Smiley to face additional charges

© 1987 Student Publications, Inc.

By John Gilardi,
Phil Thomas and Monica Seigel
The Daily Iowan

Additional charges are expected to be filed Monday in Johnson County District Court against UI football player Keaton Smiley in connection with an assault which occurred May 17, 1986, at The Fieldhouse, 111 E. College St., the UI student who was assaulted in the incident told The Daily Iowan Thursday.

Jennifer Lee, a UI junior, met with Johnson County Attorney J. Patrick White Thursday to discuss the incident in which she suffered a broken nasal passage after she allegedly was hit by Smiley following an argument at the bar. Lee did not know whether misdemeanor or felony charges would be filed.

Attempts to contact Smiley failed since his phone number is unlisted, and no one was home at his address Thursday evening.

WHITE TOLD the DI his office and the Iowa City Police Department are investigating an incident in connection with Smiley, but declined to comment whether the two incidents were related.

Smiley was charged June 11 with willful injury, a Class C felony, after allegedly beating and threatening another woman with a knife in his apartment at 530 S. Clinton St., according to court records. The charge is a forceable felony, which means if convicted, Smiley would face a mandatory prison term.

The second woman, UI junior Cheryl Zemaitis, was treated at UI Hospitals for a ruptured eardrum, a cut on one hand from the knife, lacerations, bruises and swelling over the left eye, according to police records.

Smiley was held in the Johnson County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bond for one day following the arrest and then was released to the custody of the Sixth Judicial District Department of Corrections, court records state.

LEE SAID THE ASSAULT took place May 17, 1986, and she told the DI she became frustrated with Iowa City Police because she approached them in May with the assumption that charges would be filed against Smiley, but no formal action was taken.

"I've been told (by the county attorney's office) that I haven't pursued the case enough," she told the DI during an interview Wednesday. "But I gave them everything I had about the incident."

Iowa City Police Det. Tommy Widmer said the case was "accidentally put aside" during a busy night and that the case apparently "fell through the cracks."

"The detective bureau never received information on the case," Widmer said. "The officers should have either made an arrest or handed the paperwork over to our bureau and the county attorney's office."

THE OFFICERS may have assumed that the case was a simple misdemeanor and that the woman would have been referred to the attorney's office for direct charging, said Widmer, but the officer normally would have followed through with the report.

"There is no cover-up," Widmer said, adding that the fact Smiley was a football player had nothing to do with the case being put aside.

Lee said she was "relieved" when the county attorney's office said the case had become inactive since there was now no chance of "public-

Gunmen abduct journalist in Beirut

By Nora Boustany
Washington Post

DAMASCUS, Syria—Gunmen seized Charles Glass, an American television journalist and writer, along with the son of Lebanon's defense minister and their driver as they were traveling from Sidon to Beirut Wednesday along a coastal highway in Lebanon policed by Syrian and Lebanese soldiers.

Glass, 36, the ninth American in captivity in Lebanon, is the first kidnaped there since January and the first westerner taken captive since Syria sent 7,000 troops to the Beirut area in February. His abduction coincides with growing tension between the United States and Iran over navigation in the Persian Gulf.

NO CLAIMS OF responsibility had been made by late Thursday, more than 24 hours after Glass and Ali Osseiran, son of Defense Minister Adel Osseiran, a Shiite Moslem, were seized by three carloads of gunmen who intercepted their vehicle at a junction linking the coastal highway to the mainly Shiite suburbs near the southern entrance to Moslem west Beirut — and only 500 yards from a Syrian military checkpoint, according to the Christian Voice of Lebanon radio.

The Iran-linked Hezbollah, or Party of God, which is believed responsible for most hostage-taking in Lebanon, last week bitterly criticized the Lebanese military establishment after the assassination of Prime Minister Rashid Karami. Karami, a close ally of

Freedman era draws to close after 5 years

By Scott Hauser
The Daily Iowan

CEDAR FALLS—The first of the summer's major UI administrative changes takes place today as UI President James O. Freedman spends his last day in room 101 of Jessup Hall, ending his five-year tenure as the UI's chief administrator.

"Cherish the university," Freedman said, in parting advice to UI students. "Take full advantage of it while you're here and support it when you graduate. It's a great treasure for the state."

Freedman will assume the position of president of Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire July 1.

HE ANNOUNCED April 14 he had accepted the position.

A week from today, UI Vice President for Finance and University Services Dorsey Ellis will also spend his last day as a UI administrator.

"I leave the university with a great deal of sadness," he said. "It's been the principal thing in my life for the last 19 years."

Ellis will become dean of the school of law at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri Aug. 1. He has been a UI vice president since 1983, before which he was a UI professor of law.

Both parting UI administrators attended their last state Board of Regents meeting Thursday in Cedar Falls, where the day before, the regents authorized the UI to spend $25 million in bonding proceeds for a laser research center — a project Freedman has promoted heavily to the board and the state legislature.

"I SEE A very bright future for the university," Freedman said, citing the new laser center, biology research building and new faculty recruitment as examples of UI success.

"It's going to be a stronger place in five years than it is now," he said.

"The University of Iowa is a very strong academic institution," Ellis said. "Its strength grows out of the people at the university, the students, faculty and staff. There's a great deal of loyalty on the part of those people."

Both administrators said they would spend their last UI days working on UI business, saying goodbye to colleagues and preparing their offices for their successors.

IN MAY, the regents approved Susan M. Phillips as Ellis's successor.

A 17-member UI committee is conducting a nationwide search this summer for a new UI president.

Branstad seeking more Korean trade

DES MOINES (UPI)—Gov. Terry Branstad said in a teleconference from South Korea Thursday police have used tear gas to fight demonstrators in front of his Seoul hotel, but he does not consider himself in any danger.

Branstad, on a two-week trade mission to the Far East, also said South Korea has agreed to open its trade markets to canned Iowa pork effective July 1.

He said government officials there recognize the need to help reduce the huge U.S. trade deficit so as to avert protectionist trade policies.

The canned pork deal was a small step toward his goal of opening that market to all Iowa pork and beef, he said.

BRANSTAD CALLED South Korea's economy, "the fastest growing economy in the world," then commented on the students' street demonstrations.

"It's pretty hard to be in Seoul and ignore the major political unrest," he said. "In fact, there have been demonstrations right in front of our hotel. There have been confrontations with police, including the use of tear gas last evening."

Branstad said it is difficult to determine if the political unrest will have an impact on trade.

"The demonstrators and students seem to have the support of the vast majority of Korean people. It is seen as a way to get democratic changes. But there is still strong support of the economic policies..." he said.

"We feel it is important to have full access to Korean markets if we are going to have free trade," he said.

Angry expert turns seminar into First Amendment melee

By Shawn Plank
The Daily Iowan

A nationally renowned doctor and lawyer who warns against health fraud leaped over a row of chairs and grabbed a tape recorder away from an audience member, who earlier had disagreed with him, following a seminar dealing with the First Amendment at the Old Capitol Senate Chamber Thursday.

Victor Herbert, who last week appeared on Larry King's Cable News Network show, took the cassette tape from the audience member claiming his intellectual property had been stolen during his speech entitled "Protecting the Consumer from Health Fraud: Medical and Legal Issues."

Herbert yanked the bag containing the tape recorder out of the audience member's hands while UI College of Law Professor William Buss tried to restrain him. Herbert took the bag to a corner of the senate chamber where he removed the tape recorder and the tape.

"THIS IS MY intellectual property!" Herbert yelled. "The theft of intellectual property is not tolerable — it is against the law."

Herbert shouted at Buss and other panelists who continued to try to restrain him, "Get your hands off me!"

Buss told Herbert, "I grabbed you because I didn't think you had the right to physically take that."

The forum was held to celebrate the bicentennial year of the U.S. Constitution and to discuss First Amendment issues. The 20 or so people remaining in the audience at the close of the 2½ presentation were treated to the afternoon's most lively discussion of the Constitution.

In the midst of the melee, Herbert cited a case which he said held precedent over the First Amendment issue.

"I suggest you read the case of King vs. MCA," Herbert said.

THE CASE DEALS with Martin Luther King, Jr.'s "I Have A Dream" speech, delivered in Washington, D.C., in 1963. MCA made and sold copies of the tapes and King sued, claiming the company was selling his intellectual property. Herbert said King sued for $1 million and won.

Herbert approached the audience member and handed him his tape recorder and bag back, saying, "Here's your property back. This is my property," he said, waving the cassette tape. "I will take this tape and I will send it back to you."

Herbert and the audience member had earlier argued

Two Iowa youths die

WEST LIBERTY, Iowa (UPI) — Authorities say a 5-year-old Atalissa boy has died of head injuries he suffered in a farm-related accident on a Cedar County farm Tuesday night.

Cedar County sheriff's officials identified the victim as Mike McConaha. Investigators said the boy was injured at the Ronald Simpson farm, but details of the accident were not available.

In Washington, Iowa, 9-year-old David Wittmayer, who was hit by a train as he rode his bicycle near the town square, died Wednesday of injuries received in the accident, Washington County Sheriff's officials said Thursday.

IBP overlooks Iowa site

DAKOTA CITY, Neb. — Citing Illinois' favorable economic development climate, IBP Inc. announced plans Thursday for a $9 million tannery employing 40 people near its beef packing plant at Joslin, Ill.

A Muscatine, Iowa, site also was being considered for the new plant, but Mikelson cited a "negative business climate" in Iowa compared to Illinois for the company's decision to locate the facility near Joslin.

"It was concluded that the economic development climate in Illinois would be more favorable for expansion," he said.

Drug probe nets three

DAVENPORT — An eight-month undercover investigation by Davenport police has netted three arrests on drug charges.

Authorities say numerous packets of heroin and cocaine and about $300 in cash allegedly were seized after warrants were served at a Davenport residence Wednesday.

Arrested were Dwight Bland, 36, and Mary Grady, 25, on charges of possession with intent to deliver cocaine and possession with intent to deliver heroin; and Kelvin Bland, 19, on charges of possession of marijuana.

Officer killed by gunshot

FORT DODGE, Iowa — Robert McGuire, 36, a Fort Dodge police officer, died early Thursday of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the chest, the Webster County medical examiner's office said.

A spokesman for Webster County Medical Examiner Michael Stitt said the death appeared to be a suicide pending an autopsy that will be conducted later.

McGuire apparently suffered the fatal wound at his home on the city's west side. Witnesses said there was an unidentified person in the apartment at the time. Officials said McGuire used a personal weapon and not his service revolver.

Risque golfer suspended

ROCKFORD, Ill. — A police officer accused of golfing without pants at a department-sponsored outing has been suspended without pay pending a hearing before the city Police-Fire Commission, officials say.

Marlin "Mango" Peterson was seen on the 13th hole without trousers and underwear, and there were other reports he was seen on the 17th green in the same condition, said a police official.

At the commission meeting, Police Chief William Fitzpatrick brought formal charges against Peterson of conduct unbecoming an officer.

Arts Fest '87 offers cultural, artistic glimpse of Iowa City

By Alex Wilding-White
The Daily Iowan

Celebrations come in all sizes and forms, and for a variety of reasons. And starting this Sunday, downtown Iowa City will turn into one giant celebration.

Arts Fest '87, the annual festival of arts, dance and music, will offer something for just about every taste and inclination. Mideastern dancing, face painting, jazz, juggling, art exhibitions, storytelling and folk music are but a few of the activities slated for the weeklong event.

The festival, now in its fifth year, was initiated when a number of downtown businesses expressed an interest in bringing performing artists to the downtown mall.

"We were approached by local businesses to help pay for performers to play here," said Kristin Summerwill, one of the festival's organizers. "And we said why not work together and utilize local talent?" Hence, the festival has always featured Iowa City artists.

For some of the performers, the fest will represent a good venue in which to play. "It's a nice series with a lot of variety," commented flugelhornist Ed Sarath, who will be playing with two different combinations during the festival. "It allows different artists to interact with one another."

ARTIST SARA Lindberg, whose prints and collages are being exhibited at Iowa State Bank & Trust as one of the festival's ongoing displays, also sees the festival as good for local residents. "The Fest is very positive for the community," Lindberg said. She says that the aim of her work "is to entertain and delight, so I think it fits in well with the festival."

Regents confirm UI administrators

The state Board of Regents approved the appointments of several UI administrators at its meeting on June 17.

The regents approved the selection of Ann Rhodes as the assistant vice president for finance and university services, effective June 29.

Rhodes has been the assistant to the director of UI Hospitals and Clinics since 1983, serving as general legal counsel and providing budgetary oversight of the Specialized Child Health Services Programs.

The regents also named Lowell Schoer to be the new interim dean of the UI College of Education, effective July 1. Schoer joined the UI faculty in 1961 and has been chair of the Division of Psychological and Quantitative Foundations since 1981.

Schoer replaces Charles Case, who resigned to head the School of Education at the University of Connecticut.

Finally, the regents approved the appointment of Mary Khowassah as director of UI Student Health Service, effective July 1. Khowassah was appointed to the Student Health Service staff in 1970, and has served as acting director since December of 1985.

AIDS workshop to be held in Bettendorf

The Quad Cities AIDS Coalition and the Iowa Center for AIDS/ARC Resources and Education will co-sponsor a weekend workshop on AIDS. The program, scheduled for June 26 through June 28 in Bettendorf, is intended for those who have AIDS, ARC or a positive HIV antibody test, and their caretakers.

Joel Gray, a UI nursing student and member of the UI Gay People's Union, will conduct the program, which is modeled after the Shanti Project training program in San Francisco. Some aspects to be discussed at the workshop include the medical, emotional, social and financial needs of people with AIDS and attitudes about death.

Disabled group meets Monday

The Johnson County Citizens Committee for the Handicapped will hold a meeting at 7 p.m. at the Iowa City Recreation Center in Meeting Room B.

Johnson County Auditor Tom Slockett will speak at the meeting on the subject of disabled accessibility of voting places in Johnson County.

Supervisors approve courthouse windows

The Johnson County Board of Supervisors voted 3-2 Thursday to utilize windows made by Milco Window and distributed by Hauschild Inc. of Swisher, Iowa, for the Johnson County Courthouse. The windows are being purchased as part of the Johnson County Courthouse renovation project.

The estimated 100 windows in the courthouse will cost the county an estimated $114,861 to purchase, test and install.

Work at the courthouse should start by Nov. 20 when the first test window is to be installed. New windows are needed because the 14-year-old windows in the courthouse were not sealed well and were not cost efficient.

In another decision Thursday, the Board of Supervisors voted to have 10.14 miles of county road F46 and 1.34 miles of secondary road F62 resurfaced. The resurfacing of the stretch of F46, which becomes Melrose Avenue when it enters Iowa City on the west side of town, will cost about $717,257 in materials. The stretch of F62 is located near the junction of Highway 1, near Frytown, in the southwest part of the county, and will cost about $101,073 to resurface.

Approval was also given by the supervisors for a new bridge to be built outside of Coralville on First Avenue extended north of town. The new structure would be a 125-foot slab bridge and would cost around $200,000.

Regents appoint head of Policy Center

The Board of Regents took the first step Wednesday toward the establishment of a Public Policy Center at the UI by accepting a report on the facility and naming a director.

David J. Forkenbrock, UI professor of urban and regional planning, was named to head the facility, which will analyze public policy questions and allow research findings to be made available to public sector decision-makers.

The UI has allocated $21,000 to launch the center, though in the future funding will depend on sources outside the UI. The center will be administered through the office of the vice president for education development and research, to whom Forkenbrock will report to.

An Iowa City woman was assaulted by her boyfriend at her residence in the 2100 block of Broadway Lane at about 11 p.m. Wednesday, according to police reports.

Blaine Evans, 21, address withheld, was charged with assault causing bodily injury in connection with the incident, according to the report.

Report: Two Iowa City men were charged with swimming in a pool after hours when they were caught in City Park Pool at about 1:40 a.m. Thursday, according to police reports.

Those charged were Jason B. Naso, 18, of 727 Dearborn, and Michael W. Tibbetts, 19, of 408 S. Dubuque St., according to the police, the report stated.

Report: A woman complained that a man exposed himself in front of her on the west bank of the Iowa River between Iowa Avenue and the Union footbridge at about 10 a.m. Thursday, according to police reports.

After the incident, the woman chased the man into some bushes, and he came out of the bushes again with his cut-off jeans pulled down, according to the report.

Report: A 40-pound boulder was found on the roof of a pickup truck belonging to an Iowa City man in the 2200 block of Taylor St. at about 12:45 a.m. Thursday, according to police reports.

The "large decorative stone" caused scratching damage to the vehicle, according to the report.

Report: An Iowa City woman living in the 300 block of E. Fairchild Street Wednesday reported receiving more than 10 harassing phone calls a day for three days, according to police reports.

The woman said the calls came in one-hour intervals, according to the report.

Lesbian/Gay Pride Week set

By Anne Kevlin
The Daily Iowan

A rally on the Pentacrest and a parade through downtown Iowa City will kick off the third annual Lesbian/Gay Pride Week Saturday, with participants celebrating the national theme, "Proud, Strong, United," according to Michael Blake, co-moderator of the UI Gay People's Union.

The week is celebrated in hundreds of cities throughout the nation in commemoration of the anniversary of Stonewall, the 1969 police raid on gay bars in Greenwich Village. That event, which led to several days of rioting, spurred the gay and lesbian civil rights movement, Blake said.

Along with discussions of serious issues like religion, AIDS and homophobia, the purpose of many of the week's activities, like Saturday's parade, is to have fun, Blake said.

"While it does have a certain political overtone, the purpose is to have fun and to celebrate our culture and our freedom," he said.

THE PARADE WILL have at least one float, Blake said. A Condom Queen and Condom Cupids will also be on hand, distributing condoms and information about AIDS and safe sex. But the condoms will not be merely thrown to the crowd.

"We don't want to trivialize the idea of condoms," he said. "The Condom Cupids will be personally handing condoms to people. We want to have that human-to-human interaction."

In addition to the parade, some of the week's events include discussions on various topics of concern, especially to the gay and lesbian community. Sunday evening, a doctoral candidate from the UI School of Religion will facilitate a discussion on religion and spirituality in the gay and lesbian community. Blake said this topic has become particularly important because of the AIDS epidemic.

"Our spiritual sense is really being looked at," he said.

The response to the problem of AIDS from lesbians and gay people in Iowa is the subject of another discussion to be held Tuesday evening, Blake said.

On Thursday, "Confronting Our Own Homophobia: A Workshop for the Lesbian/Gay Community," will address the attitudes gay people have about themselves.

"We think we have a real diverse week of activities planned," Blake said. "We want people to understand that we are a very diverse community."

Public library holds book sale

By Joseph Levy
The Daily Iowan

Iowa City Public Library officials said Thursday they hope the book sale scheduled for Saturday — one of six the library will be holding this year — will help them surpass the $8,423 raised by book sales in the 1986-87 fiscal year.

The sale, sponsored by the Friends of the Iowa City Public Library, will feature thousands of used works including fiction, texts, records and even framed artwork, Community Services Librarian Carol Spaziani said.

"This is the most educated city in the nation," Spaziani said. "People buy their books and then they leave."

SHE EXPLAINED the book sale, which will be held at the library, serves several purposes: It enables people to purchase good books at substantially reduced prices, it provides people with an outlet to clear out books they no longer want and it raises money for the library.

Book sales are nothing new at the library. The Friends have been running the sales since 1976, when one book sale raised $1,401. As the group became more organized, more sales were held each year and response became greater, Spaziani said.

She added Iowa City's status as a university town — one geared toward reading — helps the booksale.

"Book lovers tend to be book buyers," Spaziani said.

Book sales — which have raised more than 56 percent of the Friends' contributions to the library — weren't always legal in Iowa City, Spaziani explained.

"THERE WERE CITY rules against the disposal of city property," she explained. "The books had to be taken to the dump and plowed under."

Since the time when that ordinance was erased, each sale has attracted about 550 people, Spaziani said.

But the Friends are cutting back on the number of sales they hold each year. "We decided we didn't have enough bookstock to keep it interesting enough (to have monthly sales)," Spaziani said.

Friends of the Iowa City Public Library Vice President Sue Newfeld said the organization annually donates between $10,000 and $12,000 to the library for material purchases in addition to volunteering services.

Spaziani said the Friends have been a considerable help to the library. "We really get quite a bit of support from them," she said.

Doesn't grow on trees

Monday night, President Ronald Reagan addressed the nation and spoke on a variety of topics. Among them was the staggering national debt, which currently stands at $2.4 trillion. (Actually, $2,372,429,000,000). He promised that with cooperation from Congress, he could reduce the growth of the debt, while simultaneously increasing military spending, and keeping taxes at current levels.

Reagan strongly hinted that he was in favor of a balanced budget, and that he would be willing to buckle down and take the cuts necessary to achieve this.

Yet, Reagan's history speaks differently. When he came to office in 1981, the federal debt stood at just more than $1 trillion. By the end of his first term, it had soared to more than $1.8 trillion, and by the end of his second term it is predicted to be more than $2.7 trillion. That's almost a tripling of the federal debt in eight years.

Who's to blame for this? Reagan puts much of the blame on Congress, implying that it is Democrats and domestic spending that are to blame. Yet for his first six years in office, the Republicans controlled Congress, during some of the worst years of debt increase.

Traditionally, the government operates under a deficit during periods when the economy is poor, and generates a surplus during good times. Thus, in the period 1976-1980, when both unemployment and inflation were very high, the debt rose from $646 billion to $914 billion.

But the early 80s were a time when unemployment and inflation were both brought under control, inflation dipping to 3.2 percent in 1982, down from its 1980 level of 10.1 percent. So the above figures for debt growth occurred at a time when the government should have been taking in more than it spent.

To be fair, the national debt is a staggering problem and no one human being, not even the president, can single-handedly bring it down or even keep it level. But it would help greatly if we had a leader who would not hide from the facts; one who would understand that you cannot have your cake and eat it, too. To eliminate the deficit, one has to raise taxes and/or reduce federal spending, both for domestic programs and for military spending.

Truth in prosecution

The U.S. administration makes a great mistake in offering an extension of the independent counsel system.

Yes, the special prosecutors, as they used to be called, are hybrids. Creatures of the judiciary rather than the executive branch, they live along a fault line of the U.S. Constitution.

But these carefully chosen establishment lawyers are hardly the untethered legal cowboys that the Justice Department portrays, and in any case it is a terrible moment for the administration to invoke the constitutional reservations it has had but swallowed in the past.

The president signed a bill refining and extending the system in 1983. Now, with four major investigations of past and present administration officials under way, the Justice Department says with White House approval it will recommend that the president veto a new bill.

The whole point of the independent counsel system, after all, is to preserve the credibility on which democratic government finally depends. Above a certain level, no administration can credibly investigate itself. You need an insulated third party.

That is what Watergate re-taught us; Watergate is why we have this law. Attorney General Edwin Meese need only look at the questions being raised about even his temporary charge of the investigation into the Iran-Contra affair to see why an independent counsel is not just reassuring but invaluable.

The critics might also recall that this process has been most useful over the years to the accused. Meese again provides the best example.

Confronted at his confirmation hearings with charges that he had profited from office as counselor to the president, he asked that an independent counsel be appointed in his case, "because there must be a comprehensive inquiry that will examine the facts and make public the truth."

President Reagan endorsed the request, saying, "I know that an impartial, prompt and thorough inquiry will demonstrate the high level of integrity and dedication which have marked Ed's long career of public service."

When counsel Jacob Stein then cleared him, Meese was a) delighted and b) confirmed. Reagan also found it useful to be able to call for the appointment of an independent counsel in the Iran-Contra affair, and Deaver similarly called for one in his case, though on the verge of indictment he too decided that the system was unconstitutional and has asked the courts to strike it down.

Now what does the department do — join Deaver in the effort to quash? The administration is on the wrong side of this issue.

On Iran-Contra: Ollie oxin free

Michael Humes

(The following are excerpts from the secret testimony of Lt. Col. Oliver North before the joint Congressional committee to investigate the Iran-Contra arms deal, June 22, 1987.)

Lt. Col. North: Hmm hmm hmm hmm hmm hmm hmmm hmmm hmmm hmmm.

Rep. Hamilton: Colonel North, the chair is instructing you to remove your fingers from your ears and cease and desist from humming "Way Down Upon the Swanee River." This committee is beginning to wonder if you are regarding this hearing with sufficient gravity. Are you?

Lt. Col. North: I assure you, Mr. Chairman, I hold this body in highest respect, I hope this investigation may be brought to a swift and satisfying conclusion and no one wants this story to come out as much as I do. Want to hear my Bullwinkle impression? Hey, Rocky, watch me pull a rabbit out...

Rep. Hamilton: Colonel, you are a gnat's eyelash away from a contempt citation. I expect that from now on, you will answer every question put to you completely and to the best of your ability. Now take off those antlers and let's get started.

Lt. Col. North: OK, OK, you don't have to get sore about it. But before I get started, I would direct your attention to the information packets I have supplied for the members of the committee. If you will open your packets, which have been distributed randomly, I believe that you, Senator Rudman, will find that your card is the Jack of clubs! Right? Am I right?

Rep. Hamilton: Colonel North, you will be spending a long time in a courtroom if you jibe this committee one more time!

Lt. Col. North: But I was right, wasn't I?

Sen. Rudman: He has a point, Lee. It was the Jack of clubs.

Rep. Hamilton: Rudman, I wouldn't care if he guessed your card, your Social Security number and your waist size! This witness is deliberately trying, as he has done for some, to delay and even derail both this investigation and the investigation of the independent counsel, and he has done so with relative impunity!

Lt. Col. North: Indians, Indians!

Rep. Hamilton: And take that damned fake arrow off of your head before I stick it in your ear!

(There was a brief recess while Rep. Hamilton was towelled off and as he was convinced to put down a letter opener before someone got hurt badly.)

Sen. Rudman: While the distinguished member from Indiana is regaining his composure, perhaps, Colonel North, we can begin in earnest?

Lt. Col. North: No time like the present, I always say. Actually, senator, I'm glad this session is being held behind closed doors, because what I have to say next involves an aspect of this case which has never before been revealed. It involves... torture!

This testimony will involve a demonstration for which I need another person to serve as a model. (Note: Committee aide Fred Wannamaker volunteered for the demonstration.) On a covert trip to Tehran, I was seized by revolutionary guards and taken to a small, hot, airless room. I was alone for what seemed like hours, seated as Mr. Wannamaker is now. I heard a door open behind me and an accented voice barked out, "Don't look around!" I froze in my chair, and I heard heavy boots approach me from behind. A rough hand gripped the back of my collar...

Rep. Hamilton: Watch it, Fred, he's reaching for the water pitcher!

Lt. Col. North: And he shoved some of this down my shirt and said "Room service, here's your ice, woo woo woo woo woo!"

(The committee went into an extended recess, as Lt. Col. North apparently did some time ago.)

Michael Humes' column appears every Friday.

The problem is violence

To the Editor:
Matthew Stelly's column raises legitimate points about the recruitment and socialization of black athletes at predominantly white universities. However, in the context of the Smiley arrest, his analysis is misleading, focusing attention away from more central issues involved in the alleged incident.

Wherever a person lives in the United States, the battering of women is morally reprehensible and a criminal offense. At the same time, violence against women is as common as the images that oppress them. Violence against women is far too widespread to be explained — in this case — by the oppression in the lives of black athletes. Black athletes may suffer cultural pressures at white universities, but there is no reason for this frustration to end in the particular crime of personal injury to a woman unless the perpetrator denies the act is morally wrong. In other words, the issue here is violence by athletes against women whatever their race, income or color. From Arizona State to Iowa State, from the University of Minnesota to St. Ambrose (University) in Davenport, athletes are demonstrating criminally aggressive behavior toward women, and getting away with it. Among the list of issues raised by Stelly, the image of machoism — a set of damaging myths about men and women — perpetuated in athletics is appallingly absent.

Stelly, himself, perpetuates these images by portraying the athlete as a "warrior" and a "gladiator," roles in which every day morality is suspended. He also portrays women as "more than willing," the only reference toward women Stelly makes. I believe the victim of Smiley's alleged assault would object to being characterized as "willing." She has plenty of bruises and knife wounds to prove her lack of willingness to submit whatever demand was being made of her.

In short, Stelly's portrayal of the black athlete in the context of Smiley's alleged assault acts less as an explanation than as an excuse for criminal behavior. While black athletes may offer alienation and frustration, there is no excuse for the behavior which led to Smiley's arrest. To reduce this behavior to a problem of "social anticipation" is a disservice to women, victims of violent athletes and to the majority of black athletes who live according to moral standards and civil ideals. Placing Smiley's alleged crime in the context of his race is racist, and negates his potential culpability for a crime for which there is no excuse.

ability for a crime for which there is no excuse.

This is thanks?

To the Editor:
Volunteer work has a long and noble tradition in the public institutions of our country. It enriches public life and saves taxpayers' money.

Blair Klinefelter, a custodian at Iowa City's Horace Mann Elementary School, deserves our gratitude for public service. He spent Sunday afternoon, June 7, sanding and painting the rusting and unsightly Horace Mann School sign at the corner of Church and Dodge streets.

This sign no longer detracts from the school, but rather, enhances it. The Horace Mann Parent Teacher Organization encouraged Klinefelter by authorizing the repainting at a June 2 meeting. The PTO reimbursed a parent after she bought the refurbishing supplies and offered to help Klinefelter fix the sign.

And what kind of gratitude did Klinefelter receive? According to a letter he received Monday, June 8, he was suspended from work for three days without pay for "lack of conformity and insubordination."

Morale is a serious problem in the school district. Is this how we want district employees treated when they perform acts of service without pay? This incident is an overreaction to Klinefelter in his last week of work in the district before moving on to a better paying job.

What kind of message is given to custodial and professional staff when they learn that acts requested by parents (taxpayers) can result in a three-day suspension merely because they lack conformity and are not formally approved by a building administrator? Is this an isolated incident or is it symbolic of the general treatment of employees in the Iowa City Community School District?

No picking please

To the Editor:
The summer flowers along Rocky Shore Drive are beginning to bloom and add a beautiful touch to the landscape. The community is especially appreciative to Project Green for providing this beauty to the community. If this beauty is to continue, all citizens must remember to look and not to pick so that the flowers can reseed for the next year. We can all help by politely helping those who pick the flowers realize the consequences of their actions. Won't you help?

Marine gets court-martial for spy scandal

WASHINGTON — The Marine Corps decided to court-martial a former guard at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow on charges of having an affair with at least one Soviet woman and lying about it under oath, the Pentagon said Thursday.

The case against Staff Sgt. Robert Stufflebeam, 25, of Blounting, Ill., was referred to a general court-martial Wednesday by the commanding officer of the Marine base at Quantico, Va., Lt. Gen. Frank Petersen, the Pentagon said.

No date for a court-martial has been set and Stufflebeam could face a maximum of 14 years in prison if convicted on all counts against him.

Stufflebeam was arrested in connection with the investigation into the sex-for-secrets spy scandal at the embassy in which two other Marines were implicated.

U.S. warns Iran in planting of mines

WASHINGTON — The United States will deal seriously with any potential threat to Kuwaiti shipping from mines that may have been planted near the Persian Gulf by Iran, administration officials said Thursday.

The administration and Pentagon officials were unable to confirm that any mines deliberately had been placed in or near Kuwaiti waters, chiefly near Kuwait's main oil port of Ahmadi.

Mines in the vicinity of Kuwaiti waters would pose a threat to Kuwaiti oil tankers and the Navy warships that would be ordered to escort them through the war-scorched waters of the gulf, the officials acknowledged. Minesweepers are not among the U.S. Navy ships in the gulf and officials said there are no immediate plans to send any there.

Gadd testifies in Iran-Contra affair

WASHINGTON — Richard Secord told a subordinate the White House instructed him in late 1985 to devise a plan to arm the Nicaraguan rebels, finance the operation and conceal administration sponsorship, testimony released Thursday showed.

Retired Lt. Col. Richard Gadd said in a deposition released Thursday that Lt. Col. Oliver North, then a staff member of the National Security Council, instructed Secord to pay $150,000 for the initial expenses of the operation and an undetermined sum for aircraft fuel.

Gadd's testimony to House and Senate committees investigating the Iran-Contra scandal provided new evidence of the intimate involvement of North in setting up and directing virtually every aspect of the supply effort at a time when U.S. officials were barred from providing military aid to the Contra rebels.

Officials will receive Waldheim

VATICAN CITY — A Vatican official said Thursday Pope John Paul II's decision to meet Kurt Waldheim is not a "stamp of approval" for the Austrian president, ostracized in much of the West because of his alleged Nazi ties.

"The pope has a completely open door policy," the official said. "He will see any leader who requests an audience, but that does not mean he endorses what they stand for."

Italian Jewish leaders sharply criticized the pope's decision to receive Waldheim on a state visit June 25. Italian officials said the Austrian president would not meet with Italian leaders.

The former U.N. secretary-general is under attack by Jewish groups for concealing his role as an intelligence officer during World War II.

Shultz urges Vietnam to exit Cambodia

SINGAPORE — Secretary of State George Shultz called Thursday for the non-communist nations of Southeast Asia to increase pressure on Vietnam to pull its troops out of Cambodia.

In a wide-ranging dialogue with his counterparts from the six-nation Association of Southeast Asian Nations, Shultz also warned that protectionist pressures are building in the United States and unless other countries open their markets to U.S. imports there may be what he described as a "traumatic experience."

In his remarks to the ASEAN meeting, Shultz focused on Vietnam's eight-year occupation of Cambodia and the dangers it poses to peace, as well as the economic and human cost.

He said it is essential to continue support for the non-communist resistance in Cambodia, but did not give any specific examples of such aid.

Britain expels more Iranian diplomats

LONDON — Britain, stopping just short of breaking relations with Iran, announced Thursday the expulsion of all but one Iranian diplomat and a reduction of the British mission in Tehran to a single caretaker diplomat.

Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's government said it was taking the drastic action in response to "unacceptable Iranian behavior" that began May 28 with the 24-hour detention and beating of Britain's No. 2 envoy in Tehran.

Tehran's failure to offer an explanation or an apology for the abduction and beating of diplomat Edward Chaplin led to a series of retaliatory expulsions by both governments.

Airport security systems not foolproof

WASHINGTON — A congressional watchdog agency said Thursday guards at airports across the country failed about 20 percent of the time to detect weapons smuggled aboard by federal agents testing the security system.

Results of the tests conducted at airport boarding gates by undercover Federal Aviation Administration agents were made public at a House subcommittee hearing.

There was a wide variation in test results from region to region among the 28 airports studied. The investigation occurred between September and December last year.

Koop urges AIDS tests prior to surgery

WASHINGTON — Surgeon General C. Everett Koop Thursday urged hospitals to test surgery patients for AIDS virus infection before they go under the knife, but said a positive test result would not give doctors the option of refusing to operate.

Koop also concentrated on the risk of AIDS virus transmission among teens. He said although data demonstrate "many teenagers are at risk of becoming infected, most teenagers do not believe they are."

He said education for pre-teens should begin in the home, extend to school and should emphasize abstinence. Abstinence with a back-up measure of condoms should be the message for sexually active people, he said.

Lawyers maneuver to make North talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lawyers for the Iran-Contra committees struggled Thursday to forge an "ironclad agreement" with Lt. Col. Oliver North that would force the affair's key figure to tell Congress what he knows.

Without such a pact, members of the select House-Senate committees feared the Marine might try to avoid testifying altogether, and such efforts could extend the congressional hearings for months as lawmakers maneuver to compel North to talk.

Fired Nov. 25 from his staff job on the National Security Council for his role in the worst scandal of the Ronald Reagan presidency, North is under a federal court order to testify, with limited immunity from prosecution.

THE SELECT congressional committees investigating the U.S. sale of arms to Iran and the diversion of profits to the Nicaraguan rebels had hoped to take private testimony from him Thursday and to hold public sessions in mid-July.

But in a new gambit that caught the committees by surprise, North's attorney told Congress Wednesday the private questioning would violate North's rights, and the Marine would appear only in a public session.

North, 43, has refused to talk by invoking his Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination. In his last appearance before Congress, Dec. 9 in front of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, North took the Fifth but said: "I don't think there is another person in America who wants to tell his story as much as I do."

THURSDAY, THE KEY lawyers involved — House chief counsel John Nields, Senate chief counsel Arthur Liman and North's attorney, Brendan Sullivan — met in an effort to strike a deal that would ensure North would talk in public and not blind-side Congress again with a new tactic to dodge testimony.

Although there appeared to be no way that Congress could get an absolute guarantee on North's appearance, a Senate committee aide said lawmakers "believe an ironclad agreement is reachable" and, "The hope and expectation is that we can get it."

Protestors, police clash in S. Korea

By John Burgess
Washington Post

SEOUL, South Korea — Central Seoul became a war zone Thursday night as tens of thousands of anti-government protesters seized streets and squares in the largest and most violent chapter of a political crisis that began eight days ago.

The rioting came as the government appeared to be preparing to offer concessions to the opposition in a bid to calm the streets.

At one point Thursday, the protesters overran a unit of about 80 policemen, beat some of them badly and burned their shields, masks and tear gas rifles in giant bonfires. They attacked at least one police station and burned a police bus.

The police fired thousands of tear gas canisters, but demonstrators seemed hardly to notice. Each time they were dispersed by barrages, they formed again on adjoining blocks and alleyways and closed in again with rocks and firebombs.

NEWS SERVICES reported that clashes also continued Thursday in Pusan, Taegu and other provincial cities.

In the southern port city of Pusan, police reportedly fired tear gas at crowds of up to 15,000 protesters, who fought back with rocks and firebombs. Pusan police said that 265 officers were injured and that 58 demonstrators were detained.

In Taegu, in the southeast, protesters seized a city bus, overturned a fire truck and turned its water cannon onto riot police, and set several police kiosks on fire.

MBTI For Couples/Relationships
A two-session workshop will describe the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator personality inventory and apply its principles to relationships. This workshop will help you understand yourself and your partner. Persons must attend the workshop in a duo—any kind of relationship in which better understanding of each other is important to you. Both partners must take the inventory one week in advance. If couples or individuals have taken the MBTI recently, they should contact workshop leaders. Please pre-register in pairs and plan to attend in a pair, e.g., spouses, friends, lovers, etc. There is a $1 fee for an interpretive booklet.

ity and humiliation" that would accompany filing charges. But the woman decided to take action when Smiley allegedly attacked Zemaitis June 9.

"Keaton Smiley has gone above and beyond the law," she said. "If (Zemaitis) could go through with it, I could go through with it."

LEE S. she met Smiley, a highly touted football recruit from Duncanville, Texas, in August 1985, when he was a freshman. She had just transferred to the UI from another college but has been an Iowa City resident for 10 years.

The two became friends and dated for about a month, Lee said.

"Keaton said he wanted to have a new start in Iowa City," she said. "He often said that he made some mistakes in Texas and regretted them. I believed him. I trusted him."

After the friendship ended, Smiley verbally assaulted Lee "a number of times" during the following months, she said, including another incident at The Fieldhouse in October.

On May 17, Smiley allegedly was in The Fieldhouse and allegedly yelled obscenities at Lee, who in turn tossed a piece of ice in his direction. Smiley then followed her to another part of the bar, turned her around and struck her on the bridge of the nose and then left, she said.

IOWA CITY POLICE officers Sgt. Cletus Keating, Officer

Bruce Richardson and a Johnson County ambulance were called to the scene after a 911 emergency call, according to police records.

After being treated for the nasal fracture at Mercy Hospital and released, the woman and a friend who witnessed the assault went to the Iowa City Police station to fill out voluntary information forms, she said.

"I naively assumed that after doing this something would be carried through as far as charges," she said.

In another development, the attorney representing Smiley told the DI Thursday that she plans to withdraw as counsel to Smiley.

Mary Weideman said although she had not yet officially withdrawn from the case, she "probably will be doing so in the near future."

"I'M MAKING arrangements for that now and probably will follow through with the official procedures by Friday," she said.

Declining to explain why she planned to discontinue representing Smiley, Weideman said, "Keaton and I will have to get together and see if we can agree on a joint explanation that is satisfactory to us both."

Weideman said she was unaware Lee was planning to file charges but admitted she "had some indication" a second assault charge would be filed against Smiley.

UI Vice President for Academic Affairs Richard

Remington said the UI cannot take action on the case until a decision is made in the court system.

"Typically it's the courts that will handle the case, but the UI will certainly look at it after that," he said.

UI Athletic Director Bump Elliott was unavailable for comment, but UI Sports Information Director George Wine said, "We are going to let the legal process work before we say anything."

Iowa Assistant Football Coach Bill Snyder said he had "no way of knowing whether the charges are true or false."

Snyder added any disciplinary action against Smiley by the Iowa football program will "depend upon what happens in the court of law."

Syria, was killed June 1 by a bomb planted in the Lebanese Army helicopter in which he was riding.

IN DAMASCUS, Shiite Amal militia leader Nabih Berri asked Syrian security officials to help find Glass.

Ghazi Kanaan, the chief of Syrian military intelligence in Lebanon, was recalled to Damascus Thursday night, political sources said.

State Department officials in Washington said the abduction may have been intended to draw the United States into negotiations for the release of Glass and other American hostages.

over a method of treating AIDS, prompting Herbert to rise from his seat and threaten to leave.

"I'm not going to stay for this," Herbert said, after the moderator at the forum, UI College of Law Professor Michael Saks, told him to give the audience member a chance to express his view. Herbert repeatedly interrupted the audience member as he tried to speak.

THE AUDIENCE member advocated the use of immuno-augmentative therapy for victims of cancer and AIDS. The therapy, Herbert said, involves taking blood samples from cancer or AIDS patients and mixing them into a common stock, one for each disease. The blood is then transfused back into the patient, in hopes the new mixture will build immunity to the disease.

Herbert said a sample of the blood used in the therapy for cancer patients showed up in the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., infected with the AIDS virus.

"The responsible thing is to stop," Herbert said of the therapy. "The therapy is killing people."

UI English Professor R. Brooks Landon told Herbert during the discussion his arguments were good but he wasn't being cordial.

"You're not being persuasive, even if you're right," he said. "How can you persuade people who want to watch Donahue rather than read the New England Journal of Medicine?"

Hour of the Star
DIRECTED BY SUZANA AMARAL

This acclaimed film swept all twelve major awards at the Brazilia Film Festival, the Best Actress award at the Berlin Film Festival, and a nomination for the Academy Award for Best Foreign Film. Compared by critics to the work and characters of Fellini and Chaplin, it is the tale of an uneducated, naive and trusting young woman who comes to the big city and is lost there. Living without any real chance of success, she survives through hope and fantasy. Then her moment comes.

Bias' family seeks $6.6 million in suit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The family of Len Bias, one day short of the first anniversary of the death of the University of Maryland basketball star, filed a suit Thursday seeking $6.6 million from Bias's agent, insurance company and the Reebok shoe company.

Len Bias

The suit was filed in District of Columbia Superior Court by James Bias, Len Bias's father, in the name of his son's estate, charging many of the people who were planning Bias's coming professional basketball career have failed to live up to financial obligations since his death.

Bias, 22, died of cocaine intoxication June 19, 1986, while celebrating his selection by the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association draft two days earlier.

The suit named Advantage International, which represented Bias, agent Lee Fentress, Fidelity Security Life Insurance Company, which the suit claims reneged on a $1 million disability and accidental death policy, and Reebok International Ltd. of Canton, Mass., which allegedly reneged on an unwritten $1.6 million endorsement contract.

THE 15-COUNT suit includes 12 counts against Fentress and his Washington-based firm Advantage International, two against Reebok and one count against the Kansas City, Mo.-based insurance company. The action also asks $3 million in punitive damages from Fentress and Advantage.

"He clearly was not treated fairly and duties owed to him have not been satisfied," family attorney Wayne Curry said of Len Bias.

The suit claims Fentress and Advantage had promised Bias they would purchase both disability and life insurance for the basketball star, took money from Bias's personal bank account, but never bought life insurance and took out only the disability policy that contained an accidental death clause.

Fidelity Security carried the disability insurance policy with the accidental death rider.

Rangers lose draft pick but gain new coach

By Marc Bona The Daily Iowan and United Press International

The New York Rangers Thursday named Quebec Nordiques Coach Michel Bergeron as head coach — their fourth since the start of last season — and gave up a first-round draft choice to get him.

Bergeron, 41, has coached the Nordiques for the past seven years, compiling a 253-222-79 record.

In other hockey news, the Chicago Blackhawks announced the signing of two free-agent goaltenders, Bob Mason of the Washington Capitals and Ed Belfour of the University of North Dakota.

Also, an announcement regarding the expected promotion of retiring Blackhawk left wing Darryl Sutter to an assistant coaching position with new head coach Bob Murdoch was delayed a few days.

Belfour, who allowed 2.43 goals a game last year, led North Dakota to the NCAA hockey championship.

Phillies' Felske ousted; Ex-Cub Elia takes over

CHICAGO (UPI) — John Felske was dismissed by the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday and replaced by third-base coach Lee Elia, becoming the first major league manager to be fired this season.

Felske, whose team was struggling to avoid the cellar, was told of his ouster by team president Bill Giles late Wednesday night. Felske will be paid for the rest of the 1987 and 1988 seasons at his $100,000 a year salary.

Elia, who managed the Chicago Cubs for nearly two seasons, will take over a team that is in fifth place in the National League East, 29-32, and 9 1/2 games behind the division-leading St. Louis Cardinals. Managerial changes in the major leagues has been under intense scrutiny this season. Civil rights leaders have charged that teams have been reluctant to fire managers because they expect to face intense pressure to hire a minority replacement. Elia is white.

Asked whether he felt any pressure to replace Felske with a black manager, Giles replied: "No, that wasn't an issue here."

"I hired the best man for the job, regardless of his color," Giles said. "The thing with Campanis had nothing to do with it... I was ready to make this decision about a month ago but wanted to give John a chance."

Arena Football League set to kick off season

NEW YORK (UPI)—Whether the world is ready, Arena Football's four-team league opens its first season this weekend.

The public, which proved to the recently defunct United States Football League, that it prefers to ignore outdoor, warm-weather football, will now be given a chance to decide whether it really wants to watch the game played indoors by eight-man teams.

The Washington Commandos play the Pittsburgh Gladiators at the Pittsburgh Civic Arena, where officials expect a crowd of 10,000 tonight in the inaugural game. The Denver Dynamite play the Chicago Bruisers Saturday night at the Rosemont Horizon.

"We won't fool ourselves," said Jim Foster, the founder of Arena Football. "We need decent crowds in the buildings, around 5,000 to 6,000 at a minimum, and a favorable response from the viewers."

The game is played on a 50-yard-long, 85-foot-wide field, with tightly strung 40-foot-high nets erected in the back of each end zone. On kickoff and field goals, balls which bound off the net are still in play, giving two of football's more boring moments a little extra intrigue. Field goals are worth three points, four if they come off a drop kick. Extra points are worth one point, two if they are drop kicked.

As well as featuring unique rules and procedures, Arena Football will also feature something the NFL doesn't have — a black head coach. Bob Harrison, an offensive assistant for the Atlanta Falcons the past four seasons, will guide Washington.

Ex-Hawks match up in PTL action

By Steve Williams
The Daily Iowan

Two of Iowa's best big men ever squared off Thursday for a Prime Time Summer League matchup and although the score wasn't close, the action was intense.

Michael Payne outscored former teammate Greg Stokes 27-17 and outrebounded him 18-10 as Payne's Southgate Development team downed Stevens Sand 118-89 in the first of four games at City High Gymnasium.

But, in a league filled with talent, the former Iowa stars have proven that they can play the game at a little higher level.

"Michael has gotten a lot stronger since his college days and I think our individual games have improved quite a bit as well," Stokes said after the game. "I think if I would have done a little more scoring we could have made the game closer, but, this is summer league."

STOKES' CLUB WAS never really in the game as three-pointers from Northern Iowa's Nick Nurse and Drake's Glen Martin built a 20 point lead by halftime.

In the second half Kent Hill made himself a factor with some vintage dunks and Stevens couldn't get close.

Stevens did find a potential all-star point guard in Iowa football player Dwight Sistrunk, who slashed his way through defenders for 18 points, six rebounds and eight assists.

Sistrunk has had experience with the roundball however, starting at Moberly Area Junior College for a year before transferring to Illinois Valley Community College to play football.

"I'm glad I had the experience to play basketball at a junior college level," said Sistrunk who will be a fifth-year senior for the Iowa football team.

In other action, Michael Reaves and Kevin Gamble had 43 points each and Brad Lohaus added 33 as Hills Bank beat Fitzpatrick's 156-117.

Ben Crenshaw hits out of a trap on the 14th hole during U.S. Open play at San Francisco's Olympic Club Thursday. Crenshaw led the 156-man field after the opening round with a 3-under-par 67.

Crenshaw grabs lead with 67 at U.S. Open

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The U.S. Open usually brings out the best players by the end of the tournament. This year it brought out the best players at the start.

Ben Crenshaw, who has overcome health and personal problems to reach the peak of his game, claimed the first-round lead in the 87th Open Thursday with a 3-under-par 67.

Close behind were defending champion Raymond Floyd, an international cast led by Seve Ballesteros and enduring legend Jack Nicklaus — all of whom put themselves in position to challenge for the second major championship of the year.

"In all the years I have played in the Open, a few unknowns have usually got off to a quick start," Floyd said. "I guess this is a break with tradition."

ELEVEN WINNERS OF major championships were within five shots of Crenshaw — including Greg Norman, who has led during the final round of the last five majors.

"I didn't play a very good round," said Norman, who posted a 72. "But that is the kind of course this is. You just have to hang in there because it's a long week."

Although household names were jammed at the top of the leader board, the day's best effort over the unforgiving Olympic Club course was put forth by the 35-year-old Texan known for his sizzling putting stroke.

"This course is relentless," said Crenshaw, whose 1984 Masters triumph is his only major championship victory. "You just have to hold on for dear life and play. You can't go to sleep for one second."

CRENSHAW MADE A three-foot downhill putt at the glass-slick 18th green for a birdie that gave him his lead.

One shot behind at 2-under 68 came Ballesteros, the flamboyant Spainard who lost in a sudden-death playoff at last week's Westchester Classic; Japan's Tommy Nakajima, often a challenger, but never a winner in a major championship; and Floyd, trying to become the first person in 36 years to win back-to-back Opens.

At 69 were Denis Watson of Zimbabwe, an Open runner-up two years ago; South Africa's Nick Price, holder of the Masters single-round scoring record; and West German's Bernhard Langer, a Masters winner two years ago.

Nicklaus, going for a record fifth Open title, three-putted the 18th green but still shot a 70, as did Sandy Lyle, Bob Tway and the oldest man in the field, 51-year-old Dale Douglass.

Masters champion Larry Mize escaped most of the trouble to post a 71 and shared that number with Mac O'Grady, Curtis Strange, David Graham and Johnny Miller.

Postseason bowls may pick champ

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (UPI) — The NCAA has proposed a one-game playoff between selected winners of postseason bowls to decide a national college football champion as early as 1990, according to a draft of the NCAA report obtained Thursday by United Press International.

North Carolina Athletic Director John Swofford, a member of a NCAA subcommittee studying the feasibility of a Division I football championship playoff, made the draft available to UPI while discussing some of the possible ways such a playoff could be formed.

The subcommittee's report will be reviewed by the NCAA's football committee in August, Swofford said in an interview.

Other features of the report are:
• Schools would declare their intent to participate in the playoff by a set date. Dec. 1 is recommended.

• A selection committee would choose the finalists by drawing on statistical information — national polls, NCAA data, media sources. The committee would also take suggestions from regional advisory panels.

• The game site would be selected five years in advance, with cities bidding for the rights. A seating capacity of at least 70,000 is preferred, says the report.

• A $50 ticket price is suggested.
• Each school chosen would get 15,000 tickets. Remaining tickets would be distributed by lottery.

But national television networks are attracted to the concept because "there is a very real public demand for a playoff", the report says.

A playoff or playoffs might begin in 1990 or 1991, according to the report, "since some major bowl contracts will be renegotiated during that time."

Olympic site option offered by Bradley

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mayor Tom Bradley said Thursday he has offered Los Angeles as an alternative site for the 1988 Summer Games if the South Korean site is abandoned because of political unrest in that country.

"They (International Olympic Committee members) have been told informally that the City of Los Angeles has the facilities and could host the Games on short notice," Bradley said when asked to confirm reports the city, host of the 1984 Games, was being considered.

"That's simply a backup, a protection for them (IOC). There are other cities equally prepared to do it," Bradley said.

Bradley said he was not seeking the Games, but merely offering the city in the event of a cancellation in Seoul, South Korea.

More than 100,000 street demonstrators Thursday participated in violent anti-government protests Seoul and major cities across South Korea for a ninth straight day. The protesters are demanding the overthrow of President Chun Doo Hwan.
