

It's Winter Time in Brazil

While Ingham people were trying to find ways to keep cool last week Russell McBride was just as busy trying to keep warm. He was in Brazil, in the midst of a cold wave which sent the mercury down below freezing. The mercury actually dipped below zero, but Brazilians use a centigrade scale. Zero on a centigrade thermometer is just freezing on Fahrenheit, but that's cold enough in unheated buildings, and that's the way most Brazilian business buildings are.

McBride didn't go to Brazil to beat the heat, nor did he return to get warm. He's known as a dedicated man with Wyeth Laboratories Incorporated, dedicated

Kessler Waits For Answer on Home Building

Kessler Construction Co. of Holt will get the city council's answer Monday night to a proposed package deal to build 28 houses in Mason, next year. A week ago the Holt company announced its intention to develop Snyder's subdivision on the west side of town if the city would agree to install certain improvements.

At a special meeting between Kessler representatives, City Attorney Howard McCowan and Councilman Richard Morris, Carlton Kessler asked that the city build a blacktop road in the subdivision. Kessler agreed to build the curb and gutter and sidewalk and install water and sewer services under the present subdivision ordinance rebate system, Morris said.

Councilmen Bernard Gady and Robert Phillips were scheduled to attend the Thursday night meeting, but didn't. Morris said he hopes another committee meeting can be arranged before the regular council meeting Monday night.

Kessler will get his answer Monday night on how far the city will go in developing the subdivision, according to Morris.

Snyder's addition is located west of the Mason by-pass and south of Columbia street. The land was accepted by the city as a subdivision plat in 1939. It was then owned by Adam Snyder, but it's now owned by his heirs. Because the city prior to the present subdivision ordinance, it appears that the council doesn't have to be bound by the ordinance. Mayor Alfred Forché stated: "Subdivisions accepted under the new ordinance must already have suitable graveled roads and water and sewer facilities."

"We like Mason and think that we can do a good job in providing good homes for the growing community," Carlton Kessler of the Kessler company stated. "We haven't bought this subdivision site as yet. The price we will have to pay is right in line with other areas where improvements have already been made. If we do not close the deal with the owners of Snyder's addition, we will start looking for another spot in Mason."

Kessler said the proposed houses would sell for about $10,000 and would be prefabricated by National Homes Inc.

"This isn't going to be a shoddy development if the deal goes through," Kessler told the councilmen. "We'll want blacktop streets and the other refinements for the type of houses we plan to build."

Migrant Program Meeting Called

Chairman Milton Beebe of the Mason migrant committee has called a special meeting for Monday night at 7:30 in the Methodist church.

Final reports of the work with migrants in Mason and Stockbridge areas will be presented, the chairman said.

All members of the committee, representatives of all groups which have sponsored the program and all others interested are invited to attend, said Beebe.

Pupils to Report At Mason Sept. 7

Not until Wednesday, September 7, will pupils have to report at Mason schools. Teachers meetings have been scheduled for Tuesday after Labor Day, with pupils due to report on Wednesday.

The school book store at Mason will be opened next Thursday for the sale and purchase of used texts and the sale of new books. The only major change in textbooks this year, announced Supt. James H. Vander Ven, is a new English series for elementary grades. The book store at the Jefferson street school will be open daily, the superintendent said.

to the production of SMA baby food. His dedication is paying off. Production of SMA in Brazil has doubled and quality standards have now reached the standard at the Mason plant, a phenomenon which U. S. baby food manufacturers said might never happen.

It was McBride's fourth trip to Brazil, to the plant in Cruzeiro and the offices in Sao Paulo. He was there when the plant was being built and the milk industry was launched to replace coffee culture on lands too long devoted to the berry. He was there to get production started in the gleaming new plant. He went back 10 weeks ago to help with quality control. He returned even more enthusiastic than before.

Powdered baby food, along with powdered milk produced by Nestle and other companies in Brazil, has been eagerly accepted by the people. They have long been accustomed to boiling all milk, and milk powder gives them a better tasting product than boiled milk for table use or for baking and cooking.

Dairy herds are being improved, not as much as in Colombia and Argentina, McBride reported, but noticeably. Owners of haciendas are learning that better breeding along with better care of herds yields better returns, he said.

Wyeth International has 3 separate operations with headquarters in Sao Paulo. In addition to SMA offices, laboratories and offices of Wyeth penicillin and Wyeth pharmaceutical plants are there, Cruzeiro, where SMA is made, is 100 miles away.

Much of the equipment in the Cruzeiro plant is of stainless steel, McBride said, and the interior of the building itself is of white tile with terrazzo floors.

Brazilian economy is based on coffee, McBride said. He was in Brazil 2 years ago when freezing did cause damage, although it was far from being as extensive as was reported, he said. The freeze last month either didn't do as much damage as the previous one, he explained, or the carry-over of last year's crop will more than offset the loss to freezing. Until last week's freeze, McBride said, Brazilian newspaper dispatches frequently mentioned a plan to burn a million 132-lb bags of coffee to bolster the market.

Brazilian producers profited little from the increased coffee prices, McBride said. Speculators in Brazil and the United States cashed in. Actually Brazilian economy suffered because Venezuelan and African coffee growers increased production to capture part of the Brazilian market in the United States, McBride stated.

But McBride is a milk man, not a coffee man nor a politician, he said. He is interested in having Brazilians produce better milk and providing their babies with SMA baby food. He returned from Brazil last week certain that the Wyeth factory there is meeting an urgent need.

The return trip was made by Braniff air lines from Sao Paulo to Lima, Peru, and thence to Tucuman, Canal Zone, before touching down at Miami. The Mason man rode National Air Lines from Miami to Philadelphia and United from there to Detroit. He's glad to be back where he doesn't have to wear his topcoat in the office.

Ingham Township Begins Zoning

By appointment of Probate Judge John McClellan, Ingham township's zoning committee is made up of Searl Briggs and Roscoe Arnold of Dansville and Clifford Allen and Charles E. Weeks of the rural area of the township.

At a recent meeting the town board received petitions asking for zoning. The board presented a list of names to the judge of probate for his selection of the committee. Under the law in a township which contains a village the zoning committee is made up of 2 from the village and 2 from the area to be zoned, said Supervisor Charles Wood.

Cyclist Is Hurt On City Street

Janice Kester, 16, suffered cuts and bruises Tuesday afternoon at the intersection of Kipp road and Barnes street. She was riding a motorcycle, making a left turn from Barnes onto Kipp.

Clarence J. Jackson, 17, Mason, told police officers he was driving from Kipp onto Barnes and made a stop, but started up without noticing the girl on the Harley-Davidson.

County Studies Meridian Plan For Sewage Aid

Members of 3 committees of the board of supervisors are studying a request that the county sponsor a sewage disposal plant in Meridian township.

Supervisor Bernard Ward of Meridian dropped the request in the lap of the county board Tuesday, saying that county sponsorship seems to be the only way out for the township.

Studying the proposal are health, drains and the ways and means committees.

The state water resources commission issued an order July 25, 1951, telling Meridian officials to abate the dumping of untreated sewage and septic tank effluent in Red Cedar river by June 1, 1954.

Meridian residents use county drains for sewers. Because the county and not the township or sewage districts owns the drains, Supervisor Ward said, sewage disposal bonds issued by the township can not be sold. Residents of Meridian have paid 70% of the cost of drains. Supervisor Ward added, and therefore can not afford to install a new sewer system and build a disposal plant, too.

As explained by Supervisor Ward, the plan calls for a bond issue of $500,000 against the credit of the county with the township paying back the money from water and sewer rental revenue. The initial installation would serve a district of about 4 square miles, the supervisor said. Boundaries would be East Lansing and Michigan State on the west, Saginaw street on the north, Red Cedar river on the south and a half-mile east of Park Lake road on the east. The disposal plant would be big enough to handle a second district made up of Okemos, Ottawa Hills and Indian Hills, Supervisor Ward said.

Residents Would Pay
The cost estimate includes $240,000 for the disposal plant with another $260,000 for 2 sewage pumping stations for the first district. Under the proposal the township would add sewer rates to water service, charging residents more than enough to amortize the bond issue and operational costs.

Frank R. Theroux, township engineer, told supervisors plans for the sewage system have been completed and the township has gone as far as possible without use of county credit. Meridian residents have built sewer connecting lines and a site for the disposal plant is under option, the engineer said.

Gerald Graham, county drain commissioner, corroborated the statement of township officials that since 1950 Meridian drains in residential areas have been built as sewers. He gave the estimate that the county at large has been assessed for 30% of Meridian drain construction. The county share is to cover road drainage costs, Graham said.

Supervisor K. G. Brown suggested that the county sell its drain investment to Meridian and let the township handle its own sewage problems.

"If the county assumes responsibility for sewage disposal in Meridian," Supervisor Brown said, "other sections of the county will make the same demands. The county could not become so involved."

Supervisor Ward suggested that a lease of county drains to the township might be a good solution. An amendment to charter township legislation might be even a better answer, suggested Supervisor George R. Sidwell of Lansing.

No action was taken by the committees Tuesday. None was expected, said Supervisor Ward. "In Meridian township we have been studying solutions for 5 years," the supervisor said, "and we don't expect an immediate report from the joint committee."

WORLD JAMBOREE of Boy Scouts is the destination of 2 Ingham county Scouts this week.

Dick Seibert, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Seibert of Mason, and Donald S. Creyts, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Creyts of Lansing, left Wednesday morning for Gary, Indiana, where they will embark on a special train for New York and Niagara-on-the-Lake, Canada. The boys are shown in the picture as they left Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Seibert transported the boys to Gary.

There will be 3,500 Scouts from 40 countries at the jamboree which starts Saturday, August 20, and continues through August 28.

Seibert has been active in Scouting work since he was 9. He was a Cub Scout 2 years, a regular Boy Scout 3 years and has been an Explorer Scout 1 1/2 years. He's a life member and has 20 merit badges. Seibert will be a junior at the Mason school next year and is active in Key club and Methodist Youth Fellowship activities.

Young Creyts is a junior at Eastern high school in Lansing.

He holds a life rating in Troop 6, Explorer Scouts and has earned about 15 merit badges. Creyts was a Cub Scout for a year, a regular Boy Scout 3 years and has been an Explorer for 2. At Eastern he's active in club organizations and sports.

When the boys reach Gary, they will receive pre-jamboree training until Saturday, August 13. On Saturday, they'll board a special train which will take them to New York for the week end. They'll see some of the big sights before leaving for Canada Monday morning. The train will take them to Montreal where they will board a Canadian ship and travel the St. Lawrence river to Quebec. From Quebec, the Scouts will go by train to Ottawa and on to the jamboree site at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

Detroit Redwing Manager Hails Visiting Firemen

Visiting firemen at Mason Wednesday night heard Jack Adams, manager of the Detroit Hockey club and its Detroit Redwings.

The former hockey star and presently the renowned manager of the Redwings told about the development of new stars and justified the trading of goalie Terry Sawchuck to Boston.

"Whether it's a house, stocks, automobile or hockey player," declared Adams, "the time to trade is when the asset is at its peak value. That's Sawchuck. For him Detroit gets needed defensive strength. And in Hall the Detroit club will have a young goalie who promises to develop into one of the best in the league."

Johnny Mitchell, chief scout for the Detroit Hockey club, told of the success of the Redwing farm system in Canada. He credited Adams with establishing the system which has brought so many championships to the Redwings.

"When boys this side of the border learn to walk they are given footballs, basketballs or baseballs," Mitchell said. "Across the border they are given a pair of skates and a hockey stick. That's the main difference between Canadian and U. S. talent. There are 70,000 little league hockey players in Canada and the best go into the National Hockey league. If U. S. boys had the same training they too would become hockey stars."

Midway Gambling Stays Under Ban

There will be no relaxation of the midway gambling ban imposed at the county fair last year, Sheriff Willard P. Barnes declared Thursday.

Under Michigan statutes gambling is forbidden, the sheriff said, and the law which caused the ban under Paul C. Younger still exists even though Charles E. Chamberlain is now presecutor.

"There is a difference, though, between games of chance and games of skill, the sheriff pointed out. If skill is the major factor in a midway game, the sheriff indicated, officers will probably not interfere."

Observer Corps Needs Recruits

Recruits expected to rally Wednesday night for an organization meeting of a ground observer corps unit didn't show up. As a result the organization meeting was postponed until September 28, said Stanley Cornwell, local chairman. Prior to that meeting, he stated, a film on the program will be shown before several Mason organizations.

Sergeant Edwin C. Cole, Jr., of the Grand Rapids air force filter center came to Mason Wednesday night to discuss the GOC program with the 32 who reported. Among them were the 2 captains, Louis Lee and Bob Betcher, who volunteered a month ago.

Ingham County Fair Will Start Monday For Crowded Week

Exhibits for Ingham's 1955 county fair at Mason are already being placed. The fair will open Monday to run 6 days and nights.

Exhibit space is already at a premium, reported Secretary Harry Spenny. Automobile and farm implement dealers have contracted exhibit space far beyond that taken in recent years, Spenny reported. All commercial space in the brick building has been sold, as well as space in a big L-shaped tent. Open class and 4-H exhibits are also taxing facilities, Spenny stated.

Thursday of this week is the deadline for entry of open class exhibits. By Friday fair officials will know exactly how much space will be required for both open class and 4-H displays.

So far more than 200 sheep have been entered in open class competition. Beef animals number nearly 30, dairy 40; hogs, 29; and horses, a dwindling 10. However, many of the 4-H horses will be entered in open class competition, according to M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent.

The 4-H program has also been expanded this year, Avery said. More youngsters than ever before will be at the fair showing livestock, crop and craft exhibits.

Commercial exhibitors have jumped to 50 and more are signing up for space every day, Spenny said. Some exhibitors will have to show their wares from smaller tents outside of the main exhibition areas, he added.

"Two of the best drawing cards at the fair will be the increased display of farm equipment and automobiles.

"This type of merchandise appeals to most people and we're certainly happy to have such fine cooperation with these 2 groups this year," Spenny said.

Four nights of harness racing are scheduled for the fair beginning Monday night. The first races start at 8. Amateur acts by Ingham county youngsters and adults will be presented before and during the races each night.

A special day devoted to children's activities is scheduled for Tuesday. Pet parades for children 7 years of age and under and 8 and over will start off the afternoon of sports and games for youngsters, according to Ralph Strope, children's day chairman.

Pets will be judged on appearance and manners. Pets must be domesticated and common to this locality, Strope said. A decorated bicycle parade for boys and girls 8 years of age and over and a decorated tricycle parade for little folks 7 years and under are scheduled.

Girls will have a chance to get all they want to eat in an ice cream-eating contest and boys will compete in a pie-eating contest.

Children will be admitted through the main gate free and into the grandstand for 9 cents. Children who enter the parade will get free tickets to the grandstand, according to Strope, and midway rides will cost 9 cents for children Tuesday afternoon.

Lightweight horses will pull in contests beginning at 1:30 Thursday afternoon and the heavy horses will pull Friday afternoon at 2. A parade of 4-H livestock and floats will precede the heavy horse-pulling contest at one o'clock Friday afternoon. The sale of 1954 scramble steers will Mason's newest industry manufactures bamboo bows and arrows. The makers of Asahi archery equipment have started production in a building on the John Carroll property on South Lansing street. It is one of the few spots in the United States where bamboo archery equipment is made.

Deane Schultheiss and Robert Miller experimented with the new type of bamboo equipment for about 2 years in Grand Ledge. Production of the bows and arrows was switched to the Mason location this summer.

2 Schools Vote To Join Mason, 3 Others Pend

Two primary school districts this week voted to annex with Mason and votes are scheduled in 2 others.

By a vote of 26-1 Monday night the Webb district decided to join Mason. At Walters Monday night the vote to annex to Mason was 29-8.

Votes on annexation are scheduled at Gretton in Aurelius this Thursday night, at Nichols in Delhi next Thursday night, August 18, and Harper in Aurelius Tuesday, August 23.

In all 5 instances requests were filed for annexation and the Mason board of education agreed to accept annexation if voted. The requests were approved by the county board of education and the state superintendent of public instruction.

In merger votes like Mason, Alaledon township unit, Wilson and Hawley a year ago, voting takes place in all districts to be merged. In annexation as was voted at Walters and Webb the vote is only in the district to be annexed.

In all cases, explained Supt. James H. Vander Ven, present rural buildings will be utilized for elementary pupils. At Walters, however, present plans call for wrecking or moving the building because of widening of US-127 south of Mason. The second lane will be on the west side of the road but the cut at the golf course hill would leave the school building high above both US-127 and Tomlinson roads.

Farmers Can Bid On Sample Grain

Bids are being sought by the state ASC committee on grain samplings.

Bids will be received up to September 1 on a bushel basis on corn, wheat, oats, soybeans, rye and barley. However, grain samplings available at the state office are mostly corn, and most of that is cracked.

Between August 15 and January 1, during the corn loan period, an average of about 40 bushels of samplings a week must be removed from the moisture-testing laboratory in Lansing. The samplings must be fed to livestock.

Complete details on the removal contract and bids thereon are available at the state ASC office, 200 North Capitol, Lansing, said Louis Curtis, office manager of Ingham ASC, Mason.

Men Make Bamboo Arrows

Right now production is limited. The men do the manufacturing themselves. The bamboo is imported from Japan. Schultheiss and Miller mill down the raw bamboo into hollow arrows which travel faster and higher and straighter than metal or wooden arrows. The men showed their new line for the first time at the

City Recreation Program Will Close on Thursday

Mason's summer recreation program enters its final week Monday. The 8 weeks of recreation will come to an end next Thursday with a swimming caravan to Pleasant lake, Director Ed Kehe announced.

With a season's record of 5 wins against only a single loss, the Athletics won the boys softball championship. Bill Allen, Larry Bowler, Jim Bullen, Doug Dancer, Rexer Hankness, Charles Jewett, Bill McLaughlin, Harold Pulver and Marvin Pulver were on the team.

Jim Phillips, 10, won the boys archery tournament, scoring 75 points. A notch behind in second place was David Cady with 70 points.

Thirty-one boys and girls joined the caravan to the state capitol in Lansing last Friday afternoon. They visited the senate and house chambers, the governor's office and the chambers of the supreme court.

Next week's schedule follows:

Tuesday, playground open 9-12, 2-5. Boys and girls golf tournaments at Mason golf course starting at 9.

Wednesday, playground open 9-12, 2-5, 6-8. Tennis instruction at school courts at 10. Story hour for children age 6 through 9 at 2.

follow the pulling contest Friday afternoon.

A parade of open class and 4-H livestock, machinery, floats and F. F. A. chapter exhibits will begin festivities Friday night. Following the parade will be the 4-H talent show and the calf scramble.

The Joe Chitwood auto thrill show is scheduled for Saturday night. The W. G. Wade Co. will furnish the midway rides and show entertainment during the 6-day fair. Wade will bring his No. 1 show to Mason, according to Spenny. Wade hasn't been to the fair for 2 years. His return, according to Spenny, insures a big clean midway that will be a credit to the fair and Ingham county.

Dick Jewett has rounded up talent for the grandstand performances. Monday night Bill Sova and his band will perform. Little Donna McKrill, professional tap dancer and singer, will entertain and The Mellowlarks of Dansville, composed of Gerry Underwood, Maxine Snyder and Beth Starkey, accompanied by Janis Cooper, are also on Monday night's bill.

The first act on Tuesday evening's program will be given by the Eckhart girls of Aurelius. They will play a Spanish guitar duet. Jimmy Lyon and Mickey Rosebury will entertain with a dance act. The Hettrick trio, participants in the Lowell showboat, Joyce, Neal and Janet, will do their dance number.

Bloomquist band from Bloomquist accordion studio, Lansing, will give the first performance Wednesday evening. Willie Wardowski and 8 others from Leslie are scheduled to do a folk dance as the second attraction. A Draget panophone by a Lansing group will round out the grand-

Slim Peach Crop Goes to Market

Peaches are scarce in local orchards this year, but not as scarce as growers and Ingham housewives feared after the spring freeze. Wardowski's Blossom orchards at Leslie have Golden Jubilees and the last of Red Havens, selling for $4 to $5 per bushel. Sales have been by the small basket rather than the bushel, however, Wardowski said, and the crop is about half the normal yield this year. Rochester are due the latter part of next week.

Duchess and Melba apples are for sale now but the plum crop was a complete failure at Blossom orchards.

Haynes Child Injured in Fall

Van Anthony Haynes, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Haynes of Mason, escaped with minor injuries when he fell from an open second-story window of the Haynes home Sunday evening. An older brother, Bruce, 10, discovered the injured child crying in the yard beside the house and called the father, who was working in the garden. Since Mrs. Haynes had driven the car to services at Mason Baptist church, Haynes summoned neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Swan, who took them to the office of Dr. A. V. Smith.

Several stitches were necessary to close the wound in the boy's back, evidently inflicted when he

Auto Parts Are Stolen

Owen Chamberlain of Chamberlain Chevrolet Sales, Leslie, reported to Ingham sheriff's officers the theft of auto parts and accessories from their car lot, evidently over the week end. Employees noticed the loss Monday morning. Listed as stolen were 3 spare wheels and tires, chrome hubcaps, 3 cigarette lighters, radio knobs, a green Ford wheel and other wheels and auto parts.

Melodears Win

Dansville's Melodears quartet has been selected to compete for state honors at the state 4-H club show at Michigan State university late this month. The group, guided by Mrs. Dorn Diehl, was selected during auditions at the university Monday. Members of the quartet are Jill Briggs, Nancy Wilkinson, Sally Thompson and Sally Nemer.

Softball Tourney Is August 18-19

Softball play-offs for the top 4-H teams are scheduled for Thursday and Friday. Only 4 teams remain in the eliminations, including last year's county winner, Vantown, coached by Bob Oesterle. Other teams and their coaches are Aurelius, William Fanson; Sandhill, Jim Kranz and Cross Road, Gordon Leonard.

Menlo Hyde is chairman of the 4-H softball committee. He is assisted by Dorwin Williams and William Fanson.

Mason Lions club is sponsoring the activity this year and will furnish shoulder emblems for the winning team in the play-offs.

Justice Court

Due to the absence of Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams from the city, the usual grist of court actions has gone underground. Four traffic violation tickets were settled before he departed or during his absence. They were reported as follows:

Frank Frost, Williamston, illegal parking on traveled portion of Jegerson street, $4.

Leroy F. Smith, Lansing, no tail light or stop light, $2.

Willard G. Tansby, Jackson, excessive speed, $7.

Clarence C. Fouser, Jackson, running stop sign, $5.

No. 7. PASS STARTING TRUCKS AT TRAFFIC SIGNAL

Sometimes trucks are hard to pass, or it just seems that way. You follow one and when it is moving at highway speed there is frequently oncoming traffic so you can't pass.

One of the smart things to do is to catch the truck just after it has stopped at a traffic signal. When it starts up it will pick up speed slowly. You can accelerate rapidly. So this is frequently your best chance to pass a truck safely.

Another opportunity is when trucks have slowed down for a 25 or 35 speed limit. Overtake them before they reach higher speed limit areas. The bigger they are the slower they start. But remember the slogan, "SLOW DOWN AND LIVE".

County Adopts Rules Covering Park Conduct

Because of alleged abuses at Lake Lansing park, rules and regulations are now effective in all county parks. On recommendation of the board of Ingham park trustees and the roads and bridges committee of the board of supervisors the county board adopted the set of rules Tuesday.

By a vote of 16 to 13 supervisors turned down an amendment which would have prohibited possession or use of intoxicants within 50 feet of the shore at Lake Lansing park. Supervisor Robert H. Kloek, Lansing, offered the amendment.

Lined up against the amendment were Card, Cavanaugh, Crakes, Cronkrite, Durkee, Jewett, Johnson, Moore, Patriarche, Puffenberger, Stone, Taylor, Triquet, Watkins, Wilcox and Woods. Voting for the amendment were Becker, Bement, Brown, Bullen, Fay, Kloek, Lee-man, Marshall, Muringham, Stowell, Sillsby, Ward and Chairman Willis.

Supervisor Burton Johnson, Wheatfield, said he would vote for an amendment banning use of alcoholic beverages in all parks instead of a measure limiting the ban to Lake Lansing.

In offering his amendment Supervisor Kloek said broken beer bottles and discarded beer cans create a menace to youngsters playing on the beach at Lake Lansing. At other county parks there is no swimming, he pointed out.

Rules adopted provide for closing of all county parks at 10 p. m., limiting automobile speeds on all drives to 15 miles per hour, ordering the deposit of all waste and rubbish in trash containers, prohibiting overnight parking of house trailers or other vehicles in county parks, prohibiting operation of any device which creates a hazard or nuisance, and prohibiting defacement or damage to signs, building or equipment.

Penalties running up to $50 are provided for in the resolution.

Legion to Sell Flags at Fair

Mason's American Legion post No. 148 will again participate in activities at the Ingham county fair after an absence of 3 years.

The Legion post started a program early in the year in an attempt to put an American flag in every home in Mason. This program will be in action on the midway during fair week in an attempt to make available to everyone a U. S. flag. The post has purchased 500, 3 ft. by 5 ft. U. S. flags for delivery at the fair.

Chairman of the flag program is Warner Kean assisted by Bob Casro and Glenn Ankey. Many members of the post will be assisting the committee by working in the flag booth and throughout Mason and vicinity.

Kean said, "Many people have inquired about a U. S. flag and it is our duty as a patriotic organization to make them available."

Temptation in the line of duty God has provided for; but for temptation sought and coveted, God has no provision.

JOHN ELLSWORTH put Ingham's peppy pasture program into action this year and this 22-cow herd is proof of his success. In June his herd averaged 41.6 lb of butterfat and 1,145 lb of milk. Cows in the picture are in a lush growth of alfalfa and brome pastured down twice already this summer. The field of peppy pasture comes right back better than ever, according to Ellsworth.

Kenneth Brown, assistant county agricultural agent, and Ellsworth are in the foreground taking a close look at the grass.

The Ellsworth pasture will be one of those included in the pasture tour Thursday, August 25.

Ellsworth said he also feeds a bale or 2 of dry hay.

Several farms are being considered for the pasture tour, according to Brown. On the tour selected pastures will be rated on the number of days of pasture provided, quality and management.

Pastures of E. E. Valteau and Arthur Deyo may be included in the tour.

Valteau has been successful in stretching pasture from early spring to late fall. He operates an 80-acre farm at the corner of Howell and Every roads. Valteau says that Balbo rye pasture in early spring means an extra can of milk from his 12 cows. Maximum use is made of the land by rotating 2 alfalfa brome pastures, good applications of fertilizer and clipping weeds.

Arthur Deyo east of Mason has plenty of good words to say for ladino pasture. He uses ladino and red top in a 6-acre permanent pasture that provides continuous feed for 90 ewes. Deyo uses lots of poultry manure and phosphate to keep the pasture lush and productive.

In early spring, Deyo turns his sheep into sweet clover and rye grass seeded in corn the previous year. This also provides late fall and winter pasture.

The tour schedule will be set up this week by the county committee, according to Brown. The peppy pasture program was started early last spring to encourage better use of specific pasture grasses. (Ingham County News photo.)

Mining Town Has Outstanding School

Former Mason Principal Has Big Job

Eveleth, Minnesota, has one of the best school systems in the United States. Heading it is M. W. Van Putten, principal at Mason high school.

Eveleth is on the Mesabi range. Located inside the city and school district is the Spruce mine of Oliver Mining Division, U. S. Steel Corporation. The mine pays about 85% of the school taxes and seems to consider it a good investment. Not only does the high school offer complete academic courses, shop instruction includes automobile mechanics, machine shop instruction, welding, printing, tin-smithing, carpentry and courses in other trades are offered. Also provided is a junior college, giving local students 2 years of at-home study before they go on to specialize. Van Putten also heads the junior college. In high school and junior college 2,000 are enrolled.

About 95% of Eveleth students are of foreign descent. Italians, Germans, Yugoslavs, Finns, Norwegians—men and women from all over Europe came to the mines. Their children and their children's children are now thoroughly American. Perhaps their musical talent stands a few notches higher than Americans who came earlier, and their home training includes more discipline. The school orchestra and band are known throughout Minnesota. Professional hockey teams bid for Eveleth players. Leading colleges have offered inducements to Eveleth athletes.

The high school and junior college at Eveleth occupy a college-sized campus. Caretakers have 33 acres of lawn to mow. Swimming instruction starts in the fourth grade. The school has 2 beautiful pools, one for boys and one for girls.

On the school faculty are craftsmen to teach trades, outstanding coaches for hockey, basketball, swimming, football and baseball, even curling. A fleet of buses, some of them carrying 72 passengers, transport pupils to and from classes.

There's an auditorium big enough for stage shows. There are gymnasiums for boys and girls, the boys gym bigger than that of most colleges.

While Eveleth boys and girls are taught how to play, work is not overlooked. The school and junior college bear highest ratings. Many of the boys go into responsible jobs with the Spruce or other mines upon completion of courses. Others continue their studies of mining engineering, geology, mechanical engineering and in related fields, certain of employment right at home if they want it.

Hockey is the most popular sport in high school, outranking basketball by far. Van Putten said. Curling, even though there are few Scotsmen in Eveleth, is more popular than bowling. The city has a curling rink and a hockey stadium.

Although Van Putten didn't say so, his son Marinus, 14, is an all-state hockey center among junior leaguers and is also one of the range's top basketball players. The school stages its basketball games before a hockey match to be sure of a basketball crowd.

If both attractions were offered at the same time, the school chief said, hockey would prove far the more popular attraction.

Van Putten came to Mason in 1919 to serve as principal and coach under Supt. W. L. Reed. He was graduated from Hope college. He left Mason in 1923 to teach in Minnesota. Except for 2 years of teaching in Arizona he has continued with Mesabi range schools since. He was superintendent at Aurora before going to Eveleth 10 years ago. He recently turned down an offer to become head of one of Minnesota's biggest school systems to remain at Eveleth.

State Fair Asks For Ingham Band

The Williamston high school band, directed by John H. Meyers, will participate in a musical program at the 106th Michigan state fair, September 2 through 11, according to Graham T. Overgard, musical director.

The 47-member band plus 3 majorettes will put on a half-hour concert in the music shell September 9 and will march in the daily parade on the grounds.

Members of the band will be guests of general manager Don L. Swanson and members of the fair board of managers at many of the fair's attractions and will be given guest cards to one of the food concessions on the grounds.

Time well employed is Satan's deadliest foe; it leaves no opening for the lurking fiend.

National Committeeman Addresses Party Workers

Republicans are unworthy of victory unless they believe their principles are best for all of the people in the United States, Clifford O'Sullivan, national committeeman from Port Huron, told 250 party workers in Mason Wednesday night.

"If we represent just certain parts of our society, if we hope that Republicans will benefit only a few, then we deserve to be defeated," he said.

O'Sullivan spoke at a Republican picnic at Rayner park, Mason. He was elected committeeman in July and the Mason talk was one of his first appearances since election.

The national committeeman said that there was a time when both parties stood for America first and special interests second.

"But now we can't be complacent about political competition," he declared. "We know the real objectives of Democratic party leaders are not the same as many of those well-meaning people who follow them. It is our job, not only to win elections, but to safeguard the freedoms and the strength of the nation. It is up to Republicans to see this country through one of the most topsy-turvy eras of history."

O'Sullivan said he has played no great part in active Repubcan politics. He credits his obsecurity to his selection as committeeman.

"If the Republicans can harness the boundless energy and talent of other obscure party members, victory will come that much easier," O'Sullivan said.

O'Sullivan is a Port Huron attorney and president of the St. Clair Bar association.

County Requests Fair Agreement On Jail Expense

Supervisors served notice Tuesday that the present contract between Lansing and the county of Ingham on city jail costs will be terminated December 31, 1955.

A committee report set forth that state auditors had found the contract to be illegal. Off the record, supervisors said the contract also places an unfair burden of city jail costs upon the county.

For June the county of Ingham paid 34.7% of city jail costs plus 65c per meal served county prisoners. Total Lansing jail costs were reported at $20,803.42 for the year, one-twelfth of that for the month. On that basis the county paid Lansing $904.05 for June.

The county also provides transportation for prisoners sent to county jail under Lansing ordinances. Sheriff Willard P. Barnes pointed out. Where prisoners are given their choice of paying fines or going to jail, the city treasurer gets the fines and the county has to house and feed the prisoners if the fines are not paid, the sheriff added. He called it a one-sided arrangement.

"The county is required to provide a jail for all prisoners sentenced to it," the sheriff said. "But the present agreement on the county paying costs for county prisoners kept at Lansing jail for questioning is unfair. It takes $1,000 a month out of the county jail budget."

Training Offered To Bus Drivers

Bus drivers for Ingham schools will receive instruction at 2 separate centers August 29, 30 and 31 and September 4. Classes in safety education, maintenance and driver responsibility will be conducted at Mason and Haslett, open to all school bus drivers and maintenance men.

Michigan State university is cooperating in the classes, said Supt. Alton J. Stroud of the county board of education. Drivers and maintenance men will attend classes for 3 hours a day.

Ingham schools spend $250,000 a year on bus transportation. Stroud said, transporting 4,500 pupils about a million miles a year. Ingham schools have an investment of $400,000 in buses, Stroud reported.

The hardest trial of the heart is whether it can bear a rival's failure without triumph.

Leukemia Claims Beloved Mother Of Seeley Family

Mrs. Laura M. Seeley, who had devoted her life to her family, her church and her community, died of leukemia Tuesday night. No woman in the community better exemplified Christian living, no woman exerted a wider influence for good, than Mrs. Seeley. Her love and graciousness extended far beyond her own family, enveloping a multitude.

Mrs. Seeley was first stricken last fall while on a visit at the home of her son Harvey at Gladstone. She was brought back to Mason in December, to the home of a daughter, Mrs. Donald Clark in Aurelius. She was given numerous blood transfusions but the disease could not be cured.

Born, May 4, 1893, in Vevy township, daughter of Harvey M. Young and Caroline Snook Young, Mrs. Seeley had lived in Mason all her life except for 5 years in Grand Ledge. She was graduated from Mason high school in 1911. Two years later she married Charles Seeley. He died 7 years ago.

Mrs. Seeley became a member of Mason Baptist church as a child and was active in church work throughout her life. She was also a member of Mason Woman's club.

Surviving Mrs. Seeley are 4 children, Mrs. Lena Clark, Aurelius; Harvey Seeley, Gladstone; Mrs. Elizabeth Hieckman, Farmington; and Charles Seeley, Capri. There are 9 grandchildren. Also remaining are Mrs. Seeley's father, Harvey M. Young, Grand Haven; and 3 sisters, Mrs. Mildred Spless, Lansing; Miss Margaret Young, Grand Haven; and Mrs. Lena Hurley, Albion.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 at Ball-Dunn funeral home, with burial in Maple Grove. Rev. Clarence Rodd of Mason Baptist church will officiate.

SPENNY'S FIRST FAIR

Ingham's 1955 fair marks the first year for Harry Spenny as fair secretary. The job is a year-around proposition. But the pace has quickened the last few weeks to the point where Spenny has put aside his regular duties as sales manager at McCarn Oldsmobile this week to devote more time to the job of fair secretary.

Proposed Merger Goes Unreported

No report on a proposed merger of Lansing township areas to the city of Lansing was forthcoming from a special committee of the board of supervisors Tuesday.

Supervisor Harold Fletz of the special committee was absent. That was the reason given for withholding the report. The committee in July was assigned the task of verifying signatures on petitions. If enough valid signatures were found, and indications are that they were, it will be up to the board of supervisors to decide on an election date for the merger vote.

The petitions were filed months ago but action upon them was held up by litigation. A recent ruling of the state supreme court cleared the decks for action by the supervisors committee.

General Motors forge and jet plants, Frander shopping center and the Turner farm area are included within the area proposed for merging.

The group took a firm stand on a resolution to allow the present system of traffic fines on high ways being diverted to library purposes to be continued. Silsby-Pratt Vows Are Said Before Immediate Families

Miss Lucile Winifred Pratt became the bride of Fred James Silsby Saturday afternoon, August 6, at 3 p. m. in the chapel of Mason Methodist church, before members of their immediate families. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Elsie Pratt of Battle Creek and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hugh W. Silsby and the late Mr. Silsby of Mason.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized by the bride's brother, Rev. Ralph Pratt, Methodist minister at Gables. Two altar boys, boys of white in the skirt and an over-jacket with short sleeves, served as deacons. Mrs. Derwood Carr played organ selections for the nuptials.

FASHION FUN—Just for fun is this conversation piece, an English import fashioned of green-tinted wool. Huge tie sets off the classic-base overblouse, which is worn with pleated, unpressed skirt.

Mrs. Bant Dies At Leslie Home

Mrs. Anna Julia Bant, 74, of Leslie died Wednesday evening at Northrup convalescent home following a sickness of 7 years. She had been at the convalescent home for 5 months.

Mrs. Bant was born Anna Julia Holt in Toronto, Ontario, Canada. On August 27, 1902, she married John J. Bant at Jackson. They were in the retail food business in Jackson for 33 years. Following Mr. Bant's retirement 20 years ago, they moved to a farm on Howe road in Leslie.

Mrs. Bant was a life member of the Episcopal church. She was also a member of the E. O. T. C. until her sickness and of the Royal Daughters of the Congregational church in Leslie, as there is no Episcopal church there. She was active in Red Cross and club and church activities in Jackson and Leslie. The Bants celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1952.

Surviving are the husband, 2 daughters, Mrs. W. G. Howe and Mrs. A. L. Ward, both of Jackson; 3 sisters, Mrs. John Jones and Mrs. Floyd Piteh, both of Jackson, and Miss Helen Holt of Sacramento, California, and Toronto, Ontario, Canada; a brother, Richard Holt of Flint; 5 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren.

If You Can Swim You Can Water-Ski!

Young and old alike are now easily and safely discovering the thrill of skimming swiftly over the surface of the water on skis. Reckless and daring though this exciting aquatic sport looks, it's truly very simple.

Put skis on in shallow water—three to four feet deep. Assuming "sitting" position, grasp low bar only, and raise tips of skis just clear of water. Signal boat driver to go ahead.

As driver accelerates, let the tightening rope pull you to your feet; it's like arising from a low chair. Keep weight centered, knees bent, arms straight.

Skis may be wobbly and hard to control under 15 miles per hour, but as you approach the minimum speed, you'll start "planing" or skimming, and then...

The fun begins! Your back and arms should be kept straight... knees flexed slightly to cushion the jolt of the waves... and Away You Go!

If you think you'd like water-skiing—and everyone who tries it does like it—write to the American Water Ski Association, 307 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill. They'll send you illustrated booklets that will give you fully detailed instructions for learning this exhilarating sport.

GOO!—Case is NOT in his second childhood, despite the finger-in-the-mouth pose. That's just a quick, handy way to sample the frosting on his 64th (or is it 65th?) birthday cake at Yankee Stadium, New York City. The peppery Yankee manager celebrated his 65th (or is it 64th?) birthday by announcing a Yankee rebuilding plan that could well take two or three years to realize. (The record book says he's 65—his wife says he's 64.)

Charter Commissioner Replies

In answer to your editorial of last week in which you take exception to the new city charter drafted in 1951, I feel that a reply should be made to justify the thinking of the charter commission as well as to correct some erroneous statements in your editorial.

You refer to the "unique election machinery" that has proved a flop. I have checked carefully and find that out of 156 Home-Rule cities which are cities that have re-written their charters within the last 20 to 30 years, 154 have non-partisan elections and only 2 have retained partisan elections, namely Ann Arbor and Iron Mountain. Furthermore all school districts in the state run their elections on a non-partisan basis.

Do you recall the old party caucus called by 1 or 2 people? We met at the court house and immediately separated into 2 groups representing the 2 wards. If there was a big issue the court room might be nearly full, but more often only a handful would turn out. The chairmen of the different wards were selected, then nominations were called for. At that time a pre-arranged individual got up and nominated a candidate who had already been selected by the party leaders. He was balloted in and that was that.

Our present system calls for petitions with a minimum of 25 signatures and if 6 candidates are running that means 150 names on petitions. I don't think I can ever recall 150 people at one of our political caucuses.

According to Michigan Municipal League figures the predominant trend of cities with a population of 20,000 or under is away from city wards. I do not like the idea of some of our councilmen being elected by only half of the city voters as we had under the old ward system. I think it much better that everyone have the opportunity to vote for every councilman. The city of Detroit elects all its councilmen at large representing the whole city. Isn't it a bit ridiculous for Mason to have councilmen elected by and representing only half of the city?

You raised the point that the people do not know the candidates. That may be possible but I do think your paper has done a good job acquainting the public with the candidates, their qualifications and ideas of government. To me that is better than having a political party select a candidate for me. I prefer to do my thinking for myself.

I cannot feel as you apparently do that the city of Mason has been deprived of good men to represent it on the council by the election provisions of our charter. I feel that Mason has been fortunate to have councilmen who are willing to devote so much of their time to city affairs at so little financial reward.

The only real cure for apathy on the part of the public lies within each of us. It isn't solved by systems.

D. R. LETHBRIDGE, Charter Commission Member

Consultant Says Holt Must Build High School

Holt school board and a citizens committee learned the bad news on the school district's classroom needs Tuesday night at a special meeting with Don Sumrill, education consultant from Battle Creek.

Sumrill has surveyed the Holt school district for the past 3 months. Tuesday night he informed school authorities that by 1960 the school enrollment will jump from its present figure of 1,358 to a total of 2,332.

To take care of this jump he advised the district to provide a new high school for 350 pupils and design it so that it can be expanded to accommodate an enrollment of from 600 to 800.

The present high school building should be used for junior high school and some elementary classes, he advised. The district must also provide 13 new elementary classrooms as additions to the 3 elementary schools in the district. A multi-purpose room should also be considered, he added.

The 3 steps in the expansion plans would relieve the strain of increased enrollment only for the next 3 years, he warned.

The school board and architects will sit down next week and discuss building plans, according to Superintendent Rex Smith.

Financing of the school expansion projects will be sought from the state school financing plan authorized by the voters at the spring election.

From the meeting with architects will come facts and figures on actual building costs, Smith said.

School Board Stages Meeting

President Richard Schmit and other members of the Leslie school board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Ruth A. Browne at the recent board meeting. Mrs. Browne gave conflicting business commitments as her reason for wanting to be released from her duties with the group.

The matter of students driving excessively during the noon hour was reopened for consideration. Eloise Kinnawin suggested using the assistance of the local, county and state police officers in having them meet with the students who drive, to advise and explain to them the need to observe traffic ordinances. Students will be required to sign permit cards, as will their parents, as one of the means of controlling a better check on those who use their cars going to and from school.

Mrs. Albert Pink and Mrs. Louise Glenn of the Morse Community club, a successor to the Morse Mothers club, appeared before the board to ask that they be permitted to continue to use the schoolhouse for the meetings of the Community club, the Southwest 4-H club and their home demonstration meetings. Frank Fogg made the suggestion, which was adopted that they be permitted to use the schoolhouse for the club year even though the Leslie public schools would use the school building, as such only until the elementary school building addition was completed. Clyde Allen, secretary, presented the request from the Band Mothers' club that they be permitted to sell refreshments at basketball and football games this coming school year. The request was granted.

Superintendent Clarence Vanderlinden was authorized to purchase a war surplus battleship flag, 17 by 9 feet in size, for the lobby of the intermediate school. He was also authorized to purchase a 4-drawer steel filing cabinet for intermediate school student records and to have the boundaries of the intermediate school property checked by a surveyor.

The school calendar for the year was presented. School will open September 6, 1955, and close May 29, 1956. Thanksgiving Day and the Friday following will be holidays. School will be dismissed the Friday before Christmas and will resume January 3, 1956. There will be no school on the afternoon of Good Friday. One week's spring vacation will be given from April 23-30.

Following adjournment, Mrs. Browne invited the members of the board and Mr. Vanderlinden to join her for refreshments. This meeting ended her eighth year with the school board.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight D. Henderson and daughter, Ruth, and Karen Cooley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cooley, of Jackson went up into the Upper Peninsula on a camping trip last week. They visited the Soo and rode in the carriages on Mackinac Island.

Boy Is Injured In Fall from Load of Straw

James Steele, 15, son of Mrs. Thomas Roach, of Onondaga, was seriously injured when he rolled from a load of baled straw and fell to the blacktop, at the corner of Edgar and Covert roads at 5 p. m. Tuesday. He was taken to Footo hospital by Jupp ambulance. His condition is fair.

James, a sophomore at Leslie high school, was working for W. D. Byrum along with 3 of his friends, John Swift from Aurelius, Chub Preston and Lester Dayton. They were taking a truck load of straw from a field on Edgar road to another farm of Mr. Byrum's on Covert road where they were going to put it into a barn.

Whether they turned the corner at too fast a speed, or the bales were not securely loaded, is not known, but several bales shifted and slid off, carrying James with them. Hospital attendants say he suffered a possible concussion.

Lester Dayton was on top of the load but the bales on which he was sitting did not shift, John Swift and Chub Preston were in the cab of the truck.

Mr. Byrum said that he has had hundreds of boys working for him throughout the years, and this was the first accident that ever happened.

Three Are Injured As Truck Overtakes

Three young men were taken to Footo Memorial hospital in Jackson, by Luecht ambulance of Leslie, when they were thrown from the bed of a 3-ton truck, hauling a trailer and hayloader. The truck overturned on Fitchburg road just east of Nims road, at 2 p. m. while the haying machinery was being moved from one farm field to another.

The truck and equipment, belonging to F. F. Barth of Frelermouth road, Route 1, Stockbridge, was being driven east on Fitchburg road by his son William, 19, at a speed estimated by him at 20 to 25 miles per hour. The hayloader shifted, overbalancing the 2-wheeled trailer causing it to sway from side to side, forcing the truck and equipment off the road. Captain Vessie Babcock of the Ingham county sheriff's office estimated it as 90 feet beyond where the truck and equipment left the road. The truck flipped completely over, and rolled over again, coming to a stop on its side headed west, exactly opposite to the direction in which they were traveling.

Theodore Bradley, 16, riding in the cab with William Barth was only shaken up. The 3 young men riding in the open bed of the truck were thrown to the pavement as the truck overturned. Hobart Jones, 14, Route 1, Stockbridge, was admitted to Footo Memorial hospital with possible fractured ribs and possible chest injuries. His condition is listed as good. Albert Cassell, 16, Route 1, Stockbridge, was treated for lacerations of the right knee, right hip and right elbow and was released. William Cassell, 18, his brother, was treated for shoulder and possible chest injuries and released.

William Barth was issued a summons to appear before Justice of the Peace Leonard Rouse in Leslie, for having no license plates on the trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hanbek of Chicago, were guests of the Paul Jupp's over the week end as were Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Catt and daughter, Edna Mae, of East Detroit. Mrs. Hanbek is Mrs. Jupp's sister, and Mr. Catt is her brother.

Cleo circle of the Felt Plains WSCS Society met Thursday evening at the county park at Pleasant lake, for a wolver roast with 18 present. Swimming and games were the diversion of the evening. Miss Beverly Smith of River Junction was taken to Stimson hospital, Eaton Rapids, following an accident of last week, was moved to Footo hospital by Luecht ambulance.

Mrs. W. H. Cowles' brother, O. D. Metzger, from Newport Rich, Florida, is spending the summer with her, and other relatives in and near Leslie. Mrs. Cowles and Mr. Metzger attended a party in Perrinton given for C. W. Metzger, another brother, on his 80th birthday anniversary. The party was given by Mrs. George Bingham of Jackson, for her father. She included among her guests, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Walker, Bobby and Susan of Leslie and aunt, Mrs. Estella Dodge of Perrinton. Daryl Wood Has Fair Exhibit

Leslie high school FFA exhibitor, Daryl Wood, 15, of River Junction, will have an exhibit at the Ingham county fair which opens in Mason on August 15.

Daryl has a herd of 18 purebred registered milking shorthorns. He uses his FFA standards in feeding and testing. The grain given each cow is weighed and the hay is measured according to the milk production of that cow. The entire herd is tested and complete FFA profit and loss records are kept so that he knows whether to cull, should her milk or butterfat production go down. Russ Miller, ag teacher at Leslie high schools, stresses the use of all these practical means of making a profit in the dairy field.

Daryl was born into the registered milking shorthorn field. His father and grandfather before him raised them and took them to shows all over the county. His father, James W. Wood, said his father, W. S. Wood, always had registered milking shorthorns but it was about 40 years ago, that he began showing them.

Daryl will use the name of Riverbend Farms. He is showing at the Ingham fair this week.

Youngsters Win Cocker Puppies In Sunday Races

Twenty-seven young contestants were on hand Sunday afternoon to compete for Cocker puppies and theatre tickets in 4 bicycle races sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at the county fairgrounds. Bob Betcher, Phil Malville and Burnett Coffey composed the committee in charge of arrangements.

In the 8- and 9-year-old division, Paul Oesterle crossed the finish line first to win a puppy, and Terry Southwick, finishing second, won 4 theatre tickets. In the 10- and 11-year-old section, Tom Day was first and Ronald Schramm, second. For ages 12 and 13, Charles Carr won the puppy and Mary Clippner, only girl winner, claimed the tickets. For 14- and 15-year-olds, Tom Clippner and Bruce Horton were first and second, respectively, with similar prizes awarded.

An unscheduled contest took place when 3 English racing bikes appeared and officials decided to make a place for them. Since no additional Cocker puppies were available for first prize, rewards were set at 4 tickets for first and 3, for second. Fritz Olds won the contest with Harry Swarthout coming in second.

Because of the evident distress of several who lost and the generosity of the sponsors, all losers were also given free theatre passes.

That you never outgrow your need for milk is a matter of medical record. Physicians will tell you that the calcium content of your body needs constant replenishment. Milk is your principal source of calcium.

Your dairy farmer knows this, among other scientific facts, and he knows that the high quality of the milk he produces today makes it possible for physicians to recommend three glasses every day as an almost indispensable health formula. For growing children, the rate of consumption is higher.

PROGRESS PROVIDES PROTECTION

One of the outstanding progressive steps taken by the Michigan Milk Producers Association was the adoption and perfection of its plan for leveling production and minimizing seasonal variations in the milk supply in the Detroit Metropolitan market.

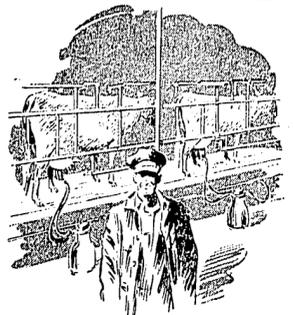

Known as the "lose and excess plan", it assures consumers of adequate supplies of pure, fresh milk throughout the entire year. For the dairy farmer, it provides a real incentive for adopting modern methods of management and production, resulting in more profitable disposition of his milk supply.

Just how this progressive step reacts to the public benefit is well shown in the box score at right. The figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture represent the percentage of fluctuation between the seasons of high and low milk production in the major marketing areas listed.

Detroit's exceptionally low percentage of seasonal variation guarantees an ample supply of pure, fresh milk during the winter months when many cities suffer shortages—it safeguards the public health and welfare.

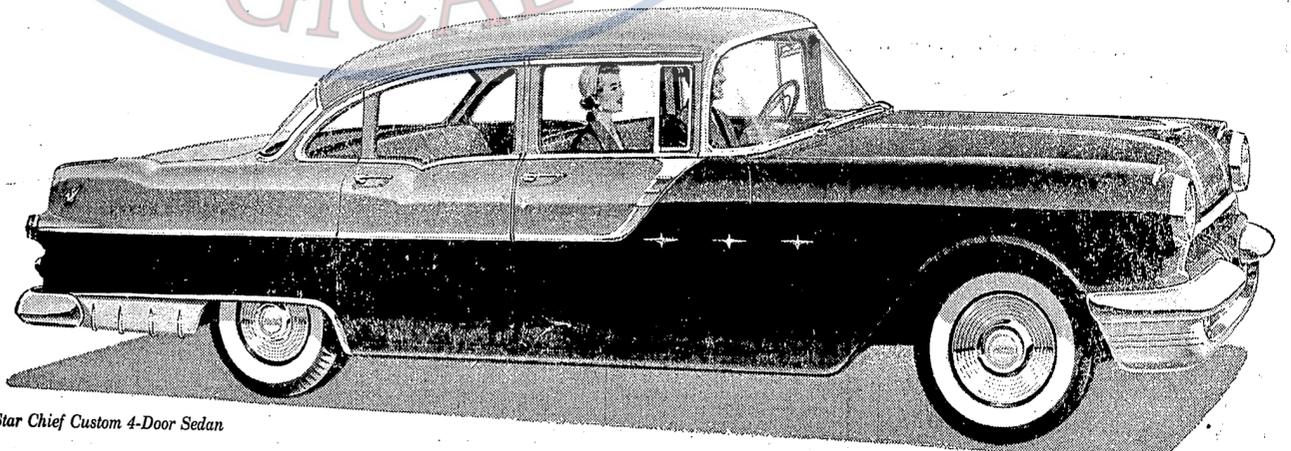

Milk is one of life's essentials. Like water, it is needed every day of the year and a constant, dependable supply of milk flowing into a big city is as important as a constant flow of water through its mains. Members of the Michigan Milk Producers Association, by means of their progressive thinking and action, have made that constant flow of milk available in Detroit as well as many other Michigan markets.

The circus brings excitement for young and old alike—the animals, the thrilling acts, the funny clowns. Perhaps we like the clowns best of all with their antics and their grinning faces.

But the jolly face of a clown is not necessarily what it seems to be. A mask of humor might very well conceal a sad heart, and the jester could easily be living in a world of self-doubt.

Many people know this dilemma. To the world they show a countenance of false gaiety, but within there is disquiet. Why? It may be that these people have found no basis for genuine peace and contentment. And no amount of banter or pretense can heal a bruised spirit.

A basic faith is essential to the soul of every individual. To attain this faith turn to the Church, which for countless generations has given new life and hope to millions. Then, with a heart full of love and confidence, know the joy of genuine, heartfelt laughter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sixty-two attended the open house reception at the Raymond home on Diamond road. A decorated wedding cake, groom's cake and 2 cakes inscribed with the newlyweds' names were served with punch and ice cream. The couple received many nice gifts.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dawson donned a black print frock which she complemented with white accessories. Mrs. Raymond wore a navy blue linen dress and white accessories.

The newlyweds are residing at 1022 North Pine street in Lansing. Mr. Raymond, a graduate of the Michigan School for the Blind, is employed at the Oldsmobile plant in Lansing.

TODAY'S meditation
THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's. (1 Corinthians 6:20.) Read II Corinthians 6:16-18.

The Apostle Paul, in his First Epistle to the Corinthians, emphasizes the importance of glorifying God in the body as well as in the spirit. Too frequently we neglect, or totally forget, the wholeness of body and soul which Paul emphasizes so clearly. As Christians, we acknowledge Christ as our spiritual Master in all things.

To function most effectively as Christians, we as individuals must care for the physical as well as the spiritual side of living. Good health, which Jesus restored to so many, is a goal which is not possible for all of us. Nevertheless, we must do the best we can, and regard our broken, pain-racked bodies as temples in which and through which to glorify God. Good living habits, moderation in diet, exercise within limitations, and relaxation—these will help us function most effectively for the Master. "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?"

Teach us, our heavenly Father, the importance of taking care of Thy temple that this stewardship, which Thou hast given to each of us, will not be neglected. Strengthen us to do Thy holy will, to glorify Thee in body and in spirit, which are Thine. In Christ's name we pray. Amen.

EXCITING NEW Food Freezers!

LOOK THEM OVER!
Then decide which style and model is best for you!

The food freezer you want depends on where you are going to place your new freezer. In other words how much space are you allowing for it and to the freezing program you have in mind.

For limited freezer space many will find that today's modern refrigerators featuring SEPARATE FREEZER COMPARTMENTS will serve very well. Of course while these models provide frozen storage space they seldom hold over a two-week supply of frozen foods for the average family and do not offer much in the way of savings through quantity buying.

The larger freezers, those having a capacity of 500 pounds of food or more, could change your whole way of life. You'll find yourself taking advantage of week-end specials, buying in case lots and cooking and freezing extra batches of your family's favorite foods.

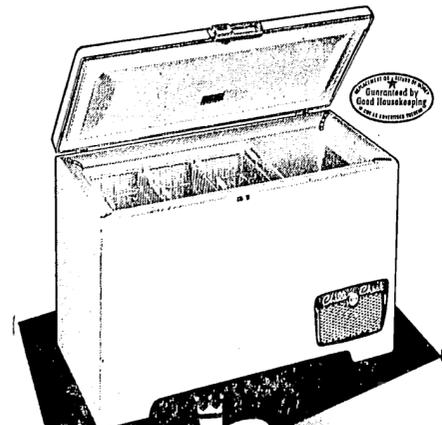

You will eat better and your food bill will be less. Think of it, strawberry short-cake for Christmas Dinner and corn on the cob in January. This sounds unbelievable, but when you own a wonderful electric food freezer these miracles become everyday occurrences.

Yes, a modern food freezer saves work, saves food, saves money and saves time. See them at your electric dealer's store today. Get the facts, you'll be amazed.

Farmer Peck's Wife

July was packed with fun. Camping in the Pecks' living room. Mystery of the disappeared fried cakes.

Some day when I get too old to slip around like this. . . I'm going to sit in that little rocker and smile and smile remembering what a wonderful July, 1955 that was.

There hasn't been one dull moment. It's been fun and so worthwhile. Pete says he can't see how I can keep on saying that every year gets better. . . they are a good to him. But to me, my capacity for living a full life has increased with every added year of the children's growth.

When they were just learning to walk and talk (such a cute thing) I thought that was the best to enjoy. My heart used to fill (still does) with such thankfulness. Having healthy, active children and normal in most respects is about the best thing that could happen to you. Better than anything else in the world.

For days the bird bath was rained with birds seeking a drop of water. Nightly the morning glories were sprinkled with dew. In all this area not a drop of moisture fell from the sky. What a perfect time for camping! Out in tents. Or so we believed.

But if you want it to rain in a otherwise cloudless sky. . . . Just ask the Eureka Brownies to camp out on your lawn.

Susy belongs to the Eureka Brownie troop led by Mrs. Dale Stultze. We invited the group to camp out here overnight. Dale came and set up their tent and with our tent and one belonging to the Tabors, it seemed adequate to cover the 13 of us who were going to camp out for the evening.

Most of the little girls had never slept in a tent so it was an excited bunch that arrived at 4 p. m. lugging their gear from the cars. . . and waving good-bye to fond parents who hovered over them wondering just how the whole thing would turn out. At nearly the sky was beginning to look dubious. It had been postponed once so we went ahead. Did you ever try to discourage 11 little girls on anything they had set their hearts on? Maybe you could one little girl. . . but get 2 of them with their arms around each other and nothing fazes them. Not even thunder, it seems, which will be a surprise to some mothers.

Mrs. Schultze was sick that day and couldn't make it but her 14-year-old daughter, Susan, very ably took her place. She is really quite a gal in my estimation. She kept the group together and interested in whatever she was conducting. There was a hike. She read stories, had a Brownie service and they sang. At bedtime she read from the Bible.

What a fine group of little girls! Wish we had a dozen just like them. . . or as I told Pete, "There is that big family you wanted. How do you think you would like that many now?" He took in the giggling girls and said, "It should be more than half boys and then that number would be about right."

I mentioned thunder and tents and a dozen girls. Now how do you suppose the night turned

UM Exhibits State History

Three Michigan newspaper editors—named Blue Ink, Silk Paper and Quinquinn Quill—had a lot of fun on the job way back in 1846.

Actually the men with the fancy names were soldiers stationed at Fort Wilkins near Copper Harbor and their carefully penned manuscript, "The Agate," is part of the current exhibit on Michigan's northern peninsula in the University of Michigan's historical collections.

The facetious sheet, with subjects ranging from politics to bears and wild cats, is headed by a small water color of Fort Wilkins, showing the barracks on a strip of land between Lake Panny Hooc and Lake Superior.

Among noteworthy early documents included in the display is the diary of William W. Spalding who lived in the Copper country when it was first being developed in 1844-46. Entries of late July and early August, 1845, tell of his visits to Copper Harbor at the tip of the Keweenaw peninsula.

Mineralogy of the district is related in the 1841 and 1842 reports of Dr. Douglas Houghton, pioneer geologist of Michigan and one of the first to thoroughly explore the vast region of the north, then a wilderness, disclosing to the world the secret of the copper deposits on Lake Superior's south shore. A city and county in the copper region bear his name.

A monument at Eagle Harbor commemorates his death by drowning in 1845 at the age of 36.

Other cases contain photographs illustrating Upper Michigan's logging operations, early lumber camps and iron and copper mining.

A case spotlighting the Sault Locks contains a diary kept by Richard Bury in 1853, on a boat trip from Detroit to Lake Superior. He wrote when at Sault Ste. Marie, "Visited the work on the canal which is rapidly progressing and will undoubtedly be in position to pass vessels before the close of another season."

Tourist attractions are the subject of many of the items on display. Material in a case on rocks and minerals of Michigan assures us that although no precious stones have as yet been found in Michigan, some of the minerals found in the Keweenaw peninsula and Isle Royale are attractive enough to be classed as gem minerals. Rock and fossil "hounds" might consider a vacation spent looking for agates which are often found on the shores of Lake Superior along the Keweenaw peninsula and Isle Royale.

There is also a 32-page picture section of the family.

Ever see 27 horses pulling a combine? There's a picture of such in Stewart Holbrook's MACHINES OF PLENTY. How machinery on the farm has transformed America's living in Holbrook's story. With considerable detail, he relates the role of such pioneers as Jerome I. Case, once known as the "thrashing-machine king of the world." Lamenting the passing of the steam traction engine, Holbrook notes that farmers in several states are having annual reunions for the purpose of operating the old steam power equipment.

The work of infernal machines is still with us. With some more than others, as with M. Hachiya, M. D., author of HIROSHIMA DIARY. Heralded as the best and most complete account of an eye witness, the book is a portrayal of the greatest man-made catastrophe in history. Director of a Hiroshima hospital, Dr. Hachiya was wounded in the blast, and his hospital gutted. While getting his hospital back into operation the doctor kept a diary of his efforts. How he succeeded in the chaos of a blasted, defeated country is worth reading about.

More honor to the Soo Centennial is the object of HAWATHA AND AMERICA'S GREATEST MILE. Containing a facsimile of the first edition of Longfellow's HAWATHA, there is a 68-page illustrated introduction, comparing Hlawatha with Charles Harvey, the young salesman who built the canal.

When vacation resorts take down the shutters, they put up the prices.

Shelves are packed with books, fiction of all kinds. None over 50c, many at less than that.

Oh, I almost forgot to mention that the second printing of Peg Leg is nearing exhaustion. If you want one, you'd better buy now.

Book Talk

Summer hours, effective immediately, at the Mason branch of the Ingham county library: Monday through Friday, 2-6 p. m.; Saturday, 10-11; Tuesday and Thursday, 7-9 p. m.

Gandydancers have been officially recognized in the U. S. department of labor's DICTIONARY OF OCCUPATIONAL TITLES. Their work is defined under Trackman. In the auto industry we find the merry-go-round worker, a sub-assembly operation on brake plates. For the more refined, we have jobs like meringue topper, candy feeder and parade man.

The latest edition of this dictionary, now in the reference collection of the Ingham county library, contains definitions of 22,028 jobs, which are known by an additional 17,995 titles. If you're a Bandeaux maker or a zoo store-keeper, your job will be defined. Come in and find out what you've been doing all these years.

A gentleman's man is listed in the dictionary, but not a gentleman farmer. That lets Louis Bromfield out. In his latest book, FROM MY EXPERIENCE, THE PLEASURES AND MISERIES OF LIFE ON A FARM, Bromfield makes it plain that he no longer considers himself an amateur. He has farmed for 15 years now, and is just as proud of Malabar farm as he ever was. In this book he tells how his ideas were used to create another Malabar in Brazil.

A new brother act, destined to leave its mark on this country and the world, is considered in THE GREAT AMERICAN HERITAGE by Bela Kornitzer. It is the previously unrecorded story of the 5 Eisenhower brothers: Arthur, Edgar, Dwight, Earl and Milton, and the late Roy J. Eisenhower. This is a narrative, with interviews, of the Eisenhowers and their families in Kansas City, Missouri, Tacoma, Washington, The White House, Junction City, Kansas, LaGrange, Illinois, and State College, Pennsylvania.

Notes from the Logbook

No one could or should take a trip without sampling new ideas and new experiences along with food.

Here are some of the ideas or whatever else they can be called, flung down before jelling:

Politicians will find little profit in harping on communism as a 1956 campaign issue.

Half of our traffic lights could be discarded and we'd all be better drivers.

Michigan must eventually adopt a maximum speed limit.

Wisconsin is breaking up its last big Indian reservation.

The first shipment of iron ore from Lake Superior country was made from Tower, Minnesota, July 31, 1884.

Minnesota iron mining carries a $70,000,000 payroll, pays $35,000,000 in taxes and uses $100,000,000 worth of equipment.

Rich ores of all kinds are being discovered in Ontario above Lake Superior.

Michigan, say Michigan tourists and those from other states, provides the best camping facilities anywhere.

Michigan's roadside tourist parks are unmatched by anything encountered in Minnesota or Wisconsin.

Ontario does by far the best job of welcoming tourists and providing them with information.

An umbrella tent with a center pole is the easiest to pitch.

People pitching and packing tents should speak only when spoken to by the one in command.

At Indian Lake park a man sat at ease in his Cadillac while his wife and the maid pitched an umbrella tent in 12 1/2 minutes.

Michigan wastes money in pretty national advertising in big magazines, because most of the tourists come only from Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Ontario.

Nothing has so shaken confidence in government as the prolonged Kohler strike in Wisconsin and the strike of ferry boat operators in Michigan.

People find fault about the untidiness of pigeons and gulls.

State Highway Commissioner Ziegler was right and Attorney General Kavanagh was wrong in their controversy over control of peddlers on the docks.

Escanaba's memorial roadside forest planted after World War I has grown beautiful.

Rural schools in Ontario have flower gardens.

We can afford to wait no longer in Michigan before doing something besides talk about desecrating of road sides.

For miles through Wisconsin and on into Michigan are signs urging travelers to eat at a certain restaurant.

Again Ontario does a better job. Even in the Kenora tourist area where there are hundreds of camps all signs along the roadway must conform to a simple lettering showing location.

Wider rights-of-way with rows of trees and shrubs is one way to prevent desecration by billboards.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Last week this column stalled in the Western Ontario bush, where the choice of going on north to the end of the trail or northwest to Kenora was faced.

After working with diamond drill operators in testing for gold and uranium, we decided to put off the northern trip until we could get a Geiger counter.

The drive was beautiful beyond description, through forest broken only by lakes and the road we traveled; up and around hills, twisting between shimmering lakes bearing myriads of water lilies upon their bosoms, down through pine-clad canyons.

Fifty miles from Kenora some of the lakes have a few cottages and occasionally there are cleared fields. Then comes the surprise of Kenora, a beautiful city of 10,000 at the head of the Lake of the Woods, an expanse of water twice as big as Lake St. Clair.

Like most lakes we saw in Ontario and northern Minnesota, Lake of the Woods is dotted with solid rock islands. We pitched our tent on the brink of the rapids at Rushing River, where water hurries away from Dogtooth lake, leaping down a gorge carved out of rock.

There's an extra hour of daylight tucked onto each end of the day at Kenora—it's that far north.

After 3 days at Kenora we headed south for Fort Frances and International Falls, again over a road which wound between lakes and forested hills.

We had our last fling at blueberries near Pelican lake, working with Indians. The wholesale price was up to 30¢ and braves were working with the squaws in the profitable and piteous harvest.

At Eveleth on the Mesabi range, running one of the nation's outstanding school and junior college systems is a former Mason high school principal—M. W. Van Putten.

A surprising thing on the Mesabi range is the establishment of Arrow shirt factories.

It must take a gallon of liquor to mine a ton of iron ore.

dian Lake near Manistique and there found the Floyd Watsons of Mason.

We left Manistique with convoys of National Guard troops bound for summer training at Grayling.

Here in Michigan a lot of people wonder why hockey games are televised.

At Mackinaw City we swung west to drive to Petoskey and down the Lake Michigan shore to Elk Rapids for a last swim before leaving for 66 and the final lap home.

On our trip through Canada we saw neither a Royal Northwest Mounted policeman nor a moose.

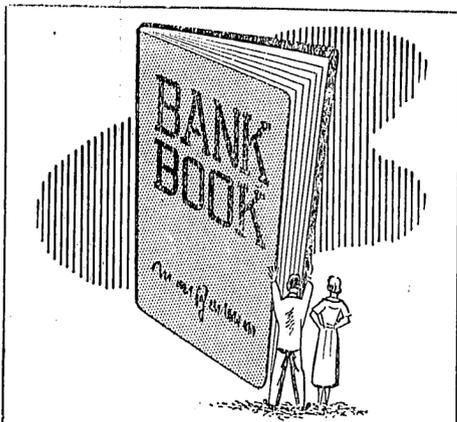

For many miles we traveled through forests which eventually wind up in this paper you're reading.

Seeing those mountains of logs outside a paper mill makes a person wonder if newsprint is the best possible end for a log.

Maybe it ought to be said, for the benefit of those who didn't read the first piece, that the start of our trip was by the SS Keewatin from the Canadian Soo to Fort William.

So we're home again after the best vacation trip we ever had, home again refreshed with clean air, green forests, clear water and new ideas.

From Duluth we followed US-2 across Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula of Michigan to St. Ignace. We camped 2 days at In-

But Coffee and Eggs May Go Higher

Bumper Crops Insure Low Food Prices

By Carl Collin

Record farm production this year should lead to some decline in retail food prices in the next few months. Consumers should benefit slightly from the large supplies of potatoes and pork, seasonal increases in deciduous fruits, and substantially larger crops of vegetables for fresh market this summer. But there also will be seasonal decreases in supplies of eggs and milk, probably increasing their prices to housewives.

One of the main reasons we have mountainous piles of surplus farm products in this country is that we aren't able to sell as much of our farm output to foreign countries as we used to; there's more competition from other producing areas, and many countries which were important customers now raise more of their own food.

Foreign nations have slowed down their buying of U. S. farm products because of the uncertainty of our policy on disposal of surplus stocks. Foreign customers figure the U. S. government may offer farm surpluses at lower prices in an effort to reduce the surplus pile. All of which aggravates the whole export sales situation.

Lack of overseas grain sales has been fouling up Canada's transportation system. A large number of lake ships are tied up in Eastern Canada with cargoes of wheat and other grain.

Elevators at shipping points are jammed full; there's no place to unload the boats until overseas markets absorb the supplies now bulging in harbor elevators.

The number of chickens raised on farms this year was the lowest on record, according to a USDA report. Total was 15% lower than last year. This would indicate possibly higher egg prices during the next 12 months.

The hot weather over much of the country during July was a big factor in pulling down live-stock prices. Prospect of above-normal temperatures for the rest of August isn't helping the situation. People eat less meat during hot weather. Increased supplies of hogs will soon be hitting the market to further depress farm prices on pigs. There will be considerable pressure brought on the USDA to do something about hog prices—buy up some of the huge supply to buoy the market.

Have you ever wondered how the age of your dog compared with your own age? Well... a 6-month-old puppy is equivalent in development to a 10-year-old child. During the first 2 years, each year in a dog's life equals 15 years in man. After that the rate of development in a dog slackens, one of his years being comparable to 4 human years. A 10-year-old dog compares in age to a man of 56, and a 16-year-old dog to a man of 80. A 21-year-old dog is as old in dog years as a 100-year-old man. So be kind to your old pooch. You may get there someday, too.

Trade reports tell of a severe freeze in Brazil which hit the coffee crop again. Prices on the New York stock exchange began to bounce when this news came through. But USDA is having no part of the whole business until its own representatives (agricultural attaches, etc.) can do some private investigating. After the big boom-and-bust coffee prices last year, because of reports of frost damage in Brazil, USDA wants to be cautious in its com-

Horticulture Tour Planned

Current research in horticulture will be featured at the third annual horticulture day at Michigan State university August 18. Site of the event is the university's horticulture farm, according to A. E. Mitchell of the department of horticulture.

The program will get under way at 9:30 a. m. with guided tours of the farm to look at research plots.

Even though the May 9 cold snap eliminated the fruit crop, visitors can see research being carried on as a result of this killing cold.

Tours of the farm have been arranged so that visitors can see the displays and demonstrations of irrigation equipment at the centennial of farm mechanization. The irrigation demonstrations are set for late morning at an area nearby the horticultural farm.

A horticultural field day is to be held at Michigan State university August 18.

ments. Federal trade commission blamed speculators last year for some of the dire reports issued in Brazil. When prices hit such high levels, production of coffee in Brazil and South America was stepped up greatly. So even though the crop in Brazil may have been hurt, there's still a lot of coffee available for world markets this year.

Lemonade powder rich in natural flavor is a new development of USDA scientists. They have also developed orange juice and tomato juice powders in the last few years (which we have reported before). The main advantage of these fruit powders is that they are easy to ship and store and require no refrigeration.

MISCELLANY... The finding of fossilized corn pollen over 60,000 years old in caves 200 feet below Mexico City has definitely established proof that corn originated in the Western Hemisphere. The discovery was made by Harvard botanists... In the first few days of August hog prices in Chicago hit a 10-year low for the month. The top price was down about $6 from a year ago, the average price down about $5... At the end of the first week in August the hot weather and lack of moisture throughout the Midwest had hurt the corn crop. In many areas it would take plenty of rain to snap back to a healthy condition. If the hot weather continues, output of a number of farm crops will be cut back. Vegetables and some fruits had been hurt badly up to August 5.

Avery Offers Lawn Tips

Time of seeding is important in getting a good lawn turf started, M. H. Avery, county agricultural agent, points out. Lawn grasses establish earlier and better in late summer than in the spring, he claims.

Carter Harrison, farm crops specialist at Michigan State university, lists some reasons why fall is a better time than spring to seed the lawn:

Seedings made from August 15 have little or no competition from weeds, fall rains generally begin in early September and temperatures are going down about that time.

Avery says grasses grow best during cool moist weather and Michigan gets that type of weather more often in September and October than in any other period.

Preparing the seed bed, leveling and seeding can better be done in the August dry period and before the fall rains begin. Grass seedlings may not get enough growth before winter if seeding is delayed until the rains start. Dry weather will not hurt the seed but the seedlings should be watered often after they begin to grow.

If there's any doubt as to the type of seed to use, try a 50-50 mixture of bluegrass and fescue. If the soil is high in fertility, the bluegrass will predominate and if the soil is low in fertility, the fescue will predominate.

For rates of seeding, Agent Avery recommends one to 2 lb of seed per 1,000 square feet. As a tip for even distribution, he advises dividing the seed into 2 equal portions, then seeding one portion in one direction and the other portion in the opposite direction.

For fertilizer, use 10 to 20 lb per 1,000 square feet of 12-6-4 or any other high nitrogen fertilizer. Put it on just before seeding and rake it in lightly. Also rake the soil slightly after the seed has been sown to assure sufficient coverage.

Complicated mixtures with red-top and ryegrass as nurse grasses will start faster than the desired mixtures alone. However, the nurse grasses become coarse and competitive once they are established. Avery advises using the desired grasses alone and being patient in watching for the seedlings to appear. Look for them after 2 weeks or 3 weeks following the seeding.

Farmers Band For Hunting

Farmers can apply before September 1 to benefit under the state's Williamston plan of hunting cooperatives.

Last year, 167,000 acres in 50 clubs were included under terms of the plan.

Farmers whose lands adjoin form a large single block to parcel out hunting rights and make game harvest control simpler.

Egg Prices Will Go Up

Poultrymen can expect prices for high quality eggs to increase rapidly during the month of August. This outlook for the egg market was included in a report on the outlook for cattle, hogs, eggs and poultry made by farm economists at Michigan State university.

According to the economists, prices for grade A large eggs may be 20c to 25c a dozen above the June price by mid-October. However, poor quality eggs and small-size eggs will not increase as much in price.

The poultry outlook indicates a decline in prices for old hens during summer and early fall. October is usually the lowest price month of the year.

Pieces of broilers and fryers are expected to stay at present levels during the remainder of August. They'll straighten out some in September but will drop again in October, November and December.

Williamston FFA Chapter Gets Honor

Twenty-six Future Farmers of America chapters, including the Williamston organization, have qualified for final judging in the 12th annual best chapter contest of the Michigan FFA.

Preliminary judging has reduced the field of 223 FFA chapters from all sections of Michigan in the competition to determine the state's outstanding farm youth groups. Chapters are judged on their year-long group projects and programs and their work in aiding members to become established in farming.

All 3 of last year's top chapters in the contest program sponsored by A & P Food stores, remain in the competition for this year's honors, FFA officials said. They are Cassopolis, Sandusky and Williamston.

The Michigan association executive committee has appointed a judging team to determine final winners in the contest involving more than 10,000 farm youngsters.

Michigan's representatives in the National FFA competition and winners of the state gold and silver awards will be announced at a luncheon meeting in Detroit August 24. Officers of winning chapters and their teacher advisors will participate in educational and recreational activities with A & P officials during the day-long program.

Other chapters qualifying for the 1955 state finals are: Alma, Bellevue, Caro, Cedar Springs, Chesaning, Charlotte, Colon, Elkton, Felch, Ionia, Inlay City, Marlette, Midland, Marshall, Merrill, Mount Pleasant, Niles, Olivet, Ovid, Pinconning, Stockbridge, Saranac and Yale.

Country & Town

Detective Captain Versie Babcock solved another breaking and entering job Saturday night. He caught the rat in my house and bashed its head in. It was the second time Babcock ever had blood on his nightstick.

And it was a rat, too. It was a big 4-legged creature and it was trying to hide behind a washer in the kitchen.

My wife smelled a rat (and it isn't just a coined phrase) last Thursday. She knew she wasn't alone in the house when she spied 2 loaves of bread and a piece of pie under the refrigerator. At first she blamed Tim, but he couldn't have possibly crawled through the inch-high opening. No, it was a rat.

We set traps and spread poison throughout the house. But the rat still kept eating between meals.

Then came Saturday night. I was hungry and I looked behind the washer to see if the rat had left anything. The rat stared right back at me. My wife was more than willing to run to Neighbor Babcock for help.

To keep the rat behind the washer until Babs arrived I whistled, tap-danced and sang hymns.

Babs burst through the door with 2 tear gas cartridges, his night stick and a set of handcuffs. The poor rat didn't have a chance. It was trapped like the proverbial rat.

We don't know how the creature moved in with us. We just hope that's the end of it.

A lot of folks think there's something kind of shameful about having rats. It's like having lice or bedbugs or dirty underwear. But I tell my wife there's nothing wrong about any of these qualities. The sin is not in having a rat or 2, but rather in allowing the rats to stay. There's nothing wrong with having dirty socks. The poor grooming is in not getting them washed once in awhile.

Mrs. Donald VanderVeen, Sr., makes a fruit jam that's hard to beat. She gave me a jar of it but wouldn't say what it was made of. It's delicious but wouldn't say what it was made of. It's delicious strawberry and plum.

Raynor park facilities aren't keeping up with the demand for picnic spots. During one of the finest picnic days of the year Sunday, there just wasn't enough space for all of the folks who wanted a place to mix food with sand. Instead of setting out a few trees each year, the whole field west of the boulevard should be planted now. In 6 or 7 years, there would be plenty of park facilities for this part of the county.

Ingham's county fair ought to be billed as a part of the great centennial of farm mechanization at Michigan State university next week. Both the fair and the centennial are scheduled for the same days. Some folks predict only gloom for the county endeavor. County fairs were first organized to teach agriculture and better farm house practices.

The county fair system is as close to Michigan agricultural advances as Michigan State university itself. The county fairs were and still are a major way of showing the masses of farm and city people the newest advances in farm ideas. The fair system is the link between theory and practice.

If you first attend the centennial of farm mechanization, you've just seen half of the farm story. The other half will be out at the county fairgrounds in Mason. Take it in, too.

Davis Wins Top Award At MSU

Charles J. Davis of Onondaga is one of 16 men to receive special centennial awards at Michigan State university next week. The men include farmers, agricultural business and farm organizations and college educators. Davis will receive his award Monday, August 16.

Others who will receive awards Monday will be: George A. Kohn, Fenwick; Howard J. McKenzie, Cassopolis; Herbert M. VanAken, Eaton Rapids; and Robert Anderson, Covert.

Gallagher, farm service director, Consumers Power company, Jackson; Raymond Olney, editor and publisher, Agricultural Engineer, St. Joseph; Forrest A. Smith, agricultural counsel, Michigan Chain Stores Bureau, and executive secretary, Michigan Agricultural Conference, Lansing; and John F. Yeager, executive secretary, Michigan Farm Bureau, Lansing.

Gardner, assistant dean emeritus, school of agriculture and director emeritus, agricultural experiment station, Michigan State university, Winter Park, Florida; George A. Garratt, dean, school of forestry, Yale university, New Haven, Connecticut; Charles E. Kellogg, assistant administrator for soil survey, U. S. department of agriculture, Washington, D. C.; and Damon A. Spencer, principal animal husbandryman, sheep, goat and fiber research section, U. S. department of agriculture, Beltsville, Maryland.

Fire Burns Forest

Forty fires burned 150 acres of Michigan forests and grasslands last week. To date this year, 5,026 acres have been damaged.

MSU Plans Huge Exhibit Of Dairying

The accomplishments of the dairy equipment industry in reducing the drudgery of farm life will be dramatized in live exhibits at Michigan State University August 15-20.

Thirty manufacturers will pool their efforts in assembling the exhibit with an area of 10,000 square feet as part of the centennial of farm mechanization. Accommodations for 1,000 will be available under the huge dairy shelter.

The dairying story will be told at 2 programs daily beginning at 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Sixteen cows supplied by the university will be featured in one program. Equipment shown in handling these cows will include an automatic gutter cleaner, a pipeline milking system, bulk milk storage tanks as well as up-to-date barn equipment for the cow stanchion area.

In the other program visitors can look at a model barn built with all the latest equipment and planning for top efficiency. Electric ventilating, heating and lighting equipment will be a part of this exhibit. Many agricultural groups will help to tell about other phases of the dairy industry.

But this dairy exhibit is only part of the huge 100-acre exhibit area. New and old farm equipment valued at more than $20,000,000 will show the development of machinery in America. Some machinery companies will be showing their entire line of farm equipment in one place for the first time in history. Much of this equipment will actually be demonstrated.

Special equipment features every day include a tug-of-war between giant tractors, a safety demonstration on tractor handling, and irrigation equipment usage. A special area has been set aside for old threshers' activities. Farm transportation progress will be depicted through a series of displays of equipment.

Homemakers will find exhibits, displays and equipment to hold their interest, too. Five types of modern kitchens can be compared to the kitchens of the past and the designers' dream kitchens of the future. Center of women's exhibits will be the university auditorium.

Tractor-pulled wagons will transport visitors around the exhibition grounds and 5 new campus parking lots are ready to handle as many as 10,000 cars.

There'll be daily band concerts to entertain and a pageant each night to dramatize the achievement of farm mechanization.

Mailmen Are Counting Wild Game

About 350 rural and star route mail carriers are counting deer and grouse in the upper and northern lower peninsulas as part of a conservation department census study.

The count is an annual late summer survey and will run August 1-20. Carriers count total numbers of birds and whitetails seen on their regular delivery routes. A comparison with totals seen in previous years gives an over-all index of population useful both to the hunter and game research.

Department game specialists expect the census will show grouse numbers up slightly from last year while deer numbers will probably be about the same as in 1954. Grouse are currently at a low point in their 10-year high-low population cycle.

Results of the study are expected in early September.

Avery Visits Shiawassee Farm Tour

Many Ingham farmers were unable to attend the state farm management tour in Shiawassee county August 4.

"We first went to the Russell Jenkinson farm north of Corunna. This farm had been in the Jenkinson family for 3 generations. Mrs. Jenkinson had been a city girl. She said she loved it and thought it was a fine place for the youngsters with many activities to keep them busy and interested.

The Jenkinson family included Mr. and Mrs. Jenkinson, 2 high school boys, Gerald and Harold, and a daughter, 9 years old. The farm consisted of 240 acres with 208 acres tillable. It has always been a dairy farm but recently the Jenkinsons had an important decision to make. With the boys growing up and changes in dairying they felt that they should decide as to whether they should become big dairyman or move out of dairying entirely. They looked over their farm account books and decided that they should stay in the dairy business. Since each cow had produced an income of nearly $400.00 per cow they felt that if they could push their number of cows up to 50 it would give them the income they would need.

Mrs. Jenkinson said that they made this decision because of 3 factors. First, they found that dairying was a paying proposition; secondly, it could be made a big enough job to keep the boys on the farm with full time work if they were interested and finally their dairy herd improvement and farm account records showed this is the best way to increase their program without adding more land.

There were a few features around the barns that were of special interest to the group. The Jenkinsons had begun to switch over to the pen-type barn, having taken out the stanchions. They had added a shed roof to one barn so that there was a covering over a feed bunk. This made it possible by running an automatic conveyor belt to this feed bunk to run the silage through from the silo to feed the cows silage and later the conveyor belt was reversed and chopped hay could be fed from the other end by a chute from the hay mow.

Jenkinson had also put in an 8-stall milking parlor which he is using now. He does not have the bulk tank but does have the pipe line in and milks directly into the milk can. He believes that he and the boys can handle the 50 cows. At the rate their cows have been producing with about 12,000 lb of milk per year per cow, at $4.00 milk, they would have an income of about $28,000.00 gross.

One of the interesting things about the Jenkinson family is that in addition to carrying on the farm program both Mr. and Mrs. Jenkinson were 4-H club leaders in their community. They were helping in community life and taking an interest in the program of the young folks. The Jenkinson children are active 4-H members.

The second farm we visited was the Joe Kalisek farm a short distance from the Jenkinsons. The Kalisek farm is a completely crop farm. I think you would be interested in how Joe and his wife got started. Joe started in 1935 by buying 60 acres next to his dad and renting extra land. He used horses and some horse-drawn machinery and was able to work some machinery back and forth with his dad. He gradually purchased new machinery and in 1939 bought his present 160 acres. In 1944 he added another 160 so that now the farm is 320 acres with 300 acres tillable. This is another completely family farm in that Joe handles all the work with the help of his wife and older daughter who is 16 and the boy 11 during the rush season. However, he has the best of machinery so that work can be done quickly.

During the 15 years from 1940 to 1955 Joe had tilled the farm completely with over 200,000 tile. This was completed in 1950. The land is heavy so that tilling is necessary on this flat land. Joe was originally raising a great acreage of wheat but due to controls has switched now to a heavy program of field beans, wheat and a small acreage of oats and clover.

Someone asked Joe why he didn't grow corn and his reply was that he didn't have equipment. His equipment is for wheat and beans and he would have to get an extra planter, cultivator and corn picker in order to handle a corn crop. Joe has 3 tractors so that the family can help during rush season and with a self-propelled combine and dump trucks. His wife or the boy can handle the grain from the combine. At the buildings he has a granary with an elevator so that the dump trucks can dump the grain directly into a pit and then have it elevated to the bins where he wants it.

Joe contributes his success to careful planning, plenty of good equipment, low labor costs since he hires almost none, and lots of fertilizer. He uses about 400 lb of 3-12-12 on wheat and 2 pounds of 3-12-12 on the beans. However,

MR. AND MRS. NEAL MENTINK live on the farm pictured in last week's Ingham County News mystery farm series. The farm is located 4 1/2 miles west of Leslie on Bellevue road.

The farm covers 134 acres. Corn and oats are Mentink's favorite crops although wheat and hay are also grown. Kingsley lake is also located on the farm. Mentink bought the farm in November, 1950, from Carl Warner. He has also worked at the Leslie Elevator for the last 2 years.

The Mentinks have 2 daughters, Marjorie Ann, 6, and Rose-merry, 3.

This week's winner of 4 theatre tickets for correctly guessing the mystery farm is Mrs. Ernest Jenkins. The theatre tickets may be picked up at the Ingham County News office.

The Mentinks will also receive a free photograph of the farm at the News office.

he seeds a legume in all stubble crops and plows that down to improve the soil. He believes that about 20% to 25% of the land should be into clover to plow down.

I neglected to mention along with the improvements made that the buildings have been improved, a new granary put up and the house completely remodelled since the Kaliseks came to the farm.

These 2 farms show what can be done by a family that is willing to work, that does careful planning and possibly in this case have started at the right time. Next week I will bring you the third farm of a young family starting out which I think will be of interest to many of the younger farmers in Ingham county.

Balbo Rye Is Good For Late Fall

Balbo rye produces more late-fall and early-spring pasture in many counties than any other pasture crop. Other rye varieties do not make as much growth in the fall and early spring as does Balbo.

This reminder comes from Ley-ton Nelson, extension farm crops specialist at Michigan State University.

Balbo is especially useful on the lighter, better-drained soils, he points out. These soils permit traffic without cutting up the rye sod and Balbo rye is a good pasture crop. It has vigorous fall and early spring growth and does not cause off-flavored milk, he stated.

Seed of Balbo rye is considerably smaller than that of Rosen and the color of the seed helps farmers to identify it. Balbo seed is more yellow and brown while Rosen is primarily green, Nelson explained.

August seedings are recommended and will provide more

October pasture than September seedings. The recommended rate is 4 to 5 pecks per acre. Balbo rye responds well to commercial fertilizer. Fertilize it the same as you would wheat on the same land, Nelson suggests.

Here's hour-saving, dollar-saving power for your job . . . the biggest choice of engines in Chevrolet truck history! And they're the most modern engines in the industry!

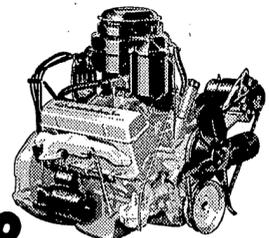

You've got it good under the hood with a new Chevrolet Task-Force truck! With two new V8's and five new sixes to choose from, you can pick the power that's tailor-made to do your kind of hauling.

Shortest stroke V8's in any leading truck! Both of Chevrolet's new truck V8's have an ultra-short stroke—shortest of any V8 in any leading truck. They're of modern oversquare design, which means that the piston stroke is smaller than the bore. The result is less piston travel per mile . . . longer engine life. Also, Chevrolet's compact truck V8's deliver exceptionally high horsepower per pound of engine weight. More power is actually available for hauling your loads!

Modern 12-volt electrical system! You get this great development in all new Chevrolet truck engines—both V8's and sixes. The 12-volt electrical system delivers twice the punch for quicker cold-weather starting (up to 30% faster cranking speed). It also provides a hotter, fatter spark for better ignition.

State Will Get North-South Trunkline

Northland resorts have the promise of a highway funneling thousands of cars into their drive-ways—one way or another.

The tug-of-war between toll roads and free superhighways is the focal point of one of the hottest disputes in years.

On one end of the rope is the Michigan Turnpike Authority and on the other end is Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler. The people are in the middle.

Ziegler, really, must play a dual role. He is also a member of the turnpike authority, a situation that has had him dodging brickbats from all directions for 2 years.

The authority is guided by experienced hands who insist on a 113-mile toll road between Flat Rock and Saginaw.

Ziegler is rushing work on a competitive route, a relocation of US-10 from Detroit to Saginaw and of US-25 from Detroit to the Ohio border near Toledo.

"We've got a lot of money tied up in that road now and we can't walk away and leave it," Ziegler said.

Turnpike champions, headed by the authority chairman, George N. Higgins, Ferndale Republican, figure Ziegler is perpetrating a dastardly doublecross.

"Ziegler has caused the authority a lot of problems," Higgins said. "But I don't think he'll block us anymore."

From a cash-on-the-line standpoint, the turnpike will cost $165,000,000 and the free highway $138,000,000. Ziegler said he could finish the free road in 3 years.

Higgins said the turnpike can be completed in 39 months after the bonds are sold. They will be retired from tolls.

There was a poignant moment when congress killed President Eisenhower's highway aid plan, which would have given Michigan federal money for interstate highways at a 90-10 ratio, federal to state matching.

"If we get that, we can finish the free highway in 3 years," Ziegler said.

When the bill was killed in congress, Ziegler said state money would do the job in the same time. Higgins, mourning the death of the program in congress on the surface, privately was jubilant: "This will put all the more steam behind the turnpike program. We'll get started as soon as we can and build the toll road."

Serious questions have arisen from the situation. If there is to be a competing free road—with the same superhighway construction—will New York financiers go for the revenue bonds?

Will motorists prefer the free superhighway to the toll road, creating a boycott and a virtually impossible financing problem for the turnpike?

Ziegler denies he doublecrossed the turnpike authority. He said he was assured by the engineers for the turnpike that a free route along the same general route "would have no effect."

There have been hints that the 1956 legislature, recognizing the tight spot occupied by Higgins, a former senator, could remove Ziegler from the authority.

On the other hand, Ziegler may be running for re-election next year. Republicans would think twice before jeopardizing his chances against a Democrat.

Best bet here is that the turnpike authority, with Higgins at the helm, will be told to go ahead. Ziegler will be told to take it a little easy and maybe change the route of his free road a bit.

Water wonderland may be junked as the license plate slogan in 1956.

It became a hot weather issue for Secretary of State James M. Hare, with touches of legal trouble and with visual acuity of motorists.

Hare said that dozens of motorists had written, complaining that the "Water Wonderland" slogan at the bottom of the plates squeezed the numbers into hard-to-identify proportions.

So, Hare asked a special committee to look into the problem, among others.

Then came the legal questions. An unidentified attorney in Detroit asked whether the state was violating its own law against advertising of any kind on the license plates. Hare answered: "You've got me, but I'll find out."

Hare is still checking with Attorney General Thomas M. Kavanagh. The law plainly states that there shall be no advertising of any kind on a license plate.

Hare, mourning the state of affairs which has the 1956 plates rolling off the lines 30,000 a day at Jackson state prison, figured the question would be answered before production of 1957 plates.

"I expect the committee to recommend that the slogan be dropped for 1957 and thereafter," he said.

Smear Tactics Start

The chairman of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) now says that President Eisenhower was personally responsible for the "most corrupt" administration since that of President Harding. According to newspaper reports, he accused the government of "payoffs to special interests."

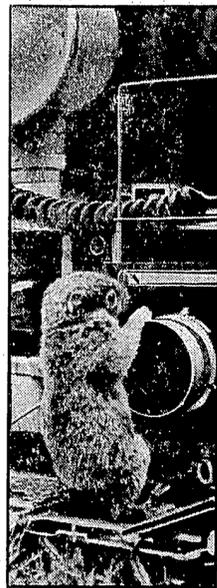

Now, perhaps some who refused to believe me when I exposed ADA for what it is will change their minds. Now, perhaps folks will understand that ADA will go to any length in its effort to smear and defame.

The man who made this vicious lying attack has appeared before congressional committees as attorney for men who took refuge behind the fifth amendment when asked questions about their connection with the Communist movement. He poses as a great "liberal." And he pretends that his outfit, ADA, is non-partisan and anti-Communist. But even the New York Times says that it (ADA) "generally follows the philosophy of the Democratic New Deal and Fair Deal." That is the understatement of the year.

Not many people will swallow this man's charge that President Eisenhower is deliberately fostering graft and corruption. I doubt that even he believes it. We know it is not true. Unfortunately, however, many people will read his future attacks upon Republicans and Republican policies without remembering that they come from this same character assassin. People may be unconsciously influenced because they do not recall his smear of the president. I hope everyone remembers his name and position. It is Joseph L. Rauh, Jr. And I hope they will not forget that he speaks for the left-wing outfit, Americans for Democratic Action.

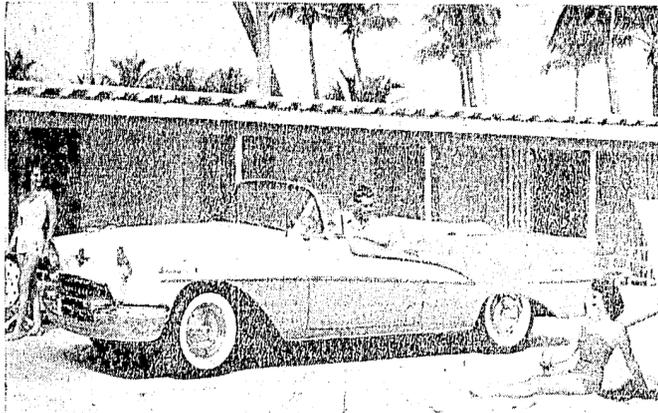

The Communists use the technique of the big lie. They accuse their opponents of the crimes of which they themselves are guilty. They do this to distract attention from their own record. This latest attack upon the president is obviously designed to make us forget the graft and corruption of the Truman era. I hope people will not let themselves be fooled by this tactic.

Olds Exhibits Cut-Away Models at Fair

A colorful display of 1955 Oldsmobiles that accentuate the restyled appearance and low silhouette will be exhibited by McCarn Oldsmobile in the Ingham county fair August 15-20. Oldsmobile's bright and attractive colors, shown to advantage in the latest concept of the famous 2-tone styling that Oldsmobile pioneered last year, will be well represented in the display. Working models of GM power steering and power brakes, that permit visitors to operate them and receive a first-hand demonstration of their effort-saving efficiency, will be featured in the Oldsmobile exhibit.

Fair visitors will see a completely redesigned front end on the 1955 Oldsmobiles, with the Oldsmobile name spelled out in chrome block letters across the upper bumper bar. Recessed headlights with chrome caps that extend well over the lens at the top and new bumper contours both front and rear are other distinguishing marks of the 1955 Oldsmobiles.

Color separation for Oldsmobile's famous flying colors 2-tone styling is achieved with a stainless steel side moulding that forms an attractive design on the front and rear doors and the rear quarter panel. The body above and below this panel and the trunk are painted one color,

Stock Tank Heater Lowers Feed Costs

Providing beef steers with warm water to drink during cold winter months can add 10% extra weight and pay farmers an extra dividend by cutting feed costs.

Two lots of two-year old steers were used in research tests at the University of Idaho experiment station in Caldwell, Ida. One was given cold water, the other warm water. The cattle were carried on feed 125 days during cold winter months.

Steers drinking warm water during the 80-day winter period gained an additional 23.19 pounds per head, or about 10%. Feed costs for the warm water steers were reduced $1.18 per 100 pounds gained, or about 10.9%.

Cost of providing warm water for 40 beef cattle and 150 hogs last winter totaled $35 for five cylinders of liquefied petroleum gas on the Frank Modraeck farm, Linn county, Ia. Correct water temperature was also automatically maintained by a thermostat on the L.P.-Gas (butane-propane) stock tank heater. Heat came on whenever the water dropped below 48 degrees, the proper drinking water temperature for cattle.

while the roof, hood, front fender and space within the moulding are finished in a contrasting color. Nineteen body colors in 1955 Oldsmobile.
