

Oil Firm Suit Against State In Court Here

Detroit Suit Against Detroit Edison Company Is Delayed Six Weeks

Two of the most important court trials in Michigan were started at Mason Monday. One didn't last an hour. The other will take up this week and probably all of next. Both cases are test suits involving big money and important principles of rate making and tax collecting.

Detroit and Wayne county came into court before Judge Marvin J. Salmon Monday to ask that the decision of the public service commission to grant increased rates to Detroit Edison be set aside. That was the trial called off for the present.

Before Judge James E. O'Neill of Saginaw in the Mason court room is being heard the suit of the Roosevelt Oil Co. and Roosevelt Oil and Refining Corporation of Mt. Pleasant against Secretary of State Frederick M. Alger, Jr. and Harold E. Bradshaw, director of the gasoline tax division of the Michigan secretary of state's office. That case will likely run another full week. The suit has been brought to contest the continuation of state gasoline tax auditors in their arrival of the three-cent gas tax on some 2,100,000 gallons of gasoline.

Briefs Will Be Filed
Because Detroit and Wayne county did not dispute the evidence taken at Michigan public service commission hearings on a rate increase for Detroit Edison, no further testimony was needed. The court will decide the issue after attorneys have filed briefs. Attorneys agreed that either way the decision of the circuit court goes an appeal will likely be taken to the supreme court.

At least two or three weeks would have been needed had the Detroit Edison case gone into the testimony taken at the public service commission hearing. There was a big array of legal talent gathered in the supervisors rooms. In the committee rooms a stenographic department was set up Monday ready for the long grind. There were three Detroit court reporters on hand to take down and transcribe the testimony.

James H. Lee, assistant corporation counsel for the city of Detroit; Leonard Simons, special assistant prosecutor for the county of Wayne; Assistant Attorney General Archie Fraser for the Michigan public service commission; Harvey A. Fischer and Lawrence Sprague of Fischer, Brown, Sprague, Franklin & Ford of Detroit; Paul W. McQuillan of Detroit, and Plummer Snyder of Lansing, all representing Detroit Edison, were on hand.

According to Lee, $13,000,000 annually is involved in the litigation.

Lee asked for and was granted 30 days in which to file briefs. Detroit Edison was given two weeks to reply and then Detroit and Wayne county will have until December 8 to reply to the defendant's brief.

Heeded for High Court
The sales tax suit is also heard for the supreme court regardless of the verdict which will be rendered by Judge O'Neill. Albert M. Stern of Miller & Stern, Detroit, is representing the oil firms. Ernest O. Zirkolas of Detroit, an assistant attorney general, is defending the secretary of state and the gasoline tax division.

About $64,000 more than was paid is being demanded by the state in gasoline tax for a six-month period in 1948. There is no contention of fraud. The case is a result of a dispute over interpretation of regulations.

In his opening statement Stern insisted that the state gas tax auditors are charging Roosevelt refiners for gasoline and naphtha never produced. Stern declared that the state audit is not correct and that the state schedule and theory are both wrong.

An audit by Ernst & Ernst is also a factor in the case. Ernst & Ernst was employed by the oil companies. The state did not and will not accept the audit, claiming that Ernst & Ernst is not familiar with gasoline tax statutes.

It is the state's contention that during the period in question losses in gasoline at the plant were far beyond any reasonable level.

On the stand Monday and most of Tuesday was Tom Williams, production superintendent of the Mt. Pleasant refinery. Other witnesses Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were E. Allen Morrow, secretary-treasurer of the Roosevelt Oil Co.; Earl H. Warner and Keith Ewers, accountants at the plant; and Arthur W. Winter, a director and former president of the firm. Winter too the stand again Thursday forenoon and before the day is over Zirkolas will probably start cross-examining of the former president.

FIRE RUN MADE

Ted Thompson Heads Michigan I.O.O.F.

History repeated itself at Grand Rapids Tuesday when the Michigan grand lodge of Odd Fellows installed Theodore A. (Ted) Thompson as grand master. His father, the late Herbert A. Thompson, was once Michigan's grand master and later became sovereign grand master of Odd Fellows throughout the world. The new grand master's grandfather, Elmer S. Andrews, also served as grand master of Odd Fellows in Michigan.

The same tradition prevails in business as well as lodge work. Ted is publisher of the Williamston Enterprise. The grandfather was publisher of the paper from 1873 to 1908. Then his son-in-law, Herbert A. Thompson, took over. The present publisher succeeded his father. Thus for 76 years the Enterprise has been published by the same family, the three generations. Williamston Odd Fellows are making plans for a testimonial dinner and dance for Ted Saturday night, October 29, Paul G. Vaught is general chairman of the program. Guests at the party will not be limited to Odd Fellows or Rebekahs, although all grand lodge and assembly and encampment officers will probably be present. Many of the grand lodge officers will appear on the program along with local people. Tickets for the event are now on sale in Williamston.

Santa Is Sought To Repair Toys

Some man or men packed full of Christmas spirit and handy with tools can get plenty of work. The Community Clearing House has a lot of toys lined up for Christmas baskets. Some of those toys need repairs and there is no money for such service. Women are mending clothing for the Clearing House and they believe that men should help with repairing toys.

Volunteers for repairing toys are asked to report to Mrs. W. R. Tietz or Miss Ethel Adams.

Council Delays Action on Light At Intersection

After first adopting a resolution calling on the state highway department to make a re-study of traffic conditions at the corner of Columbia and Cedar, the council Monday night decided to hang back a week or two. A petition was received by the council two weeks before calling for a traffic light at the intersection. It was tabled until Monday night. After it was passed the aldermen moved to have the matter held up until a Mason Chamber of Commerce committee meets with State Highway Commissioner Charles Ziegler on the route of US-127 through Mason.

Whether the route of US-127 is changed or not, Alderman W. Davis Post commented, there will have to be an intersection with a traffic light be placed.

In the early part of the war the traffic light at Columbia and Cedar was removed. A survey taken then, state highway department officials reported, showed the traffic on Columbia not heavy enough to warrant a light which held back the traffic flow on the trunkline.

The resolution offered by Alderman Frank Dakin Monday night asked for a re-study.

After its adoption Alderman Frank Dakin moved that the resolution be held up until the meeting between the Mason Chamber of Commerce, city and county officials and Commissioner Ziegler. The meeting is scheduled for early in November.

At Monday night's session Alderman John Taylor reported the Capitol City Wrecking Co. wants $1,200 for tearing down the old Waterworks building and leveling the site. No action was taken.

On Thursday Mayor S. A. Morrison and several aldermen are going to Alma to inspect an Armco structure there. Until after the inspection the council will not decide on what bid to accept on the city garage and storage building which were erected on North Jefferson. Bids were taken October 3.

CROP Campaign Opens, Two Carloads Is Ingham Goal

Ingham county's CROP campaign is scheduled to start Sunday with pleas in rural and city churches. The goal is two carloads of wheat and milk products to be sent to Europe's needy. The campaign is backed by church and farm leaders to give new hope and courage to Europe, to make sure people there will have a Christian tomorrow.

CROP stands for Christian Rural Overseas Program. It is the joint endeavor of Protestant and Catholic church organizations. The food is shipped overseas by church groups and distributed in Europe by church organizations.

Actual canvassing of rural areas for CROP will be started in Ingham Monday Co-Chairmen Loren Strait and M. H. Avery said. Three collection stations are being set up in the county, at the Williamston Co-Operative Elevator and the Mason Elevator.

While the rural and small town churches are taking the principal roles in conducting the campaign, the aid of city churches is also sought. Some in Lansing and East Lansing are asking members to contribute sacks of flour, cans of evaporated milk or packages of dried milk.

day night, October 29, Paul G. Vaught is general chairman of the program. Guests at the party will not be limited to Odd Fellows or Rebekahs, although all grand lodge and assembly and encampment officers will probably be present. Many of the grand lodge officers will appear on the program along with local people. Tickets for the event are now on sale in Williamston.

Ghosts and Goblins Will Join Halloween Torchlight Parade

With flaring torches ghosts and goblins will join in a colorful parade at Mason Monday night, October 31. It's the big community Halloween party being sponsored again by business men. It's the party that takes the place of destruction of property and vandalism. It's the annual party that for 17 years has given Mason business men an opportunity to show youngsters that fun doesn't have to be destructive.

Again the Mason Kiwanis club is staging the Halloween party. This year Ben Weaver is the general chairman of the 18th annual party.

Roger Kierstead heads the committee on parade and music. Serving with him are Howard McCowan, Raymond H. McLean and Howard Selbert.

Ray Perkins is chairman of the refreshments committee. Helping him are Ben Weaver, Dr. R. Lethbridge and D. Lee Ware.

Frank Gierrero is chairman of the entertainment committee. Helping him are the hot chocolate and hand out the cookies will be Clarence Adlof, Emery Jewett, John Taylor, Glen Coon, M. D. Collins and John Shepard.

Present plans call for the parade to form at the school and then a march behind the band to Athletic field. At the field judges will review the costumes, youngsters and award prizes. Other entertainment is also being planned. Refreshments will be served at Athletic field.

Kindergartners and other of the smallest fry will have their Halloween treats in the afternoon.

For the benefit of newcomers to the community, Weaver points out that the Halloween party takes the place of window soaping and the "trick and treat" performances in other cities.

Rifle Bullet Hits Lansing Huntsman

Jack Walker, 23, Lansing, was struck by a rifle bullet while hunting north of Mason Saturday forenoon. The bullet fired from a .22 rifle, struck Walker in the lower part of his stomach. He was taken to the Sparrow hospital in Lansing where his condition was reported as satisfactory.

Mrs. Tena Fair fired the shot. She was hunting pheasants with the rifle. She fired twice at the bird. The first shot went into the ground beyond the bird. The second apparently zoomed over the crest of a slope to strike Walker. He was hunting with Eugene Blossley, William Blossley, H. M. Walker and Elaine Walker, all of Lansing.

Youngster Dies Of Meningitis

Mary Monell Rose, 9½-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rose, died of spinal meningitis about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. She was in apparent good health Sunday and attended Sunday school. It was Monday noon when she first showed signs of sickness and 15 minutes later her condition appeared serious. She was at once taken to a doctor's office. Her condition grew more alarming Tuesday afternoon and in the evening the diagnosis of dreaded meningitis was made. Three hours later the little girl was dead.

Besides the parents there survive a brother, Thomas, 10, and a sister, Janell, 6, and the grandparents, Mrs. Eva Rose of Merivale and Davis Wilson of Lansing.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon in Jewett chapel with Rev. George Selway of Lansing officiating. Burial was in Evergreen cemetery in Lansing. Kenneth Merindorf, Fred Fry, Scott Hammann and Verslo Babcock, brother officers of the father on the sheriff's staff, were pallbearers.

THIEF GRABS MONEY BAG

While William Smith, custodian at the Legion Memorial building, was downtown on an errand Friday afternoon someone made off with a money bag containing $18. The money represented receipts from the refreshment stand. It had been placed in a Farmers bank bag for deposit.

Scout Executive Tells Why Chain Bars Camp Drive

Vandalism is the only reason why a padlock and chain bar the entrance to Camp Kiwanis, four miles east of Mason on M-26. So said Clarence Neitz, Scout executive for the Chief Okemos Council.

"We regret that use of the road leading up the hill from the camp has been restricted to those times when Scouts or Boy Scout executives are at the camp," Neitz said. "yet there seems to be no other way. When we have left the chain off the entrance, invaders have held carnivals at the camp, they have broken into cabins, they have started fires in the woods, they have shot holes through doors and windows and have deliberately and maliciously riddled kitchen and dormitories. They even twisted the hands of an electric clock."

The view from the high hill is appreciated, Neitz said. He expressed the hope that a parking area can be built at the foot of the hill with steps leading up to the camp. A lookout tower now being planned.

Anyone is welcome to use the road to visit the camp when Scouts are camped, Neitz explained. When the chain is in place visitors may feel free to park their cars at the foot of the hill and walk up to view the scenery, the Scout executive said.

"The chain is placed across the inside roadway," Neitz added, "to help curb the malicious, thoughtless and otherwise inconsiderate persons who are more interested in night life than in the scenery."

C. H. Hall Heads Peoples Ticket

Cecil H. Hall is the candidate of the Peoples party for mayor. He and all other candidates of the party were chosen unanimously at the caucus held in the circuit court room Tuesday night. Twenty-one voters were present.

Other candidates chosen to represent the Peoples party are Mrs. Nina Carr, city treasurer; E. E. Ball, alderman-at-large; Harold L. Barnhill, first ward alderman and supervisor; Rueli Kruse, second ward alderman; and Louis Lee, second ward constable.

Raymond H. McLean was chairman and Dr. R. R. Robbins was clerk of the caucus. Henry Fries and Emery Jewett were tellers but had no work to do.

Alderman John Taylor presented the Hall nomination, Hugh W. Silsby, Sr., offered the name of Mrs. Carr for treasurer and James Davis presented the candidacy of Ball for alderman-at-large.

James Davis was chairman and John Shepard was clerk of the first ward caucus at which Barnhill was nominated. Howard McCowan was chairman and John Carroll the clerk at the second ward caucus which nominated Kruse and Lee.

Elected to the Peoples party city committee were Hugh W. Silsby, Jr., James Davis, Glen Dunn, Jr., Howard McCowan, Raymond H. McLean and John Shepard.

With the nominating of Peoples party candidates Mason voters are now offered their choice of three tickets at the November 8 election. That has not happened before in 50 years. The Independents hold all the offices at stake in the November election. The party was launched two years ago. The Peoples party had held control for the previous 15 years. Before that the Citizens was the only party for a 20-year period. Mayor S. A. Morrison heads the Independent slate with Jack Betcher the candidate for mayor on the revived Citizens ticket.

New Alderman Wants to Save Maple Bridge

Evans Advises Council That Few Thousands Now May Save Big Sum Later

Snow fence may be removed from the Maple street bridge and a new headwall may be erected to prevent further damage to the structure. Alderman Frank Evans, appointed a few weeks ago to fill the council vacancy, told his colleagues Monday night that the bridge can be saved for several years by spending $3,000 or $4,000 for repairs.

Unless those repairs are made the first fresher may tear out what remains of the bridge, Evans warned. He also declared that the revetment left at the site of the former interurban bridge, just north of Maple street, is a menace. A flood may topple the big chunk of concrete into the stream and dam it up, the alderman asserted.

The Maple street bridge was undermined in the 1948 spring flood. The south headwall collapsed and the south section was removed. The roadway had to be narrowed 14 feet. Snow fence was strung up to prevent cars from driving off the roadway into the creek.

Million Is Dangerous

City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer told the council that the present condition of the bridge is dangerous. He pointed out that pedestrians have to walk in the narrow roadway. The walk on the south side and collapsed with the headwall. Evans said a new headwall can be built on the south side. A walk can be provided on the north side.

Alderman Gerald Parsons at first fought the move to repair the damaged bridge. He labeled it wasteful to spend $4,000 on an inadequate bridge when a new and bigger one is needed. Evans replied that it would be poor policy to stand idly by watching a usable small bridge collapse just because someone wants a bigger one.

Evans also said that a spillway tube in the New York Central railroad bridge might relieve flood conditions upstream.

Zimmer and Evans agreed that neither the repair of the Maple street bridge nor the removal of the old interurban revetment will prevent the flooding of the intersection of Maple and Lansing streets when high water occurs.

Only a dike will do that, because the street level is below the bank level of the Sycamore.

On motion of Alderman Frank Dakin, the matter of repairing the Maple street bridge, removing the revetment and arranging for a conference with New York Central engineers was left to the street committee. A hearing may be held at which residents of the area may make plans for the future.

Only a dike will do that, because the street level is below the bank level of the Sycamore.

County Tax Levy Up 20% On Adoption of Budget Approved by Supervisors

Ways and Means Report Calls for Record Tax Levy Of $1,696,923 to Operate County in 1950, Welfare Costs Largely Responsible for New High in Ingham

More money all along the line in just about every department is reflected in the county tax which will be levied for 1950. It's the 1949 tax spread for operating the county next year. It adds up to almost a 20 per cent increase over last year.

The sum to be raised by taxes, as decided by the board of supervisors Thursday at Mason, comes to $1,696,923.24. An other $122,000.00 is expected to come over the county in estimated receipts. The levy does not include money for highway purposes. Neither is the state's matching money for welfare reflected in the computation. The money called for in the ways and means committee report offered Thursday morning is that needed from direct taxation to operate county departments exclusive of gasoline and weight tax, state welfare money and other revenues.

One hopeful provision is an estimated $292,461.17, which the ways and means committee expects to remain on hand at the close of next year.

Board Votes Down Move to Trim 10% Off Relief Costs

Supervisors meeting at Mason Thursday forenoon fought off all attempts to amend or trim down the appropriation recommended by the ways and means committee.

Voted down was Supervisor Lloyd Aseltine's motion to trim Ingham relief family budgets by 10 per cent. There were 11 votes in favor of the reduction. Next phatically Supervisor Rina Dell's motion to have $50,000 taken of the proposed appropriation of the tuberculosis sanatorium building fund and turn it over to the Ingham county fair board to erect buildings. That motion gained only five votes, all from supervisors.

Those who also serve on the county fair board. Those who voted for the transfer were Supervisors Clarence Puffenberger, Onondaga; K. C. Brown, Williamston; and Gle Leatherman, Earl W. Collier and Rina Dell, Lansing.

Turned down also was Supervisor Earl Loeman's motion to strike the $50,000 from the sanatorium building fund. Eleven votes for the saving. They were Supervisors Aseltine, K. C. Brown, Clark, Daldin, Dell, Hal Johnson, Leatherman, Leeman, Mills, Puffenberger and Speers.

What Supervisors Did Those are two things the supervisors decided not to do. Here are some of the things they did do at the Thursday session:

By adopting the ways and means report, the supervisors authorized the sheriff to add two more deputy sheriffs, each at $2,700; authorized the judge of probate to add a secretary-stenographer at $2,340 and a part-time investigator at $1,000; authorized the county clerk to add two more clerks to his staff at salaries of $1,800; authorized the friend of the court to add an investigator at $2,700 and a stenographer at $1,800; and provided for the hiring of a second janitor at the court house at $1,800 per year.

They asked the city of Mason to pay at least $100 a year for use of the court house for election caucuses and other city meetings. They gave final approval to the lease of the Auto-Owners property at the corner of Saginaw and Capitol in Lansing, to be occupied by the dual office of friend of the court and circuit court probation officer.

Here's How to Voice Approval of Conviction of Communist Leaders

American Legion posts have been warned that Communists and Communist sympathizers are protesting to President Truman and congress the conviction of the 11 Communist leaders and the sentencing for contempt of five of the defense attorneys.

For nine months these Communist leaders were on trial in federal court in New York. Every legal safeguard was thrown around the men on trial. The 11 Communists were convicted after they were given every opportunity and the widest latitude to prove themselves innocent of the charge of conspiring to cause the overthrow of the United States government. The 11 Communists convicted could not prove their innocence. A jury which heard the evidence presented by the FBI and other government and private agencies, a jury which studied the records of the men on trial, a jury which recognized the Communist threat to these United States, found the 11 men guilty.

Judge Medina, who bent over backwards during the long trial when defense lawyers hurled contempt upon him and the federal court, sentenced five of the lawyers to jail terms. They were not sentenced for defending their clients, but for seeking to break down respect for law and order, for trying to force a mistrial, for actions which can not be permitted to go without punishment.

To show President Truman and members of congress, Judge Medina, who presided at the trial, and yes, the Communists and their sympathizers, that true Americans believe the trial fair and the verdict of the jury just, the American Legion posts in this area join in asking for an expression of opinion.

Post Commander Cleo Bailey of Mason suggested that men and women use the form letter below in stating their approval and approbation of the action of Judge Medina, the government attorneys and operatives who prepared and presented the evidence, the jurors who weighed that evidence and returned the verdict of guilty.

To President Truman and Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath: Congratulations to Judge Medina on his unbiased and entirely fair manner of presiding over the trial which resulted in the conviction of 11 leading Communists in the United States for overthrowing this government, and the sentencing of five defense attorneys for contempt.

Every loyal citizen of this state and the nation concurs 100 per cent with the verdict. It is past time that subversive elements in this country be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

Theresa Reaches Home
We enjoy the trip home very much. I think the fact that we were on our way home finally made it more enjoyable. When we got to Amarillo it was so hot we didn't need coats and were glad to get back in the air where it was cool. Theresa stood the trip very well and when we got to Albuquerque the boys seemed to whether difference of opinion as to whether she would go to the hospital or not. The doctors finally told us that she could stay at home and I could take care of her. After our long separation that news was as good as any medicine she can be allowed to do anything she can. The doctor has ordered a brace for her left leg and as soon as that is ready she can walk all she wants to. The weakness in her leg was news to us. We had been told that her trouble was all in the arms. We are very hopeful that she will gain the use of her left arm and have seen definite improvement in the right one since she has been home.

We are very grateful for the concern and interest that you and the people of Mason have shown us. It takes something like this to make one realize how many really grand people there are in the world. Thank you again.

Rev. Henry Liddicut, pastor of the Mason Methodist church, performed the wedding at seven o'clock in the presence of the couple's immediate families. Attendants were white gladioli, asters and button mums and white candelabra formed the setting for the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Soper chose an apple-green suit for her marriage. Her accessories were black. Pinned to the shoulder of her suit was a corsage of a dozen yellow roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Louis Davis of Lansing. She wore a maroon suit, accented with navy accessories. Her corsage was made of white roses and gardenias.

Louis Davis of Lansing served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Soper selected a black suit dress. With it she wore teal blue accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Everitt was attired in a print crepe. She used black accessories and also wore a corsage of gardenias.

After the wedding a reception for 30 relatives and friends of the couple was held at the Soper home. Beverly Howery cut and served the three-tiered wedding cake. She was assisted by Joan Shinevar, who served the punch. Joan Jewett registered the guests.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Everitt are making their home at 316 1/2 East Sycamore street, Mason. Mary graduated from Mason high school in 1947 and Merwin high school in 1949. ### Newlyweds Residing at Corunna

Harriell Faith Dakin and Norman H. Anderson spoke their marriage vows at the Corunna Methodist church Sunday afternoon, September 24, at 4:30. Rev. Harold Dakin performed the double-ring ceremony for his daughter's wedding. He was assisted by Rev. J. H. Jones of the Corunna church. Faith's parents are Rev. and Mrs. Harold Dakin of Midland. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Corunna are Norman's parents. The newlyweds are living in the Maple River community at Corunna.

MRS. NORMAN ANDERSON

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of white candlelight satin, styled with a picture neckline and accented by a fold of satin trimmed with chantilly lace. The skirt, which flowed into a long train, had side panels edged with chantilly lace. An orange blossom hair held Faith's full-length lace-trimmed veil. She carried a cascading arrangement of spliffie red roses and white baby mums centered with three white orchids.

Hope Dakin of Midland attended her sister as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Natalie Ann Keiser of Corunna and Lois Spencer of Flint. The three girls wore orchid, aqua and pink taffeta gowns, respectively.

Margaret Ann Mitchell of Leslie was her cousin's flower girl. She wore a yellow taffeta frock. June's Lamson of Corunna acted as ring bearer.

Norman asked his cousin Richard Stewart of Breckenridge, to serve as best man. Norman Conn and Tom Anion of Corunna were groomsmen. Donald Onstead of Corunna and Gerald Dakin of Ann Arbor seated the 300 guests. Following the ceremony there was a reception in the church parlors. A six-tiered wedding cake and punch were served to the guests.

After the reception the couple left on a two-week honeymoon to Washington, D. C., and through the southern states. Faith graduated from Mason high school in June. She has been employed as bookkeeper at Anderson's Food Market in Corunna, where her husband is manager. He graduated from Corunna high school in 1946.

Settlers Shunned State's Interior For Many Years, Wayne Study Shows

On the shores of a lake in Oscoda County, near Mio, Michigan, Wayne students chart a late-settlement area, indicated by two squares on the map (Oscoda and Roscommon Counties).

Michigan's interior has been almost completely unoccupied by the white man more than half the time since 1658, when the first white settlements were made on its coasts. This is one of the curious facts uncovered through geographic and historical research at Wayne University in Detroit where, with documents and field-clip data, the step-by-step advancement of settlement frontiers has been traced. The earliest settlers refused to venture away from the shore line, for they had been told that the interior of the state was marshy, sandy, and unhealthful. In the face of the persistent myth, they remained on the coasts even when inland water routes made travel easy and the danger of Indian attack was slight. The story of the State's settlements really begins with the French explorers and missionaries. In 1622, a French explorer, coming overland from Canada, is believed to have viewed the Michigan bank of the St. Mary's River at Sault Ste. Marie, and thus to have become the first white man to look at any part of Michigan.

Clerk Points Out County Is Periled By Fake Reforms

Bureaucrats and professional do-gooders would substitute centralized government for the responsive and responsible county government now in effect. That was the statement made by County Clerk J. Ross Hilliard before the Mason Kwanis club Tuesday night. He carried the same message to the Ingham County board of directors. Hilliard is one of the organizers and a director of the Michigan Institute for Local Government, an organization which helped sponsor the local citizens workshop in Mason October 6.

State agencies continually try to usurp county functions, Hilliard declared. He pointed out that in the sales tax diversion the cities, townships and school districts receive sales tax money while the counties are left out in the distribution. Hilliard warned of the move which would place all county functions under a county manager, taking away from the people the right to choose their own officials.

The Ingham clerk told of the formation of the Michigan Institute for Local Government. He said it was organized to combat the encroachment of bureaucracy, to present local government fairly in school and college textbooks, to inform the citizens of their rights and duties, to hold summer workshop courses for teachers and to conduct schools of instruction for newly elected county officials.

An adequate breakfast includes fruit, whole grain or enriched cereal, glass of milk, an egg, and a slice of whole wheat or enriched bread with butter or fortified margarine suggests Doris Smith, nutritionist at Michigan State college.

Flowers and fashion go to your head in this new hair style created by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists. It's as sleek and femininely lovely as only short hair can be. You'll agree that it's the perfect coiffure for dinner-for-two dates when you see how cleverly the side bang accents pretty eyes. In honor of National Flower Week, October 30—November 6, sweep your hair back in soft waves and pin a giant gladiolus over your right eye. The gladiolus is a mar-made flower, and the Society of American Florists says it's a sort of "out-of-season camellia" made of gladioli petals. A gladiolus or any other large flower will add distinction to the new short hair styles. Storm Warning—Miami's gales may disrupt the beaches now and then, but more often it's someone like Ava Hall. The wind-blown lovely has just the contours to displace weather as the number one topic of conversation.

Demand for Bridging Straits May Force Consideration Soon

By Gene Alteman
(Michigan Press Association)

Signs are multiplying that the proposed bridge over the Straits of Mackinac will soon become a pressing issue. The Michigan Hotel Association recently adopted a resolution recommending to the governor and to the state highway commissioner that every effort should be made at an early date to bring about the construction of a bridge. The resolution pointed out that the structure could be constructed 50 per cent of its cost being paid by grant of the state and the remaining 50 per cent being paid by sale of revenue bonds to private investors "without obligation of any kind on the part of the state." Hotel men feel keenly that Michigan will miss a good bet if the traffic bottleneck at the Straits is not removed in the near future. Leading arguments: Modjeski, and Masters, bridge and traffic engineers, forecast that motor traffic across the Straits would triple in one year after completion of a bridge. Approximately 5,000 employees of the Ford Motor company at Dearborn will be eligible for retirement in April, 1950, at pensions of $100 per month including Social Security benefits. The company estimates that 13,000 employees are 60 years of age or over. The new pension plan will cost the company $20,000,000 per year. Increase in the price of Ford automobiles may be a result.

The October term of the Michigan supreme court is being watched carefully by Lansing observers. Among the cases before it is the suit brought by Attorney General Stephen J. Roth contesting appointment of former Gov. Kim Sigler as special Macomb county prosecutor. The case

Book Talk

Ingham County Library

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Library: Every day except Sunday and holidays, 2-5 p. m.; Monday, Wednesday, Saturday, 7-9 p. m.; Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, 10-12 p. m.; STORY HOUR: Tuesday, 10 a. m.; Wednesday, Saturday, 10-10:30.

RAISING A RIOT is for the good of the souls of both husbands and wives, for it tells how a young man rather recently returned from service is forced by the illness of his wife to undertake the household tasks in connection with raising a family of three. Since he is a writer by profession, he sees no reason why he cannot do both—if he only gets things organized—as no woman ever seems to do. He learns why—and the hard way.

CARDINAL MINDSZENTY SPEAKS is the authorized white book published by order of the Cardinal. Probably as interesting to the ordinary reader is the introductory part of the book which tells something of the history of Hungary, a country about which we seem to know so little.

RUTH is a religious novel of the Biblical character of Ruth, but actually almost as much of her mother-in-law Naomi and her machinations to have Ruth marry her distant relative Boaz. The chief value of the book, we think, is that it shows the strict way in which the Jews followed the old Mosaic laws. The book never quite loses a good story, for the author, Irving Fineman, has tried to insert direct quotations from the Bible and make them a part of the character's speech. This makes it all somewhat stilted. However, like many of the recent books of this sort, it is fairly readable, and does give a good background of the life of the times.

SIGNATURE OF TIME is the last novel of Walter Havighurst who has written LONG SHIPS PASSING, and LAND OF PROMISE, both books on the area around Michigan. This novel deals with an imaginary island in Lake Erie which has belonged to one family for the long years between the Revolution and present times. The chief character is Maury Hazard who has returned to the island with no spark to make him carry on after World War II. A nurse who has worked very hard on the island, and his twin brother Dave, give him that final inspiration to start over again.

Sum of $11,386 Is Awarded Widow

Judge Marvin Salmon of the Ingham circuit court awarded a judgment to Mrs. Grace L. Winslow of $11,386.85 last Thursday. Defendants in the court without a jury were the Veterans of Foreign Wars National Home and Mark Dillingham.

Cleoland Winslow, husband of the plaintiff, was killed in a car crash on the county line road between the VFW Home and Easton Rapids February 12. His car was struck by the VFW bus driven by Dillingham. Winslow died instantly as a result of the crash. The highway was shrouded in fog.

The court held that the bus driver was negligent and that Winslow was free from contributory negligence.

The award was computed on $499.85 for funeral expenses, $887.00 for damages to Winslow's car and $10,000 to represent the expected earnings of Winslow over a life expectancy of 18 years.

Involves a charge that former Senator Ivan A. Johnston, Mt. Clemens, allegedly accepted a bribe while serving as Macomb county prosecutor. Special Macomb Judge Paul R. Cash, Alma, ruled in favor of Sigler.

The continued trend of high school graduates to colleges and universities is shown by the all-time enrollment record at Michigan State college. The 1948 total was 15,886 the new record is 16,051. Of this number 43 per cent are war veterans.

Contracts have been awarded by the state administrative board for construction of the first 500 bed unit of the new Northville state mental hospital. Total overall cost of the hospital development is expected to approximate $12,000,000 with facilities for 3,000 patients. The hospital is only 30 minutes from downtown Detroit.

Grass root sentiment on state issues are to be studied by a Republican policy planning committee headed by Dr. Robert M. Ford of the University of Michigan. Ford was a former administrative assistant to former Governor Harry F. Kelley. Vice-Chairmen are Herman H. Luthrs, Royal Oak; Mrs. Isabelle Schwander, Cass City, and George A. Osborn, Sault Ste. Marie.

Freshour and his son Harry had brought the steer in from the school the animal attacked his cage with such force that L. B. Freshour was pitched off the wagon seat to the ground. The father unhit the team and while he was doing it the steer broke out of the wagon. The animal was still tied to the wagon by a rope but in haste he pushed the wagon around in the street. Men were trying to get another rope on the beast when he charged the crowd. Harry fell down and the steer stumbled over him. Men leaped in then with other ropes and secured the steer to a tree. The steer was killed Tuesday. The boy was not seriously hurt.

Andrew Russell was crushed to death Tuesday. He was digging a hole for the purpose of burying a lost stone on his farm on the Aurelius-Onondaga town line. The four-ton stone fell into the hole and crushed Russell.

Turkey Supply Good For Locker Buying

If you have a frozen food locker or home freezer you may want to take this tip on your holiday turkey supply from Howard C. Zindel, Michigan State college poultry extension specialist. Zindel thinks now is the time to get the "bird in the hand" and into the freezer.

There's no fear of a turkey shortage this season, but Zindel thinks prices are lower now than they may be when the holiday demand picks up.

Some producers started birds earlier this year and the supply of turkeys of most sizes is adequate. Properly dressed and frozen, the turkeys will keep in frozen food storage for many months.

Mothers of school children doing the screening attended a workshop on Tuesday, October 11, at Williamston in order to learn to use the vision testing equipment.

The preliminary testing by parent volunteers now being done will screen out children appearing to have vision defects. Those children are to be retested by the department technician. Parents of those children who, after retest, appear to have defects will be advised to see a doctor for examination.

The vision conservation program is being sponsored by the county health department with the help of the school, in order to find vision defects which might not otherwise be noted and to interest parents

George Washington Twisted Truth To Misguide British at Yorktown

George Washington, who couldn't tell a lie about a cherry tree, told a very successful one when it meant winning the Battle of Yorktown, a letter in his handwriting in the Clements Library of the University of Michigan reveals.

Washington's letter, addressed to Lafayette, was written with the intention that it fall into the hands of the British general, Sir Henry Clinton, Washington's purpose was to convince Clinton that the Americans were readying an attack upon New York, which the British were then holding with 8,000 soldiers.

While Clinton dug in in New York and awaited attack, Washington took his own forces over under Count Rochambeau and slipped southward, where he joined Generals Greene and Lafayette for the successful attack on Cornwallis at Yorktown. This was the battle that ended the Revolution, and its success hinged upon the success of General Clinton.

Had Clinton not been expecting attack in New York, he would have come south to reinforce Cornwallis, and Washington probably would not have been able to defeat the combined British forces.

The story of the letter which Washington wrote to Lafayette, giving false information about his plans, was intended from the beginning to be captured by the British, papers in the Clements Library reveal. This is proved by another which is in the Clements collections. This one was written by Washington six years after the battle and declared that "much trouble was taken to misguide and bewilder Sir Henry Clinton in regard to the real object by fictitious communications."

Events surrounding the writing of the decoy letter and its interception by the British redcoats are related in one of the University's series of radio programs based on rare documents in the Clements Library. This series, entitled "Treasures Of the Shelf," is broadcast weekly over the University's own FM station, WUOM, and over 21 other stations in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

Have College Day At Eden UB Church

Rev. Roger Birdsal delivered the morning sermon at the Eden United Brethren church Sunday, October 16. Rev. Birdsal speaking from the text, "And Be Ye Not Conformed to This World," ably illustrated that the great work in the Christian realm have been made by those men who were willing to be different.

The very founder of the religion, Jesus Christ, was not conformed to the empty formality of worship of His day, Birdsal said. Centuries later, he continued, Martin Luther was not willing to be conformed to the traditions of the Roman Catholic church when he did not believe they were in harmony with the Bible and thus started the great reformation.

Rev. Birdsal was the leader of a group of students at the Eden church for a special service dedicated to the denominational college at Huntington, Indiana.

Others in the group were Miss Jean McKeown, Miss Floy Mulkey and Mrs. F. H. Fick. Rev. Birdsal is enrolled in the seminary of the college and the others are in the liberal arts and science divisions of the college.

Scientist Ready to Drop Into Sea

Dr. Irwin A. Moon

His diving has proved that the sea is not silent.

In his latest scientific film, "The Voice of the Deep," Dr. Moon reveals that fish have a definite language of their own, that the "silent deep" is really a realm of chattering fish.

The film will be shown at the Mason Baptist church Sunday evening, October 23, at 7:30. "This film is scientifically accurate," explained Rev. Loyd Caraway, pastor of the Mason Baptist church. "It is entertaining as well as educational and has a deeply religious emphasis." ## Women Found Able As Men At Car Wheel

MILWAUKEE. — Since those laughs about women drivers. The girls are just as handy with the wheel as with the skillet.

That's the opinion of several driving instructors here. One believes that the best pupils are housewives in their early 30s. Why? He doesn't know.

The driving instructors chuckle over some of the incidents that occur during lessons.

"An elderly widow with a Dixie drawl was proceeding down Lake dr. on a busy afternoon when suddenly she wound up in the left lane," related instructor Roger L. Moody.

"Oncoming cars were splitting up around her like the tides around a rock. Her instructor steered the car over to the other side, whereupon she drawled, 'We sure did get out of that nice, didn't we.'"

Another anecdote Moody likes to tell concerns a man. Learning to shift on Lincoln Memorial dr., the man yanked the steering wheel to the right and placed the car in line with the lagoon. Immediately he reached for the brake but stepped on the gas instead.

The wheels were on the grass, with the car poised for a leap into the water when the novice handed over the situation to the teacher. He never returned for another lesson.

Many Questions Asked

Are there many stupid questions? Yes, the instructor says, but you go so used to dumb questions, you cease to consider them dumb. Shifting frequently is difficult for beginners. Irritated, they inquire at stops: "Do I have to shift and start all over again?"

From back seat to front seat driver is quite a jump for some women.

"It's hard for many women to learn to steer," an instructor said. "They're used to being passengers and looking to the side. Now they have to look ahead."

Sex, age and occupation have little influence on whether a pupil will make a good driver.

Some teen agers take to autos like race horses to a track. Others plod along and fail to earn their licenses from the state motor vehicle department even after finishing the customary six lessons and being awarded their diploma from the school.

A former E-24 pilot learned the fundamentals in two hours while a used car dealer quit in despair.

Milk Among U. S. Top Five In Popular Drink Tests

NEW YORK.—People who think the average U. S. citizen is a hard-drinking man-about-town have another thing coming on the basis of figures that show just what he drinks each year.

Milk, beer, soft drinks, coffee and canned fruit and vegetable juices are the nation's five most popular beverages, according to an American Can Company analysis of government and industry figures.

On a per capita basis, the average inhabitant of this country last year consumed some 180.5 quarts of milk, 71.2 quarts of beer, 48 quarts of soft and carbonated drinks, 38.7 quarts of coffee and 8.3 quarts of canned fruit and vegetable juices, as compared with 4.7 quarts of hard liquors. Cans are used in some form in the packing and distribution of all five of the favorites, the study showed.

An almost five-fold increase in per capita consumption of canned fruit and vegetable juices during the past 10 years was noted in the analysis. New methods and processes for canning fresh-flavored orange, tomato and grapefruit juices were given credit for a major part of the increases.

No figures were available on consumption of the world's number one drink—plain water.

Yo-yo Staging Comeback In Several Universities

Home Fashion Notes From Ann

Miss Ann Zimmerman

We have all recently experienced the thrilling beauty of the turning leaves. People of all ages admire the gold, bronze and rust shades of nature. I think we all admit that being surrounded by this array of colors gives us a lift.

There is nothing new about these colors; the only thing is that they are being used more and more in interior decorating. The HOUSE and GARDEN colors, flame, mustard, copper and ruby are nothing more than nature's fall colors adapted for home use.

Why not enjoy these rich colors all year 'round in your home?

Family Food News

CONSUMER EDUCATION PROGRAM
Agricultural Economics Section

Where does your dollar go? The average American family spends one-fourth to one-third of its total income for food. But many homemakers have no idea of just how their food dollars are spent, says Mary Bodwell, agricultural economist in the department of agriculture surveys of 68 cities in 34 states, 1948, studying food consumption of city families.

Dairy products accounted for 16 cents out of every dollar. The green, leafy and yellow vegetable group took 5 cents, and another 5 cents went for citrus fruits and tomatoes. About 8 1/2 cents went for potatoes and other vegetables and fruits, 11 cents for grain products, 9 cents for fats and oils, and 11 cents for sweets and food accessories.

Families Eat 106 Pounds The average sized city family in the USDA survey ate 106 pounds of food a week, at an average cost of $25.77. Food expense per person was $7.77 a week. Families of three, therefore, average about 318 pounds of food costing $23.31. Families of four eat about 124 pounds.

How much we spend for a certain food group is no indication of how much of that food we consume by weight. As examples, Miss Bodwell cites survey results showing that although 34 1/2 cents of the food dollar went for the meat group, it bought only 14 pounds of food. About 8 1/2 cents bought 20 1/2 pounds in the potato group.

Wise homemakers do not omit any food group from the diet, but try to buy foods in the right proportion. Miss Bodwell says. We require one daily serving of protein food such as meat, for example, and one serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes. Specific amounts of each of the other 5 Basic Food groups are also required.

Homemakers have shown definite preference for certain foods in each group, according to checks of grocers' sales. Oranges account for nearly one-third of the money spent for fruits, with apples in second place. Potatoes and tomatoes lead the vegetable list, with potatoes way out in front, taking one-third of the vegetable dollar.

Here is how the supply situation of several fruits and vegetables looks as summarized by A. B. Love of the M. S. C. agricultural economics department:

ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT—supply is below last year and expected to continue short. Prices may remain fairly reasonable to meet competition of other crops.

APPLES—a bumper crop, particularly of Michigan apples. Prices are very reasonable, and for excellent quality fruit. BANANAS—a short supply, meaning high price. PEARS—in good supply, reasonably priced. GRAPES—a bumper crop and low prices.

POTATOES—generally an average supply, although about 20 per cent less than last year. Prices during most of the winter will probably be reasonable. LETTUCE—fall crop is 15 per cent below last year, but still above the average. The price trend is high. ONIONS—a short crop this year, about 16 per cent below average. Michigan onions are mostly small sized. CARROTS—another short crop. Price ranges will be higher than last year.

Vegetables in general are not in good supply. In addition to those above, fresh peas, spinach, and celery supplies will be short. This means shoppers will have to be especially alert in making fresh vegetable selections to get the most for their money this year.

Daffodils Grow Easily, Add Color To Home Gardens

Thousands of wise gardeners their numbers increase every year stoutly maintain that daffodils are the most important flower of the year. Whether you agree with this opinion or not you can hardly doubt that they are the first important flower of the year. The little crocuses, snowdrops and other bulbs which precede them while invaluable, have a definitely minor or introductory character.

The earnestness of daffodils—their welcome sight after a long winter—is only one reason for liking them. A second reason is their easy culture. Hardly any flower is more rugged. Some variety of narcissus can be found to grow in any spot in the United States that is not located on a desert, mountain peak, or in the middle of a swamp; although in the warmest sections like southern Florida, only tender kinds like Paperwhites—which elsewhere are grown indoors will flourish.

However, the chief reason for liking daffodils is their great beauty. More and more, gardeners are realizing what a wide range of readily available and beautiful varieties of daffodils there are. In fact, Holland growers have brought about almost revolutionary improvement in the flower, with new varieties constantly being introduced and stocks of many hitherto rare kinds now plentiful and inexpensive.

Whatever variety or type you buy you are sure to be pleased with daffodils. They look well whether planted in great sweeps in the woodland, in a large formal garden, in small groups among shrubbery, or in a little nook by the side porch. Plant the bulbs in almost any well-drained soil with a four-inch covering. A half-undehydrated mixture of bone meal and any fertilizer mixture worked into the soil before planting, and centered above the bulbs each fall where they are left in the ground from year to year, will help ensure good yearly growth although this is not strictly necessary. Use it at the rate of five pounds of the mixture per fifty bulbs. With this treatment, bulbs bought and planted this fall will yield many years of beautiful blooms.

Do you put up lunches with just what happens to be in the refrigerator or do you really plan them so that they will be nutritious? Remember to include fresh fruits and vegetables, variety in sandwiches and something hot in a thermos.

Cupboard Space Always Available

No matter how many or few cupboards you have, you can have more cupboard space. It's not how many you have that counts—but how you use them.

For example, you have wasted space if your shelves are too far apart, suggests Alice Thorpe who does research in home management at Michigan State college. If the shelves are placed closer together you can achieve better dish arrangement.

Because many cupboards are not planned for the dishes or utensils to be placed in them, unlike dishes are stacked together. This means removing a whole pile to reach the bottom dish.

Sometimes small articles, such as spices, can be arranged on half shelves placed on part of a larger shelf, thus making use of space which would otherwise be wasted.

Old-fashioned wide shelves are outmoded. Narrower shelves which allow storage only one row deep saves reaching over and back of the dishes in order to obtain something placed in the rear of the cupboard.

Shelves 12 inches deep are adequate for most dishes. Utensils may require 16 to 18-inch shelves while very narrow shelves are best for packaged supplies.

Z for Zest Is New Vitamin Found In Michigan Apples

There's a new vitamin—"Z" for zest—in Michigan apples. They give a jaded appetite, pep-up every day meals, provide color, flavor and bulk which everyone needs.

The plainest meat loaf takes on importance and looks fit for a king when surrounded with grilled apple rings, and Michigan's apple pie with cheese is famous throughout the world.

You can be patriotic as well as healthful and economical by bringing more of Michigan's world-leading, 11,000,000 bushel apple crop to your home and your table. Buy your apples by the bushel or bushels, and store them in a cool, moist place, can them or dry them.

Try the time-tested apple pie, apple sauce, baked apples, apple dumplings, brown betty or Waldorf salad, but try some new apple dishes this year, as well.

Chop apples and cabbage; apples, peanuts and marshmallows; or apples with raisins, carrots, celery, coconut or other nuts, for salads.

Make apple banana dandy, apple crunch, apple roll (like jelly roll), deep-dish apple pie, apple sauce cakes, apple oatmeal, pink apple sauce (with cinnamon candies) and apple-raisin, apple-prune or apple-cranberry pie, for dessert. Mince butterscotch apples by using brown sugar syrup thickened and with butter added, poured over warm steamed apples, or spiced apple sauce made with gelatin and egg whites for luncheon. Try apple coffee cake for breakfast.

Make apple stuffing for your pork chops or for your birds. Use a relish of chopped raw cranberries and unpeeled apples.

Let your children make the candied delicacies at their Halloween party. Let them bob for apples in a dishpan of water; nibble at apples hanging on a string and find their partners by matching cut apples. Give them doughnuts and cider for zestful and inexpensive refreshment.

Take an apple for your mid-morning snack or with your lunch. Give your child an apple for his after-school refreshment.

You can decorate with apple "snow-men" or bowls of the beautiful fruit mixed with an egg plant and bananas; or with Michigan's purple grapes and a golden summer squash.

Bright red apples and bowls of snowy popcorn which were a feature of Michigan home life a generation ago will add zest to your television, radio or platter party or to the family gathering just as they did in gramophone days. Apples and popcorn aren't nearly so fattening or expensive as other refreshments and they won't leave you with a headache to keep you awake nights. There's more than one way for an apple a day to keep

A toast or doughnut and milk is a poor breakfast to start your child off to school each day. It is a handicap to him both physically and mentally.

OF CONGERS, NEW YORK

We're Sure that Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play. Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls. These people are telling us, as Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

DOCTOR DAVIES' FARM
DOCTOR DAVIES' LANE
CONGERS, NEW YORK
NILES M. DAVIES, OWNER
TEL. CONGERS 379
Sept. 20th, '49

Gentlemen:
The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., New York City, New York

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,
Niles M. Davies,
Eileen Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products. It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done... to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers. We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help. We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

On October 22 the seniors will canvass all houses south of M-36. On October 29 they will canvass all homes north of M-36. ## Ingham County League and Capital Circuit Leaders To Clash at Holt Friday

Ramblers are big, fast and experienced. The Howell game left Mason without the services of Windy Fell, a fixture in the Bulldogs' backfield for four years. Fell suffered a recurrence of an old knee injury and will be lost for the rest of the season. Loss of the Mason back will hamper the Mason attack, but Fell's replacement, Ken Mathews, has played a lot of ball. Against Howell Mathews reeled off some long runs. Other than Fell, Mason missed through the bruising Highlander game with no serious injuries.

Mason wasted no time in jumping on Howell. After an exchange of punts, Mason started on its own 25 and marched to four straight first downs with Denny Stolz, Dan Garver and Fell lugging the ball. The drive fell short when Howell recovered a Mason fumble on the game's first play. Howell was not able to get rolling past the midfield stripe the first quarter.

Mason started in again in the second frame when Don Scott ran Bob McMacken's punt back to the center of the field. After three running plays, Stolz passed to Wayne Gabbert for a first down. On an end-around play Gabbert ran the ball to the 12. On the next play Fell scored on a reverse in the other direction. Lyons added the extra point.

That is the way things stood the rest of the first half. Mason threatened once late in the quarter but Howell held off. McMacken came into his own in

'20's Live Again in "You're My Everything"

Dick Powell is cast in the role of John Forbes, an average young American in his thirties who earns his living as a claim adjuster for a large insurance company in the film "Pitfall," which will be shown on Saturday at the Fox. On the very day that his prosaic day-by-day existence of working at the office and coming home each night at the same time to his wife (Jane Wyatt) and little son (Jimmy Hunt) starts getting on his nerves, he meets up with a new case that changes his life completely.

This new case involves sultury Mona Stevens, played by Elizabeth Scott, who is involved with an embezzler now in jail by the name of Smiley (Byron Barr). As special investigator, Dick meets Mona and is so strangely drawn toward her that he loses all sense of discretion. A detective called MacDonald, played by Raymond Burr, who is deeply in love with Mona, hounds Dick unmercifully and succeeds in creating a situation that leads to tragedy when Smiley gets out of jail. The story ends with Dick more than happy to go back to the life that once seemed so humdrum.

Charleston Resurrected. "You're My Everything," that gay Twentieth Century-Fox Technicolor musical which exploits the flamboyant twenties—the days of the bunny hug, the flappers with painted knees—when the movies were passing from silents to talkies, will be shown at the Fox on Sunday and Monday.

"Chatanooga Choo Choo" number, which Dan Dally dances with the Berry Brothers, and the "Staircase Dance" he does with little Shari Robinson, who makes her screen debut as a counterpart of Shirley Temple in her childhood days on the screen, are reminiscent.

Director Walter Lang also brought to the screen again such former favorites as Buster Keaton, Jack Mulhall, Stuart Holmes and Charles Morton to add realism to the old-time movie scenes in the pictures. These scenes are shown in black and white which enhanced their reality in contrast to the color of the other parts of the production.

Gold Hunt. Based on Barry Storm's book, "Thunder Gods Gold," "Lust for Gold" is a fascinatingly narrated the passionate story of men and a woman in the grip of a force more powerful than any of them, as they commit every crime in the book in the desperate game which has $20,000,000 in gold as its prize! The film starring Glenn Ford and Ida Lupino comes to the Fox on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Lost Dutchman Mine was originally discovered by Mexicans who staved off work the mine until a band of Apaches wiped them out, all except one. Many years later this man returned to the mine to retrieve the $20,000,000 sealed at the entrance and is ruthlessly murdered by hard-bitten Jacob Walz (Ford). Walz obtains complete possession of the fortune by killing his desecrated companion Wisner (Edgar Buchanan).

Ford's feverish preoccupation with gold is disturbed, momentarily by his love for Miss Lupino. Discovering that she has a husband (Gig Young), Walz plots diabolical revenge by trapping them both at the mine without food or water. A climatic earthquake and landslide roar down on them, after Miss Lupino has murdered her husband. This is the grim story that Prince, as Barry Storm, learns.

Takes to the Air. As exciting as the crack of a rifle, as timely as cowboys round a campfire, and photographed in spectacularly beautiful country, Columbia's "Riders of the Whistling Pines," starring Gene Autry, comes to the Fox on Thursday and Friday.

The cowboy star races into his most perilous adventure in the newest musical western thriller as he and Champion fight for their lives against killers of the tall timber country. Gene fights, sings and flies with the Forest Rangers, guardians of the natural preserves. In Idaho, the forests become ravaged by an insect pest whose deadly work, if permitted to go unchecked, would kill the towering trees, thus necessitating their destruction as lumber.

Hornets and Blackhawks Top County League Game

Although both have been beaten by Holt, there is still a chance that the winner of the Leslie-Williamston game at Leslie Friday night may gain a share of the Ingham league title. Both Leslie and Williamston met the Holt Ramblers during the early part of the football campaign. Since then the Hornets and Blackhawks have made steady progress.

Actually since the end of the first half against Holt, the Hornets have been playing winning football. Two weeks ago they fought Fowlerville to a tie. Until then Fowlerville had been undefeated. Then last week Leslie beat Fowlerville 20-12. So it's anybody's game at Leslie Friday night. It should be one of the outstanding games of the season.

Fowlerville, with its championship hopes dashed, will try to hit the comeback trail against the Dansville Aggies Friday afternoon. The other league tilt is scheduled for Stockbridge Friday night when the Panthers will take on Okemos. While still listed as underdogs, the Aggies might turn on Fowlerville Friday afternoon. Coach

Searl Briggs is developing a team of freshmen and sophomores and they are learning their lessons well. Although they have yet to win a game, the Aggies are being counted on to give Fowlerville a busy afternoon.

Okemos and Stockbridge will go into Friday night's game even, each with one victory. Both teams have found the going rough this season but they have been in there making a fight of every encounter.

Holt, undefeated in league play, will take on Mason at Holt Friday night. With Holt currently leading the Ingham league and Mason tied with Charlotte in the Capital Circuit, there should be plenty of action in Friday night's game.

Ingham league standings before the Friday kickoffs are:

Holt	5	0	0
Leslie	4	1	0
Fowlerville	3	1	1
Williamston	3	1	1
Haslett	2	3	0
Stockbridge	1	4	0
Okemos	1	4	0
Dansville	0	5	0

Dan Dally and Anne Buxler in a scene from the Technicolor musical "You're My Everything," coming to the Fox on Sunday and Monday.

Gold Fever Theme of Western

Glenn Ford, owner of a $20,000,000 gold claim, finds it hard to keep his strike a secret in this scene from "Lust for Gold," Ida Lupino co-stars. The feature opens at the Fox on Tuesday.

Rites Sunday for August H. Dickman

August H. Dickman, 89, died at his home in Okemos Friday. He had been in failing health for the past two years.

Dickman was born at Okemos on August 11, 1860. His parents were Henry and Mary Dickman. He was a farmer and had always lived at Okemos.

Surviving are a son, Herbert at home; a daughter, Mrs. Flora Schneider of Woodstock, Canada; a brother, Carl Dickman of Mason; seven grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services, conducted by the Jewett funeral home, were held at the Okemos Baptist church Sunday afternoon. Rev. Holman Johnson of the Baptist church officiated. Burial was in the Leek cemetery.

Mason and Charlotte Lead Capital Circuit

Howell dropped from the top of the Capital Circuit standings Friday when the Bulldogs of Mason beat them 20-7. Mason and Charlotte are now at the top of the heap with two wins and one tie game each. Howell is next in line with two wins and one loss.

The only other action in the Capital Circuit Friday was the Grand Ledge-Eaton Rapids battle. Grand Ledge notched its first win of the season with a listless 6-0 victory over the Greyhounds. The lone touchdown was scored in the second period when a pass play was carried to the one-yard line. Don Hartley smashed over from there.

Charlotte and Lansing Everett both stepped outside the circuit with Charlotte bringing back a 13-0 win over a strong Hastings outfit while Lansing Everett was smothered by Greenville 30-7.

Duane Smith put on a one-man show in sparking the Vikings to their one marker. He finally went over from the one-yard line.

What's Wrong With One-Man Juries

Recorder's Judge Joseph A. Gillis of Detroit has proved what is wrong with the one-man grand jury system, happily abandoned in Michigan September 23. Judge Gillis proved it with his mouth. He timed his proof right for Sunday newspaper headlines. Without naming a single individual, Judge Gillis smeared every business man in Michigan. Without citing one specific instance, the judge pointed the finger of suspicion at every sales tax auditor.

That's what was wrong with the one-man grand jury system. That was the main reason the people demanded and got a change. Under the one-man grand jury law one man could and often did, just like Judge Gillis, gain newspaper headlines with charges which he could never substantiate in any court of law.

Here's what a Detroit newspaper made out of the Judge Gillis jeremiad: Lax policies of the department of revenue are costing the state millions of dollars, there is graft in the state revenue department, store operators are cheating the state with the aid and connivance of private accountants and department employees, that in the Detroit area alone the state is losing $10,000,000 a year in sales tax, with an estimated $20,000,000 a year lost in the state.

In making these swan song charges as the time ran out on one-man grand juries, Judge Gillis did not present any evidence that would convict any person of any crime. Even in his own court he probably would not for a minute consider such mouthings as evidence indicating wrongdoing on the part of anyone. Yet the newspaper publicity attendant to the release of the Gillis statement will be accepted by thousands of newspaper readers as factual and based on the findings of a painstaking and responsible inquiry.

There were some good things about Michigan's one-man grand jury law, but the bad outweighed the good. If any further proof was needed on that score Judge Gillis and the Detroit newspapers provided it Sunday.

A Good Investment

The small investment Ingham has made in county parks is proving sound. The returns to the public are worthwhile.

Ingham people take pleasure and pride in those parks. The spots here and there about the county provide breathing places and places where families and friends can gather in clean surroundings out-of-doors, in spots where they don't have to trespass on private-owned land.

The road commission, which in this county also serves as a park commission, has used good judgment in maintaining the parks. The commission has not attempted to fill the parks with claptrap concessions. Facilities are provided for picnics and for play, comfort for the elders and a few swings and slides for the youngsters.

There is a need for more parks in the county. There is a need for expansion in some of the present parks. The Onondaga park especially should be extended further along the river in both directions. A little park should be developed near Three Bridges in Aurelius or along the river in the Grovenburg community. Some of those little lakes over around Stockbridge could well be opened up and cleaned up for the enjoyment of the people.

Ingham's park system is a good investment. We can afford to invest a little more each year to keep pace with the growth and development of the county.

Communist Trial Verdict Is Just

Conviction of the 11 Communists after the nine months of trial in federal court in New York was warranted. So was the sentencing of some of the defense lawyers for contempt of court.

The Communists by their testimony and by their actions in court convicted themselves of conspiring to overthrow the United States government. The lawyers, some of them from Detroit, who carried on nine months of disgraceful warfare with the presiding judge, proved that the time is overdue for the American Bar association to clean its stables.

The Communist trial was more than a court trial. It was a brazen attempt of Communists to beat down by every legal delay, device and trick, the American judicial system. Not only did the Communists plot to overthrow the government before coming into court, they and their lawyers continued carrying out their plot during the trial.

Those convicted of the Communist conspiracy should be locked up in prison for long terms or stood up before a firing squad like they would be if they lost out in trials for disloyalty in Russia. The lawyers who helped carry out the conspiracy plot in the courts should be disbarred by their state and national bar associations.

Both Cheaper and Better

The county social welfare board has suggested that the county convalescent hospital be closed and the patients cared for in private or boarding homes. Such a change will save Ingham taxpayers an estimated $50,000 a year, according to welfare authorities. The change has come about because of a liberalized section of the state's old age assistance law.

There are cases of sickness where hospital treatment is almost essential. There are many other cases where the patient will be better off and get as good care in his own home or in a boarding home as is possible in a hospital.

The change in the law and in the county's policy should prove welcome to taxpayers and to many of the infirm patients who had rather be among friends and in familiar surroundings. Some of those patients have no specific ailments which will respond to treatment. They have reached the stage where about the most they can expect is to be made comfortable while Mother Nature rests and mends old bodies. The mending can be done as well or better at home.

Regardless of how many hospitals we build we can't make room for everyone who is ailing. Hospital beds should be reserved for those who actually need them, for those who need hospital and laboratory facilities. All patients who can be cared for as well at home, regardless of who pays the bill, should be given home care.

The suggested program for care of Ingham convalescent patients has merit. It should save money for the taxpayers and make life more pleasant for those who can be cared for in homes.

American Freedom Is Endangered By Belief in 'Security' Promises

By Vernon J. Brown

Last week the men of a Mason church gathered to listen to a speaker who had but recently completed a year of travel. During a single 12-month period this man had traveled more than 150,000 miles, had visited all the principal cities in each of the states, the provinces of Canada, the territories of Hawaii and Alaska, and had visited in Mexico and several South American countries, winding up with a planned tour of war-torn Europe. Because he headed a strong international organization this traveler had been privileged to meet the important men and women wherever he stopped, men and women who have a large part in shaping the destinies of their communities and therefore in their nations and the world itself.

The weight of the argument to which these church men listened was directed at the darkened future of our present day civilization. It was pointed out that since the beginning of recorded history, mankind has risen time after time, developing master civilizations, only to have them crumble and fall and disappear. In each case history shows that greed for the material and love of ease and lack of sacrificial devotion to their fellow men had preceded the downfall. According to the speaker, mankind destroys itself when spiritual matters are ignored and material things are magnified.

In pictures of words painted by a master speaker, the people of a country after country were brushed into the world portrait. Quoting from leaders throughout the world, from Pope Leo XII down through the ranks of dignitaries discovered that the cent she didn't intend to sell had been sold. Luckily the other one hadn't, so Mrs. Green took that off the rack and wore it home.

Archers who have been going north for deer might better drive out Dexter Trail to Swan road and lie in wait there for the Ingham hunt. Evelyn Ewins says four deer, two bucks with good sets of horns and a pair of does, leisurely walk out of the swamp on her father's farm Sunday. The deer grazed for awhile on the seeding coming up in wheat stubble and then ambled off.

There is one distinct advantage that children of members of Child Study clubs usually have. They eat well. Generally speaking, women who join Child Study clubs are good cooks. I had forgotten how good until last Thursday night when my wife and I were guests of the Mason Junior Child Study club at a dinner and the lecture which followed. It was the first Child Study meeting I had attended for 10 years.

The lecturer was in an enviable position for giving advice on child rearing and family life. She is unmarried. She did offer many helpful suggestions and I know the young mothers and fathers present reaped benefit from the movie shown and from the advice offered by the speaker. Among the benefits parents receive from such meetings are the swapping of recipes on food, and the knowledge that their own children probably don't act much worse than the neighbors' youngsters do.

of greater and lesser nations, the details were found the same. It is the insatiable desire of the people for ease and security and the culplicity of the public in its belief that in some way government can do for the people what the people are not willing to do for themselves that eventually masters and destroys. "Stalinism" is the word and the dictionary defines it as "concentration of all economic controls and economic planning in the hands of a highly centralized state government."

An Altar or Trough
 Paderewski, the Polish patriot, described it as the difference between the citizen looking upon his country as an altar upon which he is willing to lay his sacrifices and he who looks upon it as a trough from which to feed.

The path down which we travel toward statism is a tricky one. Once upon it, the way back is hard to find. Many who travel it go blithesomely tripping along little realizing that with each step they surrender their own freedom. England is a fine example of this. Little did the people realize they were giving up the freedoms for which their ancestors fought so long and so consistently. England's Socialists sold them security from the cradle to the grave and took in return that which should have been so precious that it never would have been traded for anything—freedom.

Today the English worker sees his pay for one week out of every four go to pay his taxes. He has seen prices go up and his living standards go down while the economy of his nation is imperiled by low production and lower quality of commodities.

Security Is Worshipped
 A few years ago while I was in state office a young man made an appointment to see me. I had never met this young man previously but I soon learned I had known his father and his uncle intimately and that I had known his grandfather casually. This young man was a graduate of Michigan State college, his wife from another college. He was at that time employed in an accounting position at the Oldsmobile division of General Motors. What he wanted was advice as to how to get a job through Michigan's civil service. Right off I asked him why he would trade the opportunities of a position with General Motors for a civil service job in state employment. His reply was "security." Questioning him I learned he had inherited a good home in Lansing, that there were no children and none expected and I gathered, none wanted. But he was afraid he might lose his job sometime or that when he got along in years his income would be cut off. In short, this fellow who had been educated at the expense of his parents and the state was afraid to face life. He wanted to be sure of a job and pay envelope and in his declining years, a pension.

His grandfather had left Germany with his young wife to make his way in America. He was a carpenter and house builder and in his later years taught woodcraft at the college. His father and his uncle held public positions until they had a start, then entered the real estate and development business with considerable

Trend Not Apparent
 Graham Patterson, the eminent editor and author, puts it this way: "The trend toward statism is not always apparent to many, as it is often concealed under the guise of social progress; the citizen may feel he is being given something, but what he forgets is that he gives in return his freedom of independent action. What the state does for the citizen, the citizen can no longer do for himself. And what the citizen often fails to realize is that he never gets anything for nothing. He pays for everything he gets—in taxes." And of course in loss of liberty.

We used to hear it said, "It cannot happen here." We know better now. We know it has happened and is still happening. The only question now is, "Can the march toward statism be halted while we measure what has already been surrendered against any possible gain?"

Good Management Is Essential To Return Fair Dairy Profit

By JIM HAYES
In Lapeer County Press

The Michigan dairy farmer knows he is getting less for his milk or cream. He is told that surplus are accumulating in some lines of dairy products, and that the consumption of dairy products per capita is falling.

In view of this what can he do to maintain or increase his profit? He can do very little about the prices he receives or the accumulating stocks in manufacturers' hands. As to consumption, the only practical way he can improve his market is to produce milk or cream of as high quality as possible. The backbone of any quality program on a farm is clean milking and quick cooling.

To combat lowering income, the best weapon the farmer can use is efficient production. Here is the program that the experienced dairy farmer who has survived worse times than these— is following:

(1) The herd is being rid of low-producing cows. Three cows producing at a 250-pound fat rate per year earn no more profit than one good 400-pounder, and the three put twice the volume on a sagging market as does the one good cow. Low profit cows may be spotted through dairy herd improvement associations, or through the less valuable but adequate and lower-cost "Owner-Sampler" system of testing cows for production.

The diseased cow, such as one with Bang's disease or with incurable mastitis, is being sold. She is crippled in production, and is a health menace to the herd.

(2) The most economical ration is being fed. In winter this ration will be built around alfalfa or alfalfa-brome hay. There may be silage, either corn or "hay-crop." The grain ration is made up of farm-raised grains spiked with the right amount and kind of protein concentrate. It will be fed according to milk production.

Maximum use will be made of pasture, particularly alfalfa-brome, Sudan grass, and Babo ryegrass. Hay crop silage will be put up for late summer feed on big farms that have the needed machinery.

(3) Labor requirements are being reduced. Labor makes up about

Wingless Chickens Cause Speculation

Impact on Industry Studied by Growers

Poultrymen and consumers throughout the United States are still speculating on the degree of impact on the poultry industry of the development of wingless chickens.

Peter Baumann, Des Moines, Iowa, a veterinary-supply salesman, has raised a flock of 400 such chickens and has proclaimed loudly that they are the "nearest thing" alive to famed cartoonist Al Capp's "shmoos."

Baumann said he had spent 10 years developing the wingless flock, and that he expects the breed to set a new trend in chicken raising. He pointed out that the wingless chicken has a thick layer of white meat where ordinary chickens have wings.

For those who dislike chicken wings, Peter H. Baumann, of Des Moines, Iowa, has come up with wingless chickens. He is shown here comparing the wingless chicken (right) with an ordinary chicken (left).

chicken breed a secret because he wanted to be sure it was a success. He studied animal husbandry at Iowa State college and asserts his wingless chickens are not a "freak." A freak does not reproduce, he argued.

The ancestors of this new breed of chicken, Baumann said, came from Texas. He was traveling through that state in the '30's when he acquired a light Brahma rooster and a white Minorca hen. Each bird had only stubs for wings.

He bred them, he said, and was astounded when the hen hatched wingless chickens. He then began experimenting and breeding.

Baumann reported that at first he got only three or four wingless birds out of 100 eggs. Now, he said, about 65 of every 100 chicks have no wings at all. Some of the others, he said, have stubs or a stub on one side and a wing on the other.

Mulch Gives Berries Winter Protection

An extra blanket for strawberries is as smart as an extra blanket for your own bed. Mulching strawberries protects plants from winter injury, smothering weeds and retards time of blossoming.

J. E. Moulton, Michigan State college horticulturist, recommends mulching and says it should be done after the first hard frost but before temperatures drop below 20 degrees Fahrenheit. Investigations have shown that any delay into colder weather before mulching results in root and crown injury and a reduced crop the next season.

Moulton suggests wheat straw, rye straw, marsh hay or even second-grade alfalfa hay for mulch. Oat straw, sawdust, and leaves tend to pack too much in mulching for satisfactory results. Moulton recommends completely covering the plants to a depth of three inches. This will require two and one-half to three tons of straw per acre. The material should be as free of seeds as possible. Scattering the mulch thinly over open ground for a few days before it is used will destroy or lose many of the weeds that may be present.

In the spring, mulch should be opened up over the plants as soon as growth begins. The material can be left between the rows and worked up under growing plants to help keep fruit clean and to conserve moisture.

Moulton says no mulch is needed on raspberries. The canes of boysenberries and dewberries, however, need winter protection. These may be left on the ground and covered with a layer of soil or mulching material.

Better Farming Is Short Course Aim

Short courses in agriculture at Michigan State college have long been recognized as a good way for rural people to get practical and intensive training.

The courses were begun more than 50 years ago to aid these people. General courses, specialized courses, and training courses are now offered in a wide variety of fields.

The two-year general agricultural short course is held at times which interfere little with the farm business and offer the man or woman already engaged in farming a chance to learn new techniques. The course is divided into two terms—each of eight weeks duration.

New classes will start soon on the East Lansing campus and information can be secured by writing to the director of short courses, Michigan State college, East Lansing.

College Foresters Offer Aid To Cities

Announcement that the Michigan State college forestry extension service will be available for counsel and advice on the shade tree problems of municipalities was made recently at East Lansing.

The department has four extension foresters who work throughout the state on forestry problems in conjunction with the county agricultural agents. For aid in maintenance or planting problems, the agents should be notified and the services of these men requested.

Prices to Consumers Stay Up Even Though Farmer Gets Less

By BOB MYERS
Lapeer County Press

An old and vexing question is coming back again to both farmers, business men and politicians, according to U. S. News and World Report. The question is: Why do food prices paid by retail customers remain little changed when prices paid to farmers fall sharply?

Periodically over many years, that question has bobbed up, Congress investigators, farmers, stage political revolts. Businessmen do a lot of explaining. But nothing much happens, and the spread between what the farmer gets and what the city man pays goes on fluctuating as usual.

Once more, congress is prying into the same old question. This time the political pressure is rising because of this fact: Price received by farmers for major foods has dropped nearly 20 per cent in the last 18 months. Retail prices for the same products, as a national average, fell only 8 per cent.

The farmer, for example, sells his beef for 44 cents a pound, on a dressed-weight basis. This is 8 cents a pound less than he received in January, 1948. The city consumer, on the average, pays only 1 cent a pound less for beef than he did at the start of 1948.

Corn in an 8-ounce package of corn flakes, is 1 cent cheaper than a dressed-weight price of corn flakes is unchanged at 12 cents a package.

Pork, including lard, brings farmers 10 cents less per pound than in January, 1948. Retail price is only 8 cents lower.

Reasons why retail prices are not falling faster are being sought by a senate committee. The department of agriculture also is making special study of prices and marketing margins.

Beef, at 68 cents a pound retail carries a marketing margin of 24 cents a pound over the farm price. That is 11 cents higher than the pre-war margin. But that increased margin must pay sharply higher into beef roasts and steaks.

Railroads and trucks charge more to bring livestock to market. Stockyards get larger handling fees. Brokers receive higher commissions. Processing, from packing plants through to retail butchers, costs more.

These costs will have to decline before housewives get cheaper

19 Herds on Test Hit 30-lb Mark

There were nineteen herds in the Ingham-Williamson Dairy Herd Improvement association which averaged over 30 lbs. of butterfat for September, according to the report of the tester, Junior Brown-ted.

The herds tested as follows: H. A. Mills, 48 sons, 22 registered Holsteins, 48.8 pounds butterfat, 1188 pounds milk; K. C. Bibbins, 22 registered Jerseys, 40.0 pounds butterfat, 711 pounds milk; William and Kenneth Kurtz, 14 grade Holsteins, 38.1 pounds butterfat, 1070 pounds milk; Don Williams, 26 registered and grade Holsteins, 38.7 pounds butterfat, 1062 pounds milk; Ernest Walline, 16 registered and grade Holsteins, 37.1 pounds butterfat, 945 pounds milk; C. Powell & Sons, 27 mixed breeds, 35.5 pounds milk, 37.1 pounds butterfat;

H. Oesterle & Son, 21 registered Holsteins, 36.7 pounds butterfat, 981 pounds milk; Ralston and Pfeister, 20 registered and grade Holsteins, 36.2 pounds butterfat, 914 pounds milk; W. H. Hull, 24 registered and grade Holsteins, 35.8 pounds butterfat, 655 pounds milk; Mosher & Spinner, 14 mixed breeds, 37.1 pounds milk, 34.1 pounds butterfat; Bernice Eifer & Sons, 19 registered Holsteins, 34.0 pounds butterfat, 654 pounds milk; Gould & Kalazynski, 14 registered and grade Holsteins, 32.6 pounds butterfat, 851 pounds milk; Clarence Blossie, 22 registered and grade Holsteins, 32.3 pounds butterfat, 824 pounds milk; Russell Stover, 30 mixed breeds, 32.2 pounds butterfat, 643 pounds milk; Ira Cronkrite, 19 registered Jerseys, 32.3 pounds butterfat, 546 pounds milk; W. C. Wright, 38 registered and grade Holsteins, 31.5 pounds butterfat, 791 pounds milk; Max Eifer & Son, 16 registered Brown Swiss, 31.3 pounds butterfat, 761 pounds milk; Ray Lott & Son, 21 registered and

Mice Doing Damage In State Orchards

Horticulturists at Michigan State college have been advised that there is need for immediate control measures to prevent serious mouse damage to fruit trees in Michigan.

G. C. Oederkirk, district agent for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, reports that mice are already causing serious damage in some places and control should be started immediately. Even though it is the busy season, fruit growers are urged to inspect orchards to learn if control must be started now or whether it can wait until after harvest is completed.

County agricultural agents have complete information on mouse control and will aid growers with their problems.

beef. Or the farmer will have to absorb another price cut. A deeper price is to return to pre-war status. Farmers get 64 per cent of the consumer's beef dollar now. Though less than in 1948, that is more than the 56 per cent that farmers got in 1935-39.

Milk costs consumers about 19 cents a quart, on the average. Of this amount, dairies get 7 cents, 2 cents more than before the war. Farmers retain about 12 cents a quart, 1 cent less than a year ago, but 6 cents more than the pre-war return.

In reselling further declines in raw-milk prices, farmers are aided by government-enforced marketing agreements. But dairies' prices are kept at a high level by higher costs, such as larger commissions to delivery men. In milk, farmers' pre-war experience indicates that farmers will take the additional price cuts if demand slows. They get 63 per cent of the retail price when they used to keep 55 per cent.

A loaf of bread selling for 14 cents contains only 2 cents worth of wheat. The price of the wheat in a loaf of bread fell about 1 1/2 cents in the last 18 months. Bread prices, however, are unchanged. Retail bakers got the benefit of cheaper wheat, since flour prices declined along with wheat prices.

In any future downturn of bread prices, bakers are likely to take the cut in margins. Wheat price is now U. S. price-support level, can't fall much lower.

Fruit and vegetable price declines are being absorbed by growers, almost entirely. This is due to the fact that marketing costs in these products have sky-rocketed and are not easily reduced. Public demand depends on the better quality, more costly handling and packaging of produce.

Price declines occurring to date, as these examples show, have hit the farmers hardest. To sum it up, farmers get 48 cents out of the food dollar now, whereas 18 months ago they got 55 cents.

Actually, the farmer's prices nearly always fall, or rise, faster than the grocer's on a dollar-for-dollar basis. In 1940, for instance, corn, wheat, hogs and beef-cattle prices shot up 25 per cent. Retail prices for foods from the same products rose only 9 per cent. But now the trend is the other way, a situation that always arouses congress.

Onondaga Bull Is Proven Sire

Through a comparison of official production records between daughters and dams, Hengerveld Canary Ormsby Ltd, registered Holstein bull owned by Charles J. Davis, Onondaga, has been proven favorably on a production basis. Published by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, figures indicate that "Lad" raised the production of his daughters over that of their dams by 49 pounds of butterfat and 1210 pounds of milk.

Statistics are available on six pairs of daughters and dams which show that the daughters of this bull averaged 417 pounds of butterfat and 11,330 pounds of milk, against 388 pounds of butterfat and 10,120 pounds of milk for the dams.

All records used in making these comparisons are adjusted to a mature 2X milking, 365-day basis. Sire of this bull was Michsan Hengerveld Canary Ltd, and his dam was Sylvia Marathon Ormsby.

Elgar Schroeder, Morrisaville, Wisconsin, believes a handy farm gadget can have an attractive appearance while saving work for its owner. His pull-push cart carries a good-size load of tools, supplies, or produce easily. The cart was made from a child's discarded conster wagon, using the box axle and wheels. The original wagon was kept, and the cart was built of 3/4 inch pipe. Time required to build the cart was two and one-half hours at a cost of $1 for materials. ## Purebred Calves Build Home Herds

What becomes of calves born in purebred dairy herds? A study of the records of the Michigan State college purebred herds for a 20-year period may bring some light on this oft-asked and hard-to-answer question.

A recent Michigan agricultural experiment bulletin article by Dr. Earl Weaver, head of the MSC dairy department, and Russell E. Horwood, now supervisor of the Chatham experiment station, shows that a large per cent of the calves became a part of the college dairy herd. About half of the calves were either retained or sold for breeding purposes.

Of 598 heifer calves born to cows of the five leading dairy breeds in the college herd, only 8.5 per cent entered the milking herd, 11 per cent were sold for dairy purposes and less than 3 per cent were vealed or slaughtered.

During the period, 610 bull calves were born and 53 per cent were retained in the college herd or sold for breeding purposes. A total of 38 per cent were vealed or slaughtered and 8.2 per cent died. The study showed that about 95 per cent of the heifer Brown Swiss calves entered milking in the college herd or were sold for dairy purposes. About 90 per cent of the Ayrshires and Holstein heifers and nearly 85 per cent of the Guernsey and Jersey heifers were either milked or sold for dairy purposes.

The big demand for Holstein bulls in Michigan shows up in the fact that nearly 70 per cent of the bull calves were used for breeding purposes as compared with an average of 53 per cent for all breeds.

Corn in Silage Form Answer to Extra Crop

Corn in the form of silage is the solution for the extra crop—and a trench silo is the cheapest and easiest way to provide for making and storing of silage.

The trench silo is especially recommended for those who need to provide storage space hurriedly. However, areas having extremely high water tables or soil that is sandy or loose are not suitable, according to a dairy specialist.

Butter Market Survey to Start

The Michigan department of agriculture will make a detailed study of quality and grades of butter sold in some of the larger markets of Michigan. P. M. Skiver, chief of the bureau of dairying, said "This dairy marketing service work will be carried on with the aid of federal matched funds furnished from the Hope-Flannigan appropriations." The Michigan legislature at its last session appropriated money for the Michigan department of agriculture to initiate this research.

The project has been approved by the United States department of agriculture, and work will start with a general survey to determine the score of butter offered consumers in retail stores and restaurants. A large number of samples will be obtained from several of the larger markets. The dairy department of the Michigan State college is cooperating in the service work and will assist in scoring and analyzing the samples.

The purpose of the project is to assist retailers and distributors in determining the actual quality of butter they are handling and assist them in obtaining the quality and grades they desire. Information will also be obtained on the effects of storing and handling on butter.

"This information will be of value to the butter industry by enabling it to eliminate the causes of low score butter both at the creameries and at all handling points before it reaches the consumer."

4-H Clubs

Crop Show

The 4-H club crop show sponsored by the Lansing Lions club will be held in the Howlett show room, October 24 and 25. Exhibits should be taken in to Howlett's on Saturday morning, October 22 or by Monday morning, October 24 by 9:00 a. m. The exhibits will be on display Monday and Tuesday. Exhibits will be 10 ears of corn by each club member, 32 potatoes by each potato club member, and a peck of beans by bean club members. These exhibits will be judged by Dennis Pannan of the crops department of Michigan State college. Best exhibits will be selected for Farmer's Week in February.

The Lansing Lions will have a dinner at the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, at 7:00 o'clock and all club members who take in "Pills" and their leaders. Parents and friends may attend the dinner for providing they pay for their share which will be $1.25 each. Colleystone planning to come should make a reservation to the extension tent by Saturday morning, October 22. There will be an entertainment program sponsored by the Lions club, following the dinner. Announcements of the top exhibitors in each of the programs in corn and potatoes will receive awards from the Lions as well as the three outstanding garden members in the county and the three top canning club girls.

The program is looked forward to annually by this group of youngsters and the exhibits of corn should be especially good this year because of the fine growing season.

4-H Club Movie

Four-H club movie "Green Promise" which all 4-H club members and friends are urged to see will be put on at the Fox Theatre in Mason November 14, 15 and 16. The 4-H club council of Ingham county is urging all 4-H club people to see this movie. Tickets will be given out to leaders at the 4-H achievement day, November 3, for a representative in each club to sell to members and leaders for one of these three evenings. Four-H clubs will receive a percentage on all tickets sold. So there are two very good reasons for 4-H club members to attend this movie: one because it is a movie showing 4-H club work in action and second because 4-H clubs of the county will receive a percentage to use for 4-H club activities.

This movie has been highly acclaimed throughout the state and in other states by those who have seen the picture. It is very much worth seeing.

Achievement Day

The annual 4-H club county-wide achievement day will be held on Thursday evening, November 3, at 8 o'clock in the American Legion hall in Mason. All parents, club members, leaders and friends are invited to this annual event. All 4-H club members' reports should be sent to leaders or directly to the extension office at once. Program at the achievement day will be music by the county 4-H club band, community singing, announcement of county honor roll for outstanding projects carried on, the awards to members from special contests. There will be music by the trio of girls from Stockbridge, the piano trios from Dansville will present several numbers and the presentation of certificates and county fair checks to leaders to present to members at a later meeting. Services at 11:00 for new initiates for 1949 will also be put on. Be sure to get up the evening of Thursday, November 3, for your achievement day.

Local Achievement Days

Clubs having local achievement days following the county achievement day should send requests for dates for extension people to be at their meetings to the extension office soon, as dates are filling up fast. If you want someone to be at your meeting be sure to notify the office of your request. These local achievements are very important from the standpoint of having the local people see what your group has done in your community and the awards received. Local achievement dates already set are: November 5, Vantown and Alaioid; November 7, White Oak; November 9, Wheatfield; November 11, Four-Winds.

4-H Club Council

The Ingham county 4-H club council met Wednesday evening, October 12, in the extension office. The meeting was called to order by Chairman Watkins. The report was given by the club agent on the general program of activities carried out this summer, including the county fair. Considerable discussion was had on the activities of the fair and how improvements might be made in the 4-H club division. It was recommended that each chairman of the Mothers club for the various days of the fair meet early in 1950 to plan menus for the 1950 camp with the home demonstration agent. A report was given on the finances of the various activities. The 4-H club building has been completely paid for and there is a small surplus in the fund for upkeep on the building. It is hoped that some sort of heating equipment may be purchased for making the building usable in early spring and late fall.

A new system of awards has been suggested for advanced club members who in the previous years have not received awards at the close of their projects in the nature of pins. At the present time awards or medals have been given up to 7 years of 4-H club work. Beginning this fall a member with 8 years of club work will receive a 4-H club pin; those who have completed 9 years, a 4-H club ball point pen; and those who complete 10 years a 4-H club ring.

It was voted to increase the insurance on the 4-H club building to cover the new addition and additional equipment in the building. It was decided that each leader in the county should receive a summary sheet for the 4-H club activity contest, sponsored by the Kiwanis club. The next meeting of the 4-H club council will be December 13, from 10 until three o'clock with a luncheon at noon. This meeting is especially important for planning the program for the coming year, 1950.

BLUE CROSS TOWN

The village of Nahma, in the Upper Peninsula, has perhaps the largest percentage of its population enrolled in Blue Cross of any place in the country. When 30 more citizens of Nahma subscribe to the hospital-surgical plans, this town of 775 people will be 100 per cent Blue Cross enrolled, according to William S. McNary, executive vice-president of the Blue Cross Michigan Hospital Service.

The first cafeteria, which opened in New York in 1885, had no seats. Patrons ate standing up.

Searl Explains New Laws

The vast majority of bills introduced in the 1949 legislature having to do with cities and villages were the result of the thinking of the members as to the proper solution of the financial problems, not only of the local governments, but also, the state government.

General Property Taxes

The system which the general tax on real and personal property is levied was revised and modernized. The proceeds of this tax, ever since 1933 when the 15-mill limitation went into effect, have been divided between local municipalities. The state has refrained from levying any general property tax, relying on the proceeds of other taxes, such as sales tax, corporation tax, and liquor tax.

Under the new law, each step in the assessment of property and the levy of taxes is moved ahead to an earlier date in the year, the "tax day," being the date as of which property is to be assessed, being changed from April first to January first.

Non-Exemption of Property

Other amendments to the general property tax act included a limitation upon the exemption of federal property. With the increase of amount of property in the state owned by the United States government, congress has passed legislation which exempts property owned by the United States from taxation. Under the auspices of the State Bar of Michigan, Russell A. Searl of Lansing is writing a series of articles dealing with laws passed by the 1949 legislature. In this article he deals with new laws affecting cities and villages.

Isolation permitting certain types of federally owned property to be taxed for local purposes. Accordingly, our state act was amended to provide that such property, although owned by the federal government, would not be exempt in case of such permissive federal legislation.

Personal Property

Mr. Average Citizen was given a break when the legislature increased the amount of his exemption from taxes on personal property consisting of furniture, fuel and tools in his professional trade.

On the other hand, school districts which own property which for more than two years is held for income purposes rather than

CROP is sponsored by Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service (22 Protestant denominations) and Lutheran World Relief.

Arkansas Farmers May Grow Drugs

New Plants to Produce Narcotics, Digitalis

A drug-farming program which may free the United States from reliance on foreign sources for many vital medicinal compounds has been launched in Arkansas by a transplanted Rumanian chemist, reports the magazine "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

Dr. O. K. Cosla, a biochemist who instituted the first successful cultivation of drug-bearing plants in Rumania, is in charge of the Arkansas program at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, where a 20-acre tract has been set aside for his experiments.

Dr. Cosla, who has an M. D. degree as well as a Ph. D. in biochemistry, used to export to the United States part of its drug supply, and during World War II he furnished southeastern Europe with medicinal materials.

If Dr. Cosla's plans mature, Arkansas farmers will soon begin supplying the nation with such drugs as belladonna, a narcotic; stramonium, a drug processed from dried Jimson weed which gives relief to asthma sufferers; and ergot, used to control blood hemorrhages and as an anesthetic. Foxglove, the dotted white and purple tubular flower whose leaves bear the powerful heart stimulant digitalis, will also soon be blooming in Dr. Cosla's medical garden.

Some of the drug-bearing plants which Dr. Cosla is planning to cultivate already grow wild in the Arkansas backwoods. To determine the best conditions for growing each plant as a domestic crop, the Rumanian chemist will test them in hydroponic installations, in which their roots will be immersed in a watery solution containing mineral nutrients, instead of soil.

The active drugs will be extracted from the plants in a four-room laboratory which Dr. Cosla brought with him to this country to aid his research in biochemistry and experimental pharmacology.

Dr. Cosla believes, according to "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," that the South can eventually become one of the nation's principal drug farming and manufacturing centers, thus diverting to the area millions of dollars now spent annually on imports.

HOLE-DIGGER, MODERN STYLE—A Michigan Bell pole-hole digging truck. On the rear is a huge corkscrew-like drill. Where soil conditions permit, it boro down into the ground and digs a clean, deep hole in a few minutes. Then a derrick on the truck hoists the pole and lowers it into the hole. This is one of many modern, time-saving devices Michigan Bell is using to help speed more telephone service to rural areas.

FAMILY AFFAIRS—Throughout Michigan Bell there are many instances of two or more kinsfolk employed by the company. In Detroit, for example, a mother and her three daughters work at a Long Distance switchboard. In Pontiac there are more than 100 employees included in mother-daughter, brother-sister, father-son, aunt-niece, sister-brother-cousin, and in-law combinations. In some cases, working for the telephone company has become almost a family tradition.

TAILOR-MADE FOR THE FARMER—The telephone saves time for all who use it. But it's particularly valuable to the farmer. He often lives some distance from markets, suppliers, stores, friends and neighbors. One telephone call, to buy, sell or order something, or talk to an acquaintance, may save many miles of driving... many minutes or hours of time which can be devoted to the farm. When you think of the work it does, the cost of the telephone is really mighty small.
