'Viet Nam Rough, Tough, and Bloody'

Wounded Mason Marine Home on Leave

Viet Nam is rough, tough and bloody. The boy said it calmly and without malice in his voice.

He should know, he was wounded there. His left foot where a Viet Cong's snipers bullet found its mark was swathed in bandages which were hidden by a boot.

On the army records he is listed as Private 1st Class Robert Jordan Jr. No. 2088645 and he is Mason's first casualty in the jungle war in southeast Asia.

In Mason he is known as Bob Jordan, 19, who has spent his entire life here, went to school at the Harper and Kipp rural schools and then at Mason high school where he graduated in June of 1964.

Prior to graduation, in February of 1964, he enlisted in the United States Marines because he thought they were rough and tough soldiers and he wanted to do his bit for his country.

A week after he received his high school diploma he was in boot camp at Camp Pendleton, California. He stayed there 16 weeks and then was granted a 20-day leave. After his leave he returned to Pendleton for 3 months more of training and then was shipped out to Okinawa. He spent 3 months there learning radar and receiving training in jungle fighting.

It was then, June 1965, his company left Okinawa for Viet Nam.

Jordan was with Alpha Company No. 19, an infantry outfit of the 3rd Marine regiment. His regiment landed near Dnang airport. Things went along as usual for nearly 3 months.

Then on September 9 of this year his outfit moved out among the rice paddies and wooded area 7 miles north of Dnang. Jordan's company of about 150 men ran into a battalion of Viet Cong and the skirmish started.

Traffic Bureau Is OK'd, Then Shelved for Future

No Fund Set Up For Operation

Mason now has a paper tiger in the form of a traffic violations bureau following Monday night's City council meeting. Although approved, the bureau will be just a matter of record until a need for it arises.

Councilmen followed through with an ordinance amendment that would give the city power to set up such a bureau, but failed to make an appropriation of funds or hire a clerk to operate the bureau.

On the recommendation of John O'Brien, city attorney, the council approved the bureau so that past work to get such an agency established would not be wasted and the enforcement section could be put into immediate use should the need arise.

The bureau, if and when it is activated, will be under the complete jurisdiction of the justice of the peace.

In previous meetings all discussions indicated a quick approval of the traffic violation bureau until a council work session 2 weeks ago. At this session Roy Adams spoke to the council stating a violation bureau was unnecessary for a town Mason's size and that he didn't want to be responsible for an agency working in a building some 4 blocks from his office.

It was intended that the traffic violations clerk would also staff the police department office during the day, answering the phone, taking messages, miscellaneous clerical and typing work, plus accepting payment of fines for traffic tickets.

At one time councilmen thought the traffic bureau would kill 2 birds with one stone by hiring one person for the bureau and the police department too. As it stands now everything will remain the same until sometime in the future.

In voting on the bureau ordinance, there was one dissenting vote which was cast by Gilson Pearsall, mayor.

Pearsall told his reasons for voting against the bureau: "I voted against this because if the bureau is not going to be used it is wasted and also

Supervisors Transfer Funds

$180,000 for Welfare Aid

A transfer of some $180,000 from the county general fund to the social welfare department was quickly approved at the Tuesday meeting of the Ingham county board of supervisors.

Daryl Minnis, director of social welfare in the county, requested by letter, an additional $180,000 over their appropriated budget for direct relief and social welfare of $1,500,600 for the 1965 year.

Of the $180,000 Minnis said some $70,000 would be needed for direct relief and $110,000 for social welfare to carry the department through the last 2 months of the year.

Lawrence Parker, county controller, said that presently the county general fund contains some $520,000 and will be reduced by this approved transfer.

Austin Cavanaugh, chairman of the board, said the general fund was not unlimited and could not take too many more such reductions, especially since the county is planning to have at least a surplus of $350,000 to carry over into the next year for the county's increased 1966 budget.

The Ingham county board of social welfare by way of a resolution also indicated there was a need for additional office space for employees of the department.

In the resolution the welfare board recommended a structural addition be constructed onto the present building at 101 W. Willow street, Lansing.

Donors To Make Life Tree

Each bauble placed on the "tree of life" in the window of the Smith Hardware store in Mason December 10 could represent a life saved.

As an encouragement for more people to give blood, the Mason Kiwanis club is placing a red Christmas ball with a donor's name written on it to help decorate the "tree of life."

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Presbyterian church Friday from noon to 6 p.m. As each blood donation is collected, a personalized Christmas bauble will be hung on the tree.

Everyone is urged to give on December 10 and watch the "tree of life" come to life with colorful decorations.

The Red Cross alone has provided 2 and a half million units of blood through their headquarters, area offices and the 56 regional blood centers which are licensed by the National Institutes of Health.

Any Ingham county resident can receive blood free of charge in any part of this country where blood from the Red Cross program is available.

township supervisor, and chairman of the supervisors' welfare committee, said the added facility was necessary to centralize the employees for more efficient use of the department files and work. The space needed would be 40 x 80 feet, Durkee said.

3 Persons Hurt In 5 Accidents

Three persons were injured, one seriously in a series of 5 automobile accidents in Mason this week.

Most seriously injured was Gene Nesbitt, 14, son of Mrs. Freada Nesbitt, 1987 Columbia road.

Others who suffered minor injuries in a collision of cars at Elm and Lansing streets at 8:15 a.m. Wednesday were David F. Meck, 17, of 503 W. Maple streets, and John Kersan, 42, of Jenison, Michigan, a construction foreman for Brown Brothers Construction company engaged in building an overpass over US-127 at South street.

Both were treated at Mason General hospital and released. Meck was driving east on W. Elm street and Kersan was driving north on S. Lansing street.

Police said Meck failed to yield the right of way and the 2 cars collided at right angles. Both cars were demolished. Meck was ticketed for failure to yield, police said.

In the accident involving the Nesbitt boy, police said Nesbitt, riding a bicycle, disregarded a stop sign at Roosevelt and Washington streets Monday and was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Melba Jane Vreeland, 527 S. Barnes street, Mason. No tickets were issued.

The car, moving north on Washington, struck him as he wheeled into the intersection. He suffered a compound fracture of his left leg and abrasions and bruises to the right leg. He was admitted to Mason General hospital for treatment.

A Mason woman and a Holt man were involved in another accident Wednesday morning (See ACCIDENTS, Page A-8)

Yule Lights To Shine

With $250 in prizes on the line, Mason residents are making plans to decorate the exterior of their homes this Christmas season even better than in years past.

Seventy nine merchants in Mason have posted the $250 which will be distributed to winners in the contest. The winners will be selected by a group of judges yet to be named.

First prize is $100, 2nd, $75, 3rd, $50, and 4th $25. Prizes are to be awarded on the basis of beauty and originality and not on the value of the display.

Members of the Mason Merchants' association are not eligible to compete in the contest, but are expected to do more outdoor decorating at their stores this Christmas than ever before.

Herschel Jewett is chairman of the contest.

Jewett said today that the selected winners will be chosen from displays within the city limits of Mason but he extended an invitation to families living outside these limits to join with Mason in making the area an outstanding example of the Christmas spirit.

"Border lines in the contest are necessary", he said, "or there would be no limit to its extent."

Several homes outside the city already have attractive displays in place. An especially excellent one has been noted on College road.

Jewett pointed out that persons planning to decorate their homes and yards can take many steps to make a beautiful display. He said they can decorate yard trees, both small and big, can decorate the contours of the house and make paper-mache figures to add lustre to the scene.

"It appears to me that the people living outside the Mason city limits are issuing a challenge to the folks in Mason to make their Christmas outdoor decorations better", Jewett said.

MSU Justin Morrill College To Stress Foreign Languages

List 400 Frosh in 1st Class

Michigan State university embarked on a new adventure in higher education this fall with the creation of Justin S. Morrill college.

Morrill college is a small college within the larger university and offers abroad liberal education with an international dimension. It has its own dormitories, faculty, curriculum and will grant its own degree.

Named after the sponsor of the Morrill Land Grant Act of 1862, the college is a new "living and learning" experience for 400 MSU freshmen—200 men and 200 women.

"Our differences in program," Dr. D. Gordon Rohman, dean of Morrill college, explained, "should be interpreted as alternatives to present patterns of undergraduate education at MSU. They are an attempt to meet the problem of bigness with some kind of creative response so that we may retain some of the advantages of size while eliminating some of its dangers."

Dean Rohman pointed out that the 2 goals of the college are "the development of an international attitude among its students and the encouragement of the students to find out who they are and how to study independently."

The first students in Morrill college live in Phillips and Snyder residence halls along with 400 other MSU students. The students in Morrill college, however, have many of their classes in the Snyder-Phillips residence halls. Also housed in the halls are the offices of Dean Rohman and faculty members of the new college.

Development of the international attitude among students will be cultivated by an intensive program of a limited number of foreign languages—French and Russian the first year—as well as courses about foreign cultures. Students will gain the equivalent of three years study of a language in four quarters through intensive work.

At the end of the language training, a student has the opportunity to go abroad for another quarter to continue his language study and to learn first-hand another culture. The encouragement of self-discovery and independent study, explains Dr. Rohman, will be carried out by two means: "The construction of a real community out of the living-learning situation of the college, in which, the desire to learn may flourish; the designing of courses within the college to get the best teaching from teachers, and the most response from the students."

"We assure," Dr. Rohman added, "that students are more often stimulated and involved in study by courses that reflect the teacher's special enthusiasm. Therefore, the professors within Morrill college will be given the freedom to teach their special interest."

The curriculum for the new college consists of 4 sequences of study: foreign languages, the social sciences, the humanities, the natural sciences and English composition. These fields will be supplemented by a field of concentration and electives taken in the university at large, all to be capped by an integrative senior course of independent or seminar study.

At the entrance of one of the academic-residence halls, Dr. D. Gordon Rohman, dean of Justin S. Morrill college, talks with Mark White of Okemos and Nadine Foster of East Detroit. Both are freshmen in the new experimental college.

Study Group Readies Its Report

Members of the Ingham Intermediate School District Reorganization study committee, formed last February under public Act 288 of the 1964 legislature, Monday night completed an outline of its 10 months' work.

A public hearing on the committee's report is scheduled for Thursday, December 16 in the cafeteria of the Williamston high school at 8 p.m. Following that hearing the report will be sent to the state committee on school reorganization.

If the state committee accepts the recommendations of the county group, a vote will be taken in the Williamston-White Dog area.

The report will consist of 3 sets of recommendations as follows:

1. Including Williamston and White Dog school districts into a single new proposed district.
2. Action looking toward the straightening of school boundaries between Holt and...

Flames Damage Plane

A planned flying excursion to Jackson didn't even get off the ground for 2 Mason men.

James Stubbett and John Hamlin had just rolled the plane out of the hanger, started up the engine of the Piper PA12 which belongs to the Red Cedar Flying club when the engine burst into flames last Thursday morning.

Quick thinking by Hamlin probably saved the plane from complete destruction. He jumped out and threw his coat over the flames to smother them. Hamlin, who is a Mason volunteer fireman, then called the fire department who arrived shortly after.

The plane which is a 1947 model, 3 passenger, with 1,000 hours in the air, suffered only minor damage to the engine wiring, but Hamlin's coat was destroyed.

Owners of the plane have gratefully offered to replace the coat if the insurance company doesn't. The owners include Stubbett, Bart Smith, Farrel Howe and Art Lance, all of Mason; and Joe Wise, East Lansing; Walter Schmidtman, Ovid; and Don Hadwin of Holt.

The club has been in existence for 10 years and has always stored the plane at the Jewett Airport on Barnes street. It had been flown just one week ago without any difficulties.

Stubbett said he thought the engine backfired and started the fire in the air cleaner and carburetor. He has been flying since 1956.

Schools To Close Dec. 22

Mason public schools will close for the Christmas vacation at the end of classes on Wednesday, December 22 and will resume on Monday, January 3, it was decided by the board of education at its meeting Monday night.

A group of mothers visited the board with a request for the use of the closed Eden school as a meeting place for the Michigan 8th Artillery, a group of youthful civil war buffs in Mason. The matter was referred to the building and sites committee in regard to legal and mechanical aspects of the matter.

The board approved rental of the gymnasium and showers as the Mason senior high school to the Mason Church Basketball league for 7 consecutive Monday evenings at a charge of $23 a night.

The board also accepted the resignation of a teacher and appointed her replacement.

Mrs. Sandra O'Malley, home economics teacher at the junior high school resigned effective January 21. The board appointed Mrs. Ruth Howes of Mason to succeed her, starting January 23 for the remainder of the school year. Mrs. Howes has had 4 years teaching experience and holds a B.A. degree.

Bills in the amount of $45,632.75 were approved. This included the cost of two 66 passenger buses for the school fleet.

Musical Relic Is 55 Years Old

Fred Barber, 318 E. Maple street has a rare musical relic which he recently unearthed at his farm. It is a souvenir March number which was acquired when the Libertati band, once a famous musical organization in America, played at the Michigan State fair in Detroit in 1910.

Libertati was a noted virtuoso and band leader of his time.

Big Chains to Run Future Supermarkets

By 1980, 75 per cent of Michigan's food sales will be in the hands of large chain supermarkets.

About 20 retailing chains will offer consumers push service in highly automated stores, according to Michigan State university specialists.

Soms of the new features that consumers will see in the supermarkets after 1975 are sidewalk conveyors, spiral-shaped buildings, special coded markets for stamping desired items, and menus of the day from which various items can be selected automatically. Shoppers will find elaborate merchandise displays, hostesses, a rotating drum display housing the special of the day, and automatic check-out, boxing and sealing.

Also included in the supermarket center will be a beauty shop, post office, bank, shoe repair shop, medical facilities, play rooms and customer lounges. The homemaker will be able to complete most of her business in just one shop.

Stores will sell most of the dairy products and eggs, although about 10 per cent will be delivered to the home on retail routes. These routesmen will also handle a larger line of items than at present.

Single-service blown plastic containers for fluid milk are expected to be among the new packaging devices that will arrive on the market before 1980.

The projections were reported as part of Michigan State university's "Project '80," a futuristic look at the state's rural potential by 1980.

Mason Man Now Trooper

Twenty-seven state police recruits became probationary troopers in a graduation ceremony held Friday afternoon in Kellogg Center, Michigan State university, East Lansing. The graduation brought the State Police enlisted strength to 1,261.

Among the new officers are 3 from Ingham county, Richard E. Cooper of Mason, assigned to the Pontiac post; Robert A. Lawson of Leslie, assigned to the Bay City post, and Stephen W. Malone of Lansing, assigned to the Flint post.

Cooper is the son of Mrs. Helen R. Cooper of Okemos. He and his wife, Sharon, and their 2 children have been residing in Mason at 430 N. Barnes street.

Governor George Romney gave the principal address to the new officers, their relatives and friends.

A feature of the program was the presentation of a bravery award to Tpr. Charles C. Feldhauser, 36, of Marquette, by Col. Fredrick E. Davids, State Police director. Feldhauser earned the award for his capture of a knife-

$500 Gift Is Made to Highfields

The Lansing Automotive Wholesalers association this week presented Camp Ingham Inc. a check for $500 to be used in the establishment of Highfields, an opportunity camp for boys now being built by the corporation near Onondaga.

Robert L. Drake, former Ingham county judge of probate and president of Camp Ingham, Inc., made the announcement Monday.

The association also proposed Arthur L. Kramer and Robert Sterling, both members of the association as delegates to the board of Camp Ingham. O. H. Mills is president of the association.

In making the presentation, the association members stressed the need for trained automotive technicians and announced they are ready to equip and provide the necessary tools for the establishment of a course in automotive work.

The Camp Ingham board plans to set up such a course at the Highfield training center, just to the north of the camp area.

The Automotive association also said it has scholarships which would be made available to students showing aptitude in the work.

Work on the Highfields camp is progressing with the basement of the first building now about completed and with plans moving forward for the completion of the structure by spring.

Accidents

In the 500 block of W. Columbia street,

Mrs. Margaret McKinney, 60, of 218 Willowby road, Mason, was driving west on Columbia and behind her was a car driven by Donald Sheffer, 24, of 2051 Auburn avenue, Holt.

Mrs. McKinney stopped for an amber light at Columbia and Cedar streets, police said, then backed up and hit the front end of Sheffer's car. No one was injured.

Police ticketed Mrs. McKinney for improper backing.

A 5-car accident in the 300 block of S. Jefferson street Saturday at 9:30 a.m. caused damage to all 5 vehicles, 3 of which were parked along the east side of the street in front of the court house.

David Gene Battin, 322 Center street, was ticketed for driving in an unsafe manner.

According to police the accident occurred in this manner:

Battin came from the south on Jefferson street. He told officers his accelerator pedal stuck and he lost control of his car. Another car was stopped in the roadway waiting for the light at Jefferson and Maple to change. Battin endeavored to move his car between the car waiting for the light and the 3 cars angle parked at the curb. Battin's car hit all 3 parked cars and also the car at the light.

Charles Poor of South Bend, Indiana, was ticketed for making an improper turn when his car, rounding the corner at Ash and Jefferson street Monday at 9:30 a.m., rammed a parked car and shoved it up on the sidewalk in front of Kean's store. The fender of Poor's car hit the parked car as it rounded the corner. The parked car was owned by Pearl Emily Bullen, 328 Onondaga road, Mason, police said.

Traffic

following the work session it was my opinion that such a traffic violations bureau is not necessary."

Councilman Murl Eastman, chairman of the law enforcement committee, reminded the council that the problem of additional help necessary at the police department hadn't been solved.

"Someone is needed at the department during the day to answer the phone, do clerical work, complete minor traffic violation warrants (parking, etc.) and take over some of the patrolmen's office work leaving the officers free for more investigative and criminal followups," Eastman said.

A final decision on whether or not to hire a clerk will be decided when it is determined where the new clerk's salary will come from.

Costs to replace a garage door at the police department are estimated at $201 with the insurance company paying $101. The council agreed to hold the insurance check for $101 until the city knew definitely whether or not the building would be used by the city.

Welfare

are so crowded in the welfare department there is no lobby or reception area leading to the offices," he said. The requested addition was referred to committee for study and recommendation.

Robert Young, director of the Tri-County planning commission for 5 years, appeared at the supervisors' meeting to submit his resignation. He will be working for a 5 county planning unit in Baltimore, Maryland the first of the year.

In submitting his resignation Young told the supervisors they had in effect ignored expert planning services available through his commission over the years.

"The supervisors haven't ask the planning commission for help in specialized zoning and planning commission for help in specialized zoning and planning for Ingham county," he said. "This is our job and we could be of better use to the county if our assistance is requested in the future."

Taking Young up on his suggestion the supervisors authorized the building and grounds committee and a special planning committee to contact the Tri-County planning commission in regards to building problems in Ingham county.

Back Bonding

Ingham county Democrats unanimously endorsed the Lansing public schools millage proposals at a county meeting last week.

This coincided with remarks by Zolton A. Ferency, Democratic state central committee chairman, that pay levels in most areas of public employment are so low that it is difficult to recruit and retain good employees and the public will suffer the consequences. State Representative Robert E. Dingwell and Winthrop Rowe, representing State Representative James Starr, who is away on legislative business reported on legislative accomplishments, issues of concern to the public and legislative plans.

Rep. Dingwell also commented that it was very strange that Governor Romney agreed that Anti Viet Nam demonstrators had the right to demonstrate but that students opposed to his veto of a higher education bill should not be allowed to protest.

Commenting on the highway going through the middle of Lansing and the problems it is causing and some of the callousness they are being dealt with, Rowe said, "highways should be built for people to drive on and not built over people."

Mason Marine

Jordan, a member of a machine gun crew, was working with a gunner when a Viet Cong's bullet struck Jordan in the left heel and came out through the instep. He was rushed to a first aid station and within an hour was evacuated by helicopter which flew him to Hill 327 above Dnang airstrip.

A plane then flew him out of Viet Nam to Clark Air Force base in the Philippines where he received hospital treatment and was kept over night. The next day he was flown from the Philippines to San Francisco, and from there another plane brought him to the base hospital at Great Lakes Naval training station, just outside Chicago.

He remained at the hospital from September 15 to November 19 when he was granted convalescent leave to return to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan Sr., 3385 W. Kipp road, Mason. He will report back to Great Lakes on December 19. He does not yet know what his future will be, whether he will be discharged or assigned to other duties.

Jordan was wounded the afternoon of last September 9. His company had started out from Dnang in the morning, slogging their way through the rice paddies with tanks to support them. The tanks, however, could not keep up with the swiftly marching troops and before they arrived in support, the fight with the Viet Cong had started. In the struggle 14 Americans were killed and 14 wounded.

"Whether people here realize it or not this engagement in Viet Nam is a real war. How long it will last I don't know but it is not over yet," the young Marine said. "Life for a GI in Viet Nam is not the most pleasant in the world. Jordan said his outfit spent a greater share of their days and nights in the jungles and rice paddies seeking out the enemy. They subsisted on C rations and had a hot meal only those times they got back to Dnang.

More American troops are badly needed over there, Jordan said. All the Americans there now are fighting hard but there are not enough to cover the vast area of the fighting zones.

Jordan said many South Viet Nam people seem to fear Americans, but the South Viet Nam soldiers are good fighters. Most of the Viet Cong and also many of the South Vietnamese units are made up of boys 14 and 15 years old, the Mason Marine said.

American military advisers work with South Vietnamese troops teaching them how to use the new weapons with which they have been equipped and training them in military tactics.

Vietnamese interpreters travel with American troops, Jordan said.

As for the Viet Cong, he said, they, too, were young boys, but they appeared most loyal to the Communist cause.

Asked what he thought about the anti-Viet Nam demonstrations which have plagued the United States for the past several months, Jordan said:

"These demonstrators are a lot of immature kids. How do they know what it is like over there in those steaming jungles fighting an enemy that is ruthless and difficult to pin down. These demonstrators should but don't seem to know what we are fighting for over there. We are fighting thousands of miles from home to keep the Communists from bringing the war close to our own shores."

A member of the Mason board of education for 4 years, he also served as secretary of the board during his term of office. While on the council, Cecil served as chairman of the finance committee and was instrumental in drawing up a new city charter. Hall and his wife, Benona, moved to Mason in 1925 and soon after Cecil became the Chevrolet dealer, a business he owned for 19 years. He is presently head of the Mason school's bus maintenance. He started this job in 1960 and does everything necessary to keep the vehicles in good running order. Hall is a life member of the First Presbyterian church of Mason, and a former member and past president of the Mason Kiwanis club and the Knights of Pythias. The Halls live at 1762 W. You Don't Say

By Sally Robinson

Each week the Ingham County News inquiring people porter asks a question of 5 persons. This week's question is:

"What effect do you think the new US-127 bypass will have on Mason's future in relation to its business and population growth?"

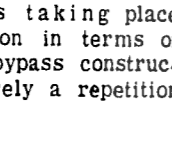

Gilson Pearsall, 334 E. Elm street, Mayor of Mason:

"Mason stands to gain considerably especially in the future from the highway construction program now in progress in this area. Historically communities have expanded with improved transportation facilities. The city should benefit tremendously because of its favorable position to the 3 major expressways in our area. We in Mason are also fortunate in that the city has 2 interchanges one at the north and one at the south city limits plus 2 overpasses within city limits. Clarence Wheeler, sergeant for the Ingham County sheriff's department: 'The new expressway is definitely going to be a help to Mason. It should increase transient business in the city in addition to the existing business. I can remember when the highway went right through the city of Mason and traffic never stopped. The new construction will have some effect on the city's population growth, but the city is bound to grow anyway with the trend from city living to suburb living.' Leland Austin, 315 E. Elm street, Mason: 'Eventually the new construction will bring more industry into Mason area because of the city's location between I-96 and I-94. With more industry there will be an influx

Austin

"This would help out the entire tax structure of the city in general." Rollin Dart, 1896 S. Jackson road, Mason, president of the Dart National bank: "What is taking place around Mason in terms of highway bypass construction is merely a repetition of that which has and is taking place throughout the country in the orderly progress of our transportation system, in and out of the city." Far greater minds than mine have already decided that tremendous growth from the residential as well as the commercial point of view will continue to take place south and east of Lansing. The bypass, therefore, if anything, will contribute to Mason's growth due to the increased ability to channel necessary transportation. Hugh Silsby, part-owner of Silsby Implement, and Mason fire chief: "I consider Mason will be the hub of the highway system. Being in such a position it will be up to the people of the Mason area to go ahead in promoting this opportunity or sit by and let other communities progress ahead of us. 'No area will be able to offer industry and people better routes to all major connecting highways and cities. Our area can only grow, but let's plan this growth with an eye to the future and not just for today.'"

"Mason stands to gain considerably especially in the future from the highway construction program now in progress in this area. Historically communities have expanded with improved transportation facilities. The city should benefit tremendously because of its favorable position to the 3 major expressways in our area. We in Mason are also fortunate in that the city has 2 interchanges one at the north and one at the south city limits plus 2 overpasses within city limits. Clarence Wheeler, sergeant for the Ingham County sheriff's department: 'The new expressway is definitely going to be a help to Mason. The Melting Pot

The French are becoming a little upset over the way English words are creeping into the French language, and they have started a crusade to clean it up.

The English vernacular appears to have made its way into everyday conversation in the French tongue with such words as le drugstore, le cowboy, le barman, le weekend, le swing and le jazz hot.

President Charles DeGaulle, who believes strongly in the French language for French people has appointed a 21 man commission for the defense and expansion of the French language.

And he wants French diplomats to stick to the French tongue in international discussions, too.

Norman L. Kisbauch a U.S. Marine reservist of Peekskill, New York got so mad about all these demonstrations against American policy in Viet Nam that he sat down and wrote a letter to his Marine corps reserve commander and asked for immediate active duty.

He got it and now is at Camp Pendleton, California, a Marine boot camp. Kisbauch is 40 years old, the father of 2 children and a staff sergeant in the Marine corps reserve.

Money can do a lot of things, and in this instance it saved a man's life. Herbert A. Poole, a businessman in Washington, went to the bank the other day. When he returned to the parking lot he met a holdup man who forced his way into his car. Poole stepped on the gas and the car jumped ahead. It jolted the robber from the seat but not before he got off a shot at Poole. The bullet hit a bag full of money in Poole's car, went through a pack of bills and then deflected off a roll of silver coins. Only damage to Poole was a slight thigh injury.

Maybelle Thompson of London, England is only 4 years old but she can read and do complicated problems in Algebra, but she can't go to school until she is 5.

Her father, an American, is a teacher in an English school. Maybell wrote a letter to the headmaster of a primary school in the town of Caversham and enclosed some of the mathematical problems she had worked out.

The headmaster was sympathetic but said she should contact the county education director as he, the headmaster, had no authority to admit her to school.

Maybell was able to spell such words as "apple" when she was 21 months old. At one year she had a vocabulary of 100 words. She enjoys reading and reads children's books only for entertainment. She also likes to read her father's text books.

John D. Muziarz, an artist in Adams, Massachusetts, has to pay $8 in tax on his 80 paintings and he doesn't like it. He plans to take his fight to the courts.

He claims the tax was imposed when a neighbor pointed out that "if the town is going to tax my shoes, why shouldn't they tax his paintings."

The town assessor has ruled that art may be taxed as personal property. He added that some of Maziarz's work has sold for as much as $300. Maziarz came back with the statement that, while he is taxed for his work, someone owning a $250,000 Rembrandt doesn't have to pay anything.

Santa Gives an Interview

Santa Claus stopped in to Mason, Incognito, this week and talked with the Ingham County News about the coming Christmas holidays and how nice Mason children have behaved this Yuletide season. Santa will be in Mason two more times before Christmas, next Saturday December 11 and again on Saturday, December 18.

Santa to date has been interviewed by more than 800 youngsters and at that rate will probably talk to 800 or 900 more before he takes off for his home at the North Pole.

Santa told the News about some of the questions put to him by boys and girls in Mason.

One youngster, a boy of about 5, came up to Santa and to September, but May will always be May to me."

Police in Warrenton, England, thought they were doing a favor when the crime squad was given its own telephone number so they would not be bothered with routine police calls.

The first call the squad received asked for a luncheon menu, the second wanted a room and the third wanted to know when the bar closed.

Investigation revealed that the crime squad had been given the same number as that of a local hotel.

with a play 5 dollar bill in his hand. He said:

"Santa I want to tell you something. You know, the Spartans (MSU football team) won't be home for Christmas so I wish you would take this dollar and buy each of them a gift. If there is any left over by something for Duffy Munn". A little girl about 3 or 4 wasn't bashful in asking for something. She wanted a doll and $100.

"Another little guy about 6 years old", Santa said, "came

"That's a pretty long list for a little girl", Santa told her.

"I put a longer one in the Santa mail box on the corner", she replied.

And don't think for a moment these youngsters don't read

"By helicopter", here-plied.

The youngster nodded his head wisely. "Yeah, that's right", he said, perfectly satisfied with the explanation.

Last week when Santa was standing at the corner of Ash and Jefferson streets, a little youngster took him by the hand and led him down to Mr. Jerry's flower shop where there was a figurine of Santa Claus.

"I just wanted to show you where your helper is today", the youngster said. "I thought you might like to keep track of him."

Santa, who has a heart as big as all outdoors, philosophized a bit over today's youngsters.

"What many of them seem to crave", he said, "is love. In today's rush and push, some of these little youngsters are left alone as parents both work, and they pine for more attention than some of them probably get."

"So they turn to Santa Claus as one who can provide them the protection and love they seem to want."

The interview was over and Santa, with a happy Ho! Ho! Ho! vanished into thin air.

Santa is getting lots of mail out of Mason. The giant direct-line-to-Santa mailbox on the court house square is a busy place. Bryan O'Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Berry, was one of those who dropped in his Christmas message to the man with the white beard.

It's a Big World

By CHARLOTTE CAMP

One of the many tasks required to be performed by a news writer is the coverage of fires. Now in most such cases, we go to the scene, take some pictures, gather all available information and return to the office to write the story.

However, on one occasion some time ago the procedure was somewhat different. The fire alarm sounded and not unlike many other times, we jumped in the car and followed the fire trucks to the scene of the blaze, took our pictures, obtained the information that was available and made ready to return. Before we could leave however, we overheard a couple of remarks that started the wheels in the old head turning around. We got back to the office but instead of writing the story of the fire, we pulled out the dictionary and a couple of encyclopedias, along with an old English book and began to investigate idioms.

Why? Well, those two remarks we had overheard, one was "Gee, the old house sure in burning down, isn't it?" The other went like this, "Yup, she sure is burning up." What was it doing anyway, burning up, or burning down? Actually, it was merely burning, period.

Then we started thinking of the many other idioms commonly used in the English language. Many people go up town while many others go down town ... some even go over town, with a broom we presume.

Grandma said to Junior, "Go up to the attic and bring me some sugar." Have you ever seen an attic in the basement? She should have said, "go to the attic."

Every hear mother calling dad, saying, "Are you down there in the cellar?" Just for fun, dad should say, "No, dear, I'm up here in the cellar."

Most people do not simply awaken, they "wake up" ... always waking up, when they come down, nobody knows. Joe spends half the night painting the town red and finally sneaks in the house in the wee small hours. His wife a asks through clenched teeth, "Where have you been, I've been waiting 'up' for you all night." "Up where dear," Joe might say, just before the lights go out.

Baby Marvin is learning to say his prayers and Mama says, "Kneel down, Marvin". Wouldn't he look funny kneeling up?

So it goes ... people get "up" with the chickens ... sit "down" to breakfast ... go "down" to the office ... sit "up" in the old chair all day ... go home ... lay "down" on the sofa ... sit "down" to eat ... go "up" to the ... go "out" ... do "up" ... sit "down" ... hang "up" ... lay "down" ... cover "up" ...

up to me and said he wanted a new size 8 dress, a pair of black patent leather shoes size 6, a new white sweater for a girl, size 8 and a girl's stocking cap."

"But you're a boy", Santa said. "Why do you want all this girl's stuff?"

"Well", explained the youngster, "You see, my sister has been bad and I'm afraid she won't get anything for Christmas, so I want to get these things for her. I'll probably be taken care of, anyway."

Another boy said that all he wanted for Christmas was boxes.

"What kind?", Santa asked. "Any kind", was the reply.

"But there's nothing in boxes", Santa argued. "There always is at our house", the youngster replied. Two dozen or so youngsters asked Santa, "Do you know where I live?"

"Oh, yes," replied the old gent.

"No you don't, I've moved". Many youngsters asked for horses for Christmas. "Don't you mean ponies?" Santa asked.

"Naw", came the reply. "Ponies are no good for cow-boys."

One girls gave Santa a list of 13 items she wanted for Christmas.

newspaper ads and watch TV shows. Many of them know the trade names of children's gifts and ask for them by name.

Many want Barbie Dolls, or Johnny 007 guns or Trak-Trak sets.

Some of the older groups--from 6 to 8 years--who don't know just whether to believe in Santa Claus or not, approach the jolly old fellow with some misgivings, but they are soon won over to Santa's side and pour their desires into his ear.

One girl, apparently with a business eye, asked Santa to give her a typewriter, a telephone, a cash register and easy bake oven and roller skates.

Another wanted a "Jely" (jewelry) box, a dress and socks, Barbie clothes, a little candy, one game, a map of the 50 states, a Kener easy baking oven, a Dolly Darling boots, a watch, a nightgown and a happy Christmas.

Some of the youngsters appear to take a great interest in Santa's welfare and that of his reindeer.

"What do you feed your reindeer?" one boy asked. "Oh, oats, corn and hay", replied Santa.

How do you get it up there to the North Pole? This was somewhat of a puzzler but Santa had the answer.

German Girl Awaiting 1st American Christmas

By LULA G. HOWARTH
News Special Writer

WILLIAMSTON - The things we did last summer are forgotten now. Every other thing is being crowded out of the picture by the approach of Christmas, and that is getting nearer and nearer.

Every family has special plans for the holiday of the year. Two senior girls sat down together this week to make some plans, like parties, shopping trips, having friends for a casual brunch and a little chat.

Ingrid Leneke and Nancy Reynolds have many things to talk over. This is the first time Nancy Reynolds has had a foreign student as an adopted sister in her home for the Christmas holiday. This is the first time Ingrid Lemcke has been away from her home in Germany for Christmas.

There is no language barrier, Ingrid had 6 years of study in English before she came to America. The girls have no problems in adjustments or understanding.

The Reynolds home has been Ingrid's home since she came to Williamston last fall. The family includes Dr. E. E. and Mrs. Reynolds 3 daughters, Linda, a college student, Nancy, a Williamston High School senior, and Sherry in grade school, and a son, Edward in high school. Ingrid is a W.H.S. senior.

Ingrid brought with her from the European continent a charm that wins commendation from her American friends for herself and her people.

Her demure and unassuming manner with her alert and responsive personality makes friends for her, not only among her school associates but with everyone she meets.

There is a little nostalgia in her story as Ingrid tells of Christmas in her own home in Germany.

She tells how the tree is brought into a room made ready for the setting 4 days before Christmas. The doors are closed and no one except the adults in the family are allowed to enter until Christmas eve. Mysterious things are going on all this while and the suspense and expectancy mounts.

As Ingrid relates these memories of her childhood her eyes sparkle. She tells how the family goes to church on Christmas eve and when they come home a bell rings and the door is thrown open and all may enter.

The splendor, the magnificence of the scene with the significance of the Christ Child's birthday is overwhelming and Ingrid with her sincere manner in relating the glorified memories says she was so awed by the beauty she was afraid.

Everyone who remembers a child's Christmas shares a similar memory with Ingrid.

There is the big Sno-Ball party coming up, many plans for the next three weeks.

There are plans in the Reynolds' home for family fun and for holiday traditions.

Williamston expresses best wishes to the host family and to this young lady from Germany who has brought much to enrich living in this city.

As this goes to press Mrs. Reynolds says plans have been made for the family to go to the Rose Bowl game. Ingrid can hardly believe it is true.

More on Athletes

Having read the recent article in the news regarding the greatness of certain rather ancient football players, and having played football in the same era myself (I take great pride in the fact that I captained one of the best teams, if not the best team ever to represent Mason high school; namely the 1914 version) . . . this team was undefeated, piling up a record of two-hundred thirty-five (235) points against our opponents fifteen (15) points.

My friend Edgar Adams states that another old time friend of mine, namely Ralph Strope, was the greatest. I supposed that distinction belonged to Cassius Clay of pugilist fame.

Really there are so many factors entering into a controversy of this nature that it is actually silly to pick any one individual as the greatest. I believe a better idea would be some method, such as the Mason Athletic Hall of Fame, whereby individuals could be nominated and subsequently permanently listed as great, of a certain period. Perhaps such a list could be displayed in a proper place at the Mason high school. It's just a suggestion!

Getting back to Adams' statement, "that Strope was the greatest", I have this to say: I played football with Ralph, and also played with Edgar. I likewise played many games that Edgar refereed. He was a good official, and did it because he loved the game . . . as the pay was next to nothing. Edgar spent many practice sessions after he was out of high school trying to help us play a better game of football. I agreed with him one-hundred percent about Ralph Strope's ability. He was fast, shifty, and had a twisting movement that when about to be tackled made it nearly impossible for one man to down him . . . unless he really tackled for keeps. During Ralph's junior year, the fall of 1912, when he was captain, he played his best football. However, the team was not the best, nor the greatest! Then in his senior year, 1913, he was also captain, everything was built around Strope, and what happened?

The first 3 games, and on the first carry of each game, Strope made sensational runs, but did not get up after the pile-up and tackle. In each instance he had to be helped off the field. Our team was helplessly lost; performed like a ship without a rudder. After 3 such experiences our good Coach, Jack Symons wisely started to build for the next year. Ralph was permanently benched and then made our Assistant Coach. Our team started to gain momentum, and as all the rest of the boys were back the following year, we really went to town!

The present athletic field was purchased after that 1914 team's performance. No man on the team "was the greatest", but we had 11 great boys who played every minute of every game, including Harold Lyons, Art Jewett, Nate Davis, Jay Sweeney, Lawrence Bradman, George Dutt, Lawrence Searl, Cy Young, Harry Cavendar, Hike Root, and myself.

I just can't see how a player can be great sitting on the bench. A good football player not only must have exceptional ability, he must also be able to take the rough stuff. A trick knee, a bad shoulder, or a weak ankle really can cut short a promising player's greatness. I personally never was taken out of a football game . . . playing every minute of every game in my junior and senior year and I am sure that the same is true of the majority of my teammates.

In my many years association with the Ingham County Fair I have seen this same thing happen to race horses many times. A certain horse will have exceptional breeding, great speed, and look like a sure winner in his training; only to come up lame and have to be turned out to pasture . . . ending up as a buggy-horse for some Amish family.

In my book, to be "great in football", "tracing", "business", or "what have you", it is necessary to be in there fighting from the starting to the final whistle. And, above all, be a team man!

One last thought, I really am a bit surprised that no mention has ever been made when speaking of past outstanding athletes (notice I did not say great) that the name of Ion Courtright is missing. He was before my playing time, and I did not know him personally, Edgar should have. He played for Mason,

Leslie Pupils Making Plans For Christmas

By KATHY ISHAM
Leslie High School

LESLIE--Leslie high has been a busy place this week with plans being made for Christmas and all the other regular activities. A special assembly took place Friday so the entire student body could see the induction ceremony for the National Honor Society.

The Leslie chapter of the society was started just last year. Approximately 15 students were accepted into the Society Friday because of their outstanding grades. The entire student body enjoyed the candle light service and learned about the organization.

This week started a whole new season of sports at L.H.S. also. The Blackhawks lost to the Northwest Mounties last week Saturday by 2 points, but they made up for it Friday by beating Springfield. Northwest's wrestling team also defeated Leslie by a narrow margin Wednesday night.

Group pictures of clubs and organizations were taken for the yearbook last Thursday. The annual staff has also been busy collecting information about the Seniors. Papers have been passed out for the Seniors to fill only one of these is for Senior Roll Call. Another is for a popularity poll.

The pepmeet Friday started and ended with the school song. Russell Rose told the 3 things needed for victory this season. These included a team, a coach, and school spirit. Next in the program was a cheering contest in which the freshmen beat the seniors and the sophomores beat the juniors. In the draw between the freshmen and sophomores both were disqualified so no one received the Victory Jug.

The juniors have been busy selling ink pens. These pens are in the school colors, orange and black, and they have the basket ball schedule printed on them.

The Student Council has been busy making plans for a Christmas Charity ball. The ball will be on December 21, with a disc jockey from WIBM spinning the records. Admission will be one toy, new or in good condition. These toys will be given to needy children as Christmas gifts.

The dance, from 8 to 1:30 p.m. will be in the Cafeteria.

The cheerleaders led the students and faculty in a cheerful pep assembly Friday, December 3rd. Students were all excited and peppy and "raised the roof." Also the pep band played the school song.

HASLETT--Haslett has started plans for the 1966 Haslett High school yearbook.

Under the leadership of Kim Ridenour, yearbook editor, advertising forms have been prepared to provide the required finances for the book's expense, and chairmen have been selected to head the design of various sections of the yearbook such as; faculty and administration, sports and general activities.

He presented the yearbook staff with various methods of preparing a yearbook and the available yearbook covers from which the staff might choose. He suggested that the yearbook staff might design their own cover if they desired to do so.

The Campus Life Club, newly organized at Haslett, is a member of a chain of clubs that spans the entire United States. This month the club is promoting the monthly magazine that is published by the National Organization. Clubs in Lansing schools have their goal set at 400 new magazine subscriptions in the mid-Michigan area.

SHH Wins 2 Debates This Week

BY RUTH CAMP
Stockbridge High School

Last week was a favorable one for Stockbridge high school's debate teams, directed by Mrs. Jean Anderson. On Tuesday the varsity teams both won over Charlotte. They won again on Wednesday, this time against Eaton Rapids. Joe Singer and Gary Horst make up the negative team while Mary Reed and Monika Skepanatis are on the affirmative.

On Thursday the varsity and junior varsity teams went to Waverly for a league debate. The affirmative team won one and lost one while the others all lost their debates. It was the first debate for the JV negative team and while they didn't win, they did receive exceptionally favorable comments from the judges.

So far this year the varsity teams have won 6 and lost 8. In total speaker points out of a possible 25, Gary Horst has 22.5; Joe Singer 21.3; Mary Reed 20.3; and Monika Skepanatis 15. Gary Horst is second in the league.

The junior class steering committee is busy planning its Christmas dance. The committee are; Sue Brown and Marty Lindberg, co-chairmen; Tom Clark and Donna Bachelor, advertising; Sue Rob and Bob Renner, music; Monika Skepanatis and Bob Zick, refreshments; and Jan Hannewald and Don Canburn, tickets. The dance titled "Snow Ball", is slated for December 22 in the new gym, from 8:30 till 11:30. Tickets will be 75¢ stag and $1.25 drag. The dance will be open only to senior high students.

The basketball season started Friday night with both Panther teams losing to Dexter.

Three spectator busses made the trip but students are reminded that in the future, there will be only two and that those who sign up first will be allowed to go on the bus.

Tickets were sold in advance for 50¢ and were also available at Dexter for 60¢ but students are again reminded that at future games away, the price will be $1.00 unless tickets are purchased ahead of time.

The noon hour activity program, under the direction of Mr. Sargent is getting bigger and bigger. If an outsider would have glanced into the new gym last Friday, he would have been shocked to see: two basketball games on one side, a badminton game and dancing on the other side and two volleyball games going on in the middle.

Mr. Sargent said he would like to have six girls volleyball teams but that "four would do." So far three teams, representing the seniors, juniors and sophomores have been organized.

The Christmas assembly will take place on Tuesday, December 21 in the new gym. The girls glee club has been asked to sing and will be doing four or five numbers.

The Girls Glee Club and the Junior High Chorus will present a Christmas concert December 19. The glee club will be in their Christmas tree formation and will be wearing tinsel. During several numbers the lights will be turned off in the auditorium and the girls will shine different colored flashlights.

Intramural basketball started last week. The junior girls met Friday afternoon and league play started after school the same day.

Campbell, captain; Sandy Bamford, Teresa Stringer, Pam Farthing, Vicki McDaniels, Sue Main and Mary Gorman, sub. Marcia, Sandy, Teresa and Mary are juniors and Pam, Vicki and Sue are sophomores.

These girls were chosen at the end of last year and will cheer for the rest of the varsity basketball games and other activities.

The junior varsity cheerleaders are Sherry Newman, Sue VanAita, Cindy Hall, Julie Bruck, Sue Raman, Kay Johnson and Sandy Imhoff as sub. All are sophomores except Cindy Hall and Kay Johnson. The freshmen cheerleaders are Melody Mac Gilvary, Cindy Smith, Sue Babcock, Marney Knecht and Debbie Stankey.

All these girls must have a C average or above to cheer. Nine of these girls were on the six weeks honor roll.

GRAPPLERS--Stockbridge high school's wrestling team will open its season Wednesday afternoon. Shown here are two grapplers, Danny Heron in the black shirt, and Mike Loso. Their coach is Mike's brother, Peter Loso.

Its Okemos Yule Dance Theme

By ROBIN SUITS
Okemos High School

OKEMOS -- What could be cozier than a snow chalet in the Alps? Why, "Snow Chalet," Okemos high school's annual Christmas semi-formal dance, of course!

This year Silver Bells will reflect all the charm and romance of a Swiss chalet with a few added extras. Bob Sargeant's band will weave a spell of holiday magic that will top off all the weeks of preparations made by the Sophomore class.

The high school cafeteria will be decorated to the hilt like a chalet, with refreshments following the theme too, as the spell takes over Saturday night, December 11, at 8 o'clock until 11.

Silver Bells is the most expensive event of the winter season, with corsages, long formal dresses, and after-dance celebrations in town, but a few lucky beaux will be rewarded for their efforts and win prizes given at a ticket-draw. The prizes include a sprig of mistletoe and a ticket refund.

'M' Club Initiates At Mason High Have Rough Time

BY PAT O'BRIEN
Mason High School

The new members of the "M" Club are relieved that their week of initiation misery has finally ended. The boys were put through such tortures that many wondered if it was worth the effort. These tortures included spankings with homemade paddles, fishing in the gutters of Mason, singing solos at noon hour, and eating rotten bananas.

A big hit during the week was the "ugliest girl in the school contest" in which all initiates were required to dress as girls and parade by the judges and audience at noon. Larry Cool received the nod as the ugliest "girl" and was given a trophy.

The purpose of this contest was rather vague to me until someone informed me that it was to prove that some things are best left as they are. The week was climaxed Thursday night when the boys were initiated as full-fledged "M" Club members.

Mason high students were favored with an outstanding assembly last Thursday. It was presented by the Chrysler Corporation, featuring Thurlo Spurr and the Spurrrows. The group sang some of the great hits of 45 including comedy numbers, spirituals, and folk songs. This mobile show performs in 3 or 4 school assemblies each day. The audience greatly appreciated the interest and dedication of these fine musicians in our youth, and all immensely enjoyed the show.

An air lift project is now under way, bringing 900 Cubans to the United States every week and is expected to continue indefinitely.

Several Stockbridge high school students were asked the following questions:

1. Do you think the United States should take them in?
2. Do you see any danger in bringing these people to the United States?
3. Do you believe that work can be found for all of these refugees?

Here are the answers: John Millhouse, a sophomore 1 - Well, I wouldn't say yes and I wouldn't say no. We really shouldn't turn them away but we shouldn't have to keep them all either. 2 - Not really, although it's causing a problem in Florida. The natives may think they are rejected because of the Cubans. 3 - We can try but I don't think we can.

Jan Hannewald, a junior 1 - I don't know for sure. 2 - Not unless the Cubans try to plot against us. 3 - We haven't got enough jobs for our own people.

Fred Singer, junior 1 - We should take about half that many. 2 - I think so. Some might try to infiltrate. 3 - No, because we can't find jobs for the people that are here now.

Faye Camp, freshman 1 - I believe each refugee should be investigated somehow. That many could take over the U.S. 2 - No, but we should take in the good ones so they can live in a democracy. 3 - No, we can't get jobs for our own people as it is.

Judy Stephens, a junior 1 - There's no place for them to go but we can't support them all either. 2 - There is a possible danger. 3 - If our own people can't find jobs, how can we find jobs for all the refugees?

Donna Bachelor, a junior 1 - I don't think they should all come over here since we have enough people here already. We should help them, though. 2 - Yes, probably. They are Cubans and our opinions differ. They could cause trouble. 3 - No, we have too many of our own people on welfare.

Dean Bachelor, junior 1 - I don't know where we're gonna put them, or how we'll feed them or find them jobs, but we're a democracy and we really can't turn them away. 2 - Yes, if any are communists there will be a problem.

For Partially Blind

Area Schools Receive Large Type Dictionary

Partially sighted students in the out-area Ingham county schools will have the use of a new 12-volume, large print dictionary. The volumes were presented to Dr. David Haarer, director of special education for the county, at the annual Christmas dinner of the Delta Gamma Greater Lansing Alumnae chapter.

Presenting the Thorndike Junior dictionary volumes on behalf of the sorority was Mrs. Warren Mueller, president of the alumnae chapter, from Dansville.

In contrast to blind students who usually learn to read by the braille method, partially sighted students use vision as the main channel of learning. Large-print books or the use of special optical aids are required for reading.

There are about 55 active members of the Delta Gamma Alumnae group headed by Mrs. Mueller. The 12-volume dictionary is only a part of the organization's over-all program for the year in working with the blind.

Mrs. Agnes Norman of Lansing was the project chairman for the large-print dictionary. The annual Christmas party was at the Green Meadows golf course of Lansing.

SORORITY GIFT--Dr. David L. Haarer, director of special education for Ingham county, accepted a 12-volume, large-print dictionary for partially blind students in area schools from the Delta Gamma Greater Alumnae chapter Tuesday night. Showing one volume of the dictionary to Haarer are Mrs. Warren Mueller, chapter president, (center) and Mrs. Agnes Norman, project chairman.

Sallies from Sally

By Sally Robinson

It's a woman's world -- particularly in the area of Christmas decorations!

Just let some man try to invade and brother that's it -- his life will be miserable for some time to come. Ask Wells Moses. (Better known as "Moe") Ingham county under sheriff. Somehow or other Moe got the job of decorating the new jail lobby for the first time, which he eagerly volunteered for -- at least for a while.

Actually his timing was poor. Monday morning with all the women employees critically watching he began his task. Bravely he started on the driver's licensing area where Mrs. Karen Fields, Mrs. Thomas Rosler, Miss Kathy Morris and Mrs. Dennis (Sharon) Whipple, the sheriff's secretary, were skeptically observing.

At first they attempted to be helpful, but then decided Moe really didn't know what he was doing. Comments began to swarm around the undersheriff like disturbed bees. Things like -- "Moe, this is the wrong color of tinsel," "This loop isn't big enough," "The bulbs should match," "Moe, we really don't like this color can't you move these decorations over to the complaint desk and let us have the other ones there?"

It vaguely reminds you of the semi-monthly furniture re-arrangement the little wife decides to get done while hubby is home on his day off -- "Do I want the chair in this corner or should I have you move it down in the basement, better yet up to the attic?"

One watching the whole thing would have to admit the undersheriff carried on without a rumpled feather, but this observer just left as 2 more staff members (female, of course) Mrs. Colleen Curtis and Mrs. Wayne Kinne came on the scene to help with the tree decorating.

It is only anyone's guess as to how it came out, but this "mouse in the corner who also had to put in 2 cents" thinks Moe has had experience with this type of thing before as he just kept silent while working feverishly.

The next day all was calm, peaceful, and festively bright in the Ingham county jail lobby. You have to give the undersheriff credit it really looks great -- all except that drivers licensing bureau seems like it needs something but who knows what, maybe just a woman's touch on that last loop of tinsel.

A firm believer that it isn't always the man, but often times the woman behind the man, this believer now thinks more towards the philosophy that it is the combined efforts of both husband and wife that make most things turn out a success.

This applies to Cecil and Benona Hall of Mason. This week's honored citizen has a wife that also deserves recognition for her many services to the community and her family.

For sometime Mrs. Hall worked as her husband's right hand while he was first starting out in business in Mason. She then gave this up to be with her 2 boys while they were still growing up.

Her activities extend beyond the family though -- she is secretary of the Mason General Hospital board and will soon be an officer within the Presbyterian Women's association again.

Her friends recognize her as a loyal friend and one they can always depend on in time of need. Mrs. Hall is a person who quietly assumes responsibilities and carries them out to completion.

New Modern Location

Mason Business Women Expand Knitting Shop

The Knit and Kit shop of Mason, which started out as a hobby shop for those that like to knit has blossomed into a full-fledged business for 2 Mason women.

Owned by Mrs. Gary (Gloria) Nesbitt and Mrs. Barry (Shireen) Wentland, the shop will be celebrating its second anniversary and new location grand opening today through Saturday, December 11.

Some 300 square feet is devoted to the expanded business located at 1928 E. Columbia road in conjunction with the Nesbitt new home.

The 2 business women have over 180 different shades of yarns included among their 6 brands of yarns carried at the knitting shop. They include products of Brunswick, Columbia Minerva, Paulene-Denham, Spinnerrin, Diamond and Fleishers.

Not satisfied with offering a large selection of yarns and knitting kits for their customers, Gloria and Shireen have a large supply of knitting aids, pattern and instruction books and fabrics dyed to match all their Brunswick yarns.

As an added service they will special order yarns with no extra charge for ordering or handling. Prepared to help all their customers, the women offer free help with any knitting problems during store hours. They also have set aside Monday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 for adult knitting classes.

With Mrs. Nesbitt the Knit and Kit shop started out as a hobby. She had retired from modeling to stay home with her family and this served as an outlet for her.

She first decided to start out in the yarn business while helping Mason area 4-H youngsters. She felt there was a definite need for a knit shop to supply the necessary items for the youngsters' projects. The knitting shop still caters to these needs as all 4-H members are given a 10 percent discount on all yarns needed for their projects.

"Besides being a relaxing hobby, knitting is a great necessity for my family," Mrs. Nesbitt said. She makes all of her son Marty's school sweaters and is currently working on a coat for her daughter Michelle. Other things that will keep her needles clicking until Christmas time are special Christmas Santa stockings, angora stoles and several other things she is keeping a secret.

Mrs. Wentland fell into the knitting business by accident. While accompanying a friend on a yarn buying trip, she decided to try her hand at it. After many knit one, purl ones and unmentioned number of mistakes, she completed a baby boy's sweater.

Since then Laurie Anne and Jennifer Wentland have joined the family and the first knitting project is still waiting in the Wentland hope chest.

Quick to catch on to knitting Shireen became a partner in the Knit and Kit shop about a year ago. Right now she has 3 sweaters and a shawl under construction hoping to complete them before Santa's visit.

Everyone is invited out to see the all-new Knit and Kit shop where special door prizes, low, low prices and free refreshments will be available at the second anniversary and new location grand opening celebration.

Store hours are Tuesday through Thursday, 12 to 5:30 p.m., Friday, 9:30 to 5:30, Saturdays, 10 to 4, and closed all day Monday.

Pecans Plentiful For Yule Treats

Pecans are plentiful! This good news comes from Mrs. Margaret Foster, Ingham county home economist. At holiday time nuts in the shell are such fun to crack while you visit and nut meats add such delicious flavor and texture to the cookies, candies, cakes and salads everyone will be making.

Mrs. Foster says this year there are 88 million pounds more pecan nuts produced over last year's crop. One of the nice features about pecans is that they keep well at room temperature for up to 8 months if left in the shell.

Shelled pecans are best kept cool, but should not be held long on your cupboard shelf, she recommends. Nuts in vacuum cans, of course, keep well on the shelf until opened and after that they should be stored in the refrigerator.

Home economists suggest the best way to crack pecans and keep the meats whole or in unbroken halves is to soak the pecans in cold salt water for 6 to 8 hours, drain, then crack. Use 1/2 cup salt per 3 quarts of water.

When you need chopped nuts, figure on one pound of shelled pecans for every 3-3/4 cups chopped nutmeats.

Here are some recipes for pecan goodies you might like to try for your family and friends.

ORANGE SUGARED PECANS
Candied pecans are a truly different holiday treat. They're easy to make--and a good way to use some of the plentiful pecan crop which this year, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says, will total 260 million pounds.

Combine 1-1/2 cups sugar and 1/2 cup orange juice. Cook to 240 degrees F. or soft ball stage. Remove from heat. Add 1 tablespoon grated orange peel and 2-1/2 cups pecan halves. Stir until sirup begins to look cloudy. Turn onto waxed paper in small clusters or individual halves. Allow to cool.

VANILLA PECAN FUDGE
1 package vanilla pudding powder, not instant variety
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans
Candied cherries

Combine all ingredients except cherries in heavy 1-1/2 quart saucepan and stir until

Mason Choral Group Readies 'Messiah' for Sunday Concert

The second annual performance of Handel's "Messiah" by the Mason Choral society is fast approaching. A capacity crowd turned out last year for the program and an even larger audience is expected this year December 12 at 8 p.m. in the Mason high school auditorium.

George Frederick Handel broke all the rules when he composed the "Messiah" in a fantastically brief 24 days. It is a work which has been acclaimed and performed by groups large and small throughout the world ever since.

The "Messiah" uses the Biblical narrative as its foundation. The Mason Choral society will perform nearly all of the oratorio which was composed in three parts. Part one deals with the prophecies of the Messiah and the narrative of the birth of the Christ. Part two presents the suffering and death and the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The third part musically announces man's hope of his own resurrection.

The only strictly instrumental portions of the "Messiah" are the Overture characterized by its slow beginning followed by a rapid fugal movement, and the Pastoral Symphony, an instrumental Interlude said to be based on a bagpipe tune heard by Handel when he listened to shepherds in Italy.

The 80 participants in the Mason Choral society's performance come from throughout the Mason area, including Mason, Eden, Webberville, Eaton Rapids, Lansing, Holt and Williamston. Ushers for the program will be members of the Mason-Dansville Key-note Junior Music club. The Music club of Mason is preparing a reception for the Messiah group in the high school cafeteria after the performance. Mrs. Glen Coon and Mrs. A.V. Smith are in charge of arrangements.

The director of the Mason

Choral society is Warren Emrick, vocal music instructor of the Mason schools. Mr. Em-rick received his Bachelor of Music degree from Michigan State university and began his work in Mason in 1958. His present responsibilities include the directing of 8th and 9th grade choruses, high school boys' glee club, mixed chorus and madrigal singers. He has been choir director at the Methodist church in Mason and currently holds that position in Mason's First Presbyterian church. Mr. Emrick is president of the Mason Education association. Professionally, he is a member of the Music Educators National conference, the Michigan Music Education association, and is district co-chairman for the Michigan State Vocal association. He was the male lead in MSU's Centennial opera while in college. Mr. Emrick is a member and assistant conductor of the Lansing Orpheus club.

Soprano soloist for this year's "Messiah" is Leona Witter. Mrs. Witter was the leading soprano of the New York City Opera company for seven seasons. She has sung with numerous other opera companies throughout the United States and has been a soloist with many of the major symphonies with concerts all over the nation. At present Mrs. Witter is a member of the voice faculty of Michigan State university. Her husband, Lee H. Witter, is director of advertising at Oldsmobile.

Miss Eunice Wilcox, contralto soloist, is a native of Marshall, Michigan, and a B.M. graduate of the University of Michigan. She studied extensively with Milan Petrovic in New York city, and while there did extensive solo work in churches in New York. For four years she was with the American Savoyards, the only professional Gilbert and Sullivan company in this country. For a time she was assistant music director for that group. Miss Wilcox received her Master's degree from Western Michigan university where she was a graduate assistant. A member of the music faculty at Albion college for a year, she is presently teaching and is a doctoral candidate at Michigan State university.

A. Leon Wheeler is the "Messiah" tenor soloist, returning for his second time in that role in Mason. He received his bachelor of music degree at MSU where he is now a graduate student. He had studied with Frau Henrietta Klunk-Schneider of the State Conservatory of Music in Wuerzburg, Germany. Mr. Wheeler appeared as guest artist with the Battle Creek Symphony as winner of its 1964 vocal auditions. He was a soloist for the Lansing Choral society's presentation of the Mozart "Requiem." Mr. Wheeler was a teacher of vocal music in the Mason schools last year.

LEON WHEELER
Tenor

Donald A. Schramm (not pictured), bass soloist for the "Messiah," is a native of Buffalo, New York. He is a music education major at Michigan State university where he played the part of "Figarro" in MSU's production of Mozart's "Marriage of Figarro" last year. He was male winner of the Buffalo, N.Y., "Voices of Tomorrow" and as a result has made several radio and television appearances. He is a soloist for the Michigan State Singers and appears as a soloist elsewhere through MSU's "Cap and Gown" program.

The Mason Choral society will present more of the "Messiah" than last year. Featured this year among additional solo work will be the bass aria "The Trumpet Shall Sound," featuring Mr. Schramm, bass, and Joseph Klugg, trumpeter, a graduate of Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York, who plans to enter MSU's graduate music school next term.

The Mason choral groups have been very fortunate to have the excellent services of pianist Mrs. Harry Smith throughout its rehearsal period. She served in this capacity for last year's performance. The scheduled organist for the Mason performance became ill last week, making a quick substitution necessary. Organist for the performance will be Mrs. Esther Armstrong, Chairman of the Mason Choral society is the Reverend Paul A. Tidemann.

smooth. Heat to a full boil, stirring constantly. Lower heat and keep stirring while mixture boils slowly 3 minutes. Remove from heat and beat until candy is thick and loses its shine. Spread in buttered 9x5-inch pan or metal ice cube tray. Let stand until firm, cut into squares and decorate with cherries. Yields about 20 pieces.

DATE-PECAN BARS
1 cup butter or margerine
2 cups sugar
3 eggs
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons water
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
dash of salt
1 cup chopped pecans
1 8-ounce package dates, cut up
3 cups sifted flour
2 tablespoons sugar

Cream together butter or margerine and 2 cups sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine baking soda and water, and blend into creamed mixture. Add dates. Sift together flour, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and salt, and add gradually to creamed mixture. Blend in pecans.

Chill dough several hours or overnight to make it easier to handle. On lightly floured board shape dough into approximately 10 rolls, each about 10 inches long and 3/4 inch in diameter. Place 2 rolls on each greased baking sheet and press with fingers to flatten to 1/4 inch thickness. Sprinkle with remaining sugar. Bake 15-18 minutes at 350 degrees F.

While hot, make diagonal slices 1-1/2 inches apart to form bars. Cool on wire rack. Yields 5-6 dozen bars.

Dansville Millage Date Set

DANSVILLE—Dansville Agricultural school district board of education will ask the district voters at an election February 14, 1966 again to approve school millage. The 3-mill operation levy approved in 1961 for a five year period expires this year and must be renewed to continue normal operations of the school system.

In addition to this question the voters will be asked also to approve a building and site levy of 3-mills for use in providing additional classrooms and improvements to existing facilities over a five year period. This will represent an increase of only 3-mills above present school taxes which will still leave the Dansville district school taxes substantially lower than any other high school district in the area.

The decision to have this election was reached by the board of education at the last regular meeting following considerable study and discussion of the problem. It was felt that this was the lowest millage that would conservatively meet the district building requirements for the next 4-5 years. The building and site money would be used for such immediate needs as expansion of school shop and the building of at least two classrooms.

Hurricanes have taken more than 5,500 lives in the United States in the past 50 years, according to the Insurance Information Institute.

Vo-Ed Program At Holt Success

HOLT - The vocational education program at Holt has shown a satisfying development recently. Statistics show that more than half of the graduates of Holt now go on to higher education and Holt can be proud of its college preparation program. Also the students who cannot go on to college are being given training to further their trade and technical abilities to enter into good jobs.

The Ingham Intermediate School district is conducting a study of vocational education, and the results of that study will indicate what will be offered in the future along these lines.

Holt has had an approved vocational homemaking program for several years. For the first time this year, the business education program has the approval of the Michigan department of education, as a vocational program.

Mrs. Anne Cade and Mrs. Bonnie McMillen have received vocational certificates. The courses offered include two years of shorthand, bookkeeping, and office practice. Holt is eligible to receive funds from the government to help finance these courses. This year has also seen the start of a cooperative education program under Donald Bowker, of the industrial arts department.

In this co-op program, students are released from school part of each day to obtain work experience and on the job training with a private employer.

Sixteen students in the areas of business, retailing or distributing education, and trade and industrial education are enrolled in this program.

Students selected must have career interest in their work, and are screened before being accepted into the program. Students enrolled in cooperative education must maintain their scholastic record in their regular classes and also receive full credit for time spent away from school while engaged in their job.

Holt Area Dolls Up For Yule

Holt Kiwanis club members have decorated Holt for a Christmas season, using cedar garlands, lights and wreaths in decorative theme for the downtown area. Strings of lights have been installed across the corners of west Delhi from the American State bank to southwest corner and poles are wrapped in cedar garlands topped with wreaths. An attractive display with Christmas card effect showing an open book inscribed with the words "Peace on Earth" and praying hands was erected at the shuffle board court Saturday.

The Kiwanis club plans to add to this display each year. The club has decorated the tree at the Delhi township hall in prior years but decided not to continue this year because of lighting problems.

Evans Brown, Frank Brown, Ken Olson and Dick Huber were in charge of the project. In other Christmas activity here Holt Boy Scout Troop 142, is preparing for its annual Christmas tree sale which opens Dec. 10 at Cedar street and Aurelius road. The scouts have brought into the lot 350 trees this past week and are in the process of bringing more. Spruce will be cut according to demand, scotch pine, french blue and spruce are varieties from which to pick.

The boys have erected signs to promote the sale. Proceeds will go for Boys camping and other activities.

People's State Bank Looks To Williamston's Future

By LULA HOWARTH
News Special Writer
WILLIAMSTON -- The people of Williamston are still talking about the newly opened

G. B. JACKSON, president of the Peoples State bank of Williamston.

Peoples State bank located at Putnam and Middle streets. Everyone was welcomed at a grand opening recently to inspect the new community banking facility. Hundreds of visitors came to get personalized tours through the spacious lobby, 2 conference rooms, board of directors room, a bookkeeping department, drive-in window units and on the lower level a community room, kitchenette and lounge.

The facility is designed to serve the community. Only the most modern machines and office furnishings are to be found in the building. Of interest to most of the visitors was imported wallpaper used in the conference rooms and the director's meeting place. Whether the visitors at the open house came from down the street or drove in many miles, they were all of one opinion--the new building, facilities and furnishings were a source of pride for all those who had a part in the planning and for the people of the town as well.

Welcoming guests at the open house were G. B. Jackson, bank president, and Mrs. Jackson; Allen Liverance, executive vice president and cashier, and Mrs. Liverance; L. W. Kitchen, vice president, and Mrs. Kitchen. Claude Gorsline, chairman of the board of directors was unable to attend, but Mrs. Gorsline did and poured at the refreshment table.

Other board members and wives attending were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Gorsline, Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Hendren of Bloomfield Hills and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Runciman.

Mrs. Walter Osterle, widow of the late director, was also present for the grand opening.

The complete staff on the bank was engaged in taking guests on tours throughout the entire facility.

A refreshment table centered with yellow chrysanthemums was available and tempting to all. Mrs. Gorsline poured the coffee and Mrs. Kitchen served the punch.

DRIVE-IN FACILITY -- Included among the many new things available to customers of the Peoples State bank are 2 ultra modern drive-in windows. Mrs. Helen Dennis is the teller helping Mrs. Ferne Beidler, a depositor.

SPACIOUS LOBBY -- A constant stream of customers have been enjoying the all new Peoples State bank building located on the corner of Putnam and Middle streets in the center of Williamston.

Elementary School Libraries Are Pride of Holt Residents

HOLT - In many school systems, elementary libraries have been sadly neglected. Yet there is no level of education where having access to an adequate library is more important, since it is in the early years of schooling that habits of reading and library use are formed.

The Holt schools are proud that they are one of the minority who has recognized the importance of elementary libraries. A program of library development in all 4 elementary schools has been under way for several years, and the growth in facilities and in the number and variety of resource materials has been amazing.

The Dimondale school library was built in 1958, and enlarged in 1963. In 1963, too, Elliott and Sycamore schools opened specially designed library facilities, including both a reading room, and a storage and work room for the librarian. The Midway school will get a similar facility as part of new construction scheduled for completion this coming summer.

But beginning an elementary library does not have to wait for expensive facilities. In Holt, the program began with a simple collection of books in a vacant classroom. The specialized staff and facilities described below came later as the program grew.

The present book collection at elementary level exceeds 14,000 volumes. This number includes reference books, books in circulation--both fiction and non-fiction--and the professional library housed at Sycamore school. The book collection includes books selected for slow, average and accelerated readers. Special emphasis has been placed on books with a low vocabulary content but high interest level, designed to appeal to slow readers. On December 7, a book exhibit by 3 publishers who specialize in this type of material was presented for area teachers at Sycamore school.

The professional library contains more than 400 books and is available to all teachers in the 4 elementary schools. This is a constantly growing collection. Many of the books are gifts from teachers. Also books have been received from Michigan State university under the student teacher program. There is an excellent selection of books and pamphlets covering all phases of elementary education, including curriculum guides which are used by the teachers in their evaluation of the school program.

In addition to the individual libraries in each building, the library at Sycamore school functions as a central instructional materials center for all the elementary schools. At this center, several large collections of materials are available for circulation throughout all four elementary buildings. Among these collections is a library of more than 1,000 filmstrips, many with sound accompaniment. They cover all phases of the instructional program.

There is a good collection of supplementary reading materials. These are for the use of all the elementary schools. This material covers all grade levels kindergarten through sixth. The teachers may visit the instructional materials center often and choose books for the enrichment of reading in their classrooms. If it is not convenient for them to come to the instructional materials center it is possible for them to call and their orders are boxed and sent to visual aids such as globes, maps, charts and models, which are circulated to the schools. Included is "Oscar," the human torso model, a skeleton, and a number of other scientific models of plant and animal life.

The record collection is quite varied as to subject matter. It covers holidays, plays, musical comedy, classical music, and introduction to the popular rhythms such as jazz and calypso. There are records for physical education, folk dancing, square dancing and rhythms for the early elementary grades. Recordings of historical inter-school has an individual collection in addition to the larger one at the instructional materials center.

All elementary students have one 40 minute period weekly in the library, and instruction in the use of the library is included in their language arts instruction. The libraries are open an hour before school and an hour after each day for student use.

Mrs. Mary Hosler is the professionally trained library coordinator for the elementary schools. She has her office at Sycamore school. Each school has a library clerk. Mrs. Pat Mayes is in her third year in this position at Midway. Mrs. Maxine Carr at Elliott and Mrs. Barbara Montague at Dimondale fill these positions for the second year, while Mrs. Agatha Myers at Sycamore is new this year.

Federal aid programs have been a stimulus to the growth of school libraries in recent years. The National Defense Education Act has provided funds for books, audio-visual materials and equipment in the areas of science, mathematics and foreign languages since 1958. Last year this program was broadened to include English, reading and social studies as well.

Title 11 of the new Elementary and Secondary Education Act provides general federal aid for school libraries for the first time this year. Funds under this title will be allocated to schools partly on a per pupil basis, but mostly on need. Each school must survey its library resources in comparison to a set of criteria which defines the resources needed for an adequate library, and will receive aid accordingly. Materials obtained under this title are administered through the intermediate school district, and are assigned to individual schools on short-term or year long loans. This prevents duplication of materials, permits circulation of materials between libraries and provides access to a far broader range of materials than would be possible if each library functioned independently.

The development of a strong elementary library program demands the support of many people. In Holt, much of the initial impetus came from the elementary PTA's, which donated books and funds to help the program get started. The board of education has recognized the importance of this program and given it solid support, as have the administrators. Teachers have been especially enthusiastic. As one student teacher said "It was told when I came here not to expect much in the way of instructional materials to work with, but this is amazing."

And Away we go! Mason got the new basketball season off to a good start by controlling the tip thanks to the leap of Paul Allaire. Brian Doolittle and Jim Powers are the Mason players waiting to see which way to pounce for the ball.

Win One Bulldogs Open With 66-51 Win

Mason started out the new cage season the right way. The Bulldogs moved to the front of the Capital Circuit pack by topping O'Rafferty 66-51.

Backboard control and a good spurt in the first quarter paved the way for the Mason victory.

Friday night Mason will take on its second league opponent over at Haslett. The Lakers are tough, in spite of the fact that Okemos dumped them Friday night. The powerful Chiefs had to come through in an overtime in order to dispose of Haslett. It didn't help the Haslett cause any when Andy Gordon, the top scorer for the Lakers, fouled out.

Against O'Rafferty Coach Bob Finch used the early lead piled up by starters Paul Allaire, Gary Barker, Bill Strait, Jim Powers and Brian Allaire was top shooter for Mason with 20. Barker was next with 16.

At the free throw line Mason put down 28 out of 44 attempted. O'Rafferty hit on 13 out of 27. In the field goal department both teams came up with 19.

John Mlenko was top shooter for O'Rafferty with 11. Mark Fisher and Tom Churchill each added 10.

Lose One Waverly Press Topples Mason

Mason didn't fare too well against Waverly Saturday night. The Bulldogs came out on the short end of a 71-60 count.

Both teams struggled through a slow first quarter in which baskets came hard. When the firing in the first period stopped the score stood at 11-11.

Waverly got away to a fast start in the second period, taking advantage of Mason faults developing from the Warriors' full court press. By the time the half ended Mason had a 37-29 deficit on the board.

The Bulldogs, with Paul Allaire doing most of the scoring, pared 3 points off the margin in the third but again fell behind in the last period when Waverly clamped on the press again.

Both teams came up with 24 good shots from the floor. At the foul line, though, it was a different story with Mason bagging 12 out of 20 while Waverly shooters put down 23 out of 37.

Panther JV's Win

Stockbridge high school's junior varsity basketball coach James Sargent experienced his first loss as a coach when his little Panthers were trounced by Dexter Friday night. Sargent's charges went undefeated last year.

Dexter had the advantage of height and they out rebounded Stockbridge better than 2-1. The little Panthers couldn't get their fast break working smoothly and turned the ball over 23 times on bad passes and other mistakes in fundamentals.

Stockbridge began hitting in the fourth period and outscored Dexter 23-9. They had a good 52% average from the floor but shot a poor 44% on free throws.

Leading scorer for Stockbridge was Phil Harris with 17. Ron Mead had 14, Mike Conley 10 and Junior Williams 6.

The JV's will be back in action Friday night at home against Fowlerville.

Score by quarters:
STOCKBRIDGE 13 4 10 23--50
DEXTER 19 17 24 9--69

Church League Starts Action

In the first week of Mason church league play Eden U.B. came out on top of the Mason Methodists 44-35 while the Baptists downed the Nazarenes 60-57.

The Presbyterians picked up a win on a forfeit by Leslie and the Lutheran-Aurelius Baptist game was postponed. Games are played Monday night at the high school gym.

Junior High Splits

Mason's junior high split in its first outing of the year. The seventh grade lost to Holt 35-23. Dan O'Brien and Dan DeMartin were the big scorers. The eighth graders got past Holt 30-23 with Dave Snider the main shooter for Mason.

Mason JVs Win Pair

Mason's Jayvee squad came out of the starting gate ready to race. The Bulldogs picked up 2 wins in their first 2 outings.

Friday night Mason took O'Rafferty 65-68 in an overtime. On Saturday night Mason dumped the Waverly Jayvees 71-46.

Against Waverly 2 baskets by Dan Crowe, a shot by Dale Aldrich, a shot and free throw by Ron Underwood, and free throws by Pat Birney and Doug Engle in the overtime gave Mason the opener.

Crowe finished the game with 20 points. Underwood came through with 17 and Birney put down 12.

It was a runaway against Waverly. The Bulldogs stepped out in front from the start and padded their lead all the way.

Birney was top scorer with 21 points. Crowe came up with 20 again and Underwood added 12.

Dexter Takes Panthers In Season Cage Opener

Both the Stockbridge varsity and junior varsity basketball teams lost their opening games to Dexter Friday night. The varsity game was close throughout the first half with Dexter leading at half time by a score of 30-27. The height of the Dexter team made the difference in the second half as they took control of both backboards and outscored the Panthers 49-35 in the final two quarters. Dave Mills led the Panther scorers with 14 points. Collings had 10 while Rodger Poe and Tim Howlett each had 8. Dexter's scoring punch was supplied by Earl Miller with 22 and Ron Mull with 17.

The Panthers, while losing, displayed a lot of hustle and desire throughout the game. Coach Clark said he hopes this attitude will prevail through the entire season.

The JVs were beaten 69-50, with Phil Harris and Ron Mead leading the Stockbridge scoring attack.

Friday night the Panthers will take on Fowlerville in the first league game of the season. The Gladiators won their opener last week against Linden, 67-42. They have two starters back from last year led by all league forward Gary Benjamin.

Okemos Takes Lakers

Okemos came on strong in an overtime Friday night to dump Haslett 72-65.

The win puts the Chiefs at the top of the Capital Circuit along with Mason and Gabriels.

Okemos was in front all the way through regulation play up until the final seconds when Ed Fisher dumped in a Laker basket to even the count at 64-64.

The Chiefs settled down in the overtime and Jay Breslin tossed in 2 baskets and D. J. Drake added 3 points. In the overtime the Okemos defense limited Haslett to a single free throw.

Breslin led the Okemos scorers with 18 points. Andy Gordon was the big shooter for Haslett. He dumped in 24 points before being forced to the sidelines on fouls.

Fowlerville Starts With Easy Victory

Fowlerville again established a claim as one of the top teams in the Ingham County league Friday night. The Glads warmed up by trouncing Linden 67-42 in a non-league game.

Victory might not come so easy Friday night when the Glads play at Stockbridge. Reports are that the Panthers are going to be comers this season in spite of getting off to a bad start against a strong Dexter squad.

In the Linden game the Glads started slowly but still managed to hold a 30-25 lead at halftime. Then Tom Fritz came off the bench to perk up the Gladiator attack. Fritz scored 10 quick points in the third period and Fowlerville was off and running.

Gary Benjamin was top scorer for Fowlerville with 20 points.

Webberville Wins Opener

The Webberville Spartans opened their basketball season by rolling over Potterville 73-51.

The Spartans led all through the game. At half time the score was 33-22 with Webberville ahead. In the last minute of the game the Potterville Vikings made another basket to make their score 51. The starting five for Webberville were: Jerry Arnold, Jack Joley, Dusty Weaver, Jerry Hart and Ron Vicelli.

The Junior Varsity defeated Potterville 48-29. The JV's led all through the game. The Spartans travel to Dansville Tuesday night and Ashley travels to Webberville Friday night.

The Junior high basketball team lost to Bath last week. They have another home game Thursday night.

Frosh Lose In Overtime

Last Thursday evening the Mason freshman basketball team journeyed to O'Rafferty where it suffered its first defeat of the season by a 51-49 score.

The team opened a 10-game schedule with 5 home games and 5 road games with members of the Capital Circuit League. The home games will be in the junior high gym with the first this Thursday at 7:00 p.m.

The real reason for last week's defeat was in inability of the team to score in the opening period so that the second period had to be spent in catching the Raiders instead of opening a lead. Mason led at halftime 23-22. At the beginning of the fourth quarter O'Rafferty's boys were able to employ an effective full-court press that stopped the Mason team cold. This action forced the game into an overtime period which saw O'Rafferty come out victorious 51-49.

The opponent this week is Haslett and Holt will be met the following Tuesday. The game with Haslett on Thursday is at home and Tuesday's contest is at Holt, also at 7:00 p.m.

One encouraging note, according to coach Leigh Beagle, was the ability of the Mason team to control the backboards, especially the defensive board. It is the team's ability to combine a better shooting percentage with this backboard control, things look very encouraging for the season, he added.

Webberville again established a claim as one of the top teams in the Ingham County league Friday night. The Glads warmed up by trouncing Linden 67-42 in a non-league game. Leslie Starts Good

With Chuck Lay leading the way Leslie came up with a 62-43 victory against Springport Friday night. Lay had good luck with his long shots in the first period to shove Leslie out in front. From there on out the Blackhawks will have to put up with the run and shoot style of Dansville play which brings trouble to opponents.

In the first quarter Leslie moved in front 18-3. The second period went the same way with the Blackhawks gaining a 19-9 edge in the scoring to lead at the half 37-17. From there on out it was a coast. Lay ended the game with 19 points, Cooper added 10. Long bagged 12.

Fires in Winter

The winter months are the worst for fire losses, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Although other factors are involved, this is mainly the result of heating hazards.

Howell Takes Greyhounds

Howell moved past Eaton Rapids Friday night thanks to a 54-53 decision which was decided at the free throw line.

The Highlanders spotted Eaton Rapids a 15-11 lead in the first quarter but pared one point off the margin in the second period.

Then Howell shooters opened up. In the third quarter the Highlanders shot their way out in front and then spent the last quarter fighting off the Greyhounds in a great rally.

Bill Neathamer's 17 points were high for Howell. Bill Simmons added 16 and so did Chuck Hahn.

For Eaton Rapids Bill Gayton was high man with 15. Chuck Winegar was next with 11.

Webberville again established a claim as one of the top teams in the Ingham County league Friday night. The Glads warmed up by trouncing Linden 67-42 in a non-league game. Rocks Crush Ramblers

Holt met Gabriels in the Capitol Circuit opener for both teams Friday night and lost 74-69. This is the first league loss for the Ramblers since 1963 when they lost to Gabriels.

The score in Friday night's game was knotted 19-19 at the end of the first quarter. Holt grabbed an early second period lead to leave the floor at halftime in front 39-35. Gabriels tallied 21 in the third quarter and 18 in the final eight minutes.

Free throws played a major role in the game with Gabriels cashing in on 22 of 29 attempts and Holt managing only 11 of 22. Rick VanHouten was Holt's leading scorer again with 21 points.

Holt also met defeat on the wrestling mat. In the first meet at Williamston Saturday, Williamston won 7 matches, including 5 by falls, to defeat Holt 33-23 in the opening dual match of the season. Tom Spitzley at 120 pounds had the only pin for Holt.

Coach Dan Hvanessian's Holt team is an entire new unit after so many of last year's Capitol circuit championship starters graduated. Everett stayed ahead until Rick Van Houten, Holt's senior center, started to click on driving lay-ups. VanHouten scored 17 points and led the rally with eight points in the quarter.

Mason's reserve basket ball squad got off on the right foot at O'Rafferty with an over-time victory over the Raiders. Rebounding paved the way. Here Ron Underwood battles on the backboard on a missed Raider foul shot as Doug Engle, No. 15, and Pat Birney, No. 25, watch.

Against Waverly Saturday night Mason did all right under the basket. The Bulldogs had trouble, though, getting there. The Warrior full-court press kept the Mason offense rattled. Here Brian Doolittle tosses one up.

Clubwomen at Okemos Have Many Projects

OKEMOS--Of foremost importance in the Okemos Woman's club these days is the club's community service with several projects underway in which members of the club are playing important parts.

"The Women" scheduled at the Barn Theater for December 9, 10, 11, 12, 17 and 18 is being directed by Winifred Olds, a Woman's club member. The all-woman cast consists of 35 persons from Okemos, Haslett, Mason, Holt, Williamston, Lansing and East Lansing. Cast members from Okemos are Sydney Peets, Bee Vary, Betty Austin, Joan Niswander, Mildred Miller, Ingrid Zetterholm, and Cathy Clark. From Haslett are Susan Sprague and Bea Taylor. From Williamston is Marge Winn. From Mason is Esther Armstrong. From Holt are June Jevison and LaDonna Dow and from Lansing and East Lansing are Virginia Butler, Lee Wood, Betty Cady, Diane Baldwin, Mary Ireland, Pat Hare, Celine Hotchkiss, Mary Lynn, Sheila Webb and others.

A private showing of the play will also be given when Dr. Dunkle of Edward Sparrow hospital will entertain all members of the department of Radiology and Pathology of the hospital.

The club has helped to decorate the smoking lobby of the Barn Theater and is planning to help with additional painting in the near future. On Friday, December 10, the Woman's club will be donating cookies, brownies, and cup cakes to be sold with the coffee which is always furnished by the Circle Players. The proceeds from this sale will go to promote the Barn Theater.

At the recent meeting of the Woman's club held at the home of Fern Bogue at 2031 Osage drive club members were informed of the forthcoming bonding issue for the Okemos School district by Dr. Cole Brembeck. The two proposals were outlined and the method of financing was discussed. One important point brought out for consideration was that regardless of whether one or both proposals pass only 2.2 mills will be levied as additional tax rate.

Lucille Corkrey, principal of the new Edgewood elementary school told the club that one feature of the passing of the bonding issue on December 14 would mean doubling the size of that building. Already elementary pupils who are within walking distance of this school are being bussed to distant schools because of crowded conditions.

Other members of the Woman's club who have played an important part in the broad concept of community improvement, are Melba Fraser and Marian Parkhurst. Mrs. Fraser is a member of the governor's commission and has participated in many state wide conferences on the status of women. Mrs. Parkhurst represents the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs on the state advisory committee for the Protective services program as a function of the Michigan State department of social service.

VFW Auxiliary Chief at Holt

HOLT--Mrs. Irene Dunlap, president of the Department of Michigan 6th District Auxiliary to VFW, made an official inspection of the Oldsmobile-Higgins Auxiliary to the Post 3727, in the post home at Holt on December 2, 1965 Mrs. Marjorie Simpson conducted the meeting. Mrs. Pearl Mull, a member of the Lansing Auxiliary to the Post number 701 assisted with the floor work. Mrs. Dunlap is also a member of the 701 auxiliary, and the president of the Ingham County council.

There were sixteen members of the auxiliary present at the inspection.

Missionary Talks to Club

HOLT--Holt Baptist Women's Missionary Society heard Miss Helen Luicks of Okemos, Missionary to Nigeria, now home on furlough, at a Christmas meeting of the group Friday evening at the home of Mrs. George Burgess. Miss Luicks told of her work in publication and distribution of Christmas literature and the schools for missionaries' children illustrated with slides.

Portable Feed Grinder

Ronald Hamlin of Webberville finds his portable feed grinding mill is just the deal for grinding high moisture corn in the silo. The mill grinds the ear slowly, but does a good job of getting a proper size particle. The blower on the mill blows the corn in his 30 foot silo.

He operates the process of picking, grinding and getting the corn in the silo all alone. Urea is being mixed into the grain at 10 pounds per ton to provide protein. The silo is full of a winter's supply of ready-to-feed ration for Hamlin's 40 cow dairy herd.

Yule Cards Refresh Memory

This is the season when folks begin to think about mailing and receiving Christmas cards. Some years ago the late Vernon J. Brown, then publisher of the Ingham County News, wrote a column about these Christmas missives. Mrs. Blanche Moon of Lansing, a former Mason resident, kept the column and sent it to the News this week. It is being published again, not only because of its timeliness, but also because of the kindly, friendly message it brings at this Yuletide season.

By Vernon J. Brown I would like to insert an interlude in my series of early township history to permit me to talk about Christmas and the Christmas greeting card business.

At our house this sending and receiving of Christmas greetings has grown to substantial proportions. Now and then I hear folks complain about the big job entailed in addressing cards and writing the notes that seem to be called for in certain instances. I also hear that postal clerks and mail carriers are not so keen about them as the senders and receivers.

With it is not a task to send out Christmas cards. From our list we address the cards, one by one, and as we write the name, the town and the state or country, we think back over the years to the pleasant relations we have had with each, the circumstances that led to our acquaintance and our subsequent friendship, of the good times we have enjoyed together or some other circumstance that led us to first send or to receive a holiday message.

Of course, there are the members of the immediate family. That is a matter of course. Next come the good neighbors, whose kindnesses we like to recall. Then with us there is that list of fellow newspaper publishers; the men and women we have come to know and like in public life; business associates; and just good friends we have made along the way.

Our list grows year by year. Seldom do we cancel a name. Every year we pick up a few to be added because some contact, some accommodation, some association, some event, has led them to remember us or we them. Thereafter the exchange goes on year after year.

Again I say, when I hear people complaining of the task involved I am unable to understand their reasoning. We like to begin early, take time to talk about each one to whom we send and again as the cards come to our own mailbox, we like to sit down with plenty of time to think and talk about each one.

Those with pictures of family groups, of the little tots we have perhaps never seen, those which picture the doings of our friends--these cards get special attention. We arrange them somewhere in some convenient spot where we can pause as we pass through the room. It is almost as good as a visit.

Right now we have a nice bunch already in place. There are the children of a college president, there the governor and his fine family, over there 4 fine sons of a young woman who once was my receptionist and whose wedding we attended, there the 2 fine children of a couple, the wife once being a valued employee on our newspaper, here the 2 children of a mother who once took my dictation and wrote the letters, to which I was required to give personal attention, there the son of a girl who lived with us while attending high school. This greeting card bears the handsome face of her youngest son, now in high school.

We have cards and greetings and cheery notes from many we knew years ago. These we cherish especially. Not all are from the same circles either. We have an engraved card from a casual friend whose home is on the "gold coast" of Grosse Pointe; we have one from a wealthy Arabian friend who has visited us, another from the Philippines, others from senators and congressmen, state officials and bankers.

I first knew David Henry when, fresh out of college, he came to Lansing to become aide to a state superintendent of public instruction. Dave sent us a greeting card and also sent me a personal Christmas message.

I have another nice letter from the retiring president of the University of Illinois whom Dave will succeed next September. Four other college and university presidents added their message to the 1954 crop, all of which is very pleasing but not more so than the one I received from a mother of 3 whose no-good husband ran away and left her stranded almost 20 years ago. It was my good fortune to be

Students Wrong

I could not help reading the article in the December 1 Ingham County News on the Stockbridge high school students' views of anti-Vietnam war demonstrations without some dismay. I hope the average high school student has a more open-minded attitude than the majority of views expressed in the article.

It is disturbing to find young people calling for "stronger action" against demonstrators, not because the cause they demonstrate for is necessarily just, but because, ironic as it may seem, the war in Vietnam is being fought to protect the freedom and rights of another people which include the right to demonstrate.

Of the demonstrators have been misconstrued. Their message is that killing is wrong and that the only way to peace tomorrow is to start now. This is not "appeasement" or a communist plot.

Two times in this century large numbers of American soldiers died in wars that were supposed to end all wars, and twice their deaths have been proved in vain, except for the bitter lesson they taught.

Perhaps the demonstrators' philosophy is idealistic. Perhaps it is more realistic than any idea has been since the Emancipation Proclamation. No one can rightfully judge, only consider and take sides. Often conflict proceeds progress.

Mason's Discriminatory Tax Fee

Mason taxpayers were a little surprised last week to discover a 1% "collection fee" added to their tax statements. An investigation has determined that the fee is based upon law, that this year is the first time Mason taxpayers have been saddled with the special fee and that it is intended to cover the expenses the city incurs while collecting taxes for the county.

One can hardly imagine that the city actually expends such an amount to collect the county taxes along with the city taxes, yet let's assume that it does cost as much to collect the tax as will be collected through this special fee.

But what about the fairness - or to use the popular phrasing of the day - what about the discriminatory aspects of tacking the 1% fee to tax statements? Consider one Mason taxpayer who is faced with paying a $500 tax and another who is faced with a $1,000 tax. The one who has the $500 tax will be asked to pay a $5 fee, while his neighbor with the 1,000 tax will have to pay a $10 fee. Now, does it in fact cost twice as much to collect the larger tax? No! Each tax will require exactly the same amount of paper work at city hall. In effect, those who contribute the most in taxes are required to pay the most just for the pleasure of paying it. Certainly, such a collection fee is discriminatory.

A far better way to nick the Mason taxpayers if the city treasurer truly can't struggle to the check book, write a check, type up an envelope, run it through the postage meter and mail it to the county treasurer without additional subsidy would be to tack a flat charge on each tax statement.

If it could be ascertained that it costs 50¢ per tax statement to handle the county tax, then that amount could be added to every tax statement. But who at city hall can say that it costs $60 to collect the county tax from just one taxpayer? That's how much at least one Mason taxpayer is going to pay this year. And he isn't particularly the biggest taxpayer in town either.

And if that isn't enough, there is much to be said (and a lot is being said) about the necessity of the city collecting the extra fee in the first place. Taxpayers who happen also to be employers know all too well that half of business bookkeeping nowadays is consumed with collecting taxes for state and federal governments. Employers are not permitted to tack a percentage factor on the wages of employees just because the employers are collecting income taxes for the federal government. There is no reason that the city should be paid to do what every businessman is expected to do for nothing.

More than likely, the addition of the special collection fee was motivated by the desire to add a bit of revenue to city coffers. But certainly this is a poor way to accomplish this objective. With taxes already in outer space, the collection fee for many has become the last straw.

The city council is solely responsible. It has the power to retain the collection fee or order it removed from the tax statement. It would be in the holiday spirit to cast off the arbitrary and discriminatory fee now. It might make paying the highest tax in Mason and Ingham county history a little more bearable.

Goals for 1965

The Ingham County News supports these objectives:

1. A popular vote to assure the people's choice as to what type of city hall fire station is needed.
2. Expansion of new and completion of existing city parks with emphasis on playgrounds and picnic areas.
3. Continued planting of trees with provisions requiring subdividers to plant at least one tree on each lot before acceptance by the city.
4. A community center with regular hours and projects for senior citizens.
5. An industrial park to be operated by a non-profit community corporation with the avowed purpose of attracting desirable industries.
6. A Mason museum.

Yester Years

One Year Ago - 1964
Mason councilmen will join forces with the county road commissioners and Delhi township in fighting the state highway department's move to abandon US-127 from Mason to Lansing once the new US-127 is completed.
Larry Dickinson of Okemos won first place in the Junior livestock division of the International Livestock show in Chicago last week. Derwood Dickinson and Richard Dickinson won 1st and 4th place for Oxford yearling ram, 2nd and 4th place for ram lamb, 1st place for a pen of 3 lambs and grand champion ram.

10 Years Ago - 1955
Mason's blue lodge elected Chester Fletcher worshipful master Wednesday night. Others chosen were: Leonard Walline, senior warden; Donald R. Barto, junior warden; William S. Seelye, secretary; C. Harold Knudstrup, treasurer; Robert L. Colby, senior deacon; Wallace Bailey, junior deacon; Rex Fair, tiler; Arvide North, chaplain; Marcus Hanna, Gordon Kennedy, Leslie Bruno and William Clark, stewards.

After 37 years William Musloff of Dansville got his $10 back. In 1918 he was stationed with the army at Camp Mills, New York. Musloff loaned $10 to a buddy who was getting married. The marriage was performed but Musloff didn't get his money back until last week. Enclosed in a letter was the $10 and a note of thanks.

Members of Mason high school's football team and Coach Abe Cohn were crowned with verbal laurel wreaths at the big banquet staged by the Lions club Tuesday. Close to 300 persons attended. A turkey dinner was served by the American Legion.
Chairman L. D. Dunckel.

30 Years Ago - 1935
Charles H. Murray of Bunker Hill township was re-elected chairman of the board of county road commissioners at a meeting Saturday. Arthur H. Phillips of Lansing and Leo T. Lasenby of Mason are the other 2 members.

50 Years Ago - 1915
The girls' literary and debating club of Mason high school has elected the following officers: Martha Chapin, president; Lucretia Kenney, vice president and Aeletha Ellsworth, secretary-treasurer.

75 Years Ago - 1890
P. Van Ripper of Onondaga has purchased the premium-getter coach horse of Fred Rorabeck of Aurelius.
George Northrup of Meridian has gone to Florida as a delegate to the National Farmers' Alliance convention.

Commissioners Guy C. Hull and Wilbur N. Sweeney, Engineer Ed Ferris, Clarence Adlof and Ed Lynn of the Ingham County Road Commission were in St. Joseph this week attending the annual convention of the Association of Southern Michigan Road Commissioners. Dunckel was elected to the board of directors of the association.

Mayor Arthur W. Jewett raises flowers and trees and has an eye for beautiful scenery. He could no longer stand the sight of the scrawny swamp spruce in the court house yard, so last week he took a shovel, dug up 2 Norway spruce from his own forest and planted them in the court yard. The trees flank the walk at the main entrance to the county building. His children helped with the planting.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burke have purchased a farm near Clare and have moved their goods from Mason to their new home.

Barbs and Praise

Highway progress is something which can't be knocked but lack of progress in the area of the interchange north of Mason involving road blocks and inconveniences to those living on Dart road is justifiably being knocked by those living and working in the area.

Highway officials and contractors have not been considerate in dealing with the problem. As a result the Dart road residents are faced with what may be a winter of hardship including such things as mud, roads which can't be serviced by a snow plow and no school bus service.

Especially hard hit is Joe Tiefenthaler, who can't get deliveries in to his cabinet working business or the finished products out without taking off cross country something which big semi-truck drivers refuse to do.

Dr. Joseph Brown is another with a problem. He has all sorts of trouble getting away from home through the maze of detours for emergency calls. This might prove disastrous to someone in an emergency. Detour road around the Howell road overpass is completed, or it would seem to be as no one has worked on the detour for a month. Road signs are in place, but barricades are still up.

Road building brings inconvenience but there is no reason to penalize residents any more than is necessary. At least residents who seek answers from state and road officials should have them--something which hasn't happened so far.

Once upon a time many long, long years ago, a transfer student out of Chicago sat down next to me in Joe Wyman's business training class at Mason High school. From that moment on he has been a part of the Mason community. Nothing he could do would shock me too much as I spent high school years trying to keep him out of trouble.

But a couple of weeks ago he did shock me. He called to ask if I knew the name of a certain Mason woman.

Naturally my curiosity was aroused so I asked him why? Bob Inghram's answer was that he was doing a body appraisal."

When questioned further, he added weakly that he only doing his duty as a car salesman in evaluating a trade-in.

An editor down in Texas has come up with the answers to why women insist on wearing those cramped, uncomfortable pointed shoes. He claims that it makes it easier for her to kick mice she has cornered.

Friday is Red Cross Bloodmobile stop day at Mason. Now, more than ever before, blood donors are needed. It takes just a few painless minutes to give your best Christmas present--lifegiving blood for some unfortunate needing it.

Besides the Red Cross crew and the volunteers who help man the various duties are such nice pleasant people. What better way is there to get a break in the middle of a Friday afternoon?

Dick Brown

country and town

People who have stopped at our house since the day after Thanksgiving are amazed to find Christmas decorations already in place. Probably they should be annoyed because Christmas is still 3 weeks away. But somehow, we always get a fast start at Christmastime. Probably it's because of the aluminum tree, the plastic wreaths and "greens", the metallic adornments and the styrofoam nativity scenes.

It certainly isn't like it used to be. Now we can drape the house in a fantastic Thanksgiving theme and in the space of an afternoon be headlong into Christmas. And just as easily, the Christmas decor can disappear to be replaced by themes motivated by New Year's Eve, George Washington's birthday, April Fool's Day and the Fourth of July.

The speed of our age is no more apparent than in holiday decorations. And frankly, a lot of the fun of holidays has been removed because it's so easy to buy what we used to have to make. I can remember at our house when we used to put up a real Christmas tree, place real evergreen boughs throughout the house (remember that fragrance?) and fashion home-made trinkets for the tree. It never even occurred to us to put anything on our front door except a huge hand-made evergreen wreath. That was Christmas!

If we had wanted to be in the full spirit of Christmas the day after Thanksgiving, it Insanity!

BOB RUNYON-WILS
WILLIAMSTON

About the easiest thing to do when thinking about the Vietnamese war . . . is to become confused. The charges and countercharges, the statements and counterstatements, the on-the-spot information gathered by ambitious politicians, the profound and contradictory statements out of Washington . . . and the peculiar nature of the war itself . . . all tend toward the further compounding of confusion.

One single, unalterable fact emerges . . . we are killing communists . . . communists bent on killing another small country.

Cunning, crafty, clever communists . . . using every weapon from brainwashed prisoners of war to peace demonstrations . . . terribly reminiscent of the same kind of thing which occurred before Hitler invaded Russia prior to our entry into World War Two . . . and the Korean conflict . . . any weapon to divide America and keep it so until communism has had time to absorb yet another nation.

The communist pattern doesn't change . . . and neither, tragically, does the free world. We all fumbled badly at the start of World War Two . . . as we did the entire Korean conflict, and as we are doing right now. The United States is carrying the burden for the free world . . . and not doing it as well as we could since we seem to have acquired more freeloaders than friends.

The United States Department of State has admitted in a letter to sixth district Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain, that about the only countries providing worthwhile assistance in the murderous little war are the Republic of Korea, New Zealand and Australia.

Korea has sent several thousand well-trained men. New Zealand has sent an artillery battalion, and engineer detachment and a surgical team. Australia has sent several hundred military men and more are on the way.

Contrast this with England which has sent 6 civilians and an English professor. Italy . . . a 9 man surgical team. Germany, 26 men, mainly technical and medical personnel, 30 ambulances and various financial loans for such things as the making of fertilizer to the construction of a slaughter house.

France has provided technical assistance for the civilian economy and some financial help.

Canada . . . a professor of ophthalmology, $150,000.00 worth of flour, a new science building and an auditorium for a university. Turkey, medicine and cement . . . Iran, 1000 tons of petroleum products . . . India, cloth for flood relief . . . Argentina, two observers . . . Brazil, coffee and some medical supplies . . . and the list goes on . . . all countries of the free world, most of whom have received billions of dollars and thousands of men from America when they needed them.

The United States is not only fighting a dirty little war for the integrity of the South Vietnamese, but for the security of every nation, large or small, from the ceaseless attempts by the communists to repeat the barbarities which occurred in Tibet, Hungary, Cuba . . . and what would have happened in South Korea if we hadn't stepped in. Now, in Viet Nam . . . we are fighting virtually alone, for the free world again . . . not to cheers, help and encouragement of those whom we defend . . . but only to the reluctant, pitiful scraps of help they see fit to give us.

Our men are dying for freedom again . . . to a chorus of complaints and rounds of excuses from the world which would be in communist slavery if we had not stood and did not stand as the bulwark against enslavement. And . . . we continue to send billions of dollars in aid to these same countries to sustain them in their ingratitude. This is insanity!

Sod Business Is For Pros

The sod business has become a highly specialized and sophisticated enterprise. Plots of high-quality nursery turf bear little resemblance to the old piece of bluegrass pasture that was formally cut and sold for sod.

Today, a field of high-quality, cultivated sod is a pampered parcel, a plot on which the grower has expended many times the increments of capital and the hours of labor that would have been necessary to produce a field crop like corn. The neatly mowed dark-green hue of the carefully fed plant, has been sown with precision, irrigated without stint and groomed with the utmost care by men who are experts.

The commercial sod grower can depend upon a crop from the same piece of ground about every two years: Large amounts of fertilizer are used on the crop. This, together with the mass of roots and rhizomes which are left in the stripped plot, helps to maintain the condition of the soil. So with proper management, crop after crop of sod can be cut from the same field indefinitely.

Marketing the crop is the hurdle that has toppled many a tyro in the sod business. The bulk and weight of the crop makes it costly to move very far and limits the marketing radius of the producing farm to about 60 or 70 miles. There is no formal marketing channels for sod as in livestock, grains or truck crops. With no daily price quotations to turn to, no brokers or middlemen to help move the crop, marketing becomes the big challenge.

Potential growers are cautioned to have their eyes wide open when moving into the business. It takes a real pro to make it go.

Bull Meat Seen Beef of Future

Bull beef is no baloney. It looks good; it eats good; it is as tender as steer beef and the cutability of young bull carcasses is at least equal, if not superior, to steer carcasses. Besides this, bulls are more efficient converters of feed than are steers.

Much of this has been known since the early 1950's as a result of experiment station research. It remained for a commercial operation to prove the practicability of these findings on a large scale. A feedlot on the West Coast has fed out more than 600 bulls in a series of tests started in 1962. In a test during 1964 of a group of 172 head of cattle (86 bulls and 86 steers) of similar genetic background the bulls were worth $3.59 more per head than the steers at weaning (largely because of their extra weight). They finished to a high Good, low Choice grade on $5.26 less feed per head; and they cut out $26.44 more per carcass on a retail basis.

Bull feeding has its problems though. One involves getting the bulls onto full feed at an early age, yet having them old enough to finish and grade well at slaughter. (The term "grade" is more or less academic as there are no official government grades for bull carcasses). Fourteen months and about 1,000 pounds is the maximum weight for quality bull meat. Implanting suckling bull calves with still-born seemed to keep them from riding. When the young bulls went on feed they were again implanted. These implanted bulls developed similar to the steers. Groups of bulls cannot be mixed; once they are put together no strangers should be introduced into the pen.

Marbling is one category in which the finished bull carcasses seem to run consistently behind the steers. This has prevented the bulls from grading as high as the steers. Dark-cutting meat is another factor in which the bulls seem to be at a disadvantage. Some of this has been attributed to holding the cattle in strange quarters for an unduly long time after leaving the feedlot.

While bull feeding looks good, marketing is still a serious obstacle. One feeder feels that "when this country gets to the point where we must have more efficiency in beef production we'll feed a high percentage of bulls". Until then, feeders, packers and retailers have some homework to do to solve the production and marketing problems and to convince the consumer of the quality of the meat.

Farm is Named

Ken Woods of Route 1, Dansville, identified the mystery farm pictured in the November 23 issue as that belonging to Ted Jones, 2111 E. Ewers road, Dansville. Woods has a check for $5 waiting for him at the Ingham County News office. Jones may have an enlargement of the photo by stopping in at the News office.

Ried Is Leader for 25 Years

Woodcraft Is Hobby—Service

Leadership could easily be Robert Ried's middle name. Ried, who lives at 1233 N. Eifert road, Holt, has been a 4-H club leader specializing in wood crafts for 25 years. When he started out as a leader in 1934 he was 15 years of age and just 2 years older than most of the boys in his wood-working club.

Picking up a little carpenter know how here and there as a boy, Ried was able to watch his Dunn Community club in the area west of Holt develop into a group of project clubs which combined to form what is now the Well Dunn 4-H club which has 80 some members. These 80 members are working on over 20 projects and are under the direction of 16 leaders.

The Holt leader received special recognition for his 25 years of leadership service this fall at the Michigan State university state show and again at the 4-H Leaders' Recognition Banquet held recently in Stockbridge.

For Ried's 25 years of service he was awarded an emerald 25 year pin and clover certificate. Ried, who has always been interested in young people, at one time wasn't a leader but he continued to help others and eventually ended up back at the leadership helm.

Some 5 years ago Ried moved his woodworking shop to his garage so he could do more extensive custom work. With Christmas right around the corner, the Holt man has his shop filled with completed specialty gifts for children. Some bright-eyed youngsters are going to find miniature furnishings that would make any doll happy gaily wrapped under their tree on the special morning.

Some of the things he has made are canopy beds, children's desk and chair, tiny chests of drawers and cabinets made to scale. All his projects are made as exact copies of the real things.

Through the years Ried says he has watched his club members change from all boys to nearly all girls. Marilyn Hart of the Well Dunn club and daughter of Ralph Hart, was one of Ried's first wood-working girl members.

This past year she received a first place award of excellence at the 1965 4-H State show with her full-size canopy bed, which Marilyn constructed under Ried's capable leadership.

With the completion of his 25 years, Ried says he is going to let someone else take over the reins.

Ried has 4 children that all enjoy woodworking. He has 160 acres of cash crops—beans, wheat and oats—and is employed at the Davison Chemical division of W. R. Grace and company of Lansing in addition to his farming.

REWARDING HOBBY - Robert Ried of Eifert road, Holt, has put his woodworking hobby to good use. For the past 25 years he has been a 4-H woodworking club leader for the Well Dunn 4-H club. Ried's workshop is located in a garage next to his house where he works the year round building any and everything. With Christmas fast approaching he has all he can do to get his orders for children's special play furniture completed before St. Nick comes sliding down the chimney. In the picture he is inspecting a newly completed cabinet and doll high chair.

Agriculture in Action

The sun never sets on the markets supplied by products from Michigan farms. They flow across our land and our continent, and across the seven seas. People in Europe and the Orient dine on the bounty of Michigan fields.

Yet Michigan farmers continue to push for market expansion. They know the abundance and variety of Michigan farm products rival those of any other farming area of the world, and as with products of Michigan industry, wider and more active farm markets mean better dollar returns to our state.

For just one example, Michigan's famed navy (pea) beans are world renown and internationally honored for high quality. Beans alone bring a cash return of between 35 and 40 million dollars to Michigan farmers each year. Many more millions of dollars in value are added by processing, transportation and related service industries.

wheat, beans, poultry, livestock products, fruits and vegetables, at home and abroad," they said.

This means more to the average person than may appear on the surface, for true market expansion includes the consumer along with the farmer. The consumer is rarely conscious of the role he plays when he purchases a food item (or ignores one), but it is the consumer who remains king in our free market economy. He is the judge who sets the standards of variety, quality and amount to be produced on the farm.

When Michigan farmers say that they intend to work hard at the job of market expansion, they mean improving sales by product quality, variety, sound methods of trade and active search for new markets on a world-wide scope.

When Michigan farmers say that they must work together to bargain for "improved prices and other terms of trade," they pose no threat to anyone. They know that sound marketing approaches are not based on threats or compulsion.

1966 Ag Program To Aid The Low-Income Farmer

The 1966 agricultural conservation program will stress assistance to low-income farmers, special beautification-conservation practices, and conservation practices that help shift land from row and small grain crops to less-intensive uses, reported Frank Light, Chairman, Michigan ASC State committee.

The 1966 ACP encourages conservation of soil, water, woodland, and wildlife on individual farms and ranches by sharing cost of approved practices. Authorized funds are allocated among the states on the basis of conservation needs.

Farmer-elected Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committees will administer the program and will coordinate it with work plans of local soil and water conservation districts. USDA's Soil Conservation Service and Forest Service are responsible for technical phases of certain practices.

The changes in program emphasis this year are consistent with and will help implement the policy of promoting beautification and improved economic conditions, adopted generally by the USDA and government as a whole," said Light.

State ASC committees are in the process of reviewing their programs to adjust them in line with local conservation problems and the current agricultural situation. Normally, the maximum federal cost-share for each practice is the rate necessary to obtain the needed performance while representing a substantial contribution by the farmer or rancher.

These ASC committees are authorized to approve practice cost-sharing of up to 80 percent of the cost for low-income farmers. To be eligible for the higher rate of cost-sharing, the applicant must be largely dependent on the farm for his livelihood. The farm family's total income must not exceed $3,000, and the county committee must find that the conservation measures approved for the higher rate would not be carried out without the higher rate.

Under the 1966 ACP, beautification-conservation practices will be encouraged. Most ACP practices, in addition to solving related conservation problems, contribute to improvement of the appearance of farm and ranchlands. However, the new program authorized measures which have substantial beautification benefits. During the coming year, efforts will be increased by ASC committees to inform producers about the program, the need for conservation, and the availability of program funds to cover a considerable share of the conservation costs where such a need exists.

Farm Views And News

By JAMES MULVANY
Old King Corn is up to tricks again. Dairymen and hog and beef feeders in Ingham County will be buying a few million dollars worth of corn this winter and coming summer. Present day complex marketing systems keep a farmer well confused on how, when and where to buy his supply.

During the past month, corn has been trucked out of the county by the truck loads to reach markets at the river stations in Ohio. Two months from now, some of it will, without question, be trucked back to the farms near its origin with 30¢ per bushel tacked on to cover transportation and handling charges. There is no one to blame; it's just the complexity of modern day marketing.

It would be unfair to say that enough corn has been moved out of the county to supply our needs, but every bit held here could have helped our situation. Much has been trucked out because storage facilities in local elevators as well as on farms, is not adequate for our needs. John Williamson, of Leslie Coop, reports that his elevator will have to buy back corn from distant markets to replace any they sell from storage to farmers now. Transportation cost of 10¢ per bushel per 100 miles and 10¢ handling charges each time it's moved, will add at least 20¢ per bushel to the price farmers will pay for corn this winter. My speculation is that this will bring the price of corn sold to farmers to at least $1.35 per bushel by mid-winter.

One local elevator man suggested that by the time farmers run out of on-the-farm supplies, corn will be $1.50 per bushel. His speculation is $1.25 per bushel cost to his elevator, plus 15¢ trucking, plus 10¢ handling.

Elevator people are sorry their facilities would not permit adequate storage to have saved farmers trucking charges. Livestock feeders will be forced to push their pencil: A few things they should consider are:

1. Sell the cows. Sell corn to the neighbor who hangs on. Maurice Price, auctioneer, Stockbridge, reports they have set a record for number of farm sales in a year so far in 1965.
2. Buy corn now if you can find a way to store it. That still empty silo may be the best bet.
3. Wet corn in a neighbors crib that may spoil on warm December days might be bought. See us for information on how to buy it, corrected for moisture.
4. Feed dairy cows more conservatively. Cows milking 30 lbs. per day or less should get little, if any grain.
5. Feeder pigs will be a good price. Hog men may do better to sell the feeders and the corn.
6. Remember King Corn will play tricks on us all winter. Our best speculation may be our worst mistake.

Sorry Sir! Attends Tax School

There's an Upper Peninsula landowner who has 4 carefully replanted trees on his property, thanks to the alert eye of Norman Remington, Escanaba, plant specialist with the Michigan department of agriculture.

The stolen trees were being illegally hauled home in the trunk of a car stopped by Remington for routine inspection. The over-eager tree digger said he had lifted the 4 "little birches" where he'd found them in the woods. Remington reminded him of the violations involved; Trees stolen from private property. No insect and disease inspection. No nursery license.

Rather than press charges, Remington convinced the man of the error of his ways. It was suggested that he replant them in the freshly dug holes, under Remington's supervision. The ill-informed birch lover was eager to comply. Especially, noted Remington, when he found that his "little birches" weren't birches at all, but aspens. Remington, a trained forester, works with the Michigan department of agriculture's plant industry division. Such tree checks are mainly to insure that plant diseases are not spread. However, as in this case, outright stealing is often prevented.

Fire Carelessness

The Insurance Information Institute reports that three-fourths of the fires which occur in American homes are the result of carelessness.

Car-Animal Crashes

If a car is in a collision with an animal, such as a deer or horse, any financial loss is covered by comprehensive physical damage insurance, says the Insurance Information Institute.

Hearing To Study Farm Labor Bind

The Michigan farm labor panel will hold two public hearings on the state's future needs for agricultural labor as well as reviewing this year's program to meet these needs.

The first meeting will be held in Saginaw on Thursday, December 9, in the supervisors' room county court house and the second in Muskegon, Friday, December 10, in the commissioners' room county building, according to Charles C. Killingsworth, chairman of the panel.

Each day's meeting will begin at 10 a.m. The panel will invite the testimony of witnesses representing farmers; processors; groups working with migrant farm workers and government officials.

The afternoon sessions of the two hearings will be open to all interested persons who wish to participate and present their views to the panel. Those unable to appear in person can submit in writing any observations, information and evidence to Charles C. Killingsworth, university professor of labor and industrial relations, Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan.

After weighing the testimony given at the two hearings, and evidence received at earlier hearings in East Lansing, the panel will submit its recommendations for 1966 together with a report of its findings for 1965 to Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

The Michigan Farm Labor panel was established by Secretary Wirtz on May 7, 1965. It was set up "to advise him with respect to certifications at the request of the attorney general pursuant to the immigration and nationality act, public law 414, relating to the admission of non-immigrant aliens to perform temporary labor or services in the United States." The panel was also directed to make further recommendations for "serving fully all agricultural labor needs."

The other members of the panel are: Daniel R. Fuschfeld, professor of economics, University of Michigan; Dale E. Hathaway, professor of agricultural economics, M.S.U.; Anson L. Lovelle, Director of Industrial Relations, Lake Shore Division, Bendix Corporation; Rev. Hugh C. White, Jr., exec. director, Detroit Industrial Mission.

Causes of Fires

One out of five fires in the United States is caused by matches and smoking, the Insurance Information Institute reports. Another 20 per cent are caused by the misuse of electricity and by faulty electrical equipment.

Ingham Ranks High For Heart Disease

Ingham County ranks slightly above the statewide average of cardiovascular deaths in Michigan last year, Dr. James B. Blodgett, president of the Michigan Heart association announced.

In Ingham County, 56.3 per cent of all deaths were caused by cardiovascular disease, the statewide average was 55.2 per cent. Percentages were based on the 1964 statistics of the State Department of Health.

While the percentages emphasized the magnitude of the problem of cardiovascular fatalities in Michigan, analysis of the figures showed only that with some exceptions the highly industrialized counties with younger populations had lower percentages than the quiet rural counties.

Of adjoining counties, Jackson had 58.7 percent; Eaton, 58.3; Clinton, 59.8; Shiawassee, 58.2; and Livingston, 65.9.

Wayne and Oakland counties had 53.7 and 53.6 percent respectively, while Kent County, whose seat is Grand Rapids, had 55.5. The Upper Peninsula counties averaged 59.64 percent.

The lowest in the state was Macomb County with 49.4 percent; the highest, Oscoda with 69.2.

The Michigan Heart association is a Michigan United Fund agency.

Another Slap

Once again after 10 years a great injustice has been inflicted upon the public, small business, and the farmers which are really the backbone of our great nation, (Yes it was).

Who was it that signed this injustice and made it a law beginning January 1, 1966? It was our legislators who we voted for and put in office believing they were the proper ones to serve our best interests.

Have we made a mistake? Or were they misinformed and high pressured by other groups that saw a chance to profit with this legislation on their side?

What was made in law? It is the state meat inspection bill. Sounds great doesn't it, and it is in some instances. The ones I refer to are the packing houses that make a business of buying animals and selling at wholesale or retail. Now don't get me wrong. Not all packing houses buy sick or diseased animals, but a few do and profit by it.

Who is this law going to hurt the most? First it will put many small locker plants, and small custom slaughterhouses out of business, due to the terrific specifications in the law that a person would be foolish to try and meet. It would put you out sooner or later, but it might better be sooner.

Next the farmer. Let's say he had an emergency. The local veterinarian tells him it is all right to eat. But it happens say on a Holiday, Saturday, or Sunday, or a day when an inspector cannot be obtained to give the 2 inspections required. This animal cannot be killed without violating the law, and will become a total loss. Does it make any sense? The law reads; The director can set the hours and day that butchering can be done. This same animal had it not been good to eat, the veterinarian would tell the farmer to ship it. Eventually it ends up in some packing house that is county, city, or federally inspected. No further comment at this time as to what it is used for. Did you know a state veterinarian was asked, "How many diseases can you think of that cooking won't kill?" His answer was, "I can't think of any." From reports from the average packer of a very close estimate on condemnation, approximately 98% are for sterilization only, about 2% condemned not fit for human consumption.

What does sterilization only mean? It means it has to be cooked. Again no comment. Since time began man has been eating uninspected meat and I challenge anyone to prove anyone has died or got sick from eating it. Just a few years ago a M.S.U. Professor told a group of us that he got some meat sent in for inspection. He said that each take some home and eat it and if it doesn't make us sick it is all right.

Now if our legislators are sincere in their efforts to make right a wrong judgement, they will be glad to listen to an amendment that will save many locker plants, custom slaughterhouses, and the God given rights of the farmer. If they are not sincere then we know they are not the men we want to represent us any longer.

Lease Now—Buy Later Young Farmers Told

Many young farmers have leased or rented land, equipment, buildings, and livestock using their cash or credit for operating expenses. Renting has enabled some to quickly become competitive commercial farmers.

Young growing farmers find dollars are worth more invested in the better productive assets such as field equipment, cows and other production items. They let those who can afford ownership keep the land and use leasing to tie it up for profitable farming.

Some farmers get into trouble by spending all their money on land and buildings and obligating all of the capital they can realistically hope to generate to the payment of interest and principal. They have no capital for expansion, or for replacing equipment which can become outdated quicker than expected.

One farmer was able to rent land only from year to year. Although this short term was not the total answer, he rented the land for four to six percent of land cost. It proved profitable with field crops such as wheat, oats, flax and corn.

When a farmer gets further along, he can get into the consolidation stage by beginning to buy land. In addition, he may be able to take advantage of the inherent advantages of leasing with options to buy with a set price in the future. As leased land proves profitable, he can set aside its earnings to make the purchase at his option. Once he has acquired the land, it has appreciated above the option price, and it usually does, his ability to borrow is tremendously enhanced.

It's a two-edged proposition that landowners are reluctant to sell and that would-be operators are limited to the amount of capital which they can apply to farming. And the situation is not likely to change its direction; indeed, the trend may well continue to such an extent that the line between investor and operator becomes more distinct and many farm operators will lease now for profits and buy later for investments.

Chamberlain Urges Halt on Shipping

Congressman Charles E. Chamberlain (R.-Mich.) has called on President Johnson for a full disclosure to the American people of the involvement of free world ships in supplying North Vietnam and an explanation as to what the Administration is doing about it.

In a letter dated November 27, the 5-term Michigan representative stated that the recent high American casualty lists and the increasing numbers of North Vietnamese troops compelled him "to voice again my deepening concern over the continued aid and comfort being given the Hanoi regime by vessels flying the flags of free world countries."

A member of the house armed services committee who served on a special inspection mission to South Vietnam last summer, Chamberlain wrote the president, "The monthly reports I receive from the department of defense reveal that this traffic is still at an alarming level, and I most respectfully suggest that this is a matter which merits your personal interest."

Noting previous arguments put forth by the state department which attempted to depreciate the importance of this trade with the enemy, Chamberlain asserted, "It matters little whether these ships are under charter to communist or free world business interests, or whether the goods are 'strategic' or 'non-strategic', for it is self evident that any goods needed to sustain the war economy of North Vietnam supports that nation's overall capability to continue their aggressive policies to the detriment of our cause."

Chamberlain further urged that the President include in his forthcoming state of the union message a recommendation for amending the Merchant Marine Act of 1920 in order to prohibit ships engaged in North Vietnamese trade from business in American ports. The East Lansing legislator said, "I recently discovered, for instance, that the HELLAS, a Greek flag vessel, was in New York on June 7, in North Vietnam on July 11, and back again in New York on August 9 of this year." Chamberlain continued, "To deny to those helping to supply Hanoi their profits from our own ports would seem to be the very least that we could do to discourage this trade."

Chamberlain concluded, "I feel very strongly, Mr. President, that the growing commitment of thousands of American boys to this struggle demands our very best efforts to eliminate all possible sources of supplies for the enemy."

NO NEW TAX YET

Greener pastures do not always lie in the other farmer's field, notes Robert E. Smith with authority.

Smith is the associate legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau, which regularly keeps its members informed of government matters of interest.

"We as citizens of a county or state such as Michigan often think that we are the only ones plagued with constantly increasing taxes or with governmental fiscal problems," relates Smith.

The fallacy in this thinking was brought to Smith's attention by the Michigan Revenue Department, frequently the brunt of verbal blows from the citizenry.

Officials report that nearly two-thirds of the 50 states either adopted new state taxes or increased existing tax rates this year.

Tobacco taxation was increased in 22 states; nine states raised gasoline taxes; sales and use tax changes were enacted in eight states, and two states passed new sales levies. Income tax boosts were passed in nine states and six instances of hiked alcoholic beverage taxes were recorded.

Income tax activity, of course, has been of serious concern to Michigan residents in recent years because of legislative consideration of this method of taxation.

The Revenue Department notes that 36 states now have individual state income taxes. Some 24 of these also have a sales tax in effect.

One state enacted an income tax this year, but the Nebraska law is "presently subject to further action" at this time, reports the state department.

Michigan may be arriving at a point where the legislature cannot reasonably enact a state income tax, the Department statistics indicate. In other states, such as Ohio, the lawmaking bodies have learned that a statewide income tax levy is impractical when many cities use this form of revenue raising. In Ohio about 100 cities have an income tax.

Presently in Michigan, the cities of Detroit, Flint and Hamtramck have collected income taxes. The cities of Warren and Highland Park expect to collect on personal income next year, barring any public referendum. Saginaw also has been authorized to collect an income tax.

Several other cities are considering this form of taxation. The legislature may find itself pre-empted from this form by its own lack of action if other large cities follow suit.

BETTER TRANSITION
Long an advocate of the liberal school of correction methods, State Corrections Director Gus Harrison will start a new program next year to help prison inmates adjust more quickly to normal life after release.

Harrison recently announced a plan whereby model prisoners in all state institutions under his jurisdiction might be allowed the opportunity to be part-time members of society.

The plan calls initially for placing a small group of model prisoners who are near the end of their terms in jobs on the outside during the day.

Emphasis in Harrison's announcement of the program was on the fact that these would be model prisoners, only those men believed to be good social risks.

"Any inmate who has not established a good institutional record or who has a poor attitude, or is deviated in any way will not be considered," he said.

This, no doubt, is designed to assure members of communities near prison institutions that there will be no danger to them or their families caused by the day-work plan.

In order to be effective, of course, Harrison also must find employers with jobs available close to the various institutions who are willing to start the model prisoners on the road back to responsible living. The emphasis on the type of men to be used in the program should not be lost to the businessmen experiencing labor shortages.

Achievements Displayed

The Alaledon community hall was the scene of a noteworthy display of articles and collections Monday night November 29.

Each of the 5 dens had a table displaying articles made or collections gathered by the boys while they were working on their achievements which are required for awards.

A standard had been constructed by each den from which hung the name of each boy in the den and a recognition of his achievements. Den 4 had fashioned a wolf head from a bleach bottle as the point of interest for their standard. Handicraft was on display at their table. Den 2 had collections to view and Den 3 had made boats from wood. Both dens had sawed out a wolf head from a board as the top of their standard. Den 5 had fastened a wolf head made of plaster to their standard and featured wood-working at their table. Den 1 had constructed a totem pole from tin cans as their standard and had a variety of collections on exhibit.

The meeting opened with the flag ceremony and each one present introduced himself. Two guests from Williamston, Keith Worman and his mother, were welcomed.

A table was arranged with step by step instructions for the necessary achievements required to earn a wolf badge. The scouts helped their parents to earn the wolf badge. Russell Every was advanced to wolf rank and received one gold and 2 silver arrows for completing extra electives.

Harry Gibbs received one gold and one silver arrow. Robin Prater completed the bear rank and received his badge.

Tom Hills was awarded a silver arrow upon completion of 10 electives.

John Whitehurst and Steve Hinkle each received one den stripe for serving as assistant denners.

A new Bobcat, Scott Gilmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gilmore, took his oath and was welcomed into the pack.

The next pack meeting will be on December 28.

The meeting was adjourned and cookies, punch and coffee were served.

Ann Arbor Site Offered For Huge Atomic Complex

An inspection team of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) this week inspected 2 sites in Michigan as possible locations for a proton 200 Billion Electron Volt (BEV) accelerator, which is described as an ultra sophisticated atomic research tool.

The first site looked over is located in the Ann Arbor area in Northfield township near Whitmore lake. It contains 3,840 acres of farm land.

The other site is an 8,000 acre area at the surplus Fort Custer reservation near Battle Creek.

These are 2 of locations in 43 states being considered for the research center.

The complex is a huge development a mile wide in size to be constructed at a cost of $300 million and will be the largest of its kind in the world.

The 5 man team of inspectors is headed by Dr. George Kavanaugh, deputy general manager for research and development of the AEC. He described the Ann Arbor area site as "reasonable".

Seven other AEC teams are inspecting the sites offered in the 42 other states.

Governor George Romney, who lunched with the AEC team members Monday, said he doubted there were any other places which could offer the technical personnel that Michigan can and "I don't think you'll find any educational complex as substantial as ours."

Several major factors favoring the Ann Arbor area site are listed by Michigan scientists:

1 -- University of Michigan is one of the top research universities of the country. Twelve scientists have worked in high energy physics and basic nuclear research at Ann Arbor and elsewhere.

2 -- The University of Michigan is only a few miles from the proposed site for the research center.

3 -- The site is close to Detroit's Metropolitan airport which provides regional, national and international service within 30 minutes of driving time.

4 -- The site is near Detroit industrial plants, which are of major importance to the center, especially in metal fabrication.

A 200 BEV accelerator is described best in an Associated Press dispatch dated last Ann Arbor, which appeared on news wires this week.

The 200 BEV accelerator in simplest terms is a 3-mile long circular drag strip for tiny subatomic particles--an elliptical metal tube filled with nothing -- a vacuum.

"Inside the tube, particles such as protons -- are accelerated by 500 huge electromagnets to ever higher energy levels -- measured in electron volts -- until they reach 200 BEV.

"Similar experiments with less powerful accelerators have led to detection and identification of more than 100 sub nuclear particles. However, research indicates there may be other such particles not yet discovered.

"The higher energies are required artificially produce these particles."

Presently the most powerful accelerator in existence is a 30 BEV unit at Brookhaven, Long Island, New York, Russia at the present time is constructing an 80 BEV unit.

"When the accelerator becomes operable in 6 to 8 years, it will require a staff of approximately 2,000 engineers, technicians and other personnel in addition to a resident staff of 95 physicists and 300 visiting physicists," the dispatch stated.

Church Groups Plan Yule Tea

HOLT -- Holt Presbyterian Women's association will entertain women of the Holt Methodist Women's society of Christian Service at a Christmas Tea Wednesday, December 15, at 1 p.m. at the Holt Presbyterian church.

The Christmas Tea has become a tradition between the groups. Circles 1, 2, 3 and 5 of the Presbyterian Women's association will not have regular meetings in December.

50-Plus Club Plans a Dinner

HOLT -- The Holt Presbyterian 50 Plus club is planning a Christmas dinner and program December 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Campbell, Riverview Dune in Dimondale.

Mrs. Ethel Thorburn and Mrs. Enid Moore will have charge of arrangements and decorations for the dinner.

At the November meeting of the club Mrs. Lucy Chapman showed pictures of Europe taken on a 3 week tour by the Gower Chapmans last summer.

Premium Taxes

Insurance companies of all types paid nearly $708 million in premium taxes to 50 states during 1964, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

A SMILE AND AN UMBRELLA - When Janet Hill of Vermonville, Miss Michigan Farm Bureau of 1966, leaves Alma college for her Christmas vacation, the umbrella can probably stay behind. Things are looking bright for the comely coed who will spend the first five days of her vacation on an expense-paid trip to the National Farm Bureau Convention in Chicago. And she'll be leaving that book behind, too. Alma's academic calendar is arranged so that terms end just before vacation periods. That way holidays aren't spoiled with cramming for exams, and students have opportunity for a fresh start after vacations.

New State Security Act To Cover More Employees

Michigan employers who have been between one and 3 employees for 20 weeks in a calendar year or have a yearly payroll of $1,000, will be covered by the Michigan employment security act, effective January 1, 1966.

Malcolm R. Lovell, Jr., director of the Michigan employment security commission, said Saturday that the new coverage will nearly double the number of covered employees, to approximately 110,000, and by adding about 110,000 new workers to coverage, will bring covered employees to over 2 million persons on January 1.

Smaller employers who report to the Social Security board on one or more employees are being requested to fill out their legally required registrations under terms of the employment security act, and return them to the commission before actual liability occurs. The registration is required within a month after the employer first hires employees in Michigan in 1966, Lovell said.

Covered are all employing units which may include an individual, a partnership, corporation or other type of organization which employs one or more workers.

An employing unit becomes an employer under the act, if it has $1,000 payroll or if it has one or more employees but fewer than 4 employees, in 20 calendar weeks of any calendar year, beginning January 1, 1966, or is covered under the federal unemployment compensation act.

If it has 4 or more employees it already is required to be covered under the state act, Lovell said. No payroll tax will be payable on 1965 employment for employers of fewer than 4 employees, but it will be payable on 1966 employment.

Part time workers count the same as full time workers. An employing unit once determined to be an employer, continues as an employer until officially terminated by the commission.

An employing unit not meeting the requirements of coverage may elect voluntarily to be covered.

There are some employees who are not included in coverage, as follows:

Individual owners of a business; a father or mother working for a son or daughter; the partners of a partnership; minor children (under 21) working for a mother or father; a husband or wife working for his or her spouse.

These provisions do not apply to a corporation and are subject to certain exceptions in a partnership, Lovell continued.

Other persons not covered by the Act are those engaged in agricultural labor; those who perform domestic services in a private home, in a local college, club or local chapter of a college fraternity or sorority not operated for profit; employees of non-profit religious, charitable, scientific, literary or educational organizations where no part of the net earnings accrues to any private stockholder or individual.

There are certain others who are not affected, which the commission will determine upon written request by the employer. Information in a comprehensive employers' handbook will be furnished to employers upon request to the commission at 7310 Woodward, Detroit, 48202, Lovell said.

Industrial Fatalities

Factories in the United States were safer than ever in 1964, according to the Insurance Information Institute, as the rate of industrial fatalities dropped to an all-time low of 21 per 100,000 workers. The worst year in the past quarter century was 1940, when the rate was 35.8 per 100,000.

More people buy Chevrolets? Yes!

Than any other make car? Yes!

Any other? Yes!

There must be reasons. Sure!

Name ten. OK:

1. All these comforts are available: steering wheels that tilt or telescope; AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio, first ever offered in cars; and Strato-bucket seats (to give you just a sampling).
2. Comfortron automatic heating and cooling you can order—Just dial the temperature and turn it on; Comfortron automatically keeps you comfortable no matter what the weather outside.
3. More engine choices—the widest horsepower range available: the 425-hp Turbo-Jet V8 in Chevrolet and Corvette to a 90-hp Four in Chevy II.
4. Body by Fisher—Craftsmanship by the world's best known coachmakers with everything from luxurious interiors to the long luster Magic-Mirror acrylic lacquer finish.
5. Self-cleaning rocker panels flush out salt and other corrosives with rainwater, dry themselves with outside air—another way Chevrolet takes extra care so you needn't bother.
6. A hushed and gentled ride with body mounts designed to isolate vibration better and shock absorbers matched to body style—coupe, sedan, convertible, wagon.
7. America's only rear-engined car, Corvair, with more weight over the driving wheels where you need it and less on the steering wheels where you don't.
8. America's only true sports car, Corvette, with fully independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes and engines you can order up to 427 cubic inches.
9. Higher resale value—Chevrolets traditionally are worth more at trade-in time because more people want Chevrolets... new or used.
10. All these safety features standard now: seat belts, front and rear; padded dash and sun visors; outside mirror (use it always before passing); shatter-resistant inside mirror; 2-speed electric windshield wipers for better visibility in a downpour; windshield washers; back-up lights.

CHEVROLET Leadership...the Chevrolet Way.

Dear friends,

A change of residence may prevent a family from caring for a cemetery plot as they would wish to do. This neglect can be avoided by providing for 'perpetual care' at the time of purchase, or perhaps when the need arises.

Some cemeteries include this service in the price of the grave or plot. Others charge a nominal yearly fee or stipulate a small trust fund to provide funds for care of the grave.

Respectfully,

KEEP "Tuned-in"

Have you heard from God today? Or is there too much static? Maybe you are just not "tuned-in." At this moment there are voices and music surging all about you. Do you hear them? Maybe not, but you could if you had your radio delicately in tune. Prayer is the sensitive instrument man must use to get in tune with God. But it is hard to stay tuned in. Elijah failed, here... and so do we. That is why we need the church. It helps us keep our finger on the dial of faith and obedience to God's will. Go to church Sunday. Carry your walkie-talkie with you every day. Keep it tuned to heaven. Make frequent reports of your victories and failures, and receive your marching orders direct from God! "Speak, Lord, for Thy Servant heareth."
