. . . whenever the sand in the hour glass has marked the beginning or the halfway point in a century, people have been inclined both to reminisce about the past and to take a thoughtful look at the future.

This, the 150 th anniversary of Salem, creates a reminiscent mood amony the citizens of this industrial center, as the people of today look back to their predecessors who crossed the Appalachians on foot and horseback to settle in the forest clearing later called Salem. And Salem students are no different.

As the anniversary celebrations recall the beginning of our city, the 1956 Quaker Annual takes a look at the beginning of our high school. It is a record not only of this year's erents, but of those of past years in which the dreams of Salem citizens for their children became realities.

Salem High School has flourished though the years. Since its founding in 1853, academic standards have been improved, edifices replaced, styles and customs remodeled, but the spirit of SHS remains much the same today as it was then.

SHS offers many subjects which help its students plan for a better future. It is held largely responsible for establishing. and cultivating in the Salem citizens of tomorrow the positive human relationships upon which the freedom, security and prosperity of Salem will depend.

The appeal of all the past cannot be captured by a printing press and imprisoned between pages, but in this, the Quaker Annual of 1956, we shall make an attempt to recreate in some measure the first days of our Alma Mater, as well as to record the activities of the past year.

Abstract

"The hardy pioneer a hundred years ago, seeking to better the condition of himself and to improve the prospects of his progeny, left the Eastern home of his ancestors and that of his youth, to find in this green spot on God's fair footstool a location none the less attractive in its pristine beauty than we find it now, after a century of labor and progress." -Souvenir History of Salem-1906

Salem High School1860-1896

"The High School from its earliest days maintained a higher order of excellence, both in discipline and acquirements. Its pupils were taught to think, to compare, to judge for themselves, to regard the education of the school-room as a means rather than an end."

Salem High Remains Steadfast

Anxious for their children to have the best educational advantages they could afford, Salem citizens organized the first public high school in 1853. Classes were held in the grade school building on Second St. In 1860 the first public high school was built on Fourth St. It was later condemned and on the same site in 1896 the present Fourth Street building, then called Salem High, was erected.

Again one of Salem's high schools proved inadequate for the swelling population and in 1916 a new modern building rose on Garfield Avenue, now North Lincoln. Nearly forty years later crowded conditions again presented problems. In November, 1955 , a $$ 2,585,000$ bond issue was passed to provide for a larger, more modern school to be built on East Sixth St.

The city hall above replaced the historical landmark at the right in 1950 . The old building, constructed in 1847, served as headquarters for the Western Anti-Slavery Society. Many times its rafters rang with the impassioned oratory of abolitionists, such as William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips, and Sojourner Truth.

Grateful Students Dedicate Annual

Not long after the sun rises each day, nearly 1,000 of tomorrow's citizens cross the threshold of Salem High School-the threshold to education.

Seldom does it come to the minds of these students that this, their school, is a result of years of careful planning-planning that goes back to the very beginning of Salem.

The early Quaker settlers thought it important to provide education for their children and established schools almost as soon as they founded churches, but these were private schools.

To assure an education for all the future citizens of Salem the first public school was built in 1850. Since then three ever more modern high schools have been erected, and true to the traditions of their forefathers, Salem citizens last November voted a bond issue for the erection of a new high school.

While the school buildings still exist, the men who built them are gone-men whose ambitions, toil, and dreams were for the coming generations. Their history is written into what our school is today; their efforts will serve those who are still to come.

Therefore, in the hope that it may show in some measure our appreciation to those who have afforded us ever-improving educational opportunities, that we may work toward the fulfillment of their ideals for us, for Salem, and for our country, we gratefully dedicate this annual to the citizens of Salem, past and present.

To Salem Citizens, Past and Present

Main Street 1846
"The hospitality of the people was proverbial. No one ever appealed in vain for food, in any emergency, whether he were a neighbor or a stranger, and nothing would give greater offense than an offer to pay for the same. The latch-string always hung on the outside, and the stranger or wayfarer always received a generous and hearty welcome. In their friendships they, were firm, constant and true."
-Souvenir History of Salem-1906

The girls at the right aren't saflors ready for spring housecleaning, but the girls, basketball team of 191,4. Girls' athletics were a main feature on Salem's sports agenda.

Left --- Grandpas gaze in wonderment at teachers of today and decide they were born in the wrong generation. At far left attractive faculty member, Miss Carol Kelley, appears in present day top fashion, much different from the styles worn by her predecessors.

Today teachers have difficulty finding parking space near SHS. Joe Sobek's streamlined Studie is an example of hot-rod transportation seen around our alma mater.

'Sweet Adeline' Gives Way

From year to year lengths of skirts have been like yo-yo's - up and down. Joyce McElroy, Marlene Lewis and Nancy Cope pose in front of the same pole at the Corner as bashfu? maidens of yesteryear did.

Right .-- Remember how our boys disliked bermudas? Little did they have to "beef" about! Bermudas have been a lasting fashion - just the name's been changed. Margie Vaughan, bermuda girl, is shown in contrast with a "bloomer girl" of the ' 20 's.

Not nearly so many students drove to school way back when, but they did pile into their "Tin Lizzies," which occasionally hit $40 \mathrm{~m} . \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{h} .$, to parade around before football games.

to 'Shake, Rattle, and Roll' as...

The patrol wagon at the right caught its victims on the gallop while dodging streetcars. Above Police Chief Earley and Patrolmen Kirchgessner and Lutsch with sesqui beards resemble Keystone Kops as they pose by Henry Ford's horseless carriage in 1956.

Rock 'n' Roll, Mambo Replace ...

Waltz, Reel, and Turkey Trot

When our great-grandfathers had money to spare they deposited it in this classy structure -- quite different from the modern building on the right.

. . . new CLASSES and new faces repeat the academic cycle-freshmen, sophomores, juniors, seniors. Fundamentally teenagers in every era are the same, but many changes have occured in high school subjects.

In early days of SHS, languages and math were emphasized. In Latin, a fouryear required course, the students of yesteryear struggled through Caesar's "Gallic Wars" and attempted to interpret the speeches of Virgil and Cicero. The few Latin scholars of today still tangle with Caesar, but long ago abandoned the field to Virgil and Cicero.

Our ancestors were mathematical virtuosos, striving for perfection in analytical geometry, calculus and higher mathematics. Math tournaments with other schools were held, which Salem students usually won. Plane geometry, algebra, solid geometry and trig, which were only the basis for our forefathers, advanced work, comprise the complete training of today's high school math whiz.
After tackling anatomy, zoology, and botany, the profound scholars of yesterday proceeded to the study of physics, chemistry, geology, and astronomy. Twentieth century naturalists find the former combined in the studies of biology and health, while neophyte chemists and physicists are still mystified by the classic question: "What happens if an irresistible force meets an immovable object?"

Logic, rhetoric, and mental philosophy, which used to perplex the erudite upperclassmen, have vanished from the curriculum, to be replaced by more practical subjects.

Although the curriculum has changed, through the years the objectives of education in Salem have remained the same, an informed, responsible citizenry, aware of its traditions and destiny, and able and willing to help build and preserve our democracy.

We had a last go at grammar,

Senior year-the goal we work toward from the moment we enter high school the magic time when for nine all-too-short months we are the tops - when we are conscious that most of the things we do, we are doing for the last time.

It's like that today and it was like that when Salem High was young. But the things we are doing for the last time are a little different. In the early days of SHS seniors had no glamorous prom, no class parties in an elaborately decorated gym, no general scholarship exams, no caps and gowns to lend an aura of erudition to their last ceremonies in SHS.

Their class parties were held at a teacher's home, and the big event of the year was the class picnic. Their graduation costumes were long, white, swishy dresses for the girls, and dark suits with high, stiff collars for the boys. Each senior had to write a thesis on a learned subject, such as "Odysseus" or "Monasticism," and deliver it in his best public-speaking style before the student body.

Times and customs have changed, but all seniors who have ever graduated from Salem High have a common bond, the magic of the senior year.

. . .the hustle and bustle created by our extra-curricular ACTIVITIES has increased as more after-school enterprises were made available to SHS students.

As we turn the pages of the past we find that the tempo of the old SHS was much slower than the rock-and-roll beat of today. Only a few activities kept our fathers and grandfathers jumping. Various sports for both boys and girls kept the muscle-happy crowd in trim. Debating, dramatics, and literary societies lured the "brains" of the early 1900's and an eightpiece orchestra, organized in 1908, gave the long-hairs a chance for self-expression.

The Quaker publications were among the earliest activities. Founded in 1904 as a monthly magazine, which later became a bi-monthly newspaper, the Quaker is now published weekly, with the race between the staff and the weekly deadline usually resulting in a dead heat.

The annual started out in 1893 as "The Bijou," was discontinued until 1915, when it popped up as "The Reveille," and finally settled down as "The Quaker" in 1916.

Other old-timers have come and gone,--the Athenaeum Literary Society, whose purpose was to train debaters and give plays; Hi-Y; Dinamo Society, a boosters' organization; Science Club; Art Advertisers; Gymnastic Tumblers; Commerce Club; The Outdoor Sportsmen---all have played their parts in the lives of SHS students and then given way to more modern counterparts.

Seated --- Sally Allen, Beverly Yates. Standing --- Harry Izenour, Clyde Brown, Luke Huddleston.

The appearance of the 42 nd edition of the Salem High yearbook marks the approaching end of another school year and of a year's hard work by the editors and staff.

Selected in the spring of 1955 , they spent the summer doing research work to carry out the theme.

In the fall pictures were scheduled, the dedicatee chosen, the dummy completed, king and queen nominations made, and the cover selected.

In February deadlines were met and the Who's Who votes tallied; and with each slash of scissors and splash of glue the staff was nearer to its goal, a yearbook that the students of SHS would be proud of.

During this time the business staff worked feverishly soliciting ads from the cooperative merchants. Without them the annual could not come into being.

Finally the 1956 editor and staff sigh with relief as they sit back and watch the beginning of a new Quaker Annual SHS's collection of memories.

Deadlines, Headlines, Dummies

Quaker Weekly editors, Mary Mercer and Jim Barcus, measure the length of an article before sending it to the printer.

To those born with a knack with a pencil and a nose for news production of the SHS Quaker, four-time NSPA AllAmerican, is a stimulating routine. Deadlines and headlines, leads and layouts, twisted typing and distressing dummies are all a part of the weekly cycle.

The paper couldn't go to press without the combined journalistic ingenuity of cditors, reporters, sports writers, columnists, photographers, and the business staff, grinding out an accurate mirror of the activities and opinions of the student body.

The Quaker is rated in comparison with high school newspapers from all over the nation by the National Scholastic Press Association. Staff members wait on pins and needles for the final word on the semester's efforts, understanding that, whatever the outcome, they've had fun, learned a little about journalism, cooperation, accuracy, and public relations, and have pleased the students of Salem High.

Rita Joseph, Annual and Weekly business manager, rechecks a list of advertisers.

Mirs. Lioyd Loop, Annual and Weekly editorial adviser, discusses the paper with Fred Burchfield, business adviser.

Math Students Master Slide Rule

Forty-one new members were added to the ranks of higher mathematicians this year as the algebra II classes became eligible for the study of the fascinating slide rule. They learned to multiply and divide large numbers, find square roots, take numbers up to large powers, and added to their vocabularies such terms as digit count and other algebraic terms.

Each member paid one dollar at the beginning of the school year, but at the final meeting fifty cents was returned to those who had missed no more than three meetings without an excuse. A marked increase in attendance was noted.

These hopeful mathematicians complet. ed the school year with a knowledge of the fundamental mechanism of the sliding ruler, thanks to the guidance of adviser, Miss Martha McCready.

Organized in 1908, the SHS rchestra faithfully enhanced the atmosphere of football games for many years, although the only available instruments were violins and a drum.

Today future composers and maestros gather together fourth period every day to make beautiful music and to delve into the mysterious depths of music theory.

Beginning with major and minor intervals and triads of the major keys, they progressed to writing simple harmony to a given melodic line or supplying the melody and harmony to a given bass.

Under the direction of Richard Howenstine the orchestra provided music for the Senior Class play.

Howard Pardee, Bob Taylor, Nancy Needham, Linda Whinery and Darlene Greenfield participated in the Regional Orchestra Festival at Alliance. Bob Taylor again qualified for the All-State Orchestra where he played third chair cello.

Band Hosts District Contest;

"Mark time, mark!" "Forward march!" "Get in step!" echoed through Reilly Stadium as the marching band, under the direction of Richard Howenstine, began its tireless struggle to learn new steps and positions. With the drum majors and majorettes prancing high, each new routine by game time was a polished masterpiece.

After football season the beat of "Shake, Rattle, and Roll" was replaced by the measured strains of "Prelude and Rondo" as the band began rehearsals under Director Howard Pardee for perfection in Chorus tyros, beginning elementary vocal training, rehearse each day under the guidance of Director F. Edwin Miller, accompanied by Janet Williams.

Participation in the annual Christmas Vespers, the Spring Concert, the Junior High Contest at Lisbon and selling magazine subscriptions comprise the main projects of the Beginners' Chorus.

The objective of these novice choristers is to become members of the two advanced groups. Created in 1935 because of the large enrollment in the mixed choir, the Beginners' Chorus was the second of the high school choral groups to be organized.

At the beginning of the year the group elected officers to assist Mr. Miller. George Faini was chosen president; Bill Hone, vice-president; and Glenn Whitcomb, secretary-treasurer.

Girl Vocalists Perform With Skill

Picture 65 girls of all sizes and shapes tuning up their vocal chords for one of their great concertos and you will have an idea of what is seen and heard in Room 302 first period every morning of the school year, as the Girls' Chorus prepares to rehearse.

During the year they performed in the Christmas assembly, the Christmas Vesper Service, for the Mullins Booster Club, and some were selected to participate in the Mount Union Music Festival in the spring.

For the first time in the history of the group, they took part in the District Contest where they earned an excellent rating.

The chorus is under the direction of $F$. Edwin Miller, with sophomore Dixie Lee rendering the piano accompaniments.

Accompanists

Maestro F. Edwin Miller steps to the platform, raises his hand, and silence captures the members of the Robed Chorus as another daily third-period rehearsal commences.

The first vocal music at Salem High School was provided by the Girls' Glee Club. Later, after a Boys' Glee Club was organized, the two groups merged into the Mixed Chorus which gradually evolved into today's Robed Chorus.

Accompanied by Jean Yarian the choir lent its talent to various school assemblies as well as to local civic organizations.
"Practice makes perfect" was verified by the long hours of rehearsing as the choristers prepared their annual public presentations. The combined efforts of the three choral groups produced the annual Christmas Vesper Service, while the Spring Concert, the highlight of the year, was presented by the combined choruses on May 25.

Enriches Programs at SHS

Bill Jermolenko
Chorister of the Year

After attending the Columbiana County Music Festival at East Palestine and the Mount Union Music Festival at Alliance, the vocal groups from Louisville, Alliance and Salem performed together at the TriCity Choral Festival held in Alliance.
"On to Columbus," echoed through the group after Director Miller, in his first year at Salem after replacing Thomas Crothers, led the chorus through the District Contest with a superior rating. The event was held in Salem March 17. "Breath of God," the required piece, and "Prepare Ye the Way", were the numbers sung for the contest.

Bill Jermolenko was named "Chorister of the Year" by his fellow chorus members and will take his place in the SHS Hall of Fame.

The group has voted to participate in Music Day during Salem's Sesquicentennial celebration.

Varsity S is an organization dedicated to the goals of developing good sportsmanship, enlivening school spirit, and setting an example for the youth of our community to live by.

Organized in the early 1930 's, this club is composed of boys who have received a varsity letter in one of the three major sports of SHS-track, basketball, or football It is noted as one of the most active honorary organizations of the school.

This year, as in the past, the club purchased trophies for the Mickey McGuire League in the grade schools and new sports books for the library. Funds were also donated for cheerleader uniforms. This was all made possible through the sale of decals and programs at the basketball games.

Basketball Coach John Cabas is adviser to the club.

Girl Athletes Engage in Contests

The Girls' Athletic Association of SHS is open to any girl interested in sports, and seniors who earn 1,100 points for participating in athletics are awarded gold pins.

Starting the year under a handicap because the lack of a gym teacher left them with no adviser, the girls were grateful to Mrs. Dorothy Crook for pinch-hitting until Miss Betty McKenna was hired as gym teacher for the second semester, when she became adviser.

Their annual sale of Christmas and alloccasion cards was the usual success, with Darlene Smith selling the most cards and Marilyn Kloos piloting the winning sales team.

The girls took over the gym on Friday's for basketball games, while Tuesday's were reserved for bowling at a local alley.

Volleyball, pingpong, and baseball were on their spring program.

Versatile Aides Assist Dramatists

Dramatics assistants acquaint themselves with every phase of high school dramatic work. They must be versatile, to say the least, because from easing a young Barrymore's first venture before the footlights to checking attendance is all in their line of duty. Other jobs they perform include grading notebooks and helping in the direction of plays.

Since the organizaton in 1950 of an assisting group, the members have become more dependable each year, according to Miss Irene Weeks, dramatics teacher.

Qualifications for assistant are a B average in dramatics the preceding year and a true interest in the drama.

No scholastic credit is given, but the assistants receive Thespian points.

Chemists Brave Odors to Give Aid

Acting as "catalysts" in the chemistry lab twice a week the chemistry assistants spend their time as aides to Frank Tarr and Herbert Jones, chemistry instructors.

Amid the sometimes morbid odors concocted by the eager Daltons these advanced chemists answer the questions of the puzzled students, assist in preparing experiments, and make a constant check on the apparatus for the class's protection.

The lab assistants receive no scholastic credit for this extracurricular activity. To be selected as aide, one must have an average grade of $B$ in chemistry the preceding year and must show ability and exceptional interest in the subject.

Dramatics Aides ... Row One ... Dolores Duke, Ruthann Baddeley, June Dick. Row Two ... Mary Ann Horstman, Glenn Whitcomb, James Kelley, Elaine Hundertmarck.

Aides Help Future Seamstresses

Six junior and senior girls each serve one period during the day as clothing aides. Once clothing pupils themselves, these girls are handy at sewing and understand the problems of the novice dressmakers.

The volunteers, chosen by the clothing instructors, Mrs. Bessie Lewis and Miss Ala

Zimmerman, assist the pupils in laying out patterns, cutting the materials and fitting their creations.

The major project of the sewing classes is the annual Spring Style Show which the aides produce, while the pupils in the clothing classes make and model the clothes.

A bigger and better club was the aim of the Formaldeaides in 1955-'56, according to advisers John P. Olloman and Mrs. F. E. Cope.

A trip to the Salem Reservoir and Water Works was the highlight of the club's first semester activities, and its second semester program included movies and studies of mental health.

In the past Formaldeaides included only students who were biology assistants, but this year the club was open to all biology students who had attained an honor average in biology and who were interested in science.

The members were divided into such committees as first aid, medicine, and prehistoric animals, each responsible for a special project for the welfare of the club.

A trip to Pittsburgh was planned for the close of the year.

Every other Tuesday at 12:30 sharp about 40 girls of the Teen-Age Girls' Club put their heads together and start thinking of ways to help themselves and others live better and healthier lives.

The most recent of the service clubs in SHS, it was organized by Mrs. Doris Cope in 1954.

Divided into four interest-groups, music, cooking, bowling, and animal study, each girl carries out the program that appeals most to her.

Their winter agenda included a skating party and spring plans called for a style show.

Special programs during the year included tips on good grooming, by Mrs. Josephine Kaercher, and a series of movies on teen-age problems.

French Club Sings, Plays Bingo

The minutes of the "Cercle Francais" written in French, reveal that singing, eating, and bingo en francais constituted the majority of their bi-weekly meetings this year, by which they hoped to increase their fluency in the French language.

The story of the Nativity in French was the highlight of the Christmas party, at which the members de nouveau were asked to relate the contents of their lunches in their newly acquired tongue.

At a special meeting Mrs. Donald J. Montgomery, who lived five years in Paris, told the club of her life there.

Several of the students corresponded with boys and girls from French-speaking countries, with the aid of club adviser, Mrs. Esther Talbot.

Linguists Perfect German Accent

Officers

Winfried Meine and Bill Jermolenko contributed the genuine Old World accent as German Club members put daily lessons to work in bi-weekly noon meetings.

Pen pals from Winfried's former alma mater in Hanau am Main, Germany, aided their understanding of foreign colloquialisms and customs.

Die Lustige Gruppe, the Happy Gang, lived up to its name, when members entertained themselves with crossword puzzles, German bingo, and other games, and attempted to conduct meetings entirely in German.

In order to maintain a full treasury they resorted to the good old American custom of sponsoring the refreshment stand during a basketball game.

Latin Club Studies Ancient Rome

Officers

Seated --- George Faini, President. Standing -Jim Schaefer, Treasurer; Rosemary Redinger, Secretary; Kurt Ludwig, Vice-president.

Sodalitas Latina . . . the name of the Latin Club also serves as its motto. It is one of the oldest clubs of Salem High School.

Its main purpose is to show Latin students the great influence that Roman civilization had on present day arts and languages by furnishing them a better understanding of Roman life, literature, and mythology.

Bi-weekly noon meetings are held when members, under the leadership of Miss Helen Redinger, become better acquainted with the gods, goddesses, and customs of ancient Rome.

The club program is ended each year with a spring picnic.

Conquistadores Conquer Spanish

Los Castellanas was the name by which the Spanish Club was first known when it was organized in 1930 under the guidance of Miss Mildred Hollett. In 1940 the name was changed to Los Hidalgos, and later to the present Los Conquistadores, meaning The Conquerors.

Living up to this name, the club is enthusiastically conquering the Spanish language by carrying on the greater part of its business meetings in Spanish. Some of the 50 members are corresponding with teen-agers in Spanish-speaking countries.

An outstanding program of the year was the one at which Mr. Curtis H. Vaughan showed slides taken on his trip to Spain. At another meeting the club enjoyed a tea party of herba mate, a Paraguayan green tea.

Los Conquistadores added to their treasury by sponsoring a basketball stand, and in May held their annual Fiesta.

Librarians Keep Tomes Tip-Top

With 5,000 volumes in the school library, no SHS student has an excuse for not being well-read. Keeping these volumes in tiptop order is the main duty of the student librarians. Their duties also include book repair, processing new books for the shelves, charging books to pupils and teachers, filing cards, and issuing overdue notices.

Selected by the SHS librarian, Miss Lois Lehman, the assistants must meet several requirements including a " $B$ " average. Also they must be willing to devote much of their time to the library. Checking out over 5,000 books during the first semester of the 1955-1956 school year was no small task and required many service hours of all seventeen student librarians.

YFC Club Applies Religious Ideals

To establish a greater interest in applying religious ideals to everyday living was the aim of the newly organized Youth for Christ Club. It was a non-denominational organization and anyone was welcome to join. The meetings, held every Tuesday noon, consisted of discussions led by students, Bible quiz games, a platter party, where religous records were played, and special programs.
Guest speakers were Rev. Paul Brantingham, Rev. Kenneth Marsh, Danish Eva Clausen, evangelists Rev. Harry Marshel and Mrs. Gough, Paul Roher, and Celeste Richardson, a Negro singer. The club at Easter viewed Christian movies and slides of the Holy Land shown by Fev. Harold Winn.

Debaters Air Views on Education

Climaxing months of intensive study in effective speech strategy, the SHS debate team with Coach J. C. Guiler journeyed to Niles in February to attend the district meet, where they won one contest. Affirmative speakers were Steve Wald, a two-year man, and Doris Shoop, a rookie senior, while three-year veteran Bill Jacobson and sophomore Ben Barrett upheld the negative point of view.
This year's subject was "Resolved: that the Federal government should grant educational subsidies to high school students who qualify for additional training."

Toby O'Donnell and Dick Corso were alternating substitutes.

Thespians Boast Record Membership

Organized in 1939 by the dramatics teacher of that year, James McDonald, Thespian Troupe 358 ended the 1956 school year with 57 members, the largest enrollment in its history.

To become a Thespian a total of 12 points must be earned through dramatic work of some kind, portraying roles, working on stage crews, or on the numerous committees that are so essential in producing plays.

One-act plays are presented by Thespians to various organizations in this area. "Justa Buncha Spinach," performed for five local groups, and a Mother's Day play were on their repertoire this year.

Miss Irene Layle Weeks, dramatics teacher, is adviser to the club.

Officers
Seated --- Joe Sobek, President; Bob Kirchgessner, Scribe. Standing --- Rita Joseph, Vice-president; Gunhild Nyberg, Secretary; Jo Ann Lewis, Treasurer.

Officers
Seated --- Margaret Hanna, Vice-president. Standing --- Steve Wald, President; Diana Wilson, Secretary; Sally Callahan, Treasurer.

Founded in 1926, Salemasquers was reorganized in 1948 to further the dramatic ability of members and to give them an opportunity to gain the 12 points needed for Thespian membership.

This method of earning Thespian credits makes for a never-ending supply of stagecrection, wardrobe, sound-effects, stage props, lighting, and make-up crews who aid in the production of the annual junior and senior plays.

Additional meri's were earned this year in the production of a one-act play, "Nobody Sleeps Here."

A large gain in membership made it necessary for them to discontinue holding meetings in 207 and move into the auditorium.

Miss Irene Layle Weeks is the club adviser.

Officers

The purpose of the Junior Red Cross is to give service, whether it be collecting money for needy people or aiding the Bloodmobile. This group is a branch of the much larger senior Red Cross, but they both have the same goal-aiding in all types of disaster, plus enlarging worldwide friendship.

The annual Red Cross membership drive was one of the first projects of the year, when 100 per cent enrollment was attained. Mrs. Helen Mulbach, teacher-sponsor, and the group decided to serve their own community, as well as areas overseas, by collecting clothing for needy families and packing boxes of candy for children who would otherwise have been forgotten at Christmas time.

Chosen to attend last June's training session for guidance and leadership at Miami U. were Nancy Cope and Bill Hoppes.

Witches Are Helpers in Disguise

Helping the needy at Christmas, packing food baskets at Thanksgiving, and cosponsoring the annual Vocations Day are all in a year's work to the members of Hi-Tri.

Each year junior girls with a B or above average for their first two years of school are invited to join this time-honored club. The new members suffer through an informal initiation of riding broomsticks, wearing witch's clothes, and eating cracker lunches. Then comes the solemn formal initiation, done in candlelight, when the prospective members learn the true meaning of Hi -Tri and receive their pins.

This year Hi-Tri, together with Student Council, purchased a silver tea service.

The year's activities were brought to a close with the Mother and Daughter Banquet at which the officers for the coming year were installed.

Miss Claribel Bickel and Mrs. Frank Tarr led the group through a year of accomplishment.

Under the supervision of the new art teacher, Mrs. Jean Bissett, the 1956 artists undertook charcoal drawings, ceramics in the modern trend, water color paintings, chalk and pencil portraits, and designs made with spray guns.

In February the "Rembrandts" entered their various works in the Regional Scholastic Art Show in Akron, Ohio. Fourteen of SHS's entrants received honorable mention, while three captured top honors and received gold keys.

They were senior Ken Shaffer for an imaginative water color, "Fall of Rome"; sophomore Harry Izenour for his portrait of a girl in black and white charcoal on blue paper; and freshman Gordon Dunn for his water color of a house in an alley across Lincoln Avenue.

The works that received gold keys were entered in the National Scholastic Art Show in Pittsburgh in May to be judged in competition with other high school art from all over the nation.

Council Accomplishes Full Agenda

"Busy, busy, busy days" must be the watchwords of the Student Council, for they are on the go from freshman orientation day in September until the freshman handbooks are distributed the next fall.

At the conclusion of a successful tax stamp drive they plunged into plans for the annual Students' Day, the traditional Christmas assembly, and noon movies. After a short breather they joined forces with Hi-Tri to produce the annual Vocations Day conferences in February.

The year's program ended with the Quaker Follies talent assembly, visits to Student Councils in neighboring schools, and the preparation of the Freshman Handbook.

Speedy 'Minute Men' Are Efficient

Always on the go are the "minute men" of SHS, alias the monitors and dean's aides.

Running errands, greeting visitors, operating light switches before and after classes, and delivering pink telephone slips and those summonses to appear in the office or to report to a teacher keep the monitors on the move. The aides, in addition, answer the telephone, file papers, and type records and letters for Dean Ala Zimmerman in her office.

The dean's aides, chosen by Miss Zimmerman, total seven, while the eight monitors are chosen by Principal B. G. Ludwig.

To qualify for these jobs a pupil must demonstrate dependability, good scholastic achievement, a pleasant personality, and be able and willing to give up a study hall each day.

Judy Bichsel poses for the art classes as Kennie Shaffer, an SHS Rembrandt, shows her the portrait he's completed.

This year's Hi-Tri informal initiation finds longnosed, black-garbed, pointed-hatted witches stumbling along on skates and broomsticks.

The feminine voices of the Girls' Chorus fill the auditorium as they please the audience with their Christmas selections.

Charlene Rosenberry and Nancy Conley, precinct workers, instruct Bob Huffer, Bev Mercer, and Marilyn Kloos in the art of voting during the election sponsored by the U. S. history and government classes.

. . . SPORTS have been to many boys more than an amusement or pastimethey have been the nucleus of their lives during their years in high school or college.

Rules have changed and will probably change more in the future, but the thrill of contending and winning will never change.

Football was the first varsity sport in SHS. It has changed from a game of brute strength to one of skill and strategy, since the time when SHS's big game of the year was the Thanksgiving tilt with Alliance.

Basketball was once a minor sport, for which student support was lacking. At times the search for funds to pay for renting a practice floor became more pressing than the workouts themselves. There will be no such problems for fans of the future, for plans for the new high school include a gym with two full-size basketball courts. Through the years basketball has become a high-scoring game with more emphasis on offense than defense. The final score in the Warren-Salem game this year was 106-103; in 1928 it was 28-14.

Track has been a popular sport in SHS since the early 1900's and Salem holds several county records.

SHS has had its share of standouts in the sports world. Probably the best known is Lowell "Rib" Allen, who was the first high school athlete in the world to polevault over 13 feet in competition.

Through the years all who have taken part in SHS sports know that they have learned on the athletic field lessons that will apply equally well in the game of life.

Ben Barrett
Head Coach
"He taught us more than just football. He taught us about the game of life."

These words of praise were spoken of retired Football Coach Ben Barrett by the captain of the first Salem team Mr. Barrett coached, when admirers gave him a Testimonial Banquet last January. Almost every person who spoke in his honor praised him for putting the boy ahead of the game.

During his 13 years at Salem he won 82 games, lost 40 , tied 3 , and had only two losing seasons, a record any coach would be proud of.

Mr. Barrett has retired as a coach, but will continue to teach at Salem High School.

In Coach Barrett's Last Season

In the ' 55 gridiron opener the highly rated New Philly Quakers tromped the Red and Black soundly 33-0 at New Philadelphia.

A rain-soaked field added to the Quakers' disappointment when, with victory within their grasp, a deflected Salem pass on the one-yard line permitted Ravenna to cross the goal-line tying the score 12-12.

In addition, Canton-Timken, Struthers, the East Liverpool Potters, and Youngstown Rayen all defeated the Quakers.

Brighter spots on the Barrettmen's schedule were the victories over Newton Falls, Wellsville, and a newcomer to the slate, Dayton Kiser.

Senior Jack Alexander led the scoring with 68 markers, while Herb Haschen and George Burrier with 24 a piece tied for second place.

All three gridiron honors, the Coaches' Award; the Most Valuable Player Award, presented by the Kiwanis Club; and the Knights of Columbus Trophy to the gridder with the highest scholastic average, went to the same player, Jack Alexander.

SHS then picked up one with Ravenna only to lose to Girard.

Youngstown Rayen and Wellsville then lost to the Quakers, before the fourth defeat of the season came at the hands of the Youngstown South Warriors.

In tight, action-packed games the redhot Quakers rolled over the highly rated East Liverpool Potters, Boardman Spartans, Sharpsville, Painesville, and Canton Central Catholic to register a record-breaking 1,355 points for the season.

Frosh Rack Up Undefeated Season

This year's freshman basketball team under the direction of coaches John Cabas and Karl Zellers clobbered 11 opponents for an undefeated season, the second in the history of freshman basketball.

The Frosh drove a potent scoring machine in racking up 722 tallies for a 65.7 average per contest while holding their foes to 479 markers, 47.2 per tilt.

They seriously shattered the individual scoring mark per game when Woody Deitch pumped in 33 markers in a 58-44 win over Alliance Stanton. In breaking the record of 29 tallies held previously by Don Abrams in 1950-51, Deitch hit 17 out of 18 tries at the foul stripe.

Leading the Quaker first-year men in scoring was Deitch with 175 markers, followed by center Clyde Marks with 162 points and Lou Slaby with 124.

Coach Karl Zellers and his SHS reserve squad rolled to 15 wins in 16 starts, losing only to a powerful East Liverpool Jayvee team 50-70.

This high-scoring aggregation chalked up 1,166 points for a 72.8 average per game, breaking the old record of 67 per tilt held by the undefeated 1953-54 squad. They hit the century mark once and came close in two other games with 95 and 96 , as they limited their opponents to a low 52.6 points per contest.

The Varsity claimed the services of many of the Reserve cagers with sophomores Bill Pauline, Darryl Adams, Bob Platt, Jim Meissner, John Sturgeon, and juniors Ted Jackson, Dick Beall and Bill Schuster giving standout performances.

Under the careful eye and steady hand of their new coach, Karl Zellers, the local cindermen turned in one of their best seasons in the last eight years.

The Quakers won five straight dual and triangular meets and then went right on to capture the 52 nd annual Columbiana County meet for the second straight year.

The Zellermen placed fifth in the NEO district meet and, in doing so, qualified five men for the state finals. Jack Alexander, for the third straight year gained a place in the state contest. His high jump of 5 feet, 11 inches brought him a tie for fourth place.

The locals also took fifth place in the Canton Twi-light Relays and entered the Tri State indoor meet held at Pittsburgh.

During the course of the season two county records were broken. The half-mile relay squad, composed of Jim Beard, Butch Fitzpatrick, Herb Haschen, and Dale Middeker, posted a new mark in the event, $1: 33.1$, and Alexander leaped 6 feet, 3 and three-sixteenths inches to smash the old record in the high jump.

©hrmult ©ly drats...

... SHS students have enjoyed an increasing number of "extras," the FEATURES that glamorize our school life and establish many of our traditions.

Early in our history school picnics and trips to nearby "cities" were the featured events of the year. Horse-drawn wagons carried nature lovers of 1893 to Georgetown though torrential rains, and an antiquated steam engine provided transportation on a trip to view Leetonia's industrial area!

By 1915 the strongest emphasis was on dramatics. Several plays were presented each year, including some in German.

One of SHS's first cheerleaders was Chet Smith, now a well-known Pittsburgh sports writer who led the famous "Allagaroo" for Salem in 1915. No peppy girls in abbreviated costumes at that time!

When team physician Dr. H. K. Yaggi donated the gold football to the first Football Girl in 1924, little did he know that he was instituting a custom that would become one of SHS's most cherished traditions.

The Association Plan, devised by the late R. W. Hilgendorf in 1928, has been expanded in both price and scope since then, and has provided that "penny saved" for many a loyal SHS fan.

A custom that is comparatively recent, but firmly lodged in the hearts of all Salem High students, is that of choosing the Quaker King and Queen candidates. After each class has voted for its royalty, a celebrity is asked to choose two of them to be named Quaker King and Queen. The basis of the choice varies from year to year, but the King and Queen are always crowned in a glamorous ceremony at the Quaker Recognition Assembly in May.

Association Officers
Seated --- Jack Alexander, President. Standing --- Herb Haschen, Vice-president; Sally Allen, Secretary.

Green Ticket Says "Open Sesame"

An association assembly features Magician Neil Foster as he keeps the students mystified with clever sleight-of-hand tricks.

The little green ticket that 797 SHS students bought at the beginning of this school year is the "open sesame" to football and basketball games, track meets, class plays, class parties, the Association assemblies and dance, and entitles the bearer to the Quaker Annual and 24 issues of the Quaker Weekly.

The ticket costs $$ 6.00$ and provides the subscriber with $$ 15$ worth of entertainment.

Two assemblies were included in the Association program this year. SHS students were mystified by magician Neil Foster and marveled at the feats of the gymnastic Downie family.

Home room 208, that last year won permanent possession of the Association trophy after winning the membership drive for three successive years, again was first to report 100 per cent enrollment and claimed the new trophy for 1955-56.

Central Treasurer Fred Burchfield is adviser to the Association and Mrs. Helen Mulbach is the sponsor of the dance which is given in the spring.

Girls' Staters

Each year the American Legion Auxiliary selects a junior girl from Salem High to attend Girls' State at Capital University in Columbus.

After giving speeches about the state government before the Auxiliary, Barbara Tausch was chosen 1955 representative and Marlynn Mallery, alternate.

The week of June 19-26 at Capital University was filled wtih elections, campaigning, inaugurations, tours of Ohio's capital and study of the functions and duties of our government. Barb was elected Chief Deputy to the County Auditor. Governor Lausche, Lt. Gov. Brown and the Governor of Boys' State were present at the formal inauguration of the Girls' State officials.

Tours of Columbus included visiting historical sites, venturing through the capitol building where they witnessed the senate in action, talking to the Chief Justice and sitting in the chairs of the Supreme Court judges.

Boys', Girls' State Train Leaders

Salem High School was well represented during the 10 -day Boys' State convention held at Camp Perry, Port Clinton, Ohio, June 10-19. Junior boys were nominated by the faculty and the final quartet was selected by the American Legion which sponsors the project.

The purpose of Boys' State is to better acquaint the young men with our government's functions and techniques. Mock governments were set up and run by the boys following exciting campaigns and elections.

Jim Barcus was appointed by Nationalist Governor Jim Dowd as State Director of Health, Mental Hygiene and Correction, while Dick Coppock, Rich Hunter and Jack Alexander received positions in the Secretary of the Treasury's office as assistant treasurer, cashier and receptionist, respectively. Gary Whitsel, who was sponsored by an out-of-town Legion Post, was elected to the House of Representatives.

From the opening gun of the football season to the last time out, the Varsity cheerleaders were on hand at every game. All during the season, win or lose, the girls were leading the traditional cheers, often in a downpour of rain.

After attending a cheerleading clinic in Ashtabula, Ohio, they added some tricky rhythm cheers to their list, which afforded variety during the basketball season.

Taking time out from practice the "cheering seamstresses" undertook the job of making new stylish white uniforms and bright red shakers. Quaker lyrics to the tune of " 16 Tons" were written and taught to the student body by these six versatile lasses: Donna Blender, head cheerleader and three-year Varsity member; Janet Patterson, Joan Frank, and Netti Harris, two-year Varsity pepsters; and Jo Bailey and Joan Weigand, newcomers to the squad.

The varsity cheerleaders, among the honorees at the Football Banquet, receive an ovation from the sports-happy crowd.

Salem Quakers on to Victory

Following in the steps of the Varsity, the reserve cheerleaders proved to be full of versatility and energy. These girls tried out last May before the student body and were runners-up to the Varsity winners.

Several reserve football games found the five rooters showing their cheering ability and enthusiasm. Looking forward to a full basketball season they took to needle and thread and produced uniforms in the traditional red and black. To help pay for the two squads' uniforms the reserves sold Quaker badges and balloons during the Varsity football games.

Being honored at the Boosters' Basketball Banquet, along with the teams and Varsity cheerleaders, climaxed a year packed with excitement.

Dick Coppock shocks June Dick and Bobbi Blount out of their wits as he proves his vocal chords are ready and willing to do their share for the cheerleading squad.

'Money Mad' Is Stage Success

Bobbi Blount realizes her ambition to make Jerry Binder fail for her as Babs' cheerleading squad rehearses for their part in the talent show.

The plot of this year's senior class play, a three-act comedy, centers around the purchase of some business property by Edgar Blakley and Larry Hobson, who were portrayed by James A. Kelly and Kennie Shaffer, respectively. The inheritance of their oldest children, Janet, played by Sally Kirkbride, and Keith, who was Gary Painchaud, was lost in the "deal" and caused friction between the two families.

Barbara Erath and Bobbi Blount, the remainder of the Blakley family, stuck to Mr. Blakley's convictions, while June Dick and Dick Coppock, the Hobsons, supported Mr. Hobson.

Rita Joseph and Bonnie Zimmerman, the domestic help, were kept busy by the teenage "gang," consisting of Bob Conroy, Ruth Ann Baddeley, Dolores Duke, Alice Moser, Gerald Binder and James W. Kelly.

James Barcus portrayed Mr. Grant, a businessman, while Tony Smellero, fish peddler, was Lee Hardgrove.

Miss Irene Layle Weeks, director, was assisted in producing the play by Joe Sobek and Barbara Tausch, master and mistress of the stage.

Janet Patterson
Football Queen

Football Queen Janet Crowned ...

On a cool, clear autumn evening lovely Janet Patterson was crowned Football Girl for 1955-56 during the half-time of the first home game.

To the strains of "Pretty Girl" played by the band, Janet, garbed in the traditional white gown and carrying a bouquet of red roses, advanced to the throne and was crowned by last year's queen, Dolores Leone. Then, surrounded by her court gowned in all the hues of the rainbow, she graciously received the plaudits of the enthusiastic crowd.

The honor of being Football Girl was bestowed on Janet, an enthusiastic cheerleader and ardent football fan, by her classmates of 1955-56.

She is the 33rd girl to carry on the tradition, instituted by Dr. Henry Yaggi in 1924, in the hope that the election of a football queen would inspire more spirit and support of the Salem gridders.

. . . in which there has been a Salem High School, the FACULTY has changed considerably.

In 1853, when SHS was organized, Mr. William McClain was the sole teacher. By 1893 the staff had increased to four women teachers, the principal, and the superintendent. Subjects in the curriculum were limited to the basic courses of mathematics, languages, history, and music. Pictures reveal attractive lady instructors in high-collared dresses, wasp waistlines, and long, sweeping skirts, while the men had handlebar mustaches or full beards and wore celluloid collars, narrow bow ties, and ribbon-edged lapels.

By 1915 the staff had grown to 12, and manual training and domestic science had been added to the program.

Ten years later the women were real flappers with bobbed hair, curly from the use of hot curling irons, and the men appeared in double-breasted suits with bellbottom trousers. Again the curriculum had expanded. Commercial subjects, all the sciences, gym, and oratory were in demand and a teacher-coach had replaced the principal or a non-faculty person in the field of athletics.

By 1935 the program was similar to today's and some of the faculty members of that time are still on the staff.

Early teachers were required to pass tests given by a local Board of Examiners. Later a two-year course in a normal school and state certification were necessary, while today's qualifications for certification are much more exacting.

Today's educators are carrying on the traditions of SHS, are aware of changing trends and conscious of the needs of the younger generation, are friends as well as teachers.

Behind the scenes of Salem's educational system lies a very important group of men --- the Board of Education. Composed of five prominent elected citizens, the Board sets school policies for Salem. It also levies taxes to run the schools, approves the appointment of school personnel, the selection of textbooks, and sees that school buildings are kept in good repair, along with dozens of other matters. This year the duties of the Board have been more than tripled since Salem's citizens approved a $$ 2,585,000$ bond issue for the construction of a new senior high school.

Perhaps the superintendent's most important work is to give leadership to education. In addition to being a capable school administrator and a participant in Salem's civic affairs, Mr. Kerr is also active on the state level. For the past four years he has been president of the Ohio Association for Gifted Children and has just been reelected to a second three-year term on the executive committee of the O. E. A.

Mr. Kerr is considered by teachers and students alike to be vitally interested in each one of them as individuals. The door to his office is always open.

His 15th year as head of SHS found Prin. Beman G. Ludwig hard at work, as he pulled the strings to make the school run smoothly, maintained good public relations, okayed extra-curricular activities, and took time to be a friend to students and teachers.

Mr. Ludwig has a BA and an MA from Marietta and has studied at Columbia, OSU, Pittsburgh U. and Akron U.

Aiding boys to iron out personal difficulties is John Callahan, dean of boys. Besides ably advising the Student Council and Mickey McGuire League, he helps many young men to find jobs, the right colleges, and scholarships.
"How can one woman know so many girls so well?" is a question many people have asked about Dean of Girls Ala Zimmerman. But somehow she manages and finds time to probe problems, give guidance and help fix futures, too. Quiet and reassuring in her ways, she has helped many a girl to better establish herself in SHS and in her later life.

An old sketch . . . says of him as a pedagogue: 'Tolerton (although a Quaker) displayed his knowledge of grammar in not using the pronoun "thee" in the nominative case. He gained a great reputation for his skill in the management of bad boys. He is said to have used the rod with great faithfulness, and sometimes even the knockdown argument.' "

Right --- Jerry Cosgrove, Judy Fisher, John Olloman, and Mrs. Cope voice their opinions during a triangular discussion concerning relationship between students, teachers and parents at a PTA meeting.

Below --- Every day boys line up in the office of Attendance Officer Phillips to receive admittance slips after being absent.

Right --- Mr. Cope's secretary, Sally Kirkbride, spends many hours working for one of SHS's busiest men.

Three Events of 1956

In the future, the year 1956 will be remembered as a milestone in the progress and growth of the Salem community. Three important events occurred.

First, you, the Seniors of Salem High School, took another step forward, some going on to colleges and universities, others immediately finding their way into the business life of the area.

Second, the City of Salem celebrated its Sesquicentennial year.

Third, the city's largest industry, which has been a part of the community since 1872, most of that time bearing the name of Mullins, became the Youngstown Kitchens Division of American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corporation.

As it did under the Mullins name, the new Youngstown Kitchens Division continues to look to Salem High School for people who plan careers in industry and seek to assume positions of responsibility.

We hope some of you of the Class of ' 56 will find your way into the Youngstown Kitchens organization.

IN THE YEAR 1850, Joel MacMillan opened a book shop on the spot where generations of students in the schools of Salem have purchased textbooks and supplies. Texts are now provided at schools, but it's MacMillan's for dictionaries and supplies.

When a commercial business continues for 106 years to invite your patronage, we are proud to believe it proves rendered service.

School days over, we wish our friends to continue coming .... for books, stationery, gifts of distinction, pictures and picture framing, for wallpaper and window shades.

[^0]:    "The Quaker, a magazine published under the auspices of students in the Salem high school, completes its third volume with the June issue, 1906. It is published monthly during each school year. At the present (1906) Frederick Hole and Fritz Mullins are business managers, and John Mead is editor."

[^1]:    "When they wanted to have a big time the girls and boys would go out in the woods, clean off the leaves, then some would sing and some would dance and so merrily pass away the time; so we had tame animals as well as wild ones."

[^2]:    "The teachers of the pioneer schools in certain sections of Ohio were selected more on account of their unfitness to perform manual labor than by reason of their intellectual worth. The few schools established in this section were taught by cripples, worn-out old men, and women physically unable or constitutionally too lazy to scotch hemp or spin flax."
    -A History of Education in Ohio- 1876
