

Governor Scans New Charter

Governor G. Mennen Williams has scanned the proposed new charter of Ingham county, Michigan. He signed it, the proposed charter will be ordered printed by the city council.

An election to adopt or reject the charter has been set for June 12.

At Monday's council meeting the charter and the mayor praised the commissioners for the zeal they showed in working out the charter.

Ever since the nine commissioners were elected last November they held meetings once every week and sometimes twice and three times a week. Instead of leaving the Michigan Municipal League or a lawyer to prepare a ready-made charter, the nine commissioners drew up one designed to fit Mason's needs. George R. Sullivan of Lansing served as consultant on the final draft.

After the council meeting Mayor C. H. Hall extended his laudatory remarks about the commissioners. "I don't know of nine men who would have put more thought and more time on a problem than these nine men the people chose as charter commissioners," Mayor Hall said. "They held 27 meetings and many of those sessions lasted until midnight. They gave consideration to every need of the city. I think they have done a remarkable piece of work."

"It would have been easy for the commissioners to have made over some other charter or to have hired a lawyer to do the entire job. But these nine men did the work themselves and in my opinion their work has resulted in a model charter for a city of this size."

The charter commissioners worked without a cent of pay. That was the understanding when they agreed to be candidates for the charter commission last fall.

Dr. D. R. Lethbridge served as chairman and S. A. Morrison as co-chairman. Other members were James H. Vander Ven, Glen Coon, Gerald Parsons, Howard McCowan, Leo H. Harrison, Frank Dakin and John Shepard.

Contract Offered Alton J. Stroud As Superintendent

Alton J. Stroud is the first Ingham school chief to get a contract from the county board of education. The board offered, and Stroud accepted, a four-year contract Tuesday night. The contract will start July 1, when Stroud's present term expires.

Heretofore, county school superintendents or commissioners have been elected by the people. The legislature changed the law to provide for the appointment of superintendents in counties the size of Ingham. The county school board is made up of five chosen by elected school officers.

Stroud is completing eight years as commissioner and superintendent. The title of commissioner was changed to superintendent when the appointive power was given the board of education.

As county school superintendent, Stroud is chief administrative and supervisory officer in all rural schools and in ungraded schools. He also serves on the county tax allocation board.

County Expenses Will Go Higher Under New Budget

Higher by $55,932 is Ingham county's tentative budget for next year.

This year the county is being operated on a budget of $1,762,954. For next year the supervisors are asking the tax allocation board for a millage, which with $100,000 expected revenue added, will yield $1,818,886.

Hubert R. Bullen of Aurelius, as chairman of the ways and means committee, charged the increase to demands of the sheriff's department, the employees retirement fund, probate court care of wards and the need for an elevator in the court house. The tuberculosis sanatorium also asked for $100,000 more.

A present surplus in the county health department fund will be utilized to cut the overall increase, Supervisor Bullen said.

Because of the increase in valuation, the millage demand was cut. There will be no saving to taxpayers, however, because the schools will take the millage that the county and other units don't get.

Last year the supervisors asked the tax allocation board for 6.59 mills. They eventually got 6.75. This year the request is for 6.56 mills.

The budget approved by the supervisors Wednesday is only tentative. Appropriations are made at the October session and Supervisor Bullen explained that all the items are subject to change.

Sheriff Wants More Men

Sheriff Willard P. Barnes hopes to have two more men added to his staff, along with another scout car and a station wagon, Supervisor Bullen said. This year the sheriff's department budget is $90,000. For next year the tentative budget provides $116,000, an increase of $26,000.

Supervisors placed $25,000 in the budget to provide for an elevator.

For care of probate court wards the supervisors placed $88,000 in the tentative budget. The present budget calls for $70,000. The health department budget will be trimmed $8,413, Supervisor Bullen reported, if the tentative figure is adopted. A surplus in the fund will be put to use, he explained.

Each of the regular departments will be given budget increases ranging up to $2,000, the ways and means chairman said, to cover cost of living increases for employees.

Lump Sum Taxes

Lansing and East Lansing taxpayers will not have their tax statements or receipts broken down into individual items next year. Officials of the two cities asked for permission to levy taxes in lump sums. A new law makes such provision. A percentage breakdown must be shown on each statement and each receipt, however. Lumping of the taxes will result in savings in preparing notices and writing receipts, city officials said.

The supervisors went on record as opposing legislation calling for a constitutional convention. Supervisor Fred L. Kircher of the legislative committee declared that sponsors of a constitutional convention plan to further centralize government. He warned that townships and counties might be shorn of authority under a revision.

Younger Studies Court Decision On Graft Trail

Ingham Prosecutor Paul C. Younger is pondering the next step to be taken in the finance company graft conspiracy case.

Last Thursday the Michigan supreme court sent the case back for another trial. The first trial was in 1944.

The high court agreed with Trial Judge John Simpson of Jackson that the Carr-Sigler grand jury had bought the testimony of Charles E. Hemans of Mason. Hemans was a key witness at the trial, and had been granted immunity by Judge Leland W. Carr, the grand juror.

In addition to the immunity, Hemans profited by being carried on the grand jury payroll, and having his hotel and bills paid from grand jury funds. Grand jury officials had also promised to try and keep Hemans in the army as a major and to try and prevent his disbarment as a lawyer, the supreme court listed as added inducements.

Last fall Judge Simpson granted new trials to John Hancock and Abraham Cooper of Detroit and George Omacht of South Bend. Recently he granted positions for new trials to others convicted at the 1944 trial.

MacLean Appeals Decision

Charles R. MacLean, an Ingham prosecutor prior to January 1, appealed Judge Simpson's decision on new trials. The court backed the judge.

Three justices abstained from voting. Justice Carr disqualified himself because he was the grand juror. Justice John R. Dehrens took himself out of the case because he was attorney general during some of the grand jury trials. Justice Henry M. Butzel withdrew because members of his law firm had once been associated with the case.

Twenty-six men were charged with graft conspiracy at the 1939 legislative session. Twenty were convicted at the trial held in Mason during the summer of 1944. Six of the convicted legislators served their prison terms. Some are now dead.

Twice previously the state supreme court by 3-2 margins had upheld the convictions. The final appeal was based on what defendants claimed was newly discovered evidence, the admissions of Monroe Wendell in 1949. Wendell was an investigator on the grand jury staff.

Obstacles In Path

Prosecutor Younger said he intends to take his time in reaching a decision on another trial.

"I have not yet found opportunity to study the briefs submitted to the supreme court. Nor have I consulted with the attorney general. There is the expense and other long trial to be considered, along with the prospects of securing convictions with one of the main witnesses now under a cloud."

Judge Herman Dehnke of Harrisville last week sentenced Hemans to pay $1,000. The judge also placed the Mason man on probation for five years. The sentence came a year after Hemans pleaded guilty to offering a bribe to State Representative George O. Harma of Atlantic Mine in a case growing out of a grand jury investigation under Judge Louis E. Coash. Judge Coash did not grant immunity to Hemans as did the Carr-Sigler grand jury.

Teachers Gain Wage Increases

Mason teachers will be offered salary increases ranging from $170 to $200 for next year, Supt. James H. Vander Ven reported Thursday. The contracts will be issued following a meeting of the board of education scheduled Friday night.

There are no blanket increases. The superintendent explained, the present starting salary for degree teachers is $2,600. The average is now about $2,900, according to the superintendent.

The board of education has asked the tax allocation board for 6 1/2 mills for operation. The district is also raising three mills beyond the 15-mill limitation for the building and site fund. The fund now stands at $112,000 with another $8,000 to be added when taxes are distributed.

Supt. Vander Ven said that 6 1/2 mills will give the school district $28,000 from the property tax for school operating. This year the district received $20,000 from the property tax.

Sheriff Trails Phone Office Safe Crackers

Officers Hold Concord Boy After His Confession to Break-in at Stockbridge

Sheriff Willard P. Barnes and his deputies are on the trail of a band of safe-looters. The thieves broke into the Michigan Bell Telephone office at Mason early Saturday morning and lugged off a safe.

There is no apparent connection, however, between the Mason robbery and an attempted theft at Stockbridge Tuesday morning, officers said.

At Mason the thieves made a haul of $318.34 in cash and $41.18 in checks. The safe was found in a marsh south of Dansville shortly after eight o'clock Saturday morning, 15 minutes after the robbery was discovered. The robbers had reamed an eight-inch hole through the bottom of the safe with a pickaxe.

Officers Fix Time

Officers believe the Mason job was pulled between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock. Several people said they noticed a gray or green pickup truck parked in front of the telephone office on Park street at that hour.

Policeman Kenneth Merindorf said he tried the telephone office door just before midnight and all was secure then. At 1:30 he went to the corner of Cedar and Columbia to check an automobile accident. When he had completed his investigation and had made arrangements for one of the injured to be taken to the hospital, it was after two o'clock. He did not try the door again, the officer said.

Thieves Broke Glass

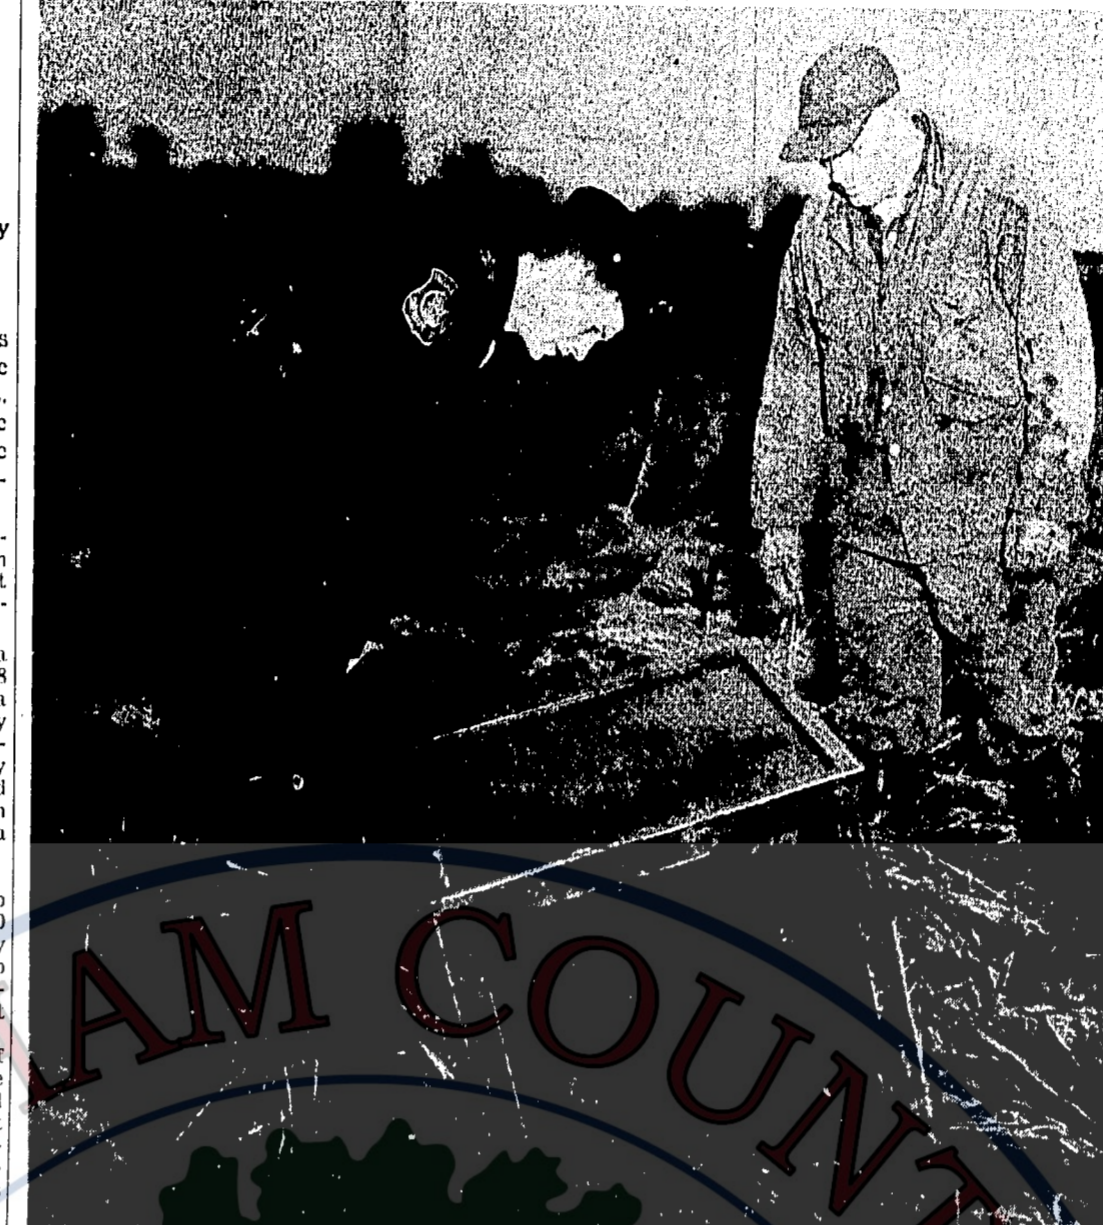

Mrs. Harry Howell, an auditor at the telephone office, was the first to discover the robbery. She reached the office shortly before eight o'clock Saturday morning. She found a section of glass broken out of the front door. When she opened the door she saw that the inner door to the office had been jimmied. Through the glass she could see that the safe had been taken. The thieves had also ransacked the desk drawers. Mrs. Howell immediately notified the sheriff's office.

At 8:15 Deputy Versie Babcock began his investigation. He found that the heavy safe had been rolled out through the two doors to the entrance and then along the concrete walk to the curb. The steel wheels on the safe cut grooves into the concrete.

Babcock had no more than begun his check of the curb when officers at the jail reported that a safe had been found in a swamp.

Bunker Hill Swamp Yields Telephone Safe

"That's probably the Michigan Bell safe all right," exclaimed Deputy Versie Babcock as he examined the safe found in a Bunker Hill swamp Saturday morning. And it was, but the money was gone. That's Olin West of Dansville standing at the right.

Ted Lawrence of Bunker Hill keeps watch of company property. He works for Michigan Bell out of Jackson as a lineman. He was driving along Williamston road through the Dansville public hunting reserve on his way to the Olin West farm when he spied the safe partially submerged in the swamp water. After having a look at his discovery he continued on to West's house.

West notified the sheriff. West and Lawrence accompanied Deputy Babcock to the swamp. West furnished the pair of boots the officer wore to wade out to inspect the safe. Because Lawrence was not shod with boots had a good reason for refusing to be in the picture.

Finish Fight Against TB Is Set for Next Week Under Mass X-Ray Plan

Health Groups Join Forces in Mop-Up Campaign Against TB, Every Resident of Community Being Asked To Have X-Rays to Make Sure of Health Protection

Mason has been picked as a battleground for a finish fight on tuberculosis next week.

The goal set is to have every resident of the community protect himself, his family and his neighbors by having a free chest X-ray examination. Last week the battle was carried to Williamston and more than two-thirds of the people responded.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday the mobile X-ray unit will be at the north door of the court house. From 9 to 12 mornings and from 1 to 4 afternoons technicians will man the unit. They are organized to take a picture every minute.

Under new techniques it is no longer necessary for people to remove clothing before stepping up before the X-ray lens. The X-ray sees all but nobody else does.

The Ingham County Tuberculosis and Health Society, the county health department and the Ingham county sanatorium are jointly sponsoring the county-wide TB detection campaign.

Club Women Are Assisting

In Mason the Senior Child Study club, the PTA, Mason Woman's club, the College club and the Legion Auxiliary have each been assigned a section of the city to canvass. The Farm Bureau organization will do the canvassing outside of town.

Members of one of the organizations plan to visit every home in the community. They will issue slips to be filled out for every member of the family. The individuals are to take the slips to the mobile X-ray unit. The women will also handle the clerical work in connection with the X-rays when they are made, from booths set up in the corridor of the court house.

All school children from the seventh through the 12th grades will be given X-ray tests automatically. Children below the seventh grade are to accompany their parents to take the tests.

The office of Dr. George R. Clinton and Dr. William E. Clark will be headquarters for the local drive next week. Requests for transportation to and from the X-ray unit may be telephoned there or to any member of the local sponsoring groups.

Tuberculosis Is Contagious

"Tuberculosis is a catching disease like measles and other diseases," Dr. Clinton explained. "It spreads in the same manner. The only way it can be stamped out is by checking every person. By carrying out such a campaign the disease can be stamped out within a few years."

Heretofore the X-ray tests have been limited to schools and special industries. Now the battle front is being widened because the TB germ is no respecter of age or persons. Many people past middle life may have tuberculosis, Dr. Clinton pointed out.

Early detection means quick recovery in TB. Where it is used to late years, not only months of hospital care are needed, Doctors Clinton said.

Alderman Asks For Third Cop To Guard City

Barnhill Defends Police From Laxity Charge in Saturday Morning Robbery

Mason may increase its police force by 50 per cent as a result of last Saturday morning's robbery. If the city council goes along with Alderman Harold L. Barnhill's suggestion, the police force will consist of three full-time men instead of the present two.

Alderman Barnhill defended the police department against criticism over the Michigan Bell Telephone office robbery. The thieves entered the office and lugged off a heavy safe, loading it at the curb.

Such things happen even in much bigger towns where more is expected of police, Barnhill declared. He said that at the time of the robbery Night Policeman Kenneth Merindorf was probably at the scene of a wreck at the corner of Cedar and Columbia. Had there been no wreck to call the officer away from the business session, Barnhill contended, all the thieves would have had to have waited until Merindorf drove over to the west side on a regular patrol.

Barnhill Heads Committee

Barnhill heads the police committee of the city council. He is also a member of the Traffic Commission. He said the traffic commission will meet some day this week to work out a recommendation on adding a third officer.

Under a schedule recommended by Barnhill, there would be one day man and two night men. The night men would work on staggered shifts. One would work Friday and Saturday nights, their shifts would overlap, he said, so that both would be on duty for several hours after midnight. He indicated that one officer would operate the patrol car while the other would do his prowling on foot.

Alderman Frank Evans urged the Traffic Commission to crack down on speeders. He declared that youths on their way to and from Lansing factories use Mason streets for race courses.

"There's a Dexter Trail gang racing along East Ash and out North Cedar night and morning," Evans insisted. "On the five o'clock morning shift there is no officer. The same thing happens at night. Officers should also check speeding on Lansing, Columbia and Jefferson."

"And there's just one way to stop this wild driving," Evans added. "That's to make the arrests hurt."

Alderman W. Davis Post explained that the Mason police force was reduced to two three years ago as an economy measure.

"Some business men believe two men are enough," Post said, "but there are others who claim the staff is undermanned."

Barnhill said Charlotte has four full-time officers, while Eaton Rapids and Grand Ledge each have three, and Williamston has two.

Tom's Market Adds Store at Dansville

Tom's Food Market at Mason has bought the former Anderson store at Dansville from Mr. and Mrs. William Maxwell.

The Dansville store will be known as Tom's Food Market No. 2 and will be operated jointly with the Mason store.

Tony Piacenti will operate the Dansville store with Don Novakovich being in charge of the store. The two men are brothers-in-law. They married sisters.

Novello and Piacenti came to Mason three years ago from Lansing. They bought Tom's Food Market from Tom Novakovich. They will do their buying jointly for their Mason and Dansville stores.

The Dansville store as operated by the Maxwells has been semi-self-serve. When remodeling is completed it will be entirely self-serve, the partners said. Remodeling will start within a few days, the new owners stated. A formal opening is being planned for early in May. The store will be kept open while remodeling is being done.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell bought the Dansville store from Forest Anderson & Sons last December. They were forced to sell because of Mr. Maxwell's health. He is now undergoing medical treatment at University hospital in Ann Arbor.

Board Adds 15 Million To Assessed Valuation, Mason Is Boosted 12%

Boost in Valuation Will Provide $225,000 More For County and Schools Levying Full 15 Mills, Mason Given Biggest Boost Under New Schedule

Ingham's assessed worth went up $15,000,000 Wednesday when the board of supervisors equalized valuations. The new total against which 1951 taxes will be spread is $261,390,899. Last year's total as equalized was $246,360,734.

The total as assessed this year was $242,474,006.

The total as equalized Wednesday includes $197,675,952 in real estate and $63,714,947 in personal property.

As a result of the 12 per cent increase in valuation, the county and school districts and the few townships which spread a tax will be able to share in about $225,000 more in taxes.

Mason Adds 12%

Although the increase in valuation averages 6 1/2 per cent for the entire county, Mason's increase is better than 12 per cent. That is because Mason values have been too low, explained City Assessor Dean Taylor.

Valuations in East Lansing went up 8 per cent, largely as a result of a building boom.

Lansing's valuations were increased by about 6 per cent. Much of it came from annexing Everett and Midway areas to the city. The loss of the two areas to the city resulted in a decreased valuation for Lansing township.

Bunker Hill and Vevay townships also showed slight decreases.

The city of Lansing under the new schedule will pay about 70 1/2 per cent of the county tax.

There was not a dissenting vote cast against adoption of the equalization committee report. For an hour before the vote was taken, Sheldon Markle, director of field administration for the state tax commission, explained how the committee had arrived at the figures. The state tax commission assigned Markle to work with the Ingham equalization committee.

Supervisor John Patriarche of East Lansing is chairman of the equalization committee. He explained that the services of Markle were requested. Serving with Patriarche on the committee were Hubert R. Bullen, Aurelius, Fred L. Kircher and J. K. Reed of Lansing, and Ward Vicary of Bunker Hill.

In his explanation of the method used in equalizing taxes Markle declared that the state doesn't tell any unit what figures should

Boy Gets Pony, Man Buys Tub

Buyers and sellers had a busy time last Thursday and Friday.

Before the Ingham County News was hardly off the press last Thursday, a boy from Williamston had bought the riding horse advertised by Dewey Clark of Aurelius.

On Friday Olin Voss, Jr., of Dansville had his choice of 10 bathtubs for his Saturday night ablutions. He ran an ad that he wanted to buy a bathtub and was almost flooded by results. Everybody doesn't want a horse, that's true, and there are people who are allergic to baths, but everyone needs something now and then and there's no faster or better way to get it than through an Ingham County News ad (40c for 40 words and those words go into more than 5,000 Ingham homes.)

The campaign to have a Mackinac Scenic Short-Way designation for a new north-south trunk line is still alive. The campaign was launched in Stockbridge 15 years ago.

Last Thursday night the fight for the trunk line was renewed at Stockbridge. Fifty people from Grass Lake, Stockbridge, Perry and other towns along the proposed route attended a meeting held at the Turney restaurant. They elected Wendell Abbott of Stockbridge president, James Locke of Perry, vice-president, and Carl Cooney of Grass Lake, secretary-treasurer.

The association is demanding that another north-south route be designated from the Ohio line to Mackinac City as an alternate for US-12 and US-27. The immediate aim is to have M-47, now being extended south to US-16, carried on down through Stockbridge and Grass Lake to connect with US-12 and eventually on south.

Representative Lawrence B. Lindener discussed the trunk line program at the Stockbridge meeting.

Those at last Thursday night's meeting decided to stage a series of other meetings in towns along the proposed route at the intersection of the trunk line and Grass Lake. The next meeting has been set for Grass Lake on May 10.

Mayor Asks Help In Housekeeping

Mayor C. H. Hall declared Monday night that the city needs the help of all residents in civic housekeeping. He explained that some residents are now raking leaves, twigs and grass into the streets on the theory that the motor sweeper will pick up and cart the rubbish away.

Raking leaves or twigs or placing other rubbish on the pavement is in violation of the city ordinance, the mayor asserted.

The motor sweeper is designed to handle only the dust and dirt that accumulates on pavements, the mayor declared.

Deer Finds Refuge In Mason Thicket

Saturday a deer hid out in the thicket on Art Jewitt's farm on Columbia road east of town.

Mrs. O. E. Clark of Okemos first saw the deer. Mrs. Clark had stopped at the Ord Price & Sons implement store at the intersection of Dexter Trail and M-36. She saw the deer grazing in the field north of the barn on the O. K. Pauley land recently bought by Dr. O. R. Pauley. Mrs. Clark called the attention of others at the store to the deer. They all watched the wild creature feeding. Finally the animal took fright and leaped to the north, sailing over fences to reach the woods.

Wyeth Workers Meet in Chile

In a message to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dean at Mason, William F. Richards stated that he and William G. Meier of Mason spent the week end of April 7 together in Santiago, Chile.

Richards, now with the United Nations, formerly was manager of Wyeth, Incorporated, in Mason. Meier was chief engineer of the nutritional division of Wyeth Incorporated when Richards was manager. Richards went from UNICEF headquarters in Paris to supervise planning and installations for milk plants in Chile. Meier is in South America for Wyeth Incorporated.

In the message to the Deans, Richards indicated that he intended to go to New York this week and from there come on to Mason and to his home in St. Johns for a few days before returning to Paris. Mrs. Richards and Jack have been in Paris since last summer.

Contract Offered Alton J. Stroud As Superintendent

Alton J. Stroud is the first Ingham school chief to get a contract from the county board of education. The board offered, and Stroud accepted, a four-year contract Tuesday night. The contract will start July 1, when Stroud's present term expires.

Heretofore, county school superintendents or commissioners have been elected by the people. The legislature changed the law to provide for the appointment of superintendents in counties the size of Ingham. The county school board is made up of five chosen by elected school officers.

Stroud is completing eight years as commissioner and superintendent. The title of commissioner was changed to superintendent when the appointive power was given the board of education.

As county school superintendent, Stroud is chief administrative and supervisory officer in all rural schools and in ungraded schools. He also serves on the county tax allocation board.

Neighbors Save Aurelius House, Barn Fire Fought

Neighbors in Aurelius successfully fought a fire in the William Kechn house on the corner of Barnes and Onondaga roads Saturday afternoon. Two hours earlier members of the Clarence Sherwood family put out a fire in a barn on the Sherwood farm on Columbia road in Vevay.

Mason firemen made runs to both fires. Eaton Rapids firemen also answered the Aurelius alarm. Shortly after four o'clock Saturday afternoon Mrs. Kechn was in the kitchen cooking supper. She was serving a birthday supper in honor of her son Carleton. The kitchen range smoked so Mrs. Kechn was using the electric part of the stove to cook frosting for the cake when she smelled paper burning.

Mrs. Kechn discovered smoke coming from the eaves of the kitchen. She played a stream from a fire extinguisher onto the blaze while Mrs. Carleton Kechn summoned neighbors and called in the alarm. Neighbors put out the fire by using water pumped from the cistern with an electric pump. Men and boys lugged out much of the furniture. The fire was under control when firemen arrived.

The blaze damaged the kitchen and the west wall as well as an upstairs bedroom and hall. Carpeting throughout the house was damaged by water and smoke. Both the house and contents were covered by insurance. Mrs. Martin Jennings of Aurelius owns the house. Her policy is with the Ingham County Farmers Mutual. Daughter Saw Smoke Mrs. Helen Dayton discovered the fire at the Sherwood farm at two o'clock Saturday afternoon. She hollered to Clarence Sherwood, the father, and her two brothers, Ervin and Harry. The men ran to the barn and saw flames dancing from a pile of hay and chaff between stanchions. The Sherwoods always keep a milk can filled with water. They used the water to put out the fire. When the firemen arrived the fire was out.

SWARTHOUS SELL HOME
Mr. and Mrs. William Swarthout have sold their home on Elm street to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prince of Harper road.

Superintendent Chosen

Rex B. Smith has been named superintendent of the Holt schools, according to an announcement made by Frank Landers, president of the Holt board of education. Smith, who will succeed Benton Yates, has been serving as superintendent of the Augusta school. Yates has accepted a position as assistant superintendent of schools at Lakeview Consolidated School District, Battle Creek.

Herman Marquardt Rites Held Friday

Herman Marquardt, 82, of 5133 Harper road, died Tuesday morning, April 10, at his home. Funeral services were held Friday, April 13, at 2:30 p. m. at the Gorsline-Runciman funeral home in Lansing. Rev. Herman H. Riffle of the Holmes Street Baptist church of Lansing officiated. Burial was in the Glendale cemetery at Okemos. Mr. Marquardt was born October 6, 1868, the son of Frederick and Henrietta Marquardt in Germany. He came to this country when he was 16 years old and worked in and around East Lansing for several years. For the last 40 years he lived at his farm home on Harper road. Surviving are one son, Herman of Holt; three daughters, Mrs. Clara Tommrell and Mrs. Lena DeLau of Holt and Mrs. Katherine Mull of Mason; two brothers, Fred of East Lansing and Emil of Lansing; a half-brother, Edward Resman of Lansing; 11 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren. His wife and a son preceded him in death by a year.

Zoning Ordinance Is Not Enforced, Engineer Claims

Mason has a good zoning ordinance. All that is lacking is consistent enforcement of it. So declared City Engineer Walter E. Zimmer at the council meeting Monday night.

Because the zoning ordinance is not enforced, a companion building code has not been drawn up for submission to the council, Zimmer asserted. Zimmer was a member of the committee which drew up the zoning ordinance and is a member of the building code committee. No recent meetings of the code committee have been held, the city engineer reported.

Mayor C. H. Hall said that if the new city charter is adopted, the way will be open for adoption of a standard building code.

Two issues before the council Monday night led to discussion of the zoning ordinance and the need for a building code.

Fire Chief Leland W. Austin placed before the council the issue between residents on East South street.

Mrs. Claude Jones, the fire chief said, had complained that Roy Kilpatrick stored papers in the Oberlin garage and was otherwise engaged in the junk business. Austin said the matter had been referred to him because storing of the paper might be a fire hazard.

Storage of the paper is not a hazard, however, Austin said.

Ordinance Violation

Aldermen started to dispose of the issue by having Police Chief Ralph Hall visit Kilpatrick with a request for more care in handling waste materials. At that point the city engineer called attention to the zoning ordinance. He declared that East South street is zoned as A residential and that operation of a junk business is a violation of the ordinance.

Alderman Frank Evans demanded enforcement of the zoning ordinance. He said no exceptions should be made.

Mayor Hall remarked that complaints have been lodged about Mason residents keeping bees. No action was taken against bee keepers, however.

The mayor nominated and the council confirmed Ruel Kruse as a member of the zoning appeal board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hugh W. Silsby, Sr. E. D. Franklin, Vevoy farmer, introduced the second issue to face the building code discussion. He informed the council that Roy Adams is plating 20 acres fronting on Kipp road and that apparently no restrictions have been placed on building.

"I have three-quarters of a mile of frontage on Kipp road," Franklin declared, "and I am considering erecting some houses on Kipp and along the proposed new US-127 by-pass. That's why I want the development of the Adams property to be orderly."

Alderman Evans pointed out that state law requires a plat be made where five or more lots are sold from unplatted property. Before plats are accepted, streets and drains must be provided for, Evans added.

The council instructed City Attorney O. J. Hood to inform Adams on the plat law. Mayor Hall commented that the city attorney could easily confer with Adams. The two men share the same office.

Advice Is Welcomed
No one needs to be alarmed over his real estate development on Kipp road, Adams stated Tuesday when informed of the council's action.

"I have six lots staked out and plan to sell them," Adams said, "but they will be sold with restrictions. I am now laying an eight-inch sewer, and I intend to comply with all the plat laws. I am as interested in orderly development as anyone in the community. The advice of the city attorney will be welcome."

On Wednesday Adams reported that the plat map was being drawn and would be ready for submission to the council within a few days.

Mason Juniors Rehearse Parts in "Willie's Week-End"

Juniors are learning to emote in their annual senior play which will be staged in the Mason school auditorium on Thursday and Friday nights, April 26 and 27.

In this scene the juniors are registering astonishment as hospital orderlies cart a mighty sick man off to a hospital ward. In a prone position on the stretcher is Jim Roggow. The orderlies are Bob Thomas at Roggow's head and Bill Wasper at the other end. Expressing deep sympathy as she looks down upon the suffering man is Donna Winzeler. She takes the part of a nurse. On the far side of the stretcher in the picture are Kay Scofield, who plays the lead as Eva, a student nurse; Elaine Swan and Marjorie Every. With her hands upraised is Betsy Parisian. Ranged behind her from left to right are Verna Lou Collins, Berthel Moses and Judy Lamphere. That's Jerry Wilcox sitting on the bench. Members of the cast not shown in the picture are Gerald Belt, Duane Waters, Phil Parisian and Lowell McKenzie.

Miss Mary Pate is directing the production.

Employee Finds Safe
Ted Lawrence, employed by the Michigan Bell at Jackson as a lineman, spotted the safe as he was driving from his home in Bunker Hill to the Olin West farm a mile south of Dansville to buzz wood. He did not know that the safe was a Michigan Bell safe or that the Mason office of his company had been robbed.

Lawrence reported his discovery to West as soon as he reached the place. West at once notified the sheriff's office.

The safe had been tossed in the swamp on the east side of Williamson road, 20 rods south of the Ewers road intersection.

Babcock was not certain that the safe was from the telephone office until Al Rice's wrecker hauled it out of the mire. Inside the safe were deposit slips and other papers placed there the night before by Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Ella Lewis. There was also a dime which had been overlooked by the robbers.

Hard Night's Work
The thieves had had a hard night's work getting their cash. They had been unsuccessful in their attempt to open the safe by the combination or by hammering the combination lock. They had then used a pickaxe to tap a series of holes in a circular pattern in the bottom of the safe. They had had to pound through two sheets of heavy steel with a layer of concrete sandwiched in between.

At the telephone office the thieves had used old papers in opening doors and drawers. Officers were unable to find any fingerprints left by others than office workers. The rain and water in the swamp had removed all traces of fingerprints from the safe.

One Crime Solved

James Lenardson, 16, is held in the juvenile detention home at Mason following his alleged confession of an attempted robbery at Stockbridge Tuesday morning.

Deputy Fred Frye of Mason, Deputy Alva Beaman of Stockbridge and state police from the Jackson post solved the case. The lad was almost caught in the act of carrying a small safe out of a window at the George Hollis residence at 305 Elizabeth street.

Jim Rowland, who lives next door to the Hollis home, awoke about three o'clock. He looked out the window to see a pickup truck parked in front of the Hollis garage. Rowland knew that Hollis had gone to Jackson to spend the night, so he investigated. He saw a man trying to get the safe out a shed window.

Rowland telephoned Deputy Alva Beaman, the Stockbridge officer. Deputy Beaman raced to the Hollis home, but the thief had taken flight and left. Rowland described the truck as being a half-ton pickup, painted light tan or gray, and with knobby tires on the rear wheels. The license plate numerals were not visible, Rowland said.

Entrance to the Hollis house had been gained through a kitchen window. The thief had ransacked the house in his attempt to find valuables.

One good clue was that the Hollis dog did not bark while the intruder was in the house. To officers that indicated the dog recognized the visitor.

Officers learned that the Lenardson boy had frequently visited the Hollis home to see the Hollis granddaughter. They found that on Monday night Lenardson had visited the home in Jackson where Mr. and Mrs. Hollis were staying with a daughter. They also discovered that the boy drove a truck which answered the description of the one seen at the Hollis home.

State police picked up the youth at Concord Tuesday night. He is

Al Rice Talks To Service Club

Al Rice, a state representative of the United Community Fund and a former co-director and vice-president of Ingham county United Community Fund, spoke to the Leslie Community Service Council on Monday night.

The meeting gave most of its time to the consideration of joining with the United Community Fund and making one local drive to solicit funds for all legitimate social, health and welfare organizations and activities under one budget.

In this way all such funds would share proportionately without the multiplicity of drives and solicitations. The central committee would determine the amount to which each fund was entitled before the drive and exclude any organizations not worthy of being included. Eventually all solicitations would be compelled to come under one drive which would be promoted by the entire community. The Community Council recognized the saving of time, effort and money as well as the confusion avoided by the one drive but desired the opinions of others in the community before the final decision is made.

Publishers Speak At Lions Club Meet

Don Foust and Jack Dehn, publishers of the Leslie Local Republican, were speakers Monday night at the Leslie Lions club. They explained the mechanical processes involved in the setting of type, forms, layout and printing of the local newspaper.

Dehn has had considerable experience in making cuts for printing pictures. Leonard Rouse presided at the meeting and Lloyd Dutton acted as clerk. After the meeting the Lions went to the high school to rehearse the minstrel show acts which will be presented at the school next Tuesday and Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. The show will not be presented on Thursday as first planned.

Strawberry Festival Is Saturday, April 28

Roscoe O. Bonisteel, regent of the University of Michigan, will be the main speaker at the 37th annual Strawberry Festival on Saturday, April 28, at 6:30 p. m. The event is sponsored by the Leslie Council 50, R. S. M. for all members of the Masonic Councils. The usual attendance of 300 to 400 is expected to attend the roast turkey and strawberry shortcake supper served by the Order of Eastern Star, at the Leslie high school. Most illustrious Grand Master, Joe Rice of Tecumseh, with his staff of grand officers of the Leslie council, will work the superb excellent degree.

Rex Fair of Holt, three illustrious officers of the Leslie council, now on probation in Jackson county. Deputy Frye and Beaman went to Jackson Wednesday afternoon to get Lenardson. He signed a confession, Deputy Frye said, declaring that he alone broke into the Hollis home. He denied any knowledge of the Mason robbery. Ingham officers intend to ask the probate judge of Jackson county to waive jurisdiction of Lenardson so he can be prosecuted in Ingham county.

Mrs. Chesley Entertains Club
Mrs. George Chesley entertained the Leslie extension club on Tuesday, April 17. Mrs. Leonard Gyles taught the lesson on Swedish weaving and members also worked on finishing wooden plates. The next lesson will be on lamp bases. Mrs. Chesley served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

School Chorus to Present Program

The Leslie high school chorus will present a choral vespers at the school on Sunday, April 22 from 4:00 to 5:00 p. m. under the direction of Philip Frederickson. All parents and friends are invited.

This chorus sang at Sexton high school in Lansing on Saturday, April 14, rendering two numbers, "The Green Cathedral" and "Lord of Hosts." The sextet composed of Marilyn Stafford, Sue Donzile, Janet Gearing, Pat Clancy, Jeanne Leonard and Connie Ward made a good showing. Connie Ward received an excellent rating on her solo and recommendation for the state festival.

Sue Donzile was rated excellent and Janet Gearing was good on their vocal numbers as rated by the Michigan school vocal association judges.

The Leslie school band will play at the band festival at Olivet college field house on Thursday, April 26. A mass band concert will be given at 7:30 that night.

Figures Disprove Claims on Speed

Aldermen were told Monday night that men employed in Lansing and living east of Mason save 15 minutes by violating Mason's traffic laws. The men can sleep 15 minutes later every morning because they can save that much by leaving through Mason on East Ash and out toward Lansing on Cedar, was the claim made.

Mason is two miles square. To drive the two miles at 90 miles an hour takes four minutes. To drive it at 60 miles an hour would take one minute and 20 seconds.

Flouting traffic regulations could not save any driver more than two minutes and 40 seconds. So those Dexter Trail boosters are just kidding themselves and Mason officials.

Wells-Cooper Vows Solemnized

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN R. WELLS

John H. Cooper and Norman R. Wells spoke their marriage vows Saturday evening, April 14, at the Okemos Baptist church. Rev. Holman Johnson, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony at eight o'clock, before an altar banked with palms; baskets of white snapdragons and carnations.

Janet is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Cooper of Route 1, Mason. Norman's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wells, also of Route 4, Mason.

Miss Geraldine Arnold of Williamston was the soloist. Mrs. Holman Johnson accompanied her and played traditional wedding music. The bride chose an ice blue satin gown styled with a lace redingote and chapel-length train. The long sleeves ended in points over the wrists. Her fingertip-length veil was held in place by a full cup of satin and lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses, with a pullout corsage of tall-stemmed roses.

Mrs. Philip Abbott, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow tulle strapless gown with a white lace bolero. Her bouquet consisted of pink carnations tied with green satin ribbon.

Miss Greta Miller and Miss Lois Hays, friends of the bride, acted as bridesmaids. Miss Miller wore a green tulle floor-length gown. Miss Hays' dress was yellow tulle, identical to Miss Miller's. They both carried bouquets, like the matron of honor's.

Janet Abbott and Kathleen Cooper, nieces of the bride, served as flower girls. They wore green and yellow tulle dresses, respectively, and carried nosegays of mixed flowers.

Kenneth Cooper, brother of the bride, was best man. Arthur Wells, brother of the bridegroom, and Philip Abbott, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered the guests to their seats.

Mrs. Cooper selected a navy blue and white dotted dress for her daughter's wedding. She used gray accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of pink and white roses. Mrs. Wells' dress was gray. She used white accessories and had a corsage like Mrs. Cooper's.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds greeted their guests at a reception in the church parlors. Miss Marilyn Schultz of Perry registered the guests.

Mrs. Howard Crapp of Grand Lodge, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Charles Cooper, sister-in-law of the bride; Miss Evelyn Brown and Miss Ethel Haskins of Lansing assisted with the serving.

The couple spent a short honeymoon in the South. For traveling Mrs. Wells wore a navy blue suit with blue accessories and the pull-out corsage from her bouquet. They returned home Wednesday and are making their home at 3474 Hulett road, Route 4, Mason.

Out-of-town guests came from Adrian, Jackson, Detroit and Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Wells graduated from Okemos Consolidated school in 1950. She works at the attorney general's office in Lansing. Mr. Wells is employed at the Fisher Body in Lansing. He graduated from the Okemos school in 1944.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Tinkler and family arrived home Monday after spending the week end visiting Mr. Tinkler's mother, Mrs. F. A. Tinkler of Cleveland.

Mrs. Donald Strickland spent the past week in Howell with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jamieson, where she had been celebrating after an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Somers, Sandra and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Underwood spent Saturday at Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Underwood's cottage at Harrison lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burns of Lansing and Mrs. Floyd Watson were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Somers.

Ms. Iva Lewis called on Mrs. May Haddy Monday afternoon. Tuesday callers were Miss Nellie Blanchard of Wheatfield, Mrs. Mabel Every and Ezra Haddy of Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. William Porter took her mother, Mrs. W. J. Pollok, to her home in Cedar Springs, Sunday. Mrs. Pollok had been visiting at the Porter home for several weeks.

Mrs. Bessie Walters spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Mikese and Bessie Mikese of Pomphlet.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Swift and family called on Mr. and Mrs. Vonn Ammerman of Leslie Sunday.

PIANO STUDENTS AT PARTY

Mrs. Gordon Edmonds entertained her piano students, their mothers and friends as guests at her home Tuesday evening. Piano numbers were played by Mary and Billy McQuillan, Jean Ann Kruse, Barbara Simpson, Emily Smith and Dennis Starr. Emily Smith sang two numbers. After a social hour the hostess served refreshments.

PYTHIAN SISTERS TO MEET

Pythian Sisters will meet Friday evening at the hall. Erna Brumbaugh of Vicksburg, grand chief of Michigan, will be present for the evening. There will be a potluck supper preceding the Temple meeting. Meat, coffee and rolls will be furnished.

CLUB 13 HAS MEETING

Miss Helen Termost entertained 12 members of Club 13 Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Donald Wenzler and Mrs. Roy Warner. They are leaving the employment of Kean's Store. Each woman was presented with a gift from the group. A potluck supper was served and guests played cards.

JIMMY LYONS HONORED

Jimmy Lyons celebrated his 14th birthday anniversary Monday evening. Guests were Marvin Hall, Kay White, Joan Hunt, Mary Huff, Maxine Thurby, Gary Chappell of Lansing; Douglas Doane, Douglas Lott and Nancy Strickling. Refreshments of cake, ice cream and pop were served. Jimmy received many nice gifts.

FAITH AND GENTLENESS MARKED HER LIFE

Pastor Pays Tribute to Mrs. McCowan

At funeral services Monday afternoon Rev. Loyd W. Caraway lauded the services of Mrs. Pearl McCowan to the church and the community by Mrs. Pearl McCowan. The pastor told of her deep and abiding faith, of her concern for others and of her willingness to sacrifice for the things in which she believed.

Her life, her pastor said, was an example in true Christianity.

The services were held at the Ball funeral home. Mrs. Harry Smith, a soloist with the Baptist choir, sang. She was accompanied by Mrs. Caraway. Six Baptists were pallbearers. They were Clarence Bickert, Stanley Holmes, Walter E. Zimmer, Earl Pearsall, Myron Holmes and Dr. L. A. Willden.

Mrs. McCowan was stricken with virus pneumonia four months ago. Following that she was afflicted with leukemia. Her condition became critical last week and the end came Friday at the Mason General hospital.

Following is the obituary read at the services Monday:

Winifred Pearl White, the third of five children of Frank and Arvilla White, was born December 17, 1880, in Vevay township just south of Mason. At an early age her parents moved into Mason and she attended the public school here until her family moved to Chesaning in 1893. It was there that she first met William E. C. McCowan.

After a three-year stay in Chesaning the White family returned to Mason. On January 17, 1900, Pearl White and William E. C. McCowan were joined in marriage. The first few years of their married life was spent near Grand Traverse county. On January 1, 1910, they returned to Mason to stay and her church, her home and her community became her life.

Joining the Baptist church in 1892 she took an active part in all its functions. She was church organist, church historian, Sunday school teacher and a leader in the Philatheas and Women's Union. In the early 1920's she taught a class of teen-age girls and her influence was such that in later years they often stopped to see her and renew their friendship. Her serene belief and tolerant understanding were but two of the attributes of her true Christian faith.

Three sons, Frank, Kenneth and

Howard, were born to Will and Pearl McCowan. A sister, Mrs. Hazel Brown, five grandchild and five great-grandchildren survive her today. Her love, faith and selflessness made her an idea mother; her understanding and trust a cherished companion. Perhaps her greatest happiness was in having the entire family and their friends "at home." In 1950 Mr. and Mrs. McCowan celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

To the community she gave freely of her time and energy. She was a member of the O. E. S. and the Women's club. For two years she served as city treasurer. Always well-informed, she gave a sincere and active response to her duties as a citizen.

With all this she retained time for an active individual life. As a young girl she taught music. As a young married woman she wrote fiction and articles for state and national publication. In 1914 she became local correspondent for the Lansing State Journal and held this position for 23 years. In a task where friendship is often sacrificed for news coverage, her integrity and tact won her many new friends. In the last few years she had worked side by side with her husband in their insurance business.

On January 17 she celebrated her 51st wedding anniversary with her husband. The next day she was taken sick. Her sickness progressed rapidly but she retained her alertness and cheerfulness. Shortly after midnight on April 17 she passed away quietly in her sleep.

Musician, writer, business woman, friend, Christian, wife and mother, she had a full, rich, purposeful life.

Chorus Sings at Music Festival

The Mason chorus, soloists and ensembles competed with other schools in the district chorus festival at Sexton high school in Lansing Saturday. The ratings have not been released yet, according to Miss Marianne Rathburn, director.

The vocalists sang two numbers, "Bow Low, Elder," a Negro spiritual, and "O Jesus, Grant Me Hope and Comfort," arranged by Pringle-Stein.

An ensemble composed of a double sextet sang "The Little Sandman," a German folk song. Norma Caraway, Carlyn Dolbe, Pat Fairbairn, Susan Porche, Janis Ervin, Gloria Gorman, Peggy Lewis, Laraine Laudenslager, Shirley Smith, Louise VanHorn, Ketha Mills and Elizabeth Fox composed the ensemble.

A quartet, consisting of Elizabeth Fox, Janis Ervin, John Laxton and Loren Shattuck, sang "Carmencita," a Mexican folk song. The girls' trio, composed of

A. & P. Manager Completes Course

James D. Hanes, manager of the Mason A. & P. supermarket, was in Detroit last week to attend a manager conference course being conducted at the company's divisional headquarters.

With a group of five other managers, Hanes took a five-day course devoted mainly to meat operations and customer relations. Other groups of managers in the division's six-state area are scheduled to complete the intensive course during the year.

Hanes joined the A. & P. in 1940 and was just recently assigned to the Mason store. He lives with his wife and child at 320 Center street.

Mason's Red Cross campaign netted a little over $650, reported Mrs. Isabelle Whyte, city chairman.

Mrs. C. H. Hall, Mrs. LeRoy Seelens, Mrs. Ralph Aseltine and Mrs. Lucille Wilcox were sectional chairmen in the campaign.

Mrs. Ruth Stillman and Mrs. Arthur Gruhn were co-chairmen in Alameda, Harold Clive Wells and the Holt school faculty handled the drive in Holt, Mrs. Charles Rich was chairman in Aurelius and Mrs. Dora Diehl led the drive in Ingham township.

Holt raised $300, Robert Drake, out-county chairman, reported.

Mrs. Russell Huntington, Mrs. Ronald Scribner, Mrs. Audrey Cowdry, Mrs. Wayne Spenny and Mrs. Mark Cave worked with Mrs. Wilcox in the northwest section of Mason. Mrs. Whyte conducted the solicitation in the county building, and Mrs. J. B. Dean at the Wyeth plant.

Mrs. Martha Holmes, Mrs. Billie Horstman, Mrs. Irene Whipple and Mrs. W. O. Hall served on Mrs. Ralph Aseltine's committee in the southwest area.

Helping Mrs. C. H. Hall in the southeast part of town were Mrs. Irene Franklin, Mrs. Ruth Davis, Mrs. Raymond Melendy, Mrs. Frank Evans, Mrs. Elsie Demorest, Miss Florence Miller, Mrs. Maude M. Camp and Mrs. Alton J. Stroud.

Those who worked with Mrs. Saetens in the northwest sector were Mrs. Lena Ellison, Mrs. Ethel Otis, Mrs. J. B. Hassinen, Mrs. Maurice Rickly, Mrs. Dart Lang, Mrs. Mabel Every, Mrs. Gus Keen, Mrs. Lawton Bennett, Mrs. Donald Whitney, Mrs. Wour Every, Mrs. Clare Raymond, Mrs. Henry Lidicoat, Mrs. Clare Mosher, Mrs. Audrey Whipple, Mrs. Eida Jones, Mrs. Hazel Everitt, Mrs. June Dravenstrat, Mrs. Dee Bray and Mrs. Kenneth Merindorf.

Past Master Presents Apron to Grandson

The Masonic ritual gained added impressiveness on Wednesday night of last week when Past Master Corder Bashford presented the Masonic apron to his grandson, Rollin Dart. Past Master Bashford is widely known for his retentive memory and for his ability to present work in all degrees without having to consult keys or being prompted.

Grand Ledge Beats Mason 1-0 In Capital Circuit Opener

Mason started out the 1951 baseball season by losing to Grand Ledge 1-0 Tuesday afternoon at the county park.

Mason will make its next start Friday at Eaton Rapids and on Tuesday will entertain the Howell Highlanders at the county park diamond.

Chuck Howell and Grand Ledge's Dick Kleinfelt locked horns in a pitcher's battle. Each hurler allowed only two hits.

Howell is the big gun in the Mason hurling corps. Coach Don Carey plans to pitch him against both Baton Rapids and Howell. If Howell gets into any trouble big Bob Jewett is on hand to go to the rescue.

Against Grand Ledge Howell chalked up seven strikeouts and issued only three bases on balls. Kleinfelt set three Mason batters down on strikes and also walked three men.

A bad first inning lost the game for Mason. A walk and an error coupled with a single by Kleinfelt brought in what proved to be the winning run.

Kleinfelt had the Mason batters eating out of his hands until the fifth inning when Bob Jewett lofted a single which dropped between the second baseman and the centerfielder. Mason could not push him across the plate and he died on third.

Mason again threatened in the seventh inning when DeWitt Stoltz rapped out a single. Kleinfelt again bore down to stifle the rally.

The only other hit in the game was a blow by Jim Toman. He poked one of Howell's left-handed pitchers for a clean single.

The Mason attack looked much better than the score shows. Several times Mason batters hit the ball hard. There always was a Comet fielder standing in the right place.

Two weeks, is home for 10 days. She will return to the hospital April 23 for further treatment.

Short Cuts To A Longer Life

Free classes for Lansing and Ingham county with heart disease, to teach them how to live and work with less drain on their energy will begin on Wednesday, May 9, at Michigan State college, it was announced today by Douglas Donald, M. D., Detroit, president of the Michigan Heart association.

The classes, which are a community service project of the Michigan Heart association, are designed to fill the doctor's prescription of "take it easy" by showing the homemaker disabled by heart disease how to save 75 per cent of her walking, 75 per cent of her movements and 60 per cent of her reaching.

Women cardiac victims may register for the free classes by writing to the Michigan Health Council, 706 North Washington, Lansing, or by calling its office at 4-7665. The first class is on Wednesday, May 9.

Each cardiac patient will be able to attend four two-hour demonstration-lecture classes which will be held on four consecutive Wednesdays. The classes will meet in the new home management laboratories on the campus of Michigan State college. The complete course of instruction is made possible by the Michigan Heart association through funds received from the United Health and Welfare Fund Drives in Michigan.

Obituary

Henry W. Dietz was one of 10 children of Theodore and Mary R. Dietz. He was born in Leroy township January 22, 1870 and departed this life March 31, 1951, at the age of 72 years.
He was married to Florence Maul Craddock November 10, 1902, and they lived on their farm in Leroy township until her death, July 8, 1935. They made a home for their niece, Isabel Craddock, whose mother died when she was only nine years old.
On June 14, 1938 he married Mrs. Nettie Stowe. After that time their home was in Webberville. He was a regular attendant of the Webberville Methodist church. Besides the widow he is survived by two brothers, Robert and Cornelius, 14 nephews and nieces and other relatives, by whom he will be greatly missed.

Pearle Faye Smalley was born in Jackson, February 13, 1883, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Willse. She received her early education in the city schools of Jackson. The family lived in Chicago for a time, then returned to Michigan, settling in the vicinity of Eden. Here Pearl spent the rest of her life.
On September 9, 1903, Miss Willse was united in marriage to Mr. Lee Smalley. Together they went to live on the Smalley farm, corner of US-127 and Barnes road. In their happy home three children were born to them: Ronald, who resides in Wyandotte; Fern, now Mrs. C. E. Emsen of Mason; and Charles Smalley of Eden.
Besides her husband, Mrs. Smalley leaves a sister, Mrs. Claude Faye Leslie; a brother, Ray Willse of Owosso; six grand children and a number of nieces and nephews. A brother, Harold, died about 20 years ago.
Mrs. Smalley made a host of friends.

She united with the Methodist Episcopal church of Eden with her parents in the year 1916 under the ministry of the Rev. Charles Kendall and in her life exemplified the Christian graces. As long as she was able she was very devoted to her church and a dependable worker in the Ladies Aid society.
Mrs. Smalley loved her home, her husband and her family and in the late years she very dearly loved her grandchildren. Because of sickness for some years, she has been confined to her home. She and Mr. Smalley lived very happily together. Her neighbors all praise her for her sweet personality and kindly deeds.

My Mother

U-M Lab Achieves Control of Daylight

Control of daylight to provide the best possible natural lighting of all types of rooms has been achieved in a "Daylighting Laboratory" at the University of Michigan Engineering Research Institute.
Ten years of study and development work by Dr. R. A. Boyd, research physicist and his associates, have gone into the work which has been sponsored by the American Structural Products Co. a subsidiary of Owens-Illinois Glass Co.
Dr. Boyd is pictured above using a reflectometer in the lab to check on how much light is reflected by a wall. Chief development in the study has been a new type of prismatic glass block which makes it possible to distribute daylight evenly over all areas of a room, including those far from the window area. An artificial "sun" and "sky" in the laboratory permit research under all kinds of light conditions.

YESTERDAY'S QUEEN—The beautiful Boyan Djavidan is shown at right as she appeared in 1910 when she was Queen of Egypt and commanded a staff of 65 servants. Now, at age 72, at left, she is seeking a job as a maid in Paris. Her husband, King Khedive Hilmi II, was dethroned and she has since been living in different countries. She hopes to return to Philadelphia, where she was born May Torok.

THROWING THE BULL—Carlos Arruza recently set a world record in bullfighting by killing ten bulls in one day. Traveling by plane, he accomplished his record in three cities, killing three bulls in Mexico City, three in Morelia and four in Acapulco. Arruza, above, sinks his banderillas into the animal's shoulders as it lunges. He then speedily sidestepped to avoid those horns.

FAYE'S ROSETTE — Lovely New York TV star Faye Emerson, who has been leading the fashion parade in necklines, is also setting the pace in coiffures. She wears a ribbon rosette at the side of her smoothly kept hairdo. Ribbons on a chignon give added glamor and can hide wisps of hair.

Scott to Lecture To Librarians

Virgil Scott, assistant professor, Michigan State college, and author of "The Hickory Stick," will talk on "Books Have Ideas, Ideas Have Power" at the district V meeting of the Michigan Library association, Wednesday, April 25, at Barton Rapids.

Prof. Scott expects to summarize and "assess" the action of the last half century, or at least the main stream of the literature, and to discuss the intellectual forces and ideas which produced that literature. He intends to point out the major weaknesses of this serious fiction, and show where and how, in the new trends in fiction in the forties and early fifties, the main line has been diverted. He plans to show how certain conditions in publishing today, particularly the fact that publishing is now and industry, can hurt serious writing in the future and finally, to summarize what he thinks is the librarian's job in the next decade or two in the encouragement of serious writing.

Prof. Scott attended Heidelberg college in Tiffin, Ohio, for three years, and then transferred to Ohio State University, where he received a bachelor's degree in education in 1936 and a master's degree in English in 1937. After four years of high school teaching in Franklin, Ohio, he returned to Ohio State and completed his doctorate in 1945. He then taught for two years at the University of Minnesota and subsequently moved to Michigan State college to conduct courses in creative writing.

Miss Dorothy Rozek, assistant librarian, Ingham county library, is chairman of district V of the Michigan Library association. Alton J. Stroud, member of the Ingham county library board, is trustee chairman. District V consists of the 11 counties: Bay, Clinton, Eaton, Gratiot, Huron, Ingham, Livingston, Saginaw, Sanilac, Shiawassee and Tuscola. The purpose of the district meetings, which are held annually in the spring, is to discuss business of the association, to have members become better acquainted with associates in their own areas, to broaden interests of librarians, and to help libraries to widen their sphere of influence. Miss Rozek explained.

Fred Gamble of Lansing was a Sunday guest of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Graham.

Village President Appoints Officers

Appointments for village offices were made by the president, Moore Brownlee, at the council meeting Wednesday night. They are water commissioner, George Killey; street commissioner, Jay Miller; marshal, Ralph Dersham; fire chief, John Ingalls; and village attorney, Albert J. Thorburn. Those to serve on committees are: Street committee, Hartley Tronum and Gail Harkness; water committee, John Ingalls and Harry Glair; property and alley committee, William Durfee and Marvin Pixley. Marvin Pixley was chosen by secret ballot by the trustees to fill the vacancy on the village council caused by the resignation last month of Arthur Fogg. The appointments to committees received unanimous council approval.

Milling for the coming year will show little change for Leslie taxpayers, as the same assessments will be made in 1951, 14 mills for the general fund and one mill for the sewerage sinking fund. As the result of a petition by residents four-way stop signs will be erected at the corner of Church and Race streets and also at the corner of Race and Pennsylvania.

The renewal of tavern licenses for George Scott of Moore's Restaurant and Fred Gignac of Gignac's Bar was approved.

Youth for Christ Program Is Held

The Leslie Baptist church entertained the Youth for Christ program featuring Rev. Harold Warren of Flint, on Saturday night, April 14. Dr. Warren showed colored moving pictures of Palestine which he took on his trip there last summer. A reward he answered the question: "Will Russia invade Palestine?" speaking affirmatively from scriptures in Ezekiel's prophecy. Three numbers were sung by a men's quartet composed of Russell and Elwin Skinkle, Robert Stuart and Kenneth Vines. Miss Connie Wray and Philip Fredericton sang a duet. Malcolm Stuart announced the program.

Rites Held for Clinton DeWitt

Clinton E. DeWitt, 91, of the Hazel Jones Convalescent home in Lansing died at St. Lawrence hospital Friday. Mr. DeWitt was a former Leslie resident and worked for a number of years for the American Railway Express company. One brother, Walter DeWitt of Oconto, Wisconsin, survives. Funeral services were held Monday at the Behrens-Luecht funeral home in Leslie with Rev. E. E. Carpenter officiating. Burial was in the Fairview cemetery at Brighton.

Laymen's Day Observed

The congregational church observed Sunday as Laymen's day with the deacons in charge of the service and J. Russell Baggerly directing. Calmer Wittum led the responsive reading, Roscoe Edwards read the scripture and Otto Heeksel spoke on "Jesus' Followers Meet the Romans." The junior choir sang. The church is collecting clothing to send to Korea through Church World Service. Next Wednesday will be Family Night in the chapel.

Deicers Meet Tuesday

The Deicers met at the home of Mrs. Donald Crakes on Tuesday, April 10. Mrs. Denzel Parker was a guest. Awards for winners of the games were given to Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Bruce Winslow. Refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Oliver Eckert on May 1.

Hobby Club Has Meeting

The Leslie Hobby club met at the home of Mrs. C. V. Horne at 10:30 Thursday morning, April 12. Mrs. George Luecht presided at the business meeting. Two new members were received, Mrs. George Eckman and Mrs. J. E. Shaft. An oven meal dinner was served to the members. Mrs. Don Holmes and Mrs. Marvin Sutliff prepared the special dishes to illustrate the lesson on "Broiler and Oven Meals" which was given in the afternoon.

Several Leslie residents are recovering from recent illnesses. Geraldine Kay, baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heuer, is home from Foote hospital much improved. Ralph Whitney is able to be out after illness at his home. John Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Waters, is recovering from a broken collar bone received when he fell from a chair. Mrs. Hattie Catt, a patient at Foote hospital, is slightly improved.

Phi Collar of the U. S. navy was a guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Isham, Sunday. He is now stationed at Atlantic City, N. J. Pvt. Fernando Lopez is spending his leave at the home of Ben Wood and Mr. and Mrs. George Wood. He has been stationed at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. He will be sent to Korea on his return to Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Smith announce the birth of a daughter, Christine, on April 7 at Foote hospital in Jackson.

Methodist Church Present Concert

The Leslie Methodist church presented a sacred concert by the Vennard A Cappella choir of the Chicago Evangelistic Institute on Friday evening. The choir of 38 voices directed by Kenneth Wells came by chartered bus from Upland, Ind., where they had given a concert at Taylor University in the morning. They were entertained for dinner at the Fell Plains Methodist church and were overnight guests of the Leslie Methodist congregation.

Essay Winners Are Announced

Prize winners have been announced in the Americanism essay contest sponsored by the local American Legion Auxiliary. After the votes were counted and the names ascertained the judges found they had chosen essays all written by boys in the senior group and all girls in the junior group.

The subject offered to junior and senior high school students this year was "Michigan's Place in the United States Today." First place essays will be sent to Lansing to compete with other winners from the sixth congressional district. District winners will compete for state honors. Prizes of three, two and one dollars respectively for first, second and third place will be awarded at the next school assembly by Mrs. Donald Crakes, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Auxiliary.

The winners are: Senior group, first place, Clayton Troutner; second place, Wallace Wood; third place, Robert M. Stuart; for junior group, first place, Shirleen Wyatt; second place, Carrie Louise Stevens; and third place, Nancy Fogg.

The judges were Rev. S. B. Wenger, Mrs. Russell Miller and Mrs. Ward Vicary, Jr. The prize winners will be asked to present their papers at the next meeting of the Auxiliary on May 3.

Special Services Planned

Rev. D. M. Dickerson of Coleman, will be the speaker at special meetings at the Free Methodist church April 24 through May 6, according to the pastor Rev. S. C. Hendley. Rev. P. D. Volter, the district superintendent, will direct their quarterly conference Friday, April 20, and including the communion service on Sunday morning.

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel B. Wenger and son, Kent, of the Congregational church, with Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Wenger of Grand Rapids are on a trip to Charleston, S. C. They will visit Mrs. S. B. Wenger's father, W. S. Landis in West Milton, O., as part of the week's trip. Mrs. J. R. Baggerly, Mrs. Lynn Jewell and Mrs. Ursula Snyder, representing the E. O. T. C. club and the Outlook club, attended the luncheon at the Woman's Home in Lansing and the annual business meeting that followed, on Wednesday, April 11.

TODAY'S Meditation

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

"Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice." (Philippians 4:4.) Read Philippians 4:1-7.

Once a man was imprisoned on a false charge. If he had a fair trial, he would be released. But soon a new emperor, Nero, came to the throne, and a fair trial was most unlikely. The prisoner's future was dark indeed. If ever a man had the right to complain, surely it was the Apostle Paul.

Yet this prisoner was able to write words of sublime encouragement and hope to his friends at Philippi. He was even able to tell them to rejoice! When we are discouraged and feel like complaining, we need to recall Paul's great faith and great joy.

In today's reading we see that Paul did not let his happiness depend on external conditions. He gratefully remembered his friends. He prayed. He trusted God. And in his heart was a peace surpassing understanding. Out of this faith came his great joy—even when he was in prison.

If we are to find such a buoyant joy, it will come to us through such a faith.

Let the song of faith sing in our hearts, our Father. Despite all outward limitations may we inwardly rejoice because we know Thee, trust Thee, and love Thee. In the name of Him who brought good tidings of great joy. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance."
Charles S. Milligan (New Hampshire)

The more than 50 different types of protection we offer can all be accurately divided into these three major kinds of insurance. The classification of a particular type of protection, however, varies with different people and their special situations.

Do you know whether the policies you have are in the first, second or third class? Perhaps you have some in the third class and don't have all of the few in the first class. That's dangerous to your bank account.

We'll be glad to study your policies, without charge or obligation on your part, and classify them according to your individual needs.

BETTER THAN A DINNER BELL

by Marie Gifford

It's the hickory-wood smoked fragrance of bacon cooking that will get the family to the table on time. Whether it's breakfast, lunch or dinner, bacon makes any meal a tasty and flavorful one.

To protect its fine flavor, buy bacon only for immediate need or select the flavor-protecting, vacuum-sealed package that comes in one-half pound or pound sizes. Keep it carefully refrigerated away from strong flavored foods and keep it well wrapped in its original package.

The method by which you cook bacon can match almost anything else you're cooking and use the same pan, the range, broiled, pan fried, or baked, it should be watched carefully and removed when it is just crisp, but not brittle.

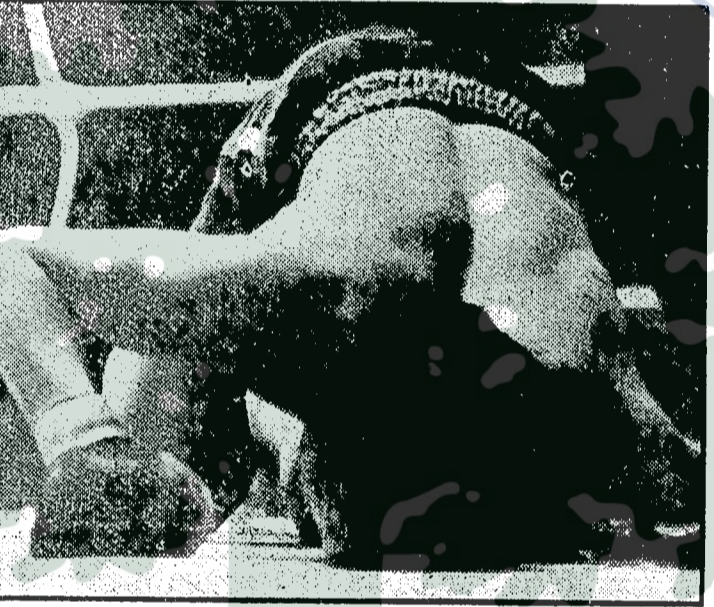

You'll want to save the bacon drippings for frying eggs, apple slices, or for sautéing for mushrooms, cauliflower, green beans, and other vegetables. It's a good idea to cook an extra slice or two, cut into bits, and cook with your favorite vegetables for added flavor. It works wonders!

For an easy-to-prepare and satisfying meal, reheat canned baked beans in individual casseroles and serve with crisp strips of baked bacon and pickle fans. Greet your family with this meal soon!

KEEP STREETS CLEAN

Mason invested $7,000 in a street sweeper to keep the streets clean. But it can't do the job alone. In fact, it can't do the job at all unless people help.

The street sweeper is expected to pick up only the usual street dirt, not the leaves and twigs that people rake onto the pavement.

No rubbish, and that means leaves and sticks and stones, should be raked or otherwise placed in the streets. Nor should leaves or other rubbish be burned in the streets.

Thanks for your cooperation.

THE INGHAM COUNTY NEWS

Sewing Lessons Given by County Extension Groups

Possible savings of more than $45,000 in clothing bills were accomplished in 1950 by Michigan homemakers through their activities in home demonstration groups, sponsored by Michigan State college's cooperative extension service.

Marjorie Eastman, extension clothing specialist, says that high clothing prices have caused many women to turn to home sewing as a means of cutting costs. Remodeling and selection of fabrics have also been popular topics for home demonstration groups.

Training for the projects is provided by clothing specialists from Michigan State college in cooperation with county home demonstration agents. They train leaders, who in turn train local group members, and it is all free.

Instruction is planned to progress from simple garments to more complicated work. Dressmaking has been the most popular subject and was carried on throughout the state. Reports show that in 1950, 2,957 dresses were made at savings of more than $16,000. Dresses made as a result of previous lessons were valued at $10,000.

Children's clothing program grew in popularity in 1950. Home demonstration agents estimate that homemakers saved $3,000 through these lessons.

Tailoring and remodeling work was valued at $16,000. Other phases of clothing are presented to members—such as fabric selection and shopping aids.

Home demonstration work is carried on throughout Michigan. If you are interested in joining a group to study phases of home-making, call at the county extension office, located at the county seat.

National Home Demonstration Week will be celebrated throughout the United States, April 29-May 5, as a salute to the women who are bettering their homes through membership in extension groups.

Love, Laughs and Song

It's a case of love, laughs and song when Van Johnson and Kathryn Grayson get together in "Grounds for Marriage," melodic comedy of a gay divorcee who puts up a stiff battle to get back her ex-husband. Paula Raymond and Barry Sullivan are other principals in the new M-G-M offering, showing at the Fox Theatre in Mason Sunday and Monday.

Universal-International Studio added another milestone to Hollywood's movie-making history with the production of "The Sleeping City," filmed in its entirety in New York City.

The swiftly-paced film offering, starring Richard Conte and Coleen Gray and showing Saturday at the Fox Theatre, thus became the first sound motion picture by a Hollywood studio to be created from beginning to end in New York City without relying upon studio resources.

Conte and Miss Gray were joined in the case of "The Sleeping City" by 24 actors and actresses tested and signed in New York, many of them doubling between the movie camera and top roles in current Broadway stage productions.

Heading the list of Eastern supporting players are John Alexander, who had created the Teddy Roosevelt role in "Arsenic and Old Lace," and more recently replaced Paul Douglas on Broadway in the top role of "Born Yesterday"; Richard Taber, actor-playwright who, with Jimmy Gleason, authored the hit play of yesterday, "Is Zat So?"; and Alex Nicol, understudy for Henry Fonda in "Mr. Roberts," Nicol's screen debut was so impressive that he was signed by Universal-International to a long-term contract.

Richard Conte, borrowed from 20th Century-Fox to head the cast of "The Sleeping City," is Hollywood's newest leader in the field of rugged film fare. Coleen Gray plays her first "heavy" role in the new film. Her previous screen appearance was opposite Bing Crosby in "Riding High."

"The Sleeping City" was produced by Leonard Goldstein.

Starring in the second feature, "Abilene Trail," will be Whip Wilson, foremost exponent of the bull whip on screen, with veteran comic Andy Clyde in the top supporting role.

A story of the last great range wars, the film shows Wilson, fleeing the law, joining with a struggling rancher to battle the big cattle baron attempting to drive him to ruin. Noel Neill, as the ranch owner's daughter, has the feminine lead.

Others in the cast are Tommy Farrell, Steve Clark, Dennis Moore, Marshall Reed, Les Roberts, Milburn Morante, Ted Adams, Bill Kennedy, Stanley Price and Lyle Talbot. "Abilene Trail" was directed by Lewis Collins, and produced by Vincent M. Fennelly.

Merry Mix-up
Teaming Van Johnson, as a doctor with a romantic bedside manner, and Kathryn Grayson, as his ex-wife who wants him back, with another team composed of Paula Raymond and Barry Sullivan, "Grounds for Marriage" offers a merry mix-up of temperament and temperatures, headaches and heart-throbs, operas and operations, capsules and kisses!

The new M-G-M romantic comedy showing Sunday and Monday at the Fox Theatre, is highlighted by several musical interpolations, ranging from Rimsky-Korsakoff's popular "Hymn to the Sun" and arias from "La Boheme" and "Carmen" to Dixieland jazz by an aggregation known as the "Firehouse Five Plus Two," with Van Johnson and Miss Raymond dancing a fast Charleston to their music.

Johnson and Miss Grayson come to the new picture direct from previous musical hits, Johnson having scored in "Duchess of Idaho" and Miss Grayson in "The Toast of New Orleans." Paula Raymond, who was also a member of the "Duchess of Idaho" cast, scored another hit with Cary Grant in "Crisis." Barry Sullivan, whose recent pictures had him appearing opposite Lana Turner, Bette Davis and Loretta Young, enacts Johnson's supporting cast featuring Lewis Stone and Reginald Owen.

"Grounds for Marriage" was directed by Robert Z. Leonard ("Duchess of Idaho" and "In the Gold Old Summertime") and was produced by Samuel Marx, who also wrote the story. The screen play is by Allen Rivkin and Laura Kerr.

Sea Thriller
One of World War II's forgotten glories was given a brand new ending of glamor by Hollywood during the filming of Universal-International's "Mystery Submarine," showing next Thursday and Friday at the Fox Theatre and starring Macdonald Carey, Marla Toren and Robert Douglas.

The new low-decommissioned submarine of the United States Navy serving once weekly as a training school for naval reservists while tied to a naval dock at San Diego, Calif.

The sub was loaned to Universal-International Studio in order that authentic interiors and exterior could be photographed for the exciting story of a Nazi U-boat that refuses to surrender at the conclusion of World War II and roams the seas as a fugitive.

The craft's war record revealed that it exploded the first sub-directed shell on the Japanese homeland.

Film players Macdonald Carey and Marla Toren became thoroughly acquainted with the glamor sub during their four week location period in San Diego, and made several crash dives within the confines of the California harbor.

"Mystery Submarine" was directed by Douglas Sirk and was produced by Ralph Dietrich.

J. Mack Brown Stars
Johnny Mack Brown is seen as an agent of the Interior Department in "West of Wyoming," Monogram's special western production will be a second feature Friday.

The story deals with the thrilling events which take place when the government announces its intention to throw open Mesa Terrestrial to new settlers, and Brown comes to grips with an outlaw band already entrenched, which is determined to stand all the ground bearing property in the district. Murder and violence mark the trail of the battle of wits, and the action is said to be a swift succession of exciting situations.

The cast supporting "Johnny Mack" in "West of Wyoming" is headed by Milburn Morante, and also includes Gail Davis, Myron Healey, Dennis Moore, Steve Clark and Bud Osborne.

The film was directed by Wallace Fox, with Eddie Davis as supervisor, and the story is an original screenplay by Adele Buffington.

Mrs. Nina Ketchum

J. Earle Maynard Rites Held Monday

J. Earle Maynard, 69, of Williamston, died Friday morning, April 13, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. L. Sawyer, in Ann Arbor following a brief illness.

Mr. Maynard was a well-known heating engineer. From 1910 to 1914 he owned and operated the J. E. Maynard Engraving Co. in Lansing. Following this he entered the heating and ventilating field and for the past 18 years was chief engineer of the Sibley Manufacturing and Heating Co., of Dayton, Ohio.

During recent years Mr. Maynard worked in this area as a consultant in heating and ventilating and had made his home in Williamston for the past three years. He was a frequent traveler and instructor in short courses held at Michigan State college and was a member of the national code committee of the American Heating and Ventilating Society.

He was an alumnus of Michigan State college, a member of Williamston Lodge No. 153, F. & A. M., Chapter 117, R. A. O. U. and Council 64, R. and S. M. He was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in East Lansing.

Surviving are the widow, Alta; one son, Paul of Williamston; one daughter, Mrs. R. L. Sawyer of Ann Arbor; and two sisters, Mrs. W. A. Hill of Lansing, and Mrs. Kay Buhl of Covington, Kentucky.

Services were held Monday, April 16, at 2:30 p. m. from the Gorsline Brothers funeral home, Gerald Ida, first reader of the East Lansing Christian Science church, conducted the services. Burial was in the Mount Hope cemetery.

Child Study Club Honors Members

The Williamston Child Study club held one of its most outstanding meetings Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lena Langdon, honoring the past members. Mrs. Carolyn Lightfoot, president, conducted the business meeting and various reports were given.

Mrs. Beulah Dillingham presided over the program and introduced Policewoman Marsha Trantham, who gave an interesting account of her experiences with the Lansing police department.

The remainder of the evening was spent in visiting. At the close of the evening refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Dorothy Erien, Laura Fisher, Virginia Kitchen, Marguerite Long and Dorothy Smith.

Former members present were, Cleo Beatty, Margaret Larson, Catherine Quinlan, Dorothy Blosser, Bess Hagerman, Ruth Traver, Esther Runciman, Millie May, Margaret Fay, Florence Ellis, Mabel Pierce, Monabelle Tuttle, Blanche Merrifield, Gladys Dietz, Rosella McCrumb, Irene Barclay, Ola Dutcher, Margaret Jenkins, Leora Arnold and Josephine Fisher.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars held their installation of officers Wednesday, April 18, at the Odd Fellows hall at 8 p. m. Joseph Atwood, past district commander acted as installing officer.

Mrs. Mato Zubulake, who has been living at Kalamazoo for some time, has returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Esch and son of Remus were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hurney Saturday evening. Mrs. Eva Purney who has spent the past two months with her son, returned home with them.

Mrs. Emma Brownner and daughters, Mrs. Irene Allen and Mrs. Rhena Janka of Detroit, were guests of Mrs. James Cotter Monday.

Mrs. Mattie Brown of Lansing was a luncheon guest of Mrs. Nina Ketchum Monday.

Denny Fate spent three days in Kalamazoo recently with 40 other seniors from the College of Pharmacy at Ferris Institute, as guests of the Upjohn Company. It was the second trip of the year for the pharmacy students to large pharmaceutical plants. The trip was made by bus from Big Rapids.

Widow Receives Lodge Degree

Barrett Widows, prominent Williamston business man, received his first degree in I. O. O. F. Fellowship at Lansing the past week. Two car loads of members of the Williamston lodge were in attendance. The Lansing degree team did the work, and supper was served to 60 members following the degree work.

Patriotic Order Meets April 20

The Women's Patriotic organization, representing all patriotic women's orders of the city, will meet Friday evening, April 20, at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Vivian Merrifield on High street. The birthday boxes for the Williamston servicemen and women will be packed and mailed.

The business meeting will be held at the same time.

Local T. B. X-Ray Drive Is Success

Williamston set a first-round mark for all of Ingham county to strive for in the observance of Ingham county mass chest X-ray program, according to Donald G. Wideman, while a goal of 100 percent had been set and is expected to be reached next year, it takes time to achieve such a goal.

With the official population figures set at 2063, the number X-rayed was near the two-thirds mark.

Groups singled out for special praise in assisting with this work were the Parent-Teacher association, the Methodist church, Challenge of Literature to the stores, Junior Child Study clubs. These groups did volunteer work and covered every home in Williamston, at the same time furnishing persons for the clerical work at the X-ray unit.

The Boy Scouts handled distribution of literature to the stores, pamphlets to the homes and posted signs around town. The Detroit Edison Co., the police department, the telephone company, the Sun Theatre and the Williamston high school all contributed in making the program a success.

Martha Circle Has Regular Meeting

The Martha circle of the Methodist W. S. C. S. met at the home of Mrs. Vincent Smith Monday.

Julia Chamberlain had charge of the devotional. Mildred May gave a talk on the life of a child in Iran, who finally after many months of wandering, found a haven in the Leper colony in Iran. She also told of the mission school which is held in connection with this colony.

The "Pete the Pig Bank" was so full that he had to be emptied at the close of the collection for the leprosy program. The final large project for this circle will be a silver tea for the leper colonies under the direction of the missionary chairman, Mrs. May, with Mrs. Marguerite Volmer as co-chairman.

With the closing of the circle's fiscal year, and the second year for the membership drive, the next meeting will be called a friendship meeting, and each member will take a gift for exchange. At that meeting it is expected the members will know to which circle they have been assigned for the coming two years. Mrs. Nina Hill will entertain for the next meeting which will be May 9 at 2 p. m.

Novelty Shop Stocks Paints and Figurines

The Novelty Shop, operated by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Minch, has stocked a supply of artists' oil paints, brushes and equipment. Mr. and Mrs. Dean White of Brighton were week end guests of Mrs. Della Rinehart and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roe Bridger are leaving for Flint where Mr. Bridger's work will be during the summer months.

Auction Sale Is Discussion Topic At Relief Corps

The Woman's Relief Corps met Thursday evening, Rhoda Slocum presided over the business meeting. Plans were completed for the corps' part in the coming auction sale for the benefit of the soldiers' Christmas and birthday boxes, which will take place, Saturday, May 19, beginning in the forenoon.

Anyone having articles for sale may take them to the sale or call the committee. Those handling committees are: Rummage, Clean, Backman; refreshments, Ina Clausen; and miscellaneous articles and furniture, Ruth Eaton.

A barn has been secured to store the goods until the day of the sale. Cookies and homemade candy for the May and April boxes, which will be packed Friday, April 20, at the home of Mrs. Clyde Merrifield, will be partly contributed by the corps, and the other patriotic orders.

At the next meeting the corps will initiate a class of seven members. A bohemian dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock honoring the members with birthday anniversaries in January, February, March and April. The new candidates will also be honored at the dinner.

The corps is selling two-cup pastel colored tins and spoon rests for the benefit of the soldiers fund. On May 4 the corps, through their patriotic instructor, Helen Johnson, will attend a meeting of the Williamston Woman's club at which time they will present an American flag, staff and standard to the club. The flag will be dedicated by the past department president, Nina Ketchum. Prior to the presentation, the flag, which the Woman's club has, will be retired from service and brought back to be cremated.

The next meeting of the corps will be Thursday, April 26 at 8 p. m., preceded by dinner. All officers are asked to wear white. Following the meeting the committee, Blanche Merrifield and May Stewart, served a lunch.

Band Schedules Several Events

The Williamston senior band has a busy three-week schedule which started Friday night, stunt night. On April 21 the band will go to orchestra festival.

On April 22 the band and orchestra will receive a superior rating in the district festivals are eligible to compete in this event. On Friday, April 27, the grand climax of the year will be the annual spring concert, sponsored by the band parents club. A variety of numbers are being prepared. Proceeds from the concert will be used to purchase band awards and additional equipment for the band. Tickets will be available from members of both the senior and junior bands.

The senior band has three new members, Joene Beatty of the seventh grade is specializing on the euphonium; Garry Griffith, high school freshman, plays the tenor saxophone; and Teddy Thompson, the youngest member of the senior band, plays cornet and is from the fifth grade.

Four members of the senior band will graduate this year. They are Rosemary Barnes, first clarinet; Louise Bentley, alto horn; Richard Hull, bass; and Russell Potter, tenor sax.

Woman's Club Has Annual Meeting

The Williamston Woman's club met for its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Jennie Litchfield and Mrs. Florence Allen. This was the annual meeting of the club.

The members voted to pay $3.00 to the Adult Education institute, which will be held in Ann Arbor, May 15, 14 and 15. This makes it possible for all members of the club to attend these sessions. A sum of money was also contributed to the cancer drive.

Following the reading of the constitution and by laws, the annual election took place with the following elected: President, Bertha Gulick; vice-president, Hazel Adams; secretary, Lulu Howarth; treasurer, Florence Allen; executive committee for 1951-1952, Lydia Frazer, Orr Vigers, Marguerite Volmer, Irene Putman and Jennie Litchfield; delegates to the southeast district, Lydia Frazer and Bertha Gulick; and delegates to the county federation, Hazel Adams and Lydia Frazer.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses and a social hour followed the meeting.

School Stunt Night Draws Large Crowd

A large crowd attended the second annual stunt night, given by pupils of the local high school.

The first prize was given by the judges to the Dramatic club, which presented the skit, "Yes Means No." The Athletic club presented a hilarious skit with a dream of "Forest Handicraft's Day in School," which was well given.

The teachers knew nothing of what their parts were to be until they saw them on stage. The band also put on a stunt for this program, as did each of the various groups of school activities. Judges were Mr. Hall, manager of the Eyerly street, Wayne Gasline, radio salesman; and Walt Koss, owner of Walt's Drive-In.

Grass Fires Cause $300 Loss in Month

Grass fires are proving to be an expensive luxury, according to Fire Chief Wilbur Smith. Nine grass fires and one building fire during the past month has cost the city and township nearly $300, and much of this could have been avoided by more care in burning rubbish.

According to Walter Mutchler, conservation officer for this area, a burning permit is required for all fires other than for domestic purposes, unless the ground is covered with snow. Those burning without a permit are subject to a fine not exceeding $100, plus court costs, under state law. A permit is required even for burning on one's own property. Mutchler stated, "Permits may be obtained from the fire chief, Wilbur Smith, Williamston, or from Conservation Officer Mutchler of 316 Oak street, Mason.

Grass Fires Cause $300 Loss in Month

Grass fires are proving to be an expensive luxury, according to Fire Chief Wilbur Smith. Nine grass fires and one building fire during the past month has cost the city and township nearly $300, and much of this could have been avoided by more care in burning rubbish.

According to Walter Mutchler, conservation officer for this area, a burning permit is required for all fires other than for domestic purposes, unless the ground is covered with snow. Those burning without a permit are subject to a fine not exceeding $100, plus court costs, under state law. A permit is required even for burning on one's own property. Mutchler stated, "Permits may be obtained from the fire chief, Wilbur Smith, Williamston, or from Conservation Officer Mutchler of 316 Oak street, Mason.

Students Visit In Legislature

Thirty-five senior government students accompanied by their instructor, Earl Briggs, visited the state legislature Tuesday afternoon. The group took a short trip to the dome of the capital before visiting the House of Representatives.

The class was introduced by our representative, Lawrence Lindner, and spent most of the afternoon observing and listening to the discussion by the house members on various highway bills. The group also visited the Senate for a short time.

Okemos Council Plans Expedition

The explorers of Chief Okemos Council will participate in an expedition in the Dansville public hunting area Sunday afternoon, April 22.

The local explorer crews from Mason, Williamston and Dansville are acting in the capacity of hosts under the leadership of Richard Ferris of Mason, Walter Gregory of Williamston and Roscoe Arnold of Dansville.

Four mile compass hike through rough terrain, signaling, tug of war, moose-steele shoot, archery, and a hot lunch are features of the event. All explorers and Scouts of the council are welcome to participate. Event patches will be available.

W. S. C. S. Has Annual Election

Last Wednesday the members of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Nathan Lantis of Mason. A potluck dinner was served at noon, and this was followed by the devotionals led by Mrs. Roscoe Arnold.

The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. William Musloff. The women voted to increase the missionary giving by 15 per cent. It was also decided to keep a scrapbook of the activities of the society and Mrs. Arnold was appointed in charge of this project.

Plans were made to observe Mother's Day by presenting a message to each mother attending church service at the Dansville Methodist church on Mother's Day.

The motion was carried to send the self-denial offering to the Navajo school at Farmington, New Mexico, having completed the purchasing of the baptismal font for the church.

Election of officers then followed with results being: Ruth Anderson, president; Irma Musloff, vice-president; Clara Vogt, recording secretary; Iva Corwin, treasurer; Kathryn Richner, secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities; Minnie Grimes and Allie Thompson, sewing, secretary of missionary education; Verma West, secretary of supplies; Edna Seibert, secretary of student work; Bessie Turnbull, promotion secretary; and Bertha Miller, secretary of literature and publications.

The pledge service will be held next month.

Why not give your Bride a Break?

ROADMASTER

LET'S see what it means to own a ROADMASTER.

It means, first of all, that you're a shrewd judge of fine manufacture. Nowhere will you find a mechanism more skilfully fitted part to part with scrupulous precision—engineered to stricter standards of fine-car quality—than the deep-framed and durable ROADMASTER chassis.

It means, also, that you possess keen appreciation of everything that makes for unsurpassed performance.

For there's more to this dazzling beauty than its thrilling take-off. There's the surplus of power that you need to make you the master of busy traffic or open road—plus the velvet magic of Dynaflo Drive (at no extra cost, mind you).

There's the level-going luxury of ample roadweight buoyantly balanced on coil springs on every wheel—and the security of brakes specifically engineered for firm control of this great-powered beauty.

But there's still another distinction to being a ROADMASTER owner.

It marks you as one who buys wisely and well. Size for size, pound for pound, feature for feature, few cars can even approach what your dollars will buy in this finest of Buicks.

There's much more to be discovered by a visit to any Buick dealer's showroom.

There's the sumptuous softness of cushions, the custom excellence of fabrics and interior trim, the grace and charm of every line and contour.

So if you've dreamed of sometime owning a car superbly fine, there's no time like the present—and no car like ROADMASTER for making dreams come true.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

Your Railroad's 125th Birthday

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

SQUIRE WITH A DREAM was George William Featherstonhaugh. On April 17th, 1825... brief months after Britain launched the world's first steam train... he won from the New York Legislature a charter for a railroad between Schenectady and Albany... the start of New York Central!

FIVE YEARS LATER, that pioneering dream came true. The 16-mile Mohawk & Hudson Rail Road was complete. And its first locomotive... the American-built DeWitt Clinton... pulled a trainload of notables over the line, showing them liberally with spurs all the way!

PIONEERING AGAIN, in the 1890's, Central explored new realms of speed and luxury. Its Empire State Express with Engine 999, set a world's record of 112 1/2 miles an hour. And the Exposition Flyer was the first to link New York and Chicago on a regular, twenty-hour schedule.

THE NEW in New York Central brings the story up to date. Miles of streamlined coaches and all-room Pullmans. Smooth new Diesel-electric power. A fleet of 58,000 new freight cars. A multimillion-dollar program to keep your Railroad 125 years young! For that is the CENTRAL IDEA.

Washington Dairyman Tells About Top Producing Herd

Clayton P. Allard, Yakima, Washington, has 6 Holstein cows that last year averaged 16,814 pounds of milk and 627 pounds of butterfat. That's the highest average on two-daily milking of any Holstein herd in the country.

Here's how Allard manages his herd:

Allard believes body capacity is the most important in judging a cow's type. He wants big cows with plenty of middle and depth. But he notices the balance of a cow that can't be described. There must be a certain correct proportion there, he believes.

His cows are fed a mixture of 30 pounds of rolled oats, 100 pounds of ground corn, 300 pounds of bran, 100 pounds of copra (a protein supplement often used in the west) and 50 pounds of linseed meal.

The cows get all the best quality alfalfa they can eat, plus best pulp. No silage is fed.

The herd runs loose in the dry, cold Washington climate. They even stayed outdoors when the temperature dropped to 35 below zero last winter. Allard can't see that cold weather hurts his cows.

The calves are started on nurse cows. After two months, they go into an open shed and are fed the same grain mixture as the cows, plus commercial calf pellets. They are kept off pasture until a year old.

The heifers freshen at 24 to 28

NO SIDESTEPPING OF CONTROVERSIES

People Hear Both Sides of Issues

Thousands of Michigan's citizens might well be listed among the best informed people in America in regard to some of the vital problems facing our nation and the world today.

It all started three years ago when Michigan State college educators decided it was time to stop side-stepping controversial issues involving public policy. In cooperation with the U. S. department of agriculture, the Michigan State college cooperative extension service launched a program to bring critical problems of the day into the open from one corner of the state to the other. Michigan's citizens have responded by speaking up in hundreds of free discussion sessions throughout the state.

Currently the project is being carried out at the college by Arthur Mauch, Dale Butz and D. B. Varner, all of the agricultural economics department.

side-stepping controversial issues involving public policy. In cooperation with the U. S. department of agriculture, the Michigan State college cooperative extension service launched a program to bring critical problems of the day into the open from one corner of the state to the other. Michigan's citizens have responded by speaking up in hundreds of free discussion sessions throughout the state.

After three years and hundreds of meetings, Mauch has concluded that Michigan people are sincerely anxious to learn the facts about significant national and international problems. The college has developed the current program to help these folks make their own decisions on policy questions vital to this state and nation.

"We live in one of the few places in the world where what the people think is really important," Mauch added, in emphasizing the need for such programs.

Michigan State college avoided taking sides in several earlier issues of "Open Meetings" tackling agricultural problems involving political implications such topics as "Is Subsidized Farm Prosperity the Answer?" and "Do We Want a Brannan Plan?" This thinking still prevails as the pamphlets present arguments from many sources for and against the question being presented. There's no mistaking the tone of the actual discussion centering around two topics, however. They're all-out stands against two vicious enemies of our way of life—Russian communism and inflation.

Legumes such as alfalfa, clover and soybeans, inoculated with special bacteria, can collect nitrogen from the atmosphere, but no effective inoculant for non-leguminous crops has been found.

Stockbridge Man Is President of Potato Growers

Veril Baldwin, Ingham potato and onion king, is the new president of Michigan Potato Industries.

Michigan Potato Industries has been set up to promote Michigan's potato industry.

Baldwin was elected president at the first meeting of the board of directors, which was held recently at Boyne City. Serving with Baldwin as vice-presidents are Orlave Curran, representing the Upper Peninsula; Fay Jenkins of Kalkaska, northern Lower Peninsula; and Clarence Perkins of McBride, representing growers in the southern part of the state.

Fred Hiest, Cadillac, was elected secretary of the organization and Jack Schofield, Inlay City, treasurer.

The new organization was voted during a meeting of potato growers at farmer's week in early 1951. The organization will not physically market potatoes, but will seek to represent the entire industry in activities in its interest.

Organization of the group, in answer to many requests from potato growers, was aided by Clarence Prentice of the Michigan State college agricultural economics department and county agricultural agents in potato-producing counties.

Among planned activities for the coming year are exhibits and sales, sponsoring tours and field days, assisting the cooperative extension service in potato educational programs and promoting research in all phases of potato production, harvesting and marketing.

Prentice states that any potato producer, processor, or handler or other person or firm interested in the program of the group is eligible to become a member.

Other directors for the potato industry of the state include D. J. Woods, Newberry; Mat Puri, Atlantic Mine; L. L. Best, Lake Linden; Oscar Overholt, Levering; John Weiland, Ellsworth; and Fred Dinn, Detroit.

Lambs Must Have Vitamin E Supply

Stiff-lamb disease, a condition commonly occurring in April and May, can be cured by the majority of cases if recognized and treated early, says L. H. Blakeslee of the Michigan State college animal husbandry department.

The disease is sometimes called white muscle disease—a muscular condition causing stiffness and lameness of suckling lambs. It is now known to be due to a deficiency of vitamin E in the diet of the ewe and therefore in the diet of the suckling lamb.

Most feeds contain some vitamin E, but wheat and some of its by-products—particularly wheat germ meal, wheat germ oil and wheat red dog are better sources of this vitamin.

Blakeslee says the problem is getting the high vitamin E feeds into the ewe or lamb before the deficiency occurs. Feeding wheat as part or all of the grain ration to the ewe is the most practical solution. Wheat can also be included as one-third to one-half of the creep ration for lambs when two to three weeks of age.

Wheat germ meal, which also contains 25 per cent protein, can be used as 10 per cent or more of the ewe ration and for the lamb creep ration.

If stiff-lamb disease occurs, the lamb must be confined with the ewe to insure proper intake of milk. Then a feeding grade of fresh wheat germ oil can be fed with a teaspoon once or twice daily according to the extent of symptoms. Alpha-tocopherol, the synthetic form of vitamin E, is another cure, but it should be injected by a veterinarian.

Prevention by the use of wheat or a variety of grains and clover should be practiced if stiff lambs have occurred in previous years.

Milk Production Is Lagging Behind

Milk production in the Detroit area continues to run behind last year's figures with an increasing number of shippers dropping out of the market, according to a statement just issued by Howard F. Simmons, secretary-manager of the Michigan Milk Producers association.

In the month of March, milk receipts in the Detroit market were more than four per cent below the same month a year ago and the number of shippers showed a drop of 511 farmers during the year. In March, there were 44 less producers sending milk to the market than a month earlier. Shipments by producers averaged only two pounds more in March than a year ago.

While there still is sufficient milk to meet all requirements, Simmons feels that the downward trend may mean a short supply later on in the year unless producer prices are adjusted upward to a point where the return to farmers on milk is comparable to other segments of the inflated economy. It is apparent that many farmers are turning away from the great amount of work involved in milk producing to other cash crops which older men can produce with less effort and as great a monetary return, he states.

The proposed federal milk marketing order for the Detroit market still is in the hands of the U. S. department of agriculture for consideration of exceptions filed by interested parties as of April 2. As soon as these have been reviewed by government marketing agents, it is expected a final order will be submitted for approval or rejection by a vote of all producers supplying the Detroit market. Simmons stated that it is impossible to know just how soon the revised order will be issued, but it is expected by early May, at which possibly two months would be required to set up administrative machinery and put the order in effect, provided it meets with producer approval.

Stockbridge Man Is President of Potato Growers

Veril Baldwin, Ingham potato and onion king, is the new president of Michigan Potato Industries.

Michigan Potato Industries has been set up to promote Michigan's potato industry.

Baldwin was elected president at the first meeting of the board of directors, which was held recently at Boyne City. Serving with Baldwin as vice-presidents are Orlave Curran, representing the Upper Peninsula; Fay Jenkins of Kalkaska, northern Lower Peninsula; and Clarence Perkins of McBride, representing growers in the southern part of the state.

Fred Hiest, Cadillac, was elected secretary of the organization and Jack Schofield, Inlay City, treasurer.

The new organization was voted during a meeting of potato growers at farmer's week in early 1951. The organization will not physically market potatoes, but will seek to represent the entire industry in activities in its interest.

Organization of the group, in answer to many requests from potato growers, was aided by Clarence Prentice of the Michigan State college agricultural economics department and county agricultural agents in potato-producing counties.

Among planned activities for the coming year are exhibits and sales, sponsoring tours and field days, assisting the cooperative extension service in potato educational programs and promoting research in all phases of potato production, harvesting and marketing.

Prentice states that any potato producer, processor, or handler or other person or firm interested in the program of the group is eligible to become a member.

Other directors for the potato industry of the state include D. J. Woods, Newberry; Mat Puri, Atlantic Mine; L. L. Best, Lake Linden; Oscar Overholt, Levering; John Weiland, Ellsworth; and Fred Dinn, Detroit.

Farm Groups Voice Suspicion Of Brannan's Merger Program

Michigan's two major farm groups have charged Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan with using the defense effort to carry out his personal beliefs.

The Farm Bureau and the Grange have passed resolutions protesting consolidation of state and county offices of the Production and Marketing Administration and the Soil Conservation Service. The consolidation was ordered by the department of agriculture.

"The Farm Bureau, according to John P. Yaeger, assistant executive secretary, feels 'the consolidation dangerously strengthens bureaucratic power over vital farm interests.'"

At present, PMA handles the price-support program, loans, purchase agreements and subsidy payments to farmers.

Soil Conservation Service supplies technical advice on farm conservation practices. SCS districts are controlled by committees of farmers. There is one government-hired technician in each district.

Yaeger said PMA "has always been the political agency of the department of agriculture."

He said that in these days of full production "PMA is not nearly essential as it has been in the past."

PMA activities should be curtailed, not spread, he said.

Durand FFA Wins Title in A & P Contest

Last to enter and first to finish is the story of Durand high school's rise to the state championship in the Future Farmers of America division of the 1951 Michigan Junior Chicken-of-Tomorrow contest.

A group of 45 students from the Shawassaw county school surprised a record entry list by winning the top award Friday in the final round of the state competition to produce better meat-type chickens on less feed.

The Durand youths, competing for the first time, were presented a traveling trophy by A. & P. Food Stores which sponsors national and state chicken programs as a service to the poultry industry.

Durand's championship performance surpassed last year's winning effort of agricultural students from Rockford high school. The Durand 15-bird entry of New Hampshire and White Wyandotte Cross averaged 4.86 pounds live weight at 12 weeks as compared with Rockford's 4.59 pounds in a 13-week contest period. The 1951 utilities needed only three pounds of feed per pound of gain as compared with Rockford's ratio of 4.3 pounds of feed.

Vocational agriculture teacher Roy Walker supervised the Durand entry. Seventeen-year-old Ralph Langdon was caretaker of the contest flock which was raised on the school grounds in a laminated poultry house built by farm shop students.

Rockford gained a silver award for finishing in the second flight of finalists in judging at the Hamilton Farm Bureau Cooperative.

Gold awards were presented to FFA chapters from Charlotte, Marlette, Merrill, Olivet and Scottsville in the first flight. Silver award winners were Caledonia, Adrian, Allegan, Barryton, Coldwater, Otisville, South Haven and Williamston. Bronze awards went to Lawrence and Belleve.

THIS FARMING BUSINESS BY CARL COLLIN

USDA's April 1 crop report indicated a winter wheat crop of about 174 million bushels below the 590 million bushels predicted four months ago.

The government forecast for winter wheat this year, although down about one fifth, still is much more optimistic than several private reports. Since April 1, many sections of the southwest have had rain which could help the young wheat plants. However, one recent forecast, by an experienced crop reporter, said that wheat on at least 20 million acres in the southwest is gone killed by dry weather and insects.

Food grains such as sorghums will replace damaged wheat on many southwest acres. Because of late wet spring, oats are going in slow in southern corn belt. In another week or two it will be too late to seed them. Much of this acreage is expected to go into corn.

Hugh H. Bennett, chief of soil conservation service, was to have retired this spring. However, he will stay as head of SCS for another year. Top USDA officials may feel that Dr. Bennett's presence at the helm of SCS will help consolidation of PMA and SCS now in progress.

USDA is after 10 per cent more land planted to corn than was put in last year. Sixty million acres of corn are needed in the 12 corn belt states alone this year. This would not be a heavy load than was planted in heavier recent years.

According to Michigan PMA committee, farmers indicated on March 1 that they would plant 79,000 acres under the goal set for this state. Also the prospects for soybeans in Michigan on March 1 were 27,000 acres under the goal.

Farmers are assured that the price of corn will be supported at a national average of $1.54 per bushel (100 per cent of parity).

Although farm officials expressed considerable concern over the prospects of this year's corn crop right after the March 1 report was issued, the needed acreage to meet the 1951 goal shouldn't be hard to get, now that the situation has been brought to the attention of farmers in the Midwest. With a reasonable break in the weather, we may end up much better with our corn supplies than we will with our wheat. Increased numbers of livestock will require more feed and corn is a basic food. But the demand for wheat, particularly from the international standpoint, could be a drain on our reserve supplies.

Last year Canada had a bad year for wheat. Much of the grain harvested was unfit for human consumption. With a good crop this year, Canada could step in and help fill some of the foreign needs for wheat.

Some kind of a program may be needed to help dairymen. Current beef prices, high labor costs, shortage of manpower—all are discouraging to dairymen. Some do not observe that U. S. may be headed for a milk shortage in a few years if unfavorable conditions for dairy industry continue. That's why there's a possibility of some program to bolster dairy farm income.

Commodity Credit Corporation has started buying butter again in order to support prices of milk and butter fat to the farmer. More than 48,000 pounds of Grade B butter were purchased by USDA at Chicago during the first week in April at 64 cents a pound. This is the first butter purchased by government to support prices since last September. At that time USDA had lots of butter—some 200 million pounds. Later this large supply was sold to meet consumer and export demands.

March 15 prices for milk and butterfat were below parity. This means that producer prices, at least for the time being, are free of price ceilings. Dairy product prices will be frozen all the way from producer to consumer five days after the USDA monthly report shows that parity has been reached.

The March 15 price for milk sold wholesale was 96 per cent of parity. Butterfat prices were 80 per cent. February 15 figures for milk and butterfat respectively were 96 and 91 per cent.

School News

The kindergarten had educational trip last Monday when they went to the farm of Vernon Hodge, Sr., where they watched the sheep being shorn and saw the baby lambs. They also saw cows, calves, a bull, hens and geese. After returning to school they wrote a thank you note to the farmer and signed all their names. They also wrote a story of their trip. They also have made a frieze called "Signs of Spring," which includes 17 things.

Paul Griffiths is a new member in the first grade. He entered from the West Gate school. The children are making a movie based on the story "The Too Little Fire Engine." Barbara Roeser spent a few days in Wisconsin. The robin reading group has finished reading "Our New Friends." Sandra Hodge was the winner with 29 stars. Their new reader is "Down Our Street."

Mrs. Oesterle's room has started a unit on "Spring Weather and Time." They are using their bulletin to display pictures of different kinds of weather. To find the answers to their questions they are going to work in committees with a chairman to guide them. The Ingham county library has sent books to use. They are making a movie of Mrs. Mallard's Ducklings.

The fifth and sixth grades are decorating their room with spring scenes. For opening period they are reading "Bill Rogers, Immortal Cowboy." The fifth graders have completed a unit on food and are beginning one on birds. The sixth graders are studying about the countries in the Middle East.

The fourth grade had a trip to Vernon Hodge's farm last Monday to watch the sheep being shorn. Robert Monroe is only one in their room who has been neither absent nor tardy during the year. The fourth graders realized $8.15 selling garden seeds. In geography they are working on different kinds of maps of the United States.

In geography the third graders have made charts showing fruits in "Our Community" and machinery used in the community. They are studying the different kind of work people do in the community. They also visited Mr. Hodge's farm to watch them shear sheep.

The girls are playing softball at the ball park and they are planning to have a softball team. A. C. Gouging is trying to get some games scheduled with other schools. They are also doing acrobatic, playing volleyball and other indoor sports and tennis and badminton.

In the boys physical education class the boys are playing volleyball, basketball and baseball. They have placed two boys on the tri-county all-star basketball team this year. The boys were, center Neil West and guard Leland Crandall.

Newspaper Staff Elects Officers

At a paper staff meeting held recently an election was held for next year's staff. The following were elected: Editor, Emil Schlegler; assistant editor, JoAnn West; business manager, Robert LeRoy; assistant business manager, Vonda Lee Vincent; art editor, Auburn Perkins and Gary Whitford. Exchange editor, Rose Marie Aubuchon; girl's sports, Grace Adams; boy's sports, Robert Bennett; mimeographers, Vonda Lee Vincent and Virginia Wilcox; special editors, Auburn Perkins and Robert LeRoy. Mrs. Gloria Steel is the sponsor.

Band Concert Is Planned May 3

The final performance of the school year for the Webberville high school band will be on Thursday, May 3, at 8:00 p. m. in the high school gymnasium. The program will include both the junior and advanced bands and will be highlighted by the performance of a group of baton twirlers. The junior band has made only one other public performance this year. They played at the opening concert of the year in December. The advanced band has played several times this year. The baton twirlers who will perform with the combined bands will represent each of the schools from the Tri-County League, Laingsburg, Bath, Byron, Gaines, Morrice and Webberville. They will be here for a festival that is to be held in the afternoon in the gymnasium. A complete day of activities is scheduled for the concert in the evening will be the major event for everyone. Tickets for the band concert may be purchased from any band member after April 23. Plans are being made for vacation bible school in the Webberville and Bell Oak churches. On April 29 Harry Winston, a M. S. C. student, will show colored slides at the school and lecture on his travel tour through Europe and the Scandinavian countries. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Rex McComb April 11. Mr. and Mrs. Roland Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Vining Hawley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones of Detroit were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jeffery last Sunday in honor of the birthday anniversary of Kenneth Powell and Robert Jones. Mr. and Mrs. David Lillywhite of Mason visited Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Parker Sunday.

Mrs. Burton Baldwin

The following students of the fifth and sixth grades had perfect scores on their mastery spelling tests for the six-weeks period: Ronald Bacus, Bernell Duke and Judith Martowski, Carole Bush, LaVonda Parr and Ruth Ann Wheeler. These names were omitted last week by accident. The opera, "Briar Rose" is now being practiced by the students of Riverside under the direction of Mrs. Spring, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Brigham. The opera will be given as the end of school program at the town hall on Friday evening, May 11.

Derby Neighborhood

Mary Frinkle visited Janice Smith Monday. On Friday she returned to her home in Webberville after spending the week with her grandmother, Mrs. Bessie Frinkle. Mr. and Mrs. Don Soumers and sons were dinner guests at Dick Smith's Sunday. Mrs. C. Kidder has been under the doctor's care the past two weeks.

Mrs. R. J. Moeckel, Mrs. Gerald Runciman and sons, Mrs. Hene Smith and Mrs. Bessie Frinkle recently called on Mrs. Lyle Frinkle near Webberville. She is recovering satisfactorily from her recent operation. Mr. and Mrs. George Springman called on W. S. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes near Mason Sunday evening. Mrs. Orla Aekley will be hostess to the Derby extension club Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schiller of Albion and Miss Ida Ahndler of Jackson visited Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Moeckel Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Moeckel and Wendell spent Saturday evening at Beryl Smith's.

Reeves District

Mrs. Wayne Geer Mr. and Mrs. Fred Youngs of Stockbridge were Friday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Geer. Allie Holmes died Friday morning at his home. Miss Rose Marie Aubuchon spent Sunday with the Wayne Geer family. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Geer were in Ypsilanti Sunday. They visited the Ford Power Dam while there. High-velocity cold-air tunnels, experimentally used to cool fruit rapidly before it is put in cold storage, condition fruit so that it can be held in storage for a longer period than otherwise.

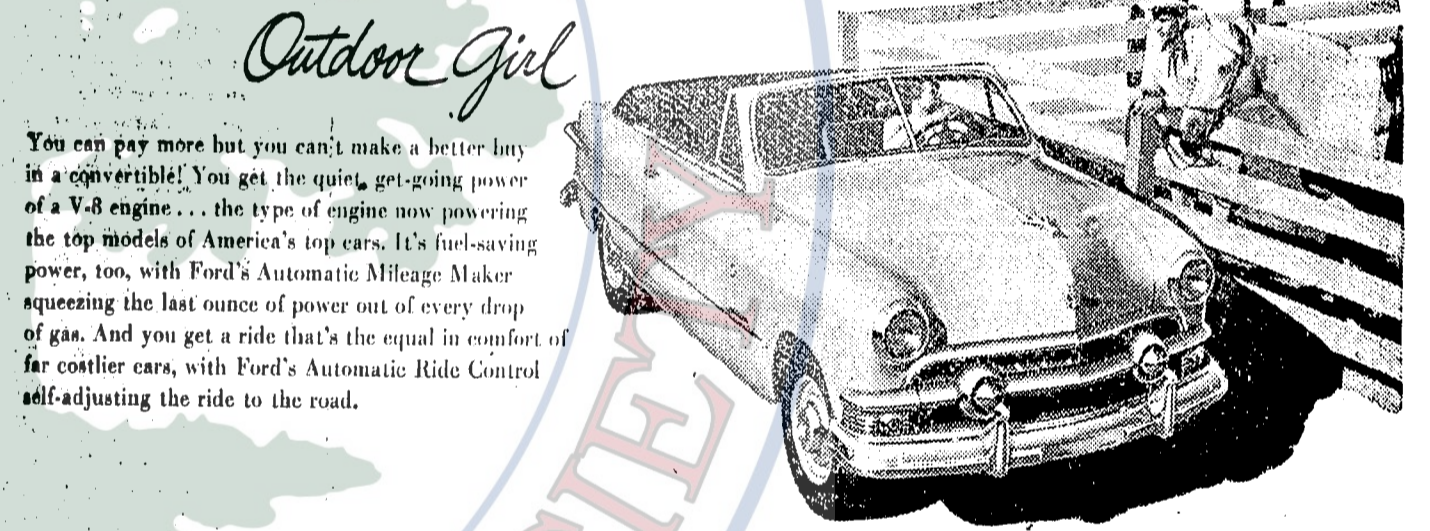

Eight Den Mothers Complete Training

Eight den mothers from Pack 253 sponsored by the Child Study club of Williams-ton met in the Williams-ton Methodist church Wednesday, April 11, to complete their den mother training course. Mrs. Bernice Gester, special council commissioner working with Club Scout leaders was the instructor for the evening. The subject for the session was the Cub Scout achievement program. Women present included Mrs. June Rutan, Mrs. Madelyn Dunckel, Mrs. Elaine Dunckel, Mrs. Leta Hartwell, Mrs. Jean Pfeiffer, Mrs. Virginia Smith, Mrs. Joe Scholt and Mrs. Winifred McLenahan. The second annual appreciation dinner is planned for Ingham district scouters Thursday evening, April 26 at 7:00 p. m. in the Williams-ton Methodist church. Charles E. Irvit, assistant professor of speech at Michigan State college, will be the speaker for the evening. Awards will be presented for work done by Ingham district cub packs, Scout troops and explorer posts who took part in the 1949-1950 nationwide crusade to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty." All Ingham Scouters are urged to make their reservations early so that the mothers of the Williams-ton Scout troop who are putting on the dinner will have adequate time to prepare the correct amount of food.

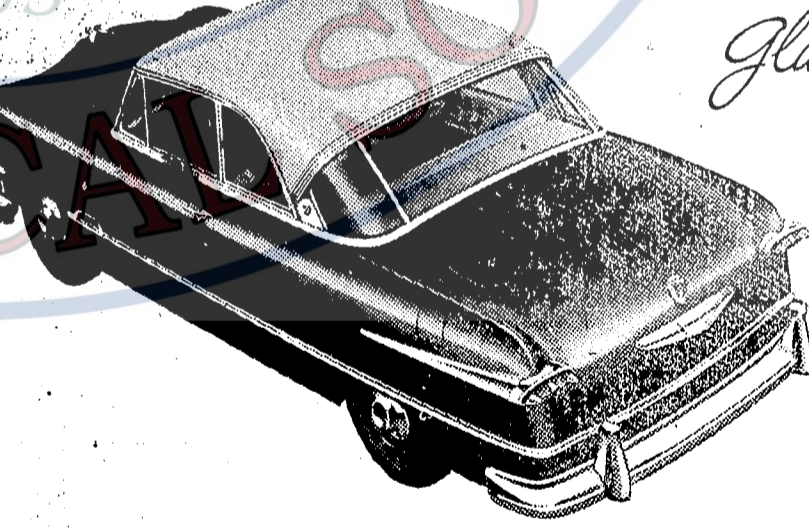

CORRECTION

Clarence Foote of Mason, who was set upon by thugs near Jackson April 6, has asked that last week's account of the story in the Ingham County News be corrected. The account set forth that Foote was inside a Leslie beer parlor when he met the men who later robbed him of $85 and shoved him out of the car. He had been in the beer parlor, Foote declared, but was outside when he met the pair.

Farmer Peck's Wife

Elizabeth is feeling better. Extra pounds have their advantages. It's the worry; not the work that does the harm. Sally loses two front teeth.

Thank the Lord! Praise the Lord! Elizabeth is better. She can sit up a little now and feel herself which she hasn't been able to do for three weeks. Unless you've had sickness in your family you don't know what this can mean. . . . a lighter heart. . . . a new lease on life for the whole family.

I hesitate putting this on paper because when I told Pete he said, "Do you think you should have done that?" Well, Elizabeth was not eating very well and it was worrying us because it seemed her bones were sticking out more every day and if she was to improve she would have to eat.

Then she said, "You have all been stuffing me lately so I must weigh a hundred anyway." I knew she didn't so I got the scales and put them beside the bed, lifted her up and stood on the scales with her. It said 224 pounds for both of us and when I subtracted my weight it left her weighing 91 pounds. That's not very good, is it?

An odd part of this story is that 91 or not I found I had all I could do to get her out of bed and back after starting it. I wondered if it was such a good idea. . . . but puffing like a steam engine it was accomplished. . . . and we got a good laugh out of it. She said it proved that she was not so skinny after all and I said a 20-pound baby lugged around town shopping had made me more tired than that.

When I sit down to a meal now I feel just like a regular bear and I think of her and wish she had some of my appetite and weight. From now on though I don't think you're going to hear me bemoaning the fact that I have a few extra pounds. Anyone who has good health should not complain. Having a good appetite and being able to put anything you want and feeling tipsy and like moving a mountain are some points that make up a condition that money, even if you are a millionaire, cannot buy.

In many cases I think we bring on ill health ourselves and spend many dollars on wasted efforts to restore and all too late. I guess from the sound of my life here in this column that you will think I'm a great one to offer such advice but . . . take care of your health and consider it a dear and valued friend.

I'd like to add though that if you're happily married, have a family or job to tend, don't go in

Death of Col. Hamtramck Is Mourned

(Editor's Note: Today's newspaper readers accept on-the-spot accounts of events as commonplace. This hasn't always been true. In the story below, the death in 1853 of Col. John F. Hamtramck, first American commandant at Detroit, is reported in modern newspaper style. It is the ninth in a series of such stories based on eye-witness accounts in books and other material in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.)

DETROIT, April 13, 1853. Detroit paid its last tribute today to Col. John Francis Hamtramck, the first American commandant here.

Colonel Hamtramck, who died April 11 at the age of 46, was buried in St. Anne's cemetery. Services were conducted by Fr. Gabriel Richard.

The First United States Infantry Regiment, which he commanded, attended the services along with a large part of Detroit's population. The regard with which he was held is summed up by Joseph Campau, a merchant, who said, "It seems that everyone mourns his passing."

It was a detachment from Colonel Hamtramck's command which occupied Fort Lernout here on July 11, 1796 and raised the U. S. flag to mark the end of British rule. Colonel Hamtramck arrived on July 13 to take command.

Detroit was only one of many forts which the colonel commanded during his army career which began in the fall of 1775. He was only 19 when he joined the army of Gen. Richard Montgomery during the march on Montreal and he served throughout the Revolutionary War, rising to the rank of brevet major.

Two years after the war had ended, he was commissioned as a captain in a company raised in New York to serve in the U. S. Infantry under Col. Josiah Hammar. This took him into Indian country where he built and commanded several forts. His modesty kept one of these from carrying his name. He gave the name of Fort Steuben to one on the Ohio River although Colonel Hammar urged him to call it Fort Hamtramck.

Cited by Gen. Anthony Wayne for bravery and inspiring the troops in the crushing defeat of the Indians at Fallen Timbers on August 20, 1794, Colonel Hamtramck also gained fame through his efforts for peace with the Indians. His initiative laid the groundwork for a peace treaty with the Miami Indians in 1792.

After he took command of Fort Wayne, at the junction of the Maumee and St. Mary's rivers in October of 1794, he spent the next summer in conference with Indian chiefs and set the stage for a treaty signed at Greenville on August 3, 1795. This treaty won peace for the territory northwest of the Ohio river.

Various military assignments took the colonel in and out of obscurity several times after the historic moment in 1796. However, he had been here continuously since the spring of 1801 when he became commander of the Department of the Lakes. His promotion to full colonel came on April 1, 1802.

The colonel is survived by his wife and four children. He had married twice. He married Miss Marie Josephe Edeline Perrot at Vincennes in August of 1790. Two daughters, Julienne and Henriette, were born before Mrs. Hamtramck was drowned in the Wabash river in 1796. His second marriage to Miss Rebecca Mackenzie took place in 1797 and two sons, John Francis, Jr., and Alexis, were born to the couple.

Students Gain Michigan State Scholarships

Ingham students fared well in the award of 406 Michigan State scholarships for next year. The grants are awarded on basis of an honor scholastic average, financial need and good extra-curricular activities in high school. The scholarships cover total course fees at Michigan State for one year, although they may be renewed for a total of four years if the student maintains a high scholastic average.

The list from Ingham includes Alan S. Curtis of Mason, Joyce D. Jones of Leslie, Maurice C. Lattimer of Stockbridge, James W. Harris of Williamston, Frances A. Wilson of Okemos, Joyce E. Law-

One Year Ago
 The Mason school board has engaged Richard M. Denlow to serve as high school principal beginning in September. He is now principal at Scottville.

Ingham supervisors blocked a hike in valuation by a vote of 27-7. The vote was on adoption of a recommendation of the equalization committee to raise assessments 11.2 per cent.

Francis Lang of Traverse City has bought Hamman's Home and Auto Supply in Mason and will operate a Gamble store at the location.

Mason Kiwanians are stirring up cakes to be sold at their baked goods sale April 22. Alderman Frank Evans has agreed to help straighten out the tangle on deeds for the right of way for an extension of North Mason street.

Mason high school's baseball team dropped the opener to Grand Ledge 7 to 5. Bud Smith went the route for Mason and kept nine hits well scattered. Four glaring errors caused the loss.

10 Years Ago—1941
 The body of Judith Rogers, 7, of East Lansing was recovered from the Red Cedar river April 5. The little girl fell through a hole in the ice February 3. For several weeks sheriff's officers and state police dragged the river but did not find the body. A Michigan State college student, paddling a canoe, found the body floating at the Pinetum bend, about 600 feet from where she fell in.

Ralph W. Crego of Lansing is the new chairman of the board of supervisors. Spring suffered a setback April 15 when a few flakes of snow sifted down.

Ralph Glynn, AAA chairman, has announced that the new lend-lease action in congress will result in higher prices for pork, dairy products, chickens and eggs. The government will make purchases in the open market to send farm produce prices higher, Glynn explained.

20 Years Ago—1931
 Supervisor Charles H. Murray of Bunker Hill is the new chairman of the county board. He succeeds Max M. Templeton of Lansing. Murray, although a Democrat, was nominated by a Republican and won by Republican votes. He is the first Bunker Hill supervisor in 40 years to serve as chairman. Three horses were burned to death when fire destroyed a barn on the W. F. Spencer farm, a mile south of Leslie, April 15.

John Dart of Mason won first place in the sub-district oratorical contest held at Lansing Eastern Friday.

Historic Sunnyside, long the home of the late Col. L. H. Ives, was destroyed by fire April 8. Two years ago one of the big barns was burned up.

Peach growers profit from new, hardy, early-ripening variety

Peach growers who long have wanted an early-ripening fruit that would ship well are profiting from the new Fairhaven peach. This variety is the fourth peach developed at the South Haven substation of the Agricultural Experiment Station of Michigan State College. It is designed for the market period after Redhaven but before Halcaven, Kalhaven and South Haven. The new Fairhaven features a hardy bud that is resistant to cold and fog, and a fruit that is firm and ships exceptionally well. When ripe, it is freestone. Growers interested in a sturdy, early-ripening peach can get further information by calling, writing or visiting their County Agricultural Agent.

Plow Speeds Farm Telephone Service

A specially designed plow is used to bury wire along roadsides for telephone service in rural areas where this type of construction is less expensive than building lines on poles. The plow leaves no trench . . . buries the wire in a single operation. This is another example of telephone efficiency working for you . . . speeding construction of more rural telephone facilities, and helping to keep cost of service low. It's one of the reasons why the proportion of farmers with telephones in Michigan is among the highest in the nation.

You Can Even Choose It for Economy!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

It is true, of course, that when men and women move up to Cadillac, their motivating thought is not economy. Their hearts are set on owning the "Standard of the World."

But if they needed another impulse to move them to Cadillac, it could certainly be found in the car's remarkable record for practicality.

Even on the basis of its initial cost, a Cadillac represents a surprisingly sound investment. Indeed, some half million American motorists are driving other makes of cars which actually cost them more than they would have had to invest if they had purchased new Cadillacs!

And the surprise is no less when you look to the everyday aspects of Cadillac's economy. Few could ask for greater mileage from a gallon of gasoline. And the car's freedom from the needs of service—beyond the routine—has long been traditional.

And finally, of course, is Cadillac's amazing capacity to serve—the years and years of wonderful utility designed and built into it.

Yes—when you want a Cadillac car, you want it for what it is, and does, and represents. But what an extraordinary satisfaction it is to reflect that it is also so eminently practical!

We deeply regret that we are unable to deliver new Cadillac cars without some delay. But the demand for the car is unprecedented—and much of the company's energies and materials are now being devoted to the needs of national security. Once the car is delivered into your hands, however, we know you'll agree that—patience never brought a richer reward.

The Supreme Court Has Ideas, Too

Michigan people hope that the House judiciary committee is studying both the Michigan and the U. S. supreme court opinions on one-man grand jury procedure. Those two high courts have a different conception of justice and judicial ethics than do the Detroit newspapers now clamoring for re-enactment of the one-man grand jury law.

In its decision last week, the Michigan supreme court upheld Judge John Simpson in his grant of new trials to graft conspiracy defendants. The supreme court agreed that four finance company officials and 14 legislators were convicted at Mason in 1944 on testimony the Carr-Sigler grand jury bought from Charles F. Hemans.

The decision in the conspiracy case doesn't mean that the supreme court justices don't believe the testimony of Charles F. Hemans, or that the justices consider the legislators or the finance company officials innocent of taking or paying bribes. The decision means that the Carr-Sigler grand jury had no right to buy the testimony of any witness or to reward him for testifying.

The court decision can be interpreted to mean that the justices do not believe the Ingham county trial jury would have placed credence in the testimony of Hemans had the jurors known he was drawing a regular salary from the one-man grand jury, or that he had been promised aid by the grand jury in clinging to his army commission, or that in addition to having been granted immunity, he had been promised grand jury aid in fighting disbarment.

The decision of last week indicates that the supreme court believes the trial jurors should have been informed of the promises made to Hemans by Judge Leland W. Carr or Kim Sigler.

Whether the grand jury is made up of one man, three men, 23 or 50 is of little importance. The important thing is to write into the law such safeguards as will prevent a repetition of the buying and selling of testimony as was done in the trial at Mason. The Carr-Sigler grand jury performance was shocking in its disregard for ethics as well as its disregard for public funds.

This disregard has now resulted in the dilemma of conducting new trials seven years or more after the original trial. Some of the men convicted at the trial in 1944 served their terms, some died after leaving prison, many have become impoverished by carrying up their appeals to higher courts.

The 23-man grand jury law which is used by the federal government and by 47 of the 48 states was enacted to do away with the Inquisition and the Star Chamber sessions which resulted in such miscarriages of justice in Europe.

There is no special virtue in a 23-man grand jury, even though such a number under Tom Dewey cleaned up New York. There is no reason why the present three-man jury as set up in Michigan now wouldn't work. Yet there is no harm in having a one-man grand jury if that one man is, or the one man and his helper are, prevented from abusing grand jury power.

Michigan people confronted with this unprecedented mixup of holding new trials for men convicted seven years ago have had enough of short cuts to justice. They want no more corrupting of the good in a mad chase after the bad.

The legislators should consult with Judge Simpson, who sat in the graft conspiracy trials at Mason. They should listen to Judge Louis E. Coash who fired the special prosecutor upon learning of one-man grand jury abuses. They should study the decision of the Michigan supreme court handed down last week. They should give heed to United States supreme court decisions on the former one-man grand jury law.

If the one-man grand jury law is to be put back on the law books the objections of the supreme court and the judges and lawyers who recognized the abuses which marked and marred the Ingham performance should be honestly met.

Return to Old Primary Election Law Might Restore Party Responsibility

By Vernon J. Brown

Reports out of Lansing indicate the possibility that the so-called secret primary election law may be repealed.

No law ever put on the books has done more to confuse the voter and to wreck all party responsibility than this. If this legislature makes no other change in the election laws of this state, it will be forgiven, if it succeeds in repealing a statute to rid our nominating procedure of a provision which never should have been enacted.

The one ballot formula was first urged when the New Deal landslide of 1932 filled the chambers of the Michigan legislature with a horde of initiates in government. It was not until 1937, however, that the law was finally passed. First it provided for the stapling together of Republican and Democratic primary election ballots, and later for printing the ballot of one party on the back of the ballot of the other party. The theory was that the voter could take his choice. On the stapled ballots, selected one and discarded the other. On the two-sided ballot he would mark one and let the vote counters see which side to count.

In some precincts where party strength is divided about equal there is no great waste of paper and printing. In any precinct where either party dominates, there is great waste and much added expense. In no case is the cause of good government served.

In every precinct ballots have been lost by the confusion of voters. Some have marked both sides, thus casting their vote. Others have forgotten about the ticket on the back and have discarded their ballot in the belief that a wrong party ballot had been handed out.

Recognizing Party Worth
If political parties are so terrible and if party membership is something to hide and be ashamed of, then our whole system of government in this country is wrong and all reference to parties and party operations should be swept away. If there is good in government by parties and if we are to continue them in operation, then parties should be recognized as worthy elements of our governmental structure and every effort should be made to strengthen them, to make them more responsive to public opinion and public demand.

Candidates elected through party operations should be encouraged to follow party patterns and to keep faith with pledges made in party utterances.

To say that a voter may participate in a party primary at which party candidates for public office are selected without that voter even admitting party membership is utterly ridiculous.

Parallels in Church
A parallel would be found in a situation where the Presbyterians took it upon themselves to invade the annual meeting of the Methodists and there insist on helping to choose those who would direct the affairs which properly concern only the Methodists.

By carrying the parallel a step further, suppose we out in Weyaukeg insisted upon taking part in the election of officials serving only the city of Mason.

A general election is one thing. A party primary is quite another. A Republican has no business picking out candidates to run on English literature will find them interesting.

OLD HERPACIOUS is a nice gambling story of an English gardener through his rise from helper to a place of prestige as judge in one of the big national flower shows, where the aristocracy bowed to his opinions. It is a nice quiet book which will be enjoyed particularly by folks with similar interests.

MRS. GALLEY is a light story by Sheila Kaye Smith. Set against an English background, it tells of the influence of Mrs. Galley, untrained helper who accepts a country position as secretary, only to embroil the whole estate in intrigue, a little romance, and finally a death. At times it reminds us a little of happenings in PRIDE AND PREJUDICE, but there isn't the subtle humor that saved it, and made it a classic.

DRESDEN CHINA is for the collector as well as the ones who just like to know a little more about such. With plenty of pictures, the book tells the story of the beginnings of the 18th century Meissen company. The author tells of the fine work of its early days, and also how to distinguish from the later inferior ware.

PLUMBING INSTALLATION AND REPAIR will particularly be of use to those who are building their own homes. Designs and drawings are plentiful, and should prove very helpful.

CHILD'S FIRST COOK BOOK shows in pictures and simple directions how to make items that any child can make to help feed the family. It is a good gift item.

no business in party matters. By his own choice he has ostracized himself from all party affiliations. He has his chance at the general election when each party presents its best and offers them on a declaration of policies and principles agreed to and adopted at party gatherings of bonafide followers of that party. That is the only way in which party responsibility can be restored. And unless some degree of party responsibility can be restored or attained, then parties should be destroyed and some substitute sought for them.

Recent Shows Errors
There are some other changes in election procedure being seriously considered, most of them growing out of the tragic comedy of errors which marked the elections of last November. At least these distressing errors and the accompanying shocking carelessness of election officials were uncovered by a recount which followed an unusually close election. They probably have existed before but were not discovered. More responsibility placed directly on state, district and local election officials, is about all that is needed in Michigan, election experts have told the legislature. There will always be endless voting and sloppy marking of ballots, just as there is carelessness and sloppiness in every other activity of life. That will never be cured entirely. Education of the voters will help.

The thing which is inexcusable is plain ignorance and total lack of concern except for the pay, demonstrated by hundreds of members of election boards in every part of the state. The voter has a right to expect more of an election official than his desire to earn easy money on a job in which he has no interest other than for the pay he covets.

Making Time Live

A psychology class at the University of Wisconsin recently conducted a survey to determine how the average person spends his time. According to the survey a person who has attained the age of 70 has spent 20 years sleeping, 20 years working, seven years walking and in outdoor sports, five years shaving and dressing, seven years in going to the movies, theatre and other amusements, one year on the telephone, two and one-half years eating and sitting down at the table, two and one-half years smoking and chewing gum, three years waiting, and two years playing cards and games.

As the survey indicated there are many unavoidable leaks through which actual years of time are lost! The survey reveals with a tremendous wallop that our moments for learning, developing, achieving and serving are very limited in an average lifetime. That's why deliberately killing time kills a part of ourselves. Killing time shortens our lives.

Instead of killing time we should strive to make time live. We should rescue our minutes from death and fill them with life. We should make our minutes come alive with accomplishment. We should fill our minutes with abundant living . . . with the highest and best life has to offer. We should be architects of the minutes that are ours and use them to build worthy lives.

I like the way in which the late William Lyon Phelps made time live. He once said: "For my own part I live every day as if this were the first day I had ever seen and the last I were going to see."—The Friendly Adventurer.

Non-Partisan Votes Go Astray

Non-partisanship in elections works to the advantage of the fringe parties. That's because voters are confused when there are no party labels. They know neither the men nor the parties which nominated them, and thus vote blindly.

In the April 2 partisan election for superintendent of public instruction the Prohibition candidate drew 177 against 12,934 votes for the Republican and 4,627 votes for the Democratic candidate. The Progressive candidate was given 40 votes, the Socialist Labor candidate got 24 and the Socialist Workers choice drew 7.

Yet look what happened on the non-partisan judicial ballot. There were six candidates, all running without party labels. The two Republican candidates drew 9,817 and 9,272 votes, the two Democrats, 3,371 and 3,605. Then the two Progressive candidates got 1,611 and 1,539.

Progressives who drew only 40 votes running under their own banner drew 1,600 when the label was missing. That indicates that non-partisanship works to the advantage of the minor parties. The only reason the two Progressive candidates for supreme court justices got 1,600 Ingham votes was because 1,500 voters made mistakes.

Voters are entitled to know the party affiliations of the candidates whose names are on the ballots. When the party labels are lacking many voters mark their ballots hit and miss. Those votes which went astray April 2 landed in the columns for Progressive party candidates. Those candidates profited by non-partisanship.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Since last week's column I have been deluged with pleas to help in calving. I just can't leave my work here to handle ordinary calls but I am making arrangements with the veterinarians to serve as consultant when they demand my services.

This week the nature lesson will be on birds instead of Hereford heifers. Chickadees, jays, nutcrackers, goldfinches and cardinals feed on weed seeds and don't go south for the winter. On their migrations, robins, bluebirds and blackbirds fly by day and time their flights by the weather. Warblers, tanagers and orioles fly by night and pay little attention to the weather.

Some of those birds fly from Michigan to Brazil and Argentina and back on their winter journeys. But here is what seems strange to me. I had the idea that the birds who go south for the winter built nests there and raised another brood. Not so, the birds are real winter tourists. They just rest while in the south, and then hurry home to find fault with the weather here.

L. B. Barr told me about the Lansing girl who stopped at his field alongside Dexter Trail last Sunday to remark, "Oh, what a funny-looking cow. But why doesn't she have any horns?"

"There are many reasons," L. B. replied, "why a cow doesn't have horns. Some don't get them until later life. Others are dehorned, while there are some breeds which are not supposed to have horns. The reason that this cow doesn't have horns is because it is a horse."

American Home Products, parent company for Wyeth Incorporated, invested $6,898,708 in newspaper, magazine, radio and television advertising last year. Proctor & Gamble held No. 1 spot at $27,023,122. General Foods was second with $18,418,478, and General Motors third with $16,878,218. American Home Products was in 16th place in the amount of advertising. That's why Wyeth Incorporated is in the Big League.

I admired Mrs. Pearl McCowan. For 25 years my path and hers crossed almost daily. Mrs. McCowan was always cheerful and calm. She believed in the natural goodness of humans. She loved children, her own children, her grandchildren, and all others. There was no sacrifice she wouldn't gladly make for their welfare. Her confidence inspired those in whom she placed it.

Mrs. McCowan always found it hard to chronicle bad news about anyone. She shrank from it. She was loathe to have to bring sadness to anyone.

There has been no woman in Mason who came any closer to living up to the ideals of motherhood and womanhood than did Mrs. McCowan.

Mrs. June Young and Mrs. Joan Mathews were reading proof here at the Ingham County News. Joan was chafing off a legal notice like a tobacco auctioneer while June followed the proof.

"Am I reading too fast?" so solicitously inquired Joan.

"I don't know about that," June replied, "but you are reading faster than I can listen."

One night last week I participated in an hour's discussion of why men don't attend church. There were 50 men with 50 in-ann-making arrangements with 50 men do attend church and so their answers were not based on facts. One answer from a man who doesn't attend church would be worth more than the 50 answers from men who do.

That's the trouble with so much of our thinking. We get the answers from the wrong people. We cherish the opinion of sports writers on baseball when they can't roll a ball from the pitcher's mound up to home plate. We base our opinions of a book on book reviewers who couldn't write an Ingham County News word and 40 words for 40¢. Somehow we believe that some expert in Washington can tell better what a Chinese thinks than a Chinese can himself.

Men who don't attend church now have the opportunity to serve their church by telling why they don't go. So step right up and tell which one you don't go to and why not.

A pathy affects not only churches. Just about every organization suffers from it. Only a small percentage of lodge members attend lodge doings. The same holds true of PTA and other organizations. The Lions club and the Kiwanis club stew and fret about poor attendance. My theory is that there are so many organizations, so many things to go to, that we lose our enthusiasm. And enthusiasm is what counts. It makes all of us get up and go.

A little ginger 'neath the tail will off for lack of brains avail.

One of the greatest marksmen of the FBI was passing through a small town, and everywhere he saw evidences of the most amazing shooting: trees, on walls and on fences there were numberless bull's-eyes with the bullet hole in the absolute center. He asked to meet the person responsible for this great marksmanship. The man turned out to be the village idiot.

"This is the most wonderful marksmanship I have ever seen," said the FBI man. "How in the world do you do it?"

"Easy as pie," was the reply. "I shoot first and draw the circle afterward."

BOSWELL'S LONDON JOURNAL, 1762-1763 is being hailed by critics as a great find, for, for many years, his journals were considered lost. Later, family feeling of propriety prevent access to them, though responsibility for what might be treasures kept them relatively safe. Even when found, it took 20 more years to convince the family that good hard cash could be obtained for them, and that present members of the family could not be tainted by Boswell's lack of morals. Proceedings of Board of Supervisors

The motion was seconded and carried unanimously.
The report of the REGISTER OF DEEDS was thereupon submitted by the Clerk as follows:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors
Ingham County, Michigan
Gentlemen:

It is a pleasure to submit to your honorable body a report of the business transacted by this office during the year ending January 1, 1950 and ending December 31, 1950, as provided by spreading in full upon the records the following real estate instruments:

Deeds	7,864
Mortgages	3,015
Discharges of Mortgages	2,588
Assignments of Mortgage	821
Partial Releases of Mortgage	148
Probate and Circuit Court Orders, etc.	316
Powers of Attorney	316
Miscellaneous	23
Chattel Mortgages Filed	17,077
Chattel Mortgages Discharged	17,073
Total number of papers recorded and filed	39,790

All fees for the above instruments were based on Michigan Statute and delivered to the County Treasurer, totaling for the year the sum of $32,626.56. The disbursements of this office for the same period were $22,655.40, showing a profit to the County of Ingham of $9,971.16.

The figures as given show that the year 1950 exceeded by far any previous year in the history of the office. In fact each succeeding year for several years has shown such a gain in the number of papers recorded and filed as to be a problem for consideration. It is interesting to note that with 115 years of records, in many files have been completed and placed on the shelves of the vault in the last 20 years as were records of the first 95 years of the office.

Everything possible is being done to conserve vault space, such as reduction in size of books, which has made a 50% saving in space. This item alone has also helped to decrease the cost of materials necessary to produce the books such as photo-stationery, chemicals, binders, etc., all of which are constantly increasing in price.

Since the State Office Building fire and the consequent loss of records, it is necessary to produce the books such as photo-stationery, chemicals, binders, etc., all of which are constantly increasing in price. It is necessary to produce the books such as photo-stationery, chemicals, binders, etc., all of which are constantly increasing in price.

It is a pleasure to submit to your honorable body a report of the business transacted by this office during the year ending January 1, 1950 and ending December 31, 1950, as provided by spreading in full upon the records the following real estate instruments:

Supervisor Kiecher then moved that the report be received and spread at length upon the Journal of this Board.
