One of the most successful smokers in the history of the Green Room Club was held last week. The following members were present: Raymond Hitchcock, Louis Mann, Charles Bigelow, George M. Cohan, Henry Simon, Charles Dickson, Sidney Wilmer, Wright Huntington, Charles Bradshaw, Richard Mozart, Fred Sulth, Savoy Quartette, Mr. Kachouki, Japanese harp-tone; Tom Lewis and Sam Ryan, Cecil King-Burnham, Cliff Gordon, Vincent Bryan, Gus Edstone, Messenger Boys' Quartette, Nicholas wards, John Lemmer, Isadore Witmark, Mr. Leipzig, Jack Hazard, Frank Dodge, Chas. E. Evans, Herbert Hall Winslow, Gerald Griffin, Fred Ward, Donald Donahue, John Dunsmuir, Walter Fesler, Frank B. Arnold and Bigelow Cooper. President Hollis E. Cooley was in the chair. The feature of the entertainment was a three-round boxing match between the brothers Terry and Hugh McGovern. Sam Harris and Sam Ryan were in the corner with Terry McGovern, and Joe Humphrey and Tom Lewis were in Hugh McGovern's corner. Walter Moore was the official timekeeper for Terry McGovern and Chas. Bigelow acted in the same capacity for Hugh. George H. Buxadhurst was the referee. During the course of the evening Herbert Hall Winslow read the following verses written for the occasion:

'Twas but a dream, the other night—and yet a dream so strange,
For everything was different—a kaleidoscopic change;
I dreamed the hour was midnight, but in the grill room here,
At least a hundred members were partaking of good cheer.
The parlors and the billiard room were crowded—wondrous sight;
And the superintendent stated it was like this every night.
And near the desk a throng of men were waving checks on high,
Declaring that they couldn't wait—they'd pay their dues or die.
Upon the wall a waiting list of several thousand hung,
And the praises of the Green Room Club throughout the land was sung.
The very building seemed to change, and high and higher grew,
I wondered at its vast expanse, as dazed, I wandered through—
At least a dozen stories high, complete in every way.
Extending from Sixth avenue through to dear old Broadway,
And every wish and every want were satisfied so well
That all the members left their homes within the club to dwell.
Our president forsook his lodge. No more a Mason he,
For the Green Room Club had just absorbed the whole fraternity;
Each super wore a halo, and looked something like a saint,
And the house committee went to sleep for lack of complaint.
The annual dress rehearsal was such a grand affair
That we hired the Hippodrome, and then turned them away from there.
Of course there were some other clubs still scattered through the town,
But the Green Room was the only one of very great renown.
The membership became so large, before the year was o'er
The greatest men in all the world came knocking at our door.
A sub-way station had to be installed down in the cellar,
And then there wasn't room for all—we've blackballed Rockefeller;
He seemed to take it rather hard, it was an awkward fix,
But still the board decided art and oil could never mix.
The little social game up stairs, of which we've sometimes heard,
Was still in session merrily, in fact no player stirred.
When the new clubhouse was building it did not stop the game,
The builders worked around them, and they anted just the same!
And no insurance on the house was felt obliged to carry.
For the Great Fire Chief from Pelham was on hand, if necessary!
'Twas but a dream the other night—but sometimes dreams come true,
For every giant oak, we know, from one small acorn grew.
Then let us hope, as gathered here, on this November night,
We but forecast the future, when dreaming visions bright:
A greater club with friendship warm, that all our lives will last,
In future far more glorious than its successful past.
The clasp of hands, the soothing smoke—companionship that cheers
The Green Room Club! And may our dream come true in future years.

Miss Bertha Galland, with Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall, will go into the Majestic Theatre, Dec. 12, for two weeks' engagement. The Majestic has seen several failures of late, but it is expected that Miss Galland's popularity and the intrinsic merit of her play will start the people going there again.

The business with the A Hooster Daisy Co. which is at present touring New York State, is reported most satisfactory and the comedy and players are receiving a warm welcome wherever it appears. Miss Bessie Clifton, in her original conception of an Indiana waif, has scored most emphatically. The production is a new one in every way, the scenery being from the studio of E. M. Fraser.

The charming coquetry of The College Widow and the irresistible humor of George Ade's merry comedy continues to be a magnet which draws big crowds to the Garden Theatre. The tenth week of The College Widow began Monday night, and the audiences have been undi-

Comedy Co. are giving great satisfaction, and their New York engagement will prove one of the most successful of the current metropolitan season. The piece is a clever musical conceit, splendidly played. The character of the stranger with a slight "edge," played by Thomas Lewis, is a remarkably strong study. Everytime Mr. Lewis comes on or leaves the stage, he receives applause. Mr. Cohan has put very snappy and witty dialogue into the mouth of this role, which is one of the cleverest comedy parts played in years. Mr. Lewis fits the part and it suits him, a combination greatly enjoyed by the audience.

With Warfield entering his fourth triumphant month of The Music Master at the Belasco Theatre, and rapidly nearing his 100th performance, the signs of prosperity are even more emphatic than ever. Night after night the Belasco is crowded to its limit, and the advance sales grow to greater proportions with each new week. The fine art of the star, the immense popularity of his extraordinary impersonation of the old Lepic music teacher, and over all the prevailing influence of the Belasco genius, serve to give to theatre-goers one of writer of theatrical affairs would overpraise this wonderful spectacle. It is not only a bewildering, beautiful treat to the eye, but it appeals in every way as well. Its comedy, artistic in every sense, provides humor; its musical side supplies many brilliant numbers, pleasing both to the trained and untrained ear; its ballets present most beautiful dances, groupings and processions, and the pantomimic and sensational interest is supplied in the clown, harlequin, pantalone, columbine and the marvelous acrobatic feats of the demon and his gnomes. Such a generous measure of entertainment was never before presented in any New York spectacle. That this fact is appreciated is amply shown in the enthusiastic applause that accompanies every feature, and the expression of satisfaction heard on every hand as the audience leaves the house. Every patron receives his or her money's worth of solid entertainment. Humpty Dumpty is now the real thing in New York.

There are two comic songs that are now being sung by prominent vocalists that have made tremendous hits, and that they will soon be sung and whistled everywhere there is no doubt. They were both written by Borgan and Furth, the well-known song writers, and are published by M. Witmark & Sons. They are respectively entitled Freddy, and All I Needed Was The Money, the latter being sung by Lew Dockstader, who knows how to bring out its salient points and who is making it a big "go." The famous minstrel will doubtless keep it on his repertoire for some time. The other song, Freddy, is being featured by Grace Cameron, who renders it with her usual good taste and charm. Encores are demanded nightly, and her audiences clamor for more and more verses at every performance.

Ethel Barrymore is breaking all records in her new play Sunday, the fourth week of which began Monday night. She is playing to capacity audiences and so popular is her acting and the play that it may be stated with certainty that she will continue to do enormous business for a long time. The fashionable audiences that witness the performance testify their appreciation of it in the most enthusiastic way. Miss Barrymore's impersonation of the heroine is not only enjoyed but it is warmly praised, and there are many who declare it to be the best work she has ever done. She makes Sunday a delightful picture of far western girlhood, giving a charming embodiment to the breeziness, bravery and ingenuousness of the type; and, combining it with a certain distinction of refinement, lifts it out of the list of stage heroines of this class. Miss Barrymore's acting of the role is spirited, tender and sympathetic. The love story in which Sunday figures is simply and naturally told, and every line and scene is convincing. The play is one that the most hardened theatre-goers can not sit through without being captivated. Especially amusing and attractive are the western scenes in the humble cabin of Sunday's guardians. Bruce Melnar depicts the hero as a manly and interesting lover, and the guardians of Sunday are artistically and happily pictured by Joseph Brennan, William Sampson, Edgar Selwyn and Harrison Armstrong.

Edna May gave the one hundredth triumphant New York performance of The School Girl at the Herald Square Theatre on Monday, Dec. 5. The record of this wonderfully popular attraction is one of the uniformly crowded houses ever since the first night, and there is no sign of any let-up in the present demand for it. The century of performances in New York does not by any means represent the full extent of the triumph which Miss May has made in this delightful musical comedy. She appeared in it several hundred times in London, and it was one of the memorable successes of the past two seasons there. It could probably run as long in New York, for its comedians, its pretty girls, its score of song hits and Miss May herself are every hit as popular on Broadway as they were during their prolonged London triumph. Miss May's song, Lonesome, and My Little Canoe, continues to be enthusiastically received, and the other new songs as well as the old ones are thoroughly enjoyed. The immense whirl of fun which is kept in motion by Messrs. Grossmith, Hiskley and Wright, of the Gaiety Theatre, London, is a prominent factor in the popularity of the production. The School Girl is in the heyday of its success here, and will trip lightly and triumphantly into the new year.

John Drew and The Duke of Killarankie have attracted to the Empire Theatre the most notable series of fashionable audiences in the entire history of the modest playhouse. Their triumph has been as extended as it is complete, for last Wednesday night Mr. Drew gave the one hundredth performance of Robert Marshall's delightful farcical romance. The audiences have heartily enjoyed the performance, and it is doubtful if Mr. Drew in his whole brilliant career has given better satisfaction in a light comedy role than he has in that of the ducal lovermaker, who is the hero of the romance. His power, charms and grace are most agreeably revealed in this part, and his audiences go into ecstasies over it. The entire performance is enjoyable, for it is the complete artistic representation a comedy has had in this city in many a day. Margaret Dale as Lady Henrietta, who is the object of the Duke's strenuous courtship, Fannie Krough as the assertive and irrepressible widow of a gine king, and Ferdinand Gottschalk as an amusing turf-hunting M. P., are really excellent. Wednesday and Saturday matinees of The Duke of Killarankie at the Empire.

Illustrated songs have evidently come to stay. Shapiro, Remick & Co., are handling a large line of this popular style of publication. Nobody seems to Love Me Now, the beautiful child ballad, and The Sweetest Girl in Dixie, a southern song of exceptional beauty, are their latest productions and are being used by a great number of companies with more than usual success. Some of these are the Bennett-Moulton Co's (five), Chas. Lister Co's (two), Baylison Stock Co., Harcourt Comedy Co., Katherine Robert Co., Spooner Dramatic Co., Stair Comedy Co., and White Dramatic Co. Also an army of song illustrators who are literally "falling over each other" in their efforts to get the best ballads and slides in the market.

W. B. PATTON

It is always a pleasure to be able to chronicle the success of an artist who, by sheer merit alone, succeeds along legitimate lines and without the aid of sensational advertising and questionable methods reaches a plane in a single season that comes to but few after years of hard struggle. Mr. Patton's very first season in the title role of The Minister's Son was a financial as well as an artistic success, and the same wave of prosperity has followed him for three seasons. As is the case with most artists, Mr. Patton started at the bottom rung and has played a wide range of parts. Gifted with a personality that few comedians possess, his delightful rendition of The Minister's Son has been termed a "rural classic." There is a magnetism about him refreshing in its cleanliness and simplicity; a kindly humor and an abiding confidence in human nature, to which latter quality a considerable share of his success is due. Mr. Patton's own personality in the part of Dexter Hurley, in The Last Rose of Summer furnishes one of the most interesting characters the stage has yet given us. He is also author of The Minister's Son, The Little Homestead, A Sly Old Fox, Royal Rags and a number of eastern successes.

minished in size and enthusiasm since the opening night. Dorothy Tennant, Gertrude Quinlan, Amy Ricard, Frederick Truesdell, George E. Bryant, Edgar L. Davenport and the others who have scored individual hits, continue in the cast. The Wednesday matinee at popular prices continues to be an attractive feature.

Joseph Sheehan, who is a member of the Savage English Grand Opera Co., achieved his finest success in such roles as the Moor in Verdi's Othello, Rhadames in Aida and as Lohengrin. He has a repertoire of over a hundred characters. Mr. Sheehan is unquestionably one of the greatest living high C tenors, always giving the note a full chest tone that electrifies his audience.

George M. Cohan and his Little Johnny Jones are playing to large audiences at the Liberty Theatre. This popular young star and his

the most delightful attractions now on the New York stage.

J. Aldrich Libbey, the well-known singer, has three songs in his repertoire which are very much liked by his auditors. They were written by Sid J. Mullin, and are published by M. Witmark & Sons. Their titles are When We Were Sweethearts, You and I, Florence Itelly, and Should Fate Ever Cruel Be. Mr. Libbey says that it is a real delight to sing these songs and that he will retain them for some time to come.

Klaw & Erlanger's production of Humpty Dumpty began its third week at the New Amsterdam Theatre Monday evening. The attendance the second week was the largest in the history of this great theatre, with a tremendous advance sale daily. No array of adjectives that could be marshalled by the most enthusiastic

PAT CHAIRS

Things Theatrical North and West from a Chicago Point of View.

Under the caption of Chicago's Need of Opera, the Record Herald says: "It is one of the mysteries of life that Chicago, which is able to support more and better symphony music than any other American city, with the possible exception of Boston, should be forever starved for opera. In no other American city is the popular support for the best orchestra music so strong, and in few cities in the world are there more and better opportunities for musical education. At this time, when the opera season is beginning in New York and the music lovers of that city have fifteen weeks of opportunity for pleasure ahead of them, Chicago's lack is most strongly felt. We shall doubtless have our regular two weeks of the Cortes Co., and apart from that nothing at all. The 'sawdust' singers will be with us, and the 'music dramas' and other varieties of the lightest of light opera will be here, too. It may be that Chicago can not provide enough people with five dollar bills to support opera on such a scale as Cortes presents it. But surely a less costly, nevertheless meritorious, presentation could be given, adapted to the local need. It has long ago been demonstrated that highly satisfactory work can be secured from companies of singers who are not world-famous stars. New Orleans supports as a permanent institution her French Opera Co., and even the City of Mexico maintains a permanent opera. Why not Chicago? New York's opera is, as Mr. Courled says, 'more or less a society event.' That is, society, rather than musical, considerations dictate length of season, prices, productions and style of presentation. Chicago is not craving for a society event so much as for music. May the day soon come when some manager, touched with genius, will hit upon the type of production which will fill the Chicago need. The opera lovers are here, and verily the manager will have his reward."

Jules and Ella Garrison made a tremendous hit at Hyde & Lehman's Music Hall last week. Two years ago they returned from a four years' stay in the British Isles, and in a pleasant chat with the writer, Mr. Garrison relates some of their experiences on the other side. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison were summoned before the late Queen Victoria and before the present King Edward, who was then the Prince of Wales. Not only once did they appear before these two famous people, but four times. Their first appearance before the late queen was at Windsor Castle. Speaking of that event Mr. Garrison says: "I found all of the royal family most charming. I had a chance to talk for some time with the present King Edward and I met the queen. I was given a special reception by both of them. Of course the queen's applause was never loud. She simply put her hands together noiselessly two or three times, but I found out afterward that she was enthusiastic with me in comparison with some others who had appeared before me. She never clapped out-right, and the artists who were appearing before her had to watch her carefully to see if they were pleasing; and you can well believe that they all did. Mr. Garrison told that some really great artists had appeared before her and she had not even made a pretense of applauding. Our act, however, seemed to take her just right, and she appeared greatly pleased with it. I used to meet the present King of England quite often in Masonic lodges. The first time I met him I had not the slightest idea with whom I was talking until the interview was over. I had noticed the gentleman with the neatly trimmed beard, and had remarked of his similarity to the pictures of King Edward, or more correctly, the Prince of Wales for that was his title at that time. Evidently he learned that I was an American for he came over to me and began asking about this country, and we conversed for about ten minutes. After he had left me one of the members of the lodge came up and asked if I knew to whom I had been talking, and I told him I did not. "That is the Prince of Wales," he announced with a smile, and I was astonished to say the least. We had a high compliment paid us by the famous London theatrical manager, J. L. Graydon. He saw our act and immediately booked us for a long run, and seemed to be greatly pleased with what we were presenting. I found out afterward, however, that he was not sure he liked us personally or our act either. "Those people are either very crazy or they are very clever; I don't know which," he told one of his men, and the latter told me of the remark sometime afterward. Whether that was a compliment or not I have not yet decided." Mr. Garrison is a poet, and patriotic poem, written and recited during his London season, must have been fervid successes, for they won for him letters of recognition from those in the highest positions. Mr. Garrison is the author of the famed Dreyfus poem, The Martyr, that caused such a sensation in England during the trial of Capt. Dreyfus, and is the proud possessor of a testimonial presented by the leading Hebrews of London, as a mark of esteem for his defense of Capt. Dreyfus. Mr. and Mrs. Garrison own two houses and several acres of land at East Norwalk, Conn., and they will retire to Garrison Villa the first of next June and remain there until the middle of September. Next season they will appear in Wm. C. Cressy's great sketch, Dixie. The Billboard wishes them the success their legitimate efforts deserve.

Patrons of Hammerstein's Theatre of Varieties for the past two weeks have received a treat in the way of Arabian acrobatic performance, given by the Oriental Amusement Agency's Troupe of Toussain Arabs, under the directorship of Sie Hassan Ben Ali. The troupe under Mr. Ben Ali's direction are the only genuine Arabian acrobats now touring this country, and Mr. Ben Ali has taken special pains this year to place before the public the highest class performers obtainable, in which direction he has attained a notable success, for his troupe now playing at the Forty-second street playhouse is the finest ever seen in New York, and a very successful season is predicted for its members.

their discovery of the wickedness or innocent stupidity in the play. Why anyone should wish to see this piece, since it is admitted that the thing is insufferably stupid if it is not disgustingly vulgar, is one of the questions that can not readily be discussed in the presence of Mrs. Boffin. Perhaps the pure go for the purpose of emphasizing the fact that to them all things are pure. The wicked may go with the hope of being so disgusted that it will be easy to be good for very shame. Far be it from us to impute any but noble motives to the people who support the theatres in these days of problem dramas, leg operas and the millionaire playwrights."

Richard Guthmann has introduced an innovation in theatrical business which is proving a great convenience to traveling managers coming to Chicago, and to local theatres devoted to stock productions. He rents complete sets of scenery, fire-proofed and adequate in every way, for any kind of attraction. With twenty-five car loads of scenery on hand, Mr. Guthmann is in a position to furnish anything that may

A contemporary remarks: "The Pinero play, which has shocked one-half of London and the other half wondering about it, is soon to be produced in this country. Before it comes a few remarks may not be amiss. People who have discovered wickedness in this play are sure that it is the most indecent thing ever produced outside of France. Those who find it innocent are positive that the piece is the stupidest thing that anybody has ever had to pay to look at. There is no middle ground on which the shocked and unshocked can meet. Neither side will yield a jot. They are as determined as they were on the day after the first performance—the unshocked because they have not felt like wasting money for the purpose of looking again, and the shocked because they have gone often and are still going, only to discover at each performance vile sensations and hidden meanings that escaped them before. Now, in view of this deplorable divergence of opinion, it would seem that there can be no hope of getting the matter settled. Brown will yawn through the performance and be glad when it is ended, and Jones will go red and thank heaven that his daughter doesn't know he is there. Next morning he will send around for a front seat and perhaps try to induce somebody to go with him for the purpose of verifying his estimate of the wretched performance. As for Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Jones, it may be assumed that they will go again, or not, in accordance with Preparations are under way by the Elks for their annual benefit entertainment to be held in the Garrick Theatre, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 18. Almost every theatre in the city have promised numbers for the affair and a fine program of musical and vocal events is assured.

Rev. J. S. Stone, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, told the actors who attended the Actors' Church Alliance Thanksgiving service, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 29, that the ministers and actors should do their best to close the Chicago theatre on Sunday. The Thanksgiving service was held at St. James Church. Several of the professionals appearing in the Chicago theatres were present. "You should bring your power, all of your power, mind you, in closing the theatres on the Sabbath," he said. "It is the people who do not think that compel you to play on Sunday. You should have a day of rest and a day of worship, just as the remainder of the world. The ministers want you to have this day to yourselves. Only the people who are thoughtless are in favor of compelling you to work seven days in the week." Mr. Stone also made a plea for a down-town place of amusement for professionals. "There should be a place where you can meet one another," he said. "There should be a bureau of information. Of course, the prominent members of the profession have friends and know where to go when they reach the city. But there are many girls and men who would be thankful if they could go to a home sustained by themselves and learn where they could find the hotels that they want and the entertainment that they seek in a large city." Bishop C. P. Anderson delivered the Thanksgiving service. WARREN A. PATRICK.

MADGE MAITLAND.

On the front page of this week's issue of The Billboard appears an excellent likeness of Miss Madge Maitland, who is considered one of the brightest stars that now tread the vaudeville stage. Miss Maitland's first success was while a member of the team of Way and Maitland, but her success alone has eclipsed all previous ventures. She is now appearing in a new and up-to-date monologue, in which she introduces slang phrases. The sketch was an instantaneous hit. Miss Maitland is booked in the leading vaudeville houses in this country for the entire season.

HAMLIN'S SUCCESSOR.

There has been much speculation as to the successor of Frederick R. Hamlin. There is a strongly substantiated rumor that Kirke LaShelle, with whom Mr. Hamlin was formerly associated, will join with Messrs. Mitchell and Fields. It is said that Lew Fields has offered to purchase the shares of the deceased manager, but that Mrs. Hamlin refused all offers.

SHAW BUYS THE DOLL HOUSE.

Messrs. Shaw & Flischer, owners and managers of the Doll House Co., have agreed to discontinue their joint ownership of that company, and accordingly Mr. Shaw has purchased Mr. Flischer's interest. The transaction took place at Dubuque, Ia., last week. It is understood that the company is on a good financial standing, and that the transaction was the result of mutual agreement.

MRS. GILBERT DIES IN CHICAGO.

After more than seventy years of service upon the stage the grand old woman, Mrs. George Henry Gilbert, died at the Sherman House, Chicago, Ill., Friday, Dec. 2, shortly after she had suffered a stroke of apoplexy.

While preparing to do a deed of charity the last summons came and the venerable actress responded with a smile upon her face.

A cold bath brought on the shock which caused the death of Mrs. Gilbert. She was preparing to go shopping with the intention of buying Christmas presents for some of her younger friends upon the stage. As she emerged from the bath room she called to her maid to summon her physician as she felt ill. A spasm seemed to seize Mrs. Gilbert, and suddenly she became unconscious. Physicians were called but were unable to arouse her from the death-like stupor into which she had sunk, and she died within an hour and a half without regaining consciousness. The end came without a struggle. About the actress were her maid, Harry Powers and Frank E. Aiken, besides her two physicians. The body of the actress was started to New York Saturday, Dec. 3.

The life of Mrs. Gilbert is well known. An article in the Christmas number of The Billboard deals at length with the history of the lady who has been upon the stage so long.

The life of Mrs. Gilbert was an exemplary one. A woman of high moral character, she elevated and uplifted. Of a charitable turn, she never passed an opportunity to help a friend in need. Her long years of service upon the stage appeals to one very strongly, and the profession will join in declaring that Mrs. Gilbert was one of the greatest and grandest women that ever graced the stage.

WHITE RATS ELECT OFFICERS.

At a regular meeting of the White Rats of America at their lodge rooms on Broadway, Nov. 27, the following people were elected officers for the coming year: Ezra Kendall, president; Jas. F. Dolan, vice-president; J. E. Burk, secretary; Mark P. Murphy, treasurer; Chas. T. Aldrich, chaplain; Geo. Evans, note rat; Sam Norton, rap rat; Geo. E. Delmore, prop rat; Jamie McCall, jest rat; Chas. McDonald, nectar rat; Ed. Keough, guard rat, and John LeClair, Walter LeRoy and Geo. Monroe, board of trustees.

FRED C. WHITNEY ILL.

Fred C. Whitney, the well-known manager, is ill with pneumonia at his home in New York City. His condition is said to be serious.

HACKETT LAUNCHES FORTUNES OF THE KING.

James K. Hackett's new piece, The Fortunes of the King, was given its first presentation on any stage at Parsons' Theatre, Hartford, Conn., Nov. 27. The production was well received and the usual curtain calls were given Mr. Hackett.

The new play is the joint work of Mrs. Charles A. Doremus and Leonidas Westervelt, and is described as a romantic drama, founded upon historical incidents and characters. The time is 1651 and the story covers a period of sixteen days, immediately following the battle of Worcester, in which Oliver Cromwell's

OLA HUMPHREY

This talented actress is now recognized as a representative leading woman and star. Miss Humphrey began her theatrical experience with Frederick Warde eight years ago, and has since been in leading companies. Her performance of Kate Kenyon in The Girl I Left Behind Me won her the reputation of an emotional actress. Miss Humphrey started two years with Edwin Mordant in The Prisoner of Zenda, and earned the title which was bestowed upon her of "the Matilda Heron and Clara Morris of the present day." Her rendition of the difficult roles she has played stamps her as an actress of originality and power. She has the qualities and graces that proclaim dramatic genius. With her youth, beauty, talent and emotional temperament, she is destined to occupy a high place in the profession. Miss Humphrey has appeared in The Climbers, Janice Meredith, Man covers of Jane, The Wife, Because She Loved Him So, A Gold Mine, Miss Hobbs, La Tosca, Under Two Flags, Camille, The Christian, Rebelleu, Hamlet, King Lear and Virginius and originated Kim Soy in the Celestial Maiden. Leaving the legitimate she made her debut in vaudeville Nov. 23, in The Only Prisoner, written for her by Oyle Read, and made a hit. After a tour of the big houses she will go to London and South Africa for engagements in the "halls." Her husband, Edwin Mordant, is directing her tour.

army routed the rebellious subjects who had risen for Charles II. Mr. Hackett has the role of Charles Stuart, who later became Charles II., of England.

CHANGE IN POLICY AT COLUMBIA THEATRE.

The Columbia Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., now the home of a stock company, will, commencing Monday matinee, Dec. 12, be transformed into a vaudeville and musical extravaganza centre. The stock company's patronage did not warrant a continuance of the system and accordingly the management decided upon a change.

The new policy will be similar to that pursued by Weber & Fields in Manhattan, and upon practically the same scale. The prices will remain the same. The program will be changed every week. There will be daily matinees, and a popular concert every Sunday evening. The opening attraction announced for the week of Dec. 12, will be The Japskys. There will be six high vaudeville acts, and a number of novelties. Manager Dave A. Wells remains in charge.

AN ACTOR'S PRIVILEGE.

Oiga Nethersole, it is understood, intends giving The Flute of Pan a second trial in London before she will consent to pass it up as the dismal failure which the first night audience and critics so unmistakably pronounced it. In this decision the actress asserts her independence and her fearlessness, as well as her love for art. She still has hopes of a brilliant future for the new piece and is confident of success. Should a second trial prove the worth-ness of the piece and bestow upon her the success of which she is confident, then she will have scored a great triumph. On the other hand, should success be denied her she will have done her duty to art and the result would not be infra dig.

Simply because the first presentation of a new piece does not capture the fancy of the spectators is not proof positive that the piece is meritless. It would be folly to credit a first-night audience with all the requirements of the critic. The group of spectators that witness the first production of a piece is an aggregation of mystery. There are those who come through curiosity, some on account of friendship, many on account of enmity and some just come to see what they can do to the new play. The verdict may be prejudiced and unwarranted, in which case the star or the author has license to demand a new hearing.

MLLE. FLOR D'ALIZA

Many are the instances where a top-heavy gallery has hooted off the stage plays which afterward become famous.

COLONIAL THEATRE SOLD.

Negotiations have practically been concluded for the sale of the new Colonial Theatre, at Sixty-sixth street and Broadway, New York City, by its owner, Meyer R. Blumberg, to Weber & Rush.

Weber & Rush plan to produce original burlesque and musical comedy productions at the Colonial, which is the first theatre to be built on Broadway above Fifty-ninth street.

P. P. CRAFT MANAGES ROBERT DOWNING.

P. P. Craft has assumed the management of Mr. Robert Downing, who is presenting a grand revival of Ingomar, The Barbarian. Week of Dec. 19, Mr. Downing will produce in New York The Gladiator, and after this engagement The Gladiator as well as Ingomar will be used on the road.

HAINES WILL APPEAR IN NEW PLAY.

Robert T. Haines has closed with the DeWitt Company of Players and will appear about the first of January in a new play of which his wife is the author.

IBSEN ILL.

According to reports from Stockholm Henrik Ibsen is suffering from paralysis. His condition is serious and there is little hope of his recovery.

DRAMATIC.

Miss Campion has closed with the Keane Co. Business with the Aristocratic Tramp Co. is reported to be great. Geo. H. Haynes has replaced Chas. Jones as stage manager for The Sambo Girl Co.

Miss Beulah Timblin, of Marietta, O., is with the Bentley Ball Concert Co., and her reading is receiving many favorable newspaper comments.

The Burr Stock Co. closed at Mt. Carmel, Pa., Nov. 12. Some of the members of the company organized a one-night stand production of Jesse James.

Mr. Harry North, of the North Brothers' Comedians, reports business exceptionally good. They have been turning them away in Illinois. They broke the record at Kewanee.

Stanley's Metropolitan Stock Co. reports business good. Harry V. Winslow in advance gets the crowds. Manager William Stanford is now booking Eastern time for 1905-06.

Miss Marie Drofnah, leading lady of Charles H. Hanford's Co., has recovered from the indisposition which attacked her curds and left her for a short time unable to speak aloud.

George All, the pantomimist, who has made such a hit as Tige in Buster Brown, will start next season in a comedy now being written. Mr. All will be under Melville B. Raymond's management.

Bills are being posted thirty days in advance of the coming of Fred Raymond's attractions this season. Another new departure with these companies is a card and banner man ten days in advance.

The Royal Comiques report business very good. The Lotos and The Nelsons have been added to the aggregation to strengthen the vaudeville feature. The company plays two and three night stands and embraces twenty people.

Mrs. Black is back in limited to New York City only until Jan. 9. It is said that Miss Irwin never appeared to better advantage than she does in the new Hobart farce. The Spanish Coo is one of her new songs.

Geo. F. Driscoll, manager of Klint's (Western) On The Bridge at Midlight Co., reports excellent business on the coast and during their sixteen weeks' western tour. At Omaha, Neb., the company broke all records and they have been doing big business through Iowa.

Melville B. Raymond reports his business as excellent with his several companies, and is preparing two new offerings, The Seminary Girl, which goes on tour about the holidays, and a big Minstrel Carnival, with the original three Germans at the head, will take the road soon after.

Tom North, the genial and clever manager of Billy (North) Clifford, is issuing a booklet containing a squib regarding him written by J. Will Donovan, the well-known theatrical critic. It is headed by this unique title, "Tell Your Story Walking," and is one of the biggest boosters North has ever received.

Charles B. Hanford's tour this season will again include the Pacific Slope, where he will present his series of three special productions, Otello, Tambling of The Shrew, and Don Quixote. While in California Mr. Hanford will visit his birthplace in Amador county, and the city which bears the family name, Hanford.

Sam Rothschild, the old-time advance agent, who has been ill for the past twenty-seven weeks, nineteen of which he has spent in the Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago, undergoing three operations, is now able to be about. Mr. Rothschild has been suffering from a severe attack of blood poisoning, the result of paring a corn.

The fight of Gen. Lew Wallace, Marc Klaw and A. L. Erlanger, against W. S. Cleveland in connection with the hiring of the play Ben Hur at Cleveland's Theatre, Chicago, Ill., came to an end in the United States district court last week when Judge Koblasat decided that the injunction temporarily issued in 1901 against Cleveland should be made permanent.

Manager Winters, of The Grace Hayward Co., was very fortunate in securing the copyrighted World's Fair Cascade curtain, owned for the past season by Wm. Savage, of Alton. The curtain will be used as a special feature with the Hayward Co. It is very beautiful, being an exact reproduction of the famous cascades and festival hall, when illuminated by the myriad of electric lights.

ENGAGEMENTS.

Miss Rose Vinton has engaged with the Queen of The West Co. Robert B. Mack and Bessie Phillips have been engaged for the Randolph and Adolph Co. Gilbert Gregory has engaged for the role of Cupid in the Cupid Co., replacing Hinghey Dougherty.

Jas. C. Moore, of Gloverville, N. Y., joined the DuVries Stock Co., Nov. 14, to act as musical director. Mr. Benrimo, of the Blanche Bates Co., has joined Mrs. Leslie Carter in her new production of Adrea.

James Cooper, character man with the Columbia Stock Co., Brooklyn, N. Y., has engaged with the Colonial Stock Co. at Cleveland, O. Lillie Pope, Benir Loeffel, Mildred LaWold, Dorothy Holmes, Nelda Dickson and Louise Ashley joined Eva Tanquary's Co. at Waterloo, Ia., Nov. 27.

Gordon Edwards, late of the Boyle Stock Co., succeeds him at the Columbia.

PLAYHOUSES.

The new Marty Theatre at Tipton, Ind., was opened Nov. 9.

for the building of a new $25,000 theatre at Taylorville, Ill.

A new open house is the proposition in New Sharon, Ia. The New Vienna (O.) Opera House is being provided with a new fire-escape and other improvements.

Mr. Herdwood has secured control of the opera house at Pennville, instead of Perryville, Ind., as recently reported. Lee Lassner, late stage manager of the Elk Theatre, Pocatello, Ida., is taking a much needed rest in Salt Lake City.

N. J. Steffen has retired from the management of the opera house at Hastings, Minn., and John and Edward Murray have leased the house. Sig Watcher has closed as press agent with Young's Pier, Atlantic City, N. J., and will hereafter extol the excellence of the attractions at the Savoy.

Messrs. Smith and Kelly, who recently opened a new vaudeville house at Springfield, Ill., have obtained a lease on the Auditorium Theatre at Cedar Rapids, Ia. The reopening of the Kason Opera House at Gloverville, N. Y., failed to materialize Nov. 18. Nothing definite has as yet been given out by the management.

Walter Vanbyke, manager of the Lyric Theatre, St. Joseph, Mo., has organized a second stock company, which will play in repertoire. It will start early this month. John A. Tyler, manager of Moore's Theatre, Nevada, Mo., has erected about 1,500 square feet of billboards for the purpose of advertising attractions that come to his house.

The Bridge City Concert Hall at Logansport, Ind., has been renamed the Wandries Theatre. Mr. Harry Burns, known on the vaudeville stage as the champion bag-puncher, is manager. The new $8,000 opera house will be erected at Brownwood, Tex., before next season. Work will begin about the first of next month. Mr. R. W. Harryman will be manager of the house.

Manager William Gillman, of the Rochester (Pa.) Grand Opera House, has remodeled and renovated the theatre. Mr. Gillman is an old-time circus hiller and bills his attractions like a circus. Recently fell from the fly gallery to the stage floor, a distance of twenty-four feet at the City Opera House, Newburg, Ind., sustaining serious injuries. He will be manager.

The opera house at Rutland, Vt., has been leased by its owner, Gen. W. Y. W. Ripley, to Messrs. T. Boyle, of Granville, N. Y., and Philip H. Brohmer, of Rutland. The house opened Nov. 23 under the new management. The attractions at the York Theatre, St. John, N. B., for week of Nov. 28 were as follows: Prof. Walbert's educated horse, Dahi; Crowley and Foley, Ma June, Nichols and Croix, Brothers Bonette and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Linder.

The bill at the Standard Theatre, Fort Worth, Tex., last week was composed of the following artists: The Toys, Wallace and Beards, Gill and Gill, Len Hill and the Stock Co. with Chas. and Hattie Verdir in the leading roles. The roster of the Kyle Theatre, Beaumont, Tex., is as follows: E. M. Weiss, manager; C. W. Munnell, stage manager; E. E. Weiss, treasurer; W. Hyland, assistant treasurer; F. D. Carstens, master of the band; W. Scarborough, hyman, and C. E. Miller, electrician.

A subscription is being raised in Shawnee, Okla., for the purpose of building a $10,000 opera house. Mr. James R. Marlett is promoting the enterprise, and it is stated that if the project goes through the Becker Brothers will become managers of the house. Shawnee is a good town and can boast of some enterprising citizens.

Owing to the serious illness of Mrs. John S. Burke, wife of the popular manager of the Orpheum Theatre, St. Joseph, Mo., caused him to sever his connection therewith. Mr. Carl Dieter, of Ottawa, has been placed in charge until Mr. Burke's successor is appointed. Mr. Burke left immediately for Chicago after tendering his resignation.

The Amphion Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., has been closed and will remain so until after Christmas, when it will be reopened as a concert house under the management of the Hyde & Behman Co. The best grade of attractions playing at a dollar for the choice orchestra seats will be presented, the scale of prices extending from 25 cents. Samuel H. Cohen will resume his position as resident manager of the house, and all the other members of the staff employed when the leading stars and comedians were presented will be at their old places.

MUSICAL.

Mme. Melba did not sing in Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 28. Sultan of Sulu had the biggest house of the season at Hot Springs, Ark. Miss Viola Adams, Fidella Allen and Estelle Perry have closed with the Fatana Co. Ethel Irene Harte, daughter of the dead novelist, has decided to adopt the concert stage.

Felix Weingartner may shortly retire as conductor of the symphony concerts of the Royal Berlin Opera Orchestra. Mascagni has opened a new musical school in Rome. He is working on a new opera that he believes will rival his Cavalleria.

Mme. Patti has volunteered to give a concert at St. Petersburg, Russia, Dec. 11, for the benefit of the wounded Russian soldiers. Mr. H. Ray Comstock, manager of the Rn-awaya, wishes to deny the report of his illness, as there was no truth whatever in the rumor. Miss Nina Randall, until recently with the Huster Brown Co., will be featured in The Seminary Girl, a new musical play which Melville B. Raymond will send on the road about Christmas time.

Miss Margaret Johnson, premiere of the famous Broilers, with the Royal Chef, will close with the company at Ottawa, Ill., Saturday, Dec. 17, returning to Chicago, where she will rejoin the LaSalle Theatre Stock Co. Franz Bessey, the twelve-year-old violinist who has been such a star in musical circles on the continent, has been engaged by Daniel Frohman for a series of thirty concerts in America. It is possible that the tour will take in Mexico and Australia.

It is announced from Vienna that Mme. Calve, who has been making an extended concert tour, is very ill. She disappointed a very large audience in Vienna. The doctors say that her ailment is appendicitis. It is feared that an operation will be necessary.

After an absence of six years, Ella Russell began her American tour at Cleveland, O., Nov. 20, before an audience composed of Cleveland's society and musical element. Miss Russell made an artistic success and sang with fine emotional feeling and dramatic effect.

Cleveland was her former home, she having been born and reared there.

The Kaphan Theatrical Syndicate of N. Y., will present this season two companies of Carmen. Number one company, headed by Senorita Sandoval, has met with enormous success abroad, and they have decided to send a number two company out to tour the United States.

One of the special features will be Edison's life-size bullfight in Seville. This will be a very elaborate production, having special scenery, magnificent costumes and electrical effects.

MINSTRELS.

Ted Galbraith is again advertising agent for the Ted E. Faust Special Minstrels. M. C. Cookston, manager of Beach & Bowers' Minstrels, visited the World's Fair during the closing week. Herman Vonquett, contortionist, N. S. Baker, basso, and James Carroll, comedian, have joined Beach & Bowers' Minstrels.

Harlow's V. Tooley, trombonist, late of the Who, What, When Minstrels, joined the Barlow & Wilson Minstrels at Fulton, Ky. Henry Michotte, formerly with Brown's Tennessee Minstrels, send your address to Gabriel Michotte. See advertisement in another column.

Harlow's Minstrels played Tampa, Fla., again, a strong street syndical, and in Key West were up against a murder case, interest in which simply turned the island upside down. The show managed to get winning business at both towns, but Manager Coburn writes that it was a "scratch," or in other words, the narrowest kind of a margin.

VAUDEVILLE.

The Mortons joined the Grace Hayward Co. in Alton, Ill. The Fords are resting with their parents in Louisville, Ky. The Cliffords opened at Bante, Mont., Nov. 20, and scored a hit. Arthur Godkin, of the Godkin Trio, has become manager of the Bryant Comedy Co.

The Middletons made a big hit Thanksgiving week at the Arcade Theatre, Toledo, O. Frank Adams, a comedian, writes that they are booked up solid and enjoying good business. Fred Vice, of the team of Vice and Viola, mourns the loss of his father who died Thanksgiving day.

Herrman, the magician, and his company will take the road shortly under the management of J. J. Frank. James McClellan has joined his wife, Winnie Marquam, who is filling engagements as a vocalist on the Pacific coast. The Great Altken, contortionist, was engaged as a special feature at the opening of the Great Southern Pavilion at New Orleans, La., Thanksgiving day.

Little Conney Ray, of the Three Rays, is making a hit with her song entitled, "Please Baby, Won't You Talk To Me?" The song was dedicated to her by Lynne A. Hazzard. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Mack, of the Conroy & Mack Co., mourn the loss of their daughter who died from broncho-pneumonia at Mannington, W. Va., Nov. 27, aged six months.

The growing popularity of The Butlers, America's Twentieth Century Hypnotists, is attested by increasing business all along their route. Their business manager, Mr. G. A. Butler, has been offered an entire circuit in Texas, which he is seriously considering.

Ans Ryan, trick cyclist, while playing an engagement with The Fatal Fiddling Co. at Birmingham, Ala., was taken ill with pleurisy and left in the hospital. After his recovery he played two weeks with the Gaskill Carnival Co., and is now with the Murry Comedy Co. Among the clever artists who help to make up the vaudeville world, Vera Hall and Zelma Wheeler in their songs, dances and classic poses, are entitled to a position in the front rank. Their act is peculiarly their own, and to lovers of the novel and unique the work of these artists is a genuine pleasure.

FARCE COMEDY.

Grant Shurtleff is doing some efficient work in advance of Uncle Ives. T. Dwight Pepple has been engaged as manager of the Eastern Hooligan's Troubles Co. Mamie Lincoln Pixley, now starring in the New York Day By Day Co., will open next season in her own play surrounded by her own company under the management of her husband, Starr L. Pixley.

David Brattstrom, who plays the title role in Yan Yonson, has in preparation a new comedy, entitled The Swedish Senator, which he claims to be of a more ambitious nature than any of the Swedish comedies heretofore presented. The story is that of a Scandinavian who goes from Minnesota to the Spanish-American War, and is later elected to the senate in a contest with the heavy villain.

BURLESQUE.

The Clansen Sisters have closed with Carr's Thoroughbreds. Billy W. Watson is this season with The Bowery Burlesquers. The Myles McCarty Co., is engaged as an extra attraction at the Star Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Reports of good business come from Harry Bryant's Extravaganza Co. The company spent Thanksgiving week at The Gotham, New York City, and enjoyed the usual Thanksgiving turkey. Frank B. Carr's Thoroughbreds, which is one of the greatest of the wheel shows, is doing the largest business in the history of this attraction. They are now playing in New York City.

Mr. Alex Schonberg, who is manager of the Star Theatre, Brooklyn, N. Y., which plays the wheel shows, reports business very good and says that some of the attractions have done record-breaking business. Following is the roster of The Bowery Burlesquers Co.: Harry Bryant, sole owner; C. H. Kenyon, manager; C. D. Sullivan, musical director; Lonis Olwell, electrician; Billy Arlington, Frank Berry, Frank Vack, Jimmie Gill, M. Collins, George Nest, Janet Williams, Carl Franklin, Pauline Berry, Grace Belmont, Belle Franklin and Charles H. Boyle.

WITH THE STAGE HANDS.

Geo. Roberts has become stage carpenter at the Empire Theatre, Mt. Adams, Mass., succeeding P. H. Bohnery, resigned. The grand banquets of the Grand Opera House, Jacksonville, Ill., held their fourth annual banquet on the stage of the theatre, Nov. 23. An elegant menu was served, after which toasts were given by Manager Chatterton, Stage Manager Brown and representatives of the press. Everyone present enjoyed the evening immensely.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK.—The unprecedented success of Manager Conried's Metropolitan Opera Co. continues. The elite of the city fill the tiers of boxes nightly, while the other parts of the house overflow into the streets.

Such prosperity may be taken as a criterion for the other amusements in New York, and the openings Monday night, 28, were well attended, while the old favorites continue to draw most gratifying business.

The most pretensions of last week's openings was that of Nat C. Goodwin at the Knickerbocker Theatre in The Uurper, which received praise from all the daily newspaper critics. Mr. Goodwin's work is commented on with no restraint of encomium, though the play is mildly criticized as limiting his capacity for comedy.

New York is enthusiastic over the excellent acting of Miss Nance O'Neil in the Fires of St. John, with which she opened the week at Daly's Monday night 28. A great many professional people of the metropolis predict for this admirable actress a leading place in the profession. Mme. Refane closed her engagement at the Lyric Theatre with a week devoted to Sapho, Incognito, La Petite Marquise, Ma Cousine, La Douleur and La Dame Aux Camellias, doing the best work of her engagement. James K. Hackett in The Fortunes of The King follows her into this house. His play will be reviewed in the next issue of The Billboard.

OHIO.

CINCINNATI.—Wilton Lackaye has been at the Grand this week with a good Co. Mr. Lackaye plays vividly the role of the speculator and is given excellent support. Jane Oaker, as leading lady, deserves special mention. The Girl From Kay's comes next week. A Girl From Dixie has been the attraction at the Walnut and business has been good at this house as well as at the Grand. The Forepaugh Stock Co. at Robinson's put on Man's Enemy to good business. They produce The Girl I Left Behind Me next week.

At the Columbia Robert Hilliard and Co. have held the boards and played to good houses. Across The Pacific at Heck's, and Escaped From The Harem at the Lyceum, have both drawn good business. Scribner's Morning Glories drew good crowds to the Peoples.

Cincinnatians feel most deeply the death of Mrs. Gilbert in Chicago. The noted actress was in a Cincinnati Stock Co. during the civil war. Mr. Ed. Fuller, manager of Across The Pacific Co. and Miss May Harrison, of the Morning Glories Co., were married in this city, Dec. 1. Manager Grotts, of the Burlesque Co. did justice to the bridal pair and an elaborate spread was served to the members of both Cos.

The Ohio building at the late World's Fair, St. Louis, has been sold for $600.

The time for the curtain at the Grand has been changed from 2:15 and 8:15 to 2:00 and 8:00 respectively. The change goes into effect next week.

CLEVELAND.—Opera House (A. F. Harts, mgr.) The Girl From Kay, with Sam Bernhart in the leading role, was clever and entertaining. Miss Hattie Williams, Geo. Howard, Miss Dudley and Miss Clifford following Bernard closely as laugh extractors.

Colonial (Drew & Campbell, mgrs.) The Vaughan Glaser stock Co. in The Woman Hater to a large audience Monday evening were well received.

Keith's (L. M. Elrick, mgr.) Mr. Chas. Hopper of Chimmie McFadden fame, made his debut in vaudeville at this popular theatre Monday, and was cordially received. Among the other entertainers were the Ten Inch Troupe of Japanese magicians, Chas. Bradshaw & Co., Millman Troupe, Milan Trio, Nelson Farmm's Troupe, Matthews and Ashley, Benash and Miller, all of whom pleased the large audience.

Empire (Max Faetkenbeuer, mgr.) The Wm. Farnum Co. displayed its versatility last evening by presenting a farce comedy, My Wife's Husbands. Miss Percy Haswell carried away the honors as Gwendolyn Wlason.

Lyceum (J. K. Cookson, mgr.) Buster Brown is back in town with that clever midget, Master Gabriel in the leading role. The play is so popular here that the manager has decided to give a matinee performance today this week.

Cleveland (Louis Bixler, mgr.) Montgomery Irving in For His Brot. Star (Drew & Campbell, mgrs.) Trans-Atlantic Burlesquers won favor. The Co. is headed by Miss Yolande Wallace. The olio is a fair one.

Several of the buildings are already well under way at Luna Park. Excavations are being made for others and the framework of still others placed in position. The managers hope to have most of the buildings enclosed before winter weather comes. The interior work will be carried ahead during the winter.

Geo. Kline, Frank Wright, and Wm. Young of the Fred Irwin's Big Show Co., were initiated Saturday, Nov. 19 in local No. 9 T. M. A. The T. M. A's are becoming stronger each year, the Cleveland lodge having over 100 members.

Mr. Proctor, of New York, was here last week, visiting Drew & Campbell relative to the stock company circuit, and incidentally looked over the field for a new vaudeville theatre. May he find it. Cleveland would be honored in having two such vaudeville princes as B. F. Keith and Mr. Proctor furnishing the local attractions.

At the conclusion of his act Monday, Mr. Chas. Hopper was presented over the footlights at Keith's with a loving cup by his fellow members of the Hermit Club.

PAUL C. MOONEY, 5 Keith's Theatre Bldg.

PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA.—Crispy, cool weather, clear as a bell, makes theatre going a pleasure, and the result is that all of the houses are doing well. The looked for slump after the Thanksgiving holidays happily did not come, and business this week will show as big a volume as the previous week. If the holiday matinee and night houses are taken out of the case, in fact, from reports received from all eastern cities, business has shown a remarkably healthy increase since election.

Garrick Theatre.—Richard Mansfield in a popular repertoire opened at this house 28 for a two weeks' run. He has a big advance sale and it looks as if this were going to be the banner engagement of this clever actor in the Quaker City.

Broad Street Theatre.—William Gillette in The Admirable Crichton made a hit at his opening performance at this house 28, and business has been good all week. The same bill will be continued week 5.

Walnut Street Theatre.—Checkers made such a hit in this city last season that people were eager to see it again, and the result was that an overflowing house greeted this play 28, and business has been very good all week. Same bill will rule for week 5.

Chestnut Street Theatre.—Mr. Puff, Puff, with Eddie Foy in the leading role, made a good start 28 and has been getting the money since. It will be continued week 5.

Chestnut Street Opera House.—Wright Lorimer in the new biblical drama The Shepherd King, met with a favorable reception at this house week 28 and some attraction will no doubt do well week 5, as the advance sale is large.

Park Theatre.—Pretty Polly Primrose, with Adelaide Thurston in the lead, had an enormous business week 28. Announced for 5 is Richard Carl in The Tenderfoot, scheduled for a three weeks' run.

Grand Opera House.—The Rags in Down the Pike have the record for this house as their Thanksgiving week proved to be the biggest engagement ever played at a popular price. Week 28 Lewis Morrison in Faust has been doing well and things look bright for Buuning for Office, which comes week 5.

Casino.—Rice's Co. in The Merry Shop Girls still continues at this house to fair business. The attraction is scheduled for another week and then George Lederer's Stock Co. is announced to open in Smiling Island, the new musical comedy by George Hoberat.

Albany's Arch Street Theatre.—Melodrama still continues to draw good houses at this theatre and the season will show a big profit. Week 28 the attraction that did nicely was More To Be Pitted Than Scorned, and billed heavily for week 5 is The Great Automobile Mystery.

Harvard Avenue Theatre.—Business is very satisfactory at this pretty house, where David Harum is the attraction week 28. For week 5 is The Crisis.

National Theatre.—Why Girls Leave Home is the kind of a show that the patrons of this house like, so they have turned out in large numbers this week to see it. Week 5 Joe Welch in Cohen's Luck will be the attraction.

People's Theatre.—Business still continues good at this house. Week 28 A Wife's Secret. Announced for week 5 Dealers in Waste Women.

Hart's Kensington Theatre.—The slight reduction in the price of admission to this house has resulted favorably and business is now very good. Week 28 The Child Wife. Announced for week 5 A Working Girl's Wrongs.

Forepaugh's Theatre.—Alaska, as given by the Stock Co., pleased everyone, and they are now rehearsing The Marriage Vow, which will be the bill for week 5.

Standard Theatre.—The Stock Co. is producing with great success Woman Against Woman. Keith's Theatre.—Vaudeville continues to draw well at this house. The bills are clean and clever and the patronage always enormous.

Bon Ton Theatre.—Business keeps up to a profitable standpoint, with a little increase each week, so the projectors are satisfied. Vaudeville will be continued as long as it pays.

Kievnot Street Opera House.—Dumont's Minstrels still pleasing the nightly throngs who flock to this house every night.

Trocadero Theatre.—The Dainty Duchess Burlesques are doing a big business this week, people being turned away every night.

Lycenm Theatre.—Burlesque continues to draw big houses at this theatre. Week 28 The Gay Masqueraders is the attraction.

Museum.—Business is very good at this place where excellent vaudeville shows are given in the theatre and a number of startling curiosities are shown each week in the hall.

BOB WATT, 806 Walnut Street, Phila.

PITTSBURG.—Taking it as a whole, the week's attraction offered at the different playhouses this week are the best so far this season, and the weather is all that could be asked for—dry, clear and cold enough to encourage large attendance.

Nixon (T. F. Krike, Jr., mgr.) The large Drury Lane spectacle, Mother Goose, which is on for a two weeks' run is drawing large crowds, and it is the largest as well as the prettiest spectacle ever offered to Pittsburghers. Packed houses should rule during the present engagement.

Gaiety (James S. Orr, mgr.) The Missourians as offered this week is very much on the melodrama order, yet it is deserving of praise and patronage. The play is well staged, its characters well portrayed. Next: Eternal City.

Alvin (Harry Davis, mgr.) The Village Postmaster, while a very pretty rural play, is not worthy of such capable players as the Stock Co. contains. Next: A Fool and His Money.

Hijon (R. M. Gulick, mgr.) Mr. Chauncey Olcott in A Romance of Athlone was greeted with his usual large patronage and played to capacity. Mr. Olcott's voice has lost none of its sweetness and he is a prime favorite here. Next: A Fatal Wedding.

Duquesne (R. M. Gulick, mgr.) First-nighters found plenty to amuse them at the Duquesne last night in that jolly production of Weber & Fields' Twirly Whirly, put on by Boss and Featon. Next: Happy Hooligan.

Avenue (Harry Davis, mgr.) Barbara Fildgely, in the hands of the Travesty Stock Co. is well handled, and the audience was well satisfied.

Empire (E. I. McCullough, mgr.) Madame Herman and her troupe of vaudeville artists, entertained a crowded house at the Empire. The bill was good from start to finish, and the audience very appreciative. Next: Gotthold's Gathering of Vaudeville Celebrities.

Grand (Harry Davis, mgr.) Among the most interesting features of the bill are the experiments showing the wonders of liquid air. Wentworth's horses are very good.

Academy (Harry Williams, Jr., mgr.) Packed houses greeted the Tiger Lillies. The fun is fast and furious and worthy of patronage received. The hit of the evening was Bouita with her Cuban and African Kida.

Miss Eva Fay is on for another week at Old City Hall. She is certainly a wonder, her kind reading is the talk of the town.

The disappointment of the week was the illness of Melba. While she is expected to be able to carry out part of her program here this week, the chances are that her concert will be postponed for at least one month.

The Duquesne Gardens are drawing as of old; the skating is fine and the interscholastic hockey games are exciting much attention.

LOUIS L. KAUFMAN.

The Rev. Dr. Charles Wood, of Philadelphia, has a story which he tells "on the excellent authority of Mr. Booker T. Washington." A negro had a dream in which he thought he visited purgatory. He was telling a friend about it next morning, when the friend interrupted him, asking: "Was there any niggers there?" "Yaas, sir, there was lots of them," was the reply. "Any white men?" "Yaas, sir, lots of them." "What were the white men doing?" "Every one of them was holding a nigger 'tween him and the fire," said the dreamer.—New York Times.

In an Iowa court the other day an attorney in the midst of his argument paused a moment and said: "I see Your Honor shakes his head at that statement. I desire to reaffirm it, although Your Honor dissents." "I have not intimated," replied the Judge, "how I should construe the evidence or what my decision will be in the case, and your remark is uncalled for." "You shook your head." "That may be true," the Court replied; "there was a fly on my ear, and I reserved the right to remove it in any manner I saw fit. Proceed with your argument."—Argonaut.

Thursday, Dec. 1, over 76,000 persons visited the live stock show in Chicago. The Windy City is used to dealing in big figures, but when you stop to consider that this did not pretend to be a world's fair, but only a modest live stock show, the figures will look really respectable.

Immediately following election there was a slight slump in theatrical business in Chicago, but amusement affairs experienced a decided rally during Thanksgiving week, and at the present time most of the Chicago houses are enjoying a degree of unprecedented prosperity.

History repeats itself. Two of America's greatest statesmen, Adams and Jefferson, answered the final summons simultaneously. Last week there passed away two of America's noblest actresses, Mrs. Gilbert and Mme. Janauschek. The profession owes much to these grand women and we should take a few moments from this busy season to do them reverence.

The World's Fair attendance, estimated receipts, income and cost of the big show which follow are full of interest. While the figures are not "official" they are as nearly right as it is possible to make them at this writing and may be considered as substantially correct.

ZANGWILL ON VAUDEVILLE.

The unenthusiastic reception at Proctor's (N. Y.) Theatre of Israel Zangwill's subtle one-act play Six Persons, and its subsequent repudiation by Percy Williams, manager of The Orpheum, Brooklyn, has brought forth from Mr. Zangwill a tirade of abuse against vaudeville theatres, the character of entertainment there found, and the audiences that pass judgment on what is presented for their entertainment.

The Billboard does not endorse Mr. Zangwill's views; and, to say the least, the statement bears strong evidences of pique, evidently said in haste, or illy considered before being uttered.

The American amusement-going public are not to be classed among the illiterate and wanting in intelligence. Our vaudeville theatres, as a rule, are not down to the level of the music halls on the other side of the big pond. Some of the best talent now before the public graduated from the vaudeville, and managers are constantly alert to obtain the best and highest class of amusement to feature. Break the "crust," Mr. Zangwill, and like thousands of others you will find life is not enjoyable without a hearty laugh, even at the expense of buttons. To a well-balanced, healthy, discriminating mind there is more to be found on the vaudeville stage to bring out the best elements of mankind than otherwise. Many excellent and practical lessons are taught thereon, and managers are kept busy maintaining the highest standard of entertainment for those who wish to laugh and forget for a time they ever had a sorrow.

DRAMATIC CRITICISM IN ENGLAND.

(By Horace Wyndham.)

If it were not for the fact that, taking it all round, the dramatic criticism in English newspapers is a good deal worse than the literary criticism, one might think that the same writers were responsible for both departments. Fatuous, however, as are the majority of book reviews, they are brilliant compared with the average report on a theatrical production. For sheer incapacity, often combined with absolute misstatement of fact, this is in many cases unequalled in any branch of journalism. While the literary criticisms seem for the most part to be written by office-boys for office-boys, the dramatic ones would seem to be composed by their under-studies. Of course, there are exceptions, but these do not take up much space.

An expressions of sound judgment the accounts of plays that appear in English journals are seldom worth the paper they are written on. To the reader interested in the stage, and anxious to know what to patronize, they afford remarkably little guidance. In attempting to ascertain what a new piece is about, how it is acted, and how it was received on the first night, he is generally condemned either to wade through a column of turgid gush, or to find the production dismissed with a few contemptuous lines. The lack of unanimity, too, among the critics is, as a rule, quite bewildering. Thus, while one paper—probably confounding the obituary with the dramatic—behinds something to the skies, another of equal weight discovers no merit in it at all. The usual fate, by the way, of a newspaper-called "masterpiece," is an uninterrupted run of three nights. Then, again, one journal will assure its readers that a play was received "successfully," while another states with equal confidence that the "reception was distinctly unfavorable."

It is rather a moot question whether dramatic criticism in England over-praises or over-blames. As a rule, they have so little restraint (while their discriminating faculties are usually so blunted), that they are almost certain to err in one of these directions. Speaking generally, they go in too much for what Mr. Pinero aptly calls the doctrine of "praise, praise, praise." It is a charitable fault and is chiefly due to the writers' lacking a sense of proportion. For example, a girl is suddenly called upon to take the place of someone whom she has been understudying; she does it well. Forthwith an impressionable young gentleman records at great length in the columns of a halfpenny paper that she is a "great" actress "perhaps she does it very well. Thereupon the critic" promptly hails her as a "genius." This of course is grateful and comforting to the lady in question; at the same time it does not make her the "great" actress or "genius" that the journalist—unable to differentiate between his admiration of the performer and appreciation of the performance—declares her to be. Similarly, when an actor is the subject of these fulsome encomiums, it by no means follows that he is qualified to set up in management on his own account. The tendency of such criticism, however, is distinctly mischievous, for it is apt to induce the individuals in question with a very wrong idea of their worth.

The divergence of opinion among those who are commissioned by the press in England to act as guides, philosophers, and friends in the matter of the drama is extremely confusing. A dozen views of the same play may be derived from their incubations. Thus, and quite recently, six of the leading papers in London pronounced the following verdicts on one of Mr. Beerbohm Tree's productions: (1) "Thrills the nerves"; (2) "a successful production"; (3) "an exceptionally fine play"; (4) "a slow, commonplace, and purely theatrical piece"; (5) "ineffective"; and (6) "an exasperation." As a matter of fact, the play in question was a very average one; had a career extending over four months, and earned considerable royalties for its author.

Ability to write the King's English does not appear to be a necessary qualification on the part of dramatic critics in London. Knowledge of the drama and intimacy with the stage are certainly not predominate ones. The critic of one of the many halfpenny journals in London, possessing the largest circulation in the world, is said to have telegraphed from Beyrath the other day, "last night was produced here a new opera called Lohengrin. The following is a brief synopsis of the plot." Another paper, in its anxiety to be thoroughly up-to-date was recently enterprising enough to write a "criticism" of Miss Ellen Terry's appearance at a suburban theatre the day before she appeared there. The "Sketch" has also distinguished itself in the same fashion.

When the state into which dramatic criticism has sunk is taken into consideration, it is only natural to find theatrical managers holding very strong views on the matter. Mr. Beerbohm Tree, who probably knows more about the subject than anyone else, once said to the present writer: "In speaking of criticism discretion is for an actor the better part of valor. While many plays are intelligently dealt with by the press the chilling reception that many fine productions meet with is only equalled by the adulation unthinkingly offered to managers who stand on their heads in circuses or perform conjuring tricks in music halls." In connection with this it may be pointed out that only the other day a monkey which appeared at a place of alleged entertainment in London received more publicity than was accorded to Madame Bernhardt at another theatre. Some managers have had such unsatisfactory experiences at the hands of the critics that they have taken the extreme course of excluding certain of them from their initial performances.

Where the drama is concerned honest criticism seems to be as dead in England as frozen mittens. This is seen to a special degree whenever a play by one of the few possessing a "name" is produced. There are only about four such authors in the kingdom; but whatever they write meets with yards of unqualified admiration in the press. No one, for example, was brave enough to say that J. M. Barrie's Little Mary was remarkably stupid and singularly dull. The public, however, was sufficiently intelligent to think so, and it accordingly proved a failure. When the new Galety was opened with the Orchild at the end of last year, every paper went into ecstasies over the entertainment and talked for the next week of its "enthusiastic reception." This piece, as a matter of important fact, was on the night of its production, duller than any Galety one has yet seen, while it was also heartily booed. Slight alterations—such as cutting out the first half, re-writing the second, and introducing entirely new songs and dances all through—that have since been made turned it into a genuine success. It is none the less true, however, that in its original form it was a great failure. Yet no paper had the courage to say so. The reason for this is, firstly, that the success of a Galety piece is a tradition; and, secondly, that Mr. George Edwards, the lessee of the theatre, is a generous advertiser and a sufficiently sound business man not to waste his money on papers that write adverse notices of his productions. The majority of the weekly journals are not worth considering at all as it is their practice to wait discreetly to see what the dailies have said before committing themselves.

Considering the deplorable state of theatrical criticism in England it is only natural to find that it exercises remarkably little effect on the fortunes of the drama. Time was when a favorable notice in the Daily Telegraph meant a thousand pounds of advance booking; nowadays it means nothing at all beyond pleasing the vanity of the author. Columns of newspaper adulation will fail to bring a penny piece into the box office that would not get there without such adventitious aid; similarly, vituperative abuse will not keep money away. The play-going public wisely makes up its mind for itself if it wants to see a piece or not. As one of the few qualified critics has smartly said, "a play is like a cigar. If it is bad, no amount of puffing will make it draw. If it is good everyone wants a box."

MME. JANUSCHKE DEAD.

Mme. Janauschek, the actress, died Nov. 29 in the Brunswick home at Amityville, N. Y., where for the last four months she had been a private patient as a charge of the actors' fund. Prior to going to Amityville Mme. Janauschek had been a guest of the actors' home on Staten Island. She had been gradually sinking for months. Paralysis and a general debility were the immediate cause of death. She was seventy-four years old, having been born in Prague, Bohemia, in 1830.

In 1867 she came to the United States and played Medea and other roles in German, and later made a success in tragic roles in English. She essayed such parts as Deborah, Blanca, Mary Stuart, Queen Elizabeth, Lady Macbeth and Meg Merrilies.

Mme. Janauschek had not played regularly for several years, although until seven or eight years ago she would return to the stage for brief seasons. In July, 1900, she had her first touch of paralysis. Later she went to the home of Mrs. Aton in Saratoga, N. Y. A benefit performance at Wallack's Theatre in which prominent actors and actresses took part, on April 12, 1901, netted about $5,000 for her. In October of last year she sold her effects, consisting of costumes she had worn in her former productions. Then a relief fund was started for her and later the actors' fund, which had always looked out for her as much as she would permit, induced her to go to its home on Staten Island.

During the years of her successes Mme. Janauschek was progressive and her repertoire was a constantly increasing one. The play, Deborah, which was a favorite with her, was in reality a version of Leah, the Forsaken. Marie Antoinette was for many years the most attractive play in her repertoire, judging from public approval, while in Mary Stuart she vied for a time with Modjeska for honors. The temporary interest aroused over Bleak House, in which she played Hortense and Lady Dedlock, seemed to inspire the actress with a desire to play dual parts, and she made several experiments along this line, one, a drama, called My Life, being produced in 1884, but not with positive success. She was last seen in The Harvest Moon.

The actress was buried in Evergreen cemetery. The services were extremely simple and were under the direction of the Actors' Fund of America.

OBITUARY.

Marie B. Wilks, the oldest actress in this country, died Nov. 25 in the Prince of Peace Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., at the age of 88 years. She retired from the stage many years ago, and had since resided in Philadelphia. Mrs. Wilks was the original Widow Melnotte with Edwin Forrest, and was a member of the companies of most of the famous actors of her time.

Bonnie Stringfellow, of the Sweet Clover Co., died very suddenly in Chicago recently of quick consumption. In private life she was known as Mrs. Franklyn Hall Stringfellow, and had been on the stage since a child. She was 22 years of age at the time of her death. Her husband and her mother, Marie DeVeechio are with the same Co.

J. Leonard Gray, after a long career as a theatrical manager, died at his home in Newark, N. J., Nov. 24, of acute Bright's disease. Mr. Gray was formerly manager of the Park Theatre and Grand Opera House, and brought the leading actresses of former days to these houses.

Mrs. Daniel G. Reid, formerly an actress with Hoyt's A Milk White Flag, died at her beautiful home at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, Nov. 29, after months of suffering from a lingering disease.

Signor Augustus Rotoli, composer and teacher at the New England Conservatory of Music, died in Boston, Mass., Nov. 29, of diabetic gangrene. Born in Rome, Jan. 7, 1847.

Mrs. William O'Connor, mother-in-law of Frank W. Nason, the well-known manager, died Nov. 13 at the family home in Roxbury, Mass., after an illness of two months.

Alfred Wayne died suddenly at St. Vincent's Hospital, Worcester, Mass., Nov. 29, of quinzey. The remains were taken to Columbus, Pa., for interment.

LONDON.

The tables turn rapidly for Mrs. Brown-Potter, for she is winning laurels nightly in her dual bill at the Savoy, Cavalleria Rusticana and Forget-me-Not. One can hardly imagine that she is the same person who tried to be me-Not she shows the greatest strength of her acting as the unfortunate and evil-spirited Stephanie, Marquise de Mohriart, in the counting gloomings of victory over Sir Horace Welby, and distracting fear of assassination at the hands of Barrato, one of her victims of by-gone days. Her leading man is Mr. Frederick Kerr, playing the part of the bland English traveler with naturalness. In Cavalleria Rusticana, Mrs. Potter portrays another side of her great ability as the forsaken Santuzza.
 Her leading supports in this piece are Jerrid Hottershaw, as Turida, and Mr. W. Lawson Butt, as Alfio. Musical music, incidental to the opera, is played during this number.
 As a proof of the high esteem in which Mrs.
 Brown-Potter is held in London, she was invited to open a bazaar at Battersea town hall last week, in aid of the Bobrooke Hospital.
 As usual, she discharged the duties of the occasion with the charm, brightness and wit for which she is famous. None but extremely popular persons, or members of nobility or royalty, are asked to officiate at such ceremonies, and the selection of Mrs. Potter was no mistake in their selection. Mrs. Potter will soon revive For Church or Stage, by the Vicar of Gorleston, as a successor to Forget-me-Not.
 She also proposes to produce in drama Pagliacci, and other operas, as she finds the public taste for Cavalleria most compensating.
 The Chevalier, after seventy-three performances at the Garrick Theatre, was replaced November 7 by The Walls of Jericho, by Alfred Sntro. The story of this piece has to do with two rival colonial millionaires, and the action takes place in Mayfair, the fashionable quarter of London.
 At the end of the run of The Prayer of the Sword, at the Adelphi, Mr. Otto Stuart, joint manager with Oscar Asche, will put on Shakespeare's comedy, The Taming of the Shrew, as originally written. Miss Lily Brayton will play Katherine and Mr. Asche Petruchio. Signor Puccini is considering writing music to make The Prayer of the Sword into an opera. The story, as related in these columns, should, it seems to me, be amply suited for the application.

Dan Leno is dead. To readers of The Billboard in the New World this means little except the fact of the passing of a celebrity.
 To London, however, it means a great loss, not to a few relatives and friends, but to millions. What person is there residing within the realms of the metropolitan area, or even surrounding provinces, who has not looked forward to the Drury Lane Christmas Pantomime from childhood onward with the prospect of seeing "The funny old woman" of Dan? What one of the king's subjects may have been who, when he found himself attacked by a feeling of moroseness or languor, has not found ready relief by a visit to the Pavilion to hear Dan Leno in some of his original incessant "patter," and gone away feeling ashamed for having allowed himself to believe that there is anything else but joy and pleasure in the world?
 And now this dome of mirthmaking is dead;
 this voice of peculiar merit attired forever in place it will be impossible to fill. He has come and gone as Leno, and there will never be another. His demise is the one stroke of regret from all lips. In all grades of society, from royalty to the meanest street urchin, Leno was loved by all. His remarkable capacity for fun production made his name a household word throughout the kingdom, and he was the only Music Hall comedian summoned to perform before King Edward for which he was nicknamed the King's Jester.
 He was the father of present day Music Hall "patter," and has scores of imitators, some perhaps "not Lenoed" Leno, but what would they have been but for him. His body returns to earth, his soul takes flight, but his name lives to dwell in the heart of every man, woman and child who has ever seen him perform, remembrance of which will provoke a smile, saddened by a tear of regret that he is no more. The writer passed the undertaker's shop where was in preparation the coffin for the reception of the late Mr. Leno. The name-plate on the lid was in plain view from the front windows, and crowds were standing looking in and reading the writing: "George Gavan (Dan Leno). Entered into Rest last Day of November, 1904. Aged 43 years."

Plans have been drawn for a great national theatre to be erected in the city of Mexico by the Mexican government. It will cost three million dollars, will be a magnificent structure of white stone, marble, steel and glass, and will be fireproof. The interior will be decorated by noted artists. It will have one of the largest auditoriums of any theatre in the world.

as given above, was George Gavran, which is another way of saying that he was of Irish extraction. He appeared as a child, with his parents, who called themselves Mr. and Mrs.
 Johnny Wilde, from whom he learned that unblushful of foot which gained for him, when quite a young man, the title of champion step-dancer of the North of England. The judges sat behind a screen, and judged solely by the ear, without seeing the competitor at all. After holding the title for several years, Dan was fairly beaten, and on the announcement of his defeat he burst into tears. He returned to London, and introduced his various steps, with, in after years, his famous "patter," and some of his earliest performances he gave, in later years, as encores. He was for many years the mainstay of the Drury Lane pantomime, his most notable production being, perhaps, the Widow Twankey, his colleague of recent years, Herbert Campbell, having also lately died, leaves this popular house with the necessity starting it in the face of initiating new talent for the centre of attraction, one of which will no doubt be Henry Randall, who appeared so successfully last year.

Mr. J. E. Vedreone, of the Court Theatre, has inaugurated a small war against the matinee bat. With the opening of the theatre for the season he has adopted a plan of compelling ladies to remove their "view-obstructors," by selling matinee tickets "on the express condition that ladies remove their hats, bonnets, or other head-dress during the entire performance." Mr. Vedreone has the sincere gratitude of all matinee-goers, for if there is anything in the world that can hamiliate a black London fog for ability to obstruct, it is the average matinee hat. Have you ever sat behind a 1904 model? Of course you have.
 You've wigged, and twisted, and craned your neck out of joint in an endeavor to locate a "peep-hole" for a view of the stage, and when you have finally succeeded in breaking through the row immediately in front of you, your straight line of view bumps up against a wall of artificial roses, held in place by a screen-like creation of adornment called the "jam-pot," in the second row from you, and it requires more power of manipulation than is possessed by most of us, especially if we are either too short or too tall, "so we are able to make two "peep-holes" work once. Anyway, as a rule you go away with a dark brown variety of feeling against head-coverings generally, and swear you'll join the "no-hat" brigade forthwith. It is hoped that other managers will follow Mr. Vedreone in this respect.

Mr. Alfred Butt, who has for five years been secretary to the late Mr. Charles Morton, has been, by a unanimous vote of the Board of Directors of the Palace Theatre, appointed as Mr. Morton's successor. It was Mr. Morton's wish when he resigned, just before his death, that Mr. Butt should fill the place vacated by him, and the Palace authorities in granting him the appointment not only made a good selection, but also carried out the wishes of the late manager and "Founder of Halls." Mr.
 Butt at once entered upon the arduous duties of his position by organizing a benefit program for the widow of the lamented Mr.
 Morton. Under Mr. Butt's management the Palace is sure to enjoy the same degree of popularity as before. He is a young man, full of ambition and enterprise.

Mrs. Langtry began her antenua tour at Blackpool with Mrs. Berling's Divorce, a piece which has already been favorably received in America, and to which Blackpool playgoers have also accorded a hearty welcome. Some three or four weeks hence Mrs. Langtry hopes to produce her own new play, for which a suitable title has still to be discovered. The story is founded upon an episode that came under Mrs. Langtry's personal cognizance. Crossing to New York, a married lady, accompanied by her husband, found herself inscribed on the passenger list as a spinster. Being of a sportive turn, she determined to keep up the joke even at the expense of her reputation, damaged somewhat by the fact that her husband had been seen to issue from her cabin.
 As a result of the mistaken description the heroine attracts the attention of most of the eligible bachelors on board ship, who, much to her lawful lord's chagrin proceeded to make open love to her. How the tangled skein of untraveled life must be left to the dramatist herself to show. A picturesque environment for the tale is ensured by the circumstance that the entire action of the piece takes place on the deck of a Trans-Atlantic liner.

Playgoers have often hazarded guesses concerning the causes which led to the long theatrical partnership which was broken when Sir Henry Irving and Miss Ellen Terry separated.
 The secret is out at last. Interviewed in her dressing-room, when fresh from the dance, with which Miss Ade About Nothing ends, Miss Terry said: "I leave me giddy," "here I am, fifty-seven years of age," she went on laughingly, "and still throwing myself about in this way. Do you know that my difficulty with Sir Henry Irving was that I could not convince him that I had grown too old for youthful parts? He couldn't see it, and so, after twenty-two years, we parted."

Park B. Prentiss, band leader with the Sells & Downes Show the past season, is wintering in Indianapolis, Ind. He can be found at the Grand Opera House. He is very much pleased with his past season.

C. A. Bonney's Bonnie Band is resting in the suburbs of Buffalo, N. Y., after a very successful season with Campbell Bros. Show. Mr. Bonney has purchased a fine residence near Buffalo. He sends regards to friends.

Robb Stokness, son of a Billboard caller at the Cincinnati office, Dec. 8. He and his wife sail from New York for Europe on the 8th, where they have accepted engagements for the winter with the circus Schuman.

W. E. Franklin has spent considerable time at his farm near Valparaiso, Ind., of late, erecting barns and making needed improvements which his brother, E. N. Franklin, could not superintend on account of illness.

C. W. Mack reports good business with the Scholt & Mead Animal Show. Mike Singer, property man, was bitten eight times at New Orleans recently while trying to separate some dogs that were fighting and his wounds had to be dressed in the hospital. He is able to do his work.

Geo. Wormald, horse canvasser with Norris & Rowe, arrived home at Cincinnati, Dec. 4, and was a Billboard caller the following day. Mr. Wormald, who is looking fine, desires the past season was one of the pleasantest in all his long and wide experience. He is enthusiastic over the prospects of the enlarged show for next season. He is under orders to report at San Jose, Feb. 1.

NERO

Al. G. Barnes' Riding Lion.

One of the most sensational acts ever introduced in a circus performance is the riding lion, Nero, which Al. G. Barnes has been exhibiting this season. It required an unusual amount of patience to acustom the pony to carrying its natural enemy, a lion, and the fact that the lion goes through all his tricks on the pony's back, although not held by a leash or chain makes the act the more remarkable. It is a feat that always gains columns of newspaper praise and the warm plaudits of all audiences. Mr. Barnes has been all season with Harrgrave's Railroad Shows, but this winter will play vaudeville houses with this and a number of other sensational acts.

FAIR NOTES.

Joe Durning, the parson, spent the two last weeks of the World's Fair with the Palace of Dreams.

The stockholders of the Monongahela Agricultural and Fair Association have elected officers for the coming year as follows: James H. Stewart, president; E. Herd, secretary and James H. McGraw, treasurer.

Kiralfy's Louisiana Purchase Spectacle has a record of 268 performances on the Pike, which is said to be the longest run of any attraction Mr. Kiralfy is in New York, en route for Liege, Belgium.

Over a thousand entries have been received for the ninth annual poultry show at Erie, Pa., this week. The officers of the association are as follows: William Sanner, president; A. J. Church, vice-president; C. E. Webster, second vice-president; R. E. Thompson, secretary, and George Sapper, treasurer. The executive committee is as follows: A. F. Raymond, chairman; William Hamilton, William Beckwith, C. E. Biechen, F. Schelling and C. C. French.

The Kentucky World's Fair Exposition Association decided that the splendid exhibit of that state at St. Louis shall be returned to Kentucky to form the nucleus of a permanent exhibit for the new capitol in Frankfort. The exhibit is valued at $20,000. It will be displayed at the geological survey at Lexington pending the completion of the new capitol building. The financial affairs of the commission are in a most satisfactory condition, and after everything is wound up, which will not be before Dec. 21, $5,000 will be on hand to turn back into the state treasury.

Guy U. Hart, of Lake Odessa, Mich., writes: Our fair, held here the fore part of last month, was a great success, but the Association did not make much money for the reason that they put up $1,825 for races, while they only intended and advertised to put up $1,600. Nearly every race filled, so it took a lot of money. Some of the races had seven starters, and in one running race there were 8 starters. We had between 70 and 80 horses entered. We had the largest meet here then that has been in the state since the Blue Ribbon meet in Detroit in June. For attractions we had Carlisle's Wild West, which gave very good satisfaction; Wisner, Leaping the Gap, which pleased the people; Martin Cannon Balloon, which was fine; and Roman Riding by Tubbs, of Grand Rapids, who gave the best of satisfaction. Music was furnished by the Lake Odessa Band. The Association succeeded in getting a special train to run over 175 miles by guaranteeing $175, but did not have to pay anything for it, as it brought over 600 people. This is something that the big ones do not have, and something that you don't hear of in country fairs. Next year I think they will have two specials. The grounds are not large enough, and they may buy more. They did not have near enough sheds, and had to rent five big tents."

STREET FAIRS &amp; CARNIVALS

THANKSGIVING WITH THE C. W. PARKER AMUSEMENT CO.

Thanksgiving day of 1904 will long be remembered by the members of the C. W. Parker Amusement Co. as a day of good business and good cheer. Thanksgiving itself brought the largest day's business of the week, which was shown under the auspices of Shreveport's firemen entitled the Firemen's Carnival.

Throughout the entire season the relations existing between J. Harry Edwards, proprietor of the company, and the employees, have been most cordial, and Mr. Edwards further cemented these ties by feasting everybody in a good old fashioned way. At noon the laboring men were treated to a fine turkey dinner in the dining car with all the accompaniments of cranberry sauce, scalloped oysters, etc., and it is needless to say that they did full justice to the occasion.

To his official staff, managers and bandmen, Mr. Edwards gave a more formal spread at midnight, this being the only time at which all could gather. After the various attractions on the Pike had closed for the evening the party was taken in a chartered car to a local restaurant, where plates were laid for about three score people. The boniface who had been told to spare no time or expense, had prepared a feast that was a gastronomical treat, and the long tables, resplendent in spotless napery, glittering with silver and surrounded by congenial spirits, made a scene that will ever be fraught with pleasant memories in the minds of those so fortunate as to be present. Dinner was served in seven courses, and the gourminds of the company say that the feast of good things could not have been bettered in the dreams of Tantalus, himself. When the service was finished a number of the members of the company responded to informal toasts, each one voicing the good will in which the management was held.

The feature of the evening came when "Cliff" McGregor, contracting agent for the company, climaxed the expressions of good will by presenting Mr. Edwards, on behalf of the company, with a magnificent solid gold Waltham watch, voicing the best wishes of those present for many more successful seasons in a graceful little speech. From the laboring men there came the present of a beautiful set of military hair brushes. Needless to say Mr. Edwards was quite taken aback; but when the applause had died away he made a most happy response in a humorous vein, thanking one and all for their kindness, and ex-

Gibson, who has been performing at the theatre all summer, was thirty years old, married, and resided at the Outside Inn, Delmar and Hamilton avenues. The man was hanging by his toes at the time of the accident, and dropped head foremost upon the stage, about ten feet below. He was hurried to the emergency hospital on the World's Fair grounds, where he was pronounced dead. The body was taken to Alexander's undertaking establishment.

THE MUNDY SHOWS.

The Great Mundy Shows closed for the season at Pine Bluff, Ark., Oct. 29, and went into winter quarters at the fair grounds in that city after one of the most successful seasons in the history of the carnival business. They covered the territory from San Antonio, Tex., to Winnipeg, Can., and return. The season of uncomparable success as well as the high standing of the Mundy Shows has placed Col. Mundy in the foremost which will be all new and novel. It will be the aim of the management to get away from the old stereotyped ideas and methods heretofore practiced by carnival companies. There will also be five of the largest and most sensational free acts obtainable.

Nov. 29 brought to the parting of the ways many regrets, as all of the attaches voiced the sentiment that it was the most pleasant season ever experienced. By Monday night nearly everyone had left Pine Bluff for home or to seek his fortune in new fields. Diavolo and wife going to New York, Press Agent VanSicklin and wife to Hot Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Whitney to Texas, Mr. Rice to St. Louis, Fred Worrell to South Bend, Jos. J. Conley and Geo. Johnson, Hot Springs, and Paul Bloom and Mr. and Mrs. Compton to Dallas, Tex. Treasurer VanGorder and wife, Millie VanGorder, will return to Pine Bluff after spending a few weeks at their home in Philadelphia. General Superintendent Roger Flint will remain at winter quarters to superintend the rebuilding of the show for next season's tour.

NEW CARNIVAL COMPANY.

The California Fiesta Carnival Co. is the name of a new organization which will put on attractions for street fairs in California during the winter season. Mr. A. H. Hagen, of Denver, Col., is the sole owner of the enterprise, and King Leavitt is manager. The company will have ten paid attractions and a brass band, besides four big free acts. The other members of the executive staff are Charles Stockwell, general representative; C. Lewis, railroad contractor; F. Miller, lot adjuster; Lewis Streifer, manager of privileges. Promoters, C. H. Smith, Jack Donnell and Benj. Michells.

STREET FAIR NOTES.

Weatherford, Tex., is to have a carnival about Dec. 15.

The Three Potters opened with the Delta Carnival Co. at Indiana, Miss., Nov. 24. In future the address of Prof. Swartz will be Humboldt, Tenn., instead of Creton, Ia.

Frank Leonard joined the Delta Carnival Co. with his Gay Paree Co. at Indiana, Miss. He is doing good business.

The Verno Show has severed connections with the Delta Carnival Co. and will make still towns for the rest of the winter.

The Red Men of Orange, Tex., will hold a street fair Dec. 19-24. The United States Carnival Co. will furnish the attractions. LeFleur, M. Samoyon, Katea Brothers and the Pacheco Family, all of whom were with the Gaskill Carnival Co. the past season, were callers at the Cincinnati office of The Billboard last week on their way to Charleston, S. C.

Mr. H. C. LeBurno was in St. Louis last week in search of people for his Carnival Co., which is now touring Texas. He secured among others Stedell's Indian Band from the Pike, Cliff Dwellers and Bert C. Oldfield. He reports prosperous season in Texas, and is increasing the size of his company in consequence.

Notes from the Metropolitan Amusement Co.: The company is enjoying good business and weather in the South. Fagan's merry-go-round joined last week and is getting top-money. We now carry five small shows and as clean a bunch of concessioners as could be desired. Acworth, Ga., was the best stand of the season. The queen's contest proved a financial success.

Ed. Tyler, manager of the Alhambra Carnival Co., states that the above company consists of six paid shows, a Ferris wheel and a band of eight people. The company consists of seventy people, and is making good in Tennessee. The company will next tour Mississippi and then Louisiana. The company consists of the following shows: Great Train Robbery, Ed. Tyler, manager; Old Plantation, with nine performers, Johnnie McGrail, manager; Frank's the Arctic, Mrs. Ed. Tyler, manager; Creation, Mrs. Brownlee, manager; Roseau, Brownlee & Reed, managers; Stadium, Doc Osborne, manager; Condemned Ferris wheel and Mr. Williams' band, Ed Harding, in front of the old plantation show, was taken very sick at Russellville, Ky., and was sent to the hospital at Nashville. He is in a serious condition.

PARK NOTES.

Morris & Berger are this week promoting a carnival and street fair at Pensacola, Fla.

A new amusement park, to cost between $175,000 and $200,000, is to be constructed in Philadelphia, Pa., according to E. I. Burget of that city.

The Owen Sound and Georgia Bay Summer Resort Co., of Toronto, Can., is reported to have made an assignment. The company owned King's Royal Park. It is reported that the creditors will be paid in full.

The Dreamland Co., which conducted the resort at Coney Island, New York City, last season, has elected directors for the coming year as follows: Joseph Huber, Eugene D. Wood, Timothy D. Sullivan, George F. Douson, S. S. Whitehouse and William F. Reynolds.

Newport, R. I., is to have attractions like those at Coney Island, New York City, last year, unless present plans miscarry. Reginald C. Vanderbilt and a number of his companions have recently organized and incorporated an association for the purpose of racing and amusements, and they will build a large lake in the center of the park where entertainments can be held like those at Luna Park and Dreamland.

PAUL D. HOUSE

pressing his thankfulness over the remarkable financial success of the company and the lack of sickness and accidents among his people. After relating a few anecdotes from his life, he stated that in all his twenty-six years' experience as a showman, he had never had a more congenial company under his supervision. It was in the "wee sma'" hours of the morning that the company broke up, after tendering a unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. Edwards for his kindness.

ACROBAT KILLED ON PIKE.

A. Gibson, an acrobat, was instantly killed Nov. 29 at the Paris Theatre on the Pike by falling from a trapeze bar. The rope supporting the end of the bar broke and Gibson fell to the stage. The accident occurred in front of an audience of several hundred persons, many of whom became panic-stricken and fled. The exits were crowded for a short time, but no one was hurt in the rush from the place. The theatre was closed for the night after the accident.

ranks as a progressive showman. His show has met with the highest of praise from all sides, and the latch string of all cities where the Great Mundy played hangs on the outside for return dates at any time.

The winter quarters are among the best in the country, being situated one mile from the heart of the city, with five large buildings to house the equipment. Everything will be rebuilt the coming winter. Several new richly carved fronts will be added to the already large collection. Next year the show will be an innovation, as everything will be built and put out on new and original plans.

Col. and Mrs. Mundy left for Europe Nov. 25, where he goes in search of any and all new ideas and novelties which will tend to strengthen and enhance the beauty of the great show. He will also buy many new animals for his trained wild animal circus. The Colonel will visit London, Paris, Berlin, Antwerp and Ipswich before returning to America.

The Mundy Show will have twelve paid attractions during the coming season.

BILLPOSTERS DISTRIBUTORS & COMMERCIAL ADVERTISERS

DIRECTORS' MEETING

At New York City, December 6.

The Board of Directors of the Associated Billposters and Distributors is holding its regular December meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York City, this week.

Three or four applications for appointment as official collectors will be presented and considerable business brought before the board.

A full account of the meeting will appear in next week's issue of The Billboard.

BILLPOSTERS' WAR OVER.

The billposters' war that has been going on in Greensboro, N. C. for the past two years is now over.

Gentlemen: I consider "The Billboard" not only the best but really THE ONLY medium through which to reach privilege people.

be granted by the Middle Atlantic States Association at its next meeting. The purchase and consideration of these plants places Greensboro very prominent among southern cities in regard to bulletin and billboard space.

A PROSPEROUS BILLPOSTER.

Mr. Geo. Casner, who has been city billposter for Syracuse, N. Y., for upwards of a quarter of a century, is building a fine residence in that city.

ALLIANCE CONVENTION.

Telegraphic advices received from Pittsburg just as we go to press (midnight Dec. 5) announce an attendance of two hundred and sixteen delegates.

Chas. Garland, the billposter at Ironwood, Mich., says: GOOD PAPER THAT BILLBOARD, NOX-ALL.

llance of Billposters and Billers of America. The meeting will be given over to routine business until Thursday, when the circus managers and agents are expected.

WRIT ENDS BILLBOARD FIGHT.

Ending the billboard war between the Thomas Cusack Company and the Gunning system over a space on the roof of a building at 457 Wabash venue, Chicago. Judge Kavanagh issued a permanent injunction Tuesday, Nov. 29, to the former company restraining the Gunning people from interfering with the use of the space.

DAUBS.

Messrs. Eylar & Moyer have established a billposting plant at Georgetown, Ohio. Will P. Shirley, billposter and distributor at Weatherford, Tex., reports business rushing.

The W. J. Horn Posting Service, of Springfield, Ill., is putting out a new advertising novelty in the way of a mailing card.

Manager Head of the Hot Springs (Ark.) Billposting Co. is building extra boards. There will be two race tracks at Hot Springs this winter and Mr. Head expects a big business.

Jno. B. Mike, billposter of Bryan, Tex., has his boards filled with paper. He is displaying

R. P. Murphy writes: "They call 'The Billboard' the 'Barker's Bible' around this show. The mail man sells 15 Billboards, 3 Clippers, 1 Mirror. That is his regular weekly order."

at this time Gold Dnst. M. and M. Molasses and Wine of Cardul. He has all the work that he can do and always gives satisfaction.

Geo. A. Puffer, representative of Donnelly & Sons of Boston, is making a tour through the central west looking up joint propositions.

C. F. Brown, billposter of Waterloo, Ia., has the following paper on his boards: Paests Soap, Pawnee Oats, Gold Dnst, Fairy Soap, Satin Skin Cream, Underfoot Res.

Henry C. Wilmot, who for thirty-two years has owned and managed the billboard plant at Ann Arbor, Mich., has decided to retire.

The Perryshurg (O.) Billposting Co. reports business good. On its boards for display is the following paper: Gold Medal Flour, Gold Dnst, Old Virginia Cheroots, Never-slip Horseshoe Chalk.

J. O. Bell, billposter and distributor of Denton, Tex., has just finished building iron boards in all the towns controlled by him. They are as follows: Denton, Whitesboro, Collinsville, Tloza, Pilot Point, Aubrey, Argyle, Rosanoke, Keller, Wantaga, Garza, Lewisville, Trinity Mills, Carrollton and Farmers Branch.

NATIONAL ALLIANCE NOTES.

Nominations for officers of Local 33, Brooklyn, N. Y., were made Nov. 20. Election takes place Dec. 4.

Joe Dorney and John McCormick of Local No. 33, Brooklyn, N. Y., are delegates to the National Convention at Leesburg, Pa. They left Brooklyn, Dec. 2.

Notes from local No. 24, Buffalo, N. Y.: Brother Joe Sully, a member of local No. 2, who is ahead of Why Girls Leave Home, dropped in to see us a few hours recently.

FALLING HAIR AND BALDNESS ABSOLUTELY CURED There is but one way to tell the reason of baldness and falling hair, and that is by a microscopic examination of the hair itself. The particular disease with which your scalp is afflicted must be known before it can be intelligently treated. The use of dandruff cures and hair tonics, without knowing the specific cause of your disease, is like taking medicine without knowing what you are trying to cure. Send three fallen hairs from your combings, to Prof. J. H.
