philadelphia, died at his brother's residence last Thursday. The funeral services were held in the Riverton A. M. E. Church Saturday afternoon, and interment was made in Morgan cemetery.

"Uncle George" was a favorite with all who knew him, and that meant pretty much everybody in Riverton. He was employed for many years in the family of Stephen Cook. He is survived by two daughters, Marian and Edna, who live in Richmond, Va., and a son, George, Jr., in Philadelphia.

Electric Lights in the Parish House
The new lighting system is in operation in the P. H. A. and complete, as far as the auditorium and halls are concerned. The effect is very pleasing—ample illumination without glare of any kind. Everything is in shape for the initial dance of the P. H. A. next Tuesday evening, and for the vaudeville, minstrel and dance on the twelfth.

The dance next Tuesday will be a brilliant, though informal, affair, and directly under the auspices of the P. H. A. committee, with the following patronesses: Mrs. W. R. Hoffman, Mrs. O. H. Mattis, Mrs. H. L. Rogers, Mrs. H. E. Moyer, Mrs. John M. Hughes, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Jr., Mrs. E. A. Downing, Mrs. J. E. Beebe, Mrs. H. E. Stewart, and Mrs. S. L. Warren.

Pine's drug store of Palmyra, has a special message in their advertisement. Don't fail to read it.—adv.

C. C. Butler will reopen the Lawn House on May 5th.

Will purchase a well located home, if price and terms are within reason. Address P. O. Box 161, Riverton, N. J.

How to Keep Rubber Soft.
A prominent tire manufacturer says that an excellent way to prevent hardening of inner tubes when they are stored for the winter is to place them in hot water once a month or every six weeks. They should be immersed for just a couple of minutes, and should then be carefully dried and partly inflated before being hung up again. This treatment serves to keep the rubber pliable and soft.

Instinct, Possibly.

WILL BUILD NEW SCHOOL

Palmyra Board of Education Receives Delegation from Riverton Board, Recommending Improvements in Curriculum—And This Will Necessitate More Room

The realization that Palmyra must take steps at once to provide further school room was emphasized Thursday evening when a delegation from the Riverton Board of Education appeared before the Palmyra Board and on behalf of the fifty or more Riverton students in the Palmyra High School, called for an extension and modernization in the local high school curriculum.

James T. Weart, president of the Palmyra Board, replied to the Rivertonians that he and other members of the Board were heartily in favor of making several of the improvements asked for, and had been for some time, but that it would be impossible to bring about the change until additional school room was provided by the construction of a new building. Steps in this direction are to be taken at once, he assured the visitors.

The Riverton committee, Messrs. Murray C. Boyer and J. W. Sylvester, said that the course of study in the Palmyra High School was so unsatisfactory that many Riverton people favored sending their children elsewhere and that in some cases this is being done.

The tuition paid for outside pupils is quite an aid to the upkeep of the local High School.

The Palmyra Board decided to proceed at once to get the matter before the public. A special meeting will be held next Friday evening, April 8th, at which various architects will be invited to present their ideas as to the cost of a building necessary to meet requirements.

Mr. Weart stated that as soon as definite facts and figures are arrived at, a public meeting will be called and the proposition discussed with the citizens in general.

Plans heretofore under consideration have been for a twelve-room school house on the new lot that has been purchased next to the present High School building, with a central heating plant for the two buildings, thus saving room now taken up by the present heating plant.

The local Board is especially anxious to end the crowded conditions which made it necessary this year to have one kindergarten in the basement of the Baptist Church and another in the Christ Church Sunday School room. The churches also are anxious for the change.

In the course of their discussion of conditions, Messrs. Boyer and Sylvester gave especial praise to the Palmyra's physical director, Frank Terry. The communication presented to the Palmyra Board from the Riverton Board was as follows:

To the Palmyra Township Board of Education, Palmyra, New Jersey. Gentlemen:

The Board of Education of the Borough of Riverton, as you know, sends its High School pupils to Palmyra, under the rule requiring pupils from Grammar Schools to attend the nearest High School. This requirement is based solely upon geographical conditions.

The Riverton Board has felt for some time, however, that while Palmyra ranks as an "Approved High School" under the State requirements, it does not seem to have a real vision respecting High School education, but has rested content in maintaining a school of minimum requirements. As the Riverton school has undertaken to ground its pupils in several branches of vocational training, recommended by the State Board, it is a matter of considerable regret to the Riverton Board, which we believe is shared by other Boards of Education whose pupils attend the Palmyra High School, that these branches are not a part of the work required in your High School. We refer particularly to

Manual Training;
Domestic Science;
Music;
Drawing (Art), and Sewing.

This matter has been and is of such moment to the Riverton Board that a number of attempts have been made to send their High School pupils elsewhere. Owing to the fact that the State will not allow transportation elsewhere with an accredited High School as near as Palmyra, this has not been possible except where the parents are willing to pay for transportation, which has been done in a number of cases.

It is a matter of common knowledge that the Palmyra High School is crowded; that it must house classes from the grade schools of Palmyra, and that parts of the High School building not intended for and wholly unsuitable for the purpose, have been used as class rooms. All in all, the conditions at Palmyra are not to the liking of the Riverton Board, which now maintains at your High School some 53 pupils.

With a view of ascertaining whether or not Palmyra will consider changes in its curriculum, with proper addition in the way of school buildings, the Riverton Board of Education has appointed the undersigned a committee to confer with the Palmyra Township Board of Education.

As we have indicated above, Palmyra has, admittedly, an "Approved High School"; the course of study prescribed is in accordance with the State requirements, and it can be assumed that all the rules governing the matter are complied with.

But in the present consideration of public education is this quite enough? The courses offered, Latin Scientific and Commercial do not, in the opinion of the Riverton Board, cover the situation. The trend of educational opinion for a long time was to fit the child to a certain course of study, and not the course of study to the child. It has long been realized that this plan is wrong, and that while standardization is a possible goal, the children of today cannot be compressed into molds on the one hand, nor forced into lines of study wholly beyond their grasp on the other. Individualism must be considered, and proper credits should be and are given for courses in vocational training.

Vocational training must take the place of some of the classical work to which many children cannot attain. The fundamentals require no change, but it is believed they are best taught in the grammar grades, and so far as the Riverton school is concerned, its pupils are believed to be well grounded. But they have had some vocational training in addition, and this training is dropped the moment they enter the Palmyra High School. Is this quite right? We do not think so.

Educators everywhere recognize the fact that there are many children today to whom the higher branches of mathematics will ever remain a closed book, and the same is true in the study of ancient and modern languages. Are these children to be denied the right to pursue a course of vocational training because no facilities are provided? It does not seem desirable to continually flunk pupils because they cannot grasp algebraic problems when they might shine in certain vocational branches. If mathematics cannot be grasped, it is certain they will play no part in the future of the individual. Could not the time devoted to this impossible study be more profitably employed in manual training, for instance? We think so.

A writer in the Philadelphia "Public Ledger," under date of March 29, 1921, discussing "Better Educational Facilities; Smaller Classes, and More Highly Trained Teachers," said inter alia:

"...there must be practical training for the business of life. There must be academic and scientific courses for those who are entering higher professional schools; there must be training in home management and cooking for the great mass of our girls who will marry; there must be machine shops and drawing rooms, dressmaking and cooking rooms, model offices and filing rooms for those who will enter industry—in fact, there must be every kind of class where the youth about to enter life may receive his laboratory training."

We do not believe and do not suggest that Palmyra should go as far as this writer proposes, but it is believed that the Palmyra High School is not as efficient as it could and should be. Whether this is because of your teacher turnover, or your lack of school facilities, we do not know, but from common knowledge, and actual observation, Palmyra High School seems to lack the morale that, in the opinion of the Riverton School Board, should and does obtain in other High Schools of the State; and it is entirely lacking in courses of vocational training.

Our purpose in appearing before you is to ascertain if any salutary changes can be made. There are 53 pupils from Riverton in the Palmyra High School, and we believe that such a large percentage of our students entitles us to discuss with you the desirability of improving your facilities for their education. As we have indicated above, we have seriously considered a change, and given State aid, we would send our High School pupils to another school. We believe, however, that Riverton should co-operate with Palmyra; their geographical position demands a proper entente and it will serve the best interests of both towns if the educational facilities in the Palmyra High School are raised to the highest plane.

Very respectfully,
J. W. SYLVESTER,
MURRAY C. BOYER,
Chairman,
Committee from Riverton Borough Board of Education.

William F. Morgan, who in the course of his long career has watched Palmyra grow from the original farm land to a town of 4,000 people, was heard to remark this week that the Tacony ferry would mean an unprecedented boom, the extent of which can only be guessed at.

Frederick Rogers last Friday introduced a resolution at the Board meeting, asking Judge Wells to release Morgan Vannell, of Florence, who recently was fined $1,000 for violation of the liquor laws and has since been in the county jail because he could not raise the money. The resolution, which was adopted, was prompted by the fact that Vannell's family is destitute, their home having been sold to satisfy a mortgage, and his wife and two children are now dependent upon friends.

Chief Maniutowog, a full-blooded Shawan Indian from the State of Washington, who was converted as the result of his study of the Bible while confined in Sing Sing prison, New York, for carrying a concealed weapon, will be at the Epworth M. Prizes Awarded for Ferry Essay

The results of the Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company's prize essay contest for Palmyra school children on the subject, "What the ferry will do for Palmyra" have been announced by the judges, Mrs. E. A. Robinson, Mrs. R. S. Williams, and Frank A. Mathews, Jr., as follows:

High school essays: first prize, Maurice McCrosson, Garfield avenue, 17 years old, junior class; second prize, Leon H. Keesly, of Riverside, junior class; third prize, Roy Kelsey, 15 years old, 451 Horace avenue, freshman class.

Grammar school essays: first prize, Gorda McCrosson, 15 years old, 204 Washington avenue, eighth grade; second prize, George Graham, 13 years old, 328 Cinnaminson avenue, eighth grade; third prize, Rosalie Mae Roberts, 13 years old, 1006 Parry avenue, seventh grade.

In the Legislature

The Senate has adopted a bill that authorizes Boards of Freeholders to offer a reward of $500 for the arrest of persons guilty of murder, burglary, robbery, etc.

The Senate has adopted the House concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a commission to codify the laws relating to the distribution of school money.

Over the opposition of Senator Hagaman, of Ocean, and Senator Reeves, of Cumberland, the Senate passed the House bill increasing the fishing and gunning license fees for residents from $1 to $1.50, and from $2 to $3 for non-residents. The vote was 14 to 2.

The measure embodying the recommendations of the Motor Traffic Commission created last year was passed in the House by a vote of 35 to 9. The measure is a complete revision of motor-vehicle legislation adopted in New Jersey for the last fifteen years and will bring into the State additional revenue to the extent of about $1,500,000 by reason of an approximate increase of 35 per cent in the registration fees for pleasure vehicles and motortrucks.

Mrs. Katherine E. Donges, of Merchantville, whose appointment to the New Jersey State Board of Education has been rejected by the Senate at Trenton, is declared by Senator Wallworth, Camden county, to have been "temporarily unseated" for the position—whatever that means.

More detailed reports on other bills will be found in the Trenton letter on the fourth page.

To the Central Organization for a Durable Peace

The following are extracts from a translation of a letter sent by Abdul Baha to the general secretary of The League.

Among his teachings was the declaration of Universal Peace. People of different nations, religions and sects who followed him came together to such an extent that remarkable gatherings were instituted, consisting of the various nations and religions of the East. Every soul who entered these gatherings saw but one nation, one teaching, one pathway, one order, for the teachings of His Holiness Baha'ullah were not limited to the establishment of Universal Peace. They embraced many teachings which supplemented and supported that of Universal Peace.

Among these teachings was the independent investigation of reality so that the world of humanity may be saved from the darkness of imitation and attain to the truth; may tear off and cast away this ragged and outgrown garment of 1,000 years ago and may put on the robe woven in the utmost purity and holiness in the loom of reality. As reality is one and cannot admit of multiplicity, therefore dissenting opinions must ultimately become fused into one.

And among the teachings of His Holiness Baha'ullah is the oneness of the world of humanity; that all human beings are the sheep of God and He is the kind Shepherd. This Shepherd is kind to all the sheep, because He created them all, trained them, provided for their needs and protected them. There is no doubt that the Shepherd is kind to all the sheep and should there be among these sheep ignorant ones, they must be educated; there be children, they must be trained until they reach maturity; if there be sick ones, they must be cured. There must be no hatred and enmity. As by a kind physician these ignorant stock-ones should be treated. (Continued next week)

Liberty's Aid to Genus

Persons of genius, it is true, are and are always likely to be, a small minority; but in order to have them it is necessary to preserve the soil in which they grow. Genius can only breathe freely in an atmosphere of freedom. Persons of genius are less capable of fitting themselves without hurtful compression into any one of the small number of molds which society provides in order to save its members the trouble of forming their own character. If from timidity they consent to be forced into one of these molds, and to let that part of themselves which cannot expand under the pressure remain unexpanded, society will be little the better for their genius. If they are of a strong character and break their fetters they become a mark for the society which has not succeeded in reducing them to the common standard; to point at with solemn warning as wild and erratic and the like; much as if one should complain of the Niagara river for not flowing smoothly between its banks like a Dutch canal.—John Stuart Mill.

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IN PEACE TIME

About 12,000,000 boys and girls, comprising nearly half the school population of the United States, are members of the Junior Red Cross, which is helping the children of Europe, while at the same time it is doing an important work here at home. He is the youngest Junior living in the neighborhood of Juneau, Alaska—and he sends greetings to fellow Juniors of the United States.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Without Money Trolleys Can Not Do Any Repaving

When Spring comes the question of paving or repaving streets, bobs up in every community. And with it arises the question of cost.

In practically every municipality where Public Service Railway cars run, the company has paved between its tracks and, in most cases, for a foot or so outside the rails. All these pavements add to the expense of furnishing service, even though they are not used by the cars.

As the plan has worked out, when a governing body wants to pave a street, on which there are trolley tracks, it excludes the railway strip from the job the public is assessed or taxed for and looks to the trolley company to take care of the part excluded.

This results in saving large sums of money for property owners and taxpayers by shifting part of the burden to the cost of transportation, which has to be borne by the car riders.

For many years past the trolley company has gone along with these public improvements, as a matter of course; because the rate of fare it was permitted to charge, and the exclusive privilege of carrying passengers over its routes, accorded to it by the State, enabled it to get sufficient funds to pay for the work.

During the last few years conditions have radically changed.

Wages, power, materials and taxes have increased, and a form of competition, unregulated by the State, has been tolerated to such an extent that the railway fares now charged do not cover the cost of the service given; consequently there is no margin of receipts left to pay for rebuilding tracks and relaying pavements, as there was in former years.

Jitneys have been permitted to run over trolley routes, needlessly duplicating service and collecting revenue that otherwise would go to the trolley company and be available, in part at least, for renewing street pavements.

So we have this situation:

The trolley has to pay for pavements; it doesn't use, while the jitney doesn't have to pay for pavements it does use.

As a result, not only does the jitney use pavements paid for by the public, but its operation, under existing conditions, is largely responsible for the public being deprived of many street paving improvements that it would otherwise be sure to get.

Existing conditions may be all right for the jitney owner, but where does the public at large get off?

MEDICAL BILL UP TO GOVERNOR

Assembly After Hearing by Medical Men and Chiropractors Passes Senate Medical Bill.

NEW YORK PORT BILL PASSED

In Passing the Case Bill Over the Governor's Veto, Legislature Incurrs State Police Protection—Liquor Enforcement Bill Passed.

Trenton.—Members of New Jersey's medical profession won a second victory over the chiropractors when the Assembly passed on final reading, by a vote of 40 to 17, the senate bill that abolishes the State Chiropractor Board and gives chiropractors representation on the State Board of Medical Examiners.

The passage of the senate measure was stubbornly contested on the floor of the house. For more than two hours, members wrangled with one another over the merits of a substitute bill prepared by the special committee to which the bill was referred. The substitute bill would increase to sixteen the membership on the State Board of Medical Examiners and give chiropractors three representatives, osteopaths three and the medical profession the other ten.

The senate bill, introduced by Senator Barber, now goes to Governor Edwards. Before the Assembly took up the measure as a special order of business, Republican members were called into a ten minute conference.

The Barber bill permits the State Medical Board to issue limited licenses for the practice of special methods of healing. It not only abolishes the Chiropractor Board, created by legislation of last year, but adds one member, a chiropractor, to the State Board of Medical Examiners.

At one of the stormiest hearings held at this session the medical men and chiropractors fought over the passage of a bill before the special house committee designed to do away with the State Board of Chiropractic Examiners. Speakers advocated their respective views to the accompaniment of cat calls, laughs and jeers until the hearing degenerated into affairs of mutual recriminations on the part of opposing forces, a number of speakers indulging in bitter personalities. The hearing was brought to a close abruptly by the chairman of the committee. The medical viewpoint as expressed at the hearing was an objection to what was termed a "lowering of educational standards" on the part of the chiropractors and osteopaths, in advocating a separate board of examiners. Chiropractors and osteopaths, on the other hand, asserted that they were waging a national fight against "medical autocracy."

Dr. Wells P. Eagleton, Newark, speaking for the medical fraternity, declared that profession sent more men to the wall than any other two professions combined. He asserted effects of chiropractors and osteopaths would mean lowering of standards which it had taken the medical men thirty years to establish. Chiropractors and osteopaths favored a compromise bill to place three men of each branch on the State Board of Medical Examiners and allow them full sway over their respective schools of healing. The bill as advocated by medical men would add one chiropractor to the present State Medical Board.

Port Bill Passed
Without a vote being recorded against it, the house passed senate bill No. 182, which would permit a State Commission to enter upon agreements with the New York board for the development of the Port of New York.

Assemblyman Arthur N. Pierson of Union County, declared the proposed pact between New Jersey and New York was constructive measure in which New Jersey would reap material benefit. He said many had given New York harbor conditions and their future improvement careful study and believed New Jersey would have the "better of the bargain."

Branding the Public Service Corporation as a dishonest company which used its money to elect dishonest men to legislate against honest men, Mayor Gillen said that the stockholders, if they were given the opportunity, would vote the dishonest ring which controlled the corporation out of office and operate it in an honest, economical manner.

He went into the history of the jitney and told how the traction interests had the Kates law enacted to regulate the jitneys and now they wanted this new bill passed to eventually drive all jitneys out of business. He accused Counsellor John W. Palmer of Newark, who spoke in favor of the bill, of being at one time an attorney for the Public Service Corporation.

Commissioner Gannon recommended the passage of the bill as drawn with two amendments to be added—one defining landlords, and the other making certain classes of property exempt from its provisions.

Farm lands, hotels, summer cottages and bungalows, and rooming houses, renting rooms by the week or a less period of time, are excluded from the provisions of the bill. The landlords are defined as owners.

Commissioner Gannon led the fight in behalf of the bill, being aided by Mayor Charles P. Gillen of Newark, Dr. Noah Gelger, member of the mayor's rent committee, of Newark, Dr. William G. Hanrahan, chairman of the same committee, and Warren G. Malphas and James A. Skinner, representing the Manufacturers' Association of Bloomfield.

Commissioner Gannon took the view that the rent problem is of national importance, the same opinion as Senator Calder of New York, he said.

Passed Over Governor's Veto
The assembly passed two bills over the governor's veto, the Case Constabulary bill, and the Van Ness liquor enforcement bill. The first was repassed by a vote of 37 to 16, and the latter by a vote of 48 to 11.

Hudson assemblymen voting against the constabulary bill were Messrs. Nelson, J. B. Stephens, Engleke and Tuttle. Against the Van Ness bill were Assemblymen Nelson, Tuttle and J. B. Stephens of Jersey City. There were no speakers for or against either measure.

The constabulary bill had previously been passed over the governor's veto in the senate, and is therefore to be included among the laws of 1921 as soon as filed with the Secretary of State. The Van Ness bill has not yet come to the senate for passage.

The State Constabulary bill is designed to establish a state police force of about two hundred officers and men. Labor leaders opposed the creation of such an organization on the grounds that it might be used against labor in strikes and lockouts.

The liquor enforcement bill provides a $200 fine or six months in jail for violations similar to those under the Volstead act, but prescribes that alleged offenders are to be tried by county judges without juries.

Edwards Vetoes Primary Bill
Governor Edwards sent his veto of the senate substitute for House 145 of the Franklin election bill to the assembly. This bill does away with the preferential method of voting, restores the municipal primary and permits non-candidates to survive the primary and run in the May election. The governor declares the bill unconstitutional.

The governor declares that the bill is a step in the wrong direction in that it restores partisanship despite the constant effort during the last few years to eliminate that undesirable feature from elections.

The house passed another Franklin bill, Assembly 141, as amended by the senate to apply to first class counties only, just as the substitute bill does. House Bill 141 contains the election districts now prevailing for any commission government prior to June 1, 1921.

The governor in vetoing the substitute for the Franklin bill gave his reasons in the following message:

"The present practice, in holding elections in the municipalities governed under the commission government act, is to allow all persons who desire to submit themselves as candidates to run at the election without any primary or elimination contest.

"That method seems to have worked satisfactorily and to have resulted in a large field of eligible persons from whom the voters might choose those best fitted, in their judgment, to administer the affairs of the municipality.

"The bill under consideration affects only those first class cities which are operating under the commission government act.

Senate Rejects Guligey
The senate in executive session rejected Governor Edwards' nomination of Michael J. Guligey, police court judge of Newark, to be judge of the court of common pleas of Newark in place of Judge William P. Martin, whose term expired. The vote was fifteen against confirmation and none in favor of it.

All of the votes cast against confirmation of Judge Guligey were Republican. Judge Guligey was rejected at the behest of Senator William H. Parry of Essex county, who raised the point of senatorial courtesy and requested the senate not to confirm Judge Guligey.

Senator Parry stated that his only objection to Guligey was the fact that the office carried a great responsibility and he felt that Judge Guligey did not measure up to the requirements of the position.

The senate confirmed the name of Mrs. Agnes Cromwell of Morris county, a sister of Senator Whitney, to membership on the State Board of Education.

To Regulate Jitneys
The Elliot bill to place new jitneys under the supervision of the Public Utility Commission received the necessary eleven votes in the senate to insure its passage. The bill, which now goes to the governor, permits municipalities to regulate all jitneys now in operation. Future applications for jitney licenses would be made to the Public Utility Commission and regulation of their operations would be directed by that body.

The bill was bitterly attacked on the floor of the senate by Senators Simpson of Hudson and Parry of Essex. It was reported by the Senate Judiciary Committee immediately following a stormy public hearing held by that committee.

Branding the Public Service Corporation as a dishonest company which used its money to elect dishonest men to legislate against honest men, Mayor Gillen said that the stockholders, if they were given the opportunity, would vote the dishonest ring which controlled the corporation out of office and operate it in an honest, economical manner.

He went into the history of the jitney and told how the traction interests had the Kates law enacted to regulate the jitneys and now they wanted this new bill passed to eventually drive all jitneys out of business. He accused Counsellor John W. Palmer of Newark, who spoke in favor of the bill, of being at one time an attorney for the Public Service Corporation.

Commissioner Gannon recommended the passage of the bill as drawn with two amendments to be added—one defining landlords, and the other making certain classes of property exempt from its provisions.

Farm lands, hotels, summer cottages and bungalows, and rooming houses, renting rooms by the week or a less period of time, are excluded from the provisions of the bill. The landlords are defined as owners.

Commissioner Gannon led the fight in behalf of the bill, being aided by Mayor Charles P. Gillen of Newark, Dr. Noah Gelger, member of the mayor's rent committee, of Newark, Dr. William G. Hanrahan, chairman of the same committee, and Warren G. Malphas and James A. Skinner, representing the Manufacturers' Association of Bloomfield.

Commissioner Gannon took the view that the rent problem is of national importance, the same opinion as Senator Calder of New York, he said.

VALDURA 99.5% PURE ASPHALT PAINT is offered for permanent protection. You do not have to apply VALDURA every year like you do most paints of its type. VALDURA makes its strongest appeal to the better class users. It sometimes costs a little more than the black tar dopes so generally offered, but it really costs less because a gallon goes further and lasts a great deal longer.

VALDURA 99.5% PURE ASPHALT PAINT

Should be preferred for all exposed roofs whether rubber, felt, composition, or metal. It is used widely for bridges, silos, tanks, farm machinery, etc. You can use it everywhere a water and weather resisting paint is required, whether below ground or aboveground.

It is supplied in regular sized containers from 1 Gall. cans up. It is already put up and does not have to be mixed or thinned before you use it.

Let us send you the VALDURA Doublet and if you wish it, we will include free sample can for test.

FOR years the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply—even when Buick production mounted to 500 cars daily.

Because of the material curtailment of motor car production this winter, the country faces a decided shortage of quality cars this spring and summer.

Consequently Buick dealers are advising motorists to place their Buick orders now because orders must be sent to factory months in advance of delivery.

The reason why the demand for Buick cars has always exceeded the supply is more pronounced than ever in the 1921 Buick. Coupled with the noted Buick power and dependability are added riding comfort, easier control and a beauty and grace that fittingly express Buick worth.

Authorized Buick Service insures full return on Buick investment.

HOW A TOWN GREW

For Years in Solitary Grandeur, House on Hilltop Now Surrounded by Handsome Neighbors

For nearly half a century the dignified, substantial and comfortable brick homestead of the Morgans stood on the very apex of the town, overlooking the whole village, and, like an outstretched welcoming hand, beckoning fellow-townsmen to climb the hill and share the beauties of the elevated location. Until the last few years the invitation was to a great extent unheeded. A few hardy ones of the pioneer type did build homes on the slope, but the number was very limited. Lack of sidewalks, lighting and improved streets discouraged those of more conventional type, and William F. Morgan and his family were practically alone in their enjoyment of the very finest building site in Palmyra, selected by Mr. Morgan from the vast estate of his father, extending from the Delaware river to a point near the Burlington pike, and comprising nearly all that part of the country on which Palmyra now stands. This property is now occupied by William T. J. Burnell, president of the Palmyra National Bank, and his family, and Mrs. Burnell's father, William F. Morgan. About four years ago Mr. Morgan sold his real estate holdings to the Morgan Heights Development Company, which immediately set about to make the spot as attractive as possible with graded and improved streets, sidewalks, curbs and gutters, and in a remarkably short time a great transformation had been effected, a really wonderful record of progress when the unsettled conditions of war, times are considered.

In making a survey of the property, we find that sales have been made as follows:
Lot at corner of Highland avenue and Franklin street, sold to Oscar J. Babenzien.
House and lot adjoining sold to Oscar J. Babenzien.
Lot adjoining sold to Raymond L. Bailey.
House adjoining sold to H. Schastey.
Lot adjoining sold to L. Davis.
House and lot adjoining sold to Roy M. Atkinson.
Morgan avenue northeast side, cor. Franklin street, sold to J. Horace Finney, (who starts the erection of a very handsome house this week).
Lot adjoining sold to Raymond Warner.
Two lots adjoining sold to H. L. Harder.
Two lots adjoining sold to H. F. Baitinger.

On the southwest side of Morgan avenue Builder Davis has erected a very attractive residence which is understood to be for sale at a price which may hold for only a short time. An adjoining lot may also be secured which will add greatly to the desirability of this property. Three lots adjoining were sold to F. L. Shill, who erected thereon a beautiful home.

One of the most desirable lots on the tract, on the northeast side of Columbia avenue, at the corner of Franklin street, is still for sale. Adjoining lots have been sold to F. Wilcox, D. W. Johnson, and L. Davis. A very excellent property, erected on the southeast side of Cleveland avenue, between Columbia and Morgan avenues, together with a large plot of ground, was bought by E. B. Rich. Several very desirable lots on both sides of the street in this immediate vicinity may still be secured.

L. Davis has bought a lot on the northeast side of Columbia avenue, Benjamin R. Rielly has bought a house and lot on the southeast corner of Columbia avenue and Melrose street, C. H. Pascoe two very large lots on the southeast side of Melrose street at Columbia avenue, and two very desirable lots on the southwest side of Morgan avenue, between Cleveland avenue and Melrose street have been sold to D. Lamont.

Morgan Heights is an established community. It has been developed in a good and substantial way, and as it is protected by reasonable building restrictions, its future is assured. The time to buy lots on this tract is now, before the increased prices are placed upon them; for certain it is that the improvements that are taking place throughout this section, to say nothing of such improvements as the Delaware River Bridge and the Palmyra-Tacony Ferry, will bring a big enhancement in value at a very early date.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Value of Health.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Public Health Problems.

The teachings of this lesson have an important bearing upon physical health, but the primary reference is moral. The sin with which Paul was dealing was fornication, not matters of hygiene. That physical health may be included we do not question, but said and serious will be the blunder if that only is taught.

1.—Glorifying God in Your Body (1 Cor. 6: 19, 20).
It should be noted that the last clause of verse 20 is omitted in the Revised Version and the best manuscripts. The conclusion of Paul's argument is, "therefore glorify God in your body."

1. The Christian's body is the temple of the Holy Ghost (v. 19). God's dwelling place on earth is now the redeemed human body instead of the temple at Jerusalem. If the sinless Spirit is to dwell in the body it must be kept clean. To defile or abuse the body in any way is to insult the Spirit and commit the most awful sacrilege. This truth apprehended solves forever the problem of licentiousness, gluttony, use of tobacco, the abuse or neglect of the body in any way whatsoever.

2. The Christian's body is God's property (v. 20). Being God's temple, the proprietary right is in God and not man. Being the property of the Lord, the Christian's motto is, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God (1 Cor. 10: 31). "Holiness unto the Lord" ought to be written over our bodies.

3. The Christian's body has been bought (v. 20). The price paid to redeem the body was the precious blood of Christ (1 Peter 1: 18, 19). We estimate things by what they cost. When we estimate our bodies in that light we will be very jealous of their purity. Guarding our health is part of our religion.

11.—Keeping the Body Under Control (1 Cor. 9: 24-27).
The Christian's life is more than mere existence, there is something to do—to be accomplished.

1. It is a race (vv. 24, 25). In order to win a prize there must be self-denial and definite exertion. The Christian obtains life by contact with Jesus Christ through faith (John 8: 12; 3: 16; 5: 24). This he possesses before he can begin the race. While he gets salvation (life) at the beginning, God places before him definite rewards as incentives to exertion. The Christian believes to get life, but works for rewards. In the Olympian games only one could hope to get the prize, but in the Christian race there is a reward waiting for every one who disciplines himself and runs. As the racer in these games mastered his desires and abstained from everything which might hinder him to win the prize, so the Christian will make any sacrifice to win. The prize in the Grecian games was corruptible, but the prize of the Christian is incorruptible. If the heathen would practice such self-denial regardless of its pain for a garland of pine leaves, shall not the Christian turn from bodily indulgences of every kind so as to obtain the crown of righteousness which fadeth not away?

2. It is a fight (vv. 26, 27).
The Christian's efforts are not mere beatings of the air. He has a real antagonist. His fight is not a sham conflict. He should exert himself with all his energy, and strike to hit his enemy. In order to win success the body must be kept under. In this case the antagonist is the body. It should be so dealt with as to bring it under subjection. All the evil propensities of his nature should be brought under control.

11.—Reaping What You Sow (Gal. 6: 7, 8).

God has established a law in the world that whatsoever a man sows that shall he also reap. To go on sowing with the expectation of not reaping is to mock God. The world is full of examples of those who thus mocked Him. This text has primary reference to giving to the support of ministers of the gospel; its real bearing is upon the believer for his stinginess rather than upon the sinner for his meanness, but it has a bearing on all that we do.

Very Sure of God.

The shepherds and the Wise Men came away from Bethlehem very sure of God. They had not been unbelievers or atheists, but the sight of the little Jesus brought to them a fresh and mighty consciousness of God's continual presence. Even the anticipation of God's coming in Jesus put a new song on the lips of Zachariah and Mary, and one sight of the Child was enough to open all the fountains of gratitude in the heart of the aged Simeon.—Congregationalist and Adverser.

"Happy" a Howling Success

That is, Happy was a success and the kiddies did the howling! The children had been assembled in the auditorium but a few minutes yesterday afternoon, with their eyes glued to the curtain in front of the stage, when it was drawn slowly back, and the lid of a big trunk in the middle of the stage was seen slowly to rise. Out stepped the funniest figure you ever saw, with a nose as long as his foot, dressed in a queer velvet suit and cap. He rubbed his eyes sleepily, and his joints were stiff from being long confined in his cramped quarters. As soon as he had rubbed some of the sleep from his eyes he told the boys and girls how he had fallen asleep in his mother's trunk in their home in Healthland, and how the trunk had been picked up by order of the F. T. A. (which he suggested might stand for Pretty Thoroughly Awake) and whirled away ever so many miles until it was dumped off at Riverton—and here you are—and so am I!

With his magic umbrella Happy explored the "innerds" of many of the children before him and made some shrewd guesses at what they had eaten for breakfast. Some of the little tikers thought he meant it, and began to cry.

Happy gave some valuable pointers about what to eat, when and how to eat it. He told of the food value of milk, baked potatoes, lettuce, onions, beets, carrots, and candy—but the candy should be eaten at the end of a meal, and not between meals. This was a sad blow to the youngsters who set great store by their "recess."

Whatever he may have found amiss with their dietetic habits, his audience, he soon discovered that there was nothing the matter with their lungs, for when he asked them to repeat some of his health rules they responded with a volume that would have bulged the walls, had not Miss Chew taken the precaution to have some of the windows lowered a bit as a sort of safety valve.

The children all agreed that Happy was the greatest thing that ever happened, though some of the older girls were heard after the performance bemoaning the fact that he had discredited their pet pickles and cucumbers. But if they follow his directions they will not be like the Young woman named Perkins, who was very fond of sweet gherkins. In spite of advice, she ate so much spice, she pickled her internal workins!

Thought "Buckie" Was a Bandit!
Francis J. Keating had a most unpleasant experience at Haddonfield Monday afternoon, when he was arrested and thrown into jail on suspicion of intending to rob a bank.

Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning's papers contained feverish stories of the attempted bank robbery which read as plausibly as such stories do when the real truth is not known.

The facts of the case, as related in an interview with Francis last night, are as follows:

John Jenkins, a colored man formerly employed by Haddonfield Lippincott, secured another position on a farm near Haddonfield, and engaged Keating to take him over in his jitney. After leaving his baggage at the home of his employer, Jenkins was driven to the bank at Haddonfield, to deposit some money.

While Jenkins was transacting his business at the bank, Keating went across the street to get a shave. Imagine his surprise, on coming out of the barber shop, to be placed under arrest by the Chief of Police. Jenkins was too arrested at first he could not learn what he was supposed to have been doing, but by questioning he learned that he was suspected of being a pal of Jenkins at a supposed holdup of the bank. It seems that while Keating was in the barber shop Jenkins had tried to open an account, but, being unable to write his name had stepped outside to find Keating, who had not yet escaped from the hands of the tonsorial artist.

While waiting, Jenkins is said to have been seen in conversation with two other colored men, though Keating says he did not see them. Anyway, the upshot of it was, that the bank people got a case of "nerves" and telephoned for the police.

Keating tried to establish his identity, and asked the officers to telephone to a number of men prominent in the county, including the Sheriff and County Detective, which they evidently did, when they got ready, for after being confined to the jail from 12.15 to 7.30, both Keating and Jenkins were released.

"Cranford"

The charm and kindliness of ye olden days were vividly brought to mind last Saturday evening, when members of the Porch Club presented "Cranford" in the parish house.

The story was placed many, many years ago in an old English village, and the quaint life was vividly portrayed by Mrs. J. Douglas Clark, as Miss Matilda Jenkins, the late rector's daughter, and her little group of friends. Miss Grace Bennett was indeed charming as the young daughter of a business man, who was paying her annual visit to Miss Maty, Mrs. Everett Sullivan as Miss Pole, and Mrs. Charles B. Durborow as Mrs. Forrester, were keen in showing their near connection with royalty. Mrs. Sherman L. Warren, as Mrs. Fitz-Adam, who started life in a humble way as a "Hoggins," connected with the butter and egg business, and Mrs. McIlvain Biddle, as Miss Betty Barker, a retired milliner, both of whom had more money than the "aristocracy" of the village, showed fine distinctions between the "quality" and themselves. Mrs. Fred P. Hemphill filled the role of "The Hon. Mrs. Jamison" in a most stately manner, and Mrs. Samuel W. Collins made a most affable "Lady Glenmire" who finally became a "Hoggins" by marrying the village doctor, a brother of Mrs. Fitz-Adam. Mrs. Ralph Flower faithfully portrayed a "Martha" who in her loyalty and devotion to her mistress, was the envy of many women in the audience. As a crowning joy to the women of the village, Mr. Charles S. Ayres, as Peter Marmauldike Arley Jenkins, a long-lost brother of Miss Maty, returned to spend his last days in Cranford and glory of his achievements in the Orient.

The costumes of the characters and the scenery in Miss Maty's drawing room were an excellent representation of the time.

In days of old when knights were bold, And barons held their sway, And ladies fair with powdered hair— We forgot the rest of this quotation and tried to improvise a finish, but fell down. Perhaps some of our readers can help us out.

The scenery was arranged by Mrs. M. C. Boyer and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Ayres.

As a diversion between the acts, Miss Helen Biddle and Miss Marjorie Marcy sold sweet chocolate for benefit of the Library.

Boy Scouts Play Ball

The Boy Scout troop of Riverton played a game of baseball with Riverside troop No. 1 last Saturday at Taylor's Lane. Harold Wood did some star catching, while Russell Miller, Edgar Miller and John Williams were doing some very fine pitching. The home team was defeated by a score of 17-5. The crowd was up with a hike through the woods, where the boys cooked and ate their supper.

It looks as though the new recorder was going to have his hands full from the start. Two cases the same week is a pretty good record for a beginner. Having disposed of the speeder to the satisfaction of everybody but the speeder, Monday night, Recorder Clark was confronted the following Friday night with a problem of "Who gets the money?" The circumstances were as follows:

James Stout delivered an article of merchandise to a party on the order of Edward Gross. The price was $3.50. Gross told Stout to collect direct from the customer. Before Stout's collection day came around, however, Gross collected the money. When Stout presented his bill he was shown a receipt signed by Gross.

Jim said to himself, "It looks like 144 double-crossed me." He looked up Gross and politely requested him to elucidate the prognostications of such undomesticated economy. Gross thought he was swearing at him, and some hot words followed, in which Gross told Jim to go to a place that sounded like well, but wasn't.

Problem: How is Jim to recover his three-fifty?

Jim promptly cut the Gordon knot by putting it up to the recorder.

Now, in the short time since his appointment, that official has not had time to quite finish his Blackstone. However, during his school days, he had gained considerable insight into the intricate mysteries of higher mathematics, and decided to work it out in algebra, which he proceeded to do as follows: while plaintiff, defendant and witnesses looked on with baited breath.

Since x minus 3/4 equals Stout and x plus 3/4 equals 144 hence 144 minus 3/4 and Stout plus 3/4 equals a decision for the plaintiff, therefore, the verdict of the court is, that 144 shall pay over to the plaintiff the sum in dispute, and shall also pay the costs of working out the problem.

Mrs. Dudley Perkins, of Moorestown, gave a tea for the managers of the Cinnamon Home Thursday afternoon. All of the managers from Riverton were present. Each of the managers are making a special effort this year for the annual fête, which will be held on May 28th, and many beautiful articles that are being prepared were exhibited at the tea. They will be for sale at the fête, which from all accounts will be the most elaborate ever held.

Golf Links Lure Men from Traps

Again last Saturday weather conditions were so ideal that many of the shooters could not resist the temptation of the golf links, and when the marksmen were lined up for the shoot, it was found that they were two short of the required fifteen for a cup event. Therefore it was turned into a prize shoot. This proved a lucky affair for all those with aspirations for the cup, for Dr. Mills was in one of his shooting moods and when the curtain rung down on the match Doc had won first prize, which means, if it had been a cup shoot there would have been needed a new cup, as he already has his name upon it twice, and one more win makes it his for keeps.

However, Doc had no easy road to travel, in fact he had the shoot of his life to win. Jack Keating, who just joined the Riverton Yacht Club, making him eligible for the shoot, shot the best of the day, breaking 47 of his targets, which with his handicap of three just allowed him to reach the necessary fifty to be in the shoot-off. Dr. Mills himself was no more successful as he broke forty-four, which with a handicap of six, allowed him to duplicate the feat of Keating.

Bill Hendrickson, just returned from a long trip south, was in great shape, and forty-four more targets fell before his prowess, putting him in the select class also.

The shoot off of twenty-five targets between these three crack shots promised to be a thriller. However, Keating seemed to lose his eye for the time being, as did Doc too, both men breaking but nineteen targets, which on account of his extra handicap gave the prize and first place to the Doctor. Hendrickson went away off from form too, breaking seventeen, but was enabled to tie Keating for second honors. The feature of the shoot was the classy shooting of Mrs. C. Z. Vaughan, whose total for the shoot was forty-eight points, or within two points of getting in the special shoot off for the cup. The Vaughan brothers put up their usual good shoot, but could not quite reach the necessary score, on account of their low handicaps.

Following is how the men shot:

Palmyra Tries Our Traps

As soon as the Riverton trapshooting team ended their match the Palmyra Gun Club appeared upon the scene, and shot a 50-target match over the river. The Riverton and Palmyra boys are matched up in a meet for blood on Saturday afternoon, April the 23rd, at 2 o'clock, over the Riverton traps on the end of the pier. The Palmyra team wished to get some practice over the course where the contest is to be held. It took the boys a little while to get the hang of the new surroundings and most of their misses were on their first 25 birds. As they grew more accustomed to conditions, their shooting improved. Riverton will have to shoot its best to win. While all the conditions are not quite decided upon, it is planned to have fifteen (or more if it is desired) men shoot on each side, the scores of the five highest men on each team to count. It will be a straight shoot with no handicaps. A handsome prize will go to the winning team, and with it not only the championship of Riverton-Palmyra, but of Burlington county as well. Riverton will pin her faith to the Vaughan brothers, Keating, Stackhouse, Dr. Mills, Rogers, Hatch, Hendrickson, Groves, W. Frishmuith, Seckel, C. Fidler, N. Fidler, Lynch, and Dr. Baker. From looking over the few Palmyra boys in the line up Saturday, Herker, Walters, both the Stacks and Dr. Lore looked most formidable. Anyway it promises to be a great match, and a banner crowd is sure to be on hand from both towns and the surrounding section. While Riverton and Palmyra have met in base ball and foot ball, this is their first fray in the shooting line.

Following is how the Palmyra team performed over the Riverton traps last Saturday:

Herker	41
J. Wallace	15
Walters	41
Dr. Lore	36

Hundred Guests at Club Dinner

The banquet of the Riverton Yacht Club given Wednesday evening at the Porch Club was the largest and most successful social event ever given by the club. One hundred and five guests sat down to dinner, crowding the Porch Club to its full capacity. Besides a most sumptuous meal, a clever entertainment was given. Mr. Robert H. Armstrong convulsed the audience with a series of witty stories, while Mrs. Collin sang in her usual brilliant manner, accompanied by Mrs. Bell on the piano.

Commodore Edwards caused lots of merriment when, in calling upon the officers and various chairmen of the club, he dwelt at length on the hobby of each, and presented him or her with a little gift befitting their calling. Mrs. Durborow, chairman of the ladies' committee, was presented with a telephone set complete, so that she could in future make all her own calls. D. L. Vaughan, the vice commodore, and R. H. Stackhouse, both shooting enthusiasts, were each presented with toy rifles. E. K. Merrill, chairman of the regatta committee, received a full rigged schooner, while C. B. Durborow was the recipient of a cannon to start the swimming races this summer. It was a real, honest-to-goodness cannon, too, as D. L. Vaughan shot it off, scaring some of the guests half to death. Bill Baker received a box of tools, R. W. Knight a flute, and F. W. Robertson a measuring device.

The Commodore and C. B. Durborow made the main speeches of the evening, telling of the Yacht Club and its work. Ex-Commodores Rianhard and Watkins, with Commodore Edwards, occupied the seats of honor. Mrs. Durborow and her ladies' committee are to be congratulated on the unqualified success of their undertaking. A pleasing feature was having the young girls of the Yacht Club to act as waitresses.

Plant a Tree

Today, April 8, is Arbor Day. Plant a tree, that glorious sign of Nature to the world that life is ever renewing. Plant the "tree that looks at God all day and lifts its leafy arms to pray," and in the planting you will have erected the finest of all monuments—not alone to the hero of a war—not alone to mark a date—not alone as shelter for generations to come—but the finest of all monuments to yourself. In the planting of a tree you will leave behind a living sentinel that you gave to Nature that she might give back again in abundance to others who come after you. It is a great thing—the planting of a tree. With the signing of the Armistice the American Forestry Association proposed the memorial tree idea and it met with instant approval. Since then trees have been planted by individuals, schools, colleges, churches, patriotic organizations. These trees were planted not alone for the man who gave his life to his country, but to honor those who offered their lives. Memorials of many forms will be adopted, but each should be given the proper setting of memorial trees.

—Charles Lathrop Pack,
President of the American Forestry Association,

Would Give Birds New Homes on Arbor Day

Celebration of "Bird House Day" in connection with "Arbor Day" on Friday, April 8, has been suggested by the New Jersey State Fish and Game Commission, as a feature of its 1921 bird conservation work. The commission points out the great economic value of birds, but for whose activities insects would soon destroy forests and farm crops, and it recommends that schools and boys' and girls' clubs seek to encourage the erection in city, town or country, of cat-proof bird houses during the first week of April.

Riverton School Will Have Field Meet

The Riverton Board of Education organized Monday night by electing C. W. Kipp president and Murray C. Boyer vice president.

Mr. Kipp and Mrs. Durborow, who were re-elected at the annual school meeting in February, took oath of office. A communication was read from Paul C. Burr, the new member elected at that time, declining to qualify for the office, owing to press of business matters.

Out of a field of four competitive bids, the contract for wiring parts of the school building was awarded to M. R. Blackwell, of Palmyra.

In her report, Miss Chew, supervising principal, said that Robert F. Parks, of Pemberton, had been engaged as teacher of manual training for the balance of the year. In the county sewing and home cooking contest Riverton carried off four first prizes and two seconds. A team is being prepared to compete in the county field meet to be held on the 13th. Miss Chew also reported that the savings stamp system had been introduced in the school and was in operation. Much interest and enthusiasm is being shown in the first five grades. Owing to the interest taken in home gardens by a large number of the pupils, Miss Chew suggested that the county club leader be requested to include Riverton in his visits. The recommendation met with hearty approval of members of the Board.

Messrs. Boyer and Sylvester, the committee who visited the Palmyra Board of Education last week to ask for improved facilities and conditions there, owing to the fact that Riverton sends about fifty pupils to the Palmyra High School, reported that they met with a most cordial reception.

A resolution was adopted to pay $15 toward the expenses of the county field meet.

The request of the county traveling library that the Board release the $10 received from the State annually for library purposes, to the county library, was held under advisement.

The following bills were ordered paid:

Teachers	$1512.55
Janitor	120.00
Attendance officer	15.00
Books	105.10
Supplies	4.55
Gas and electricity	18.08
Supervisor's expenses	25.20
Library books	25.51

High School Track Meet

Palmyra High School held an inter-class track meet on Wednesday and the class showed by the young athletes made Coach Terry very optimistic about the prospects of the team this season.

Burr, Graham and Boal spun off the quarter mile in such nifty time that a splendid relay team is assured. Results in other events showed that the new candidates are being developed rapidly.

The Juniors won the meet with 35 points, Freshmen 25, Seniors 24 and Soph. 8. Results of the events were as follows:

100-yard dash: Meyer (senior); Boal (freshman); and Hodson (junior); time 11 sec.

Pole vault: Hoepfner (J); Sleight (F); Raesly (J); 8 ft., 2 in.

Running broad jump: Burr (Sr.); Sacks (F); Shipps; 18 ft., 9 in.

220-yard dash: Meyer, Hodson, Morris (Soph.).

Shot put: Raphael (J); Worth (J); 32 ft., 6 in.

440-yard dash: Burr (Sr.); Graham (Sr.); Boal; 57 3-5 sec.

Javelin throw: Tie between Becton (J) and Palphreyman (Soph), Charles Dietz (Sr.) third; 116 ft., 6 in.

High jump: Raesly, Windsor (F); Worth (J); 4 ft., 11 in.

880-yard dash: Boal, Douglas Kersey (J), Morris.

Discus throw: Leroy Kersey (F) Mervine (J), Probstine (J).

The baseball team plays its first game of the season with Gloucester here this Friday evening, and next Tuesday will meet Bordentown on the home grounds. Next Friday they play Paulsboro here.

Another change or so will be announced soon.

In West Palmyra a plant is being constructed for the Perseverance Brass Foundry, near the plant of the Conlow-Dorworth cut glass plant, and expects to start operations within the month.

The brass foundry is owned by J. T. Mercer and sons, of 718 Lincoln avenue. Two furnaces will be put in operation to begin with and the output will be high grade brass castings.

The coming of several other plants to West Palmyra is in prospect.

Youthful joys. If dryads ever chose special dwellings it must have been within the boles of walnut trees. If the tree was unknown to old Helios, then the gods forgot something essential to the happiness of youth. If the ancestors of Pericles and all the heroes of the golden age did not betimes go adventuring for walnuts, acquiring burrs and stone-bruises, then they never knew the joy that comes to the Middle Western lad, who each fading year bears home his treasures to spread on the old kitchen roof to dry.

Exchange. They say that Cupid strikes a match That sets the world aglow. But where does Cupid strike that match? Is what I'd like to know.

Additional Riverton News

P. H. A. Dance

The opening dance of the P. H. A. series was a splendid success last Tuesday evening, sixty couples enjoying the rhythmic swing and the jazzy effects of a fine orchestra. It seemed like the days of the Community Hut and made the committee feel well repaid for the labor involved. H. E. Moyer, during an interval, made a brief address welcoming those present, and introduced Herman E. Jones, a member of the vestry, and chairman of the P. H. A. committee, who outlined the general plan of the organization and particularly of the entertainment and dance which is scheduled for next Tuesday evening, the 12th. This will consist of vaudeville and minstrel, to be followed by dancing. The talent includes such well-known performers as the following: the Mastodon male quartette, of Philadelphia; Reub. Corry, monologist; E. Mercer Shreve, comedian; Morris (Albert) and Farrow (Marie) character dancing; Gunga Din Singh, Hindoo Black Art, and then the Dixie minstrel (pocket edition) who have concentrated into a short period more wit, humor and melody than one could believe possible without hearing it. Under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Bell, the minstrel consist of Mrs. Eunice Moyer, interloper; Misses Ann Wallace and Marjorie Marcy, bones and tambore respectively; Mrs. J. Douglas Clark, Mrs. Walter Clark, Miss Marguerite Smith and Miss Ernestine Stewart. The curtain will be drawn at 8.15 sharp.

Memorial Services at Cinnaminson Home

The Board of Managers of the Cinnaminson Home have had some alterations made to the interior, and refurnished the living room, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Wood, who were both so actively interested in the Home for many years. Memorial services were held Monday morning at the Home, preceding the regular business meeting of the managers. Dr. Frances Stoddard told of the early history of the Home, and others spoke in appreciation of the work being accomplished and the assistance rendered by the friends of the Home. The work is steadily growing, and quite a large family is constantly cared for. At the close of the service Miss Anna Whittall James gave a solo.

The annual fete will be held on the twenty-eighth of May.

High School Y. W.

The Palmyra High School Y. W. C. A., recently organized, meets every Monday afternoon in Christ Church Parish House, Palmyra. Miss Marjorie Marcy is the leader. On Easter Monday the girls took a hike to "Thousand Islands," in the woods, and this week they held a debate on "The purposes of our club," followed by a game of volley ball. Competitive games of volley ball will be scheduled as soon as the girls are sufficiently trained.

Fire at Westfield

A fire, supposed to have been of incendiary origin, totally destroyed the home of Arthur Rue in Westfield last Monday morning. The fire was discovered about 5 o'clock and the alarm telephoned to Riverton. Both the Palmyra and Riverton fire departments responded promptly, and succeeded in saving the adjoining buildings.

The firemen were handicapped in their efforts by the low water pressure, which was due to the fact that the "booster" recently installed at the pumping station by the water company to meet just such emergencies was out of commission and had been sent to the manufacturer for repairs. Had the "booster" been working, fifty or sixty feet would have been added to the length of the stream. This pump has now been returned and is in operation.

The pressure which will be available at Westfield is demonstrated by the fact that when it was turned on the other day, the ceiling of the water main near Collier's Haines store was burst by the force of the water.

Y. W. C. A.

The regular millinery class of the Business Girls' Club was held last Thursday. Girls wishing to take one or extra three lessons will please notify Miss Rachel Reed, of Riverton, before April 15, as there is still room for a few more.

At the next meeting of the Club will entertain Beverly and Burlington Clubs.

Every member is urged to get all contributions in for the Y. W. C. A. rummage sale, which is to be held in the very near future.

Mrs. Roy Heisler, of Riverton, is teaching the girls how to make heads. Any girl wishing to learn should be on hand April 19th with two large and two small sticks of sealing wax, any color she wishes, and an alcohol lamp and a knitting needle. Quite a few very pretty necklaces have been made.

Don't forget the 12th. Everybody be on hand.

DEATHS

Stephen, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eicher, died in St. Mary's hospital, Philadelphia, of appendicitis, on Saturday, April 2nd. The funeral took place from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Duffner, 1922 Waterloo street, Philadelphia, Tuesday morning. Interment was made in Greenmount cemetery, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Ella MacMullin died suddenly in Wilmington on Tuesday. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Anna Thomas, Louis F. Lowden, Elmer Lowden and James Lowden.

Patrick Jordan

Patrick, husband of the late Mary Jordan, died on Sunday, after having been confined to his bed about two weeks. High Mass of Requiem was celebrated at the Sacred Heart Church Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, by the Rev. J. A. Rigney. Interment was made at Mt. Carmel cemetery, Moorestown. The deceased leaves two children, Mary and Christopher. Mr. Jordan had lived in Riverton for about forty years.

Three Plans for New School Building Members of the Palmyra school board will meet this Friday evening with various architects who will present plans for school buildings designed to meet the needs of Palmyra. The board members hope to make a selection of a suitable type of building in a general way, after which they will be able to go into the matter in detail and prepare figures for presentation to the public.

Three different plans are possible, according to James P. Weart, president of the board. A new building may be constructed on the recently purchased lot next to the Delaware avenue high school building, with the idea of using the two buildings in combination to accommodate both high school and grammar grades. Then the Delaware avenue building might be devoted entirely to the high school and a modern grammar school building erected on the site of the old Cinnaminson avenue building which would have to be torn down. The third proposition would be to turn the Delaware avenue school entirely over to grammar grades and put up a new high school building in some other part of the town.

Mr. Weart emphasizes the urgent necessity of providing school facilities adequate for the needs of the rapidly growing population for years to come otherwise the same situation as now would have to be solved all over again a few years hence.

The school authorities plan to let the people of the town decide the course to be taken. It is expected that there will be opposition to a new building until costs may have declined further. Nevertheless the situation is so pressing that immediate action is necessary if next year's situation is to be met without curtailing school work and retarding the progress of the children.

At the reorganization meeting of James Taylor Weart was re-elected president and Dr. Charles S. Voorhis vice president. The term of District Clerk Frances S. Day continues.

To the Central Organization for a Durable Peace

The following are extracts from a translation of a letter sent by Abdul Baha to the general secretary of The Hague.

And among the teachings of His Holiness Baha'ullah is, that religion must be the cause of fellowship and love. If it becomes the cause of estrangement then it is not needed, for religion is like a remedy; if it aggravates the disease then it becomes unnecessary.

And among the teachings of Baha'ullah is, that religion must be in conformity with science and reason, so that it may influence the hearts of men. The foundation must be solid and must not consist of imitations.

And among the teachings of Baha'ullah is, that religious, racial, political, economic and patriotic prejudices destroy the edifice of humanity. As long as these prejudices prevail, the world of humanity will not have rest. For a period of 6,000 years history informs us about the world of humanity. During these 6,000 years the world of humanity has been free from war, strife, murder and blood-thirstiness. In every period war has been waged in one country or another and that war was due to either religious prejudice, racial prejudice, political prejudice or patriotic prejudice.

Shared Fame With Friend

It is said that virtually all the plays to which the names of Beaumont and Fletcher are attached were written by Fletcher alone. Beaumont was a friend of Fletcher's and lived with him, they had a kind of David and Jonathan affection for each other, and Beaumont's name is said to have gone on the plays more for sentimental reasons than for any other.

To the Lady of the House: Do you ever stop to think of the value of your time? Surely it is too valuable to waste on a machine that is not JUST RIGHT. But still you feel that, perhaps, if you bought a new machine, the difference would not be worth the cost. It is for this reason that we wish to place a new SINGER in your home for one week's free trial to prove to you that the new Singer will save you enough time and trouble to repay you tenfold. In accepting this free trial you will be under no obligation whatever, and, if after you have given this machine a fair trial, you are convinced that it is the most perfect machine obtainable, a payment of $5.00 will keep it in your home. Balance may be paid on terms as low as $3.00 a month. We will take your old machine in part payment. Singer Machines Are Not High Priced. The idea seems to prevail that the price of a SINGER Machine is more than that of other makes when the fact is that you can buy a SINGER for almost any price. This does not mean a difference in the stitching quality. Although you have the choice of five different types, there is but one quality of machine—THE BEST. The difference in price is entirely due to the woodwork—this you can have plain or expensive, as you may prefer. THE SINGER COMPANY owns and operates the largest sewing machine cabinet works in the world. It will pay you to investigate the facts as to prices of SINGER machines. Glen W. SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. F. B. FILLWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

LESSON FOR APRIL 17

BIBLE TEACHINGS ABOUT WORK.

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:1-3; John 5:17; II Thess. 3:10-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord.—Rom. 12:11.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Ex. 20:9-11; Prov. 2:2; 2:19; 3:10-31; Eph. 4:28.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Child Who Helped.
JUNIOR TOPIC—The Ant and the Slug-gard.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Workers and Shirkers.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Labor Problems.

Work in relation to God has a different meaning than in relation to man. In relation to God it means continued activity directed to some purpose or end. In relation to man it means manual labor.
1. Mighty Works Wrought by Jesus (Mark 6:1-3).
As God's obedient servant, Jesus energetically gave himself up to His work.

1. Teaching in the synagogue (v. 2). This He did on the Sabbath day. He could let no opportunity to do good pass.
2. The result of His teaching (vv. 2, 3). (1) The people were astonished. In their astonishment they asked questions: (a) From whence hath this man these things? (b) What wisdom is given unto Him? (c) Is not this the carpenter? (d) Are not His sisters with us? That His wisdom and power were superhuman, they could not doubt. The only answer to their questions is Christ's absolute Deity.

(2) The people were offended (v. 3). Not being able to answer their own questions and to believe their own eyes and ears, they rejected Him. This rejection was not because they knew Him too well, but because they knew Him not at all. His countrymen judged Him by His brothers, sisters, and father, and therefore failed to know Him.
11. "My Father Worketh Hitherto, and I Work" (John 5:17).

Jesus had on the Sabbath day healed an impotent man. They sought to kill Him for this good deed, and when He linked himself with God in this they more earnestly sought to kill Him. They tried to kill Him because He made himself equal with God. The special points of equality with God were:

1. Giving life to the dead. No human being has ever been able to raise another from the dead. The Jews rightly interpreted His claim to be able to raise the dead as a claim to Deity.
2. Judging mankind. No human being is wise enough to judge his fellow being. Christ's claim to be the Judge of mankind they interpreted to be His claim to Deity, and they were correct.

III. The Man Who Will Not Work Should Not Eat (II Thess. 3:10).
There had developed among the Christians at Thessalonica a tendency to idleness. Some were neglecting their lawful earthly callings—even to the extent that they were becoming a charge to the church. From the context of the Thessalonian epistles it would seem that this serious condition was the result of wrong views concerning the second coming of Christ. Such as this is wholly wrong and absolutely contrary to the significance of "the blessed hope." The attitude of those possessing an intelligent view of the Lord's coming as taught by Christ and the apostles, is earnest attention to the present duty.

"Occupy till I come," is Christ's charge. Speculative sin-gazers have brought this precious doctrine into disrepute. Unceasing fidelity to all the responsibilities of the present is the correct attitude of those who are waiting for the Son from heaven. To correct this wrong, Paul—
1. Asserts his authority to command (v. 6). This authority was given him by Christ.

2. Commands them to withdraw from those who thus walk disorderly (v. 6).
3. Paul's example (vv. 7-9). Paul pressed with great earnestness the doctrine of the Lord's return, and yet consistently continued in his lawful calling. In order to not be chargeable unto them he labored with great earnestness night and day.
4. Those who will not work should not eat (v. 10). This is the right principle upon which to base all works of charity. It is the efficient cure for pauperism. The right economic order has as its foundation principle: Work in order to eat. This should apply to all classes, rich and poor.

5. Busybodies exhorted (vv. 11, 12). Idle men and women always become busybodies. Paul's exhortation is that they with quietness work and eat their own bread.

Man's Glory.
Man's glory lies in his striving after the best; his shame, in contentment with the second rate. The banner under which the true man marches bears the word "Excellor," but the goal upon which he fixes his eye bears the inscription, "The Best."—Church Missionary.

All-Seeing One Will Discover.
No fallacy can hide wrong, no subtlety cover it so shrewdly but that the All-Seeing One will discover and punish it.—Rivara.

The New Era Office is equipped to do all kinds of Fine Printing at reasonable prices

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS
The New Era is a Legal Newspaper. Commissioners, Sheriff's and other Sales, Administrators and Executors' Notices, as well as all other Legal Advertisements are solicited. The New Era will appreciate being remembered in this connection.

Notice
All readers or local notices of entertainments, suppers, fairs, dances, etc., given for the purpose of raising money, or for which admission is charged, will be charged for at the rate of fifteen cents a line.

Franklin Celebration
The Franklin celebration which takes place in Burlington on Monday, April 18th, at 3.00 p. m., will be of interest to many citizens in the county. The occasion is the escorting of the statue of Benjamin Franklin along the route which he himself traveled from Philadelphia to Waterbury, Connecticut, each city fittingly celebrating the event.
Speeches will be made in front of the city hall. Music will be furnished by a band from Camp Dix and the Boy Scouts and members of the American Legion will point out landmarks of interest to guests. Historic spots will be distinctly marked with large signs and the rooms of the Historical Society will be open and visitors welcome.

Senator Runyon to Speak in Riverton
Former Acting Governor and present Senator William N. Runyon will address a public meeting in the school auditorium on invitation of the Riverton Parent-Teacher Association on Thursday evening, April 21st, at eight o'clock. All are cordially invited. Mr. Runyon will speak on "Citizenship," and those who know of his reputation as a speaker, (and who does not?) will need no urging to embrace this opportunity of hearing him.

Musical
The Riverton Porch Club Choral is very busy working on a musical which will be given at the Riverton public school auditorium on April 26, at 8 p. m. The members of the Philadelphia, besides our own Riverton talent. The proceeds will go to the Women's College of New Jersey at New Brunswick. Tickets are 50c and can be obtained from Helen Biddle.

A Handsome Improvement
Is about to be added to that already delightful and beautiful section of Morgan Heights, as our fellow-townsmen, Mr. J. Horace Finney has broken ground for the erection of an excellent home at the corner of Morgan avenue and Franklin street. Morgan Heights is limited in extent, and as ground will not stretch, there are only a limited number of people who can be accommodated on this tract. It is the wise man who sees and understands these conditions, and takes time by the forelock and buys one of those excellently located Cleveland avenue lots.

The P. H. A. Minstrels
A full house greeted the Dixie minstrel troupe when they finally arrived last Tuesday night, after missing their train, escaping with their lives from a trolley wreck, and replenishing their lost wardrobes from backyard clotheslines as they hoofed the last long mile to their destination. Between announcing the telegrams telling the progress of the troupe in its obstacle race to Riverton, delivered by Oliver Bowen all dressed up in a messenger's cap, and announcing "fill-in" numbers, pending the arrival, Manager Moyer was kept moving livelier than a wasp on a hot shovel. When the troupe finally landed they "busted" into the room with a racket like a wild West show and held the center of the stage from then on.
Mrs. H. E. Moyer was interlocutor, Miss Marjorie Marcy was tambourine, and Miss Ann Wallace was bones. And the perfectly natural manner in which she acted the part in trousers emphasized the remark which is so often heard, "she ought to have been a boy." The other members of the circle were Mrs. Walter Clark, Miss Marguerite Smith, Miss Ernestine Stewart and Mrs. J. D. Clark.
Before the troupe arrived the audience was entertained by a selection by the P. H. A. quartette of Augustus L. Wilson, J. D. Sproul, W. H. Jones and H. W. Dillon, a Highland dance by Miss Marie Farrow, a sketch by Riverton's young comedian, E. Mercer Shreve, and some Oriental magic by Gunga Din Singh, the Hindu exponent of the Einstein theory of relativity, (George K. Clark) assisted by Sambo, Walter Moyer.
Herman E. Jones, of Delanco, a member of Christ Church vestry, made a short address telling of the improvements to the parish house in prospect, and thanked those who had turned out to help make the evening's entertainment a success.
Mrs. Frank A. Bell was the pianist. Mrs. Bell had practiced with the members of the troupe at rehearsals, and much of the success of the musical part of the performance was due to her co-operation.
It is hoped that this is not the last time the Dixie Minstrels will be seen on the boards in Riverton.
The new electric lights, which were installed under the direction of George W. Smith, Jr., added much to the effectiveness of the entertainment.
The program was followed by a dance.
Next Tuesday evening will be given exclusively to dancing.

It Happens—Right Along!
A cat napped in the apple tree
While the bugs ate right along!
She had dined on three young robins
And done more than still their song.
Her crime had left the insects free—
Ten millions creeping on—
And no fruit was left upon that tree,
For those bugs ate right along!

WEEKLY NEWS BUDGET
for Riverton and Vicinity

Buy It at Home!
William Welch is building a handsome bungalow on Eighth street.
Mrs. John H. Mansfield, of Glenside, Pa., was in Riverton Monday.
Mrs. Samuel MacMullin is visiting her son, Captain George MacMullin, at Camp Meade.
During the month of March there were three births, one death and one marriage in the borough.
Mrs. Paul C. Burr has returned home after spending five weeks in North and South Carolina.
William H. Rowan, of Linden avenue, has purchased the Armitage property at Fourth and Thomas avenue.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wanger and Mr. Morris, of Philadelphia, motored to Lavelette, where they spent the weekend.
R. M. Hollingshead is having his house on Linden avenue renovated and painted, and expects to occupy it this summer.
The Westminster Bible class held their social and business meeting at the home of Dewitt Houghtaling on Thursday evening.
Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a cake and candy sale in the parish house Saturday afternoon and evening, April 16.
The Moorestown Country Club was broken into and robbed Tuesday night, and on Wednesday night the Merchantville club suffered the same fate.
W. J. Curtis, Jr., who recently purchased the Mechling property on Sixth street, will move to New York. It is understood the property is for sale.
Dr. S. W. Collin has purchased the Kitchen property on Park avenue, and will occupy it as soon as he sells his present residence at Fourth and Thomas avenue.
The new waste paper receptacles at the post office and in front of Schneider's are doing good work. Now if they could only be painted some less hideous color!
Tax bills in the borough of Riverton will be mailed on Saturday, and one-half of the amount will be payable the first of June. The full amount of the poll tax will be due at that time.
Mrs. Samuel W. Collin and Mrs. Frank A. Bell will participate in the special musical service at the Wesleyan Men's Bible class, Epworth M. E. Church, Palmyra, Sunday afternoon.
Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens Harding announce the marriage of their daughter, Rachel McAlpin, to Mr. Jack Augustus Sieber, on Saturday, the ninth of April, 1921, Riverton, N. J.
Miss Dorothy Sharp and Dr. James Brown were given a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Mae Brown Saturday evening. Guests were present from Frankford, West Philadelphia, Palmyra and Riverton.
Persons who have been depositing garbage on the lot at the corner of Thomas avenue and Broad street, above the railroad, are liable to prosecution by the health authorities. Their names are known, and the next offense will be dealt with.
The election laws were amended at the last session of the legislature and several important changes were made, one of which was the redistricting of election precincts. The redistricting will be done by the municipal authorities and must be completed between the 20th day of April and the first day of June, this year.
As the legislature made no change in the law requiring every male resident to pay poll tax, women will not be required to pay that tax this year. There was considerable discussion of this question last year, after woman suffrage was adopted, and it was decided that no tax was due until the law is changed, and that the privilege of voting is not dependent upon the payment of poll tax.
The fifth semi-annual rummage sale for the benefit of the League of Burlington county interested in tuberculosis work, will be held at the Community House, Browns Mills, Tuesday, May 10th. Those who would like to contribute articles may notify either Miss Falkaway, at Browns Mills, or the executive secretary, at Burlington, and collections will be made, or send them to some representative of the League in your community. The returns from the rummage sales have been the means of increasing the revenue of the League, thereby making possible a more extensive program. Any article of good clothing, furniture, bric-a-brac, books or groceries will be most acceptable.
To encourage the purchase of tickets before boarding trains, and reduce the burden of collecting cash fares, which has become especially serious on suburban runs, the management of the Pennsylvania railroad has decided to assess a penalty of five cents for each fare not paid, when facilities exist for buying the tickets prior to boarding the train. The five cents will not be refunded, but will be retained by the company. The order goes into effect on May 15. Last year more than four million passengers on lines east of Pittsburgh paid fares on trains, when they had opportunities to buy tickets from station agents. The collection of fares on trains takes considerable time and interferes with other duties of the train crews.
On Thursday afternoon Truant Officer Quigley rounded up seven of the fourteen lads who had "sacked" school to caddy at the Country Club, and marched them back to school. This practice of having school children act as caddies during school hours should not be countenanced nor winked at by the management of the Club, nor by the players, as their absence seriously interferes with their school work. Miss Chew, the principal, and the teachers are making every effort to make the school as efficient and successful as possible, and should have the hearty co-operation of all right-thinking people, even though it should interfere with the royal game of golf. Men and women who employ these children when they should be at their studies are robbing them of their birthright to an education.

CANNOT BUY PARK
Dreer Estate Refuses to Sell Any Part of Its Ground for Memorial Park or Playground Purpose. Council Will Start Condemnation Proceedings

At the meeting of the Borough Council last night the committee on a memorial to the soldiers in the World War, reported that after numerous conferences with representatives of the heirs of the Dreer estate, an offer had been made for about ten acres of ground on the upper side of the railroad, which brought the reply that the heirs would not sell any part of the estate for memorial or playground purposes. The committee recommended proceedings be started at once to secure possession of the property. The report was accepted and the committee honorably discharged with a vote of thanks. The Mayor appointed a committee to ascertain the necessary steps to be taken to start condemnation proceedings, and report to Council.
In the absence of Mr. Mattis, chairman of the highway committee, the chair said that it had been in the mind of that committee to have signs placed on Broad street marking the names of interested citizens. Usually such signs are attached to street lamps, but as Broad street is illuminated with arc lights, it will be necessary to provide some suitable kind of pole or post to which the signs may be attached. The matter was referred to the highway committee.
A resolution was passed fixing 8% as the rate of interest to be charged on delinquent taxes in Riverton.
A communication from the borough attorney relative to increasing the salary of the assessor was referred to the finance committee.
Roy E. Williams, auditor, presented his report of the audit of the accounts and records of the borough and complimented the borough authorities on the accuracy and accuracy of the manner in which the books had been kept. The compliment was returned when Collector Hemphill said that the audit by Mr. Williams was the most complete and satisfactory made of the borough's affairs in many years.
Mr. Geiss recommended that the project of curbing and paving, which was laid on the table a year ago, on request of a number of interested citizens, who asked that action be deferred owing to the high cost of labor and materials, be resurrected. The matter was referred to the highway committee, of which Mr. Geiss was chairman, for action.
A communication was read from the president of the Riverton Parent-Teacher Association, inviting the Mayor and Council to attend the public meeting to be addressed by Senator Runyon on the 21st, and to occupy places on the platform with the speaker. The invitation was accepted with thanks, and the clerk was instructed to so notify the Association.
The following bills were ordered paid:

Gun Club Notes
There will be no shoot this Saturday owing to the small attendance of the last two meetings.
Next Saturday, April 25, will be the big day of the season, as the Riverton and Palmyra clubs will cross guns on the Yacht Club grounds. The event is all primed for this event, as they have been saying little, but sawing wood hard. A great turnout of the fans are expected on this occasion, and nearly two score crack marksmen from the two towns will shoot their level best. With the five highest men counting it is hard to see how Palmyra can hope to overcome the shooting of the Vaughn brothers, Keating, Dr. Mills and Stackhouse. Anyway it promises to be a great match, and all the noise will not by any means be made by the guns alone. Shoot will start at 2 p. m.

ESSAY ON "CITIZENSHIP"
The following is an essay on "Citizenship," written by Richard Moore, which won first place in the contest conducted under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association. The prize was "American Patriots and Statesmen" in five volumes, presented by the Association. Second and third places were awarded to Adelaide Van Stenbergh and Christine Smith.
Good Citizenship
The dictionary says "Citizenship is that right belonging to a member of any community to take part both in its deliberative or legislative and its judicial proceedings." In order to do this we must first be good citizens. The following traits: patriotism, duty to your country or community in times of war or peace; willingness to vote if possible and for the man you think will make the best out of all situations, and not let party politics interfere with your better judgment; civic pride, that is to have pride in your town or community in making better roads, better fire and police protection. A good citizen should also have courtesy and respect for the flag and also for his superiors or elders. A good citizen should be self-supporting and should have a very good moral character.
Good citizenship should start in the home where the children are taught manners and also courtesy to their neighbors and all people older than themselves, and all the things that lead up to good citizenship. When children start to school it is usually the first time they ever have mingled with many people and the things they learn there help to make good citizens of them. In the community we have churches, lodges and public libraries which are all a help to good citizenship. The Parent-Teacher Association, through their interest in the school work is helping the pupils to become better citizens.

The Eyes of Burns, Jr.
Oh! I had some power the giftie gie 'em,
To see their legs as ithers see 'em!
It wad frae monie a short skirt free 'em,

Big Automobile Manufacturing
Enterprise Locates at Riverton

HILTON W. SOFIELD
President

THE PENN MOTORS CORPORATION, incorporated under the State Laws of New Jersey for $300,000, has located its factory at Seventh and Main Streets, Riverton, N. J.
HILTON W. SOFIELD, President of the concern, has had a broad experience in all branches of the automobile business. Mr. Sofield is the former designer of the KEYSTONE, one and two ton Truck, and the HILTON pleasure car; and has also successfully marketed three-hundred Keystone Trucks in the Eastern District, within the past two years, which is a remarkable record.
The Motor Sales and Service, the $60,000 company which recently purchased the business of C. T. Woolston has been taken over by THE PENN MOTORS CORPORATION. While the company is selling stock, it is not like the usual stock proposition. It is more on the co-operative plan. The idea is to have the general public in and around Riverton and Palmyra, as well as the city of Philadelphia, to own the greater part of the company. In doing this Mr. Sofield considers it better business to give up a big part of the earnings by allowing the public to own stock, than to spend an enormous amount in advertising. The company feels that this is the most effective form of advertising, to allow the public to own both.

preferred and common stock.
The Motor Sales and Service Corporation, under the direction of Mr. Sofield and his organization, for the past three years, has shown an enormous profit. Ernst & Ernst, the well known auditing company, shows a statement of 115% profit per year for the past three years for the Motor Sales and Service Corporation. The company plans to manufacture a complete 2-ton truck in their Riverton factory, which now covers 11,000 square feet of floor space and as soon as the demand warrants a new building will be erected on the property. The sales and service of this truck will be conducted, for this section, at the factory in Riverton, N. J., as well as the manufacturing. The company will also continue to maintain their beautiful show room and service station at 1714 N. Broad street, Philadelphia, that they have so successfully operated in the past three years, during which time eleven hundred trucks were sold.
During the interview with Mr. Sofield, he stated: "The PENN TRUCK is the result of my fifteen years of study in the automobile truck field. My aim has been to build a truck of the highest quality, including all conveniences." Mr. Sofield claims it is more important to the user to have a truck with the latest improvements than it is a pleasure car. Those who have seen the new truck claim that he has the most complete and one of the finest proportioned trucks in the field.
There are a few of the most prominent men of this section represented on the board of directors, also well known automobile men of Philadelphia.
A new and unique plan of the company is to allow any stockholder, exceeding $500, to receive a substantial discount on all the service work, supplies and new trucks purchased from the company, in addition to this the dealer will build their trucks under the dealer's own name, providing he is large enough to use a substantial number of trucks.
The new sample truck is now running in this vicinity to show the general public what they are buying. Mr. Hilton W. Sofield is also spending a few days each week in Riverton to become acquainted with the business men and, to welcome those who desire to inspect the plant and the truck, and earnestly solicits their acquaintance.
The campaign is being conducted in this section under the supervision of Geo. D. Sofield. —adv

HE HAS "SPRING" FEVER, TOO

Rex Bell, son of John Bell, who is well known here, has joined the service, and is stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C. He is a first-class swimmer, developing into a first-class soldier, and already having won an enviable record for a youngster as a swimmer. Rex has now tried his hand at writing verse, a recent sample of which is given below.
There is a lake adjacent to the Camp and Rex is diligently practicing swimming. He hopes to secure a far-thing in July to come to Riverton to compete in the ten-mile national swimming race.

The towering pines with their heads at
The breezes blowing warm and soft,
And listen how the birds do sing
Telling us of early spring,
The gorgeous sunrise from o'er the hills
Reflects its beauty on brooks and rills,
Silvery streams wind their way,
Always hastening, never stay,
Onward to the rivers wide,
Where they travel side by side,
Gleaming, splashing, silvery white,
Through the day and through the night.
Forward to the ocean's shore,
Lost from sight forever more.

To the Lady of the House:

Do you ever stop to think of the value of your time?

Surely it is too valuable to waste on a machine that is not JUST RIGHT. But still you feel that, perhaps, if you bought a new machine, the difference would not be worth the cost. It is for this reason that we wish to place a new SINGER in your home for one week's free trial to prove to you that the new SINGER will save you enough time and trouble to repay you tenfold.

In accepting this free trial you will be under no obligation whatever, and, if after you have given this machine a fair trial, you are convinced that it is the most perfect machine obtainable, a payment of $5.00 will keep it in your home. Balance may be paid on terms as low as $3.00 a month. We will take your old machine in part payment.

Singer Machines Are Not High Priced

The idea seems to prevail that the price of a SINGER Machine is more than that of other makes when the fact is that you can buy a SINGER for almost any price. This does not mean a difference in the stitching quality. Although you have the choice of five different types, there is but one quality of machine—THE BEST.

The difference in price is entirely due to the woodwork—this you can have plain or expensive, as you may prefer.

THE SINGER COMPANY owns and operates the largest sewing machine cabinet works in the world.

It will pay you to investigate the facts as to prices of SINGER machines.

CURIOSITIES OF FINNY TRIBE

Fishes Gifted With Power of Mimicry to Protect Them From Their Natural Enemies.

Two interesting examples of mimicry among fish are given by a correspondent. The first, found in Ceylon, is shaped and colored like a withered leaf. A certain naturalist, Dr. A. Willey, describes his experience of this curious fish. He was walking along the reef with a fisherman, when the latter attempted to catch a fish for him. The naturalist could not see at first what it was. The fish dodged about, and the fisherman failed to get it. Seizing the net himself, he saw what seemed to be a yellow oak-leaf gently and inertly sinking to the bottom. This being a common occurrence, he was about to turn away, when the supposed leaf righted itself, and darted off. It was finally secured, and was found to be one of those fishes commonly known as sea-bats. The second example is furnished by the very curious fishes called sea-horses. Many long, irregular filaments proceed from their bodies, and give them a striking resemblance to bunches of seaweed. When the fish anchors itself—as it frequently does—by the tail to a plant of seaweed it seems like a part of it, and is not easily detected.

FEARED TO MAKE IT WORSE

Recruit Had His Own Reasons for Not Answering Stuttering Corporal at That Moment.

He was a corporal drill instructor, and though he had an extraordinarily fine word of command, in normal speech, he stuttered—and stuttered badly.

One day a new and particularly clumsy recruit joined his squad and the instructor walked up to him to give him a little private lecture. "Now I-look here, my I-lad," he began. "You're about the st-st-sloppiest thing I've ever had in my sq-sq-squad. You must b-b-buck up. Wha-wha-what's your name?"

There was no answer, and the corporal patiently repeated the question, but there was still no answer.

Eventually the sergeant major intervened. "What's the matter with you, my lad? Why don't you answer the corporal?" he asked.

"B-b-because," explained the unfortunate recruit, "I d-d-d-don't want to m-m-mock him!"

FRANCE, BRITAIN ARM-IN-ARM

Delegates to Convention Displayed Friendliness That Augurs Well for Future of World.

One of the most dramatic and impressive incidents of the second annual convention of The American Legion in Cleveland took place when the representatives of France and Great Britain entered the convention hall arm-in-arm and precipitated an ovation that completely disrupted the convalescence for several minutes.

The distinguished visitors were Gen. Marie Fayolle of the French army and Admiral Sir William Lowther Grant of the British navy. Gen. Leonard Wood, who accompanied them, also received tremendous applause and was called upon for a speech.

When the cheering had subsided General Fayolle and Admiral Grant each delivered an address urging that there be no misunderstanding between this country on the one hand and France and Great Britain on the other.

"I am acquainted with the high aims of your association and with the great mission The American Legion has assumed," said General Fayolle. "It intends to keep plently the glorious remembrance of the dead, to help through life all those who came out of the fight for liberty, and to keep in all hearts the sacred love for our own country which is the spring of all civic virtues."

After referring to the close ties of friendship and esteem which bind America and France together, he asked:

"As long as France and America remain united who, indeed, would dare henceforth to disturb the peace of the world?"

Admiral Grant voted a similar thought. "It strikes me as being the very acme of culpable negligence and 'foolishness,'" he said, "if we do not stand with all our power the efforts of a comparatively small number of men in our midst to create for their own purposes had blood between us."

Discussing the problem of peace, General Wood declared that "we don't care a rap about party politics."

He appealed to the Legion for a sound solution of the big national issues, foreign relations, national defense and adequate provision for the disabled men and their dependents.

Don't simply see how you can "put in the day." See how much you can "put in the day."—The American Outlook.

FAMOUS STAGE LINE PASSES

March of Progress Has Done Away With Coaches That Did Service on Klondike Route.

Because of inability to secure enough business at a rate to justify it remaining in operation, the Royal Mail stages that ran for 20 years on the White Horse and Yukon route into to Klondike have been discontinued. It was a picturesque service in its prime, fresh horses waiting every 20 miles, and the coach kept at top speed every mile of the way through the snows and bitter cold.

"Big Slim" and "Hobo Bill" were famous drivers, and their arrival at any of the frontier towns was always an event. They used no bugle or bell to warn chance followers of the trail, but instead adopted the long, high-noted, spine-chilling howl of the Malamute and everyone gave them right of way. The stages moved on time regardless of weather, and so exact was their running time that the citizen of the frozen North could almost set his watch by their daily passing. Every trip was a dangerous one, and scores of feet beset the long trail, all the way from bandits to blizzards, and from snowdrifts to wolves. As far as known, not a stage was ever wrecked or a sack of mail lost in the 20 years of service.

Idea of Canal is Old.

The project of a canal across the Isthmus of Panama is about four hundred years old. Balboa and other Spanish explorers urged such construction before the emperor of Spain, and made surveys in search of a feasible line as early as 1525.

ESPECIALLY CIGARS

By H. L. LANGDALE.

"Now, Tom," admonished Madge, italicizing each word with an emphatic forefinger poke into her husband's overcoat, "remember, the Bronsons are coming to dinner tonight. Don't forget to bring home some flowers and cigars—especially the cigars."

With a last pat and wifely kiss, she pushed him into the vestibule, closed the door on his "Sure thing, honey; good-by," and hurried back to the kitchen to begin preparations for the evening.

Tom and Madge Fritchard were newcomers in the Lakewood colony, and this was to be their very first attempt at regular entertaining. Mr. Bronson was some sort of partner in a large firm of architects, and a man that Tom as an expert draftsman "ought to know," according to Madge. Mrs. Bronson, portly, exuberantly dressed, as regularly massaged as Madge was shampooed, statted and organized whatever of society Lakewood boasted. If Tom was not to fall short in Mr. Bronson's eyes, neither did Madge intend to be found wanting in the estimation of his wife.

And to that end, she had planned this dinner with care.

She hoped Tom would remember the cigars. Time was, in his bachelor days, and she hoped, time would be in the future, when his pockets contained plenty of nice, brightly banded smokes as a matter of course.

Promptly at 6:25 the Bronson sedan drew up at the Fritchard curb. Madge, pretty and slim, and softly gowned in crepe de chine, was waiting to greet her guests.

"My husband is late, as usual," she apologized gracefully. "Commuting is so unreliable."

But Tom came in just then with a tale of open bridges and delayed traffic, and Madge slipped away.

Dinner was half over. So far everything had been perfect. Salad course was next, then dessert, then coffee and cigars in the living room by the open fire. Horrors! Had Tom remembered?

Catching his eye, she managed to convey, by a lift of the eyebrows and an inconspicuous two-fingered gesture as of one who removes a cigar from his mouth, the query. They had been married long enough for Tom to be fairly well trained in this delicate domestic art of signal and interpretation. Once, he would have laid down his napkin, half risen, and said, "Something the matter, dear?" But tonight—utter blankness swept his countenance, succeeded by an expression of infinite dismay.

While shifting plates for the salad, an idea occurred to her. Only a block below was a small part grocery, sport stationery store, an unbecomingly part on Lakewood's residential street, but quite frequently a godsend to an unexpectedly visited housekeeper. She would start the salad, then, under pretext of delay in the kitchen, run down to the store, get the best cigars they carried, place them in the humidor in the living room, and reappear from the kitchen.

In the brightly lighted dining room, about the table sparkling with shining silver and spotless linen, Madge's guests, toying with their cherry-topped salad, awaited her return to their midst—and waited—and waited—

"Madge!" Tom raised his voice slightly.

There was no reply.

Meanwhile, Madge had accomplished her errand and was nearly home. Suddenly, ricocheting across the street, skidded a loaded automobile, bumping with a grinding of brakes and startled cries from the inmates, into another car drawn up at the curb.

Wildly hoping her absence had not been noticed, Madge arrived breathlessly in front of her veranda—a veranda which seemed filled with people, although in reality there were only three. The light, streaming from the door behind, revealed Mr. and Mrs. Bronson, bareheaded, and Tom with a napkin dangling in his hand.

Madge, in an agony of shame at being caught in the act of returning from running away from her own dinner party, little realized what a pretty picture she made as she stood below, her cheeks becomingly flushed, her breath coming a bit quickly between parted lips.

How explain herself? Plausible stories sprang to her lips, explanations untrue, but surely permissible under the circumstances.

Then, suddenly, with half a smile, "Here they are, Tom," she said, holding up a slim hand filled with cigars. Some hours later, Tom, forgiven and penitently committed to drowning himself if, by Jupiter, he ever forgot anything again, explained how he had gone to the kitchen in search of her. Then had come a crash and, well—she knew the rest.

Coincidentally with this conversation, Mr. Bronson was remarking to his wife: "Fritchard seems an A-1 sort of chap—fine mind, although I guess his wife wishes he'd improve his memory!" Bronson laughed.

"I think," returned his wife, complacently, "that his little wife is going to be an addition to our community." Then added, epigrammatically, "she has that invaluable social asset—the sixth sense which saves a situation."

"You mean," interrogated her husband, "she wasn't phrased when we caught her getting the cigars?"

"Exactly!" said his wife.

CAST OFF BURDEN

Load of Thirty Years Lifted From Woman's Heart

Attempted Restitution of Sum of Money Which She Had Found and Kept When in Dire Extremity Filled Her With Joy.

"Thank God, I have found you at last. I must see you."

It was the quavering voice of an old woman, conscience-stricken for 30 years because she had kept $100 that did not belong to her and now able to pay with her dead son's insurance money.

She was speaking over the telephone in Philadelphia to D. E. Irving, head of Irving & Lelper, cotton, Chester.

"But I do not know you," he said, speaking from his mill. "Why do you want to see me?"

"I owe you money," said the woman. Her insistence caused him to agree to meet her in Broad street station, where she was to wear a shawl over her left arm and hold a bag in her right hand as marks of recognition.

The manufacturer met her. With her was a younger woman.

Thirty years ago, she told him, she was walking in Philadelphia when she saw a man dropping a wallet.

She described the man. It was a close description of James Irving, Mr. Irving's father, who died years ago and who was heir of James Irving & Sons, wool manufacturers, Irvington.

"I picked up the wallet," the woman said. "It contained a $100 bill and two pennies. There was also a card in it. I do not remember all that was on the card. But I remember the name 'Irving,' and 'wool merchant.'"

"I had lost my husband only three months before. I did not know how to pay the rent. I had no shoes for my children. I was horribly tempted. And I did not resist. I did not overtake the owner of the wallet. I kept the money."

"But ever since then it has been on my mind, on my conscience. There was not a day that I did not think of that money. There was not a night that I did not ask God in my prayer to forgive me. It was the only dishonest thing I ever did."

"I kept the wallet and the card with me always, hoping that some day I might be able to repay. But I could not. I was poor all my life. And 20 years ago, in moving, I lost the wallet and the card."

"But I did not forget the name. Three months ago my oldest son died. He left me some money through an insurance. It was the first money I ever had. Please, please, sir, take it," she said, as she stretched out her hand. She held five $20 bills.

When Mr. Irving asked her how she had found him she told him she had telephoned to hundreds of "Irving's" in the last three months. She telephoned to Irvings in Philadelphia, Wilmington and even in Pittsburgh and New York, but always received the same curt reply:

"You must have the wrong party."

When Mr. Irving told the woman he could not accept the money because he did not know that his father ever lost it she nearly broke down. She begged him to take it.

"Won't you please take this terrible load off my heart at last?"

The manufacturer promised her to ask his oldest sister if she remembered the occurrence. But his sister remembered it only vaguely if at all. And Mr. Irving wrote a letter to the woman asking her to favor him by accepting the $100 as a gift.

The name of the woman, who lives in Ticon, was not disclosed.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

A Very Gentle Hint.

Now, one uncle of the children was generous and the other was close, indeed. Uncle Number One, however, was not satisfied with his own generosity. He wished Number Two to know and feel the joy of giving, particularly to his own nephews and nieces. He wondered and wondered as to the best way to show him that he should be more generous. Then one day came his opportunity.

He was driving by Uncle Number Two's farm and noticed all his fine chickens. Now, the mother of the wee children did not have chickens. So Uncle Number One, of generous habits, stopped his machine, walked up to the house and accosted Uncle Number Two, of parsimonious fame. "I just saw your chickens," he remarked pleasantly, "and I wondered if you wouldn't sell me some eggs for our little nephews and nieces to eat."

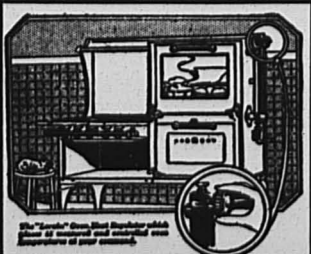

The hint was taken.

Clearing House for Brains.

The demand for technical men is about to be taken care of by a proposed clearing house for brains which will maintain a central headquarters and will be composed of representatives of all the technical colleges in the country and at these headquarters a directory and filing system of the demands of the country for professional assistance of this character will be kept. Such a system will enable the industries to secure men that are wanted and will offer facilities for graduates and other to secure places for which they are qualified with little loss of time or energy.

Minister Somewhat Puzzled.

Here is a story which Dr. Samuel Lough, president of Baker university, told on himself. When he was a young Methodist preacher, just beginning his course in the ministry, a friend asked him to go out into the country and preach the funeral sermon of a young farmer who had just died. "Certainly, I would not refuse such a request if the family desire it," Doctor Lough said. "Well, the family wants you to conduct the funeral," the friend replied. "The father of the young man is rather peculiar," he hastened to explain. "He does not want the Catholic priest to preach the sermon, and he has no use for Protestant preachers, but he says you will do all right." Doctor Lough preached the funeral sermon, but he is not quite certain to this day upon what grounds he was selected for the duty.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE
I.—DELAWARE

TO DELAWARE
TWA RE falls the honor of being the first of the original thirteen states.
December 7, 1787, it officially adopted the Constitution and thus was made a beginning of our present Federal government. According to the seventh article of the Constitution, however, it was necessary for nine states to ratify it before it actually came into force. So it was not until the following June, by which time eight other states had accepted the Constitution, that the United States of America actually came into being.

The early history of Delaware was a varied one. It started in 1683 when a small party of Swedes settled at the mouth of the Delaware river and called it New Sweden. In 1655, Peter Stuyvesant, the governor of the Dutch colony of New Netherlands, annexed this territory. But it did not long remain Dutch, for in 1684 the English took possession. When Pennsylvania was decided to William Penn he desired access to the seacoast and at his urgent request Delaware was transferred to Penn's proprietorship. From the beginning of the eighteenth century, however, Delaware had its separate legislature, and at the time of the Revolution it became an independent state.

Delaware is next to the smallest of our states, having an area of only 2,570 square miles. Its participation in presidential elections is limited to three electors. This is arranged according to population. Each state is entitled to the same number of presidential electors as it has members of congress, so the influence of the different states in voting for the President varies from Delaware's three electors to New York's 45.

As to the derivation of the name Delaware, this was appropriately given to the state from the river, which in turn was named after the bay and the bay was called Delaware in honor of Lord Delaware, who was governor of the Virginia colony in 1610.

BOY SCOUTS

Boy scouts within a radius of fifty miles of New York city made a memorial pilgrimage to the grave of Theodore Roosevelt on Friday, Nov. 26, the day following Thanksgiving. The pilgrimage was under the leadership of Daniel Carter Beard, national scout commissioner, who was one of the very close friends of President Roosevelt.

Each boy scout council in this territory selected a delegation of individual honor scouts and troops. The number of those that participated reached several thousand. It is proposed to make the trip an annual memorial in honor of the man who was the American boys' ideal, and who was at one time honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America, and was known as the Chief Scout Citizen.

The scouts were transported from their various local headquarters to Oyster Bay in automobiles, trains and by boat. They mobilized there and then hiked to Sagamore Hill and to the Roosevelt tomb, where appropriate scout memorial services were held, with addresses by several speakers, including Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, who recently became a member of the executive board of the boy scouts' organization and shares his father's enthusiasm for scouting.

"The memorial hike" was not only a gracious tribute to the memory of a great man who understood boys as few others have, but was a fine thing for the boys themselves," said Commissioner Beard, who is familiarly known as "Uncle Dan" to the hundreds of thousands of boy scouts. "The pilgrimage to the tomb of Roosevelt was a lesson in patriotism of the kind that makes for better citizenship, which is a fundamental object of the boy scout movement. President Roosevelt had all the picturesque qualities of a boy's hero. He was an out-of-doors man, a buckskin man, explorer, a true scout of the old American type; beloved by boys, and was always interested in things boys are interested in. The purpose is to impress upon the boys that participated, and through them to impress upon other boys those splendid qualities of character of Theodore Roosevelt as shown by the events in his life which it should be the aim of every American boy to follow. America has produced no better man for scouts to emulate."

THE SCOUT CABIN BOY TEST.

"Tests" is the name given to the work a boy scout is made to accomplish in order to secure the coveted merit badges worn on a sleeve of his coat. One of the newest of these is the cabin boy test. To pass it, it is necessary for a scout to take what amounts to a preparatory course in the fundamentals of seamanship. The merit badge he receives after passing is one of the finest pieces of silk embroidery in the merit badge list. It is a yellow oval inclosing an ancient anchor in yellow, on a rich blue background.

STATE NAMED BY EXPLORER

Why Territory Was Called "California" Was Long a Puzzle to Even Profound Scholars.

In "The Natural Wealth of California," Titus Fey Cronise says: "There are few countries, the names of which are involved in as much mystery as that of California. A compound of Greek and Latin, it is not positively known by whom or when compounded, nor the reason why, although many profound scholars in Europe and in the United States have endeavored during the past century to trace its origin.

To substantiate this claim of discovery the historians generally refer to a letter written to King Carlos V by Cortes, dated October 15, 1524, in which information is given of the reported discovery of an island of Amazonas.

Geronimo, an Indian student, who spent months in searching Spanish books of ancient date, declares the name was invented by Cortes, following a report of an island inhabited by women only off the coast of what is now California. He looked on the calendar of saints, and finding Saint Calixto and Saint Fortunata there, he combined the two by using the first part of each name, and added the suffix "nia." With this "California" he started out to find the island and bestow his invented name upon it.

Last Night's Dreams

—What They Mean

DID YOU DREAM ABOUT DRINKING?

NOW that booze has "gone glimmering through the dream of things that were" it is interesting to investigate the alcoholic conditions in Dreamland, "Where there ain't no Ten Commandments and a man can raise a thirst."

It is not too much to say that the situation there is positively shocking, and the drys ought to get busy at once in the realm of shadow. Old booze-fighters, now reduced to taking their tipple and consorting with their inebriated associates in Dreamland only, may gather what solace they can from the fact that oracles and soothsayers regard as of generally favorably omen dreams in which the late John Barleycorn conspicuously figures. And it may be laid down as a rule that if you take your "licker" in dreams alone it won't hurt you. In fact, it will have just the contrary effect to taking it over a real bar. To go into a Dreamland barroom—the only one now open—and there, seeing old acquaintances, say "What's your's, boys?" indicates, if everything is pleasant and convivial, that you will soon embark in some new speculation or business which will be highly profitable. Should one of these dream-friends refuse to join you, declaring that he is on "the water-wagon" you will soon meet an old friend and have a long and pleasant chat with him.

To dream that you are drunk and have accumulated your jag from Dreamland booze indicates that riches and honors, now wholly unforeseen, are to come to you; probably through making the acquaintance of a man now unknown to you who will put you

In the way of making your fortune. To the unmarried man it signifies that he is beloved by a woman of whom he has, as yet, scarcely thought, and that she will make an excellent wife. But to dream that you have tasted no liquor and yet are drunk is accounted a bad sign. You will soon commit some foolish action.

If you dream that you got drunk on water you are going to boast of your rich relations, and of wealth which you do not possess. Also, to see another man drunk means that you will do something foolish.

It is but fair to the oracle and soothsayers to state that these dream interpretations were expounded years and years before the dry amendment to the Constitution was thought of.

Car Rides Cost More For Same Reason that Bread and Shoes Do

Every man and woman who is now paying ten cents for the same size loaf of bread that before the war cost five cents—

Every man and woman who is now paying $8 for no better shoes than could be bought for $4—

Every man and woman who is now paying two or three cents for the newspaper that in pre-war times cost one cent—

KNOWS why the street car fare of 1917, 1918 or 1919 won't pay the street car expenses of 1921.

For wages, materials and supplies that cost one dollar in 1917 we are now paying two dollars or more.

As a railway's only source of revenue is the car fares it receives, we are asking for higher fares to cover the increased expenses of doing business.

More Light on the Adam Family. Referring to the recent statement of a scientist that the Garden of Eden was located in Ohio, we are reminded of the "Scot" laird who told a famous singer that Gaelic was the language of Adam. The singer afterward spoke laughingly of the claim to another Scotchman, who remarked in all seriousness, "The laird was quite right. Dianna ye ken that the Garden of Eden was in Scotland? Dianna ye ken that Adam's name was McPherson?"—Boston Transcript.

L. L. Jackson to Speak on High School Requirements

In view of the movement for a new school building to make possible a more complete high school course for Palmyra, the Parent-Teacher Association has arranged for Assistant State Commissioner of Education L. L. Jackson to address the meeting next Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the high school building.

Mr. Jackson will tell exactly what an up-to-date high school comprises and will give his hearers an opportunity to judge what improvements and extensions may be advisable for Palmyra.

Since the high school situation is directly connected with the need for a new school building, the people of Palmyra are urged to attend the meeting in large numbers, and inasmuch as Riverton people are also interested in the developments of the high school here, it is also hoped that a large delegation of Riverton parents will be present.

After the address the audience will be invited to ask whatever questions they wish of Mr. Jackson.

The entertainment of the evening will be furnished by the high school orchestra under the direction of Louis Revere Richards. A splendid program comprising "Mignonette," "Spirit of the Winds" and selections from "The Poet and Peasant" will be rendered.

"Little Giant" to be Heard Here. Hon. Clinton N. Howard, known as "the Little Giant" of Rochester, N. Y., has been secured to address a mass meeting to be held under the auspices of the National Reform Association of Pittsburgh, on Tuesday, April 19, at 8:00 p. m., in the Epworth M. E. Church, Palmyra, at which time he will deliver his famous lecture, "A New Day and a Better Tomorrow."

The public is cordially invited.

Chamber of Commerce Membership Growing. The drive of the membership committee of the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce goes on apace. The committee has set as its mark at least 150 citizens who are willing to devote some of their spare time to one meeting a month and extra committee work in the campaign for a bigger, better, prettier, cleaner town.

Eleven new members were taken in at the regular April meeting last Tuesday evening, bringing the total to seventy. The new members are: Edward E. Fox, Charles Hahn, Geo. A. Cross, A. Harry Rudduck, Frank A. Snover, Melvin R. Blackwell, William H. Humphries, John W. Shale, Pamam Harding, Edward A. King and David McKnight.

High School Notes. The senior play, given in the P. O. S. of A. hall, Thursday evening, April 7th, was a great success. The cast and actresses showed much skill and dramatic ability in the portrayal of their respective parts. The orchestra rendered its best and played several selections remarkably well for amateur musicians. The proceeds from the play will help defray the expenses of the senior trip to Washington. The seniors thank all who attended the play.

F. C. Preparing for Big Season. The board of directors of the Palmyra Field Club met at the home of James T. Weart Wednesday evening and laid plans for the coming season of the baseball and tennis season.

It is planned to help finance the baseball team by the sale of season tickets admitting to all games. A number of tickets have already been sold. The speaker saw little opportunity of a decrease in rates in the future, although municipal requirements would probably be able to pay the school taxes principally, he said, that would keep the total high. In this connection, the auditor declared, that perhaps no expenditures received less attention than those for school purposes, although much money had been wasted in the past.

At this point Mr. Williams was told that Palmyra would have to build a new school building and that this necessity would keep school expenditures high here. The auditor said, however, that he would think the need of a new school in itself showed an increasing population which in turn meant increased revenue and should, at least in a very short time, make up for the added expense of a new building. The tax rate ought not jump, he declared, if proper attention is given by the citizens to the administration of municipal, school and county finances.

When questioned about the financing of a sewer system, the speaker said that the best way to apportion the cost according to the valuation of the property benefited and that this should be done by the town. Then the bonds and interest would be paid over a long period through general taxation.

In the course of the regular work of the Chamber, the various committees reported much progress in the tasks they had taken upon matters of special interest pertaining to the proposed sewer system is expected to be presented at the next meeting.

Charles K. Mervine was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate further charges of the Public Service Company for extension of electricity service.

The meeting wound up with the banquet arranged by the entertainment committee.

Y. W. C. A. The "Living Movies" given last Tuesday evening were a great success. Both Beverly and Burlington turned out well and there were about forty girls present. Don't forget our rummage sale on May 6th and 7th. Every member save what they have and help make it a success.

TO MEMORY OF LEGIONNAIRES. Handsome Building Planned at Centralia, Where Men Fell During Armistice Day Celebration.

Funds for a memorial to be erected at Centralia, Wash., in honor of the American Legion martyrs of Armistice day, as provided for in a resolution at the second annual convention, soon will be solicited in a nation-wide campaign, according to present plans. The arrangements for the campaign are being worked out by the department of Washington, co-operating with Grant Hodges, post of Centralia and the citizens of Centralia and Chehalis. More than $500,000, it is expected, will be raised for the memorial, which will take the form of a handsome building to be erected near the spot where the Legionnaires fell. A day will be designated by the department of Washington for the formal opening of the campaign in every post of the Legion.

TO HELP SOLVE PROBLEMS. Chamber of Commerce Will Appoint Committees to Assist Township and County Officials in Making Up Budget.

The Palmyra Chamber of Commerce had the largest meeting of its history Tuesday evening. Two new members were marked for inclusion in an address of great interest by an expert on municipal affairs, and the second was a splendid banquet for the members. Both departures were along lines that will be followed further in the future.

The speaker was Roy E. Williams, public accountant of Delanco, who audited the books of Palmyra township this year. Mr. Williams is an expert on the theory and practice of municipal finances. He has had wide experience, acting as auditor and in an advisory capacity for several towns in this section of the State, as well as auditing the books of the county for the board of freeholders.

Mr. Williams is conducting a campaign to interest the citizens of Burlington county in the affairs of their home communities and the county itself. He has in mind the formation of taxpayers associations in communities where such bodies as the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce do not exist, not for the purpose of criticizing local governing bodies, but to assist them in their work.

He pointed out that in townships such as Palmyra, three men have the responsibility and burden of spending the thousands of dollars of local revenue.

In the county, five men, the freeholders, have the same burden. The make-up of these average American citizens, Mr. Williams observed, is to complain about rather than to help their officials, and he set about to show how the body of citizens could be devoted to their town's assistance to their officials in administering finances.

He explained that the governing bodies must, under the budget act, determine in advance at the beginning of the year how the money to be raised by taxation must be spent, as well as the amount to be raised. The amount to be devoted to each separate department must be set and that amount cannot be exceeded, under penalty of punishment for misdemeanor. Thus the law requires officials to be advanced to know exactly in advance how much money will be required to support each division of local government.

It is the duty of the citizen to share the burden, Mr. Williams declared, and also to share the blame if mistakes are made. The duty is too big and involved for any three men.

At this point in his address Mr. Williams declared a bouquet to the Chamber of Commerce whose dealings with the Township Committee he had had previous opportunity to observe. He declared he had not met elsewhere in all county a situation where an organized body of citizens was in existence and showed such a spirit of co-operation and helpfulness in the governing body as shown by representatives of the Palmyra Chamber.

Rivertonians Prominent in Legion Circles. Members of the American Legion throughout the country will watch with interest the progress of the special committee appointed by President Harding to investigate conditions existing in the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, the Public Health Service and the Federal Board of Vocational Training. General Charles G. Dawes is chairman of this committee.

Franklin D'Oiler, formerly national commander of the American Legion, and now chairman of the Philadelphia County Committee of the Legion, is a member of this committee.

At a meeting of women's auxiliary representatives in the Emergency Aid Building last Tuesday night, Mrs. Theodore W. Reath, of 1538 Pine street, was elected temporary chairman of the auxiliary organization in Philadelphia. Mrs. Reath is the mother of the late Thomas Roberts Reath, one of the famous five of the United States Marine Corps. The marine post for the Legion in Philadelphia is named in his honor.

Politics. It is expected that the scramble for the Republican nominations for the two places to become vacant in the Board of Freeholders, will soon start. In fact there is no little jockeying going on right now over favorable positions at the starting post.

Present members, Director Edward T. Haines, Fred Lippincott, Howard Russ, of Delanco; Councilman Charles J. Lame, of Burlington, and possibly Joseph Bright, of Delran, a former Democrat, are among those mentioned as possible nominees in the race.

Senator White succeeded in getting his salary increase bill through the House of Assembly just before adjournment after having it passed by the Senate. Under its provisions County Auditor Henry I. Worrell will receive $1,800 a year instead of $1,000, and Stewart of the Almshouse, Charles A. Bowser, will get $1,500 and maintenance, instead of $750 and maintenance. It is fully expected that the Governor will sign the bill.

The long delayed county tax board appointment was made by Governor Edwards last week, when he named Frank A. Braddock, of Medford, who had received the endorsement of the Democratic county committee. Braddock, who served a few months of an unexpired term several years ago when Richard P. Hughes resigned to become State agent, etc., will succeed Henry P. Thorn, also of Medford. The place pays $1,400 and the term is for three years.

NO LONGER SIMPLE PROBLEM. Matter of Fed. in Three Days of Statistics, Has Become Question of Calculation.

Once upon a time this problem of food was a very simple matter. Three times a day, as a rule, the attention of man was drawn to a hollow feeling located due east of the lower end of the vertebral column. This vacancy he proceeded to fill with a slab of bread, a chunk of beef, a pot of rice, etc., favored as a rule with butter, jam, garlic, etc., according to race, religion, climate, etc. This settled the problem till the next call from the far East.

It pains us to say that this was living to eat and not eating to live. It showed no adjustment of means to end. It was a system of food that made no distinction between a longshoreman and a free-verse poet. It was a system of anarchy.

Happily the truth has been realized. The consumption of food is no longer destructive but constructive. Man no longer eats corned beef and cabbage, but the vitamins in the beef and the polysegmatins in the cabbage. When he picks up the bill of fare he no longer says, "What will most speedily and cheaply allay the unrest in my far East?" but he says, "Where can I find the 12,500 carboxonates that will give me the right outlook on the League of Nations?" And he finds it in unpolished rice. Or he says to himself, "I am now at work on the fourth act of my poetic drama; to make it convincing to Boston, I must absorb 9,200 pernanaganorols daily for the next 80 days." So he shaves the kernels off the corn and eats the cob. Perhaps with coconut butter, for the added colonial saxophonians.

This very midnight in our great city a couple of army corps of testing infants will be lulled to rest with 23,176 pneumodactylines warmed up in a bottle.—New York Evening Post.

HAD IT ALL PLANNED OUT. Colored Soldier Knew Exactly What He Was Going to Do With All Those Black Clothes.

Here is a story of two negro soldiers, who were talking just after the signing of the armistice: "Boston," said one, "what you gwine to do when you-all gets home?" "What am I gwine to do? Wal, in the first place, nigger, I's gwine buy me a white suit o' clo'es, 'n white shoes, 'n a white shirt, collar 'n tie, 'n a white hat. I's gwine be white all over, nigger, an' den I's give you nigger folks 'n allus do my 'sociating wid white folks!"

"The boy paused, then asked: 'What you-all gwine do, Jake?' 'Wal, says Jake, 'I's gwine buy me a black suit, 'n black shoes, 'n a black shirt, 'n a black tie, 'n a black hat. I's gwine be black all over. Den, when dat's done, I's gwine buy me a big piece of black crepe and fasten it round my black hat."

"'Man,' says Rastus, 'what you-all mean by all dem black clo'es and by dat black crepe? What for you gwine wear dat black crepe?'"

"'Nigger,' says Jake, 'I's gwine wear dat black crepe to your funeral.'"

Farm Machinery Imperative. While it is impossible to determine the extent that modern farm implements have increased the production per acre, it is certain that it is only through their use that the large increase in population has been supported and sufficient labor liberated to permit of the present manufacturing and commercial activities in our towns and cities, and yet provide sufficient food with which to sustain the race. With the implements in use 60 or 70 years ago, no such condition of development as maintained today is thinkable.

JOYOUS WIND-UP OF 145TH SESSION

Control Too One-Sided to Make Legislature's Closing Hours the Usual Wrangle.

HAD TO WORK OVERTIME

One Mill Tax, Reassessment and Building Probe Pass—Highway Bond and Open Paving Bills Fail.

Trenton.—Amid scenes of hilarity in the house of assembly and somber dignity of the senate the one hundred and forty-fifth legislature adjourned sine die Friday night five hours after the hour originally set for the final rap of the gavel. The threatened jam of bills at the last minute failed to materialize, the senate having notified the house shortly after 3 o'clock that no more bills would be given consideration. The house in turn shut down on senate measures.

Shortly before 8 o'clock a senate messenger arrived in the house with a resolution calling for immediate adjournment sine die. A committee of members from both houses called upon the governor and informed him that the legislature was awaiting his pleasure. He told the senatorial committee that he might find it necessary within a month to call that body into session to act upon an appointment of a state superintendent of police to carry out the provisions of the state constabulary law.

The committee then returned to their respective houses, and a moment later Speaker Hobart marched the members of the house through the corridors, singing "Auld Lang Syne," to the senate chamber. There he informed President Allen that the house was prepared to adjourn sine die. Mr. Allen tapped the gavel for the last time and announced the one hundred and forty-fifth legislature at an end. With Senator Runyon leading, the members of the two houses then joined in singing "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," "There's a Long, Long Trail" and "Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Runyon then sang "The End of a Perfect Day."

Adjournment was preceded in the house by much horse play. Speaker Hobart, ordinarily stern in keeping order, allowed a free rein, and the members of the lower house acted like schoolboys. The strain of the final week was over, and in cleaning out desks the members seemed to want to see just how far they could throw the waste paper and books. Resolutions were passed in both houses thanking every one, from the printer to state officials, for courteous and helpful consideration.

Action on Important Measures
Except for the disposition of a few major measures, save for the last day, there was little of importance done in the closing hours. Open specifications, soldiers' preference, extension of the powers of the State Tax Board, continuance of the 1 mill tax for road construction and investigation of Morris canal properties and building conditions led the calendar. All but the first named issue had the support of both houses. The assembly unanimously favored open specifications for road work, but the senate for the second time this year voted it down.

The last day, too, saw the $50,000,000 road bond bill die with the senate. Strenuous efforts put forth by proponents of the plan to have the bill released from committee failed. On top of its failure to put over the road bond bill, the 500 mile road program which calls for work in 10 counties at an estimated cost of $50,000,000, was passed by both houses and sent to the governor.

Daylight saving also died with the senate. All efforts to get Senator Sturgess of Gloucester to report the bill out of committee failed. He announced that he was prepared to take the responsibility for its death. Mr. Sturgess comes from a rural county, where the population is opposed to the measure. The house had passed the bill early in the session. Only municipalities that pass local ordinances will have an hour extra daylight this summer.

Passage of Road Tax Bill
Refusal of the senate to concur in the $50,000,000 bond bill left the state for the moment without any method of raising future funds to proceed with road work. The house held the whip hand, though, in the form of house 283. This bill, in committee since February 15, provided that the 1 mill tax on real and personal property for the construction of public roads be continued. The act previously providing for this tax expires this year. The state gets $3,500,000 annually from this source.

When hope was abandoned in the senate in the afternoon of putting over the big bond bill a hurry call was sent to the house leaders for action on house 283. The lower branch had been a bit worried for fear the senate would force adjournment before the house was ready. To guard against this Majority Leader Rowland and Speaker Hobart placed house 283 at the bottom of the calendar. When all else was done they moved its passage and sent it to the senate. There was no delay in that body in adopting the bill.

Record on Open Specifications
Attempts to amend a bill at the last moment in order to make it practically impossible to have it enacted into law were tried on two of the most important last minute measures in the house. Both attempts were nipped, however, and failed. The first came on open specifications. The Passaic delegation delayed action on the bill half an hour while the constitutionality of the bill was discussed with Attorney General McCran. Then they came in with an amendment they said had been prepared by him. It provided that nothing in the act should interfere with contracts now existing between contractors and counties. Majority Leader Rowland knew that the senate would not pass an open specifications bill even though the house did, but he insisted that it was a Republican party platform pledge and that the house should go on record one way or the other. He blocked all attempts to delay the bill and demanded that the members "unmask and show where they stood." While he was talking word came that the senate had defeated the Glover open specifications bill and would not consider any other legislation this year.

Notwithstanding this news a roll call vote was taken. The Essex delegation voted solidly for open specifications. Originally five members of the house voted in the negative, but when they saw that the measure would go over they changed to the affirmative. The final vote was 45 to 0.

"Missing" Bill Put Through
After considerable delay the house finally got and voted favorably upon senate 53, a bill giving the State Board of Taxation the right to go into any municipality and reassess property. The bill had been held back in the senate since early in the week. It was charged that certain manufacturing interests were attempting to have it die. This charge was strengthened when Governor Edwards announced that at the request of manufacturers he would hold a hearing on the bill before acting upon it.

The bill passed the upper branch of the legislature March 30 and then disappeared until Friday afternoon, when it was sent to the assembly. Word then leaked out that the bill had been held by Secretary William H. Albright of the senate at the request of Republican State Chairman Stokes. An attempt to amend the measure in the house failed. It passed in that body by an overwhelming vote. As soon as it was brought back to the senate Mr. Albright immediately sent it to the governor for his consideration.

Assemblyman Lyons of Middlesex, the same county as the sponsor of the bill, tried to nullify its intent. Assemblyman Pierson charged, by offering the amendment making it necessary for the State Tax Board to notify individually every property owner in a municipality when the board intended to re-assess. He obtained but four votes. Assemblyman Evans of Passaic held up the bill, arguing that the bill would mean that property owners would have no right of appeal under it. Mr. Pierson explained that owners could go to the courts for appeal.

The vote on the measure was 82 to 11. Passaic, Mercer and a few South Jersey representatives opposed its passage.
Nelson Probe Move Checked
There were two other fights in the house during the afternoon. Assemblyman Nelson of Hudson tried to have passed a resolution directing the Mackay probing commission to investigate housing conditions in Essex and Hudson. The resolution was killed when the house voted to refer it to the Judiciary Committee. In his speech favoring adoption of the resolution Mr. Nelson remarked:
"The commission was authorized to investigate things in the state that would help the Republican party. Why not dig into housing conditions?"

For Wounded Soldiers' Home
Assemblyman Coon of Essex came in for a knock when he opposed the appropriation of $111,000 for a home for wounded soldiers at High Point, Sussex county. He had objected on the grounds that it was an unnecessary expense, as the government was taking good care of wounded and maimed soldiers. Assemblyman Corie of Atlantic in an attack on Mr. Coon said:
"The Essex assemblyman has been most consistent in saving money for the state and preaching economy. He has voted down salary increasing bills one after another. He didn't hesitate one moment, though, in voting for a primary election that will cost the people of Newark $40,000 this month."

The bill passed easily, and after it had half a dozen soldier members in the house, who had opposed it at the instance of the American Legion and other organizations, changed their votes to the affirmative.

Votes for Canal Inquiry
The Morris canal investigation resolution in the senate found Senator Parry leading practically a lone fight against its passage. He said all the information sought by the resolution could be obtained from a report of a similar investigation committee published in 1912. Senator Simpson reminded the Essex senator that he (Mr. Parry) had introduced bills earlier in the session similar to the one under discussion in the chamber and that he hadn't been able to get them in position for passage. The vote was 14 to 2.

Building Probe Approved
One of the measures which passed the senate was house joint resolution 2, by Assemblyman Taylor of Essex, with senate amendments, which provides for an investigation into the prices of material and labor in the construction of buildings.

Lecture by Mrs. Van Ness
"The Privileges of Citizenship" were outlined in an interesting manner Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Van Ness in Society Hall.

The thought was expressed that we were not consciously grateful for our privileges, but took advantages that come to the citizen as a matter of course.

What a citizen is was clearly outlined, and explanations given as to who could or could not become citizens. The political rights of a citizen are that they may vote and may hold office. The civil rights are many, one of the most important of which is protection of property. When such protection is not furnished by the government, then we have conditions such as exist in Russia today.

Mrs. Van Ness spoke of the many scientific helps extended to all citizens by the government in the form of pamphlets and reports, giving whatever information may be desired; of our forest protection; consular service. Another interesting government exhibition is that of articles used in other countries, so that our own manufacturers may make exactly what is desired by the various peoples. She also spoke of our copyright and patents; our national parks; the care of many classes of people not able to care for themselves; and of our wonderful educational system.

thought that women were not content to only receive, but wanted to arise and serve as worthily as possible.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Van Ness for her very interesting lectures.

There were many questions asked after the lecture. One woman was curious to have explained the special meaning of "supplies" on account of the recent newspaper articles concerning the extra appropriations necessary this year for State supplies, and what they included.

Mrs. Van Ness replied that for a number of years the State has supplied pencils, pens, scissors, stationery, fountain pens, combs, brushes, razors, wallets, etc., the list growing until it now included brief bags for the men and overnight bags for the lady members. She expressed her disapproval of the system, but felt that to be one of 150 to stand out against it might bring unjust criticism and opposition which would work against the bills she desired to have passed. She felt that she had gotten her bills through by being reasonable. The bills which she were interested in were those making it legal for women to serve as overseer of poor in cities having over 25,000; limiting the working hours of women to 54 each week; equal guardianship of children; free use of armories for public schools; and Boy and Girl Scouts; and the placing of the bob-o-link in the song book class. She also worked hard for the placing of two women on the State Board of Education and two women on the State Board of Health; also for the bills to legalize women as jurors and presidential electors; to raise the age of consent; and equal representation in party councils. She said that the men in Trenton had been splendid to her.

After Mrs. Van Ness left a short business meeting was held and an announcement made of Senator Runyon, who will speak in the Riverton public school, Thursday evening, April 21, on "Citizenship," under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association; also of Child Welfare week, May 8 to 15.

Miss Helen Lippincott spoke a few minutes on the regional work and the State Association, and delegates were selected to attend a convention to be held in Newark May 6 and 7.

Interest in Shoot Dwindles as Spring Lures Marksmen to Other Sports

Once more there were not enough shooters on hand to ensure a match for the cup. Again it was lucky for the cup aspirants that such was the case, for like on last Saturday Dr. Mills was high man carrying off the honors for the second consecutive time in the prize shoot. The crack shots of the Club were on hand and the classiest shooting of the season ensued. Dr. Mills, D. L. Vaughan, and Seckel were the select three this time, Vaughan being really high man as he broke the most targets of the day—47. Dr. Mills broke 45 of his, while Jack Seckel rolled up a score of 41 breaks. In the shoot off Mills and Seckel tied with a perfect score, while Vaughan only fell short a half point. In the second shoot off Dr. Mills nosed Seckel out, winning first honors. Following is how the marksmen shot:

	Broke	Hdcp.	Total
Stackhouse	42	4	46
C. Z. Vaughan	46	2	48
D. L. Vaughan	47	3	50
Dr. Mills	45	6	50

Editorial News of School
Miss Adams, the seventh grade teacher, was absent from school last week on account of illness.

Miss Margaret Cunningham's health has improved so such an extent that she is expected back soon.

Steven Eichler, of the second grade, died last week in St. Mary's hospital, of appendicitis.

Katrina Eigenbrood, of the second grade, has moved to Delair.

Four new pupils entered the kindergarten this month, making a total of forty-two pupils in all.

The sixth and seventh grade girls are preparing to make uniforms for the cooking classes the following year.

Miss Chew has decided to have a field day meet in Riverton, May 13. All the pupils are getting in trim. Mary Rumble is making a very good showing in broad jump, beating her last year's record. Just now the primary grades are doing very good work in their exercises. They are improving steadily under the direction of Miss Lucas.

Miss Chew and a number of girls went to Moorestown to attend the Home-Making Contest, in which they were competitors. At the contest in the morning the girls from the surrounding towns played basket ball. After lunch they strolled around the town. About two o'clock the prizes were awarded and Riverton had the good luck to capture six. At 2:30 the group came back, explaining over the good time they had had.

Some very interesting work is being carried on by Miss Lucas, the physical training instructor. She is supervising the seventh and eighth grade girls for a May Pole dance. She has aroused the interest of all the girls in this dainty and new work.

The boys of the eighth grade had their first encounter in base ball with the Palmyra school boys and were defeated. The score was twenty-three to two in favor of Palmyra. They will meet again next Friday.

Seventh Grade.

Some FACTS About

Here are authentic figures from the Ford factory at Detroit. They show you just how many Ford cars and trucks have been built each month since January 1, 1921 and how many have been sold to retail customers, in the United States.

	Produced	Delivered to Retail Customers
JANUARY	29,883	57,208
FEBRUARY	35,305	63,603
MARCH	61,886	87,221
Total Production	127,074	Total Retail Sales 208,032

showing that actual sales for the first three months of 1921 exceeded production by 80,958 Ford cars and trucks!

April requisitions already specify 107,719 additional cars and trucks and the estimated April output of the factory and assembly plants combined calls for only 90,000!

These facts clearly show that the demand for Ford products is growing much faster than manufacturing facilities to produce and were it not for the dealers' limited stocks, which are now being rapidly depleted, many more customers would have been compelled to wait for their cars. It will be only a matter of weeks, therefore, until a big surplus of orders will prevent anything like prompt deliveries.

If you would be sure of having your Ford car or truck when you want it, you should place your order now. Don't delay. Phone us or drop us a card.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

POVERTY AND WEALTH.

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 5:8-10; Amos 8:4-7; Luke 16:13-26.

GOLDEN TEXT—For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.—Luke 12:34.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Prov. 30: 8, 9; Matt. 6:19-24; 13:12; Luke 6:24; 12:13-24; 1 Tim. 6:8-10, 17-19.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Kind Woman.—II Kings 4:8-11.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Two Men Did With Their Money.—Luke 15:15-21; Acts 4:36, 37.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Earning and Using Money.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Problems of Poverty and Wealth.

1. Wealth in the Hands of the Few (Isa. 5:8).

1. "Join house to house" (v. 8).

2. "Lay field to field" (v. 8).

The avaricious greed of these men caused them to enlarge their estates at the expense of their neighbors. In agricultural districts it took the form of land-grabbing and the eviction of the small proprietor, and in the commercial centers the crowding out of the small concerns by the large corporations. God hates the spirit of avarice.

11. Methods Employed in the Acquisition of Wealth (Amos 8:4-6).

1. "Swallowed up the needy" (v. 4).

"Swallowed up" literally means to pant after, like a beast after its prey with eagerness to devour. Many today get rich by swallowing up the needy.

2. "To make the poor of the land to fall" (v. 4).

They were grasping after the houses and lands of the poor, and in order to accomplish this they impoverished them in every way possible so as to root them out of the land. This they doubtless did by withholding from them their lawful wages, an example of which we find in James 5:4, and placing exorbitant taxes upon them and cheating them in the courts.

3. Beggared the loss of holy days (v. 5).

They were restless impatient because of the restrictions of those days. Though outwardly conforming to the Sabbath they were seeking all the while to commercialize it. Many today go to church for the sake of respectability while impatiently waiting for the day to pass in order to pursue their business.

4. Dishonesty in business dealings (v. 5).

(1) They made the ephah small. Their measures were less than the price paid for. (2) They made the shekel great. The shekel being the coin used to pay bills, the merchants put into circulation overweight shekels thus getting a higher price for their grain. The purchaser was thus cut on both sides. (3) Falsified their balances. Even the scales by which the gold and silver were weighed had been tampered with, making them guilty of cheating in three ways.

5. They bought the poor for silver (v. 6).

The poor were reduced to such poverty by the above means of cheating that they were obliged to sell themselves into slavery, even for a pair of shoes.

6. They sold the refuse of the wheat (v. 6).

In time of famine the grain was sold to the people that part of the wheat which was intended for the cattle.

III. God's Judgment Upon Them (Amos 8:7; cf. Isa. 5:9, 10).

God says "I will never forget." Not one act of greed and oppression will escape God's notice.

1. Many houses shall be desolate.

2. The land unproductive (v. 10).

IV. A Picture of a Rich Man and a Beggar (Luke 16:19-25).

1. Their lives. (1) The rich man. He had much goods. He operated in the highest society. (2) The beggar. He not only was poor, but helpless. He had no place in the social order.

2. Their deaths. (1) The rich man was taken by death. He seems to have had a great burial. (2) The beggar. There is nothing told as to what was done with his body when he died. Perhaps the very dogs who licked his sores fed upon it.

3. Their destinies. (1) The rich man lifted up his eyes in hell. The beggar was carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. (2) What determined them. The future life grows out of the present. The rich man was interested in the things of this life, so selfish that even when the poor beggar was laid at his gate he gave him no attention. He not only lacked the kindness of seeking opportunity to do good, but refused the "one opportunity" that was thrust before him.

(3) Their fixities. Their destinies were determined by their actions while alive, and after death there was no possibility of a change.

Lesson From Singing Birds.

In the deepest night of sorrow God gives us so much to be thankful for that we need never cease our singing. With all our wisdom and foresight, we can take a lesson in gladness and gratitude from the happy bird that sings all night as if the day were not long enough to tell its joy.—S. T. Coleridge.

Best to Trust.

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it, and happier to be sometimes cheated than not to trust.—Johnson.

If "Brevity is the Soul of Wit," These Senators Are a Scream!

The Trenton Times legislative reporter gets off his one "third place" in the Senate contest for brevity of speech has been won by Senator Reeves of Cumberland county. First and second places are occupied by Senator White of Burlington, who got first place last year and then beat himself out this year by going into first and simultaneously dropping into second. When he arose to support one of his bills a few weeks ago, Senator White said, "It's a good bill," and sat down. Last year he pulled this: "It's a library bill; libraries are good things. That's all I know about it." Now comes Senator Reeves for third place with: "There has been a lot of talk about this bill; it ought to be passed."

K. of C. Minstrels
An audience that jammed the P. O. S. of A. hall greeted the minstrel show given by the Knights of Columbus last Saturday evening.

The whole audience was kept in the merriest mood during the entertainment by the humor of the black-face people, while the playlet and special features were much appreciated. The entertainment was followed by a dance in which a large number participated.

The minstrels performed under the direction of Andy Pfaff. Michael McDermott was interloper, with Rex McCrosson and James Elliott as tambour and E. J. Joseph as Joseph Yearley as bones. In the circle were John Hullings, Anna Connell, Robert Woods, Mary Steedle, William Harrell, Elsie Hullings, Thomas Harrell, Mary McDermott, Harry Williams, Otis Myers, Anna Ford, Jack Graham, Nettie Elliott, Thomas Coffey, Abbie Woods, Jerry Smith, Elizabeth Williams and Milton McCrosson.

In part one Rex McCrosson sang "Dance o'Mania" and Miss Mary Steedle sang "A Mammy's Song." "Would You" was rendered by Ed Steedle, and "Dreaming Alone in the Twilight" by William Hyland. After the change of end men James Elliott sang "Timbuctoo," Abbie Woods rendered "That Old Irish Mother of Mine," and Joseph Yearley warbled about "My Gee Gee from the Fiji Isles." The finale "Good Bye" was by Miss Mary McDermott and company.

A "Be Flat" quartette composed of William Hyland, Rex McCrosson, Thomas Coffey and John Graham, made a hit.

The playlet, "An Old Plantation Night" was rendered by Andy Pfaff and other members of the cast in a tuncful manner.

Sleeping Sickness
Medical experts disagree in their conclusions as to the exact nature of sleeping sickness. Some forms of "sleeping sickness" are not unlike brain fever, while others indicate symptoms much similar to spinal meningitis. Physicians advise caution against undue exposure to the disease until more exact knowledge of its cause is ascertained.

A trial to recover damages resulting from an automobile collision was held before Judge Howard S. Troth in the fire house on Tuesday. Action was brought by Clement Horn, of Palmyra, against George Chant, of Beverly. The accident occurred at Palmyra two weeks ago. Horn sued for $200. The jury could not agree and another hearing will be held next Tuesday. The jury was composed of Francis Keating, Ross Mattis, L. F. Lowden, Morris Steedle, James McDonald, Layton Steedle, A. F. Deaton, Thos. Schneider, L. A. Finagan, William Faunce and Clarence Pippitt. Officer Miller served the papers in the case.

"Box and Cox"
During the P.H.A. dance last Tuesday night the chairman of the committee announced that next Tuesday there will be another entertainment. This opportunity came about unexpectedly and rather suddenly through Mr. Meyer, chairman of the entertainment committee. It is the Peerless Trio from the University of Pennsylvania, who have been touring with the play "Box and Cox," which is termed "an orriferous oddity in three reels and a stunner." This screaming comedy has made the biggest kind of a hit wherever presented, and the P. H. A. considers itself and its friends most fortunate in securing the boys for one presentation here and on the only date they have open. The characters in the order of disappearance are: Cox, P. H. Hall; Aunt Soucyer, B. C. Spille, and Box, S. M. Jackson.

The management announced that the curtain will be drawn at 8:15 promptly and that dancing will begin at 9:15. The orchestra that furnished such splendid music last Tuesday, has been engaged for this coming event. Play goes as well as dancers may expect to have a most enjoyable evening's entertainment.

Prize Winning Essays in Ferry Contest

The Tacony-Palmyra Ferry Company has been much impressed by the essays written by the pupils of the Palmyra school on the subject "What the Ferry Will Do for Palmyra." In view of the excellence of the compositions and their educational value, the company wishes to give the winning essays greater publicity and consequently will publish them at the company's expense, along with the picture of the writer. One essay and picture will be printed each week until all six have been published.

What the Ferry Will Do for Palmyra
By Maurice McCrosson

Good Dame Fortune indeed smiled kindly on that little town when she decreed that Palmyra was to have a ferry. This new institution, promising to be vitally important to the economic future of the town, is known as the Palmyra-Tacony Ferry Company. A dream of the past has become a reality of the present. The bonds are on the market, the plans have been definitely formulated, and already work has begun on the operations.

There were doubtless many who were opposed to a ferry coming to our shore to mar the beauty of the banks. The prospect of some foreign element was likewise distasteful to them.

Let us, however, before entering into a discussion of these points, consider the facts as we know them, then let us conjecture the possible results.

The Ferry Company, realizing the pride taken in the river bank by the residents and the local inhabitants, feel it their duty to make this improvement as attractive as possible.

Accordingly they have arranged to erect a typical English ferry house, which will be a credit to the town. The architecture and the picture of the concrete road and walk. They intend building up the bank along the river's edge, fortifying it with a stone wall similar to the one at Riverton. Surely this will be a credit to the town.

Let us more rightly than the present unimproved embankment, enhancing rather than degrading the surrounding scenery.

To insure safe departure and arrival of its patrons the Company is having constructed two excellent boats of the latest type, costing $125,000 apiece. These will run every fifteen minutes.

Many motorists bound for seashore points coming from the northern section of the city and state will find the ferry extremely convenient, and this will make the ferry a great asset to the town.

On the other hand, manufacturing from the crowded section of Tacony will come to the western section of Palmyra, where the water is of the same convenience of a railroad and have to pay but about half the price for the ground. This will help build up the vacant lands of the town.

Then again the farmers can bring their produce in less than half the time, to market across the river. These persons passing through the town will be a great help to the town.

Palmyra citizens and those from this vicinity will demand Palmyra be made a junction for the fast New York and Atlantic City express.

There will be a great many vehicles that will be able to get to the ferry company a great advantage when they might otherwise have crossed at Burlington or Camden.

Readers will necessarily have to be improved, because of the increase of traffic, so there will be good roads leading to and from the town and ferry.

Concluding our remarks we have a promising institution boosting the town, making it talked about, stimulating its local business, promoting civic improvement, spreading Palmyra's popularity.

All true Palmyrians should help boost the ferry Buy Stock!—adv.

CITIZENSHIP DEFINED

Senator Runyon Says It Is "Least of Self and Greatest Giving for Others"

Senator William N. Runyon gave a most inspiring address before a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association and its friends last evening in the school auditorium.

The Senator started out by saying that he hesitated to speak before such a body because it embodies so much of both the ideal and the practical.

The Parent-Teacher Association, he said, was a vital expression of the need for greater co-operation between the home and the school. He briefly traced the growth of better understanding and conditions following the organization of Parent-Teacher Associations. He said that most of the burden of these organizations had been borne by the women, and that the men, as fathers of the children, had just as much responsibility in such matters as the women, and that they could be of great help in achieving the aims and purposes of the associations.

Teachers Do Better Work
Encouragement and a sympathetic understanding between parent and teacher is essential to the best work of the teacher, and to a proper appreciation of school problems on the part of the parents. Parent-Teacher Associations had aided greatly in bringing about this understanding.

One country has many difficult problems to meet, and none is of greater importance than the school problem; for what is the future except the citizens of the future? The task of properly preparing the children of today to become the citizens of tomorrow rests with us, and ours is the responsibility of seeing that this preparation is well and properly made.

American Citizenship Costs Something
American citizenship, the Senator said, had assumed an importance that was unknown to men of middle age—to the men who were too young to have fought in the Civil War and too old to have fought in the World War.

To these young men American citizenship means something they have suffered and fought for, and for which their friends are now making the supreme sacrifice. While the vast majority of American citizens did not have the opportunity to defend American citizenship and its importance as these young men did, it is their duty to feel the responsibility of doing their part, and to do that which is within his power with the same unflinching courage and devotion that was shown by our boys in the service.

Importance of the Individual
The problems brought to the fore by the war were not settled by the armistice. Dangers as grave, and perils even more menacing, than the armed hosts that were crushed on the battlefields of France are to be met and overcome today in every part of our land, and there is need for every citizen to feel the responsibility of doing his part. Many said, the Senator, do not realize their importance in this matter. They feel that it comes to one individual come to one man in just the same way. Are you one else will not! It is a serious personal responsibility which cannot be delegated and should not be shirked.

Many of the opportunities to protect and preserve our citizenship that come to one individual come to no one else in just the same way. Are we rendering a good account of our citizenship if we allow our faculties and abilities to rust out? Citizenship does not mean just voting—it means taking an active part in every movement making for social, civic and governmental betterment.

Our Duty to the Stranger
In the early days of our State, citizenship was comparatively simple. Today it has become most complex, and many forces are working from the inside for its overthrow. With the growth of our industries many people came from foreign countries, to the land of the free and of unlimited opportunity, with the hope and expectation of becoming good citizens.

These strangers expected to be made welcome. In many cases we found ourselves too busy to engrossed in our own affairs to see to it that these strangers within our gates were taught by precept and example to understand the ways and customs of our land, and to appreciate the priceless value of its citizenship.

Pre-War Problems Still Remain
It was hoped that when the war was over a greater spirit of tolerance would prevail among the diverse peoples of our population, but it has been found that the same old barriers of wealth, position and class still remain.

Golf Season in Full Swing at the Country Club

With an increased membership and committees very much "on the job" the Riverton Country Club is planning a busy golf and tennis season. The unusual warm weather in March brought the fairways and putting greens of the golf course along rapidly and the beginning of April found them in fine shape.

During the past winter the greens committee has been busy rebuilding the surface of most of the putting greens, and under the able work of Robert Latta, greenskeeper, they are now in better condition than for several years past.

The club now has 150 active golf members—a greater number than at any other time in its history, new members having come from Moorestown, Merchantville and other neighboring towns, attracted by the fine course, which experts have pronounced second to none in the Philadelphia district, and by the improved locker and club house facilities.

Duncan Cuthbert, professional, has never been so busy at his little golf shop making and repairing clubs and in giving lessons to golf beginners. His pupils include many ladies who are taking up the game for the first time.

The handicap committee has mapped out an interesting schedule for the season. The first event was held last Saturday. It was a "kicker's" handicap tournament in which the players were permitted to select any handicap they pleased. A number was drawn from a hat and the man whose net score, based on the handicap, he chose, tallied with the lucky number, was supposed to be the victor. It happened that four men in this way got the fortunate number (81) and were tied for the prize. They were William Bell, Russell Perkins, Edward Wood and J. E. Murdock.

The officers and directors of the Country Club are as follows:

Walter H. Lippincott, president; Arthur Dorrance, vice president; Harry H. Murray, secretary; Edwin S. Parry, treasurer; F. Wallis Armstrong, David Baird, Jr., Charles T. Brown, James S. Coale, Samuel S. Daniels, J. Carl DeLaCour, F. W. D'Olier, N. Myers Fittler, R. L. Freeman, J. C. W. Frishmuth, Jr., F. Stanley Groves, Jr., Charles C. Miller, Dr. C. S. Mills, Joseph L. Thomas, Oliver G. Willits, E. S. Wood, Walter K. Woolman.

Palmyra-Riverton Shoot

The trap-shooting match between the Palmyra and Riverton Gun Clubs will be held Saturday. The Yacht Club is still prepared to handle a banner crowd and fences and scaffolding have been put up to protect the gunners and see they are not interfered with. Every shot in both towns will be on hand to do his best. At least two score gunners will be firing from the traps. Both teams are primed for a nice little argument. Palmyra feels confident they run a splendid chance of spilling the beans for Riverton, but Riverton cannot see it that way. It is not only a dual meet between two rival towns for the championship of South Jersey, but it is also probably the last time this season the gunners will shoot.

T. W. Sheffield, of Hollywood, California, is the latest addition to the swimming field. Captain Sheffield has made many records in England, Canada and California. He is 47 years of age and declares he will show these youngsters how to swim in the tempest event. Plans are being made for the big swimming carnival here on July 9th.

Rummage Sale

For the Visiting Nurse and Home Service Committees Saturday, April 30th, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. in the gas office on Broad street, Riverton.

Please think of us when you are doing your spring sorting. Perhaps when re-arranging your garden you might spare some plants or flower and vegetable seedlings. All articles may be sent to the gas office Friday, April 29th, or will be collected by notifying committee.

On behalf of the committee,
MARTHA McI. BIDDLE.

Porch Club

An executive meeting of the Porch Club will be held in the club house at 10 a. m. Tuesday, April 26th. There will be no meeting that afternoon as the cantata, "Sleeping Beauty" will be given in the evening at 8 o'clock in the public school by the Riverton Choral.

School News

The girls of the sixth and seventh grades are making their uniforms for domestic science next year. The eighth grade girls are making some clothing for themselves.

At assembly Friday morning the fifth grade boys gave a play entitled "William Tell."

Miss Lucas, the physical training teacher, is instructing the seventh and eighth grade girls for a May pole dance. It is to be given at the field meet on Friday, May 13th.

The children are marching up and down stairs much better. The Victrola is played so the children can get the step. Any person that is out of step is sent back upstairs until he can come down in step with the music. This plan works very well and the children seem to be gradually marching better.

Starving Chinese Eat Basket Fibres

"But they are not making baskets out of reeds and grass now," said Mrs. Crow. "They are trying to support life by eating them. In some regions they no longer have even this poor sustenance to turn to. I am haunted by the memory of those dying people I saw from the railway train. The tragedy of the scene was deepened by the way they looked at us—always with a pathetic smile, never in resentment. It is the Chinese nature to be patient under the deepest adversity. But I think if those people had wept as we passed them in the train I should not be so haunted by their misery."

P. O. S. of A.

To the members of Camp No. 23: On Monday evening, April 25th, Camp No. 23 will give its second annual entertainment to Post Rodgers of the American Legion.

One of our members has offered a prize of a ten dollar gold piece for the brother bringing in the largest number of acceptable candidates before June 30th, providing the number is not less than five, and in addition to this the camp offers a five dollar gold piece to every member of the camp who brings in over five and fails to win the first prize.

The twenty-eighth anniversary of the camp will be held during the week of May 15th. A special program will be provided this year so that all the various proclivities of the large membership will be given a part.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

The regular weekly meeting of the Girl Reserves, Y. W. C. A. of Palmyra high school, met at the parish house on Monday of this week. Miss Taylor, the county secretary, was present and the following officers were elected: president, Eleanor Gorman; secretary, Amanda Hutchins; treasurer, Margaret Giberson; publicity committee, Mildred Wimer and Hilda Lippincott.

The following plan was made out for the next seven weeks: April 25th, picnic and marshmallow toast at the sand banks; May 2nd, plan for visit to Cinnaminson Home to entertain invalids; May 25th, learn to make sealing wax beads; June 6th, discussion on "Ideal Girl"; June 13th, canoe picnic.

All girls over fourteen that would like to join the club, come to the parish house at 3.30 on Monday.

If you want to go on the picnic on Monday, bring your supper and plenty of marshmallows. Wear middieys and skirts.

Those who have been called to serve on the grand jury from this section are: William H. Cook, Palmyra; Fred P. Hemphill, Riverton; Henry H. Lippincott, Cinnaminson; Allen McWhorter, Riverton; and Charles M. Biddle, Riverton.

On the panel of petit jurors the following names are found: Maurice Conrow, Cinnaminson; Eugene J. Bush, Riverton; Robert W. Knight, Riverton; Otto Sauer, Riverton; Arthur Hunt, Palmyra; Harry A. Kennedy, Palmyra; Edward H. Jessup, Cinnaminson.

Impossible

A red headed boy applied for a job in a butcher shop.
"How much will you give me?"
"Three dollars a week, but what can you do to make yourself useful around a butcher shop?"
"Anything."
"Well, be specific. Can you dress a chicken?"
"Not on three dollars a week."

New Site for Bank

The contract for the new home of the Palmyra National Bank was let last Friday to Hugh B. Miller, of Edgewater Park, and ground for the operation was broken at noon Tuesday. The excavation is now nearing completion.

Coincidence with the letting of the contract was the announcement of a change in site. Instead of the lot next to P. O. S. of A. hall, which was purchased some time ago by the bank with the intention of using it for the site of a new building, the bank's future home will be at Broad and Morgan avenue.

The new site is on the broad lawn of the McCloskey property. The bank late last week completed a deal for the purchase of the entire property. The residence will be sold again. The building will be of colonial type, tapestry brick, one story high. It will be 50 feet in length and 36 feet wide, with the interior ceiling 18 feet high. Windows will flood the entire building with light.

A single low step at the entrance will bring the patron to the large "L" shaped public space. At the right will be the cashier's office, separated by a low counter partition. Directly in front will be the receiving and paying tellers' windows and around the corner of the "L" will be the Christmas savings fund window and the bookkeeping window.

The vault will be in the rear of the structure, completely separated by passageways from the walls of the building. The vault, officials announce, will be the most modern in construction and equipped in the county. Railroad rails, weighing 80 pounds to the foot, built up log cabin style, will be embedded in 18-inch walls of solid concrete. Inside the concrete will be a heavy steel lining. The door will be 10 inches thick, of solid steel, and weighing ten tons. It is manufactured by the largest manufacturer of safes in the country.

Bank officials assert that this vault will provide protection to deposits on a par with that of the largest banking houses and will enable the bank to obtain the lowest insurance rates granted. Two hundred safe deposit boxes of assorted sizes are to be installed, along with three banker's chests of most improved style. In the basement under the main vault will be a storage vault for the keeping of the bulkier valuables of patrons.

A new feature will be two coupon booths at the extreme rear of the public space on the left and opening off the passageway to the vault. Patrons, after obtaining their safety deposit boxes may enter the booths to arrange their papers and clip their coupons in privacy.

The directors' room will be located behind the coupon rooms in the rear left hand corner of the building. It is the hope of the bank officials that the building will be ready for occupancy on the first anniversary of the bank's founding, August 16.

Although when the Palmyra bank was first started the officials put off the idea of a bank building for two or three years, and contented themselves with renting the present office, the remarkable growth of the bank not only made the present small quarters inadequate, but also justified the expenditure of the money needed to build.

The bank's deposits have passed the quarter million mark and each controller's report has shown a healthy increase in deposits and resources.

DOGS KILL CHICKENS

All Canines Must Be Registered to Raise Money to Pay Damages

The Palmyra township fathers are having their periodical difficulty over dogs, chiefly dogs with appetites for poultry and hares.

Whenever there is a bill for dead chickens and rabbits to pay, then comes up the questions of registration and taxation to provide the funds to pay damage.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jermon, of Delaware avenue, reported nine hens killed by dogs. J. F. Sandoz, of West Fifth street, also had a bill to present on the same grounds, while Albert E. Fry sent in a bill of $57 for hares killed. Several other parties are also said to have suffered similar losses from marauding dogs.

Chairman Davies informed the complainants that the bills could not be paid until the end of the year. In the meantime measures are to be taken to force the registration of all dogs in town.

Regarding the taxation of dogs in addition to the registration, there has been some difference of opinion among local officials. Assessor Shade said he assessed all dog owners for the tax, but that the tax bills did not carry the item. Mr. Davies said he was in doubt about the matter and would have to refer it to the solicitor.

Gummers Make Dishes Dance

Nelson Wallace appeared to enter a complaint against the Palmyra Gun Club, which had rented grounds near his home and are holding shoots every Saturday afternoon. Mr. Wallace said the reports resembled a regular cannonade, made the dishes dance about in the cupboard and made it impossible for the family to stay at home on Saturday afternoons.

Mr. Hinchman seemed to think the complaint exaggerated and none of the committee were disposed to prosecute. Mr. Wallace asked any relief.

Albert S. C. Tomes appeared to protest against his name being included in the delinquent tax list for 1920, inasmuch as he did not live in Palmyra during that time.

Phone Company Spelling Trees

Albert H. Hodson reported that the phone company had been cutting limbs off trees on Morgan avenue to make room for the cable and that several trees were dying. Mr. Hodson urged that the phone company be compelled to put the cable underground. The matter was referred to the shade tree commission.

Railroad Imposes New "Tax"

Stanley Craft, who lives on West Broad street south of the railroad, reported that to have a water service pipe laid from his house under the railroad to the mains in Broad street, the railroad company wanted a payment of $15.00 for legal fees, permits, etc., and an annual rental of $2.50, with a contract obliging Mr. Craft to remove the service pipe within twenty-four hours if so notified. Mr. Craft said that in the past no such charges had been levied by the railroad. Solicitor Beckenbach was instructed to take up the matter with the railroad.

A petition protesting against the laying of a sidewalk on West Fifth street was declined by Chairman Davies, because a time or protest at a later date is provided in the ordinance.

The ordinance, providing for sidewalks on Cinnaminson avenue between Rowland and Henry, and on Fifth street from Delaware avenue to Market, was passed on first and second readings. A hearing will be held Tuesday, May 3rd.

Ordinance to Protect Sidewalks

Another ordinance relating to the use of streets and sidewalks and placing obstructions thereon was also passed on first and second reading. This latter embodies several regulations which are expected to be very beneficial in protecting sidewalks and curbs from damage due to wagon-driving over them and other misuses.

To Arrest Sidewalk Riders

Overseer of Streets Land is to be empowered to make arrests in a movement to break up riding on sidewalks of improved streets.

It was announced that the townships is applying for the purchase of the electric rights at the foot of Cinnaminson avenue.

The following bills were ordered paid: Public Service $413.62; W. T. Paxson, gravel 22.80; Phone 3.78; Rent of city hall 12.50; Wagner, Taylor, Edison Co., bonds for township officials 90.00; League Municipalities 16.00; L. Samson, poor order 2.00; John W. Shade, health dept. 27.65; Weekly News, advertising 87.52; L. A. Weideman, coal 14.50; A. J. Beckenbach, legal serv. 65.27

High school athletes had a bad time this week. On Tuesday they journeyed to Woodbury with a crippled baseball team and were beaten 14-4. On Wednesday Collinswood took the locals' scalp in a track meet by the score of 54 to 22. The best feature for Palmyra was the brilliant bowling match by goal, the young half-miler and by the relay team, which won its second race.

Free Delivery Postponed

Although May 1st is the date that has been set for the beginning of the free mail delivery service for Palmyra, Postmaster Cook has been notified that unless 85 per cent of the houses to be served have complied with requirements regarding house numbers and receptacles 15 days before that time, the service will have to be further postponed.

Mr. Cook has been making a canvass of the town and finds that most all houses have numbers, but a great many have not yet furnished the required receptacles.

It is urged that wherever possible the receptacles be placed on front fences or gates. Where there are not gates or fences and there are several steps to ascend to the front door, it is suggested that the box be attached to a porch column in such position that the carrier can reach it without mounting the steps.

Upon enabling the carriers to get over their routes in time may depend.

Palmyra to Build $150,000 School

On Tuesday evening at the meeting of the Palmyra Parent-Teacher Association, L. L. Jackson, assistant commissioner of Education of the State of New Jersey, gave an able address on "The Up-to-Date High School."

Mr. Jackson said in part: "If the school means anything, it means progress. I must impress upon you, if the press is correct, on your determination to build for the future. It takes nerve and determination to build for the future. But if you do, you will be respected and lauded by the patrons of the school."

"Speaking of investments of money in education: There is only one way to invest money to get a real return for the investment and that is to build for the future. Dr. Claxton, the national educator, says there are only three factors in education: first, natural resources—the problem is to utilize them. Second, natural ability of the people. No race has increased its native ability. Third, its acquired ability, which goes into the creation of wealth."

"I am no prophet but would like to venture just a bit. We have passed the high point of the cost of living. Postponing the time of building is not practical. Every board is justified in setting a date. Millions and millions of dollars have been set aside for school building purposes, but delayed because the contractors are afraid. When all these building operations begin, the great demand will not lessen the cost of materials."

"The high school game began about a century ago. Higher education until that time had been developed by the clergy. Schools were taught by the clergy. The University of Princeton started in a parsonage. It was taught in the rectory of a church. Later our high schools were only preparatory schools for college. Only five per cent of the people are a contribution to education. Ninety-five per cent are a contribution to other vocations. The five per cent is not to be discounted for they furnish the leadership which is the product of the schools. But is it just to leave the whole ninety-five per cent to take care of themselves? What does that mean for the high school? It means that the high school must provide the education."

"Thirty per cent of the women of the county are in domestic service. That spells kitchen service, sewing, and drawing. Why is this not important?"

"In men between the ages of 21 and 45, forty-five per cent of them are in the mechanical arts, 10 per cent are in commerce, 10 per cent in clerical positions, 10 per cent are in transportation, 5 per cent in personal duties, 3 per cent are teachers or professional men and one per cent are in public service."

"The industrial side of life should receive just as much attention as the commercial. If we want the industrial side in the Palmyra school, we must have four track lines: academic, industrial, commercial and agricultural. Are we not going to turn out brick layers or seamstresses? Then it is a waste of time if the work is poorly directed."

"I agree with Secretary Hughes that we will never succeed unless we recognize the right of the workers. Secretary Hughes' fundamentals are: First,—Protection of life. Second—Sanctity of contract. Third—Possession of property. Do you know of anyone who can get a home or a car without a right of free labor? Fourth—The right to sell his services to whom he wants to sell them."

"Another great factor is co-operation, getting together. Some of the by-products of the modern four-track high school courses are:

"Children will not leave school at the ninth or tenth grade period, slaughtering the attendance as they do now with only the academic course."

"Somebody thought it funny that Ole Bull, the great violinist, was so restless that he jumped out of the window. We must have an outlet for all kinds of activity."

"The industrial course will provide for such activities. Both the Riverton and Palmyra school boards were well represented at the meeting."

At the close of Mr. Jackson's address, Mr. Weart, president of the Palmyra School Board, announced that it is the intention of the board to erect a $150,000 building with a course of study including domestic science and manual training. The location is to be determined later. Mr. Weart asked the co-operation of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The State pays half of the cost of the equipment for the new courses. A large number of tennis devotees attended the meeting in the Field Club rooms Thursday evening to form rules for the playing season. The most important action taken was an agreement that all members should pay their $5.00 fee before starting play this season, and each will be provided with a metal disk for his racket to signify that he is a good standing. The courts will be opened on April 30th.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the first week in May—May 4, 5 and 6, have been designated clean-up days, at which time accumulations of rubbish, if placed on the curbs in receptacles, will be picked up under the direction of Overseer Land and carted away. It is hoped that citizens will not take undue advantage of this and expect matter to be hauled away that should have been taken care of at their own expense, such as the winter's accumulation of ashes, etc.

Ice Cream

WE KNOW HOW TO MAKE IT

We have manufactured Ice Cream for years, and after trying out other makes we have found to our own satisfaction and to the satisfaction of our increasing customers, that there is no Ice Cream to equal Pine's Own Make. We tried out Breyer's and Colonial because of the sensational claims they made for them. We are satisfied after trying these two makes a fair trial, that we can make better Ice Cream and sell it at the same price that they retail theirs for.

Cities and Towns Need More Money, So Do Railways

Municipalities, like street railways, charge rates, but instead of calling them "fares" they call them "taxes."

And municipal costs show that New Jersey communities cannot get along with the same amount of money that used to be sufficient to run their business for a year.

Public schools, fire, police and health protection—all departments of government—cost more than they did a few years ago —because the workers must be paid more, and materials and supplies cost very much more

Even with the most efficient local government this is the case. It is unescapable under present conditions if a municipality is to meet the demands upon it and keep pace with progress.

The street railway is in an exactly similar position. It must pay double to keep its service up to requirements. If it can't get the money it can't "deliver the goods."

And we are asking only what the well-governed city or town is compelled to ask for—a rate that will cover the cost of properly serving you. That, and nothing else.

DRY AND UTILITIES LAWS IN FRONT

MANY VETOES OVERRIDDEN

Physicians' and Women's Bills, Jitney Regulation and Election Law Changes Made Laws—Valuation Bill Changes.

Trenton.—In looking back over the work accomplished by the one hundred and forty-fifth legislature of New Jersey, two issues that took precedence over all others and were discussed by almost everybody in all sections of the state were settled. They were the public utility question and the enactment of the law providing for rigid enforcement of prohibition.

While it is true that the senate twice declined to adopt the resolution calling for ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution by New Jersey, it did repeal the 3 1/2 per cent alcoholic content beer law which was placed on the statute books a year ago. This law was forced through the 1920 legislature by Governor Edwards so he could make good a pledge to the people of the state when he was elected. Oddly, though, when the bill repealing this law was laid before him this year he did not hesitate to sign it.

Notwithstanding the governor's veto, the overwhelming Republican majority forced the enactment of the prohibition enforcement measure of Mrs. Jennie C. Van Ness of the Essex assembly delegation, and it is now Chapter 108 of the laws of 1921. The companion measure of the Van Ness act, providing a scheme for the issuance of permits for the use of wine for sacramental, medicinal and non-beverage purposes, was also made law despite the governor's disapproval.

Failure of Ratification
The resolution ratifying the prohibition amendment ran into a stone wall in the senate which it could not penetrate, and it died there. It passed the assembly January 24, thirteen days after it had been introduced. The same day it was sent over to the senate and referred to committee. The following week it was reported favorably, given a second reading and under suspension of the rules was placed on third reading.

But the votes the Anti-Saloon League thought would carry it through were not there. Ten senators voted for it and eight against. Senators Barber, Martens and Kays, all Democrats and coming from supposed dry counties, remained silent when their names were called. Senator Case of Somerset, Republican, who the dry forces thought would support the resolution, voted against it. The dry forces made their second try to have the senate pass the resolution Thursday, next to the last day of the session, but there was no change in the position of any of the senators then, and the vote was the same, with the some three senators failing to respond when the roll was called.

Utilities Commission Battle
Creation of the present Public Utilities Commission is one of the most important acts of the legislature. Last October the governor removed the old Public Utilities Commission on charges of neglect of duty and misconduct in office at the instance of Jersey City. Shortly after he nominated five other candidates for the board, but the senate in special session refused to confirm them.

When the legislature organized again this year the governor again sent to the senate the same five nominees for the Utility Board, and once more the Republicans refused to confirm them. A bill abolishing the old board and creating the new one was presented by Senator Wallworth of Camden. It passed and, although it was vetoed by the governor, it was re-passed. The governor nominated former Congressman James A. Hamill of Jersey City and Joseph S. Hoff of Princeton, both Democrats, and former Mayor Harry Bacharach of Atlantic City, Republican.

Both Hamill and Hoff were rejected. The governor then sent in the names of former Judge Harry V. Osborne of Essex and John J. Treacy of Jersey City, who were confirmed.

Valuation Bill Changes
More trouble was caused in both the senate and house over Senate 77, the Mackay valuation bill, than any other introduced at the session. It passed the senate February 7 after it was amended with just enough votes to get through. Senator Parry, who made his bow for the first time in the legislative halls as representative from Essex, fought the bill which, it was claimed, made the Public Utilities Commission accept as final the valuations fixed by the firm of Ford, Bacon & Davis, engineers, engaged by the state under the 1920 Allen valuation act. He pleaded with the senate to adopt his measure, Senate 18, which would make the report of these engineers only part of the evidence to be considered by the Utilities Commission in making rates.

Twice the Mackay bill passed the house. Before it was approved the first time, March 29, it was changed to incorporate the Parry plan and other amendments. Recently the bill was placed back on third reading for the purpose of further amendment.

Somewhat inserted the word "present" value in it. The trolley interests were charged with having been responsible for the change and it was claimed that it destroyed the purpose of the bill. It passed the house in that form and when it reached the senate the so-called "foker" was discovered and the senators refused to concur in the amendments.

A conference was held between committees from both houses. It was agreed to eliminate the word "present" and the measure then went through the two houses without opposition.

One of the important laws made this year was the passage over the governor's veto of House 270, which places the operation of new jitneys under the regulation of the Public Utilities Commission. Senate 274, one of Mr. Parry's bills, which would have amended the utility act by including the Public Service Corporation, was referred to the Judiciary Committee and did not see the light of day after that.

Election Law Changes
Legislation providing a new method of electing city commissioners in Newark and Jersey City was put through the legislature. The measure providing for a state police was also enacted into law, and the two bills authorizing New Jersey to participate in the development of the Port of New York. All of these measures were vetoed by the governor, but it didn't make any difference, as the Republicans sent them back over the route in the senate and house and then filed them with the secretary of state, when they became law.

A bill was introduced by Senator Parry which provides a simple method for New Jersey to acquire control of the Morris Canal in condemnation proceedings. Opposition to it developed, and in the closing hours of the session a commission inquiry was substituted.

Never before have the physicians of the state been so active in the legislative halls as they were this year when they succeeded in having passed a bill abolishing the State Board of Chiropractors, which was created last year, and adding one chiropractor to the State Board of Medical Examiners. The physicians supported several other medical bills.

More legislation dealing with women was introduced this year and enacted into law than there has been probably at any other session. This legislation deals with women on juries, women electors, women members of the State Board of Education, State Board of Health, women overseers of the poor, etc., limiting hours of employment in industry.

Jersey Aids Young Farmers
New Jersey is doing things to help the state's farmers which might be imitated elsewhere with profit.

Residents of the corn belt of the middle West will be surprised to learn that a New Jersey farmer, inspired by the State Board of Agriculture's appeal for better crops, has grown 142 bushels of corn from selected seed on an acre of land no richer than other areas in the East. This yield would excite comment if produced on the fattest black lands of Illinois, Iowa or Kansas; and it is worthy of the attention of every agriculturist in the Union. What this New Jersey farmer has done can be accomplished by others if the right sort of seed is planted under favorable conditions. Fertilization and the preparation of the ground are important factors in the securing of bumper returns of any product, and these come the element of proper cultivation while the crop is growing.

The young folks in the rural communities of New Jersey are being educated in a way to make them provident and thrifty. Not only are they being taught the elements of live stock production through the organization of boys and girls clubs, but the State Board of Agriculture is making it possible for those with little money or none at all to secure funds with which to purchase original stocks. A limit of $100 will be placed on the expenditure for calves and young swine, while $50 will be the maximum in the case of poultry.

The movement owes much of its success to the efforts of U. S. Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, president of the State Board of Agriculture, who started the fund with a loan of $10,000. Through his efforts a loan of $20,000 was secured from Julius Forstmann. The indorsement of the country club agent in all that is necessary for any New Jersey boy or girl to embark in the production of pure bred live stock or fowl.

Dignity is lent the plan by enrolling the members of these clubs in the New Jersey Junior Breeders' Association, which it is expected will later become affiliated with the various breeders' associations which are doing much for the cause of pure bred stock throughout the Union.

There has been much talk about wornout Eastern farms and about the inability of Eastern farmers to compete with the farmers of the West and South. As a matter of fact Eastern farms are or can be made as productive as the farms of any other section of the country. What is needed is interested young folks to make them profitable and attractive.

No better method could be adopted to keep the boys and girls of New Jersey on the farm than that which is now in operation.

State Child Hygiene Service
Dr. Julius Levy, consultant of the State Bureau of Child Hygiene, announced that a child supervision plan has been established in every county of the state through a home nursing service, "keep well" clinics and active supervision of midwives and children's boarding houses.

The cities of Trenton, Passaic, Rahway, Woodbridge and Kearny have recently authorized local child hygiene work, appropriating from $1,000 to $10,000 for this purpose.

Had No Experience.
An artist was showing a young woman over his studio. After she had critically examined all the pictures, she remarked:

"I notice several sunsets among your works, but not a single sunrise. How's that?"

The artist, who was rather noted for his bohemian habits, blushed a little at the question, and then stammered:

"You see, it's this way. To tell the truth, the reason I've never painted a sunrise is because I've never up at that time."

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN!

The Middle West was made by Automobile manufacturing. There are over 6,000,000 automobiles produced in DETROIT each year.

Do you realize what this means to Detroit?

Cleveland produces over 3,000,000 complete cars per year, also half of the parts that go to make up the different cars for the United States.

Why should you automobile users allow either Detroit or Cleveland to produce your car?

There has been many a person made wealthy that supported the Western Automobile concerns.

Do you realize we are going to do some real things right here?

We are going to put Palmyra and Riverton on the New Jersey map when it comes to Automobile manufacturing.

Just Think!

Jesuits Brought Sugar Cane.
Sugar cane was introduced into Louisiana from Santo Domingo by the Jesuits in 1701. The first refined sugar was made by Antonio Meneses in 1702, but the first refined sugar on a commercial scale was made in 1794 by Etienne De Bore. The plantations of these two planters now form a part of the city of New Orleans.

BUICK

THESE two telegrams, one from the far East, the other from the far West, are typical of the many telegrams which are being received from every section of the country asking for immediate shipment of Buick cars and for an increase in dealers allotments.

They prove in a most conclusive manner the demand for Buick cars—a demand which is particularly gratifying now when motor car values are being scrutinized as never before and when final sales are consummated upon the basis of greater relative values and actual demonstrated worth.

Active buying, too, is stimulated by a realization of the periodical shortage of Buick cars and the desire to insure Spring deliveries by the immediate placing of orders.

A good indication of the demand for Buick on the Atlantic Coast.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Here are authentic figures from the Ford factory at Detroit. They show you just how many Ford cars and trucks have been built each month since January 1, 1921 and how many have been sold to retail customers, in the United States.

	Produced	Delivered to Retail Customers
JANUARY	29,883	57,208
FEBRUARY	35,305	63,603
MARCH	61,886	87,221
Total Production	127,074	Total Retail Sales 208,032

showing that actual sales for the first three months of 1921 exceeded production by 80,958 Ford cars and trucks!

April requisitions already specify 107,719 additional cars and trucks and the estimated April output of the factory and assembly plants combined calls for only 90,000!

These facts clearly show that the demand for Ford products is growing much faster than manufacturing facilities to produce and were it not for the dealers' limited stocks, which are now being rapidly depleted, many more customers would have been compelled to wait for their cars. It will be only a matter of weeks, therefore, until a big surplus of orders will prevent anything like prompt deliveries.

If you would be sure of having your Ford car or truck when you want it, you should place your order now. Don't delay. Phone us or drop us a card.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. F. M. FITZWATER, D. D.,
Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago,
(C. 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR MAY 1

BIBLE TEACHINGS ABOUT EDUCATION.

LESSON TEXT—Deut. 6:4-9, Prov. 8:13-18; Luke 2:13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore get wisdom.—Prov. 4:7.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Prov. 1:7-9; 4:1-13; Col. 3:1; Jas. 1:8; II Pet. 1:8.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Boy Jesus With the Teachers.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Pleasing God in School.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Value of an Education.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Making Education Christian.

I. The Excellency of Wisdom (Prov. 8:13-18).

Let no man confuse this "wisdom" with the so-called wisdom resulting from an education in the arts, sciences and philosophy taught in the modern colleges and universities. The way to have this in its true sense is to get it from the Bible, God's revealed Word (Psa. 119:98-100). Wisdom personified means Christ (Prov. 8). All real wisdom leads to Christ, who is made unto us wisdom, righteousness, and sanctification (I Cor. 1:30). Wisdom is desirable because:
1. Of its inherent qualities (vv. 13-15). (1) "Better than the merchandise of silver and the gain of gold" (v. 14). Men set great value upon these, but they are corruptible and shall soon pass away. (2) "More precious than rubies" (v. 15). Though among the most valuable among the precious stones, the ruby is of secondary value when compared with the wisdom of God. (3) Of immeasurable value (v. 15). The best things that the human heart can desire are not worthy to compare in value unto wisdom.

2. It ministers to our earthly welfare (vv. 16-18). (1) "Length of days is in her right hand" (v. 16). Gentleness tends to long life. (2) "In her left hand riches and honor" (v. 16). "Riches and honor" may not always be according to the world's standard. (3) "Her ways are ways of pleasantness" (v. 17). The notion that the life of the Christian is hard and that pleasure does not enter into his experience is all wrong. The way of the transgressor is hard (Prov. 13:15). Godliness is profitable unto all things, having the promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come (I Tim. 4:8). (4) "All her paths are peace" (v. 17). There is no peace to the wicked. "The wicked are like the troubled sea when it cannot rest, whose waters cast up mire and dirt" (Isa. 57:20, 21). (5) "She is a tree of life to them that lay hold upon her" (v. 18). Those who eat of the tree of life, Christ, have eternal life (Gen. 3:22; ch. John 6:68). (6) "Happy is everyone that retaineth her" (v. 18). The only true happiness that can be had is in laying hold on wisdom in God's Word.

II. Israel's Responsibility With Reference to the Statutes of the Lord (Deut. 6:4-9).

1. Central truths to be taught (v. 4, 5). (1) Unity of God. "The Lord our God is one Lord." This was a testimony against the polytheism of that day. He is God alone, therefore to worship another is sin. (2) Man's supreme obligation (v. 5). God should be loved with all the heart, soul, and might, because He is God alone.
2. How these truths are to be kept alive (vv. 6-9). The place for God's Word is in the heart. In order that it may be in the heart (1) "teach diligently to thy children" (v. 7). The most important part of a child's education is that given in the Word of God. (2) Talk of them in the home (v. 7). How blessed is that home where God's Word is the topic of conversation. (3) Talk of them when walking with our children and friends (v. 7). (4) Talk of them when retiring for the night (v. 7). The last thing upon which the mind should rest before going to sleep should be God and His truth. (5) Talk of them when rising in the morning (v. 7). How fitting that God should speak to us the first thing when we awake. (6) Bind them upon thine hand (v. 8). This was literally done by the Jews. (7) Write them upon the posts of the house and on the gates (v. 8).
III. The Growth of Jesus (Luke 2:52).

1. Bodily stature. Being really human, His bodily size and strength increased.

2. Increased in wisdom. His mental equipment enlarged on any normal human being. His fountain of knowledge increased as He came in contact with men and the world.

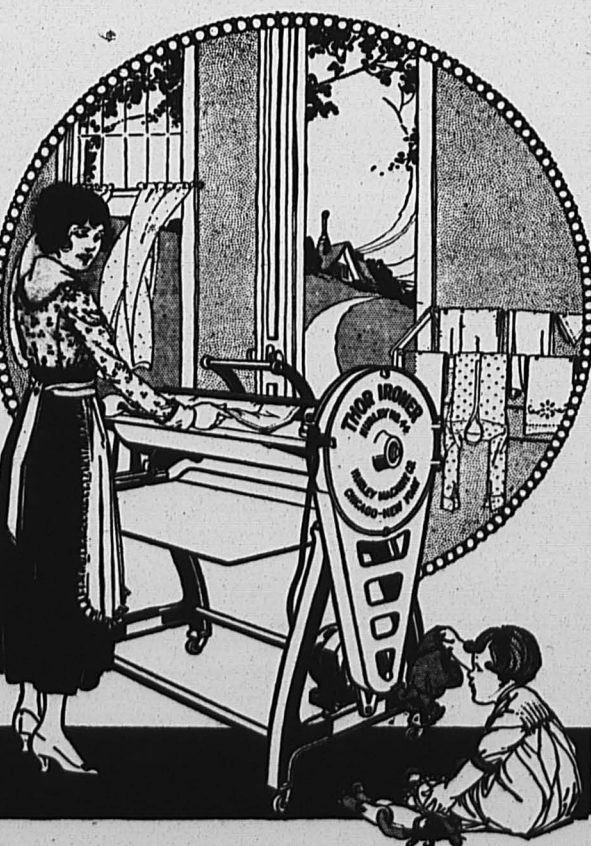

3. In favor with God and man. His innate perfection and beauty more and more expressed itself as His human nature expanded.

The Detractor's Work.

The detractor may, and often does, pull down others, but by so doing he supposes, as he seems to suppose, elevates himself to their position—the most he can do is maliciously tear from them the blessings which he cannot enjoy himself.—Selected.

Porch Club Musicales

The concert given in the auditorium of the school house on Tuesday evening was a great success, both artistically and financially. The first part of the program consisted of piano solos by Mr. Clarence Furman, who came in place of Mrs. George Becker, who was ill and unable to be present, and solos by Ethel Righter Wilson, soprano, and Mrs. Samuel W. Collin, contralto. Tennyson's Sleep Beauty was read by Miss Rae Hutchins to the accompaniment of a violin obligato, played by Mr. Louis Richards. Frances McCollin has set the poem to most beautiful music, which the choral then gave in a thoroughly good way, showing the hard work given it by the leader, Mrs. Samuel W. Collin, and the chorus. On account of a bad cold, which made it impossible for him to sing, Mr. Augustus Wilson's part in the choral was taken by Mrs. Wilson in a very satisfactory manner. Too much praise can not be given to Mrs. Frank Bell, who has worked through all the rehearsals, and did such splendid work the night of the concert. The proceeds of the concert will be given by the Porch Club to the building fund of the Women's College of New Jersey.

New Prohibition Act

On Saturday, April 30, the State's new prohibition enforcement act, as well as the non-beverage act, will become effective.

The following synopsis of some of the salient features of the prohibition code, is given for the information of the public.

Section 16 provides that it shall be unlawful to manufacture, sell, barter, transport, import, export, deliver, furnish, store or possess any liquor except as authorized in this act.

"The exceptions to the above are liquors for beverage purposes, that may have been privately owned for personal consumption of the owner thereof, for his family or for his guests, that may have been possessed in a private residence prior to January 16, 1920. Also liquors lawfully obtained on permits issued by the Federal Government for manufacturing, medicinal or sacramental purposes.

Section 3 of the act gives a list of beverages that are classed as liquors, the sale of which is prohibited, which includes any or all liquid compounds which contain one-half of one per cent. or more, of alcohol, by volume and which are fit for use for beverage purposes.

"Every prosecutor, sheriff, constable, police officer and other peace officer is required by section 54 to use all due diligence to detect violations of the act.

"The prosecutor of the pleas in each county, and his assistant prosecutor are authorized under section 52 to prosecute, in the name of the State of New Jersey, all violators of the act, and all trials will be brought before a Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, by the Prosecutor, in a summary manner without indictment; the judge sitting as a magistrate without a jury.

"The penalty following conviction will be a sentence to jail for a period not to exceed six months, or a fine not to exceed $500 or both, in the discretion of the magistrate; and, also, all costs incident to trial.

"Any officer, with or without a warrant or process of law, is required, upon view, to arrest any person violating any of the provisions of the act, and to seize any liquor, or any chattel used in such act of violation.

"Any officer who shall know, or have reasonable grounds to believe that any person is in the act of transporting, or about to transport liquor in any vehicle in violation of the act, is required to examine the vehicle, and if liquor is found, to seize the same and arrest the person."

Goodfellowship Class

The recently organized Goodfellowship class held its regular monthly meeting last Friday evening at the home of Ralph H. Steen, 618 Washington avenue. At this meeting the members of the class received a copy of the class group, recently photographed.

The subject of a tennis team to be formed from the Goodfellowship class was discussed and all members present looked favorably upon that sport. The various committees of the class are progressing with much rapidity since Leonard R. Baker organized this group of young men. The Goodfellowship class will gladly welcome all young men who will attend their Sunday School meetings that begin every Sunday at 2.30 p. m.

Riverton Wins at the Traps

Under threatening skies that often spilled rain, the Palmyra and Riverton Gun Club teams engaged in a battle royal last Saturday afternoon. Fourteen men shot for Riverton and fifteen for Palmyra, but in accordance with the rules of the shoot, only the scores of the five highest men on each side counted.

As was to be expected, the more experienced Riverton team finally won out, but only after an exhibition of fine shooting by Palmyra. The Palmyra boys were game to the core and never gave up or lost hope until the last shot had been fired. The score was Riverton 220; Palmyra 197. For Riverton C. Z. Vaughan, Purnell, Keating, Dr. Mills and Stackhouse scored. For Palmyra Hercher, W. Stack, C. Cooper, Jr., Walters and Letford, Sr., did the work. Palmyra's best two men, Hercher and W. Stack, each broke 42, while for Riverton, C. Z. Vaughan, Purnell and Keating all tied with 45 breaks, with Dr. Mills 43, and Stackhouse 42. In the shoot off for prizes Vaughan was first with Purnell, Keating, Dr. Mills and Stackhouse in the order named. All five prizes went to Riverton gunners, as did high run prize which totaled 23 and was annexed by Purnell. A banner crowd was on hand despite the bad weather, and it was well repaid by the clever shooting and good sportsmanship that took place.

Post Rodgers Plans for Big Carnival

Post Rodgers is planning to hold a big carnival on Memorial day and the Saturday preceding. The site will probably be the same as last year, at Broad and Garfield avenue.

This time, however, all home talent will be provided. Carl Jefferson is generalissimo, that is "admiralissimo" of the arrangements and he is so wrapped up in plans for a "circus" that the boys have named him P. T. Barnum, 2nd. There will be many booths and sideshows, all in charge of Legion men.

The regular Memorial exercises of the day will be in charge of a joint committee from the Post and the P. O. S. of A. Preliminary committees from the post and camp have already met and made general plans.

The work done by the local post in regard to bonus applications was very efficient and has attracted high praise. Nearly 300 applications were handled with Frank Mathews, Jr., doing the legal work and Maurice Allen the clerical work, all gratis. Nearly all the papers have gone through in fine shape and the boys will probably begin receiving their checks by July 1st.

The Singer Automatic

THE SIMPLEST OF ALL SEWING MACHINES

The unique construction of the Singer Automatic was devised for the purpose of overcoming every possible objection which could be raised against the usual type of sewing machine.

It is so SIMPLE in construction that anyone can understand and use it without difficulty.

It is the smoothest and easiest running machine made, and is practically noiseless.

It is so ADAPTABLE that it can be used, without special adjustment, on all kinds of material, from the heavy to the finest and most dainty.

It's stitch is elastic and specially adapted for infant's and children's garments.

No Bobbins
No Shuttle
No Tension to Adjust

Simply thread the needle, and machine is ready for use. This is a FINISHED machine, all working parts enclosed, no needle bar lever moving up and down before you to tire your eyes.

We know you will like this new style of sewing machine better than your old one. To prove it we will be pleased to place one in your home for one week's free trial without obligating you in any way.

This machine is furnished on any style of cabinet, in any wood, with either foot treadle or electric motor.

Connecticut Has A New Law To Regulate Jitneys

While the New Jersey Legislature was voting State regulation of jitneys the men who make the law in Connecticut were wrestling with the same problem as it effects that State.

The only difference in outcome was that while New Jersey provided for a modified form of regulation Connecticut "went the whole route" and put all jitneys under State control.

Connecticut people have had much experience with jitneys. They know them. They have tried them to a greater extent, perhaps, than any other community, save Toledo, O.

Bridgeport Tried and Failed

Bridgeport actually undertook to do away with trolleys and substitute jitneys and although the experiment was made in mid-summer when conditions were most favorable for the jitneys, it was a complete failure and the public demanded the return of the trolleys.

State regulation was the result of the public's experience. The new law declared every jitney operator a common carrier and makes them subject to the Public Utilities Commission "with respect to routes, fares, speed, schedules, continuity of service and the convenience and safety of passengers and the public."

Public Convenience the Test

"No person, association or corporation," reads the act, "shall operate a jitney until the owner thereof shall have obtained a certificate from the Public Utilities Commission specifying the route over which such jitney may operate and the service to be furnished and that the public convenience and necessity require its operation over such route."

Provision is made for proper hearings and appeals, and machinery is set up for the enforcement of the law which becomes operative ninety days after its enactment.

All of which shows that Connecticut is one more State where it is officially recognized that it is not in the public interest that an essential public utility be sacrificed for something which experience has repeatedly demonstrated can not be depended upon as a substitute.

Truth Is Good Wherever We Find It

"Only when the world has learned to forget racial prejudice, national prejudice, can there be a genuine peace on the globe," declared Jenabe Fazel, a distinguished Persian university professor, philosopher and exponent of the principles of universal brotherhood, in an address at the High School auditorium. . . .

"The speaker urged that the next generation be taught, in the schools and by parents, the spirit of universal brotherhood. 'I hope,' he said, 'that the children of the next generation may live upon the globe as one human family. That if one asks: What is your country? The answer will be: The Globe. Nationality? Humanity. Religion? The Religion of God, brotherly love and sympathy.'"

"It is only upon the premise of universal brotherhood that real world peace may be obtained," said the Persian philosopher. . . . There was frequent applause. The man of peace spoke in the soft tones of the Orient. He does not speak English, but his sentences were admirably interpreted with beautiful English diction, by Mirza Ahmad Sohrab. Thus the necessity for an interpreter did not rob the lecture of its charm and interest; the audience was attracted by the personality of Jenabe Fazel and held by the clever interpretations of his companion. . . . The speaker was introduced by Mr. Clayton R. Taylor, a member of the Board of Education, who said that "truth is good wherever we find it, and many truths have come from the Orient." . . .

By the discoveries of science and quick transportation the world has become "one small neighborhood" said Jenabe Fazel. Also he sees hope in the world movement for an international court, a league or association of nations. But, he said, "such an organization must not become a mere debating ground for new national and racial ambitions. It must be founded, he said, "not on force, but upon the free conscience of humanity. Until we all can approach it with a universal conscience and international mind it will not succeed. We must all be free from religious, racial, political and national prejudices. Inasmuch as we do not in the world have these qualifications today, we must set in motion our religious and civic machinery to produce these men and women who will truly represent the conscience and voice of humanity. The remedy for our prejudices is in the schools, in the hands of teachers and parents, and nowhere else. The child is like a white page, and we should take care not to dye it with the indelible ink of our prejudices. The above is an extract from a full column published in the Pasadena Star-News, (Calif.) February 28th, giving an account of a lecture by Jenabe Fazel, a noted Persian professor, who has just completed a tour of this country and Canada, explaining the spiritual and material teachings of the Bahai movement. . . .

Mount Holyoke College Wants $3,000,000

On the fifteenth of June next, Mount Holyoke, America's oldest women's college, will celebrate its eighty-third commencement. Times have greatly changed since Mary Lyon, the illustrious founder of that "first institution for the higher education of women," went about from house to house with her little black handbag soliciting funds, and with contributions varying from three cents to a thousand dollars, erected the first building and hired the first small staff of teachers. Then her enterprise was regarded as fantastic, if not wicked. Today, Mary Emma Wooley, Miss Lyons distinguished successor is asking the people of America for three million dollars with which to keep up the work begun in 1837, and her demand is regarded as neither fantastic nor dangerous. To her graduates she has but to point to Mount Holyoke as it is now to justify her plea. . . .

Academically, Mount Holyoke has a standing second to no institution in the country. It is to maintain this standard that Miss Wooley is making her plea for additional endowment with which to put in new scientific and literary equipment and to bolster up the faculty so that the college may continue to hold and secure the best that the teaching profession has to offer. . . .

Mount Holyoke aims to prepare her students for the increasingly numerous complicated problems of life that face the American woman. With six college presidents to her credit, and the first woman on the Industrial Commission of New York State, to say nothing of hundreds of lesser but still exalted positions held by Holyoke graduates, she may well claim to be fulfilling the ambitions and aspirations of her founder. . . .

This is Mount Holyoke's past and Mount Holyoke's present. What her future is to be depends much on the results of the endowment campaign, which will be inaugurated in every city and town and village where a Mount Holyoke graduate has her residence, on May third. . . .

Big Time at Banquet
Impressive ceremonies followed by a delightful evening marked the annual reception of Camp 23, P. O. S. of A., to the boys of Post Rodgers, American Legion, Monday evening. . . .

After the Legion boys marched into the camp room in a body, to the stirring march tunes played by Glen Easley's orchestra, they all lined up before the camp's president, while the P. O. S. of A. members all greeted each guest personally. . . .

The meeting then was opened with one of the most inspiring prayers ever heard in the camp room, delivered by the Rev. Dr. Stahl, of Riverton, a veteran of the Civil War. . . .

Six vacant chairs stood before the rostrum and as Secretary Reeves called the memorial roll, wreaths were placed on each in honor of three members of the camp who had made the final sacrifice in the late war. . . .

Intervening spaces on the program were filled up with mass singing led by Horace Finney, vociferously when he knew the song, and acrobatically when he didn't. The orchestra was in fine fettle and added to the swing and volume immensely. . . .

The evening wound up with refreshments served by the entertainment committee on the second floor. . . .

Mr. Harris, Thomas Fosson and George Gardner, of Philadelphia, over the weekend. . . .

Richard McNall and his bride of a year have moved into his new bungalow, where they hope to enjoy the pleasure of calls from all their friends in the future. At home after May 1. . . .

On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hercher entertained the following guests at a dinner party: Mr. and Mrs. John Bohs, Mr. and Mrs. David Coles, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hercher, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. William Seibke and Rev. and Mrs. R. Reimer. . . .

On Wednesday evening the Willing Workers of the Moravian Church gave a successful party to raise the annual water rent amounting to $171. H. Jinger, of Bordentown, secretary of the Burlington County Firemen's Association, gave a lecture on Tuesday evening before the Parry Fire Company. . . .

The April report of the Savings System is highly encouraging. Follow are the items:
Number enrolled 328
Number saving 125
No. War Savings Stamps Bought 5
Number Thrift Stamps Bought 240
Value $80.75
Previously invested 21.25

Total $102.00

As this system was just started in March our efforts are to be congratulated. . . .

The school is indebted to Mr. Ogden Mattis for the loan of the Maypole for use in our field day exercises. It is greatly appreciated and the boys are getting it in good condition for use. . . .

The running races for Field Day are being practiced. Our runners are making the hundred yard dash in about thirty seconds as an average. Two relay teams were selected, and are competing against each other. . . .

The Sixth Grade has made one hundred per cent in attendance for four days in succession. They are very proud of their record. . . .

Margaret Ludlow has had an attack of appendicitis but has returned to school. . . .

Elinor Moffit has visited the hospital for the removal of her tonsils. She is getting along finely. . . .

The school was very proud of its orchestra last Friday when the first public performance was rendered. The music was remarkably good and we are anxiously awaiting some more. . . .

Mrs. Miller, home from a trip to Trinidad and the Panama Canal, has brought some very interesting things back with her, some of which she has presented to the school. Among the articles are coffee beans, cocoa beans, mineral pitch, a stalk of sugar cane and some coral. A beautiful picture of the Panama Canal is also in the collection. . . .

Preparations for the coming Commencement will start immediately after Field Day, so Miss Chew promises. . . .

THE EIGHTH GRADE.

Intricate as a W. . . . average person who carries a watch as a matter of course, to know that it comprises 175 different pieces, the manufacture of which embraces some 2,400 different operations. . . .

STOP, LOOK AND LISTEN!

The Middle West was made by Automobile manufacturing. There are over 6,000,000 automobiles produced in DETROIT each year.

Do you realize what this means to Detroit?

Cleveland produces over 3,000,000 complete cars per year, also half of the parts that go to make up the different cars for the United States.

Why should you automobile users allow either Detroit or Cleveland to produce your car?

There has been many a person made wealthy that supported the Western Automobile concerns.

Do you realize we are going to do some real things right here?

We are going to put Palmyra and Riverton on the New Jersey map when it comes to Automobile manufacturing.

Just Think!

Our first year's small production of 200 trucks will bring over $600,000 right here and a profit of approximately $160,000 to be divided up among the stockholders.

Jesuits Brought Sugar Cane. Sugar cane was introduced into Louisiana from Santo Domingo by the Jesuits in 1761. The first refined sugar was made by Antonio Mendes in 1792, but the first refined sugar on a commercial scale was made in 1794 by Etienne De Bore. The plantations of these two planters now form a part of the city of New Orleans.
