

ADDITIONS ORDERED TO MASON DISPOSAL PLANT

TAXPAYERS ASKED TO APPROVE $15,000 BOND ISSUE.

Mason voters will be asked to approve a $15,000 bond issue to build a secondary unit to the city sewage disposal plant...

The mayor, aldermen and the city engineer have made a comprehensive survey of the city's sewage problem...

W. E. Zimmer, city engineer, and E. F. Eldridge report that over a period of several months the average daily flow of sewage here is about 450,000 gallons per day...

The sewage disposal plant now in operation consists of two settling tanks, each six feet long, twenty feet wide and twelve feet deep...

Without better treatment it is said that the wastes contaminate the small stream. State conservation officials and officials of the state department of health entered complaints this spring regarding stream contamination...

Recommendations made by the engineers include the construction, as soon as economically possible, of apparatus for further treating the sewage to relieve the load on Sycamore creek...

If the voters approve the bond issue the funds will be used to build a bar screen and grit chamber, to provide for the installation of sludge and scum collecting apparatus in the south tank, to reconstruct the north tank to make it suitable for separate sludge digestions...

The original cost of the disposal plant was $15,000 but city officials assert that when the plant was built the total cost when completed was estimated at more than double that figure...

Next Tuesday evening at the Citizens' caucus it is planned to have full discussion of the entire matter in order that the public may be informed of the project and its needs...

STATE CANNOT PAY DEBTS IS DISCLOSED

DEFICIT TO DATE APPROACHES HALF MILLION MARK.

In marked contrast to the affluent condition of Ingham's financial affairs, the state of Michigan finds itself in dire straits. Charges that a deficit actually existed in state accounts were freely made during the last session of the legislature when the budget was up for consideration. Administration backers however scouted the idea and insisted there was no such deficit. Now according to information gained from the office of the auditor general, the state now has piled up for future payment nearly a half million dollars of claims. Among these are large amounts owed contractors building state highways and considerable sums owed to cities for maintenance of state highways which traverse such cities. Included in the last named class is $17,000 due the city of Grand Rapids since August 1 and $78,714 owing the city of Detroit for the same time.

Interviewed Thursday morning, Auditor General O. B. Fuller, informed a representative of the NEWS that in most cases where the claimant was actually in need of the money due him the state has been able to pay but that the total amount being held for future payment actually amounts at this time to several hundred thousand dollars. Approximately $250,000 due contractors on state highway work must wait for future receipts from gasoline and weight taxes. According to state authorities it has been the policy during previous administrations to switch balances from fund to fund during the last months of the fall but that practice has now been abandoned, hence the lack of available funds to meet current bills. According to Auditor General O. B. Fuller the receipts into state coffers during the next three months will be small sums from minor sources and insufficient to hold up the state's cash box against payroll demands and claims of small amounts. It is hoped that the stringency will not reach the proportions of some former occasions when even the department clerks feared they would not receive their bi-monthly stipends. Meanwhile legislators who read into the budget director for 1928 the deficit which now actually is found to exist are planning to renew their fight for sufficient appropriations to cover the shortage and put the state on the right side of the ledger.

Number Of Inmates Crowd County Bastille

SHERIFF BELIEVES EMPLOYMENT CONDITIONS CAUSE.

Ninety-three inmates were housed in the county jail Wednesday, a record number for the year. Of the total, eight are women prisoners. Many of the inmates are serving short terms for minor offenses while others are awaiting trial in circuit court. While the capacity of the jail is far from being reached, the unusually large number at present taxes the resources of the kitchen. Sheriff Silsby believes that the employment situation is partly responsible for the increase. He says that many of the men have come to Lansing and other industrial cities in this section looking for work and being unable to find it have got into trouble. The sheriff prophesies that unless employment conditions are bettered the guest list at the jail will be increased considerably before many weeks.

Besides the scores of pupils and friends who mourn their loss Miss Kaywood is survived by the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaywood, a sister, Leola, and a grandmother, Mrs. Mrs. Kaywood and Tony Slusser had purchased and furnished a home on West Elm street in Mason which they expected to occupy after their marriage this month. Arrangements had already been made for the wedding and Rev. Hudgins, who preached the funeral sermon, had been invited to perform the wedding ceremony. Funeral services were held at the Dansville Methodist church Monday afternoon with burial in the Dansville cemetery.

Lake O-ge-maw

Lansing realtors, aided and abetted by Lansing newspapers, are attempting a move to change the name of Pine Lake to Lake Lansing. There may be some remote reasoning behind the plan to change the name to some other than Pine Lake for the reason that there are no pine trees about the lake and the further reason there are several Pine lakes in Michigan. But to foist the name of "Lansing" upon that helpless body of water, the only inland lake in Ingham county, is an attempt on the part of Lansing inhabitants that will receive considerable opposition.

Fortunately under agreement between the department of conservation and state officials, the matter of changing the names of lakes and streams has been delegated to a committee upon which will serve a member of the state historical commission, representatives of two lake and resort associations as well of the state conservation department. One of the first acts of the committee was to announce to the public that no indiscriminate changing of names would be tolerated. On the contrary the committee insists that the demand for change of name must emanate from the county within which the lake or stream is situated and must take the form of a petition signed by interested persons. This accomplished the selection of a new name is to be done by the committee, the matter of possible duplication of name and its historic meaning having great bearing upon the name to be decided upon.

There is absolutely no reason for rechristening Pine Lake and calling it Lake Lansing. Pine Lake was located and named long before Lansing was dreamed of. In fact before Lansing was settled, the scattering yellow pines from which the lake originally drew its name had been cut into lumber for use of the early settlers.

If Pine Lake is to lose the appellation by which it has been known for nearly a century, the NEWS suggests that an Indian name be selected. Along its shores generations of Potawatomi and Ottawa Indians lived. Over its waters long before the coming of the whites, these people paddled their canoes. Lake O-ge-maw, probably the real name of Chief Okemos, would be a good selection unless the more popular name of Okemos be attached. Another suggestion would be Meridian Lake, inasmuch as its eastern shore almost touches the principal meridian of Michigan.

But as for Lake Lansing, there is positively not a single reason why the name should be tolerated. Surrounding communities have silently submitted to being taken into the Lansing "metropolitan" district, smiling among themselves meanwhile at the colossal conceit manifest in so silly an example of braggadocio. But as for attaching ownership to the region's only lake—then the line is drawn.

A Colossal Blunder

Another chapter in the tragic history of the Indian race is being written and another blot on the page of American imprudence is spreading. The golden flood of wealth loosed when oil was discovered beneath the barren hill country set aside by the government for the Osage tribes is fast dwindling and soon their sudden wealth will be but a sad memory. Meanwhile nearly six hundred millions of dollars have been practically wasted in riotous living while a former industrious and thrifty people has acquired habits of laziness and extravagance.

Thus comes to an end one of the queerest, most ironic dramas of the human race. Thus is disclosed one of the most assinine gestures of human government. Wards of the nation these tribesmen certainly were yet the government sat supinely by while dealers in player pianos, luxurious limousines, fine raiment, worthless stocks and trashy gew-gaws preyed upon them.

It is too late now to undo the damage done but lest another such gesture of dame fortune be made, it might be well for the nation to set up proper machinery to protect its wards in possible similar circumstances. Had a proper guardianship been provided for this people but a single generation removed from savagery, enough of their wealth would have been put aside to have provided them during their existence with ample support for the aged and decrepit; with sufficient capital for the development of their remaining lands; for the establishment of schools and training courses; and to assure for them a prosperous and happy existence. Now they are for the most part dissolute, dissipated, and imprudent. They and their progeny will remain for all time a liability against the nation and a constant reminder of a government's shortsightedness.

Congress should take steps to guard against a repetition of so tragic a blunder.

October

Of all the months of the calendar, to the dweller in Michigan, there is none richer in its beauty and charm than October. A little journey in any direction unfolds for the observer a panorama of glorious color, unparalleled at any other season or in any other region. It is a season of completeness; of things accomplished; of harvests fulfilled; and of hopes realized. Michigan is in its full glory in October and in this immediate vicinity there is available many wonderful views from the hilltops which for sheer charm are unrivaled.

Let us in our fancy climb to some elevation where the landscape may be viewed. Here on the upland we catch a glimpse of riotous red and orange along some hedgerow of sumac and sassafras; there skirting some marsh are vivid colorings which mark the presence of soft maple, ash and basswood. Along a winding creek one traces in marvelous flashes of Jack Frost's wizardry the stroke of a master artist. Softening the upper lands are wondrous touches of color painted in the deep hues of second growth oak, maple, hickory and scores of other varieties of forest growth which mark the peninsular state, while here and there about the deep green fields are great towering oaks and maples and elms left for shade during summer but now resplendent in marvelous colorings and shadings.

Yes, October is a month to be lived for. Spring has its hope; summer its inviting recreation; winter its sports and social delights. But for sheer beauty and charm an autumn in Michigan holds a lure incomparable with any other season in any other land. Let us sing the praises of a Michigan autumn. We have no fair rivalry on the continent.

Recently the state department of conservation promulgated an order setting the opening of the shooting season on pheasants at noon instead of dawn as formerly. Their declaration was that it was in the interest of good sportsmanship and to save some of the birds for late risers. Now comes another order rescinding the former action and placing the opening at sunrise instead. They now confess their subsequent order is in consequence of insistent demands from sportsmen (?) who desired to lay in wait for the birds on the first day of shooting. The public interestedly inquires as to who is running the department, the conservationists or the killers. What the department needs more than any other one thing according to many observers, is an inoculation of good old fashioned intestinal fortitude. In the language of the street, conservationist is the biggest thing the present board is not. Members are ruled altogether too much by what the killers want rather than by what the state requires. The open season on partridge is another evidence of their weakness toward organized gunners. The suggestion is made that the common appellation, "conversation commission" be substituted for its present title.

Frank P. Darin, administration floor leader of the house during the 1929 session of the legislature and a prominent Detroit attorney has entered the publishing field, volume one, number one of the Michigan Republican having made its appearance. Albert F. Koepeke, also prominent among Wayne county republicans, is its editor in chief, with Representative Darin named as publisher. In its initial issue the gubernatorial prospects for 1930 are discussed with apparent effort to smooth the way for a third term very evident. Senators Vandenburg and Couzens are both named for their votes on the pending tariff bill and Detroit's mayoralty campaign well covered. The Michigan Republican has a factional birth. Upstarters will watch closely for the disclosure of its parentage. Meanwhile it is readable and entertaining and carries with it substantial political advertising.

Governor Fred W. Green has promised members of the Michigan Bean Jobbers association that he will call his personal friend and advisor, Rep. James McBride of Shiawassee, in and spank him into being good. It seems that McBride, a grower who is said to "know beans", has been saying some nasty things about the jobbers which the jobbers do not relish. They insist McBride must be quieted and the "good Green governor" has promised that as soon as James returns from the west where he has gone in connection with market price fixing, he will be called in and made to be good. Meanwhile, as attention was called in these columns more than a year ago, what the bean growers of Michigan need most is not abuse or lack of it, but the truth about beans, their visible supply and possible demand for them. For the moment they do not trust the state department of agriculture and dare not trust the jobbers.

Which leads us to recall the recent reaction to an effort made in the public schools of Denver to control the dress of girl students. "Don't talk to us," was the answer of the girls, "Look at our mothers and our teachers. Their scanty attire is a direct example of sex appeal in its worst form. Reform yourselves before talking to us of modesty in dress." Perhaps like the children at the movies, school girls and boys are less susceptible to control by sensualism than their elders. Certainly moving picture advertising must reform itself before the public will believe that all its screened attractions are undefiled.

Camp fires started fifty-four forest fires in Michigan during the past summer. Not all of them got out of control but some of them did, thus destroying much of the beauty which drew the camper to the vicinity. A few shovels of dirt thrown over a camp fire saves loss. Of course all the readers of this column practice care and are never guilty of being the cause of destructive forest fires. Each may count, if they please, the thousands of dollars they have saved by such precautions.

Dr. Phyllis Blanchard, director of child guidance in Philadelphia, speaking recently before a group of physicians assembled at Yale university, stated it as her opinion that the modern motion picture is a help in promoting "generally accepted standards of morality and behavior." As a palliative for such a statement we suggest that parents scan the theater page in next Sunday's metropolitan press. Perhaps the pictures are better than the titles would lead one to believe.

A young man who recently won a swimming prize of $25,000 has put the money in the bank. This is one sure way to be able to keep in the swim.

There are getting to be an awful lot of bank mergers and if they keep on merging we are going to have a lot of vice presidents out of a job.

The sharpers in New York used to trim the hicks from the West when the hicks came to the city, but nowadays an ordinary western banker is able to get $500,000 from the boys in the big town without any difficulty. Showing that there is still opportunity for the young man who goes West.

OR TWO COCONUTS.
"That's the story in a nutshell," said Councilman Blithers after talking for better than two hours in the town hall the other night. Maybe he meant a coconut shell.—Farm & Fireside.

Bits of Ancient History

Gleaned from News files of years past.

Ten Years Ago
Artists employed by the Andrew company of Chicago have completed their work on the interior of the court house. All who have inspected the job declare it one of the finest and richest interiors to be found in any public building.

Ed Link, deputy sheriff and night watch and a Mr. Bunting, middle aged resident of that place were mysteriously kidnapped from the streets there this Thursday morning while about his duties Link was assisted by three men in a car who drove up to the town pump and asked him for a pall to use in filling the radiator of their car. As Link started to comply he was struck over the head, rendered unconscious and then placed in the car. Bunting came along at that time and received similar treatment. Both were taken to a school house near Gregory and unceremoniously dumped there after being tied hands and feet.

Miss Lennagene Bordner was quietly married last Saturday evening to David L. Swearingen of Lansing, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride's parents.

Frank Grimes is now postmaster at Dansville.

Twenty Years Ago
A heavy freeze is reported about the county this morning.

F. C. Minar has sold his 160 acre Vevay farm to a Mr. Barnhill of Bryan, Ohio, and will move to Mason.

A. H. Phillips of Alaledon is advertising an auction sale at which he will dispose of his farm and all stock and tools. He expects to remove to Lansing.

Dudley Buck, distinguished organist, and composer of sacred music is dead at his East Orange, N. J., home.

Cleveland now enjoys a three cent street car fare, the long continued strike in that city having been settled on that basis through the efforts of Mayor Tom Johnson.

Fifty Years Ago
Quite a large number of Mason people are at Stockbridge today attending the Stockbridge fair.

A snooting match is being talked for the infernal reason who persists in stealing the drinking cup from the artesian well on court house square.

Seventeen persons were killed and more than 200 injured when the grand stand at the Adrian fair grounds collapsed last week.

Eighteen months ago Edmore was a mere brush heap. Now it is a thriving village of 600 inhabitants with a $1000 school house being built.

Show More Interest In Farming Methods

ENROLLMENT IN AGRICULTURAL SHORT COURSES INCREASES.

While the farm population in Michigan has been decreasing, the interest of farmers in learning new angles of their business has increased, according to class records in the short course office at Michigan State College.

The first short courses, three in number, were given in 1897. Forty-five students enrolled in those courses. Last year 19 short courses were given at Michigan State and 455 students enrolled.

Many of these courses last only one week and are designed as a clearing house of new information about a particular subject. Most of the students can spare only a short time from their business and the short courses meet their needs.

The longest of these courses is the two year general agricultural course of 16 weeks. Fifty-one men took this course last year.

Five courses are given in dairy subjects, five courses in horticultural subjects, and one each in poultry, agricultural engineering, home economics, bee keeping, seed production, farm management, and veterinary medicine.

The 16 week course in general agriculture begins October 28. All others are held in January, February or March.

Fine Crop Produced By State Nut Trees

CONTEST BRINGS OUT SOME VERY GOOD SAMPLES.

Samples of hickory nuts and walnuts already entered in the prize contest conducted by Michigan State College prove that Michigan trees bear crops equal in quality to any previously found in America, according to statements by members of the College horticultural department.

The men in charge of the contest say that there is still opportunity for prize winning entries before the close of the contest, November 15. Prize winners will be announced at the State Horticultural Show held at the College at that time.

First and second prizes of 25 and 10 dollars are offered for both hickory nuts and walnuts, and a special prize of a set of horticultural reference books is offered to the Smith-Hughes high school whose pupils send in the best collection of Michigan nuts.

Each entry submitted for prizes must be accompanied with directions for locating the tree which bore the nuts. The College department is attempting to locate especially desirable trees which can be used to develop commercial plantings.

Walnut trees come into bearing in from five to ten years depending on the soil and other conditions. Hickories are slower in reaching bearing age but probably will bear profitable crops in from 10 to 15 years.

A large acreage which is not adapted to general farming can be used profitably for nut culture in Michigan.

PASTIME THEATRE

A wonderful cast is brought to the screen in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of Thornton Wilder's famous story, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," which is promised as the feature attraction at the Pastime Friday and Saturday. Ernest Torrence needs no introduction to picture lovers, and with him are associated Lily Damita, the audacious little beauty who figures so prominently in "The Cock-eyed World," Raquel Torres, Don Alvarado, Henry B. Walthall, Emily Fitzroy, and a host of equally well known players. The story, one of the strangest and most fascinating of all modern novels, is laid in Peru and unfolds the curiously entwined life stories of five residents of the old Spanish colony there. As a screen attraction it has been produced with wonderful fidelity to the original story, and with unusual photographs and scenic effects.

The Universal special feature "Scandal," which comes to the Pastime Theatre on Sunday and Monday is based upon the actual life of a young girl who had virtually all of the experiences which happen to Laura La Plante as the star of the picture written by Adela Rogers St. Johns for Cosmopolitan magazine, the actor faithfully follows the vicissitudes of a prominent New York society leader who lived not only in the joyous whirl of pleasure, but who knew, too, all the problems of the young business woman in the ordinary workaday world. Throughout this living character's adventures there was woven the unique love story which inspired Miss St. Johns to write the story as fiction. The picture was filmed in Santa Barbara, Cal., famed throughout the world as the beautiful home of America's gayest society set. Beside Miss La Plante, the picture brings to the Pastime a noteworthy cast including Huntly Gordon, John Boles, Jane Winton, and others. Also in the picture there appears as "extras" in the society scenes many members of fabulously wealthy Santa Barbara families.

Ken Maynard, wildest daredevil of the screen, in his latest and snappiest picture, "The Glorious Trail," is scheduled for the Pastime on Tuesday. "The Glorious Trail" is a romantic story of the first telegraph wires strung from the east to the west and the hardships and adventures encountered while completing this historical feat. Ken has never before had a role like that of the young scout entrusted with the perilous work of completing the telegraph line. There are adventures, thrills, and real spectacular riding of the kind that bring gasps of wonderment. Albert Rogell, the director, Harry J. Brown, the supervisor, and Maynard himself, a three day run at the Pastime next Thursday.

novel, screened with a cast headed by Laura La Plante and Joseph Schildkraut, and with a strong supporting cast of other screen celebrities, opens at a three day run at the Pastime next Thursday.

Attractions for the following week include Mary Philbin in "Girl Overboard," Junior Coghlan in "Marked Money," and George Sidney in "Give and Take." Other stars promised here soon in their latest pictures include Tom Mix, Hoot Gibson, Buster Keaton, Lon Chaney, Norma Shearer, William Boyd and Ken Maynard. The Henderson Stock Co. plays a three day engagement here in a few weeks, and the next big picture scheduled at the Pastime, following "Show Boat," is Universal's spectacular production, "Broadway."

Maroons Battle Uphill To Beat Howell Team

Howell team in the final quarter to throw a beautiful pass to Hazelton to open the way to the second touchdown. Rancour to Wiltse and Rancour to Fay were combinations that worked wonders for Howell in mid-field although the combination didn't work so good when Mason's goal was threatened.

Mason had so many good lineemen warning the bench that the forward wall was materially weakened. Smiley was not in uniform and Edgar could not be used. Bell, injured last week, Dolbee played a fighting brand of football at left tackle and Wilcox at guard played his usual strong game. Hazelton on the left flank played brilliantly. Fredericks and Tucker turned in good accounts of themselves on the right of the line and Burgess, in his first game, showed promise.

The backfield combination of Hill, Leonard, Bartlett and Curtis kept Howell guessing at every stage of the game. The only substitutions made by Coach Miller were Ellis for Dolbee and Lang for Bartlett. Ellis saw about three minutes of action while Lang was in for about half as long, though neither however to make a brilliant tackle.

The officials went through the rule book from cover to cover and about every penalty in the category was inflicted on Mason during the session. There was the rule book safety. Fifteen yard assessment for alleged interlocking of the feet of a guard and tackle. Penalties for offside without number, in fact, Mason must have lost the full distance between goal posts on penalties. It was even necessary for Mason to make three touchdowns in the final quarter to count once. Leonard lugged the ball across but it was called back because the head linesman claimed that both teams were offside. Leonard again took it over but the referee ruled that the ball was without motion a foot from the goal, although it looked like a sure touchdown. Then Curtis plunged through so rapidly that the officials had no time to consult rule books and the touchdown was allowed.

The penalties made the going rough for Mason and with the aerial tactics displayed by Howell, Mason had to fight uphill all the way. Because they never lost courage and took long chances for first downs, the Maroons won through to victory. That penalties helped Howell out of rough spots time and again should detract not one whit from the battle the green clad lads put up. Howell was out to make a showing in their initial conference game and they played hard and fast. Howell had a smart team but was not as well rounded out as was the Mason eleven. Had Howell handled the ball better Mason would probably have moved out of first place as fumbles lost the Livingston lads several golden opportunities.

Captain Curtis won the toss and chose to defend the west goal. Mason kicked off and Captain Curtis made a nice tackle on Howell's 20-yard line. Howell failed to gain through the line and after a camp-out fumbled by inches, Rancour punted short to Howell's 40-yard stripe. After Curtis and Leonard made a first down and Curtis went through for eight yards more, Mason was assessed fifteen yards for holding. A long pass from Leonard to Hazelton was incomplete but on the next play Leonard made up for the penalty by kicking and heading the ball to Curtis for a gain of thirteen yards. Hill then faked a pass and Leonard skirted Howell's right end on the 10-yard line. With a touchdown in sight, Mason lost a golden opportunity when Howell stopped Hill twice for no gain and a pass was incomplete over the goal.

Howell put the ball in play on the 20-yard line and looked bad for Mason until Burgess recovered a fumble after Howell had made an easy first down. The Maroons crashed in on the fumble. Leonard passed to Curtis and the stalwart Jess sidestepped, somersaulted, dove and ran the remaining twenty yards to the goal. The Maroon captain also crashed through for the extra point.

From that time until the end of the next period Mason was in trouble continually and had it not been for fumbles by Howell backs and a determined stand by Mason just inches from their own goal, Howell would have gotten more than the two points they were handed. Leonard kicked off short and Howell started to drive at mid-field. Howell fumbled and recovered and then on the next play fumbled again and Leonard recovered for Mason. Bartlett picked up seven yards. Curtis made it a first down and Hill contributed three yards as the quarter ended.

Curtis started the second quarter off with six yards but on an offside penalty the ball was given to Howell. Here Howell uncorked a real drive which carried the ball to Mason's 5-yard line. A line play netted five yards and then a beautiful pass gained thirty yards. After three line plays gained but a scant five yards Rancour buried another pass that took the ball to the 10-yard line. Because his line here made a determined stand and in three line plays only eight yards were made. With two yards to go Howell called for a fake place kick which failed to fool anybody as the ball was just a few feet from the sideline. The play was stopped and Mason obtained possession of the ball. Leonard stepped back to punt out of danger and the referee claimed that he stepped over the end zone and ruled that a safety had been made. Leonard then punted short and outside from the 20-yard line. Howell again passed but Mason held for downs and Leonard punted out of danger. Howell barely had time to chalk up a first down through the line as the half ended with Mason ahead by the scant margin of 7 to 2.

Mason kept the ball nearly all of the third period and outlasted Howell materially. Mason kicked off and Rancour returned the ball twenty yards. Brogan picked up five yards but again Mason's line braced and Rancour punted over the goal. Leonard fumbled but recovered and then Mason got a break when Howell was assessed fifteen yards for holding. Leonard made six yards, Curtis ten, Leonard two and a pass from Leonard to Curtis netted five yards on a third down. It was fourth down and with four yards needed the Maroons threw the ball to the winds and instead of kicking, Leonard crashed through for a first down. Mason again made a first down when after three plays of varying success, Curtis ploughed through. But with the goal in scoring distance Howell fought off the threat and held Mason for a while. Again Howell made a costly fumble, which Bartlett recovered for Mason. Hill was thrown for a big loss on the first play and even after Leonard and Curtis had picked up five yards each, there were still four yards needed for a first down. Leonard passed to Curtis and Mason was allowed the pass as complete after Howell's defense had interfered with the receiver. Curtis tore off nine yards and then disaster again arrived for Mason when the referee ruled that the guard and tackle were interlocking their feet. Fifteen yards were assessed against Mason and Leonard picked up ten yards of it as the third quarter ended.

The heavy penalty was too great for Mason to overcome and although a pass from Leonard to Hazelton netted eleven yards the ball went over to Howell. Helped by a five-yard penalty for Burgess being offside, Howell made a first down. The Mason line then really began to charge and on two successive plays played tag with Rancour behind the goal. Each time the feet Howell had eluded his pursuers and hurled a pass although neither time was the pass completed. Howell was forced to punt and Leonard received, fumbled and recovered. Again a fifteen-yard penalty was placed against Mason for alleged holding but the penalty was of little account as Leonard threw a pass to Hazelton to make up the loss and with ten yards to go Leonard danced aside from a flock of Howell men, ran back ten yards, and then hurled a beautiful pass to Curtis for a twenty-yard gain. Leonard passed to Burgess for five yards. Leonard picked up three more and Curtis made a first down, six yards from the covered stripe. Here it seemed impossible for Mason to get the ball across and have it remain there. Leonard plunged over twice but each time the ball was brought back once for each team being offside and the other when the referee ruled that the ball had lost motion before the goal was reached. Curtis then tore across for the touchdown and Bartlett plunged across for the extra point.

Just three minutes were left but Howell made the most of them. Pass after pass, accurately hurled by the flashy Rancour, was completed and a steady march was begun. But the time was too short and Mason rallied in the last few seconds to break up the overhead game as the timekeeper's whistle ended the argument for 1929. Coach Miller's instructions to play it safe made Howell's passing game appear even better than it was. With but a few seconds to go the Mason mentor told his charges to keep playing across for the extra point and goal. Undoubtedly many of the Howell passes would have been knocked down or intercepted had not Miller's strategy been followed. But the Mason coach was worried less over first downs made with but a few seconds left than he was over the possibility that one of the passers would be completed for a touchdown if his defense men were drawn out. The lineups are given below:

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Position. Mason: Hill (QB), Leonard (LH), Bartlett (RH), Curtis (PB). Howell: Hazelton (LE), Dolbee (LT), Wilcox (LG), Parker (RG), Fredericks (RT), Tucker (RE), Burgess (RE), Hill (QB), Leonard (LH), Bartlett (RH), Curtis (PB).

Reynolds Cow Noses Lead From Freshour

60 POUNDS BUTTER FROM 1500 POUNDS MILK.

After having led the Mason-Ingham D. H. I. A. for three successive months the purebred Holstein cow, owned by H. Freshour & Son of Nearley, is Claude Reynolds herd. During September the Reynolds cow produced 60 pounds of butterfat from an even 1500 pounds of milk, while the Freshour entry gave 1663 pounds of milk containing 57.8 pounds of fat.

The sustained production of the latter animal is truly remarkable when it is considered that she is only three years old and that the record has been made during the hot, dry, fly-pestered months.

Reynolds Dairy also has high herd for the month, its herd of 20 grade Holsteins and purebred Brown Swiss having made the average of 887 pounds of milk and 33.73 pounds of fat. Jess Underwood, of Onondaga, has second high herd with 31.69 pounds of fat from 818 pounds of milk.

A striking demonstration of the value and necessity of getting accurate production figures to really measure a cow's worth was furnished at the recent Ingham county fair. Two high producing cows of each of the four leading dairy breeds were brought in from both the Lansing-Ingham and the Mason-Ingham associations. The animals were first placed according to perfection of dairy form and type and then rated according to production as disclosed by the tester's books.

In nearly all cases the higher producing cow was the one that had to take second place as far as type was concerned. This does not mean that the matter of bodily excellence should be neglected but does it mean that the higher producing cows in this case were animals of inferior type but it most certainly does mean that type alone is not a reliable index to a cow's producing ability. In other words, the man who supplements his ideas of type with the milk scies and the tester's book is the man who will be first in building up a herd that has both type and producing ability.

- Below are the two high herds in the three groups: Small Herd, 6 cows or less. 1. Whitney Brothers, 6 P. B. Holsteins, 832 pounds milk, 26.6 pounds fat. Wm. Keeler, 6 Grade Holsteins, 629 pounds milk, 20.5 pounds fat. Medium Herd, 7-15 Cows. 1. Jess Underwood, 10 Grade Holsteins, 818 pounds milk, 31.65 pounds fat. 2. H. Freshour & Son, 10 P. B. Holsteins, 780 pounds milk, 26.76 pounds fat. Large Herd, 16 or more cows. 1. Reynolds Dairy, 20 Grade Holsteins, 887.5 pounds milk, 33.73 pounds fat. 2. Thos. Haggerty, 19 P. B. and Grade Holsteins, 878 pounds milk, 30.2 pounds fat. The three high cows in the various age classes are as follows: Mature Class, 5 years or over. 1. Reynolds Dairy, Grade Holstein, 1500 pounds milk, 60.0 pounds fat. 2. Jess Underwood, Grade Holstein, 1449 pounds milk, 52.2 pounds fat. 3. Reynolds Dairy, Grade Holstein, 1266 pounds milk, 43.1 pounds fat. Under 5 years. 1. H. Freshour & Son, P. B. Holstein, 1356 pounds milk, 42.0 pounds fat; Reynolds Dairy, P. B. Brown Swiss, 1041 pounds milk, 41.6 pounds fat. 2. Jess Underwood, Grade Holstein, 1143 pounds milk, 41.1 pounds fat. Under 4 years. 1. H. Freshour & Son, P. B. Holsteins, 1563 pounds milk, 57.8 pounds fat. 2. Thos. Haggerty, P. B. Holsteins, 1281 pounds milk, 47.4 pounds fat. 3. Thos. Haggerty, Grade Holsteins, 1266 pounds milk, 43.0 pounds fat. Under 3 years. 1. Jess Underwood, Grade Holsteins, 1317 pounds milk, 44.8 pounds fat. 2. Jess Underwood, Grade Holsteins, 1203 pounds milk, 42.1 pounds fat. 3. H. Freshour & Son, P. B. Holsteins, 951 pounds milk, 35.2 pounds fat.

Home Grown Strains Clover Seed Wanted

STATE WANTS NAMES OF FARMERS RAISING. How many farmers in Ingham county have a strain of medium red clover which has been grown continuously on their farm for fifteen or more years? Your county agricultural agent is interested in getting this information. Recently he received an inquiry from the Farm Crops Department of the Michigan State College requesting the names of any farmers having old strains of red clover.

Mr. Barnum has already made arrangements to secure samples of such seed from three Aurelius township farmers, namely Emory Topliff, Harry Brown and Bert Topliff. These men do not know exactly how long they have been growing and sowing their own seed but they certainly have well established strains. Michigan clover seed holds a high place in the seed market. Seed from Michigan is very likely to be hardy seed if it has been grown here over a period of years. Several farmers in the state have already reported having grown the same strain of clover for more than fifteen years. One farmer in Montmorency county reports that he has had the same strain of medium red clover on his farm for twenty-two successive years. Such strains are certainly hardy. There are probably farmers in this county who can equal or better the above records. Any farmer who has a strain of medium red clover which he has grown for a number of years or do not know exactly how long they have been growing and sowing their own seed but they certainly have well established strains. Beaver Island Woods To Have Fire Guard

TOWER TO BE ERRECTED BY FORESTRY DIVISION.

Beaver Island, containing some of the state's most beautiful timber lands, for the first time in its history, now has a fire tower. The fire fighting division of the Department of Conservation has obtained use of a federal "Irregularities" tower near St. James and is now converting it into a regulation fire tower. Previous to this the forests of Beaver Island have been protected against fire by Gus Wilko, conservation officer and J. Green, keyman. Because of its isolation and the fact that it is little frequented by campers, Beaver Island has been reasonably free from forest fires in the past. However, in erecting the first tower, the division is acting upon an effort to preserve its great timber growths.

WHY WE BEHAVE LIKE HUMAN BEINGS

By GEORGE DORSEY, Ph. D. LL. D.

The Secret of the Thyroid

THE endocrine gland best understood is the thyroid (shil-thyroid) astride our Adam's apple. It varies individually and with age. It is relatively largest in fetal life. At birth its weight in proportion to the entire body is as 1 to 300, by the third week 1 to 1,000, and in the adult as 1 to 1,800. It is generally larger in women than in men. Why this is so is not yet known.

The thyroid usually consists of two equally developed lobes two inches long, an inch and a quarter broad. They vary greatly; one lobe may be much larger than the other, or may be quite absent. Generally the two lobes are connected by an isthmus; this also varies in position or may be absent. There may be necessary thyroids down the trachea as far as the heart.

Only in higher fishes does the thyroid become a ductless gland, take on new functions, and start a new career. In man a duct is sometimes found in the isthmus—vestige of a condition found in lowest fishes, echo of millions of years ago. It is prone to trouble.

Children with deficient thyroids, through removal, atrophy, or injury, become heavy-featured, glabrous, idiotic dwarfs known as cretins; they do not metamorphose into normal adults.

These appalling results in both children and adults have been corrected by feeding thyroid extract.

Enlargement of the thyroid from what-soever cause is called goiter, or Derbyshire neck. But an over-developed or over-active thyroid produces a definite disease known as toxic or exophthalmic goiter, or Graves' disease. This is characterized by increased metabolism and blood pressure, rapid pulse, lax and moist skin, nervousness, and protruding eyeballs—hence the name, "exophthalmic." The remedy is still in the hands of the surgeon.

It is believed that the activating principle of the thyroid hormone is thyroxin, isolated by Kendall in 1918. Thyroxin is a crystalline compound of three molecules of iodine fixed in a protein derivative: tri-iodo-tri-hydroxydipropionic acid, or 63 per cent of iodine.

Only the thyroid secretes thyroxin, and apparently it is the iodine in thyroxin that tells the story. Iodine is found in many seaweeds; it is three times more abundant in codfish than in human beings; it is found in traces in milk and in drinking water; and gets its name from its violet (todes) color!

Possibly no life exists without iodine. Certainly normal human life is impossible without one one-hundredth of a grain of thyroxin a day. Three and a half grains of thyroxin are all that should be used with intelligence and timidity.

The adrenals, or suprarenals, get their name from their position just above the kidneys. Normally they are of the size and shape of a large bean. But they vary; one—or, in rare cases, both—may be absent; there may be accessory adrenals varying in size from a pin head to a large pea. Removal of both glands is fatal, often within a few hours. When death does not follow their removal it is because accessory adrenals are present and can function.

Adrenin is a powerful drug and a powerful cardio-vascular stimulant. Normally our blood contains about eight milligrams of it, which means that the proportion of adrenin to arterial blood is one part to a billion. It influences some tissues when diluted to one part in 100,000,000. It depresses the intestinal canal when diluted to one part in 330,000,000! Large doses are fatal.

Adrenin is a drug, one of the most potent our body conceals. Yet adrenal feeding leads to no known or proved results. The administration of the drug adrenin leads to profound results. Our body blood contains little adrenin. Whether it is made up or extracted by the adrenal is still an open question, but that adrenin has specific action on the vascular system, the nervous system, the blood, the alimentary canal, and on sugar mobilization, there is no doubt. Nor is there any doubt that when administered as a drug it increases the action of local anesthetics by constricting the blood vessels, thus preventing local loss of the anesthetic. And as this reduces the amount of anesthetic required, it also reduces the amount of toxin danger from the anesthetic. It checks hemorrhages. It allays the spasms of acute bronchial asthma. It also stimulates weak hearts and fortifies the hearts of the old and infirm against the shock of operation.

In short, adrenin exerts an influence upon all smooth muscle innervated by fibers of the autonomic nervous system. That makes its responsibility enormous. Its influence on human stability second to none.

Will Celebrate Golden Wedding In Same Garb Worn At Marriage

MR. AND MRS. FRED DINGMAN Fifty Years Ago

Garbed in the same blue silken gown which she wore as Elizabeth J. Elliott, a bride of fifty years ago, Mrs. Fred W. Dingman will await her bridegroom and lord at the family altar Sunday to repeat the vows then made.

Mr. Dingman also will wear his wedding suit, a handsome black Prince Albert with much silk braid used as trimming in the style of that day. Mrs. Dingman will wear a row of darts about the waist in order that it might be worn with comfort. Otherwise the gown will be the same with its ruffles and fluted furrows as worn on the former occasion and shown in the picture above taken immediately following the wedding.

The romance which culminated in the marriage of Elizabeth Elliott to Fred Dingman by the Reverend Mr. Bryant at the Presbyterian manse at Holt on October 12, 1879, began at the old Sandhill school when Fred and Elizabeth first began to vend their way as children. Fred's parents lived on a farm just to the north of the present Dingman home while Elizabeth's parents lived to the south. Fred carried Elizabeth's dinner pail, hauled her on his sled on cold winter mornings and otherwise acted as her guardian.

Later as they grew toward maturity the relationship ripened into a courtship which continued until the wedding day.

"I cannot understand this new fangled idea of divorce," declares Mrs. Dingman. "Fred and I have had our disappointments and reverses; but we have been times when things did not

LEON TAYLOR FOUND DEAD IN BARN ON FARM.

The lifeless body of Leon Taylor, 52, prominent Leslie farmer, was discovered in an automobile in a barn on the Taylor farm last Thursday evening about nine o'clock. The family resided in Leslie but Mr. Taylor had been working at his farm south of the village. He left home for the farm early in the day to work in a bean field. About four o'clock in the afternoon, neighbors noticed Mr. Taylor going to his barn, evidently to escape the rain.

He failed to arrive at his home in Leslie at the usual time and his absence worried Mrs. Taylor who phoned to Leonard Williams, a farmer residing near the Taylor farm. Mr. Williams went to the Taylor farm and discovered the body of the missing man huddled over the steering wheel of an automobile.

George Leach, deputy sheriff at Leslie, was notified and he, with B. A. Davis, Leslie undertaker, removed the body to the Taylor home. Justice M. L. Campbell, acting as coroner, investigated the tragedy Friday morning and held that an inquest was not necessary as the findings proved that death was caused by carbon monoxide gas. It was found that the motor of the car had been left running until nearly all of the gasoline in the tank had been used. The switch to the car was turned on. Mr. Taylor had evidently been overcome by the fumes from the exhaust and the motor had run for several hours before the gas supply was exhausted.

Upon the farm where he met his death, Leon Taylor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor, was born fifty-two years ago. He lived his entire life upon the farm and was a member of the Leslie Masonic lodge. He was prominent in civic and social affairs of the community. He had long been a member of the Leslie Masonic lodge. On October 12, 1898, he was married to Grace A. Fosson, who with two daughters, Mrs. Deway Crockett and Mrs. Harold Bryan, both reside in Lansing. He is also survived by three brothers, Roy of Detroit, Flavius and Homer of Leslie, and one sister, Mrs. Florence Leach of Leslie.

Funeral services were held at the Taylor home in Leslie Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. O. B. Thurston, pastor of the Congregational church of which Mr. Taylor was a member, officiated at the services. Burial was at Woodlawn.

The Baptist ladies have their plans well under way for their annual chicken pie supper which will be served in the church dining rooms on Friday afternoon, October 18, beginning at five o'clock and continuing until all are served. All the 'Baptist farms' contribute of their choicest yellow legged chickens, and cooks that have gained a name for their light and tender biscuits make the crusts and bake the pies. The fact that people who have attended these suppers come year after year to partake of the tasty supper which also includes mashed potatoes, gravy, salads, pickles, jelly and mince and pumpkin pies speaks well for the fact that these annual chicken pie suppers have acquired.

Nate Davis' coon hound needs at least another lesson before the hunting season opens. Nate, Don Murray and Edgar Adams took the hound out one night last week to accustom the animal to the lay of the land so that no false moves would be made when the hunting season opens. After prowling through the woods until nearly midnight without corraling any big game the three weary hunters and the dejected dog were on their way home when the hound, in a last endeavor to please his masters, took out after a beautiful little animal. The animal proved to be a skunk and when the dog returned in disgust the three hunters could easily tell that the dog had gone too close before the quarry had been recognized.

Don and Edgar were in favor of shooting the dog but Nate came to the rescue and insisted that the faithful, if luckless, canine be given safe transportation back to the home kennel. After a lengthy argument Don was made to sit in the rear of the car with the dog and the dog apparently had heard that misery loves company. At any rate he transferred most of the scent from his furry coat to Don's clothes with the result that Mrs. Murray insisted that her husband take a bath, shave and shampoo before returning while the other two men checked in at their homes by using slight doses of perfume.

Changes In Names Of Lakes And Streams

REQUEST MUST ORIGINATE IN COUNTY DECLARED.

The name of any lake or stream in Michigan can be changed only upon authority from the Board of Supervisors of the county in which that particular lake or stream is located and the State of Michigan intends to usurp no authority in this, according to the State Committee on changing Geographical Names.

The committee was appointed some time ago by Governor Fred W. Green to formulate some system by which names of lakes and streams could be changed, principally to avoid duplication. The committee is composed of: George N. Fuller of the State Historical commission, chairman; R. A. Smith, state geologist and L. R. Shoemman, head of the Land Economic Survey of the Department of Conservation; and, acting in an advisory capacity are: George E. Bishop, secretary of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau; Hugh J. Gray, secretary of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Bureau and T. F. Marston, secretary of the East Michigan Tourist and Resort Association. A complete system of routine by which names of lakes and streams can be changed, has now been formulated and announced by the Board.

One state of Michigan has many lakes and streams which are duplicated in names, according to the committee. There are innumerable "Grass", "Mud" and "Crooked" lakes and several "Trout", "Silver", and "Crooked" creeks. This has often caused confusion in the past. To avoid this duplication the committee has formulated a system by means of which changes in name are to be made.

A desire to change the name of a lake or stream must initiate with the people of the county in which the body of water is situated. By petition or request, the board of supervisors may be asked by the people to take some formal action toward changing a name. This petition presented to the supervisors must state the name of the lake or stream whose name it is desired to change; the reasons for desiring the change; and the preferred name.

If the board of supervisors agrees and adopts a formal resolution asking that the name of the lake or stream be changed, a copy of the resolution may be sent to the State Committee. The committee will consider the petition. It will determine whether the preferred name is duplicated anywhere in the state; and whether a change in name is necessary and desirable. If the State Committee considers the petition favorable, the petition together with the committee's recommendation, will be sent to the National Board on Geographical Names. This board, in turn, will consider the petition. Its decision is final. If the National Board approves the change, then the name of the lake or stream will be formally changed and the new name will be listed on all official maps and documents.

"Since the State Committee was appointed some time ago, the public has obtained an erroneous impression as to its objects and purposes," Chairman Fuller said, in announcing the formal name-change plan. "The public has been under the impression that the committee intends to change names of lakes and streams wholesale and without consent of the local residents. This is not true.

"We will change no names at our own initiative. The initiative must come from the county in which the lake or stream is located.

"The only function of this committee is to provide the machinery by which names may be changed officially; to provide some official local authority that can consider the desired change in name; and to provide means of making official decisions.

The committee is now ready for action whenever formal resolutions from boards of supervisors are presented to it for consideration.

Primary Sunday school will be held during the church services.

Wednesday evening meeting at 8. "Unreality" was the subject of the lesson sermon in all Christian Science churches on Sunday, October 6.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson sermon was the following from the Bible: "The Lord our God be with us, as he was with our fathers: let him not leave us, nor forsake us." (1 Kings 8:57).

The lesson sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Science of Christianity comes with fan in hand to separate the chaff from the wheat. Science will declare God aright, and Christianity will demonstrate this declaration and its divine Principle, making mankind better physically, morally and spiritually." (p. 466).

YOU MUST TELL THEM WHY!

There are 2200 families in this trading territory which look for your message in the NEWS each week.

There are 2200 families, made up of approximately 8800 men, women and children, in this trading territory who want to know why they should buy of you. They may know you're in business but that fact leaves them cold. They want to know why your goods and services are best or most economical.

These 2200 families comprise one of the best markets in the United States—in fact the only market for Mason merchants.

This is a competitive age and while you're dusting off your stock your competitor, perhaps miles away in these days of rapid transit, is telling your customer why he can serve him better. You know your goods and services are better than your competitors offer else you would not be in business but how are your customers going to know it without your telling them? You must speak for yourself!

Merchants can not afford to wait for customers to stumble on to bargains—progressive business men point the way.

Tell them what you have for sale! Tell them why they should have it! Tell them at what price the article is sold! Tell them why they should buy it of you! If your goods are right, if the prices are right, if the service you offer is satisfactory, you're going to keep your old customers and gain many new ones: Because these 2200 families depend on the NEWS to guide them in their buying. These 8800 people want to buy of you. It's up to you, Mr. Business Man. Can you afford not to tell them?

Opportunity knocks more than once. It knocks 52 times in the year for merchants who advertise in the NEWS each week.

Tell them each week through the advertising columns of the NEWS, the newspaper read in nearly every home in the Mason trading area.

OBITUARY

Ezetta Ondine Kaywood was born in the village of Dansville, Nov. 22, 1908, and died Oct. 4, 1929, at the age of 20 years, 10 months and 12 days. She graduated from the Dansville high school with the class of 1927, attending the County Normal at Mason and teaching school in the years of 1928-29. She also graduated from the bible school at Camp Warren in 1929. She was loved by all who knew her. She was a very ambitious Sunday school worker, having taught for several years in the Sunday school of this church. She was converted at the age of eleven years and united with the church at that time, always faithful to her God and her church. To know

Ezetta was to love her. She will be greatly missed in the school where she was teaching at the time she was taken ill and the community where she has lived all of her life. She leaves to mourn their loss a mother, father, a loving grandmother, sister Leota, and a host of relatives and friends. Funeral services were held in the Methodist church, Monday afternoon. All adjoining rooms were opened into the auditorium and were filled to the doors by the friends, old and young. Thirteen members of the class of '27 served as bearers and honorary bearers. Mr. Tony Slusser of Mason, to whom Miss Kaywood was soon to be married has, with the bereaved family the heartiest sympathy of their many friends. There is something of the irony of fate in the fact that Miss Kaywood's pastor, Rev. H. A. Hudgins, whom she had desired to perform the marriage ceremony, was required to preach the funeral sermon. Burial was in Dansville cemetery, unto her God and her church. To know

IN MEMORY OF EZETTA

Frances H. Keene
Tall, strong, beautiful
Like an elm, so fair was she;
Her mission here as fruitful
As most anyone's could be.
She taught the little children,
And gave them all she could
Of knowledge, truth and wisdom,
Of love of man and God.
The children loved to listen,
And as she brought them some new thought
Would look up in admiration
Because of lessons she had taught.
Yet one day she had to leave them,
Leave the little ones behind;
Leave the parents, sister, sweetheart
Who had been to her so kind.
Leave us all behind in sorrow
For we can not follow now,
We can only hope tomorrow
We may meet sometime, somehow.

How! How can we meet this loved one
Who has gone and left us here?
How can we quench the sorrow
Of this hour so dull and drear?
Here's a thought 'twill bring you comfort,
She is not dead but lives,
Lives again with God who made her
Lives on, yes lives and lives.
We can meet again in heaven,
Meet again our love, our friend,
And now be glad there is no pain
Be glad there is an end.
An end of pain and sorrow,
And we too shall find the peace
In that beautiful new Jerusalem
Where joy shall never cease.

PAYS FOR ITSELF by saving carbon removal costs

You pay from 10 to 15 dollars a year for oil. A thorough job of carbon removal costs varying amounts depending upon the condition of the carbon choked motor and the damage caused by hard carbon. But certainly this cost is more than 10 or 15 dollars. Yet many motorists are forced to remove carbon twice or more a year, at least doubling these costs. SUNOCO, the 100% distilled oil, which is guaranteed free from paraffine, gives perfect lubrication. You will have no hard carbon—which causes knocks, gummed spark plugs and valves, pre-ignition and loss of power—if you use SUNOCO exclusively.

Each of these tests was made under exactly the same conditions

PISTON NO. 1 was taken from a Ford engine after a run of 1,000 miles. A compounded oil was used.

PISTON NO. 2 was taken from the same engine, same cylinder, after a run of 1,000 miles, and a different compounded oil was used.

PISTON NO. 3 was taken from the same engine, same cylinder, after a run of 1,000 miles, and a third compounded oil was used.

Here's how SUNOCO performed in this test:

You can see the heavy carbon deposits on the pistons 1, 2 and 3 after running only 1,000 miles—hard, flinty carbon, difficult to remove.

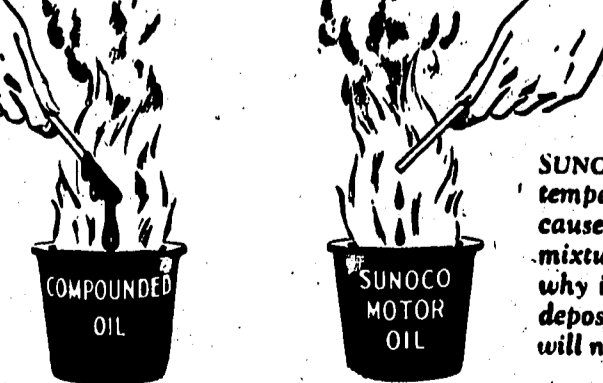

Piston No. 4 was taken from the same Ford engine, same cylinder, after running 5,000 miles (5 times as far). SUNOCO Motor Oil was used. After the test there was only a little soft, harmless soot which could be wiped off easily with a rag—a characteristic SUNOCO performance.

PISTON NO. 4

This BURNING TEST Proves that SUNOCO... 100% DISTILLED... Guaranteed free from Paraffine LEAVES NO HARD CARBON

When compounded paraffine oils containing cylinder stock are subjected to laboratory tests at high temperature, the light oil burns off and the sticky cylinder stock remains. In an automobile engine this sticky deposit collects gasoline soot and dust brought in through the intake pipe. Then it is baked into hard carbon.

SUNOCO Motor Oil, when subjected to high temperature, does not leave a sticky residue, because it contains no "cylinder stock." It is not a mixture of a light oil and cylinder stock. That's why it does not separate; cannot form a sticky deposit on the pistons or cylinder head; and will not form hard carbon.

Farm Of Purina Mills Scene Of Feed Tests

MANUFACTURING CO. CONDUCTS EXPERIMENTAL FARM.
Near Grays Summit, Missouri, the Purina Mills Co. established an experimental farm three years ago. Upon this farm every known method of feeding is tested. The farm has running water, power, modern machinery, milking machines, grinding machines and electric lights. At the steer lots 180 head of steers are fed to determine production of the cheapest pound of beef. These steers are from the ranges of Texas.

A total of 160 head of Holstein cows, 650 hogs, 2000 chickens, 40 dogs and 16 rabbits, besides the steers, make up the stock on test. Two hundred acres of land are devoted to temporary pasture grasses, such as oats, rape, rye, sudan grass and sweet clover; 60 acres to permanent blue grass and electric lights. Some acreage is planted to corn which is cut into silage to be fed as a supplement to the various other feed mixtures tested on the farm.

William H. Danforth, president of Purina Mills, says, "We are trying to do on the farm just what any farmer would do if he had the facilities on hand to find out these things. We are interested in his biggest problem, that of lowering the cost of producing a pound of beef, pork, mutton or milk. We know that we can not control the markets of the world. The farmer after long arduous years also realizes that. But we know that when we lower the cost of production, it is just the same as if we raised the market price per pound of these commodities."
