SUNNY

High pressure is building up over the northwest states and is expected to provide fair and agreeable in Southern Idaho for the rest of this week. Temperatures will warm up a few degrees today and Wednesday with highs in the 70s and lower 80s in the east and in the 80s and lower 90s in the west through the latter part of the week. Nights will continue rather cool but mostly above freezing with light frosts likely only in the higher valleys and some of the colder pockets at lower elevations. School Doors Swing Open For 300,000 Students In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—School doors swung open today for 300,000 students in Detroit, ending a summer vacation that was prolonged by a 13-day teachers' strike.

Teachers returned to their jobs Monday after a two-week across-the-board raise over two years of $1,700.

In addition to the salary increase, $50 this year and $50 the next, the teachers won a reduction of the school year from 40 weeks to 39 and limitation of classes to 29 pupils. The ratification on Monday of the proposed contract, hammered out during early morning bargaining sessions, lowered to 13 the number of Michigan school districts where master contracts for teachers have not been reached.

In five of the unsettled school districts, teachers have been ordered back to work by court injunctions, although in one of them, Crestwood District in Dearborn Heights, most of the 211 teachers have resigned.

In the remaining eight districts, some 75,000 students are still out of school.

L. G. William G. Milliken on Monday asked the school boards in Bloomfield Hills, Oak Park, Dearborn and Menominee to get back-to-work orders from the courts.

Milliken, acting as governor during the absence of Gov. George Romney, said injunctions are being sought in Bridgeport, Highland Park, Hamtramck and North Dearborn Heights.

Detroit teachers, represented by Local 231, American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, ratified their new contract by a vote of 3,316-376 after union leaders told them "that is the best we can do."

The teachers demanded a $1,700 boost immediately when negotiations opened.

Under the old pay scale a beginner with a B.A. started at $5,500. A teacher with a Ph.D. and 12 years service could earn as much as $11,000.

The Board of Education said the new pact will cost $17.7 million over the next two years and will push the school system to wards deficit financing.

Northwest And Southwest Will Begin Power Swap Wednesday

BY MIKE DOAN — Portland (AP)—Air conditioners in the Southwest will get some of their electricity from the Northwest's dams in the summer after a power swap begins Wednesday.

And in the winter, the heaters in the Northwest will get some help from steam-generating plants in the Southwest.

The unique trade arrangement, in which nearly every body wins, will get under way when a switch is closed at Merkin, Ore., near the California border. It will be part of the biggest single transmission project ever undertaken in the United States.

Oregon, Washington, Idaho and western Montana have shared the same electric system for a long time. When the dams have been short of water, some of the factories have had to do without power.

The Northwest is more likely to run short of electricity in the winter when rivers don't flow as much. The region doesn't use many air conditioners but needs lots of power for heating. The Southwest needs power in the summer for the air conditioners and irrigation. In the winter there isn't much heating.

The new Northwest-Southwest intertie will link the two systems. The Southwest won't need to build as many power plants because it can get the power elsewhere when it needs it most.

The Northwest will get the same advantage and will be able to conserve some of the built-up energy and sell it to factories.

The Bonneville Power Administration, which administers power in the Northwest, says it also will be able to get electricity

20 Negroes Migrating To Nigeria

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty Negroes who call themselves "Hebrew Israelites" left Chicago Monday to take up permanent residence in Liberia.

The group boarded a flight at O'Hare International Airport dressed in colorful African garb. They plan to settle in Monrovia where they will become agricultural workers, although most held industrial jobs in this country.

Ben Armi, a spokesman from the Abeta Israel Hebrew Center in Chicago, said "Millions of American Negroes will be emigrating to the west coast of Africa to build a nation for free black people. We'd rather live in the jungles of Africa than in a jungle in Cicero."

Armi said he was born Ben Carter and had worked as a metallurgist making war material before he was "reborn." He added the group included nine men, three women and eight children.

They will give up their American citizenship, he said.

Demo Charge On LBJ Gives GOP New Fire

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A liberal Washington newspaper said President Johnson torpedoed a hopeful Vietnam peace move last February by giving new ammunition to Republican "credibility gap" charges against the administration.

Harry S. Ashmore, former Arkansas editor, said State Department officials dealt with him and Editor William C. Bagges of the Miami News with "an almost total absence of candor" in the affair.

This matched GOP descriptions of the administration's general performance in Vietnam statements.

But most politicians seemed to regard Ashmore's charge that Johnson "effectively and actually cancelled" a promising attempt to start peace talks as likely to leave only a minor abrasion on the Image Johnson labored to build as a man willing to negotiate at the drop of a hat to end the war.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, defending the President, made it difficult for even the Republican doves to suggest Johnson doesn't really want peace unless Hanoi surrenders.

Dirksen told newsmen he could not conceive of any circumstances under which the President wouldn't make "every possible effort to stop the killing" in Vietnam. He suggested that Ashmore's charge bore the "stamp" of those who seek to search a peace candidate for failure.

Ashmore classified himself among the vigorous war policy critics when he identified himself with "the eclipsed Adlai Stevenson wing of the Democratic party" and as assistant chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

202 Permits Issued For Construction

A total of 202 Twin Falls building permits valued at $2,610,366 were issued during the first eight months of this year, it was reported today.

This total includes 48 dwelling unit permits at $569,800; new commercial buildings at $1,743,000, and repairs and alterations totaling $277,460.

Statistics were compiled by the First Security Bank of Idaho and released by Kenneth Newman, manager of the local branch bank.

It was reported that dwelling unit construction in August, both in Idaho and the nation, exceeds the levels attained a year ago. However, August construction is below that of July. Residential construction during August in the state was valued at $2.1 million, or 61.2 percent above that of August a year ago.

Gooding Readies Fat Stock Sale Saturday

GOODING — Area 4-H and FFA members are looking forward to the District 4-B and FFA Fat Stock Show and Sale to be held in Gooding Saturday at the Gooding Livestock Commission Co. sales yard north of the railroad tracks.

The show will begin at 10 a.m., with all animals being judged, graded and placed in sale order. At 1 p.m. sale will begin, with all animals graded "good" or "better" placed for sale.

Any 4-H or FFA member in Gooding, Cassia, Minidoka, Lincoln, Blaine, Camas, Elmore, Jerome and Twin Falls counties with a bona fide meat animal project who has not sold an animal at a previous sale during the current year is eligible to enter the show and sale, according to Dale A. Walton, Gooding County Agent.

This sale is the event that youth with meat animal projects work toward each year. Activities include the Fat Stock and FFA Show and Sale help create and maintain our young people's interest in the livestock industry, which is an integral part of the Magic Valley economy, according to Walton.

T. Walton says that for this reason the Gooding County District Sale Community members feel that such events as the Fat Stock and Sale help create and maintain our young people's interest in the livestock industry, which is an integral part of the Magic Valley economy, according to Walton.

Ford Prices Expected To Be Told Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Officials of the Ford Motor Co. today studied a list of increased prices announced by General Motors, and are expected to announce their own prices for 1968 models Wednesday or Thursday.

Both Ford and Chrysler Corp. increased their prices on 1967 models last year, but called them back after General Motors announced a price list much lower.

In announcing Monday that their 1968 models would carry a suggested list price averaging $10 more than 1967, GM left the door open to a further increase if the United Auto Workers, now striking, Ford, will sizeable pay boost from the industry.

Negotiations between the UAW and Ford continued today in an effort to end the strike by 160,000 workers, now in its 13th day.

Bargaining at the main table resumed Monday but an effort to make progress on some economic issues apparently failed.

GM said that the increased prices on 1968 models "recognize current material costs and payroll costs."

U.S. On The Spot

During the national fallout shelter flop several years ago, Americans hotly debated the moral implications of an atomic attack...

Happily, it is as difficult to remember that controversy as it is to work up a good scare that World War III could still happen.

Unhappily, however, this nation seems destined to face, only a little more than several years from now, a life-and-death crisis that will require realistic decisions no less morally agonizing.

The message fact is that the United States cannot indefinitely continue to feed both the hungry world and itself.

The "breakthrough," that many people (including scientists) hope will turn up in time to prevent the population collision, simply is not going to turn up.

On Democracy

One reasonably free and honest election does not a democracy make. It is not just that the long-awaited South Vietnamese election took place in the midst of war, terrorism and alleged fraud...

Despite all these reservations, South Vietnam could begin to build democracy on this election. It could in the long run turn out to have been a decisive turning point in the nation's history.

MR. SPECTATOR

The Money Will Roll In

Living should be a job to do like it is going on forever. We all know there will come that final day but life calls for an effort to ignore this fact.

So what should a youngster do with that life? Experts tell us that the more education an individual can acquire the more money that individual will be capable of making in a lifetime.

All individuals are not the same. Some who know less actually know more while some who know more actually know less.

The book is portentously subtitled: "America's Decision: Who Will Survive?" For it is the authors' thesis that it would be foolhardy, as well as impossible, for the United States to attempt to feed everyone.

The decision America will be forced to make, they say, is the same as that made by doctors on a battlefield, who employ the principle of "triage" — the assigning of treatment priorities to the wounded.

Under triage, the hungry nations would be divided into three classifications:

Those who can't be saved, regardless of the aid given them.

The "walking wounded," who can survive without treatment.

Those who can be saved by quick aid.

To the first category, the authors conflag, among others, India, whose half-billion people have been blotting up 25 per cent of America's "surplus" wheat.

In parceling out its food wealth, America must coldbloodedly consider whether the survival of a specific nation will "help maintain the economic viability and relative prosperity of the United States during the Time of Famines."

In turn, recipient nations must be made to realize that food from the United States will merely buy the time to allow them to carry out two key policies which will eventually make them self-sufficient in food.

The picture of the '70s presented by the Paddock is not a pleasant one. But we have little time left to ignore it.

For the mass of the population, says one reporter, voting in the election was viewed as a duty rather than a right or a privilege, performed less out of coercion than from a traditional respect for authority that told them they must vote.

An election is incomprehensible to Vietnamese peasants, says Stanley Karnow, "because the concept of choice, basic to democracy, is alien to their concept of an orderly, harmonious universe in which each man's place is ordained."

Can Thieu and Ky and 60 new senators, with America's help, bring about this change? That is the question, not only of the day, but probably of the rest of the century.

NO FOOLINI!

I thought I had heard everything but the other night I found out it was wrong. Listening to a Salt Lake City TV station via Cable-Vision, I actually was shook up when I heard the announcer say that, at one particular motor dealer, he had a real bargain for those who wanted to purchase a new car.

Not only could the car payments be met monthly BUT the down payment could also be paid over a period of months. Ain't that really something?

Dear Mr. Spectator: I thought I had heard everything but the other night I found out it was wrong. Listening to a Salt Lake City TV station via Cable-Vision, I actually was shook up when I heard the announcer say that, at one particular motor dealer, he had a real bargain for those who wanted to purchase a new car.

WASHINGTON — Critics of the American presence in Vietnam are making much these days of a new bellicosity in Hanoi toward any deal South Vietnamese efforts toward a peace settlement. Implicit is the demand that the United States may as well get out now, because the Communists are not about to settle for anything less.

These critics point to North Vietnam's muscled-up missile defense, which is reportedly four times as strong as it was last year, and a new wave of pugnacious statements by the Hanoi regime as indications that the war will continue until the South meets the North's terms.

In plain English, these terms spell surrender. Hanoi is still insisting that the question of South Vietnam "must be settled by the people of South Vietnam in accordance with the program of the National Liberation Front, which is the sole genuine representative of the people of South Vietnam."

BARRY GOLDWATER

Republican Party One Of Peace

The Republican Party has always been a peace party. Talk today of a "new departure" to turn it into such a party in regard to Vietnam is politically misleading and morally dishonest.

We hear that certain Republican presidential hopefuls are shifting positions to become more dovish in regard to Vietnam. We hear that the Republicans who can pledge to "disengage" in Vietnam will sweep the field.

Let's set the record straight. This nation has, time after time, been in wars under Democratic leadership. It has been at peace under Republicans. Thus, in the broadest sense, the Republican Party always has been the party of peace.

There is a difference, though, between peace and defeat. Do not see any one bringing the peace of the graveyards.

Republicans who today are beginning to play a new game of policy with "peace" are more clearly talking about defeat. Disengagement, as I have heard it used lately, is just another word for defeat.

On the other hand, the great majority of Republicans has always been committed to peace, particularly by Communist troops against a friendly and free people.

Peace cannot be conceived in any other terms in a world rent asunder by Communist conflict. Those few who seek to change the long-standing Republican view of peace to a new and dove-like image of disengagement, are those of give up, do not speak for genuine peace or genuine Republicanism.

ART BUCHWALD

It's A Wall Around Romney

WASHINGTON — It is not being publicized at this moment, but Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara will soon announce a plan to build a "wall" around Gov. George Romney.

McNamara hopes the new barrier, which will consist of concrete ditches, barbed wire stories and electronic monitoring devices, will slow down Communist infiltration of the Administration's Vietnam policies.

An Administration spokesman told me "Romney has been laying down a barrage of false charges against the President and the secretary of defense, and he's been infiltrating the American electorate. We have no choice but to fire back."

Although even some of Saigon's critics have grudgingly admitted that the recent election was free and fair, Hanoi maintains the dream-like stand that it was rigged. "The voice of the new elite," says Hanoi, "has no value." Apparently, Ho Chi Minh has no intention, as yet of any rate, of recognizing the Thieu government by signing-with-it-as-the-diplomats-table.

Meanwhile, there is no doubt that the North Vietnamese government is showing all the signs of digging in for the long haul, possibly hoping that the election of a new U.S. President in 1968 will bring American capitulation. Hanoi's defenses bespeak a government willing and able to spend money and oil on the war, and to pursue it if they intended to seek peace.

North Vietnam has an anti-aircraft defense bigger and more powerful than those which protected Britain's south and southeast coasts in August 1944, and which ringed Berlin at the end of World War II. Pentagon sources say this defense now consists of 8000 guns. Britain's anti-aircraft defense had 2114 guns in 1944 and the U.S. had only 200.

American aerial reconnaissance also has revealed that North Vietnam has 200 missile sites, compared with 500 late last year. With these sites, the enemy could launch 500 to 600 missiles at any given time. Some of these sites are stand by emplacement, or ready for launching battalions, which reportedly can move in, fire their missiles, and then move elsewhere within 24 hours.

The efficiency of the system, however, is in some doubt. Pilots who are veterans of Korea and World War II have been quoted as saying it is more likely that anything they've ever before encountered. But figures show that North Vietnam has only 10 76 planes and 3500 missiles, and average kill of only about 2 per cent. Ninety per cent of American bombers have been caused by enemy aircraft and anti-aircraft guns.

Clearly, it is Hanoi's position that the war is profitable as a weapon of attrition against the United States. In Hanoi's view, it is draining the U.S. economy and morale, and weakening the nation for future confrontation with Communist imperialism.

There is something to be said for this viewpoint. Certainly, the war is horribly expensive in lives, dollars and American utility. But Hanoi and its Chinese and Russian supporters may be overreaching themselves. So far, the American war effort has been only partial. Also, only a minority of the American people surrender to the Communists. If Hanoi persists in its policy, the U.S. may be forced to decide that only an all-out effort in bringing peace is honorable terms. In that eventuality, North Vietnam would face the certainty of total destruction.

Washington (AP) — President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara apparently changed their minds under pressure about stepping up the bombing in North Vietnam.

The story goes like this: McNamara went before a Senate subcommittee to give a long-it took a full newspaper page to print—and detailed explanation of the bombing program in the North could not be by itself win or shorten the war.

He said the three North Vietnamese points of Halphong, Cam Pha and Hong were among 57 targets recommended for bombing last week. McNamara said, "But, he said, they had not yet been authorized."

This could be interpreted as a conflict between McNamara and the Joint Chiefs but Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana not long after rushed to McNamara's defense.

Mansfield, leader of the Senate Democrats, told the Senate that McNamara speaks for President Johnson. He said he was neutralized by McNamara's integrity and policies of McNamara. He said "these in reality are attacks on the President."

Then the Senate Preparedness subcommittee, which had listened to McNamara and some of the nation's top military leaders, issued a report highly critical of McNamara's actions. The unanimous report said all the military leaders who had testified stated that closing off the chest area of North Vietnam of Halphong was "the single most important thing which could be done by North Vietnam from a military standpoint."

The subcommittee itself called for a "major increase in bombing all important military targets in North Vietnam, even if it risks war with the Soviet Union."

"We cannot... in good conscience ask our ground forces to continue their fight in South Vietnam unless we are prepared to give the military the North in the most effective way possible."

Then Johnson held a news conference on three separate-of-the-moment sessions whose main purpose seemed to be to give the public assurance there was no split between McNamara and the Joint Chiefs.

Apparently are still in a "deep division" within his administration on how to fight the war. And he said there was a "major increase in bombing" and a "major amount of unanimity and harmony, despite the differences between McNamara and the military chiefs."

And about a week after all this, the U.S. began to bomb the bridges at Halphong and the wharves at Cam Pha. The wharves at Halphong, apparently are still off limits to the bombers, which would indicate the administration still has some reservations about doing an all-out job on that important port.

The U.S. also continued to bomb the subcommittee that the Joint Chiefs had recommended a total of 359 targets, of which only 57, McNamara said, had been authorized by the Johnson administration. Now, since two have not been authorized, though docks at Halphong have not been hit.

Why the reluctance to hit these ports, particularly since McNamara said North Vietnam's vital imports are around 5,000 tons and that perhaps 4,700 of those tons move through Halphong?

He explained that cutting off North Vietnam's sea imports would not prevent it from continuing its military operations in the South where its forces need only about 100 tons of supplies a month. "The report said," he said, "the hard decision to do whatever is necessary to win the war must have to be taken, and apply the force that is required to see the job through."

"We cannot... in good conscience ask our ground forces to severally of these diseases is variable. Amphotericin B and other antibiotics are used in their treatment."

Q—Does lung cancer infection in the lungs mean cancer? Are calcium deposits in the lungs an indication of beginning cancer? What is the treatment for lung cancer?

A—There is no connection between lung cancer and cancer in any part of the body. Opaque areas in an X-ray film of the chest are pleisy, and may be caused by tuberculosis or lung infections or cancer. Other tests, such as microscopic examination of sputum, must be done to confirm the diagnosis.

Q—My husband has interstitial pulmonary fibrosis. What is it and what can be done for it? It includes an excess of tough fibrous tissue forms in the lungs it is known as interstitial pulmonary fibrosis. This decreases the elasticity of the lung tissues—it makes breathing difficult. It may be necessary to take oxygen and the cause should be determined, if possible. In many victims relief may be obtained with hydrocortisone.

Q—My grandson has a lung cancer infection in his lungs. Is it possible to cure it? What is the treatment?

A—There are several lung diseases that are called lung cancer. These are bronchogenic carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma, adenocarcinoma, and bronchioloalveolar carcinoma. The treatment depends on the type of cancer and the extent of the disease. In some cases, surgery may be curative. In other cases, radiation therapy and chemotherapy are used. It is important to consult with a specialist for a proper diagnosis and treatment plan.

GRIND OATMEAL

Old-fashioned recipes for oatmeal date bars often direct that the oatmeal be ground. To do so, put the rolled oats through the fine blade of a food chopper or "grind" in an electric blender. This method works for both regular and quick-cooking oats.

Sharon Madron, Wilson Recite Nuptial Vows

Sharon Ann Madron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Madron, Twin Falls, and DeWayne Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wilson, Buhl, were united in marriage in rites Aug. 5 at the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Trell Buhl, before an altar enhanced with yellow feathered chrysanthemums and festooned with ketes of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums and yellow lighted tapers in candelabra. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of silk organza over tulle. The gown was fashioned with a scalloped neckline, long empire waistline and short sleeves. A full-length scalloped panel of lace adorned the A-line skirt. A detachable chapel train held by the bride was trimmed with white feathers and chrysanthemums. Her shoulder-length veil of bridal illusion was held by a wispardly pinned rose trimmed with white feathers and chrysanthemums. Mrs. Jay Denny, Cupertino, Calif., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Larry DeBard, Donna Windsor and Sandra Wilson, Buhl, sister of the bridegroom. A reception was held after the ceremony in the parish hall. Mrs. Ben M. LaRoi reported 250 guests were registered. The bride's table was covered with a white nylon flounce over a white cake. The table was decorated with yellow and white scallops and topped with three white satin bells trimmed with Lilies of the Valley. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Lucille Robinson, Buhl, and cut and served by Mrs. Harold Reynolds and Mrs. Paul Bragg, cousins of the bride. Mrs. M. Dahlin, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Ina Broyles, aunt of the bridegroom, Buhl, served coffee and punch. The wedding reception committee of the LWML assisted with the reception. Quiet tables, covered with lace and centered with vases containing green water and yellow chrysanthemums, centered the reception hall. MR. AND MRS. DEWAYNE WILSON (Shirley Morita photo)

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I will soon have my 25th wedding anniversary. I have a big party, I want my four children to be there along with friends and family, and I want to get anniversary gifts even if my husband isn't present. I know that one day the crazy fool will come back to me, and when he does, of course, I will take him back.
Does my idea of a silver wedding party sound too wild? And please advise what gifts you think my children should give me. I want some lovely silver to hand down to my grandchildren.
NANA.

DEAR NANA: Unless your estranged husband returns to help you celebrate your 25th wedding anniversary, I'm afraid your idea of celebrating without him is "too wild."
DEAR ABBY: A very dear friend of mine sent me an invitation to her daughter's wedding. The bride is 15 years old and the groom is 21. Because of my personal convictions that the bride is too young to marry, I have refused to attend the wedding.
Do you believe my actions are too severe, considering I wish the couple all the happiness in the world under the circumstances?
CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: If your term "very dear friend" really means what is says, your friend is a fool.

Goldwater Ready For TV Blackout

NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Goldwater says his supporters at the 1964 Republican National Convention were prepared to black out radio and television coverage by any network that "got a little too obnoxious."

Describing some of the strategy and counterstrategy during the campaign, Goldwater revealed Monday: "We had every cable in every town company marked up in the lot of the Cow Palace."

"If anybody got a little too obnoxious to us — they could always have cable trouble," he said.

"If anybody got a recorded one-hour interview on the National Educational Television network.

Another political maneuver he described was the case of the misleading bullhorn batteries. "You might recall Sen. Hugh Scott got up once with the bullhorn, and it didn't work. The batteries weren't in it," he said.

"He said — of these tactics — 'These are the little things you do, it is perfectly fair in love and war.'"

Appearing with Goldwater on the program titled, "That Was the Election That Was," was his running mate in 1964, William E. Miller, now a lawyer in Buffalo, N.Y. Subtitled, "A Light-Hearted Reminiscence of Goldwater said on the day he won the nomination in San Francisco his own polls showed President Johnson would take 80 percent of the vote.

He said he didn't tell Miller, whom he was about to ask to be his running mate, for fear Miller wouldn't accept the nomination.

Reagan Rules Out Campaign Organizing

BY BILL BOYARSKY
SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan ruled out today the creation of a Reagan-For-President campaign organization before the 1968 Republican National Convention.

Reagan said he is not a candidate for the nation's highest office. But, for the first time, he said, "I'm aware of the talk that's been going on about the possibility of his becoming a candidate."

But he disclosed he will set up machinery in California to handle the June presidential primary campaign for the forty-five-state delegation he intends to lead to the convention.

Reagan said he "will have an organization in California next year to assure a good showing for his delegation. He said he would lead the state Republican delegation to prevent other candidates from getting into California and engaging in a repeat of the bitter Nelson A. Rockefeller-Barry Goldwater California fight of 1964.

Reagan was interviewed in his Capitol office less than two weeks before he leaves on a speaking tour to Illinois, South Carolina and Wisconsin in which he plans to discuss Vietnam and domestic issues.

Asked if he could see any circumstance that would force the convention to turn to him, Reagan said, "There is no way I can answer that question."

He said that any answer short of a flat "no" would be taken as a declaration of candidacy. He refused, however, he is not a candidate for president.

Reagan said he definitely will not take part in pre-convention campaigning in primaries or rounding up delegates at state conventions.

He also said he didn't believe he would be drafted as a presidential choice.

Reagan reiterated he will not campaign in Oregon, Nebraska and Wisconsin, states where his name is expected to be on the open primary ballot.

The governor said New Hampshire's secretary of state soon will receive a letter from him refusing permission for his name to be on that state's primary ballot.

But the governor's upcoming speaking tour includes a speech in Milwaukee, Wis., and in November he will speak in Oregon.

He said the 1968 presidential campaign would revolve around Vietnam, inflation and "some of the things like Detroit and Newark," cities hit by racial violence, and what he termed "symbols" of the nation's domestic problems.

Church Leaders Back Episcopal Plea To Aid Negroes Trying To Better Selves

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — A swelling lineup of religious leaders across the nation today backed an Episcopal leader's appeal that all faiths divert money to Negro-led groups working to improve the lot of their race.

Messages of support poured in from various Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish officials.

Hailing the plan, Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, president of the National Council of Churches, said the interdenominational organization favored reallocation of Church funds to help "victims of discrimination" win jobs.

The action "showed a progressive openness on the part of the bishops," said Bishop Ivo I. Curtis of Seattle.

It also gave a possible clue to the mood of the Church in acting on a pending document that would strongly uphold freedom of doctrinal inquiry, and call for changes in canons virtually blocking clergy from leaving their churches.

Bishop Pike was named last year in a heresy case, now bogged down in complications.

As the bicentennial governing congress for 3.5 million Episcopalians went into its second working day, lay-clergy House of Deputies took up another liberalizing measure—to allow the seating of women.

Predicting approval of the measure, which "has been argued at conventions for a quarter century, Mrs. Seaton G.

Bailey, of Griffin, Ga., president of Episcopal Church Women, back-tracked projects for Negroes.

Meanwhile, bishops Monday swept aside objections to the seating of a nonconformist colleague, the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike.

PROGRAM OUTLINED

BOISE (AP) — An educational program on the results of teenage drinking was outlined Monday for law enforcement authorities and it received the blessing of Gov. Don W. Samuelson.

"The importance of informing our youngsters of the hazards of drinking cannot be emphasized enough," Samuelson said.

"I will have no truck with any one who will serve alcoholic beverages to youngsters or who will offer them drugs or narcotics."

The reaction came in response to a plea by Episcopal Presiding Bishop John E. Hines for "full-scale mobilization" of religious resources to underwrite efforts of Negro community-action groups.

To start the process, his own Church's governing convention here is considering a proposal

BY JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Staff NEW YORK (AP) - Shippers are developing a fleet of containerization.

BY COMBINING several of small shipments into one container measured to fit the dimensions of planes, railroads, ships and trucks, cargo handlers believe they can change this staid old industry.

The containers, most of them measuring in length from less than 10 feet to about 40 feet.

Already shippers claim they are saving millions of dollars for themselves and customers.

Old ports are adapting their dockside facilities. And the new jumbo jets soon to be in the air are being built with containers in mind.

The concept provides obvious savings. One 2,000-pound container, for example, costs far less to handle than ten 200-pound packages with the same destination.

Transportation provides a customer with door-to-door movement of his goods without re-packing or rehandling. The container remains sealed.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

I have been advised by several brokers and friends to sell the shares I have in an exchange-traded mutual fund.

The suggested holding period for just about all shareholders of the two dozen exchange-traded mutual funds now in operation. But it must be pointed out, to other readers, that no new exchange funds are being organized. It is no longer possible to make a tax-free swap of investments in one fund for another fund for mutual fund shares.

Q. I am attracted to securities sales as a possible career. But I have tried without success, to determine how much a securities salesman earns. Can you tell me?

A. I can give you some vague idea but can't come close to pinning the figures down because they are available. However, at recent Senate committee hearings, a vice-president of a mutual fund organization testified that the 1966 average gross income of the firm's sales representatives was $4,292.

But these figures vary. Some securities salesmen, going by such titles as customers' men, registered representatives and account executives) hardly ever exceed $8,071 a year. Income in that trade is production - the amount of business a man handles. All most of them are paid straight commission. The better salesmen get their pay from customers. A few brokerage firms pay salaries but the salaries are based on production.

Stories of some guys earning $25,000, $50,000 or much more than that are not uncommon. It's the old story. The better you do, the more money you make.

Intrepid Defeats Dame Pattie To Win Yachting's Coveted America Cup

By SID MOODY
NEW YORK, Sept. 19 (AP)—The sleek, white-hulled Intrepid, the United States' defender skippered by cruddy Bus Mosbacher, swept through the foe of Rhode Island Sound Monday and completed a 40 drubbing of Australian challenger Dame Pattie in this race or the entire series.

The hopes of helmsman Jack Sturrock and his Australian crew were crushed in the first race last Tuesday—Intrepid won by 5:58, or about a mile. The winning margin was three minutes, 35 seconds.

It was the 20th consecutive successful defense for the United States, which has never lost in competition dating back 116 years. Further, the United States had swept to 4-0 margins in four of the last five defenses and was 4-1 in the other.

That was in 1922 when Mosbacher in Weatherly again defeated Sturrock, a crusty timber merchant from Melbourne who was sailing Gretel.

At a post-race news conference, Commodore Percy Chubb of the New York Yacht Club announced he had received a challenge for 1970 from the Royal Dorset Yacht Club of Weymouth, England. It was signed by vice commodore Gordon Wallace.

Alliance the challenge did not state specifically, it presumably represents a syndicate headed by British yachtsman Owen Aisher and John Livingston, an Australian sheep rancher who, with his late brother, built Kurrawa V for the 1956 challenge.

It is expected that Baron Marcel Bich also will submit a challenge from France. Under Cup rules, challenges must be received for the next 30 days, and the first one in does not have to be the one accepted.

But no decision is expected anytime soon, and the big silver cup will remain boiled to its pedestal in a glass case at the Yacht Club for at least two more years.

The fourth race was postponed—because of winds from Hurricane Doria Saturday and fog Sunday—and the start was delayed almost three hours on Monday.

The fog rolled in, cleared and rolled in again several times before the race began on a 2.3-mile Hatteras course, and visibility to less than a mile when the race started at 2 p.m. EDT.

Sturrock appeared to have the best of the start and jumped off to a lead of about 1/2 hour lengths. The two skippers were engaged in a tacking duel, and Mosbacher quickly moved

Intrepid won the first race in winds of 18-22 knots in choppy seas with white-capped waves of three to four feet. The two skippers were engaged in a tacking duel, and Mosbacher quickly moved

McCrady Is Faced With Task Of Heading ABA Toward Success

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—"The AFL became accepted after a few years," McCrady said. "I don't know when we can reach that stage. I'm not naive enough to think we can do it right away. We still have to sell our product."

McCrady, former Kansas State University athletic director, spent 20 years in the college coaching ranks. Now he is studying for a doctorate in athletic administration.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ted Uhlaender's tie-breaking single in the 10th inning and the six-hit pitching of Jim Kaat led Minnesota to a 2-0 victory over Kansas City Monday night, snapping a three-game losing streak for the struggling American League pennant contender.

Kaat, who went into the game with an 0-4 season mark against the last place A's, struck out 12 in winning a brilliant duel with Kansas City's Jim "Catfish" Hunter and bringing his record to 11-12.

Perez Is Worrying Over Adding Weight

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Ines Perez completed 10 of 13 back-to-back 100-yard-and-a-touchdown-to-give South Methodist a 20-17 victory over Texas A.M.

The last four of these consecutive touchdowns engineered the drive that won the opening Southwest Conference game of the season with only four seconds to play as the nation watched via television.

Perez' performance was astounding, especially since he weighs only 155 pounds and has to stand on tiptoe to see over those 6-3, 350-pound linemen.

"I always have been blessed with good linemen ahead of me," he explained. "They are coached to hit low and get the opposing linemen down so I can look over them."

The main thing these worries about is his weight—not more but less.

"With my height I can't be ballooned up to be observed," he explained. "I have to fight it by lifting the weights. My wife is a good cook and they feed me right well out of 450 to the Methodist. I have to watch it."

He didn't have to worry about his weight after going through almost two full quarters of tension against the Aggies at College Station Saturday.

"I lost five to eight pounds, I guess," he said. "I got down to about 145 in the week of tough work preparing for the game."

"The little guy is big and tough enough to have played seven seasons of football without getting 310 pounds," he said, not boastfully because he added that he had teammates in junior college who could get 300 or more.

Miller: High School in Corpus Christi, Tex., then played at Henderson County Junior College, which got to the Junior Rose Bowl. He came to South Methodist last year as a transfer.

A Column for Sports Fans

By Bob Reese
While the baseball season steams toward the close of the pennant races, the pro football season is just getting under way. On TV and on the field.

Pro ball is bigger, more exciting and more fun to watch. The season is that reason is that there's no room for big, fat guys any more, even an in-water lineman has to be big, strong, quick and in top shape. And tough.

Bob Reese Brown of the Detroit Lions is one of the best. He's a 240-pounder, but he's the NFL's best for one reason: he has his own set of tools. He's got a 240-pound, bear, Roger Brown entered him... by picking up a 240-pound, bear, Ted Kenna, and throwing him at Wade.

The season is under way... and better than ever... "Better than ever" is a good description of the new 1968 Dodge and Chrysler cars... and better than ever... will show the dealer who is making it right now. Come in and make us prove it... at...

Gridcasters Stunned After First Weekend

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Egadt! The first weekend of the grid season left some gridcasters a bit bloodied, didn't it? A couple of high school games, just as I forecast in our last conversation, were the undoing of many.

Although I was a bit disappointed over my showing of six incorrect selections, I was stunned by 10 Magic Valley predictors who missed but four. Of course, everyone in the Air Force-Oklahoma State tie.

My champion for the week is George L. Merritt, Twin Falls, whose point predicting was far superior to any of the other nine competitors. Mr. Merritt receives $10 and the row for a week.

In second place, representing the distaff side, is Vi Smith, Twin Falls, who nipped Russell Winn, Jerome, by two points. They will receive $5 and $2.50, respectively.

The other seven did accomplish one or more things. They took honorable mentions and are ready eligible for the bowl contest in December. On the list are Charlie Heworth, Butte; Clarence Hatt, Burley; Robert Perry, Hazelton; Brian-Lamb, Bull; Mervin Mueller, Twin Falls; David Hammett, Bull; and Mrs. George Kay, Twin Falls.

I am very interested in seeing how you perfect scores handle next week's state. The one game with interesting possibilities finds Houston at Michigan State. I believe that takes more than a cursory inspection, but after long deliberation I've given the nod to Coach Daugherty's kids. One of the worst ones is Stanford at Kansas.

On the high school scene there are two major obstacles, each carrying conference title overtones. Gooding will be at Wood River and Hagerman is at Richfield. Those could go either way. A pause is needed in studying the Twin Falls at Butte battle.

BRIDGE

By Jacoby

'SWINDLE' WAS JUST BAD PLAY

Victor Molo, one of England's greatest players and writers, has produced a humorous book on play entitled "Bridge in the Menagerie..."

The two principal characters in his menagerie are an obnoxious...

are interested in the rabbit, sitting East. Declarer played low from dummy. The rabbit played his jack and was surprised when he held the trick. Then he returned the queen to his partner's ace. The partner led a third diamond and anyone but the rabbit would have ruffed. In that case declarer would have had no trouble making his contract. He would simply have won the next trick, played his two top trumps and three top clubs; entered dummy with the ten of trumps and discarded his queen of hearts on a good club. He just discarded a low heart. After this remarkable coup declarer saw no better play than to take the heart finesse. It lost and he was down one.

Had the rabbit made a brilliant play? Not at all! He had thought the contract was three no-trump and was delighted that his failure to ruff the diamond hadn't cost him anything.
